Farmer's Alliance.

The Farmers' Alliance met in Topeka last week. I. L. Hart, of Abilene, was chosen president, and L. A. Mulholland, of Topeka, secretary. The committee on resolutions reported a series of resolutions requesting immediate action by the present Legislature on the railroad question. The res lutions demand that a law shall be passed fixing a schedule of freight and passenger charges, prohibiting pooling and discrimination. The resolutions also denounce the commissioner system as subterfuge devised by the monopolists to defeat genuine railroad legislation and create nice and easy places for men whom they can use as tools. The alliance also endorsed that portion of Gov. Glick's message pertaining to the transportation question.

After considerable debate, the reso-

We, the farmers, of the state of Kansas in convention assembled, do adopt the following preamble and resolutions:

Whereas, The people, and especially the farmers of this state are greatly oppressed by uniust discrimination and extortionate charges on the part of railroad and other corporations.

Whereas, This convention is called for the special purpose of demanding railroad legislation by our present legislature, therefore

Resolved, That we respectfully request and demand of our legislature the consideration of the railroad question immediately upon the conclusion of their organization, and the passage of a direct law fixing a schedule of freight and passenger charges which shall be reasonable and just both for the railroad companies and their patrons; preventing pooling and discrimination, and providing suitable penalties for violation of the same.

Resolved, That we denounce the railroad commissioner system, and believe the effort to embody it in a railroad law to be passed at subterfuge devised by the monopolies to defeat genuine railroad legislation, and create fat places for a few men whom they can con trol in their own interest. Resolved, That the people of Kansas are thoroughly aroused in regard to their oppression by railroad companies, and that we pledge our hearty support to all of our legislators who will vote and work in our interest; and that we warn all who violate their solemn pledges to the people and betray their interests, that they need never again ask the people of Kansas for their votes.

Resolved, That we cordially endorse the Farmer's Alliance, the Grange and kindred organizations, their objects and works; and we earnestly recommend the farmers all over the State to keep up their present organizations. and organize as many new ones as possible, to the end that unity may prevail in our councils, and equal and exact justice to all be secured in our legislation.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to each member of the legislature, and to the Topeka papers for publication.

F. A. WILLIAMS, WILSON KEYS, W. E. RICHEY Committee.

GRANGE NOTES.

In the Grange it is not only indelicate to seek office, but such seeking is in direct violation of law, and is utterly subversive of that quality which is the underlying principle of the order.

In a good working Grange vivified by the spirit of harmony, there is not much room for "pints" of order, and when they are interjected it will be found usually that some small man seeks to display what he supposes is large wisdom.

A good Patron, in observing the injunctions which he is solemly pledged to heed, is always ready to subordinate self to the common weal, and he will never display that self-seeking which is wholly incompatible with METEOROLOGICAL SUMMARY FOR the drouth began. The number of modest worth.

The past year seems to have been favorable to Grange growth. State Granges so far as reports have been grees, on September 12; the lowest was received, show unusual thrift. The annual meetings have been held, in except four or five states, and the treasurers' reports generally show improved condition. Several state Granges heretofore burdened with debt have worked through, and there is no case shown where serious cmbarrassment now exists, while in several states there are considerable funds to be used for extending the work of the order.

Remove the shovel out of the room when the afflicted begins to cough. Let this be done two or three nights, and it will be found that the fumes from the sulphur will kill the throat fungus called diptheria.

In New York recently twenty-five young men were given instructions on practical and scientific plumbing. The practical part, it is presumed, consisted in tearing up $50 worth of flooring to repair a 40 cent leak which was located in another place, while the scientific in another place, while the scientific portion comprised the art of making out a bill.

The obliging visitor, to show that he is really fond of children, and that the dear little one is not annoying him in the least, treats the kid to a ride upon his knee. "Trot! trot! trot! How do you like that my kny? It that his wind it. like that, my boy? Is that nice?" "Yes, sir, replies the child; "but not so nice as on the real donkey, the one with four legs."

They had been engaged to be married fifteen years, and still he had not mustered up courage enough to ask her to name the happy day. One evening he name the happy day. One evening he called in a particularly spoony frame of mind, and asked her to sing something that would "move" him. She sat down at the piano and sang, "Darling I am growing old."

"No," remarked the red-nosed man,
"I don't believe in this bathing; people

"Well," said a Yankee proudly to a traveling Scot, as they stood by the Falls of Niagara, "is not that wonderful? In your country you never saw anything like that!" 'Like that?" quoth the latter; "there's a far more wonderful concern nae twa miles frae what I was born." "Indeed," says Jonathan; "and pray what kind of a concern may it be?" "Why, mon," replied the other, "it's a peacock wi' a wooden leg!"

"What have you that's good?" says a hungry traveler, as he seated himself at table d'hote at a Salt Lake City hotel. "O," said the waiter, "we've roast beef, roast mutton, roast pork, and broiled curlews." "What's a curlew?" said the traveler. "Why, a bird—something like a snipe." "Could it fly." "Yes." "Then I don't want any onlow. Anything that had want any curlew. Anything that had wings and could fly, and didn't leave this country, I don't want for my din-

A professor of chemistry in the medical department of Bishop's College, Montreal, has made the astonishing discovery that rheumatism is nothing more than one phase of indigestion, and he recommends an eight day fast as an infallible cure. It is all they can do to talk across the English Channel, and that with the very best instrument yet con-structed."

The English Educational Department has just published a circular in which it lays down the principle in instruction that, as a general rule, but especially in the lower standards, the examiner should be careful rather to ask for the meaning of short centures and short sentences and short sentences and short sentences are short sentences are short sentences and short sentences are short sentences and short sentences are short sentences are short sentences are short sentences and short sentences are short sentences ar meaning of short sentences and phrases than to require explanations of single words by definitions or synonyms. The circular mentions "Robinson Crusoe" as one of the reading books for schools authorized by the department.

A number of physicians and other citizens of Boston have united in a circular addressed to the teachers of that city, urging them to use all their influence and authority to suppress the use of tobacco among the children in their schools. There is no doubt that this habit is becoming more and more this habit is becoming more and more prevalent among children, to whom it is equally certain to be injurious. The makers of cheap eigarettes are largely responsible for this condition of affairs, which is attracting much anxious consideration on both sides of the Atlantic.

The most beautiful woman in the world is said to be Mme. Gautherot, the American wife of a rich Paris importer. She is twenty-six years of age. FROM COL. L. T. FOSTER.

FROM COL. L. T. FOSTER.

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio, May, 10th, 1880.

Dr. B. J. KENDALL & Co., GENTS:—I had a very val able Hambletonian colt which I prized very highly, he had a large bone spavin on one joint and a smaller one on the other which made him very lame; I had him under the charge of two Veterinary Surgeons who failed to cure him. I was one day reading the advertisement of Kendall's Spavin Cure in the Cicago Express, I determined at once to try it, and got our druggists here to snnd for it. They ordered three botters, I took them all and thought I would give it a thorough tyial. I used it according to directions, and by the fourth day the colt ceased to be lame, and the lumps had entirely disappeared. I used but one bottle and the colts limbs are as free from lumps and as smooth as any horse in the state. He is entirely cured. The cure was so remarkable that I let two of my neighbors have the remaining two bottles, who are now using it.

Very Respectfully,

PERSEVERANCE WILL TELL.

STOUGHTON, Mass., March 16th, 1880.

B. J. KENDALL & CO., GENTS:—In justice to you and to myself, I think I ought to let you know that I have removed two bone spavins with Kendall's Spavin Cure, one very large one, don't know how long the spavin had been there. I have owned the horse eight months. It took me four months to take the large one off and two for the small one. I have used ten bottles. The horse is entirely well, not at all stiff, and no bunch to be seen or felt. This is a wonderful medicine. It is a new thing here, but if it does for all what it has done for me, its sale will be very great.

Respectfully yours,

CHAS, E. PARKER.

St. Albans, Vt., Jan. 20th, 1880.

Dr. B. J. Kendall & Co., Gents:—In reply to your letter I will say that my experience with 'Kendall's Spavin Cure' has been very satisfactory indeed. Three or four years ago I procured a bottle of your agent, and with it, cured a horse of lameness caused by a spavin. Last season my horse became very lame and I turned him out for a few weeks, when he became better, but when I put him on the road he grew worse, when I discovered that a ringbone was forming, I procured a bottle of Kendall's Spavin Cure and with less than a bottle cured kim so that he is not lame, neither can the bunch be found.

B. J. Kendall & Co., Gents:—Having got a horse book of you by mail a year ago, the contents of which persuaded me to try Kendall's Spayin Cure on the hind leg of one of my horses which was badly swollen and could not be be reduced by any other remedy. I got two bottles of Kendall's Spayin Cure of Preston & Ludduth, Druggists of Waseca, which completely cured my horse. About five years ago I had a three-year-old colt sweenied very badly I used your remedy as given in your book without roweling, and I must say to your credit that the colt is entirely cured, which is a surprise not only to myself but also to my neighbors. You sent me the book for the trifling sum of 25 cents, and it I could not get another like it I would not take twenty-five dollars for it.

B. J. Kendall & Co.—Gentis: I have tried your Spavin Cure on a chronic case of bone spavin, which has been treated by two of the best doctors in the land. The case was fired twice, and I can safely say that Kendall's Spavin Cure did more good than anything which I ever tried. I believe it to be a good remedy for a great many difficulties. Ring-bone and bone spavins I am sure it will cure if taken in time. It is also good for scratches, grease heel, etc.

Yours respectfully,

STATEMENT MADE UN DER OATH.

