"Cleopatra was at this time twenty-five years old. She provided herself with vast sums of money and the most magnificent ornaments and habits, and with still higher hopes in her attractions and the graces of her person, more powerful than dress or even gold, she began her royal pilgrimage. Never was equipage more splendid and magnificent than hers; the whole upper deck of her barge flamed with gold; the sails were purple and inlaid with silver; a pavilion of cloth of gold was raised upon the deck, under which appeared Cleopatra, robbed like Venus, and surrounded with the most beautiful virgins of her court, some of whom represented the Nereids and others the Graces. Instead of trumpeters were heard fluters, hautboys and harps, and other instruments of music, breathing the softest airs, to which the oars kept time, and rendered the harmony more agreeable. Pertumes burned on the deck, which spread their odors to a great distance. As soon as her arrival became known the people of Tarsus went out to meet her, and a rumor was spread that the Goddess of Beauty and Love had come to make Tarsus a visit."

Peterson's Magazine for October is unusually brilliant, if we can say that of a magazine that is always exceptionally good. It has two colored patterns, a specialty with it, no other lady's book giving them at all; a very fine steel engraving, "The Woodland Bath;" a beautifully colored steel fashion-plate, with the latest styles, among others, of wedding dresses. There are, besides, some fifty woodengravings of fashions, patterns in embroidery etc., etc. The stories, as always in "Peter Indian Territory raider, has just been son," are all original and all first-rate. We note particularly "Nan's Masquerade," by the author of "The Second Life." The wife of a farmer named Coonrod, living near New Madrid, Mo., recently learned of her kindred in a strange manner. Twenty-seven years ago when a child, and while living with her parents in Humphreys county, Tennesse, she was sent to a neighbor's house for some meal. While returning home she was persuaded by a man named Peppers to take a ride with him on his horse. He rode away with her until they reached Missouri, where she has since lived. A month ago Mrs. Coonrod told the story of her being kidnapped, to James Mitchell, a resident of Tenuessee. He wrote an account of the kidnapping, and sent it to friends at home. They made inquiry in Humphreys county for Mrs. Coon-rod's relatives, but there learned that the family had long ago moved away, no one knew where. Within a fort-night, however, there have come letters to Mrs. Coonrod, from a brother and sister, living in Tennessee, saying that they had heard of her inquiries with great interest and desired to meet her. Since then a joyous family reunion has taken place.

The Rev. Mr. Gillespie, secretary of Galloway Cattle Society of Scotland, said at the last annual meeting at Dumfries, that while polled Angus was a magnificent breed for particular circumstances, the Galloways, he believed were the best adapted of all breeds, for the purpose of American breeders who wished to rid their horned cattle of those needless appendages. He ventured to affirm that where a pure, wellbred Galloway bull was put to cowe of any horned breed, the produce in ninety-nine cases out of every hundred would be polled.

On yesterday I attended the fair of the Mount Union Farmer's Club in the north part of the county and was well repaid for the trip. It was about 12 miles from Oskaloosa and over a beautiful country which bore evidence of presperity on every hand. Great ricks of wheat and flax on every side that were waiting for the thresher and also mountains of straw gave evidence of the fertility of the soil and the wisdom and care displayed by the husbandman. But the corn fields displayed this in a more marked degree than any thing else. An Important [Constitutional Case.

The question whether the new prohibitory amendment to the State Constitution is lawful or not has already arisen in Iowa. A storekeeper, who has been sued for the price of beer by the brewers who made it, defends the action on the ground that at the time the beverage was sold to him the amended section of the constitution had taken effect, and he contends that no recovery can be had on account of a sale which the fundamental law forbids. In making this defence he assumes that the amendment is directly operative of itself, without the enactment of any laws under it by the Legislature. We quote its language:

Sec. 26. No person shall manufacture for sale or sell or keep for sale as a beverage any intoxicating liquors whatever, including ale, wine and beer. The General Assembly shall by law make ragulations for the enforcement of the prohibition herein contained, and shall thereby provide penalties for violation of provisions hereof.

But the plaintiffs say in reply that the prohibitory amendment, although now apparently a part of the constitution of Iowa, is not itself really constitutional; that is to say, it has not been adopted in the manner required by law; and if it has, it is nevertheless invalid, because it violates that clause of the Federal Constitution which forbids a State from passing any law impairing the obligation of contracts.

