MAKING THE CENTENNIAL ROUNDS

Ross Cornwell has an unusual hobby—one limited to people of a certain age and a certain area. Cornwell attends centennial celebrations—and he's being kept busy this summer with 100-year celebrations at Fairbury, Hanover, Haddam, and other towns in north central Kansas and south central Nebraska.

In all of his 78 years, Cornwell never lived more than seven miles from Haddam (Washington county), where not only he, but his father grew up.

A cattle raiser all his life, Cornwell recently moved to Cuba, Kans., but still keeps a few cattle "just to keep my hand in."

His hobby is collecting Indian artifacts and he has an enviable assortment of arrowheads.

In centennial garb—overalls, white shirt, straw hat on his white hair and a bright meckerchief knotted at his neck, Cornwell and his charming wife, Daisy, have made the rounds of the celebrations in the northern part of the G&G area.

"I've been to 15 centennials now," he says. "That's 1500 years."

Tooling Up For Census

The Census Bureau is preparing to take attendance in the nation April 1. This time it is determined to include 2 million Negroes it overlooked in 1960.

While forests of census forms roll off the presses in Washington, the bureau points out that it is not going to make the same old head count. Among the differences:

- The census people are working with organizations ranging from the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People to the Black Muslims, to tell the black people of the country that it is to their advantage to be counted.
- The bureau has bought, for 1 million dollars, the direct-mail advertising address list of the Reuben H. Donnelly corporation to use as the basis for finding city residents.
- Sixty-five percent of American households will not see the middle-aged housewife the bureau calls an "enumerator" and who is regarded by some as the local visitation of an officious decennial plague. They will just mail back their questionnaires.
- The forms have an average of 32 questions and take about 20 minutes to fill in. However, 15 percent of the population will get forms with 67 questions, and 5 percent will get forms with 89 questions. The bureau reckons that it will take the average person 45 minutes to fill in the 89-question variety.

Although the average person will answer one question less than he did in 1960, the longer forms have some new questions. These include what you were doing five years ago, what kind of shape your house or apartment is in, whether you are of Spanish descent and whether you have a dishwasher.

- The bureau is already preparing an advertising campaign to convince people to cooperate cheerfully with the 1970 census. The Advertising Council has contributed its services, and a slogan has been developed: "We can't know where we're going if we don't know where we are."

The campaign to enlist minority-group good will sprang from the bureau's deduction that it missed 5.5 million persons in 1960. It reckons that more than 3 million of these were white and more than 2 million black. But 3 million would be only 2 percent of the counted white population, whereas 2 million would be 10 percent of the counted black population.

The bureau is going to try to recruit more Negro enumerators who will follow up on unanswered questionnaires in the core city areas, is asking Negro organizations to explain the census to their members and it dreams of getting black heroes like Jim Brown, Bill Cosby, Aretha Franklin and the Temptations to carry its message.

As an editorial in Ebony magazine said, "it's important that a fair and unbiased count be made of the black man in America. If from these figures aldermanic, state and federal electoral districts are to be defined, then it is important that every black neighborhood gets its share."

The figures also affect distribution of federal and state grants.

Less Acres-But More Wheat Eligible For '70 Certificates

Kansas farmers have just completed harvesting their second largest wheat crop on record—304 million bushels. Under the same conditions under which the 1969 crop was produced, 1970's yield is estimated to be 88 percent of 1969's.

If prices do not vary much, it might mean a 12 percent drop in a large share of the Kansas economy.

Farmers need not panic. Their income would not be so badly affected. Much of their wheat income comes from wheat certificates, which boost their income even when yields are low and prices are slipping.

The federal price supports for each bushel of wheat are based on the difference between the July 1, 1970 wheat price at 100 percent of parity, and the national average loan rate of $1.25 per bushel.

To determine the payment rate per acre, the above wheat certificate rate is multiplied by the farmer's normal yearly yield.

Thus, if a farmer experiences a low yield next year, it would not hurt him in 1970.

He would feel the pinch in the ensuing years, when the low-yield year was averaged with previous yields to determine the new normal yearly yield.

This year 43 percent of the allotment, if planted, was eligible for certificates. In 1970, 48 percent will be eligible.

This 48 percent figure reached the office of the Kansas Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation last week, and processing this into county figures started immediately.

Frank Hooper, head specialist of production adjustment, said the county allotments would be sent to Washington at once for approval.

With an okay from Washington, the figures then will be sent to each county where ASC officials will determine the acreage for each farm. All this will not take more than 10 days, Hooper said.

The 12 percent cut in the allotted wheat acreage for 1970 is the third reduction in as many years. The allotment was boosted for the 1967 crop when the surplus had shrunk and drought had reduced production in some of the other wheat-producing nations. The national average for 1967 planted to wheat was 68.2 million.

In 1968 this was cut to 59.3 million acres. For the 1969 crop, another 13 percent was lopped off to reduce the total acreage to 51.6 million. The 1970 acreage cut of 12 percent will reduce it further to 45.5 million.

The acreage reduction, officials said, was necessitated by increasing carryover supplies of wheat. The Agriculture Dept. said surplus supplies on July 1 totaled 811 million bushels, compared with 529 million bushels last year. Export sales are down and officials see little chance they will rise in the face of world wheat supplies.

TALK OF SCHOOL LAND TRANSFER TO CLAFLIN

GREAT BEND—A hearing on the transfer of more than 16 sections of land in Unified School District 431 of Hoisington to Unified School District 354, Claflin, will be held here Aug. 20. The state board of education early in July authorized the transfer of the non-unified school district at Odin to USD 431.

WHERE THE WHEAT WAS

When Kansas' major wheat-producing counties—Sumner, Reno, Ford, Thomas, Harper, McPherson—have big crops, poor harvests in other parts of the state bring down the total very little.

There was very little to hold back the 1969 Kansas' wheat crop. Despite reduced acreages, a late start because of rain, and some delays past the usual end of harvest season, the state produced 304 million bushels of grain, second highest on record.

This map shows the total production and yield in each county. The upper figure is in millions of bushels. The lower is the yield per acre.

The state yield averaged 31.5 bushels, three bushels above the previous record set in 1958 and 1960. No county had a yield of less than 27 bushels. Republic had the state's highest yield of 39 bushels per acre. Jewell had 38.

Sixteen counties had production over five million bushels, with Sumner—the state's perennial leader—recording over 11 1/2 million. Reno was second and Ford third.

Here are the top 30 counties in production (in millions of bushels):

1. Sumner	11.515	11. Gray	5.587	21. Russell	4.191

$5200-$6500 Range To Base Pay For Kansas Teachers

Kansas schoolteachers will take home more money this fall, but some college graduates teaching in Kansas will find their annual pay barely above the $5000 mark.

A total of 276 of the state's 310 unified school districts replied to a Kansas Association of School Boards questionnaire on salaries. For some of them, increases reported were dramatic changes from salaries five or 10 years ago.

The recently released report warns school board members that teacher groups in the state may use salary statistics as "pressure" during negotiations. KASB urges its members to counteract exorbitant demands of teacher associations.

Of the districts reporting, 138 had beginning salaries for those with bachelor's degrees from $5000 to $6000. Another 138 districts had a starting pay range from $6000 to $6500. The beginning salary average in Kansas is close to $6000 for the new school year.

Lowest beginning salaries reported were at Elk City and Cherokee which pay new teachers $5200.

Three cities, Paola, Sublette and Shawnee Mission, reported they begin new teachers at $6500 a year, highest starting salary in the state. Kansas City, Kans., reported starting pay of $6450.

