Fast Gainer

Cattlemen might study a bit the weight gain of this gorilla from the Tokyo zoo. The gorilla gained 110 pounds in one month and now weighs 551 pounds. Zoo officials weren't happy with the gain, however, saying the animal was getting too little exercise and too much food. They put up signs asking zoo-goers not to feed the gorillas.

Missouri Expert Sees Gains In Crossbreeds

SPICKARD, Mo. — Crossbreeding in beef cattle has shown clear-cut advantages for producing a higher percentage of crop and heavier birth and weaning weights, John Lasley, University of Missouri professor of animal husbandry, said recently.

Lasley spoke to visitors attending the Beef Cattle Field Day at the University's North Missouri farm here. He summarized the results to date of the extensive beef crossbreeding project being conducted at the farm. Three breeds — Angus, Herefords, and Charolais — are being used in the study which started in 1965. Breeding and weaning data are available for two years, feedlot and carcass data for one year.

Cows bred to sires of other breeds produced six more live calves per 100 head than cows producing purebred calves. Fetal death losses before birth were slightly less in cows bred to bulls of other breeds.

Crossbred bull calves averaged 2 pounds heavier at birth than did purebred bull calves. Crossbred heifer calves showed nearly a three-pound advantage at birth and continued to show this extra hybrid vigor through weaning. At 205 days, crossbred heifers were about 4 per cent heavier than the purebred heifers, while crossbred steers were about 3 per cent heavier than the purebreds.

Average birthweight for purebred calves was for Angus, 62.6 pounds, Herefords 70.6, pounds, and Charolais 82 pounds. Angus cows had the most difficulty at calving while Charolais had the least. Cows of all breeds which produced bull calves by a Charolais sire had more difficulty than when sired by an Angus or Hereford. No difference was found where heifer calves were produced.

"Greater fertility plus heavier weaning weights add up to a 10 to 15 percent advantage at weaning time from crossbreeding," Lasley said. He called these figures to the attention of cowherd owners and said, "Too often, cattlemen have not started looking for hybrid vigor until the cattle get into the feedlot."

In the university study, crossbred heifer calves have, in general, gained 5 to 10 per cent faster in the feedlot than the purebreds. Crossbred steers have not shown this much rate-of-gain advantage.

Crossbreeding has given only 1 to 2 percent increase in feed efficiency and there has been no major effect on carcass quality. For these traits, the crossbred is about an average of the purebred dam and sire.

The results emphasize that to get efficient gains and desirable carcass quality, these traits must be present in the purebreds used for the crosses," Lasley said. "We need to improve these traits in our purebreds whether or not crossbreeding is used."

Three sires of each of the three breeds are used in this research project each year. Each bull produces purebred as well as crossbred calves. Cows are artificially inseminated.

Only purebred cows are being used at present. Later in the experiment, crossbred heifers will be kept in the herd for breeding back to purebred bulls. Lasley said that using a crossbred cow may add extra hybrid vigor in the calves.

Okay Beer In KU Halls

LAWRENCE — University of Kansas officials have announced that residence halls may purchase beer with hall social funds.

"It's in keeping with university policy," Donald Alderson, dean of men, told the student newspaper here.

"I'd much rather see an honest expenditure for beer than wonder how students manage to use 50 pounds of ice at a party," he said.

The policy does not include liquor, Alderson said.

'Don't Hold', Says Feeder President

HASTINGS, Ia. — Charles Phelps, cattle feeder, said here this month, "There isn't any real justification for the recent decline in fed cattle prices and in the dressed meat trade, but it would be a grave mistake if feeders hang onto their finished cattle for higher prices, which would only aggravate the situation at a later date."

The president of the National Livestock Feeders Association reported that the average price of all slaughter steers at the seven major markets had declined about 70 cents a hundred-weight during the two mid-weeks of September, with the decline being a dollar or more per hundred on the best classes of steers. The dressed market has declined about $2 per cwt.

"He said, "We cannot see any factors that justify this decline."

Phelps pointed out that during September the total estimated number of cattle slaughtered in federally inspected plants was only slightly higher than a year ago and was a scant 3 per cent above August this year.

The feeders president called attention to the situation earlier this year, when beef prices were low and the marketing of too many heavy cattle had a great deal to do with price depression.

"This isn't the case now, he said. "In fact, average weights of slaughter cattle recently have been running at, or slightly below, year-ago levels and considerably under weights the first five months of this year."

The Iowa feeder said the percent of steers and heifers in the slaughter was somewhat higher prior to September this year than it was a year ago, but has dropped now to about the same percentage as in 1966.

"Likewise," he said, "more steers and heifers in the slaughter can't be the cause of the decline."

"The point is," he continued, "as cattle feeders, we've been doing a somewhat better job of producing the kind of fed cattle the buyers say they want, and all of a sudden they start paying us less money for them."

Wheat Commission Uses Own Kitchen

A test kitchen opened by the Kansas Wheat Commission in Hutchinson is the first such unit in the Central Plains area.

Closest such unit is at Chicago where commercial companies such as Pillsbury operate test kitchens as part of their public relations and testing programs.

Others are located on the East and West Coasts.

The newly opened facility, managed by Mrs. Anna Jane Baird, home economist, will be used to develop and test recipes utilizing wheat products.

This is in line with the goals of the Wheat Commission to boost domestic consumption of wheat products, thereby increasing the demands for Kansas wheat production.

"Our job is to do something for the Kansas farmer," Kansas Wheat Commission administrator Jerry Fowler, said. "Any thing that uses up wheat allows more wheat to move out of the state."

High on the list for demonstrations is the school lunch program.

Recipes for mass feeding are developed under contract and tested by Kansas State University.

College students, unknowingly involved in the testing program, are served dishes such as tuna bulgur at their fraternity and sorority houses as well as at the Student Union. A test panel also rates the recipes.

After consuming the dish, students are asked to rate their opinion of the meal.

"The students are honest in their reactions and if we get mostly superior and excellent ratings, then we feel we have a good recipe to be used in mass feedings," Mrs. Baird said.

Recipes are based on 100 servings. If approved by K-State students, the recipes are distributed to schools for school lunch use.

Since much of the foodstuffs utilized in the school lunch program are commodity products donated by the federal government, there is much demand for usable recipes involving these products.

High on the list of needs in the school lunch program is a substitute for crackers because they must be purchased. Mrs. Baird is seeking a wheat product which could be baked at school and be served as a cracker substitute.