The allegations in regard to the manner in which the amendment was acted upon are that only one branch of the Assembly agreed to it, when the assent of both branches was required; that the meaning of the lauguage was materially changed by altering the punctuation when the section was enrolled; and that the interval prescribed by law was not allowed to elapse between the last vote of the Legislature on the measure and its submission to the people.

These are questions of fact which will have to be decided upon evidence. The other objection, that the prohibitory amendment impairs the obligation of contracts, is founded upon the averment that the business of brewing has long been sanctioned by the law in Iowa, and that in consequence of the favor in which it has been regarded by the law-making power, large amounts of capital have been put into the business, and valuable rights have become vested, which it is not within the power of the State to take away.

The prohibitory amendment was not the work of the constitutional convention called to revise the organic law of the State of Iowa. It was passed by two successive General Assemblies and then voted upon by the people at large. Under the precedents, it is clear that where an attempt is made to amend the Constitution in this way, the require-Headquarters.

We scarcely deem any argument necessary to enforce this proposition." If, then, there has been any departure from the prescribed mode in the adoption of the prohibitory amendment, it must be de-clared invalid.

A broader field for argument is presented by the inquiry whether the pro-hibitory amendment does not impair the obligation of contracts. This much appears certain: The Prohibitionists cannot rest assured of victory until the constitutionality of the legislation they have procured has been affirmed by the Supreme Court of the United States. -[N. Here is a case in point: "Mother has recovered," wrote an Illinois girl to her Eastern relatives. "She took bitters for a long time but without any good. So when she heard of the virtues of Kidney-Wort she got a box and it completely cured her, so that she can do as much work now as she could before we moved West. Since she got well every one about here is taking it."

Another Swindle.

Our readers should be on their guard against a swindler named H. D. Ply, who has been extensively working in this and other States during the past few weeks. It is worked by means of posters sent to postmasters to be stuck up, and the offer appears so reasonable that not a few honest farmers bite at the benevolent offering. These bills reported that he had for sale a new variety of wheat superior in quality, and that he was willing to trust the farmers till they had sown and gathered the grain, and then if it did not yield fully one-third more than any other kind no pay would be asked. His benevolent scheme, however, could not be carried out until his beneficiaries should send by mail the sum of $1 to prepay express charges on the large bags of seed wheat. In many instances the money was sent, but no value is ever received. When last heard from his head-quarters were at Boody, Ill.-[Indiana Farmer.

*It is the common observation that the standard of natural health and normal activity among American women, is being lowered by the influence of false ideas and habits of life, engendered by fashionable ignorance and luxurious living. It is a happy circumstance that Mrs. Lydia E. Pinkham has come to the front to instruct and cure sufferers of her sex.

KENDALL'S SPAVIN CURE.

It cures Spavins, Splints, Curbs, Ringbones and all simi lar blemishes, and removes the bunch without blistering.

For man it is now known to be one of the best if not the best liniment ever discovered.

We feel positive the ery man can have perfect success in every case if he will only use good common sense in applying KENDALL'S SPAVIN CURE, and persevere in bad cases of long standing. Read below the experience of others.

FROM COL. L. T. FOSTER.

FROM COL. L. T. FOSTER.

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio, May, 10th, 1880.
DR. B. J. KENDALL & CO., GENTS:—I had a very valuable Hambletonian colt which I prized very highly, he had a large bone spavin on one joint and a smaller one on the other which made him very lame; I had him under the charge of two Veterinary Surgeons who failed to cure him. I was one day reading the advertisement of Kendall's Spavin Cure in the Cleago Express, I determined at once to try it, and got our druggists here to snnd for it. They ordered three botteles; I took them all and thought I would give it a thorough trial. I used it according to directions, and by the fourth day the colt ceased to be lame, and the lumps had entirely disappeared. I used but one bottle and the colts limbs are as free from lumps and as smooth as any horse in the state. He is entirely cured. The cure was so remarkable that I let two of my neighbors have the remaining two bottles, who are now using it.

Yery Respectfully,

B. J. KENDALL & CO., GENTS:—In justice to you and to myself, I think I ought to let you know that I have removed two bone spavins with Kendall's Spavin Cure, one very large one, don't know how long the spavin had been there. I have owned the horse eight months, it took me four months to take the large one off and two for the small one. I have used ten bottles. I'he horse is entirely well, not at all stiff, and no bunch to be seen or felt. This is a wonderful medicine. It is a new thing here, but if it does for all what it has done for me, its sale will be very great.

