Breeding Stock Exports On Rise

Producers in more than four-fifths of our states are now exporting beef and dairy breeding cattle to markets ranging from the rugged grasslands of southern Chile to the hilly pastures of Portugal.

Although breeding cattle are the biggest item in U.S. livestock exports, according to the USDA Foreign Agricultural Service, American farmers are also shipping out some $8 million in sheep, lambs, hogs, and horses, bringing nearly every state into the export picture.

In all, exports of livestock more than doubled between 1960 and 1967. For calendar year 1967 they totaled $23.8 million, compared with $11.6 million in 1960. The majority of this increase has been in shipments of breeding cattle, valued at $15.4 million in 1967 against $9.1 million at the beginning of the decade.

Exports of sheep and lambs rose from $0.7 million to $1.6 million; of hogs, from $500,000 to $1 million; and of horses — primarily race and saddle horses — from $1.4 million to $5.4 million. Foreign countries are expressing increasing interest in quality U.S. horses; the U.S. Quarter Horse is becoming popular in many Central and South American countries, and inquiries are also coming in from Italy and Spain.

Exports of beef and dairy breeding cattle together rose 69 per cent between 1960 and 1967. Based on official veterinarian certificates for export, shipments of dairy breeding cattle totaled $18,207 head valued at $8.7 million last year, some 50 per cent in volume above the 1960 level of 12,136 head valued at $4.1 million.

This was, however, a decline from the all time high of 23,515 head in 1966. On the same basis, exports of beef breeding cattle last year totaled 17,320 head valued at $6.7 million against 14,534 valued at $5 million in 1960. Last year's shipments were 24 per cent above the 1966 level and a new record.

Brunas Move IH Agency

MARYSVILLE — In keeping with a trend to operate outside the business areas in towns and cities, Bruna Implement Co., International Harvester dealer, is in the process of moving into its own new building recently completed 1½ miles east of Marysville off US 36.

Owned by three Bruna brothers of Hanover in Washington county, George, Butch and Floyd, the business was opened in a small building at 1204 Center St. about four years ago. George has been the manager.

The Brunas own the IH dealership in Hanover, where they started in the business. They also have a manufacturing plant in Hanover, producing truck and wagon hoists; metal picnic tables and an assortment of children's playground equipment, sold principally to schools and towns.

The building from which the implement business is being removed will be occupied by a Montgomery Ward catalog store.

Diversified

Earl Raines of Louisburg, south of Kansas City, farms 300 acres with his father. Earl says grain sorghums are the main crop, and they have beef cattle.

Lunch Time

Paul Henry of Westmoreland and Terry DeVaughan of Douglass were headed for lunch before a G&G area auction started. Paul farms 460 acres near Westmoreland, keeping about 40 head of feeder cattle. Terry said his father keeps only horses on their farm.

Grazing Fees On Federal Land Up For A Fight

Western cattlemen are drawing their shooting irons once again on the federal sheriff.

They are passing the word that the livestock industry will be crippled and consumers will pay higher prices for meat unless a proposal by the government to raise fees charged for grazing livestock on public land is blocked.

The cattlemen want — and likely will get — Congress to take a look at the proposed increase which the Johnson administration would put into effect in the closing days of the administration. This means that the fight will be carried over into the term of President-elect Richard M. Nixon and be another conservation issue for him to settle.

The mustering of livestock producers to fight the "bureaucratic action" is called for in a private memorandum tagged "urgent-very important" that is being circulated to officials of the American National Cattlemen's Association, and its state affiliates.

The memo stressed that the "serious nature and implications of this grazing fee proposal and the need for an intensive and hard-fought industry campaign to acquire sufficient time for congressional hearings . . ."

The cattlemen have enlisted the aid of the National Wool Growers Association, whose members run sheep on public lands in the west.

On the other side of the fence, conservationists also are mustering their forces to back the increase in grazing fees as proposed by the Departments of Agriculture and Interior in national forest and other public land administered by the two agencies.

The National Wildlife Federation, in a memorandum to state affiliates and other officials, asserted that grazing fees have been "so ridiculously low that they constitute a subsidy for a small segment of the livestock industry."

These subsidies, according to Thomas L. Kimball, federation president who signed the memorandum, have "resulted in a number of ills." These ills, he contended, included livestock producers expanding "a privilege" into a "vested right" in public properties, overgrazing and serious land erosion, denial of public access to public lands and a limit on the use of federally-owned land for public recreation.

Five New Men Named To Board Of Farmland

Farmland Industries elected five new members on its board of directors, winding up the big cooperative's 40th annual meeting.

A record 11,753 persons attended the three-day event and a record 830 voting delegates took part in the business session. The meeting closed with a cash distribution of $6 million as a patronage refund to member cooperatives.

The new directors are Loren Pat Garretson, Haxtun, Colo.; Roland White, Aurora, Nebr.; Vaughn Sinclair, St. James, Minn.; J. B. Cooper Jr., Roscoe, Tex., and Howard Young, Dodge City, Kans.

Roger Clark, Brady, Nebr., and Ted Sutter, Eaton, Colo., were re-elected.

Directors leaving the board were J. Elmer Johnson, Longmont, Colo.; Norris Johnson, Holdredge, Nebr.; George Kramer, Waukee, Iowa; Reynolds Schultz, Lawrence, Kans., and George Voth Jr., Garden City, Ks.

NATL RIFLE ASSN. NOT LISTED AS LOBBYIST

The National Rifle Association is being investigated by the FBI for never having registered with Congress as a lobby. The FBI confirmed the investigation last week. NRA officers contend the association is an educational organization and does not engage in lobbying.

State Judging Teams Do Well At Chicago

The 4-H poultry judging team, representing Kansas in a national contest in Chicago last week, ranked second and the livestock team placed thirteenth.

The poultry team, made up of high ranking individuals in the state 4-H poultry judging contest during Kansas State Fair, Hutchinson, were Dwight Cooper, Edna, Labette County; Clinton Barry, Manhattan, Riley County; Rodney Carsten, Stockton, Rooks County; and Ted Odle, Glade, Rooks County. Marion E. Jackson, Extension poultry marketing and production economist, Kansas State University; and Michael W. Woolverton, Altamont, Labette County Extension 4-H agent, were in Chicago with the team.

The team placed first in production judging with Dwight, eighth; Rodney, fifth; and Ted fourth high individual judge.

The team placed twelfth in egg judging, and fifth in market poultry with Dwight sixth individual.

Dwight was fourth high individual in the contest with 15 teams. The Virginia team won with a score 19 points higher than the Kansas team.

Members of the livestock team, Harvey County 4-H'ers, were Kenny Smith, Newton; Rod Lowe, Newton; Charles Sauerwein, Walton; and Richard Sauerwein, Newton. Jack Barnes, Newton, Harvey County Extension agricultural agent, accompanied the team to Chicago.

Feed Grain Program May Await Nixon

Chances appear to be increasing that a decision on the 1969 feed grain program, one of the bigger and costlier federal farm activities, will be left for the Nixon administration to handle.

The Agriculture department normally announces the program soon after receiving recommendations from the National Advisory Committee on Grains. That body, whose opinions usually have strongly influenced government policy decisions, proposed to reduce next year's harvest by 3 million to 5 million tons.

To achieve this would require cuts of 2 million to 4 million acres devoted to corn, barley and grain sorghums.