To Whom It May Concern:—In the year 1875 1 treated with 'Kendall's Spayin Cure,' a bone spayin of several months' growth, nearly half as large as a hen's egg, and completely stopped the immeness and removed the enlargement. I have worked the horse ever since very hard, and he never has been very lame, nor could I ever see any difference in the size of the hock joints since I treated him with Kendail's Spayin cure.

Dr. B. J. Kendall & Co., Gents:—I think it my duty to render you my thanks for benedits and profits which I have derived from your invaluable and far famed Spavin Cure. My cousin and I had a valuable stallion, worth $4,000, which had a very bad spavin and was pronounced by four eminent yeterinary surgeons beyond any cure, and that the horse was done for ever. As a last resort I advised my cousin to try a hottle of Kendall's Spavin Cure. It had a magical effect, the third bottle cured it, and the horse is as well as ever. Dr. Dick, of Edinburgh, the eminent veterinary surgeon was an uncle of mine, and I take great interest in assisting his protession.

B. J. Kendali, M. D.—Dear Sir: The particular case on which I used your, "Kendall's Spavin Cure," was a malignant ankle sprain of sixteen months standing, I had tried many things, but in vain. Your "Kendall's Spavin Cure" put the foot to the ground again, and, for the first time since hurt, in a natural position. For a family liniment it excells anything we ever used.

B. J. Kendall & Co.—Gents: I wish to add my testimony in favor of your invaluable liniment, "Kendall's Spavin Cure." In the spring of 1872 I shipped on the ice and sprained my right limb at the knee joint. I was very lame, and at times suffered the most excruciating pain. I wore a bandage on it for over a year, and tried most everything in my reach, but could find nothing that would give me permanent relief. When I overworked, it would pain me very much. In April, 1878, I began to think I should be a cripple of life, but having some of "Kendall's Spavin Cure" thought I would try it. I used one-third of a bottle and experienced relief at once. The pain left me and has not troubled me since. Ifeel very grateful to you, and would recommend "Kendall's Spavin Cure" to all who suffer with sprains or rheumatism.

The State Temperance Convention, which convened in Topeka on the 9th and 10th, was the largest convention that ever assembled in the state, as well as the most earnest and enthusiastic. ### WELL SAID.

Under the head of "Prohibition in Kansas," the New York Tribune of a recent date has the following sound and rational editorial:

"The future of the temperance movement in Kansas will be awaited with considerable interest, now that Governor-elect Glick is announcing so emphatically that he finds no good in prohibition. Elected upon an Anti-Prohibition platform, although not upon that issue alone, and owing his election partly to the aid of the liquor interests, it is of course to be expected that Mr. Glick should on every occasion denounce prohibition, of which his unsuccessful opponent, Governor St. John had been the champion.

Some recently published utterances of Mr. Glick, however appear to indicate that his zeal is carrying him too far. He says. "In the year preceding prohibition in Kansas the United States revenue collector issued 1,132 permits to sell intoxicating liquors, being one permit to every 879 persons showing Kansas to be the first temperance state in the Union. The first ter, the United States revenue collector, issued 1,788 permits, being an Kansas the seventh temperance state." literally that an increase of over onenumber. The most wonderful musical instrument ever made. Plays automatically any tune that was ever written. The orgainette is a reed instrument on the principle of a cabinet organ, but with this difference, that no previous knowledge of music is required to play the most difficult pieces. A child who has no knowledge of music can execute the most difficult airs with all the skill of the most accomplished musician. Plays religious, sentimental and dancing music with equal skill. Suitable for the parlor, chapel, lodge or ball room. The sweetest toned instrument ever heard, the wonder and admiration of all. The orguinette is simple in painciple, strong in construction and durable in every part. Will not get out of tune or require repairs euen if used constantly. The music is produced by sheets of perforated paper. This paper is of great strength and durability and will not wear out. The number of tunes being unlimited any person can play the latest composition of the day without the trouble of learning them. FIRE.

We unlock our forms to announce that at an early hour Tuesday morning a destructive conflagration occcurred on Massachusetts street in this city, in which seven business houses succumbed to the devouring element. At this early hour we are unable to ascertain the exact amount of the loss sustained. Gould & Co., agricultural implement dealers were among the sufferers. The names of other victims we were unable to procure. The fire department were promptly on hand and did much to subdue and prevent the spread of the terrible fiend.

Swindlers Abroad,

It any one has represented that we are in any way interested in any bogus bitters or stuff with the word "Hops" in their name, cheating bonest folks, or that we will pay any of their bills or debts, they are frauds and swindlers, and the victims should punish them. We deal in and pay only the bills for the genuine Hop Bitters, the purest and best medicine on earth.

A Suggestion.

Mr. President and Members of the Douglas Connty Horticultural Society:- I hope the time is not far distant when some practical naturalist, such as Prof. Riley or Prof. Snow of the State University, will place on our market and be adopted in our common schools, suitable primary books on vegetable life and freindly insects; also obnoxious insects that prey on our fields and orchards, that our children may be taught and be better acquainted with their habits, and know the friendly ones and foster them, while on the other hand they may know the bad ones and the best mode to destroy them. The insects I shall speak of to-day is the plum curculie and the plum gouger. The beetles or weavils appear about the same time in the spring (in May and June). They both work in the plums and nectarines and apricots and the early varieties of peaches ripening when the weavil or beetle is the most numerous, also their time of breeding. It is no wonder, in my mind, that we find so many wromy peaches in the early varieties. Raising spring wheat is said to breed chinch bug, so it may be said early varieties of peaches will increase The Colony Free Press has entered upon its the two named insects. This is my observasecond year. It is a good local paper and has tion, after carfully studying the insects in my done much for the town in which it is located, orchards. Hop Bitters contain the same quainty of Hops and are sold at the same price fixed years ago, although Hops now are twenty times higher than then. Raise Hops, get rich in pocket; use Hop Bitters and get rich in health.

Fire at Humboldt. HUMBOLDT, Jan. 11.

To the Spirit of Kansas:

Quite a sensation was created by the big fire which occurred here last night. It was about 8 o'clock, as near as I can learn, when the fire broke out. It commenced in the printing office of H. D. Smith and is supposed to have caught from a lamp left burning in the office The families occupying the same floor were at church at the time, except a little girl, and returned too late to save anything. Mrs. Sniff's little girl barely escaped burning to death. Mrs. S. lost everything excepting one trunk. Mr. Lehmann got most of his groceries out of the lower story before the fire reached it. The groceries in the cellar could not be saved, W. H. Holtschneider's cigar store, adjoining the building in which the fire occurred, was torn Loan and Insurance away before the flames could reach it. His goods were all safely removed. W. W. Curdy's large stock of dry goods were mostly removed, but his damage is heavy, both to goods and building. A. H. Heath, real estate dealer, Dr. Wolfe, Col. Thurston and Geo. A. Amos, lawyets, were sufferers. The block is a total

STARTING THE MACHINE.

The Inauguration, the Ball and the Conventions.

TOPEKA, January 9, 1882.

The machine has been started and Governor Glick stands with his hand on the throttle valve. It is a strange experience for Kansas and every one seems to realize it. Still there is a quiet, scarcely mentioned impression that Mr. Glick will make the state a

GOOD PRACTICAL EXECUTIVE. The week, so far, has been one of blank chilliness, the same here as there. It is not favorable to lobbying on the street corners, but in the warm corners of the hotels the members of the third house are already at work. They have

The Prohibitionists meet in conven tion to-day. It will be a numerously attended body. Probably not less than five hundred delegates are present, representing all much to do and much to prevent.

SHADES OF OPINION.

Ex-Governor St. John made the open ing address at a preliminary meeting held to-night, and was followed by Col. James F. Legate and A. B. Campbell, chaplain of the penitentiary. The work of the convention will begin tomorrow, when the Hon. John B. Finch, of Nebraska, will make one of his strong speeches. He is earnest and eloquent, and it is expected be will make a grand effort. It is probable that the diversity of opinions that prevail will prevent any practical results. A plan of organization will be attempted. Some will be considered, and the temperance members will find their backs well supported when it is needed, and the question of forming a third party will be considered. The indications are that a minority only will favor this plan. But this minority constitutes the aggressive element among the prohibitionists. The Republicans claim that the party is committed to prohibition—that it can not go back on it-that all that has been done was done inside the party, and what more is needed can also be done there.

To this the

THIRD PARTY believers reply; the Republican party cannot be relied on to re-affirm the platform of last year-that the leading politicians have gone back on it and that many of the party papers have done the same—that it is folly to expect prohibition Democrats to leave their party now about to come into national power as they claim, and to go clean over to the Republicans who are not ready even yet to make this the leading question and to meet Democrats of prohibition ideas on mutual ground. These third party prohibitionists are the most energetic, and boldly say that if this position is not assumed, they shall quietly subside and wast until circumstances, which they say are bound to come, will force the adoption of their policy. It is not all

THE DEMOCRATIC EDITORS have been holding a class meeting. If it is this faithful few. I don't think they had any particular object in view farther than to congratulate each other. Of course they felt as happy as clams in high water. They hurled resolutions against railroads while their passes stuck out of their vest pockets. They declared in favor of temperance while their coat tails were heavy with strange flat bottles, with a cork now and then visible. They affirmed their belief in morality and in this their honesty is unquestioned.

TOPEKA SALOONS were never more gorgeous than now. Of course the new governor will see that they are closed just as surely as the old one did. He really ought to do it more surely in order to be consistent because he complained of St. John all through the campaign for not doing it.

of Gov. Glick was a very neat affair after all. There was an immense crowd in the city and the state capital never before saw a country representation equal to it. Heavy special trains came in from all directions. The hour set was 11:30. At 10 o'clock the hall of representatives was full. At 11:00 Governor St. John and governor to-be Glick and their wives put themselve in readiness for the occasion at the executive office. The state officials were with them. It lacked a few minutes of 12 o'clock when the band struck up and the procession began to move. When all were fairly seated and the cheers had I ceased to echo from the walls of the greater at the state capital than it is this ex-speaker Col. J. B. Johnson intro-

Mr Johnson, acting on the occasion then said: "The hour of 12 o'clock, January 8th, 1883, having arrived, the hour fixed by the constitution for that purpose, the oath of office as governor tered to Hon. George W. Glick, by Chief Justice Horton."

