■ Nine more months of school "gone with the wind" . . .
nine more months of the all-too-brief span of college life passed into nothing but memories . . . countless hours spent on the "hill" and in Manhattan since arrival last fall . . . countless moments of hard work, of gloom, of despair, of drudgery—of play, of fun, of joy, of ecstasy
. . . gone!

A lot's been left undone . . . should have written the folks oftener . . . probably would have done better in chemistry by staying awake in recitation more . . . might have made more headway romantically by phoning for dates oftener—and earlier . . . spent too much money on shows . . . wasted too much time doing nothing . . .
should have conquered that temptation to day dream
whenever faced with a text-book . . .

It wasn't such a bad year, though . . . met a lot of swell kids . . . had a lot of fun during some of those week-ends
. . . a number of those classes could have been a lot duller than they were . . . those grades could have been worse, all right . . . and that initiation wasn't nearly so bad as it had been pictured . . .

It's really surprising just how much happened this year when you get right down to thinking about it . . . in fact, there'll never be another year quite like this one . . . just how much practical value has been derived from those classes never is realized until you get down to thinking
. . . and as for excitement, the year was never really dull . . . even from the very start, there was plenty going on . . .

WHEN we arrived in Manhattan last fall the girls were just beginning to return for rush week . . . the Canteen and Aggieville drugstores were just shaking off their summer lethargy . . . the booths and tables were filling up with laughing, chattering co-eds—young, lovely girls who had temporarily discarded their sophistication for the spontaneous warmth which always accompanies the post-vacation greeting of females in the absence of males . . . sorority houses were reassuming an appearance of habitation, their shades raised, their windows flung wide to admit fresh air to the long-pent-up study rooms.

THE rushees were assembled in Rec Center for instruction on rush rules by the girls' Panhellenic advisor, Miss Grace Derby, and afterward visited all the houses at the Panhellenic tea . . . remember the cataclysmic rain during the latter part of the rush week and the transportation difficulties resulting from the rule that "no sorority member or representative thereof shall enlist or accept the services of men for escorting rushees to and from parties?" . . . and dirty rushing! . . . when the armistice was signed all the girls donned their stiffest I'm-so-glad-for-you masks and mustered at the Palace to congratulate the "fish that got away" on her lousy choice.

And the turmoil of men's rush week! . . . three interminably long days and sleepless nights of feverish action, of desperate man-hunts, and of high-pressure sales talks . . . for the rush captain three days of unmitigated torture, compared to which Hell Week is a pink tea . . . remember the sweltering heat of men's rush week and the average life span of clean white collars? . . . each year Men's Panhellenic tries again to make iron-clad rules to keep fraternities from carving each other's jugulars, but the statute which will deter a fraternity from keeping a prize behind the curtain of obscurity or a sorority from gravely warning a rushee that Delta Gamma is only a local and that anyway they're on the brink of a financial abyss—that rule has yet to be conceived.

In the harrowing days of registration following men's rush week, fraternity members were at a distinct disadvantage . . . weakened as they were by the foregoing ordeal, they were utterly defenseless before the pitiless assigners who, quick to perceive their opportunity, pounced on the male Greeks and slapped them willy-nilly into any classes handy . . . for the last time from the gym floor and opposing armies had withdrawn to count their losses, it was found that despite the organization of the assigners with their lieutenants, colonels, and generals, the untrained leaderless masses of students had won and set a new all-time record of 3,616 enrollees.

Do you remember the Y-sponsored watermelon feed for men and the co-ed party in the gym? . . . would you believe that the 600 fellows at the feed ate a ton of watermelons? . . . another gala day during the first week of school, particularly for the participants, was the first day of football practice . . . Wes Fry delivered his initial instructions to the candidates under a boiling hot sun . . .

Close on the cleated heels of this call to arms came a call to a different kind of arms—enchancing, white, embracing arms, arms attached to bare, cool, soft shoulders . . . mmm! . . . at Pan-Hellenic Open House the men gathered at the sorority houses to dance, giving the girls at one house a break for a while, then moving on to the next . . . at ten-thirty the dancers forsook shelter for

Remember the first week of classes? . . . were the freshmen ever busy! . . . they were expected to buy books, attend lectures on “How to Get the Most out of College,” take aptitude tests so that the profs would know how to grade, stand in line for hours to let the college health squad minutely examine their entire periphery, and attend classes.

Exactly fifteen days after the first day of football practice, the Fort Hays Tigers invaded Ahearn Field in search of Wildcat meat . . . they departed a much chastened group of kittens—13 to 0 was the extent of their downfall . . . they weren't the only ones to get soaked, however, for Aquarius ruled the sky that day and drenched both the players and the spectators . . . Slickers, blankets, oil cloths, paper hats, and umbrellas were of little avail against the penetrating drizzle which left undampened only the enthusiasm of State rooters, as the purple and white marched down the field of mud . . .

and good-fellowship? . . . have the upperclassmen ever joined the green freshmen and so unrestrainedly participated in utterly undignified play? . . . Remember the track meet featuring Dartmouth, Yale, Princeton, and Harvard, each with its own cheer leader and rooting section . . . the entire student body must have been on the campus some time during the evening, either on the quadrangle, in the auditorium for the varied entertainment there,

The students were not the only hill denizens to frolic, for scarcely had the profs collected their lab fee cards when they gathered for the first of their periodic social functions . . . Dancing and card playing topped the bill of fare . . .

ally famed psychotherapist, visited the campus and told homesick students that "real love is independent of time and space"—he never had to leave a sweetheart in Podunk to come to college . . .

Do you suppose any event of the 1936-37 school year brought so much acclaim to Kansas State College as the presentation of the radio drama, "The Story of the Fifth Slice"? . . . did you know that this broadcast, which dealt with the story of Kansas wheat, was transmitted to the ether by a network of fifty-three stations? . . . the dramatization necessitated a cast of 22 students, faculty members, and townspeople . . . it was written and directed by Prof. H. torium to stage the most rousing pep meeting of the season . . . following the cheer fest the theaters declared open house for the enthusiastic students . . . was Manhattan ever so bustling, so sparkling with activity? . . . every fraternity and every sorority house was brimming with returning grads—clustered in parlors and draw-

More numerous were those who were graduated within the last five years . . . they swarmed to the old mobilization points, the drugstores and canteens, determined to see everybody and do everything, reminiscing over a coke or a beer, laughing uproariously at the recollection of the pranks they pulled while in school . . . remember the strong competition for the ingenious displays . . . Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Farm House, and Alpha Tau Omega took the loving cups which accompanied first, second and third places . . . nothing occurred to mar the utter perfection of that week-end . . . even the weather was consonant with the holiday spirit, the air crisp and invigorating, the sky an unblemished

Do you remember the class elections? ... every succeeding year the busy bees of ballot and ballyhoo became more numerous and more active... on October 29 Dr. L. M. Birkhead, leader of the Liberal Center of Kansas City, visited the campus and told assembly goers that "Fascism menaces American democracy"... the same day 1,900 students jammed Rec Center to ballot in one of the unrestricted, incorrupt elections on which the American people base the stanchions of democratic government...

WHAT if the collegiate politicians showered the walks, the lawns, and the halls with thousands of handbills which intentionally spattered each other with election mud? . . . these merely served to capture the interest of the students who would have otherwise been indifferent to the contest.

WALTER A. HUXMAN

Board of Regents Is Guiding Power

GOVERNOR Walter A. Huxman, well-known lawyer from Hutchinson, had practiced law in Kansas for 25 years before he was elected last November to become the administrator of the commonwealth of this state. He is a graduate of the University of Kansas, and has served one term as member of the state tax commission.

Three newspaper men, two lawyers, one farmer, one banker, one merchant, and one physician make up the State Board of Regents, the board of control for the five state schools.

The members, appointed by the governor for a four-year term, meet irregularly at least once a month either at Topeka or at one of the five state schools. All policies of the schools and all appointments to the staff of each school are subject to the approval of the Board of Regents, who serve without pay.

C. M. Harger, Abilene, has been chairman of the Board since 1930 and a member since 1925. He is a newspaper man, having edited the Abilene Reflector for 49 years.

Francis David Farrell Is Administrator of College

IN the early part of the eighteenth century, Alexander Pope counseled his readers to "Be not the first by whom the new are tried, nor yet the last to lay the old aside."

A living apostle of that sagacious creed is Dr. Francis David Farrell, president of Kansas State College. Few indeed are the men who combine to such a remarkable degree those qualities which go to make up the educator. In the 11 years he has been administrator of the college, he has at all times exercised a sane judgment, an impressive dignity, an efficient management, and a world of tact.

Francis David Farrell was born in Smithfield, Utah, March 13, 1883. He received a Bachelor of Science degree from the Agricultural College of Utah in 1907 and shortly thereafter became a scientific assistant in cereal investigations carried on by the United States Department of Agriculture at Washington, D. C. The author of numerous bulletins and papers on agricultural and educational subjects, Farrell obtained his Doctor of Agriculture from the University of Nebraska in 1925, the same year he became chief executive of Kansas State College. He is a member of Phi Kappa Phi, Alpha Zeta, Sigma Xi, and a Fellow A.A.A.S.

The work of Kansas State, one of the oldest land grant colleges, as cited by President Farrell, is divided into three parts. Resident instruction is one of the three major activities. The second part is research work, the objective of which is to discover and interpret new truths. These discoveries are the major portion of the basis of resident instruction in technological fields: in agriculture, engineering, home economics, veterinary medicine, and the physical, biological, and social sciences. The third part of the work of the land-grant college is the extension service.

Before the middle of the nineteenth century, the president has pointed out, college education was regarded by most people as having only one motive, that of aiding people to learn how to live. Only a few subjects were taught. Then came industrial development, democracy, intense competition, economic pressure, and specialization. People began to realize the need of economic fitness for earning a livelihood, and also the possibilities of education. A college education became specialized so as to fit people for specialized activities.

C. O. PRICE
Assistant to the President

VICE-PRESIDENT S. A. NOCK

Samuel Albert Nock, Vice-President

PERSONALITY, training, ability, and colorful experiences, combined in one man make the college's vice-president, Dr. Samuel A. Nock, a person able to unite the students and administration of Kansas State College.

Vice-president Nock's ability as a public speaker is rapidly becoming recognized throughout the college, city and state. He can discuss subjects ranging from personal experiences in Europe, through social and economic topics, to book reviewing. For the past year, he has taught Book Reviewing and History of the English Language. Professionally he reviews books for the Kansas City Star and the Saturday Review of Literature.

Doctor Nock is in age and in point of service the youngest member of the administrative staff. He came to Kansas State January 1, 1936, with an academic background obtained at Haverford College and Carleton College in the United States, and at the University of Dorpat in Estonia. He has taught at Virginia Polytechnic Institute, Carleton College, Rice Institute, and was for two years the director of the foreign study department of the University of Delaware at Munich, Germany. At the University of Dorpat and later at the University of Leipzig, he lectured on the American Language and American Literature.

Jessie McDowell Machir, Registrar

ONE member of the administration staff who has the opportunity to become familiar with the name of every student enrolled at Kansas State College is Miss Jessie McDowell Machir, college registrar.

Miss Machir, Kansas State's first and only registrar, came to the college in 1913. Some of her duties, expressed in her own words, are "evaluating credentials for the admission of students, registering them while they are in college, checking for graduation, compiling figures for honors based upon records, and preparing manuscripts."

Not only is Miss Machir invested with the duties of registrar, but her office is headquarters for the Waters Student Loan Fund Committee. She maintains membership in the American Association of Collegiate Registrars and in the Kansas Association of Registrars, of which she is a past officer.

JESSIE MCDOWELL MACHIR

Julius Terrass Willard, Historian

FIFTY-TWO years on the faculty following four years as a student at Kansas State College fully qualifies Dr. J. T. Willard as the individual to write a complete and accurate history of the college. This history will be published by 1938 when Kansas State celebrates the seventy-fifth anniversary of its founding.

Doctor Willard, before his appointment as College Historian, January 1, 1936, had served Kansas State as its Vice-president, as Dean of the Division of General Science, as head of the Department of Chemistry, and as assistant in the Agricultural Experiment Station. Previous to his official appointment as College Historian, Doctor Willard served unofficially in that capacity for many years.

Doctor Willard's historical material, from which he hopes to picture the evolution of Kansas State from a tiny school to a great educational institution, has been collected by him during his 56 years of connection with the college. Short accounts of eras in Kansas State's history have been published from time to time, and these accounts are to be revised and included in the 1938 edition of the history, to be made public by Doctor Willard.

DR. J. T. WILLARD

Mary P. Van Zile, Dean of Women

DEAN Mary P. Van Zile is a name to which her many graduate and undergraduate friends link friendliness and understanding. From her tidy office, she views Kansas State students as they parade daily in Anderson Hall. And her comradeship and devotion to this procession and the college it represents is legendary.

After joining the college staff in 1908, she became the first Dean of the Division of Home Economics. Ten years later she was relieved of her teaching duties to devote her entire time to her position of Dean of Women.

For many years, Mrs. Van Zile has been chairman of the Faculty Council of Student Affairs, a committee which co-operates with the Executive Council of the Student Governing Association in its work in connection with the activities and extra-curricular interests of the students.

Division of General Science

DEAN R. W. BABCOCK

DESPITE a three per cent drop in the enrollment of the Division of General Science, the 1,068 students enlisted in its ranks still outnumber all other divisions. Approximately 200 of the college's faculty members teach under the General Science banner.

Dr. R. W. Babcock came here in 1930 to become Dean of General Science. He was at that time head of the Department of Mathematics at De Pauw University and was formerly a faculty member at the University of Wisconsin.

Prof. C. M. Correll, assistant dean, divides his time between division administration and class instruction. A graduate of this college, Assistant Dean Correll joined the Kansas State faculty in 1922 and has served under his present title since 1927.

ASST. DEAN C. M. CORRELL

By far the most diversified of Kansas State's constituent branches, the General Science Division offers the matriculant a choice of nine curricula. They are General Science, Commerce, Commerce with special training in Accounting, Industrial Journalism, Industrial Chemistry, Music Education, Applied Music, Physical Education for men, and Physical Education for women. The division is subdivided into 18 departments.

Due to the death of Dr. J. E. Kammeyer in 1935 and the overlapping of work, a long contemplated change has combined the two departments of Agricultural Economics and Economics and Sociology into the one Department of Economics and Sociology, under the able leadership of Dr. W. E. Grimes. Dr. L. D. Bushnell heads the Department of Bacteriology, while in the Botany Department Prof. L. E. Melchers holds sway. Dr. H. H. King is the head of the Chemistry Department. Also in the field of science is the Physics Department, of which Prof. J. O. Hamilton has charge.

The Department of Education is under the expert guidance of the staff headed by Dr. E. L. Holton. English courses are taught by many teachers under Prof. H. W. Davis. Prof. George Dean has charge of the department in which students study insect life. Besides this branch, the Entomology Department, members of the Department of Zoology also occupy Fairchild Hall. Dr. R. K. Nabours has charge of this staff.

In Kedzie Hall is found the headquarters of the Department of Industrial Journalism and Printing, under the supervision of Prof. C. E. Rogers. Prof. B. L. Remick heads the staff of ten members of the Mathematics Department; while history and government is expounded to students by Department Head R. R. Price and faculty.

Col. John S. Sullivan heads the corps of regular army officers comprising the staff of the department of Military Science and Tactics.

Instruction in oratory, debate, and dramatics is given by four faculty members headed by Dr. Howard T. Hill. Dr. Fritz Moore heads one of the more cultural departments on the hill, that of Modern Languages.

One of the most publicized departments in the college is the Department of Physical Education. Well-known Prof. "Mike" Ahearn, director of athletics, heads this department. The Music Department is responsible for the college bands, orchestras, and recitals, enjoyed by many each year. Prof. William Lindquist heads the department.

Division of Engineering

DEAN R. A. SEATON

KANSAS State College is playing a vital part in the progress of engineering. Every year graduates leave this college to carve their niches among the great of the profession, and year in and year out the Engineering Division carries on engineering research and experimentation of inestimable value in the promotion of engineering science.

Although the state of Kansas is generally non-industrial it maintains and supports, at Kansas State College, one of the largest engineering schools west of the Mississippi river. That such a school can thrive so significantly is due, therefore, not to its location but to the capability of its faculty members.

Through the leadership and executive abilities of Dean R. A. Seaton and Asst. Dean M. A. Durland, the division maintains its pace in the engineering world. Both men maintain their positions through possession of ability and initiative as well as training. They have fostered a spirit of cooperation among the faculty members and student body that has enabled Kansas State to become one of the leading engineering schools in the United States, both from the standpoint of opportunity and accomplishments.

The prospective engineer at Kansas State has his choice of availing himself of training in Agricultural Engineering, Architectural Engineering, Architecture, Chemical Engineering, Civil Engineering, Electrical Engineering, or Mechanical Engineering. A degree in any one is an accomplishment and distinction recognized the world over.

All the curricula in engineering professions offer opportunity for learning the principles underlying the subject. Theoretical, technical, and practical courses are given in each phase of engineering. Not only are the students prepared to enter active practice in the fields as they exist today but they are instilled with training designed to prepare them for leadership in their professions.

Kansas State not only has the academic facilities for properly preparing the world's engineers but also has the physical equipment for practical training in engineering pursuits. For example, equipment in the Department of Agricultural Engineering alone includes modern farm implements, machinery, and testing apparatus valued at nearly $30,000. The Department of Electrical Engineering is completely equipped even to the extent of maintaining and operating a modern television broadcasting station. The campus power plant is a model of modern electric power production.

Laboratory courses are not limited to technical experiments alone, but cover the actual field of production as well, giving the student a conception of large scale production in his chosen profession.

All the curricula in the Engineering departments are planned to give not only theoretical knowledge of industry, but some familiarity with the industry itself. Inspection trips through some of the major manufacturing plants of the United States are made each year by the seniors of the various departments. These trips are instrumental in providing the student with a conception of the character of modern industry.

Graduates of the Engineering Division are scattered all over the world. Representatives of large manufacturing concerns return year after year to employ graduates from Kansas State.

Division Of Agriculture

DEAN L. E. CALL

THE increased demand for agricultural education, the success of teams competing in agricultural judging, and the modification of the curricula of the division to provide increased opportunities for training in agriculture are noteworthy accomplishments of the Division of Agriculture this year.

At no time has the demand for training in agriculture been as great as at present. This has resulted in the largest enrollment of students in agriculture of any time in the history of the institution. The division enrollment has increased from 294 in September, 1933, to a total of 647 students for the first semester of this school year.

ASST. DEAN HUGH DURHAM

The increased demand for training has taken place in all branches of agriculture. It is especially heavy in agricultural economics, agronomy, and agricultural engineering. There has been also an increased demand for training in the livestock industries, animal husbandry, dairy husbandry, and poultry husbandry, as well as in horticulture. Students studying milling industry have more than doubled during the past three years. This institution is unique in the United States in offering a wellrounded training in three aspects of milling, namely, milling administration, milling chemistry, and milling technology.

Kansas State College has always maintained a high position among the institutions of the country in the standing of its teams in intercollegiate agricultural judging. Eight teams from the college have competed this year in 14 contests. In all of these contests, creditable records were made but the outstanding accomplishment was the winning this year for the second time in the past 15 years of the intercollegiate livestock contest at Chicago in competition with teams from 27 of the best colleges in the United States and Canada.

Progress has been made during the year in improving the curricula of the division to afford opportunities for training in agriculture. The four-year curriculum in agriculture designed primarily to train students who expect to farm or to engage in the production phases of agriculture as well as the curriculum in agricultural administration organized primarily to train students who expect to engage in commercial service to farmers continue to afford the same excellent opportunities for both a cultural and a practical education. A new curriculum to be known as specialized horticulture has been approved by the faculty and will be offered for the first time next year. This curriculum with opportunity for electives in two broad fields will provide increased opportunity for training in both landscape gardening and in floriculture.

Dr. L. E. Call, dean of the division, joined the Kansas State staff in 1907 and was made dean of agriculture and director of the Agricultural Experiment Station in 1925. He has written a number of agricultural publications and has served on the board of directors of the Federal Land Bank of Wichita since 1930. He was president of the bank in 1934.

Assistant Dean Hugh Durham has assisted Dean Call in the detailed student work and has been in charge of the bulletins issued by the station since 1927.

Division of Home Economics

DEAN MARGARET M. JUSTIN

HOME Economics has for its purpose the fostering of a scientific, questioning attitude of mind which enables one to cope intelligently with the problems of modern society. The Division of Home Economics has devoted itself to the provision of a curriculum of study and experience which will develop this and other attitudes that make for rich and significant living. This Division is also interested in preparing its graduates for professional achievement in lines which are socially constructive, intellectually challenging, and which bear on the unique contribution women may make to a civilization.

Dean Margaret Justin guides the Division toward its realization of these goals. Doctor Justin is an outstanding educator in her field and the honors awarded her include being listed in "The American Men of Science" and in "American Women", the "Who's Who" among the women of the nation. One of her able co-workers is Assistant Dean Margaret Ahlborn to whose office come many Division students for help in academic and personal problems.

ASSISTANT DEAN MARGARET

The curricula offered by the Division are constantly changing to meet the growing needs of its students. At present, students may enroll in five different curricula: Home Economics and Art, Home Economics with special training in Dietetics and Institutional Management, Home Economics and Nursing, Home Economics and Journalism, and General Home Economics. This past year an affiliation has been made with the Kansas University Hospitals for the curriculum in Home Economics and Nursing thereby enlarging the professional opportunities for students majoring in this field. The superior training in Dietetics and Institutional Management has been further strengthened by provision for student majors in this field to secure practical experience in institutional management by living one semester at Van Zile Hall, where they direct the various managerial aspects of this cooperative residence hall.

The high standing of the curriculum in General Home Economics is in part due to the excellent instruction offered in Home Management at the two home management houses, in Child Guidance in the spacious, well-equipped nursery schools, and in Home Economics Education, for which classes in the city schools serve as the laboratory. There is an increasing interest in various adaptations of the curriculum in Art, including one that will provide a close correlation between basic training in Design and its application to the field of clothing. The curriculum in Home Economics and Journalism offers an unusual opportunity for the young woman who wants to write and is also interested in the professional aspects of Home Economics and their application to everyday life.

Home Economics lectures bring to the campus important speakers in Home Economics and related fields. This year two outstanding personages were brought to Kansas State: Dr. Fritz Künkel from Berlin, Germany, and Dr. Reginal Westcott-Wieman of Chicago.

In these ways both students and faculty are attempting to build a program of education that will give ever-increasing significance to the 650 undergraduate students and the 46 staff members who comprise the Division of Home Economics.

Division of Veterinary Medicine

DEAN R. R. DYKSTRA

WIDELY recognized in the field of veterinary medicine in the United States is the Division of Veterinary Medicine at Kansas State College, headed by Dean R. R. Dykstra. This school is one of ten in the country granting the degree Doctor of Veterinary Medicine. Dean Dykstra himself is a well-known figure in the veterinarian's world, both through his position and through his contributions to research.

Because there were more matriculants than the facilities of the institution permitted, in the fall of 1935 the State Board of Regents passed regulations reducing the enrollment, so that the enrollment for the fall of 1936 was 272 students. Most of these were Kansans, but 26 states and territories were also represented.

The first curriculum in veterinary medicine was established at Kansas State College in 1905, and the first degrees were conferred in 1907.

The faculty of Kansas State Division of Veterinary Medicine has been derived from America's foremost veterinary colleges and not recruited from its own alumni. A group of 18 veterinarians, together with technicians, clerks, office force, and student assistants comprise the staff.

This year, the veterinary research laboratory buildings were established and equipped. These buildings have many facilities for research work, including gas, high pressure steam sterilizers, coolers, and refrigerators, electric connections and outlets, electric incubator, hot and cold water, vacuum and compressed air as well as the usual physical equipment found in every first class research laboratory. Much experimenting is planned at Kansas State College in the research work regarding animal diseases.

There is a variety of vocations from which graduates in veterinary medicine may select their positions. They may be engaged as small animal practitioners, or as United States veterinary meat inspectors, quarantine officers, tuberculosis and animal disease control and eradication workers, officers in the United States Army, or as general practitioners in rural agricultural communities. They can go into the commercial side of the profession, especially in the manufacture of veterinary serums and vaccines, or become veterinarians for large dairies and other corporations.

The college veterinary buildings were built at a cost of more than $250,000 and are thoroughly equipped. In Veterinary Hall there are modern classrooms and laboratories which have the necessary appliances for illustrating the subjects required.

It takes five years to complete the curriculum in veterinary medicine. However, the first of the five years is known as the preveterinary year to which high school graduates are eligible, only the four professional years being restricted.

During the past year 12,645 animal patients have been treated in the veterinary clinic, including horses, cattle, swine, sheep, poultry, dogs, and cats, as well as some wild and undomesticated animals. The large number of animal patients refutes the argument so frequently heard that since the advent of the automobile and other forms of mechanical motor power, there no longer will be any need for animals for these purposes. The facts of the matter are that the automobile has assisted the veterinarian in greatly extending his territory and permitting him to make many more daily calls than was possible in the horse and buggy days.

Furthermore, horses are but a small portion of the veterinarian's patients and as values of dairy and breeding animals, of swine, and other domestic animals increase and as people demand thoroughly inspected human foods of animal origin, the services of the veterinarians are bound to be more extensively utilized as time passes on.

Division of Graduate Study

FIFTY-THREE years ago all graduate work was put in the charge of a committee, but on November 1, 1931, a Division of Graduate Study was established at Kansas State College. Dr. J. E. Ackert, dean of the division, and representatives of each academic division of the college, make up a Graduate Council which determines the policies and studies the special needs of higher education at the college. The Council helps to prepare programs of study for students striving for a degree Master of Science or degree Doctor of Philosophy. Those serving on the Council are Doctor Ackert, Dr. J. H. Burt, Dean L. E. Call, Prof. L. E. Conrad, Dr. H. H. King, Dr. L. D. Bushnell, and Dr. Martha M. Kramer.

