CLUB AGENTS

At the present time there are six county club agents in Kansas and the number is being increased each year. Their valuable work has earned for them a place in the Extension Division of Kansas State College.

They are responsible for the 4-H Club program in their respective counties and promote various county camps, fairs, tours; achievement day programs and many other activities connected with club work.

Our county club agents deserve much credit in training judging and demonstrating teams and developing better clubs. The fast pace which they are setting in 4-H work is a challenge to other counties in the effort to "make the best better."

Kansas Youth and Their 4-H Clubs

It is 1939. Under the banner of their 4-H Club, Kansas rural youth now march more than 21,200 strong. Their leaders number 2,489, including more than 1,100 junior leaders. Clubs number 1,008, representing all of the 105 Kansas counties. Twenty-nine counties have 1,171 young men and young women over club age enrolled in Rural Life Organizations. In the vanguard of this youthful rural Americanism, the Collegiate 4-H Club, with a membership of 400, helps guide the progress of the state's rural youth program. This latter organization is comprised of Kansas State College students, formerly 4-H Club members. Former 4-H Club members represent 26.4 per cent of the total enrollment of Kansas State College.

These young folk are the farm and home leaders of tomorrow. Today, they are training themselves, under the guidance of competent leaders, to carry the burdens of their agricultural industry. And these leaders, who are "outside" the immediate 4-H Club organization, include the county extension agents in 103 organized Farm Bureau counties, six county club agents, a staff of state leaders directed by M. H. Coe, Kansas State College, Manhattan, and a host of loyal friends of the organization, who without thought of compensation, voluntarily offer their services that this youth program might carry on.

Again it is 1939. It is the twenty-fifth anniversary of the federal law that gave the greatest impetus to 4-H Club work in the nation and within Kansas. Twenty-five years ago, on May 8, 1914, there was enacted into law the Smith-Lever Act, "AN ACT to provide for cooperative agricultural extension work between the agricultural colleges in the several states receiving the benefits of an act of Congress approved July second, eighteen hundred and sixty-two, and of acts supplementary thereto, and the United States Department of Agriculture . . ."

"SEC. 2. That cooperative agricultural extension work shall consist of the giving of instruction and practical demonstrations in agriculture and home economics to persons not attending or resident in said colleges in the several communities, and imparting to such persons information on said subjects through field demonstrations, publications, and otherwise; and this work shall be carried on in such manner as may be mutually agreed upon by the secretary of agriculture and the state agricultural college or colleges receiving the benefits of this act."

But before this epoch-making Act, the rural youth of Kansas had been active in organizing into clubs, clubs that were the forerunners of today's mighty 4-H Club.

Let us look into the yellowing files of history. Here may be found the historical events that first brought breath to the present rural youth movement of today.

First reference to club work in Kansas is found in the November issue of The Kansas Industrialist in 1905. This is the official publication of the Kansas State College. Mrs. Henrietta Calvin was attending Farmers' Institutes and she reported that, "There will be a home culture club formed in Lincoln County by the young girls, whose attention is to be devoted to the study of home questions and home making."

Then again in 1906 are these facts recorded—

"Corn clubs were started under the supervision of the Farmers' Institutes and directed by J. H. Miller, State Institute Secretary. The contest was limited to farmers' boys between the ages of 12 and 18 years. Clubs were county-wide and sponsored locally by the county school superintendent, Farmers' Institute Committee or Fair Committee. Each boy was provided with one quart of seed corn by the local committee. The boy agreed to plant, care for, exhibit, and make a report. Exhibit was to consist of the best ten ears. Report was to include the number of stalks, the number of ears, and the number of barren stalks on August first."

In August, 1906, the Industrialist announced plans for Boys' Experiment clubs to include crop production, dairy, gardening, and poultry. Membership cards were to be distributed and member to send card into the state office. Dues were ten cents. Membership certificates were to be issued and names of those enrolled were to be sent from the state to the county. Girls were invited to join poultry and garden clubs. Statement was made that next year arrangements would be perfected for Home Culture Clubs.

