The Year Book of the KANSAS STATE AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE Published by the Senior Class Manhattan, Kansas.

"To live in the hearts we leave behind is not to die"

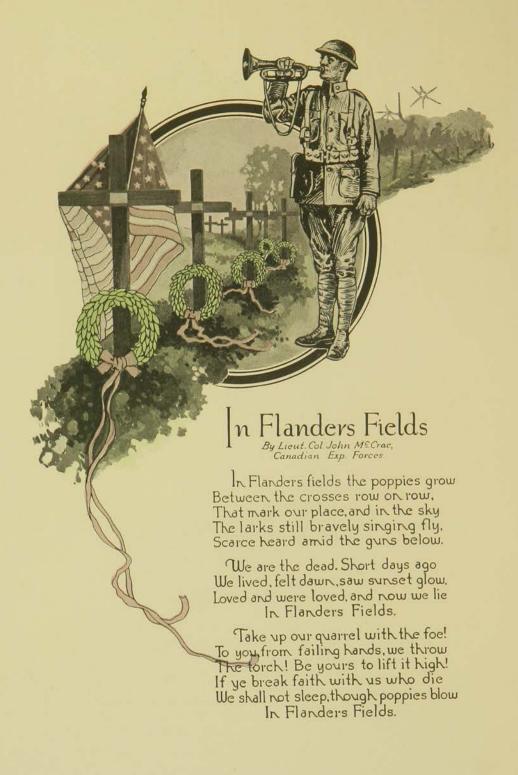

Not unto ancient angry gods,
Nor unto earthly potentates,
We offer honor,
But unto those who lately went out from us,
Being of our kind and kin
And representing us and this our college,
And who, being ours, died in our stead,
Pouring the blood of Kansas on the fields of France.
To them, our comrades now beyond
the veil,
We dedicate this Royal Purple,
The purple still more regal for their sacrifice,
The pages brighter for their stars that rise.
—n.a. crawford

And though the warrior's sun has set It's light shall linger round us yet Bright, radiant, blest."

Greeley

Bring your camera up closer, George. This Harrison was a big man and we want him the biggest thing in the picture. Then, too, of course, he was a scholar, so fill up the background with the library. Yes, right here. We'll make this view imply a lot for the fellow who studies it, see?

Yes.

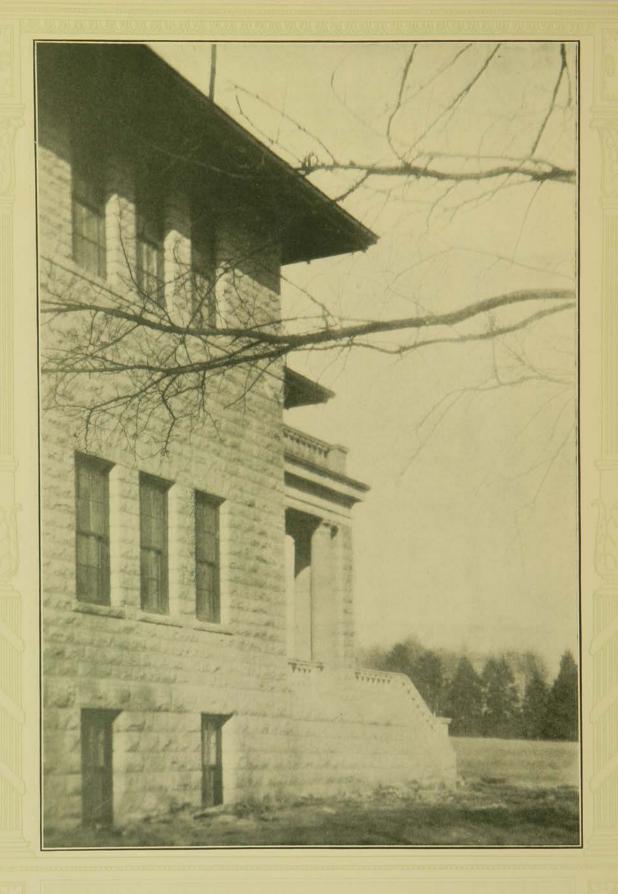

Sure, that's what I said. It was just as—Oh, say, George, this is the best place yet to get Anderson. Boy, that's great! Right here where the spire clefts the branches. A spire means hope to me, George, and I'd like to have just this view in the book, wouldn't you? Yea.

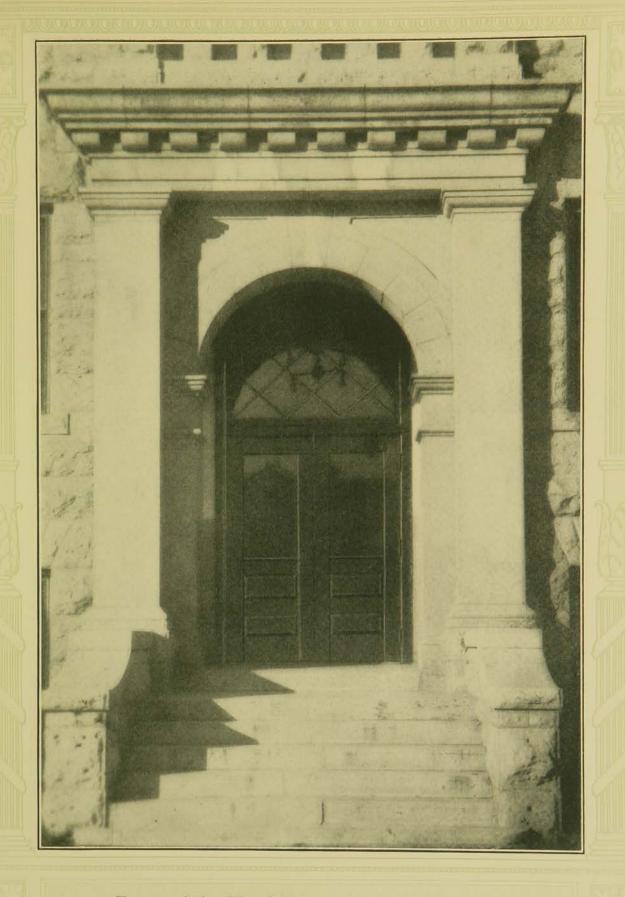

I guess we'd better get this while we're at it. Have to have a dividing walk in somewhere to get sentimental about—though that bulletin board is enough to kill all my sentiment. Better come over here where you can get the lamp, too—lighting the pathways and all that stuff, see?

Yea.

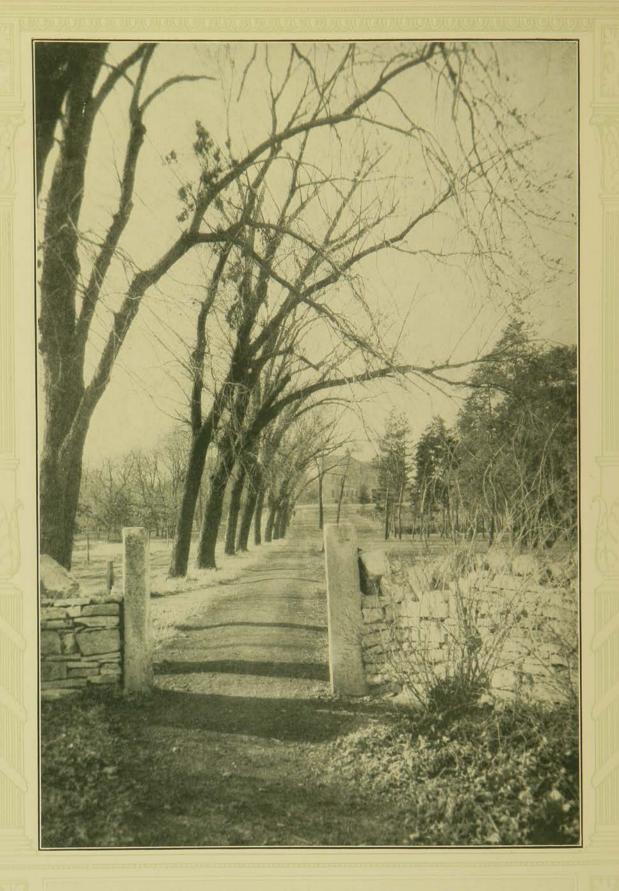

I never did think eating and architecture mixed well, George. Since eating came first it's a shame we can't take a picture of a pork loin instead of a stone wall—or perhaps a fruit salad would combine both. Wouldn't you like to be a philosopher, George?

Yea.

The symmetry is what will be good about this view, George; though I suppose the girls will have something to say about us not getting the whole building. But you can't blame them. They want people to know they make rockbottom puddings and underthings here, and not steam engines, eh George?

Yea.

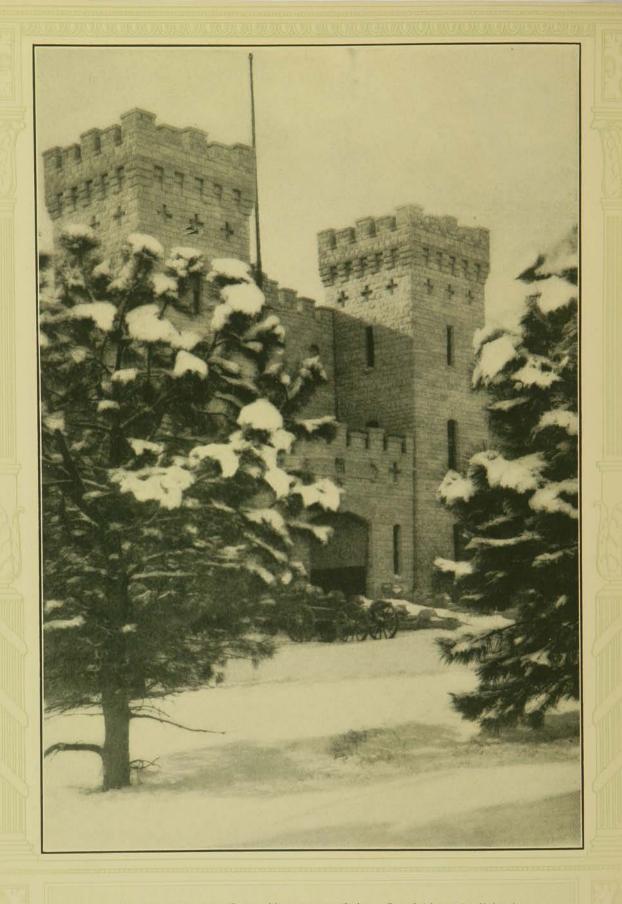

It's a shame the way things of the soul fall before the mercenary campus department, George. They say this place used to be one of these fairy bowers, and now look at it! Might have been a cinder dump. But still, a stone wall suggests trysts, and I think we can get a cloistered effect with the trees, don't you? Yea.

If you can get the view from here, George, we'll have both beauty and modernity in the view—and that will be something of a triumph. You know, even a culvert can be made beautiful, with the lights and the shadows just right. And then there are the trees. Trees are always beautiful, don't you think?

Yea.

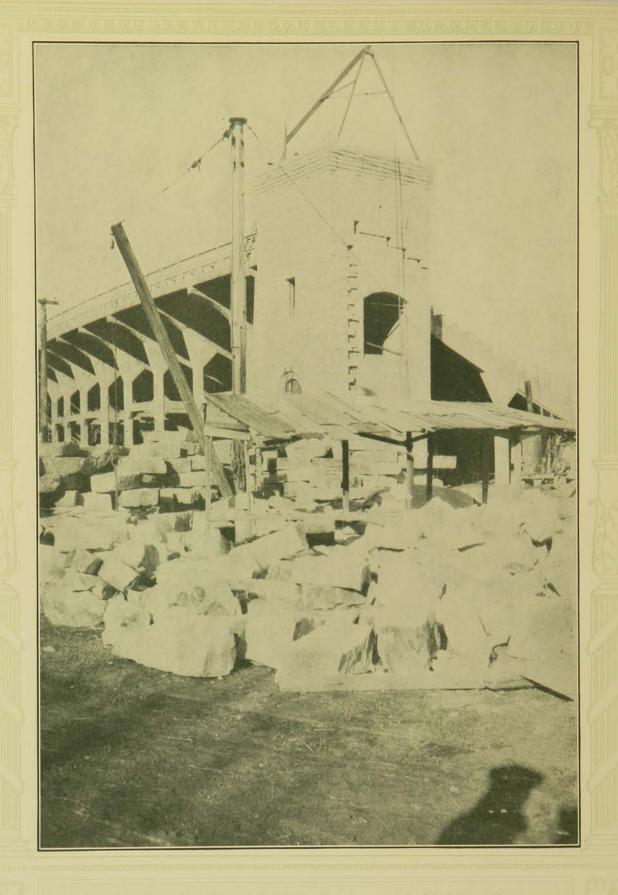

I'm glad of the snow, George; it's so accommodating. Gray battlements, a little grim; gray skies, a little bleak; and the snow drops down and completes the picture. Set the tripod here where the cedars will frame the view. It's going to be powerful, eh?

Yea.

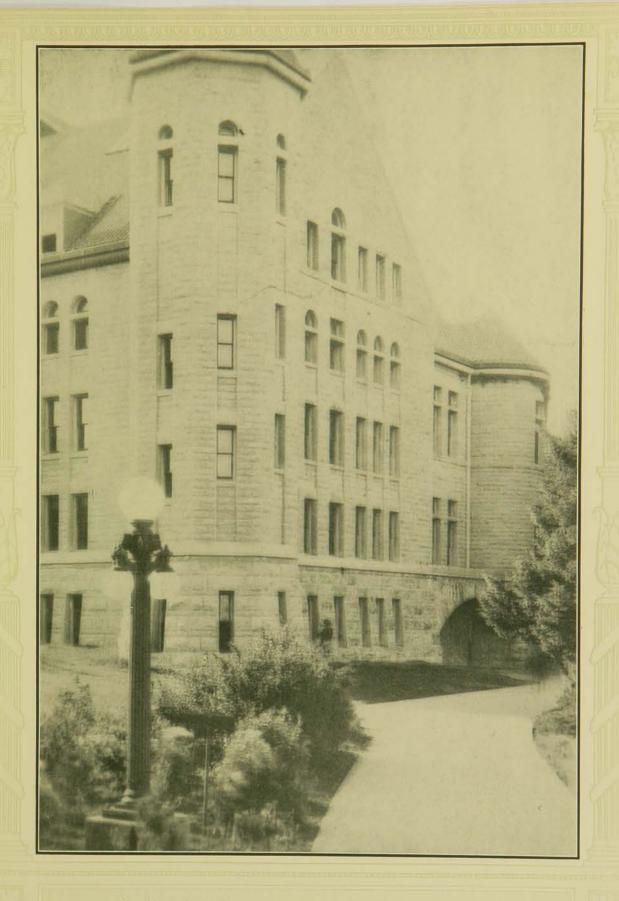

Well, George, 'how's this for a study in white? What? Oh, the devil, I'm not highbrow; but I like to classify things like this when I see them. Besides, the mental effort itself is worth something. It wouldn't hurt you if you would use your head once in a while, either, eh George? Yea.