Top pay for a veteran teacher with a master's degree in some of the poorer districts barely equaled the beginning pay in some more fortunate districts, the report reveals.

KASB lists 18 districts as paying between $10,000 and $11,000 to teachers with a master's degree.

There are four cities, Atwood, Glasco, Sublette, and Lewis, that pay between $11,000 and $12,000.

Listed as over the $12,000 mark on master's degrees were the cities of Troy and Hamilton.

The report lists the top Wichita salary at $10,145, the highest a teacher there with a master's can go under the 1969-70 salary scale. Actual top Wichita salary as approved for this year by the school board is $11,560, for persons with doctorate degrees.

There also are pay steps here between master's and doctor's degrees.

The school board report cautions board members against "misuse" of salary comparisons at teacher-board negotiating tables.

"There is no known effective method of eliminating this pressure from being used by teacher groups at the bargaining table," the report states, "but it is important to have reliable data available to counteract exorbitant demands."

Some school districts reporting to the association still do not have written salary scales based on definite steps, although they are the exception. The Hill City teachers' pay scale was reported as "$6000 plus experience plus college hours and extras." Others listed similar approaches.

Hamilton schools reported a base pay of $5800, with "all other pay negotiated." The 34 school districts not responding gave no reason for not reporting, according to the summary.

A teacher new to the Wichita system this fall will earn more than five times what a beginning teacher received in 1942, according to National Education Association-Wichita figures.

Starting pay in the 1942-43 school year was only $1000. Maximum pay then was reported as $1980 for a teacher with a master's degree.

August 19, 1969

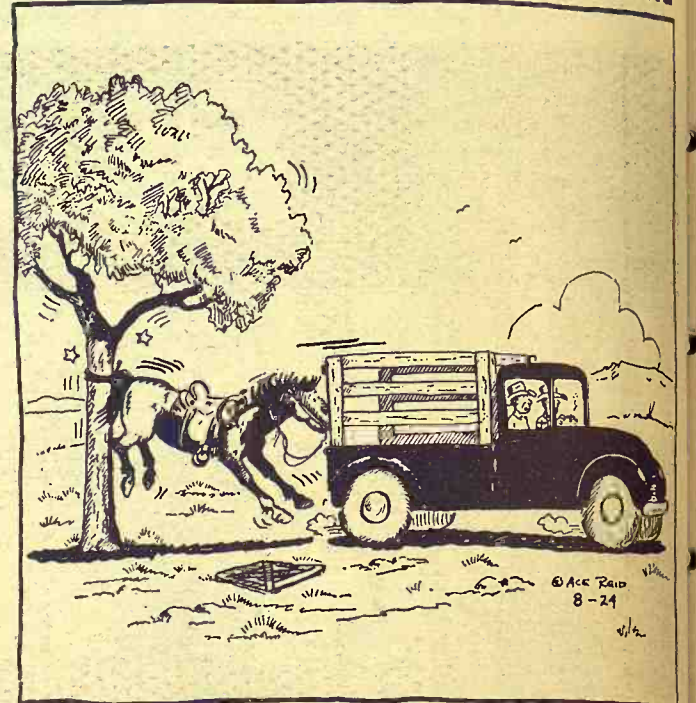

By 1959, the starting salary had risen to $400, or $2200 under the $6200 starting salary for the school year which begins this month.

Top pay listed on the scale in 1959, for an experienced teacher with a master's was $6700—close to today's starting salary. Top 1959 pay for a teacher with a doctorate was $8000.

Two Good Reasons for Feeding Creep Chow

The calf, of course, gets the benefit of the extra energy protein and other nutrients in Purina Creep Chow. He needs them if he is going to reach market weight quickly and bring top price. Purina research shows that creep-fed calves average 40 to 60 pounds heavier at weaning.

But mother cow also benefits from creep feeding. She isn't "suckled down" as heavily by a creep-fed calf, therefore, she is in better condition during the breeding season. Creep feeding can make a dollars and cents difference in the conception rate of your brood cows.

To learn more about how Purina Creep Chow can help you increase your herd production, drop in. We're at the store with the Checkerboard sign.

Contest Prize To Mrs. Delton Beikman Of Linn

Winner is Mrs. Delton Beikman, Linn: "We look forward to the Grass & Grain paper each week. I always turn to the "Our Daily Bread" page first. Here is a quick & easy dessert. Cooling and refreshing this hot weather.

QUICK DESSERT

- 1 small box of vanilla pudding & pie filling
- 1 8-ounce can of fruit cocktail
- 1 8-ounce can of crushed pineapple
- 1 tablespoon butter or margarine

Measure syrups and add water to equal 2 cups. Combine contents of package and liquid in a saucepan. Cool and stir over medium heat to a full boil. Remove from heat. Stir in fruit and 1 tablespoon of butter. Chill in dessert glasses or bowl. Makes 6 servings.

The recipe below was sent by Mrs. Anton Koelzer, Beattie:

APPLE PUDDING

- 1/2 cup margarine or shortening
- 1 cup sugar
- 1 egg, beaten
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1 cup flour
- 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
- 1/2 teaspoon soda (scant)
- 1/2 cup nuts, chopped
- 3 medium apples, diced

Cream the shortening and sugar until soft and fluffy. Add beaten egg. Sift the dry ingredients and add gradually to the creamed mixture. Stir in chopped nuts and diced apples. Bake in a 9x9-inch pan (greased) at 350 degrees for 40-50 minutes. Cut into squares and serve with milk or whipped cream or plain. Variations: Omit nuts or sprinkle over the top before baking; or sprinkle a sugar-cinnamon topping over the dough before baking.

1 cup white sugar
1/4 cup butter or margarine
1/2 cup shortening
1/4 cup light molasses
1 egg

Beat above ingredients well.
2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 1/2 teaspoons baking soda
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon ginger
1/2 teaspoon allspice

Sift dry ingredients together; add to first mixture. Mix well. Take one teaspoon at a time, roll into ball, dip in water and roll in sugar. Place 2 1/2 inches apart on ungreased baking sheet. Bake about 12 minutes at 350 degrees until top cracks. Cool briefly; remove from pan.

Sharon Bolte, Beverly, describes her recipe as "best ever and different from usual fruit butter."

MUSKMELON BUTTER

pulp of 4 muskmelons
1 small can crushed pineapple
2 cups white sugar
1 teaspoon cinnamon

Select ripe melons; cut in halves, remove the rinds, seeds and soft parts. Cut melon into small pieces or grind. Place melon into a preserving kettle and boil until tender with the pineapple, sugar and cinnamon. Continue boiling until mixture is thick enough to spread. Stir often to prevent burning. Place in hot clean jars and seal immediately.

Durable-Press Available In Wide Fabrics

All the advantages of easy laundering inherent in durable-press ready-mades also are available in 60 inch wide fabrics suitable for making tablecloth and napkin sets at home. These can be finished with a narrow hem or edged with various trimmings. However, the latter must be pre-shrunk and as safely sudsable as the cloth itself.

This yardage should be machine-stitched with a polyester-core thread, a size 1214 needle set for 10 to 12 stitches to the inch and loose top and bobbin tensions.

Use warm soapsuds or detergent suds to wash such cloths by hand or machine. They are best if drier-dried at a low-to-medium setting and removed just as soon as dry.

Evaporated Milk Important To Camper

If you're a camper, evaporated milk becomes more important to you this time of year for your weekend camping trip or for the longer camping trip.