Agriculture department executives remain officially silent about the delay in spelling out the animal feed grain program. But they say it is plausible to link the delay with President Johnson's known feeling that his successor should have the opportunity to pass on several high-cost programs currently awaiting administration action.

The feed grain program recommended by the 36-member nongovernment advisory group for next year would cost about 1.5 billion dollars, according to Agriculture department analysts. They also calculated that it would reduce the carryover to 45 million tons at the end of the 1970 crop year.

The carryover, or excess over total use, last October 1 was about 48 million tons and the government's latest forecast is for a surplus about the same size next year.

Acres in production this year, including barley which is not covered by diversion provisions, are expected to yield a total feed grain crop of 171 million tons. This would be 3 per cent below last year's record high but 15 per cent above average.

The advisory committee suggestions, which the secretary of agriculture in the new administration will want to consider, include raising both price support loans and price support payments by 10 cents a bushel to get additional acres out of production. About 36 million feed grain acres were idle this year.

Acceptance of this formula would raise the loan rate for corn from $1.05 to $1.15 a bushel. Direct payments would go from projected yield from half of the grower's acreage.

For grain sorghums, this year's loan rate is $1.61 a 100 pounds and the payment rate is 53 cents a hundredweight.

Average Farm Kilowatt Hour Cost Is 2.15c

American farmers paid slightly less for electricity this past summer than they did in 1967, but their monthly power bills for the 12 months through August averaged substantially more than during the previous year.

The Agriculture department put the 1968 summer average cost per kilowatt hour at 2.15 cents against 2.17 cents last year. The farmer's monthly bill throughout the year averaged $17.59, or 89 cents more than in 1967.

Ten years ago, the average monthly bill was $11.20 or 2.41 cents per kilowatt hour.

During the survey period farmers reported they were using 50 kwh more per month than they were a year earlier.

ANYONE WHO MAKES hard maple charcoal at Jack Daniel's has to be a good man with a water hose.

He's got to know when and how much to spray a burning rick. Just a squirt at the wrong time could mean he'd wind up with a mess of ashes. And that isn't much good for anything. You see, we can use only hard maple charcoal for our Charcoal Mellowing.

That's the extra step we use to help give Jack Daniel's its rare sippin' quality. A sip, we think, will tell you why we always take care to have a good man on the hose.

CO-OP Feeds with Tylan and Sulfa Do It Best!

A fat hog is as outdated as the horse-and-buggy days. Consumers demand good, lean meat . . . and smart producers are increasing their net profit by supplying good, lean hogs. Leaner market hogs bring more money and yield the meaty cuts the consumer wants.

CO-OP Protein Concentrates, Complete Swine Feeds and Pig Feeds won't make a pig leaner, but when properly mixed and fed will make pigs gain fast and efficiently.

CO-OP Feeds are available with Tylan and Sulfa. Tylan and Sulfa work together, increasing weight gains and improving feed utilization in the presence of dysentery and atrophic rhinitis.

The CO-OP Swine Feeding Program will do a good job in your operation. Get together with a CO-OP Feed man and get all the details.

Schools, White Corn And NFO

At the Chamber of Commerce sponsored Farmers Nite in Wamego, Clifford Reed, Superintendent of Schools, brought us up to date on the status of our Schools in Wamego. He outlined the need of a new high school and stated that the bond issue would be voted on April 1, 1969, to finance the construction. I can, with a few questions, go along with the idea. I believe that facilities should be adequate and salaries as good as or even better than any comparable place.

However as a citizen and a property owner I would like to state my position in regard to paying for this new high school. If my memory serves me right, Mr. Reed stated that nearly 67% would fall on local property to bear the cost.

The farmer throughout the whole United States is faced with increased taxes, increased expenses in producing food and fiber. The price that he receives from his production has constantly decreased until today it is the lowest since 1952. Even his increased size has cost him money. For example in Kansas in 1968 he produced 34 million bushels more wheat than in 1967 and took 20 million less dollars for the total crop.

Ten years ago a group of farmers got together and said something should be done about the trend or situation. They came to the conclusion that they should organize, that they should organize nation-wide, organize in every commodity, that they should use a holding action like every other business man — figure cost of production plus a reasonable profit — and price their products.

The ultimate goal was fair prices secured by contracts. The degree of success would depend on farmer participation — his bargaining and selling with his neighbor.

The success of these farmers has been somewhat spectacular. If you will pick up the Topeka Daily Capital you will note that yellow corn is quoted at $1.03 — white corn at $1.41.

Early in August we called a meeting of white corn producers in the Kaw Valley. White corn at this time was quoted at $1.08 — some of the producers had even contracted this year's crop for $1.05. Our marketing specialists started contracting processors and users of white corn. We made some immediate sales for $1.50 per bushel netting our participating members 42 cents per bushel. Today we are moving toward contracts with pricing formulas.

I could write pages telling you about successes in every commodity all over the United States. Every farmer needs parity prices. Then we could finance new schools, replace worn out equipment, improve the farmstead and refurbish the home.

If full parity could be achieved it would add only 1.7 to 17.7% to the amount consumers are now paying for groceries of their take home pay. It would constitute the greatest shot in the arm to our national economy that could ever be achieved. For every dollar the farmer is paid for his production it creates another $7.00 in the national economy. We know that nobody will give or pay anyone more than the market price for their products. It is a summing public. They will pay the prices — but we have to pay the prices. Mr. and Mrs. Neighbor — what are you waiting for? — other manufacturers price their products so that they can have inventories for unforeseen demands. We can do likewise.

Our success will be limited to a degree to the number of farmers who join and participate. However those that are actually participating are excited and enthused about their investment. We have discovered norms in economics. We can prove that one to seven rate is absolute fact. We can forecast what the profit column will be for the total United States economy.

Isn't it about time that producers of farm products join, bring parity to their business? No one, absolutely one, is going to do it for you. It is accomplished you are to do it. So don't blame someone else — step up to the microphone and look that guy in the eye and him off.

Kansas City Site Of Farm Bureau Convention

Kansas City is host to the national convention of the American Farm Bureau this week. The convention opened Sunday and closes on Thursday.

National farm policy will be discussed by delegates on Wednesday, with voting on resolutions on Thursday.

Forty-nine states and Puerto Rico will send about 175 delegates to the convention being held for the first time in Kansas City. Only Alaska has no Farm Bureau state organization.

Tornado Warning From Television Set?

Your home may already be equipped with a tornado warning device — your standard black-and-white or color television set.

Officials of the United States Weather Bureau are presently placing great emphasis, however, on the word "may."

The new detection method, known as the "Weller Method", of utilizing unmodified television sets to warn of the presence of tornadoes "must be considered experimental," Paul J. Waite, state climatologist, Des Moines, Iowa, cautioned.

"We are hopeful this potentially important development may eventually become part of our tornado fighting system," he said.

The method of detection operates as follows:

- 1) Warm up the television set as usual, tuning in the best possible picture on any channel.
- 2) Turn channel selector to Channel 13 and adjust brightness control until the screen just reaches the threshold of black.
- 3) Without again adjusting the brightness control turn the channel selector to Channel 2 or the lowest channel on which you can receive audio for channels between 2 and 6.

The theory is that now the set is tuned so that lightning flashes will show on the screen. A tornado within 20 miles will, in theory, brighten the screen in a steady glow. If the set is tuned to a channel with a program the picture may become visible.

