Administration

NO college can be greater than its faculty. Their bigness of mind, their wealth of knowledge, and their clearness of vision set the pace and determine the progress of the institution.

Unfortunate truly is the graduate who leaves the walls of his Alma Mater without having formed some of his most sincere and inspiring friends among the members of her faculty. These are the friends who form a permanent linking between the college and the outside world. Student friends are gone all too quickly, and the well known faces of the faculty alone give to the old college its familiar air.

The faculty at Kansas State ranks high in the number of men and women who will stand out in the lives of her student body as representatives of the highest of ideals and ambitions.

Here's to the Faculty of Kansas State.

HENRY JACKSON WATERS

Ex-President of the College

B.S.A., University of Missouri, 1886; LL.D., New Hampshire State College, 1913; L.L.D., University of Missouri, 1916; Assistant Secretary, Missouri State Board of Agriculture, 1886-'88; Assistant in Agriculture to Missouri Experiment Station, 1888-'91; Professor of Agriculture, Pennsylvania State College, and Agriculturalist, Pennsylvania Experiment Station, 1892-'95; Instructor in Animal Nutrition, Graduate School of Agriculture, University of Ohio, 1902; Director Missouri State Agricultural Exhibit, World's Fair, St. Louis, 1903-'04; Student, Universities of Leipzig and Zurich, 1905-'06; Instructor in Animal Nutrition, Graduate School of Agriculture, University of Illinois, 1906; President, Missouri State Board of Agriculture, 1908-'09; Dean of the College of Agriculture, Director of the Experiment Station, and Professor of Agriculture, University of Missouri, 1895-'96; President, Kansas State Teachers' Association, 1911-'12; President International Dry-farming Congress, 1913-'14; Special Commissioner to the Philippine Islands, 1914; President, American Society for the promotion of Agricultural Science, 1913-'14; President, Kansas State Agricultural College, 1909-'18; Editor, Kansas City Weekly Star, 1918-

Administration

THE growth of Kansas State during the past ten years has been phenomenal. Who has promoted this improvement is realized by no one more clearly than by the student body, whose leader President Waters has consistently been.

There were those who hoped to keep him permanently and there were others who saw in him those elements of true statesmanship which would of necessity lead him into a sphere in which his magnetic personality would reach a larger group. Even to those who were not surprised to have him leave, there came nevertheless a pang of regret when the time came for him to go. But whether he plays the role of an educator, or an editor, or a statesman, Kansas State will always know that she has a friend who has been tried and found true. And that friend is Dr. Henry Jackson Waters.

WILLIAM M. JARDINE

President of the College

B.S.A., Utah Agricultural College, 1904; LL.D., Campbell College, 1916; Instructor in Agronomy, Utah Agricultural College, 1904-'05; Manager, Utah Arid Farming Company, Utah, 1905; Assistant Professor of Agronomy, Utah Agricultural College, 1905; Student-Graduate, School of Agriculture, University of Illinois, 1906; Professor of Agronomy, Utah Agricultural College, 1906-'07; Assistant Cerealist, United States Department of Agriculture, 1907-'10; Instructor in Field Crops, Graduate School of Agriculture, Michigan Agricultural College, 1912; Professor of Agronomy, Kansas State Agricultural College, 1910-'13; Acting Dean of the Division of Agriculture and Acting Director of the Agricultural Experiment Station, ibid., January 1 to September 1, 1913; Dean of the Division of Agriculture and Director of the Agricultural Experiment Station, ibid., 1913-'18; President, Kansas State Agricultural College 1918-

Administration

PRESIDENT W. M. Jardine assumed his duties on March first of this year. When the president's chair became vacant by the resignation of Dr. Henry Jackson Waters the college community turned its attention at once to the present incumbent. After considering several other prospective men for the place the Board of Administration yielded to the wishes of the college body and proffered the place to Dean Jardine of the Agricultural division. The state at large has long recognized the ability of President Jardine as an executive and as a man thoroughly able to cope with the agricultural problems of the state. As Dean of the Agricultural division of the College he has built up that department until it ranks among the foremost in the United States.

President Jardine is familiar with the agricultural affairs of the state and there is no doubt but that the Kansas State Agricultural college will continue to make the same rapid growth and development as under the former administration of Dr. H. J. Waters.

Administration

JULIUS TERRASS WILLARD

Vice-President of the College

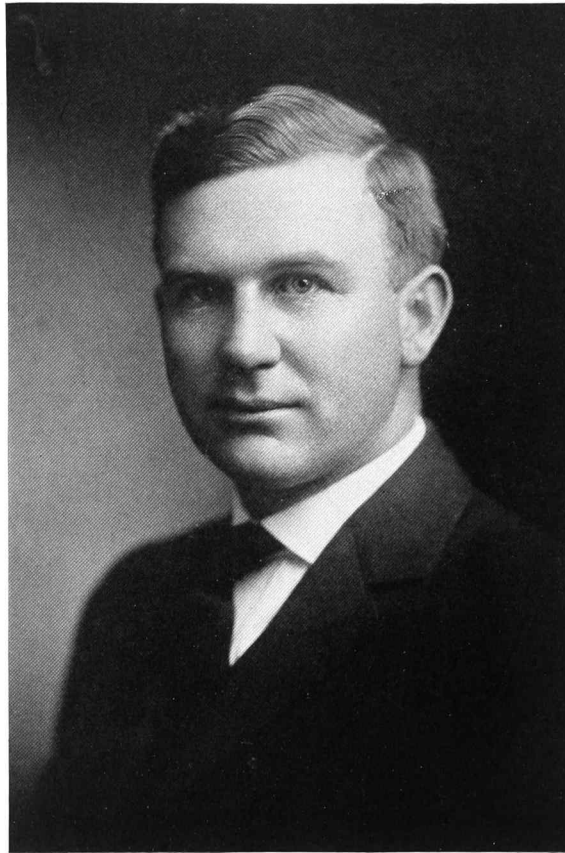

B.S., Kansas State Agricultural College, 1883; M.S., ibid., 1886; Sc.D., ibid., 1908; Assistant in Chemistry, ibid., 1883-'87; Graduate Student, John Hopkins University, 1887-'88; Assistant Chemist, Kansas Experiment Station, 1888-'97; Assistant Professor of Chemistry, Kansas State Agricultural College, 1890-'96; Associate Professor of Chemistry, ibid., 1896-'97; Chemist, Kansas Experiment Station, 1897-; Professor of Applied Chemistry, Kansas State Agricultural College, 1897-'01; Director, Kansas Experiment Station, 1900-'06; Vice-Director, ibid., 1907-; Professor of Chemistry, Kansas State Agricultural College, 1901-; Dean of the Division of General Science, ibid., 1909-'17; Chemist, Engineering Experiment Station, ibid., 1910-; Acting President, Kansas State Agricultural College, January 1—March 14, 1918; Vice-President, Kansas State Agricultural College, 1918-.