Another facet has been the development of commercial "home-baked varieties used by bakeries.

Newest release was the Honey Rolled-Wheat cookie by Dillon's. In the first week of sales, the company sold over 15,000 dozen and sales of the cookie have continued to hold up.

A Wichita bakery is now using another one of the recipes developed by the Wheat Commission.

2200-lb. Charolais Cow Brings $6700

A G&G area Charolais has set a record for the breed, selling as a 15/16 purebred at auction for $6700. The 5-year old cow weighed 2200 pounds. The sale was held at Tulsa, in conjunction with the state fair there.

'Cattlemen Can Escape Federal Noose'

SIDNEY, Mont. — The livestock industry can escape the effects of a federally-manipulated market place because it stands out from agriculture as a whole, according to the views expressed by livestock marketing leader Ingvard Svarre at a meeting of the Montana Cattlemen's Association here.

Mr. Svarre, who is president of Certified Livestock Markets Association, referred to an article appearing recently in a national business magazine which states that agriculture is undergoing a revolution that is as profound as that of the 1930's. The cause this time, according to the article is not depression, but a shift in federal agricultural policy.

Mr. Svarre said the article states that the "new era" federal agriculture philosophy is geared to weeding out the smaller agricultural producer through exposure to the free market. When shaken down in this manner the estimated one-half million remaining big producers would be allowed, through collective bargaining organizations, to estimate demand for a commodity, establish production control, and bargain for prices uniformly — practices which other businesses are prohibited by law from doing.

"I am shocked," said Svarre, "to ponder the idea that the market place, as we know it, can be manipulated by any power or authority in this manner."

He added, however, "The facts bear out that the conclusion that the cattle and beef industry does not readily fall into the broad scope of agriculture and agricultural commodities."

"Instead, cattle and beef are products which can undergo many stages of production with merchandising applied throughout.

"On that basis, the cattle and beef industry stands out from all agriculture. It is an industry involving many people and many products," Mr. Svarre stated.

"I think its destiny lies in the ability of those people to merchandise those products: calves, feeders, yearlings, fed cattle and beef in a vast consumer market and do so competitively and profitably," Mr. Svarre continued.

"We have a pretty good record in that regard when it is properly set down. It isn't like we were starting from scratch," said Svarre.

MORE ACCEPTANCE FOR STEEL-STUDDED TIRES

Steel-studded snow tires, which were restricted or on trial in many localities last year, apparently have won general acceptance. They are permitted in 41 states, including Kansas. The number is an increase of seven since last year.

Royal Honors

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Sundgren of El Dorado were named American Royal Farm Family for Kansas last week. The Sundgrens operate a 3150-acre ranch in the bluestem country in Butler County in partnership with A. H. Gish.

The ranch carries 300 head of Herefords, 100 head of which are registered and sold as purebreds, with about a section used for the production of alfalfa, milo and wheat. The ranch also includes a 960-acre shooting preserve which is licensed by the Kansas Forestry, Fish & Game Commission and is stocked with quail, pheasant and fish.

Sundgren also is a partner in Sun Enterprises, which is a Hereford R ranch and shooting preserve near Salina.

The Sundgren herd is wintered on tall bluestem grass, and calves are held over and grazed a second year. Steers are sold as yearlings weighing 700 to 750 pounds.

Sundgren, a native of Salina, started ranching in Butler county in 1949.

U.S. Corn Crop Rated 15% Over 1966 Output

The Agriculture Department's early harvest-season report estimated the production of corn for grain at a record high of 4.72 billion bushels, up 15 per cent from the previous record last year.

The wheat crop was estimated at 1.55 billion bushels, also a record high up 7 percent from last year.

The important soybean crop was put at a record 993 million bushels, up 7 percent from the previous record last year.

The corn figure compares with 4.69 billion forecast last month and with 4.1 billion produced last year and 3.76 billion for the five-year (1961-65) average.

The wheat estimate compares with 1.54 billion predicted a month ago, 1.3 billion last year and 1.2 billion for the average.

The winter wheat crop estimate was unchanged from last month's 1.23 billion. Production was 1.05 billion last year and 970 million for the average.

Grinds! Mixes! Delivers!

The Gehl Mix-All, with economy plain feeder and exclusive crusher-feeder attachment, grinds, mixes and delivers the most uniform on-the-farm feed.

Here's proof: Samples of feed grains, ground by Gehl and competitive mills, were compared in a "sieve-shaker" analysis (a grinding uniformity test used also by commercial feed manufacturers). In test after test, Gehl samples were the most uniformly ground. And, the more uniform the grind, the better the mix!

In the Mix-All hammermill, 66 thin, alloy-steel hammers cut . . . not pound ingredients on a big grinding surface for faster feed flow with reduced "fines." Come on in for a close-up look at all the Mix-All features, including the swinging auger-feeder.

New England Leading In Livestock Health

WASHINGTON — A second state in the nation has eradicated bovine tuberculosis from its cattle. Maine has climaxed a 50-year struggle against this serious and costly disease affecting both livestock and man by achieving an Accredited Tuberculosis Free status.

New Hampshire was accredited free of the disease on Jan. 1, 1965. One year later the Virgin Islands also reached this ultimate goal of the state-federal effort to eradicate bovine tuberculosis.

In 1929, Maine was the second state to achieve a modified Accredited Tuberculosis status — less than one half of one percent incidence in cattle. Today, 38 years later, the state celebrates the completion of a difficult task — the location and removal of that 0.5 per cent infection in its cattle population.

The state-federal effort to eradicate bovine-type TB from cattle began in Maine 50 years ago. In 1920, the testing of all herds in a county was initiated. Altogether, more than three million tests were applied to cattle. Of these, more than 12,000 were found infected with TB. Indemnity payments exceeded $660,000.

TB herd outbreaks were lower this fiscal year — 86 as opposed to 111 the previous year.

The New England area is setting the pace for the nation in animal and poultry disease eradication efforts. New Hampshire was the first state to eradicate cattle brucellosis. Vermont was the first state to eradicate hog cholera and swine brucellosis. New Hampshire and Maine were the first two

Trend To Fewer Co-ops, Higher Volume

MANHATTAN — The number of farm cooperatives in Kansas has been on the decline during recent years, but membership and volume of business have been increasing, according to a Kansas State University economist.