The silence was almost oppressive as stepped forward with ease and grace, subscribed the oath, placed his hand on the Bible which he kissed as it was held in the hands of the chief justice. Mr. Johnson then introduced Gov. St. John who made a short and neat speech, closing by introducing his excellency Gov. Glick, who made another speech, when a reception was announced, and that peculiar satisfaction enjoyed that the feels in shaking hands with men who would not and could not know them fifteen seconds later.

The ball in the evening was of course a grand affair as all inaugural balls are. It began at about 8 o'clock and continued to swell like a grand anthem for two or three hours and then to thin out until all became still long after midnight.

THE LEGISLATURE

assembled at noon to-day, and effected an organization for work. The business of the session will soon begin. Many members have their pockets stuffed with bills on all conceivable subjects. There is going to be something done at this session. It would be an absolute waste of intellect for the average member, bending beneath the weight of the responsibilities resting upon him, not to do something for the commonwealth. He is not going to waste his talents and his energies. Mark that.

Senator Plumb has gone back to his post evidently satisfied that he will be re-elected. He will probably not be disappointed.

THE SPEAKER.

The election of Col. Snoddy gives general satisfaction. He has had much legislative experience, is firm, commanding, judicious, quick and will do credit to the state as the presiding officer of the house. By some oversight there was no one present to administer the oath after he had made his opening address and he himself called attention to the fact, and for about five minutes the situation was a little ridiculous. Chief Justice Horton then relieved it.

A BAR ASSOCIATION.

The judicial convention to organize a bar association to be composed of the three judges of the supreme court, the seventeen district judges, the judge of state the United States district court, and twenty members of the legal profession to be selected by a committee of five to be appointed by the chair. Judge S. O. Thacher was one of this committee and among the persons selected as charter members of the association are Judge Thacher and Geo. R. Peck.

All attorneys desiring to become members of the association can file their there is any class who enjoy the situation applications with the president or chief justice A. H. Horton or the secretary Judge H. W. Talcott.

AT THE STATE HOUSE.

The new officers are getting familiarized with their duties. Among them Auditor McCabe who is one of the most industrious of men. He is wise in retaining the old clerks. State Treasurer Howe is another busy man and is just now crowded with work.

PERSONAL GOSSIP.

Capt White of the Wichita Beacon came up as a Democratic editor to attend the convention and see the inauguration. He is one of the sterling men of the state and one of the strongest writers. In the convention he was independent and refused to indorse resolutions that would as he said make him "belong" to any thing.

Mr. A. C. Peck is here attending the temperance convention. Mr. and Mrs. Augustus Wilson, of Parsons, are guests of Gov. St. John. Mrs. Wilson has almost alone been instrumental in erecting the Parsons Library building, the finest specimen of architecture in that town, costing $30,-000. It is built under the auspices of the W. C. T. U., of which Mrs. Wilson mous vote and three rousing cheers. is president, and through whose efforts contributions have been secured to finish it.

Joseph Smith a colored man of Law-rence has been selected as assistant door keeper of the house.

JANUARY 13.

The crowd of office-seekers was never crowded and highly decorated rooms, year. The governor has not half the places that he would like to make his duced Bishop Vail, who made the open- Democratic friends as happy as a big sunflower, but then his heart is in the right place.

BILLS AND BILLS.

Already the bills begin to burst from the pockets of members. Fifty in the house the first day-one to repeal the of the state of Kansas will be adminis- prohibition amendment. It has not passed. One makes an appropriation of $15,000 for the benefit of the University, and another to relieve Lawrence of a part of its bonded indebtedness held by the state, and another to establish an immigration bureau, and so on.

THE TEMPERANCE CONVENTION was a great meeting, not less than 1,200 representative men being present. A plan of work was laid out as follows:

PLAN OF WORK.

First. The only disolver of the poisonous uric acid which exist in the blood of rheumatic and gouty patients.

SALICYLICA is known as a common-sense remedy, because it strikes directly at the cause of Rheumat'sm Gout and Neuralgia, while so many so-called specifics and supposed panaceas only treat locally the effect.

It has been conceded by eminent scientists that outward applications, such as rubbing with oils ointments, linaments, and soothing lotion will not eracticate these diseases which are the result of the poisoning of the blood with the uric acid.

SALICYLICA works with marvelous effect on this acid and so emoves the disorder. It is now exclusively used by all celebrated physicinns of America and Europe. Highest Medical Academy of Paris reports 95 per cent. cures in three days.

Frog Pressure.

Any one who will take the trouble to examine, even casually, the anatomy of the horse's foot, will see that the frog is a wedge of elastic tissue fitted for concussion. Each time it pounds the earth it spreads the hoof laterally by reason of its shape, for it is not only a wedge antero-posteriorly, but also vertically. It is fitted for concussions gives his views on the prospective price as perfectly as is the sole of the dog or of wheat, based on a careful examinathe cat.

We know it is a mooted point, even among good horsemen, as to whether During that period the average export in shoeing freg-pressure should be courted or avoided. Experience, we $1.301-2, while in Chicago in no one believe, will be in favor of frog-press- year has it failed to sell for a considerure, and both anatomy and common sense are on its side. The frog is precisely fitted, and even our stony street average price of wheat during that pepavements do but harden and develop riod has been greater in the second the frog, just as the barefooted boy has his foot-sole toughened. Xenephon Mr. Chamberlain estimates the present tells us in his school for horsemen that | wheat crop proportionate to average colts brought up on dry, stony soils population and demand for export, as rever need protection.

The Small Hog the Best.

until it is eighteen months old. A pig farrowed in April and slaughtered about Christmas will more than repay his cost; during that period he wil be but a pig, and the earlier feedings small in quantity. He should weigh about 250 pounds when killed, and the carcass will contain a fai admixture of lean and fat. The quality of the meatinfluences the price, and the difference of only one cent a pound amounts to quite a sum in the whole. The profitable hog is one that is grown quickly and can not much exceed 200,000,000 bushfatted without delay.

Farming for Profit.

We have with not a little satisfaction watched the farming of our friend Capt. T. M. Bailey, just north of the city. He is one of your "city grangers," a railroad man until going on his farm, which was a high priced one and chiefly upland. Last year his one-third rental paid 20 per cent. on his investment and last week we interviewed him and found that his 150 acres of corn this year had yielded nearly 6,000 bushels. He had fed and sold 47 hogs averaging 267 pounds each, and has ten more which he proposes to bacon, for sale next summer. He has also sold teu head of fat steers, and has quite a large number of young cattle which he is fitting for market. Since corn gathering was over he has hauled and spread on his farm two hundred wagon loads of manure-say about 200 tons, which is equal to $200 at a low value to the land. The Captain is putting busi ness into farming, is a reader of the agricultural journals, and we are glad to know is meeting with success .- Independence Tribune.

Planting for Honey.

T. Ellicott, of Flint, Mich., in a letter to the American Bee Journal, says: "I have had the pleasure of seeing bees work, during the past summer, on a number of kinds of honey plants of my own raising, and I am so well satisfied that 'it pays to plant for honey.' that I shall use all the ground I can leged extinct race of wild hogs that spare for that purpose. I set out some catnip, motherwort and sweet clover plants last fall and some Simpson plants in the spring, and am well satisfied with them all as honey plants. They were thronged with bees all day | Prof. Darwin found in the dry lakelong while they were in bloom, except sweet clover. I saw a few bees at work on Nov. 11. An acre of ground at a low estimate will, if set out with the plants I have named, give employment to 300,000 bees all day long for weeks when there is nothing else in this part of the country for them to work on. I started Simpson plants in a greenhouse, about the time to start early tomatoes; some of them grew six feet high, and I counted over 2,000 blossoms on each plant. I planted Mammoth mignonette, borage and spider plant; the bees worked a little on fhe spider and borage, but were not eager for it; the mignonette was througed with bees all the time. I have 35 colonies of bees; I had nine in the spring was by natural swarming."

There are many other causes of disease, among which are annual expenditure of each saloon at want of care, not changing the drinking water often enough, want of variety in the food, and filthy qu rters.

The Puture Price of Wheat. Mr. W. I. Chamberlain, Secretary of the Ohio State Board of Agriculture, tion of the facts related to it in the history of the past fifteen years as follows; price of wheat in New York has been able portion of the year above $1, and in nearly every year for over $1.15. The half of the crop year than in the first. not greater than that of either of the years, 1877-80, while last year's crop was sold off closer than was the case in There is no profit in keeping a hog either of these years. The crops of 1879 80 were the two largest in our history, that of the latter year taking the lead. The price in Chicago started July 1, 1880, at 86 3-8 cents and veraged only '90 cents for four months, and then slowly moved up, but before the new crop of 1881 was ready for market, wheat tounched $1.21, and before

> In Mr. Chamberlain's view of the present crop of the United States has been overest mated, and the surplus els, one-sixth of which will be required to restore to their normal average the local stocks and farmer's surplus, which were more heavily reduced at the close of the last crop year than ever before. Increase of population and acreage needing seed should furnish a home market at fair prices for all our wheat. To this it is added there is a reduction of wheat surplus in the exporting countries of Europe and Asia.

October 1, it reached $1.41.

Wheat is now relatively lower than almost any other food product of extensive human use. This will inevitably tend to increase the consumption and advance the price of wheat. History shows that wheat seeks and soon finds, its true relative position in price among the food products of the market, and that is a considerable advance on present prices, which Mr. Chamberlain predicts will occur before another harvest.