Evaporated milk ranks second only to dry milk as an economical milk buy. Whether you buy the large size or the small size cans may make little difference in the cost. It may be wise to buy the smaller size cans for your camping trip if refrigeration is limited.

We're interested in how they look on the hook. And how fast we can help get 'em there. Our job is balanced nutrients and scientific recommendations based on extensive research and testing. Total feeding programs to bring cattle up to bred-in-ability.

And we're learning all the time. We just added more cobalt and zinc to beef concentrates. We found that by adding more cobalt and zinc, gains and feed efficiency improve.

We can't discuss here all the things we've got going in our beef feeding program. But our feed man can. Will you call him?

Functionalism Key Word In Planning Home Office

August 19, 1969

Dress Trims

The chief trims for fall dresses will be band collars or turtlenecks, deep cuffs, rows of little buttons and contrast splashes.

Dryer Gives Pillows New Life

Drooping feather pillows look and feel like new if they are tumbled in an automatic dryer. Make sure there are no holes in the ticking or the feathers will work through. Finish by giving the pillows an airing and you will be pleased with the new life they have.

Perks Up Fabric

Perk up napped fabrics with an occasional home steaming. Hang the garment over a tub full of hot water, closing the doors and windows to keep in the steam. After one-half hour, brush softly with upward strokes. Steam for another half hour and allow to dry.

Black is beautiful. So is white. And they work beautifully together with each other to give home office a businesslike appearance and with green plants that emphasize the "home" in home office.

Functionalism is the key word in designing an office, hence it's wise to allow space for everything that will be needed. Books, art supplies and whatever else you need should be right at hand, preferably with different containers for different categories of things.

For freedom from clutter, try to see that the work table or desk is not one of the storage areas. The desk-in-front, storage-behind system is one way of doing this and you can lean toward storage on the side if you have less room.

Designing-in beauty to match the functionalism become easier if you start out by getting rid of three popular misconceptions: Misconception No. 1: The wallpaper department is the place to buy wall coverings and the fabrics department is the place for chair coverings.

Actually, a fabric or vinyl can be used both on the walls and furniture. Or matching patterns can be chosen to give the same effect — unity.

Misconception No. 2: The place for vertical blinds is inside a long run of windows or glass doors.

Actually, the place for vertical blinds is anyplace where they will add interior beauty. Can you tell whether there are windows behind the blinds? No. It doesn't matter. They may cover old-fashioned windows or a water-damaged wall — or just serve as a sound baffle against a perfectly good wall.

Misconception No. 3: You can enjoy the look of a terazzo floor only by installing stones and mortar in the basement, where the foundation is strong enough to support by using a roll of vinyl up-stairs.

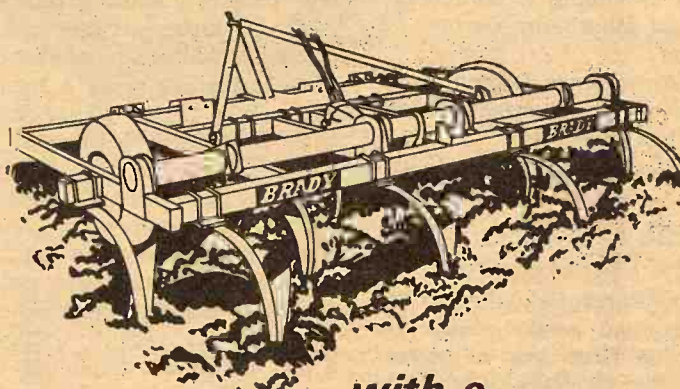

Actually, they now sell vinyl

U.S. Whacks Wheat Export Price

The United States announced last week substantial cuts in the export price of wheat shipped to South America and the Far East thereby extending a reduction made last month for European Markets.

The Agriculture Department said the price reduction was effective last Tuesday.

At West Coast ports white

Couldn't Stay From Harvest

Henry Parkinson, a Scott City farmer, had settled down to enjoy his first year of retirement after 50 years of harvesting.

But the sound of the rolling combines this summer was too much for him.

So he called his brother Louis, who farms on his former land, to work out a deal. He offered to work for his brother at $20 a day. If that was too high, he would work for free. As a last alternative, Parkinson offered to pay his brother $20 a day for the privilege of working for him. The brothers aren't saying who did the paying, but Henry Parkinson has scored his 51st harvest, and reretired.

wheat was reduced 10 cents a bushel, hard red winter wheat of "ordinary" protein 9 cents; and hard red winter wheat of 13 percent protein 2 cents a bushel.

The department also extended to South American markets a price cut of 12 cents a bushel made July 18 for wheat shipped from Gulf ports to Europe.

The action was regarded as a move by the United States to maintain a competitive position in the world wheat market.

A number of exporting nations, primarily the European Common Market, have recently offered wheat in areas considered traditional U.S. markets. Huge world supplies in the major exporting countries have caused cut rate price competition among most exporting areas.

The United States had been under pressure, particularly from Japan, to lower its export prices in line with those cuts made for the European market last month.

"The action is taken to help U.S. wheats regain their previously competitive position in a world market situation where current and projected supplies exceed demand by a large margin," the department said.

The Japanese, protesting what the considered price discrimination by the United States, quit buying U.S. wheat several weeks ago.

The Japanese Food Agency was scheduled to consider bids Wednesday on 284,000 tons of wheat, about 10.6 million bushels. A spokesman said he hoped the Japanese now could consider U.S. wheat.

Japan has been the best cash market for U.S. farm products, but wheat sales during the year ended June 30 dropped to 68.3 million bushels, compared with 82.2 million a year earlier.

The United States had announced a 12 percent cut in the government wheat acreage allotment for 1970 in an effort to head off rising stockpiles caused by a slump in the export market.

Wheat exports last year totaled 542 million bushels compared with 761 million in 1967-68.

Medical Limits To Longevity

Population experts theorize that man has lengthened his life span as much as he can by fighting contagious disease and will have to change his way of living to lengthen it any more.

Their theory, set forth in a U.N. report, attempts to explain a recent rise in death rates in some countries.

They say the rates fell for 150 years mainly because improvements in living standards and simple health and medical measures brought "a decline in mortality from acute infectious diseases."

But they speculate that these methods only took advantage of an innate resistance to infection in mankind and now that resistance has been exploited to the limit.

"If we are to increase life expectancy," they say, "we may need to change our basic patterns of behavior."

Specifically, they call for "introduction of some new factor or factors capable of preventing death from a quite different range of diseases."

They point out that more and more deaths are caused lately by heart and lung ailments, motor car accidents and suicide.

Someday, they hint, mass starvation also may be a major cause of death unless "population growth is not countered by either falling birth rates or an increasing food production or both."

The experts, with the United Nations and the World Health Organization, prepared the report for the U.N. Population Commission, to meet in Geneva November 3-14.

They do not list the countries where death rates have begun to rise again.

But latest published figures show that death rates last year were the highest in seven years in Australia, Belgium, East Germany, West Germany, West Berlin, Hungary, Israel and Sweden, and equaled the previous 7-year high in Austria, Czechoslovakia, Finland, Greece and the United States.

No Kansas Nominees For FFA Star Farmer

The national office of the Future Farmers of America has revealed the names of four young farmers who will be the candidates for the Star Farmer America award at the convention in October in Kansas City.

At the same time, the office released the names of other young men who are candidates for a new award, the organization, that of Agribusinessman of America. In each case, the four candidates are regional winners.