In October, 1906, the Industrialist urged boys to exhibit in the corn contest and local committees were urged to encourage girls to exhibit bread, cakes, pies, canned fruit, jellies, sewing, and embroidery. The statement was made that next year vegetable gardening and tree planting were to be added.

Forty-seven counties had corn clubs in 1906 with a membership of nearly 5,000. Dickinson County had the highest enrollment, 480 members. County prizes amounting to $2,000 and state prizes amounting to $300 were offered on the corn exhibits. At the state meeting the program included talks to the boys on corn raising, placing exhibits, and awarding prizes and a two-hour drill in corn judging. The state prize-winning exhibits were shown over the state in a Missouri Pacific railroad car.

As early as 1907, county institutes arranged to send county contest winners to the State Farmers' Institute and State Contest to be held at the College in December. They planned to pay railroad fare and board while at the Institute, rather than awarding cash prizes. Judging work is recorded in 1907 in the afternoon sessions of the Third Annual Meeting of the Kansas Corn Breeders' Association, which was held in Manhattan, January 1 and 2. Time was given to practice work in corn and stock judging. In these meetings the farmers and boys who had come to enter their corn in the boys' corn contest were taught how to pick the most perfect ears of seedcorn, and the most profitable breeding animals.

The Kansas Extension Service history may be divided into three rather definite epochs or periods of time based upon the methods used in conducting the program and the resources that were available for its support. Club work developed in correlation to the amount of time and resources available for the support of the Extension Service as a whole.

First, that period during which Extension activities were conducted by members of the College teaching staff, experiment station workers, and other employees of the institution. The second epoch had its beginning with the appointment of J. H. Miller in 1905 as field secretary and organizer of Farmers' Institutes.

The third epoch might be considered as beginning May 8, 1914, the date upon which the Smith-Lever Act became effective. It was during this period that the greatest growth in the number and importance of Farmers' Institute organizations occurred. During this time an Extension staff came into existence through the appointment of specialists in agriculture and home economics. This put Extension work upon a national basis established under the United States Department of Agriculture.

Thus, the Smith-Lever Act which created a single Extension system provided sufficient funds by the Federal government on a cooperative basis between the U.S.D.A. and the various state agricultural colleges to take over the entire work.

With the passage of the Smith-Lever Act as previously mentioned, each state was in position to definitely organize for club work. The first definite and official recognition of club work as a movement in Kansas is found in the Extension Service report for 1915, which states that a director of boys' and girls' club work was appointed on September 1, 1914. A definite department for the promotion of this work was not created until 1916, at which time the Director of Boys' and Girls' Club work became the State Club Leader. Mr. Otis E. Hall received the appointment. The enrollment of boys and girls in the work in 1915 was approximately 2,500.

Since 1914 the expansion of boys' and girls' club work has been rapid. By 1917 more than 5,000 boys and girls were members of the organizations in the state of Kansas. The average age of members enrolled was between 14 and 15 years as the age of eligibility was 10 to 18. The club work was broadened to twelve divisions as follows: sorghums, poultry, pig, potato, tomato, square-rod gardening, gardening, canning, mother-daughter, bread-making, sewing, and handicraft.

War conditions especially brought about a need for the greatly increased effort in production and the farm boys and girls in 4-H Clubs made a real and substantial contribution. Increase in Extension resulted in an increased enrollment of club members. The scope of the work of the clubs was increased in view of the food shortage during the war years. The war experience emphasized the importance of organization in country life and the good results that could be obtained by working together on a common task as demonstrated by the club groups.

For some time previous to the Round-up the State Club Leader had thought of the possibility of making a State organization of some of the leading club members. This matter was taken up at the Round-up in 1923 and it was unanimous that the club members wanted such an organization. A committee was appointed to draw up the constitution for the Who's Who 4-H Club. The object of this club was to give special recognition to those achieving honors, and to thereby stimulate higher accomplishment of boys and girls in club work. It further promoted 4-H Club advancement and assisted in the organizing and sponsoring of county 4-H Club associations.