What do you think, George, is it ethical to sit on a monument? I don't know either—it's practical anyway, and that seems to be the test these materialistic days. And then, too, I never did see much use of people's sacred memories being white elephants. Isn't that what you think, George?

Yea.

Hey, George, this is what I call sneaking up on education from the rear—bushes here for ambush, too. Come to think of it, that's the way most of us have to capture our education, anyway. What—? Oh shut up and switch that camera around here. I suppose you're the reincarnation of Roger Bacon!

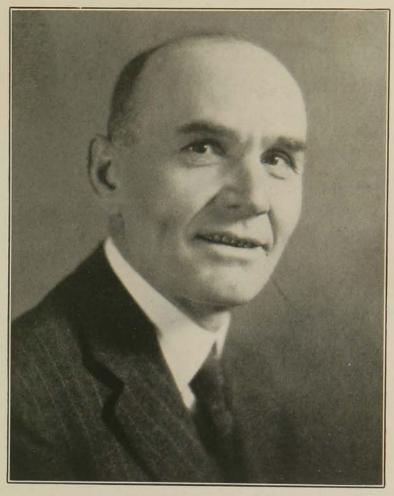

Yea.

Well, George, this is the last picture. As Brownie says, let's make it the best. Sunshine, to me, means everything that's beautiful in life, and the way it struggles through the shadow masses of the great tree there and dots the road in light and shade is all of life itself. Don't you think I'd make a poet, George?

NO!

ROYAL PURPLE

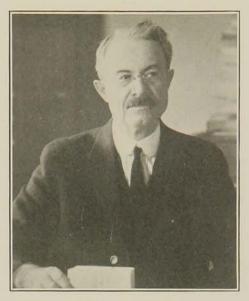

WILLIAM MARION JARDINE
President of the College

T is to be doubted if any institution of higher learning in this country is more fortunate in the matter of presidents than the Kansas State Agricultural College. Under the guidance of President Jardine this institution has expanded rapidly, its prestige has spread and its standards have risen. He has made K. S. A. C. one of the foremost schools of its kind in the United States; he has displayed a profound faith in and regard for the younger generation; he has worked for them and with them, and in so doing he has performed a task of inestimable value to his state and to his nation.

Doctor Jardine's sound thinking and vigorous idealism have made him an outstanding figure in affairs of national scope. The Kansas State Agricultural College can rejoice that it has as its president Dr. W. M. Jardine, a loyal Aggie and an inspiring leader.

Division of General Science

Julius Terrass Willard Dean of the Division

The Division of General Science includes some of the most important fields of instruction in the College, and more than one-half of the total teaching is done by the faculty of that Division, as well as much research work in scientific lines. These fields of instruction may be conveniently grouped as follows:

First: Mathematics and the sciences, physics, chemistry, botany, zoology, entomology, and bacteriology. Mathematics provides the procedure by which all phenomena and all relations, physical, mental, and social, may be studied in a quantitative way; the sciences arm the student with knowledge that promotes his defense in the struggle with Nature, and equips him for co-operation with her. The sciences furnish the basis of scientific facts essential for much of the technical work given in other Divisions.

Second: English, modern languages, industrial journalism and printing, public speaking, and music, channels through which oral and written thoughts are conveyed, the emotions aroused, and action initiated.

Anderson Hall, Administration Building

Division of General Science

Third: History and civics, economics and sociology, education and library economy, s u b j e c t s through which the student is given some insight into the march of events through the centuries, the judgments of great minds upon past and present conditions, and the means by which the evercoming new generation shall be put in touch with "things as they are," that its members may more successfully modify them into the things that ought to be.

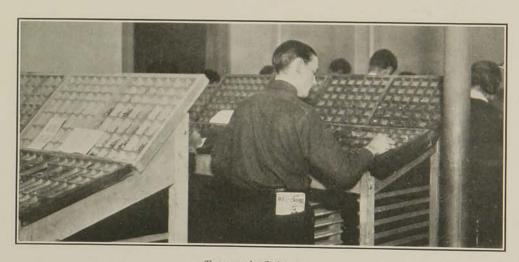

Fourth: Military training, and physical training and athletics, departments especially devoted to conserving and developing the physical endowment of the individual and the race, and to training through which physical security is through which physical security is safeguarded, without which intellectual and spiritual safety and growth are impossible.

This Division is thus the center of education in the College, and the nucleus about which the technical, distinctively vocational departments cluster. Moreover it has under its oversight the administration of several curricula the characteristic work of which is given by departments of the division.

Helen Bishop Thompson

Dean of the Division

Since ancient days in college history, young women in the Kansas State Agricultural College have learned to cook and to sew and to relate these processes to principles learned in the more academic and formal courses. These early opportunities for acquiring skill in household tasks have developed in modern times into a well-rounded curriculum in home economics. The purpose of the college remains the same—to so educate the voung women of Kansas and of other states that they may carry out into the world ideals and habits of work and thought that will make them good citizens, home-makers, teachers, and scientific and practical workers in their different vocations in life.

The course is arranged to meet the needs of the following groups of students: those who wish to teach, those who wish to enter graduate courses leading to technical or professional work, and those who wish to apply their knowledge to various problems of home life or in fields of industry and social service in which an understanding of home economics subjects is essential to intelligent action.

Sandzen Exhibit, Applied Art Department

Division of Home Economics

Courses are required in English, modern language, and history, and in the fundamental physical and social sciences. The technical aspects of home economics are studied as applied to art, clothing and textiles, food economics and nutrition, household sanitation and management. Elective subjects are chosen in the line of the student's chief interest, to the end that the individual's natural ability may be properly developed and life work planned providing the greatest possibilities for service.

Graduates in Home Economics are now employed as lecturers and demonstrators. They are entering the business world, particularly in enterprises requiring a knowledge of the household arts or household management. They work in research laboratories, in hospitals and other institutions, in social and child welfare organizations. In no larger way have they translated their college training into life values than as home-makers, whose daily round of intelligent service contributes to the economic and social advancement of the family and of the state.

Division of Agriculture

Francis David Farrell
Dean of the Division

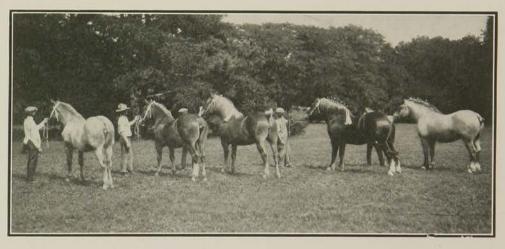

The most outstanding thing about the training received by the agricultural students at K. S. A. C. is that it is well balanced. It is a happy medium, involving both the cultural and the technical. One of its objects is to fit the student to combine labor with thought so as to think productively and to labor happily.

Half of the work required for graduation is in agricultural subjects. The other half includes english, chemistry, botany, zoology, geology, entomology, bacteriology, history, business law, economics, and other subjects of practical value in agriculture and country life and in good citizenship.

Agriculture is the greatest industry in the world. All other industries and all the institutions of civilization are dependent on its prosperity and progress. Agriculture needs thousands of capable leaders, on the farm and in scores of other occupations. It provides such leaders with interesting, wholesome, and profitable employment.

The college always has more demands for agricultural graduates than it can supply. These demands come from agricultural enterprises, banks, railroads, experiment stations, fertilizer companies, seed houses, flour mills, grain companies, creameries, and scores of other places where trained young men are needed. The training given agricultural students at K. S. A. C. helps them to become successful in these enterprises.

The division offers 133 collegiate courses in its departments of Agricultural Economics, Agronomy, Animal Husbandry, Horticulture, Milling Industry and Poultry Husbandry. Liberal opportunities are offered for choosing elective courses not only in the Division of Agriculture, but also in the Divisions of General Science and Engineering.

The more than one thousand graduates of K. S. A. C. are engaged in 150 agricultural occupations in practically every state in the Union and in many foreign countries.

Hugh Durham Assistant to the Dean

The agricultural students are prominent in student affairs, including athletics, debate, music, journalism, public speaking, and other wholesome activities which help young men to prepare themselves for successful professional careers, constructive citizenship, and good living.

Division of Engineering

Roy Andrew Seaton

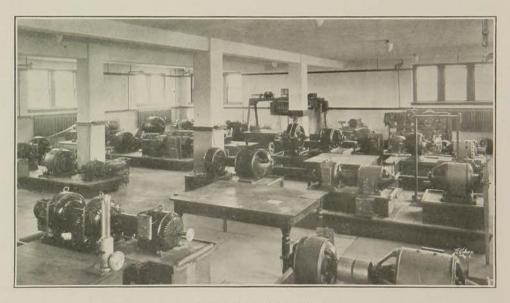

Dean of the Division

The Engineering Division of the Kansas State Agricultural College is 26 years old. In 1897 the first four-year course leading to a degree in engineering was established. Prior to this time work in engineering was confined to systematic courses in shopwork.

After a growth of 26 years the Engineering Division ranks as one of the important technical institutions in the United States. Four-year curricula are offered leading to a degree in agricultural engineering, architecture, civil engineering, electrical engineering, flour-mill engineering, and mechanical engineering.

In addition to the four-year curricula, special instruction in a number of vocations is offered for those who desire special training in these vocations and who find it impossible to take advantage of the longer courses. A three-year curriculum in mechanic arts with trade electives in blacksmithing, carpentry, concrete construction, and stationary and traction engines is given.

The Dynamo Laboratory

Division of Engineering

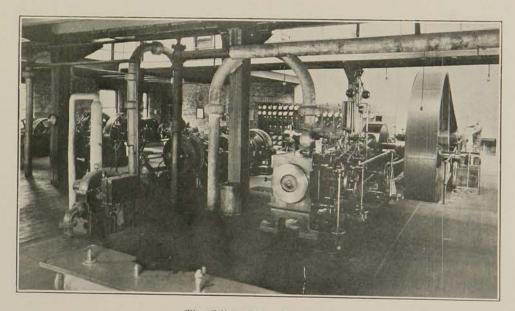

One and two-year trade courses in automobile mechanics, carpentry, blacksmithing, foundry practice, machine shop practice and tractor operation have recently been added. Short special courses of eight and twelve weeks duration are given for automobile mechanics, tractor operators, carpenters, machinists, blacksmiths, electricians and foundrymen.

The Engineering Experiment Station of the college, organized for the purpose of conducting tests, surveys and research of engineering and manufacturing value to the various industries of the state, has proven itself of material benefit to the citizens of Kansas. In addition to the various research problems solved by the Experiment Station, it has been made the official testing laboratory for the Kansas Highway Commission, and all materials used or contemplated for use in hard surface roads built in Kansas under the supervision of this commission are tested by the Station. Similarly the State has looked to the Engineering Experiment Station to test all lubricating oils purchased for use in the various state institutions.

The College Power Plant

Division of Veterinary Medicine

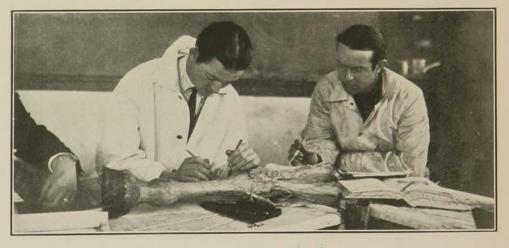

RALPH RALPH DYKSTRA Dean of the Division

Twelve universities and colleges in the United States offer courses in Veterinary Medicine leading to the degree, Doctor of Veterinary Medicine. From the standpoint of enrollment, the Kansas school ranks fourth, though it is not situated in a densely populated region. There are enrolled for the 1922-23 college year students from Arkansas, California, Indiana, I o w a, Kansas, Louisiana, Massachusetts, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, North Dakota, Oklahoma, South Carolina, Wisconsin, Philippine Islands, and China.

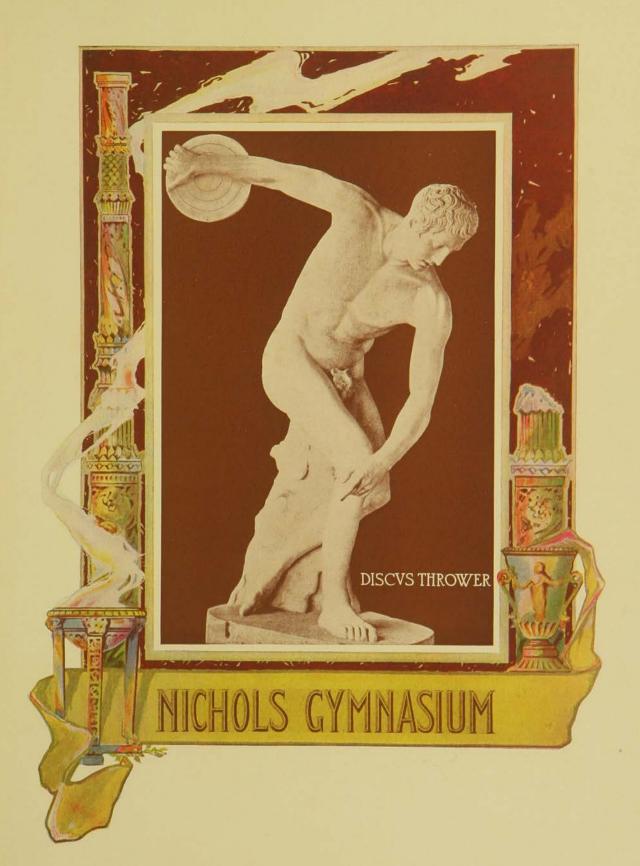

The division of Veterinary Medicine is housed in a three-story stone building, and in addition, at the beginning of the 1923-24 college year, will occupy a new $100,000 veterinary hospital. Fifteen acceptable units of high school work or its equivalent are required for admission to the freshman class. The curriculum requires four years for its completion.

The old school of non-graduate practitioners is everywhere disappearing, and the places taken by the modern graduate veterinarians. So rapidly is this process taking place that at the present time only one graduate is available for every four veterinarians retiring.

