British Visitor and Sue the Sioux

Brian East, a British student from London, poses with Sue the Sioux, a guide at Seneca's tourist attraction, Fort Markley. Brian toured the midwest, alternately working and hiking his way thru. He plans to return to London to finish school but hopes to return to the U.S. for a year to work on a large farm. He was impressed with the expanse of land and the highways traversing it in the midwest.

Another Nick In Price Index

Prices received by Kansas farmers at mid-August were slightly lower than a month earlier and moderately below a year ago, according to the Kansas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service. The all-farm products price index at 232 per cent of the 1910-14 base period compared with 235 per cent in July and 260 per cent in August 1966. Price changes from a month earlier were mixed with decreases for wheat, sorghum grain, corn, oats, soybeans, hay, hogs, calves and lambs.

Higher prices were received for steers and heifers, sheep, milk cows, milk, chickens and eggs.

Crop Prices

The crop price index stood at 161, down 7 points from a month earlier and 45 points below August last year.

The price of wheat, at $1.34 per bushel, was moderately below the average price of $1.39 per bushel in July and well below the average of $1.76 per bushel a year ago.

Corn averaged $1.17 per bushel, 6 cents below July and 16 cents below a year earlier.

Sorghum grain, at $1.87 per cwt., was 11 cents below July and 9 cents below a year earlier.

Soybeans, at $2.48 per bushel, showed a decrease of 11 cents from July and were well below the $3.37 average a year ago.

The oat price of 72 cents per bushel was 4 cents below both last month and a year earlier while barley, at 96 cents per bushel, was 2 cents below both last month and a year earlier.

Rye prices were also slightly weaker at 94 cents per bushel compared to the 95 cents per bushel last month and $1.01 per bushel last year.

Alfalfa hay averaged $20.50 per ton, down $1.00 from July and $5.00 below a year ago.

Prairie hay, at $15.00 per ton, was down $1.50 from July and was $5.50 below a year earlier.

More Social Security? Who's Going To Pay?

Middle-class wage earners are having more than twice as much taken out of their paychecks for Social Security this year as in 1959.

For Americans making $6600 or more in 1967, $290.40 will be withheld and placed, along with an equal amount paid by employers, in Social Security trust funds for present and future benefit payments.

Compare that to the maximum $120 paid in 1959, or even to the maximum $174 withheld in 1965.

If the Senate passes the House-approved version of the administration's Social Security package, the amount withheld will take another sharp jump for persons earning $7600 or more.

In 1968, $334 would be withheld. The amount would jump to $354 in 1969; $395 in 1970; $429 in 1973; and $448 in 1987.

President Johnson wants even larger increases in the amount withheld.

While Johnson has varied the practice slightly, presidents and Congress like to increase benefits with an election approaching. Elderly Americans have responded by becoming more active as a voting bloc.

Past increases have had relatively little impact on paychecks. But providing hospital and medical care for 19 million older Americans has increased the bite.

The other aspect is what the administration calls adequate benefits for the elderly. It would appear impossible for a person to survive on the $50-a-month minimum provided by the House bill or to make ends meet in a big city on the $212 maximum. (Currently, the average monthly benefit to the retired worker is $84.)

So the Johnson administration is becoming torn between providing adequate benefits and taking more and more from the voters' weekly paychecks.

With the base for the maximum payroll tax going to $7600 a year under the House bill, the largest bite will be applied to 85 percent of the nation's payroll workers. Relatively little will come from jumping the base to $9000 in 1973 and $10,800 in 1974 — the increases Johnson originally asked for.

The other alternative is increasing the rate of the withholding from the base. Right now 4.4 per cent of $6600 is withheld at the top. Under the House bill, it would increase to 4.8 per cent of $7600 in 1969, 5.2 per cent on the same base in 1971, and to a top of 5.9 per cent by 1987.

The chief criticism of base-rate increase approach is becoming louder every year — it's regressive, unfair and inadequate. As the brothers Kennedy told the Finance Committee, the pinch draws the most blood from those who can least afford it.

The Kennedys have joined the ranks of other critics demanding that income tax dollars be infused into the trust fund system. Many experts, in and out of the administration, believe it only a matter of time before the historic step is taken.

Livestock Prices

The livestock and livestock product index at mid-August was 313, up 1 point from July but 8 points below August 1966.

The meat animal price index was 376 compared with 375 in July and 377 in August 1966.

Hog prices, at $20.50 per cwt., were $1.00 below July and $4.00 below August last year.

Beef cattle prices, at $23.70 per cwt., were 40 cents above last month and $1.00 above August 1966. The steer and heifer prices, at $25.20, were 50 cents above mid-July and 90 cents above last year. Calves, at $25.80, were 20 cents below July but 60 cents above August last year.

The dairy products price index was 286 at mid-August, up 2 points from July and 5 points below a year ago. The preliminary August wholesale milk price was $4.60, up 5 cents from July but 11 cents below August 1966.

The poultry and egg price index, at 109, was 3 points above July but 32 points below last year. Egg prices averaged 20.8 cents per dozen, 5 cent above July but 7 cents below a year ago. Chicken prices, at 6.7 cents, were 3 of a cent above July but 1 cent below August last year.

CMA OPPOSES CORPORATION FARMING

KANSAS CITY — The Consumers Marketing Association has passed a resolution opposing a corporate farming bill in the Kansas legislature. Peter B. Dlabal, Ellsworth, president of the CMA, said the directors agreed on the resolution last week.

Watershed Assn. Shifts Gears

WOODBINE — The knotty problem of finance may be un-snarling for the Lyons Creek Watershed District 41.

