R. B. Christy, Scott City, Dies

There are times when words are inadequate to express ones sentiments. Such is the case in attempting to pay tribute to Mr. R. B. Christy, Scott City, whose death came April 12, a few short days after his 82nd birthday.

Just a year ago, 4-H'ers, their friends and leaders sent birthday greetings, letters of congratulations and appreciation by the hundreds—the finest tribute to a friend of youth.

The 4-H program of Kansas has felt the impact of Mr. Christy's generous support. The brood mare program, and the stable at Rock Springs Ranch are the result of his vision and desire to improve the educational opportunities for youth.

Fixed indelibly in the memory of thousands of Kansas youth is the sentiment of the salute to him which hangs in the stable he gave at Rock Springs—

“A man who has confidence in young people; who believes in training head, heart, hands, and health for greater service to others.”

MR. R. B. CHRISTY

came to Kansas as a small boy and began his career riding the range of Battle Canyon Ranch near Scott City. From this humble beginning, he has become one of the most respected, honored, and successful citizens of Kansas.

“Mr. Christy has always had a genuine interest in youth, and concern for their welfare. He has given generously for their benefit.

“He has always enjoyed horses and knows well the real pleasure they afford. He is sharing freely that the youth of Kansas, through Rock Springs Ranch, may know this genuine pleasure. In this, we see him as the truly benevolent gentleman he is”.

Mr. Christy had served as vice-chairman and member of the Board of Trustees of the Kansas 4-H Foundation for several years.

We mourn the passing of a true friend of 4-H youth.

I'm Marie Korb of the Friendship 4-H Club, Tonganoxie, Ks. I found out how much help a film can be when I borrowed "Charlie's Haunt" from the telephone company. There's a lot of laughs in the film but Charlie McCarthy, with the help of Edgar Bergen, points out some safer ways of doing everyday things.

There are many films that may be borrowed FREE OF CHARGE from the telephone company—films on science, home decorating, and many other subjects.

Electric Project Makes 4-H'er Popular

Ronni Pauli, College Hill Club, Riley county, made bases for these two lamps in his woodworking project. He bought kits for the lamp part and put longer cords on them so they could more easily be placed in various parts of the living room.

"I was about to heave the electric iron out the door when Ronni fixed it," said Mrs. Ross Pauli, 1026 College Ave., Manhattan.

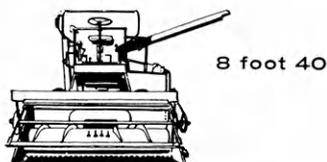

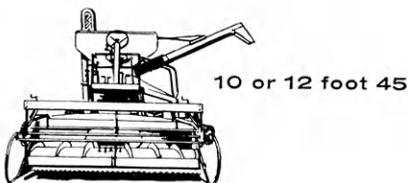

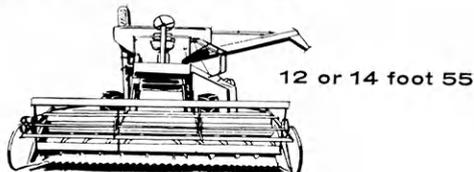

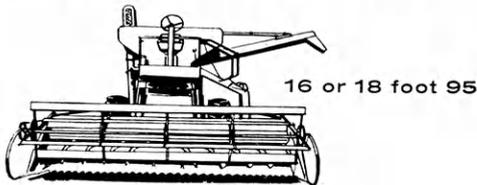

Ronni has made himself useful around the house in other ways, too. He fixed an electric toaster and made two attractive lamps for the living room.

Thousands of other Kansas 4-H'ers are finding their electric projects are making them popular with Mom, and Dad, too. 4-H'ers will find many different ideas each month in the Electric Companies advertisement on the back page of the Kansas 4-H Journal.

A number of different awards are provided 4-H'ers with good records in the project. The Westinghouse Educational Foundation provides gold medals for county winners and a trip to the National 4-H Congress for state winners. Educational trips and other awards are annually presented to ten top members in Kansas by the Power Suppliers.

Scholarship Honors Mrs. J. H. Houghton

A memorial scholarship honoring Mrs. James H. Houghton, long-time Mitchell county 4-H leader who died in an automobile last summer, has been endowed by the Houghton family.

The scholarship fund, held in trust by the Kansas 4-H Foundation, will be awarded annually to a Mitchell county 4-H member for use at any Kansas college or university.

Speaking of Mrs. Houghton, her son Clifford says, "Mother's life for quite a number of years was dedicated to 4-H work and for this reason we set up a memorial fund in her honor."

