Area FFA Judges Tops

Two G&G area FFA judging teams won national honors at the American Royal at Kansas City, the Alta Vista team winning the gold medal in livestock judging and the Manhattan FFA team emerging as the best poultry judges.

On the winning Alta Vista team were Melvin Falk, Jerald Bohn, and Mike McDiffett.

The Manhattan team had Jerry Russell, Tapley Kent, and Ray Preswood on it.

Store Or Get A Loan To Boost Feed Grain Price

As an individual farmer, you can do little to influence prices for feed grains and soybeans this fall. However, similar action by a large number of farmers could signal an improvement in prices.

A near-record 1968 crop, combined with high carrying and large free stocks, will put downward pressure on corn prices during the next few months. The situation is much the same for grain sorghums, with production and supply expected to be up from last year.

Don D. Pretzer, Extension economist at Kansas State University, sees a short-run price improvement only if a large number of farmers store or take out a loan on their grain.

You have two choices, he says — store and hope for a price advance, or sell at harvest. The economist looks for price to advance enough to pay interest, shrink on grain, and out-of-pocket storage costs if corn is stored on the farm in existing bins.

If enough farmers put their grain under loan or store on the farm, price could advance enough to pay all storage costs, he says.

The expected billion bushel soybean crop this fall will exceed utilization by about 9 percent. The 1967 and 1966 crops exceeded use by 7 and 6 percent, respectively.

Pretzer believes these annual surpluses are large enough to push price well below the loan rate until the surpluses are put under price-support loan, or until the market determines that current price will not call forth needed supplies for crush and export.

Recent lower prices will be an incentive to put more soybeans under loan this year, Pretzer says. He looks for prices to advance to near the loan level later in the year.

TOP BRANGUS SALE PRICE IS $2000

The top price for a Brangus bull at the sale of Brangus at Kansas City in conjunction with the American Royal was $2000. It was owned by Berger Farms of Belton, Mo., and bought by Al Face, Yuma, Ariz. The average price paid for 23 bulls sold was $579 each, and 27 Brangus heifers averaged $326. The G&G area has few Brangus, a Brahma-Angus mixture.

Auctions and sales can be found in both sections of Grass & Grain this week.

Vision of Rural Communities

MANHATTAN — A Riley County commissioner has called on the Kansas Extension Service to help develop "communities of tomorrow" which will help end the flow of persons from rural areas to urban centers.

Ivan Sand urged more than 400 Extension workers attending the 54th Annual Kansas Extension Conference last week to look ahead to the day when the American landscape "is dotted with communities that include a blend of renewed small towns, new towns and growing rural villages."

"You can help build a "dream world" in which 300 million Americans live in less congested than 200 million live today, he said.

"Nineteen of every 20 Americans lived in rural areas in 1870," he pointed out. "Today, seven of every 10 live in urban centers. Seventy per cent of our people are living on one per cent of our land."

If this trend continues, another 100 million persons will be crowded on this same one per cent of the land within 30 years, Sand predicted.

"On one hand, we will have abundance of agricultural production throughout the Midwest and Great Plains," he explained. "It is and will be, a vast crop area with few persons to appreciate the beauty of the countryside."

"On the other hand, we will have over-populated cities with large pockets of ghettos which are without hope and which may threaten the existing structure of our system."

"Communities of tomorrow," the commissioner said, would help reverse these trends. He predicted these communities:

— May extend over several counties and include a large city, shopping centers, a number of towns, villages and open country in between.

— Will have villages, towns, cities and counties bound together by roads, rivers and other physical features.

— Will offer a wide range of industrial jobs and a full range of services.

"Communities of tomorrow" will be based on sound multi-county planning, he said, urging the Extension Service to apply extensive leadership in this area.

Farming and ranching will play a key role in these communities, he pointed out. "Adequate income to provide an equal standard of living for rural persons and a just return on investment in agricultural production will be necessary."

Sand also called for retention of the commercial family farm, part-time farming opportunities, and programs to encourage young families to enter farming.

Communities of tomorrow must provide employment opportunities to retail their citizens, Sand said. "Individuals have been forced to migrate from rural to urban areas to find employment that provides a just standard of living for their family."

Communities must work to eliminate poverty within Kansas, he said, noting that rural areas have one-third of the nation's population and one-half of its poverty.

Centennial Of A Homestead

The diminishing number of farmsteads is a frequent concern of Dan Burris, SCS conservationist in Riley and Geary counties. No mean photographer, Burris often catches the poignancy of the changing rural face with his camera. This particular house, built perhaps a century ago on a homestead, is on the farm of Eldon Hargrave near Randolph in western Riley County.

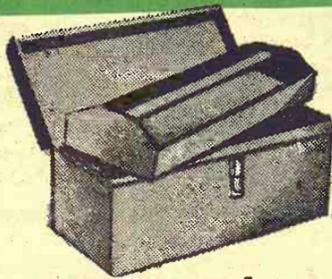

It's abandonment, says Burris, gives testimony to the disappearance of 1000 farms in Riley County in 30 years. In the 1935 census of the State Board of Agriculture, Riley had 1625 farms. By 1964 the number had dropped to 737 and there are about 180 less than that now. The expansion of the Fort Riley military reservation and the construction of Tuttle Creek Reservoir were responsible for some of this decline, but Burris points out those projects accounted for only a third of the farmstead disappearance.

Showing his grand champion summer yearling steer is 15-year-old John Hough, Emmetsburg, Iowa. The 1050-pound steer won the trophy in the American Royal junior livestock division. There were 935 steers entered in all divisions, the largest number in the Royal's history.

Joint Meeting Of Two State Wheat Groups

Annual meetings of the Kansas Wheat Commission and the Kansas Association of Wheat Growers will be held Tuesday and Wednesday, Nov. 19 and 20, at the Baker Hotel in Hutchinson, officials of the two state commodity organizations have announced.

Climax of the two-day meeting is the open Kansas Wheat Meeting, in which the two organizations cooperate after their separate annual meetings. The Kansas Wheat Meeting on the evening of Nov. 20 will present such highlights as the coronation of the 1969 Kansas Wheat Queen, naming the 1968 Wheat Man of the Year, and will present an entertaining speaker.

The Kansas Wheat Commission annual meeting will start at noon, Nov. 19, with the annual Governor's Luncheon, says Carl A. Dumler of Russell, chairman of the Commission. The Commission program on the afternoon of Nov. 19 and the morning of Nov. 20 will present reports on the work of the Commission, and will feature speakers on important wheat subjects, Dumler said.

The Kansas Association of Wheat Growers will begin its sessions on the morning of Nov. 19 and continue on the afternoon of Nov. 20. The program will consist of reports on the wheat outlook by qualified speakers, and adoption of resolutions by the organization for the coming year, says Ray F. Uehling of Ness City, president of the Kansas Association of Wheat Growers.

Grange Meeting On At Pittsburg

The 97th annual convention of the Kansas Grange is being held this week at Pittsburg, with election of officers slated for Wednesday, October 30.

The convention will end Thursday after a 4-day meeting. Newly elected officers of the Kansas Grange will be installed as the last function Thursday night.

James Ingwerson of LeRoy is present Grange Master.

California To Close Its Bug Stations

For nearly 50 years, virtually every automobile and truck entering California has had to stop at a border inspection station.

This was California's way of weeding out hitchhiking agricultural pests and plant diseases which might threaten the state's farming industry.

The border check is coming to an end as state officials try to modernize their battle against the pink bollworm, the apple maggot, the corn borer and the cherry fruit fly.

Richard Lyng, state agricultural director, confirmed plans to close two of the 18 check stations within two weeks and to phase out the others over the next five years.

Modern transportation is reducing the value of the inspection points, referred to by Californians as "bug stations," Lyng said.