The watershed's board of directors and the opposition to the previously advanced watershed finance plan have met, and Hayes B. Beck, watershed board president, says concessions are being made.

"We hope to come up with an acceptable plan of finance for the opposition.

"If we can do this," Beck said, "we should be able to publish our intent this fall and save the cost of an election.

"If the plan is acceptable, there should be no petition submitted to force the issue to another costly election."

Following the first meeting with the opposition, Beck said, the board made several revisions in the district's internal structure.

Nominations of future board members will come from the floor instead of from a nominating committee as in the past.

Districts within the watershed also will be realigned.

Originally, the watershed was set up with 18 board members, each elected from one of 18 districts outlined by county agents of Dickinson, Morris, Geary and Marion counties.

Then, the area was surveyed by the Corps of Engineers and 15 drainage areas were mapped.

From each of these, another board member is eligible to be chosen.

"This gives some districts two representatives on the watershed board," he explained.

The third agreement was that there will be required attendance rules for all board members.

"In my opinion, the opposition stems more from these grievances than from an actual dislike of the method of finance," Beck said.

The finance plan, which twice has been voted down, would allow use of part of a 2-mill tax levy now in effect for local finance to purchase easements and right-of-way.

The levy raises $22,000 each year. It now may be used only for administrative purposes.

A little less than 50 percent of these funds are needed for administration, Beck said.

Opponents, however, claim that $10,000 to $11,000 a year would not be enough to cover local costs and that once the levy was in use and more funds were needed, the board would have a mandate to add additional taxes.

Beck says the watershed is a 25-year project and there should be ample funds collected over the years to finance aspects other than administration.

Twenty-two percent of construction costs will be born by federal funds.

Other expenses, such as sites for dams and other structures mostly would be donated.

Previously the opposition has pooh-poohed the idea that landowners would give away land for pond sites. Beck, however, says the opposition is arguing against past experiences in other water districts.

"The landowner is getting a good deal," Beck said. He will be glad to cooperate.

Beck said that, if the opposition and board of directors were successful in their negotiations, the watershed plan would be put before Congress for approval in January.

This would throw construction into the spring of 1969 at the earliest, he said, since federal funds would need to be appropriated.

The state has refused to submit the Lyons creek district plan to Congress until a financing method is established.

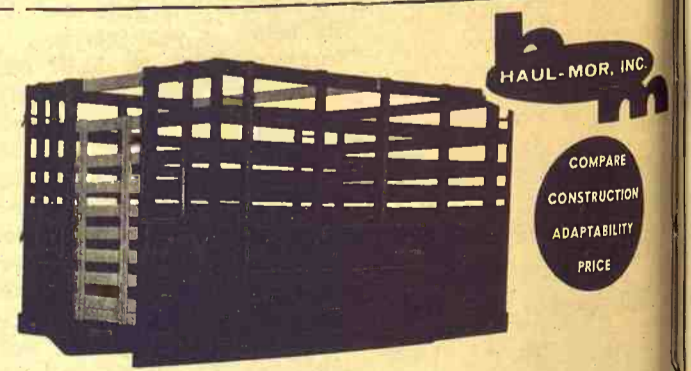

Beck also said the board has appointed a new attorney for the watershed.

Lee Hornbaker, Junction City, will replace Bill Alward, Herington, effective Oct. 1.

Co-op Bank Earnings Dip

Net earnings of the Wichita Bank for Cooperatives dropped almost 30 per cent in the fiscal year ended June 30, compared with the previous year, according to the annual bank report.

It was released during an annual stockholders' meeting. It blamed "the higher cost of money borrowed by the bank" for the earnings decrease. They dropped over the past year from $1,636,000 to $1,144,000.

About 250 stockholders and agricultural leaders, mainly from Kansas, heard bank president John R. Williams say new records were set in average loans outstanding to member cooperatives. The average credit outstanding for the past fiscal year was more than $175 million, compared with $141.5 million for 1966.

On May 1, a record loan volume of more than $217.5 million was reached, making the bank the first of 12 district banks for cooperatives to exceed the $200 million level.

Total loan advances during the year were $209.4 million, an increase of almost $21 million over fiscal 1966. Loans outstanding June 30 totaled 311 for grain organizations, 54 to cotton processors; 60 to irrigation users; 20 to petroleum cooperatives; seven to dairy associations; and 16 to other categories.

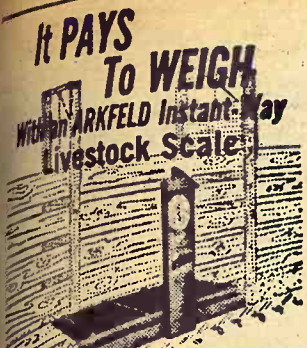

Citing a sharp rise in interest rates in borrowing, the report said the average margin realized by the bank during fiscal 1967 was .33 per cent, compared with an average margin of .76 per cent the year before.

Patronage refunds as a percentage of interest paid were 10.95 per cent for the year just ended, compared with 20.07 per cent a year ago.

The bank on June 30 retired all C stock issued to borrowers in 1956, almost $500,000 worth. Loan applications received by the bank this fiscal year totaled 446, compared with 415 the year before. Number of borrowers totaled 468, compared with 473 a year ago.

County Scraps Entire Program Of Reappraisal

HAYS — All G&G area counties which have had property re-appraisals have done so with no little trouble.

But they may take heart from Ellis county, whose reassessment project has been grief-stricken from the beginning.