Administration

WHEN a journalist who had been in Dean Willard's division for three years was asked to express an opinion of him from the student's point of view, this was the response, "He is fair, he is human, he has an understanding and understandable sense of humor, you will always find him square if you are trying to do the right thing, and best of all he knows and has a keen personal interest in every man and woman in his department."

There are many things that can be said of Dean Willard as a chemist; there are many things that people of the outside world and the faculty here can say for Dean Willard—but what more need we, as representatives of the student body, say of the man who is our vice-president?

Administration

PROFESSOR LELAND E. CALL

Head of Agronomy Department and in charge of Division of Agriculture

Because of the many departmental duties imposed upon him, the Head of a Department seldom has the opportunity to become well known beyond the realm of his own individual jurisdiction. Professor L. E. Call is a man who is an exception to this general rule. As the Head of the Agronomy department he has developed it until it has become one of the strongest in the college. He is well known throughout the state as an authority on agricultural problems and probably no other department yields as much direct good to the farmers of Kansas as does the Agronomy department of the college.

The Division of Agriculture

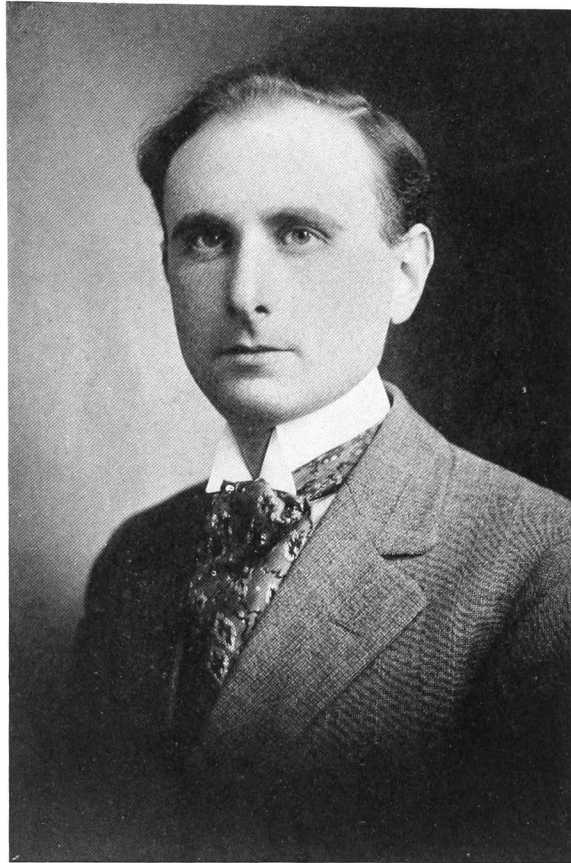

THE college work of the Division of Agriculture consists of the curriculum in veterinary medicine, a combined six-year curriculum leading to degrees both in agriculture and veterinary medicine, and various courses offered to students of other divisions of the college.

The college curriculum in agriculture was designed primarily to give a broad and thorough training in modern agriculture. It prepares men and women for any one of at least four important vocations: namely, farming, teaching, research and extension work. All of these vocations demand broad, general culture and a high type of citizenship as well as an efficient technical training. These ideals are kept before the students throughout the four-year curriculum.

The work of the Division of Agriculture is closely merged with that of the Agricultural Experiment Station. The station herds of livestock, fields of cereal and forage crops, orchards and gardens, furnish working laboratories for practical instruction in agriculture. The men in charge of college teaching work in agriculture are also members of the experiment station staff. It is in experimental and research work that inspiration is gained for enthusiastic and effective teaching. The masses of information that have been collected as a result of the experiments, investigations, and studies conducted since the establishment of experiment stations, form the basis of the agricultural science of today. Agricultural science is a growing science and the experiment station is the laboratory in which it is being evolved. The more elementary problems in agriculture have been solved. The problems of the future are more difficult and require highly trained men for their solution.

Many of the men on the staff of the Agricultural Experiment Station and in the faculty of the Division of Agriculture are among the foremost scientists of the country. They have rendered inestimable service in the upbuilding of agriculture and the placing of farm practices on a scientific foundation. One of the outstanding advantages of a student of the division is the opportunity for personal association with these leaders of different lines of scientific agricultural investigations.

ANDREY ABRAHAM POTTER

Dean of the Division of Engineering

S.B., Massachusetts Institute of Technology, 1903; with Experimental Steam Turbine Department, General Electric Company, Schenectady, New York, 1903-'05; Graduate Student, Columbia University, Summer School, 1908; with General Electric Company, Lynn, Massachusetts, Summer, 1913; Assistant Professor of Mechanical Engineering, Kansas State Agricultural College, 1905-'10; Professor of Steam and Gas Engineering, ibid., 1910-; in charge of Mechanical Engineering, ibid., 1910; Acting Dean of the Division of Engineering, and Acting Director of Engineering Experiment Station, ibid., 1913-April, 1914; Dean of the Division of Mechanic Arts, and Director of the Experiment Station, ibid., April, 1914-.

The Engineering Division of the Kansas State Agricultural College

THE Engineering Division of the Kansas State Agricultural College is carrying out the ideals of the Morrill Land Grant Act of 1862 in preparing students for the engineering profession and in giving instruction in the other branches of the Mechanic Arts.

The present organization of the Division includes eight departments, which are: Applied Mechanics and Machine Design, Architecture, Civil and Highway Engineering, Electrical Engineering, Farm Engineering, Shop Practice, Steam and Gas Engineering, and the Engineering Experiment Station.

The research carried on by the faculty of the division of engineering is part of their work in connection with the engineering experiment station, which was established for the purpose of carrying on tests and research of engineering and manufacturing value. Among the tests which have been recently completed or are now being carried on are: tests on Kansas sands, automobile oils, illumination, electric heating, concrete, gas engines, traction engines, road building, and similar problems which are of interest to the engineering profession in general and to the people of Kansas in particular.

The offices of the division of engineering and of the engineering experiment station are frequently consulted by municipalities, state institutions, and individuals regarding various matters of engineering and manufacturing.

During the present year, the engineering division of the Kansas State Agricultural College has been co-operating with the United States Government in problems of value to this country in the war. Engineering instruction is being given to soldiers at Camp Funston.