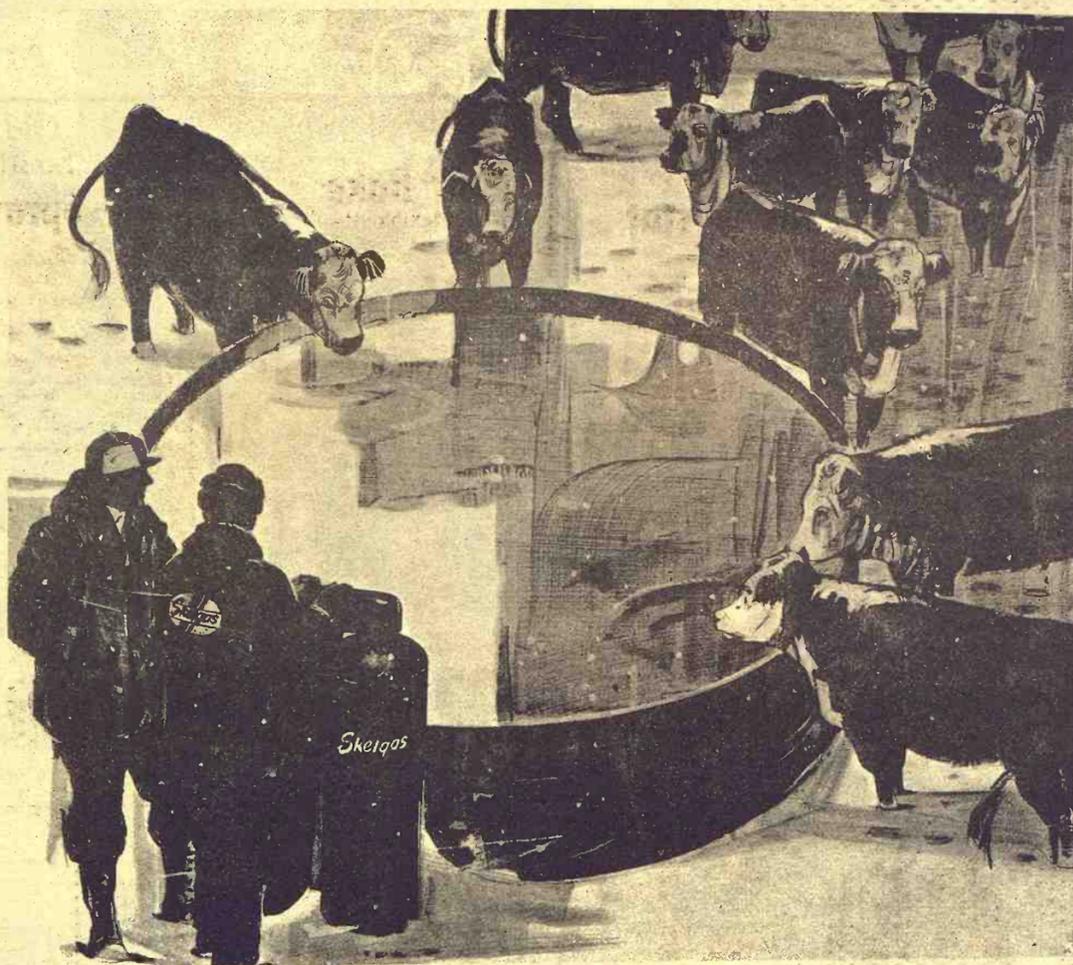

Before long, more travelers will be flying into California than driving, and "so we feel in a sense the border stations will come to the point where they will be about as effective as the Maginot Line was when the blitz came along."

Strategy Switch On Discouraging Smoking

The American Cancer Society, facing what it called unchanged social acceptance of cigarette smoking and zealous advertising, said it will try anew to change the nation's smoking habits.

The society's national board, assembled from 50 states, adopted a nine-point program that will stress that "giving up cigarette smoking is immediately rewarding and offers a more pleasurable and longer life."

Two key aspects of the program are:

"We should strive to secure the elimination of cigarette advertising in all media. It is hoped that this can be achieved by voluntary self-regulation and that governmental action will not be necessary."

"We should . . . support federal legislation . . . including proposals to make the warning label on cigarette packages more accurate, to place warnings on all cigarette advertising and to require the industry to list on packages and in advertising the tar and nicotine content in cigarettes."

In 1960, the society said, when it began its public education program, there were 36,520 lung cancer deaths. This year, the society said, 55,000 are expected; next year, 59,000.

The society said cigarettes also have been linked to oral cancer and cancer of the larynx, esophagus and bladder, and to cardiovascular disease, chronic bronchitis and emphysema.

The tobacco industry maintains that cigarette smoking has not been proved to be a cause of cancer.

"While medical research has produced a clear picture of the threat of cigarettes," the society said, "their social acceptability and the energy with which they are promoted have not been essentially reduced."

The society said it believes in the right of adults to decide if they will smoke, but added: "We do not see enough real freedom or, this decision in our cigarette infiltrated world."

For youngsters, the society said, there is the example set by adult smokers, the lure of their contemporaries' smoking and "glamorous advertising." The adult smoker finds his habit confirmed not only by each cigarette he smokes but by a variety of social pressures."

You? Penny-wise and pound-foolish?

It's great to save money on cattle feed. But be sure it's an economy you can afford. Urea, often less expensive, is a safe feed additive to a certain level. Beyond that, it becomes toxic. That means many pounds of weight loss. So, while you appear to be saving money on feed, your cattle could be starving on synthetics.

That's why you'll need a good protein supplement if you're going after maximum weight gain. It costs no more to feed the best. Sunflower Soybean Meal or Pellets. They're carefully processed from prime soybeans. They're highly palatable and digestible. They're nature's richest source of protein.

If you want that hefty weight gain with fewer headaches, arrange for Kansas Soya custom-mixing. We'll follow your present formula or, if you decide it needs beefing up, build a formula for you that's feedlot-proven for lowest cost with highest gain.

Maybe you mix your own feed. In that case, we'll deliver Sunflower Soybean Meal or Pellets whenever and wherever you need them. Or, if you pick up your order, provide automated in-and-out truckloading. And you can always use Kansas Soya's grain bank facilities.

OUR DAILY BREAD

- by G&G Area Cooks

Mrs. Jasper Vincent Of Clay Center Wins Prize

Mrs. Jasper Vincent, 612 Huntress, Clay Center, wins the prize for the following recipe:

NO-CRUST PIE

3 eggs
1/2 teaspoon ginger
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 1/4 cups pumpkin
1 cup evaporated milk

Beat eggs slightly. Add honey, spices, salt and pumpkin. Add undiluted evaporated milk. Butter or oil a deep 9-inch pie pan. Pour pumpkin custard into pan. Bake in slow oven (325 degrees) one hour or until knife blade comes out clean. Cool thoroughly before cutting. Serve in pie-shaped wedges topped with honey sweetened whipped cream. "I prefer to bake this custard pie in a glass pie pan."

Mrs. J. W. Green, R 2, Clifton: "It's almost Halloween time again. Here is a caramel corn recipe some readers may like to make for trick or treaters. Can be made into popcorn balls or to go farther just leave it loose and fix little bags of it for them."

CARAMEL CORN

Place 1/2 pound caramels (28 caramels) and 2 tablespoons water in top of double boiler. Heat, stirring frequently until candy is melted into a smooth sauce. Pour over 2 quarts salted popped corn in a large bowl and top until every kernel is coated. With hands lightly greased, form into eight popcorn balls or add a few peanuts and leave the popcorn loose as for cracker-jacks.

Mrs. Debs McDougal, R 1, Greeley: "Here is my doughnut recipe in verse:

DOUGHNUTS

1 cup sugar, 1 cup milk
2 eggs beaten, fine as silk
Salt and nutmeg or lemon will do.

Baking powder, teaspoons two; Now lightly stir the flour in,

Roll on pie board, but not too thin.

Cut into diamonds, twists or rings,

Drop with care the doughy things

Into hot fat that swiftly swells

Evenly, the spongy cells.

Watch with care the time for turning

Fry them brown, just short from burning.

Roll in sugar, serve when cool

This is a never failing rule.

P.S.: As for the flour, just enough to make the dough easy to handle.

The following is from Mrs. Everett Dean of Glen Elder:

CRUMB PIE

3 egg whites
Beat until real foamy but not quite stiff. Add:

1 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon baking powder
Beat until stiff. Fold in:
1 cup graham cracker crumbs
1/2 cup chopped nuts
1 teaspoon vanilla

Put in a slightly oiled pie pan and bake at 325 degrees for 30 minutes. Serves six. Top with Dream Whip or Cool Whip and if you wish to use a color you may color coconut red, green or yellow to suit occasion. Let dry and put on top. Can be made a day or so ahead and stored in refrigerator.

Enjoy Morning Glory Blooms Inside The House

Morning glories that were grown in pots outdoors can be brought inside well enough before frost to fill a new role as house plants.

While it is true that they require a position right next to the glass of a south-facing window in order to continue to flower, many homes can furnish this.

And what a joy it is to see their cheery blooms each morning that the sun shines!

Repotting into a larger pot rarely is possible because the vines are tall and brittle, therefore too likely to break.

For this reason fertilizer should be given regularly to keep the vine growing and flowering. Be sure the soil is thoroughly wet first, then apply dry fertilizer or water with a liquid

6 Grass & Grain
October 29, 1968

solution. Keeping dead flowers picked off as they become unsightly also encourages the plant to set new buds and thus produce more flowers.

A morning glory vine rarely survives the entire winter, so accept this fact and simply enjoy the plant while it does well for you.

Home Designers "Stand" Behind French Doors

No matter what their reaction to the French revolutions — 1789 or 1968 — American home designers stand solidly behind the French door.

The unique adaptability of the French door — with its classic lines and decorative divided lights — to a variety of changing architectural styles, has insured its popularity in both traditional and contemporary homes. Most often associated with New Orleans house styles (where they were used as balcony doors), French doors later were used as interior entries (as between living and dining rooms).

Now the increasing use of balconies — especially in modern apartments — and the availability of French doors in stock sizes have led to their resurgence as exterior entries.

French isn't the only foreign accent adding spice to the American decorative scene. Spanish and Mediterranean style wood panel doors, with elaborate carvings and ornate grille-work; Tudor designs with 15 wood panels; Florentine doors with eight, and Dutch doors, with separately-operating top and bottom sections in a variety of wood panel and divided-light designs, are also popular. These and other styles are available at local lumber dealers, often as complete, pre-assembled entrances with matching pediments, fan lights and side panels.

One of my bowling buddies brought some licorice whips, those that are about the size of cooked spaghetti, to the bowling alley. She and I were gobbling them like we were each 20 pounds overweight. A couple of the other bowlers were staring at us in an amazed way, then started to laugh. "We thought you two were eating shoelaces for a minute," one commented.