The Aggie Wildcat

TOUCHDOWN II

The old Aggie fight is best typified by our mascot, the wildcat, emblematic of the spirited aggressiveness of K. S. A. C. This year, especially, have the Aggies been dominated by the characteristics of Touchdown H. The Jayhawk found that it could make a reasonable advance against the cat, but that when his back was against the wall in hot contest over the last yard, the powerful arm of the Wildcat was a dread weapon. The Cornhusker threatened the peace of our fighting Aggies, but in spite of that much vaunted danger, an ominous gleam shone from the old cat's eyes and at Nebraska they are still talking about the nimble warrior that invaded the north. As one passes by the cage where Touchdown makes his residence one cannot help but be impressed with the fact that the sleek fellow is always at the top, that he is ever alert, that he always faces his danger squarely and that he is never caught napping. And as one gazes in admiration at this noble patriot one realizes that surely those qualities which we have seen and admired in him have been miraculously infused into the blood of every student on our campus, to make of him a fighting loyal Aggie.

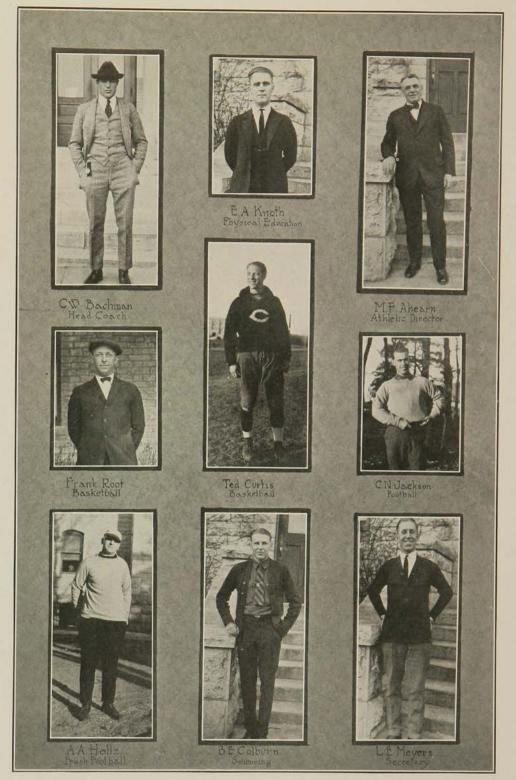

Michael Francis Ahearn
Athletic Director

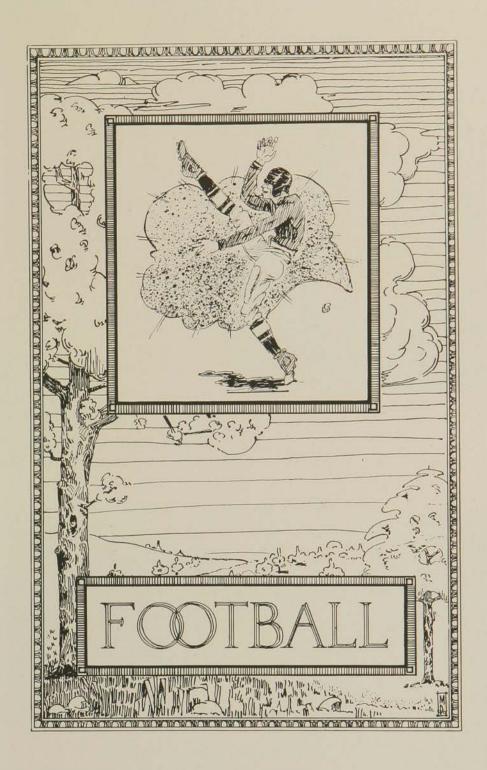

Other colleges have their professors and doctors in charge of physical education departments; K. S. A. C. has Mike. If he continues here much longer it will probably be "Saint Mike," for the press correspondents are doing their best to canonize him by constant reference to the "Patron Saint of Aggie Athletics." Never-flagging loyalty, high ideals, good Irish wit, and fine executive ability are the virtues of Mike. He has no vices.

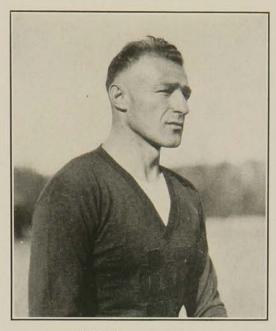

CHARLES WILLIAM BACHMAN Head Coach

The man who, in three seasons, has brought the Aggie football team from the undisputed possession of the cellar championship of the conference to a place at the top. The man who inspired the "I will" and "each for all and all for each" spirit in Aggie teams. The man who made the "$66,000 speech" that started the Memorial Stadium. In short, "The Man Who" of Aggie athletics.

1922 Football

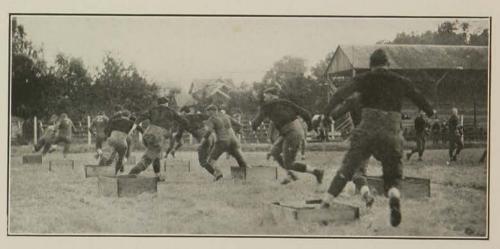

C. W. BACHMAN, Coach

The best compliment to Aggie football we know is that "Bach" turned down a $10,000 per year offer to "develop the possibilities here."

Five victories, one defeat, and two tie scores were on the Aggie football chart at the end of the 1922 season. The team was ranked third in the Missouri Valley Conference, being placed below the undefeated Nebraska and Drake aggregations.

There is no quibble over the awarding of the championship by sport writers of the section to the Cornhuskers. They proved themselves the "power" of the Valley, defeating all opponents by decisive scores, the Aggies' feat of holding the crimson horde to a 21-0 score being noteworthy.

Outside Nebraska, the other teams in the conference were quite evenly matched, as is attested by the close scores of games. There were the usual number of upsets to the dope bucket in which Aggie teams figured along with the rest.

Through the Bachman Mill

1922 Football

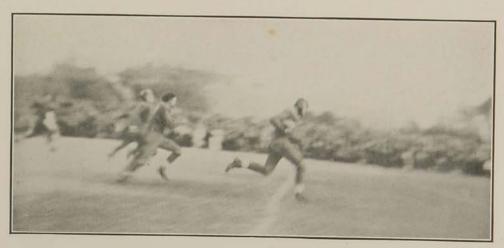

The development of the forward pass by Bachman's Wildcats was the outstanding feature of the Conference season from the standpoint of new elements in play. The combination of Swartz and Stark, who pass left-handed and right-handed respectively, together with the running pass, the screen pass, and the short-or-long pass, made the Aggie attack spectacular and thrilling to the ultimate degree. beautiful precision with which the variation of the Notre Dame backfield shift was worked in the latter games of the season also is something to cause the pulse to quicken in remembrance.

The spirit of unselfish cooperation that has dominated each man on the team throughout the season has contributed immeasurably to the success of the 1922 aggregation, and this spirit of unity if carried over until next fall will insure the Aggies a still better team for 1923.

RAY D. HAHN, Captain

"A throbbing turbine in the Aggie line," said C. E. McBride of the Wildcat captain. No critic failed to place Hahn on his "All' team.

Washburn 0—Aggies 47

October 7, 1922

Captain-Elect Nobody picked an all-valley squad that didn't include Nick.

A victory over Washburn by a lopsided score opened the 1922 gridiron season at Manhattan. The Aggies scored seven touchdowns and five successful tries-for-point, for a total of 47, while Washburn drew a lonesome cipher.

The student activity fee proved itself successful as 3,500 people witnessed the first Aggie victory.

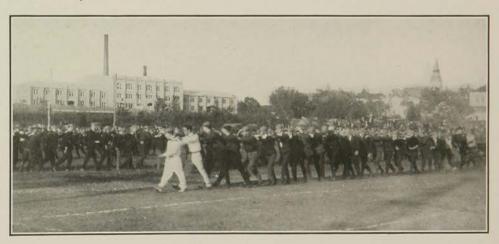

Right end A dependable extra-point getter and clever pass taker.

The game also gave opportunity for Wildcat partisans to test out the first section of the Memorial Stadium.

The Aggie team had everything that any team is supposed to have at the start of a season—and then some. Forward passes of bewildering variety, the old reliable off-tackle slant, featuring either Stark or Burton, the line-plunging of Sears—all were done in flawless style. The second team got to play two-quarters of the game and performed creditably.

BUT—Ding Burton suffered an injury to his side that slowed him up for the remainder of the season. In the words accredited to Pyhrrus, "Another such victory and we had been undone."

estimate.

The Aggies' first conference game of the season was played at St. Louis with Washington University—the Wildcats securing the long end of the score. The team manifested a tendency to fumble, particularly on forward passes, but otherwise made a good showing.

Stark, Sears and Sebring scored touchdowns for the Aggies, and Sebring produced in two of the three attempts at place kick for point after touchdown. Stark, dubbed "the best in the west" by his teammates, fulfilled the promise he gave in 1921 of becoming one of the Aggie football immortals. His 55-yard run through a broken field was the feature of the game.

The two Piker tallies came as a result of long passes. One, Claypool to Thumser, was chucked 25 yards diagonally across the field and also—alas!—across the last white stripe. That was the sum total of the Washington offensive, the Aggie goal not being endangered at any other time.

A week of gruelling practice that must have been torture to the bruised and battered Wildcats followed the Sooner game while the Aggie casualty list read like a roster of the first squad.

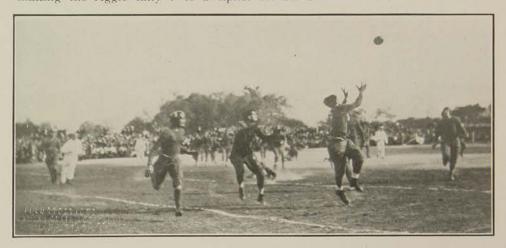

Came a day when the Crimson and Blue horde swept down upon Ahearn field, fresh and rested after a two-weeks' lay-off broken only by a game with Washburn.

The best punter and speed merchant of the squad.

The old-time jinx seemed to have roosted once more on Aggie Standards at the start of the game when a recovered fumble put the Jayhawk on the Aggie 20-yard line. However, two plays lost ground, and preceding the third play the jinx flapped away to his lair down the Kaw, for on that third play was made the Aggie touchdown. McAdams (K. U.) faked a punt and passed—into the arms of the waiting and eager Captain Hahn.

Seventy yards to the K. U. goal line. And Ray did it at express train speed, while Nichols furnished effective interference. When it was clear that the touchdown was a reality the Aggie rooters went wild. Sebring kicked goal, making the Aggie tally 7 to a cipher for K. U.

However, Aggie joy was short-lived. On the play following the kickoff, Stark fumbled, and a Jayhawk warrior recovered on the Wildcat 18yard line. McAdams and Krueger smashed and passed their way to the four-yard line, where, on the fourth down, Krueger passed over the line into Wilson's hands. Wilson kicked goal and the score was tied.

Fullback Consistent, hardworking, and superlatively good on defense.

The remaining three-quarters of the game were thrilling, but lacked scoring value. The Aggie line held the Jayhawk rushes time after time, when a few yards would have meant a touchdown. The Wildcat offensive got underway only once (in the fourth quarter) and the rest of the final half was K. U.'s as far as ground-gaining was concerned.

But the old grads, former students, and the friends of the college—13,000 of them—got their money's worth, while the overcrowded condition of the seating accommodations demonstrated clearly and convincingly that the Stadium entire must be built.

to Axline or Sebring, combined with brilliant off-tackle slants by the "Swede," were the offensive weapons which Swartz handled skilfully to thrust from the Aggie 20-yard line deep into Sooner territory. Then Stark catapulted through the Oklahoma right guard 11 yards for a touchdown. Sebring place-kicked the goal.

Then the injury jinx got in its deadly work and Axline, Stark, and Staib were carried from the field. Three times within the 10-yard zone the Aggie line stopped the charges of Morrison, Bristow, Hammert, and Johnson. But the fourth time, with two minutes left to play, Hammert swung out for an 11vard run across the last white stripe. Bowles kicked goal and the scoring was over.

For the first time, the Bachman machine demonstrated the full measure of its capabilities on offense in the game at Columbia. It was a beautiful autumn day. dive, and cut-in, Sears caroming off the Missouri right tackle for the tally.

But the Tigers came back in the third period with a magnificent 80-yard march for a touch-down. Then they started for another, but the Wildcat line held in the 30-yard zone. The giant Lincoln rose to the occasion here and booted a perfect field goal, putting the Tigers in the lead.

The Missouri scoring stung the Wildcats into action in the final quarter. A brilliant passing offensive forced the Tigers far into their own territory and Stark scored the touchdown that meant victory.

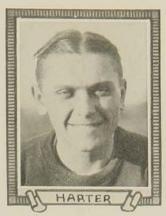

It was a hard battle fairly won from sportsmanlike opponents.

At the start of the third period the rain let up for a few minutes, and the Aggies took advantage of the respite to pass their way across the enemy goal once more. Munn took the final flip standing behind the last Ames line.

The visitors staged a belated drive in the final period, but the Aggie line held. A safety by Axline netted Ames two points.

It was the remarkable forward passing with a slippery, soggy ball and on insecure footing that earned the Aggies their "Wonder Team" appellation Armistice Day.

21 passes in 37 attempts; they gained 17 first downs to Nebraska's 14, and they scored a touchdown that was disallowed because of a penalty for backfield in motion. But the Huskers earned a victory by their tremendous driving power and their seemingly inexhaustable reserve of fresh players. Two touchdowns resulted directly from unfavorable breaks for the Aggies, but the third was earned by Noble, brilliant Nebraska half back, who carried the leather half the length of the field for a score in six consecutive plays.

Swartz, our 140-pound quarterback, generaled his team superbly. Further talk will serve no useful purpose, but be it stated that IT WAS A TEAM that wore the Purple that day.

The story of the romp over, around and through the Texas Christian University Eleven on Ahearn field Thanksgiving Day is the story of what Stark meant to the Wildcat scoring machine.

With the brilliant "triple-threater" on the sidelines for the first half, the Aggie punch was lacking. The visitors gave courteously for five or ten yards in the middle of the field, but remained adamant about letting Aggie backs through for touchdowns, while the forward passing end of the Bachman offensive failed of contact between the passer and the receiver.