Engineers are playing a most prominent part in the world war and the engineering division of the Kansas State Agricultural College is co-operating with the government in training men who will be an asset for our Nation in war as well as in peace. Over two hundred former engineering students and engineering alumni are in military service ready to use their training, and if necessary to give their lives, in order that our United States of America may remain forever the land of freedom, tolerance, equality and opportunity.

Administration

MARY PIERCE VAN ZILE

Dean of the Division of Home Economics

Teacher, Winfield (Iowa) schools, 1888-'89; Student, Kansas State Agricultural College, 1889-'91; Principal, Wayland (Iowa) High School, 1891-'92; Teacher's Diploma, Iowa State College, 1902; Instructor in Domestic Science, ibid., 1902-'03; Student-Graduate, School Domestic Science, University of Illinois, Summer School, 1903; Domestic Science Lecturer and Demonstrator at Chautauqua, summers of 1903-'05; Teacher of Domestic Science and Art, Township High School, Chicago, 1903-'08; Member, University of Illinois High School Council, 1905-'08; Professor of Domestic Science, Kansas State Agricultural College, 1908-; Dean of Women, ibid., 1908-'13; Dean of the Division of Home Economics, 1913.

Division of Home Economics

THE philosophy which long ruled our educational policy has been so modified by research in the sciences and by development of the industries, arts and professions that it is now recognized that any perfected educational systems must include technical training. It must encourage the student's natural desire for productive work—work in which there is a living connection between theory and practice. These broader views have been accepted by college and university men, and the result is noted in the success attained by combining industrial, technical and scientific work with the general studies. The result is evidenced in the new courses of study for men and women. It is safe to assume that there are now but few educators who are so conservative as not to be in sympathy with the collegiate education in home training which is furnished by courses in home economics.

The courses are designed to fit young women to be home makers and capable women in whatever sphere their life work may be. The training is both specific and general. While it emphasizes primarily the practical and material side of life it does not stop here. The young women are constantly reminded that life is not drudgery; that technical knowledge, and scientific skill even fail to include the meaning of education in its highest sense. They are taught that any training that fails to develop harmoniously body, mind, and spirit is inadequate and incomplete. They are brought face to face with ideals as well as actualities, and are made to see that, while skillful labor gives dignity to life, grace, refinement, and self-poise are the highest requisites for true service.

Administration

RALPH RAY PRICE

Acting Dean of the Division of General Science

A.B., Baker University, 1896; A.M., Kansas University, 1898; Assistant in History, ibid., 1897-'00; Graduate-Student, University of Chicago, summer, 1899; Teacher of History and Civics, Lawrence High School, 1898-'01; Graduate-Student, University of Wisconsin, summer, 1901; Teacher of History and Civics, Ishpeming (Michigan) High School, 1901-'02; Graduate-Student, Cornell University, summer, 1902; Teacher of History and Civics and assistant Principal, Rockford (Illinois) High School, 1902-'03; Graduate-Student, University of Michigan Law School, summer 1909; Professor of American History and Government, University of Kansas, summer, 1911; Professor of History and Civics, Kansas State Agricultural College, 1903-; Acting Dean of the Division of General Science, 1918-.

Administration

IN the class of colleges to which this institution belongs, the classical studies of the older type are replaced by the work in the sciences and in vocational training. A sound basis for the technical training includes thorough training in mathematics, physical science, and biological science. It is believed also that education should include some preparation for the discharge of one's duties to the state and to the community in which he lives. It should afford him that discipline and culture which alone can give him a grasp of the relations among things, a breadth of view, a tolerant attitude, and hence an influence over his fellow citizens.

This division in the college strives to give this basic, scientific, cultural, and disciplinary training. Their work is not only foundational, but it penetrates through all the characteristic vocational courses of the institution, as the foundation for many branches of the work.

The division is of great value in unifying and holding together the various courses and allows of a broader education than any other courses in the college as there is much opportunity given for elective work.

Administration

EDWARD CARL JOHNSON

Dean of the Division of College Extension

A.B., University of Minnesota, 1906; A.M., ibid., 1907; Student Assistant in Botany, ibid., 1905-'06; Instructor in Botany, ibid., 1906-'07; Assistant Plant Pathologist, United States Department of Agriculture, 1907; Plant Pathologist in charge of Cereal Disease Work, ibid., 1908-'12; Graduate-Student, George Washington University, 1910-'11; Superintendent of Institutes and Demonstrations, Division of College Extension, Kansas State Agricultural College, 1912-; Dean of the Division of College Extension, ibid., 1915-.

Administration

THE Division of College Extension is concerned primarily with bringing to the people on the farm some of the opportunities for obtaining information enjoyed by the students at the agricultural college, and the whole division is organized so as to serve every portion of the state in the most effective manner.

The eight departments of the division are extension schools and institutes, boys' and girls' clubs, county agent work, home economics, emergency home demonstration work, drainage and irrigation engineering, rural service, and home study service.

Close co-operation is maintained with the counties and local communities of the state in all extension work by means of county farm bureaus, farmers' institutes, home-makers' clubs, community clubs, and boys' and girls' clubs, under local leaders.

Cordial working relations are maintained with the State Board of Agriculture, the State Department of Public Instruction, the university, the normal schools, and the public schools throughout the state.

Administration

HARRY LLEWELLYN KENT

Principal of the School of Agriculture, State Director of Agricultural Education A.B., Kansas State Normal School, 1912; Graduate, Kansas State Normal School, 1904; Assistant, Science Department, ibid., 1902-'04; Instructor in Science and Geography, Western State Normal School, 1904-'09; Student, University of Chicago, summer, 1908; Special Student, Kansas State Agricultural College, summer, 1909; Instructor in Nature Study and Elementary Agriculture, New Hampshire State Normal School, 1909-'11; Student, Cornell University, summer, 1910; Director of Instruction by Correspondence, Division of College Extension, Kansas State Agricultural College, 1911-'13; Student, University of Chicago, summer, 1914; Principal of the School of Agriculture, and Associate Professor of Education, Kansas State Agricultural College, 1913-; State Director of Agricultural Education, 1918-.

The School of Agriculture

THE School of Agriculture is organized to meet the needs of the young men and women who have need of an education specifically connected with the problems which they have to face in their homes, but who have not the necessary preliminary training or the time necessary to take the regular college course.