Last Tuesday night I was listing all the things I had to get done the following morning. I told my husband I had to write a club meeting report, work on the Woman's Page, bake two pies for church and go to the bank and postoffice. Seeing that he was suitably impressed by all I was undertaking and my confidence that I could get it all done, I decided to lay it on a little thick. "I haven't decided what I'll do with the rest of the morning," I added.

And speaking of the pies that were for a church banquet — I almost got into trouble over them. My spouse was admiring them at lunchtime, then at dinner I served him a bakery pie. "Some nerve," he told me.

For Quicker Window Cleaning

Windows are a big job — especially when some of them haven't been cleaned since you put up the screens last spring. To make it easier, buy an aerosol window cleaner. A flick of the finger — and your windows sparkle! Another hint — try window spray on mirrors and chromium appliances, too.

Self-Ventilating Toilet Eliminates Bathroom Odors

Utilizing a new design principle, plumbing engineers have devised a means of harnessing the normal water flow in a toilet tank to create a vacuum that draws air (and odors) from the toilet and back through the flushing rim to the toilet's discharge outlet. The odors are then expelled through the regular vent pipe and the freshness of the bathroom is maintained. Maximum time for the venting action ranges from eight to ten seconds after the venting mechanism is activated. The flushing of the toilet automatically resets the ventilator for later use.

TRY NEW PURINA FEEDLOT MINERAL (medicated)

For good performance, cattle must maintain adequate levels of calcium and phosphorus at a ratio near 1:1. Cattle in feedlots often get as little as one part calcium to 15 parts phosphorus from cereal grains.

To help boost feedlot efficiency, New Purina Feedlot Mineral supplies cattle with additional phosphorus, 14% from three sources to insure availability. They also get a much needed supply of calcium, 28%, to bring the calcium:phosphorus level closer to the 1:1 ratio.

- Contains sulfur to aid in utilization of urea.
- Contains organic iodine to aid in prevention of foot rot and soft tissue lumpy jaw.
- Contains iron in highly available sulfate form, giving it a light color.
- Contains cobalt . . . essential for maximum growth and feed efficiency.

Fed free choice, Purina Feedlot Mineral fills all known mineral needs of feedlot cattle in amounts exceeding the National Research Council's recommendations. Order New Purina Feedlot Mineral from us soon.

How Safe Is Your Bath?

Insurance figures readily attest to the fact that bathtubs can be a very major source of injuries ranging from slight to extremely serious. Despite the continued and strenuous efforts of product designers, no one has yet designed an accident-proof tub. There has been some progress, however, toward lessening the dangers. Rubber mats and hand bars were among the early devices employed in an effort to add extra safety to bathtubs. The newest innovation in bathtub safety is a slip-resistant, etched tub bottom that offers built-in safety and eliminates messy or unsanitary tapes and mats that often mildew or stain. These special surfaces in laboratory and usage tests have been rated at four times safer than ordinary bathtub surfaces.

Mineral Rights

Farmland changes calcium-phosphorus ratio

Researchers are the first to admit they still have some "bugs" to iron out in pinpointing needs of livestock. Nonetheless, they have nailed down two major conclusions:

1. You can't afford to ignore mineral requirements or take them for granted. Livestock rations aren't balanced if mineral content is overlooked. Too much of one mineral can be just as costly as too little.
2. New research findings have outdated long-held "rules-of-thumb" on mineral feeding. Animal scientists from coast to coast generally agree that the best buy for most livestock producers is a mineral supplement with a calcium-phosphorus ratio of 1:1.

You can now capitalize on this new research information, thanks to Farmland's just-announced line of mineral concentrates. Modern new mixtures with a calcium-phosphorus ratio at or near 1:1 are now available at your local CO-OP. Another formulation, designed specifically for high-grain rations, is high in calcium (17%) and low in phosphorus (4%).

New Man In FCIC District

Vearl E. Trow, 53, Hillsboro, has been appointed central Kansas district director for the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation, an agency of the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

The appointment was announced by Russell L. Bowling, Manhattan, state director for FCIC.

Trow succeeds Albert R. Jensen, Manhattan, who has been appointed to a statewide post as claims specialist.

The 20-county central district is comprised of Saline, McPherson, Harvey, Clay, Dickinson, Marion, Geary, Riley, Morris, Chase, Lyon, Wabaunsee, Shawnee, Osage, Coffey, Douglas, Franklin, Anderson, Johnson and Miami counties. Service offices are located at Hillsboro, Manhattan, and Ottawa.

Rail Experiment Can't Get On Track

The plan for high speed passenger train service in the congested Washington-New York-Boston corridor is chugging along almost a year behind schedule, and there still is no firm starting date.

Federal officials had set last October for the start of the government-supported project with a run between Washington and New York City.

Then the date was moved to early this year. Then the setting of dates was stopped.

"We've been burned too many times," explains Robert A. Nelson, director of the Department of Transportation's office of high-speed ground transportation. He says the government based its timetable on industry promises that he claims haven't held up.

Officials now are saying, however, that the other half of the project — a run between Boston and New York — should begin soon, perhaps in November. They report that many of the toughest technical and business problems have been overcome.

Nelson says public clamor for better intercity railroad service, combined with recent air traffic delays, has put his agency under the public gun. But he maintains that this kind of interest is healthy too, and needed for success of the project.

Nelson says that without a technological breakthrough, passenger trains will be feasible only for another 10 to 15 years.

One reason officials predict this limited future is that helicopters and other aircraft that can land and take off in small spaces are becoming available for trips of 50 to 250 miles. It is trips of this length that hold the only present hope for intercity trains, officials say.

Nelson concedes, however, that at the rate the demonstration effort is going, the improved rail passenger service might nearly be obsolete by the time it could be started elsewhere.

The most talked-about hope for a breakthrough to higher speeds without huge costs is a train that would ride on a cushion of air and be powered by a new type of electric motor. Such air suspension requires only a simple and inexpensive track, perhaps with unfinished concrete rails.

Protein Woes, If Not Too Little, Too Much

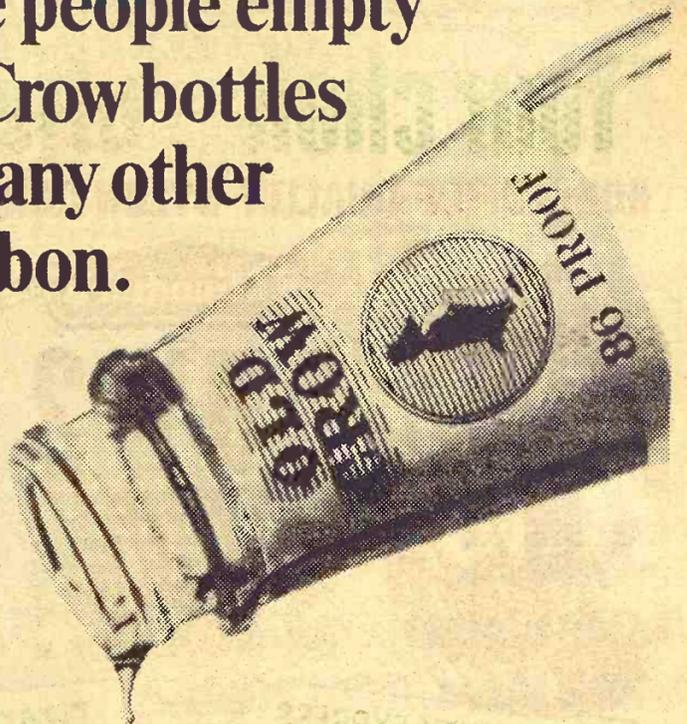

Unusually high protein content of soft white wheat shipped from Washington and other Pacific Northwest states could drastically curtail future exports to Japan, warns a Japanese trade team.

The team represents more than 75 per cent of the Japanese milling industry which uses low protein wheat to produce flour for cakes, noodles, biscuits, crackers and similar products.

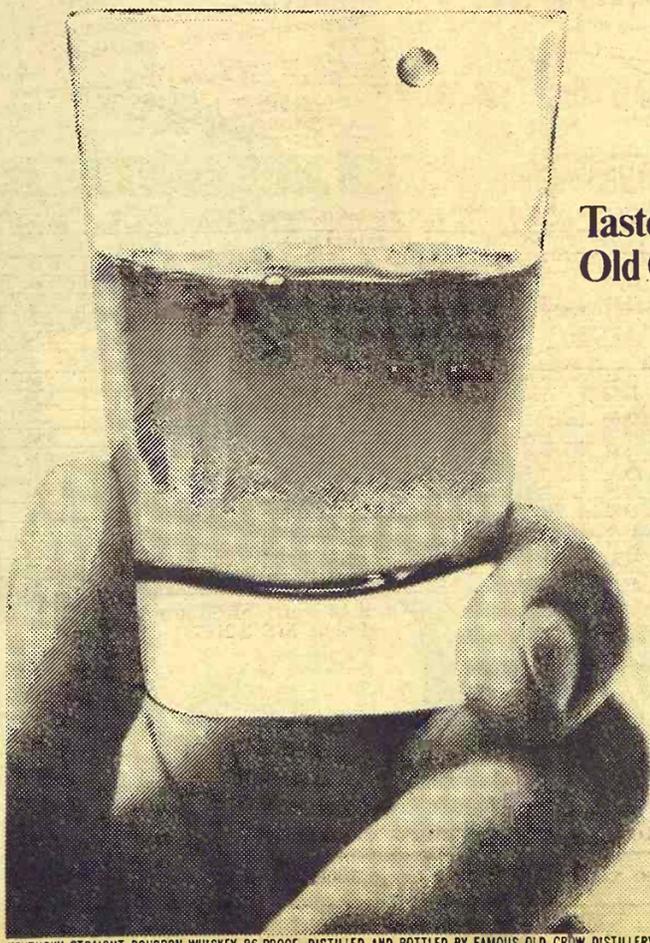

Paul Y. Sone, secretary interpreter for the team and assistant director of the Western U.S. Wheat Associates in Japan, described the situation as "a very serious problem."

