ORIGIN OF 4-H CLUB WORK

The exact origin of 4-H Club Work is somewhat obscure. However to several far seeing men, working independently, in different parts of the United States go the credit of its beginning.

Wm. B. Otwell of Macoupin County, Illinois, in 1899 supplied an ounce of seed corn to any boy who would plant it and exhibit his products. That fall nearly 500 farm youth proudly displayed their corn at the Annual Farmers Institute.

In 1902 A. B. Graham, principal of the school in Springfield Township, Ohio, who obtained the cooperation of the Experiment Station, offered to each boy or girl interested, enough seed corn to plant half of a demonstration plot, on the other half was planted the variety commonly used in the community. There was a great contrast in yields. The experiment was very successful.

Dr. Seman A. Knapp, a representative of the U. S. D. A., in 1913 enrolled several boys in demonstration projects for the fighting of the Cotton Boll Weevil. Here another root was started that has since gone deep into the fertile soil of the possibilities of youth.

Mr. O. H. Benson, County Superintendent of Wright County, Iowa public schools, in 1904 organized what was nearest to our 4-H Clubs as we know them today. In his clubs the boys conducted projects in live-stock and crops while the girls' projects included poultry, canning, baking, and sewing.

From these meager, but important, beginnings in four states and including only a few hundred eager boys and girls, the movement has spread into 48 states, Canadian provinces and the Hawaiian Islands and boasts of more than one million active members.

In 1910 there were approximately 2,000 boys and girls enrolled in Agricultural and Home Economics Clubs in Kansas, but not until 1916 when Otis E. Hall was appointed State Club Leader in Kansas did this movement take on aspects of the present day 4-H Club.

Today there are 20,000 boys and girls conducting 4-H Club projects under the supervision of the state 4-H Club staff, Kansas State College.

EXTENSION WORKERS

The County Extension Workers in Kansas are largely responsible for the rapid development of 4-H Club Work in this state. This group includes 103 County Agents and Assistant County Agents, forty-two Home Demonstration Agents, and 3 County 4-H Club Agents who work with Mr. M. H. Coe and his staff of State Leaders, in the promotion of the 4-H program.

In 1914 there were 9 County Extension Agents employed in Kansas. The passage of the Smith-Lever Act, July 1, 1914, supplied sufficient funds for the employment of this splendid group of workers which has done a remarkable piece of work in the development of 4-H Club Work.

14-TH. ANNUAL 4-H CLUB ROUNDUP JUNE 1-6, 1936
MANHATTAN, KANSAS

F.J. HANNA

The Kansas State College Campus appears to be a busy ant hill; hundreds of green and white uniformed girls and boys overrun the campus, attending classes, renewing old friendships, making new ones, and taking part in a very well planned program. The Annual Kansas State 4-H Club Roundup is in session.

The foregoing picture was taken during the 1936 Roundup, held June 3 to 7, which marked the fourteenth annual renewal of this most outstanding of all state 4-H events. 1285 boys and girls from 104 counties attended, which was the most successful to date.

While attending the roundup the members from the various counties have an opportunity to exchange ideas and learn the advantages of working and playing together. They learn why their project failed and how to raise a better field of corn, or bake a better cake. These things lead to more successful 4-H Clubs and in the end, the enrichment of rural home life.

The crowning event of the week is the banquet which is held on Friday evening. The members enter Nichols Gymnasium where they are seated by counties. Song and laughter is followed by a fine meal, then the group settles down to listen attentively to the program.

It is indeed impressive to follow the activities of the group throughout the week. To see 4-H members congregate from the four corners of the State of Kansas, participate in the activities, exchange ideas, eagerly accept information, then return to their home communities filled with the desire to do even better work, leaves no doubt as to the success of the roundup.

ACHIEVEMENT DEMANDS RECOGNITION

Recognition is not the climax, but rather a challenge to greater achievement.

He who accepts recognition as something final, is "riding for a fall" and will find the doorway to success closed. But he who views honor or recognition as merely incidental to achievement, has successfully passed the first great obstacle in the pathway to success.

WHO'S WHO

The Who's Who Club has ever been a goal toward which every 4-H member in the state has aimed. It, of course, is the honorary organization of the 4-H Club and membership in it is offered to only the outstanding 4-H'ers of Kansas. Of the 1,187 boys and girls who have reached this goal, 147 became members last year.