Dr. B. J. Kendall & Co., Gents:—In reply to your letter I will say that my experience with 'Kendal's Spavin Cure' has been very satisfactory indeed. Three or four years ago I procured a bottle of your agent, and with it, cured a horse of lameness caused by a spavin. Last season my horse became very lame and I turned him out for a few weeks, when he became better, but when I put him on the road he grew worse, when I discovered that a ringbone was forming, I procured a bottle of Kendall's Spavin Cure and with less than a bottle cured him so that he is not lame, neither can the bunch be found.

B. J. Kendall & Co., Gents:—Having got a horse book of you by mail a year ago, the contents of which persuaded me to try Kendall's Spavin Cure on the hind leg of one of my horses which was badly swollen and could not be be reduced by any other remedy. I got two bottles of Kendall's Spavin Cure of Preston & Ludduth, Druggists of Waseca, which completely cured my horse. About five years ago I had a three year-old colt sweenied very badly I used your remedy as given in your book without roweling; and I must say to your credit that the colt is entirely cured, which is a surprise not only to myself but also to my neighbors. You sent me the book for the trifling sum of 25 cents, and it I could not get another like it I would not take twenty-five dollars for it.

* KENDAL'S SPAVIN CURE.

ON HUMAN FLESH it has been ascertained by repeated trials to be the very best liniment ever used for any deep seated pain of long standing, or of short duration. Also for Corus, Bunions, Frost-bites, or any bruise, cut or lameness. Some are afraid to use it on human flesh simply because it is a horse medicine, but you should remember that what is good for Beast is good for Man, and we know from experience that "KENDALL'S SPAVIN CURE" can be used on a child 1 year old with perfect safety. Its effects are wonderful on human flesh, and it does not blister or make a sore. Try it and be convinced.

B. J. Kendall & Co.—Gents: I wish to add my testimony in favor of your invaluable liniment, "Kendall's Spavin Cure." In the spring of 1872 I slipped on the ice and sprained my right limb at the knee joint. I was very lame, and at times suffered the most excruciating pain. I wore a bandage on it for over a year, and tried most everything in my reach, but could find nothing that would give me permanent relief. When I overworked, it would pain me very much. In April, 1878, I began to think I should be a cripple for life, but having some of "Kendall's Spavin Cure" thought I would try it. I used one-third of a bottle and experienced relief at once. The pain left me and has not troubled me since. I feel very grateful to you, and would recommend "Kendall's Spavin Cure" to all who suffer with sprains or rheumatism.

Yours truly. MRS. J. BOUTELL.

KENDALL'S SPAVIN CURE.

Kendall's Spavin Cure is sure in its effects, mild in its action as it does not blister, yet it is pene-trating and powerful to reach any deep-seated pain, or to remove any bony growth or any other en-largement if used for several days, such as spavins, splints, curbs, callous, sprains, swellings, any lameness and all enlargements of the joints or limbs, or rheumatism in man, and for any pitrpose for which a liniment is used for man orbeast. It is now known to be the best liniment for man ever used, acting mild and yet certain in its effects. It is used full strength with perfect safety at all seasons of the year.

While Illinois paid about $6.50 per capita for Government tax on spirits, Kansas only paid twelve cents, and Maine, where prohibition has so signally failed (?), paid three cents per head! There has been a marked advance in the price of real estate during the last year. In a letter recently received from Gov. FOR GOVERNOR.

The Democratic State Convention at Emporia, last week, after struggling for nearly two days, succeeded in adopting a free trade, free speech, antiprohibition and anti-woman suffrage platform. John Martin. of Topeka, was nominated, but declined to make the race, and the name of G. W. Glick, of Atchison, was substituted. Mr. Glick is in perfect accord with the platform adopted. He is a firm, unyielding advocate of personal liberty of every citizen so long as he does not interfere with the freedom of another citizen. Probably his sentiments are more in accord with the party that nominated him than would have been John Martin. He was not, however, the man whom the people had deter-The Fair season has fairly opened. [] mined to beat St. John with, and a sigh of regret went up that he should feel that he must decline.