An Extinct Animal Not Extinct. To the Editor of the Witness:

I am an old pioneer, being among the first that crossed the Missouri to take possession of the far West, and an observing man here may understand some things that bother scientific men East. The subject I wish to write to you about is the mula-footed hog of the Cherokee Nation. I happened to be in the nation about twenty years ago and those hogs were a great curiosty to me; so I began to inquire into their origin, and found that they belonged to an allived on this continent, of which a few had been domesticated by the Cherokees. Now, where the interest comes in is that they are the same as the extinct race of wild horses whose bones beds of Dakota, and wrote so much to prove his theory of evolution.

A western egg merchant gives the following rule for keeping eggs: To one pint of salt and one pint of lime add four gallons of boiling water. Slack the lime first in a small quantity of hot water. When cold put it in stone jars or anything that will not absorb the liquid (a vessel of wood or brown earthenware will not do). Then, with a dish, let down your fresh eggs into it, tipping the dish after it fills with water, so that they will roll out without cracking the shell, for if the shell is cracked the egg will spoil. Saved By a Miracle.

It was a hot summer's day. The metals gleamed in the sunshine, and stretched like fiery brazen serpents away to the distant capital. Every minute lessened the distance; the express flew along with terrible speed—it appeared to have wings. Pouring out dense volumes of smoke and vapor, it dashed along toward the great city whose numerous towers began to emerge on the horizon. Only a few leagues more, and Paris would clasp to its breast one of its own children.

The stoker of the engine was on his last journey; he now intended to remain in Paris, his dearly-beloved Paris. Leroy, the stoker, was not old; thirty years at the outside, tall, with bright eyes, and something decided and haughty in his bearing. Over his open fore-head fell a lock of thick black hair; courage and audacity sparkled in his eyes. A full dark moustache jealously concealed his red lips and snow-white teeth; his face was marked with certain features which bespoke pride, with a shade of imperiousness. He was dressed in blue linen trowsers and blouse, which articles of attire were held to-gether by means of a broad leather belt. On his head he wore a broad-brimmed

With a joyous heart he went on feeding the black monster with fuel, which was eagerly consumed by the devouring element. Leroy's sharp gaze glances up the line, when all at once he sees there, in the midst of the solitary plain over which the train is passing, at a distance of about five hundred yards, a hutman figure stretched at full length across the metals. What was to be done? To stop? impossible! (This was before the invention of the vacuum brake)

"Do you see that creature lying across the rails, Rollin?" he hurriedly asked the driver.

"Shall we reverse the steam?"
"On no account; it would shiver us

"We shall have to do it, or else that person's fate is scaled!" exclaimed

"And I say it won't do," replied Rollin, decisively; "we should be staking the lives of several of the passengers in our train in the attempt to save that

Leroy gazed forward in despair. The train rushed nearer to its victim. The poor creature was lost! Then suddenly the stoker's eyes fell upon the signal cords. Quick as lightning he fastened them round his body.

"Now summon all the strength you have got, take firm hold of the cords, and follow me!" cried Leroy to the en-gine-driver; and quickly, in less time than it takes to relate it, he creeps along the foot-plate which runs by the side of the boiler, gets in front of the engine, steps down on a projecting bar, and then holding fast by his legs to one of the buffers, he hangs suspended, his head downward, his arms stretched forward and his body held in position by the rope, which the driver has meanwhile passed round the funnel.

At that moment—another revolution of the wheels, and it had been too late -just as the engine was about to crush its human victim Leroy seized the body, snatched it upward, and lifted the burden a few inches above the rails. The engine-driver then slowly dragged him , and in few moments later he stood with his capture in the space which divides the engine from the tender.

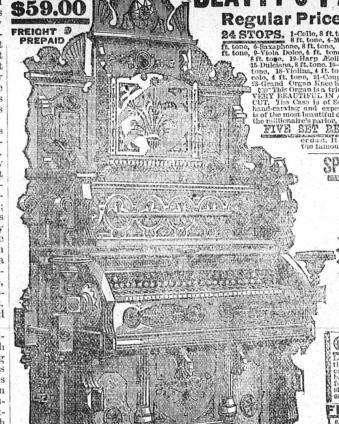

eld in his arms elegantly-dressed young damsel about eighteen summers, whom, as by a miracle, he had rescued from certain destruction. Long fair hair fell in wavy tresses over her closed eyes, over her breast and shoulders. Sorrow and anxiety were depicted on her countenance. The stoker carefully laid down his burden, a shrill whistle, and soon afterward the train rolled into the station.

On the following day people read in the Paris morning papers the bold, foolhardy exploit of the stoker. And a few weeks later there appeared in the Marseillaise an announcement of the betrothal of Louise Martin, the daughter of Martin, the banker, to Leroy.

A Jealous Actress.

Bernhardt is terribly jealous of her new husband, whom marriage has not entirely cured of a passion for flirting. She keeps a close eye upon his movements, and is never comfortable when he is out of her sight. During her stage performances, the bare thought that her attractive lord and master is engaged in "mashing" some of the foot-light beau-ties behind the wings drives her nearly distracted. At Blackpool recently, where an immense audience had assembled to see her in "Camille," she refused after the first act to play any longer. She alleged sickness as the reason for this sudden whim, and pointed to the blood which she was raising from her lungs with a violent attack of coughing as a proof of it. It was shrewdly surmised, however, that the blood was merely "stage blood," which Sarah had used with realistic effects, and it was afterwards discovered that her jealousy was the real reason of herrefusal to continue the play. She had detected Damala in a new flirtation, and could not remain on the stage while he was out of her sight. If she doesn't shoot or poison this fickle benedict before long, or kill off herself or every beauty whom he is likely to admire, she will not be true to the traditions of the disappointed actress of Longevity.

Can man reach and pass the age of one hundred years? says the Popular Science Monthly, is a question concernopinions. Buffon was the first one in France to raise the question of the extreme limit of human life. In his opinion man, becoming adult at sixteen, ought to live six times that age, or to ninety-six years. Having been called upon to account for the phenomenal ages attributed by the Bible to patriarchs, he risks the following as an explination: "Before the flood the earth was less solid, less compact than it is now. The law of gravitation had acted for only a little time; the productions of the globe had less consistency, and the body of man, being more supple, was more susceptible of extension. Being able to grow for a longer time, it should in consequence live for a longer time than now."

The German Heusler has suggested on the same point that the ancients did not divide time as we do. Previous to the age of Abraham, the year, among some people of the East was only three months, or a season; so that they had a year of spring, one of summer, one of fall, and one of winter. The year was extended so as to consist of eight months after Abraham, and of twelve months after Joseph. Voltaire rejected the longevity assigned to the patriarchs of the Bible, but accepted without question the stories of the great ages attained by some men in India, where he says: is not rare to see men of one hundred and twenty years." The eminent French physiologist, Flourens, fixing the complete development of man at twenty years, teaches that he should live four times as long as it takes him to become an adult. According to this author, the moment of a complete development may be recognized by the fact of the junction of the bones with their apophysis. This junction takes place in horses at five years, and the horse does not live beyond twenty-five years; with the ox at four years, and it does not live beyond twenty years; with the cat at eighteen months, and that animal rarely lives over ten years. When it is effected at twenty years, he only exceptionally lives beyond one hundred years. The same physiologist admits, however, that human life may be exceptionally prolonged under certain conditions of comfort,

The New York Evening Post, of which Hon. Carl Schurz is the chief ediditor, who has never suspected of leaning towards prohibition, yet in common honesty, says a striking contrast is shown between Vineland in New Jersey, where the sale of liquor is actually, as legally prohibited, and Yonkers in New York, which has 145 licensed drinking places and 70 shops where liquor is sold contrary to law. Vineland has about 12,000 inhabitants and Yonkers, less than 15,000. Yonkers spends on its police force $37,000, while the police duties of Vineland are performed by one constable, at an anannual expense of $75. Yonkers has a police judge with a salary of $4,000, and a olerk, who is paid $800; Vineland has no police court and needs none. $12,000. Vineland has a corresponding expense of $400. The annual expense in these two items, is in Yonkers $53,-800 and in Vineland $475.

THE WORK OF REDISTRICTING.

THE WORK OF REDISTRICTING.

In order that the work of redistricting the state may be done understandingly. Mr. Clark, of Montgomery, introduced a resolution in the senate providing for the purchase of 1,090 maps of Kansas. They will all be worn out before everybody will be satisfied with the new lines drawn. An interesting fight can be looked for as it will surely come, foe an effort will be made to create districts, not in the interest of the people of those districts, but to make an estate for the members of congress who will naturally desire to return to Washington as many times as they can secure control of a convention.

Among the bills repoeted for passage were one to repeal the law providing for the record of transfers of real estate; one to authorize three-fourths of a jury to render verdicts in civil case before justices of the peace; one admitting graduates of the law department of the state university to practice in the courts; one to establish a state normal school at Concordia.

From Polson's Pen. Correspondence "Young Folks' Department."

MR. EDITOR:-Seeing nothing in the "Young Folks' Department" prompts me to write a few lines. Only now and then a letter is seen and that is generally yut in by A. Jay Hawker. If all the young folks would write we should soon have an interesting column.

Have you all had a joily Certstmas? I have I am sure. I went hunting Christmas day with another boy; I killed seven rabbits and he killed two. Did you go hunting Mr. A. Jay Hawker? If so, what did you kill? Our school is progressing fine.

I will close for this time stating that this is my first letter for a newspaper, but I don't think it will be the last one.

Yours respectfully, CHAS. A. POLSON. STANLEY, Kansas.