Channel 2 is recommended for use with the method over any other channel because it operates on the lowest frequency or pulse believed to be generated by lightning and tornadoes.

One question in the minds of scientists studying the tornado detection method is whether or not it will work if the tornado has not touched down.

Some scientists claim that the electrical discharge noted in tornado funnels is caused by little particles of debris picked up by the funnel.

Other scientists claim that a debris-less funnel will emit sufficient electrical discharge to be detected.

The plan has received considerable publicity in Iowa and on Sept. 22, 1966, was used successfully when tornadoes struck three small towns in northwest Iowa, Orange City, Alton, and Hospers.

The Kansas weather bureau stations have begun to get information distributed to them on his method of detection.

Richard Garrett, head meteorologist for Kansas, said that he was "very interested in studying the potential of detection by this method."

"However," said Garrett, "we must know that it will work all the time."

"If it only works 20 or 25 percent of the time, we could suffer heavy losses from people who were depending on their television screens to warn them of the impending disaster."

But all weather forecasters contacted were interested to know whether the system works when tornado season again comes to Kansas.

The advantage of the system is the 20 mile warning.

Some tornadoes move only five to 10 miles an hour while others reach speeds of 60 to 70 miles an hour.

"The 15 to 20 minutes warning available would save a lot of lives if we can depend on it," Waite explained.

There is danger that a set which is not receiving a good picture would be in such poor condition that it would not detect a tornado. Weather Bureau scientists warn.

But their most specific warning is that the "Weller System" is still in the experimental stages and should be used only to supplement present "tornado warning" and "tornado alert" systems carried over radio and television stations.

However, they all emphasize that they would like to have reports on detection from this system.

So if you don't mind missing "Gunsmoke" or another favorite program next spring, and if there is an alert, they would appreciate it if you would follow the instructions.

But head for the cellar if the screen gets bright, or your local whistle blows. In all probability it will mean that a twister is headed your way.

OUR DAILY BREAD

— by G&G Area Cooks

Contest Winner Is Mrs.

C. Graham, Council Grove

The weekly winner is Mrs. Charles E. Graham, 503 Hockaday, Council Grove, who writes: "This is excellent sauce and will bring you many compliments."

RUM SAUCE

To be used over Holiday Puddings, Hot Mince Pie, any Holiday Dessert.

Combine 1 cup granulated sugar and ½ cup hot water. Heat, stirring until sugar is dissolved; then boil 5 minutes. Cool; add ½ cup rum or you may use imitation rum extract, which is equally good. You may not wish to use as much extract to flavor, so use carefully.

Freida Donaldson, Oak Hill: "Here is my recipe for the Bonus Recipe Contest. My family thinks these rolls are great for the holidays."

ORANGE BUTTER ROLLS

2 packages yeast
¼ cup warm water
1 cup milk
½ cup sugar
1 teaspoon salt
3 eggs, beaten
1 teaspoon grated orange rind
4¼ cups unsifted flour
6 tablespoons butter, melted
¾ cup orange-flavored instant breakfast powder

Orange glaze

Soften yeast in warm water. Combine milk and butter; bring to scalding point. Dissolve sugar and salt in milk mixture; cool slightly; put in large bowl. Blend in eggs and orange rind. When lukewarm, stir in yeast and flour. Cover with damp cloth; let rise in warm place until double in bulk, about one hour. (Dough will be soft). Divide dough into two parts. Roll each part out on lightly floured surface to rectangle about one-fourth inch thick. Brush dough with the melted butter. Sprinkle dough with orange flavored instant powder. Roll dough as for jelly roll, beginning with long side. Seal edges by pinching together slightly. Cut in slices about one-half inch thick. Place rolls, touching each other, in well-greased round cake pan. Cover and let rise until double in bulk, about 30 minutes. Bake in oven pre-heated to 375 degrees until golden brown. While still warm, drizzle rolls with orange glaze, if desired. Makes three dozen rolls.

ORANGE GLAZE

1 cup powdered sugar
½ stick butter
½ teaspoon salt
Cream together, and add enough orange juice to make mixture slightly thicker than unbeaten egg white. Drizzle over tops of rolls.

The next recipe is from Mrs. H. Allen Miller, R1, Sylvia:

German Pudding Adaptation Makes Holiday Dessert

An adaptation of a typical German fruit pudding, Rote Grutze, makes a light, delightful holiday dessert. It is prepared with frozen raspberries and currant jelly, thickened with cornstarch.

ROTE GRUTZE

2 10-ounce packages frozen raspberries
2 8-ounce jars red currant jelly

$\frac{1}{4}$  teaspoon salt
 $\frac{1}{2}$  cup cornstarch
 $\frac{1}{2}$  cup water
1 tablespoon lemon juice
Thaw frozen raspberries. Place in saucepan and bring just to boil, stirring constantly. Strain through fine sieve cheesecloth. Measure juice, adding water if necessary to make 2 cups; pour into kettle. Add red currant jelly and salt. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until jelly is completely dissolved. Bring to boil. Mix cornstarch with water; stir into fruit juice mixture. Stirring constantly, bring to boil and boil three minutes. Remove from heat. Blend in lemon juice. Pour into 1-quart mold or individual molds. Chill thoroughly. Unmold. Serve with whipped cream or custard sauce. Makes four to six servings.

Cookware Gift Idea For Puzzled Males

The man who is barely able to fix scrambled eggs and rarely does, may feel that a pot is a pot is a pot. But to the woman who cooks, the size and type of utensils she uses can mean the difference between a successful meal or disaster. A haphazard collection of old cookware is as frustrating to her as a drawer of mismatched gloves.

Treating the lady in your life to new cookware glamor and ease in the kitchen is a thoughtful, charming way to say Merry Christmas. Armed with a few facts, any shopper can make the proper selection.

Aluminum is the most efficient heat conductor among materials used for pots and pans. It cooks quickly and evenly, so that there are no food-scorching hot spots and gives so superior a performance that timing and temperatures in most cookbooks are based on its use. New non-stick interior finishes make scouring just a memory.

Matched cookware is practical as well as attractive because the cook can apply the same yardsticks for time and temperature regardless of the size of the utensil.

Aluminum cookware is available in exciting decorator colors to mix or match and most manufacturers offer starter sets which include basic utensils needed.

PURINA 20% RANGE CHECKERS TOP 41% PROTEIN CAKE

Many cows are fed a 41% protein cottonseed cake. Yet, a Purina Research test showed that cows daily fed 2½ pounds of Purina 20% Range Checkers averaged calves 19 pounds heavier at weaning than cows on 2½ pounds of 41% cottonseed cake.

Cows may not efficiently utilize 41% protein in their diet. It may be costing you extra money to give it to them. Purina Research has proved that a 20% protein ration blended properly with other ingredients can do a better job of helping cows produce strong calves.

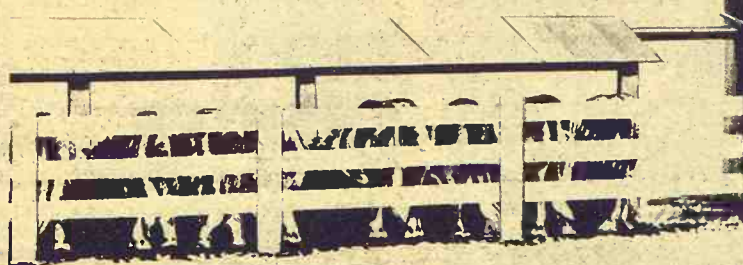

Don't underestimate protein, but don't overestimate it either. Get the right balance with phosphorus fortified Purina Range Checkers at our store with the Checkerboard sign.