He said Japan has immediate need of 1 million to 2 million tons of high quality, low protein wheat. If the United States can't supply it, the Japanese may turn to Australia and France, he said.

Screwworm Problem Worst In Several Years

Animal health officials are fighting the worst fall buildup of screwworms in years, the U.S. Department of Agriculture has reported.

Screwworm infestations are increasing daily in Texas and the epidemic is expected to get worse before cold weather begins to take its toll of these pests, veterinarians of USDA's Agricultural Research Service said.

However, ARS veterinarians are even more concerned about the possibility that weather this winter will be favorable to screwworms. Should the weather be mild and moist, the screwworm situation could be even worse next spring.

By early October, the screwworm laboratory at Mission, Texas, had identified over 4400 cases of screwworms found in Texas, New Mexico, Arizona, and California. Of this total, Texas reported over 4000 cases, California 80, Arizona 279, and New Mexico 60.

With the fall buildup not yet at its peak in Texas, screwworm cases are running ahead of 1963 — the second worst year for screwworms since the eradication program began. However, the frequency of cases is running far below the level of cases in 1962 when over 50,000 cases were confirmed in the laboratory.

Weather has been the main culprit in this year's outbreak, ARS veterinarians say. They point out that the mild, moist weather provided an excellent climate for screwworm development as well as good grazing in areas that ordinarily do not support livestock to any great extent. The presence of more livestock and more untreated wounds thus compounded the problem.

The screwworm plant at Mission, Texas, has been operating at top capacity and sterile flies are being released at close to 200 million a week in an attempt to keep up with the wild screwworm fly population.

Because of the tremendous success of the eradication program during the past few years, many ranchers now practice year-round calving which they could not do prior to the screwworm eradication program. The ranchers have also stopped looking for screwworms and treating wounds — precautionary measures they once took as a matter of course.

Laboratory figures show that around one out of every four cases of screwworms result from man-made wounds such as branding, dehorning and shearing.

Ranchers can help get screwworms back under control by resuming their search for screwworms. They should examine their animals, collect suspected screwworm larvae and send them to the laboratory, treat wounds, and spray cattle to kill screwworms, program officials advise.

KANSAS CITY ON PLUMBERS BLACKLIST

The AFL-CIO has blacklisted Kansas City as a labor convention city, apparently because of a dispute of plumbers with city building codes which are not strict enough in the opinion of plumbers. The AFL-CIO had planned its 1969 convention for Kansas City, but has moved it to Atlantic City. The convention attracts about 2000 persons.

CASE

A Case man beats the spring rush by pouring on power in the fall

Planning to beat chancy weather next spring by plowing down this fall? Makes sense—especially if you have enough power to make every good fall day count big. Easy-going, big-displacement power that keeps a 4-row shredder humming at full rpm—a heavy anhydrous rig moving along smartly behind a 13-foot chisel plow.

Case power! Case high-torque design is what makes the powerful difference. Big bore and long stroke—for maximum leverage. A torque reserve that peaks higher, reacts instantly to overloads—licks most of them without a slowdown. Displacement is a big 451 cubic inches in the 7-pow Case 1030 (with NH3 rig), 401 in the 6-pow 930 (with stalk shredder). Both run at relatively low rpm—up to 600 less than high-speed competitors. Here's power built not only to lug, but to last.

Now's the time to see these big-producer tractors at your Case dealer—and arrange for a proof demonstration. Lease or Crop-Way Purchase Plans available to fit your income pattern. J. I. Case Company, Racine, Wisconsin.

Taking Cattle Out Of Pasture

Don Allison of Riley was busy taking 14 cows and calves out of pasture. Don says he has 200 acres of milo and 80 acres of corn to cut.

Theft Charge On Weed Man

COTTONWOOD FALLS — Ronald Meyer of Haysville, former Chase County weed supervisor, has been charged with four counts of embezzlement and one count of forgery. The counts dealt with county funds and equipment.

Meyer was arrested by Sedgwick County officers at a Wichita aircraft factory where he works.

The charges allege Meyer embezzled $150 on June 1, $1000 on June 3, a sprayer valued at $1000 June 15 and $712.50 July 7, all from Chase County. The fifth charge is the forgery of a check for $91.53 June 12.

Good Prices At Timber Harvest

Now is the time to consider harvesting mature trees from Kansas timbers. Timber stumpage prices have been firm all year and should remain strong into next year, Leonard Gould, area Extension forester at Kansas State University, said this week.

The market for furniture lumber has been exceptionally good throughout the summer months. Consequently, sawmills have been unable to maintain or build up log inventories and are in need of good quality sawlogs to meet furniture industry demands for the coming winter production.

Black walnut veneer logs, where quality and size determine the value and price, will range from $250 to $1000 per thousand board feet, Gould said. Walnut sawlogs of lower quality that are used primarily for lumber and gunstock products range in price from $150 to $400 per thousand board feet.

Stumpage prices for mixed hardwood sawlogs will range from $10 to $30 per thousand board feet depending on quality, size, and distance to market. These species include hackberry, green ash, soft maple, cottonwood, red oak, sycamore and elm.

Bur oak lumber is used for barrel heading and staves. The quality bur oak stumpage price will range from $30 to $50 per thousand board feet, he said.

"Timber sales should be made on a lump sum basis with full payment upon signing of the sale contract," Gould said. He advised landowners to examine woodland now to see if timber harvest is possible.

If assistance is needed, a district Extension forester can be contacted through the county Extension office.

high individual on horses, while David Bozone, Rolla, was tenth individual in the contest.

K-State meats judges took the four top places in the contest. Sam Hands, Garden City, was first in all classes, first in beef grading and won the American Hereford award given for the top individual in both beef judging and grading.

Don Johnson, Smolan, was second high individual in the contest and was the top beef judge. Phil Behrens, Lincoln, was third high individual, and Ron Lindquist, Wilsey, was first in lamb judging and fourth high individual in all classes.

FIRESTONE PULLS OUT AS RACING SPONSOR

Firestone Tire & Rubber says it is temporarily pulling out of championship and stock car racing. Firestone spokesmen said contract fees with drivers and mechanics were no longer "realistic." Firestone entered racing in 1909 and most of the leading drivers have been under contract with it at some stage of their careers.

ASK CONTROL ON YOUNG BEER BUYERS
BELLEVILLE — Beer-sellers here have asked police to help them control the attempted purchasing of beer by youths too young to legally be able to buy beer. The Belleville tavern-keepers said young people from across the Nebraska line often attempted to break the minimum-age law, as well as local youths.

K-State Judges Tops At Royal

Kansas State University student judging teams swept honors at contests held in conjunction with the American Royal at Kansas City.

The senior livestock team coached by Calvin Drake won top honors for the second time in three years, while the meats team coached by Dell Allen smashed all opposition.

Finishing behind KSU in the livestock judging contest were Oklahoma State University, Iowa State University, Virginia Polytechnic Institute and Michigan State University. As a team the K-Staters were second in cattle, third in sheep and fifth in horses. Best individual showing by a K-Stater was turned in by Melvin Riemann, Clafin, who was the high individual in judging sheep and seventh high man in the entire contest. Jack Evans, Fall River, was

Federal Test On Cigaret Tars

The government's cigarette-smoking machine, in its most comprehensive test of cigaret tar and nicotine content, showed king-size filter Carlton brand to be the lowest in tar. Filter Marvels was rated the lowest in nicotine.

Carlton brand is made by American Tobacco Co. Marvels is a Stephano Bros. brand.

Industry sources said the Carlton rating marked the first time in the series of government tests that any of the six major tobacco companies' brands was ranked lowest in tar or nicotine. These sources predicted the test report will accelerate the low-tar-and-nicotine competition among major manufacturers.

If so, the tests will be fulfilling a major purpose the Federal Trade Commission had in mind when its smoke-testing machine started puffing last November. The commission has been testing cigarets in cooperation with Sen. Magnuson (D-Wash.) chairman of the Senate Commerce Committee. The Senator, who receives and releases the FTC test results, has said the tar and nicotine rankings "will enable a smoker who is unable or unwilling to give up smoking to select the least hazardous cigarets on the market."

The FTC machine's first report covered the tar and nicotine content of 59 varieties of cigarets sold in the U.S. The second report, issued last June, covered an additional 68 varieties. The new test covered all 122 varieties commonly available. To get a fair sample, the FTC bought two packs of each variety in each of 50 representative locations throughout the country.

The FTC machine smoked each cigaret down to a 23-millimeter butt or, in the case of longer filter cigarets, down to within 3 mm of the filter over-wrap. The results were based on a test of 100 cigarets per variety or brand.