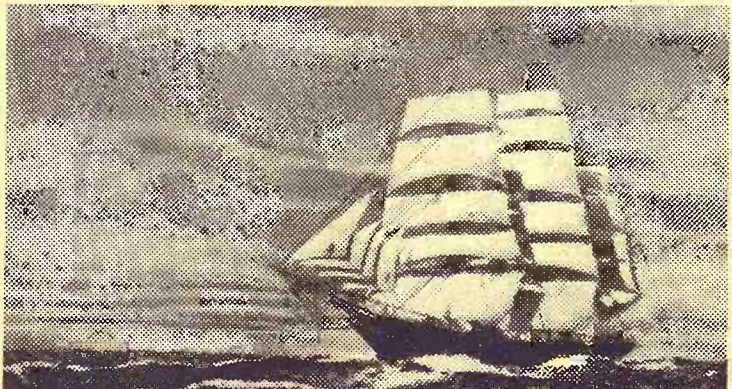

The four who are in the running for the Star Farmer America title are Walter Hudson, Unadilla, Ga.; David Prahl, Gays, Ill.; Manbeck, Bethel, Pa. and Wolweber, Edwall, Wash.

The agribusiness candidates are Ken Dunagan, Williston, N.D.; Charles Sanford Postles, Del.; Roger Lee Marysville, Ohio, and Charles del Jr., New Braunfels, Tex.

The top winner in each category will be selected by a group of judges meeting in Kansas City, October 16. Each winner will receive $1000.

Chow Trail Hotel Now A Museum

ELLSWORTH — A hotel that once accommodated cowboys making the drive up the Chisum Trail to the stockyards at Ellsworth now is an art museum. The white sandstone building, once called "American House," is now the Rogers House — a gallery, museum, workshop and home for Charles B. Rogers, his wife and son.

Buffalo Bill Cody, Wyatt Earp and Wild Bill Hickock legends decorate the front door. The rooms where cattlemen used to put their guns for the nights are used to hang paintings and other artwork.

Rogers, a native of Great Bend, was encouraged to stay in Ellsworth after he exhibited art at the centennial here in 1967. He is leasing the historic building.

He opened the location about a year ago and has remodeled much of the structure for art display. There are 23 rooms with more than 300 art works.

A painter, printmaker and occasional sculptor, Rogers returned to Kansas in 1965 from California and was with the art department at Kansas Wesleyan University in Salina before a heart attack forced him to a slower pace.

"I've always liked Kansas, even the weather with all its violence," he says. "As an artist, I say this state has the most wonderful skies to be seen anywhere. Not too many painters can paint convincing skies."

Making a living in Kansas as an artist is a far-fetched idea, but so far I'm doing it. The gailery and museum, here has attracted people from almost all the states and 10 foreign countries. Only Maryland and Connecticut are not in the guest book."

Rogers studied with Birgir Sandzen at Bethany College in Lindsborg, where he received a bachelor of fine arts, and later headed the art department there.

Time Capsule For Wakefield

WAKEFIELD — Citizens here are leaving a record of life in Wakefield for their descendants.

Etched in the sealing block of a structure in the city park south of the Municipal Building are the words "To be opened in the year 2069." The time capsule will be dedicated by Mayor Frank Auld at 4 p.m. Aug. 26.

The concrete block structure with "The City of Wakefield" across the top will be sealed later.

City officials are asking for pictures, papers or letterheads with names of employees, president, vice president, secretary, treasurer and other information to be collected by Aug. 18.

Plug Oil Wells Faster Than New Production

Kansas oil wells are being plugged out of existence at a ratio of 7 to 1, the July well-plugging report just released by the Kansas Corporation Commission's conservation division indicates.

In July, the report showed 191 producing wells were written off the books because their production had fallen to the point below which they no longer would be profitable. The producing costs exceeded the highest prices offered and anticipated for the oil thought to be remaining.

An additional eight gas wells were plugged after falling below the level of profitability.

The remaining 153 plugging jobs concerned routine operations, plugging of dry holes (131) and no longer used salt water disposal wells (7) and input wells (15).

In the same period the 191 oil wells were plugged and abandoned, Kansas operators successfully completed only 70 wells in Western and Central Kansas.

Eastern Kansas was hardest hit by the oil well decline.

Of the total 352 wells plugged in the state, 168 were in eastern Kansas, with 109 of those depleted oil wells.

Western Kansas ranges accounted for plugging of 184 wells, including the majority of routine dry holes. Eighty-two were oil wells no longer profitable to produce.

The death throes of one of Kansas' greatest fields, the El Dorado, was indicated. That area saw the plugging of 30 wells last month.

Committee O.K. For Work Plan Of Lyons Creek Watershed

JUNCTION CITY — The House and Senate Public Works Committees have authorized the $2.4 million Lyons Creek Watershed District work plan, Hayes Beck, Junction City, president, says.

Approval was announced in a telegram to Beck from Rep. Chester Mize and Sens. Robert Dole and James Pearson.

The watershed plan calls for the government to finance construction of 21 flood water retarding structures in the four-county area. It will participate with Herington in building a multi-purpose structure for a municipal water supply and recreation area.

The watershed district encompasses 180,000 acres in Geary, Morris, Marion and Dickinson counties.

The district would spend $2.6 million as its share of the over-all project. The funds would be derived from an ad valorem tax levy, pooling of soil conservation grants, donations and other means.

The federal work is expected to be completed in eight years.

The district project will years to complete.

Beck said the annual flood loss is $250,000.

Officials estimate the watershed plan will return $1.9 million in benefits for each $1 invested. The district has invested million in improvements to implement the proposed water project, Beck added.

Soybean Trade Hurt By New European Tax?

Contrasting views were given on the effects on American soybean growers of a proposed increase in soybean oil and bean taxes by European Economic Community countries.

Andrew Mair, U.S. deputy assistant secretary of agriculture, told the American Soybean Association that increased taxes would "work to the detriment of U.S. exports of soybeans and soybean products."

Mair said protectionism, whether in the form of tariffs or some other artificial barrier, works directly to reduce and discourage the sale of U.S. commodities abroad.

Soybean growers fear the proposed tax, if ratified by all Common Market countries, would cut sharply into the U.S. soybean industry's 500 million dollar annual market.

Barth A. Van Doorn of Rotterdam, Holland, said the proposed tax increase would not make "one iota" of difference in the usage of oil abroad.

Van Doorn said he recognizes his views were at odds with those in the soybean industry and acknowledged that the tax would hurt exports of corn and corn products to Europe.

College Funds For Law Enforcement

Awards of funds to 11 Kansas colleges and universities for student loans or grants for college study related to law enforcement have been announced.

The loans and grants, to state and local public law enforcement personnel and to persons who promise to enter the law enforcement field, are being made available under provisions of the Crime Control and Safe Streets Act of 1968.

The schools and grants: Barton County Community Junior College $3900; Cowley County Community Junior College $3900; Kansas State College, Pittsburg, $19,600; Hutchinson Community Junior College $8800; Friends University, Wichita $3400; Fort Hays State College, $2500; Kansas City, Kans. Community Junior College $4500; Kansas State Teachers College, Emporia, $6300; Tabor College, $1400; Washburn University, $4400; Wichita State University $2800.

The University of Kansas and McPherson College were designated previously as participating institutions.

Grants to the 13 institutions total $61,500.

Tax Reform To Cut Bank's Bad Debt Loophole

Commercial banks would pay much higher taxes under the House tax measure.

More dramatic "reforms" have caught the public eye, but few have a sharper bite than the $250 million a year the Treasury expects from a drastic tightening of the bad-debt reserves banks are allowed.

Currently, they may set aside tax-free reserves of up to 2.4% of outstanding loans, regardless of their actual loan losses.