With three candidates in the field St. John will not be apt to feel very auxious over his re-election. He will probably have an easy race. But his election will not mean what it would Wonder if Allen Williams is going were there but two in the race. With St. John and Glick, or St. John and If he does Forepaugh might as well Robinson alone running, we should have had a fair chance to know the feelings of the people of the State on F. M. Finnicum, Greenback nominee the prohibition question. It would the political issues of the day, before John was defeated the opponents of the people at one or more places in prohibition could with a much better each county seat throughout the Secgrace ask for a resubmission of the amendment to the people. Now a victory for St. John will leave the question as undecided as ever. Even should he get only a plurality majority it will not be conceded as an expression of the sy $500,000 than all the Christian de- tion. Many Republicans, who bitterly hate St. John, will now simply strike his name from the ticket, but not vote for another. It is hard to say which of the two candidates opposed to St. John combines the greatest strength. Robinson, while opposed to prohibition, has always been a temperance man. He believes in persuading men to be temperate, but not in forcing them. He is a liberal in matters of religion, and was recently elected one of the vice-presidents of the Free-Thinkers National convention at Watkins, N. Y. To some people these religious ideas would be a great objection to him.

Mr. Glick is unyielding and unbending in his advocacy of what he conlood was fed to them in the form of a ceives to be right. He is a typical Democrat of the present day. He is a good talker, a successful business man, ery rapidly, but their wool doubled and will doubless make a canvass of the State in his own interest.

> A lawsuit at Andover, Vt., involves indirectly the right of a public school teacher to read the Bible in school. Farmer Hazelton didn't want his children to hear the Scriptures, and so the prudential committee arranged with the teacher to have devotional exercises a few minutes before school opened each morning, attendance being optional with the pupils. Hazelton informed the committee of his intention to stop the religious exercises entirely. With that end in view he instructed his children to attend them, and to get up and leave during the reading without the consent of the teacher. This was done, and the children were expelled. The case will go to the Court of Appeals.

The bride started on her honeymoon jonrney closely veiled, and unkissed by her friends.

The Prohibitionists are showing much zeal in the endeavor to capture the next Legislature in Wisconsin, and it is partly explained in this way: All amendments to the State constitution must receive the sanction of two Legislatures. A biennial session amend-ment will be voted on this fall, and if it is carried and the next Legislature does not submit a prohibitory amendment to the people it will be six years before such an amendment can in any event be voted upon by them. Natu-rally the Prohibitionists do not want to wait so long.

Drowned. The waters of the Kaw have found one more victim—a German barber named Ludwig Troutman, who had been in the city only a few weeks. Having "a day off" he went down below the dam in a boat to fish. He was sitting on some boards in one end of the boat; the boards slipped and Troutman was thrown backwards into the water. As soon as possible assistance went to him, but the body had sunk before the first boat reached the spot where the body disappeared. After diving several times the body was at last found and brought up. An effort was made to revive the spark of life, but it had gone out forever. Young Troutman has a brother in Iowa who was telegraphed the sad news. A little purse was raised by citizens to give the remains a decent burtal.

WEATHER REPORT FOR AUGUST, 1882.

Prepared by Prof. F. H Snow, of the Kansas State University, from Observations taken at Lawrence by A. B

This month closing the coolest summer on our fifteen years' record, was remarkable for its low temperature and for the almost entire absence of rain. The abundant and well-distributed rainfall of the preceding months, however, have placed the corn crop beyond the reach of serious damage.

Mean Temperature-72.550, which is 4.330 below the average August temperature of the fourteen preceding years. The highest temperature 950 on the 1st; the lowest was 52.50 on the 10th; monthly range 42.5°. The mercury reached or exceeded 900 on 11 days. Mean temperature at 7 a. m., 61.08°; at 2 p. m., 83.710; at 9 p. m., 69.740.

It is said that foot-rot and other diseases to which sheep are subject, occur much less often among flocks which are pastured on rather rough ground, and particularly where they have to climb hills to get their grazing. In Scotland, the great sheep country of Europe, the sheep are always found in greatest numbers among the mountain ranges.

A terrible accident occurred near Alta, lows, a few days ago, in which a portable threshing engine went through a bridge, carrying with it the farmer who was acting as engineer, and scalding him to death. We call attention to the occurrence as a warning to those having such engines in charge. They are heavier than the loads hauled by ordinary teams, and the utmost care should be used in driving them over bridges or trestles.

If her sister, Jane Mariar,
And her mother and her sire
Were quite well.
And from time to time he'd eya her,
As though he would like to buy her,
And his bashfulness was dire,

A Poisoned Congressman.