Milton Manual, professor of economics, notes that there were 320 cooperatives in the state in 1965, down 11 percent from 10 years earlier. However, total membership was up 22 percent to 219,000. Total business soared by 72 percent during the period, reaching $468 million in 1965.

The trend toward fewer cooperatives is also noted on the national level. There were 8,583 co-ops in the U.S. in 1965, 13 percent fewer than in 1955. But total membership showed a 7 percent decline to around 7 million.

Total business volume for

October 17, 1967

1965 was up 50 percent to $14.7 billion.

Kansas rated tenth in the nation in total business done by cooperatives in 1965, fourth in the value of grain handled, and sixth in dollar volume of farm supplies sold.

Total business volume increased for all major commodities during the period. Volume of grain handled was up 71 percent, dairy products 24 percent, and livestock and livestock products 6 percent.

Dollar volume of farm supplies handled through Kansas co-ops totaled about $136 million in 1965, an increase of 125 percent from 1955.

Sheep Breeders Set Date For Fall Ewe Sale

Kansas purebred sheep breeders will hold their annual ewe sale Saturday, November 18, at Hutchinson, George Ahlschwede, Extension livestock specialist at Kansas State University and secretary of the group, reports.

The 22nd annual sale will begin at 1 p.m. on the State Fair grounds. The event will feature yearling, 2-year-old, and 3-year-old bred and open ewes. "This is an opportunity for people to get a new start in the sheep business with high quality stock," Ahlschwede says.

He says he expects a majority of the consignments will be yearlings and 2-year-olds. And there will probably be selections of six breeds — Hampshire, Suffolk, Dorset, Shropshire, Southdown, and Corriedale. Registration certificates and necessary health papers will accompany each animal.

Last year's sale included 76 head with the largest number in the Hampshire breed. Breeders from many parts of the state selected ewes from the sale. Expectations are for another successful sale this year.

Nominations for the sale will be taken until Saturday, October 21. They should be sent to Ahlschwede at Weber Hall, KSU, Manhattan, Kansas, 66502. A $5 fee is charged each entry.

OUR DAILY BREAD

— by G&G Area Cooks

Sharon Bolte Of Beverly Wins 'Daily Bread' Prize

Winner this week is Sharon Bolte of Beverly. She writes, "crunchy topping adds delicious flavor to this easily prepared dessert."

BANANA BUTTER CRUNCH

- 3 cups diced banana
- 1/2 cup sugar, white
- 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
- 1 cup brown sugar, firmly packed
- 1 1/2 cups sifted flour
- 1 cup rolled oats, uncooked
- 1/2 cup butter
- 1/2 cup shortening (corn oil)

Mix bananas, sugar and nutmeg. Place mixture in bottom of greased 10x6x1 1/2-inch baking dish or pan. Combine brown sugar, sifted flour, oats and salt in a bowl. Cut in butter and shortening as for pastry and sprinkle on top of bananas. Bake in a moderate oven, 375 degrees, for 40 minutes or until crisp and browned. Serve warm or cold with whipped cream, whipped topping mix or vanilla ice cream. Will serve six. "Sometimes I sprinkle 1/2 cup walnuts over top while baking."

The next recipe was sent by Mrs. Ernest Wilson, Clifton:

APPLESAUCE CAKE

- 1/2 cups sugar
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1 teaspoon lemon flavoring
- 1/2 teaspoons baking powder
- 1/2 cups flour
- 1/2 cup shortening
- 1/2 teaspoon cloves
- 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
- 1 teaspoon soda
- 1 egg
- 1/2 cups sweetened applesauce
- 1/2 cup nuts

Bake in layers, cream shortening and sugar. Add eggs and applesauce, beat thoroughly. Mix the flour with baking powder, soda, salt and spices. Add nuts and flavoring last. Pour in greased pan that has been oiled with flour, bake in moderate oven (375 degrees) about 40 minutes. Frost with favor frosting.

- 1/2 cup water
- 1 egg
- 1/2 cup shredded coconut
- 1/2 cup chopped nuts
- 1 stick oleo

Spread filling in 9-inch square pan. Combine cake mix, water and egg and beat four minutes medium speed. Pour over pie filling. Sprinkle coconut and nuts over top. Drizzle melted oleo over top. Bake at 350 degrees for 40 minutes.

The following recipe is from Mrs. W. T. Blevins of R 1, Clay Center:

- 20 medium green tomatoes
- 8 medium onions
- 8 medium apples
- 3 green peppers
- 2 red peppers
- 3 tablespoons salt
- 1 tablespoon celery seed
- 1 tablespoon mustard seed
- 1 tablespoon tumeric, optional
- 1 tablespoon cinnamon
- 5 cups sugar
- 3 cups vinegar

Grind vegetables and apples. Drain well. Put in large kettle, add the seasoning, sugar and vinegar. Bring to boil and cook 30 minutes. Put in sterilized jars and seal while relish is boiling hot. Makes about six pints.

Mini-coats Take Top Honors On Campus

For the campus-bound, it's the year of the mini-coat . . . abbreviated, fashion-wise and young as today's coed.

Taking its cue from the mini-skirt, the coat that's winning collegiate approval is hardly longer than a jacket . . . leaving lots of leg to be covered.

But to stave off the possibility of frostbite, fashion designers have come to the fore with a raft of stylish accessories that have become practical necessities. They take the form of textured, bright colored stockings or tights and way-out boots that fill the gap 'twixt toe and thigh.

Shortest of the mini-coats are paired with coordinated skirts which show a few inches below the coat hemline. These outfits are usually teamed with knee-high stockings or tights.

Cotton corduroy carries off fashion honors for the new shorter length coats, turning up in mini-versions of trench coats, campaign coats, double-breasted swagger coats, or free-wheeling tents.

Corduroy's traditional ribbing is seen in all sizes, from pinwheel to wide or a mixture of both. In many cases, wales are used on the horizontal to emphasize the mini-lengths.

Autumn coat colors range from brick red to ginger, from smoke blue to willow green, from nugget to bone.

COSTS CUT WITH PURINA STEER CHOW

Can feeders cut feed costs without sacrificing performance? Results from Omaha feedlots say yes. In 10 comparative tests, 1,111 cattle averaged 3 pounds daily gain with Purina Steer Chow at a cost of $20.17 per cwt., $1.98 less than feed costs on 882 other head.