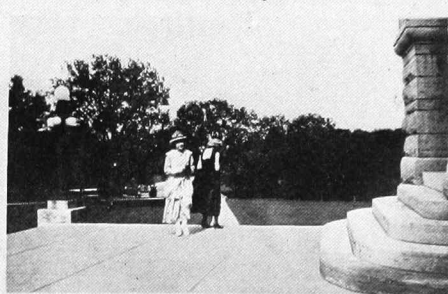

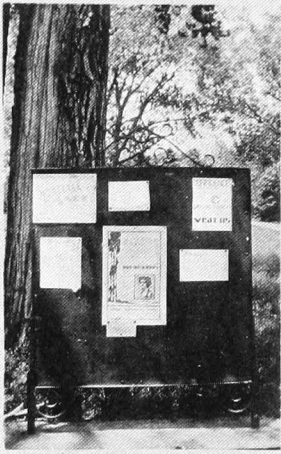

A great part of the time in the school is devoted to the actual laboratory practice, but some cultural training is given by the courses in English, history, civics, physics, and chemistry.

The School of Agriculture is not a school preparatory to the college. Its sole purpose is to give a training that will make country life more attractive. It does not strive to take pupils away from the high schools, but wishes rather to give the training to the boys and girls who are in a position to need just the sort of an education that it is fitted to give.

All of the resources of the college are at the disposal of the School of Agriculture, and its students have every advantage possessed by the students of the college.

History of the Class of 1918

AS WE SEE IT NOW

EVEN the most fanciful among us did not dream, in the Fall of 1914, when a large class of Freshmen appeared on the Kansas State College campus, that such a remarkable organization could possibly result as the Class of 1918 has proven itself to be.

The class early formed a permanent organization and from then on, everyone knew that "things were not as they used to be" on the campus. The class championship was won by us that year, both in Football and Basketball. Freshman caps were worn religiously by all the classmen and the custom became permanent that year. After that our class insisted upon the custom being observed by the succeeding classes. When a goodly amount of the ice cream was missed at the Junior-Senior Prom in 1915, no one thought to blame the Freshmen. Needless to say, we ate the ice cream.

Name us a social event that took place during our stay here and we will tell you what they had to eat for we helped to eat it. When the college cannon were fired in the wee' sma' hours of the morning the college authorities never suspected us of having anything to do with it—ask DuBois or Gibbons about it—they know.

When the Freshmen-Sophomore Pop night was instituted and the Key to the Campus was made to pass down to the succeeding generations of Freshmen—no, the Freshmen did not get the key at all—ask us and we will tell you where to find it.

The girls of the class have come in for their share of the spoils too. In Athletics they have excelled always and in class politics have been represented by class officers throughout their college year.

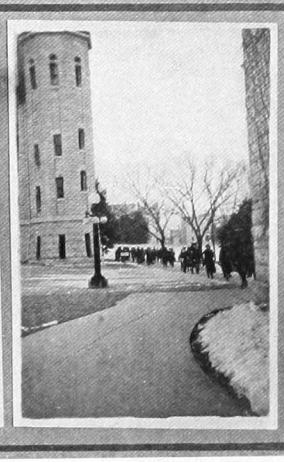

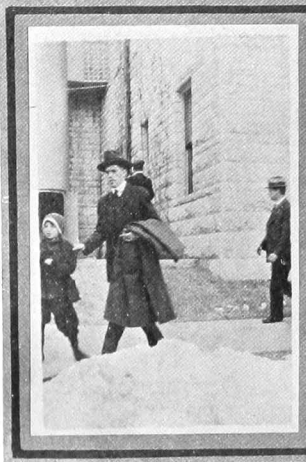

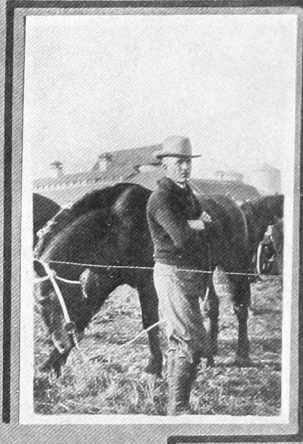

When Uncle Sam called he found our classmen ready for the call and many of our best men are "over there" fighting to make the world safe for democracy. Many others were called home to the farm or business and the remnants of the class have remained to the end of the course.

We've done our best to leave our mark here. If it is overshadowed by succeeding classes we will rejoice in the fact. If they don't measure up, we'll view it with regret.

The Class of 1919

Motto—"Be on the Job"

Colors—Dark Blue and Red

THE Class of 1919 came back this fall with all the enthusiasm and pep in the world, although many, many of its men had been called to the colors. In the fall election one of its strongest girls was chosen president and girls filled many of the other offices.

The Juniors are prominent in College activities, doing their part in football, basketball, dramatics and wherever else they are needed.

This class has given up its fall party because of the war condition. Whether it is giving up good times, or whether it is Red Cross work or knitting the Juniors are always ready and willing to do their bit.

Although many of the prominent members of the Junior class are in the service the class is living up to its motto "Be on the Job," and its aim is to develop an even better college and class of 1919 so that the men who are at the front may ever be proud that they were "Nineteens."

ALTHOUGH many who responded nobly to the call of knowledge have responded as nobly to the call of our nation, there are many Sophomores left on the hill. The class has kept up the same pep despite the disadvantages of war times. The fall of 1917 brought two new problems to us; the problem of reconstructing our ranks after their depletion by the call to the colors; and the problem of adjusting ourselves to the semester plan. With Calvin Medlin as our president, we solved these difficulties with little exertion. With Clifford Kneisley as our president for the spring semester, we feel confident that, in spite of our decreasing numbers, we will mount the steps to the Hall of Fame.

We are strong in athletics. Despite the fact that Divisional athletics has deprived us of many class honors, we have twelve representatives on college teams.

The first social function this fall was a hike to Flat Rock. During the latter part of the semester a class dance was given. We are now looking forward to the Pop-Concert which is an annual function given by the Freshmen and Sophomore classes.

We have our fun and we enjoy it, but we never neglect our class work and in two short years we hope to be called wise and dignified Seniors.

A SMALL GROUP OF THE 1921 CLASS.

Classes

IN the fall of 1917 there assembled on the Campus of the Kansas State Agricultural College the greenest bunch of Freshmen that ever poured thru the gates of this institution. Altho the class had plenty of good material for an early organization of the mass into one unified body, the Frosh were not able to get together until the fall semester was well under way. After considerable pleading upon the part of many of the upper-classmen, a few of the members of the class of 1921 which "was to be" called a meeting to which the Freshmen responded quite generously. From that time class meetings were held with varying regularity.