But, Oh! Boy! that second half with Stark in there. Three touchdowns in the third quarter, four in the fourth and three goals after touchdown for 45 points. Three eighty-yard marches from kickoff, each averaging six minutes to complete, with Stark tearing off anywhere from five to forty yards around end or off-tackle whenever he carried the ball. Then Bachman started substituting, but the Texans were too bewildered by that time to distinguish between substitute and regular, and the scoring parade progressed relentlessly until the final whistle.

and Yandell will be missed. However, even with these sturdy warriors gone, there still remains a veteran for every position on the 1923 team, with more than one old-timer for some positions, notably the ends and guards. Look over the list of men who will return: Munn, Webber, Doolen, ends; Captain Nichols, Stauffer, tackles; Swartz, quarterback; Schindler, Steiner, Lasswell, Huston, guards; Harter, Hutton, centers; Stark, Axline, Brown, half backs; Clements, fullback. Many a conference coach would be tickled pink to have that array of stalwarts and no more. However, "Bach" also has the 1922 yearlings. We have the material and the coach. ADRIAN A. HOLTZ

The Y. M. C. A. secretary forgot his clerical training for three hectic hours every afternoon in exhorting his Frosh to "eat up" the varsity.

The loyal frosh of the 1922 squad proved excellent door mats for the varsity, and displayed promise of becoming members of that self-same varsity in 1923. They put in a singularly hard season with very small reward. The varsity was of such high calibre that it was real punishment to stand up against them in scrimmage three nights a week. But the yearlings got a free trip to Nebraska. Seeing that game was ample payment.

"Ted" has guided the destinies of the Aggie basketeers for the past two seasons.

For the second successive year the Aggie Basketball Team had a disastrous season. They won two games, one from Grinnell and one from Nebraska, and dropped the remainder of the contests.

The campus dopesters have spent many long hours diagnosing the season and assigning different reasons for the failure of the Aggies to make their undoubted fight count in the scoring column. However, that's water under the bridge. The encouraging thing about the season is that the Aggies seemed to find themselves toward the close, and that much good material was uncovered on the freshman team.

The 1923 freshman basketball squad was one of the best turned out at the Kansas State Agricultural College. Under the direction of Frank Root, an Aggie star of a decade ago, the yearlings developed into a scoring machine that made formidable opposition for the varsity. Much good material should be available for the varsity coach next season if the youngsters all return.

Coach Root, who has tutored several high school winners, used the Meehan system, broadening it to include a five-man offense. The squad possessed natural ability and speed well adapted to this style of play.

About 83 men answered the call for freshmen basketball players. From this number 22 were finally selected to compose the freshman squad. The green-jerseyed lads made a creditable showing against the varsity in the practice games played.

Among the likely contenders for positions on the K. S. A. C. five next year are Sprout and Eddy, centers; Koch, Tebow, Weidenbach, Miller and Moore, forwards; Kirk and Grothusen, guards. Other members of the squad are Edgell, Johnson, Sederquist, McGee, Asher and Seldon.

1922 Track

C. W. BACHMAN, Coach

A conscientious trainer himself during undergraduate days, Coach Bachman kept his track men in fine fettle throughout the season, and produced a team that scored relatively high, especially as it was pronouncedly weak in several departments of track and field sport.

Four K. S. A. C. track records were lowered by the 1922 Aggie track team, but weakness in certain departments of the sport prevented the Aggies from producing enough points to win a conference dual meet, or to "win, place, or show" in the all-conference meet held in K. U.'s new Memorial Stadium at Lawrence.

The sprints and the long distance events were the specialties of Wildcat tracksters. The men in the distance events were fortunate in having the assistance of Ray B. Watson, '21, a middle-distance runner of prominence, and a member of the team which represented the United States at the 1920 Olmypiad.

Ivan Riley, "Red" Erwin, and Maurelle Dobson earned niches in the Aggie hall of fame by their feats on the cinder path. Riley it was who, at the Missouri Valley meet, won the only first for the Aggies and set a new school record in the 220-yard low hurdles, topping the timbers in 24 3/5 seconds, 1/10 of a second faster than Cliff Gallagher's old record.

Erwin flashed into the limelight by coming within 1/10 of a second of the world's record in the 220-yard dash at this same meet.

1922 Varsity Track Squad

Track 1922

He stepped the distance in 22 1/5 seconds. "Red" also, some are inclined to believe, tied the school record in the 100-yard dash at the conference meet. He and Smith of Nebraska battled stride-for-stride all the way, but the officials gave Smith the decision. This was questioned, and final settlement has not been made. Photographs showing that Erwin broke the tape some four inches ahead have been submitted. The time of the race was 9 4/5 seconds.

Dobson set a new outdoor record for the pole vault by tying at 12 feet with Rogers of Kansas for first place in the conference meet. Hope made fast time in the 110-yard high hurdles at Lincoln in the dual meet with Nebraska. He lowered the Cornhusker track record 1/5 of a second by hopping the sticks in 15 1/5 seconds.

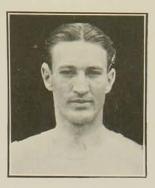

W. J. MATTHIAS, Captain
"Bill" fitted in anywhere on a relay team for any distance from a quarter-mile up, and was a strong competitor in the individual distance events.

The four-mile and two-mile relay teams were better than average. Matthias Clapp, Henre, and Kuykendall, the four-mile quartette, took third place at the Illinois indoor carnival, and the same team, with Price substituted for Henre, placed fifth at the Drake relays. Matthias, Henre, Kuykendall, and Price won the two-mile relay from the University of Kansas team at the K. C. A. C. indoor meet.

JOHNSON

UNDER the leadership of Captain Merle Henre, the Aggie cross-country team of 1922 had a successful season, winning dual meets from the University of Kansas and University of Nebraska harriers, and placing well up in the running at the annual Missouri Valley meet at St. Louis. Captain Henre led the field at St. Louis.

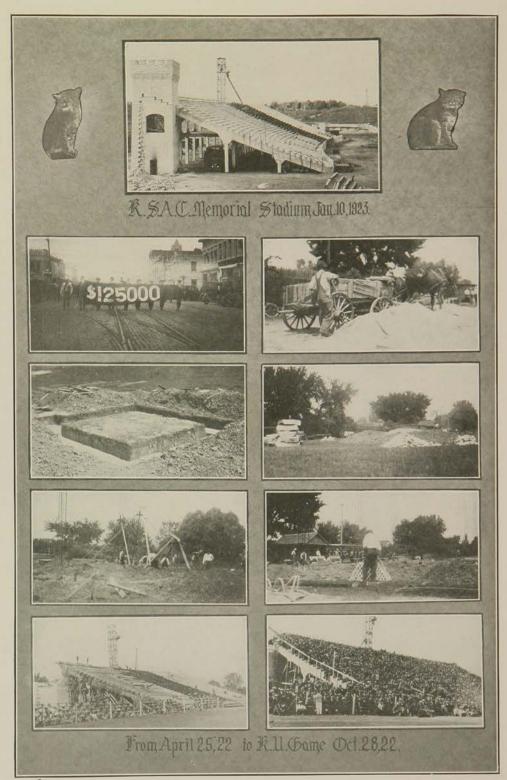

The score of the victory over the Jayhawk plodders October 28 over the local course was Aggies 25, K. U. 30. However, the University team reversed the tables a week later, winning by a score of 26 to 29 at Lawrence. The Aggies were on the winning end of a 26-29 score in the meet with the University of Nebraska at Lincoln, November 18. Henre failed to place first in only one race during the season, the second meet with the Jayhawk harriers.

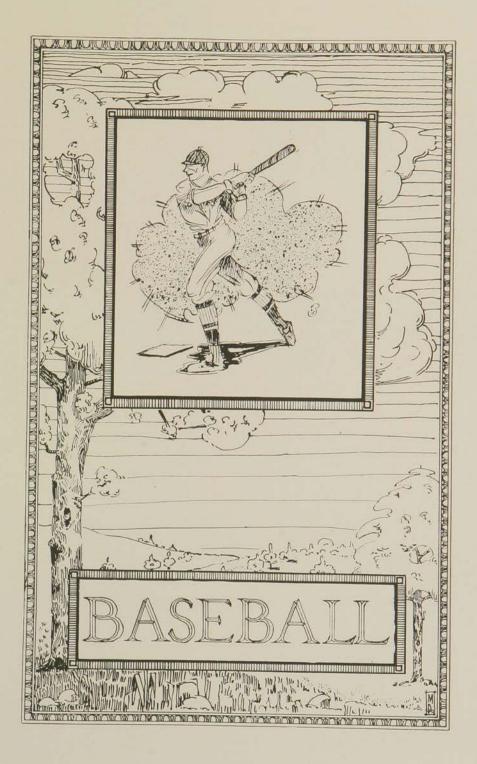

The requirements for the winning of a letter in cross-country are exceptionally strict, and the athletes who go out for this form of sport have few cheers to urge them on, as the events are staged before big football games when the spectators have their minds fixed on the main event. The cross-country squad of K. S. A. C., as of other colleges, is deserving of more recognition than it is accorded.

Evan L. Griffith, Captain (1922)

One of the most brainy players that ever wore an Aggie uniform, "Griff" was an ideal leader, able to produce in the pinch, to snag wild throws to first base, and to general his men on defense or offense.

With three seasoned players, but with inexperienced men for the remaining nine positions on the diamond, the Kansas Aggies of 1922 played an erratic style of baseball and finished the season with a record of three wins and twelve losses. There is no discredit accruing to either team or coach, however, for the Aggies fought all the way and not once were they defeated by a wide margin after the first three games of the season.

In three games the slight superiority of the victors over the Aggies was attested by one-run leads, and in three others two tallies separated the winners and the losers. Aggie fans recall with anguish even yet those two games dropped to Nebraska in the last half of the ninth inning, and the one-run victory that K. U. nosed out despite the superb pitching of Henry Karns.

No alibis need be offered for the showing of the team, however. Compared with the seasoned nines put in the field by Nebraska, Kansas, and Oklahoma, our conference opponents, the Aggies hadn't much license to win, and coach Curtiss wisely devoted his effort to the development of material for the 1923 nine.

The 1922 Baseball Squad

It was tough, though for Captain Evan Griffith, Brady Cowell, and "Ding" Burton, veterans of the 1920 and 1921 teams that were trouble-makers for any aggregation in the conference, to close their college baseball careers with a second-division team. The old-timers battled hard and wisely, as witness. Griff's home-run hitting in the first Oklahoma game here, Brady's sensational fielding, and Ding's pepper behind the bat, but the young-sters were not able always to cope with the superior craft of their opponents.

Mackay Hake Colburn Knoth Dilts Miller Magill

The Aggie swimming team again lacked sufficient competition to make the season an interesting one. Nebraska was again defeated this year, the score being 38 to 22. The team also met the Washington Pikers at Saint Louis and should have won easily but the illness of Captain Burton Colburn, the most consistent point maker on the team, was partly responsible for the team losing a hard and close battle 34 to 25. Attempts were made to schedule meets with Ames, University of Illinois, University of Chicago, Northwestern University, Creighton and many other schools, but to no avail.

The season, however, produced several good swimmers; the most outstanding being F. H. Dilts, whose specialty is the back stroke. Dilts is doing the 150 yard back stroke in close to Western Conference record time and is expected to break some records next year. He is also a very fast crawl stroke man.

L. C. Miller was another new product this year; causing his recognition first when he defeated the veterans Hake and Woodworth for a position on the relay team. Miller is also developing into a good fancy diver.

Colburn, Mackay, Magill and Hake performed in their usual good form throughout the season. Professor Knoth, despite his many other duties in the athletic department, proved himself a most capable coach for the swimming team.

E. A. KNOTH, Manager

Ever since the fall of 1920, which marked the introduction of intramural athletics at K. S. A. C., this form of athletics has grown in popularity with each new event. However, the formation this year of a regularly organized association for the promotion of intramural athletics on a sound basis has stimulated the enthusiasm far above all expectations. Furthermore, the association has been able to award more and better prizes with but very little assistance from the college athletic association. The small fee charged the organizations and the receipts from the boxing and wrestling tournaments have taken care of practically all expenditures. Thirty-one organizations with over eleven hundred students and about one hundred more unattached men now form the active list of membership in the K. S. A. C. Intramural Athletic Association.

Miss Mary Worrall, also a graduate of the Sargent School, has the honor of holding the world's record for women's high hurdles. She has been exceptionally successful in coaching hockey and track teams, and in teaching apparatus work.

Miss Wade is a new member of the department. She comes from Oberlin College, Oberlin, Ohio, and is doing special corrective work. She is also teaching interpretive and aesthetic dancing.

The members of the department work in co-operation with the Women's Athletic Association and with the Women's K Fraternity. The annual May Fete is given under the general direction of the Women's Physical Training Department in conjunction with the Y. W. C. A.

Announcement has just been made of the resignation of both Miss Tausche and Miss Worrall, to take effect June 1, 1923. Miss Tausche intends to continue as a director of physical education in Wisconsin. Miss Worrall expects to make an extended trip through the western states this summer and after August 1, will be at her home in Kennett Square, Pa.

SENIOR CLASS TEAM

The color tournament—held early in the fall—which is preliminary to the choosing of the class hockey teams, was an unusual success this year. Over 500 girls, a majority of whom were freshmen and sophomores, took an active part in the games. At the close of the color tournament, the four class teams were chosen from the girls who did the best work in the color games.

The Senior class team is honorary and is composed of eight senior girls prominent in athletics, who were especially active in the preliminary color tournament.

JUNIOR CLASS TEAM

The junior team won the championship of the 1922 season by defeating the sophomores 3-1 and the freshmen 2-1. SOPHOMORE CLASS TEAM

The freshmen and sophomore teams were very evenly matched, tying for second place in the class tournament. These teams were selected from the many freshmen and sophomore girls who showed up exceptionally well in the color tournament. Competition for places on these teams was unusually keen.

The annual hockey "Spread" was held in the girls' gymnasium, November 27. The spread was prepared by the girls of the senior team and was served by the freshmen.

SENIOR CLASS SQUAD

In basketball as in hockey, a color tournament and a class tournament were held. Basketball is a favorite sport among the girls, 200 signing up. The color tournament began December 4th and lasted until January 19. Two games were played every evening at 5 o'clock and four games every Saturday afternoon. There were twelve color teams competing. After a season of eleven games for each team the blue team, captained by Inga Ross won the champion-Much enthusiasm was shown in these games. It gives a chance for old players to become more efficient and for new girls to learn the game.

JUNIOR CLASS SQUAD

Fifteen of the best players from each class are chosen from the color teams to represent the class squads. A position on the squad gives a girl twenty-five points toward her K sweater. These girls played the class tournament games which were held in the men's gymnasium. This was not only a competition between classes but also among members of the class squads to play the required time to make the class team. There were three games played. Each girl to gain her 75 points for class teams had to play one full game, three fifteen minute halves or a total of forty-five minutes.