F-105 Routes In G&G Area

Private pilots often run into Air Force F-105 Thunderchief jets in the areas marked here. The F-105s come from McConnell Air Force Base at Wichita, which is the only place in the U.S. training pilots for the supersonic fighter-bombers. More than 100 are located there.

The planes are in the skies of Kansas almost constantly, but around the Smoky Hill Bomb Range southwest of Salina more often than any other place. Awaiting the chance to get on the range, the pilots often are holding their planes at 4500 feet between Newton and McPherson, sometimes for as much as nine hours a day.

Area Implement Dealer E. C. Riley Changes Plea To Guilty

BELOIT — Former Cawker City, Kans., mayor and farm machinery dealer Edgar C. Riley, 61, pleaded guilty last week to two counts of obtaining money under false pretenses in Mitchell County District Court.

Riley was sentenced by District Judge Donald J. Magaw to one to five years at the Kansas State Penitentiary, Lansing, on each count, with the sentences to run concurrently.

Riley's attorneys applied for probation. Judge Magaw deferred action on the application until Riley is evaluated at Kansas Reception and Diagnostic Center, Topeka. The judge ordered Mitchell County Sheriff James Barrett to deliver Riley to the center immediately.

Riley had been scheduled for trial, but he pleaded guilty to the first two of six counts charged in Mitchell County Oct. 2, 1967, by County Attorney Harry Gantenbein following an investigation by Kansas Bureau of Investigation agents. It revealed several Kansas, Colorado and Missouri banks had lost money in transactions with Riley.

The first count charged Riley with defrauding Traders State Bank, Glen Elder, Kans., of $8,174.38 by selling the bank a worthless promissory note purported to have been assigned to Riley by a Ray M. Frasier, Cawker City for, purchase of two 1965 self-propelled grain combines.

He was charged in the second count with selling the same bank a similar fraudulent note for $10,300, which purportedly was executed by a Harold E. Grady, Dodge City, Kans., for a new diesel tractor, hay swather and plow.

Both counts charged that Riley used false financial statements of the purported customers in obtaining the money from the bank.

Riley was also charged with selling the bank four other fraudulent notes totaling $27,500. Four of the names signed to the six notes were reported to be fictitious.

Gantenbein said charges on the remaining four counts likely would be dismissed. Testimony in a preliminary hearing for Riley indicated the bank had more than 20 similar fraudulent notes from Riley.

Losses from transactions with Riley resulted in depletion of the bank's capital stock sale of the controlling interest by its president, James E. Ren, to Rex Duwe, Lucas. There was no loss to depositors. Warren, one of the holders of Riley's fraudulent business, took over its operations until it was sold this year.

December 17, 1967

Similar charges are against Riley in Osborn, Wyandotte Counties, charged with defrauding Bank of Downs, Kansas City State Bank of Kansas, by selling them fraudulent notes.

Land Investment Beats Return On Common Stocks

Strictly as an investment, land has compared favorably with stocks over the last four years, according to a study made in Illinois by A. G. Mueller, a University of Illinois economist.

Mueller notes, however, that income from farmland should not pay for the original farm investment any more than dividends should pay for the original market price of stocks. Both farmland and stocks produce earnings or dividends and, in the past, have gained in market value.

In fact, farmland had a 1 per cent return advantage over industrial stocks in combined dividend and growth value in his Illinois illustrations.

In making the return analysis, Mueller divided farmland into three categories. In one he placed soil with productivity ratings above 76, in another those soils with ratings from 56 to 75 (found primarily in northern Illinois) and in the third those soils with ratings from 5 to 55 (found primarily in southern Illinois). He assigned estimated market values of $800, $600 and $400 an acre, respectively, to the land based on land values as of March 1, 1967, and the net rents for crop-share leases on farms in the University of Illinois farm-record program for the 4-year period 1964-67. Net rents and appreciation in value were then calculated as a per cent return on this assumed land value. For comparative purposes, Mueller took Moody's Industrial common stock averages for the same period, 1964-67, showing the dividends paid and changes in the market value of stocks as a per cent of the March 1, 1967 values. There is a general similarity between the rate of rental returns on land and the dividends paid and changes in the market value of stocks as a per cent of the March 1, 1967 values. There is a general similarity between the rate of rental returns on land and the dividends paid on stocks, Mueller says. Also, there is a similar appreciation in value for land and stocks. The university economist found common stocks returned a net rent or dividend of 3.06 per cent, appreciated in value 6.63 per cent and had a 9.69 per cent yearly income and growth. However, all three land classes averaged a net rent or dividend of 4.29 per cent, 6.38 per cent in appreciation in value and an average yearly income and growth of 10.67 per cent — 0.98 per cent more than the stocks.

Anyone who grows corn or soybeans in the Midwest knows that our soils tend to be acid. You contribute quite a bit to this acidity each time you apply fertilizers. ☐ But Ortho UNIPELS have a "low calcium carbonate equivalent." This means that UNIPELS cause less depression of your soil's pH. And you know with a more favorable soil pH you are bound to get higher-yields. ☐ On top of that, UNIPELS, plowed down in the fall, work for you all year 'round: fall, winter, spring, and summer. ## Fertilizer Terminal

A terminal loading facility along an 850-mile anhydrous ammonia fertilizer pipeline has been opened at Conway west of McPherson. The terminal is one of two in the G&G area along the pipeline which runs from Borger, Texas, to Early, Iowa.

The other area loading facility is at Beatrice, Nebr. There are also terminals at Greenwood, Nebr., and Early, Whiting, and Garner, Iowa. The Early facility includes storage for 80,000 tons of ammonia, 80 days' plant production.

The terminals give a trucker opportunity to fill up any time of day. A trucker need only insert a card into an electronic reading device, indicate the desired amount of ammonia, and hook up his truck. A complete record of the transaction is made automatically.

The pipeline is owned and operated by Mapco of Tulsa, Okla.

Flint Hills Retirement Lodge

This is the Flint Hills Lodge as Eldorado which will be built at a cost of $2 million for retired persons. The 89-unit lodge project is being sponsored by five Eldorado churches.

Living units will range from efficiency and studio units to 2-bedroom apartments. Each apartment in the 4-story structure will be carpeted, have an all-electric kitchen, bath, individual room temperature controls, inter-com facilities, paid utilities and built-in soundproofing and fireproofing materials.

There will also be storage, laundry, and parking facilities, guest quarters, a library, chapel and an infirmary. A dining room is available for those who do not want to prepare their own meals.

Law Change Could Free More Capital For Irrigation Additions In State

Correction of an inequity in Kansas laws, to be proposed by the 1969 legislature by Rep. Raymond King, R-Hesston, 89th District, could produce more capital for irrigation and other major farm development.

National banks are allowed to buy equipment and lease it to farmers with a purchase clause for the undepreciated value at any time. State law prohibits state banks from engaging in the same practice.

George Chandler, Pratt banker, told Kansas irrigators attending a Kansas Irrigation and Reclamation Association annual meeting in Great Bend that a change in the banking law would have the effect of extending them more credit for costly farm development projects such as irrigation.