The members of the Freshmen class were liberal purchasers of the Famous Campus tickets and the season tickets for Chapel Seats were found in the pockets of many of the new students. Tho this bunch of Frosh may be labeled as the Greenest, their generosity can never be questioned, for at one time there appeared at one of their gatherings, a certain couple of Junior Co-eds soliciting for a fund establishing a home for cats and had the taller of these two young women been able to stifle her conscience, the soft-hearted, well meaning members of that august assembly would have contributed enough money to feed all the cats in the city of Manhattan for at least a month on the best of steaks.

In athletics, however, is one place in which the Freshmen were not asleep. A large squad of men were out for the first year string and they afforded the Varsity gridiron warriors a good scrap at all times. The Freshmen Varsity basketball team won four games straight from the First Year men of Nebraska and in addition furnished a battle for the Regulars of the college. The Freshman girls won the inter-class championship in basketball with a margin to spare.

We wish the members of the Class of 1921 success and as profitable a four years as we have spent at the Kansas State Agricultural College. "Pep up."

GRADUATING CLASS 1918

Motto—"Off Coats and Dig"

THE School of Agriculture plays an important part in the educational system of the state, by giving to those who desire and education that will better fit them for country life, just that kind of an education. The enrollment this year is smaller than that of last year but the same condition exists in all schools for advanced education.

The School of Agriculture has its literary societies, and its athletics and the work achieved along both lines is commendable indeed.

CAPTAIN W. P. J. O'NEIL, U. S. A.

Captain O'Neil received his commission from West Point and later saw service on the border and in the Philippines. He came to Kansas State as Professor of Military Science and Tactics in the fall of 1917. Since coming here he has been instrumental in having the Reserve Officers Training Corps established here.

MAJOR W. B. WENDT

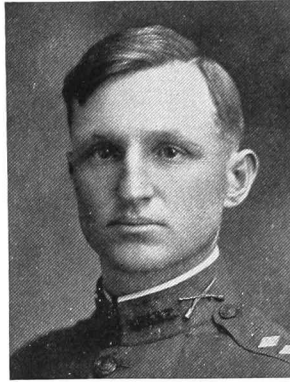

Major Wendt is a graduate of an Engineering school and is a volunteer assistant in the Military department here. He was a member of the First Michigan Field Artillery until it was called into active service when he was honorably discharged on account of defective eyesight.

Engineering Association

The Engineering Association is an organization of all students taking engineering courses at the Kansas State Agricultural College. Meetings are held twice each month at which addresses are delivered by prominent engineers from various parts of the United States. It is the aim of these speakers to present to the students some of the engineering problems of the world today. A general mixer and dance is held once each semester. Engineer's Week which occurs every fourth year is promoted by the Engineer's Association. This week features a chapel program, moving picture show, parade, engineering demonstration, a big hike, and the whole week "winds up" with an Engineer's Ball. The publication of this association is the K. S. A. C. ENGINEER, a magazine published twice each year.

The Jayhawker Saddle and Sirloin Club

Colors—Black and Gold

Motto—"Better Livestock for Kansas"

The Jayhawker Saddle and Sirloin Club was organized January 17, 1914. The club is composed of Senior, Junior, and Sophomore students in the Department of Animal Husbandry in the Division of Agriculture. The purpose of the organization is to promote the breeding of better livestock in Kansas.

Meetings are held every second and fourth Monday evenings of each month. A stock judging contest is held every spring. The first Annual Barn Warming and Stock Show was held in November, 1917, with great success.

Organized October, 1906

The object of this organization is technical training along veterinary lines, together with such social and literary training as may accompany it. Meetings are held twice each month in the evening and consist of a program and regular business meeting. Members of the faculty and other men prominent in veterinary and allied lines, as well as the members themselves, appear before the meetings. Upon graduation the members in good standing are presented with sheepskin diplomas in recognition of their work.

Woman's Athletic Association

The Woman's Athletic Association was organized in the fall of 1915 for the purpose of promoting the physical and social activities of the women at the Kansas State Agricultural College. The Association uses the point system in awarding honors, 25 points being required for entrance into the association. A K. sweater is awarded for 160 points and a pin for 80 points. Points may be obtained by making class teams, by acquiring a certain excellence in swimming, by playing in a tennis tournament, by going on organized hikes, and by having a perfect gym record.

Those having been awarded pins are:

Aggie Pop Night

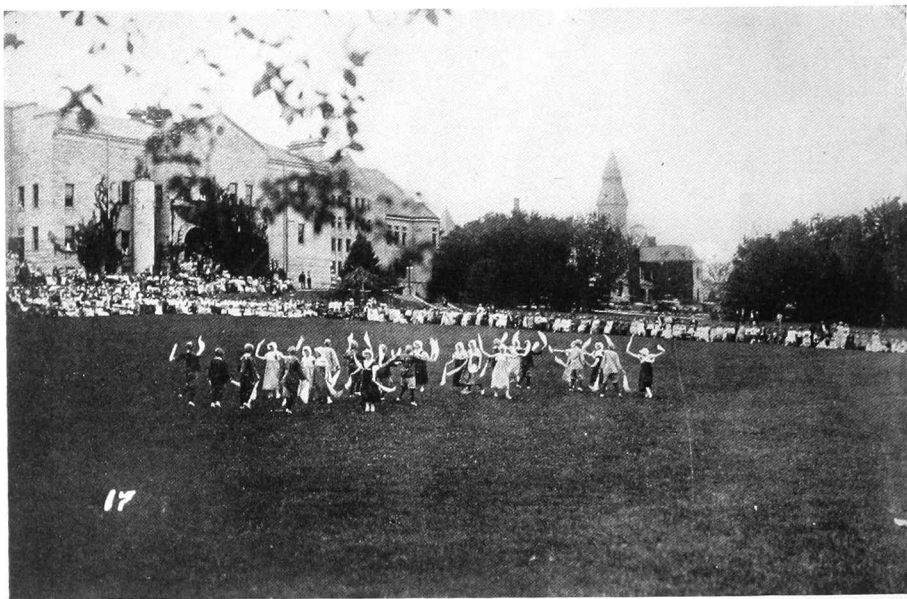

Aggie Pop Night is the popular name for the Aggie popularity contest. It is the night when all of the organizations on the hill vie with each other in an attempt to produce the most beautiful, original, clever stunt. It is under the supervision of the Y. W. C. A. and the Advisory Board of the Association gives a silver loving cup to the winning organization.

This year Pop Night was especially good, so the Pi Beta Phi sorority may be particularly proud of having won the loving cup by virtue of the cleverness and beauty of their stunt "The Budding of the Rose."