Those belonging to the organization are chosen for leadership and outstanding ability in 4-H Club work. The minimum requirements are three years membership in a 4-H club, the completion of three projects, and participation on a demonstration or judging team.

CHICAGO TRIP

The 1936 National 4-H Club Congress was attended by 26 girls, 24 boys and 7 leaders from Kansas. There were 21 state champions, 17 Rock Island and Kansas Bankers Association trip winners, and 12 Santa Fe trip winners. These trips are awarded to those club members who have made outstanding records in club projects and activities throughout the year.

The group spent the week in Chicago visiting places of cultural, historical, scientific, and commercial interest. The program was planned to give the club members a picture of the influence of culture on our civilization. The group spent time in educational programs and various contests in projects they represented. There were separate activities for the boys and for the girls as well as program for all.

The young people were given the opportunity to mingle with those from states all over the United States. This type of program gives the boys and girls enthusiasm to produce better work in their own communities.

The most outstanding event of the trip was the banquet in the Grand Ballroom, Stevens Hotel. A special program and presentation of awards were featured on the program.

LEADERS OF MERIT

RONALD BEERY, Cowley County

Ronald Beery has been enrolled in 4-H work continuously for nine years and during that time completed 25 projects which includes four years of junior leadership. Having held most of the offices in his local club, Ronald assisted in organizing the county council and was elected president of the council in 1934. He assisted in organizing a club in which he later served as leader.

As state conservation champion he attended the state conservation school at Hutchinson in 1935, and the same year he was state livestock champion. In 1932 he attended the National Club Congress in Chicago as an outstanding 4-H member of his county. In 1930 he won a free trip to the National Dairy Show in St. Louis for outstanding dairy work.

In 1936 he was chosen as one of the four outstanding 4-H members in Kansas to attend the National Club Encampment in Washington, D. C.

GRACE DREW, Barton County

A junior leader for five years, Grace Drew has organized a club and served as clothing leader for four years and food preservation leader one year.

In 1935 she was chosen president of the county Who's Who and has held most of the offices in the county council as well as her local club.

In 1936 she was chosen one of the four outstanding 4-H members in Kansas to attend the National 4-H Encampment at Washington, D. C.

She has been a member continuously since 1927 and in that time has creditably completed 31 projects.

Grace was state home economics champion in 1935, thus winning a trip to the National Club Congress in Chicago.

WASHINGTON TRIP

GRACE DREW

Four Kansas Club members received trips to the tenth annual National 4-H Encampment at Washington, D. C., in June, 1936, as a reward for supremacy in Junior Leadership. Those representing Kansas were: Betty Brown, Lyon County; Grace Drew, Barton County; Willard Shaw, Douglas County; and Ronald Beery, Cowley County.

The camp site was located on the grounds of the Department of Agriculture Building. During the week the delegates visited many places of interest in and around Washington. Besides the educational tours, the delegates were privileged to meet and hear outstanding speakers. Discussion meetings provided an opportunity for the exchange of ideas.

This trip serves as an appropriate reward for excellency in Junior Leadership, and will long be remembered by those fortunate enough to receive the honor.

MASTER 4-H CLUB

The Master 4-H Club was organized in June, 1929, for 4-H club members who have been outstanding in leadership work and who have attended the national encampment at Washington, D. C. The new members for 1936 are: Grace Drew, Barton County; Betty Brown, Lyon County; Willard Shaw, Douglas County; and Ronald Beery, Cowley County.

The annual meeting of the Master 4-H Club is held each year during the 4-H Round-up. At this time old friendships are renewed, new members initiated, and meetings are held to discuss leadership activities. A banquet is given for all the members and leaders who have attended national camp. There are forty Master Club members in Kansas.

KNOWLEDGE IS POWER

4-H Club Work is a stepping stone to greater things in life, not a means to an end.

More than 700 former 4-H Club members are now enrolled at Kansas State College. The Collegiate 4-H Club is the result of collective action of a group that has as much in common as those former 4-H Club members have. The success of this club, which is the outstanding student organization on the campus, speaks for the value of 4-H training.