Last week the county commissioners scrapped a program in which it had five years and $52,000 invested. The state property valuation department had branded the Ellis county program a failure and after some study county officials decided there was no way they could salvage any part of the work done.

Spot checks of the work revealed inequities on rural property. It also appeared techniques were used that discriminated against some classes of property, Ron Dwyer, state director said.

The spot checks indicated a majority of homes were measured incorrectly or poorly diagrammed.

"It is my opinion that the small number of classes used and prices applied have resulted in penalizing the owner of the average and poorer farm land and benefitted owners of better farm land," Dwyer said.

Borrowers To Own Credit Bank By 1973

Stockholders of the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank of Wichita have been told that the goal of the bank is to be farmer-rancher owned by 1973.

Theodore H. Peters, senior vice president and chairman of a panel on "capitalizing our bank," said that the bank now is 41 per cent stockholder owned, and the goal is to complete the purchase of the stock from the federal government within six years.

The panel, composed of Production Credit Association directors, managers and bank officers, explored avenues by which the associations, farmers and stockmen could eventually own the entire system, substituting farmer ownership for government capital.

"One of the difficulties that makes farmer ownership difficult is the tremendous growth of the bank, having increased its lending activity five times in the years 1955 to 1967," Peters said.

The final meeting heard Vernon Wright, deputy governor of the Farm Credit Administration of Washington, D.C.

Wright said interest rates now at 5.4 per cent are on their way back up, but predicted they would not go as high as last October, when rates reached 6.3 per cent.

USDA Studies Changes In Milk Order Regulations

The Department of Agriculture investigating the need for any proposed change in federal milk order regulations.

Rep. Bob Dole, R-Kans., was advised of the department's action by George L. Mehren, asstant secretary.

The National Milk Producers Federation had requested the Agriculture Department to increase Class I prices under all federal milk orders and to increase the support level for manufacturing milk to 90 per cent of parity.

The milk producers asked the department to hold an emergency nationwide hearing for the purpose of discussing the proposed price increases.

Members of the Kansas and Oklahoma congressional delegations supported the milk producers request for such a hearing.

Mehren said the department was required to make an investigation of the need for any proposed change in federal milk order regulations before calling a hearing.

The department would complete its investigation "as soon as possible," he added.

3100 Pounds of Steer

Six feet tall and weighing 3100 pounds, a Holstein steer named Bozo was one of the livestock attractions at the Mid-America Fair at Topeka last week. Owned by Tom Beimborn of Bradenton, Fla., and shown by Rick West of Green Bay, Wisc., Bozo made a circuit of ten fairs this year. He eats 35 pounds of feed a day, and West says he'll take cotton candy when he can get it. The steer is not the product of special breeding but is simply an animal of hyper-growth.

How Much Wheat?

to make a loaf of bread 8 feet long

A LOT of sandwiches could be made from the loaf of bread shown above with Dorothy Hill, employee of the Kansas Wheat Commission, threatening to cut herself a slice from the world's largest loaf of bread.

SEE the world's largest loaf of bread at the Commission exhibits and register a guess on the pounds and ounces it took for the flour to bake this loaf.

The 8-foot loaf will be seen in the Commission exhibits at two Kansas state fairs. Visitors will be invited to register a guess on the number of pounds and ounces of wheat it took to make the flour for the big loaf of bread, with a silver bread tray as prize for the closest estimate.

The Commission will have recipes and information on wheat and wheat foods for distribution at the exhibit, which makes a striking presentation of the importance of Kansas wheat to the world.

New Mattress Set
Is Flame-Retardant

A completely flame retardant cotton innerspring mattress and box springs set now on the market may usher in a new era of safety from fire.

A leading U.S. bedding manufacturer has developed the entirely non-combustible sleep set. The ticking, batting, tape and wood (in the box springs) have been chemically treated to resist flame.

No part of the mattress will support combustion which could result from lighted cigarettes, cigars, or any other source of heat. In other words, the treated mattress will not burst into flame and will not be on fire when the source of heat is removed.

A new and improved cotton batting material called "Cotton Flote" is a component of the new mattress.

Flote is cured so as not to take further compression. It is a resilient material with special features not found in conventional batting or in synthetic insulating materials.

Flote consists of conventional cotton batting treated with resin and latex and then dried and oven-cured. Resins used in the process react chemically with cellulose in the cotton.

Flote demonstrates improved recovery from deformation under adverse conditions of high temperature and humidity. Energy absorption characteristics are much improved and it is reported there is up to a twenty-fold increase in tensile and tear strength.