Another very important development of the 4-H Club organization is the Collegiate 4-H Club. The club was organized in December, 1927, with about sixty members. Each year the Collegiate 4-H Club sponsors radio programs besides being hosts to many meetings. The club also takes an active part in the Round-up plans for the entire week each year. Ever since the club was organized it has increased in size until it is now recognized as one of the most important organizations on the campus. The club has enjoyed the support of President F. D. Farrell, Kansas State College; Director H. UMBERGER, Kansas State College Extension Service; and other administrative officers of the College and has grown steadily in service, usefulness, and in splendid results secured.

In 1928, the club assumed the responsibility of publishing the Who's Who, the annual year book of 4-H Club work. The club now has available a $1,500 loan fund available to needy 4-H Club members, which is administered by the Alumni Association of Kansas State College. The Collegiate 4-H Club reached a record-breaking enrollment this year with 400 members.

In 1934, the first state-wide Kansas Rural Life Association Conference was held, sponsored by the Collegiate 4-H Club. The Kansas Rural Life Association is a member of the American Country Life Association, which is a voluntary association of persons and organizations who are working for a worthy country life in America. It was organized in 1919, and has held annual national conferences on various topics related to the building of a fine rural civilization in the United States.

Each year the state association endeavors to bring together young people between the ages of 18 to 28 years for the purpose of considering the important problems that rural youth must face. Its annual meetings provide a forum of discussion of problems, goals, and methods for those working for rural improvement.

There have been several rather recent developments in the 4-H Club work. One of these developments has been the Spring Festival, first started as model meetings in 1935. In 1936 dramatics and music were added. Music had previously been stressed in counties and the first participation in music at Round-up by club members was in 1927. These are very important days in the minds of many 4-H boys and girls and adult leaders. It is a tournament of 4-H activities from which the winners are selected to enter the state contest in Manhattan at the Round-up. The members competing in these Spring Festivals are those who have been winners in their county contests.

The conservation of wild life and home beautification has also been a field to develop in the 4-H organization. It is providing an excellent opportunity for rural boys and girls to study nature and to learn to love and appreciate the birds, animals, fish, and plants which inhabit our woodlots, ponds and fields. The planting and caring for woodlots and wind-breaks, building dams, attracting and protecting birds, beautifying and repairing the farmstead and buildings, are only a small part of the benefits of such a program. The greatest good will come as a result of the development within the boys and girls of a greater pride and interest in Mother Nature and her children.

The most recent development in the history and development of 4-H Club work is that in 1937 for the first time 4-H Club work was developed in all 105 counties in Kansas.

In summary we might say that club work had a small beginning. It originated as a result of very evident needs of the farm boys and girls. Many incidents early in the history of club work that seemed insignificant at the time, have broadened out and expanded and have exerted a most helpful and far reaching effect on this great movement. As with many of the great movements in the world today, boys and girls club work had its source and birthplace in the lives and needs of the rural boys and girls of America.

Subsequent national legislation has been responsible for speeding the work of Kansas 4-H Club work through financial support. Following the Smith-Lever Act of May 8, 1914, there was enacted into law the Capper-Ketchum Act, May 22, 1928, and the Bankhead-Jones Act of June 29, 1935.

This short chronicle of 4-H Club history would not be complete without a tribute to those farsighted state 4-H Club leaders who have through the years directed the state program of 4-H Club work.