Two Hundred Sixty-six

The Saxons hand down to us the beautiful custom of choosing the Queen of Love and Beauty who shall reign supreme over her subjects at the Sports. At Kansas State she is called the Queen of the May and the period of her reign is one day in May, but in no place is she more truly a Queen of Love and Beauty than when she takes her place on the throne that has been prepared on the most beautiful campus that Nature has ever bestowed upon a college.

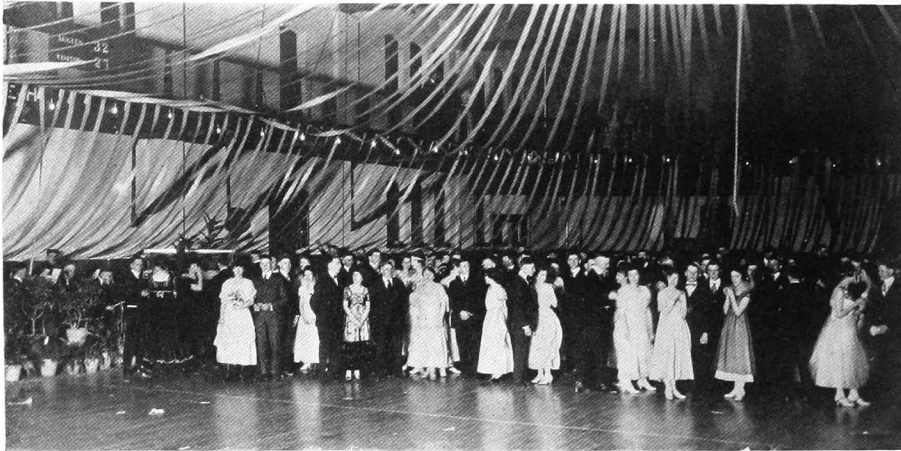

For one day each spring the campus is under her supreme control and her subjects bow before her with the loving obedience that she deserves. For her are arranged the most graceful dances, the most attractive frolics, and the most charming games. Her subjects wait impatiently for the time when they may show their regard by their entertainment.

Accompanied by her chosen attendants, followed by her court and subjects, she crosses the campus until she reaches the throne. Had she the world to choose from, where could she find a woman at whose hands she would prefer to receive the crown than from Dean Van Zile? When the crown is placed there is a feeling of love and respect that grows in the hearts of fellow students until she is a Queen in reality as well as in name.

There are games, there are dances, there are frolics of all sorts and when the sun goes down, his last glance at Kansas State shows him one of the most beautiful and attractive scenes that it is ever his pleasure to see.

PROF. ARTHUR E. WESTBROOK

The Department of Music

Graduates of a very few years ago cannot believe possible the transformation of the music department that has come about since their graduation. The department has expanded until now it is one of the recognized departments of the college and is coming to the front in the attention of the people of the state.

It would seem almost impossible to bring about this great change in so short a time, and in a college of this kind. For this improvement we must give credit to the man who has been back of it. That man is Prof. Arthur E. Westbrook. He came to the college when the music department was so weak that it was not even considered worthy of mention by many of the students and faculty. From such a condition he has brought about a truly remarkable change. Under his management the Annual Spring Festival has been instituted and is now one of the events to which the college community looks forward each year. His chorus in "Elijah" has been widely praised. The enrollment in the department has increased tremendously and the faculty has been enlarged and improved.

All this speaks well for its directing head, Prof. Arthur E. Westbrook.

The 1918 Football Season

STARTING the season with two of our best men in the army, and with the news that Roda and Ptacek, the star guard and tackle, would not be back until later in the season, our prospects were not very good for a successful team. But Clevenger and Shultz were equal to the occasion and built up a machine that made a good record throughout the season.

The first game of the season was with Baker, and it was an easy Aggie victory. However neither team had their work in good shape and there was some ragged playing on both sides. The score was 20 to 0.

The next week, on October 6, the Aggies met the heavy team of the Oklahoma Aggies. The team was working together better by that time and we came out victors by a score of 28 to 0.

On October 13 the Aggies bearded the Tiger in his den. Again we were able to tie a knot in his tail. Hinds did great work in carrying the ball, while Clarke easily out-punted his opponent.

Rutherford, the former Nebraska star, next brought the Washington team over from St. Louis and promised to show us some real football. However that said football failed to appear and the Clevenger-Shultz machine turned the game into a track meet, winning by a score of 61 to 0.

On November 3 the Aggies played their old enemy, Kansas University. But the Hoodoo could not be broken and we lost the game by a score of 10 to 0. This game was much closer than the score shows. The Aggies outplayed the K. U. delegation at all points in the game.

The next game was with the Iowa Aggies. This game was lost in the last few minutes of play when Boyd, the Ames quarter, placed a drop kick over the goal. Clarke featured the game by his long punting. Score 10 to 7.

The Aggies now had blood in their eyes and swore revenge. They got it in the next game with Kansas State Normals. They gave the Normals the worst drubbing that they have ever had. In this game everybody starred. Sullivan did great work, when time after time he carried the ball for long gains. Score 51 to 0.

The Turkey Day game with Washburn was at Topeka. The game was won easily with a score of 38 to 0. Although some of the big games were lost, and the Aggies did not finish at the top of the Missouri Valley, the season was a success with six games won and two lost.

BOGUE

(Half)

Joe could play anything, any position in the backfield or either end of the line. With half a chance Joe should be one of the most valuable men on the team next year.

One of the hardest hitting men on the team. Built to make an ideal fullback. Will show up well in the Valley next year.

DICKERSON

(End)

Dick did not get a chance till the last of the season, but when he did, he played his position well. Dick will not be here next year as he has joined the army.

FRANKENHOFF

(Tackle)

A good player and could be used without fear at any time that he was needed. As there was a surplus of tackles Charley did not get to show what he really could do.

CLARKE

(Quarterback and Captain Elect)

A good general, a wonderful forward passer, a good punter, and a sure tackler. One of the best men in the valley at safety. A little slow on his feet but with a clear and fast thinking head that makes up for it. Johnny will make an ideal leader for the team next year.

RODA

(Guard)

A hard fighter, sure tackler, a very aggressive and conscientious worker. Roda's work this year made all the opposing coaches wish that he was not on the team. He is an ideal guard and has one more season to play.

(Tackle)

Just the man for a tackle position. A stone wall on the defense and a forty-two centimeter on the offense. Bill was a good mate for Roda, and it was very seldom that the opponents made any gains over that side of the line. Second All Missouri Valley.