Dean Ackert is nationally known as a parasitologist and has done a great deal of research in the zoological field. He came to Kansas State College in 1913 as an assistant professor of zoology and Agricultural Experimentation Station Parasitologist. In 1921 he was a member of an expedition of the International Health Board to the Island of Trinidad to study the methods of hookworm control. During his sabbatical leave in 1930, he was invited to speak at the World's Poultry Congress in London, England. In August, 1930, he was an official delegate of the American Society of Parasitologists to the Eleventh International Zoology Congress, Padua, Italy. The remainder of his sabbatical leave in 1930-31, Doctor Ackert spent at the University of Cambridge, England, in study and research. He has brought distinction to the college by his researches and publications, some of the more noted of which are the innervation of the integumentary sense organs, the life histories of cestodes and nematodes, the morphology of hookworm, and resistance to parasitism.

This year because of the housing and eating problem for all the students, some of the graduate students started what is known as the Graduate House. Seventeen men lived in the house and about thirty men and women boarded there. The organization of the house consisted of Malcolm Reid, president; Mrs. Alice D. Peterson, housemother; and Olga Saffry, secretary-treasurer.

The more experienced and better trained members of the college staff compose the Graduate Faculty which directs the researches of the advanced students and offers all courses taken for graduate credit.

During the annual Farm and Home Week, an outstanding student from each division of the college is presented. W. Malcolm Reid, research assistant in the department of zoology was chosen this year to represent the Division of Graduate Study.

There are 36 departments in which work leading to the degree Master of Science is offered this year. Major work leading to a degree Doctor of Philosophy is offered in the fields of Bacteriology, Chemistry, Entomology, Genetics, and Milling Industry.

Promoting sociability among the graduate students and faculty is the Graduate Club, an organization composed of the graduate students. Gay times are had during the year at informal picnics and parties. Each year they sponsor an all-college lecture.

The officers of the Graduate Club this year were: Malcolm Reid, president; Homer Kirgis, vice-president; Glenn Beck, secretary; Leonard Elwell, treasurer; Ellen Lindstrom, chairman of the entertainment committee; and Irene Tolliver, chairman of the refreshment committee.

Summer School Session

SUMMER School session at Kansas State College was established in order that the educational facilities of the institution might be available to teachers and students who wish to utilize summer days for advancement in college work. There are two sessions of the Summer School, one beginning after the close of the regular college year and continuing for nine weeks, and the other one continuing for four weeks during the month of July. The short session is designed primarily for teachers of vocational agriculture.

The Summer School was organized at Kansas State in 1911. The chief administrative officer was the Director of the Summer School, a title which in 1918 was changed to Dean of the Summer School. This change gave the Summer School the same ranking as the other divisions of the college, with a seat in the council of deans, and a separate budget for its expenses. Beginning with the summer of 1927, formal commencement exercises have been held at the end of each of the summer sessions. The administration of the college during the sessions of Summer School has been carried on under the direction of Dr. E. L. Holton.

Last year's summer school enrollment totaled 917 students. Among this group were undergraduate students, school teachers working for higher degrees, and recent high school graduates whose aim was to get a "jump" on students starting in the fall. One hundred twenty-five of the students were awarded degrees at the Twelfth Annual Summer School Commencement in Memorial Stadium at the close of the session last July. Dr. F. D. Farrell, president of the college, delivered the commencement address. Bachelor of Science and Master of Science degrees were conferred at the exercises.

Outside college interests and attractions are reduced to a minimum in the interests of allowing the Kansas State College Summer School student to put forth his best creative ability. This is in accordance with the belief that a vacation environment is not highly conducive to excellent college work.

Dean E. L. Holton, head of the Summer School, received his Bachelor of Arts degree from the University of Indiana and began his work at Kansas State College in 1910. After being on the faculty here but three months, he was elevated to his present position as head of the Department of Education. In 1918, he assumed the duties of Dean of the Summer School, and he now also serves as a member of the college athletic council. Doctor Holton received his Ph. D. from Columbia University in 1927.

As head of the Teacher-Placement Bureau at Kansas State College, Dean Holton has been highly instrumental in placing Kansas State graduates in schools through this section of the country. Last year the Bureau assisted 210 former students and graduates to find positions as school teachers, principals, coaches, and school administrators.

In addition to a wide selection of undergraduate courses, many departments of the college offer graduate work during Summer School. Since all laboratories, the College Library, and the facilities of the Experiment Station are made available to students, the Summer School offers excellent opportunity for graduate work.

The divisions of General Science, Agriculture, Engineering, Veterinary Medicine, Home Economics, and Graduate Study all offer courses for both graduate and undergraduate credit. These courses are both from the regular curriculum and elective groups of the divisions.

Division of Extension

DEAN H. UMBERGER

AN "off-campus instructional staff" may most adequately describe the activities of some 253 Extension Service workers of the Division of Extension at Kansas State College. Under the direction of H. J. C. Umberger, Dean of the Division, the personnel is composed of 59 central office specialists and administrative officers stationed at the Kansas State College but working out in the state, and 32 county home demonstration agents, 103 county agricultural agents, and three 4-H Club agents in county residence in 103 organized farm bureau counties. This was the status as of January, 1937.

The entire state is the off-campus classroom for the divisional instruction staff. The students are composed of the rural and urban adults, and the 4-H Club boys and girls. There are more than 73,000 men, women and 4-H Club members officially associated with the off-campus classroom instruction. Their classrooms are bank buildings, courtrooms, rural school buildings, town halls, and farm homes.

As a program of instruction, the division offers agriculture, home economics, and 4-H Club work with the purpose of determining and establishing practices based upon facts which promote a sounder economic agriculture and a more satisfactory home and community life. It suggests the means whereby practical knowledge of boys and girls might be broadened by their experiences on their home farms and through their associations with other groups of similar interests.

Divided into its component parts, the Division offers practical instruction to adults and rural youth in plant pathology, rural engineering, soils management and crop production, horticulture, animal husbandry, dairying, veterinary extension, poultry husbandry, entomology, farm management, marketing, farm forestry, foods and nutrition, millinery, clothing, home health and sanitation, home management, and 4-H Club work. It offers through its home-study service an opportunity for non-resident students of the state to take credit correspondence courses toward a higher degree in which there were 948 enrollments during the past fiscal year. It maintains its own Extension publicity and information service, comprised of press, publications, and radio services.

As Director of the Kansas Extension Service, H. Umberger finds his activities and responsibilities most varied. Since May, 1933, when the National Agricultural Adjustment Act became effective, he has been the state director of the A.A.A. He is associated with numerous state and national organizations, whose objectives are fashioned for the improvement of farm and home conditions in Kansas and throughout the nation.

The director has always been an enthusiastic supporter of the use of radio in adult and youth education. Since 1926, he has been a member of the Special Committee on Radio of the Association of Land Grant Colleges and Universities, and chairman of that committee since 1928. He is also vice-chairman of the National Committee on Education by Radio.

Since 1915, one of the active supporters of adult and rural youth education has been L. C. Williams, assistant director of the Extension Service. He also has a variety of activities including supervisor of the annual Farm and Home Week program, and vice-president of the Board of Directors of the College.

A. A. Holtz, Advisor To Men And Job Agent

DR. A. A. HOLTZ

AS Advisor to Men, Dr. A. A. Holtz renders advice to college students with problems needing the counsel and encouragement of a wider experience than they themselves possess. Many students have found employment through the efforts of Doctor Holtz and his highly efficient employment bureau.

Also centered in Dr. Holtz's office is a rooming house bureau of inestimable value to many students, especially incoming freshmen. In connection with this bureau, the college health department took over the inspection and approval of rooming houses wherein college students may reside and laid down a sanitation code to be followed at approved student quarters. Because of the increased enrollment at the college many more rooming houses are being utilized by students, necessitating more expansive action of health authorities.

Aside from the above positions, Doctor Holtz is executive secretary of the college Y. M. C. A., a freshman football coach, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Manhattan, and a professor of Economics and Sociology.

Kenney L. Ford, Alumni Secretary, Middleman

KENNEY L. FORD

KANSAS State's new alumni, the class of 1937, will find the college Alumni Association beginning where their college days ended, and to maintain this link, the Alumni Office has a file containing newspaper items, letters, and other clippings concerning over 9000 graduates.

The Alumni Association, under the efficient direction of Kenney L. Ford, Alumni Secretary, is active in all enterprises tending to build a greater Kansas State College. Mr. Ford and his associates, through personal contact, newspaper columns, class reunions, and alumni meetings, maintain the glow of college spirit in graduates of other days.

That the efforts of the association are worthwhile is shown in responses of alumni who are influential in sending students to Kansas State College, who are active in alumni clubs, or who present gifts to the college.

Organization of an Advisory Council program is one of the outstanding accomplishments of the association this year. The council appoints alumni in each county of Kansas to present college needs to Kansas people.

College News Bureau

WHETHER it's athletics or research, prize winning beef cattle or co-ed beauty queens, the News Bureau and the State Sports service in the department of journalism see that all interesting, significant, and timely news is reported by Kansas newspapers and metropolitan dailies and magazines throughout the country.

For the nine months' period ending December 31, 1936, this department placed 58,636 column inches of news stories, news pictures, news mats, sports mats, and features in daily newspapers. The total would fill 23 issues of a 16-page newspaper.

Campus news is typed for metropolitan newspapers, and stories rewritten for a mimeograph service which goes each week to every daily in the state and to syndicate and special writers, publicity men, and magazines. Each year 2,000 mats and engravings are prepared and mailed, which tell of developments in sports, judging, public speaking, pulchritude contests, elections, honoraries, and many similar campus activities.

Apportionment Board

TO allot the approximately $50,000 of student activity fees to various college activities was the task of the College Apportionment Board this year. Two years ago the student body voted to change the constitution of the Student Governing Association to allow for an activity fee charge of $7.50 each semester. The payment of this fee includes membership in the S.G.A., admission to certain student activities, and a subscription to the Kansas State Collegian and the Royal Purple.

A total of $23,700 was devoted to athletics this year and other apportionments included the Royal Purple, the band and orchestra, agricultural judging teams, debate, oratory, music, Manhattan Theatre, publicity, and the Student Governing Association.

Each department applies to the board for money by a budget showing exact expenditures for the preceding year and estimates for the present year. The money is then divided on the basis of estimate.

The Student Council appoints two student members on this board and the president of the college appoints two faculty members and a student member, the latter acting as chairman.

Student Council Works For New Science Hall

INITIATION of student agitation for a physical science building to replace Denison hall was perhaps the most important action of the Student Governing Association Council this school year. When, through press comment, it was realized that the governor and legislators at Topeka were not fully aware of the dire need of adequate chemistry and physics facilities, the council organized a student lobby. Conferences with the senate ways and means committee and the governor were held and influential senators and representatives were contacted personally. All were impressed with the earnestness of the students' plea and saw in a different light the need for the project. The following week another conference was held with the governor and certain legislators to follow-up the first week's lobby.

Disciplinary action on delinquent students is an important function of the Student Council, which has merited the respect of those involved and at the same time relieved the college administration proper of investigative work. Dismissal, probation, suspension, or expulsion of cases may be recommended by the council to the Faculty Council on Student Affairs who, if they concur in the recommendation, forward the case to the president of the college for execution of the action.

FRANK GROVES, PRESIDENT

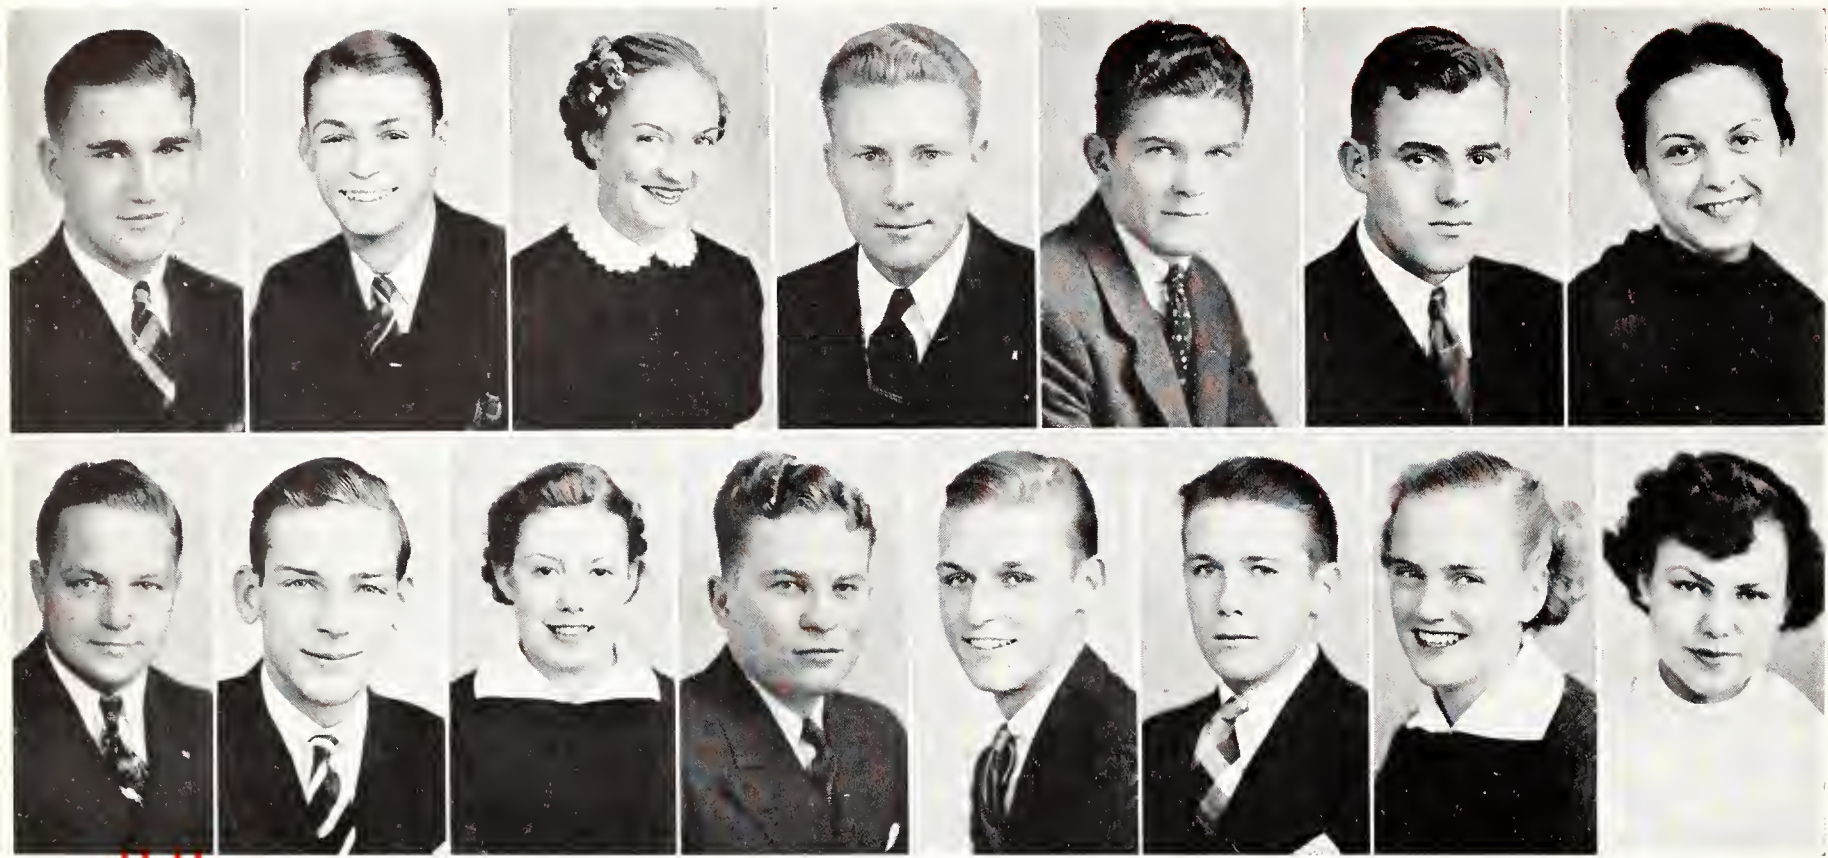

The supervising of student elections, the publishing of the student directory, the providing of varsity dances, the approving of college social activities, the sponsoring of the all-college mixer in September, the selecting of the cheer leaders, and the approving of student activity fee fund disbursements are other varied activities of the Council.

BOOK TWO

Organization

Swingsters—when school organizations go "social", it is generally Matt Betton and his orchestra who furnish the rhythm

Soldiers—Scabbard and Blade neophytes display their knowledge of parade formations before dancers at the varsity

Pepsters—to become a full-fledged "yeller", Wampus Cat initiates must live through a topsy-turvy night of hardships

Initiations—novel ideas fill the caniums of organization members as to the costumes and actions of initiates

To wear the key of an honorary organization on the college campus is the chief aim of many students, because membership in such a society denotes recognition of collegiate achievements.

Fifty-Eight Seniors Are Elected to Phi Kappa Phi

FIFTY-EIGHT seniors of Kansas State College were elected to this year's membership in Phi Kappa Phi, national honorary scholastic organization. The Society was founded at the University of Maine in 1897 and the local chapter was established in 1915.

To be eligible for election, a student must rank in the upper ten per cent of the senior class. Persons elected in the fall must have completed three years of work and be in the upper five per cent of the class.

ALPHA Zeta, national honorary agricultural fraternity, was founded in 1897 at Ohio State University. The Kansas chapter was established in 1909, and since that time it has had over 400 members. More than 60 Alpha Zeta members are now on the college faculty.

Any student of agriculture who has completed at least three semesters of his college course, who stands in the upper two-fifths of his class in scholarship, and who exhibits a high degree of leadership, personality, and character, is eligible for membership. Election of new members is held once a semester.

Meetings promoting the interests of agriculture are held twice each month. Additional activities include a stag banquet each fall, a smoker and a dinner-dance each spring, the promoting of high scholarship among Ag freshmen by awarding a gold medal to the one making the highest scholastic average, and the publication of an annual newsletter.

Officers this year were Horton Laude, chancellor; Clare Porter, censor; Earl Parsons, scribe; Robert Latta, treasurer; Wilton Thomas, chronicler; and Fred Fair, historian.

SIGMA Tau is the only national honorary engineering fraternity on the campus. Its membership is about sixty students, and a number of the engineering faculty are alumni or honorary members.

In addition to building scholarship, Sigma Tau undertakes one or two projects on the campus each year. Last year a monumental pyramid was constructed at the southwest corner of Engineering Hall, and this year, Sigma Tau, with the aid of the freshmen engineers, cleaned and repaired the letters on K Hill.

Officers this year were Max Lyon, president; John Noble, vice-president; John Bateman, recording secretary; Hobart Mariner, treasurer; and Perry Wendell, corresponding secretary. Prof. L. V. White is the faculty advisor.

OF great service to the Engineering Division this year and in past years has been the organization of Steel Ring, whose membership is based upon leadership and scholarship. The membership, headed by Harold Engleman, was limited to students with at least "C" averages. L. M. Jorgenson and E. L. Barger were faculty advisors.

During 1936-37, Steel Ring advanced constructive plans for making the Open House the biggest success it has ever been and provided a cup for the department presenting the most interesting display. This cup will be passed on to the winning departments the following years. Doubtlessly, it will become an important incentive for better displays at Open House.

Omicron Nu Stresses Home Ec Scholarship

Marjorie McCall, Mary Lee Shannon, Clara King, Eleanor Dales, Helen Virginia Hall

SECOND ROW:
Corinne Solt, Geraldine Cook, Cornie King, Blanche Nattier

Pauline Sherwood, Grace Gustafson, Margaret Lewis

TO promote scholarship, leadership and research is the purpose of Omicron Nu, national honorary society of home economics, represented on this campus since 1915. Membership is based on scholarship, with only seniors or second semester juniors eligible.

A tea is given for alumnae on Homecoming morning, and during Hospitality Week, Omicron Nu has charge of guides and tours over the campus. Inexpensive class tutoring services are offered freshmen and sophomore girls. Omicron Nu also sponsors a lending library and art collection.

Adah Lou Eier, Bernice Ruddick, Miss Myra Scott, Annette Alsop, Garnet Shehi, Willabeth Harris

RANKING first in scholarship among all organizations on the campus is the distinction of Phi Alpha Mu, honorary fraternity for women in the Division of General Science. Last year's scholarship percentage was 94.98. Membership in the organization is restricted to junior and senior women.

Phi Alpha Mu gives a tea for all freshmen and sophomore women in the division each fall, and awards annually the junior woman with highest division scholastic ranking at the end of her sophomore year. Officers this year were Elsie Prickett, president; Ella Gertrude Johnstone, vice-president; and Garnet Shehi, secretary-treasurer. Miss Stella Harriss of the chemistry department is sponsor of the organization.

INITIATIVE and leadership in college enterprises and high scholarship are the essentials for initiation into the Society of Dynamis, founded March 4, 1930.

Dynamis attempts to encourage friendly relations between faculty and students, and faculty-student forums are held occasionally during the year for the discussion of faculty-student problems.

The organization of an active program for the observance of the college's Diamond Jubilee anniversary in 1938 is rapidly being carried forward by Dynamis.

Clarence Bell was president of Dynamis for the first semester and Joseph H. Skinner was the second semester president. Prof. E. R. Lyon is the sponsor.

MU Phi Epsilon, founded at the Metropolitan College of Music in Cincinnati, Ohio, in 1903, is a national honorary music sorority for the advancement of scholarship, fellowship, and recognition of women composers.

Mu chapter of Mu Phi Epsilon was installed on this campus in 1922. It was headed this year by Ella Gertrude Johnstone, senior in music education, under whose capable leadership the organization advanced rapidly. At the beginning of the year all freshmen women in music were welcomed at a tea given at the home of Prof. and Mrs. H. W. Davis.

Clarice Painter, an instructor of piano, holds the prominent office of president of the West Central Province.

ONE of the newer honorary organizations to be established here is the local chapter of Pi Mu Epsilon, installed May 24, 1935, to encourage mathematical development and scholarship among Kansas State's mathematically inclined students.

The local chapter sponsors the Kansas State Mathematics Club. From this club members with high scholastic achievements are selected for membership in Pi Mu Epsilon. The fraternity is composed of faculty members, graduate and undergraduate students.

Prof. C. F. Lewis is director of the local chapter. Loren Grubb was vice-director, Sigrod Sjogren, secretary, and Betty Able, treasurer, this year. Business meetings are held monthly. The last meeting in the spring of each school year is a dinner for newly initiated members.

PHI Lambda Upsilon, honorary chemistry society, lists mainly faculty members in its membership. Only students who have shown promise of professional attainments or have proven themselves leaders are elected.

A scholarship plaque and two handbooks are awarded students by the society for scholastic achievements. Monthly meetings are held and an annual fall event is the get-acquainted banquet, which the organization stages for freshman chemistry majors.

Dr. G. N. Reed was president of the society during the 1936-37 school year, James Foster, vice-president; Kenneth Bottenberg, secretary; and Dr. H. N. Barham, faculty sponsor.

BLUE Key, national honor society for senior men, made two distinct contributions to the college this year. One was presentation of a Homecoming queen, elected by popular vote at a Blue Key Varsity, at the half of the Homecoming football game. The second was active agitation for a new physical science building. Each member contacted an influential group of legislators during the Christmas holidays.

Bi-monthly meetings were held. Officers this year were George Eicholtz, president; Robert Dill, vice-president; Tom Potter, secretary; and George Hart, treasurer. R. R. Lashbrook is faculty advisor.

National Pi Kappa Delta has asked that they be permitted to sponsor these assemblies. The first National Student Legislative Assembly will be held in the spring of 1938 in Topeka. Representatives from each state will be invited.

Pi Kappa Delta officers this year were Edward DeClerk, president; Frank Hund, vice-president; Frank Blaesi, secretary; and Robert Jaccard, treasurer. The chapter is sponsored by Dr. and Mrs. H. B. Summers.

Prix Members Announced At Mortar Board Dinner

AFTER having been secretly initiated in the spring, the members of Prix, local junior women's honorary organization, are announced to the campus at the annual Mortar Board Hallowe'en dinner. The little gold gavel these Prix members wear means that they have been "chosen for exceptional dependability, initiative, quality of character, and an acceptable scholastic standing."

When the organization was founded in 1916, its purpose was, as it is now, to promote fellowship, leadership, and character growth in an attempt to give a more rounded educational life. Each year's group tries to contribute to the fulfillment of this purpose in some specific way before the ending of their junior year makes them alumnae of Prix. The organization has established the custom of adding each year an autobiography of some great woman to the browsing section of the college library.

Officers this year were Louise Ross, president; Alice Sloop, vice-president; Dorothy Jane Bell, secretary-treasurer; and Abby Marlatt, marshal.

Mortar Board Selects Prominent Senior Women

FOUNDED in 1918 by Cornell, Swarthmore, Ohio State, and the University of Michigan, Mortar Board is a national organization to recognize scholarship, leadership, and service among senior women. In 1928 the forty-first charter was granted to Kansas State's local senior honorary, Zix.

This year's members continued a project of the investigation of living, working, and social conditions of the women at Kansas State. This was begun by last year's group in an effort to stimulate interest in improving the conditions of local college women. A custom of the local chapter is the annual Hallowe'en dinner at which the freshman woman having the highest scholarship is recognized, and Prix members are announced.

This year's members, chosen in the spring of their junior year, were Frances Aicher, president; Marian Norby, vice-president; Corinne Solt, secretary; Ellen

THE Collegiate 4-H Club, organized in 1927, has an active membership of 347 students. The organization is composed of college men and women who were former 4-H Club members. It is the purpose of the club to foster the best interests of Kansas State College and to promote a wider acquaintance, to assist in club work and develop leaders in this field, to aid in various campus activities, to interest other 4-H members to come to Kansas State College, and in general to aid and promote the well being of these former 4-H members at this college.

Each month the organization has two business meetings and one social function. Every week a one-hour radio program is broadcast over radio station KSAC for the benefit of rural boys and girls. The organization publishes the annual 4-H yearbook, and through this enterprise has made possible a $1500 loan fund available to needy students attending college. The club also assists with the annual 4-H Round-up in the summer.