This year the Senior class won the championship. This is the third consecutive year that the class of 1923 has succeeded in defeating their opponents. As a result they will be awarded the Askren silver loving cup.

The season was closed by a basketball spread held in the girls' gymnasium. At this time the honorary varsity team was announced. The members are: Hattie Betz, Madge Locke, Amy Conrow, Alice Marston, Thelma Haeberle, Geraldine Reed, Catherine Bernhisel, Josephine Trindle, Merle Grinsted and Cecile Frances.

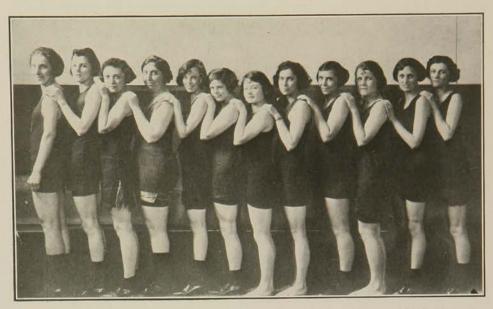

Good sportsmanship and cooperation among the girls made a most successful year. The basketball manager was Inez Coleman.

Captain Law of the S. W. Division of the American Red Cross came to Manhattan March 28, and taught the corps the new methods adopted by the national organization. Also he gave an exhibition in the Men's pool of the evolution of the different swimming strokes. He assisted in organizing a Junior Corps in Manhattan High School of which the K. S. A. C. Corps has charge.

Class Swimming Squads

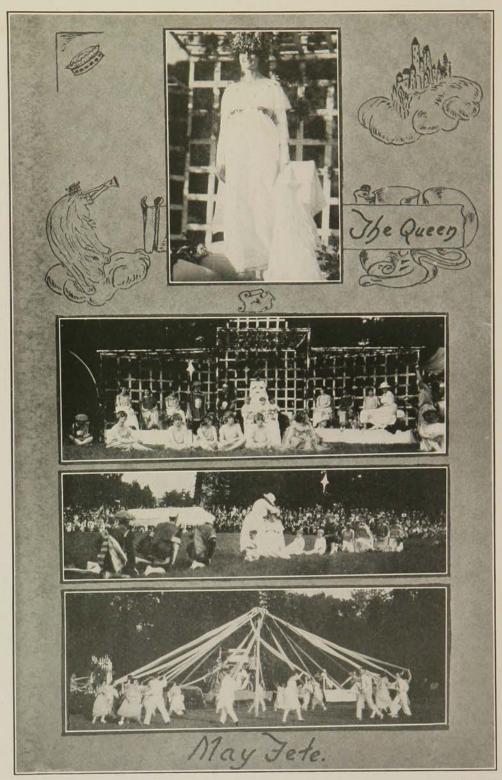

Swimming is offered as an elective course in the Women's Physical Education department and the increased interest shown in aquatics has made possible the inauguration of the annual inter-class swimming meet, held in April of each year. This swimming meet, last year, was won by the Junior-Senior team.

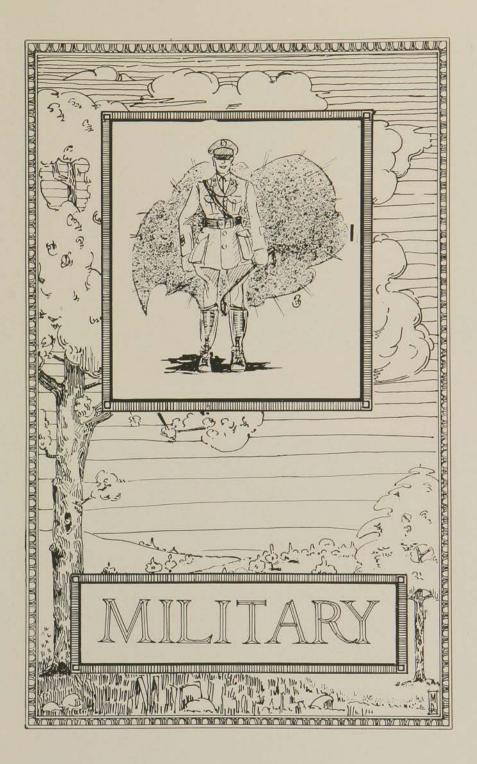

This year fifty girls tried out for the class squads and from this number the following were selected: Seniors, Helen Larson (Captain), Lucille Anderson, Faith Martin, Hazel Gardner; Juniors. Florence Carey (Captain), Leonora Doll, Ruth Kittell, Margaret Gallemore, Kathryn Moore, Alice Carney; Sophomores, Corrine Smith (Captain), Laureda Thompson, Dorothy Frost, Margaret Thrall, Erma Jean Huckstead, Della Justice, Ruth Ackors, Ruth Trinkle, Myrna Smale, Estelle Lasswell; Freshmen, Dorothy Spry (Captain), Ethel Sexton, Patricia Smith, Constance Clark, Esther Bales, Dorothy Booth.

The swimming meet is sponsored by the Women's Athletic Association and making the class squad counts twenty-five points toward the "K" sweater. For making a place on the class team seventy-five additional points are awarded. A position on the honorary varsity team counts fifty extra points toward the sweater.

Miss Louise Tausche, head of the Women's Physical Education department, coaches the swimming teams and has been successful in developing a large number of excellent swimmers and divers.

Major Frederick B. Terrell.

Major Terrell came to K. S. A. C. in the fall of 1919 and established the R. O. T. C. infantry unit. The following year the coast artillery and the veterinary units were added. During the past three years the R. O. T. C. has increased in enrollment from five hundred to one thousand men.

Major Terrell has always worked diligently in the interests of the students and of the college and has thus won for himself the esteem and goodwill of everyone. His absence, due to ill health, during the greater part of this year has been regretted by the students of the Military Department.

History of the Class of 1923

By Rebecca Deal

VENI! 1919-1920

Good-bye!

Yes, we are really saying good-bye!

And it was just four short years ago that we were freshmen thinking that four years was an eternity! How foolish freshmen are. But we grew in wisdom rapidly. We learned how unwise it was to neglect wearing freshman caps. We even turned politicians with assistance, and started the class of '23 on a notable career. We began training the best athletes K. S. A. C. ever produced.

VIDI! 1920-1921

Our second year we took help from no one; we were sophomores, you see. Class spirit and interest in class politics ran higher than ever before. We saw that we had the material to make the best class that ever ruled the hill, so we began to train leaders and to choose workers.

VICI! 1921-1922

We had come, had seen, and then we conquered—everything. Honors in athletics, dramatics, music, oratory, what you will. In interclass athletics the men won in track and the girls in basketball. Purple Masque boasted many juniors. There were some hard fought elections the second semester and class spirit never lagged. Names became famous—Faith Martin, "Ding" Burton, Alice DeWitt, C. R. Smith, Paul McConnell, A. B. Woody, and many others. These need no historian, they speak for themselves.

EXCESSI! 1922-1923

And now that our senior year is over, we have some idea of how Caesar felt when he came home from Gaul, proud, triumphant and with ambition for future conquests in other territory. Our two presidents, Glen Case and Herman Fleming, have been splendid leaders. We have rated high in debate, in oratory and in music. We have fulfilled that vision we saw in our sophomore year.

And now we are saying good-bye!

We hate to go. But we fairly ache to try ourselves in new fields—high hopes for new triumphs!

Good-bye!

New Gods

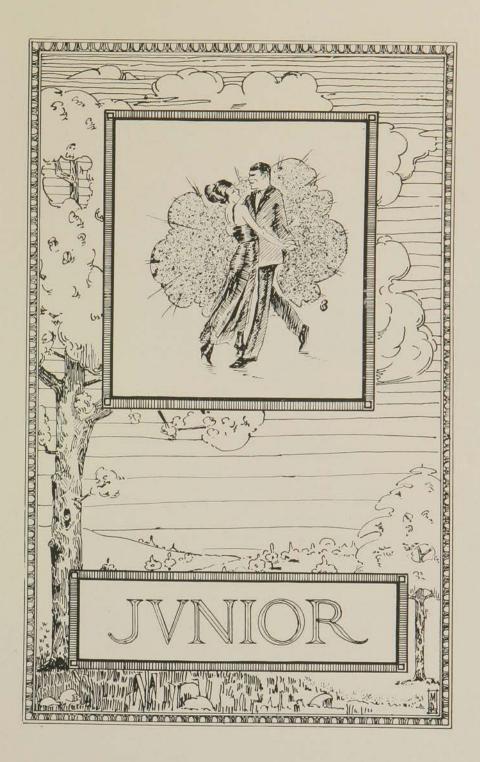

By Martha Haskell Clark

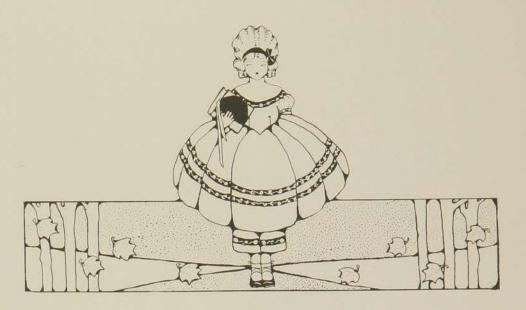

Youth will be served; the gods we reared In faith upon our altar-stone
Now keep their vigil unrevered
In dusty corners, all unknown.
New idols rise at new demands
Above our crumbling overthrow;
They pick and choose with ruthless hands,
As we did, in the long ago.

Youth will be served; we live to see Our dearest deeds another's boast; A butt for laughtered ribaldry The dreams for which we suffered most. They see no print of bleeding feet, The heights we won on footsteps slow; They mount, unwitting of defeat—As we did, in the long ago.

Youth must be served; one harvest's gain The seed from which new harvest springs, The fuller yield of golden grain From our forgotten harrowings. Their hands shall turn fresh furrow-soil, The bread we eat, they too shall know; May they find gods to sweeten toil—As we did, in the long ago.

-From Scribner's Magazine.

History of the Class of 1924

By Margaret Raffington

In the fall of 1920, eight hundred seventy-eight eager freshmen went through the "mystic maze" of enrollment. After a few weeks of getting acquainted, the class organized with the following officers: Ralph Jenkins, president; Maude Irene Whitehead, vice-president; Frances Godden, secretary; and Burr Swartz, treasurer. During this year several of our class did excellent work in the Purple Masque play, "Come out of the Kitchen."

In the year of 1921 things started off smoothly with Frank Barnhisel as president. Our goal this semester was to put on the best Sophomore-Freshman hop ever given at K. S. A. C. Frank Barnhisel, who had shown managerial ability as class president, was elected as Hop manager. The Hop was successful and it is worthy of comment that the class made enough money to pay all indebtedness and leave a small sum in the treasury for the next year.

In the fall of 1922 Polly Hedges had the honor of being elected the first girl president of the class. This year our class has established a precedent which will be observed by all junior classes of the future. A new plan of electing officers for the Royal Purple staff was worked out and approved by the S. S. G. A. By this plan the junior class elects a Royal Purple staff early in the first semester. These officers work in conjunction with the senior staff. The next year they have some conception of what to do and of what mistakes to avoid. A faculty advisor has general oversight of the work.

M. R. Getty was elected manager for the annual Junior-Senior Prom and showed exceptional managerial ability. Polly Hedges was in charge of the invitation committee; A. T. Heywood, program, and E. J. McWilliams, refreshments. Roark's eight-piece orchestra furnished the music.

We, as juniors, are making no rash promises as to what we will do as seniors, but if you want to see a real live class, just watch us in 1923 and 1924.

A Turkish Legend

A certain Pasha, dead five thousand years, Once from his harem fled in sudden tears,

And had this sentence on the city's gate Deeply engraven, "Only God is great."

So these four words above the city's noise Hung like the accents of an angel's voice.

And evermore, from the high barbican, Saluted each returning caravan.

Lost is that city's glory. Every gust Lifts, with dead leaves, the unknown Pasha's dust,

And all is ruin—save one wrinkled gate Whereon is written, "Only God is great."

-Thomas Bailey Aldrich.

History of the Class of 1925

By CORINNE SMITH

The members of the class of 1925 continue to display the same ambitions and energetic spirit with which they entered college. As Sophomores they are taking a very active part in college activities and and they are not idlers when it comes to classroom work.

Along with the development of our brains we have taken plenty of good exercise in the gymnasium. Sohpomores are taking a big interest in athletics, debate and all other college activities.

In basketball the Sophomores contributed eight members to this year's squad. The girls of the class organized strong basketball and hockey teams.

In order to create good fellowship among the students a dance and mixer was given January 20. A good crowd attended and the class succeeded in clearing the large sum of fifty cents. Although it proved not to be a money making affair, yet everyone seemed to enjoy the evening. As this was the sole purpose of the dance we feel that our efforts were rewarded.

Sophomores are showing the pep and enthusiasm everywhere on the campus, which if continued through the remaining two years will carry them through with high standards.

Freshman Class History

The class of 1926 is perhaps one of the most typical of Freshman classes that the college has ever paddled. Full of hope and mother's warning to be a nice boy, the Freshman lad entered upon his collegiate career to do or die. But, unlike his upstart predecessors of freshmen classes of the past, this typical freshman is the epitome of conservatism. When weighty questions, such as the second semester election, arose, he did not wildly storm the ballot box. Nay, nor did his fellows. And no one thought of asking for a recount of the eleven votes cast.

If results are to count for anything one must admire the intelligence of these youngsters. You will remember that they were sent to Doctor Peterson, who was instructed to eliminate those who were not able to pass the tests, and, after a conference with our president, who mumbled something about not wanting to cut down enrollment to any great extent, the class was declared quite mentally astute.

With the many disturbances in world affairs, in national circles, and even in school politics, it is a great relief to know that there is a class which is not ruffled nor disturbed by affairs going on about it. There is indeed a continuous future ahead of it; a calm, serene outlook, with no deviation from the beaten path. Truly, when this class leaves us four years hence, it will well deserve the bouquet of lilies which it has taken as its class flower.

Vocational School

The vocational school was organized in 1913, and is a secondary school offering three-year vocational courses intended to meet the educational needs of the boys and girls of the State who desire a more practical education than is offered by the ordinary high school.