PETE PTACEK

(Tackle)

With a never give up spirit Pete would fight to the last. He was a heady and aggressive player. A little short for an ideal tackle, but he ably held down the hardest position on the line. Pete graduates this year and goes into the Navy.

ENLOW

(End)

Charley was called into government service and did not get to show his true ability. He was an able man on the defense and a good receiver of passes. If he fights as well for his country as he did for his Alma Mater, the Nation can be justly proud of him.

GATES

(Guard)

Built to make a good guard. Fast. He showed great development this year and will make one of the best guards in the valley next year. Ike has two more years.

HINDS
(Halfback)

A large amount of energy condensed into a small package. Fast, slippery, a good dodger, and a hard tackler. It was Hinds' hard playing that won the Missouri game. Heinie has two more years.

L. PTACEK

Hard hitting, he seldom missed his man when running interference. A good tackler and a consistent player. Leo had one more year but he has gone into Navy.

SULLIVAN

THE MASTER OF THE NOISE

Basketball

WAR came. The Aggies lost Eddie Wells, last year all Missouri guard, and Fullington, lanky center, to the army camps. In spite of the new material with which Clevenger had to work, he perfected a machine that went through the season with but five defeats. That was good enough to place the Aggies in second place in the Valley.

Missouri invaded the Aggie camp and by winning two of the hardest fought games of the season placed herself at the head of the list of Valley Conference Schools. The two games were played to close scores, Missouri 28, Aggies 24; and Missouri 23, Aggies 19.

K. U. and the Aggies divided their games. The Aggies lost one game in each of the series but as she won a larger number of conference games than the University, Kansas State has a right to second place in the conference.

The Nebraska games were played on the Cornhusker court. We can not forget the two hard lost defeats of two years ago. This season we won one and lost one to the Cornhuskers.

The Aggies won ten conference games. The team played Iowa State at Ames, Washington at Ames, and won a hard fought game with Drake.

Athletics

CAPTAIN VAN TRINE starred. Van's style of basketball can not be beaten. This year he won many games by his excellent goal throwing.

GEORGE HINDS as forward, mate to Captain Van Trine, was a close second in team work. George combines floor speed with goal shooting. It is a well known fact in Aggie circles that Heinie can not be downed.

BILL WHEDON, the big center, plays his strength on the court for many Aggie advantages. Bill fights his way into the games and his opponents have a move coming when Bill gets into action.

JOHNNIE CLARKE, a member of the Missouri Valley Championship of last year, played his usual defensive game. His strong defense kept the hope of victory from materializing for many of his opponents.

BEN HINDS was a new man on the court this year. He is a good running mate for Clarke. Ben played in every game until he was forced out by an injury in the second Missouri game.

Some of the Boys

In visiting among the various colleges, one may find a number of professors to whom the students affectionately refer, as 'one of the boys.' It may seem to some a lack of respect to address a professor in such terms, but as a matter of fact it is quite the contrary.

If one were to speak of Professor Throckmorton to one of his students, the said student would have to stop and think to whom the speaker was referring. The boys all know him as "Throck." Oh No! We wouldn't advise you to try and 'get by' under him for the few that have tried it have failed ignominiously.

Professor Grimes is only known by that name on his letterheads. To the students who know him it's 'Grimes.' He is the Farm Management 'gun' and it's some course too. Yes, you will work, but then it's a pleasure to do so under 'Grimes.'

The term 'one of the boys,' can never be more truly applied than in the case of Dr. Mac Arthur. If there ever was a friend of the boys at Kansas State, it is he. It doesn't matter what you want, or what your trouble is, you will get a sympathetic ear and the 'glad hand' from him.

'Prof' Dickens is probably one of the best known men in the State of Kansas, both to the students and to the Alumni of Kansas State. He hasn't forgotten that he was once a boy and never fails to see our point of view. He is one of the discipline committee but don't worry. Play square and you will get the same treatment from him.

"Durham" is the name applied to Professor Durham, Assistant to the Dean of the Agricultural Division. He is a friend of the men throughout the entire school and the perplexing problems that confront the students are straightened out by him. "Go out and ask Durham about it" is the common saying among the boys at Kansas State.

"Parker" is a new man but he has already won a place in the hearts of the boys in the Agricultural division. He is 'some gun' when it comes to Crop Improvement and Plant Breeding and you will doubtless lose considerable sleep when you enlist under him for such subjects. But it's worth it, just to know "Parker," for he is every inch a man.

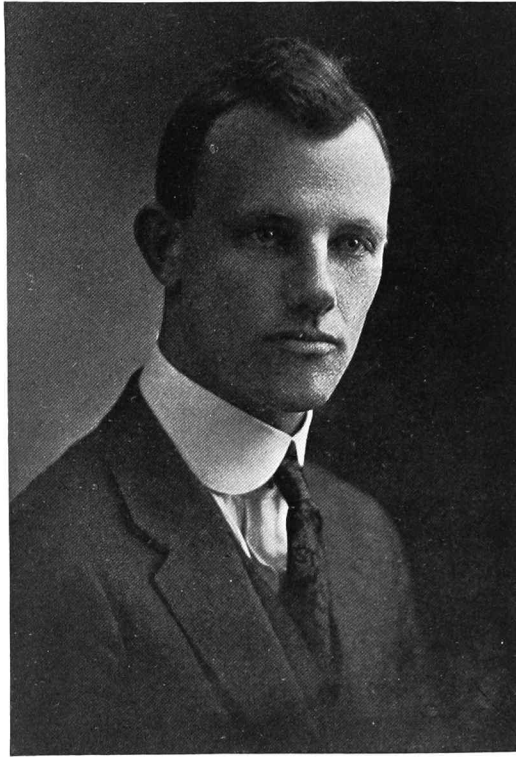

In the faculty directory it's Doctor Dykstra, but when the boys speak of him it's "Dyke." We'll see what 'Dyke says about it,' so say the 'Vet' boys when they aren't sure.

- 1 XIX does not always mean nineteen.
- 2 Prof. Westbrook received a beautiful dinner ring for Christmas.
- 3 Io, Io, Io, does not refer to financial stress.
- 4 George Gibbons is not reaping a fortune from the Royal Purple.
- 5 You can make blonds but red hair just comes natural.
(Ask Bruce Brewer to prove this statement)
- 6 There are probably a few members on the faculty who don't have it in for you. They may not even know who you are.
- 7 Fannie Farmer is not an agriculturist.
- 8 The Y. W. C. A. Cabinet is often chosen in the same manner that Scarabs are chosen. You will have to think about this in order to get the drift.
- 9 An indifferent attitude at a quiz will get an E under some teachers and an F under others. Study the prof. (An after-thought prompts me to say that it might be as well to study the lesson.)