Banks enjoying the buy-and-lease privilege are not required to consider money invested under the plan as part of their investment limit to individual farmers. The latter may lease costly equipment from national banks now and thus are able to obtain the full limit to assist them in additional development and provide working capital, Chandler said.

Smaller "country banks" are having trouble getting money from city banks for investment in large loans above their individual limits. City banks, which formerly were willing to invest in large loans solicited by small banks, now have a thriving industrial and investment business and are making less capital available to smaller banks, he added.

Move Ahead On Grain Research Lab

TOPEKA — Construction of a $3.2 million grain research center at Kansas State University, Manhattan, will "proceed at an early date," a U.S. Department of Agriculture official says.

The facility — to be the largest research laboratory in Kansas — will employ 120 to 150 persons, mostly scientists and technicians.

John Schnittker, undersecretary of agriculture, said he had been advised by the General Services Administration that plans were to be ready for printing Jan. 15.

Pre-invitation public notice will follow in a few days, he said, with drawings to be ready Jan. 27 for bidders.

"GSA expects to open bids by the first week of March and to award contracts by March 31, assuming bids are responsive," Schnittker said.

The facility will be on a 12-acre tract at the northwest edge of the Kansas State University campus in Manhattan. It will be adjacent to the Kansas Artificial Breeding Service.

Work at the laboratory will deal with marketing grain in the United States and foreign countries.

There will be three buildings — one for the main laboratory and offices, one for agricultural engineering laboratory, and one for a grain handling laboratory.

FARMERS OUTLOOK

Trade Problems No Joy To U.S. Farmer

One result of the recent money problems in England, France, and other countries is to make bad news for U.S. farmers. These national financial crises are leading to increased restrictions on international trade. U.S. farmers have become greatly dependent upon foreign markets for the sale of their products.

For example, consider our "big three" cash crops — corn, soybeans, and wheat. One-fourth of the corn sold by U.S. farmers is taken by foreign buyers. Two-fifths of our soybeans and soybean products is sold overseas.

Over half of our wheat is exported.

In addition, foreign buyers take one-fourth of our grain sorghum, one-third of our tobacco, three-fifths of our rice and dried peas, and large amounts of many other products. Altogether, exports in 1967-68 took the crops from 71 million acres. This is one-fourth of our cropland. The value of these exports was $6.8 billion.

Nation's, like families, get into financial trouble when they spend more than they earn. Then nations, like families, must "tighten their belts," that is, they must cut their spending. To do this, nations impose tariffs and other restrictions on purchases from other countries.

England, which was our biggest foreign market for farm products a few years ago, has imposed taxes and other restrictions on imports. France is doing the same. Here in the United States, we see disturbing signs that indicate a possible reversion to the trade-strangling policies of 50 years ago.

Professor Karl Hobson of Washington State University says that the world money situation is already slowing down world trade. He notes that international trade increased by only 5 per cent in the year that ended July 1, compared with 8 per cent the year before and even larger increases in previous years.

The value of U.S. farm exports decreased 7 percent in the year ended July 1. Hobson reports that many exporters believe that the growth of trade restrictions will cut export sales even more in 1969. Furthermore, he says, international traders are often reluctant now to make deals because of uncertainty about the future value of the money involved in the transaction.

Trade restrictions can hurt U.S. farmers in another way — on the cost side. The steel companies and unions, for example, want higher tariffs (taxes) or other restrictions on steel imports. They want to be able to raise steel prices here. If steel prices go up, farmers will have to pay even higher prices for tractors, plows, planters, combines, trucks, steel building materials, automobiles, household appliances, and many other items.

Some farmers also want more restrictions on foreign trade — on imports of meat, for example. We think U.S. farmers will lose far more than they gain if America and other countries engage in trade-barrier warfare.

There are two reasons for this opinion: 1) The value of our agricultural exports is more than twice the value of competitive imported farm products. 2) Farmers are in a very weak bargaining position in Congress.

All Food From Plants?

Americans may be approaching the day when they will be compelled to eliminate animals as food producers and concentrate on plant foods of high nutrient density, a Northwestern University nutritionist says.

We would have to forget about eating for pleasure," said Dr. Hilda S. White, "but I hope the change won't be necessary. I enjoy eating as much as anybody else."

Dr. White, associate professor of home economics, said people are taking it for granted there will be ever-increasing varieties of food available in abundance.

"Population increase in this country, while less dramatic than in developing nations, presents a threat to our complacency," she added.

She spoke at a colloquium "Man's Health and His Environment," on the University of Illinois campus at Champaign.

On the possibility of substituting animals, Dr. White said pasture land may have to be sacrificed to produce more plant foods.

Can Report Timber Sales As Capital Gains

Income from sale of timber can be reported as capital gains rather than as ordinary income. If the seller has owned the timber more than 6 months prior to the beginning of the tax year, he can report the income as capital gain, Len Gould, area Extension forester at Kansas State University, says.

This regulation also applies to Christmas tree sales, if they are more than 6 years old when cut. However, balled and burlapped Christmas trees must be reported as ordinary income.

The tax saving is realized by deducting an allowance for depletion of the owner's investment in the harvested timber, Gould says. A woodland owner can apply for allowance for depletion no matter what kind of timber sale he has made, whether he reports his proceeds as ordinary income or capital gain.

Owners who have not made a sale of timber or timber products during 1968 may also make a tax saving by deducting operating expenses from their gross income. Any equipment purchased in 1968 can be depreciated as a capital expenditure.

Expenditures for gasoline, oil, machine maintenance, materials and supplies, or feeds paid to tax consultants and accountants are deductible.

Full discussion of forest tax reporting is given in Agricultural Handbook 274, "The Timber Owner and His Federal Income Tax." Copies may be obtained from the Superintendent of Documents, Washington, D.C., for 35 cents a copy.

MARSHALL CO. LAND AVERAGES $242 ACRE

MARYSVILLE — A 312-acre farm north of Frankfort sold for $75,504, averaging $242 per acre, going to Richard Schooler of Frankfort. The land was the Thompson farm, which had a 67-acre wheat allotment, 70 acres in alfalfa, some brome, and about 190 acres total in cropland. The farm was at the junction of K9 and K99 on the Little Timber Creek. Cecil Shopen of Kansas City was the auctioneer.

U.S. Corn Sales In Asia?

The United States stands a good chance of selling more of its surplus corn in several Asian countries, despite higher import costs, if Thailand fails to meet its commitments, U.S. and

Hong Kong trade spokesmen have predicted.

The spokesmen were commenting on reports from Bangkok that increased demand and prices have endangered Thailand's corn export commitments to Japan, Taiwan, Hong Kong, Malaysia and Singapore.

Thailand is the largest exporter of corn in southeast Asia, and a local trade spokesman pointed out that when south-east Asia's rice crop was insufficient last year and the year before, Asian importers turned to the United States to such an extent that the United States became the largest supplier of rice to several Asian countries.

Hope To Settle Japanese Embargo On U.S. Wheat

Top Agriculture Department officials and major wheat exporting firms will meet again for further discussions on when wheat shipments to Japan might be resumed.

Undersecretary John A. Schnittker told newsmen participants hope to have a report from a special U.S. investigating team now in Tokyo.