This year the organization will bring the American Country Life Association meeting to the Kansas State College campus. The conference will be held in October, 1937, with an attendance of more than 1000 visitors, both adult and junior, expected.

MEMBERSHIP of the Kansas chapter of Block and Bridle is composed of students interested in animal husbandry and members of the faculty of the Department of Animal Husbandry. The club had a total membership of 51 for the year.

The local organization, originally called the "Saddle and Sirloin Club," was granted a charter by the National Block and Bridle Club in 1916. The organization holds regular meetings the second and fourth Tuesdays of every month. Topics of interest and importance to the livestock industry are discussed by prominent animal husbandmen at these meetings.

The activities of the club include a steak fry each fall to which all new students are invited; sponsoring the animal husbandry division of the Little American Royal fitting and showing contest; each spring, sponsoring a livestock judging contest for the college agricultural students; presenting a medal to the student ranking highest in the animal husbandry division of the vocational agricultural judging contest each spring; assisting in conducting the Feeders' Day program and the Meat Dealers' short course each year; and assembling a gallery of portraits of animal husbandmen who have been prominent in the livestock history of Kansas.

THE Agricultural Economics Club of Kansas State College was organized in 1921. Membership is composed of students majoring in agricultural economics or enrolled in the curriculum of agricultural administration and faculty members of the agricultural section of the Department of Economics and Sociology. The club enjoys a large and active membership.

The purpose of the club is to bring the students and faculty closer together and further the social and professional interests of its members. The motto is: "The door to success is labeled 'Push'." This year a key emblem was adopted.

Regular meetings of the club are held on the second and fourth Tuesdays of each month. At these meetings current agricultural problems are discussed. Social functions of the club include a get-acquainted smoker in the fall, an all-departmental party at the home of one of the faculty members in the spring, and a steak fry in May.

Officers for the year were: Wilton Thomas, president; Oren Reusser, vice-president; Louis Brooks, secretary; Carl Warner, treasurer; Harold Borgelt, corresponding secretary; and Eugene Harris, program chairman.

ALTHOUGH planned several years ago, it was not until the spring of 1936 that Alpha Mu, honorary milling fraternity, was formally organized and started its active work. Election to its membership is dependent primarily upon scholastic record and is limited to upperclassmen. All candidates must be vitally interested in flour milling as a life work.

The fraternity strives to further knowledge in the milling industry, to raise the scholastic standing of all milling students, and to promote a closer cooperation between the alumni in the industry and those students still in school.

Officers this year were: Harold Lindahl, president; Fred Zutavern, vice-president; and Robert Anderson, secretary-treasurer. Prof. R. J. Clark is the faculty advisor.

ALTHOUGH the Kansas State Eta chapter of Kappa Eta Kappa, installed in the spring of 1936, now limits its membership to electrical engineering students, it is planning to extend its membership throughout the engineering division.

The society's objectives are fellowship and good scholarship among electrical engineering students. It has also taken an active part in open house activities as well as in the various "all school" events like homecoming and St. Pat's day. Prof. R. M. Kerchner is faculty advisor for the chapter and H. H. Harris was president this year. Faculty members are Prof. L. M. Jorgenson and Prof. R. G. Kloeffler.

THE Engineering Council at Kansas State might well be called a student "board of directors" for the Engineering Division. This administrative body considers all proposals submitted to the entire division, and pro-rates to the various engineering departments the seminar fees collected each year.

The Council is composed of the executive officers elected at large from the division and members chosen within special groups. The president this year was Gordon Steele; vice-president, John Noble; secretary, Hobart Mariner; and treasurer, Bob Dill. Representatives were Charles Tillotson, John Irwin, Harold Harris, H. Henry Rothganger, Charles Thompson, Perry Wendell, Max Lyon, Harold Engleman, Marvin Shafer, and Paul Fanning.

SUPERVISION of the plans for the engineers' gala week-end, that of the annual Open House, is each year placed in the hands of a committee composed of representatives of each department in the Division of Engineering. More than 6,000 people from all parts of the state usually attend Open House, held this year on March 12 and 13. Plans for such an important event must be carefully laid and therefore, through the efforts of the committee, Open House has grown and become more impressive each year. Open House activities include the St. Pat's prom on Saturday night. Officers of the committee this year were Dean M. A. Durland, faculty advisor; Paul Fanning, manager; and Clayton Matney, secretary.

ONE of the connecting links between the student electrical engineer and the engineers in the practicing fields is the student branch of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers.

The national organization promotes the formation of student branches and gives student membership to it at a reduced rate. With this membership a subscription to the national magazine is given.

Through work in the student branch activities, the student learns the proper way to conduct meetings, how to write and present technical papers, and to prepare himself to take his place in the active field of electrical engineering. Meetings are held on Thursdays during the regular seminar period.

DEVELOPMENT and promotion of interest in agricultural engineering is the purpose of the American Society of Agricultural Engineers, which was established at Kansas State College 15 years ago. The national association was founded at the University of Wisconsin in 1907. At present, five faculty members and about 45 student agricultural engineers make up the group which meets once a week for a seminar at which prominent speakers are often scheduled.

There is in the Division of Engineering a curriculum open to the Agricultural students and it is from this curriculum that the American Society of Agricultural Engineers gets its membership. The society's president for the first semester was Hy Rothganger, and Charles Kent was the second semester president.

ONE of the largest and most active engineering organizations on the Kansas State College campus is the student chapter of the American Institute of Chemical Engineers. The organization on this campus is a junior chapter but its members are eligible, with proper recommendations, for membership in the senior society. Membership in the local branch is open to all students in chemical engineering.

Meetings are held once each month, with topics of vital interest to chemists and chemical engineers discussed. Some of the foremost men in the field of chemical science are presented at these meetings.

Charles Tillotson was president of the chapter this year. Dr. W. L. Faith is faculty advisor.

ONE of the youngest organizations on the Kansas State campus, the Glider Club, has enjoyed unusual popularity since its origin in 1931. The charter members were students and faculty members of the engineering division who were interested in motorless flying. Their first glider was a hand-made craft, flown with varying degrees of success. During the past year a new glider was purchased, and the old model is now used for ground training.

The president of the Glider Club this year was Louis Gasche, a licensed pilot who supplied flying instruction to inexperienced members. Regular meetings were held each Tuesday, during which glider piloting and aeronautical fundamentals were studied.

The fraternity furthers the individual welfare of its members. Membership is composed of outstanding students in the commerce curriculum.

Alpha Kappa Psi offers a scholarship medallion annually to the student who makes the highest scholastic record among all junior men enrolled in the curriculum in commerce. The Diary, Alpha Kappa Psi publication, is issued every three months.

PHI Epsilon Kappa, national professional fraternity, was established here April 5, 1930, for students having physical education as their major study. With scholarship as the basis for membership, the organization attempts to make itself a constructive factor in the activities of its members.

Not being content with only closed discussions, however, the fraternity sponsors several lectures on professional topics by speakers outside the organization and co-operates in joint social functions with women majors in physical education.

Officers this year were John Hanson, president; Allen Burns, vice-president; Leo Ayers, secretary; and Vincent Peters, treasurer. Prof. L. P. Washburn is the faculty advisor.

WITH domination of campus politics as its chief function, Scarab exists as a senior men's honorary society. The "honorary" is applied in that members are exclusive as to who is initiated and limit membership to seniors and not more than two from any one fraternity.

Scarab meets at some fraternity house every two weeks. Unusual success in politics was credited Scarab when they put up their own 16 candidates for class offices in the school election this fall and proceeded to pull enough votes to put three-fourths of their nominees in office. Officers this year were Frank Jordan, president; Ivan Wassberg, vice-president; Ben Butler, secretary; and Jack McClung, treasurer.

THE Kansas State College chapter of the student branch of the American Veterinary Medical Association was founded in 1906. The organization sponsors training along veterinary lines and provides the cultural elements of literary and social activities. Its purpose is the preparation of the "vet" for the life he is to lead after he is graduated from college.

Meetings of this society, to which virtually every student in the division belongs, are held twice monthly. Eminent members of the veterinary medical profession are secured to address these meetings, to describe the hardships and compensations, and characteristic experiences of the life and work of a practicing veterinarian.

Every student in the Division of Veterinary Medicine is eligible to membership in the association. Applicants must be approved by a 90 per cent vote of the members present at a meeting. BY giving training in parliamentary procedure, forensic, music, and art, the Hamilton Literary Society carries out activities to "broaden" its members. Meetings of the society are held each Saturday night with exception of special occasions. Students plan the programs, with the idea of student development in mind. Occasional interspersions of outside speakers and faculty sponsors are used on the program.

Hikes, dances, picnics and parties are sponsored by the society. Many of the social functions are sponsored jointly with its sister society, the Ionians.

The Recorder, the society newspaper, is issued for each meeting. Officers of the society are allowed to hold the same office but one semester, giving training to more students.

IONIAN, literary organization for Kansas State College women, has for its purpose the mutual improvement and cultivation of literary art, forensics, and music. Student members are encouraged to join for practice in the use of language, for training in debate, and for general experience in conducting meetings.

This year the society celebrated its fiftieth anniversary. Each member helps edit the society paper and takes part in meeting programs.

Officers this year were Marian Norby, president; Bernice Ruddick, vice-president; Edith McCaslin, recording secretary; Eunice Belt, corresponding secretary; and Mary Jorgenson, treasurer.

SEVEN members from each of the nine sororities compose Enchiladas, a social dancing organization whose purpose is to promote good will among the sororities on the Kansas State College campus. Two formal parties, one just before Thanksgiving and the other just before Easter, are given each year by the organization.

The initiation, which comes in the fall, always includes egg fights and long underwear. Meetings are held occasionally throughout the year.

This year's officers were Gertrude Tobias, president; and Marjorie Holman, Winifred Whipple, and Ann Wright, vice-president, secretary, and treasurer, respectively. Miss Florence James is the faculty advisor.

NEWMAN Club, an organization for all the Catholic students on the campus, was affiliated last year with the Kansas State Sodality Union under the direction of the Rev. E. J. Weisenberg of St. Marys.

In keeping with the Sodality program, the theme of the regular monthly meetings which are conducted as open-forum discussions was "The Rallying Part of Catholic Action". This year the club, with a membership of over 200, sponsored several lectures by outstanding speakers.

Newman Club sponsors a student advisor's office and reading room on the campus where students can go for private interviews or read current Catholic literature. It also entertains with social functions throughout the year.

Four Organizations Form Christian Church Group

Officers of the Christian Church Student Group:

parties, and picnics. Two large student dinners are given each year, one at Christmas time and the other in the spring. To further the cause of religious education, there are two church classes for the college group. Philothea, the women's class, is taught by Mrs. Holtz; the Baraca class of men, by Dr. Holtz.

WESLEY Foundation is the organized group of Methodist students for the development and conduct of their religious program. It is composed of the college department of the church school with six classes and about 235 attendance; Wesley League with its Sunday night programs; Kappa Phi, girls' organization; and Methodist Men's Club. More than 300 students are affected by these activities.

Services and expressional opportunities are offered in deputation teams sent to near-by towns to give programs, a verse-speaking choir, an a capella choir, orchestra, fellowship cafeterias, the Wesley Foundation athletic club entering in the college intramurals, an Open House program each Sunday afternoon, and weekly "Saturday Niter" fun fests at Wesley Hall.

ACTIVE among Kansas State Methodist students during the last five years has been the Methodist Young Men's Club. The meetings, which are held twice each month, are informational and religious in character, including during the semester a variety of special programs with speeches, debates, and panel discussions. A definite social and athletic program is a part of its activity. Because this group is particularly interested in athletics, it has organized a team which is separate from the Wesley Foundation athletic club and takes part in college intramurals.

Officers this year were: Fred Wainner, president; William Danford, vice-president; Ray Hopkins, secretary; and Robert Rion, treasurer.

● M. F. "MIKE" AHEARN
Wildcat Athletic Director

"Mike" at Helm as State Adds a Chapter to Athletic History

AS another chapter in the book of Kansas State athletic competition draws rapidly to a close, we find at the helm that ever-faithful, energetic, congenial Irishman—Mike Ahearn. A glance at the chapter that is about to be filed away shows that this has been but a mediocre year for Kansas State—the smallest school in the conference. But in answer to that mediocrity, Mike will tell you this:

"To Wildcat athletes have come honor and fame during the year. Some of them have been selected on all-Big Six teams. Others have broken records and some have represented their school in top-notch competition. In all branches of sport which the school supports, they have won the respect and admiration of their competitors and coaches."

Since becoming athletic director in 1920, Mike has made the school athletic conscious, and has helped Kansas State teams gain a national reputation. In doing so, he managed to gain a few random honors himself. This year finds Mike president of the conference Athletic Director's Association. And gossip has it that Mike is also slated to replace Coach Dana X. Bible as Big Six representative on the National Football Rules Committee.

R. I. Throckmorton.

WORKING along beside the Wildcat's Patron Saint in the control over all phases of athletics is that all-powerful group popularly known as the athletic council. Mike and six other members of the college faculty make up this board which considers all matters of major importance in the sports department.

Promoting schedules is one of the few jobs of the council. For instance, they have arranged for the Wildcat footballers to travel east to play their season opener against Boston College next fall. Likewise, they induced Marquette University to bring her football team to Manhattan for the first time. The Hill-toppers will encounter the K-Staters in the annual Parent's Day tilt.

Frank Myers, known to his friends as "Woolsey," is the "yes" man down at the athletic department. When Mike asks to have a letter written, when Wes asks for this or when Ward asks for that—Frank says yes to all, without batting an eye.

Cheerleaders Open Noise Valves

The five Wildcat cheerleaders headed by Bob Jaccard saw to it that the noise valves of the K-State fans were opened at the proper times during football games and that plenty of pep poured from their pipes.

All State lettermen are eligible for "K" club membership. During registration, these varsity men sell dinky caps to the frosh—this activity provides for their main source of revenue during the year. The club has an annual party each spring at which a "K" queen chosen by the members is announced.

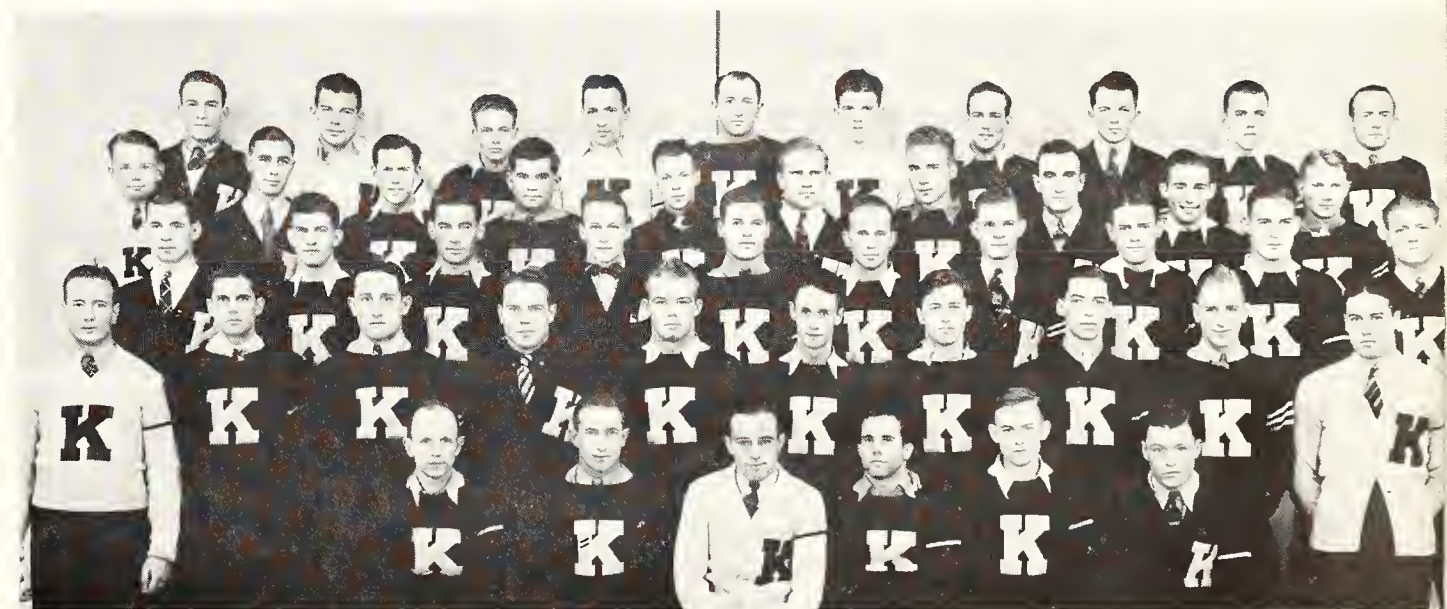

"Climb tho the competition be rugged," might be a good adage to tack on the 1936-37 Wildcat athletic teams. Although the competition was for the most part tougher than a year ago, nearly all State teams climbed up the conference ladder. K-State's relay teams deserve much credit for the good showing of the outdoor track team last spring. Wildcat baseball men, however, seemed unable to get going and tied Missouri at the bottom of the standings. Although still in the middle of the page of Big Six ratings, the football team boosted itself a notch. The two-milers regained the crown lost last year, winning the championship in a thrilling battle with the Missouri harriers. The basketball quintet showed occasional spurts of brilliance and held down fourth place in the final checkup. Indoor trackmen and tankmen won the same team rankings as last year; while the wrestlers stepped up a rung to annex second in the conference meet.

Wampus Cats Strive For Students Pep At Contests

K-STATERS wearing white sweaters, black trousers, and purple sash tied neatly around their waist are members of Pi Epsilon Pi, national pep organization for men—better known on this campus as the "Wampus Cats."

With their objective the obtaining of the student body's full support for Kansas State teams, Pi Epsilon

Pi puts on stunts at pep rallies. The entire club went to Lincoln for the Nebraska football game this year. Probably their outstanding stunt during the year was a memorial service presented at a pep meeting for Touchdown II, mascot wildcat who died last summer. # State Climbs In Conference Standings

"NO one will kick the Wildcats around next fall and if everything works out right and we get a few breaks, we may do a little kicking ourselves," remarked Coach Wes Fry as the athletes checked in equipment at the close of spring practice last year. Following a year during which Old Man Injury continually stalked his heels, Coach Fry had refused to become a pessimist. In his second year as skipper of football, Wes had a group of 13 seniors around which to form the nucleus of his squad—13 seniors, most of whom had been playing varsity ball for three years. Assisting him were Stan Williamson, former All-American from Southern California, Owen "Chili" Cochrane, and Ward Haylett.

Season In Retrospect

After avenging a year-old defeat at the hands of Fort Hays, the Wildcats journeyed into Oklahoma and trounced Oklahoma A. and M. A band of burly Missourians then battled State to a 7 to 7 tie in the first conference game of the season. A fourth quarter spurt enabled Marquette to hand K-State her first defeat. With customary Homecoming hilarity, the Wildcats plucked the Jayhawks' feathers and sent them home with a 26-6 lacing. A last minute field goal gave the Golden Hurricanes from Tulsa a 10 to 7 victory over the State footballers. A perfect play in which Elder ran 74 yards to score was nullified late in the fourth quarter by the Oklahoma Sooners who blocked a Wildcat punt and converted it into a touchdown. When the Iowa State Cyclones blew into town, State held a track meet at their expense, outrunning the Iowans 47 to 7. As a grand finale, the Wildcats hit Nebraska on the rebound—the result: State got punched on the nose to the tune of 40 to 0.

At the annual football banquet, Rolla Holland, three-letter guard, was announced as honorary captain for the season. The honor was conferred on him by the vote of his teammates. In the annual East-West New Year's Day classic, "Red" Elder played 18 minutes alternately at

State Gains 13-0 Revenge from Fort Hays by a Pass and a Run

A scrappy band of Wildcats gave it to the Hay's Tigers on the chin with two long hooks, one a pass, the other a run. Avenging the surprise defeat of last year when Hays won by the margin of a field goal, State settled the issue early by rolling up 13 points in the opening quarter. The first touchdown came as a result of a beautifully executed pass from Howard Cleveland to Barney Hays, who was camped alone just over the line. Cleveland, supported by good blocking, dashed 25 yards off tackle for a second tally after the ball had been lugged within scoring distance by line thrusts. The somewhat water-logged field gave the heavier Fort Hays line a defensive advantage, but the more elusive State backfield resorted to end runs and passes for its offensive bids. A continuous rain caused discomfort to the spectators and prevented both teams from showing their best brand of football; but everyone took it good naturedly, as the new super-six model of the Wildcat football machine showed itself up well. Practically every Kansas State player in uniform saw game service.

Wildcats Crush Cowboys to Ruin Day of Celebration at Stillwater

IT was to have been a big day for Oklahoma A. and M., when K-State came into town. The first home appearance of their new coaching staff, the dedication of their remodelled stadium, and their natural hatred for Big Six teams made the game a "natural". But—exhibiting a versatile offense as well as an impregnable goal line defense, scoring in every quarter on sweeping end runs, line plunges, and touchdown passes, State steamrolled over the Cowboys, 31 to 0. Leo Ayers opened the parade when he skirted his own right end behind perfect blocking lead by "Tony" Krueger to score after a 34 yard gallop. Flashing to an 18 to 0 lead in the middle of the second period, Coach Fry started shooting in his subs, using all but two of the 35 men who made the trip.

final quarter to score against Coach Don Faurot's Tigers who battled the highly favored Wildcats to a standstill for three quarters, before unleashing their own touchdown drive in the first four minutes of the last period. And so it was before a Parent's Day crowd of approximately 8,000 that the Tigers spoiled the K-State record of not having its goal line crossed on the home field since 1932.

Marquette "Twins" Help Bury K-State

TOUCHDOWN twins" Art and Al Guepe and Ray Buivid were the kingpins of the Marquette Golden Avalanche that buried State with laterals and forwards at Milwaukee. As the fourth quarter opened, the Hilltoppers struck twice with deadly precision and State was behind 13 to 0. Late in the period, Cleveland received a punt on his own 35 yard line and snaked his way through the entire Marquette team to the four yard marker. Elder smashed the line for an apparent touchdown, but the ball was declared dead on the three-inch line. Marquette held for two plays and on the fourth down, Cleveland was in the clear as a result of a double lateral—but fumbled the ball.

Homecomers Watch K-State Pluck Jayhawk Tailfeathers

KANSAS' most colorful and traditional football spectacle (34th edition) was a fine mixture of fur and feathers. A smooth running team of Wildcats plucked the Jayhawk tailfeathers to the tune of 26 to 6 before a crowd of 14,000 Homecoming celebrators. Starting with a determined rush that dazed both the opposition and the spectators, the Cats pushed over 13 points in the first seven minutes of play to put the game on ice. The rugged K-State line, with Holland and Fanning as bulwarks, played faultless ball, ripping great holes in the Jayhawk forward wall time and again for some shifty Wildcat back to scamper through. Elder accounted for the first touchdown of the afternoon, then Cleveland tallied three more times before the final gun. The Jayhawk's reputed "razzledazzle" attack did not have much chance to get started at any time during the game. State sent the Jayhawks home with but one remaining plume, salvaged in the very last minute of play. Although outplayed in every department, they had the spirit left to come back in the last 30 seconds and score a touchdown, thus preventing a shutout. Incidentally, it was the first time in two years that State had gone into a Big Six game without any injuries.

Tulsa Breaks Deadlocked Game With Field Goal in Final Period

WITH rather worn claws and a slight let-down mentally, the Wildcat footballers once again journeyed into Oklahoma. Tulsa started the fireworks by scoring early in the opening quarter. Then for three periods the two teams battled on even terms. A punting duel between halfback White of Tulsa University and Cleveland kept the ball in midfield with neither team threatening. State finally scored in the fourth period as the result of a drive from Tulsa's 47-yard line with Ayers and Douglass carrying the ball. Douglass plunged over from the one yard line and Warren converted to tie the score at 7-all. The Golden Hurricane then tried a field goal as a last attempt to break the deadlock—it soared through the bars and K-State was defeated 10 to 7. Fearing injuries, Coach Fry substituted freely. The vaunted Hurricane aerial attack failed to appear as the Tulsans resorted to the ground and gained 275 yards rushing.

Elder Scores on Perfect Play, Sooners Tally on Blocked Punt

THE echoes of the opening whistle had scarcely died in the Sooner stadium when "Red" Elder charged through a wide hole opened by Holland and Fanning, veteran K-State linesmen, and raced 74 yards for a touchdown, outrunning two Sooner tacklers en-route. This ramble provided State with a 6 to 0 lead that was protected until the closing minutes only to have "Biff" Jones' hard-charging line convert a pair of blocked Wildcat punts into a touchdown to tie the game at 6-all. Stan Williamson's line functioned beautifully throughout the contest. The Wildcat forward wall outplayed a faster and more powerful Sooner line and opened up holes enabling Wildcat backs to outgain and outrush the Oklahomans. After the game, Coach Fry remarked "The way our line was functioning, Oklahoma could not have scored on running plays in two weeks."

Purple Powerhouse Takes Wind From Iowa Cyclones

THE most sensational wholesale scoring spree of the 1936 Big Six football season was staged by State's Purple Powerhouse when a squad of hopelessly outclassed Iowa State Cyclones were smothered 47 to 7 on Ahearn field. Played under sunny skies with a brisk north wind, the first part of the lopsided tussle had some semblance of a ball game. After two long rambles, Elder scored in the opening period. A few minutes later Captain Gustine downed a Wildcat blocked punt behind the goal to tie it up. With the opening of the second quarter, State's purple backfield shifted into high gear and they stopped only for the timekeeper's gun. Ball carrying honors for the weekend went to Bob Douglass, Freddie Sims, "Red" Elder, and Howard Cleveland. Rollicking Bob Douglass took up the scoring duties during the final period and added 14 points to the already top-heavy score. Fullback Douglass had his own clever ways of traveling from any point on the field to the goal line. Pile ups at the line of scrimmage were surmounted by diving and open field tacklers were neatly hurdled. State's line dominated the situation entirely.