US81 NORTH OF SALINA GETS PRIORITY

The improvement of US81 to a 4-lane road north of Salina to the Nebraska line has been given priority in a 5-year construction program announced by the State of Kansas. Interstate 35W from K61 at McPherson south to the Harvey County line is also programmed at a cost of $8.5 million.

AUCTIONEER: JOE RAINE

Coyote Ears vs. Walrus Whiskers

MARION — What is as valuable as the ears of a Kansas coyote?

Would you believe walrus whiskers or Alaskan moose ears?

Those are the stakes in a rivalry between the cities of Marion and Fairbanks, Alaska.

Hospitals in both cities recently came under the operation of the Lutheran Hospitals and Homes Society.

H. A. Boucher, mayor of Fairbanks, wrote Lynn Christensen, mayor of Marion, proposing a contest to figure which town could raise more money for the society's nursing scholarship program.

As an added inducement, Boucher said he would wager a set of "walrus whiskers or moose ears" that his town could sell more memberships.

Christensen fired a letter back to Fairbanks accepting the challenge and putting up a pair of coyote ears in the bargain.

The winner of the contest will be determined on a pro-rated basis, by dividing the amount of funds collected in each city into the number of hospital beds in each institution.

Surprise Funds Come To Some Area Schools

School officials in areas near large federal government installations are breathing a little easier.

These districts figured to lose

The Trouble, Here In River City

COFFEYVILLE — A Coffeyville teacher may have the answer to getting younger players to practice their music lessons.

Robert Partridge, director of instrumental music at Roosevelt school here, is planning to organize a parents band.

The idea occurred after several parents complained they couldn't keep their children practicing because they themselves knew nothing about music or the instruments involved, Partridge said.

Through a parents band, the parents will become acquainted with problems faced by their children in learning to play musical instruments, he explained.

Partridge plans a lesson rehearsal for parents one night a week from now to February.

In February, he said, it's possible usual procedure may be reversed and parents will give a concert for their children.

nearly 20% of the dollars they normally had received from the federal government as "impacted areas." But now it appears they will get it.

School districts near Fort Riley, McConnell Air Base, Fort Leavenworth, and other military installations have received federal money because so many children of military personnel attend public schools. But this year it appeared that the last 18% of the funds expected would not be forthcoming as part of the federal budget tightening after the legislative compromise over the income tax surcharge.

But Congress adopted an exemption of the impacted area funds from the budget cutback. For the Junction City unified district it will mean $160,000, for the Topeka district $50,000, and for Salina, $90,000.

The fund release was the second bit of good news relating to impacted areas allocation the superintendents have received in the past month.

A 3-judge federal panel ruled September 30 that unified school districts must receive their full share of state school foundation funds in addition to federal aid to impacted areas. The panel's ruling struck down a state policy of deducting 25% of state funds from areas which also receive the federal impacted-area school aid funds.

Support the Man Who Speaks out for You

"The young people of this nation comprise one of our greatest resources. They have greater knowledge and maturity than any generation this nation has known."

"Lawlessness in this country threatens to destroy the very foundations of our society. We must re-establish respect for the law . . . and demand vigorous, even-handed administration of justice and enforcement of the law."

"The Viet Nam policy of the Johnson-Humphrey administration has failed. Militarily, politically and diplomatically. To resolve the Viet Nam dilemma . . . America obviously needs new leadership which won't be tied to the mistakes of the past."

"The inflation of the last 8 years has hit our farmers hardest of all . . . the farmers are in the tightest economic squeeze they have known since the 1930's. America needs new leadership and sound farm programs . . ."

To the Voters of
RILEY and GEARY
COUNTIES
from —
C.W. "Bill" CRITES
Candidate for State Senator
15th SENATORIAL DISTRICT

I am a candidate for State Senator from the 15th District, Riley and Geary counties. I want to represent you in Topeka and I am asking for your vote in the November 5th General Election.

I would like to meet every voter personally, but this is impossible. This letter is the next best thing and I hope you'll read what it says and give me consideration when you make that important decision on who will be your spokesman in the State Capital for the next four years.

If you want a man who has no vested interest and can vote on issues purely on the basis of what's good for Riley and Geary counties and the state of Kansas, then I am your man.

If you want a man who must first consider the special interests of five insurance companies, three savings and loan associations, two banks, sits on the board of a utility company, then perhaps my opponent should be your choice.

All of the firms my opponent represents must look to the legislature for favorable treatment and I cannot see how he, a lawyer, can separate his duty to these large clients from his duty to Riley and Geary County constituents.

I, on the other hand, only have to weigh both sides of a question, and after consultation with the people in Junction City, Manhattan, Riley, Leonardville, and the other fine urban communities, make an intelligent decision as to what's best for you.

If you elect me, my vested interest will be the homeowner, the businessman, the K-State college students and faculty, the service man and civil service worker at Fort Riley and the rural people of these communities. I am one of you, I depend on you for my living.

I am active in community affairs; the chairman of the highway committee; member of the agriculture committee; member of the Kansas Real Estate Commission; two term sheriff of Geary County. I own and operate the C. W. "Bill" Crites Real Estate and Auction Service in Junction City and surrounding area. I am active in the sale of farms, homes and businesses.

I know the problems of the area and pledge I will work 100 percent to have responsible legislation passed to meet these needs.

The choice you must make is clear. If you choose responsible, uncommitted representation in the State Senate, then vote for a man who will represent YOU! You the people.

High Moisture Grain Out Of Trench

Rice county agent Virgil Bily looks over a double-ended trench silo with concrete floor and sides on the farm of Jack Engelland and his father near Lyons. The Engellands are putting 700 head of cattle on high moisture grain stored in the silo. It is the first time they have tried storing high moisture grain for feeding, but they expect little spoilage because of the lack of a completely airtight seal on the grain. The secret, they say, is fine grind and tight packing. They use plastic sheeting across the top of their trench, holding it down with a thin layer of soil.

Tractor Skill

Here is Oscar Gideon Jr. of Emmett, who won a regional tractor driving competition among 4-H'ers from 20 states at the University of Wyoming.

Gideon graduated from high school last spring. For the last three years he has handled much of the work on his parents' 640-acre farm.

Extend Crop Insurance To Sugar Beets

Sugar beet growers in seven Northwestern Kansas counties have available to them for the first time all-risk federal crop insurance which will be applicable to the 1969 crop year.

Protection on sugar beets will be added to already existing federal crop insurance programs, said Agriculture Secretary Orville L. Freeman.

Counties affected by the new order are Finney, Grant, Kearny, Sherman, Stanton, Wallace and Wichita.

Irrigated corn insurance also will be added in Sherman County, Freeman announced.

Beet insurance guarantees a basic harvest pegged at the ap-

Turnpike Starts Thirteenth Year

The Kansas Turnpike starts its 13th year of operation this week.

Road authorities say that 69 million toll-paying vehicles have traveled the route since it was opened on October 26, 1956.

Traffic has more than doubled since the 236-mile route was opened. The first full year, 1957, 3.6 million vehicles traveled 215 million miles on the Turnpike, while current traffic is on an 8.5 million-vehicle annual rate.

proximate value of crop production costs and pays the difference between the actual yield and the guarantee if the crop is damaged or destroyed.

If, because of loss from causes covered by the insurance, production of commercially recoverable sugar is short of the guarantee, a federal crop insurance payment will be made to the policy-holder.

Growers will be offered dollar choices per hundredweight they wish to be paid for each hundredweight they may be short of their guarantee.

When crop loss strikes, federal crop insurance payments to individual farmers bolster the economy of the whole community, said Freeman.

Winterize That Horse

Horses can be winterized too.

Not quite like cars, but late fall is the proper time to treat horses for a bot infestation. Dr. Homer K. Caley, Extension veterinarian at Kansas State University, points out that horses may have problems that can produce trouble in the form of disease, retarded growth, wasted feed, or even sudden death.

He says the larva stage of bot infestation is present in the stomach now, but they are small and have not caused much damage to this time. The bot eggs have hatched and are susceptible to treatment.

Female bot flies lay eggs on the forelegs, around the mouth, and other areas on the horse. The small, yellowish eggs are glued to the hair and are difficult to remove. Horses ingest bots, and the eggs hatch and pass to the stomach. Larvae then attach to the stomach lining and cause inflammation and pitting. Bots live on body fluids, and the entire life cycle takes 10 to 11 months.

When the female bot flies are depositing eggs on the horse, they cause considerable irritation. Horses fear the flies, and will try various methods of escape. They may also become unmanageable and injure their handlers or themselves.

Excellent commercial products are available for bot treatment, Dr. Caley says. They are effective and relatively safe; however, an occasional case of colic is reported following treatment. Consult a veterinarian on the recommended route of administration and product to use.

Bots and other parasites should be controlled before signs of infestation are noticeable.

Newspapers Miss Story

A newsworthy story which I feel is front page material is coverage of the American Royal at Kansas City last week.

The FFA judging team from Alta Vista won first place in the FFA national judging contest. If this news and a front page cover picture doesn't make Grass & Grain I will be very disappointed.

To this date we have not been able to find any item on this in the Topeka Capital. Now if some FFA boys would have caused trouble while in KC, the story would have hit the front page of every paper immediately. Why is it, when they make an accomplishment, it takes weeks to get to the papers and sometimes never gets there at all? News items like this accomplishment of the boys would be a lot more interesting to read about than all the scandalous items that hit the papers.