More than three hundred and fifty college men and women have cooperated this year in helping the Collegiate 4-H Club uphold its record as one of the most outstanding organizations on the campus.

This year the club, with the largest membership in its history, carried on with greater thoroughness and completion than ever before.

The Collegiate 4-H'ers also added many new achievements to its list. Besides editing the Who's Who, having weekly radio programs, maintaining the quartette, sponsoring the Kansas Rural Life Conference, Assisting with the 4-H Roundup, having 10 or 12 social events and 18 business meetings, the club had a radio campus news reporter, held the first skit contest, and organized the Collegiate orchestra ensemble.

DINNER DANCE

One of the most enjoyable events of the Collegiate 4-H Club's program is the annual dinner dance. The event this year was no exception. The eighth annual dinner was given at the Methodist Church December 11. A New Deal was the feature of entertainment with Marjorie Higgins, Linn, and Carl Beyer, Manhattan, as toastmistress and toastmaster. This was one of the new deal features as they could not decide which was to preside. As a result each took turn in presenting appropriate numbers on the program.

One of the features of the dinner program was the presentation of the trophy to the individual signing the most members to the Collegiate group. This was awarded to Otto Spencer.

The group of about 300 members and their dates then went to the Avalon ballroom where dancing provided the entertainment for the remainder of the evening. Appropriate to the season, Santa Claus arrived with a gift for each person present.

"Good afternoon, 4-H radio friends. This is your Collegiate 4-H Club member welcoming you as we take the air at exactly 12:30. Every Saturday at this hour from 12:30 to 1:30, the Kansas State College Collegiate 4-H Club sponsors a program consisting of musical numbers, talks relating to club work, campus news reports, and talks by faculty members. And don't forget to tune in on the music appreciation half hour from 1:30 to 2:00 under the direction of Ellen Warren.

"Listen for special broadcasts of the Kansas Rural Life Conference and the 4-H Roundup when they meet here on the campus.

"Again it is almost time to sign off. Mr. Coe presides at these broadcasts with the help of Violet Bauer and Harvey Goertz. So until next Saturday the Collegiate 4-H Club members and station KSAC are signing off. Good afternoon."

The third annual Kansas Rural Life Association Conference at Kansas State College, Manhattan, was held March 18 to 21, 1937.

The purpose of the conference each year is to bring together young people between the ages of 18 and 28 years for the considering of the more important problems facing rural youth today. Plans were made for the national meeting of the American Country Life Association in Manhattan in October of this year.

The conference was sponsored by the Collegiate 4-H Club of Kansas State College. Valuable assistance was given by President F. D. Farrell of Kansas State College, R. A. Turner and Eugene Merritt of the Extension Service of the U.S.D.A. Sam Risk of the International Speakers Bureau of Chicago, popularly known as the "Syrian Yankee," and Mrs. Zula Bennington Greene, Kansas columnist known as "Peggy of the Flint Hills," were among the speakers who addressed the young people attending the meetings.

The officers elected for 1937 are: Orville Moody, Riley county, president; Evans Banbury, Pratt county, vice president; Margaret Gilchrist, Franklin county, vice president; and Robert Nason, Shawnee county, secretary-treasurer.

The retiring officers are: Vernal Roth, Lyon county, president; Clarence Dempsey, Leavenworth county, and Ethel Avery, Riley county, vice presidents; and Grace Burson Shoemaker, Logan county, secretary.

Twenty-two boys and girls and four chaperons comprised the Kansas delegation to the 1936 American Country Life Association Conference, August 10-13 at Kalamazoo, Michigan.

The theme of the meeting, "Educating Young People for the Rural Community", was treated by the discussion method with the small group sessions handled entirely by student leadership.

The present day challenge of education, is to make it function for the attainment of satisfactory home and community living, as well as to give reasonable assurance of steady employment, to acquire the knowledge that will best acquaint one with conditions, then to move forward with a greater determination to serve in cooperation with all, was the challenge to more than 200 rural young people at the nineteenth Annual Conference.

Only one other state, Massachusetts, traveled farther than did Kansas and no other state was so well represented in number.

The twentieth Annual Conference of the American Country Life Association will be held this year at Manhattan, Kansas, on the Kansas State College campus.

"I'm generally the first to laugh at my own foolishness."

"What a merry life you must lead."