Second row—Keck, Erickson, Crews, Wells, Roepke
Bottom row—Johnson, Barr, Higbee, Karns, Wingfield, Canary, Tadge

Most of the men on the team this fall were inexperienced players but by faithful practice under Coach Davenport and Captain Karns, a fast and hard fighting team was soon developed. With several letter men back in school next fall, prospects are good for a winning team.

BASKETBALL

The basketball team, like the football team, was composed of inexperienced players. Coach Haymaker showed his ability as a coach, by whipping together a fast clean-playing team. Canary (Captain), Karns, Barr, Erickson, Hicks, Dickens, Lutz, and Higbee won letters this year.

Inter-Collegiate Debate

PROFESSOR H. E. ROSSON, who is in charge of debate, came to K. S. A. C. Dec. 10, 1921, from Des Moines, Iowa, where he practiced law. He received his degree of Liberal Arts at Knox College, Galesburg, Ill., in 1916, and his degree of L.L. B. at Iowa University in 1920. During the period of the war Mr. Rosson was Inspector of Student Army Training Corps for the states of New York and New Jersey.

"Interest in debate in this institution is on the increase," says Professor Rosson. "This is due to the co-operation on the part of the eight literary societies, and the two honorary debating fraternities.

K. S. A. C. believes that debate is for the purpose of training the individual and in order to give the larger number the benefits of debating experience each person is limited to participating in only one debate a year.

Our debating interest this year has reached as far as Fort Collins, Colorado, and Bozeman, Montana. D. C. Anderson, M. L. Baker and J. C. Wilkins from K. S. A. C. upheld the affirmative side of the question "Resolved: That the several states should establish a court to settle disputes arising in essential labor industries with power to enforce their decisions," on the night of April 4, at Fort Collins, Colorado, and again at Bozeman, Montana, on April 7, winning the decision at both places.

Debating combats within the state are as interesting as those held outside the state. The first inter-collegiate debate held this season was with the Kansas State Teachers' College at Emporia, when the K. S. A. C. girls' team composed of Jessie Newcomb, Phyllis Burtis, and Edith Nonken received a two to one decision, upholding the negative side of the question, Resolved: That congress should enact legislation totally restricting immigration to the United States for a period of ten years. Helen Correll, Leonora Doll, Roxie Meyer claimed the same decision at Manhattan on the affirmative side of the question.

On January 13, 1923, W. E. McKibben, H. L. Burnett, and C. E. Rugh clashed with the debate team from Ames, Iowa. These debaters placed another jewel in the debating crown of K. S. A. C. by winning a two to one decision on the home floor. The proposition: Resolved: That the federal government should own and operate the bituminous coal mines of the United States, was stoutly upheld by the negative team but O. M. Williamson, R. W. Sherman, and E. W. Merrill were forced to surrender the honors to the affirmative team at Ames.

"Resolved: That the federal government should own and operate all bituminous coal mines in the United States," was the question that brought a "double-header" decision for K. S. A. Collins claimed the same two to one decision at Manhattan on the affirmative side of the question.

L IVESTOCK judging is as it should be, an activity of increasing importance at the college each year. This year the senior team entered two contests, the American Royal at Kansas City, and the International at Chicago, placing first and third respectively in these contests.

At the American Royal the team won with a score of 2,698 out of a possible 3,000 points. In winning this contest, Kansas earned the distinction of being the first team to win the $500.00 American Royal trophy which must be won twice consecutively for permanent possession. Individual honors were won by two Kansas men, C. G. Russell winning second and C. C. Button third place in the entire contest.

For the seventeenth time Kansas entered the International contest held each year at the biggest livestock exposition in the world. This year the team placed third in competition with over twenty teams. Kansas has never won first here, but her average ranking in this greatest of all judging contests is equal to if not higher than that of any team that has ever competed here.

The increasing interest in this work is very largely due to the consistent and sincere efforts of Professor F. W. Bell who is widely recognized as a leader in Collegiate judging work.

H. F. Moxley was high man of the contest and high on fat stock, J. L. Farrand tied for second, and A. C. Magee third. Other members of the team were A. P. Atkins and G. R. Warthen, with M. D. The purpose of the Girl's Loyalty League is to encourage interest in and loyalty to the college by furthering in every way the spirit of unity among women students; to increase their sense of responsibility toward each other; and to be a medium by which the interests and activities of the college may be promoted.

On Home-coming day the Girl's Loyalty League in conjunction with the Wampus Cats offered a loving cup to the organization which decorated their home most effectively in the colors of our college and the visiting team.

On October 14 the Girl's Loyalty League gave a Freshman Spread for the Freshman girls and new girls. This is given annually, at which time the upper-class girls take the Freshmen and the new girls.

February 16, 1923, the Girl's Loyalty League in co-operation with the Wampus Cats (Pi Epsilon Pi) gave a St. Valentine carnival in the gymnasium.

The Women's Athletic Association is composed of girls who are interested in athletics of any kind. Any girl who has earned 100 points according to the association rulings is eligible to membership. The sports in which Aggie co-eds participate are varied. In the fall, hockey is of chief interest; this is followed in the winter season by swimming and basketball, and in the spring by tennis and baseball. Hiking is prominent in both the fall and spring seasons.

In order to carry out its purpose the association elects managers for the various sports, and these with the instructors of the Physical Education Department plan the tryouts and tournaments. A color tournament is held in which every girl trying out is given a chance to play. This tournament precedes the class tournament, the class teams being chosen from the color teams. At the close of the class tournament a Varsity team, which is honorary, is chosen.

The awards of the association are a W. A. A. pin, which any girl may wear after earning 350 points, and a "K" sweater awarded to girls earning 800 points. To girls earning additional points purple chevrons are given, one for every additional 200 points.

From finding rooms for new students to sending out "Go to College" teams in the extension department of the association, the Y is a service organization. The exemplification of the spirit of Christian manhood as shown in the spirit of service has been the ideal of the college Young Men's Christian Association, under the leadership of Dr. A. A. Holtz, general secretary and men's advisor. In the four years that Doctor Holtz has been general secretary of the college Y, the activities of the association have extended far beyond the limits of the campus.

The social committee of the Y. M. C. A. plans for and has charge of the several all-school parties that are given each year under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A.

The boys' committee undertakes to be of service to the boys of Manhattan, by furnishing them with leaders for supervised play. Last fall the state Older Boys' Conference, which was held at Manhattan, was promoted and managed by the boys' committee of the Y. M. C. A.

The S. S. G. A. representative of the Y. M. C. A. is chosen to represent the Y in all matters which come before the Students' Self Governing Association.

Telling the public what the Y is doing and has done is the purpose of the publicity committee.

Each fall a representative group of the leading men in the freshman class, who are interested in Y work are elected to membership in the Freshman Commission. The purpose of this organization is to give a preparatory training for future leadership in college life and in the Y. M. C. A.

When new students come to Manhattan the first people they meet are the members of the New Student Committee whose purpose it is to meet all trains, to help students find rooms, and to furnish any other helpful information for those who are coming to K. S. A. C. for the first time.

The Meetings Committee arranges for all general meetings of the Y. M. C. A.

Workingmen's classes presided over by the industrial service committee of the Y is a comparatively new activity.

The purpose of the "Go to College" extension department is to interest high school seniors out over the state in attending K. S. A. C.

The chairman of the Foreign Student committee tries to correlate the work among the foreign students and get them organized.

Membership and Finance implies the main work of that committee.

Sending out gospel teams to the surrounding towns wherever the community desires them, is the work of the Religious Extension Committee.

Among the most important functions of the Y is the furnishing of jobs to those students who want part time work to help them through college.

Alpha chapter was organized at the University of Illinois by Rev. S. E. Fisher. In 1913 under the leadership of Rev. J. David Arnold, a group of girls organized a Bethany Circle at K. S. A. C. The next year Bethany Circle became a national organization with this chapter as Beta Chapter. In 1915 Bethany Circle became a college organization as well as a church organization. Since that time there have been four other chapters added. They are located at the Universities of Michigan, Missouri, Iowa, and Kansas.

The American Society of Mechanical Engineers is one of the foremost national organizations of men engaged in the promotion of engineering and mechanical construction. The society has established the formation of student branches in accredited engineering schools, each branch being under the jurisdiction of the society.

The student branch of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers was established at the Kansas State Agricultural College in 1917. Its meetings, held semi-monthly, are devoted to the discussion of current problems in mechanical engineering and the review of articles in the technical press.

The Kansas State Agricultural College student branch of the American Society of Agricultural Engineers was chartered January, 1921, the charter membership consisting of 29 students enrolled in Agricultural Engineering. The student branch holds weekly meetings in order to discuss topics of interest to Agricultural Engineers and to keep in closer touch with the national A. S. A. E. The department of Agricultural Engineering is enjoying a phenomenal growth, both in equipment available and in the number of students enrolled.

The Agricultural Association was founded March 3, 1921. Its purpose is to unite the students in Agriculture for more effective work, to maintain and support all meritorious student activities of the division and conduct such business as might from time to time come before the agricultural student body.

Since its organization the Agricultural Association has undertaken two projects, the annual Ag Fair and the publication of the Kansas Agricultural Student. So far both have been successful,

Agricultural Economics Club

The Club was founded at the College on January 18, 1921. Since its founding the Club has made rapid strides in its development and this year has a membership of twenty-five.

The purpose of the organization is to further the professional and social interests of the members and to foster a closer contact and greater co-operation between the students and professors of the department.

To become a member, the undergraduates must be majoring in Agricultural Economics. The honorary membership includes graduate students majoring or minoring in Agricultural Economics, and the faculty members of the department.

The Dairy Club was organized in 1914 for the purpose of promoting interest among its members in the field of Dairy Husbandry. Meetings of the club are held the second and fourth Mondays of the month. They consist of a short business session, followed by an interesting and instructive program, which pertains to the dairy industry. The program is usually furnished by members of the club. However, men of prominence in any of the phases of dairying are secured whenever possible.

The Society of Milling Students includes all those who are majoring in Milling Industry, The society was organized in the spring of 1922 under the direction of Professor L. A. Fitz. The purpose of the organization was to provide a seminar meeting that would be instructive along milling industry lines. This purpose is carried out by securing outside speakers of prominence in the milling industry and by having upperclassmen give reports on investigations in meetings.

The Block and Bridle Club is a national organization of Animal Husbandry students. The members are elected from the sophomore, junior, and senior classes. The purpose of the club is to improve the live stock industry, better educational facilities in this branch of agriculture, and advance animal husbandry as a profession.

The charter members of the national organization were the animal husbandry clubs of Iowa, Kansas, Missouri, and Nebraska. The local chapter was installed in January, 1921. This is the oldest of the departmental clubs in the division of agriculture. The original club was known as the Saddle and Sirloin Club and was founded in 1914.

The Annual Barnwarming Dance in Nichols Gymnasium and the Installation Banquet in the spring are the social features of the year. The club conducts a Student Stock Judging contest annually. The members are active in supporting the stock judging teams, and take an important part in the affairs of the Division of Agriculture, and of the college.

ACKNOWLEDGMENT

The editor wishes to express his sincere appreciation to those who have co-operated in the preparation of the 1923 Royal Purple. To Mildred Pence and A. B. Woody the greatest thanks is due for their constant and sympathetic assistance in all matters. H. D. Finch, Harold Hobbs, and Morse Salisbury also deserve special thanks. To Mr. Salisbury, the editor is indebted for the preparation of the copy for the entire athletic section, with the exception of the material in the baseball and track sections secured by M. B. Swartz and H. E. Monroe. The suggestions and criticisms of W. L. Dehner, Araminta Holman, H. E. Rosson, Grace Hesse, H. W. Davis, N. A. Crawford, E. T. Keith, C. E. Rogers, and Jessie Machir have been of inestimable value.

The Kansas State Collegian, the official publication of the student body of K. S. A. C., had its beginning January 8, 1896, in "The Student's Herald," a weekly four-page paper which had from five to seven editors and one reporter. In April, 1913, the name was changed to "The Kansas Aggie," and April 25, 1914, the first issue of the Kansas State Collegian, a semi-weekly, was published.

The Collegian purposes to cover all the news of interest to the student body, and in so doing affords the students enrolled in the department of industrial journalism a practical course in newspaper work. In addition to the editor, business manager, associate and assistant editors, there is, an assistant business manager, two sport editors, society, features, rewrite and exchange editors, and more than 25 student reporters.

Special features of the publication are a book review section, "Beyond the Hill," "Campus Echoes" (a humorous column), "Judge for Yourself," and "Vocational School Notes." Each edition of the paper contains a write-up and picture of some prominent student. All university, college and high school publications of any size are on the exchange list of the Collegian.

The Kansas Agricultural Student is a periodical published by the students in the Division of Agriculture. It was established in the fall of 1921 by action of the Agricultural Association. The quarterly issues contain articles by alumni, faculty members, and students on subjects of importance in agriculture.

Its circulation besides reaching the men of the Division also goes to alumni and to high schools teaching vocational agriculture.

The purpose of the magazine is to bring reliable subject matter of current interest to the attention of its subscribers, to advertise the division and the college, and further, to provide a valuable activity for the members of the Agricultural Association.

The Kansas State Engineer is the official publication of the Engineering Association. This publication had its beginning in the K. S. A. C. Engineer, the first issue of which appeared in the fall of 1915. During the war the publication was discontinued until 1921, when the publication again appeared under the new name, the Kansas State Engineer.

The magazine is devoted to the best interests of engineering, and is published four times during the school year, October, December, March, and May, by the students enrolled in this division. It is essentially a technical publication, but contains many articles of a less technical nature of interest and value to the engineering student, and endeavors to serve the alumni and other subscribers with the best engineering information.

The Kansas State Engineer is a member of Engineering College Magazines, Associated, an organization composed of all the large engineering schools in the east and middle west. The present circulation is 1200, which reaches all the important universities and colleges in the United States, all of the larger high schools in the state, the county engineers of Kansas, and every engineering student in the Kansas State College.

The Brown Bull, a humorous publication, was organized in the spring of 1920 to serve as a unifying emprise for Sigma Chi, men's journalism fraternity, and to serve the college with a humor of real merit, having the added interest of being written by local people. In the fall of 1921 the women's journalism fraternity, Theta Sigma Phi, was invited to participate in the issuance of the Brown Bull, and has since taken active part in the enterprise.

Until this year the Brown Bull suffered from the fact that there was no consistent editorial policy and that the entire editorial staff changed with each issue. As a result, no high standard for the magazine could be reached or maintained. That difficulty was largely remedied this year by the organization of a board (composed of representatives from the two fraternities, and the head of the journalism department); that has functioned throughout both semesters and kept the publication on a consistently high plane.