Japan clamped an embargo on U.S. wheat Nov. 20. It charged that of 585,739 tons exported to Japan since July 1, most of it from the Pacific Northwest, nearly 100,000 tons was unacceptable.

The Japanese buyers said some wheat was damaged by sprouting and some was "sick," a condition almost impossible to determine without chemical treatment. Japanese millers said the grain could not be used for food.

Schnittker said U.S. exporters and the USDA were willing to work toward agreement on "some kind of financial damages."

New President Of KASCD

Harold Johnson of Dwight has been elected president of the Kansas Association of Soil Conservation Districts.

Serving on the board with Johnson are Bartos Brown, Jennings; Lyle Bauer, Harper; Raymond Schemm, Neosho Rapids; and Nathan Hayse, Mullinville.

80% Beef Gain In State In Next 12 Years?

Beef production in Kansas will increase in the next 12 years almost 80 per cent over 1966 figures and swine production will be up 30 percent.

The figures were projected by the Kansas Agricultural Council on Research and Education in its yearly meeting on the campus of Kansas State University.

The council urged Kansas State agricultural officials to concentrate additional resources on meat animal production, processing and marketing research.

The president of the council, Eustace Coombs of Sedgwick, Kans., said "the fantastic expansion of livestock production in Kansas will add additional millions of dollars to the state's economy through increased production and economic activity generated through related industries of processing, transportation and marketing."

More Wheat Sales In Europe

A long awaited report from a U.S. mission to Europe estimates next year's market for imported wheat in the European Community and the United Kingdom will be one million tons more than in 1968.

Agriculture Secretary Freeman made public the findings which included exports of a smaller and lower quality wheat harvest in Britain and a much smaller durum crop in Italy.

Western Europe has been a major cash market for U.S. wheat, taking about one-third of the 737 million tons exported this past year.

The mission reported the prospect for additional wheat shipments to the European Community, which had a second consecutive bumper crop of wheat, much of it now being absorbed by the governments of six member nations.

O'LEARY TO TAKE FED RESERVE JOB

John A. O'Leary, state commissioner, has resigned effective at the end of the year to take a position on the board directors of the Federal Reserve Bank of Kansas City. O'Leary is a Luray banker who has served as state bank commissioner under Democratic governors, will represent small banks on the Federal Reserve

Arbuthnot Sale Grosses $32,000

HADDAM — The Bob Arbuthnot Hereford production grossed $20,010 on 41 registered lots, and another $12,000 on 31 head of commercial heifers.

The 31 registered bulls averaged $557, 10 females averaged $273, and the 49 commercial heifers averaged $246.

The sale's top was a 1967 bull going to A. R. and Son, Crab Orchard, Mo. for $1,100. A 1966 bull went for $1,100 to Blecka, Burchard, Neb. to Sheehy & Son, Richardson, Mo. paid $860 for another yearling bull.

Waldemar Handke of Walden purchased the top female for $420 and another for $360.

The top pen of commercial heifers went to Lowell and Waldo.

Gene Watson was auctioneer.

Favorable Lamb Prices Expected Next Year

Lamb producers, favored by good prices in 1968, can expect more of the same next year, according to a Kansas State University economist.

Robert L. Coppersmith looks for lamb prices to decline seasonally this month, leveling off in January 1969. A seasonal increase beginning in February should see prices top out at about $30 in late May or early June.

A 4 percent reduction in the 1969 lamb crop points to a drop of about 10 percent in slaughter supplies during January and February. There will be fewer lambs on feed.

The economist believes good prices during 1968 encouraged producers to hold back ewe lambs to increase breeding flocks. He looks for slaughter supplies to hold below 1968 levels throughout 1969.

Coppersmith expects more competition from pork and beef, but not enough to keep lamb prices from being profitable to the producer.

Crop Insurance Pays $4.5 Million

Crop insurance payments thru the Federal Crop Insurance Program totaled $4.5 million in 1968, with wheat farmers collecting all but $200,000 of that amount.

The report comes from the Kansas crop insurance wing of the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

FCIC said 28,000 Kansas farmers bought the insurance, covering $48.4 million in crops from drought, freeze, heat, flood, insects, wind, and other natural causes.

Spring losses were among the lightest in history, said Russell Bowling, state director of FCIC.

The organization will add coverage of irrigated sugar beets in selected western Kansas counties in the 1969 program.

FARMERS OUTLOOK

Early Price Peak On Corn

Corn prices have moved up 15 to 20 cents a bushel from the low point reached during harvest time. Both spot prices and futures have moved up about 15 cents. Recent cash prices offered to farmers have been about 20 cents higher than offers made in September for delivery at this time.

The three most important reasons for this rise in corn prices seem to be: (1) Yields per acre in some areas were much below expectations. (2) Most farmers refused to sell their corn at the low prices offered earlier. (3) Export demand has been very strong.

The disappointing corn yields have attracted the most attention and comment. Complaints were especially numerous from southern, central, and eastern Illinois. Many farmers in these areas found that their corn yields were 10 to 30 bushels less than expected; in some fields, the shortage was even greater. On the other hand, a few sections of Illinois report better yields than last year.

In most other Corn Belt states, except Nebraska, corn yields were higher this year than in 1967. Last year for comparison, the other states did not have the high yields Illinois did.

The official crop report, issued on November 12 of this year, lists the average corn yield in Illinois at 91 bushels per acre. An average of 103 bushels was reported on the first of September; 100 bushels, for the 1967 crop.

The U.S. average yield is now officially estimated at 79 bushels per acre — compared with 83 bushels reported September 1 and 78 bushels harvested last year.

Total U.S. corn production is now officially estimated at 79 bushels per acre — compared with 83 bushels reported September 1 and 78 bushels harvested last year.

Total U.S. corn production is now calculated at 4440 million bushels — 6 percent less than in 1967. While this amount may fall short of the needs for domestic use and exports, the deficit (if any) will be made up by drawing on carryover stocks.

The carryover of old corn on October 1 was estimated at 1,146 million bushels. Of this carryover, about 700 million bushels was under price support. This leaves about 430 million bushels of "free" corn.

There are no official figures on the amount of new corn that farmers have sold. Reports from many elevators, however, indicate that farmers sold very little at harvest time.

Foreign demand for corn is always strong during the October-December quarter. A year ago, for example, exporters loaded more than 2 million bushels per day during this three-month period.

This year, foreign buyers are especially anxious to get corn at this time. They want to get ample stocks built up before the dock workers go on strike.

The bull market in corn carried prices to near, or above, the price-support loan level. The price advance reduced the incentive for farmers to store their grain. Thus, not as much corn will be locked up under loans as might have been had the market price remained low. The final result of all this may be that corn prices will reach their peak much earlier than has been expected.

As a rule, prices for short crops reach their peak early in the marketing year. The 1968 crop is not really small; it's just not as big as the 1967 crop. Yet prices may follow the pattern set by many short crops.

42% Of 4H'ers Live In Town

The 4-H Clubs in Kansas are no longer the exclusively farm groups they once were, reports
Dr. Glenn M. Busset, state 4-H leader.

Busset explains that 42 per cent of Kansas 4-H Club members have town addresses, and the rate is increasing one per cent each year.

"We do not have a city program and a country program," Busset comments. "4-H moved to town in the memories of parents who wanted the same experience for their children as they had as 4-H'ers."