Farmers are too apt to think they are the hardest-worked and worst-paid men in the country; hence the desire of so many of their sons to strike out for themselves in some other business, under the impression that they can improve on the old order of things, In nine cases out of ten the move proves a failure. Stick to the farm, boys; you have a much better chance there than in the great outside world. Read, think and observe, and determine to be the best farmer in your county. Then will success crown your efforts; your work will be easy and your burden light.

Last year 26,170 new houses, covering a length of eighty-six miles, were built in the metropolitan police area of London, which now contains 4,788,657 persons, the largest number, probably, ever packed within fifteen miles of a common center. Out of this multitude twenty-three children and 154 adults were entirely lost. Their disappear-ance is one of the mysteries of London, upon which but little light is thrown by the fact that fifty-four bodies of persons found dead and unknown were buried before identification. There were three times as many people killed in the streets of London in 1881 as it cost to storm Arabi's position at Tel-el-Kebir, and ten times as many wounded, the figures being, killed 252, wounded 3,-400. There were 800 fires, 274 suicides, 11 murders, and only three convictions; 470 burglaries and only 91 convictions.

Congress hai yet over forty days of life remaining. The tariff bill in all its complications together with the appropriation bills will demand much of this brief time, while the bill for reduction of taxation comes limping behind. It will require vigilance, tact, and parliamentary skill on the part of the Republican's to secure the passage of the last named measure; but, if Mr. Pendleton and his Democratic friends could only have been as happy on this subject as they were on their civil service reform hobby horse, there would have been a better prospect for the accomplishment of the desired result.

Nothing of more importance has been considered at this session of Congress than the shipping bill, which engaged the attention of the house for the whole week. This measure should not be acted upon without profound deiiberation, and such cannot be obtained in the present large the powers and duties of the Dehim last session, moved the bill as a substitute for the holiday claim bill, which had been taken up and proceeded to address the senate in its support. This bill makes the agricultural department an executive Department, with a cabinet officer at its head, which Senator Plumb declared was nothing more than just recognition of the 34,000,000 of citizens engaged in agricultural pursuits who have few representatives in congress and none in the cabinet, and upon whom the great burden of the government industries rest. He alluded to the fact that the tariff provision, now amount importance to the farmers, and the tariff commission, and the view of farmers had not been consulted in framing its report. Senator Plumb admitted that the question of railway transportaand the necessary system put into practical operation. The further consideration of the bill was deferred.

THINGS IN KANSAS.

Kansas towns are on the boom. From all directions come the reports of protheir homes on the 4th of March, wish to gress. Railroads are penetrating the never suffers in comparison with the best of them. It has been, still is, and will remain the head center.

Improvements are going on without interruption. The finishing of one of the finest depots in the state is watched with daily interest. The water-power is an assured success. A half score of manufactories have aleral gave as his opinion that if the bill ready sprung up around it. New companies are constantly being organized for some industrial purpose. Ground will be broken for many new structures as soon as the season will permit. No vacant houses can be found and new comers have to wait, sometimes for weeks before they can get a place for their families. Whenever a tenement or house is vacant, no matter how unde-much. But the city authorities should be at the front in encouraging the work so far as they Senator Plumb, failing to secure the do so. Very much depends upon regular consideration of the bill to en- the streets of a town. Lawrence has many natural advantages. It is not partment of Agriculture, reported by difficult and expensive to secure the best of streets. Some progress should be constantly made, and be substantial in character. Lawrence already has a splendid beginning, but more can be done to advantage. Let expenditures be made with sound judgment and strict economy. People seldom complain of taxation when they are able to see the direct benefits of the money expended. New streets can be made, old ones improved. Alleys and shabby old corners should be cleaned out. Unsightly crossings, gutters, alleyways and cesspools should be looked after.

Private enterprise may do much to put on finishing touches. Property owners should all bear one thing in mind-whatever any one does helps the whole town. One man builds a next fence in front of a vacant lot. He receives the value of what it cost and his neighbor is also benefitted. In this way each one receives a portion of the benepretty safe to say that the 4th of March problems, the solution of which must be fit from a score or a hundred little improvements. A few feet of foncing, a few shade trees, a little repairing of are most interested do not want any mers were more deeply interested in the sidewalks, a little sprucing up of a yard-it costs but a trifle to each, but in the aggregate it amounts to much in giving finish to a town.

Lawrence needs to attract still more capital-still more desirable residents. It can do so by becoming more noted for its beauty. its liberality, its enterprise, its culture, and its morality. We have the best of educational facilities. But too much attention cannot be paid to our schools. With the University at our command, there may be danger of neglecting the common schools. The interest of parents, especially, may be drawn away to the higher schools. This should be guarded against. The common school. Parents should stand by the teachers, and give them every encouragement. Kansas school laws are healthy. Compulsory statutes have been enacted but voluntary attendance is better. Pupils should be taught to be regular and prompt, and parents must co-operate with teachers and school officers to secur such attendance.

We do not write in the interest of individuals. It is in the interest of Lawrence as a town. All these and many others are important considerations. They have an influence in inducing men of culture, of capital, of skill and enterprise to settle in our midst.

Organized work is desirable; straggling individual work may do something, indeed considerable; but as all are interested more can be done by united and harmonious action. Association is power. Minds, grow, originate and develop by coming in contact ment association or a town improvegreat results.

"I am going fishing."
The August sun was beating down in pitiless fury upon the brown bosom of the parched earth, and up from the meadows that lay to the westward of Dapplevale the hum of insects and the noisy notes of the grasshoppers came with wonderful distinctness to Beryl McCloskey, as she stood in the doorway of a modest little cottage, over whose front the honey-suckles and morningglories were climbing, their vivid hues bringing out in all its beauty the pale glow of the girl's complexion, while the little shafts of sunlight that found their way here and there through the vines overhead were not more rich in coloring than the mass of golden hair that fell over Beryl's shoulders.

They had been married nearly aweek Beryl and George W. Simpson, and as the girl nestled close to her husband she felt an unspeakable joy, a sense of sweet content that could never fade away or die so long as he was by her side—his strong arm around her corset.

And yet on this Sunday afternoon a little feeling of disappointment-a sort of I-am-not-as-happy-as I-was-a-week-ago-Saturday sensation— had thrilled her soul for an instant as the man whom she had vowed to love, honor, and possibly break, spoke the words with which this chapter opens.

"I had been hoping you would go with me to Sunday-school this afternoon darling," Beryl said, "you are such a favorite with the children and can manage them so well."

"Yes," he replied, "that is very true, sweetheart, but I am also unusually handy with a fish-pole, and you know the fish always bite best on Sunday."
"Do they?" she asked, looking up to him with her pure young face; "how fuuny."

"It is indeed ludicrous," George replied, speaking with a grave tenderness that shadowed what a lovely liar he was, "but we cannot fathom the mysterious laws of Nature. We can only ac cept them.

Suddenly George changed the subject of conversation. "I shall come through the village on my way home," he said. "Is there anything I can get for you?" and he stooped and kissed the rosebud mouth of the one woman in the world who had ever won his love.

The litle head fell on his shoulder .-There was a long, sweet pause, and then Beryl, as if fearful that the ecstacy which was thrilling through her would suddenly change to pain if she dared look up or move, said softly:

"Caramels." That was all. No need of explanation between them, and, as George W.Simpson walked swiftly away with a light heart and a pocket full of bait, he felt the one cloud in the rose-tinted horizon of his life was liable to stay there. - Chicago Tribune.

Particular.

We want a foreman. We don't want a man who will be required to know the declensions of the Greek nouns or the names of the English sovereigns from Egbert to Victoria; but so help us, Heaven, we want a man who can tell a pica quad when he finds it in the nonparell t box. We want a foreman who, when the assistant editor sends in a clipped article giving the position of the stars last June, knows enough to change the crfor to the current month. The exigencies and emergencies arising in the composing-room of a printing-office do not require that the foreman be a handsome man; but it is desired that the functionary in question have a knowledge of common-sense if not of punctuation, and that he be able to place column date lines in the columns where they belong instead of running them in the advertising department.

We want a foreman who knows less about comets and the planetary system and more about the perihelion of reason and taste in setting advertisements. While it is not necessary that he possess the first idea of rhetoric or grammar, we feel in duty bound to demand that he be capable of ending all sentences, especially at the bottoms of brokenline columns, with a period.

Any one knowing of such a paragon will oblige us by having him arrested and placed in jail before he can get away, so that we can secure him.-Williamsport Breakfast Table.

A Grand Duchess' Offending. The Grand Duchess Wladimir Russia, who is full of sparkle and wit, found the court life of Gatschina in-sufferably stiff and dull, duller even than an ordinary English watering-place is to an English lady accustomed to foreign travel. In a letter addressed to a Parisian correspondent the caustic writer turned the court circles of Gats-china into the wildest fun. In order to avoid mentioning by name her high and mighty imperial relatives, the grand duchess borrows nicknames from zoology, aptly fitted to those her caustic wit played with. The cat, the rat, the mouse, the wasp, the scorpion, the toad without the jewel in its head, conveyed to her correspondent her ideas of the people who buzzed or prowled about her, or stung her feet as she walked through the courtly circles of Gatschina. As ill luck would have of Gatschina. As ill luck would have it, the letter, intercepted by Ignatieff, was handed to the ezar, who in great wrath gave orders for her quitting Russia. The grand duke followed her, and they are enjoying themselves in Paris, where they have just met the prince of wales.

FROM COL. L. T. FOSTER.

Youngstown, Ohio, May, 10th, 1880.