The family and friends are also planning a memorial at Rock Springs Ranch in her honor. Contributions to this fund may be made to the Mitchell county extension office.

IFYE Applications Due August 1, 1960

Applications for 1961 International Farm Youth Exchange delegates must be in the 4-H Department at K-State University not later than August 1.

This is an earlier date than in the previous years. Delegates selected will spend five months with farm families in another country.

Applicants must be 20 to 30 years of age, have a background of farm life and work, have a sincere interest in understanding other people and a willingness to study about both the host country and the U. S.

Interested individuals must make application through county extension offices. After approval by the county, applications are reviewed in Manhattan and in Washington. The program is financed through county support and the support of the Kansas and National 4-H Club Foundations.

What Are The Results Of ...

AUTO INSURANCE CLAIMS?

- In the first place, too many claims in your company can raise your premium.
- Claims can raise the costs of your company to such an extent that dividends are difficult to pay.
- Each claim presented is paid by all the policyholders. Not by "just an insurance company."
- Excessive claims through carelessness, places you in jeopardy of cancellation. This is to protect the other policyholders.

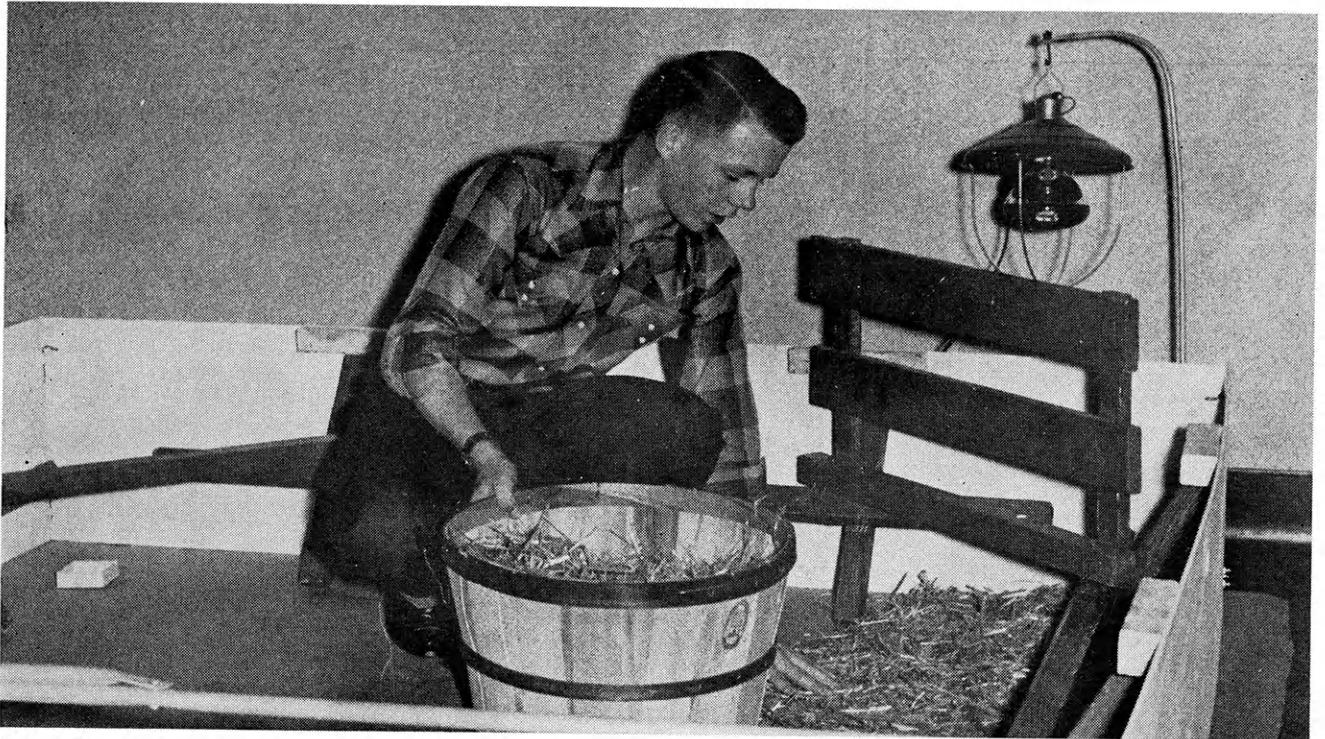

Your company is your protector against accident risks. By the same token, you help your company by courteous and careful driving.

Let's Go To 4-H Camp

Swimming, baseball, softball, horseback riding, horseshoes, handicraft, informal discussions, lots of good food, rest and relaxation await the more than 5,000 Kansas 4-H'ers expected to attend 4-H Camps and Conferences this summer.