The House bill would have banks base the reserves on actual bad debts, averaged over the most recent six years.

Existing loan-loss reserves are commonly 12 times what the new measure would justify — as much as 20 times for major banks, analysts say.

The effect could stop further tax-free inputs to reserves for easily a decade or more. Published bank earnings wouldn't be affected, however, because net operating earnings after taxes and per-share figures don't take the present tax break into account. But actual tax bills would shoot up, and banks would have less cash to put to work.

Last year, for example, New York's First National City Corp. would have paid $56.4 million in taxes on operating earnings, but the bad-debt provision cut this amount by 19.2 million. The saving was 15% of the bank holding company's after-tax operating net.

acreage allotments is necessary to bring about higher wheat prices, Sen. James B. Pearson says.

Pearson said the Nixon administration's wheat program is "sound and is based on a realistic assessment of the present and expected supply and price conditions."

Rep. Keith Sebelius said the decision will be a blow to the Kansas wheat farmer because the decision came so late.

However, he said, since three other positive wheat support programs are being kept intact the administration was at least paying attention to the farmer's income dilemma.

Agriculture Secretary Clifford Hardin announced last Monday that wheat acreage allotments are being cut from 51.6 million acres to 45.5 million acres in 1970.

Pratt Feedlot Pays Premium For Wheat

A premium price to be paid for No. 2 wheat for use in cattle feeding rations has been announced by Frank G. Smith, president of Pratt Feedlot. Smith said the 20,000-head capacity feedlot will use approximately 1500 bushels of wheat a day.

The price offering — for the No. 2 wheat grade normally grown and handled by area farmers — made by the feedlot is $1.15 per bushel which compares with local offerings for cash wheat which have ranged from $1.00 to $1.05 per bushel the past few days.

Robert V. Farmer, president of Pratt Industrial Development, Inc., lessors of the feedlot facility, commented:

"It is through the cooperation of our local industrial development company and the company operating the feedlot in making modifications to the mill and to the operating procedures of the feedlot that the feedlot will commence using about 1500 bushels of wheat each day.

Don't lose valuable nutrients from your grass or corn silage. University tests and feeding trials in beef and dairy herds show corn silage treated with SILO-BEST enzyme preserver worth $2.13 more in feed value per ton than untreated silage. Yet SILO-BEST costs you only 60¢ per ton—an investment that pays you better than a 3 to 1 return!

ing the feedlot was to provide a strong market for locally produced agricultural products. We have seen prices paid by the feedlot hold their local prices for milo and corn close to Kansas City and Chicago terminal market prices to the benefit of local farmers.

"This new usage of wheat in the cattle feeding ration will, we hope, grow and support prices in this local area. We are pleased that Mr. Smith is offering to buy first from local producers rather than ship in wheat from other areas."

Name Fieldman To Concordia Management Post

Kenneth L. Stielow will join the Kansas State University economics department August 15 as an Extension economist in Farm Management.

He will serve as fieldman for
Farm Management Association
No. 1, with offices in the Kansas
State University area Extension office in Concordia.

Stielow has been a research assistant in the department of economics since January 1969, when he completed his M.S. degree in agricultural economics. His B.S.
also is from K-State.

A native of Russell County,
Stielow farmed near Paradise for several years. His parents,

Mr. and Mrs. Frank G. Stielow of Paradise, are long-time Farm
Management Association members.

The new fieldman will provide on-the-farm counseling and farm business analysis for 150 farm families in Marshall, Washington, Clay, Riley, Dickinson and Geary counties.

He is one of 20 farm management fieldmen who work with more than 3500 Kansas farm families enrolled in the Kansas
Cooperative Extension Service educational program.

ONLY FORD AUTO SALES STAY UP

Ford showed a gain in auto sales in early August, but General Motors had a 14% decline and Chrysler sales were off by 29%. Total industry sales for the forepart of August were down
11%. Ford had an 8% gain. Market analysts generally give credit to Ford's Maverick for the company's gain. Neither GM nor Chrysler are competing with it in this model year. For the year, national auto sales are down 1%.

AVERAGE PROPERTY ASSESSMENT RATIOS

For each county, this map lists the average property assessment ratio, and urban and rural ratios, published recently by the Property Valuation Dept., State Chamber of Commerce. Although state law requires Kansas property to be assessed at 30 percent of "fair market value," most Kansas counties did not meet this standard in 1968. For 1968, the average ratio of assessed value to sales value was 18 percent. Although 91 counties have conducted county-wide appraisals to determine the value of property, only 35 counties now show urban properties assessed at 27 percent or more, and only four counties show rural property assessed at 27 percent or more. If proper assessment is not completed before 1971, the counties will be penalized by the state. Shawnee County, with a 16 percent assessment value, was given a $225,378,303 tax valuation for 1968.

SWEET SORROW

A frequent scene following G & G area fairs: a proud 4-Her who finds it difficult to part with a prize winning animal when market time comes.

Here, Randy, a pet steer exhibited by Joni Girrens, 14, of Wichita, appears as dejected as the younger owner at the annual sale that ended the Sedgwick county 4H club show and sale at Cheney.

FAIREST AT THE TRI-RIVERS FAIR

COPTER PUTS HOUSEBOAT ON LAKE

A 13,000 pound houseboat was hauled 17 miles and launched in Pomona Reservoir near Ottawa by an Army helicopter.

Built in Ottawa by Reid Ward, former owner of Baldwin-Ward Manufacturing Co., the houseboat was given to area Boy Scouts by the industrialist. It never had been in water.

The 50-foot craft was a bit large to transport over roads to the lake, so Ward arranged for the Army to lend a hand. A CH-54 cargo helicopter came from St. Louis. Nearly two hours were taken to rig slings under the houseboat, but only about 30 minutes to carry it to the lake.

Army engineers cleared boaters out of a large area on the lake before the helicopter put the houseboat in the water because the big machine's rotors generate winds up to 100 miles an hour when carrying a heavy load.

MOON LAUNCH MIXING SYSTEM

The feed storage and mixing system on the David Hirt farm near Westphalia almost looks as complicated as a launching pad for a moon rocket. The farm was viewed at the recent field day in eastern Kansas Farm Management Association.

Grain unloaded within the building is elevated to the top of the 65-foot tower. Then it drops by gravity to any of several storage bins which have a total capacity of 12,000 bushels. Ground grain mixed with other ingredients for a balanced ration is augured from the building to feeding pens for hogs which are out of view at the right. Everything works automatically. Hirt feeds more than 1000 hogs a year.

Massive Detail To Federal Meat Inspection

The government has published consumer-protection regulations which ultimately all meat processed commercially in the United States must be judged.

Under the wholesome meat act of 1967 the states have until next December 15, or a year later under some circumstances, to set up inspection programs at least equal to federal standards. The 632-page manuscript issued by the Agriculture Department sets forth detailed proposals for carrying out the act.

"It's big medicine in terms of additional controls to determine more effective consumer protection," Dr. Hyman M. Steinmetz, Consumer and Marketing Service official, said in an interview. The far-ranging proposals include mostly existing federal specifications on meat inspection and packing house operations, but these and some new features would have full impact when the states begin operating their own programs.

All meat sold in interstate commerce, about 85 percent consumed in the country, now is federally inspected. But the department estimates there are about 15,000 meat plants doing business entirely within single states and not subject to federal inspection.