The winning team from Alta Vista is Gerald Bohn, Melvin Falk, Mike McDiffett, and Clinton McDiffett, coach, and Darrel Stites, FFA school sponsor.

Mrs. Joe McClure ALTA VISTA Mrs. McClure's point is often made, probably with considerable truth. But in some defense, the pages of coverage in stories and pictures in the Kansas City Times and Star were counted. The coverage, all favorable, totaled more than 11 pages. There were no negative stories, altho the possibility that several thousand FFA boys went to the city and didn't get into enough devilment to have the cops called a time or two stretches my imagination. But certainly winning a national contest is highly newsworthy, and there is a picture on the front page of this G&G noting the victory.

Cite Long-Term Extension Work

Eight county agents were cited for 25 years' experience with the Cooperative Extension service at the annual conference of the group at Manhattan last week, with citations made for up to 40 years' service.

The 40-year commendation went to John H. Coolidge, Extension farm management economist at K-State.

One county agent, Eugene Harris of Meade, has completed 30 years of work in Extension.

The county agents who have completed 25 years are:

- Harry Duckers, Kansas City
- Jewell Gebhardt, Hoxie
- Roger Hendershot, Anthony
- Clifford Manry, Larned
- Mary Meek, Abilene
- Robert Nuttleman, Independence
- Beverly Stagg, McPherson
- Paul Wilson, Great Bend

Eleven Extension people on the state staff have also completed 25 years of work: Frank Bieberly, crops and soils; Ralph Bonowitz, dairy; Martha Brill, health; Glenn Bussett, 4H; Lawrence Cox, district supervisor; Annabelle Dickinson, home economics; Leslie Frazier, economist; Wendell Moyer, animal science; Oscar Norby, field operations; Wilton Thomas, farm management economist; Leo Wendling, engineer; Norman Whitehair, marketing.

Area specialists who have completed 25 years are Vera Ellithorpe, Topeka; Gersilda Guthrie, Colby; John Smerchek, Greensburg; Hobart Frederick, Hutchinson; Dean Dicken, Hiawatha.

Nine county agents who received 20-year recognition are: Trella Currie, Concordia; Juanita Johnson, Girard; Darold Marlow, Alma; Thomas Orwig, Abilene; Rachel Palmer, Wichita; William VanSkike, Great Bend; Marshall Walker, Ulysses; Don Wiles, Dodge City; Elizabeth Woner, Anthony.

NEWSOM TO QUIT AS NAT'L GRANGE MASTER

Herschel Newsom, master of the National Grange, will quit his office to become a member of the U.S. Tariff Commission to Western Europe. Newsom told the Missouri Grange last week that a successor will be elected at the national convention in Peoria, Ill., November 24.

Another Side To Economy Forecast

The confident consumer of 1968, a liberated version of the cautious consumer of 1966 and 1967, might consider some of the worst of what lies ahead.

● There's the increase in Social Security taxes to contend with beginning in January. It doesn't amount to much of an increase, $374.40 at maximum compared with $343.20 this year. Still, it's that much less in the pocket.

● There's a tax blow due on April 15. It's going to be a bit more severe than in other years because workers will have to make up for some deductions now made under the 10 percent surcharge program.

● Price inflation is expected

to continue through much of 1968. During the summer it reached an annual rate of more than 5 per cent. This will take many months to recede. If a 5 per cent rate continued, it would mean a worker with take-home pay of $6,000 a year would lose $300 directly from his pocket.

● The slowdown policies of the administration, even if they fail to halt inflation, are bound to have some restraining impact on the economy.

Any slowdown at all is going to mean a bit more joblessness, less overtime, and more reluctant pay raises. There may be no recession in view, but those on the lowest economic levels are hurt well before a recession is reached.

● The monetary policies of the Federal Reserve board might become firmer in regard to the amount of money permitted to flow into the economy. Loans might become harder to get.

● The 10 per cent income tax surcharge might be extended into the second half of 1969.

This tax has been publicized as temporary, and some consumers have had a tendency to offset its effects by dipping into their savings. They are willing to do for a few months anyway.

FOR ICE FREE WATER THIS WINTER DEPEND ON POND MILL

● SIMPLE ● EFFECTIVE ● ECONOMICAL

Farmco has harnessed the wind for the benefit of farmers and stockmen. Install an inexpensive POND MILL and forget about having to chop ice. POND MILL keeps ponds open over a wide radius. Effective as having a year-round spring. Trouble free operation. The sensitive POND MILL is in action with the slightest movement of wind. The scientifically designed uplift blade is the key to POND MILL'S fantastic dependability. It pulls a continuous supply of warm water from below and keeps surface temperature up to 20° warmer than the rest of the pond. Cattle drink more water.

Project To Spur Frozen Meat Cuts

The Kansas Agricultural Experiment Station has launched a research project which may help pave the way for widespread retail sale of individual frozen meat cuts.

The study, funded by a substantial grant from the American Sheep Producers Council, will help define the optimum processing conditions and economic feasibility of marketing retail cuts of frozen lamb. Five Kansas State University departments and 10 faculty members are involved.

Results of this study could lead to the direct expansion of central processing and freezing of red meats in Kansas and other midwestern states, says Dr. Harold J. Tuma, associate professor of animal science and industries at Kansas State University, Manhattan, the project coordinator.

"Most red meats produced in Kansas are now sold on-hoof or in the carcass form to out-of-state markets," he says. "If developed in Kansas, this new freezing-processing system could mean additional employment and income for Kansas communities."

USDA surveys show that most consumers accept frozen meat if they have confidence in its quality. But few homemakers buy individual frozen cuts at the retail counter because they lack confidence in quality prior to freezing, Tuma says.

This may be because most meats frozen today in transparent films lack the bright and attractive color the consumer desires, he adds. Ice crystal formation in the package and a darker meat color are generally unattractive to the consumer, resulting in low sales appeal.

A number of small frozen food or locker plants and a few retailers now sell individual frozen meat cuts successfully. The apparent key is the reputation of the operator and a consistent quality which develops consumer confidence.

The first objective of the study is to define conditions necessary to produce consistent, consumer-acceptable frozen retail meat cuts.

To accomplish this, researchers will study the processing variables which influence product quality, such as muscle quality, freezing temperature, packing materials and methods and display case shelf life.

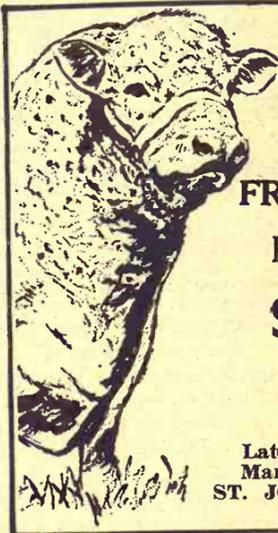

A series of experiments will be designed to determine minimum specifications necessary with each variable to produce a consistent, acceptable product.

A second objective is to examine present consumer acceptance and cost per pound of the marketing system and to analyze alternative market distribution arrangements.

Several commercial firms, including Chemetron Corporation, Hussman Refrigeration Co., Cryovac Corporation and Farmland Industries have donated equipment to be used in the project.

K-State departments include animal science and industries, economics, foods, nutrition, mechanical engineering and statistics.

Kansas Near Top As Crop Exporter

Ten states accounted for nearly 60 per cent of the nation's $6.3 billion in agricultural exports last year, say Agriculture Department statisticians.

The leading states for the year

Grass & Grain 25
October 29, 1968

ended June 30 were Illinois, $583.3 million; Texas $551.2 million; California $413.3 million; Iowa $392.3 million; North Carolina $366.2 million; Kansas $296 million; Arkansas $154.8 million; Indiana $251.3 million; Nebraska $229.5 million and Minnesota $226.3 million.

Department officials said in a report on 1967-68 farm export trade that shares were estimated mainly on the basis of state contributions to the nation's over-all agricultural output, with adjustments to reflect actual shipments of commodities.

In recent years, the report said, farmers have received about one-sixth of their income from the export market. Last year more than two-thirds of the domestic rice production, half of the wheat and cotton, about 40 per cent of the hides, skins and tallow, and around 25 per cent of the tobacco, sorghum grain and corn were exported.

This market required the output of about 71 million acres of U.S. farm land — one fourth of the total harvested, the report said.

Total farm exports were down last year from $6.8 billion in 1966-67, and $6.7 billion in 1965-66, but were the third largest in history, the report said.

who sent for the auctioneer?

An auctioneer's chant can have a mournful sound, especially when it signals the premature end of a farming enterprise.

Not widely known is that a new force in farming has contributed to this final unhappy result in many instances.

Large concerns, many of them feed manufacturers, have huge feeding operations, thus competing with the individual farmer in the market place.

And these corporate giants have one tremendous and consistent edge over the individual farmer: money! With the staying power created by enormous cash reserves, they can afford to ride out price slumps caused by a market that's become glutted, often by their own over production.

What can the individual farmer, rancher, cattle feeder, dairyman and broiler, turkey and egg producer do to help blunt this competitive edge?

Certainly, he need not continue to help buy planks for his own gallows.

He need not subsidize his competitors and thus perhaps speed his own bankruptcy by buying feed from companies that compete against him at the meat counter.

The O. A. Cooper Company doesn't compete with its customers. "Our Business Is Feed — Never Feeding!"

Nebraska, Kansas Rank 8-9 In Angus Registry

Nebraska ranks 8th and Kansas 9th in total registrations with the American Angus Association.