Seventy counties will have county camps at Rock Springs Ranch this summer. These county camps plus state 4-H conferences and non-4-H groups are expected to draw more than 6,000 to the State 4-H Center south of Junction City.

Other county camps will be held in the Colorado Rockies, S. W. 4-H Camp at Dodge City, Cedar Bluff at Coffeyville and at other sites.

Though some counties find it necessary to assign club quotas, most of Kansas' 30,000 4-H members will have an opportunity to attend at least one camp session this summer. Nearly all county camps are three days long.

Four state-wide 4-H conferences are scheduled at Rock Springs this summer. State Music Camp will be June 7-11, Health Conference June 29-July 3, Conservation Camp July 27-August 1 and Junior Leadership Camp August 1-6.

Swimming at 4-H camps is a universal highlight wherever pools are available. Handicraft ranging from lustre-lace to metal etching is popular.

Folk games, parties and just plain fun are commonplace in the evenings. Cook-outs are popular when available. Horseback riding is never tiresome, even for those with horses at home.

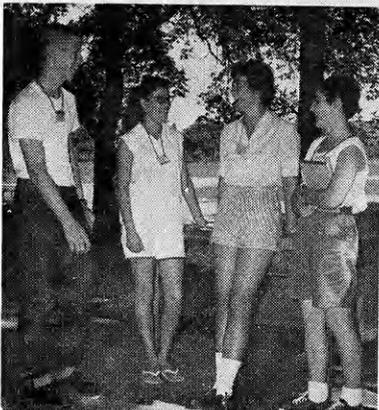

Then there's rifle range, hiking, water carnivals, bathing beauty contests and the chance to make new friends. All add up to an inexpensive but very enjoyable experience.

County extension agents have details on county camps as well as information on the state conferences to be held this summer.

There's a variety of experiences at a summer 4-H camp or conference. Left, a Shawnee county girl models a nightgown and robe as part of a style revue given by Shawnee junior leaders for the 1959 Health Conference. Center, it's inspection time in the boys dormitory at S. W. Teen Camp. Right, folk games are popular for evening recreation on the "slab" at Rock Springs.

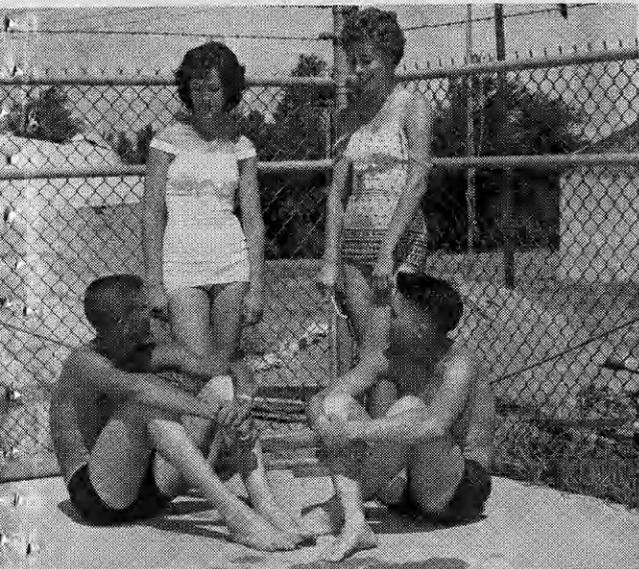

There's a serious (but not too serious) as well as a lighter side to 4-H camps and conferences. Left, Lois Davis, Sedgwick club agent, stresses "color and your complexion" at 1959 health conference. Center, Miss Kansas of 1959, Sharon Whitacre (second from right) taught a class in personality at the 1959 Health Conference. Here she visits with Louis Youngers, Barber county; Karen Davis, Gray; and Janet Tope, Hamilton. Right, associate state club leader Glenn Busset leads a discussion on vocational choice at S. W. Teen Camp. With him are Judy Mucklow, Kiowa county and Kenneth Eggers, Ness.

4-H members attending the 1959 4-H Health Conference at Rock Springs Ranch get ready for an evening vesper service. They are seated on the stage of the amphitheatre with the shelter contributed by the K-State Collegiate 4-H Club in the background.

Swimming and boating (including water skiing for the older members) are popular for campers at the Southwest 4-H Camp, Dodge City. Left, Loyde Keith, Ford County; Priscilla Moore, Gove; Joyce Timmons, Stevens and Vernon Maddux, Finney county, enjoy the sun as well as the water. Right, skiing instructions are given a beginner.