Steinmetz said one of the major provisions in today's proposals permits federal authorities to detain suspected meat in interstate commerce wherever it is found. States would have the same authority over intrastate operations. "Under the old law," Steinmetz said, our ability to act on meat and meat products largely was confined to the premises of plants. Now we have the authority to detain and seize meat outside the plants."

Another important provision, Steinmetz said, involves stricter control over rendering works and similar plants which deal in dead livestock used for inedible products.

The proposals eliminate many of the exemptions in meat inspection requirements, including those involving slaughter of livestock on farms.

Public comment on the regulations will be accepted until October 13. Steinmetz said a final decision will be made later on any changes and when to put the proposals into effect.

Violent Crimes In State Half Of Nat'l. Average

The Federal Bureau of Investigation reports that Kansas was well below the national crime level in 1968.

Statistics showed a national index of serious crimes averaging 2235 per 100,000 population last year, an increase of about 10 percent from 1967.

The Kansas crime index figured out at 1480 per 100,000 residents.

Breakdown disclosed that in violent crimes — murder, rape, robbery and assault — Kansas last year averaged 150 crimes per 100,000 population against a national average of 295.

In the classification of crimes against property — burglary, larceny and automobile theft — Kansas in 1968 averaged 1330 per 100,000 population against a national average of 1940.

Total crime indexes for last year per 100,000 population listed Kansas City (including Johnson and Wyandotte counties in Kansas) 2900; Topeka (including Shawnee County) 2061 and Wichita (including Sedgewick and Butler counties) 2155.

VENEZUELA BEST U.S. LATIN CUSTOMER

Venezuela is our best cash customer in Latin America for agricultural products with a $90.8 million purchase in 1968, up from an $80.1 million average in the 1955-59 period. This is in the face of a 78 percent increase of Venezuela's gross agricultural production in the past 10 years.

More Borrowing On Life Insurance

Life insurance policyholders — there are 130 million in this country — are stepping up borrowing on their policies because at an interest rate of 5 percent it is the cheapest money available.

In this period of tight money — with rising interest rates and a limited supply of lendable money — mortgage interest charges range to 8½ percent and personal loans at banks draw almost 12 percent.

The volume of policy loans has increased steadily in recent years because the policyholder can save money in financing the purchase of a house, a car, or smaller expenses.

"Most people think twice or three times before borrowing on a life insurance policy because it defeats the purpose of life insurance," an industry spokesman said.

"But in this time of high interest rates elsewhere more people are doing so, mainly for smaller expenses such as college tuition and medical bills."

Another instance in which the availability of policy loans is valuable is in the case of companies which insure the lives of their top executives for large amounts. In the event that the company needs a sizable amount of cash for a short time, it can borrow on the policies and receive the benefits of low interest.

An insurance company executive, who asked not to be identified by name, said the companies do not care to discuss the growing policy loan volume because they do not wish to encourage the trend.

The 5 percent interest rate on policy loans is set by law in most states.

In addition to the low interest charge, policyholders are turning to cash heavy insurance companies for loans. The supply of lending money available to banks and other savings institutions has been limited by government monetary restrictions, imposed in an effort to stem inflation.

The Institute of Life Insurance reports that total policy loans made in April — the latest month for which figures are available — amounted to 1.47 billion dollars against 819 million dollars in April 1968.

Net outstanding loans last April totaled 11.9 billion dollars, representing 6.2 percent of the companies' aggregate assets. This compared with 10.44 billion, or 5.8 percent of assets, a year earlier.

Policy loans have increased from 4.8 percent of assets in 1965 to 5.5 percent in 1966 and 5.7 percent in 1967.

A borrower on a policy can choose to repay neither the amount of the loan nor the interest. But the interest would continue to accumulate and at the time of his death the amount of interest and loan would be subtracted from the value of his policy.

Out-Of-State Fair Hog Entries Must Have Permit

The Kansas livestock sanitary commissioner says all swine entering Kansas for exhibition must have a prior permit from his office.

A. G. Pickett said no permits will be issued on swine from Missouri or Texas, or for swine that have mixed with swine and Texas swine at a show prior to the Kansas fairs.

He said other swine may be denied permits depending upon hog cholera status in the state of origin.

Pickett said his rulings were aimed primarily at the showing of swine at the Mid America Fair, Topeka, and the Kansas State Fair, Hutchinson.

Earlier, Pickett issued orders embargoing the shipment of hogs or pigs into Kansas from certain states because of hog cholera outbreaks in those states.

Pickett said on swine being imported for the fairs, there must be a statement on the health certificate that the swine herd on the farm of origin has been examined and is not known to be exposed to hog cholera. That there has been no hog cholera within 10 miles of the farm of origin in the past 60 days.

of wheat in the current crop.

• The option for producers to substitute planting of wheat for feed grain or feed grain for wheat in any combination will be available.

The 1970 allotment is expected to produce about 1.2 billion bushels of wheat and will provide for a modest reduction in national carryover, Hardin predicted.

Wheat Acres Cut Is 12%

A 12 percent reduction in wheat allotments for 1970 was announced in Washington last week, ending a weeks-long interdepartmental battle in the nation's capital.

Secretary of Agriculture Clifford M. Hardin announced the cut from the 51.6 million acres allowed in 1969. He said the program is "aimed at strengthening the U.S. position in world markets and continuing the effort to bring wheat production in line with needs."

It was the third consecutive year of decreased wheat planting in the United States. Stockpiles of wheat in the United States have continued to grow despite the reduced plantings.

The announcement ended an argument between the Department of Agriculture and the Bureau of the Budget over the amount of decrease in wheat acreage for the coming year. Hardin had held out for a 10 percent cut reflecting the recommendations of wheat growers and grain trade men. The budget bureau leaders had earlier recommended a 24 percent cut in acreage but switched to proposing a 16 percent cut during the past few weeks.

The allotment announcement had been due since late May or early June. In the past few weeks officials had said it would be made momentarily.

Kansas farmers next year will be allowed to plant 8,526,307 acres of the nation's 45.5 million acres of wheat. Last year's allotment for Kansas was 9,670,690 acres.

Hardin noted that the new year's program will include certificate payments on 48 percent of the production as compared with 43 percent for the 1969 crop. Certificates this year were valued at $1.52 a bushel. Values are expected to be as high — or higher — next year, the secretary added.

The 1970 program — similar to the 1969 — has five major facets, Hardin said:

• National average price support level will be unchanged at $1.25 a bushel.

• A diversion program at the maximum payment rate of 50 percent of county loan rate is aimed at avoiding production of 80 to 90 million bushels of wheat. This feature allows farmers to tailor their plantings by diverting up to one-half of their acreage allotment while maintaining incomes through diversion payments.

• The national wheat acreage allotment of 45.5 million acres is designed to reduce stocks and reverse a three-year trend in carry-over levels.

• Wheat marketing certificates will be paid on 48 percent of projected production on allotted acres. The 1939 certificate at $1.52 was a record, adding more than $800 million to farm value

Won't Trade For Land Retirement, Says Farm Bureau

The American Farm Bureau Federation promises a fight against trading its plan for permanent cropland withdrawal in favor of continuing present agriculture programs with their controls, payments and supports.

"No one should misunderstand that land retirement is something that we can be bought with," said federation president Charles B. Shuman after his group became the only major farm organization to oppose going on with any doctored version of the Food and Agriculture Act which expires at the end of next year.

Shuman, in conversations after his testimony before the House Agriculture Committee last week, recognizes that the Federation stands alone in seeking to wipe out major farm commodity programs in five years.

The federation's substitute for current efforts to regulate farm production by annual acreage allotments, diversion payments and price supports is a scheme that would permanently retire 10 million acres per year for five years, and possibly more thereafter.