Dr. B. J. Kendall. & Co... Gents:—I had a very val able Hambletonian colt which I prized very lighly, he had a large bone spavin on one joint and a smaller one on the other which made him very lame; I had him under the charge of two Veterinary surgeons who failed to cure him. I was one day reading the advertisement of Kendall's Spavin Come in the Cleago Express, I letermined at once to try it, and got our druggists here to sand for it. They ordered three bottles; I took them all and thought I would give it a thorough wind. I used it according to directions, and by the fourth day the colt ceased to be lame, and the lumps had entirely disappeared. I used but one bottle and the colts limbs are as free from lumps and as smooth as any horse in the state. He is entirely cured. The cure was so remarkable that I let two of my neighbors have the remaining two bottles, who are now using it.

Yery Respectfully.

STOUGHTON, Mass., March 16th, 1880.

B. J. Kungall & Co. Gents:—In justice to you and to myself. I think! ought to let you know the fithere removed two bone spavins with Kendall's Spavin ture, one very large one, don't know how long the spavin had been there. I have owned the horse eight months: it took me four months to take the large one of and two for the small one. I have used ten buttles. The horse is entirely well, not at all ettif, and no bunch to be seen or felt. This is a wonderful medicine. It is a new things here, but if it does for all what it has done for me, its sale will be very great.

Respectfully yours.

St. Albans, Vt., Jan. 20th, 1880.

Dr. B. J. Hendall & Co., Genta:—In reply to your letter I will say that my experience with 'Kendal''s Spavin Cure' has been very satisfactory indeed. Three or four years ago I procured a bottle of your agent, and with it, cured a horse of lameness caused by a spavin. Last season my horse became very lame and I turned him out for a few weeks, when he become better, but when I puthim on the road he grew worse, when I discovered that a ringbone was forming, I procured a bottle of Kendall's Spavin Cure and with less than a bottle cured him so that he is not lame, neither can the bunch be tound.

B. J. Kendali & Co., Gents:—Having got a horse book of you by mail a year ago, the contents of which persuaded me to try Kendall's Spavin Cure on the hind leg of one of my horses which was badly swollen and could not be be reduced by any other remedy. I'got two bottles of Kendall's 'pavin Cure of Prestore & Ludduth, Druggists of Waseca, which completely cured my horse. About five years ago I had a three-year-old coltsweepied very badly. I used your remedy as given in your book without roweling, and I must say to your credit that the colt is entirely cured, which is a surprise not only to myseli but also to. my neighbors. You sent me the book for the trifing sum of 25 cents, and in I could not get another like it I would not take twenty-five dollars for it.

Kendall's Spavin Cure.

Chilesburgh, Ky., Feb. 20th, 1879.

B. J. Kendall & Co.—Gents: I have tried your spavin Cure on a chronic case of bone spavin, which has been treated by two of the best doctors in the land. The case was fired twice, as d I can safely say that Kendall's Spavin Cure did more good than anything which I ever tried. I believe it to be a good remedy for a great many difficulties. Ring-bone and bone spavins I am sure I will cure if taken in time. It is also good for scratches, grease heel, etc.

Yours respectfully,

T. B. MUIR.

ead Proof of Wonderful Cures!

Dr. B. J. Kendall & Co., Gents:—I think it my duty to render you my thanks for benefits and profits which I have derived from your invaluable and far famed Spavin Cure. My cousin and I had a valuable stallion, worth $4,000, which had a very bad spavin and was pronounsed by four eminent veterinary surgeons beyond any cure, and that the horse was done for ever. As a last resort I advised my c, usin to try a bottle of Kendall's Spavin Cure. It had a magical effect, the third bottle cured it, and the horse is as well as ever. Dr Dick, of Edinburgh, the eminent veterinary surgeon was all uncle of mine, and I take great interest in assisting his procession.

Washingtonville, Ohio, June 17th, 1880.

Br. B. J. Kendall & Co.—Gents: Reading your advertisement in Turf, Field and Farm, of Kendall's Spavin Cure, and having a valuable and speedy in ree which had been lame from spavin for eighteen montus, I sent to you for a bottle by express, which in six weeks removed all lameness and enlargement and a large splint from another horse, and both horses are to-day as sound as colts. The one bottle was worth to me $100.

Respectfully yours,

H. A. BERTOLETT, M. D.

KENDAL'S SPAVIN CURE.

ON HUMAN FLESH it has been ascertained by repeated trials to be the very best liniment ever used for any deep seated pain of long standing, or of short duration. Also for Corns, Bunions, Frost-bites, or any bruise, cut or lameness. Some are afraid to use it on human flesh simply because it is a horse medicine, but you should remember that what is good for Beast is good for Man, and we know from experience that "KENDALL'S SPAVIN CURE" can be used on a child 1 year old with perfect safety. Its effects are wonderful on human flesh, and it does not blister or make a sore. Try it and be convinced.

WHAT IS GOOD FOR BEAST IS | GOOD FOR MAN.

Patten's Mills, Washington Co., N. Y., Feb. 21, 1878.

B. J. Kendall, M. D.—Dear Sir: The partionlar case on which I used your. 'Kendall's Spavin Cure,' was a malignant ankle sprain of sixteen months standing, I had tried many things, but in vain. Your 'Kendall's Spavin Cure' put the toot to the ground again, and, for the first time since hurt, in a natural position. For a family liniment it excells anything we ever used.

Yours truly,

REV. M. P. BELL.

Pastor M. E. Church, Patten's Mills, N. Y.

Bakersfield, Vt., Dec. 23, 1879.

B. J. Kendall & Co.—Gents: I wish to add my testimony in favor of your invaluable liniment, "Kendall's Spavin Cure." In the spring of 1878 I slipped on the ice and sprained my right limb at the knee joint. I was very lame, and at times suffered the most excruciating pain. I wore a bandage on it for over a year, and tried most everything in my reach, but could find nothing that would give me permanent relief. When a overworked, it would pain me very much. In April, 1878, I began to think I should be a cripple at for life, but having some of "Kendall's Spavin Cure" thought I would try it. I used one-third of a bottle and experienced relief at once. The pain left me and has not troubled me since. I feel very grateful to you, and would recommend "Kendall's Spavin Cure" to all who suffer with sprains or rheumatism.

Yourstruly. MRS. J. BOUTELL.

KENDALL'S SPAVIN CURE.

<sup>6</sup> Kendall's Spavin Cure is sure in its effects, mild in its action as it does not blister, yet it is penetrating and powerful to reach any deep-seated pain, or to remove any bony growth or any other entergement if used for several days, such as spavins, splints, curbs, callous, sprains, swellings, any lameness and all enlargements of the joints or limbs, or rheumatism in man, and for any purpose for which a liniment is used for man or beast. It is now known to be the best liaiment for man ever used, acting mild and yet certain in its effects. It is used full strength with perfect safety at all seasons of the year.

Send address for Illustrated C'ronlar, which we think gives positive proof of its virtues. No remedy has ever mot with such unqualified success, to our knowledge, for beast as well as man.

Price $1 per bottle, or air bottles for $5. All Druggists have it or can get it for you, or it will be sent to any address on receipt of price by the proprietors.

FATTENING CATTLE.

Most animals eat in proportion to their weigut, under average conditions of age, temperature and fatness.

Give fattening cattle as much as they will eat and oftentimes a day.

Never give rapid changes of food, but c ange often.

A good guide for a safe quantity of grain per day to Saturing cattle is one pound to each hundred of their weighs; thus an animal weighing 1,000 pounds may receive ten pounds of grain.

Early stall feeding in the fall will make the winter's progr ss mor certain by thirty per cent.

Give as much water and salt at all times as they will take.

In using roots, it is one guide to give just so , uch, in association with other things, so that the animal may not take any water.

In buildings have warmth with complete ventilation, without currents, but never under 40 nor over 70 degrees.

A cool, damp, airy temperature will cause animals to consume more food without corresponding result in bone, muscle, flesh or fat, much being used to keep up warmth.

Stall-feeding is better for making than box or yard management, irrespective of health.

The growing animal, intended for beef, requires a little exercise daily, to promote muscle and strength of constitution; when ripe, only so much as to be able to walk to market.

Currying daily is equal to seven per cent of the increase. Keep the temperature of the body about 100 deg., not under 95 nor over 105 deg., Fah.

Don't forget that one animal's meat may be another animal's poison.

It takes three days os good food to make up for one of bad food.

The faster the fattening the more profit; less food, earlier returns and better flesh.

Get rid of every fattening beast before it is three years old.

Every day an animal is kept, after being prime, there is loss, exclusive of

The external evidences of primeness are full rumps, flanks, twist, shoulders, pores, vein and eye.

A good cattle man means a difference of one-fourth. He should know the likes and dislikes of every animal.

It pays to keep one man in constant attendance on thirty head of fattening says in John 3, 18. He that believeth on him Immediately when an animal begins to fret for food, immediately it begins God." No one ever can go to heaven except to lose flesh; never check the fattening process.

Never begin fattening without a de-Buite plan.

There is no loss in feeding a cattle beast well for the sake of the manure unreconciled to Christ.

No cattle beast whatever will pay for the direct increase to its weight from the consumption of any kind or quantity of food—the manure must be properly valued.

Ou an average it costs, on charging every possible item, twelve cents for every additional pound added to the ture of law, and being damned implies more weight of a two-or three-year-old fat- than simply being lost. If it were purely a tening beast.

What must a man not believe to secure damnation?

Answer-As man is born under sinful surroundings, and with an evil taint in his nature it don't require much of an effort to secure damnation. The careful observer will perceive that the evils of sin environ man at his birth, and a simple neglect will eventuate in his ruin. ### THE WHEAT TRADE. Massachusetts Ploughman.

Ht the closing of canal navigation, it is interesting to note the condition of the wheat market, the situation of the transportation question, and the prospects for the export trade. The canals being now empty of freights and lake navigation being suspended for the season, the question of transportation to the seaboard is wholly in the hands of the railroads.