The Angus group, headquartered in St. Joseph, showed 17,328 registrations in Nebraska and 16,357 in Kansas, for the year ended September 30.

The two states also ranked 8-9 in numbers of Angus sales in 1968, with 12,946 in Nebraska and 11,728 in Kansas.

Leading Angus state is Missouri with 42,600. Texas, Iowa, Oklahoma, Tennessee, Kentucky and Illinois precede Nebraska.

ANOTHER NEW FACE AT FARM HALL

The Agricultural Hall of Fame near Bonner Springs has picked another chief executive. The latest is Robert J. Bricker, 46, a native of St. Joseph. He succeeds Del Hininger, who resigned.

HEREFORD ASSOCIATION HEAD FROM IDAHO

The new president of the American Hereford Association is Wayne Naugle, an Idaho rancher. He has been a Hereford breeder in the Treasure Valley near Nampa and runs a herd of 225 registered Herefords.

Because the application alleges various subsidies and bounties on practically all steel products imported from Europe, a finding in favor of special duties, could have major repercussions in world trade policy and practice.

Buy, Rent Or Custom-Hire Machines?

One of the problems the modern farmer faces is whether to buy, rent, or custom-hire the machinery needed to do his work.

Because much specialized farming equipment carries a high price tag, Delbert E. Lane, Extension farm machinery specialist with the University of Nebraska, recommends that some close figuring be done before buying.

"Figure the per-acre or per-hour cost of using your own equipment. Then compare with the local rental or custom rates," Lane suggests.

He offers these tips for figuring machinery costs:

Estimate the cost of simply owning your own equipment. Include expenses for depreciation, taxes, shelter, insurance, and interest on money invested. Each year, ownership costs are likely to add up to 15 or 20 per cent of the original equipment cost.

Now determine the cost of operating your new machine. Estimate gasoline, oil and grease costs for each acre or for each hour of operation — then multiply by the total acres.

Be sure to include the cost of repairs, which are proportionate to use.

Total repair costs during the life of equipment may be estimated as low as 60 per cent of the original price.

Since owning your own equipment requires an operator, value this labor at what it would be doing if you hired a custom operator for the job. Use simple addition and division to determine costs on a per acre, per ton, or per bale basis.

The cost of owning a piece of machinery should be balanced against possible losses in quality or quantity of a crop that might result from untimely custom work.

Asks U.S. To Get Tough On Steel Trade

The United States Steel Corporation has quietly posed a challenge to a wide variety of indirect aids to exports that have been used for years by most European countries and Japan.

U.S. Steel has applied to the treasury department for an investigation of these practices as applied by the European common market countries, with the aim of having "countervailing duties" imposed by the United States to offset them. Such duties would increase the price of imported steel from Europe by some presently unknown amount.

Countervailing duties, long a dormant element in the basic 1938 U.S. trade and tariff law, have been revived this year by the administration as part of a new "get-tough" policy against foreign countries. Trade practices that are deemed to distort fair competition. Thus, the U.S. Steel application clearly stands some chance of being successful.

100,000 Or More Missing State Taxpayers, Crosscheck Shows

A comparison of federal computer tapes with Kansas income tax records shows that more than 100,000 Kansans apparently failed to file a state return for the tax year 1966, Revenue Department officials say. Employees in the department are using magnetic tapes of federal income tax records for the first time this year to determine which Kansans filed a federal return without also filing a Kansas income tax return. Information on the federal Internal Revenue Service-produced tapes shows 115,501 Kansans filed a federal return in 1966 income without submitting a state return to Topeka. James T. McDonald, state revenue director, said the department has decided to take the 5869 Kansans who reported an adjusted gross income of $10,000 or more for 1966 to the federal government and find out why they didn't file a state return.

The potential revenue from persons with less than $10,000 in adjusted gross income would not justify the expense of checking them out, McDonald said.

Revenue department employees this week are manually checking those 5869 accounts to see if they find a filing for the taxpayer under a different social security number or different spelling.

"It appears that about 50 percent of the accounts will be culled out," McDonald said.

The persons whose accounts remain will be asked by letter from the revenue department to file a state return for tax year 1966 and to explain why they didn't do it in the first place.

The state revenue director said he doesn't believe there could be too many good reasons why someone who reported an adjusted gross income of $10,000 to the federal government neglected to file a state return.

Kansans who ignore the letters will have a tentative tax liability levied against them by the revenue department, which will then send the information to agents in the field who will try to track down the non-filers.

The State Dept. of Revenue and the federal Internal Revenue Service have an exchange agreement which provides confidential swapping of information about taxpayers living in Kansas.

The program has been in effect several years, but the revenue department has had too great a workload until now to match the federal and state tapes.

Since this is the first time Kansas has tried to track taxpayers in the state who apparently failed to file a Kansas return, the amount of revenue which could be obtained is difficult to estimate.

However, McDonald said, it probably would be less than $1 million.

He said New York has a federal-state matching system which has produced revenue at the rate of $40 in tax collections for every $1 in administrative costs.

Oklahoma put the system into effect, and it yielded $3 million.

Good Year For Truck Gardeners

The Kansas commercial apple crop for 1968 was estimated at 14,400,000 pounds (320,000 bushels) according to the Kansas Crop Reporting Service.

The expected 1968 crop was more than twice the size of last year's 6,800,000 pounds and, if the expectations are met, it will be the largest crop in 17 years.

Harvest of fall and winter varieties of apples was underway during September with good size, color and quality reported by most growers.

The 1968 peach crop was estimated at 6,200,000 pounds (130,000 bushels) compared with 3,600,000 pounds produced in 1967 and the average for 1962-66 of 4,700,000 pounds. Peach production was limited in many areas by late spring freezes this year.

Vegetable Crops

Dry bean production in Kansas was estimated at 220,000 cwt., compared with 154,000 cwt. produced last year. This year's crop will be the largest since 1961.

Harvest in western Kansas was in full swing by the first of October with yields being somewhat lower than earlier expectations.

The production of Irish potatoes in Kansas was estimated at 133,000 cwt., compared with 128,000 cwt. harvested last year. This year 1400 acres were harvested, 100 acres less than in 1967. The yield per acre of 95 cwt. compared with a yield of 85 cwt. per acre a year ago.

Sweet potato production was estimated at 81,000 cwt., down 4000 cwt. from last year and 31,000 cwt. less than the average. The yield of this year's crop is expected to be 90 cwt. per acre compared with a 1967 yield of 85 cwt. per acre.

The 1968 cantaloup crop was estimated at 63,000 cwt., some 18,000 cwt. less than last year. Harvest of melons was completed by mid-September in the southwest portion of the state while harvest in other areas of the state was completed somewhat earlier.

Sweetcorn production was estimated at 72,000 cwt., some 12,000 cwt. more than was produced last year. Picking of sweetcorn was virtually completed in September with only isolated late planted acreage being harvested during the month.

Lost One To Lightning

Gerald Graves, Manhattan, said he lost a cow to lightning in an early October rainstorm that gave fall moisture to much of the G&G area. Gerald and Max Blodgett were working 40 head of cattle when they found the dead cow.

Union Shop,
State Law
Or Not

Kansas has a right-to-work law which presumably bans the union shop, one which requires that any worker where such a contract is in effect must belong to a union.

But 14 unions of more than 2500 workers at the Sunflower
Army Ammunition plant near DeSoto have ratified a contract with the federal government which requires non-union workers to join the union by November 9 or lose their jobs.

The union stand is that the Sunflower plant is federal property, and the state law does not apply.

A permanent right-to-work office has been supported since the 1958 election by various business interests, and officials in it say they are studying the situation. However, Rex Harlow, executive vice president of the group, agreed the unions' position was safe, and that unless the federal government enacted a right-to-work law, the contract would stand.

According to the union's interpretation, the exemption would include all federal facilities, including postoffices, military bases, and armories.

Unwanted Homes
Go For $500
Each At Salina

SALINA — Twenty-five homes once used by families at Schilling AFB have been purchased for about $500 each.

The buyer was E. F. Murray
Jr. of Manhattan, and the seller was the Federal Housing Administration. Murray must move the houses at least 10 miles away within six months.

The houses, built in the early 1950s, have been unused and deteriorating since the air force base was closed. FHA had not been able to sell the homes, which were generally smaller and less marketable than other homes in the subdivision, and had been costing FHA about $200 yearly in taxes and assessments.

Murray is expected to make the houses available near Fort Riley. He also acquires title to the lots on which the houses are located.

There were seven other bids received besides Murray's but they ranged from less than $10 a house up to $30.

FHA owns 485 houses in a subdivision between Salina and the former air base. More of them will be sold, with bids to be requested soon on 45.

Moisture Supplies Well Over Average

Mid-October soil moisture supplies in wheat fields in the western two-thirds of Kansas were up moderately from last year and average, according to the Kansas Crop Reporting Service.

The 4.42 inches of water available to plants in the top four feet of soil was 7 percent more than mid-October last year and 11 percent above the 1962-66 average.

In the first foot of soil, 1.54 inches of water was available for plant use compared with 1.14 inches last fall. The increased amount in the first foot is partly a reflection of heavy rains over much of the western two-thirds during the survey week. Available water for plant use in the second foot averaged 1.16 inches, slightly above the 1.11 inches last October. The third *Soil moisture tests were made every 8 miles over a distance of about 3,000 miles in the western two-thirds of Kansas by field crews working cooperatively from the Kansas State Board of Agriculture and the U. S. Statistical Reporting Service.