Huskers Shatter Title Dreams of Kansas State

NEBRASKA 40, Opponents 0. That's the way the scoreboard read after the bright rays of old Sol had faded in the west and the crowd had filed out of Memorial Stadium in Lincoln. All afternoon the Wildcats had tested and fought a Nebraska eleven that seemed able to capitalize on every play it tried. With the victory went State's dream of a tie for first place in the conference, and the dreams of 16 seniors, who had visions of going through varsity competition without being defeated by the Cornhuskers. State outgained Nebraska and equaled them in first downs, but the final payoff came in touchdowns. In this department, the Wildcats were sadly deficient; they were overwhelmed. Elder bucked the line time after time to pile up yards—to no avail. The Huskers tallied six times during the weary afternoon. It was the end of a perfect day—for Nebraska!

Frosh Squad Called Best in Eight Years

"THE best freshman squad in eight years," commented Frank Root, head freshman coach, in reviewing this year's season. "The boys had speed, size, brains, and drive." Mainstays of the freshman football squad that gave the varsity several tough afternoons were Jim Howard, massive guard, and Bob Briggs, red-headed fullback. Every position on the team was well supplied with at least three or four capable men.

The freshman coaching staff consisted of Frank Root, "Doc" Haymaker, "Doc" Holtz, and Major Yon, former coach and director of athletics of the University of Florida. These men drilled the freshmen in fundamentals and offensive and defensive formations of opponents to be met by the varsity.

The 26 men who received sweaters were chosen because they had shown ability on the football field, attended practice regularly, and fulfilled scholastic requirements. Those who received awards were Logue Amos, William Beezly, James Brock, Jack Butler, Glenn Case, Shirley Davis, Harry Dillinger, John Donlon, David Greene, Elmer Hackney, Paul Hannah, John Jackson, Lowell McCutchen, Joe McGinity, Richard Magerkurth, Robert Mears, William Nichols, Eric Reardon, Leon Reynard, John Rogers, Robert Staver, George Straten, William Vanderbilt, Gerald Van Vleet, Ernest Wertzberger, and Harold Williams. This list includes only a few of the more outstanding freshman. There are many more who are good varsity prospects and may possibly shine brighter next year.

Wildcat Cagemen Break Even In Tough Eighteen Game Schedule

● Basketball Coach Frank Root

"TWINKLE, twinkle little star" is to most of us a nursery rhyme. But to the Wildcat basketball fans this year it simply meant tall, lanky Frank Groves on the basketball court. Groves, all-conference center for the last three years, made basketball look easy, as he shoved his six-foot five-inch frame around, making uncanny shots from all over the court. He displayed his skill and aggressiveness by leaping high to gain a tip-off, to grab a rebound off the backboard, or to bat down an opponent's shot before it reached the basket.

Headed by Groves, a group of six lettermen returned to form the backbone of this year's squad. Coach Root and his proteges found themselves confronted with an 18-game schedule that included ten conference tilts and a six-game barnstorming tour through the middle west.

A veteran Fort Hays team walloped State in the initial game of the season, 47 to 25. At times the Wildcats appeared lost as to what to do with the ball when they did get possession of it.

Starting eastward on their road trip, State turned on full power and trounced Evansville College Aces, 60 to 46, the first night. After playing on even terms with Indiana University for three quarters, State finally succumbed to a late Hoosier attack to go down in defeat, 60 to 33. The traveling basketweavers' 32 points were not enough to beat the Loyola University cagers, who garnered 44 markers the next evening. Carleton College cagemen handed the barnstormers their third defeat of the road trip, 41 to 27, as Al Burns led the Wildcat scorers with seven points. State won the remaining two games, defeating the Superior State Teachers by a wide margin and squeezing out a 37 to 36 victory over the Minnesota University cagers.

Although Ed Klimek scored 14 points and Groves hit the hoop for 13, Bill Martin of the Oklahoma Sooners ran off with the honors by chalking up 22 markers to lead his team to a 47 to 41 victory over State.

After marring the start of the game with a series of misplays and a general inability to hit the basket, the Wildcats suddenly hit their stride and proceeded to defeat the Iowa State Cyclones, 44 to 31. Al Burns led State with 19 points. A set-up by Don Gunning, Oklahoma center, in the final few seconds of play gave the Sooners their second conference win over State, 34 to 32.

Jayhawks Win

Jayhawks 39, State 28. That defeat can be traced to Wellhausen, university center. Time after time the ball would be headed for the goal, only to have this 6'7" center leap up and knock the ball to one of his teammates. Groves lead the Wildcats in a 59 to 30 victory over Southwestern. The lanky State center registered the largest individual score made here in recent years in netting himself 28 points.

Inability to connect from the charity lane cost State the next game after leading 25 to 23 at half-time. With only seconds left, Cleveland collided with a Nebraskan and came out of the melee with a broken collar bone. State smothered a late Missouri rally, in which every Tiger player scored two points, to triumph 45 to 42.

A fighting Wildcat team, an overtime period, and two high scoring State players, Groves and Klimek, were just enough to defeat the highly touted Jay-hawks, 33 to 32. With only a few seconds left in the regular playing time, Groves was fouled and amid the hectic din made the point that sent the game into an overtime. Pralle put Kansas University ahead with a field goal; Groves made another charity toss; and then Jack Miller won the game by tipping in a rebound after Klimek had made a desperate attempt at a set-up.

Breaks Three Records

A blistering last half rally gave the Nebraskans a 40 to 37 win at Lincoln before 7,000 fans. State won its final two contests. Missouri was trounced, 39 to 26; while the Cyclones were outscored, 48 to 40. Groves ended his career, with a sensational scoring spree that brought his season average for ten Big Six games to 15.4 shattering both Ebling's former conference record and the old Missouri Valley record. It also brought the lanky State cager's total for three years of college competition, both conference and non-conference to 631 points in 54 games—another new record.

Trackmen Win Honors

OUTSHINING the best teams in the southwest and middlewest, Kansas State scored 41 points to open auspiciously the 1936 outdoor track season as unofficial winner of the Texas Relays.

While Bill Wheelock was winning the 3,000-meter run, a quartet of milers sneaked off with victory and a trophy in the one-mile team race. Paul Fanning smashed the varsity discus record when he hurled the platter 150 feet 6¼ inches. Charles Socolofsky, in third place, also broke the old record. Both the mile and two-mile relay teams ran second, while the medley relaymen surprised themselves and scooted into third position.

In spite of a brisk wind which handicapped the runners, the K-State scant-clads were more than successful at the fourteenth annual Kansas Relays. The two-mile relay team won the feature event of the meet for the second consecutive year, finishing 15 yards ahead of Indiana in 7:49.3. Fanning again won his favorite event, and the sprint medley finished third behind Northwestern's world record time.

Going up to the Drake Relays, a speedy Wildcat quartet of half-milers raced to new laurels in capturing the two-mile title for the second straight year. The radio announcer who described the event seemingly did not know of State's entry until anchor-man Dill took the baton from Lloyd Eberhart, and broke the tape ahead of Indiana and Notre Dame.

Win Ten Firsts To Smother Fort Hays

TAKING ten first places, the K-State trackmen overwhelmed the Fort Hays Tigers in the season's only home meet 84 to 47.

Covered with mud from head to foot and soaked by rain, a mighty band of Wildcat tracksters stalked into their dressing room one May afternoon with the satisfaction of having clipped the Jayhawkers' wings to the tune of 77 to 54.

Migrating to Lincoln a week later, State was shocked by the Huskers in the final dual of the season, 72½ to 58½. Remaining on equal terms with the Cornhuskers during the track events, the K-Staters fell behind as the field events progressed. Dick Hotchkiss, in the feature event, lost the high hurdles in the final 15 yard sprint.

“THE Wildcat-Cornhusker dual was one of the finest I’ve ever seen. Every event was a nip-and-tuck affair with the marks unusually high,” remarked Coach Haylett following the meet.

The season’s finale for the scant-clads was the Conference outdoor meet at Lincoln. Nebraska’s well-balanced team won with 71½ points while K-State garnered 56 points to take second.

Relaymen Hemphill, Brubaker, Schultz, and Jesson squeezed into third place in the half-mile relay. Socolofsky and Klimek teamed up in the shot put to score second and third. While Ed Ebright vaulted into third place, Johnson piled up the same number of points at the high jumping pit. Chuck Robinson and Wheelock were third and fifth, in the two-mile. The closest race came in the high hurdles with Hotchkiss and Haight matching stride for stride until the final sprint when the Nebraskan managed to forge ahead and cross the tape, winner by a few inches.

K-State Produces a Parade of Champions

ALTHOUGH they ended in second place, the Wildcat tracksters annexed five of the 16 conference titles.

Wheelock set off the fireworks by running the second fastest mile ever recorded in the Big Six; Bill covered the distance in 4:21 as Harold Redfield followed in fourth position.

Captain Nixon breezed the 440 in 49.1 to set a new varsity record. A blinding burst of speed in the home stretch gave Bruce the victory by a scant yard. Bob Dill, paced the half-milers for two laps, outdistancing his rivals in 1:56.3.

Fanning won his second consecutive discus title. Paul hurled the platter just far enough to lead another Wildcat, Socolofsky. "Tony" Krueger captured fourth.

The mile relay provided the feature of the meet. The K-State quartet of Rooks, Eberhart, Dill, and Nixon lowered the conference record by a full two seconds. Captain Nixon fairly flew in the anchor 440, as the K-Staters were timed in 3:17.6.

Two-Mile Team Wins Big Six Championship

Each held a miniature gold track shoe in his hand ... they reminisced ...

As members of the two-mile they had mudded it on a wet and soggy track during their pre-season practicing. There was always danger of pulling muscles and getting a charley horse in that stuff. The season had opened with Mizzou, and Wheelock sure had given everything in that final sprint to beat out that Tiger runner. Folks had talked about it for a long time afterwards. The next meet, the one with Nebraska, had been a snap—just a practice session. Then Wheelock had to be hit by that auto and get his collar bone broken and his shoulder blade crushed. "He always did his best when the going was the hardest," Coach Haylett had said. Then came the Drake meet. All the fellows were up in the air, because of Bill's hard luck, but Drake had a plenty good team. And that was State's first loss in dual competition in several seasons. Gee! That Oklahoma dual was a tight squeeze, but we landed on top, 28 to 27. Made us feel a little better, too. Sure surprised we won the conference title—fourth time too, I think. Did it rather easily though. And now this annual football banquet. Swell feed, but I feel awfully embarrassed standing up here in front of all these people. But there's seven of us—Wheelock, Redfield, Sweat, Robinson, Nixon, Miller, and Isle.

Indoor Trackmen Win Many Relay Medals

State's indoor track squad was handicapped all season by inadequate indoor facilities and erratic weather conditions which hampered any outdoor practice. Added to that, Captain Bob Dill, Big Six half-mile champ, got a job in the east and dropped from the squad. After losing the first two meets to Missouri and Nebraska, the Wildcats journeyed to Columbia for the annual Big Six get-together. The Cornhuskers lived up to advance notices by scoring 50 points. Missouri was second and State trailed along in third.

Lloyd Eberhart annexed the half-mile title in 1:59.9, breaking the varsity indoor record. The mile-relay team was the other K-State winner.

At the Central Intercollegiate meet at Notre Dame, Socolofsky tossed the iron sphere 48 feet 4½ inches for his third record-smashing feat of the season. With the mile and two-mile relay teams topping previous varsity indoor marks and with every one of the ten members of the team placing in at least one event, State carried home a total of seventeen medals from the annual Armour Tech Relays.

Lettermen Bolster Kansas State Lineup

STATE started the 1936 baseball season with the brightest outlook in recent years, as nine lettermen returned including a veteran all-junior infield. This combination had Benny Winchester at first base, Bill Lutz on second, Max Springer at shortstop, and "Whitey" Stevens covering third. Other veterans included Ernest Jessup, catcher; Willard Van Sant and Maurice "Red" Elder, outfielders; and Frank Cooley and John Scott, pitchers.

Strong, cold March winds, ice, snow, and freezing temperatures, however, kept the squad indoors for a month with their pre-season practice sessions.

In the first practice game of the season, the Yan-nigans won a ragged exhibition from the Regulars on a windy, dusty diamond featured by numerous "bobbles."

Consequently, Coaches Fry and Myers spent several days teaching baseball strategy and stressing teamwork. They set up imaginary plays in an effort to develop quick thinking and proper handling of the ball.

Starting with a jaunt through Oklahoma, the K-Staters came home with one victory in four starts. The first game was a scrappy battle with Oklahoma A. and M., which State lost 5 to 3 when the Cowboys scored four runs in the fifth inning.

Trounce Cowboys

State gained a five run lead early in the second game and held it until the eighth when they hammered the Cowboy pitchers for an additional nine runs. Cooley allowed the Cowboys three scattered hits in five innings.

The invaders then lost to Oklahoma University's veteran team on successive days. In the first contest, pitcher Ed Klimek was off form and State lost 11 to 5. "Whitey" Stevens hit a homer in the eighth with two men on to contribute three Wildcat tallies.

Unbeaten Sooner Nine Defeats State Twice

Next afternoon, the Sooner batters went on a slugging spree with Cooley and Howard Myers the victims. Both pitchers were helpless before the onslaught, yielding 16 hits, to lose 10 to 2.

Iowa State brought 14 veterans and an unbeaten team into town for K-State's first home game. They left with two more victories added to their string, both credited to the Cyclone captain, Torvald Holmes. Errors were the biggest factor in K-State's losses. Eleven misplays cost the Wildcats their opening game, 14 to 11. After tying the score at 11-all in their half of the ninth, K-State slipped behind in the extra inning. With the score tied at 3-all, the Cyclones garnered five runs in the fifth frame to win the second contest, 8 to 3.

Going to Nebraska, State broke even in a two-game series. After allowing three runs in the first inning, Klimek settled down, using his side arm throw to stop the Huskers cold. State lost, however, 4 to 0. The following day, Cooley went the route, allowing four hits, walking three, and striking out seven opposing batters. Playing their first accurate ball of the season, State won 4 to 1.

Unleash Batting Attack

Flashing a powerful batting attack, Oklahoma A. and M. drove home 10 runs in the first three innings to easily defeat the Wildcats in their third meeting of the season, 14 to 6. The much talked about "lucky seven" inning proved just that for the Wildcats, in the final game with the Cowboys. Trailing at the seventh, State unleashed a powerful batting attack which netted three runs. Cooley turned in an excellent pitching performance. He possessed a fast ball with plenty of zip on it, especially in the late innings, and his curve ball had the Cowboy batters swinging foolishly at times.

The next two-game series, with Nebraska, were canceled because of rain. A four game series with Missouri closed the season.

The Wildcats booted away the first contest with the Tigers. Consequently, Cooley lost his first game of the season—yet he pitched one of the best in his collegiate career. Missouri's curve ball artist, Ralph Beer, and Cooley came down through the final stretch in a neck and neck battle.

It was a pitchers' duel deluxe as neither one let an earned run cross homeplate, while both allowed four hits, struck out eight, and gave two bases on balls. Two lapses, an error in the first inning and one in the eighth spelled the Wildcat's downfall.

Pitchers' Duel

In another hot pitchers' duel between Cooley and Beer, State scored two unearned runs to beat the Tigers, 3 to 2, in the second game. Missouri came back strong to pound three Wildcat pitchers for 16 blows and a 10 to 6 victory in their third meeting. Coach Fry sent Klimek to the mound in the final game, and Ed tallied the winning run himself.

Returning this year is the all-junior infield of last season: Winchester, Lutz, Springer, and Stevens. Also Van Sant and Norton, outfielders; W. Myers and Jessup, catchers; H. Myers, Cooley, and Klimek, pitchers.

Early Season Illness Riddles K-State Squad

ALTHOUGH riddled by injuries during the early part of the season, the K-State matmen managed to wiggle out of that disadvantage and gain a firm hold on Ole Man Injury Jinx. Prospects looked exceptionally bright to Coach Patterson, with seven returning lettermen to form the nucleus of this year's team, including Captain Dale Duncan and Ernest Jessup, co-champ of conference 155-pounders.

Eight State wrestlers, including five lettermen, were chosen from tryouts to meet Missouri in the opening meet. With Duncan and Carleton out of the lineup,

● Wrestling Coach B. R. Patterson.

State decisively whipped the Tigers, 22 to 6, taking all but two matches. Harrison and Warner threw their opponents, winning five points apiece. Even though the college hospital had a fine wrestling team among the many flu patients, Coach Patterson still had a few first string men and a fine group of substitutes to soundly trounce the Cornhuskers 19½ to 9½. Nebraska garnered her few points only after a terrific battle with State matmen.

Coming to Manhattan for a visit, the Oklahoma Southwest Teachers soundly spanked the Wildcats, 25 to 3, before leaving for home. Ernie Jessup, who moved up to the 165-pound class, gained the only State victory.

Invade Iowa

Shattered by illness and injuries, State made a creditable showing in its three-day invasion of Iowa, but failed to bring home a victory. One fall, one decision, and one draw was the extent of State's winnings against the Iowa State Teachers. The Iowa State Cyclones handed the Wildcats their first conference defeat, in a meet conducted under the new conference experimental rules.

homa for second place in the conference meet. Captain Duncan and Ernie Jessup came through with Big Six titles.

After winning five individual crowns and their seventh consecutive Missouri Valley A.A.U. title, seven Wildcat grapplers journeyed to the National Intercollegiate meet. Jessup lost his first match of the year, in the 155-pound finals to Bill Keas of Oklahoma University. Keas won the title by a referee's decision after two overtime periods. The champ held a 45 second time advantage. Both Duncan and Warner lost close matches in the consolation finals.

LOREN Smith won the only fall of the evening as Cornell College (Iowa) squeezed out a 15 to 11 victory over the Wildcats. State showed surprising strength in holding the Oklahoma Central State Teachers, one of the top flight teams of the country, to a four point margin. Jessup, in his final home appearance, turned in one of the finest performances of his brilliant career.

Defeat Unbeaten Illini

Restored to nearly full strength for first time in weeks, State met Illinois' powerful aggregation in Nichols gym. The Wildcats downed the previously-unbeaten University grapplers, 17½ to 12½, before a crowd of more than 700. Both Duncan and Keller won by falls. Ralph Silverstein, National Intercollegiate champ, was undoubtedly one of the most polished wrestlers to perform here in recent years.

In walloping the Oklahoma Northeast Teachers, seven K-Staters won falls or decisions. The following night, the Wildcats made a good showing against Oklahoma University, but lost 18½ to 7½. During the third evening's invasion of Oklahoma, State took a sound beating from the national champion A. and M. team, 24½ to 11½.

Winning two firsts, three seconds, and two thirds, State earned 25 points to squeeze in ahead of Okla-

ON your mark. Get set. Bang! Four long lithe bodies hurled forward simultaneously. They stretched out full length, remained horizontal for a split second above the water then gracefully and noiselessly dipped down, gliding into the pool with a rippling splash. Strong, smooth-stroking arms and rhythmic fluttering legs propelled the bodies through the water with effortless ease as the Wildcat natators held their final intra-squad meet to determine the probable entries of State in the season opener. Coach C. S. Moll stood with a stop watch in one hand on the side, watching the swimmers intently.

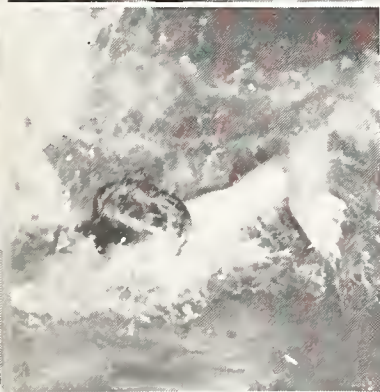

Although greatly weakened by the loss of such individual stars as Joe Creed and Bob Blanche, Coach Moll ranked this year's team as a group higher than usual. State lost the opener to Nebraska 62 to 12. The Cornhuskers won every first place and all but two seconds. These they reserved for State along with a few thirds. Waage swam second in the 440 free style; while Nelson placed second in the breast stroke.

State won victories in the medley relay, breast stroke, and diving as the Jayhawks ducked the Wildcats, 45 to 29, in the Nichols gym pool. The Washington University Bears from St. Louis, who boast annually of one of the strongest teams in this section, gave the Wildcats their supreme test of the season. Swimming their best times of the year, State held the Bears to a 54 to 25 score.

Still bothered at night by visions of flying feet of the Bear tankmen, State lost a second time to the Jayhawks. Clark Waage, iron man of the squad, provided the thrills of the meet. He won the 440 free style by inches, lost the 220 in the same manner, and finished second in the 100. In the Big Six meet, State captured fourth place. Nebraska won every first place but the diving—Wildcat Martin Pattison took that away from them.

Kansas State Racquetees Enjoy Most Successful Conference Tennis Season

WITH a tough 14-game schedule ahead and a group of inexperienced netmen to work with, Coach C. K. Ward's task looked most unpleasant at the start of the 1936 season.

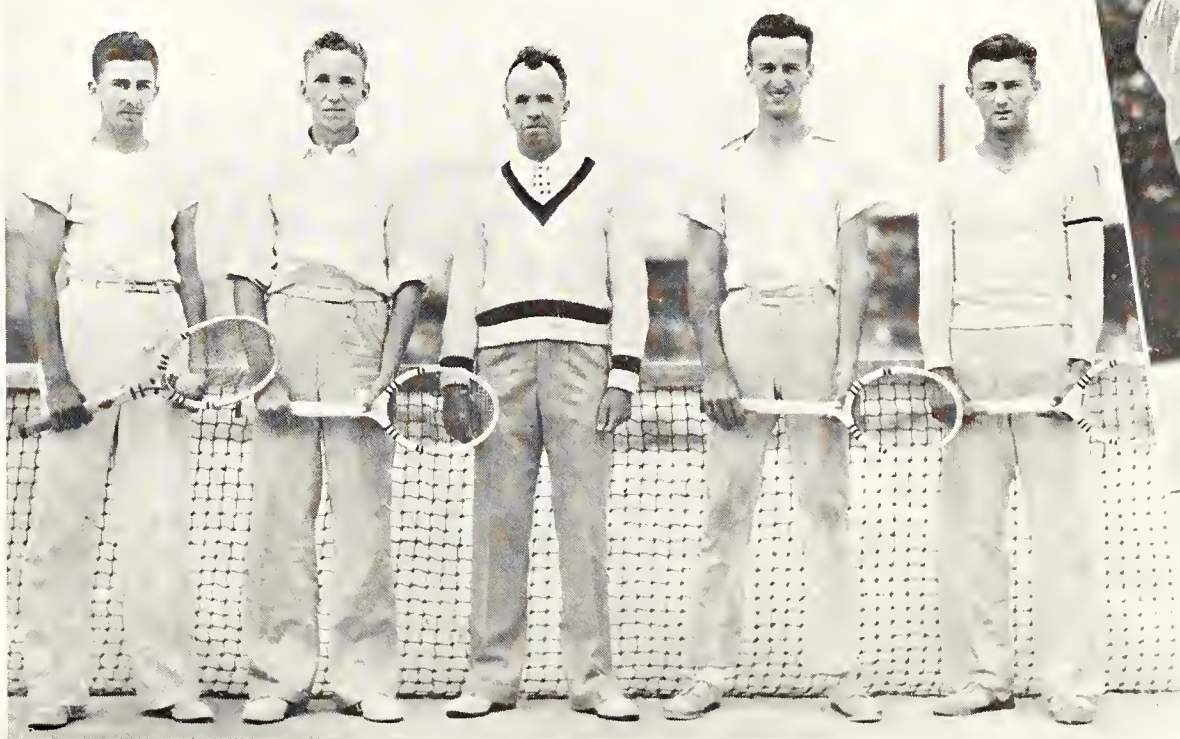

Wildcat netmen opened the minor sports season as hosts to the Emporia Teachers. Wayne Young, I-M champ of a year ago, was top-ranking player on the K-State squad; while the doubles combination of Godfrey and Eckart rated above the Young-Thornbrough team. In their season debut, the State players captured three of the four singles matches, but lost both doubles to the Teachers.

Then the team journeyed down to Ottawa to swamp the university netmen 6 to 0, winning every match in two sets. Next day, State moved on to Emporia, losing a return contest with the Teachers as Godfrey and Eckart won the only two matches. Matching rackets with the Wichita University netmen, the Wildcat's strongest opponents during the season, State dropped a 5 to 1 decision. A strong wind hampered the netters throughout the contest. In a later meet, State again lost to Wichita.

After splitting the first two contests with Washburn, State proved its supremacy by trouncing the Topekans 5 to 1, in the playoff. For the first time, State showed some strength in the doubles. The Kansas State-Nebraska dual was played indoors due to the rainy weather, with Eckart the only K-Stater to annex a win. With the local courts too soggy for play, State defeated the Cornhuskers in a second meet at Fort Riley.

When the Jayhawk racquetees came to town, the Wildcat netmen were inspired enough to hold them to a 3 to 3 tie. Going to Lawrence a few days later, the Wildcats were welcomed with a 6 to 0 shellacking. At the Big Six conference meet, State managed to squeeze into a tie for third place. And so, Coach Ward brought the netmen to the close of a successful season with six wins, six losses, and two ties. The netters had stepped up a rung on the conference ladder.

K-State Golfers Show Flashes of Brilliance

SOCKING a golf ball around during a snowstorm isn't the usual procedure, but that was the way State linksmen opened their 1936 season. Wearing white cotton gloves to protect their hands, the Wildcats won from the Kirksville College of Osteopathy and Surgery, but lost to the Kirksville Teachers in a triangular meet.

Wichita University gave State its worst drubbing of the season. D. C. Wesche halved a match with his opponent to gain State's only score.

Shooting improved golf, Coach "Mike" Ahearn's team scored an impressive victory over Creighton University. Charles Johnson paced the K-Staters with a sub-par 68. He defeated Dick Fraser, who later was Western Amateur runner-up. In a return match, the Wildcats gained another victory over Creighton.