Mr. Houk has explained to his constituents, however, and under a solemn oath, that if he was in the calaboose he has no recollection of it, but that some one poisoned him, so that he was unconscious for ten hours, and while he patronage, and many more are not in was in this condition the poisoners may have put him in the calaboose. This is a serious affair, and it is not the first of its kind in Tennessee political annals. About twenty years ago another dis-tinguished Tennessee stalwart—no less has tried to catch votes by appealing a personage than the late lamented to all sorts of dissatisfactions and dis-President Johnson - behaved so contents, and has made its platform so strangely on one occasion that he too broad and vague that nobody can stand was accused of intoxication; but he, like Mr. Houk, explained by saying he had been poisoned. Recently Capt. Burton, the traveler, reported that almost illimitable gold can be obtained on the Gold Coast, Africa, a district which has been auriferously prolific for centuries. He says the region is equal to half a dozen Callfornias. In this he is supported by the Enfornias. In this he is supported by the English Commander Cameron, who investigated the Gold Coast in his company. Gold is found in the sea-sand, in the dust of the roads, and in the mud walls of native huts. The Russian hangman is a convict who was entenced to death for robbery and murder, but the penalty was commuted to imprisonment for life upon the condition that he should perform the duties of executioner whenever called upon. He has been confined in Moscow during the past fifteen years, and is sent from there under a strong guard to Kieff, Odessa and St. Petersburg, as his services may be required in one or the other of those cities. A visit to this man is described by Victor Tissot, a French author, in a work on Russia and the Russians, recently published in Paris. He found the executioner reposing after the exertion of hanging the two Nihllists, Pressniakoff and Kiviatkowski. A young woman of attractive appearance, with a child in her arms, was with him. She was his wife. The comforts of matrimony had not been denied him, and he seems to have had no difficulty, notand no seems to have had no difficulty, not-withstanding his coudition and work, in find-ing a woman to marry him. The hangman's face is described as stolid rather than terrible or repulsive. He has abnormally long arms, and is said to be possessed of herculean strength. He was spoken of as having "the strength of twenty men." One day there was a revolt in the prison, and he was summoned to help subdue the prisoners. He rushed in among them and killed three with his bare hands.

Probibition as a Party Issue.

The National Convention of Prohibitionists has not behaved wisely in two important respects. Unquestionably it had a strong public sentiment to which it could have appealed. That sentiment, so far as it has been or can gates more intelligently or fairly repwhere the people have just adopted a most stringent prohibitory amendment by a large majority. These delegates know how the work was done, and to have tried, faithfully, but with no success, to impress the convention with the value of their experience. The result was that they were virtually almost ruled out of the convention, while men and women from other States, who have not a single voter behind them, were very influential in the proceedings. The delegates from Iowa, if the reports are correct, urged the submission to the people of separate constitutional amendments, without any entanglement with party politics, and without the load of any other issue, but they were voted down. The convention insisted upon recommending female suffrage; upon the organization of a national party; upon "the abolition of executive, judicial and legislative patronage"; upon universal and enforced education; upon the preservation of public lands for the people; upon the abolition of monopolies; and upon the control of railroad and

To put it mildly, this is not the work of reformers, but of would-be demagogues. There are many people in this land who would have heartily approved the question of prohibition to the voters of the several States. But a great many of them do not propose to separate from existing party organizations for political purposes. Many more are not ready to try female suffrage. Many more have a profound disbelief in the

The prohibitory effort is likely to go on, just as if this unwise convention do what they can, and particularly to nopolies. If the movement has any force whatever, it is in an entirely separate and direct appeal to the people on a special and narrow issue, which, whatever its importance, cannot be made the basis of separate party or-

Young men adapt themselves to new occupations more readily than those older, therefore it is well to give one of the boys an opportunity to begin fruit-growing. Set aside a field for that purpose, and let him manage it. You will be surprised to learn how quickly he catches ideas, and the rapidity with which he masters the situation. Fruit culture conflicts with farm work at times, but in this way each could attend to his own affairs. Fruit-growing, industriously and intelligently pursued, is now and ever will be a profitable and delightful oc-cupation. I know of no means by which the soil can be made to yield so profitably, but it requires closer observation and study, and more thought and attention than is ordinarily given to farming. Fruit-growing for drying may be profitably pursued in any section where the soil is suitable. Blackcap raspberries are probably the most profitable of the small fruits for this purpose, the berries netting as much profit when dried as when sold fresh. A dry-house suitable for this purpose can be made for $15 by any ingenious