The tests prove that cattle can be fed efficiently with a 32% protein supplement. Purina research has designed Purina Steer Chow for feeders who finish yearling cattle on a low roughage, high energy feeding program. It's the low cost supplement that's high in Vitamin A. Also available with antibiotics and stilbestrol.

Find out for yourself that you don't have to sacrifice performance to cut costs. Feed Purina Steer Chow. Call us now!

Try This Quick And Easy Company Chicken

Creamed chicken takes on company airs when served in a golden ring of crusty cornbread. One-pot preparation makes quick work of this creamed chicken. The velvety smooth sauce, made with double-rich evaporated milk, is finalized with the mushrooms and other good ingredients. Quick and easy, too, is the golden circle fashioned from a convenient package of corn muffin mix.

COMPANY CREAMED CHICKEN

1 can (4 ounce) sliced mushrooms
1 chicken bouillon cube

3 tablespoons butter
1 tablespoon minced onion
3 tablespoons flour
½ teaspoon salt
Dash of pepper
1 tall can evaporated milk (1½ cups)
2 cups diced cooked chicken
Drain liquid from mushrooms: Add water to measure ½ cup liquid if necessary. Heat liquid; dissolve bouillon in it. Melt butter in medium size saucepan; add mushrooms and onion; cook and stir until mushrooms are lightly browned. Remove from heat. Add flour a little at a time, blending smoothly. Stir in salt, pepper, mushroom liquid and evaporated milk. Cook and stir over medium heat until thickened. Add chicken; heat to serving temperature. Serve in Corn Ring. Serves six.

To make Corn Ring: Prepare a 12-ounce package of corn muffin mix according to package directions, adding 1 teaspoon paprika and 2 tablespoons chopped chives, if desired. Spoon into a well-buttered 4 or 5 cup ring mold. Bake in preheated oven (400 degrees) 15 minutes.

Add Disinfectant To Family Wash To Ensure Cleanliness

Make sure the family wash is really clean. U. S. Department of Agriculture tests show that even freshly-washed fabrics can harbor and spread disease-causing germs. USDA's recommendation: Use a disinfectant along with your soap or detergent to reduce the germ count. This is especially important if there is sickness in the family or if you use a community washer. Among the USDA-approved products are high-concentration pine oil disinfectants. Use $\frac{3}{4}$ cup for a top-loading machine and $\frac{1}{2}$ cup for a front-loading machine. Be sure to read the label on the disinfectant you choose and follow the manufacturer's directions. Then the family wash will be as clean as it looks.

Set For State 4-H Congress At Wichita Nov. 2-4

More than 100 Kansas 4-Hers will be named this week as delegates to Kansas 4-H Congress at Wichita, November 2-4. "Respect for Law" is the topic to be emphasized at what might be described as a "citizenship seminar," reports Charles Bates, Extension 4-H specialist, Kansas State University, and coordinator of the annual event. Speakers and discussions by the teenagers will present ways the youth can promote respect for law enforcement and support in their home communities.

The Congress schedule includes an awards banquet, tours, speeches and discussions, in addition to time for informal visiting and recreation.

The delegates win the Wichita trip in recognition of outstanding accomplishments in some segment of the 4-H program.

The first-place judging teams in clothing, foods, home improvement, and crops at the Kansas State Fair win a trip to the Kansas 4-H Congress. State blue ribbon award groups in foods, electric, personal development, weed control, and citizenship are named delegates.

The Kansas 4-H Foundation administers the awards program making the educational trips possible. Donors for the various groups are Rural Electric Cooperatives and Electric Companies of Kansas; Federal Land Bank, Wichita; Southwestern Bell Telephone Co., Topeka; Vulcan Chemical Co., Wichita; and Kansas Production Credit Association and Federal Intermediate Credit Bank of Wichita.

$28 More Per Car Would Buy New Highway Program

J. Rex Duwe, Kansas highway commissioner, has proposed a 2½ cent per gallon hike in the state motor fuel tax and a $10 average per vehicle boost in license tag fees.

The resulting money would be used to build the proposed 1400 mile Kansas freeway system over a seven-year period with revenue bonds, and to repair 2600 miles of highways he called deficient.

"This would produce the $40 million additional revenues per year which are necessary to do the entire job. The cost would average about $28 per vehicle per year," Duwe said.

Rex Duwe

"Let's stop playing shell games with a program which has probably more effect than any other on the economic future of Kansas," Duwe, a Republican from Lucas, said.

Gov. Robert Docking has remained opposed to any increase in the state's gasoline tax, while expressing interest in using revenue bonds to finance highway construction.

Duwe recommends building the Kansas freeway system in seven years through the use of revenue bonds, "but only if additional revenues are provided to give basic support for the entire statewide program."

Money from the proposed increase in highway user taxes, which includes motor fuel taxes and license fees, would be used to retire the freeway bonds.

"I suggest to you that the entire Kansas freeway system could be built in seven years, and its completion would mark probably the greatest single step forward toward economic development that Kansas has ever taken," Duwe said.

He cited four state highway needs: the 1400 mile Kansas freeway system; major improvement for the remaining 2600 miles; a level of financing which will enable the State Highway Commission to keep any of the 10,000-mile system from becoming deficient in the future; and major help for the street and road programs of the cities and counties.

Duwe said his proposal to hike motor fuel taxes and license tag fees would result in an additional $28 per year per vehicle, enough to fund the Kansas freeway system.

"It should be clearly understood that the Kansas freeway system is little more than lines on a map at this time and will so remain as long as Kansas continues the present inadequate level of highway user revenues," he said.

The Kansas freeway system was proposed as a four-lane, limited-access highway system in the highest traffic-density corridors of the state.

The corridors are US 69, south from Kansas City to the Oklahoma border.

US 54 and K96 west from Missouri through Wichita to Liberal

US 59 and US 169 south from Lawrence to Oklahoma

US 73 southeast from Atchison via Leavenworth to I-70; US 75 south from Nebraska via Topeka to I-35

US 36 west from Missouri to Belleville

K 7 and US 169 southwest from I-70 to connect with the freeway near Garnett

US 81 north from Salina to Nebraska

US 50 east from Hutchinson to Emporia

K 61 northeast from Hutchinson to I-35W near McPherson

K150 east from I-35 near Olathe to Missouri

K 96 northwest from Wichita via Great Bend to Hays

Duwe pointed out state highway user taxes in Kansas — the type you don't pay unless you own or operate a vehicle — are lowest among the 48 contiguous states, at $58.84 per vehicle.