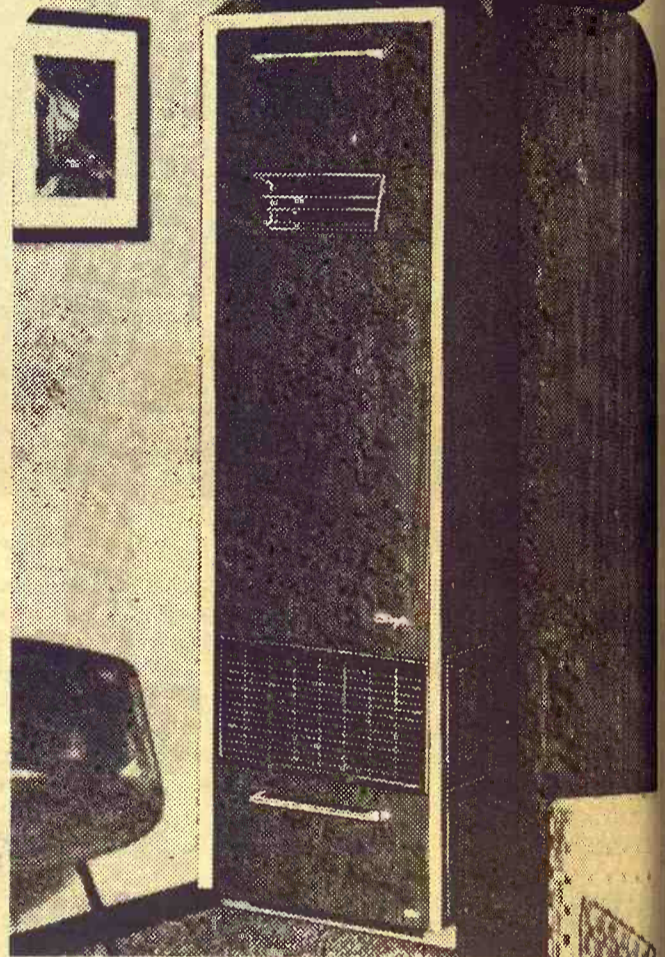

It is said that if ticking and batting for beds can be made fire-resistant, it will not be long before sofas and chairs also will be made safe from flame. Flame-retardant flote also may find wide application as a cushioning material in automobiles.

Fold-Away "Door Wall" Gives Room Double Use

To divide and conquer is a wise strategic move, even in home decorating.
 Case in point: A large room that can — with clever maneuvering — do double duty as two smaller rooms.
 To achieve this coup, all that's needed is a "wall" of stock folding doors.
 Here's how it's done: Hang a series of folding louver doors on an overhead ceiling track midway across the room. When you want to divide one room into two smaller ones, simply pull the doors open to their full length. They form an attractive sculptured wall. If you want to transform the area into one spacious room, close the doors by folding them back against each other.
 A wall of doors has many advantages. It's economical to install because quality louvered folding doors, such as ponderosa pine units are available in stock sizes at local lumber dealers. Folding doors take up practically no floor space — unlike regular doors which open out into a room, folding doors fold back against each other in accordion fashion. The door wall can also provide extra flat space against which you can place furniture.

 A series of doors can also be used to give a room the elegant look of expensive paneling. Standard-sized stock panel doors, or louvered doors, can be installed on any wall surface over furring strips or wall studs. Use stock pine molding as an attractive camouflage over joints.
 If the wall contains closet space or an entry into another room, make one or more of the doors operational as well as decorative. Just hinge the door over the opening so it can be opened and closed.

 An additional decorative asset of ponderosa pine wood doors is that they can be painted to blend with the room's color scheme, or simply stained to enhance their natural grain. The rich look of wood and the custom appearance of panel or louver door styles are a sure way to win the battle for distinctive room decor.

Hasty Cheese Cobbler Is A Snap To Prepare

Probably the oldest and most traditional food Americans still enjoy is cornbread, especially this buttermilk version. It's made into a cobbler crested with shredded old-fashioned Cheddar cheese and pie-sliced apples. But the making is modern. Just unwrap the cheese and it's ready for shredding the apples come ready-to-use right from the can.
HASTY CHEESE COBBLER
 (Serves Eight)
 1 cup sifted all-purpose flour
 1 cup yellow cornmeal
 ¼ cup sugar
 2 teaspoons baking powder
 ¼ teaspoon salt
 ½ teaspoon baking soda
 2 eggs
 1 cup buttermilk
 ¼ cup soft shortening
 2 cups shredded (1 8-ounce package) Wisconsin Old

Fashioned Cheddar cheese 2½ cups (1 pound, 4-ounce can) pie-sliced apples, drained
 ¼ cup firmly packed light brown sugar
 In a medium-size bowl, sift together flour, cornmeal, sugar, baking powder, salt and baking soda. Add eggs, buttermilk, and shortening; beat with rotary beater about one minute, or just until dry ingredients are well moistened. DO NOT OVER-BEAT. Pour mixture into a greased 9x9x2-inch baking pan. In a medium-size bowl lightly mix cheese and apples together. Gently spread over cornbread mixture. It is important to spread mixture to sides of pan. Sprinkle brown sugar evenly over cheese mixture. Bake in a moderate (375-degree) oven, 40 minutes or until firm and golden brown.

Kansans On The Move

By Leslie Frazier

Kansas State University

More than ever before, the Kansas population is on the move. One of every five Kansans 5 years of age or older was living in a different county in 1960 than in 1955, according to the U.S. Census Bureau.

Some are moving from farm to non-farm areas. Others are leaving their city residence to live in rural areas. Often their destination is the rural non-farm home near the metropolitan center where the family wage earner is employed.

Thirty-nine of every 100 Kansans are rural residents. They live on farms or in rural areas or towns of less than 2,500 inhabitants.

The composition of the rural population in Kansas has been far from stable. During World War II, 34 percent of the total population of Kansas was composed of persons engaged in agricultural production. By 1960, this had changed to 15 per cent.

What has caused this migration? Forces of economic growth have put pressure on labor groups, and these groups have reacted to the pressures. The forces are created by new technology, new resources, education and training, changing tastes, and changing incomes. As a result of these forces in the private enterprise economy, many workers find that their services will bring greater rewards in other industries.

One result is a longtime trend showing migration from farming and mining into industries specializing in the production of farm and non-farm goods and services.

Rapidly growing industries are often concentrated in urban centers. These industries generate immigration to satisfy their employment needs. The redistribution of population has been to the developing industrial centers of larger cities of Kansas.