Horseback riding is a featured attraction for 4-H'ers attending camps and conferences at Rock Springs Ranch. Twenty palomino horses, donated by Kansas horsemen, are stabled at the Center.

You (As a Parent) and 4-H

By Anna McRae, 4-H Member
Linn County

Just what is the parents' role in 4-H? Our leaders kindle the 4-H flame, but our parents help keep it burning.

A 4-H Club without parental cooperation is like a wagon without wheels, the framework is there but it is not going anywhere.

There is no such thing as one member of a family belonging to a 4-H Club. If one's a member, all are in and you have a 4-H family.

If the parents are behind their children in all their 4-H activities, whether it be project work or any other phase of 4-H, they will be much more interested in what their children do.

Enthusiastic Parents

A good 4-H Club needs parents with a favorable and enthusiastic attitude, causing them to look for opportunities to help and be ready to participate.

The parents who do things for their children do them because they love them. This is the reason it is easy for fathers and mothers to bring into their guidance of 4-H work that all important attitude—unselfishness. The members of a good family learn to give and take—the true basis of good sportsmanship. They develop the quality of honesty, and parent leaders can easily appreciate and apply the principle "Obey the rules and play the game."

The parent-leader is the most permanent leader. It is very significant that 65% of the 250,000 leaders guiding the activities of the 90,000 local 4-H Clubs are parents. These parents give hundreds of hours of their time and much personal effort to the work. More parental guidance is needed for an expanded 4-H program.

Parents Creed

A creed for parent club leaders could be, "I teach the abundance of the fields, of flocks and herds; the orderliness and peace of the home, the beauty of woods and streams, the glory of words and of tasks accomplished, I am known but to few. I serve without wages or price; yet my reward is great for I am helping build a Nation. I am the local leader of the 4-H Club work."

Parents can lend needed encouragement and help club members when days are hot, weeds are many and ambition lags.

The big help of parents to their children in 4-H lies in their sympathetic attitude toward the work; their willingness to furnish the needed ground, equipment and other materials; their visits to projects; encouraging words; timely advice and attendance at all club meetings.

Build Better Homes

Plans for building a better America must include building better homes. One of the cornerstone ideas of 4-H work is that children should be given definite responsibilities in the home activities, beginning with simple duties for the younger child with increased interests for the older boy or girl.

A 4-H home emphasizes the church should play a leading part in helping boys and girls prepare to live useful lives. Someone has said, "The grass roots of the American way of life are found in the family life on the farm."

I know I could not have accomplished as much in my eight years in the Busy Bugs 4-H Club if it had not been for all the cooperation I have had from all our leaders and my parents.

The following pledge from the 1949 outline for National 4-H Week suggests things all club parents have done—

"You the 4-H parents have pledged your heads to help youngsters plan their projects wisely,

Your hearts to constant encouraging,
Your hands to help them reach their goals,

Your health to keep them strong and well for their club, the community and their country."

For Local 4-H Clubs

Ideas That Work

Reporter's Notice: The Kansas 4-H Journal would like to print interesting stories of your local club events, activities, members and leaders. Local club meeting stories, if submitted, should contain something unusual or of interest to people outside your county.

Outstanding projects, services or events of your club, or stories of individuals within your club that would give ideas to other 4-H'ers would make excellent stories.

Prizes will be awarded all blue award stories each month. Please state your choice (1) a year's subscription to the National 4-H Club News or (2) a hard cover loose leaf 4-H notebook.

IDEAS IN BRIEF

"Learn, Live and Serve" was the theme for the National 4-H Week window display built by the Green Valley Club, McPherson county. The display showed what each word meant to 4-H'ers . . . Home economics agent Dolores Stover gave a talk of "Good Grooming" at a meeting of the Hilary Club, Sedgwick county . . . The Lincoln Livewires Club, Finney county, had a demonstration on hypnosis by a local physician at their last meeting. The physician told of the advantages of hypnosis and when it should be used . . . The Wonder Workers Club, Coffey county, served at a dinner meeting of the Waverly Chamber of Commerce in March . . . More than 200 attended the family night program of the Up and Atom Club, Finney county. Hosts were junior leaders for the potluck supper and program which followed . . . The Rozel Hustlers Club, Pawnee county, window display for National 4-H Week emphasized the Health part of the 4-H emblem . . . Pawnee county junior leaders helped serve the county co-op annual dinner . . . While members and parents of the Lincoln Bluebird Club, Pratt county, were "getting their fill" at a potluck supper, the citizenship and health committees set up a booth to tell their parents of new methods being used in rodent control . . . Members of the Go-Getters Club, Cheyenne county, got bird feed from a local elevator and spread it in the country where birds might eat it . . . "Shape 'Em and Bake 'Em" was the title for a breads demonstration given by Patty Price at a meeting of the Lawnridge Club, Cheyenne county . . . Representative of the Partridge Club, Reno county, at the State Leaders Conference was woodworking leader Mrs. June Hirst . . . Reciting someone else's telephone number was roll call for the North Reno Club, Reno county . . . As a result of a request by the Prosperity Club, Reno county, the TB test was given to 69 pupils and teachers of the local school . . . 4 - H Girls To Apply For Clovia Clovia (4-H girls house at Kansas State University) will accept applications for membership this fall. This is the first time since Clovia was organized in 1931 that applications will be accepted.