Extension Service history records the name of Mr. Otis E. Hall as the first State 4-H Club Leader. He was appointed to the leadership work September 1, 1914, resigning from the Service on March 31, 1920. The second 4-H Club leader was Mr. R. W. Morrish, who joined the Service July 15, 1920. He left the institution on a leave of absence October 1, 1925, resigning as leader June 30, 1926. During his leave of absence from October 1, 1925, until his resignation on June 30, 1926, Mr. M. H. Coe, was the acting State 4-H Club Leader. On July 1, 1926, immediately following the resignation of Mr. Morrish, Mr. Coe was appointed the Kansas State 4-H Club Leader. Special dinners and programs were given to the club members by leading industrial organizations. Entertainment thrills for the delegates were provided by famous stars in fields of radio, music, and stage.

The Club Congress served as an excellent opportunity to meet the outstanding 4-H Club members from other states whereby they could exchange ideas and experiences.

It is hoped that the counties may receive large benefits by having in their group one who has had such valuable experience, which is in keeping with our motto "To make the best better."

There were 1,359 4-Her's enrolled last year at Round-up. The boys were housed in Nichols Gymnasium and the girls in Van Zile Hall, the girls' dormitory on the campus.

One of the amazing things in connection with Round-up to the visitor is the ease with which this large delegation is housed during the week. This is due to the organization which is set up for the Round-up. Eight groups of boys and eight groups of girls are arranged under the supervision of county extension agents. In addition, there is a sub-group of junior leaders and one for adult leaders.

The official newspaper of the Round-up, "4-H Sunflower" was issued under supervision of Miss Ellen Warren and the editing was done by members of the Collegiate 4-H Club, the organization of former club members now attending Kansas State College. This paper gives county news, announcements to club members, and other items of interest.

The Collegiate 4-H Club takes a prominent part during Round-up week. The club conducts a booth in the south end of Anderson Hall and maintains laundry service for delegates to the Round-up. This organization assists also by conducting the post office, lost and found department, and assists with supervision of recreation activities during the week. Every one in attendance is benefitted by association with this group.