At Chicago, the great grain center of the country, there is a marked decrease in wheat receipts, while there is a corresponding increase in freights. The surfeited elevators . re about all that the speculators in wheat at present have to rely on. Wheat has ruled dull of late, with a decided decline in corn. The latter was due to an increased supply and to the appearance of a new ungraded corn at lowest prices. The visible supply of corn in the market has increased to nearly 6 1-2 million bushels against nearly 19 millions last year. This leaves a wide gap to be filled up as rapidly as producers wish.

The visible supply of wheat is something over 20 million bushels. There has been a decline in foreign markets, which accounts for the existing quiet in our own; and for some time to come large stobks and low prices are the prediction. If the long and costly war between the two railway parties is soon settled, as seems very probable at this time of writing, it will no doubt result in an advance of transportation rates, which will tend more or less to that the teacher be qualified to teach the elesheck the movement of wheat to Chicago; yet the accumulation is reckoned sufficient now, including what is under contract for transportation, to besome very largely increased.

The demand may confidently be expected, however, to answer to the supply. It will naturally rise to the same level. The food supply of Europe is well understood, but an enlarged demand is expected for wheat on account of the growth and requirements of plant life, of the deficiency in meat and roots. The and of the habits and operations of insects in failure of the potatoe crop in Germany promises to keep up the prices for practical age and our children should be taught wheat and corn. Both Germany and ing creals; France, in particular, is pushed for adequate supplies.

or not, we are exporting to Europe practically, the elements of those sciences so three times the wheat we were sending last year. We shoulp have more of it left on our hands, if it was believed abroad that prices were to fall before a long time. England would be very apt to hold back, if she believed it would be possible to buy wheat of us at lower figures by and by. She has a considerable "reserve," it is true; but that does not change the aspect of the case, as is shown by the present actual importa-

EDITOR SPIRIT:—In your issue of the 17th inst. I find an article by N. P. Deming addressed to the Douglas County Horticultural Society, in which he advocates the teaching, in our pub-subject to teach it. However desirable this may be it will take time and effort for its accomplishment in the lower grades of teachers.

In the "A" grade certificate the law requires ments of entomology, the elements of botany, and the elements of geology so far as relates to the manner of formation of soils and their adaptation to purposes of production.

As but few of our schools are taught by persons holding an "A grade certificate" no atte f pt is made to introduce those subjects into the great majority of them. In those few schools where the teacher holds an "A grade certificate it is very doubtful if those studies are made at all practical. As yet the importance of a practical knowledge by our youth relatiog to that life, is not realized. ### AM I MY BROTHES'S REEPER? Coleman's Rural World.

Certainly you are. You not only have your own individual interests to care for, but your neighbors also. Iutelligent, aggressivive, enterprising men, the leading spirits in every community, could very soon enhance the value of property in their county from one to five dollars an acre by seeing that every farmer was making the most of his farm, cultivating it well, getting out of old ruts, and raising marketable crops, a d more of them, by intelligent industry, rather than by blind usage.

It would take time and labor, 'tis true, but not more than is oftentimes speut by them in seeking to elect a constable. It is true that many farmers are the worst kind of dunderheadsstupid, ignorant blockheads, wedded to their own way or ways, and determined to stick to them; but if the right man would only work with them in the cause we are writing of with the same assiduity as he does for their vote, oh! how much he might accomplish.

Send their children to school; see thal they are provided with some good paper devoted to their interests; show them the crops raised by others, their good steers, hogs, sheep and horses and the prices they get for them when marketed; point to the fact that grass is king, not corn nor cotton; suggest a diversified system of farming that the drouth may not burn nor the rains drown all they have at stake. Counsel them, encourage them, and if needs be, help them.

Am I my brother's keeper? Yea verily, and very dearly are you paying for your neglect by not recognizing the fact and acting upon it.

Principles of Fruit Culture. Our fruit culture is afflicted with many evils, and for those evils numerous cures are prescribed, usually with little or no effect, and so the twofold evil of harm to the fruit and the infliction of nostrums goes on to the detriment and no small discouragement of fruit-growing. And the evil will continue, if not increase, till a more rational course is pursued, namely, carrying out the principles that apply, suiting the treatment to the condition as circumstances may requirein other words, giving throrough, intelligent culture. This is not a panacea, but it strikes at the root of most of the evils, and puts fruit culture on a successful basis. A knowldge of the principles that apply is necessary to distinguish and direct as circumstances may require; suiting the culture to the varied demands of climate, sorts of fruit and soil, and other circumstanceof our widely diversified country, ner losing sight of general principles that necessarily apply to all, which must be respected or harm will as cer tainly result.

Double of the first of the con-

Experience has abundantly demonstrated that, under all circumstances, a dry, deep soil is the best, stagnant water not then being able to h rm the roots, or the extreme heat and cold reach them. This is the first thing to be considered, yet few avail teemselves of it. There is considerable trouble and expense, for most soils must first be drained and otherwise treated to fit for an orchard. This is imperative; no high saccess can be obtained without it. Equally important is fertility, but with great qualification. It is well known that fruit trees, like other crops are usually in need of manure; but, what is less considered, it is equally important to avoid excess. There must be enough enrichment for a full growth both of wood and fruit-no more, no less-and this is kept up, change being always more or less hurtful. Mere growth will result in immature wood, too tender to withstand the cold of winter, or if barely escapi g, not com ing out in that sound condition required for best growing fruit. As to the amount of fertility, it is not all dependent upon the quality of manu e applied. There is the thinning out or the fruit and wood remaining, sup lying thus far the place of manure. Cultivating and mulching the soil will also aid.

The true orchardist will avail himself of those means, and of the mauure, if any is required to secure the desired vigor, which favors the soundest and healthiest growth, both of wood and fruit, keeping the balance established between them to their mutual benefit, particularly as to the wood, as good wood is necessary to produce good frait. Such a growth will be able with hardy sorts, to withstand our severest winters and hottest and dryest samnamers, the size, soundness and quality of the iruit increased, with more perfeet maturity, and what my observation has impressed me with as more important still, less blasting of the blosoms and the premature dropping of th fruit. It is also safer against the attack of parasites, and free, from ai mente, having the vigor o resist, and affording no unsoudness to invite lougement. The distinction must here De made between healthy wood, prop erry so, and what may only appear from its thrifty rook to be such, great growth not being necessarily a sign of Leal b.

The great point is to avoid the two extremes of excess and poverty of growth; aiming to establish a uniform growth. This secures the greatest success, take one year with another, sad in far the greatest number of yearespecially in bad seasons, with a freedom from most of the annoying mis haps and the equally anuoying "remedies." it is the there are insect enemies and depredators that require our attention. But it is equally true that the harm from insects is less feet in the presence of good culture -Country

Protect Trees from Borers.

One of the best authorities known to the people of the United States recommends, as one of the best, if the very best means of keeping apple, pear and quince trees from being injured by that ever vigilant enemy, the apple borers "That the earth be drawn away to the depth of two inches from about the tree; and having dug out or otherwise killed those already in the tree, to bind about the tree, strong, heavy paper—hardware paper made of tarred rope is the best—a foot high held there by Most sincerely.

| have since my success with the fireman, repeatedly prescribed Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Cure, and it my professional brethree could only be brought so far as to overcome their prejudice against proprietary medicines, they would undobtedly find themselves recompensed for their supposed sacrifice of liberty, as well as by the great benefits that would accorded to the world.

| Most sincerely. the best-a foot high, held there by good twine, then replace the earth."

It would be well to wash the tree just before putting the paper about it, with a strong lye, soft soap, or a solution of two pounds of potash to a pailful of soft water. We can see in the ase of the paper here spoken of the means of keeping the apple tree borer off from the field of his most successful operations. It is a preventative, and in prevention in such matters, an ounce is far better than a pound of cure. It has the merit of cheapness, simplicity, and ease of application. A little thoughtful attention ouce a year will secure your trees from one of the worst enemies.

CAUSE FOR APPREMENSION.

Why Mosterious Physical Troubles Arouse apecial bread-A Profes' sional Experience.

Few things give more pain than dread or apprehension. Most people are able to face apparent danger heroically, but the sudden and and unexpected coming of some indefinite calsmity very naturally strikes terror even to the bravest. For this reason, lightning and tornadoes are considered terrible; their coming and going are so su-den, unanounced and unknown. For this same reason an unknown disease, some poison in the b'ood, some malady that is gradually undermining the life is specially dread d by all thinking people. And indeed, there are good reasons for such dread for for modern science has discovered that some viruient disorders show the least signs in their heginning, while they have the worst. ome virtient disorders show the least signs in their beginnings, while they have the worst possible symptons. We know of many persons who have dud and uncertain pains in various portions of the body; who are unaturally tired one day and apparently well the next; who have an enormous appetite at times and a loathing of food soon thereafter. Such persons are results in a dayways are results in a dayways. and a loathing of tood soon thereatter. Such persons are really in a dangerous conditions. I have, during my professional career of many years' prictice, treated a large number of various disorders, or which, perhaps, none have given me more trouble than the mysterious disease known acute neporfits; and while it may seem strange, it is, nevertheless true, that the physician is generally greatly annoyed by this mysterieus trouble, especially when the case is of heriditary ogigin. He stated that he had suffered from urinary troubles from chidhood and that he had "doctored" a hundred times each time improving some; after which in a short while, he would recapse into his former aite of misery. I prescribed the usual therapeutics known to the profession with the same result that my coleagues had obtained. He got better for a while an i then worse agan; in fact so bad that he had to lay off for some time ide suffered intense pain; so much so that confess I had to resort to hypodermic injections of morphia. My druggest who knew now disgnisted I was with the case, although not willing to desert the man, advised me to try a remedy from which be (the druggist) himself, had derived great benefit. As a drowning min catches at a straw, I prescribed this remedy, not letting my patient, however, the confess of the con drowning man catches at a straw, I prescribed this remedy, not letting my patient, however, know what I was giving him; and although not a believer in nor patron of "patent medicines," I awas confess that after my fireman had taken one bottle he grew much better. The oft repeated phrase "no polities in the grange" is but a hypocritical utterance for the pretender who employs the most odious methods of politicians to foist himself into place. Begging favor debases the solicitor and degrades the ballot. Happily there is not much of this degradation in the grange, but what there is has only injurious effect.