Turning the tables, State won the second contest with Kirksville C.O.S. Johnson again led the field with a brilliant 66 in the morning's round and an equally impressive 67 in the afternoon. The Wichita Shockers again defeated State, at Manhattan. Wells and Wesche were winners in doubles, while Captain Hays split a singles match.

COACH "MIKE" AHEARN

The Hays-Johnson doubles combination won State's only victory from Nebraska in their first contest, although Wesche managed to tie his singles match. The Wildcats later gained revenge by licking the linksmen from Lincoln.

Kansas soundly threshed State as three of the Jayhawkers had scores below par. Captain Hays led the 'Cats with a 70. Jack Fleming joined the squad as Johnson was declared ineligible. Going to Lawrence, the Wildcats lost a return match to the Jayhawk foursome. State closed the season by placing fifth at the Big Six Conference meet.

Hundreds Compete in Intramural Program

ALL Kansas State men not taking part in varsity athletics have an opportunity through the intramural sports program to get exercise and demonstrate their prowess. Intramural sports, or athletic contests among the various organizations on the Kansas State College campus, were instituted in 1921 with basketball as the first activity. Baseball and tennis were included as a part of the program in the spring of 1922 and since that time, intramurals have grown until now they begin in the fall and continue through the winter and spring with 14 indoor and outdoor sports.

An intramural athletic field large enough for two games of baseball or four games of softball to be played at one time, was built at the north end of the varsity baseball field during the summer of 1928. In the fall it is used for touch-football and for baseball in the spring. Indoor contests are held in Nichols gymnasium and facilities for every kind of sport in the intramural program are offered by the intramural department.

Increasing interest on the part of independent organizations has lent added enthusiasm to intramural contests during the last few years. Fraternity members, in an effort to outdo each other and the independents, exert themselves to the utmost for points and trophies for their Greek houses.

Honor and pride—both dear to every college man—are represented in trophies which are awarded the organizations winning the team events. The intramural board presents gold medals to individual winners and in the system of recognition, sweaters and emblems are awarded the ten men who score the greatest number of points during the year and the next ten men are given emblems. A large challenge trophy has been offered since 1927 as the permanent property of the first organization to win it three times. The Delta Tau Delta fraternity and the Wesley Foundation Athletic Club have each won it twice.

The Senior Men's Pan-Hellenic offered a challenge trophy to the team winning the fraternity bracket in basketball. In addition to these awards, permanent trophies emblematic of victory are presented each year to organizations finishing first or second.

The winner announced at the end of the 1935 season as well as last spring was W.F.A.C., while Delta Tau Delta was runner-up both years. At the end of the 1935-36 season, the possessor of third place was Sigma Phi Epsilon. Pi Kappa Alpha was fourth; Tau Kappa Epsilon, fifth; Sigma Alpha Epsilon, sixth; Beta Theta Pi, seventh; Alpha Gamma Rho, eighth; Kappa Sigma, ninth; and Phi Kappa Tau, tenth.

The ten men who scored the most individual points during the intramural season last year and who were consequently awarded intramural sweaters bearing letters were:

Members of the intramural board are Louis P. Washburn, chairman; M. F. Ahearn, director of athletics; W. H. Haylett, track coach. One assistant intramural manager is elected by each active member organization and officials for games and meets are appointed by the intramural director. Mr. Washburn is also director of the intramural staff, C. S. Moll, assistant director, and Bessie May Jacobus, secretary.

Tie in Touch-Football

A form of football somewhat milder than the regulation varsity variety is intramural touch-football, the first event on the intramural season program. During the bracket play-offs, students have an opportunity to see not one, but four games each evening as fraternities and independents clash for titles. Bracket positions are determined from drawings held at the beginning of the season.

Darkness prevented the play-off of the Beta-W.F.A.C. tie for the intramural touch-football championship this fall and the trophy went to the Wesley Foundation Athletic Club by the flip of a coin. Unleashing an amazing system of forward and laterals during the last seven minutes of play, W. F. A. C. rose from an apparently certain defeat to tie the Betas in the final game of the touch-football season.

Intramural touch-football began this season with games between the Alpha Tau Omegas and the Acacias, and the Wesley Foundation Athletic Club and the Phi Kappas. Spirit ran high in all games and after 23 teams had played with 404 men participating, the Betas and the W.F.A.C.'s won their brackets to become co-champions.

Hacker's 78 Is Low

On a warm sunny day, a day for shirt-sleeves and perspiring brows, the finest day in the history of Kansas State intramural golf, nineteen men competed for the title in this sport which has been a part of the intramural program only a few years.

Matches were played off swiftly, all competitors being unsteady on the out nine and tightening up on the second to bring in fair scores. Roy Hacker of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity hit the pill 42 times on the first nine and 36 on the second, a total score of 78, one of the highest ever to win the tournament, to capture the annual event which was played on the American Legion course southeast of town.

Playing on fairways and greens which were only in fair condition, scores rose sharply entered basketball, which is the biggest activity of the intramural year. Five more teams competed this year than ever before. More than 450 men played on 22 independent and 21 fraternity teams.

Alpha Tau Omega came out on top as grand champions of the group by defeating Jinx, the pride team of the independents, 22 to 18. In the final game, which was played on the large court of the Nichols Gymnasium, the ATO's led at the end of the first half by a score of 9 to 5, but the real drive for points between the two teams came in the fourth quarter.

The intramural editor of the Collegian, choosing the all-intramural basketball quintet, called attention to the fact that teamwork which produces victory often obscures the individual ability of each player and scoring is not a fair evaluation of a guard's defensive play. On the 1937 All-Intramural Cage Team, forwards were Tod Benson, Alpha Tau Omega, and Ervin Ree, Jinx; guards were Nick Stevens, Alpha Tau Omega and Vergil Dial, Huskies; and William Rostine, Sigma Phi Epsilon, was the center.

At the close of the preliminaries, winners in the fraternity groups were Alpha Gamma Rho, Sigma Phi Epsilon, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, and Alpha Tau Omega, while the Huskies, W.F.A.C., Jinxes, and Bushel Foots were in the independent group winners.

Boley Horseshoe Champion

On three regulation horseshoe pitching courts located under the east stadium, 129 boys threw shoes this year in the annual intramural contest. Forty-five of the boys drew byes for the first round of the tournament.

Lyle Boley, independent, defeated Kohrs in the singles and became 1936-37 champion. In the doubles games, Kohrs and Becker copped the title from Sperline and Scott of Phi Lambda Theta.

Ping Pong Instigated

Intensification of interest in ping pong caused it to be substituted this year for wrestling in the intramural program. Each organization was allowed four singles entries and one team of doubles players. The athletic department furnished nets and balls for the tournament and game tables were borrowed from the fraternity houses. Matches were played off in Nichols gymnasium.

The popularity of this indoor sport was evidenced by the fact that a maximum entry list of 102 men was recorded. A new record of only 10 percent defaults was set for individual sports.

Games were tense for spectators as well as for the contestants who played a fast, skillful type of ball. Considerable practice was apparent in the performance of Walter Emery, independent, and Leo Ayers, Sigma Nu, in the finals of the singles. Emery emerged winner. The Sigma Nu doubles team, composed of Ayers and Vincent Doll, defeated Cruise Palmer and Dick Gray of Beta Theta Pi in the final game of the tournament. No team championship was awarded this year.

Large crowds attended all three days of the tournament and plans are being made for a larger number of contestants next year. Innovations in contest rules were point-penalties for touching the table with hands, for touching the ball in any way after the service, and for each poor service whether the paddle strikes the ball or not.

Two out of three games constituted a set in the regular games of the tournament and three out of five for the final play-offs. Contest winners and doubles runners-up played demonstration tilts at the half of the Missouri-Kansas State basketball game. Most of the organized houses on the hill have facilities for ping pong and competition is becoming increasingly stiff.

Tumblers Entertain Crowds

Between halves at basketball games and at theaters, school assemblies,—at any event at which they are requested to perform, the Wildcat tumbling team puts on a clever and well-practiced act.

The team, under the direction of Prof. L. P. Washburn, practices several times a week and membership is open to any man who wants exercise and at the same time to become proficient at the tumbling art.

Indoor Title Won by T.K.E.

One hundred seventy-seven men, some clad in motely colored track shirts and pants and some in street clothes, gathered one evening in Nichols gymnasium for the annual intramural indoor track meet. Around and around the cork-laid oval track the pre-spiring runners sped in the dashes and the relays, while on the floor below, hurdlers, pole vaulters, broadjumpers, and high jumpers vied with each other for honors.

Tau Kappa Epsilon, led by Paul Fagler, Jesse Goldsmith, and William Bentley finally emerged victorious with three first and three third places to nose out Wesley Foundation Athletic Club 43 to 35½. Martin Pattison, W.F.A.C., was the only record breaker in the meet, running the 35-yard low hurdles in 4.5 seconds. Sigma Alpha Epsilon was third in the meet with 32 points and Beta Theta Pi followed closely with 30.

Each organization is limited to three entries in each event with the exception of the relays, in which it may enter one team.

With such a variety of events it should be possible for every man in school to be able to take part in at least one of the activities of the intramural program.

Grote is Handball King

Smack! Smack! Smack! Almost any time in the day one can hear these sounds issuing from the handball room, one of the most popular spots in the gymnasium. Faculty members and students alike go in for this fast-stepping game and one need not be surprised to find "Mike" Ahearn, Frank Myers, and a couple of the other athletic staff members limbering up on some mornings.

Although the sport is included in intramurals, limited facilities keep down the number of entrants. Organizations are limited to three entries each in the singles and two doubles teams.

Out of a field of 35 men, Hilbert A. Grote, representing Wesley Foundation Athletic Club, was finally victorious and literally "batted" himself into Grote then teamed with the versatile Martin Pattison, and the pair downed all comers to win the doubles championship for W.F.A.C.

Delts Win Volleyball

With four out of the six men returning to the team, an experienced, fast team of Delta Tau Delta men swept through all competition to win the intramural volleyball championship again last year. The Delts seem to have had a firm grip on volleyball for the past several years.

The final game between the Delts and Sigma Phi Epsilon was characterized as being one of the most interesting ever played at the college. The score was close throughout, but the slashing tactics of the Delts won the game, 40 to 32, in the closing minutes.

Softball to W.F.A.C.

The crack of the slim hardwood bat as it meets leather and the excited cries of the players and spectators characterizes last spring's late afternoon sessions of intramural softball, a relative newcomer in intramurals.

Wesley Foundation Athletic Club found itself possessed of a bunch of sluggers who played excellent softball last season to win the intramural crown. They defeated Delta Tau Delta fraternity in an exciting final contest which cinched their title. Old Man Weather went to bat several times during the season and dished out some bad weather which held up proceedings.

Twenty-three teams were entered in the league. These were divided into four brackets and the winners of each bracket met in a playoff. A total of 360 men actually participated in this increasingly popular sport. The official rules of softball as adopted by the Joint Softball Rules Committee of the United States were the rules which the teams used.

Cheering crowds found the games much to their liking, especially the play-offs.

Tekes Cop Track Title

One hundred and sixty-six men, running, jumping, and pole-vaulting, competed in the running events, low hurdles, shotput, broad jump, pole vault, high jump, and discus of this year's outdoor track-meet. The Tau Kappa Epsilon fraternity garnered enough points to complete their winning total for both indoor and outdoor track trophies. The runner-up was the Wesley Foundation Athletic Club with a record-breaking 220-yard man, L. Clark, who covered the distance in 23.2 seconds.

Varsity material is often discovered from the intramural outdoor track participators and the records hover consistently around those of varsity athletes.

A new record for the half-mile relay was hung up by the TKE's when Goldsmith, Powers, Matney, and Fagler dashed twice around the cinder track in one minute, 35.8 seconds with all the skill of a varsity quartet.

Preusch Leading Netman

At the beginning of the intramural tennis matches, the Wesley Foundation Athletic Club had piled up enough points to be assured of the 1935-1936 intramural championship, thereby winning another leg on the challenge trophy. Delta Tau Delta completely subjugated all competition in intramural tennis, taking both singles and doubles titles.

Carroll Preusch cinched the singles after a swift, hard battle with Fred Fair of Sigma Phi Epsilon in the finals. Frank Groves and Preusch copped the doubles championship to complete the victory for the Delts.

Tennis—ever-popular spring pastime—drew 175 net-enthusiasts this year, 96 competing in the singles and 79 in the doubles. Campus courts were overrun with players during the long spring evenings of competition and feeling ran high among both independents and Greeks during the play-offs.

Swimming Won by W.F.A.C.

For the fourth consecutive year the Wesley Foundation Athletic Club won the intramural swimming meet which was held from February 18 to 25. Gilbert Carl set a new record of 45.3 seconds in the breast stroke, while Carl, Gerald Ingraham, and Charles West, all of W.F.A.C. set a new medley relay record of 1 minute, 20.2 seconds.

Sigma Nu fraternity followed in second place for the contest which was held in the Nichols gymnasium pool.

Women's Intramural Sports Provide Vigorous Recreation

WITH each succeeding year women's intramural sports at Kansas State College have become more popular and the resulting competition has become stiffer. The women's intramural program is sponsored primarily for the benefit of junior and senior women. During their first two years in college, the women enrolled in physical education are required to take at least four units and particular emphasis is therefore placed on the participation of junior and senior women not enrolled in regular physical education classes.

The program has been carried on under the direction of Miss Katherine Geyer since 1927. Prominent in the administration of these activities is the Women's Athletic Association. The W.A.A. was reorganized this year and every woman enrolled in school was made a member. The organization no longer awards sweaters, letters, or numerals, nor does it levy dues. Activities are carried on through the intramural council composed of one representative from each competing organization and three executive officers of the association. These officers, serving during 1936-37 school year, were Marjorie Kittell, president; Ann Wright, vice-president; and Winifred Whipple, secretary-treasurer. Sara Jane Antrim was the Orchesis representative, and Dorothy Mize, Frog Club.

The council meets once a month and determines the program for the year, appoints committees, and makes all decisions concerning the activities of the Association. In cooperation with the faculty members of the department, the council appoints managers for each individual sport. The Association this year sponsored two square dances in which every student on the campus was invited to participate. So large was the response that it was necessary to hold the second of these social gatherings in the men's gym.

At its inception in 1924, the intramural program included one activity, swimming. More were added from time to time until this year, interested organizations competed in swimming, dancing, volleyball, posture, basketball, baseball, tennis, and shuffleboard. Twelve organizations took advantage of this opportunity for healthful exercise, and friendly athletic competition and recreation this year. Ten of these were sororities, and the others were Van Zile Hall, Neophytes, and the X Team.

Intramural activities embrace as many sports as time and equipment permit and contrary to most competitive affairs, the primary emphasis is not placed on victory. The games are conducted on the theory that "He who plays the game straight and hard wins even when he loses." Points are consequently awarded on a number of considerations. The method of computing these is as follows:

Points are given for the number of games played. If a team forfeits a game, that team receives no points, while the opposition team will be given points if it

If a team shows poor sportsmanship during the tournament, ten points are subtracted from its total score for that activity.

Plaque Awarded Each Year

The organization which has garnered the most points during the school year is presented in the spring with the Intramural Games Plaque. This plaque is the permanent property of the organization winning it. Presentation of this award comes at the spring banquet on the Thursday before final examinations.

This year saw the addition of shuffleboard to the intramural list of competitive events. Supremacy was determined by an elimination contest. First place was won by Ruby Wildman for X Team, while the

Winner of Composition: Chi Omega—Delia Call, Virginia Richardson, Dorothy Ann Uhl, Betty Lee McTaggart, Sara Jane Antrim, Marie Vesecky

Neophyte entrant, Ruth Burnett, was runner-up.

In the posture contest the women were graded by three judges who observed the teams in conventional street dress and in bathing suits, and rated the entrants on their standing and their walking posture. The average of the judges' grades is taken and the teams score computed on the basis of 6 points for each A posture and 4 points for each B; C's and D's are not counted. Kappa Kappa Gamma, with a total of 96 points, headed the list of seven teams, and Alpha Delta Pi, with 78, was runner-up.

Five Events in Dancing

Five separate events comprised the dancing contest this year, and nine teams entered members in each event. Under the intramural rulings, three practices were required for all events except social dancing which demanded only two. Competition in social dancing was won by Chi Omega, tap dancing by Pi Beta Phi, and folk dancing by Kappa Kappa Gamma. The Chi Omega team won both technique and composition in "natural" dancing, and took first place in the dance contest as a whole. Alpha Delta Pi was runner-up.

The volleyball championship was determined on a combination round robin and elimination basis. The twelve teams entered were divided into three groups and each team played each of the other teams in its group. The three group winners, Kappa Kappa Gamma, Delta Delta Delta, and X Team, then entered an elimination series. After a total playing period of five weeks, the Kappas emerged victorious. When the tournament had been completed, each of the teams invited six men to join them and play with them against another mixed team. Seven teams participated in this mixed recreation.

In the round robin basket ball competition this year Alpha Delta Pi, X Team, and the Neophytes had the highest percentage of wins in their respective groups. In the elimination run-off series, X Team won the championship and the Neophytes took runner-up honors. The 1935-36 basket ball tournament was conducted in round robin style with the Alpha Delta Pi aggregation coming out at the top of the list.

Swimming Competition Keen

Competition was keener in the swimming meets last spring than in any other intramural contest of the 1935-36 school year. The teams were divided into groups and each group held two meets, the group winners being determined on a point basis. There were seven events in these meets, the back stroke, side stroke, single trudgen, and diving, for form; the 100-foot free-style and the medley, for speed; and the spinning-top and flutter-board events for novelty. Group victors were Kappa Kappa Gamma, Delta Delta Delta, Pi Beta Phi, and X Team. Pi Beta Phi was the winner of the final meet.

The baseball tournament last spring was completed just before spring rains began. Group winners in this sport were X Team, Kappa Kappa Gamma, and Phi Omega Pi. In the play-off, the X Team won the championship and the Kappas were runners-up.

Sportsmanship Code

A Good Sport:

1. Does not cheat.
2. Does not intentionally make a foul or take other unfair advantages over an opponent.
3. Does not lose her temper.
4. Does not swear.
5. Does not blame officials for defeat.
6. Accepts adverse decisions graciously—does not complain.
7. When she loses, does not show her disappointment, but congratulates the winner.
8. When she wins, does not boast, but is considerate of her opponents.
9. Does not "Razz" opponents.
10. Does not play to the grandstand but is a good team worker.
11. Appreciates a good play and will applaud same even though done by an opponent.
12. Conducts herself in a "womanly manner" at all times.

"He, who plays the game straight and hard, wins even when he loses."

They Rate An "Excellent!"

PASS IN REVIEW! Sixteen hundred cadets take up the march to the rhythmic martial music of the military band. Platoon after platoon of cadets snap their heads to the right as they pass the reviewing officers. It is the day of days for Kansas State's R. O. T. C. regiment. Annual inspection is on. The time has arrived for the seventh corps area inspecting officers to grade the Kansas State unit. Every cadet has looked forward to this goal of the year's work. Inspection is over. Once again, as has been the case in recent years, the seventh corps area commander at Omaha, Nebr., rates the unit "excellent".

Annual Military Ball

CROSS SABERS! Cadet staff officers snap into position at the adjutant's command. An arch of sabers is formed. The grand march, the climax of the annual military ball, is on. Newly elected honorary cadet officers of the Kansas State R. O. T. C. regiment are escorted through the arch. Dressed in purple and white capes and wearing white overseas caps set at a neat angle they are presented to the 850 students attending the gala ball. The officers complete the grand march.

The band strikes up a hot swing tune. Dancing is resumed. Flashing sabers, gay evening dresses, silvered high heels, military boots, tuxedos, Sam Browne belts, and basic military uniforms all glide across the floor of Nichols Gymnasium.

It's the first time the festive party has been held in the gym. A false ceiling of blue hangs from above the floor, and soft vari-hued lights play over the terpsichores. The entire east end of the gymnasium is paneled in white. Military emblems, flags and other paraphernalia are properly placed about the room to add a military air to the occasion.

Armistice Day Chapel

In helping to pay tribute to those who laid down their lives for their country in the last great war, the entire uniformed regiment of the Kansas State R. O. T. C. attends Armistice Day assembly. All cadets march into the auditorium in formation while the entrance march is played by the college band.

Last Armistice Day, Maj. Roy H. Parker, chaplain of the Ft. Riley Calvary Post, gave the principal address of the chapel program. Throughout his speech Major Parker emphasized "our war dead have not died in vain".

Military Band

The incentive that induces the cadet to thrill to marching is added to by the college military band.

Under the capable direction of Prof. Max Martin of the department of music, the band plays for all parades and reviews of the Kansas State R. O. T. C.

At the Camps

Every student enrolled in the advanced military course is required to attend one camp session during the summer following the completion of his junior year. Infantry students attend camp at Ft. Leavenworth and artillery cadet officers attend the camp session at Ft. Sheridan, Ill.

At camp the cadet officers receive training in both close and extended order drill, combat principles including offensive and defensive combat, maneuvering of units in attack and in maintenance of a defensive position, rifle and pistol marksmanship, and routine camp duties such as breaking camp and pitching tents.

Rifle Teams

Rifle teams at Kansas State have steadily risen in prominence to establish themselves as strong contenders for national honors. Popularity of rifle marksmanship at Kansas State likewise has risen to a place of importance as an inter-collegiate sport.

William F. Stewart, captain of the 1936 men's rifle squad and John F. Gaumer, captain of the 1937 team, received berths on the second squad of the 1936 mythical All-American rifle team.

The 1936 Kansas State men's team holds the enviable record of winning 28 and losing 14 postal matches, placing first at the University of Nebraska in the National Rifle Association meet, third at Kemper, third in the Seventh Corps Area, and ranking sixteenth nationally.

Firing only in postal matches, the women's rifle team had a fairly successful season winning ten and losing ten inter-collegiate matches.

Naval Communications Reserve

Although it is not directly connected with the college, the local unit of the Naval Communication Reserve is composed largely of Kansas State students interested in radio communication work.

The Reserve, whose personnel is principally electrical engineering students, is a volunteer organization and a part of the United States Navy. Training men to serve as wireless operators on board navy ships is the primary function of the Reserve.

Scabbard and Blade

L COMPANY, First Regiment of Scabbard and Blade, was organized at Kansas State June 15, 1914, with its prime purpose to disseminate correct knowledge concerning R. O. T. C. military training at Kansas State.

Scabbard and Blade, composed of honor student cadet officers in both the coast artillery and infantry units, serves secondarily as a social organization for advanced R.O.T.C. cadets. Each year new members are initiated at a "camp" held near town.

George Hart was president of the organization this year and Major E. M. Yon was the sponsor.

Mortar and Ball

THE Kansas State chapter of Mortar and Ball was established at the college in 1926.

Mortar and Ball's membership is composed only of a select group of advanced coast artillery cadet officers. Furthering interest in coast artillery training and functions is the aim and purpose of the organization.

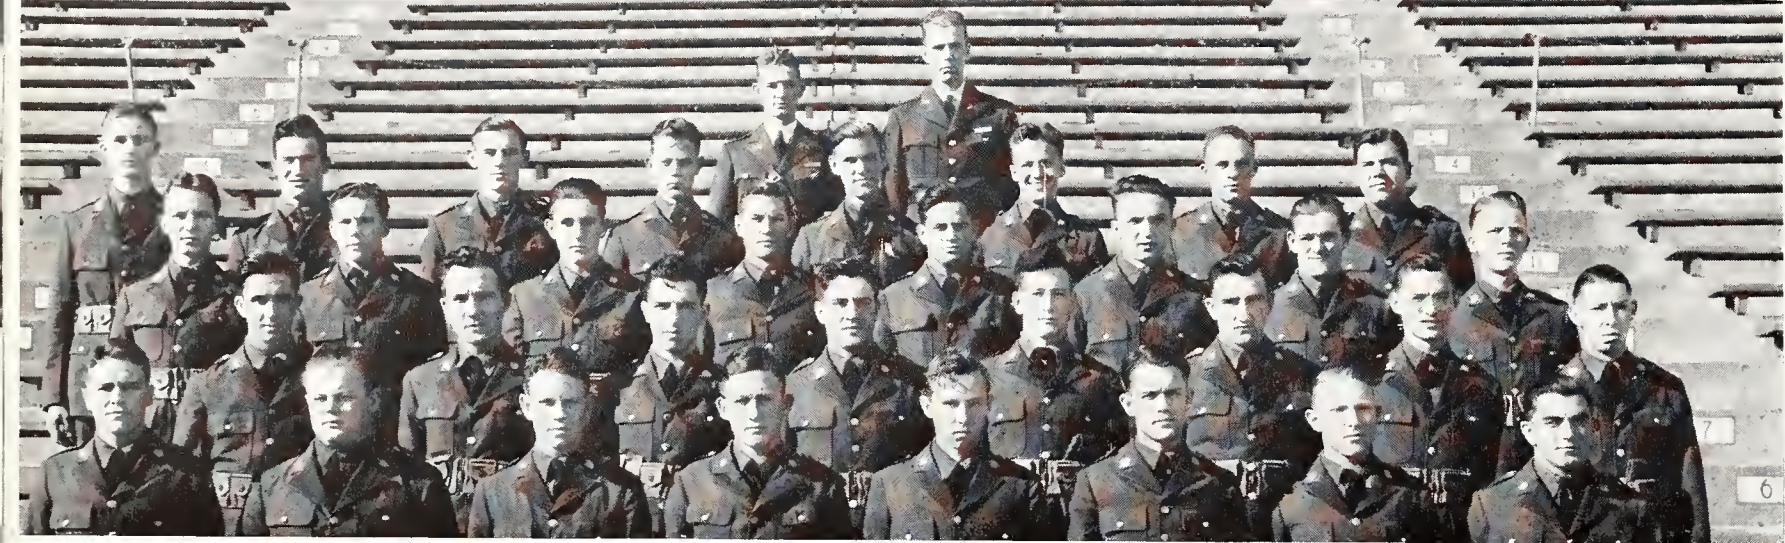

For social diversion, every spring Mortar and Ball members hold the annual Mortar and Ball spring formal dance.