My friend began fruit-growing on a farm of 100 acres, without experience. He leased on shares, for grain-growing, all but ten acres. He purchased 1,200 strawberry, 1,500 raspberry (red and black), and 300 blackberry plants; 120 grape vines, a few currants and gooseberries, 200 peach, 300 apple, 100 pear and 50 quince trees, costing altogether $100, and embracing the leading varieties, except with the apples, which were all Baldwins, and the pears, which were all dwarf Duchesse. The 300 apples occupied six acres. Excepting grapes, quinces and pears, all the above truits were planted either in or between the rows of apple trees. He layered grapes and raspberries. The strawberries and some other species multies increase his income by gradu- plied fast, thus the second year he had teepening his soil by fall plowing, a stock of plants of his own growing ore efficient drainage, by clearing he waste places, by keeping imed stock of all kinds, by more freson, buying only a few improved varison, buying only a few improved varieties, and extending his pear, peach and quince plats. The first season there was no income from fruits. The second year his fruit sales amounted to $23, the third year to $141, the fourth $354: the fifth to $576, yet the quinces, pears and apples had not arrived at bearing age, the peaches only moderately one season, the grapes were just ready to give returns, the strawberry crop had been cut short two seasons by late spring frosts, and the only eight acres had been occupied. The fruit sales were made at extremely low prices-5 to 7c per quart-and much work had been done in a roundabout man-ner. It will be safe to estimate his receipts annually from the ten acres, when with such crops they will bring all the trees are of bearing age, allowing for occasional failures of some speoney at seasons when it is much cies, at $1.000, from which, at a rough estimate, $400 to $500 should be demarket, even with small loads .? etc. These figures are not startlingthey simply represent what the novice may reasonably expect from similar

A NOTED BUT UNTITLED WOMAN.

The above is a good likeness of Mrs. Lydia E. Pink-ham, of Lynn, Mass., who above all other human beings may be truthfully called the "Dear Friend of Woman," may be truthfully called the "Dear Friend of Woman," as some of her correspondents love to call her. She is zealously devoted to her work, which is the outcome of a life-study, and is obliged to keep six lady assistants, to help her answer the large correspondence which daily pours in upon her, each bearing its special burden of suffering, or joy at release from it. Her Wegetable Compound is a medicine for good and not wil purposes. I have personally investigated it and in satisfied of the truth of this.

On account of its proyen medic if the recommended.

One says: "It works nice a charm and saves much pain. It will cure entirely the worst form of falling of the uterus, Leucorrhesa, irregular and painful Menstruation, all Ovarian Troubles, Inflammation and Ulceration, Floedings, ell Displacements and the consequent spinal weakness, and is especially adapted to the Change of Lafe."

It permeates overy portion of the system, and gives new life and vigor. 1t removes faintness, fintulency, destroys all craving for stimulants, and relieves weakness of the stomach. It cures Bloating, Readaches, Nervous Prostration, General Debility, Sleeplessness, Depression and Indigestion. That feeling of bearing down, causing pain, weight and backache, is always permanently cured by its use. It will at all times, and inder all circumstances, act in harmony with the law under all circumstances, act in harmony with the law that governs the female system.

It costs only $1, per bottle or six for $5., and is sold by druggists. Any advice required as to special cases, and the names of many who have been restored to perfect health by the use of the Vegetable Compound, can be obtained by addressing Mrs. P., with stamp for reply, at her home in Lynn, Mass.

For Kidney Complaint of either sex this compound is

unsurpassed as abundant testimonials show.

"Mrs. Pinkham's Liver Pills," says one writer, "are the best in the world for the cure of Constipation, Billousness and Torpidity of the liver. Her Blood Purifier works wonders in its special line and bids fair to equal the Compound in its popularity.

All must respect her as an Angel of Mercy whose sole ambitton is to do good to others.

Lawrence Markets. [Reported for the SPIRIT OF KANSAS by E. B. GOOD, Grocer, 71 Massachusetts street, Lawrence, Kansas.]

Trade for the past week has been lively. Produce has come in rapidly and dealers were enabled to fill orders quickly. Flour has fallen fifteen cents on all grades, but this has not affected the price of wheat. The earlier and more perishable varieties of apples have disappeared from the market, and those now brought in are nearly all fit to ship so that, though the home demand is fully supplied, there is at all times a shipping demand which prevents a glut. Green corn has almost passed out of the market, but lima beans in their prime have come in to take the place. Butter is a trifle higher and a good quality is eagerly sought after.