Self-seeking is the bane of co-operative purpose, whether in the grange or elsewhere. A beauty. single selfish, narrow-minded, suspicious and censerious member cap do as much mischief in the grange as a dozen hogs in a cornfield. The hogs will destroy ten times as much as they eat and the self-seeking member will do mischief in girl thinks it would be hard work to larger proportion. The right way is to shut keep so many of them in mind all the the gate against both.

When a grange fails there is always a cause that may be found through the exercise of a little care in the search. Generally it may be revealed in the lack of interest on the part of members. No amount of obloquy, misrepresentation, or malicious antagonism, emenating from oyposers on the outside, can crush a grange whose members are true to their obligations. If they are united and imbued with earnest purpose they con not fail.

Officers of a grange should be leaders, but to lead successfully they must have special fitness. Conceit is in no sense a qualification for office, yet it often hadpens that this is all a candidate has to offer, although he usually mistakes it for genuine fitness. Left free to select, members of a grange rarely fail to choose wisely but when they yield to solicitation they sacrifice high privilege, belie choice, and havidg violated principle are quite likely to be visited by penalties.

Winter is the season for active grange work because the cares of business are, for the time, removed. Meetings are more frequent, there is time to attend them, and where there is wholesome zeal encouraged by harmonious aciton, the grange is sure to make progress. It may not increase its membership, but better growth is possible. It is a grievous error to look upon membership gains as primary in importance. Reatly they are of no account whatever until the grange itself--its existing membership-is imbued with the principles that give character, influence and power. The spirit, not members, is the force that purges society of wrong, inner growth, not outward accessions, is the present need of the order that has a grand work awaiting only fitness in those who are to execute.

How many members of the order of Patrons of Husbandry subscribe for and read journals conducted in their interest? Perhaps if the form of the question be varied the answer will be more startling: How many do not subscribe for and read such papers? In either case the precise number cannot be ascertained, but it is quite certain that the proportion of all the membership enrolled as subscribers to grange journals is less than one-tenth, yet the editors and publishers of these papers have made great effort to serve the order through their publications, and in many cases they have incurred heavy losses by failure to receive support richly deserved. In the last ten years ed, their tailure justly chargeable to the order they tried to serve. Give the Dirigo Rural, of Maine, one subscriber for every five members of the grange within the district properly its own, and it would smile with gladness and return ten-fold all the cost of such support? The same is true of the Farmers' Friend in Pennsylvania, the Grange Bulletin in Ohio, the Virginta Granger, and in greater or less degree of all the others known as "grange papers." Now is the time to correct wrong, to display becoming gratitude by welcoming powerful allies. Support liberally the jeurnals devoted to the grange and the grange will soon show gratifying increase of power and influence.

The world-wide reputation of Ayer's Hair Figor is due to its healthy action on the hair and scalp through which it restores gray hair to its original color and imparts a gloss and freshness which makes it so much desired by natural instincts they seal up every oll classes and conditions of people.

There has never been a year in the history of American farming when the farmers were so well able to held their crops for remuuerative prices as in this year of 1882. ## Bees and Oxygen.

The idea that a comparatively small supply of oxygen for the healthy existence, (says a correspondent in the Country Gentleman) is one which will help to explain some problems in apiculture. It is not in acquiescent state only that they require less pure air than the larger animals. Left to their crevice about their hives except the entrance. A moment's reflection must convince any one that with only one small external orifice, and with every space between the combs filled with the living, working, breathing insects, the queen and her progeny must be doing their work in atmosphere which would be speedy death to any quadruped. The pupa, sealed up in their cells in this slightly ventilated hive, afford another example of how the growth and change in insect life, may go on with a very slight supply of oxygen.

37 Walker St., Baltimore, Dec. 1881.
For six years I have been a great sufferer from Blood Disease, Dyspepsia, and Constipation, and became so debilitated that I could not retain anything on my stomach, in fact, life had almost become a burden. Finally, when hope had almost left me, my husband seeing Brown's Inon Bitters advertised in the paper, induced me to give it a trial. I am now taking the third bottle and have not felt so well in six years as I do at the present time.

Mrs. L. F. Grippin.

Brown's Iron Bitters will have a better tonic effect upon any one who needs "bracing up," than any medicine made.

American Courtship.

"They don't adore you over here," writes the American girl returned from Europe to her European friend, in Henry James, Jr.'s "Point of View," in the December Century, "they only make you think they are going to. Do you remember the two gentlemen who were on the ship, and who, after we arrived here, came to see me a tour de role? At first I never dreamed they were making love to me, though mamma was sure it must be that; then as it went on a good while I thought perhaps it was that and I ended by seeing that it wasn't anything. It was simply conversation; they are very fond of conversation over here. Mr. Leverett and Mr. Cockerel disappeared one fine day, without the smallest pretension to having broken my heart I am sure, though it only depend-ed on me to think they had. All the gentlemen are like that; you can't tell what they mean; everything is very confused; society appears to consist of a sort of innocent jilting."

The London Lancet says that people who sneeze often are the healthiest. A sneeze sets the blood circulating, and throws off a cold which is trying to settle.

Two years ago Wesson, Miss., was a pine forest. It now has 2,500 inhabitants, a cotton-mill which employs one thousand hands, and several smaller factories.

The London Drapers' Journal says that there is scarcely a better market for lace, rich silks, etc., than Greece; but some economical Athenian ladies have now formed a league to wear woolens instead of silks.

While plowing near Montgomery Ala., a negro unearthed a pot containing several hundred dollars in gold.— Such occurrent courage the habit of industry in the colored race.

The Texas and Pacific machine-shops at Marshall, Tex., contain a working force of about six hundred men—the largest it is said, of any similar institu-tion in the south. The monthly pay-roll is nearly $60,000.

Ostriches are worth $1,400 each, and there is a duty of 20 per cent. on their feathers. A man from Buenos Ayres has just brought twenty-two of the birds to this country and will establish a farm in the south.

A Charlottesville, Va., printer has accomplished the feat of putting 2,452 legible words on a postal-card with a lead pencil, reserving in the center of the card a circle the size of a gold dollar, in which is inscribed the Lord's prayer.

The recent fashion among surgeons of employing kangaroo tendons for ligatures is said to be giving way to the superior excellence of the sciatic nerve of the calf which is now used for that purpose.

A little girl of Glendale, Mo., has received a pass good for life on the Missouri Pacific Railroad. Seeing two trains approaching each other on as curve, she stopped one by frantically waving her apron, thus averting a disaster. To many Americans the magic word "imported" coming from a salesman's mouth is sufficient to cause them to choose the foreign article in preference to an American article of equal merit which could be obtained for two-thirds the price.

A Hartford clergyman, the Rev. M. D. Buell, has been preaching against the evils of cigarette smoking. He took for his text the passage, "Behold how great a matter a little fire kindleth," and, to illustrate his discourse, exhibited and dissected a mammoth cigarette.

A small boy of four Summers was riding on a hobby horse with a companion. He was seated rather uncomfortably on the horse's neck. After a reflective pause, he said: 'I think if one of us gets off I could ride better."

A traveler was leaning at night against a railing at the Harper's Ferry railroad station. A locomotive came along, and he sprang lightly over the rail to escape possible danger. He thought it was a meadow on the other side, but knew his mistake when he struck in a muddy stream forty feet below. On being rescued he was asked his name. "I wouldn't tell you for a thousand dollars," he replied; "describe me simply as a fool."

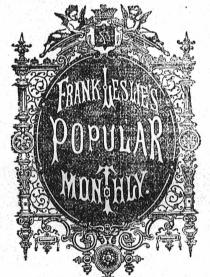

According to the newspapers of Rio Janeiro, writing on the eleventh anniversary of the passing of the law of emancipation in 1871, the effect of that measure has been singularly beneficial to the material and moral development of the country. In those years more than 60,000 slaves have been spontaneously freed by their masters without compensation, while the State has given liberty to more than 11,000. During the same period 280,000 children of slaves have been born free, and the cost to the state of emancipation up to the present time has been nearly $4,000,000.

If Burdette Were a Mule. No wonder the mule is a kicker Were I a mule, love, I, too, would kick Every time I got a chance I would lift somebody higher than a kite. I know just exactly what kind of a mule I would be. A baby mule. One of these sad eyed old fellows that lean back in the breeching and think. With striped legs like a zebra. And a dark brown streak down my back, and a paint brush tail. And my mane cut short, and my foretop banged, and a head as long as a flour barrel, and I'd be worth two hundred and a half in any market, and I'd wear a flat harness and no blinders, and some day, when some man hitched me up to a dray, and piled on a ton and a half of pig iron, a cord of wood, six barrels of flour, a good load of household goods and a steamboat boiler. I would start off with it patiently and haul it steadily until I got to the top of the grade on the new road around North Hill, and right about there and then a falling maple leaf, fluttering down in a spark of gold and crimson, would seare me all but to death, and the authorities would have to drag the Mississippi river six weeks to find all of that load and some of that driver, while in three minutes after the emeute I would be tranquilly browsing on the grassy heights that smile above the silver flowing river. That is the kind of a mule I would be.—Hawkeye.