Norman Nichols served as president of Mortar and Ball the past school year. Capt. Karl C. Frank was sponsor of the organization.

Board of Publications Appoints Staff Heads

THE Kansas State Collegian, student newspaper, and the Royal Purple, student yearbook, are governed by the Board of Student Publications. Selection of the editors and business managers to head the staffs of the two student publications is made by this group consisting of three faculty members appointed by President F. D. Farrell, and three students elected by popular vote in April.

Before April, 1935, the publications' editors and business managers were also elected by popular vote. In that year the separate Collegian and Royal Purple boards, which had existed formerly, were abolished. The joint body replacing it was dubbed the Board of Student Publications and invested with its present powers. The head of the department of journalism is normally chairman of the board.

For the 1936-37 school year, the members of the board were Prof. C. E. Rogers, chairman, Prof. H. W. Davis, head of the Department of English, Prof. E. T. Keith of the Department of Journalism, Frank Jordan, Marjorie Holman, and Paul Fanning.

Journalistic awards in recognition of outstanding editorial and business work on the Collegian and Royal Purple, were inaugurated by the Publications Board after approval at a meeting March 22, 1937.

PROF. C. E. ROGERS

The awards in the form of a gold key are made at an annual banquet given in the spring. It was the thought of the board to make this journalistic award a tradition for which journalists might strive.

Persons eligible to receive the gold key awards are to be recommended to the Board of Student Publications each year by the editors and business managers of the Collegian and the Royal Purple and then by the graduate manager of publications, according to the plan formulated at the meeting. It was stated that it would be possible for students to get more than one award if their work merits additional recognition.

A similar plan has worked with marked success in a number of other colleges and universities throughout the United States. The award corresponds to medals of achievement presented by almost every other department of the college, although the gold key award will be open to students of all departments and divisions who perform outstanding work on either of the two all-college publications.

Publications to All Students

Every undergraduate student and those graduate students who so desire receive a year's subscription to the Collegian and a copy of the Royal Purple in May, upon payment of the activity fee at the time of registration. This insures the manager of the publications a known amount of money available as a nucleus with which to work during the year. However, approximately 70 per cent of the Collegian publication costs are paid for by advertising revenue. While the subscriptions vary under the activity fee system according to the student enrollment, the Collegian has consistently maintained itself with the largest circulation of any school newspaper in Kansas. The Royal Purple has the largest circulation of any yearbook in the mid-west.

A full-time graduate manager of student publications has been employed by the board since its inception. Under the efficient guidance of C. J. Medlin,

MARY ISABEL SMITH,
Secretary to the Graduate Manager

C. J. MEDLIN

both student publications have remained within their allotted budgets each year. In addition, indebtedness incurred before the position of graduate manager was created has been paid. A reasonable balance with which to start publication activities before the activity fund is disbursed the following fall has been maintained.

As editor of the 1920 Royal Purple, Mr. Medlin first gained an insight into the problems confronting student editors. Following graduation, 13 years experience in the college annual department of a large midwest engraving concern specially qualified him for his present position.

High school students in the larger schools throughout the state are numbered among the Collegian and Royal Purple readers. One hundred Royal Purples were purchased by the Student Council to send out for publicity purposes and an additional 57 by the office of the vice-president. One hundred fifty high schools received a year's subscription to the Collegian.

Efficient Staff Assists In Compiling 1937 Royal Purple

ROYAL Purple: the combination of some wild with a few sane ideas of an editor, assembled in book-form by a competent staff according to able advice received from a graduate manager, the engravers, and the printers.

The definition above belongs entirely to an editor who early in the year became aware of two infallible truths: (1) that the amount of work necessary to assemble a yearbook as he wants it compiled is much greater than any but those who have gone "through the mill" ever realize, and (2) that the real success of a book depends mainly upon the efficiency, interest, and competence of the staff assisting in its publication.

At best, an editor can be no more than the director of what goes to make up a yearbook the size of the Royal Purple. The ability of the staff to grasp a conception of the editor's ideas and then produce it in that form determines in a large way whether or not the book turns out to be the same product he wished it to be in the beginning.

Because of real interest in the book itself, some members of the staff naturally devoted much more time to it than others and to them should go the most credit. Of these, particularly Luman Miller, Jane Phelan, Charles Platt, and Virginia Wilson spent hours each day working on nearly every section of the Royal Purple.

The entire sports section of the annual was in the capable hands of Bill McDanel, who devoted much time to his portion of the book. Bill Peterson had complete charge of the military section, while

JACK MCCLUNG, Editor

George Hart wrote the publications. Iona Young and Bill Kelley were other staff members who devoted many hours to general editing of the book.

Although spending perhaps not so much time, but nevertheless handling efficiently certain sections were Frank Shideler and Bob Jaccard, humor; Eileen Shaw, music; Henry Lins, fraternities; and Max Besler, administration.

Other students whose efforts contributed materially to the actual compilation of the Royal Purple include Ted Freeman, David Thompson, Dolores Foster, Gloria Bingesser, Myron Scott, Juanita Looney, and Jean Idol. Many others of the more than 60 applying for the staff in the fall assisted in getting one or more write-ups for the book. Mainly to Gene Guerrant, Royal Purple photographer, goes the credit for the many candid pictures appearing in the book. Prof. E. T. Keith also aided materially in taking pictures.

Expert Advice Received

Of major importance to the general quality of the book—the small items as well as the more important ones—is the advice and aid received from the graduate manager. The editor and business manager ran to C. J. Medlin time and again for opinions from one whose experience with yearbooks and Royal Purples has extended back for more than 15 years.

Members of the business staff, all devoted much time and effort to selling, advertising, and distributing the Royal Purple. Not only have they efficiently handled all office work, but have shown excellent cooperation in selling and writing advertising, collecting and indexing enrollment cards, and contacting student organizations. Especially active in assisting the business manager were Don Duckwall and Jim Osten. Duckwall was unusually accurate in office transactions, while Osten displayed extraordinary capacity for business correspondence as well as efficiency in selling and writing advertising. Other competent members of the business staff who devoted much time were Gertrude Tobias and Marybelle Churchill. Jo Shely, Joe Bonfield, Kathryn Correll, Stan Dwyer, and Earl Atkins were also mainstays.

Collegian Leads Crusades For Needed Campus Improvements

THAT a crusading student press is one of the most potent factors on any campus to keep the interest of the students aroused has long been recognized at Kansas State. The Kansas State Collegian for both semesters this year has not been content merely with the printing of facts of student happenings. Leadership in activities and in the correction of long-standing needs and abuses has been pushed both under the editorship of Bill McDanel the first semester, and Charles Platt the second semester.

McDanel became editor of the Collegian in September, bringing with him a headful of ideas. A number of these were carried out in the five months following, some were metamorphosed, and others died a natural death.

Policies vigorously pushed under McDanel's editorship included the establishment of a Freshman Orientation Week which was promptly adopted by the college administration; smoking on the campus; a student union building; the safety campaign; cleaner campus elections; a new physical science building; and the restoration of faculty salaries.

In the news, banner headlines were frequently seen on the front page and sports page after a lull of several years under a more conservative policy. Featurized news stories were the order of the day for the entire first semester. Several issues of the paper were required before the proper balance was given to the feature and the news lead, but the proper balance was reached.

The greatest improvement in the entire paper was in the society columns. Ruth Genevieve Freed transformed the mass of meaningless names carried in former years, to a fascinating, breezy description of "Campus Doin's." More emphasis was placed on sports than ever before, with Allan McGhee in complete charge of the sports page.

CHARLES PLATT

Platt Edits Newsy Sheet

During the second semester, Charles Platt carefully edited as newsy a sheet as any in Collegian history. Leadership in campus thought exerted through the editorial columns was continued, sports was made more concise with Bill Peterson editing the page, and banner heads were frequent. As the first semester, numerous illustrations as pictures of football games, beauty queens, prominent campus visitors and students, and cartoons were used.

Under Platt's editorship, a gossip column was again introduced to the student readers to quiet the clamoring which existed the first semester when no snooper column appeared. Dale Shroff punned "Gristle Grindings by the butcher's brother."

Both Dr. F. D. Farrell, and Dr. S. A. Nock, president and vice-president of the college, were regular contributors the second semester, taking turns writing "Executive Comment."

ABOVE—Reporters pounding out copy in outer Collegian room in Kedzie Hall

The business management of the Collegian was handled both semesters by George Hart. The number of paid subscribers reached a new peak in Collegian history, when 3,961 were listed in October.

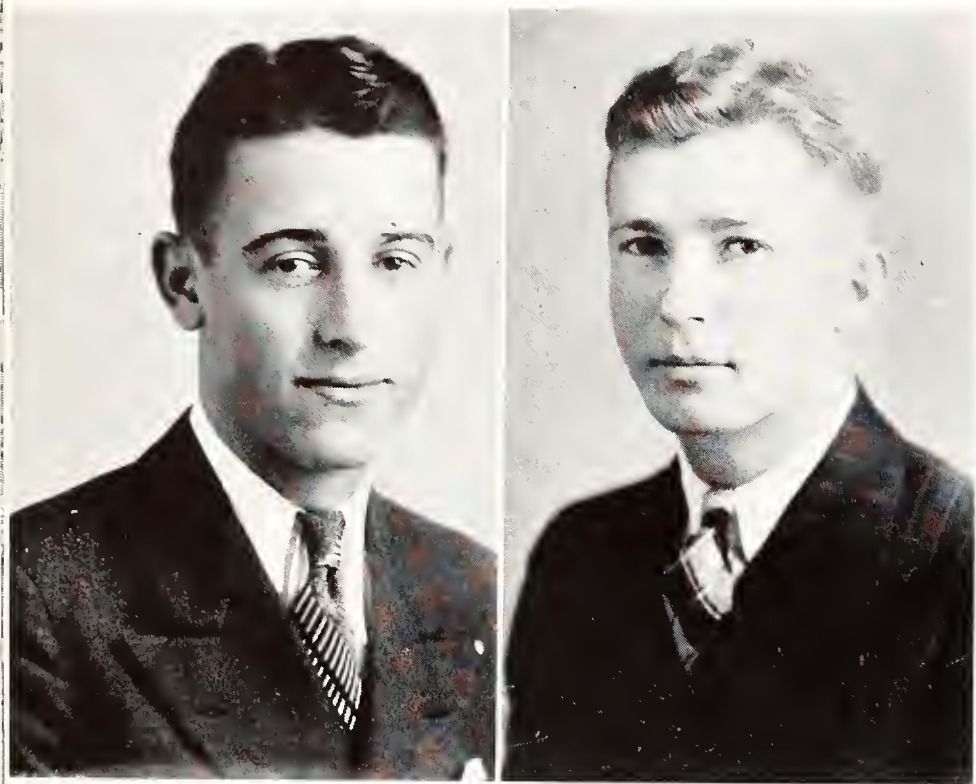

A survey of student buying power was conducted in February and should be of value to future business managers in the solicitation of local advertising. The increased lineage of advertising carried during the year made possible a 6-page paper nearly every Friday, while the regular 4-page size was usual on Tuesday.

Kansas State Engineer, Division Magazine

GRAPHICAL illustrations tastefully selected, interesting editorial content, and neatness in typographical dress in this year's Kansas State Engineer should make it a strong contender to gain an "A" rating from Engineering College Magazines Associated for the third successive year.

Under the leadership of Marvin Shafer, editor, and Max Lyon, business manager, a number of ideas new to the Engineer, were fused into the magazine. Chief among these has been a page in each issue devoted to a picture and brief biographical material on three or more outstanding student engineers. Artistic departmental headings has been another addition of merit.

Unlike some other divisional organs of information, the Kansas State Engineer is written, edited, and published entirely by the students of the Division of Engineering. The magazine is for a large part, self-supporting. Advertising from several of the larger engineering concerns in the country provide the chief revenues. Additional funds required for the publication's operation, are supplied from engineering seminar receipts.

Staff members, the faculty, and active engineers including Kansas State graduates, supply the majority of the articles and departmental material.

Kansas Ag Student, Agricultural Publication

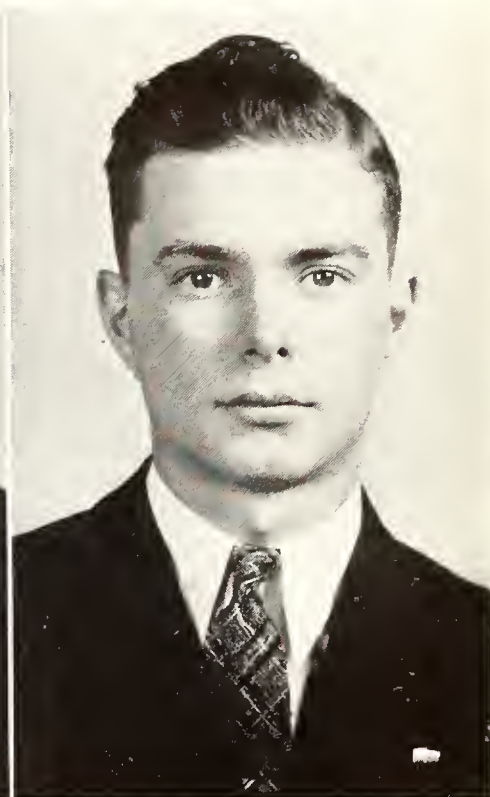

THE Kansas Agricultural Student is an illustrated quarterly magazine published by the Agricultural Association, organized student body of the Division of Agriculture. Faculty and alumni as well as the students, present general contributions and frequently give semi-official reports of the outstanding projects under investigation at the Agricultural Experiment Station. The activities of the student body of the division, student honors, and scholarship reports are recorded, making the issues of the magazine constitute an informal history of the division.

The magazine was established in 1921, the first issue being published in December of that year. Since that time the periodical has continued as the official publication of the association and today is one of the leading magazines of its kind published in the colleges of agriculture in the United States.

The purpose of the publication is to widen the publicity of the college and especially the Division of Agriculture; to record all high points in the history of the division including both scholastic honors and outstanding agricultural activities; to present both practical and semi-technical information on the most commendable farm practices adapted to Kansas conditions; to provide students of the division a publication; and to establish and improve in its readers interest in agricultural affairs. The circulation of the magazine includes the students of the division, a large percentage of the faculty of the division and of closely related departments of the college, the junior colleges and accredited high schools of the state, the leading colleges of agriculture in the United States and former students of the Division of Agriculture.

Student Directory

AN accurate, up-to-date list of students, faculty members, organization presidents and sponsors, and housemothers has been found extremely useful to students and faculty members. This information, together with the constitution of the Students' Governing Association, is compiled in the Student Directory.

Edited this year by George Hart, vice-president of the Student Council, 4,500 Student Directories were distributed. Every student paying the activity fee receives a Directory without charge, as do the heads of each of the college departments. Business firms are sold copies at a price set to cover the cost of printing.

Factual material on each student is entered in the directory from the registration cards in the office of the registrar. Phone number, given and surname, course, classification, home town, and Manhattan address for each student is included. All faculty members are also listed.

Manhattan Theatre Produces Four Plays

THE Manhattan Theatre, in its ninth season, this year presented four shows to crowds composed of students and townspeople. "Laburnam Grove" was presented during the first semester, while the remaining three plays, "Spring Dance," "The House On The Mountain," and "Yellow Jack," were played second semester.

"Laburnam Grove," the first production of the year, was a mystery comedy by J. B. Priestly. The mystery was secondary, comedy being the main intent and smart lines and character contrasts being the devices. But even with only a very slight plot, Mr. Priestly got himself in a tangle and had to unsnarl it by destroying faith in a character he spent two hours inducing the audience to trust.

"Laburnam Grove" was written for professional production but was handled admirably by the college cast. Olive Miller, as Mrs. Baxter, did fine comedy work. Beverly Greene was consistently good as George Redfern, the saint-crook. After his first minute or so, Charles Jones slipped into character as Barnard Baxley, semi-cockney poor but valiant brother-in-law, and did acting of professional character. Dolores Foster and Buford Thomas added a lighter note in their roles of the young romantics.

Mary Frances Davis, as the trusting wife of the hero-crook, who was forced to admit at last that she had had her fingers crossed all the time, had too few minutes on the stage to show her real ability. Clark Waage as Joe Gletten, Jack Antelyes as Inspector

Dolores Foster and Beverly Greene, leads in "Laburnam Grove"

H. MILES HEBERER, director of Manhattan Theatre

Stack, and Walter Fechner as Sergeant Morris, furnished good support in their minor roles.

The second production, "Spring Dance," was Philip Barry's presentation of collegiate life as lived by maidens in a girls' seminary. It pleased the pay customers well up and beyond the point of enthusiasm, and was consequently written down as an outstanding success.

Frances Wright, as Alex Benson, was believable in her sudden, unbelievable changes of mood. Olive Miller did the rowdy role of Mady Platt with so much success she easily carried off the comedy honors. Dolores Foster and Jane Fleming were excellent in their extravagant, school-girl-type assignments. Irene Croy handled well a trifle-more-sensible role of Kate McKim. Dorothy Mae Shrack was amusing as a hard-boiled housemaid, and chewed her gum delightfully. Eleanor Parrott made only three brief housemotherly appearances but they were fine comedy.

"Spring Dance" was a girls' show. Boys didn't have a big chance in the play. Thaine Engle, as Sam Thatcher, played the part of a serious young man who had big ideas about a career. William McDanel, playing a dead-pan role, made every line count for at least a chuckle. James Chapman, as Professor Walter Beckett, added his bit to the girls' plot to keep Sam

Drama in "Spring Dance" with June Fleming, Olive Miller, Mrs. Eleanor Parrott, and James Chapman

Thatcher from leaving for Russia. Albert Worrel did well in a role called "Hat," and Charles Mitchell and James Seaton appeared as the two Harvard men.

"Spring Dance" was a very entertaining show—

perhaps the most popular one given by the Manhattan Theatre players during the last few years.

An All-Girl Cast in Third Play

Production number three of the Theatre was a melodrama, "The House On The Mountain," by Cyril Campion. This presentation was a delightful, solution-defying, mystery play. It was thoroughly enjoyed by the audience both evenings.

The plot centered around a necklace stolen from Una Verity, ably played by Jean Gibbs. Una Verity's aunt, Mrs. Spate, portrayed by Helen Beth Coats, tried to keep the house in order and the scandal out of the papers. Frances Wright, as the woman detective, Pamela Dark, called in to solve the mystery, did so with many unexpected turns. Mary Jane McComb and Elizabeth Brooks, as visiting schoolmates of Miss Verity's, and Margaret Isenbart, playing the part of the faithful housekeeper, added comedy to the production. Virginia Ray played the role of Janet Garner, the would-be psychic young lady who wanted to solve the mystery by holding a seance. Mrs. Ada Schroeder was consistently good in her role of Dora Lester. None would believe her guilty until she was proved so at the climax of the play. The cleverly-written play had all the "audience detectives" fooled. Rosemary Parisa as Maud, the maid, did well in her too few appearances on the stage.

Bill McDanel clowns in Spring Dance to the amusement of Mrs. Irene Cory, June Fleming, Olive Miller, Dolores Foster and Frances Wright

"Yellow Jack," the last play of the Manhattan Theatre season, was a contemporary classic. It was based on the dramatic chapter of Paul de Kruif's "Microbe Hunters," telling the story of man's struggle against and final victory over the dread yellow fever. Written by Sidney Howard, one of America's foremost dramatists, the play impressed the critics when it was presented in New York. Leonard Bacon said about "Yellow Jack," "As far as my experience goes, this is the greatest play ever written by any American." Brooks Atkinson said, "One of the most original and remarkable dramas we have had in the contemporary American theatre."

"Heb" likes "Yellow Jack"

H. Miles Heberer, play coach, commented on the show by saying, "I have wanted to produce 'Yellow Jack' for three seasons. Not until now have I had the experienced group of men necessary for the cast. I think this will be the finest production of the past several years."

"Yellow Jack" was an unusual play, with a cast of nearly forty men and but one woman. The show ran continuously for two hours with the stage divided into three sections. The action shifted from one scene to another, the curtain never coming down until the end.

The last production of the Theatre last year was "Journey's End," by R. C. Sheriff. It portrayed vividly life in the English trenches during the World War. The audience smiled and suffered with the characters. They could understand why Captain Stanhope, played by Leo Ayers, was driven to drink. They realized the position of Lieutenant Osborne, portrayed by William McDanel, as he tried to soften the disillusionment of young second Lieutenant Raleigh, played by Thaine Engle, as his hero. Second Lieutenant Hibbert, played by Beverly Greene, finally cracked under the strain. He went berserk. Second Lieutenant Trotter, portrayed by Charles Jones, was the kind of a man who could relieve the tension when it neared the breaking point. Captain Hardy, played by Milton Kliever, and his men moved out just before the big push. The remaining characters, all realistically played, were Private Mason, Jack Lane; Company Sergeant-Major, Stanley Morris; the Colonel, Kenneth Johnson; German soldier, James Gatchell; and a private soldier, Gerald Wexler.

"Journey's End" easily took first honors among the Theatre productions of the 1936 season.

Debaters Participate In 68 Contests This Year

CLEAR logical thinking, hard work, and practicality were the key-words of this year's debate activities of Kansas State College. The debaters received practical experience speaking before audiences such as civic clubs, farm organizations, and high school assemblies.

The debate schedule included 68 debates, eight more than last year. These debates were handled by 24 debaters, and about 16 less than last year. Debates were held with representatives from 20 different schools and included in this year's schedule were 16 radio debates, presented over seven different stations. Weekly discussions by members of the debate squad and debaters from other schools were broadcast by the college radio station, KSAC. In addition, 18 freshmen debates with four different colleges were held, seven Kansas State students taking part.

Old age pensions, government ownership of utilities, and consumer cooperatives were the favorite questions this year. In addition, 12 other questions were used.

Evidence of Dr. Summers' practicality is the fact that three years ago it was through his efforts that the

H. B. SUMMERS

Student Legislative Assembly was instituted. The first one of these was held on the Kansas State College campus, but since then they have been held in the state capitol building in Topeka. There certain officials of the State of Kansas help the students along in following legislative procedure. This year Pi Kappa Delta, national forensic fraternity, asked for the privilege of sponsoring them.

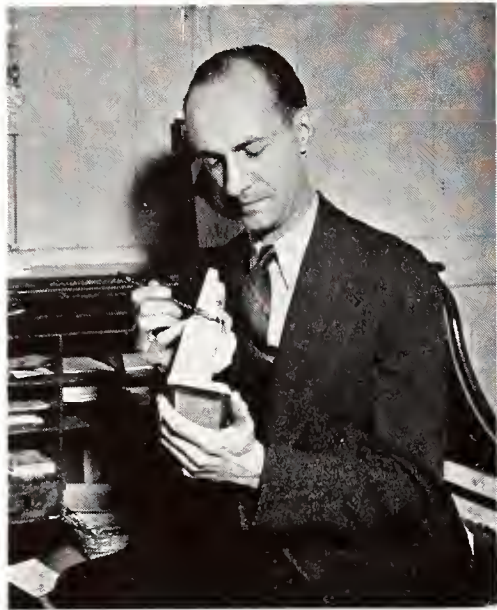

Climaxing and concluding this year's debate activity was a six speaker discussion on subsidation of athletics. This introduced a new type of debate work in which each speaker took a different view point.

Student Orators Vie For Speech Awards

ORATORICAL activity at Kansas State this year was confined in the main to the annual inter-society contest of literary organizations and the preliminary competition for the Missouri Valley Forensic League Oratorical Contest.

KINGSLEY W. GIVEN

For the second consecutive year, a representative of the Browning Literary Society won first place in the inter-society oratorical contest. This year marked the thirty-seventh annual contest since its inception in 1901. In all that time, none of the literary societies has won three consecutive firsts in order to win permanently the cup that goes with the first award.

This year, as he has been doing since his arrival as an instructor at Kansas State, Kingsley W. Given coached the inter-society orators. First place went to Alice Sloop, home economics student from Nortonville, and second place to Leora Hubbell, general science student from Fredonia.

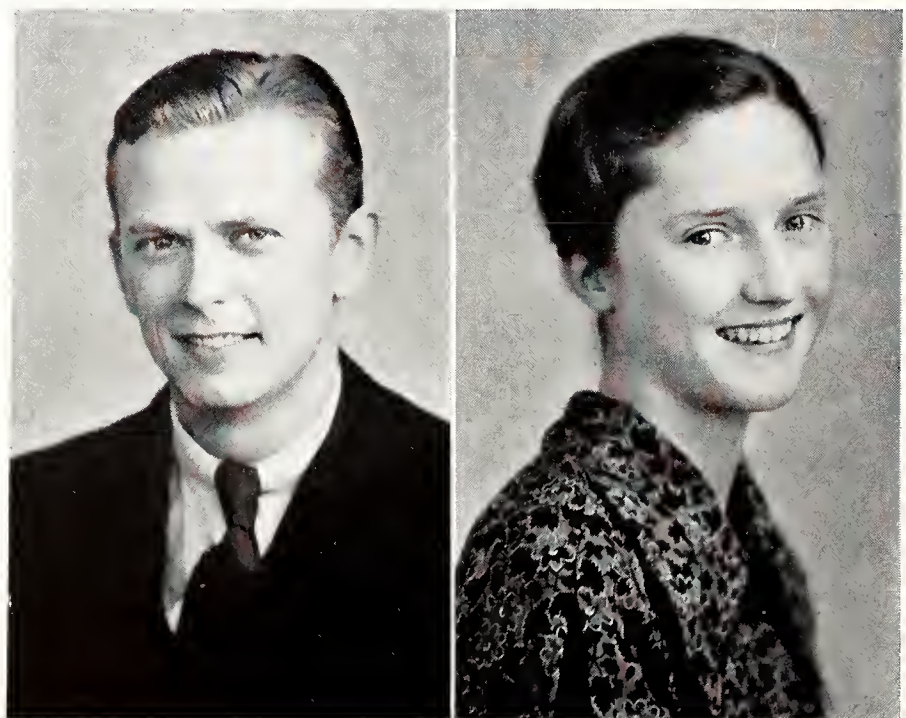

Washington University at St. Louis was host to the participants in the Missouri Valley Forensic League Oratorical Contest this year, a contest composed of the oratorical contest, an extempore speaking contest and a debate tournament. Kansas State was represented by Howard Crawford who spoke on "Socialism in the New Deal" in the extempore contest, and by Karl William Schroeder speaking on radio, "Voice of the Master," in the oratorical contest. Both speakers were coached by Dr. Howard T. Hill, head of the public speaking department.