Farmers would offer to retire a given number of acres at so many dollars per acre. The government would accept the lowest bids, pay off the farmers who would then be free to plant as much or little of their remaining acres as they wanted in crops of their own choosing.

Shuman's concern is that Congress, in seeking to please the greatest number of constituents, may offer the land retirement plan as bait for federation support for continuing or even expanding the present commodity system.

The National Grange and the National Farmers Union, along with several smaller organizations, have testified against the federation plan.

The Grange contends that the plan will cost far more than the federation estimates and that it won't necessarily prevent costly surpluses. The grange wants the existing law made permanent with additions to provide for wheat export certificates, a nationwide base plan for milk market orders and creation of a consumer protection reserve for food and fiber.

The National Farmers Union

urges continuation of present programs, their broadening include soybeans and flaxseed milk price supports to 100 cent of parity and federal re- nition of farmer bargaining rights.

As for the powerful House Agriculture Committee and Congress as a whole, Shuman he has the "impression we gaining all of the time. Congress gets to the point of ing what are the alternatives the present program for feed grains, cotton . . . our posals will look pretty good mostly the result of a very strong demand for pork. Supplies of pork have been quite abundant — slightly larger than last year.

Pork production during the first half of this year totaled 6491 million pounds, 3 percent more than one year before. Hog slaughter during the six months totaled 42,667,600 head, or 2 percent more than in 1968. Average live weight was 237 pounds, 2 pounds less than last year.

While pork production increased about 3 percent, population growth was just a little more than 1 percent. The supply of pork per person during the first half of this year was about 2 percent greater than in 1968. By contrast, the average price of hogs has been up much more. This indicates that it is strong demand — not short supply — that has pushed up prices of hogs.

The summer is, of course, the season when pork production is at the lowest level of the year. On a weekly basis, supplies usually reach their low for the year early in July. Supplies increase slowly from early July into October.

Two other market factors tend to offset the increase in pork production from July to October. These are: (1) a decrease in the supplies of broilers, and (2) some increase in the demand for pork with the arrival of cooler weather.

er.

A consumer protest movement could undermine hog values during the next few weeks. Such an action could be especially troublesome at this time when supplies are increasing seasonally.

One woman, who led a protest demonstration against grocery stores a few years ago, has been quoted as saying that she might soon go out against processors. That might produce an interesting situation: Women on one side demanding lower prices and farmers on the other asking for higher prices.

Many families are getting big increases in income. A recent news story listed increases as follows: (1) A machinists' group got an increase of 32 percent over the next three years. (2) New York longshoremen got a 30 percent increase over the same time. (3) Construction workers at Buffalo got a boost of 64 percent over 2 years.

Not every family, however, is getting such increases. Some have even suffered from reduced income — because of shortened work weeks, forced changes in employment, or retirement. Many older people living on savings, pensions, etc., receive little or no increases in income. Thus, many people are forced to cut their purchases of meat and other essential items even while others live in ever-increasing luxury. During recent months the increased spending by the "newly rich" has more than offset the reduced purchases by those who have been left behind. This development may put hog prices in a vulnerable position, especially during the next three months.

Bigger Cholera Payments For Destroyed Hogs

Federal indemnity payments to farmers who must destroy swine in a nationwide hog cholera eradication program will be boosted to $50 per animal.

The Agriculture Department announced payments will be increased effective Aug. 19 to $50 per head from $40 for slaughter-type hogs, and to $100 from $50 for registered, inbred and hybrid types.

These rates represent the maximum federal share of payments carried out cooperatively with states in the final "stamping out" phase of the hog cholera eradication program.

Regulations specify that hogs which must be destroyed because of the disease are appraised at their market value for meat, feeding or breeding purposes.

Federal payments are usually matched by state funds, officials said. Thus, maximum payments will be $200 for purebred animals and $100 for slaughter types.

USDA To Cut Use Of Persistent Chemicals

Reacting to public pressure, the Agriculture Department has announced a substantial curtailment in government use of such long-lived pesticides as DDT, dieldrin, and heptachlor.

The department announced that from now on it will use less-persistent chemicals such as chlordane wherever possible in federal insect control programs.

These programs were suspended on July 9 for 30 days to permit department officials to study contamination effects of the pesticides.

"We were being whiplashed on this thing," a department spokesman said, "and so we decided to call a halt and look it over."

The private use of pesticides is not affected by the department's action.

Widespread public concern over pesticide use prompted the department to suspend control program operations so they could be studied more fully.

Under the revised federal-state control plan the number of acres to be sprayed also would be reduced in some cases.

As an example, the spokesman said, before the July 9 suspension the plan called for spraying 22,000 acres with dieldrin to control Japanese beetles, white fringed beetles and European chafers.

This now has been cut to 16,200 acres, with dieldrin to be used on only 6000. Chlordane and sevin — considered less persistent in plants and soils — will be substituted for the remainder.

The July 9 order also suspended spraying planned for 56 airports. The suspension was continued until Sept. 14 to give authorities more time for study.

Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., a critic of government pesticide policies, said in a statement that the department's cutback action is encouraging but does not go far enough.

Nelson said the postponement of a decision on airport spraying — done to prevent insects from spreading among states and overseas — was "most unfortunate" and that there is ample evidence available to set restrictions immediately.

He also said Secretary of Agriculture Clifford M. Hardin should not withhold his department's plan any longer to stop the use of DDT in aquatic and for aerial dusting.

Nelson said the department should set up a timetable for canceling federal registration for all nonessential use of DDT that no plan exists for reduction of DDT for crop dusting in water areas.

"In examining our program on a case-by-case basis," Undersecretary J. Phil Campbell, "we have retained those instances where there are no effective less-persistent alternatives."

MARKET REPORT

The market last week was higher on both cattle and hogs. We expect increasingly larger sales now as we go into the fall season. Last week the cow market was the most active in a moderate sale. There was strong demand for 700-800 pound steers.

The hog market was active, too, with pigs especially going for a higher market.

See Biggest Corn Crop Since 1944

Kansas farmers have harvested good crops of small grains this year and mid-summer prospects are for an excellent outturn of fall harvested crops, according to the Kansas Crop and Livestock

Reporting Service.

The 1969 wheat crop was estimated at 304 million bushels, the second largest crop of record, exceeded only by the 1952 crop of nearly 308 million bushels.

Corn production is forecast at 88 million bushels which, if realized, would be the largest crop

Soybean production is forecast at 23 million bushels, topped only by the record production of 24 million bushels last year.

However, the oat crop of 6.3 million bushels was quite small and the barley crop of 5.6 million

August 19, 1969

Soybean production is forecast at 22,968,000 bushels, slightly below last year's record. An average yield of 24 bushels is expected, 1 bushel below last year's record.

Production of all hay this year is expected to total 5,692,000 tons, a new record high.

Sugar beet production is indicated at a record 782,000 tons due to a large increase in acreage this year.

Fruit crops were the best in recent years with a peach production estimated at 9.5 million pounds and apple production at 16 million pounds.

Milk production during July was 138 million pounds, moderately below last year, while egg production, at 73 million, was slightly above a year earlier.

The sorghum grain crop is expected to total 169 million bushels, a new record high.

bushels, although largest since 1964, was not a large crop.

The expected sugar beet crop of 782,000 tons is well above last year and a new record high for the State. Hay production is expected to reach an all-time high of 5.7 million tons.

Wheat Production

Kansas wheat production is estimated at 304,070,000 bushels, one-fourth more than last year and the state's second largest crop.