Contrary to popular belief, many areas of out-migration have shared in the national income increase. Many rural areas with little population growth have shown a substantial increase in per capita income. Underemployed labor has migrated from these areas, and those persons remaining were more fully employed and had higher average incomes.

How Much Grain Surplus Should There Be?

GREAT BEND — Wheat producers opinions on maintaining a strategic food reserve will be sought at the Kansas Association of Wheat Growers' convention in Great Bend Nov. 20 and 21.

Pre-convention district meetings have been held in Ulysses, Oakley, Hays, Salina, and Pratt to discuss this and other problems affecting wheat growers. District meetings have encouraged county organizations to hold membership drives for 1968 members in the next two months.

The Association has urged that a strategic reserve of wheat stocks be maintained for purposes of national defense and an adequate food supply, and that the costs of such reserves be charged to national defense and other appropriate agencies and not to the cost of farm programs."

George W. Meeker, of Garden City, president of the KAWG, made the recommendations in a letter to Congressman Graham Purcell, chairman of the House Agriculture Committee wheat subcommittee.

"To get the required wheat production, there must be an incentive to allow the farmer his production costs plus a reasonable profit."

Meeker cautioned that the reserve must be a tool for the purpose of market control."

The association recommended that no restriction or limitation be placed on the commodity when building or replenishing the reserve.

Uses of the reserve would include a national emergency, PL 480 programs, or other aid purposes.

SCHOOL ENROLLMENT DECLINE AT MCPHERSON
MCPHERSON — For the first time in 11 years McPherson schools show an attendance decline. Enrollment is expected to be slightly more than 2850, about 100 less than last year. There was a slight increase in the high school but moderate declines in all city grades and in four rural schools in the unified district.

Polled Group Planning New Merit Program

The American Polled Hereford Association is developing a new merit program for recognizing outstanding Polled Hereford sires and dams.

The new program is designed to place emphasis on showing excellence as well as performance, according to Orville Sweet, executive secretary.

Here are the four divisions into which the association will be grouping recognition:

- Showing achievement, for bulls and cows whose offspring accumulate points at designated shows.

- Performance, for bulls and cows whose offspring accumulate points in a "guide lines" program.

- Showing and performance records, from points from both of the above two divisions.

- Sire records, for bulls evaluated in rigid herd sire progeny test programs.

Too Many Credit Sources?

Credit to a farmer is a very important production tool just as a tractor or plow has been in the past. Credit used wisely can increase profits and improve the general well being of a farmer and his family. Abused, it can cause excessive worry, undue hardships and possibly unrecoverable financial ruin.

Credit buying is now readily available directly thru dealers of almost any merchandise. Autos, appliances, furniture, farm equipment, etc., can be dealer financed. The buy now and pay later plan is a well established American institution which is admittedly a driving force in our dynamic economy. However, indiscriminate use of credit from too many sources can be dangerous as eager salesmen don't always consider your ability to handle "just one more monthly payment."

When you need credit, place your confidence with about 82 million metric tons this year, down from 100,000,000.

Official figures are not likely to be released for several more weeks. Harvesting is still under way in many areas.

The Ukraine, the Soviet Union's fertile southwest region, reported that grain deliveries to the government food monopoly were 9 percent over planned deliveries.

The Ukraine provides slightly over 20 per cent of national deliveries but this year it probably will be larger, Tass news agency said.

National goals for the 1966-70 period call for grain production to rise 25 percent over the five years, attaining an annual level of 180 million metric tons in 1970.

How Much Land Is Tax Exempt?

HUTCHINSON — A reappraisal of Reno County property illustrates well how areas grow but tax bases remain relatively stable.

Of 35,000 parcels of land appraised in Reno County, 7000 are tax exempt. That's 20% of the total, and it includes some choice land and improvements.

Certain properties are guaranteed by the state constitution to be free of taxes. These include properties owned by all government units, educational institutions, churches, or those owned by charitable or benevolent associations.

Few, if any, counties in the state even have appraisals of exempt property, so just how much property contributes no taxes is impossible to determine. Reno County's 20% of all land parcels is likely one of the high figures in the state for exempt property, but the figure for any county would impress a county commission looking for new sources of taxes.

Unless there is some legislative change, the figure is likely to go higher. In 1966 more than a third of the $8 million in building permits issued in Reno County was for tax-exempt improvements.

County clerk Hubert Buckles figures the percentage will be higher yet in 1967.

Now Is The Time To Apply

Anhydrous Ammonia

Advantages of Anhydrous application are:
When seeding time comes your fertilizer is already applied and you can breeze along with your planting; fertilizer is stored in the soil ready to go to work when seedlings start; early application starts decomposition of organic material and other crop residue.

Five reasons why NH-3 is the choice of more and more farmers:

1. Most concentrated form of nitrogen — less weight to haul.
2. Economical — more N per dollar than in any other form.
3. Easy to apply with modern tractor operated equipment.
4. Ammonia is the cheapest form of nitrogen for wheat — gives the best results.
5. Application of nitrogen in fall will carry crop to maturity. No need to run over the field in spring.

Who Paid The Taxes

Americans paid an average of $290 in state and local taxes during fiscal 1966, $25 per person more than during the previous year. The range was from a low of $181 in South Carolina to a high of $410 in New York. New York also topped the list of states in tax revenues — $7.485 billion in 1966. Total state and local tax take was $56.7 billion, up $5.6 billion from the previous year.

Kansas ranked 14th, with a $303 per capita share.