Station KSAC Launches Student Radio Careers

WITH courses offered both by the departments of industrial journalism and public speaking, Kansas State offers its students probably the greatest opportunity for radio participation of any school in the midwest.

Dramatic skits, news programs, interviews, musical programs—in fact, every type of radio presentation is given during the year, with the students writing, directing, and presenting the continuity. In addition, special events such as the Royal Purple Beauty Ball, the Military Ball, and Engineers' Open House, requiring evening broadcasts are handled entirely by the students under faculty supervision.

Being licensed as an educational station, the administration is rigid in its demands that all programs presented over KSAC be of an educational nature. This, however, does not prevent experimentation with numerous ideas in an attempt to increase listener interest in the college radio station.

The highlight of the year's broadcasting activities was the presentation of an hour's program over the National Broadcasting Company network during the Farm and Home Hour in October. H. Miles Heberer directed an original continuity entitled, "The Fifth Slice." An innovation in the dramatic portion of the program was the use of a speaking chorus of blended voices, which worked with moderate success.

Broadcast periods other than those regularly specified through the day, are arranged through WIBW, Topeka, which shares time with KSAC on the 580 kilocycle frequency. The increasing number of Kansas State alumni in the professional radio field, who as undergraduates participated in programs over KSAC, is proof of the value of the experience.

Band's Stirring Rhythm Livens College Gatherings

THE college band is one of the "good-will ambassadors" of Kansas State College. It appears on important college programs and at concerts in neighboring communities. Its uniforms are a symbol of the college and its music is a stirring and rhythmic addition to various programs. Its capable and efficient director is Prof. Lyle Downey.

At the opening of the school year Professor Downey holds tryouts for all men interested in becoming members of the band. During the football season, the members are thoroughly trained in martial music and drilled in the colorful and complicated marching figures with which they form a major part of the football spectacle.

Orchestral Training Is Offered To All Students

A musical organization open to all students desiring a thorough training in symphonic music, opera, and oratorio work, is the college orchestra. The members of the orchestra have gained their place by competitive tryouts conducted by Prof. Lyle Downey, director of the orchestra.

The efficient work of the orchestra is due to the thorough drilling on individual and group instrumental proficiency at practices. The orchestra appears as radio background music for college broadcasts, at student assembly programs, as an oratorio accompaniment for the "Messiah", in an annual spring concert, and finishes the season with the processions and

A popular activity, not only among music preference students but among students from all divisions as well, is the work in glee club singing. Three groups, one men's glee club and two women's clubs, compose the choral unit of the college.

These three clubs combine with the college orchestra for an annual presentation of Handel's most famous oratorio, the "Messiah," which is given each Christmas holiday season.

The Men's Glee Club, under the direction of Prof. William Lindquist, is composed of the best male voices in the school. Competitive tryouts are held and members selected generally first appear at the state teachers' meeting held in the early fall. The Men's Glee Club may be heard at intervals throughout the school year at assemblies, on Farm and Home Week programs, and in radio continuity.

Many other forms of musical entertainment are presented annually by members of the music department. Sunday afternoon vespers are devoted to recitals of faculty members and members of Mu Phi Epsilon, honorary musical farternity for women.

The Kansas State Music Teacher's Association convened at Manhattan this year and brought many famous musicians to the campus.

Such celebrities as Rudolph Ganz, pianist; Michael Press, violinist; and Herbert Gould, bass cantante, presented recitals and conducted master classes to which students interested in these phases of music might have instruction. Other musical attractions on the campus this year included Otto Miesner, music educator, McKee-Hatch, duo pianists, and Bohumir Kryl and his orchestra.

THE Women's Glee Clubs are two of the most effective choral organizations on the campus of Kansas State College. Competitive tryouts are held at the beginning of the school year for those women who wish to study all forms of music. Never in the history of Kansas State has the enrollment of the glee clubs been as great, and interest in choral work has mounted to a new height.

There are two women's glee clubs. One is under the direction of Prof. Edwin Sayre, and the other a study group under Prof. Hilda Grossman. The group under Professor Sayre numbers about seventy-five while that of Hilda Grossman's is somewhat smaller.

These women's voices are heard first in combination with the men's group as the groups united present Handel's "Messiah." The Christmas assembly is one of the loveliest programs the women's clubs appear on during the school year. For Farm and Home Week, radio programs, teachers' meetings, assemblies, these voices may be heard at their best. As Ag Orpheum approaches, the glee club is featured in a lighter type of music, with costume and dance steps which add to the ensemble work.

The Four Flats

THE Four Flats quartet is one of the vocal groups under the direction of Prof. Edwin Sayre. This quartet appears many times during the school year at student social functions, Aggie Pop, Ag Orpheum and on radio programs. This year's members were Dudley Flint, first tenor; Lloyd Mordy, second tenor; Vernon Rector, first bass; and George Eberhart, second bass.

Livestock Judging Team

FIRST place was won by the Kansas State College livestock judging team at the International contest at Chicago this year among the 27 teams representing leading colleges and universities of the United States and Canada. At the American Royal, with 15 teams competing, Kansas State placed seventh on all classes of livestock. Prof. F. W. Bell is coach of the team.

In recognition of the outstanding record made by these students in their final contest at Chicago, the National Block and Bridle Club awarded a sterling silver plaque to the college, and the famous "Bronze Bull" trophy was presented to the winning team for a year by the Union Stockyards Company.

Dairy Products Judgers

THE Kansas State College dairy products judging team, under the direction of Prof. W. H. Martin, ranked eleventh among 18 teams entered in the annual Student National Contest in judging dairy products, which was held at Atlantic City, N. J., this year. The dairy products judging contest is one of the features held in connection with the Annual Dairy Industries Exposition.

The judging of dairy products as a student activity at Kansas State College was started in 1926, and teams have competed annually since that time.

Dairy Cattle Judgers

THE Kansas State dairy cattle judging team placed second at the National Dairy Show, Dallas, where Canada and 19 states were represented. The same team, coached by Prof. H. W. Cave, placed fourth at the Dairy Cattle Congress at Waterloo, Iowa, in competition with nine teams. Charles Beer was fifth highest in individual scores with a total of 677 points.

The Students' Dairy Club, on Thursday preceding the national contest, entertained teams from seven states going through to Dallas. In Dallas the team members spent some time at the Texas Centennial Exposition.

Crops Judging Team

THE Kansas State crops judging team entered contests at Kansas City and Chicago in 1936-37. Eight teams competed in each contest and Kansas State, represented by Kenneth Fisher, Robert Latta, J. Dean Lerew, and Darrell Morey, finished third at Kansas City.

The team placed second in identification, third in commercial grading, and sixth in judging. Darrell Morey tied for high score in identification. Each individual on the team was awarded a bronze medal by the Kansas City Board of Trade and Kansas State was awarded a $50 scholarship. At Chicago, the college finished in seventh place with Robert Latta third in individual scores in commercial grading. Prof. J. W. Zahnley is the team coach.

Apple Judging Team

BY winning 6,310 out of a possible 6,675 points, the Kansas State apple judging team, coached by Prof. W. F. Pickett, made a clean sweep of the Intercollegiate Apple Judging Contest at Ames, Iowa, on November 14. All four first places were conceded members of the team. The individual placings were as follows: Lyle Murphy, first; Charles Lobenstein, second; Orville Hodson, third, and Anton Horn (alternate), fourth.

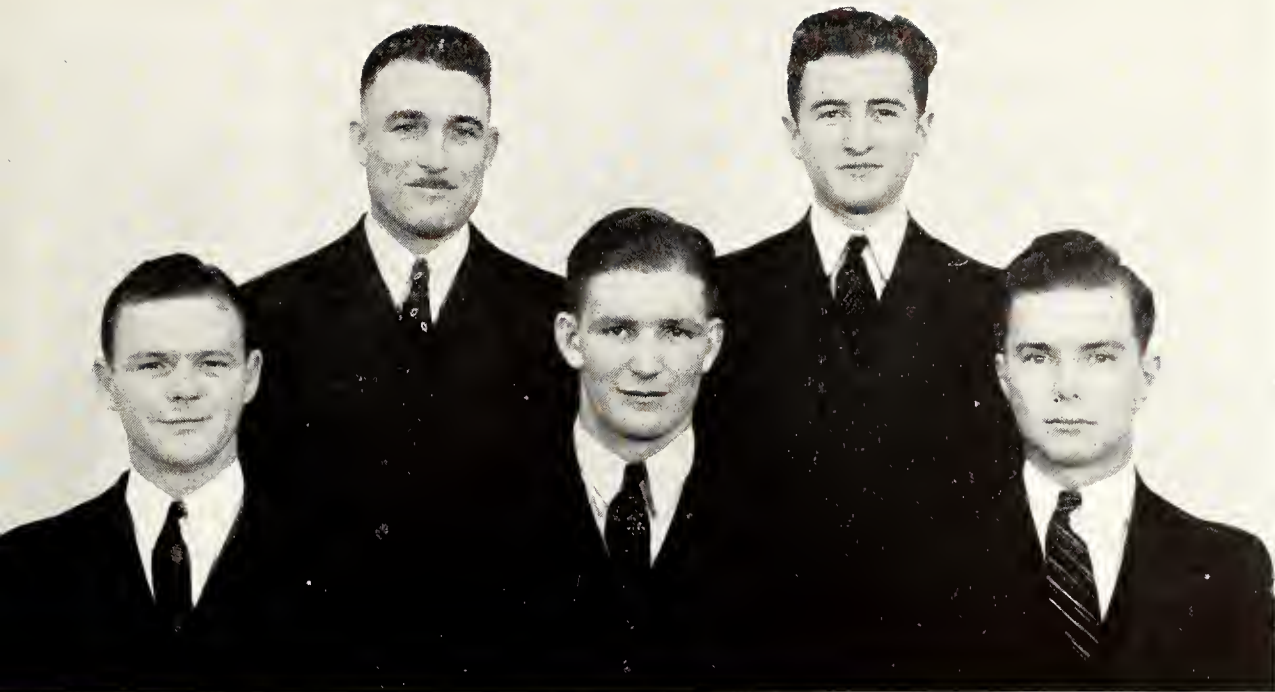

The Department of Horticulture was one of the first Kansas State College departments to sponsor judging teams and the first apple judging team was selected in 1909. The team was awarded a bronze plaque this year.

Meat Judging Team

TWO contests sponsored by the National Livestock and Meat Board were entered this year by the Kansas State College men's meat judging team. Prof. D. L. Mackintosh coached the team and accompanied them on the trips to Kansas City for the contest at the Cudahy Packing Plant during the American Royal, and to Chicago for the contest at the Wilson Packing Company during the International Livestock Exposition. Kansas State placed fifth in a field of seven teams at Kansas City and ninth in a field of twelve teams at Chicago.

Home Ec Judging Team

BY winning first place in both contests in which it competed this fall, the Kansas State home economics meat judging and identification team maintained its record of not having been defeated in a contest since 1931. At the American Royal at Kansas City, Frances Aicher was high with a new record of placing all classes correctly in the judging. In the Mid-West Identification and Judging contest held at Wichita, Kansas State met teams from the University of Nebraska and Oklahoma A. and M. Since the team has won the National Livestock and Meat Board circulating trophy for three consecutive times, it will remain in the permanent possession of the college.

The Poultry Club

THE Poultry Club, which has been functioning for several years, consists of the poultry faculty, graduate students, and all undergraduate majors in poultry husbandry. The club supervises the poultry seminar, which meets once each week during the first semester. At these meetings, talks are given by members or guest speakers. The club sponsors other activities such as the high school judging contest and poultry judging teams. It also assists with special poultry meetings at the college.

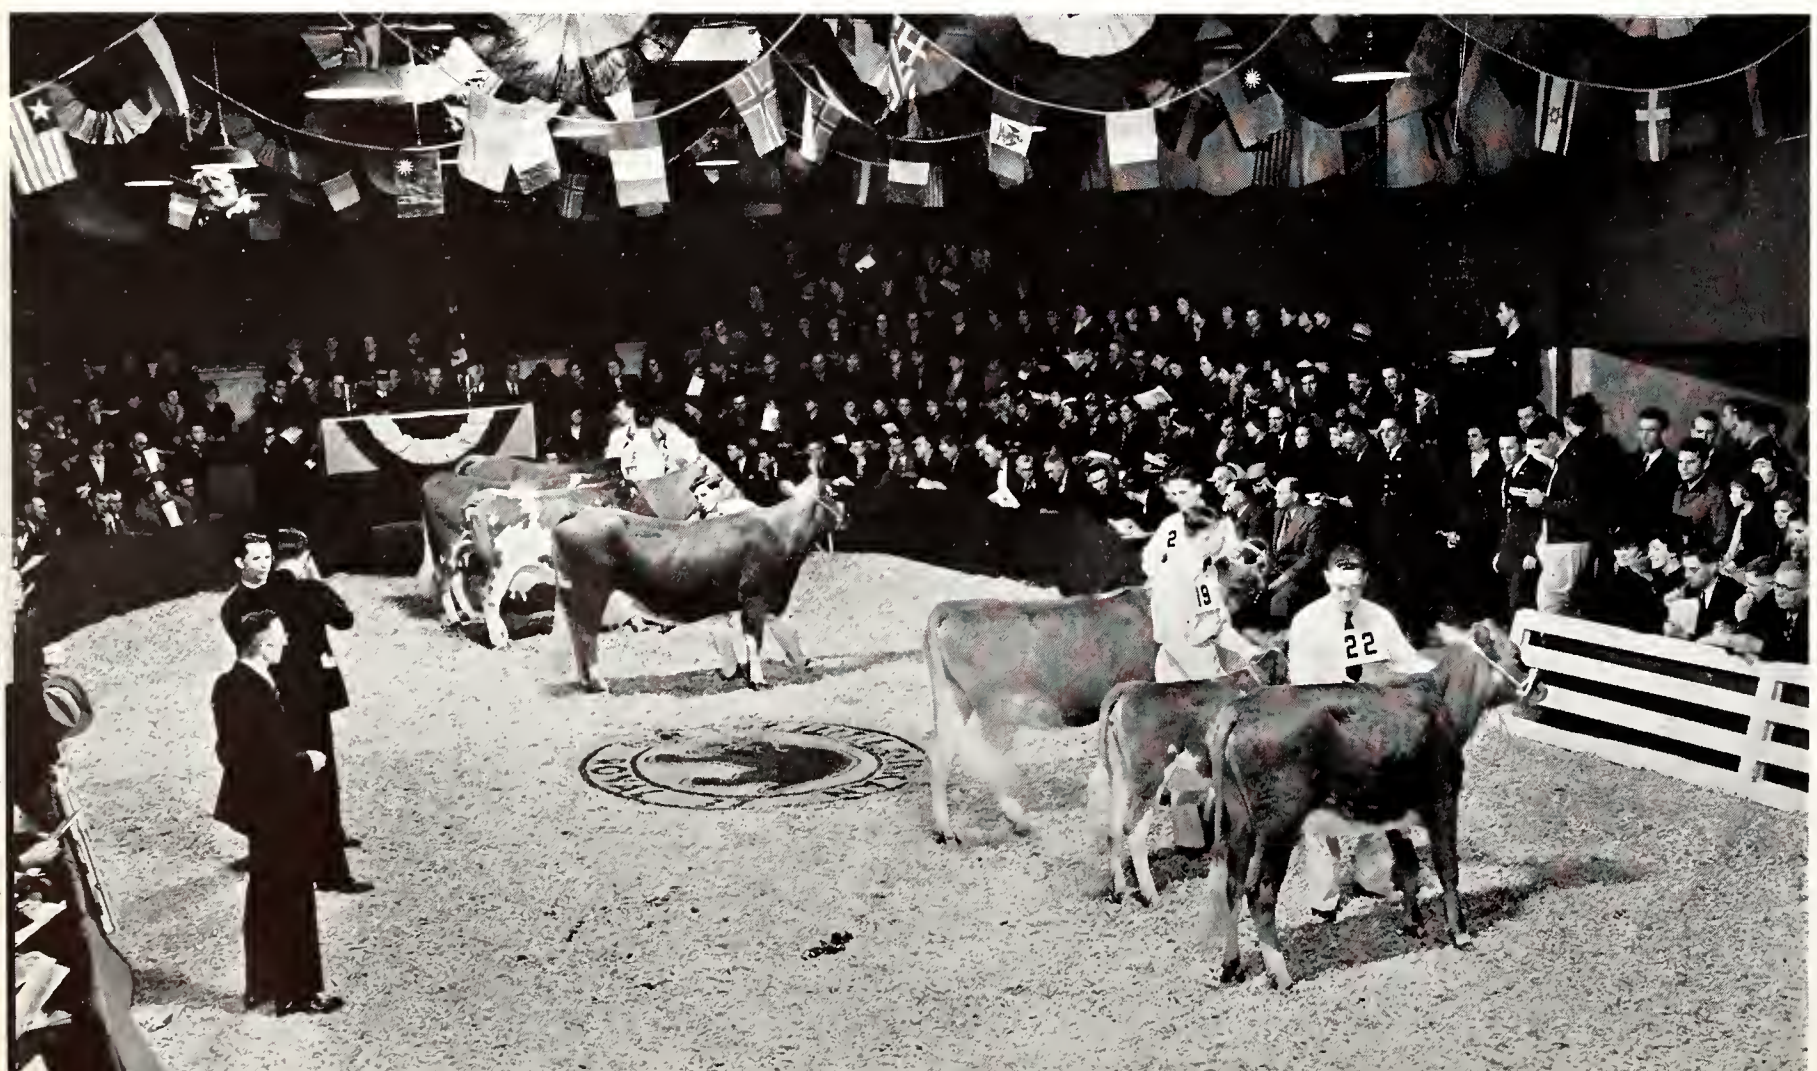

Social activities are not neglected. A picnic is held each fall for the poultry faculty, their families, and all poultry students. In the spring, a broiler barbecue is held. At Easter an annual egg roast is held.

Officers this year were M. H. Radi, president; Leonard Kropp, vice-president; Marshall West, secretary, Frank Santo, treasurer.

Little American Royal

THE Little American Royal Show is sponsored jointly by the Agriculture Association, Block and Bridle, and Dairy clubs for the benefit of Farm and Home Week visitors. All animals shown are owned by the college, but are assigned to the various entrants three weeks prior to the show. Awards are based on the improvement the entrant makes in the appearance of his animal during the allotted time, and on his ability to present his animal in the show ring.

In 1937, 115 animals were exhibited before a crowd of over 1,000 Farm and Home Week visitors. Dean Dicken of Winfield won the grand championship award in the Block and Bridle division and in the Dairy division, the award was made to Walter Robinson of Nashville. Silver trophies are awarded winners by the American Royal Livestock Show of Kansas City.

Senior Men's Panhellenic

ESTABLISHMENT of a "C" average requirement for initiation of fraternity pledges was an important accomplishment of the Senior Men's Panhellenic this year. Its general purpose and function is cooperation in solving problems common to the 20 national fraternity chapters at Kansas State College.

Good feeling among the fraternities can be traced largely to the efforts of the Senior Men's Panhellenic which presented a loving cup to the fraternity house best decorated for homecoming. Membership is composed of one member from each house and meetings are held once every two weeks.

Senior Women's Panhellenic Council

SENIOR Women's Panhellenic Council unites the Greek women on the campus in government and friendly feeling. Several revisions of the rush rules were made by the council this year including setting up the date for rush week for women one day to give place to Freshman Week.

To stimulate good feeling among the Greeks, the council sponsored a traditional and non-competitive sing. The council sent representatives to the Panhellenic convention in Kansas City, Kansas, April 9 and 10.

VAN Zile Hall, which this year accommodated 130 women, is under the general supervision of Dean Van Zile, who was active in the support of the project as an ideal college home. Mrs. Nina N. Rhoades, chaperon, assists with the arrangements of various social affairs including parties, teas, and dinners.

Student residents may reduce their living expenses by working under a new cooperative plan of operation at the hall. Institutional economics students also spend a semester at the hall to obtain practical experience in institutional management.

First semester officers this year were Georgiana Avery, president; Laurabelle Whiteside, vice-president; Marie Clennin, secretary; Marjorie McCall, treasurer, Mildred Mundell, social chairman, and Marjorie Kittell, sports chairman. Second semester officers were Marjorie McCall, president; Pauline Sherwood, vice-president; Leora Hubbell, secretary; Laurabelle Whiteside, treasurer; Marie Clennin, social chairman, and Marjorie Kittell, sports chairman.

Royal Purple Beauties

IT was Dick Powell of screen and radio fame upon whom fell the difficult task of picking the four most beautiful girls of Kansas State College this year. His choice was made from pictures of 27 candidates sent to him in the fall. The candidates were nominated by petition and represented each organized house of girls.

Announcement of the winners was made by the editor and business manager at the annual semi-formal Royal Purple Ball, held at the Wareham Ballroom on January 15, and attended by more than 600 students. A 45 minute broadcast of the ball was made over station KSAC.

Dear Jack McClung:

I am inclosing herewith twenty-seven pictures of REAL Royal Purple Beauty.

As I always am, I am sorry to have found it necessary to cut the number from twenty-seven to four, but please tell the other twenty-three for me that they need never feel disappointed. They too, are tops.

Sincerely yours,

Dear Oscar,

The folks just gave me the glad tidings that you are coming to Kansas State next fall. Glad to hear it. Just to give you an edge on the other green freshmen who are bound to blow in next fall, I am going to give you a little dope on how things are run around here—kinda tone your green down to a light purple.

Man to man, it is important that you get acquainted with our Manhattan merchants. They're a pleasant bunch, easy to know, and real characters. Take a squint at some of these sketches, and then see if you don't recognize the places and fellows when you get here. For instance:

"Rap"

"Dick"