Milling Firm Asks To Reorganize

An application for federal approval of a reorganization plan for the Abilene Flour Mills Co., Inc., Abilene, was filed in Wichita last week with the bankruptcy referee in U.S. District Court.

The application was filed on behalf of the firm's president, R. B. Laing. The application contained a statement that the firm is "unable to pay its debts as they mature."

Among its creditors, the firm listed nine secured creditors with claims totaling $1,508,600. The firm said that arrangements with its unsecured creditors would be filed within 10 days.

NFO Official Sees Spring Hold

Memphis, Tenn. — The vice-president of the National Farmers organization says his group plans a massive farm products holding action in the spring. He said the boycott is planned to dramatize the economic plight of farmers.

"We hope to have agriculture plants shut down by corn planting time," Erhard Pfingsten of Sergeant Bluff, Iowa, told the Memphis Agriculture club.

Records, Near Records In '67 Fall Crop Output

Well above average production of fall harvested crops is forecast for Kansas, according to the Kansas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service.

October 1 conditions indicate a record large sugar beet crop and the second largest crops of record for sorghum grain, soybeans and hay.

The expected production of sorghum grain of 153 million bushels is more than one-fifth larger than the average and has been exceeded only by the record 167½ million bushel production of 1960.

Grain corn production was expected to total 74 million bushels, one-fourth above average and the yield per acre record high.

Soybean production of nearly 20 million bushels would be second only to last year's record production.

Hay production of 5.4 million tons was exceeded only in 1965.

Maturity and harvest of fall ripening crops was behind usual as the result of late planting and below normal temperatures throughout most of the growing season. Seeding of the 1968 winter wheat crop proceeded slowly during September and on October 1 was less than one-half complete, but sped up to near normal progress in early October.

Sorghum Grain

Sorghum grain production was estimated at 152,656,000 bushels, 9 percent larger than last year's crop and 22 percent larger than the 1961-65 average.

The expected yield per acre of 47 bushels is 2 bushels below last year's but otherwise the highest of record.

Harvest operations had started in eastern Kansas by the first of the month but progress was behind usual due to wet fields and late maturity of the crop.

Corn

Corn production was estimated at 74,387,000 bushels, 25 percent above last year and 26 percent above average.

The expected yield per acre of 73 bushels would be a new record high and compares with the previous high of 59 bushels reached in 1965 and last year's yield of 58 bushels.

By October 1, only 5 percent of the State's corn acreage had been harvested, somewhat behind usual for the date.

Other Crops

Soybean production, estimated at 19,778,000 bushels, is 4 percent smaller than last year's record crop but 36 percent above the 1961-65 average. Yield per acre of 22 bushels compares with last year's record 22.5 bushels and the 5-year average of 18.5 bushels.

Sugar beet production in the state is expected to total 432,000 tons, a new record crop resulting from a record high yield of 18 tons per acre and the State's largest acreage. Harvest began in scattered localities of western Kansas during the first week of October.

The state's dry bean crop is estimated at 135,000 cwt., 12 percent below last year's production and 9 percent below average.

Apple production at 155,000 bushels was 16 percent below last year and 38 percent below average.

Peach production of 75,000 bushels was nearly four times last year's very small crop but 38 percent below average.

The state's second largest hay crop of 5,403,000 tons was nearly one-third larger than last year's and 19 percent above average.

Alfalfa hay production of 3,506,000 tons was 34 percent larger than last year's production and 13 percent above average.

Grain Stocks on Farms

Stocks of wheat on Kansas farms, totaling 53 million bushels on October 1, were 9 percent smaller than those on hand a year earlier and 16 percent smaller than the 1961-65 average stocks for the date.

Stocks of oats on Kansas farms totaled 5,074,000 bushels, 36 percent smaller than the average stocks for the date. Barley stocks of 1.3 million bushels were about one-half the stocks on farms last year and less than one-fifth the 1961-65 average.

Old crop sorghum grain on Kansas farms on October 1 totaled nearly 7 million bushels, slightly larger than last year's stocks but below average.

Old crop corn stocks on farms totaled nearly 6 million bushels, 7 percent above those on hand a year earlier and 1 percent above average.

Pasture and Livestock

Pastures over most of Kansas remained green and at the first of the month were furnishing adequate supplies of grass for livestock.

Above normal rainfall over central and eastern sections of the state during September resulted in gains in pasture feed condition from a month ago.

Use of volunteer wheat for pasture has been limited and seeded wheat had not reached sufficient size to be utilized for pasture by October 1.

September milk production of 133 million pounds was down seasonally from the previous month and 4 percent less than last September's production.

Egg production during September was down seasonally from the previous month and below September of 1966.

Farm Wages

Wages paid farm workers on October 1 were above a year earlier in all categories.

Rates paid by the month with board and room furnished averaged $212 compared with $198 a year ago and monthly rates with house furnished averaged $278 compared with $261 a year earlier.

Daily wage rates averaged $9.90 with board and room and $12.10 without board and room, both up 50 cents from a year ago. Hourly wage rates averaged $1.39, up 6 cents from the same time last year.

'Farm Squeeze Becomes Bear Hug'

WICHITA — The cost-price squeeze for farmers isn't a squeeze any more, Sen. Frank Carlson said last week.

"It has become a bear hug," he said.

"How can the farmer survive when everything he sells goes down in price, and everything he must buy has gone up and keeps climbing?"

Carlson made his comments in a speech prepared for the Kansas stockholders conference of the Federal Land Bank.

"Perhaps our greatest contribution in the struggle for world peace is our ability and capacity to produce food and our willingness to share that knowledge and our bounty with our neighbors and friends," he said.

"Military might is essential for our national defense, but food for peace and freedom over the world may prove the mightiest weapon in our arsenal."

Unless a remedy is found for the low prices received by farmers, the agricultural segment of the economy faces disaster, Carlson said.

"Farmers cannot stay in business and continue to receive short end of the stick in the price."

Carlson said he did not quarrel with advocates of a policy of cheap food for Americans.

But, he said, "there is a misconception and a myth as to the relationship between more reasonable farm prices and the cost of the finished food product to the consumer."

"Such a price rise — which would allow the farmer to make a reasonable profit — would have little or no effect on the ultimate price to the consumer."

Major costs in a loaf of bread or a quart of milk come from processing, handling, transportation and packaging, he said.

