ACKNOWLEDGMENT

The author wishes to express a special note of thanks to Professor Louis H. Douglas for the countless help and advise and for the use of his 1964 data on the farmers of Gapan. His interest in the project and his constant encouragement most especially during the rough times provided the much-needed push towards the completion of this project.

Fred Clemente was generous with his 1968 data on the Gapan peasant and also with materials pertinent to Central Luzon, for which this author is very grateful. Also, to Professors H.P. Secher and W.L. Richter for thought-provoking comments that proved valuable for both the study and the author; to Professor F.D. Herzon whose course on psychological bases of politics intensified the author's interest in attitudes and for his help in the assembling and analysis of the data; to Doug Veith for the computer programming of the data and also, to the Department of Political Science for the use of its resources in the computer analysis of the data.

The author also wishes to express her gratitude to Vichit Charusorn for his innumerable help that included typing of the draft and final copy, and last but not least, to the author's family - for not giving up the long wait.