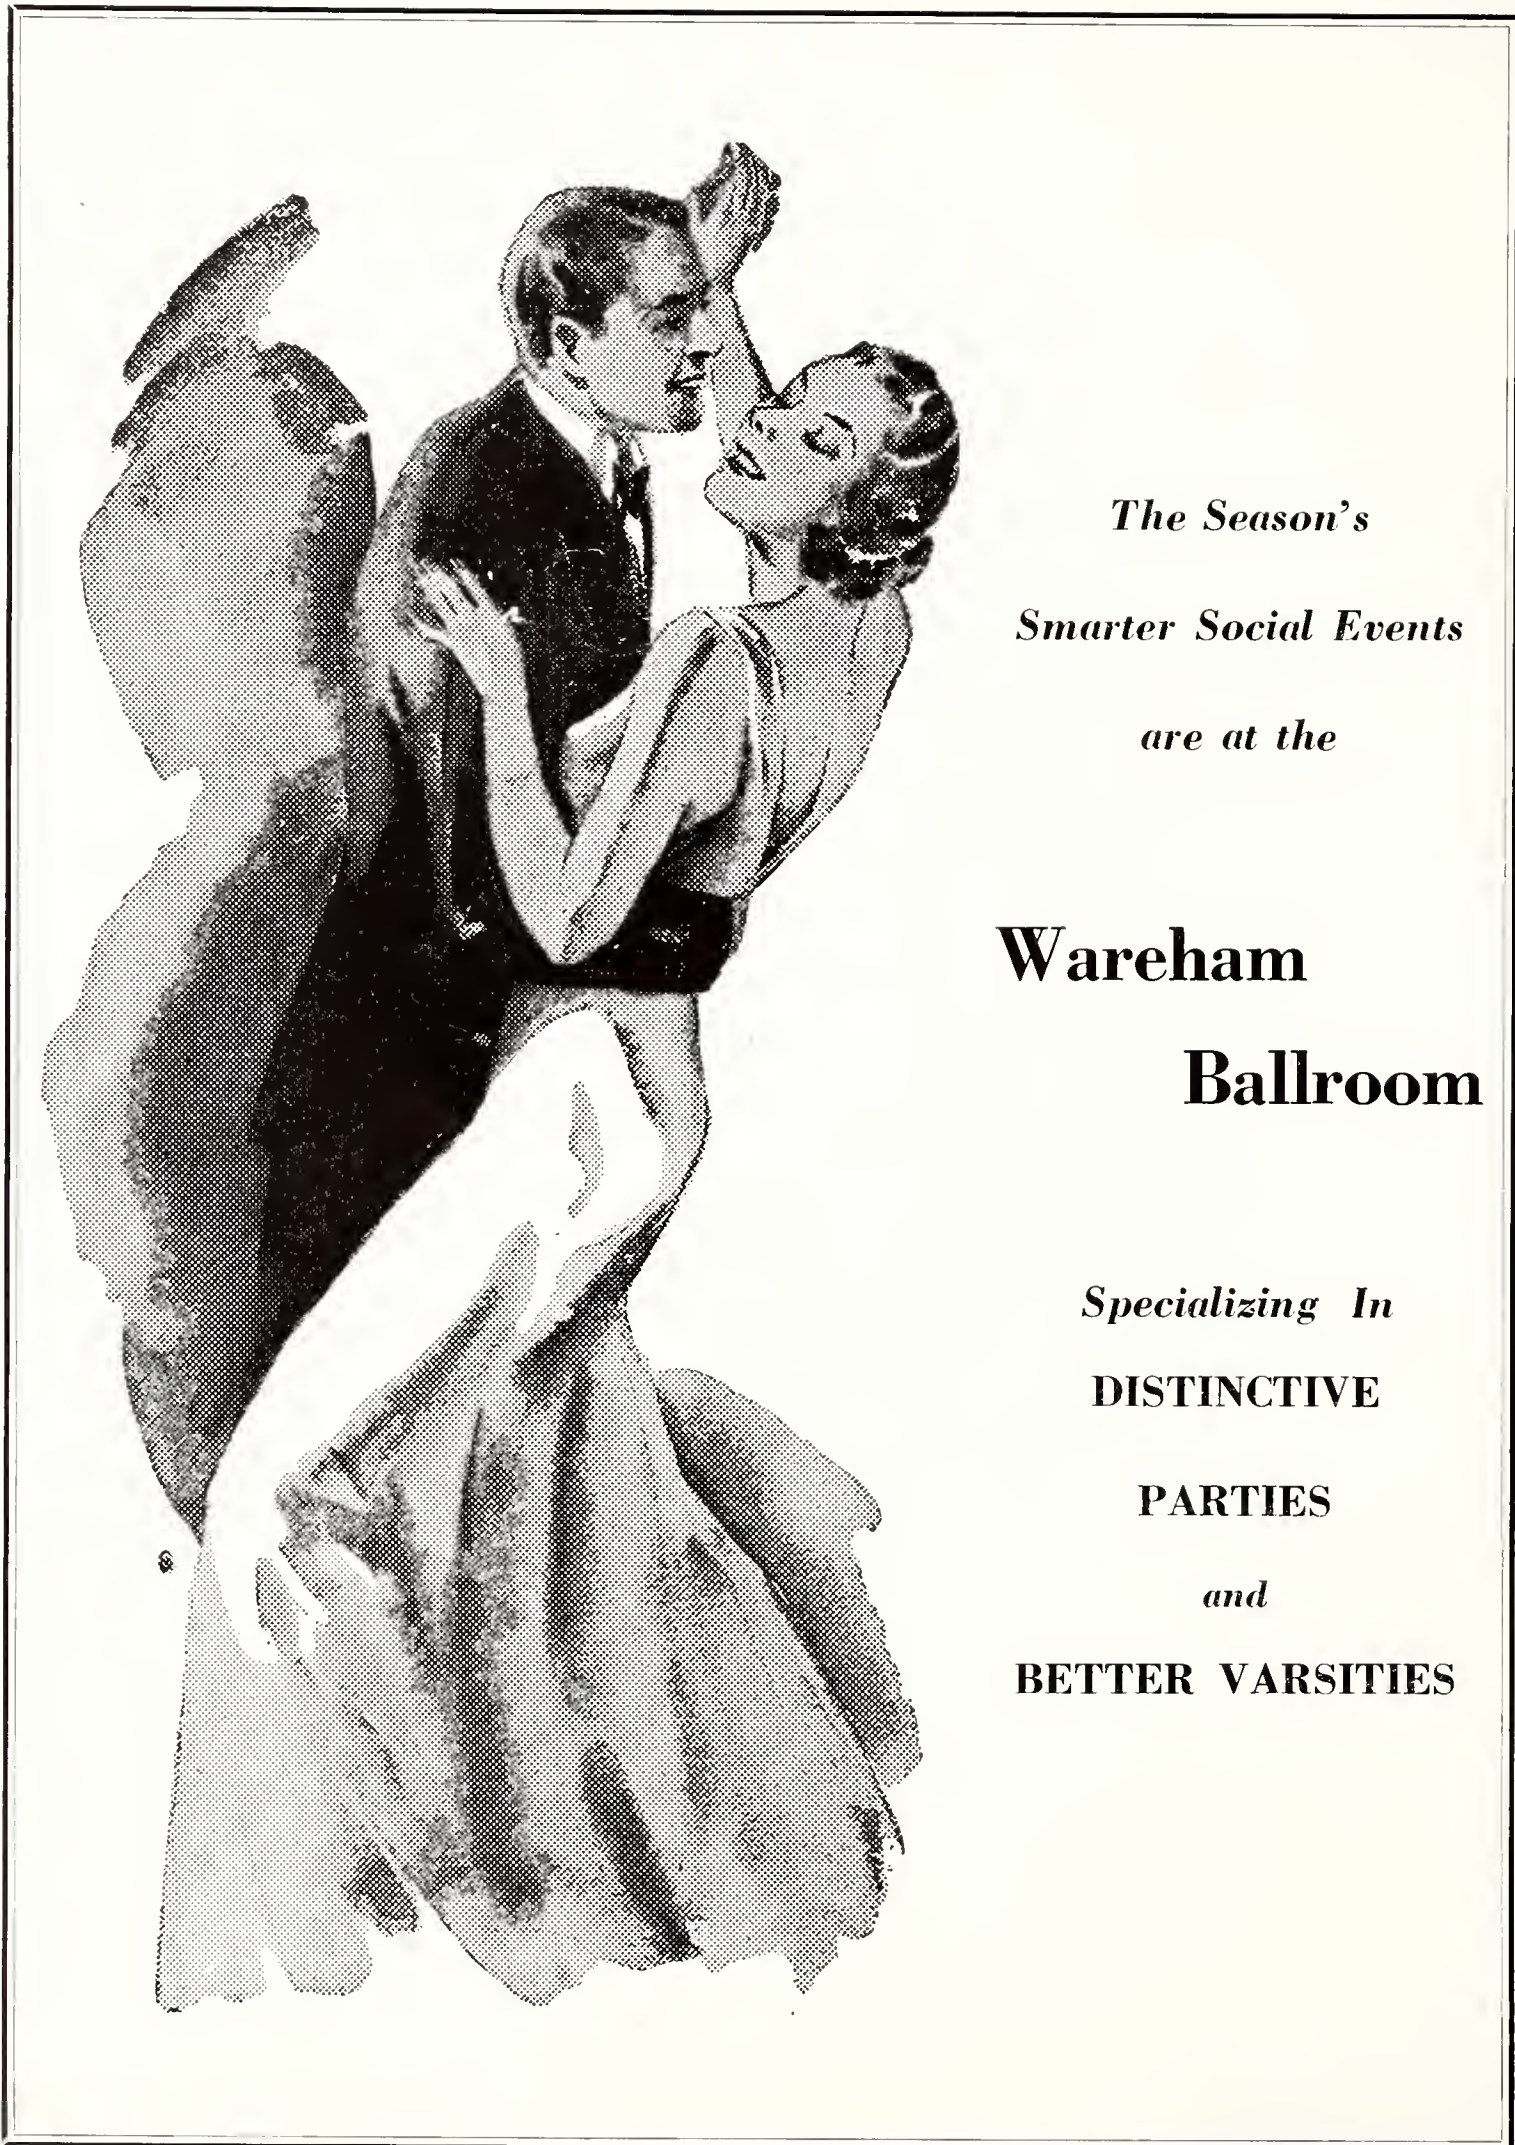

"Pat"

"George"

"Bob"

This is one bunch of fellows you should get to know as soon as you arrive. They can sell you anything a polished man will wear. They are real school boosters, and make more noise at a football game than the student body. They will protect you from such outrages as purple neckties and yellow shirts, and dress you like a model for Esquire. All of which goes to show—clothes make the college man.

*Presenting a Columnist's
Calendar and Directory*

A great educator once remarked, "College is just like a washing machine: you get out of it just what you put into it—even if you don't recognize it."

Profound advocates of this theory are the parents of journalists whose plight in life falls so low that they become "dirt" columnists: it's just as columnist Dale "Brody" Shroff's parents wrote him this spring, "Haven't you anything to do at college besides make a fool of yourself?"

And hence comes the yearbook-editor's worst job: to find a gullible soul who will sit down and attempt to write "stuff" that is humorous (?!), that people will read (and look at the ads beside it), and that won't get the editor in too much hot water.

When that gullible soul is found and accepts, he (1) sneaks off for help from inmates of a certain well-known state institution in Topeka, (2) copies a 1924-8 Brown Bull word for word, or (3) gets drunk, writes his stuff, and turns it in the next morning without looking to see what he wrote. (Which of these procedures was followed by this columnist, we refuse to state).

Competition is the Life of Business . . .

WHEN IT'S COMPETITION OF QUALITY—NOT PRICE!

IN your business, you have competition . . .
some of it is inferior and ineffectual . . .
some equal in character and quality to your own. But your firm aims to achieve and hold its leadership through superiority in quality and in workmanship and service. If your competitor uses better printing than you do . . .
sooner or later, it's going to cost you some money. If you compete for business on a quality basis, then you must use BETTER
Printing than your competitors do. Producing BETTER Printing is our business. Like you, we have competition—we are glad of it be-

MATT E. JONES, Dial 3015

Rather than fill this humor (?!) section with merely the trite expressions of our candid opinions of people who inhabit this institution, we this year are introducing, in this section, a new innovation: material of an instructional and educational nature.

This material comes to you in two forms: (1) a college calendar and (2) a directory of people and places.

College Calendar

It is our heart-felt contention that the reporting of school events through the year is suppressed, intentionally or unintentionally, to a common form of reporting that varies little from year to year. For that reason, we submit the following as the unbiased-by-conventionalities angle of events of the year.

September 8-11. Girls rush week: the annual prevaricator's contest that vies only with the World War in violence of action and underhanded tactics, at which the Tri Deltas must have won because their offensive tactics were complained of most bitterly by the Chi Omegas, the Kappas, and the Pi Phis. It is even rumored their complaint

September 12-14. Mens Rush Week: The Betas rented the Gillett hotel for the occasion and hid some of the better boys under the rugs. At an appropriate time they moved the boys, including a few bellhops and janitors who were caught in the rush, from the Gillett into the country mansion at 500 Plowed Ground. The Deltas were able to convince two boys they should move their clothes from the moth-ridden closets of the Pi K A house to the Delt house so they could listen to Ivan Wassberg tell of his abilities as a football player.

September 18. The annual Panhellenic open house: This was the occasion for the cellar gang to get a good glimpse of the new pledges. Fraternity freshmen were warned to wear ties and coats and to be sure to wear shoes all evening (not because of the vulgarity attached but for the safety-factor which is involved in walking over smooth floors instead of listed wheat fields.) Delta Delta Delta won the mythical cup for keeping open longer than any sorority after the 10:30 closing time.

September 20. The Alpha Delt girls boasted that they had two of the girls engaged already. This was the first kill in the jewelry hunt of the season. The Don't Don't Don't girls were green with envy for the DDD's usually are the big timers in the collection and return of Mr. Balfour's products.

September 20-27. Annual sneak week: The theory of the "sneaks" is to provide entertainment to the girl neophytes and to get them acquainted with "some nice boys." This year it was the Alpha Delta girls and the Kappa Sigma boys—old timers will remember when it would have been a social error for the Alpha Delt and the Sigma Nu's not to go together. The Delt escorted the Chi O's on a rampage while the Pi Phi envigled the Betas. The Kappa-Sigma Nu duet nearly cost the Sigma Nu's the two boys they pledged this year who nearly had a nervous breakdown because they couldn't find a third date for the crop of Kappa pledges. The SAE and Tri Delt sneak turned out to be quite an active affair. Most of the SAE freshmen were left home while the active chapter escorted the Gold Diggers of Laramie street to the Country Club.

September 26.—Two inches of rain fell during the Hays football game. The water fell so hard and so fast that it was impossible for even the Pi K A's to get intoxicated at the game.

October (near the first): George Eicholtz finally got his name mentioned in a favorable manner by more than one person. A Chi Omega pledge said to the blonde curly-headed prexy of Sigma Nu, "Isn't it just too nice to be a freshman?"

October 2. The only significant thing the Clovia girls could point with pride to was stolen. The sign hanging over the entrance of their shanty disappeared. After an intensive search by half a CCC camp, it was found hanging over the door of Bob Dill's closet.

October 2. The all college mixer: (This usually provides about as much entertainment as a radio broadcast by Harpo Marx). As two Pi K A's— from Independence, maybe—ignobly hid in the shrubbery near the campus to escape the accusing eye of the law, the Mix-up continued in full sway. When they emerged from the shrubbery, looking more like brush-apes than usual, the party had been over for two hours.

October 3. This is quoted directly from the minutes of the White-House-Tavern-Able-to-Buy-Beer-After-Twelve-O'clock-Club—"The club met during the weekend as usual at the club house, with Bacchus presiding. Following a short business meeting, a short, tiresome talk was given by Richard Gundy, on "The Contents of a Vacuum." An election of officers was held, with Bob Kane elected president; Bill Kelley, vice-president; Skeets Olive, keeper of the opener; and Redeye Divine, chief goat-getter; the secretary-treasurer's job was hotly disputed but it was decided to let various members of the PiKA house hold this job because some of them would be at the club house all of the time anyway."

October 6. The Kansas State Free Fair at Topeka drew many of the student population to its dens of evil. The Sig Eps, seeing that it was a "free" fair turned out enmass. Their escapade during the evening besides patting each other on the back and laughing at each other's crumbly jokes consisted in getting thrown out of the "Streets of Paris."

October 8. The social season began in full sway. Late dating began to become increasingly popular. The Kappas still stole all shows in variety and quantity. In fact one night a car drove behind the Kappa domicile, the horn honked, and Sullivan slipped merrily out of the bushes and said, "Who is it and whom do you want?" While we don't believe that story, it sounds good anyway. (In case you are interested we'll prove it's a falsehood. In the first place late-dating is so common at the Kappa house a car wouldn't drive to the back of the house, and secondly, Sullivan wouldn't say the grammatically-correct "WHOM do you want?")

October 10. A local bootlegger was caught as he passed the Beta house but his wares were not seized. It was said that three of the stronger boys were able to attend classes again before November 1.

October 10. The girls monickered by the three Deltas began getting desperate because they had captured no pins. Finally one of Mr. Barnum's one-born-every-minute people was talked into putting out his pin through the efforts of the entire

Their efforts succeed! Sigma Delta Chi, Theta Sigma Phi, the S.G.A. Council, and the Panhellenic groups carry on a campaign for a new physical science building—culminating in Governor Huxman's March 27 signature of a bill providing $450,000 for such a purpose. chapter and the house mother. The girls raised their noses in the air at their neighbors, the Phi Omega Pi's, and said "Well, look what we did!" But after the smoke cleared, the whole affair was called off when the customary chocolates turned out to be SAE-sent jelly beans.

October 13.—Strenuous efforts were made to break the Farm House-AGR monopoly on Barn-warmer queen, but to no avail.

October 16. This date, approximately, will be remembered far and wide because the ag students got as far south as the gymnasium. During the week the ags wore their working clothes—that is, all ags but Joe Wetta. Professor Pence intervened on Joe's behalf, but after a bath himself, he was convinced by Rolla Holland that it was much easier to lecture on potentialities of various and sundry manure spreaders than object to student practices.

October 23. Homecoming: The gates were thrown open. If nicotine was the only vice connected with Homecoming festivities, Carrie Nation would have been as speechless as a statue of Venus. A varsity was held at the Avalon under the auspices of Delta Delta Delta. Matthew Betton, during the afternoon, turned the squirrels loose on the back of a truck and the display was as popular as a beer truck at a longshoreman's picnic in August. A shirt tail parade and a pep meeting climaxed pre-game legal activities with Hyle Claflin carrying away the cement bicycle by wearing long underwear, frock coat, and a silk hat. For some reason or other the Chi Omega's sent their pledges to Aggieville to direct traffic only to be reminded that to do so again would invite wholesale arrest. Hattie Young and Marie Vesecky flashed bedroom eyes—per Fleming—at the cop, but didn't go over so well.

October 28. The lights were out, the boy was struggling to open the door of the DDD house to take his date in. Up jumped the taxi driver saying "What's the matter? Is it locked? Here let me show you, I have a key that will get it open easily. I do it all the time for the girls late at night." Which all goes to show the benefits of competition—someday, we predict, sorority

October 30. Tuffy Haynes woke up in the morning to find he had been sleeping with Maje, the Sigma Nu dog. (Ordinarily Tuffy sleeps with Bill Lutz but he must have gotten the big-head).

October 31. Halloween: The Pi K A's entertained with their annual Cornjigger. The only drawback was "Arkansas Hills" Dill dancing in his bare feet. The same night the SAE's threw their first annual (and maybe last) Bowery party which turned out to be quite a brawl with the boys of 16th and Fairchild running temperatures from zero to a 110.

November 1. Gold Diggers Ball:—the night Sally Garrison and Jean Sullivan took the highly touted, and esteemed Princeton debators for a nice ride—you know—"We'll never meet again . . ."

November 1. Acacia Indian party brought out lots of feathers and an assortment of whoopee.

AGR's, and Phi Lambda Theta's (the Farm Housers stayed home to study).

November 6. "Pop", the proprietor of the filling station with decoy pumps in the west part of town, was cristened by Art Farrell's beer shampoo as "the God Father of Phi Kappa," and was extended an invitation to become an honorary member. "Pop" declined, however, because he would have had to live with Froelich in addition to talking to him all-day in the filling station. Don Hadsell (known as spindleshanks to his swimming partners) and his Three Delta love exchanged sweet nothings in the back booth of the Canteen. That in itself was nothing much, except that some heartily exchanged kisses caused critical remarks to be made by Sigma Nu's who thought Tuffy Haynes was number one man in that show.

November 10. Hobo day was banned, but some of the Joe College's appeared in hobo regalia anyway. They wouldn't have been noticed if they hadn't been dressed better than usual.

November 11. The grain judging team made a trip to Kansas City. Details of the affair are as follows: (CENSORED). The Kansas State team did not win the cup.

Artie Farrell bought Sally Garrison orchids (or it is orchid?) for some festive occasion and then she tripped gayly off on a late date with Barney "This-year-he-combs-his-hair-and-is-on-exhibit-at-the-Canteen-every-vacant-hour" Hays.

November 20. The fall track meet was held at Lincoln, score 40-0. As for the so-called social side of the game, we advise you to mix two parts of any long wine list with three parts of the student directory, add a few headaches, and you have the whole scene as exhibited to fear-ridden farmers and residents from Manhattan to Omaha. It is said livestock in the surrounding territory suffered materially from lack of sleep during the festivities.

November 23. The Phi Sigs threw a party and got all the feathers stolen from the KSC poultry farm prize turkey they had borrowed for the occasion.

November 24. Bill Lutz was seen waving from the second story of the Kappa house but nothing was said except the remarks of the more "cattie" members of our group who decided such a thing was interesting because it was so seldom the Kappas ever had a man in any part of their house.

THANKSGIVING VACATION—Every one left Manhattan and went home to explain to the folks the reason money was being spent on education.

December 5. After a canvass of opinion of the younger set of Topekans, it was decided that Riley Whearty was the "sweetest and dearest man at KSC." We cannot print their remarks about Margaret Wyant.

December 15. This was party week. The Kappa Sigs threw a Red-Dog-Inn party. Three pledges were found in the debris carried away the next day. The Delts held a paddle party that for some reason or other—the exact details on which we are ashamed to comment—caused two Pi Phi's to eat from the mantel the next day.

December 18. The Christmas vacation started. The SAE's pulled their annual Christmas formal which proved to be a howling success. In fact, three of the boys were seen with shoes on.

Annie Lawrence, the college widow from KU, received a rubber corset to keep her from looking like the other of the physical education majors, behind. Sigma Nu prexy Eicholtz locked the front door of the termite-eaten house and set out for Abilene. Two hours later Brunner, Johnson, Cooper, and Ayers walked into the house and then—.

Delta Tau Delta poker games ran the highest stakes during this vacation with over $80 passing over the table in one 24-hour session. Frank Groves copped most of the money because he had practiced playing in Ladies Aid Societies during his high school days in Atchison.

NEW YEARS EVE. After an intensive search we were able to find someone who could remember a few details. One of the more important things that happened is included in the following copied report: "Kansas City, Missouri. It seemed to make no difference to the hostesses of the Silver Slipper that Tuffy Haynes and Allen Settle had dates with them. The hostesses thought that they were nice boys and deserved a better break than they were getting." How did Judy and Idol feel?

January 5. Back to school. Ernie Jessup regreted his promise to go steady when he saw Betty Frederick with two feet of gauze on her mouth and four teeth gone.

January 9. The Military Ball. The party was held in the gymnasium and the boys chased the cockroaches and athlete-foot germs down to the girls dressing room, drug out a few hairy chested athletes, and really cleaned the place up. With a squads right and a squads left, the party was a success with the exception of the radio announcing by one Thaine Engle who considered himself the gift humanity has been waiting for. At the Ball, Gene Guerrant in tails and dirty white tie did his best to try and liven up the party but when spurred several times by the energetic Wiltout, he subsided, which all goes to show that Sigma Nu jitting has its advantages after all.

January 15. The Royal Purple Beauty Ball. Morgan surprised everyone by becoming a beauty queen. We always said the Tri Delts could help out any farm and home girl from the big cities but we didn't believe their success could be so remarkable. Think what the Laramie street girls could have done for 505 Denison!

The Sigma Nu party was held during this period of our stay. Tuffy Haynes led the band and Leo Ayers sang. Haynes' directorship was passable but Leo's singing drove everyone but the janitor out of the Wareham. (The janitor is deaf).

January 22. The hospital romance of the year: Janet Samuel, last year's beauty queen and annual candidate for any contest, in a moment of romantic fancy wrote mushy notes to a patient in room 52. Finally the poor guy sent her flowers and "stuff." When he got on his feet and went down the hall to see his lady love, he found the bird had flown. He was heart broken as she never signed her name and he knew her only as the girl in "52". That all sounds like a war story. We do not mean the World War—we mean the Revolution!

January 22. Final week: Haggard expressions were registered by half of the students because of overwork. The other half registered haggard expressions for the benefit of the professors who think they have been over-worked.

February 5. Fleming ran away with the play "Spring Dance" but the general concensus of opinion was that it was not acting. The local college deputy sheriffs collected $30 from fines of prominent collegians with the following names listed on the jail register: (now wouldn't you like to know?)

February 9. Another hospital romance: Howard Cleveland broke his collar bone, and went to the college jail. While there, he learned of the charms and sweetness of the student assistant, Alberta Roberts. After a weeks sojourn with heated mush notes written by the great lover, Cleve promised the young lady the most that any ATO can give, the badge of the lodge. Before he could run and get the jewelry out of hock, the maiden ran off and married the bellboy of the Wareham.

February 12. The Independent Student Union elected directors and much to Bill McDanel's surprise, he was not elected the president. To get even, McDanel formed his own political party with McDanel as president and his room-mate as secretary-treasurer.

February 16. Bill Lutz won the title of Bachelor of Hearts. Rumors have it was a joke the girls played on the Sigma Nus.

February 22. Most of the Betas surprised everyone by appearing at the dance after the Beta Pig dinner. 'Tis said that Betty Bucher was thoroughly frightened at Bev Greene until it was explained to her he acted that way all of the time.

March 15. The Student Council and Sigma Delta Chi went to Topeka to lobby for a new physical science building. "Colonel" Hart pronounced the trip a great success—they didn't get the building, but they got their pictures taken!

March 18. Students flocked to the city hall to register in order to vote for an ineligible candidate.

March 22. New commerce club formed and election of officers held. Total present: 58. Number of ballots cast, 183. "Porky" Thompson suspected foul play.

March 24. Vet students "have" fun and run into trouble with the Manhattan police department. We'd tell you the details, only you've probably already heard it so many times you're tired of it.

March 25. Ed Mertel tried to run Tuffy Haynes competition as director of Matt's orchestra at the Pi K A party, but was outdone by the band-stand advertising of the Stevenson's Clothing Company's representatives.

April 3. The Phi Delt party moved from the Wareham ballroom to the Wareham hotel for a hat throwing contest.

April—. Aw, haven't we gone far enough? If you've read this far, peruse the Saturday night and Sunday morning editions of the Kansas State Collegian—you'd enjoy them!

Lutz... if brains were ink, he couldn't make a period...

McDanel... the Vice of Student Opinion

Manhattan... city (?) located south and east of the college—famed for its wholehearted support of the state institution located in it

Manhattan laundry... Brody Shroff calls it a desert hospital, cause they do dry clinic...

Manhattan Theatre... when these amachoor thespians get hongry they just loaf around a while and lo! they have a ham sandwich... now that they have McComb, they're thinking of having Heb and ags

Nichols Gym... constructed as an armory, used as an armory, by gosh, it is an armory...

Nock... like Dexter, he is slowly being bleached to a pink

Poyntz... otherwise known as Plum street—it runs plum through the city

S.G.A. varsities... when Scott wrote "the stag at eve had drunk his fill," he had just returned from one of these

To The Students of Kansas State College---

THE 1937 Royal Purple, a completed book, is now in your hands. It has been a great source of satisfaction to me to have had the responsibility of editing your book, and my sincerest hope is that you are favorably impressed.

As most editors, I have tried to instigate new, original ideas as well as incorporate the certain well-established practices of former editors in compiling this year's book. The opening section telling the chronological high-points of the year, photographed by Gene Guerrant and written by Charles Platt, is a new innovation as well as "tilted" pictures, numerous "bleed" pages, news heads, and prevalence of action photographs.

It is with deep appreciation that I thank all those who have contributed directly and indirectly to the 1937 Royal Purple and with the same sincerity do I apologize for inevitable mistakes which may appear on the pages of the book.

Particularly gratifying is the fact that of the 14 editorial staff members who assisted most with the 1937 Royal Purple, ten of them were graduating seniors, with no chance to work up to a paying position. Obviously, their work was to gain personal experience and to give the book the value of their previous three-year training.

These included Jane Phelan, Virginia Wilson, Bill McDanel, George Hart, Iona Young, Henry Lins, Frank Shideler, Eileen Shaw, Bob Jaccard, and Max Besler.

Of the underclassmen, particular "thanks" should go to Charles Platt, Luman Miller, and Bill Peterson who devoted much attention to the book.

Others whose efforts are greatly appreciated are:

C. J. Medlin, graduate manager of student publications.

Bob Maplesden, Karl Fitzner, and the staff of Burger-Baird Engraving Company.

Dos Merillat, Bob Meek, and the staff of the Capper Printing Company.

Mrs. Ruth Furney, Ruth Dobson, Gene Guerrant, F. J. Hanna, and Prof. E. T. Keith, for photography.

"Tony" Wichers of Topeka for the photographs of the Royal Purple beauty queens.

Dr. H. B. Summers and public speaking department students for aid in the Royal Purple Beauty Ball broadcast.

The students, faculty, administration, and all others cooperating in helping us put out The 1937 Royal Purple.