"We should not expect the farmer to bear the burden of absorbing these added expenses," he said.

Carlson told the meeting, which is observing the 50th anniversary of the Federal Land Bank:

"As we look to the future and the enormous expansion of farm credit needs, the nation can be thankful that we possess a sound, experienced farm credit structure for transforming private investments into farm production. The keystone in that structure is the Federal Land Bank — with a record of more than $80 billion in loans to farm enterprise in the past 50 years."

At the afternoon program Carlson was to be presented a commemorative medal by William G. Plested Jr., president of the Federal Land Bank of Wichita, in recognition of the senator's contributions to American agriculture.

The medal, one of a limited number authorized by Congress and struck by the Bureau of Engraving, commemorates the Golden Anniversary of the 12 Federal Land Banks.

Wheat Exports Will Reach 750 Millions

COLBY — Undersecretary of Agriculture John Schnitker offered hope for a strengthened export wheat program this year, giving the possibility of better wheat prices, as he toured Northwest Kansas last week.

In a short interview at the Colby experiment station, the undersecretary said he spent several hours before traveling to Wichita in conferences on the wheat export situation for the 1967 crop.

"We found after talking with all exporters concerned that we are going to reach the 750 million bushel export mark this year," he said. "This represents half of the largest wheat crop in history and we feel pretty good about out."

"Of course, we are being so competitive in the world market that we are about to make the Canadians mad at us," he smiled.

Stockmen Need Ringside Seats For Salina Competition

The man who says he started Kansas' first livestock auction is getting back into the business after being retired 17 years from active management of a sale barn.

Jack Beverly reopens the livestock auction on old US40 east of Salina this week, picking up a career that has been associated with livestock in the G&G area for over 40 years, and heralding an entry into the livestock competition in Salina, which already has two sale barns.

The situation is being watched intently by G&G area livestockmen because of Beverly's long career and lengthy retirement period, the possibility of intense auction competition in Salina, and a lawsuit pending in district court in Salina.

The lawsuit filed by Beverly contends that the other owners of the Salina Livestock Commission deliberately let the business slip to devalue the lease which the firm had with Beverly. Beverly was one of the owners of the business, but inactive in management, and owned the property where the auction was held.

It is this same property which Beverly has reconditioned to start auctions there again. The first sale is this week, with weekly sales to be held Wednesdays.

Beverly started the auction on the east side of Salina in 1934, using a hog fence for a ring, hay bales for seats, and selling "in the wide open spaces."

Previous to that, Beverly had started what he identifies as the state's first livestock auction on the west side of Salina, where the Wilson Sales Barn is now located.

The Wilson firm now sells about 40,000 cattle a year, and the other barn in Salina, the Farmers & Ranchers Livestock Commission Co., sells more than twice that many. It was after the opening of the latter auction, in new facilities on the west side of Salina, that the former Salina Livestock firm suffered major reductions in its gross sales, which were over 90,000 cattle in 1965.

Before reopening the east barn, Beverly has had to secure a permit to operate a barn in Salina, giving that city three livestock auctions. A few towns in the state have more than one barn, but livestockmen generally do not believe that dual operations in a town are profitable for both, with the exception of Salina.

Can Beverly, who was perhaps the first in Kansas to make livestock auctioneering a profitable enterprise, attract buyers and sellers to Salina's east side again?

Jack Beverly obviously thinks so. Born in Lincoln County north of Sylvan Grove, he says he "swapped the first horse I ever owned for a cow and rode the cow home."

"I never had a lesson in my life for auctioneering. I learned it by experience — by selling stone posts to the sky in Lincoln County. My mother taught me to come in out of the rain. My father taught me to trade a little turkey for a big one. So, I have swapped and traded all my life."

G&G area cattlemen will now be watching with keen interest Beverly's re-entry into the buying and selling game. Few situations in the livestock industry in the state have contained more potential drama than this one.

To Induce More '68 Cotton

The Agriculture Department has announced a 1968 cotton control program designed to produce about 65 per cent more cotton than in 1967 on an increase of about 15 percent in plantings.

The program would seek to accomplish such an increase in production by reducing benefits that growers could get for diverting some of their cotton from production.

For 1966 and 1967, the department offered substantial payments to producers for sharp reductions in plantings to help make room in the market for surpluses accumulated for past big crops.

The 1968 program sets a production goal of about 13½ million bales compared with slightly more than 8 million this year.

ed by cash, Sutton said. The ranch, farm equipment and 2800 head of cattle were sold to O & B Holdings, Inc., a Delaware based corporation.

Sutton, former owner of the Vornado Air Conditioning plant here, had a meteoric rise in the business world in the 1950s. He developed a new type of electric fan, turning a $3000 investment into 30 million dollars within a decade.

Sutton said he first purchased land on the ranch 14 years ago. In the Flint Hills, the Bar S has 12 buildings including the main residence, constructed in 1956 for $100,000.

"Ever since then I've been building on it and adding land," he said.

Not included in the sale were 2000 head of calves, which Sutton sold to cattle buyers for nearly $300,000.

Sutton said the corporation purchased all other livestock, including 150 head of registered Hereford cattle. The ranch is divided between 2000 acres of river bottom land and 6000 acres of grazing land.

"My wife and I have made our home at the ranch as well as in Wichita. Now we plan to live here in our penthouse at Sutton place," Sutton said.

Sutton place is a modern 10 story office building in downtown Wichita.

Feed Grains To Hike '68 Federal Payments

Government payments to farmers for participating in crop adjustment programs may rise upwards of $200 million in the 1968 crop year over this year's outlays.

Less money than last year will go to cotton growers, about the same to wheat farmers, but more to feed grain growers.

Next year's crop programs will call for increased plantings of cotton — hence the need for less money to compensate farmers for idling land to help the government deal with a disappearing surplus.

But less land will be planted to feed grain. Consequently, more money will be needed to pay farmers for holding feed grain land out of production, also to prevent growth of a new grain surplus.

Government farm payments set a record high of $3.28 billion in 1966. The costs will be down somewhat this year, perhaps around $200 million, mainly because this year's feed grain program — requiring retirement of less land than in 1966 — will cost less.

The 1968 cotton program calls for an increase of 1.5 million acres — or about 15 percent over this year's plantings. Cotton payments next year are expected to total about $800 million, down from this year's estimated $900 million.