The average yield of 31.5 bushels per acre was 3 bushels above the previous record set in 1958 and 1960.

Harvest got off to a late start because of rain but was virtually completed during July. Test weight of the 1969 crop averaged 61.2 pounds per bushel, slightly below a year earlier but about average for the state.

Protein content of this year's crop, at 10.9 percent, was well below average. Sumner County ranked first in wheat production, followed by Reno and Ford counties.

Sorghum Forecast

Sorghum grain production is forecast at 169,441,000 bushels, 4 percent above 1968 and a shade above the previous record of 168 million bushels set in 1960.

The expected yield of 53 bushels per acre is 6 bushels above last year and a new record high for the state.

Greenbugs have been a problem in some areas but beneficial insect populations and some spraying have limited damage. Rainfall during the month was generally sufficient to keep the crop developing well in most areas.

Corn Production

Corn production is forecast at 88,425,000 bushels, 4 percent above last year and the largest since 1944. The August 1 indicated yield of 75 bushels per acre is equal to last year's record high.

Other Crops

Barley production is estimated at 5,624,000 bushels, 52 percent above the 1968 crop and the largest in five years.

The oat crop of 6,318,000 bushels was 8 percent below a year earlier. The barley yield per acre of 37 bushels was equal to last year's record high, while the oat yield per acre of 39 bushels was the highest since 1883.

SCHOOL DRESS CODES ARE REVISED

Dress codes, in effect in many G&G area high schools, may be getting some revisions in line with changing fashions. Hays High School says it will allow culottes and pant dresses this year. The Hays revised code didn't budge on the subject of boys' hair. "Boys will be clean shaven below the nose and earlobe," says the new guideline.

Check Tree Leaves For Water Needs

Homeowners can read a sage about the water needs of their trees and shrubs by looking closely at the wilted condition of the leaves, reports Kansas University Extension ornamental horticulturalist Larry Leuthold. A slight wilt on the leaves during the afternoon that disappears before sundown indicates a lack of water is not causing severe stress to the plant, Leuthold explains.

However, if the leaves limp in the early evening, the tree needs help in the form of deep soaking. If the tree is in sandy soil, it may need watering in five or six days. For trees in heavy clay soils, the watering should be repeated every ten to ten days.

Leuthold suggests watering trees or shrubs in the early morning to lessen the chance of mildew, fungi and root rot plant problems that flourish in damp soils at night.

In watering a tree, Leuthold advises that the watering be larger than the circumference of the branches. For small trees, a basin three to four feet in diameter around the base may be sufficient; larger trees may require a sprinkler to cover an adequate area beneath the canopy. Leuthold concludes that getting water to the tree in time is of prime importance and that timing the message through the leaves is the way to know when to water.

Belleville Auction Barn To Be Opened Soon

Belleville — A new livestock auction pavilion will be open here soon, perhaps before the first of September. The livestock facility is just south of Belleville on US 81.

The name will be Belleville Livestock Inc. Carson Hansen, onetime auction barn operator at Plainville, Beloit and Hutchinson, will manage the company.

Hansen started in the livestock business in 1933. He was associated with the Plainville barn for a decade and then owned the Beloit barn for 10 years. More recently he ran a barn at Hutchinson for two years.

Texas NFO Signs Major Milo Contract

The National Farmers Organization has agreed to a $3 million milo contract with the West Friona, Texas, Grain Co., according to the farm editor of the Amarillo News, Wayne Board.

The Texas state NFO president Don Kimball said his group now "has enough strength to short the market. The milo contract, ratified by 800 NFO members at a closed session at Hereford, Texas, calls for a "15% increase for the farmer." Kimball called that the highest price since 1954.

Clarence Martin, owner of the elevator facility at Friona, said he entered the agreement to insure a 12-month supply of milo and "to give the freight to the farmer." His elevator has a capacity of about 200 million pounds.

The contract calls for No. 2 yellow milo with a moisture content of 14% with a 56-pound test weight. Also included is a 10% penalty, should the farmer fail to deliver the milo to Martin.

One Of Best Peach Crops

HAYSVILLE — The crest of a bountiful Kansas peach harvest has passed in the Haysville orchards, Sedgwick County fruit growers in the "Peach Capitol of Kansas" say.

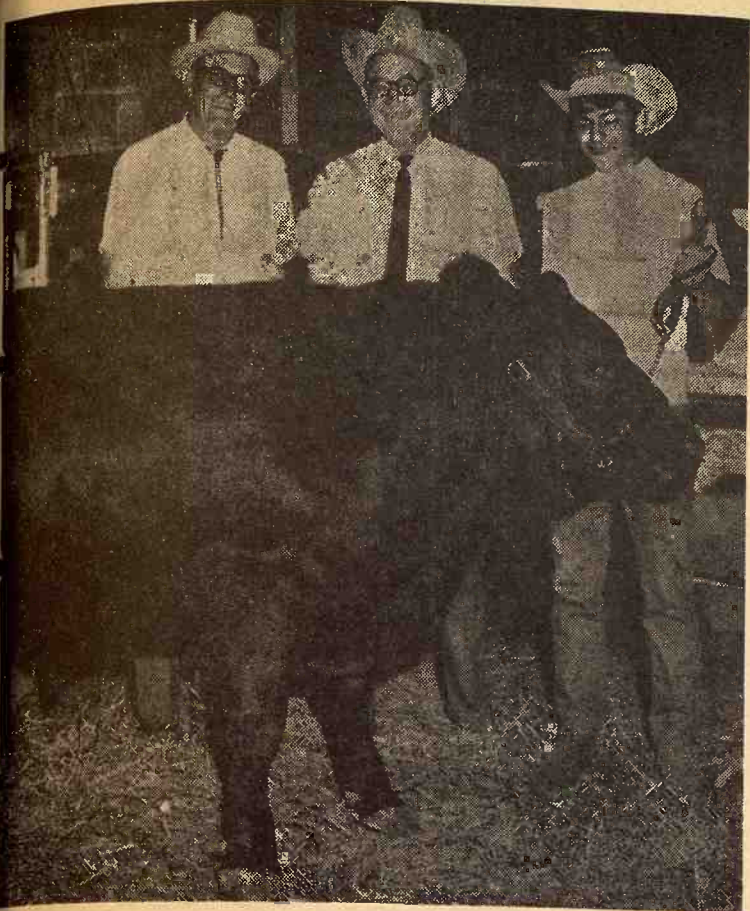

Big volume peach picking on a "pick 'em yourself" basis will continue for the next two weeks, when 60 percent of the peaches will be harvested, said Gerald B'ood of Blood Orchards Inc. The Blood Orchards are the largest in Kansas.

"One of the best crops ever" is being harvested at the Nicholson orchard, said John Garner, manager.

Six popular varieties are now available at the seven orchards of the county growers' association. The peach harvest got off to a late start this year because of unfavorable weather, with picking expected to continue through August. Quality of the fruit is excellent due to copious rains this spring and summer.

Peach growers in the Haysville area include Blood Orchards, Inc., Cain Orchards, Hancock Peach Orchard, S. Johnson Orchards, Mahoney & Ungmeyer Orchards, Nelson Peach Orchard and Nicholson Orchards.

696 A POUND AT JUNCTION CITY

Selling Every

FRIDAY

STARTS 1:00 P.M.

Consigners, locally and from all surrounding counties brought in over 1,000 cattle last Friday. Many feeders and order buyers from a wide area made a very good auction all the way through. All the sellers that we talked to after the sale were well pleased with the prices they received.