Welsh said he opposed one bill because it would give the secretary of agriculture authority to bypass the state in contracting for grain inspections.

The state inspection department already is under direct supervision of the agriculture department.

"This department is now, and always has been, considered a model inspection agency throughout the nation," Welsh said in an earlier letter to one of the governor's aides.

State Opposes Pending Federal Grain Laws

TOPEKA — Kansas grain officials have requested authorization to appear before Congressional committees to oppose pending grain legislation, Gov. Robert Docking said last week.

The State Grain Inspection Department, through its director, William J. Welsh, said in a news conference with Docking that portions of several bills pending in the House and Senate are in opposition to the best interests of the Kansas grain industry.

In a letter to Rep. Graham Purcell, D-Tex., the governor asked permission for Welsh and his deputy, Nicholas P. Fabac, tion gives the USLA authority to change grain inspection standards.

"Over the years tightening of standards has resulted in loss to the producers," he said.

Local producers are in favor of a strong state agency rather than federal control in an area already serviced by the state, he contended.

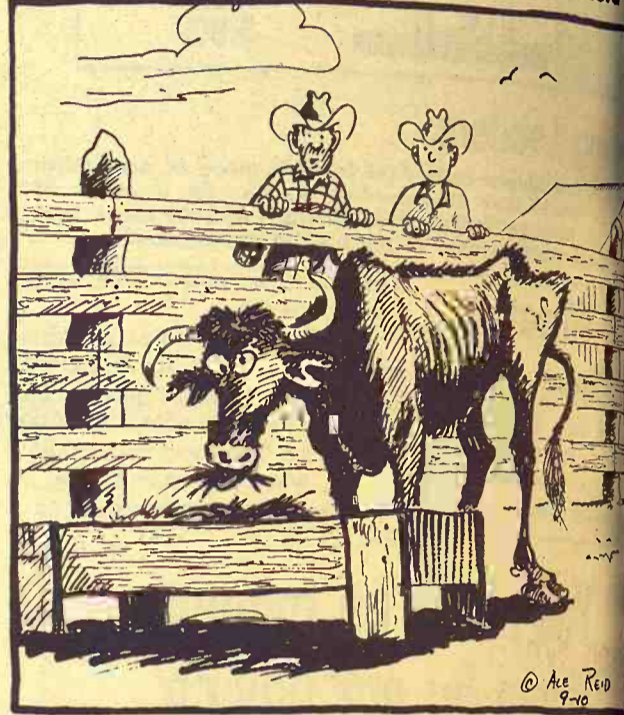

Docking pointed out that the fee agency returns $300,000 to $400,000 to the general revenue fund annually. If the federal government took over the duties this money would be lost to the state.

"We have always attempted to cooperate with federal agencies however, in the case of federal grain inspection legislation pending in Congress, I feel it will be low a federal agency to undertake the responsibility of these states," the governor said.

"Since Kansas is the leading wheat and milling state, I have asked Welsh and Fabac to present the Kansas viewpoint in testimony before the subcommittee on grain and livestock of the Agriculture Committee."

Brood Sow Operation

Dale Gerardy of Green has been using a computerized farm accounting system since January, and thinks it is highly applicable to his brood sow operation. Gerardy farms about 100 acres, runs 100 brood sows, and farrows around 1500 pigs a year. He also runs a herd of 80 cows and fattens his own cattle and hogs. His son Marc is also involved in the operation, and Mrs. Gerardy, who doubles as teacher and housewife, keeps books.

Soybeans Need Export Lift

Government action designed to help U.S. soybeans meet increasing competition abroad is being discussed.

Markets for soybeans and their products, particularly in Western Europe, have been hurt by a heavy flow of low-priced sunflower seed and oil from the Soviet Union.

Sen. George McGovern (D-S. D.) is proposing that the Agriculture department take aggressive measures to expedite exports of soybean oil. He suggests it buy large quantities of the oil from domestic processors and sell it abroad at prices competitive with sunflower and other vegetable oils.

Embargoed Wheat Cars With Poison Weed

TOPEKA — Ten carloads of wheat were embargoed at the Kansas City terminal last week because of a poisonous seed found in the shipment. Evan Wright, director of the Kansas Department of Health Food and Drug Division, said Thursday.

Inspectors at the terminal found the seed of Crotalaria retusa (rattle weed, or rattle box) in wheat coming from southeast Kansas, Wright said.

Both Federal and state inspections have determined the nature of the seed. Federal and state enforcement officers currently are checking areas of southeast Kansas to determine extent of the area from which the poisonous seeds are coming.

Four specials of the plant are described in a bulletin from Kansas State University, issued two years ago. The plant, a legume, had been introduced in some areas of the state as a "ground cover" to halt water erosion, and also as a soil building agent since it is a legume.

Although it is poisonous to humans, Wright said it is highly unlikely the seeds could get into flour or human food, since normal flour milling operations call for careful screening and cleaning before the wheat is milled.

However, Wright said, the seed is poisonous to all warm-blooded animals and often feed milling operations do not extract all foreign material before milling.

The seed is particularly dangerous to chickens, Wright said.

Dairy Prices In '67 To Top '66 Levels

Wholesale and retail milk prices out but will average 4 to 5 per cent higher for the entire year than in 1966, the Agriculture Department has said.

The department predicted 1967 milk production will total about 120 billion pounds, the smallest in 15 years.

The report came at a time when dairymen and congressmen from dairy states were increasing pressure on Agriculture Secretary Orville L. Freeman to hold hearings on Agriculture Secretary Orville L. Freeman to hold hearings on proposals to increase milk prices by 50 cents a hundredweight under federal milk marketing orders.