The feed grain program, yet to be announced, is expected to urge retirement of 40 million acres of feed grain land compared with 20 million this year. Record grain production this year has raised the threat of new surpluses at a time when

Set Dates On Tax Institutes

MANHATTAN — The 19th annual series of Farm and Business Tax Institutes will be held at eight locations in Kansas next month, reports John H. Coolidge, farm management economist at Kansas State University.

The 2-day schools are designed to provide up-to-date training and information for accountants, attorneys, bankers, real estate agents, insurance agents, and all others who serve as tax consultants for farmers, businessmen, and individuals.

New developments in Federal and State income tax laws and Social Security regulations will be featured during the training sessions.

Dates and locations for the schools are as follows:
November 7, 8 — Colby
November 9, 10 — Beloit
Nov. 14, 15 — Garden City
Nov. 16, 17 — Great Bend
November 20, 21 — Wichita
November 28, 29 — Topeka
Nov. 30, Dec. 1 — Parsons

The teaching staff of the schools will include representatives from the Internal Revenue Service, State Department of Revenue, Social Security Administration, and the Kansas Extension Service.

Advance study material has already been sent to some 5000 tax consultants throughout the state. Other persons interested in receiving the material can see their county Extension agricultural agent or write to John H. Coolidge, Department of Economics, Waters Hall, Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kansas 66502.

Reach A Milestone In Hog Cholera Program

Every state in the nation has either reached or surpassed Phase II — "reduction of incidence" — in the four-phase hog cholera eradication program, the U.S. Department of Agriculture reported last week.

With the recent advance of Texas into Phase II, all states have now passed the preparatory phase of the program. The immediate goal is for all states to reach Phase III — the "stamping out" phase — by the end of the year.

Presently, 30 states — with more than 62% of the nation's hogs — attained this goal. Officials of USDA's Agricultural Research Service pointed out that a number of the states still in Phase II already have made plans to advance into Phase III in the near future.

This phase of the program involves prompt and complete disposal of infected herds, with co-operative indemnity payments to farmers whose hogs must be destroyed.

"Prompt elimination of infected herds is a necessary step in eradicating this disease," said Dr. Milton J. Tillery, in charge of hog cholera eradication for ARS. "Indemnities protect the vast majority of producers with healthy pigs by helping locate and remove sources of infection as quickly as possible," he said.

Of the 30 states already in the final phases of the program, 14 are in Phase III, 7 are in Phase IV, and 9 have been officially declared "hog cholera free." Delaware, Connecticut, and North Dakota, which moved to Phase IV; Rhode Island, which entered Phase III; and Texas, which advanced to Phase II.

Dr. Tillery noted that an outbreak of hog cholera was confirmed in Utah, a "hog cholera free" state, during late September. Utah is the third "hog cholera free" state to experience an outbreak during 1967. Others were Michigan and Vermont.

A state can keep its "hog cholera free" status as long as it experiences only primary outbreaks — that is, confined to one farm with no spread to other premises. Such was the case in both Michigan and Vermont, and these states have maintained their status.

Star Farmer

Named Star Farmer of America at the national FFA convention at Kansas City last week was David Mosher, 19, Greenwich, N.Y. Mosher operates a 218-acre dairy farm with his mother.

He was the youngest of four regional Star Farmers. The runners-up were William Roberts, 20, Hahira, Ga.; William Falls, 19, Stet, Mo.; and R. A. Kummer, 22, Deer Park, Washington.

Regional Star Farmers get $500 each as a prize, and the national Star Farmer gets another $500.

The Utah outbreak occurred in the northern part of the state in a group of 39 heavy feeder pigs. Following confirmation through post mortem examinations and positive laboratory findings, the animals were destroyed. Attempts to locate the source of the outbreak are continuing.

"The experience of these three states shows we must be constantly alert until hog cholera is eliminated from the entire country," Dr. Tillery emphasized.

The target date for a "hog cholera free" United States is 1972.

Another Future Farm Machine?

Farm machinery firms keep artists busy these days trying to visualize implements of the future. This one, from Ford Motor Co., is a projection of a combination helicopter-hovercraft which lifts off the ground and can be used to spray growing crops. One machine of this type has been built.

States Get No Bonanza From Lotteries

The public lottery as a source of revenue for state governments has run into difficulty in the only two states which have put it to practice.

Not even the lure of big cash prizes has been able to spur lagging ticket sales in New York and New Hampshire. Prizes in the New Hampshire sweepstakes range up to $100,000 in two drawings. New York has monthly drawing with prizes up to $100,000 and an annual superprize of $250,000.

New Hampshire's ticket sales have gone steadily down each year since the sweepstakes was begun in 1964. New York, which inaugurated its lottery June 1, is selling about a sixth of the tickets it hoped to sell. Both states have earmarked the money for education.

October 17, 1967

The New Hampshire Supreme Court has ruled that parochial and nonpublic schools cannot share in the profits from the sweepstakes. The 4-1 decision voided a state law allowing them a share.

Before the New York state lottery began, tax officials forecast a monthly income of 30 million dollars based on a study of foreign lotteries and the New Hampshire sweepstakes. But Joseph Murphy, state tax commissioner, said the estimates were "never too real to start with." He cited the fact that New Hampshire sells about 80 percent of its $3 tickets to tourists, compared with a sale of only 20 percent to tourists in New York. The New York tickets sell for $1.

Murphy said that at the present rate the state would net only 30 million dollars this year for schools instead of an anticipated 180 million.

New Hampshire's sweepstakes sales for 1967 closed September 10, and the total take was $2,567,772, down $1,290,000 from last year. In its first year in 1967 the sweepstakes took in $5,730,000.

The experiences of New York and New Hampshire would seem to all but dash the hope that a state-run lottery was a tax bonanza waiting to be plucked.

Other states also rely on gambling revenues as a tax source, but the taxes are egnerally small. The largest amount is realized by New York — 130 million dollars annually — for pari-mutuel betting.

It is a common impression among many people that gambling income virtually underwrites the Nevada state government, but that is not the case. The gambling tax brought in $23,800,000 this last year — just $400,000 more than the sales tax.

The Nevada legislature this year boosted the sales tax from 2 to 3 percent and upped the gambling tax rate. The extra money primarily will be used for education.

More Old US40 Turned Back To Area Counties

The Kansas Highway Commission voted last week to remove a stretch of U.S. 40 from west of Carneiro to Dorrance from the federal-state highway system.