The range in mid-October soil water available for plant use in more than a quarter century of records has been from 0.98 inch in 1940 to 6.86 in 1959. Usual field capacity is about 8 inches of water available for plant use in the top 4 feet of medium textured soil.

Average depth of penetration of available moisture was 43.2 inches compared with 44.7 last October and an average of 41.1

southern and central districts but below last year in northern districts. The south central district had the most water available with 5.40 inches followed by the southwest district with 5.07 inches.

In both of these areas, fall soil moisture was the best in 8 years.

The northwest district had the least water available with 3.07 inches. This is lowest for this district in the fall since 1956, while in the north central district it was the second lowest in this period.

Seeding of the 1969 wheat crop progressed slowly in early September but by the end of the month had caught up to normal. By October 12, some 90 percent of the State's wheat was seeded compared with 80 percent a year earlier and an average of 88 percent for the date.

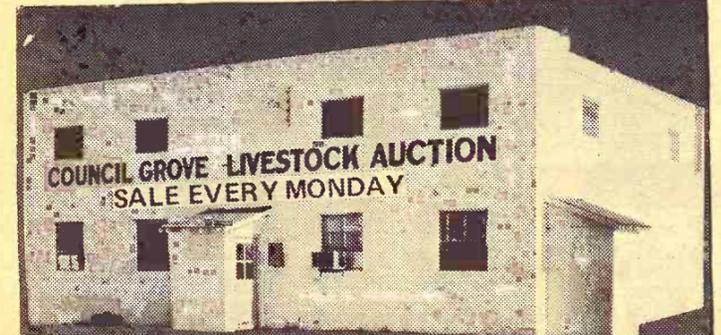

The average height of wheat plants over the western two-thirds of the State was 3.4 inches compared with 3.3 last October and a 5-year average of 3.7 inches. The average height of wheat plants ranged from a high of 3.8 inches in the south central district to a low of 2.9 inches in the southwest district.

Stands of wheat were fairly good over the western two-thirds of the State, but lack of moisture had slowed wheat development in some areas.

A total of 331 tests were made the western two-thirds of Kansas.

Face Feed Grain Acreage Cut

The Government's feed-grain program may be a little late this year.

Agriculture Department officials consider October ideal for unveiling the coming year's program because it permits farmers to calculate the program's advantages and to prepare their fields for planting before winter closes in. Indeed, for the past two years feed-grain announcements have come during the final two weeks of the month.

This year, though, some aides of Agriculture Secretary Freeman are wondering whether Mr. Freeman, for the sake of Democratic presidential candidate Hubert H. Humphrey, will put off disclosing program details until after election day. They reason that available federal remedies for the current oversupply of corn and grain sorghums, the two chief feed-grain crops, will prove unpleasant medicine for many farmers, and might not promise much strengthening of sagging prices either.

Clues to what's ahead for growers emerge from a two-day meeting between department officials and the Grains Advisory Committee that represents producers, handlers and users. It seems likely, though, that participants in the 1969 program will be asked to slash a bigger percentage of their feed-grain acres from production with little, if any, increase in the rate of compensatory Federal payments.

The extent to which farmers accept such a plan, of course, could have a profound influence on grain prices next fall, as well as on prices of pork and beef for which feed grains are a major raw material.

Under present law, growers of corn, sorghums and, next year, barley may voluntarily participate in the Government program. Inducing participation are direct federal price-support payments and payments for diverting feed grain acres to conservation uses, plus the offer of a low-interest, price-supporting federal crop loan. In return, the growers must agree to plant within Government-decreed acreage limits.

For the corn and sorghum crops currently being harvested, program participants are believed to have planted about 42 million acres and diverted another 32 million or so, while non-participants planted about 39 million acres.

To Agriculture Department planners, next year's technical objectives are quite clear: Lure more farmers into the program (nonparticipants usually plant "fencepost to fencepost" so that merely complying with the program's basic acreage limitations would represent a cutback for them), and induce previous co-operators to divert still more acres.

The problem is complicated by political considerations, however. Government crop costs are drawing heavier fire these days from urban Congressmen, irked by cutbacks in Great Society spending owing to Vietnam war costs. In addition, the Johnson Administration is committed to significant federal economies.

$102,000 Bull

Here is the bull that sold for $102,000 at the American Hereford Association's "Twenty Grand" sale at Kansas City.

The bull was sold by Winthrop Rockefeller's Winrock Farms of Sulphur, Okla., to T. W. Bill Lacy of Lacy Herefords, Kansas City. The price reportedly is the highest ever paid for a Hereford at auction.

The sale included only 20 Hereford bulls, picked by judges from 27 entries, averaged $15,470 and lasted only 75 minutes. The association, encouraging only the best animals at the sale, required a $250 entry fee for judging and $250 for the auction.

There were two G&G area sellers and one buyer. Woody Hereford Ranch of Barnard made a $42,000 sale, CK Ranch at Brookville sold a bull for $20,200, and Baughman Ranches at Waldo made a $20,000 sale. A buyer, at $12,000, was Meyers Ranch at El Dorado.

Sale Every Monday

Starts 1:00 p.m.

This week found more consignors, selling more calves and stocker yearlings and cows to a big number of buyers. All classes were selling very active and mostly steady to higher. The calves sold fully steady to 25% higher. Feeder steers sold 25% to 50% higher. Feeder heifers were scarce and lower. Stock cows were selling very active and higher. All in all it was a farmer to farmer sale and a good sale.

For next week we are expecting a good run of feeder cattle. Already consigned are 300 to 400 head of steers, 700 to 750 lbs. plus several small consignments of all classes. Glasco Livestock is your best cattle market. You are assured of receiving our personal attention, professional know-how and full market values. We solicit your good will, confidence and cattle. Nowhere will you find a market that works as hard for the sellers as we here at Glasco Livestock.

School Official Sees Even Bigger Districts

Unification of school districts will be extended to a county-wide or larger basis, thinks the state superintendent of public instruction.

"I probably wouldn't even mention if I were running for office," said Murle Hayden, whose office will be replaced next year by an appointed state education commissioner working with an elected policy-making State Board of Education.

While consolidation of schools has gone at a fast pace in Kansas since state aid was tied to various enrollment, valuation and faculty standards, Hayden sees a need for even larger districts.

"It would give more education

Grass & Grain

32

October 29, 1968

for the children," Hayden told the Kansas Congress of Parents and Teachers. "I wouldn't say it would lower taxes."

Few of Kansas' 350 unified school districts are countywide, and some counties have as many as six districts. The statewide average is slightly more than three per county, altho this includes districts which overlap into more than one county.

Hayden told the group he favored larger districts, legislation to permit local boards to close schools without submitting the act to a vote of patrons, and a plan to force kindergarten programs into all districts. There are still 22 districts which do not operate kindergartens altho the number is down 12 from last year.

OK Reseal On '68 Crops

Major farm crops produced in 1968 and placed under government price support loans may be resealed in storage and continued under the loan program this year, the secretary of agriculture, Orville L. Freeman, has announced.

The so-called reseal program allows a farmer to store his grain under government loan and keep it there beyond the normal maturity date of the loan. Without a reseal program, grain under bond becomes property of the government's Commodity Credit Corporation. With reseal the farmer retains title and control of his grain and is in a position to sell it should the market price increase.

Crops announced for reseal next year are wheat, corn, sorghum grain, oats, barley and soybeans produced in 1968, Freeman said.

Grain from crops in 1964-67 previously under the extended loan-storage program also will be eligible for reseal next year, Freeman announced.

The department has encouraged farmers cooperating in the various government production control programs to use the loans as devices to keep grain from the free market in order to help boost cash prices.

Freeman said "farmers themselves hold the key," and that if they place more of their 1968 production under loan "market prices will be strengthened."

The department's National Advisory committee on grains recently urged Freeman to announce as soon as possible the department's grain reseal program for next year.

Sale Every Saturday Cloud County Livestock Commission Co.

Concordia, Kansas

Cattle were steady to stronger here this past Saturday. Farmer buying was predominant. Butchers were steady from the previous week's sale. We had a nice run of cattle. If you have cattle to sell or are looking for cattle to buy, consider doing business at the Cloud County Livestock Comm. Co. No consignment is too small. Each customer is treated fairly and equally. All stock are sold in the order they are unloaded at the dock.

HOGS START AT 11:00 A.M. CATTLE AT 1:00 P.M.

Prices looked strong all the way on cattle at the sale last Saturday, but cows were a little lower. Receipts of feeders and calves were heavy, and the prices were steady to strong. It looked like our market was at least as good as the area showed.

Hogs seemed to make a come-back after a slump. All buyers are back, and they bid into a top of $17.70 for butchers. Most sold @ 16.60 to 17.60. There were fewer feeder pigs than we usually have, but the prices were in line.

We have a real good sale coming up for this Saturday.

ABILENE, KANS.

Selling Every FRIDAY

Starts 1:00 p.m.

Last Friday consignors locally and from all surrounding counties brought in the largest run we have sold this year. Again many buyers from out of state, locally and all surrounding counties paid strong to higher prices for all stocker and feeder cattle. We look for the run to be small this week as we have sold big runs all through the summer months.