4-H was originally a program to assist farm youth who were not receiving an adequate education in agriculture and homemaking skills. Then, as families migrated to urban areas, the 4-H program went with them.

Kansas now has 1100 clubs and 32,000 members who are girls and boys from the age of 18 to 19 years. In the nation, there are 26 million 4-H alumni.

Busset believes that training in parliamentary procedure is one of the most important skills gained from 4-H. He also emphasizes the value of demonstrations as a skill useful in the educational process.

"Adapt" is the key word in the present and future Kansas 4-H program. With the urban enrollment increase, Busset sees the challenge to adapt new resources so that more girls and boys can take advantage of them.

New projects are added and traditional ones revamped. In the past 10 years, significant projects such as photography, electric, woodworking, entomology, and knitting have grown in popularity.

Delay I-35W Opening

McPHERSON — I35W may not be open by Christmas after all. Roscoe Wall, Salina, division engineer for the State Highway department, said his department still has much work to do before the stretch can be opened.

Highway signs have yet to be placed along the route, and several of the interchanges need work.

"It all depends on the weather now," Wall said. It does not seem likely that the highway will be open before Christmas, but we are now aiming to have it open before the end of the year."

Wall said a heavy snowstorm
could delay completion

Water Shortage In Western Kansas In 15 Years?

Water shortages may become noticeable in Kansas within 15 years, and the supply in the western part of the state could be depleted within 50 years, if some conservation action isn't taken, according to Keith Drause, executive director of the Kansas Water Resources Board.

Drause made his observations in a report to the Kansas Economic Development Commission.

"Kansas is in the forefront of the nation in its development of water resources," Drause said. He added that projections of industrial and population growth may result in Kansas noticing a shortage of water by 1985.

He said the shortages would be noticed first in the south central part of the state.

"This should be cause for concern, but not cause for alarm," he said.

He said the technology of recycling water should be upgraded, particularly for industrial purposes.

Drause said the problem in western Kansas is that the water supply is simply being depleted.

He said much research needs to be done on underground water and the feasibility of recharging the underground storage areas.

Johnny Kaw Says:

You yourself are the only one that you can really depend on to help you.

"The factors that provide economic justification for reservoirs in other places just do not apply in western Kansas," said Leight Warner, chairman of the Economic Development Commission.

"These things must be solved and made practical in the next 50 years or western Kansas is going to run out of water."

Add To Patient Load On Medicare Deductible

The cost of Medicare to the individual is going to be raised 10 per cent January 1.

The patient covered by Medicare will pay $44 of his hospital expense, rather than $40.

That amount is what is known as the "deductible" in writing his insurance policy.

The increase results from a provision in the law that requires an annual review of the amount to be deducted. The deductible amount is adjusted according to significant changes in total hospital costs.

After January 1, if a Medicare beneficiary must remain in the hospital more than 60 days, he must pay $11 a day. That is up one dollar from the present $10 a day cost to the patient.

If he leaves the hospital and goes to some other type of facility to receive extended care the patient must, beginning on the 21st day of his stay in such a facility, begin paying $5.50 a day. The $5.50 a day rate will carry him until he has spent 100 days in the facility. If he stays fewer than 20 days, Medicare meets the bill.

After a patient has completed a 90-day stay in a hospital (which is regarded by the Social Security administration as the normal limit of "one spell of illness") he can, if he needs to, draw on the lifetime reserve to lengthen his hospital stay.

However, for the time beyond 90 days he has paid, under the old rate, $20 a day. After January 1, that figure will go to $22. Medicare patients who enter a hospital before the end of the year will get the $40 deductible rather than the $44. This extends into 1969.

The New Beef Belt

Increased consumption of beef in the U.S. will bestow principal benefits on a new "beef belt" including most of the G&G area, in the opinion of L. S. Pope of Texas A&M.

Pope foresees the pear-shaped area in the plains states marked on the map which includes the Texas and Oklahoma panhandles, a slim part of eastern Colorado, two thirds of Kansas, and as much of Nebraska as the most concentrated part of increased beef production.

The area which he dubs the "beef belt" has mushrooming commercial feedlots combined with major milo production.

Other places, Pope says, will have increased feeding too. The traditional beef-feeding areas of the corn belt, in Iowa, Illinois, Missouri and other Great Lakes and border areas will have an increase, says Pope, but not to the extent of the Plains area.

So, too, will the West Coast and Arizona feeding areas, although the shortage of available feeder cattle and the costs of imported grain will make them less competitive.

Where will the feeders come from? Pope figures the Southeast will increase its numbers and produce great numbers for itself and other areas too. The Plains states will increase their replacement numbers too.

double payments on the bonds every other year. Extra funds have been available beyond the repayment schedule because of higher occupancy rates than anticipated and a $3 per square foot rental, which was high at the time the building was first occupied.

The Kansas legislature will be asked to look at a proposal to build some $47 million worth of new state facilities during the next 25 years. Some $470,000 in planning money will be requested from the 1969 legislature, and a proposal would call for financing the first of the construction in 1973, the time the present Office Building bonds will be paid off if the present schedule is continued.

State May Pay Off Office Bonds Early

The State Office Building in Topeka may pay off its $7.5 million in bonds by 1973, six years ahead of schedule. The 12-story building was financed in 1954 and first occupied in 1957.

The State has been making

Most of Federal Money In State To Farming

Kansas farmers received $226.88 million in federal aid payments in fiscal 1967, three times as much as state and local units of governments received in federal aid for welfare and highways for the year.

The Kansas Government Journal reported federal aid for highways totaled $38.57 million and the welfare total was 38.07 million.

Nationally, the Journal said, the picture was reversed.

Nationwide federal and for farm programs totaled 3.08 billion dollars, and payments to state and local governments for welfare and highways totaled 8.09 billion.

Kansas received a total of 406.95 million dollars in federal aid in 1967, the Journal said: $149.83 million to state and local units and 257.57 million to individuals and private institutions. In the preceding fiscal year, grants to state and local units totaled 141.67 million and to individuals and private institutions 22.14 million.

The magazine said the 1967 federal aid to farmers included 66.11 million under the feed grain program; $141.17 million under the wheat program; 7.89 million under the Agricultural Conservation Program; 9.15 million under the conservation reserve program, and $1.27 million under the Great Plains

Another Building Burned At K-State

Arson is presumed by the state fire marshal as the cause of the blaze which destroyed Nichols Gymnasium at Kansas State University last week. The building housed the school band department, some other music facilities, women's physical education, two radio stations, and swimming pools.

Less than four years ago K-State's auditorium was set afire and two students were convicted. Another building, Waters Hall, had a major loss to fire in 1955, although that blaze was not a case of arson.

Heifers Outsell Bulls At Angus Futurity

HUTCHINSON — Top sale prices for heifers put smiles on Angus breeders' faces at the Kansas Angus Futurity sale.

Twenty-two head of heifers averaged higher than the average bull price to upset the usual cattle sale pattern.

The 22 head of females totaled $14,500 and averaged $636.

The first ten head of heifers sold by Auctioneer Ray Sims, Raymore, Mo., averaged a record $880 each.

This compares with the average bull price of $610.

"I've been around a long time and I never heard of this," commented one sales official.

The sale attracted twice the number of spectators as the show drew on Friday.

The approximately 175 people filled most of the bleachers and benches set up for the sale.

"I've been at other sales across the state and heifer prices have always been down. It's a sharp contrast here," Bob Towne, sales manager, commented.