The following poem is dedicated to the ninety-nine percent of the student body who have had experiences this winter that enable them to appreciate the sentiment.

A Measly Day

When you come to the end of the thirteenth day,
And into your mirror you gaze,
And the pimples dot your neck and chin,
And your face is all ablaze.
You may know that the morn of the fourteenth day,
Will mean vacation too.
And a whole long week of delightful rest,
With not a thing to do.

Well this is the end of the fourteenth day
Near the end of my patience too.
But it leaves a wish that is big and strong
A wish for something to do.
For measles have brought with them discontent,
And with horror now I view
The weeks that must follow the measly week,
With not a thing to do.

The Co-Ed Knitter

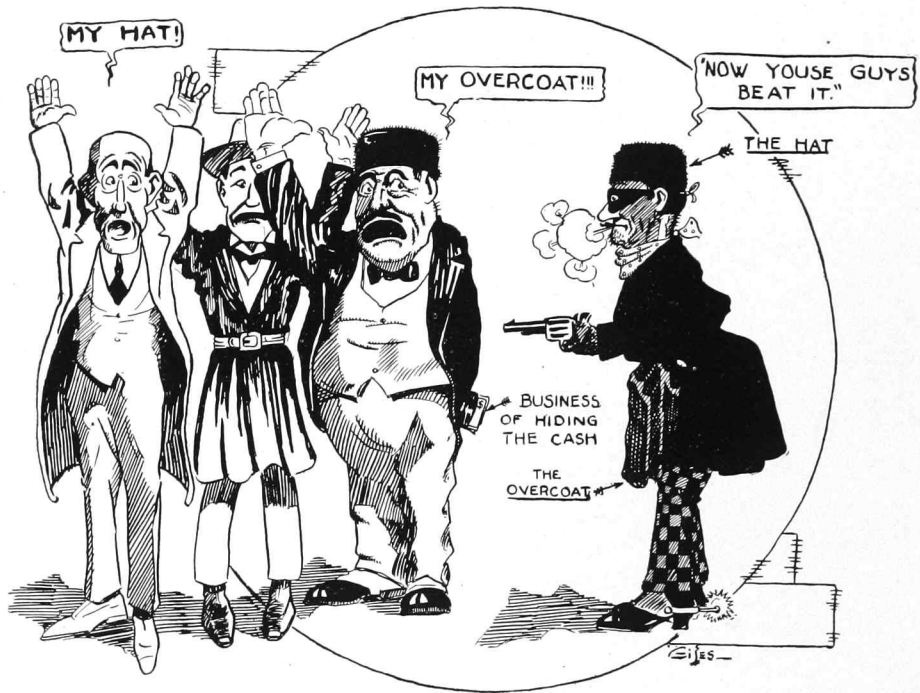

Ethel Arnold

With fingers nimble and quick,
 With eyes that are tired, but bright,
The co-ed sits with her ponderous bag,
 And knits with all her might.
 Knit—Knit—Knit
 And the yarn isn't crimson or blue,
She's discarded the colors bright and gay,
For yarn of a khaki hue.

 Knit—Knit—Knit
 From dawn to set of sun,
In class-room, hall, or movies,
 The co-ed's knitting's done.
Mitt and sweater and scarf,
 Scarf and sweater and mitt,
And so the co-ed knits on and on—
 Steadily doing her bit.

 Knit—Knit—Knit
Though the needles are heavy as lead.
 Knit—Knit—Knit
No thought of an aching head
 It's O to be a knitter
Of the khaki wool and grey,
 Fingers fashioning something warm,
For the lads who've gone away.

No Experience Needed—Consult Your Father—
Or Any Owner of an Admiral Near You—We
Send You Their Names when you write.

I HAVE a special offer to make to Agricultural Students—not to make you "rich," but to sell you an Admiral Hay Press which you can easily pay for out of earnings in one season and make big profits, besides. Just investigate the facts.

You and your father should certainly not be without a famous Admiral Hay Press—either horse power or motor power, to suit your needs. Lasts a lifetime.

It's a wonderful money-maker, most powerful, the greatest Hay-Eating Hustler made.

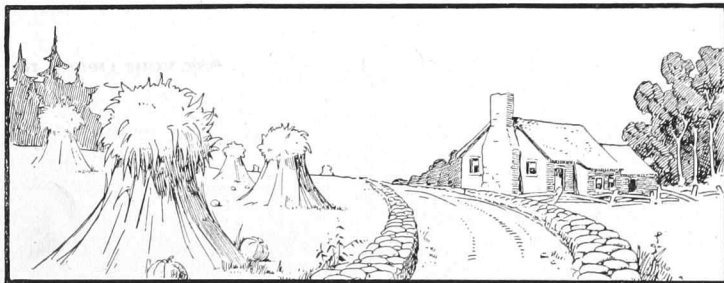

Bales all kinds of forage. Biggest prices this year of all history for baled Timothy, $22, straw $11 a ton, etc., in January, on war-time demand. Write me.

An Appreciation

THE 1918 Royal Purple is given to you as the result of many toilsome days and sleepless nights. It has been our endeavor to make the book conform with the spirit of the times, and economy along every line has of necessity been closely observed. Owing to the depleted ranks of the students and the resultant reduced revenue to the book, it has been impossible to make the book an elaborate one. It has been our endeavor to make the 1918 Royal Purple characteristic of the school it represents. To leave a written record of the happenings, the classes, the college activities and the associations around which many happy memories are surrounded has been our objective. If we have reached it we are satisfied.

We are indebted to the members of the staff for their conscientious effort in helping to complete the book.

To Mr. E. O. Drullard, of the Union Bank Note Co., a great deal of credit must be given. He has been an invaluable asset to the entire work and his long experience in building college annuals has been the guide for the building of this book.

The Burger Engraving Company has aided materially by their hearty co-operation in the engraving work for the book. The quality of their work has been above standard and we are indebted to Mrs. Burger for her valuable assistance.

The advertisers are few this year. You will find among them the business men of Manhattan who are loyal to the school and are willing to support such activities. Of the business men in Manhattan who are not represented here, we have nothing to say. We'll leave it to you. The business men of Kansas City have responded liberally and we recommend them to your patronage.

If you like the book say so. If you don't like it, say so. It's all the same to us. The task was wished upon us and we have done our best. It's too late to kick now though for we are on our way.