This will leave maintenance of this section of some 35 miles to Ellsworth and Russell counties. The state will keep responsibility for maintenance of the section from the Carneiro area east to Salina.

The designation of U.S. 40 from Salina to Dorrance will be changed to K141.

Commissioner Robert Kent reported that many motorists traveling on Interstate 70 had found the designation confusing and had ended up driving between Salina and Dorrance on the old U.S. 40, instead of 70.

Salina and Dorrance now are linked directly by Interstate 70.

Kent pointed out that K111 north of Kanopolis is being extended northward to 156, giving more immediate access to Interstate 70 from that area.

Veteran Stockman Retires

Lloyd Gideon, longtime G&G area Hereford breeder, retired last week from the livestock business with an auction of his herd. Gideon said he's been with cattle ever since he was a youngster back in 1899. That was the year his father bought a herd in Independence, Mo. Gideon, 74, lives west of Topeka.

U.S. To Reach 200 Million Next Month

The nation will reach a double statistical landmark next month — a 200 million population and its longest economic expansion in history.

The Census Bureau said the exact date is still uncertain but the number of Americans, including servicemen overseas, should hit 200 million around mid-November. It took the nation until 1915 to reach its first 100 million persons and until 1950 to pass 150 million. But since then, it has added the equivalent of a New York, a California, a Pennsylvania and then some.

If the economic boom continues through next month — and economists now see it extending well into 1968 — it will mark 81 months of expansion, the longest ever.

The present record is 80 months extending through World War II.

The current expansion began in February of 1961 but the boom hasn't been without its troubles. It took two tax cuts in the early 1960s to keep it going and a tax increase last year — suspension of the 7 per cent investment tax credit — to prevent it from going too fast.

The boom took a breather during the first half of this year but economists count it as part of the expansion.

Now the Johnson Administration wants Congress to approve a 10 per cent surcharge on individual and corporate income taxes to slow down what it believes will be excessive growth resulting in inflation.

The boom is partly the product of the so-called new economics — the philosophy that the economy can be regulated by raising or lowering taxes and federal spending.

Some government economists now contend the very existence of the new economics is at stake in the fight over the surcharge, now bogged deeply in Congressional demands for spending cuts of $5 billion.

The State Gets Rocky Ford

This old power plant and dam at Rocky Ford just north of Manhattan has been deeded to the state by the Kansas Power & Light Co. The 300-foot wide dam has lured fishermen for 100 years, and the Kansas Fish & Game Commission hopes to further develop the recreational site.

A power plant was first equipped here in 1913 to supply power for a Manhattan-Junction City interurban railway. At one time the plant supplied power for several small communities and rural areas.

Doctors Fees Soaring Higher

Doctors' fees are increasing spectacularly, according to a federal government study on medical costs.

Doctors' fees rose nearly 8% in 1966 and have gone up nearly 9% since August 1966.

The government report said a "shortage of doctors exerts pressure" which leads them to raise fees.

Medicare programs have plumped physicians' incomes also. Under Medicare, doctors can charge full fees to elderly patients many traditionally had undercharged. The same is true for low-income patients qualifying for the new Medicaid program.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics, admitting its information is sketchy, says the annual income of doctors in private practice in 1966 appeared to be in the $20,000 to $27,000 range.

Don't Overlook Free Feed

It's possible some farmers overlook free feed, suggests Jay Treat, Kansas State University district Extension economist, Topeka.

Crop stubble and dormant pasture grasses will be in plentiful supply this year, but these feeds often go to waste. They are good feed for older cattle. Properly supplemented, they can provide sufficient nutrients for wintering beef cows and long yearlings.

Using crop refuse that would otherwise go to waste might save a ton and a half of hay per cow during the winter, Treat estimates. If hay costs or is valued at $18 a ton, that's a saving of $27 a cow.

But you'd have to supplement the roughage. Figure 2 pounds of soybean meal per day for

Grass & Grain

October 17, 1967

150 days. That's 300 pounds. At 4 cents a pound, it comes to $12. So you're still saving $15 a head.

Using roughage would also save the expense and labor of feeding hay. If this was worth $3 a ton, then $4.50 (3x1½) would be added to the $15 saving or gain. Then you'd have to subtract the expense and labor of feeding protein supplement from this $19.50.

Treat has set up a simple method to calculate the economics of grazing dead grass or crop stubble that has no alternative use against feeding hay. Cattle returns are assumed to the same and need not be considered in the comparison.

Reduced Costs

Hay	$27.00
Feeding Hay	4.50

Total $31.50

Added Costs

Protein Supplement	$12.00
Feeding Supplement	.75

Total $12.75

Then $31.50—less $12.75 equals an $18.75 advantage for wintering on dormant grass or crop refuse, compared to wintering a cow on hay.

Of course, there are other things to consider. But those listed above are important considerations for anyone concerned.

Each farm or ranch has a different set of resources and should gear operation to use these most efficiently, says Treat. But the potential extra income from using dormant grasses and crop aftermath should not be overlooked.

Anti-Corporation Farming Rallies Set This Month

The National Farmers Union of Kansas continues to protest a legislative measure which might allow corporation farming in Kansas.

Two meetings have already been held, and a further schedule was announced last week. Here's the schedule:

Oct. 17 Hays
Oct. 18 Ellsworth
Oct. 23 Wichita
Oct. 24 Hutchinson
Oct. 25 Wellington
Oct. 30 McPherson
Oct. 31 Southeast Kansas site to be selected

Phil Doyle, Beloit, a member of the organization's legislative committee, said Dyte Wilson of Denver, director of organization for the National Farmers Union, will attend all seven rallies to be held the latter half of this month. A measure to permit unrestricted corporation farming was passed at the last session of the Kansas Senate and now is pending in the agricultural committee of the House. Some farmers contend unlimited corporation operations would push the individual farmers off the land.

Future Farmer Founder Dies

Raymond Lee Cuff, 78, director of the Midwest Livestock Loss Prevention Board and a founder of the Future Farmers of America, died in Kansas City last week.

Cuff attended the opening session of the 40th annual FFA convention Wednesday morning where 10,000 FFA youths joined in a standing tribute to him. Cuff helped found the vocational agriculture organization in 1928. He was born in Hortonville, Wis., and lived in Kansas City 40 years. He was a graduate of the University of Wisconsin College of Agriculture.