While no specific reason could be determined for the price increase, some Angus people pointed to the buyers present.

Coming from Oklahoma, Louisiana, New York, Wyoming, Missouri, Colorado, and Kansas, the buyers represented some of the largest Angus herds in the nation.

The big names included Black Watch Farms, headquartered in New York, which has seven large ranches located across the nation, and Brenner Angus Ranch in Oklahoma.

The sale totaled $40,240 for 65 head of cattle and averaged $620 per head.

Bulls numbered 43 and averaged a total of $26,235, or $610.

The top selling female yearling, Blackbird, which was calving in 1969, was owned by Kenneth Roxbury, the heifer was chased by Brenner Ranch, Enid, Oklahoma, the latter $2250.

The grand champion owned by Kenneth was sold to W. E. Parks, Eph, La., for $3150. Offering only two best and possession to Schmidt and Son, the reserve grand champion to Brenner Angus $2000.

Black Watch Farms and the grand champion River for $1200 from Calmer Angus Farm, 1890, U.S.

The reserve grand female went for $1818 in 23 counties. From this Green Garden expanded following 48, irrigated counties during the acreage.

Farm Bureau Rejects Proposal

A proposal calling for a referendum on government to individual farmers shouted down at the session of the annual meeting of the American Farm Bureau Federation at Kansas City.

The proposal would set an initial limit of 100 acres. It had been from farmers in the U.S. but had major from the Midwest, California.

I will sell located from No. 396, the north of W.

Bulls Long History of Irrigation In State

Kansas is one of the older irrigated areas of the United States. There is archeological evidence that irrigation was practiced in Kansas during the 1800's where the Taos Indians inhabited the area that is now Scott County.

Recorded information about irrigation in Kansas begins during the latter half of the 1800's," says Russell L. Herpich, extension irrigation engineer at Kansas State University.

The first recorded information about this period begins in 1873 when a Mr. Allman began irrigating from the Smoky Hill River at a point near Fort Wallace. At about this same period, irrigation began on the Arkansas River in Southwest Kansas and along the Republican River and its tributary streams in Northwest Kansas. 1890, U.S. Census reports 40,818 acres were being irrigated in 23 counties in Kansas.

From this beginning, irrigation expanded intermittently until following World War II. By 1948, irrigation had expanded to 20 counties and to 221,199 acres. During the next 11-year period, this acreage expanded to 1,020,573 acres in 1959. Following this, expansion has been steady at about 60,000 to 80,000 acres per year to the present time, when 1967 records show an estimated 1,500,000 acres being irrigated.

Expansion of irrigation in Kansas: 1890 — 20,818 acres; 1900 — 23,620; 1910 — 37,479; 1919 — 47,313; 1929 — 71,290; 1939 — 91,711; 1949 — 248,068; 1959 — 1,020,573; 1967 — 1,500,000.

Early irrigation in the state was utilized almost entirely to produce feed crops for livestock and for garden vegetables. This trend continued until the period just prior to the economic depression of the early 1920's. Following World War II, the irrigation of alfalfa, grain sorghum, and wheat expanded rapidly. The distribution of the crops being produced under irrigation in the state presently is approximately as follows:

Grain sorghum — 40 percent; corn — 25 percent; wheat — 15 percent; alfalfa — 7 percent; soybeans — 5 percent; all others, including fruit, vegetables, dry beans, castor beans and others, 8 per cent.

It is expected that irrigation will expand at about the present rate, 60,000 to 80,000 acres per year, for the next 10 to 12 years. When this is accomplished, the state's irrigated acreage will approximate 2,500,000 acres. This represents about 10 percent of the present acreage devoted to crop production.

Wind Chill Table

The Weather Bureau is combining the temperature and wind speed to estimate the discomfort index for exposed flesh. The chart above lists temperatures and wind speeds showing the equivalent cooling power on flesh. For instance, a temperature of 20 above with winds of 20 per hour chills as much as a temperature of 9 below with no wind. The new index is comparable to the summertime use of temperature with humidity to produce a comfort index.

Change In 'Typing' Cattle

PULLMAN, Wash. — "Beef cattle are right in the midst of one of the largest type changes in recent history," Washington cattlemen have been told.

John R. Fox, Pendleton, Ore., Pacific Northwest field representative for the American Polled Hereford Association, made the assertion at Washington State University's Beef Cattle Conference.

Fox described the change underway in these terms:

"We no longer want blocky, compact, thick-ped, short-legged, deep-cattle. These terms are now only four or five years old. Now, the more up-to-date man is looking for a muscled, long-bodied type that will hang up a quality carcass with ability."

Fox outlined the program designed to commercial cattlemen package that will produce doing, correct, high-efficient gaining cattle. Fox said his Association had a program in 1964 a modern type of beef. Fundamental objectives "guide lines" program is to produce cattle heavy calves, grow efficiently, and finishable weight with a of lean in the carcass small amount of waste.

Backyard Full Of Tumbleweeds

Heavy winds sent tumbleweeds scurrying along highways, whisking around houses, and plummeting into fences in the western part of the G&G area. Mrs. Ardean Boxberger had a backyard full of the tumbleweeds at Russell.

Some G&G area farmers with fences plugged with the tumbleweeds figured they might have an answer to the problem. Noting that he thought he would collect the tumbleweeds, paint them silver, tourists often are intrigued with the flying weeds, one farmer said and sell them for Christmas centerpieces.

Farm Bureau Views 'Give' A Little

The Farm Bureau appeared to "Give" a little on long-held views at its annual convention at Kansas City.

In its new recommendations, the Farm Bureau appeared to recognize that many farmers worry about giving up the current government payments until they see another program fully in operation.

Basically, the Farm Bureau resolutions favored a giant land retirement program in which the government would "rent" whole farms for long terms, eventually taking perhaps 50 to 60 million acres out of production. This is the equivalent of the acres being withdrawn annually under present programs.

All acreage controls and allotments would be eliminated. Farmers could plant as they pleased — except, of course, nothing could be harvested from land in the retirement program.

The government would offer price support loans at the rate of 85% of the average market prices received for the commodity for the last three years. Such a loan would act as a "floor" for farm prices and also would provide for orderly marketing as it would give a source of income at harvest time and farmers would not be forced to sell at that time.

It would take a while to get the land retirement program functioning effectively, perhaps three to five years. In the meantime, some acreage control could be carried on and some of the present payments continued, but on a diminishing basis.

For instance, the wheat certificate payment might be made smaller each year until finally eliminated entirely.

The assumption is that with the land retirement program in full effect, and with the market guiding farmers on what and how much to plant, eventually supply and demand would get into near balance and market prices would rise to a fair value, thereby eliminating the need for government payments.

The whole plan, if it functions as the Farm Bureau people envision, would be simpler than the current program, would get the farmer who is continuing to operate out from under government controls, and would be less costly to the government.

The Farm Bureau, of course, is not writing the law, and the broad program outlined here is a recommendation of the American Farm Bureau, paraphrasing the resolutions from the 1968 convention.

FRIDAY

Starts 1:00 p.m.

Although last Friday was cold and windy many consigners from far and near brought in a good run of cattle. With a good crowd and buyers locally, out of state and from all surrounding counties, prices again looked strong to higher on almost all classes of cattle except packer cows which sold about 50¢ lower than last week.