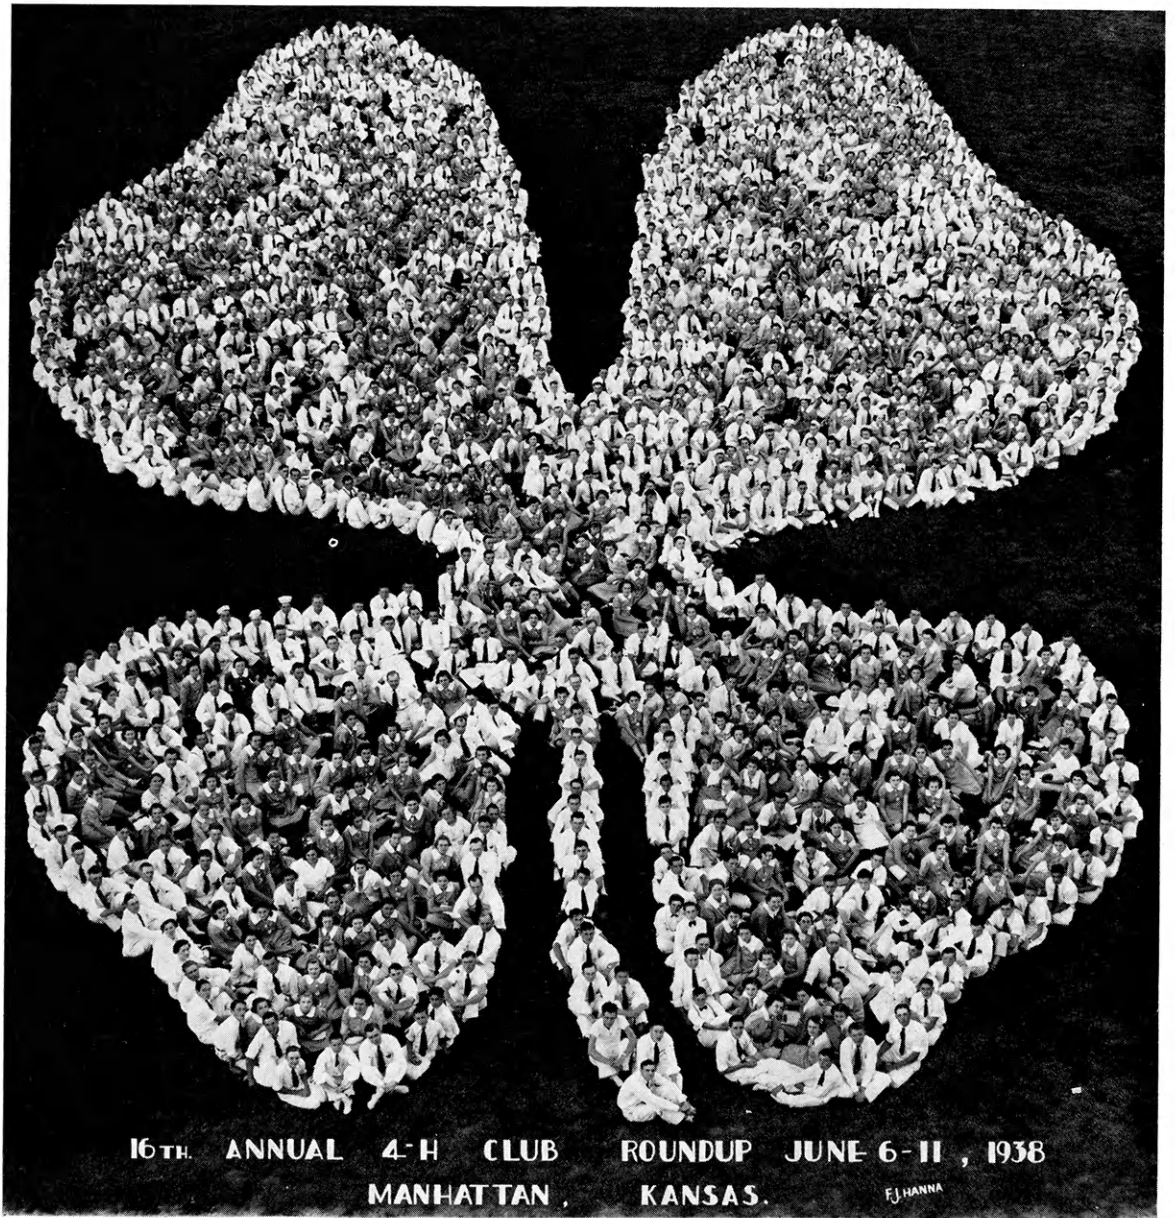

Dr. Edgar B. Gordon, University of Wisconsin, was secured to lead singing to fill the place held for many years by Mr. Carberry, deceased. Dr. Gordon made a fine contribution to the Round-up program.

A sight-seeing trip was taken one afternoon during the Round-up to various points of interest and educational value on the campus of Kansas State College.

The climax of the week was the banquet held Friday evening during which winners of various contests were announced. Some of the results were as follows:

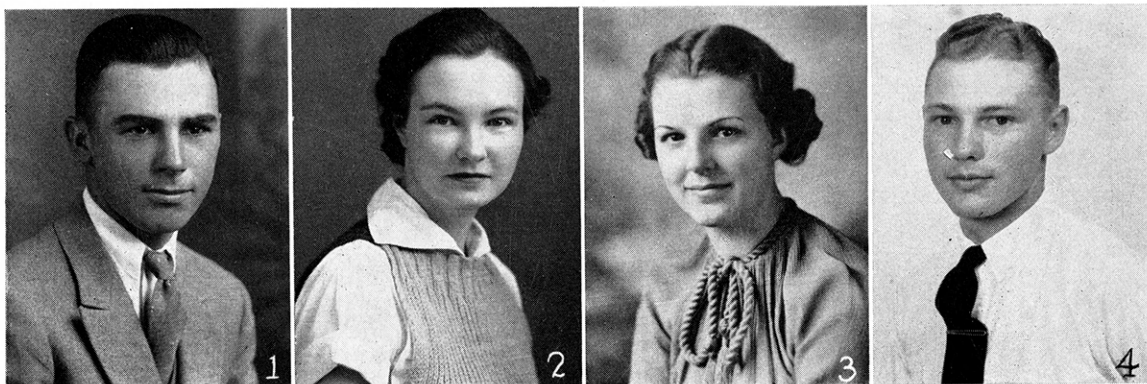

- Outstanding County—Ford County
- Music Appreciation Contest Winner—Harvey County
- Best Chorus—Smith County
- Best Band—Ford County
- Best One-act Play—Butler County
- Model Club Meeting Contest Winner—Dickinson County
- Best Organized County Group—Ford County
- Poultry Champion—Carrol Mogge, Sherman County

A special section for junior leaders was provided this year. It was necessary to limit the number who could participate due to the crowded facilities available for meeting places. A maximum of two junior leaders per county was all that was allowed to participate in this section.

LEARN TO DO BY DOING

"The value of anything is what the next day's memory of it shall be."

The Kansas Collegiate 4-H Club is an organization of nearly 400 members, which is the largest and most useful of any organization on the campus. Two meetings are held each month and four parties are given each semester for the members, including a dinner dance in the fall and a special spring party in April.

Each semester officers are elected from among the members, thus giving opportunities of leadership to a great many. The club has spent money for much useful equipment. This year they purchased a mimeograph machine to assist in sending notices to the club members, to send letters to the members of the Kansas Rural Life Association, and for other similar work.

The activities of the Collegiate 4-H Club are many, but some of the most important include editing the Who's Whoot, and contributing to a fifteen hundred dollar loan fund which is available to former club members who are attending college. They assist at Round-up, conduct 4-H radio programs from station KSAC, and further the Rural Life Movement in Kansas.

Each year since 1937, they have sent a member of the club to Camp Miniwanca, American Youth Foundation Camp. Walter Campbell won the trip in 1938 by selling the most Who's Whoos.

Each year this conference sponsored by the Collegiate 4-H Club brings together young people of Kansas for the purpose of considering important rural problems. The theme this year was "Making Rural Youth Programs More Effective." Valuable assistance was given by Mr. Eugene Merritt from the Extension Division of the Department of Agriculture. Among the speakers was Mr. Charles E. Hoffman of the American Youth Foundation at St. Louis, Missouri. Miss Jewel Metcalf of Rice co. was chosen as a delegate to the youth conference at Washington, D. C., in April. Officers elected for 1939 are: President, Tom Benton, Johnson co.; Vice-President, Jack Caraway, Barton co.; Vice-President, Ethel Avery, Collegiate 4-H Club; and Secretary-Treasurer, Dorothy Meyer, Riley co.

A WORD OF APPRECIATION

The Editor and Business Manager wish to express their most sincere appreciation to everyone who has taken part in making the 1939 edition of the Who's Whoot a success.

A special vote of thanks goes to the firms participating in and who believe in and are boosters of 4-H Club work.

We also wish to thank the counties who have contributed to the county page section and the members of the Who's Whoot Staff who have given much of their time to the making of a bigger and better edition of our 4-H publication.

QUALITY
and

1939

In 1837 JOHN DEERE hammered into the first steel plow ever built, a high quality of workmanship, and thus started his career as a manufacturer with a determination to always use the best of materials and the highest quality of workmanship available. He then and there established the John Deere rule of giving good service to the farmers of the world, which time has proved to be one of the organization's most valuable principles. These principles have never been abandoned and are employed in 1939 in the John Deere organization as effectively as they were over one hundred years ago.

HARRY L. WEAVER, Mgr.

Mrs. Hen: I wonder what makes Mr. Gander look so sad this morning?

Mr. Rooster: He was out on a wild goose chase last night.

"Do you know," asked Cecil Holland, "the name of the play in which one Irishman knocks out a whole gang of Scots?"