Previously membership had been by invitation.

County extension agents have details. Selection will be based on points scored from the written application and an interview.

Clovia was the first cooperative house for college women with 4-H backgrounds in the nation.

Oops!! Goofed!!

Dear Editor:

The manager of the local lumber yard tells me 4-H'ers are asking for the plans they read about in the Kansas 4-H Journal. But he hasn't received them from you yet, so is in an embarrassing situation. Would you see he gets the wood-working plan display soon?

I guess this proves the 4-H members do read the Kansas 4-H Journal in detail.

Enjoyed Colt Project

Dear Editor:

I had a colt project this year for the first time and I enjoyed it very much. I learned a lot about horses. My colt is part Appaloosa. I've been a 4-H'er for seven years and this year I entered the Best Groomed Boy contest. This was a fine experience, too.

Enjoy Journal

Dear Editor:

Will you please cancel our subscription to the Kansas 4-H Journal. It was a gift from the Neosho Valley Cooperative Creamery. We have moved to Texas and are out of a 4-H Club so we are hardly entitled to it now. It's a nice magazine and we used and enjoyed it while at Erie.

Marched Through March

Dear Editor:

May I say: I see March "Marched" right through April. I hope the attached advertisement may make "May".

John Sinn (left) and Mickey Jones, both 14, demonstrate the correct way to clean an electric motor.

Here's how to clean an electric motor

by

JOHN SINN and MICKEY JONES

Magic 4-H Club, Riley County

Electric power is one of the cheapest and most dependable servants on the farm and in the home today.

My partner Mickey Jones and I are enrolled in the electric project of the Magic 4-H Club. This is our second year. On the modern farm we have appliances and power tools that depend entirely on electric motors for their source of power. Your motor can be a tireless, dependable worker. It will be, if you care for it properly yourself and see that it is inspected regularly by a competent serviceman.

Most motors need air to breathe away heat when they are running. Dirt and lint may cause a motor to overheat and even burn out. Mickey and I will demonstrate how to care for an electric motor.

The materials needed to clean the motor are wrenches, screwdriver, air pump, rags, clean dry paint brush, and cleaning fluid.

Be sure the motor is disconnected. Many appliances have the motor built in the unit. In this case it is necessary to disconnect the entire unit.

Remove the pulley.

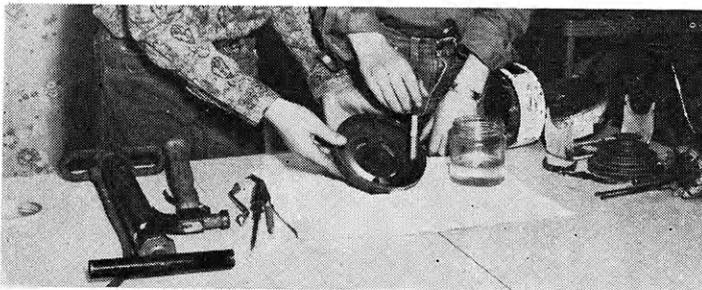

Next mark end bells with light center punch marks. Remove the long bolts with wrench or screw driver. Take the motor apart by removing end bells with light taps of the hammer. Remove rotor shaft and fan assembly. Be careful not to break any wires.

With an air pump, blow loose dirt from the windings and from inside the end plates. Use a dry paint brush to wipe any other dirt that remains. Wash metal parts with cleaning fluid. Be sure to remove all dirt from air passages in the frame and in the rotor. Do not apply cleaning fluid to the coils of the motor unless it is necessary to remove excess grease. Cleaning fluid may damage the insulation on the wires.

Next inspect the starter switch, the commutator, to see whether they need repair.

Reassemble the motor. Be sure all parts go back in their correct positions. When putting on the end plates, be sure the marks are corresponding. Replace long bolts. Tighten the end plate nuts one after the other a little at a time to pull the end plates up evenly.

If necessary lubricate the bearings of the motor according to instructions.