Freeman has the authority to set minimum prices for fluid milk in areas covered by the federal marketing orders but has not indicated whether he will call the hearings.

Retail prices of dairy products in July — the latest figures available — averaged 5 per cent higher than a year earlier. The gain has slackened since last fall, the report said, and likely will lessen in the rest of the year.

The report blamed part of the expected decline in production on continuing high prices for beef cattle and cull cows, which encourage herd culling. It added that high employment and wages elsewhere will continue to draw farmers and labor away from dairying.

Voters To Decide On McPherson County Hospital

MCPHERSON — McPherson Countians will vote Oct. 26 to decide the fate of proposed plans for a new county hospital in McPherson.

The voters will be asked to approve a bond issue not to exceed $500,000 to cover about one-fourth of the cost of the hospital.

Total cost would be about $2 million. McPherson County Hospital has a building fund of more than $400,000, accumulated from bequeathed gifts and donations.

The hospital board has been assured that McPherson County is at the top of the list of applicants for Hill-Harris (formerly Hill-Burton) 40 per cent federal matching funds. That grant would provide about $800,000 of the $2 million, county commissioners said.

The issue is expected to receive its greatest support from the McPherson and Canton areas. Citizens of Lindsborg and Moundridge, each with small community hospitals, have indicated general disapproval of any plans to enlarge or improve the county hospital.

Location of the proposed county hospital would be on property adjoining the present hospital here. The old facility would be subjected to some remodeling to meet hospital accreditation standards, and then used for care of long-term patients.

A Cow Is A 50-Ton Consumer

A milk-producing cow eats and drinks many tons of fuel. No wonder Kansas dairymen look to modern, labor-saving helpers such as motors, levers, push buttons, and pipe-line milking systems, Dr. Ed Call, Extension dairy scientist at Kansas State University, explains.

One cow producing 14,000 pounds, or about 6,700 quarts of milk in a year, needs more than 51 tons of grass, hay, grain, and water.

A 1,300-pound cow will eat about three tons of grain and protein feed a year, two and one-half tons of hay, and six tons of silage. And she will wash the feed down with more than 80 thousand pounds of water. She eats and drinks about 255 pounds of fuel daily.

The water she drinks helps build up the blood she pumps through her udder. In a day's time, a cow reportedly pumps 400 pounds of blood through her udder to produce a pound of milk.

To produce 14,000 pounds of milk a year, one cow needs 11½ tons of feed and more than 40 tons of water. A 50-cow herd uses more than 2,500 tons of fuel annually.

Lot Of Wheat To Contest For Export Market

The 1967-68 outlook for wheat is for more than ample supplies for export or the building up of reserves from excellent crops piled on top of carryovers from last year.

With the exception of Canada, all five of the major non-Communist wheat exporters expect heavy new harvests, with aggregate output about equal to the 3,270,000,000 bushels produced in 1966.

Canada's export potential, reports the Agriculture department, probably will not be affected by a below-average crop, since carryover stocks are at a six-year high of 590 million bushels and domestic requirements are only about 150 million.

The U.S. crop looks to be a record. Australia's old plus new supplies are about 230 million bushels, more than double stocks available a year ago.

Forage Research At K-State Almost Since Beginning Of School

MANHATTAN — Forage research at Kansas State University is almost as old as Kansas State University itself, Dr. R. V. Olson, head of the Agronomy Department, told over 500 participants at the Fall Forage Field Day on the KSU campus last week. Farmers from 42 Kansas counties and 8 surrounding states were on hand for the big agronomy event.

Experiments with grasses, clovers, and alfalfa started in 1874, he noted. Sorghum silage tests began in 1866 and have been continuous since that time.

"Our research covers such factors of production as development of improved varieties and hybrids, better methods of planting, fertilizing and managing, improving nutritional qualities, controlling insects and disease, and using better handling and feeding methods," Dr. Olson pointed out.

Greatest emphasis at the present time is being placed on forage sorghums, sorghum-sudan-grass hybrids, alfalfa, and brome grass, the K-State agronomist says. Progress is being made on developing short strains to serve as seed parents for forage sorghum hybrids. This will reduce seed production costs.

Sorghum-sudan lines are also being developed. A low prussic acid line has been released and extensive work is underway for selection of other low prussic acid materials of high yielding potential.

Alfalfa research includes breeding for the development of improved varieties that combine resistance to aphids, bacterial wilt, leaf hoppers, and bacterial leaf spot. Drought tolerant strains that have good seed-producing ability are also desirable on Kansas farms, Olson indicated.

Extensive fertilization experiments are underway with brome grass at several research locations in eastern Kansas. This work involves times, rates, and methods of application of different forms of nitrogen to determine the effect on yields and quality of forage.

Livestock Assn. Moves

Workers at the Kansas Livestock Association have settled into new office space in Topeka. The state association has moved its offices to 2044 Fillmore, moving from the State Office Building where it had shared space with the Kansas Livestock Sanitary Commission.

Governor Docking had criticized the leasing of space to a non-state agency and had requested the association move by January 1. The change was made September 1.

The building is owned by Mid-America Dairyman Inc. The Topeka Dairy Council also has offices there, as does the American Dairy Assn. of Kansas.

Governor And Livestockmen Continue Game

TOPEKA — Gov. Robert Docking last week rejected a second list of candidates from the Kansas Livestock Association, for the office of state brand commissioner.