"Aye," answered Winifred Farber, a secretary at the 4-H Club office, "The Miracle."

Mary had a little lamp,
She filled it with benzene;
She went to light her little lamp,
And hasn't since benzene.

Mr. Coe: "Drink plenty of water, and it will keep you from getting stiff in the joints."

Ike Kern, an experienced senior: "Yes, sir, but none of the joints I know serve water."

"May I print a kiss on your lips?" Marvin Ochsner asked of Ruth Avery.

Ruth nodded her permission.

They went to press and I rather guess they printed a full edition.

"I Know Something Good About You"

Wouldn't this old world be better
 If the folks we meet would say,
 "I know something good about you!"
 And then treat us just that way,
 Wouldn't it be fine and dandy,
 If each handclasp warm and true
 Carried with it this assurance,
 "I know something good about you!"
 Wouldn't life be lots more happy,
 If the good that's in us all
 Were the only thing about us
 That folks bothered to recall?
 Wouldn't life be lots more happy
 If we praised the good we see?
 For there's such a lot of goodness
 In the worst of you and me.
 Wouldn't it be nice to practice
 That fine way of thinking, too?
 You know something good about me!
 I know something good about you!

—Louis C. Shimon.

Thousands of Modern Farmers Will Tell You Electricity More Than Pays For Itself

Not only does electricity pay for itself in saving time and energy but it shows direct dollar and cents profit.

For instance, in the henhouse, egg production through artificial light is materially increased. In the barn—a constant supply of fresh water increases milk output and with the aid of electric milking machines one man does almost the work of two.

When electricity comes in the home it again shows profit in better living and greater conveniences.

Walter Campbell and his girl friend entered a drug store. After ordering a soda and starting to sip on it, Walt said, "Say, Marj., you'd better get you one of these too, they're pretty good."

They met upon the stairs; it was dark and so he kissed her.
"Oh, pardon me," said he, "I thought it was my sister."
He held her dainty hand—nothing could be bliss-er.
"Don't mention it," said she. Ye gods!! It was his sister.

IF LIFE WERE BUT A DAY
If all that we could know of life
Need be but for a day,
If life were really one day long,
We'd make that one day gay;
We'd never take the time to frown
To worry, or to sigh,
We'd get the good we could from life
Before the day went by.

Some flowers grow that open wide
At dawn to bloom till night;
They keep their faces to the sun
Reflect its beaming light;
They shed their beauty—perfume sweet
On all who pass their way
And all they ever know of life
Is but a single day.

Really we've but today to live,
The present moment's all;
Tomorrow never seems to come,
It e'er eludes our call.
We need to get the good we can
From all today can give,
So let's resolve that we today
Will love, rejoice, and live.

Teacher: "What do you know about Atlas?"

George O'Brien: "He was the world's greatest gangster."

Teacher: "Gangster? Where did you get that idea?"

George O'Brien: "The history book says he held up the world."

Oscar Norby: "Well, I could get a closed car."

SIMPLE THOUGHTS ABOUT LIFE

I have learned two or three deep and simple things about life—I have learned that happiness is not to be had for the seeking, but comes quietly to him who pauses at his difficult task and looks upward. I have learned that friendship is very simple, and, more than all else, I have learned the lesson of being quiet, of looking out across the meadows and hills, and of trusting a little in God."

—Daniel Grayson.

M. H. Coe: "I forgot my umbrella this morning."

Roger Regnier: "How did you remember you forgot it?"

M. H. Coe: "Well, I missed it when I raised my hand to close it after it had stopped raining."

Otto Spencer: "How much for this hat?"

Earl Hornbuckle: "$15.00."

Otto Spencer: "Only one thing wrong with this hat—where are the holes?"

Earl Hornbuckle: "Holes! What holes?"

Otto Spencer: "Yes, the holes for the ears of the jackass that would pay $15 for this hat."