Throughout the entire year the Brown Bull has fought to maintain its humor at a high quality, and to carry the fight into other schools. It has been seriously handicapped by the advertising situation in Manhattan, and, having been unjustly discriminated against in advertising matters, has been hard put to it to exist. The business matters, always so unfortunately pressing on any magazine, must be improved before the Brown Bull can continue its fight next year.

It has been some time since the readers of the Royal Purple have been offered any complete account of the history of the college organization of players. Purple Masque therefore presents this brief summary from its souvenir program of January 12, 1923.

presents this brief summary from its souvenir program of January 12, 1923.

"For many years the dramatic activities of the college were centered in the literary societies. But there came a stage in the development of dramatics which called for a separate and specialized organization to promote stage-craft as a recognized form of college activity. The K. S. A. C. Dramatic Club was formed, and from it, in December, 1915, was organized the Purple Masque under the guidance and sponsorship of Professor James Gordon Emerson, then head of the department of Public Speaking. The dramatic activities of the college continue to be under the general direction of the department, a member of whose faculty is designated as coach of the productions. This organization therefore works in conjunction with the department.

RAY E. HOLCOMBE

Purple Masque presents each year one or two of the leading plays of the contemporary stage, in addition to numerous one-act productions prepared to meet the many requests from the community. Among the outstanding productions have been "The Man from Home," "Under Cover," "Seven Keys to Baldpate," "The Witching Hour," "Daddies," "The Road to Yesterday," "Come Out of the Kitchen," "Clarence," and "Adam and Eva." The most conspicuous success was "Daddies," directed by Professor Emerson.

It is to Professor Emerson, now of the faculty of Leland Stanford University, that Purple Masque owes its beginning and a large measure of its success. It is deeply indebted to Miss Florence Heizer, formerly of the department of English of the college, for her ceaseless interest and effort and for her splendid contribution in artistic direction of productions. In lesser degree, only because of their shorter period of service, the Masque is indebted to other coaches, notably Mrs. Grace Bowman of Los Angeles.

At the present time the productions are under the direction of Ray E. Holcombe of the department of Public Speaking. Mr. Holcombe is a graduate of the University of Wisconsin, and trained for dramatic coaching under Professors James O'Neil and Gertrude Johnson.

In chronicling the productions of Purple Masque for the year, the first to be mentioned is "The Brat," presented during Festival week, 1922. The cast was composed of Lloyd Hamilton, Eugene Huff, Truman Garringer, Cecil Wilson, Renna Rosenthal, Bethel Barrett, Myrl Barnheisel, Rowena Thornburg. The play was directed by Miss Heizer. Its presentation was characterized particularly by the work of Miss Thornburg as "The Brat," Mr. Huff as the dissolute brother, and Mr. Hamilton who accepted the invitation of Purple Masque to return to Manhattan for the purpose of portraying the part of "MacMillan Forrester."

DIEFENDORF, GARTH, HESS, WILSON, ANSDELL, MOSTERT, CATON, CHASE, HOBBS

"Adam and Eva," a new comedy of American home life, by Guy Bolton and George Middleton, was the announcement of the Purple Masque play for January 12, 1923. Directed by Mr. Holcombe, and presented by an unusually strong cast, the play was one of the best received of all the Masque offerings. Its extraordinary finish bespoke real talent and ceaseless work on the part of the cast and coach. An entertaining comedy, the play had its chief value as a commentary on the home life of the American rich. The cast: James King, H. Otis Garth; Corinthia, Curtis Watts; Clinton DeWitt, J. F. T. Mostert; Julia DeWitt, Margaret Ansdell; Eva King, Julia Caton; Aunt Abbey Rooker, Hazel Hess; Dr. Jack Delamater, Harold Hobbs; Uncle Horace Pilgrim, C. C. Wilson; Adam Smith, Don Diefendorf; Lord Andrew Gordon, Volney Chase. Rather than to attempt to characterize any as better or best in the cast, it is appropriate to commend each as a splendid interpreter of the part taken. The pronounced success was due to each one.

Under the sponsorship of the department of Public Speaking, Purple Masque has continued its programs of one-act plays, three such programs having been delightfully staged since last spring. In each case the play was coached by a student member of the Masque. At least one other such program will be offered this year. It is from this source that much of the material for membership originally comes, as these plays give first opportunity for the Masque to observe the candidates. Most of these plays are presented also before organizations of the town and community, thus making the Masque of community as well as college service.

In response to evidence of pronounced interest, especially on the part of Masque members, credit courses in Dramatic Production have been established this year. This places the college in line with the other institutions which are promoting the important movement for a high standard in college and community dramatics.

Announcement has just been made that the Festival Week play for this year will be the most difficult and interesting production yet undertaken at K. S. A. C. It is "Beau Brummel," by Clyde Fitch.

The Kansas State Chapter of Sigma Delta Chi was installed May 4, 1915, and was the twentieth journalistic organization to be granted a chapter of the national organization. Members are chosen from the junior classes of the department of journalism.

Sigma Delta Chi founded The Brown Bull in 1920, which is now a well known undergraduate humorous publication. Another activity which the organization has started is the annual Gridiron Banquet which promises to become one of the important events of the school year.

The eighth annual national convention of Sigma Delta Chi was held this year at the Kansas State Agricultural College November 15, 16, 17. Representatives from 42 chapters and alumni from all parts of the United States attended the conclave. The event was noteworthy for it was the first time that the institution has been able to attract a convention of an organization of so wide a scope. The next national convention will be held at the University of Minnesota.

INTER-SOCIETY PLAY CAST

Probably the most important function of the literary societies is that of promoting dramatics, debate and oratory. Each year the literary societies present a play which is managed by the Inter-Society Council, and produced with a cast of literary society members. The net receipts of the production are utilized for the promotion of debate and oratory. This year the Intersociety play selected was a four-act comedy, "The Show Shop," which was presented April 7.

Inter-Society Oratorical Winners

MERRILL

SWANSON

Since the first Inter-Society oratorical contest in 1901, unusual interest has been shown along the line of oratory. Literary societies prepare for and look forward to this event as one having unlimited possibilities. This year Edward W. Merrill, representing the Webster literary society, won first place with his oration, "What makes a nation prosperous?" Frank Swanson placed second with his oration, "Isolation or Leadership." Mary Gerkin won third place with her oration, "The Barrier of Prejudice." The other orators were Leona Thurow, Edna Bangs, Ray Moran, and Edith Nonken.

ANDERSON

Mr. E. W. Merrill, in addition to winning the Inter-Society oratorical contest this year, was chosen as our Missouri Valley orator and won third place at St. Louis. Miss Mary Gerkin represented the college in a contest with the Montana State Agricultural college, Bozeman, Montana, April 7. Mr. D. C. Anderson represented the Kansas Gamma chapter of Pi Kappa Delta in a forensic contest at their national convention held at Winfield, Kansas, March 14.

Winners of Inter-Society Debate

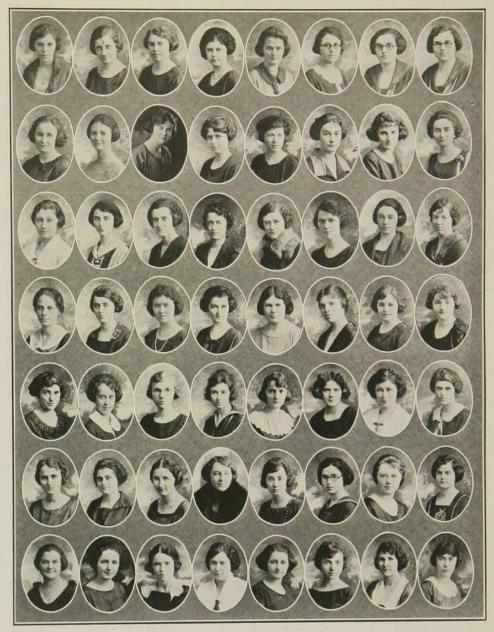

HORNER

FLEMING (Coach)

TRUE

The Ionian debate team, composed of Emogene Bowen, Jennie Horner and Florence True, and coached by Bernice Fleming and Marie Correll, won the annual Inter-Society debate contest for 1922. The Ionians have the honor of being the first girls' society to hold the debate cup which is offered by the department of English to the society winning the annual Inter-Society debate. The cup has been held by the Athenian Literary Society for the past two years.

Senior Pan-Hellenic Council

The Pan-Hellenic Council is an organization governing the national social fraternities at K. S. A. C. Its purpose is to place such regulations and restrictions on the fraternities as will benefit them and the college. The council was organized in 1910 and until 1922 was composed of two men from each national fraternity. Since 1922 each fraternity is limited to one representative each.

ANOTHER YEAR Tired and bectic, labor numbed, The moving finger writes, and having writ Moves on again in fevered haste To keep the days from passing it. They press it close with escapades Of students, deans' commands, and all the junk That daily flies from learning's flail In pounding students full of bunk. taster, faster speeds the pen-A dance, a lecture droned, a puerile plot lo capture something no one wants, Or get some cash and keep a lot. Agame is won, a play is played-Ah, surely on these pages will appear An epic. No, it's scarcely that. It is but this; ANOTHER YEAR.

Soon another spot of beauty

September 8—Instructional force saunters in from Newport and Palm Beach. First faculty meeting in Canteen. Spang gets in new stock of cake-eaters and doughnuts for fall trade.

September 11—Registration battle. Faculty kills 350 students from ambush. Greeks begin annual roundup and capture all students not killed by faculty.

September 25—Dean Holton remarks on efficiency of modern schools after receiving following letter from first grade pupil: "You had better lay off of the Klan if you know what is better for your future goodness."

September 26—After burning chapter house and collecting insurance money Sigma Nu fraternity launches long deferred building program.

Showing off for the Jayhawkers

Where the sons of the soil reign

October 7—First football game of season with Washburn. Ding Burton breaks ribs to celebrate occasion. Frosh don purple caps to avoid going bareheaded.

October 13—Friday. Kappa Sigs also attempt to collect insurance money, but are foiled by uninformed freshman. Student recites in Professor Kammeyer's class. Professor ill seven days.

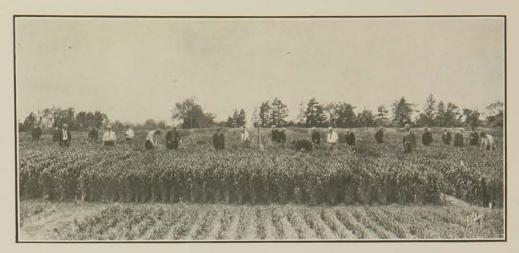

October 28—K. U. tied 7-7; Jinx slaughtered. Father, K. S. A. C., '99, comes down to see the game, and incidentally to find out what the Hell Robert, '24, is doing with all his money.

November 7—Election day. The Ags are victorious and Kansas goes back to the soil. Arthur Stark and Don Corby get excused from classes for day to vote for Andy Gump.

The crowd that saw the K. U. jinx slaughtered

Learning the how and why of nature

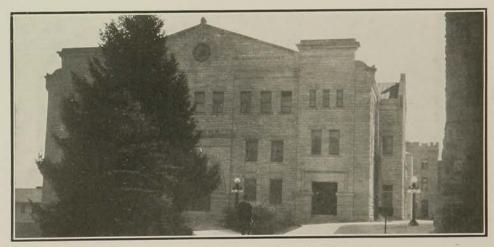

November 10—The W. A. A.'s Frivol. Pupils of aesthetic dancing classes demonstrate the fact that the girls of an Ag school can undress as artistically as those of a university.

November 11—Aggie warriors swim to 12-2 victory over Ames on the Ahearn lake. First defeat for Ames at hands of K. S. A. C. for four years. Its name was writ in water.

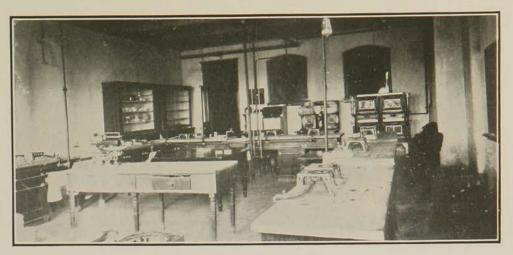

November 15—National convention of Sigma Delta Chi convenes. Journalists discuss ways of telling the truth readably and protecting the public morals gently and raising money.

November 18—The powerful Cornhuskers gain a precarious victory over despised Aggies and suffer moral defeat. Guns turned on efficient Aggie shift.

10:15. Students swarming to chapel

The home of rock-bottom puddings

December 8-9—Kappa Kappa Gamma is donated Pop Night cup for second time. Second organization to be so honored. "Another such victory and we are undone."

December 15—Phi Kappa Phi announces the awards for intellectuality. Eleven watch charms ordered. Musical sorority gets Moo Moo chapter of Mu Phi Epsilon.

December 20—Jolly Yuletide season approaches. Three thousand old jokes about mistletoe resurrected. All students rush home in order to pack and get back early.

January 8—Purple Masque takes "Adam and Eva" on the road to counteract propaganda of stock judging teams. Prof. Ira Pratt breaks New Year's resolution to substitute number 2 for number 59 in opening chapel exercises during remainder of the year.

Dedicating the new wing of Waters Hall

Sentinels before King Winter's palace

January 29—Aggie journalists celebrate Kansas Day by invading Topeka and interviewing the state's native sons for Arthur Capper's paper. Capital reports drop of five per cent in circulation.

February 5—Pa and Ma, throwing prudence to the winds, seek the Aggie Mecca to see where in hell the taxes are going and how the educated cows and pastries are taught. They go home drunk with joy.

February 8—Howard T. Hill takes great weight off minds of American people by informing them that the modern girl is O. K. Dean Van Zile adopts measures to check the appalling increase of immorality in our American colleges.

February 14—Sherwood Anderson lectures before a group of morbid professors and students who are disappointed to find him such a common, pleasant fellow.

A bleak study in gray

February 21—By superb organization, and by an excellent marshaling of the enormous array of potential voters within the sorority the Delta Zetas are able to elect Renna Rosenthal the most popular girl in K.S.A.C.

March 15—Despite zero weather the K. S. A. C. students again insist in living up to the letter of their origin, and revert decidedly to the soil for the day. All the dear, primitive children report the Ides of March a whooping success.

April 13—All precedents for sidesplitting fun are shattered by the Sigma Delta Chi Branding Iron banquet, while the idol of eternal youthful reverence for the aged is sent crashing to the bottomless pit of scrapped conventions.

April 22—Festival week, and the Agricultural division gnashes its teeth as the college struggles above the soil for six short days. At least a little dust is shaken from musty minds.

Another study, neither bleak nor gray

The girls take an airing

May 7—The Ags, goaded to frenzy by the Music department's orgy of art, breaks forth in diabolical revenge, converting the east campus into an academic glorification of a county fair, street carnival and peep show combined.

May 18—The juniors and seniors drape the gymnasium with ten colors of crepe paper, and dance to worse music than usual. All poor dancers take advantage of the crowd to steal a hesitant step.

May 19—The physical education department manages an airing for the athletic girls by feting the May. Bertha Pitts, weight 180, of Altoona, is cast as a sunbeam.

May 31—Commencement. Three hundred seniors gain the reward of their labors, and prepare to go into the world and get an education. On June 1 a senior who specialized in music goes to work for the Fuller Brush Co.

The Minutes of the Last Meeting

Meeting called to order 10:15

Mrs. X observes that the department certainly must have some control over its publications.

Prof. A says there is not a great deal and that-

Mrs Z interrupts to remark that it's a darnation shame and a sin against public morals that there is not.

Prof. A looks out the window.

Mrs. Q wipes her eyes and draws a pained breath. "They are really such good girls, and-"

Miss Y registers purity, powders her nose and looks at interesting things on Prof. A's desk.

"Well, at any rate," observes Mrs. X, "I cannot understand such a vicious attack. I would REE-ULLY like to have the matter explained. That is—"

Prof. A believes that perhaps the solution to the motive problem is to talk with someone who had something to do with it.

Mrs. X, Mrs. Z, and Mrs. Q, after a moment of deep thought, also consider this the expedient Miss Y does not know what they are talking about, but nods.

Miss R enters and is introduced to Mrs. X, Mrs. Z, Mrs. Q, and Miss Y, all of whom give her a cheery greeting.

Mrs. X observes that the board certainly must have some control over its publication.

Page 376

Miss R says that there is not a great deal and that-

Mrs, Z interrupts to remark that it is a darnation shame and a sin against public morals that there is not.

"They were such good girls," sighs Mrs Z; and Miss Y, still watching Prof. A's desk, registers purity.

"I cannot understand your motive," insists Mrs. X, in addressing Miss R. I would REE-ULLY like to have the matter explained. That is—"

Prof. A believes that perhaps the solution to the motive problem is to talk to someone who had something to do with it.

All present concur, with the exception of Miss Y, who is too busy watching Prof. A's desk.

Mr. S enters and is greeted cheerily by the jolly group.

Mrs. X observes that the editor certainly must have some control over the material going into his publication.

Mr. S remarks that in some respects his control is limited, and that-

Mrs. Z interrupts to remark that it is a darnation shame and a sin against public morals that such is the case.

"They were such good girls," falters Mrs. Q, and Miss Y, vaguely securing a handkerchief, wipes away the 99 44-100 per cent pure tears that have obediently sprung from her eyes.

"I would REE-ULLY like to have the matter explained," insists Mrs. X to Mr. S. "Do you not attempt to base the articles in your paper upon fact?"

"In this case," observes Mr. X, "it seems to me that-"

Prof. A believes that perhaps the solution to the motive problem is to talk with the person who wrote the article.

"Having read the article," observes Mrs. X, "I do not believe that would be of any value."

"Nor I," concurs Mrs. Z, while Miss Y registers antipathy.

Prof A, having too much fun to stop, sends for Mr. B, who enters and shakes hands gaily with all members of the rollicking party.

"Do you not attempt to base your articles on fact?" begins Mrs. X, immediately.

"I never attempt to base my articles on fact," answers Mr. B, heartily.

Mrs. X nods in scientific satisfaction. "That is what I thought."

Prof. A, having something else to do, decides to end the meeting.

"Whatever be the details in the matter," he observes, "I do not believe that any, except those of the booberie, would be offended by the article."

Mrs. X immediately decides to leave, and says, "I believe there is nothing else to be accomplished, and presume that we had best go."

"Yes, I presume so," agrees Prof. A.

Miss Y takes a last clinging look at Prof. A's desk.

"May we go out this side door, professor?"

"Most certainly, though as a rule, I keep it locked, as otherwise there would be so many people coming in who didn't have anything to say."

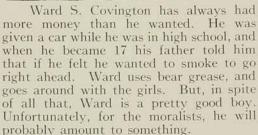

Adjournment, 11:15 a. m.

A Collegiate Anthology

La Verne Wooster is a mongrel in the college gallery of types. He is the kind of a man who is never talked about because nobody can get anything on him. He has no associates, and is in no school activities because he is tending to his own business instead of other people's. He never makes a fool of himself. Some day he will be rich.

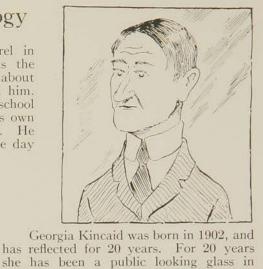

which the mentality of other people has shined. Because her brain is such a polished surface she has a reputation for brilliancy. That is the way she will get through college. But she must be careful whom she marries.

When he was 20, Professor Abbington considered himself a veritable Lothario, was absolutely irresponsible, and went around nights a good deal. He intended going on the stage because he ignorantly believed it the safest haven, in view of his mental deficiencies. But, when the only rich girl he ever knew was married, romance died in his heart and he became an authority on rats.

A Cycle of Poems for the Spring

A SPRING SONG

(Written while inspired by a cold potato and spring fever)

Come dally, my dear, all the downs are afresh, The green of the year is about us;

The campus will cramp us.

Let's up and away-

The college must get on without us.

How sweet is the moo of the Ags at their work; These kindly farm folk of the college.

How thrilling the tilling

They give to their minds

In trying to plant them with knowledge.

Or if you loathe farming, let's go watch the Vets, A singing away at their cutting.

"These courses on horses

Are berries," they say,

"We'd rather have horse meat than mutting.

How stuffy the classroom, let's take to the air; Let's romp with the breezes a-blowing.

Let's go to a show—to

The silvery screen,

And see all of nature that's going.

-Hippolytus.

II

TO A DANDELION

(Song of a campus department employee)

Ah, little flowerlet there, What is it you would say?

Thy tiny petals speak—

I can not turn away.

I gaze upon thy face,

And hear thy plea for life;

Ah, would my hand could spare Thy frail stem from the knife Yet, thou must die;

I have no choice; My hand is not my own—

I hear for nought thy voice.

Yet, I may stay my hand

For just a minute more—

So live life to the full

Until that time is o'er.

Yes, I may stay my hand, And, little flower, I will— I'm getting fifty cents an hour For all the time I kill.

-Hippolytus.

Little Interviews

I

The initials are C. R., I presume?

Indeed so; C. R. C. R. Smith, eh?

Yes, sir.

Well, it's been a pretty successful year, eh, Smith?

Successful?

Got to pull quite a lot of strings. Worked the boys more than usual, didn't you?

Well, I believe I have some influence.

Politician?

Well-eh-if you must use the word, yes.

It helps, doesn't it?

Helps---?

Kid yourself a lot easier, can't you?

Kid myself?

You must be classified under something.

See here—what are you insinuating? You-

No, no; certainly not. I only thought you needed something to whisper under, and just adopted—

I'll have you understand I don't need to whisper under anything!

Oh, listen, Smith, you didn't actually believe what you did amounted to anything, did you?

Amounted to anything? Say-

Come, come; you know well enough you poked around in the elections just for the thrill you got out of putting your head in the corner and talking in an undertone about rounding up the boys, didn't you?

You—I—

And it was lots of fun playing at being a big man, wasn't it?

You've said---

And what happened after you won the election?

Happened? Why, why, we just won—eh—why nothing happened, eh—eh—

Of course, nothing happened—you knew all along there was something silly about it, didn't you?

It may even have dimly occurred to you that you were rather silly yourself—or did it?

This is-

I'm sure it did. Really, you know, Smith, I don't believe you're half as stupid as you appear to be at times.

AFTER MENCKEN

It was a glorious year for the ladies. They preserved their idiocy in spite of the frantic struggles of a world of modists and educators for a feminine metamorphosis.

Where Kraft Built College Annuals are Produced

THE HUGH STEPHENS PRESS, home of Kraft Built College Annuals, is the largest, uniquely equipped modern plant in the West, specializing in the production of the highest type of college year books.

Surely there is something besides excellent printing and binding, faithful performance of contract, and intelligent co-operation, that draws, year after year, more annual staffs of the large universities and colleges "into the fold" of the Hugh Stephens Press.

Perhaps it is as one visiting editor expressed it, our "ideal organization working in an ideal plant, ideally located," that gives character to the annuals we produce.

The orchid, rarest of flowers, is produced only when all conditions are favorable to its growth. The near-perfection of Kraft Built annuals is the result of careful craftsmanship under ideal conditions.

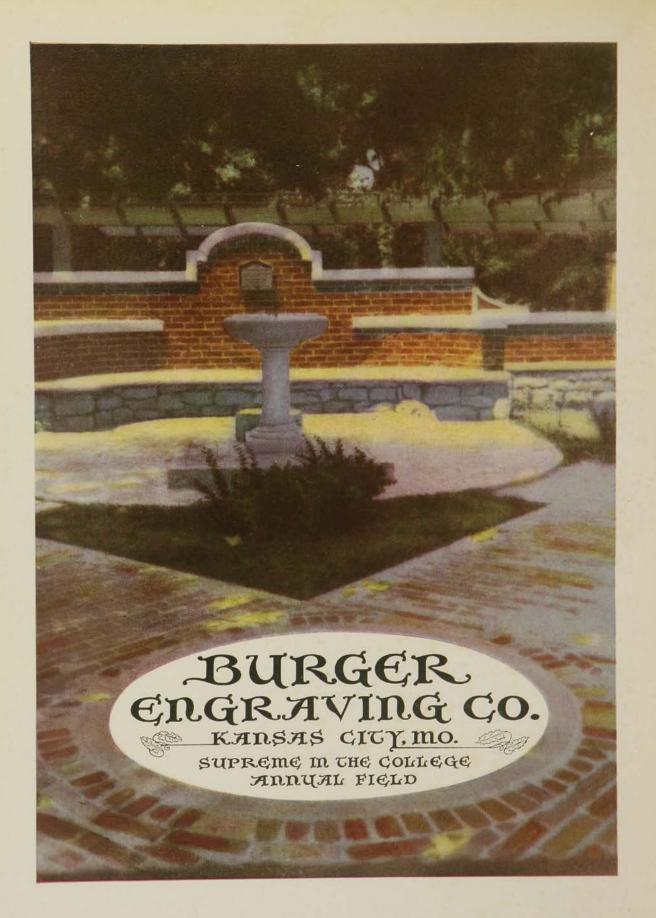

The "Hugh Stephens Press folks" know what an annual staff is up against. Our Service Department renders expert assistance as part of our printing contract, and supplies the staffs with a complete system of blank forms, together with a handsome ninety-page Manual Guide dealing with the latest methods in advertising campaigns, business and editorial systems for College Annual production.

Helpful advice and ideas are given on art work for Opening Pages, Division Sheets, Borders and special sections, combining Kraft Built bindings, inks and papers into beautiful and artistic books—SUCCESSFULLY EDITED AND FINANCED.

HURRAH FOR OUR HEROES

Come! come! why fear for the future of our college celebrities when they can spend from four to six years training to do one thing, and then can go and do something else so very easily? It is, however, a good thing that the jewelry and insurance businesses are always flourishing, or our heroes might be called upon some time to put something they had learned to use. That should never happen, and, thanks to the jewelry and insurance business, and the athletic associations, it never has. As evidence of the value and efficiency of this system we point with pride to Ray Watson and Vorin Wahn, both of whom are doing splendidly selling fraternity pins—considering the time they lost going to college.

AFTER CABELL

It is a tale they tell in college, saying, there was a professor named Dickens, of whom there was a son. And the tale tells how young Dickens was a youngster of industry and took upon himself two jobs—one stoking the *Thompson furnace; the other dispensing soda in a downtown emporium. And the tale tells further how young

And they of the college go on, saying, it was a cold week for the Thompson house, and a week of dead fires and clogged grates; for Dickens, being married, was not used to tending fires, and could not deal fairly with the furnace. And the tale tells how, after some days, Thompson came to the wife of the elder Dickens and complained, saying; "Your son is slovenly. He is lazy and my house is always cold. I wish to dispense with his services." And they tell how the wife of the elder Dickens gave vent to much mirth, telling Thompson whom she was accusing, and it is said Thompson went home in great shame. And the tale is ended with a shrug, for Thompson is gone, and little need be said.

MAZIE, MY MAZIE

Or Down by the Pumphouse

Down by the pumphouse, Mazie;
Down by the eastern gate—
There's where I met you, loved you;
I knew our love was fate.

Down by the pumphouse, Mazie, We'll have our rendezvous. I'll be the first to reach it—
There I will wait for you.

Down by the pumphouse, Mazie,
A pledge for a pledge, we'll give.
Oh, what a joy, dear Mazie,
If we could stay there and live!

Down by the pumphouse, Mazie,
My soul sings the words for you.
Who'd want a happier life, dear,
Than a pumphouse, Maze, and you?

THE MAIDEN SAD

Ah, dryad, why such sadness, say,
Why mope a day like this?
Be merry, sing a song of joy;
The time's too gay to miss.

Be lively, maiden, carol some; Let's up and skip about. I can not, sir, I'm indisposed— I've had my tonsils out. —Hippolytus

The initials of a friend

You will find these letters on many tools by which electricity works. They are on great generators used by electric light and power companies; and on lamps that light millions of homes.

They are on big motors that pull railway trains; and on tiny motors that make hard housework easy.

By such tools electricity dispels the dark and lifts heavy burdens from human shoulders. Hence the letters G-E are more than a trademark. They are an emblem of service—the initials of a friend.

GENERAL ELECTRIC

A castle I saw where I walked in the sun Threw garlands of gold from its towers. How much of delight where the spires were so glad, What pleasures to play down the hours.

The castle I saw where I toiled up the hill
Threw shadows aslant on my hopes.
The towers were of gray where they rose through the mist;
Rude stones blocked the way up the slopes.

The castle I saw on surmounting the heights
Had all its first beauty, and more—
But it floated on gossamer clouds of the sky,
Miles farther away than before.

Then I saw that my castle was not of the earth,
But a structure of dreams I had raised;
More lasting than granite—a goal for my hopes,
And it beckoned me on as I gazed.
—Harold Hobbs