The list, submitted by the KLA directors, contained the names of the present commissioner, Hade Gupton, Greensburg; Scott Dillet, an investigator in the Brand Commission office, and Allen Richards, Oberlin, former investigator for the commission.

There is a strong possibility he may appoint a man and ask the KLA to recommend him, Docking said. He has indicated he plans similar action on an appointment to the office of state livestock sanitary commissioner.

The governor said he may request legislation from the 1968 legislature to bring the appointive power back to the governor's office.

Under present statutes, the directors of the KLA must recommend three names to the governor for the brand commissioner post and the KLA Executive Committee recommends a man for the sanitary commissioner job.

Dillet has been employed in the office nearly 13 years, one official said. Richards had been with the state agency 8 to 10 years, it was reported, before he resigned in May. Prior to his investigative work for the brand inspector he was an agent for the Kansas Bureau of Investigation.

Docking has said he will not

Dairy Herd On Computer

One of the recent G&G area farmers to use computerized farm accounting is Lyndon Rundle of Clay Center. Rundle milks 90 head of cows and runs a replacement herd of 60 heifers. He handles the operation with one full-time hired man.

Turnabout In Fleishy Demand

"Whatever we don't have is what the buyer wants."

The speaker was a cattleman at one of the G&G area sale barns last week, and his tone didn't really indicate that he was as disgruntled as his words sounded.

What he was calling attention to was a sudden turnabout in the market that found heavier steers bringing a premium in the market over lightweight steers.

The situation had been exactly opposite of that for many months, and longer-fed beeves had taken the discount. But for several weeks or more, lighter weight unfinished steers had a certain amount of pressure and have not had the healthy trade tone exhibited on fleshier beeves.

With the pressure on lighter weight cattle, some tradesmen report an apparent trend among feeders to hold them back and make them heavier. Other factors influencing this decision, they say, include the current cost of fleshier feeders to put on feed, lower feed costs, better gains with the coming of cooler weather and more favorable returns.

Some tradesmen believe feeders are doing the right thing in keeping unfinished, lightweight cattle longer. They point out that a little longer finish will bring them up into the weight class and grade desired and as long as the current spread continues and feeders are able to make a slight profit, the problem of too heavy cattle will not be encountered.

The real trouble comes, they argue, when the market slips and feeders tend to hold finished cattle waiting for an improvement in prices. This, these tradesmen claim, is when the supply of excessively finished steers carrying weight becomes a problem.

Second Miss America For Kansas - And A Third?

For the second time in three years Kansas is busting its buttons over a Miss America. Debra Barnes of Moran was crowned Miss America at Atlantic City last week.

At tiny Moran, the town's 600 population turned out for an all-night celebration, at which councilman Ken Hutton said the "law got bent a little but no one burned the barn down."

The new Miss America is shown at left with Miss America of 1966, the former Debbie Bryant of Overland Park. At center she is shown with her father, Dwight Barnes, and 16-year old sister Barbara. Barnes is an implement dealer at Moran.

At far right, with her father, is the younger sister, Barbara. Perhaps a third Miss America is not many years away.

State Fair Opens Friday

HUTCHINSON — The Kansas State Fair, extravagant showcase for the best products of farmers, industry and hobbyists in Kansas, opens its gates to the public at 6 p.m. Friday, Sept. 15.

The big show will run until 8 a.m. Thursday, Sept. 21, official closing for the thousands of competitive and commercial exhibits.

Fairgoers will be admitted free Friday evening, designated Preview Night. There will be no grandstand show Friday, but the Royal American Shows carnival and all exhibit buildings will be open.

On Saturday, "Press-Radio-TV Day," news-gathering people from across the state will visit the fairgrounds. A highlight is the annual "Better Newspaper Contest" sponsored by the Kansas Press Assn. in conjunction with the Kansas State Fair.

First of four performances of the "State Fair Revue" featuring The New Christy Minstrels and Comedian Morey Amsterdam will be presented Saturday starting at 7:30 p.m. It will follow the crowning of the 12th Kansas Dairy Princess on the grandstand stage.

After Tuesday night's fourth performance of the "State Fair Revue," a completely new entertainment show will take over for Wednesday and Thursday right audiences: "Grand Ole Opry Spectacular." Featured in this year's country music show will be Ernest Tubb, the Wilburn Brothers, the Cates Sisters, the Plainsmen Quartet and other big names in this field.

Auto racing will be offered each afternoon on the half-mile State Fair track. Speedway sprint cars will run Saturday. Modified jalopies will race Sunday, Wednesday and Thursday, competing for the third annual Kansas Jalopy Championships. Late-model stock cars will compete on Monday and Tuesday. The popularity of the Kansas State Fair continues to grow, as evidenced not only by all-time record attendance but also by increased entries in most judging competition. Attendance last year soared to an estimated 551,000, topping the previous high in 1964 of 545,000. A total of 3766 exhibitors — 70 more than in 1965 — showed 5681 entries. There were sharp increases in Agriculture, 4-H Club, Foods, Clothing and Textile classes.

Farm machinery displays will break all records. The fair continues to gain prestige as one of the biggest equipment shows in the entire U.S.

MON. — THURS. — FRI.

We sold 438 hogs and 3460 cattle last week. The hog market was $1.00 lower again on top was $19.15. The good feeder steers showing both quality and condition looked steady to 25¢ higher. The plainer steers and the feeder heifers looked 50¢ lower. Both our Thursday and Friday sales were well attended and a lot of good cattle shown. Remember hogs and cattle on Monday, straight cattle sales on Thursday and Friday. We would be glad to serve you. Just give us a call. The following is a sampling of our sales:
