Fairs Are All About

What are county fairs all about if not good looking, well-groomed animals, and tight 4-H competitions? These Charolais will be entered at the Tri-Rivers Fair at Salina this week by Pam and Karen Kohman.

Fair Farming Edition 1967

It's Fair Time

Unmistakably this is Fair Season in the G&G area. Practically all counties in the area have fairs, some of them relatively quiet affairs used as a late summer showpiece for 4-H activities, but most of them expanded to include both open class and 4-H exhibits plus carnivals, variety shows, and other outside entertainment.

Some of the festivals have outgrown the county fair designation and attract exhibits and customers from a multi-county region. Salina, Abilene, Belleville and Herington all have fairs that are legitimately billed as regional fairs.

Attention is focused on livestock competition in most fairs, with many a young stockman eager to win a local ribbon that will justify a trip for greater competition at statewide fairs at Topeka and Hutchinson.

The local fair season, however, is in its glory right now. A few fairs have already been completed but most of them are scheduled for this week and next. Several more are set for the final 10 days of the month.

FARMERS OUTLOOK

Better Cattle View

The outlook for cattle feeders was further improved by the USDA report of Cattle on Feed July 1. This report showed that farmers were fattening 2 per cent fewer cattle for market on July 1 than they were a year ago. It was the first time in more than 2 years that farmers had cut the number of cattle on feed below the year-before level.

A cut of 2 percent isn't much. But it is a lot better than the big increases that had been marked up regularly over the past 2 years.

Although the total number of cattle in feedlots on July 1 was less than a year ago, there will be no shortage of feed. The number of cattle marketed during the next few months may be even larger than last year.

The number of cattle nearing market weight was larger than it was a year earlier. The number of steers weighing over 900 pounds totaled 2,464,000 — up 9 percent from a year earlier.

But the number of heifers weighing over 700 pounds numbered only 1,493,000 — down 5 percent. The total of heifers and steers nearing market weights was 3,957,000 — 3 per cent more than last year.

Farmers reported intentions of marketing 5,073,000 cattle during July, August, and September. This number would be 2 percent more than were marketed in this same period last year.

It might seem that fewer cattle would thus be left for marketing after October 1 this year, versus 1966. But there are a couple of things that may add to market supplies by then. First, some of the cattle intended for market before October 1 probably will be held for sale after that date. Second, more cattle may be put in feedlots for a short feed of 60 to 120 days, adding substantially to the number of fed cattle that could be slaughtered in the October-December quarter.

All of the reduction in the number of cattle on feed July 1 was in heifers. They totaled 2,540,000 — 6 percent less than a year before. The cut in heifers suggests that cattlemen may have started to hold back heifers to increase their breeding herds.

Most of the cut in cattle feeding was in California, where the total number in feedlots dropped 18 percent. Illinois farmers had cut their cattle feeding 6 percent.

Coach John Schokley checks ratings of David Schueter of Morrill; Ronny Heiniger, Powhattan; Hooper, Hiawatha; and Steve Gilbert, Hamlin, on a tractor maintenance test. The Brown Tri-County Fair is held at Horton later in August.

FARMERS

America's Rural Electric Systems are outstanding examples of free enterprise. Nearly five million stockholders have accepted the obligation of supplying themselves with electricity. No other business in the U.S. is owned by so many individuals.

We are proud to have played a part in this enviable record of free enterprise coupled with sound business management. Today we are busy increasing capacity of our lines to keep pace with our member-consumers' evergrowing demand for electric power.

You'll never have it better than you will on the farm. Finer tools to work with, greater production with less strain and sweat. Better living with Electric Co-ops on the job. Who can live better than you!

Kansas farmers received slightly lower prices for their products at mid-July than a month earlier and moderately lower than in July, 1966, the Kansas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service said today.

The crop price index stood at 106 and was down six points from a month earlier and 38 points below July last year. The wheat price, at $1.39 per bushel, was moderately below the $1.45 average price for June and well below the $1.78 a year ago.

Calf prices averaged $26 per hundredweight, showing a substantial increase from June's $24.50 and last July's $23.50.

The dairy products price index for mid-July was 284, up 4 points from mid-June and 3 points above July, 1966. The preliminary price of wholesale milk at mid-July was $4.55 per hundredweight, up 5 cents from the previous month and a year ago.

The poultry and egg price index, at 106, was up 3 points from a month earlier but 26 points below last year. Chicken prices, at 6.4 cents a pound, and egg prices, at 20.3 cents a dozen, both were up from June but below last year at this time.

The national index of prices for all farm products at mid-July was 257 per cent of the 1910-14 average, up 2 points from mid-June but 11 points below mid-July, 1966.

We Believe

The dignity of man is best served when people work together to help each other . . . this is as true economically as it is politically or socially.

Economic tools should be used to solve economic problems.

Cooperatives . . . owned, controlled and used by farmers are an economic tool.

The farmer cooperative is an integral part, an extension of each member's farm business.

Cooperatives are good for the community . . . the savings remain and are generally spent in the community.

As cooperatives are better understood, they will play a greater role in:

- Stabilizing and improving the rural community
- Keeping farmers in control of the farm business
- Benefitting both producer and consumer
- Demonstrating how cooperative international trade will benefit the many rather than the few

"We Believe" is reprinted from the plaque hanging in the directors' rooms of co-ops. We believe Fair Time is a Good Time to expose this creed to all our farm people. — Phil Parker, general manager.

JOHN COLLIER

GLENDIA DITTMAR
The 13-year old daughter of Mr. & Mrs. Glen Dittmar, Clay Center, Kans., joyfully poses with the Hereford steer calf which she bought for 9,749 Red Circle Stamps. She will use this steer for her 4-H club work. The Clay Center Alfalfa Dehydrating Co. served as Glenda's sponsor at the Auction.

THOSE WHO PLAN GAIN THE PRIZES

These youngsters and others have discovered that GOOCH FEEDS help them in more ways than one. First is the fact that GOOCH feeding on their farms means their parents find Gooch is a part of good management. They also learn that they SAVE on feeding costs AT THE TIME THEY BUY THEIR FEEDS. And the RED CIRCLES on every feed order can mean livestock for 4-H projects otherwise not possible for these youngsters.

David Walters of Corning purchased a pig.

Recipe Correction

Mrs. Otto Wendland, Randolph, sends a correction for a recipe that appeared in the July 25 issue of Grass & Grain.

"I'm writing about Our Best Strawberry Shortcake.

"There should be ½ cup of butter or oleo cut into the flour with the egg and milk.

"I don't know if I forgot to put it in or if you forgot; anyway, that should be in if we want to have good luck with it. I thought I should let you know about it."

Furniture Terms Prevents Tangling

Most of the furniture made today is presented to store buyers in suits, collections and groups. If you are confused by these marketing methods, here is an helpful explanation.

A suite of furniture (pronounced "suit") consists of a number of pieces designed for a specific room. Usually furniture manufacturers produce "case goods" (dining and bedroom suites) as parts of larger groups.

A group is a large ensemble of furniture (often as many as 50 pieces). It actually is a collection of suites for bedroom, living room and occasional furniture.

A collection is a mixture of pieces to make an "Eclectic Impression" (thoughtfully collected from here and there.)

Correct Techniques Will Make Ironing Chore Less Tedious

Ironing can be fun and the results can make even a particular pre-schooler happy if you know the right techniques. Following are some questions and answers about ironing:

1. Should you do all your ironing when children are sleeping or at school? NO. Let the child participate. A little girl can iron right along with her mother at her own small board. A toy iron which actually heats up a little is best, since it gives the child the knowledge that care should be taken when using irons. Little boys can help with folding and putting away.

2. Is it best always to be seated while ironing? NO. Alternately stand and sit while you iron to ease strain on your back.

3. Should shirt collars, cuffs and sleeves be ironed last? Again the answer is NO. Cuffs, collars and sleeves, which hang over the edge of the board, should always be ironed first.

4. Is there a difference between spray starch and spray sizing? YES. Starch is a vegetable compound which coats all threads of a fabric and which glues or bonds fibers together for stiffness. Spray sizing is a recent chemical compound that penetrates the fibers to give "body" to the fabric without excess stiffness. Starches are fine for cottons but are often not recommended for synthetic fabrics. Sizing can be used on all fabrics. Also, it does not flake or build up on your iron to cause scorching.

5. Should one always follow directions on the can when using spray starches or sizing? ABSOLUTELY. Always follow manufacturers' directions. Spray sizing makers recommend that when you use their product you should set iron temperature control one notch below cooler than indicated for the fabric. Tilt the can slightly from an upright position, 8 to 12 inches from the cloth. Then spray a fine mist from side of the material.

home that could almost be managed by automation is no dream in the fast-moving industrial and scientific world of the sixties.

From rugs to walls and wardrobes, the home of today can be completely equipped with man-made products developed by the chemists' laboratories. Kodol polyester, Verel modacrylic, Estron acetate, Epolene, Tenite and Tenite — these are technical names of discoveries that have combined to create a wall-to-wall house of wonders. Best new of all, each of these man-made products has already made its debut on the market.

In the home of today and tomorrow, Kodol polyester was used to fashion luxurious wash-resistant rugs, bedsheets that never need ironing and wrinkle-free, stay-fresh sleepwear for every member of the family. Bouncy bed pillow are filled with Kodol fiberfill.

A toy animal contains Verel modacrylic. Even milady's slippers and hair ribbons are fashioned from lustrous, easy-to-care acetate.

Butyrate coatings for wood furniture and plywood paneling ensure resistance to heat and stains. By adding Texanol to latex wall plants, chemists have created fade-fast, scrub-proof colors, even as special chemicals, such as Epolene, have been employed to help give a soft hand to permanent press fabrics.

Tough and decorative Tenite plastics promise long life for such diverse items as hair curlers, clothes hamper trim and hair brushes. Considering that newly-developed fibers, chemicals, plastics and dyes have taken the drudgery out of housework, it would seem unnecessary to employ robot servants, unless, of course, one wishes the supreme luxury of being served breakfast in a virtually food-proof bed.

More Fun With Modeling Clay

Children have more fun playing indoors with their modeling clay if you give each child a handful of toothpicks. This keeps them busy for hours. By using the toothpicks they can add legs, arms or a neck to hold the head of a figure they make. This makes their play more realistic because with the aid of the toothpicks their clay creations will also stand.

Corned Beef Skillet Supper Is Sure To Please Family

Your French-fried-potato-eating youngsters will love this skillet supper and their father will, too. The youngsters will like it because it is chock full of their favorite "taters." Father will like it because it is his kind of meat-and-potato dish, the meat this time being fully-flavored, no-fat, no-waste canned corn beef.

Another virtue of this recipe is its ease of preparation. It's simple enough for youngsters to prepare.

If the 12-ounce can of corned beef is chilled several hours, it will cut into four, six or eight slices for topping the potatoes before cooking. Or the chilled meat can be cut into small cubes and stirred into the potato mixture before being heated through on top of the range. Either way, the good beef flavor of the canned meat will permeate the entire dish.

SKILLET-SCALLOPED CORNED BEEF & POTATOES

2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 medium onion, sliced
1 package (1 pound) frozen French fried potatoes
2 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon salt
½ cup grated sharp Cheddar cheese
1 cup milk
1 can (12-ounce) corned beef, chilled
Topping optional
Melt butter in large skillet; add onion and cook until tender but not browned. Add potatoes, flour, salt and cheese; mix lightly. Add milk. Top with corned beef which has been cut into four slices. Heat to boiling; reduce heat to very low, cover and simmer about 25 minutes or until potatoes are tender. If desired, sprinkle with topping just before serving. Topping: Lightly toast ½ tablespoons chopped parsley; sprinkle over corned beef and potato dish. Serve four to six.

Another Delay

Beset by frequent weather delays, the 1967 wheat harvest got more unnerving when there were mechanical problems. Here Orval Voeltz of Ellsworth talks with his uncle Paul Schand of Herington, who had come to help during harvest season. Ellsworth county's centennial celebration had to be worked into field work by area farmers.

Child Should Be Prepared For Stay In Hospitals

For a child a hospital stay can be a particularly upsetting experience and both doctors and parents should be alert to the problems, says a noted physician.

The normal child is subject to recurring periods of dependence from birth through adolescence. Such periods are likely to occur when the young one is two, five and eight years old.

At these times, hospitalization has traumatic effects. All is strange. Parents are gone. Clothes are taken away. All adults are strangers wearing white. Somebody is always poking or stabbing him and making him uncomfortable in other ways. As a consequence, the child's behavior may become demanding and infantile.

This behavior may continue after returning home. This child may be constantly underfoot, always clamoring for assurance that mother won't desert again.

With proper forethought these emotional setbacks can be avoided, or, in the event they do occur, their impact greatly reduced. It is recommended that children who face a period of hospitalization be told beforehand something about what it's like.

In preparing these children, parents should stress the positive. The ice cream which will follow a tonsillectomy and the toys at the hospital should be played up strongly. Telling the child that something "isn't going to hurt" won't help.

The child's parents should be at the hospital as much as possible — and this, in the majority of wards, can mean most of the day. Mothers may and should attend to all care aside from the strictly technical. If the child is from one to five years old, a mother's presence can dispel anxiety.

There's no need, except in rare cases, for a private room. Young children are much better off in a ward, where they can play and eat together and feel the comfort of a group.

A well-stocked playroom, properly supervised, provides helpful diversion.

76-Year Old Ex-Circuit Rider Leads Mulvane

MULVANE — R. M. (Bob) Whitney, a 76-year-old Mulvane resident, who thinks a horse often has more sense than his master, is preparing to carry the word of God in the Mulvane Pioneer pageant and parade August 26.

The former cattle drover, livery stable attendant and Santa Fe station master will be much at home in the saddle as he dons his circuit-riding costume for his 13th consecutive year in the parade.

Whitney moved to Mulvane in 1913. He was a livery stable attendant. He traveled with his parents in a covered wagon on to nearby Belle Plaine, Kans., at the turn of the century. At the age of 10 he tended horses in a livery stable. During the spring and fall he worked in the saddle as a drover, herding cattle back and forth to the Flint Hills near Atlanta, Kans.

Old Settlers day, of which the Pioneer pageant is a part, began in the early 1870s. Founded as the Quad County Old Settlers picnic, it emphasized equestrian events.

"We hope to have one of the best Old Settlers picnics we've ever had this 94th year," he said.

NUT GROWERS SET ANNUAL MEETING DATE

The Kansas Nut Growers Assn. has set its ninth annual meeting for Fort Scott on November 28. On the planning group are Robert Weese, Mound City; Paul Brennecke, Chanute; Bill Thielenhaus, Fredonia; and C. R. Roberts, Manhattan.

Lawrence Bullinger, left, and Erhart Tonn, sheep and swine judge, look over entries at the McPherson County Fair at Canton which was held in late July.

Fairs Link With Chisholm Centennial, Beef Trail

The centennial observance of the Chisholm Trail is supplying a theme for several of the fairs in the G&G area this year.

The major one is the Central Kansas Free Fair at Abilene, a regional fair due for its annual run at Abilene August 21-25.

Nearby county fairs, such as the ones at Hillsboro and Newton, also will follow some theme dealing with the Old Chisholm Trail.

The Trail was the first "inter-state" cattle highway. The Trail was actually the granddaddy of the great American beef industry, enabling beef to reach the big city markets of Chicago and New York.

The first long herd of Texas Longhorns reached Abilene the first week of August 1867 and a rail shipment of 20 carloads left Abilene for Chicago in early September.

The man who founded the cattle trade in Abilene, building the original stockyards and Drovers Cottage hotel, was Joseph G. McCoy.

McCoy became known as the "Cattle King" of the Western frontier and the Texas Cattlemen once paid this tribute: "In making Abilene America's first great cow-town, Joe McCoy pulled the cork out of a bottleneck which was economically choking Texas to death."

Despite his vision, McCoy was never able to gain any fortune from the large sums he invested in the stockyards, hotels, and other facilities he built and spent to promote the buying and selling of cattle.

Historians said he "branched too far and too fast" from his original scheme plus stroke after stroke of bad luck.

He went into court to collect over $200,000 due him in commissions from the railroad, but by the time he collected it he had lost the famous Drovers Cottage hotel and stockyards.

He made lots of money in cattle but also lost heavily when some of his herds were lost to fever enroute to Abilene.

"I reaped what the pioneer always reaped," McCoy declared bitterly in later years. "Financial loss. The man who came after me reaped the profits."

McCoy followed the cattle trade from Abilene to several other cities and was engaged at various times as commission agent in Ellsworth, Newton and Wichita. He died in Kansas City in 1915.

Waste Controls Apply To Poultry Operations Too

Kansas poultry men were warned about waste control in poultry operations in the lead article of the August Kansas Poultry News, publication for the poultry industry from Kansas State University Extension Service. The article said:

"The State Board of Health has set up some rules and regulations pertaining to waste control from animal operations.

These also apply to the use of open lagoons for poultry operations. When these are to be used there are certain construction specifications which must be met. It would be advisable to check the regulations before designing an open waste disposal.

"Water pollution has had a lot of publicity the past few months, so we need to do anything possible to prevent bad publicity for the poultry industry. At present there are not many open lagoons being used in poultry operations in Kansas, and it is doubtful that many more will be developed.

"When applying for approval of an open lagoon system, the applicant must give information regarding general features of topography, drainage course and identification of ultimate primary receiving streams. The State Board of Health needs to know if this surplus water creates a potential water pollution problem. If it does not create a problem then pollution control facilities will not be required.

"If you are contemplating an open lagoon system, be sure to get the regulations from the State Board of Health and comply with them. Better still, use some other system of waste disposal."

New Limit On Processed Meats

Federally-inspected head meat, cheeks and brains from animals stunned by bullets can no longer be used for human food.

This was announced by the Department of Agriculture in amended meat inspection regulations effective upon publication in the Federal Register Aug. 1.

This change came about through a survey by USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service which showed there is no practical way to assure that edible tissues of the heads of animals stunned by shooting would not be contaminated, regardless of the type of bullet or method used.

However, other satisfactory humane methods of stunning are available, C&MS officials pointed out. These include the use of bolt stunners, either the type which penetrates the skull or the type which stuns the animals without penetrating the skull.

The amendment came about because of bullet fragments discovered in head meat, which is often used in processed meat products.

Although the amendment is effective Aug. 1, upon request federally-inspected plants will be given up to 30 days to initiate other stunning methods, provided a plant employee conducts a piece-by-piece inspection of cheeks and head trimmings from bullet-stunned animals during that time.

Under the Meat Inspection Act passed in 1906, C&MS requires inspection immediately before and after slaughter of all animals processed in plants preparing products for interstate or foreign commerce. This assures the consumer of wholesome, unadulterated, truthfully labeled and sanitarily processed meat products.

90 Feet Plowed In One Turn

How many hours does it take to plow 100 acres of ground? Art Nelson, Rt. 2, Salina, found that the work could be completed in three hours — when 15 good neighbors with tractors and plows moved into his field and went to work. Art suffered a cerebral hemorrhage May 1, and has been unable to do his work. While he was hospitalized, a group of neighbors cut and baled alfalfa hay and put it in the barn. Those doing the work were Al Turner, Shel Coffman, Jesse Elder, Joe Armstrong, Melvin Lang, Tom Clausen and Charles Erickson.

Al Turner, Shel Coffman and Herbert Walle then plowed summer fallow ground.

When the wheat was ready to harvest, the work was done by S. F. Upjohn and E. A. Nelson, Art's brother-in-law and brother.

SEE AND COMPARE THE NEW JOHN DEERE COMBINES AT YOUR FAIR OR YOUR DEALER.

Twelve good reasons why your new corn combine should be John Deere

1. New high-torque engines have plenty of eager power and real heavyweight punch for your toughest harvest conditions.
2. New corn attachments have low profile for clean work in down corn, plus long stalk rolls (38-1/2 inches with points) for tall corn and fields with high plant populations and high ears.
3. Longer clean-grain elevators place loading augers well above grain-tank rims, ending possibility of damaging high-moisture corn, soybeans, and other crops.
4. Servicing and adjustment, always easy on John Deere Combines, are even easier now, for most engine accessories are in the open at the rear of the new engines. Unit-type safety shields for both sides of the separator open and shut like doors for quick access to many other points requiring servicing.
5. Optional full hydraulic drive, the ultimate for operating ease (single lever) and precise control, provides infinite ground-speed regulation and "right-now" reversing without clutching.
6. Large, heavy cylinders have "flywheel follow-through" for tough work; double steel-roller chains assure positive drive.
7. Extra-big grain tanks with high-speed unloading augers are among many "minute-miser" features which easily add up to extra acres and bushels of good work every day.
8. Multiple-V-belt separator drive absorbs shock loads, transmits power from new engines with minimum loss.
9. Exclusive cell-type grate, far superior to old-style finger grates, saves more corn and often permits faster harvesting.
10. Comfortable posture seat leaves you less tired even after long, hard days in the corn-harvest fields.
11. Properly balanced combine weight assures best possible stability and traction whether the grain tank is empty or full.
12. John Deere Credit Plan lets you take advantage of all of the above features this year, even if you're temporarily short of ready cash. See your John Deere dealer soon for details.

Egg Production is more than a Club Project

If you are looking for a branch of farming that requires work, some investment and not much land, then you should investigate the opportunity in the field of laying houses. This is controlled production with a fixed price for your product. Classed under the tax laws as a farming operation, yet it has no government controls.

WE CAN HELP YOU ALL THE WAY - FINANCING TOO

Because Manhattan Hatchery is one of the largest in the Mid-West, we are in a position to help you get started. There is no "hit-and-miss" procedure. It's on the blue print and we've had the experience. For the young on the farm, we know of no other agricultural pursuit that offers the opportunity and profit such as the new method of egg producing. It will cost you nothing to investigate.

If you want to know more about the future in the new era of poultry, come and visit us or write us and we'll get the information to you.

Tri-Rivers Fair Has Variety Of Local Lures

SALINA — The Tri-Rivers Fair, which has tried some big-time entertainment and found is difficult to get it paid for, hasn't concealed a retrenchment of the Salina fair's ambitions.

But there's still a good show for fairgoers at Kenwood Park this week. The fair opened last night (August) and runs through Friday.

A rodeo will be the main night attraction on the opening three nights, with a team-pulling contest the Thursday night grandstand feature. Teams from Kansas and Missouri are invited.

A Grand Ole Opry troupe will be at the grandstand on

Where The Other 62 Cents Goes

By Leonard W. Schruben
Farmers are handling more money than ever, but have fewer dollars left over after paying their bills. Here's why. Farm prices aren't what they used to be. And farm costs, increasingly steadily, are up 4 percent from a year ago.

Farm production expenses have soared an average of $1 billion a year since 1957. That means farmers are paying $10 billion more for expenses than 10 years ago. And no end to the upward trend is in sight. Advancing costs have cut into farm profits, and these costs reflect prosperity by non-farmers. So farm prosperity has not kept pace with the economic advances of other parts of the economy.

A look at what's been happening to the farmer's share of the

So, non-farm people in the food industry — those folks who assemble, process, package, and distribute foodstuffs — are more and more in the picture. That is why they now get 62 cents of every food dollar.

food dollar the past 20 years paints a clear picture of the farm income situation. In 1947, the farmer received nearly 50 cents of the food dollar. Prices for many farm products were at or near their peak during that time.

But farm prices have slipped downward in recent years, and services — such as packaging and freezing — have been added. So today the farmer's share of the food dollar is down to 38 cents.

A look at any grocery shelf will show how many different food preparation jobs have already been done before the food reaches the kitchen. The USDA estimates that for every man-hour spent on the farm actually growing wheat, nearly 8 hours are spent off the farm getting it ready for and moved to the consumer.

BAG COMPANIES WANT TO STUDY FEED HANDLING

Six trade associations interested in bags and sacking have financed a $10,000 research project for the K-State Department of Grain Science and Industry to study factors affecting the quality of feed mixtures during handling and delivery. The bag companies are interested in how materials segregate in bulk and bagged handling.

"Give me 10 good reasons why I should feed Dehy!"

Okay, count 'em—

- 1 Dehydrated alfalfa contains more total nutrition than any other natural feedstuff.
- 2 It improves utilization of poor quality roughages.
- 3 Dehy pellets have specific protein guarantees.
- 4 Plus high levels of carotene (Vitamin A source).
- 5 Dehy fits into any ration...naturally.
- 6 Dehy pellets handle and mix easily and cleanly.
- 7 Alfalfa's nutrition is in the leaf and all the leaves are in the pellet.
- 8 Closest thing available to "green grass nutrition."
- 9 Detailed assays are available for precise nutrient formulation.
- 10 Priced lower than any product of comparable nutritional value.

"When Money Matters,

See our

Home Town Banker"

A Kansas Bank is the most useful financial institution in all the state. It is flexible in its operation. It can usually find a solution for almost any financial problem that an honest farmer may have. One customer may want a loan for capital improvements; the next may need financing on his livestock; the third could be a 4-H youth discussing a project; the fourth may be arranging for his education.

Because we provide sound financing for many other things — to buy land or machinery, to pay debts, to pay family expenses, or to provide working capital. Our service is fast and flexible.

BANKS ARE THE BEST PLACE TO PUT MONEY —

Banks are not only a good place to get your money. They are a good place to put your savings. Your savings have never grown so fast as they can now in an insured account at a Home Town Bank. And your Local Bank offers a full line of services to you — Savings, Loan Service, Checking Accounts, Safe Deposit Boxes, Travelers Checks — they're all available at your Home Town Bank.

These facts can not be disputed

THESE ARE FACTS:

A survey shows that banks are still, as they have been, the first line of credit to farmers. Over 70 per cent of the money borrowed by farmers for all uses — to purchase livestock or machinery, to pay debts, to pay family expenses, to provide working capital — comes from your local commercial bank.

Next time you see an Allis-Chalmers ONE-NINETY or ONE-NINETY XT at work, take a good close look at the man in the driver's seat. You'll probably notice a satisfied expression on his face — an expression that says he's found a tractor that's helping him turn his time and his acreage into more money in the bank.

Then take a good close look at his tractor. You'll probably notice that it looks different from other tractors. It is. It has comfort for long days in the field . . . convenience for safe, easy handling . . . performance to make the most of every day . . . dependability to keep your work on schedule . . . precise power control to do the job right . . . and top quality — inside and out.

What's more, it can be tailored to exactly fit your soil and equipment — from the engine on back. The ONE-NINETY XT is available in 93.64 HP* turbocharged diesel model, a gasoline model, and an LP gas model. The ONE-NINETY gives you your choice of a 77.20 HP* diesel or a gasoline model.

Give your Allis-Chalmers dealer a call and ask him to show you what one of these top performing tractors will do on your farm. You'll probably look good with a satisfied expression on your face and more money in the bank.

Expand Entertainment At Riley Fair

The entertainment has been expanded for the 1967 Riley County Fair. The Manhattan Optimist Club has secured two night shows for August the 9th and 10th which should be of interest to all of the people in the area. The Riley County Fair Board has provided for a pony pulling contest and tractor driving contest this year.

Wanda Jackson, a popular recording star from Oklahoma City, will be the feature entertainer for the evening of August 9th. The Optimist Club members secured Miss Jackson for a program that would be of interest to the whole family.

The Classman, a popular recording combo will entertain the teenagers of the area during the evening of August 10th. The group will provide a one hour program and then will play for two hours for a teen dance.

On Wednesday, at 1:00 p.m. a tractor driving contest will be held for the 4-H boys and girls enrolled in the tractor driving

Although Ford Motor Company this year is saluting the Fordson that Henry Ford introduced Oct. 8, 1917, as the world's first mass-produced tractor, a great many other tractors have been significant in Ford's rise as one of the world's largest tractor producers.

1907 — This experimental model was one of Mr. Ford's first attempts to build a light, sturdy, gasoline-powered tractor that the average farmer could afford.

1939 — The 9N was the world's first production tractor with three-point hitch and a hydraulic system that let the operator raise or lower the implements by hydraulic controls.

1947 — The 8N reached the largest annual production — more than 104,000 units — of any one model tractor in the history of the farm machinery industry.

1952 — The Fordson Major produced in Dagenham, England was Ford's most widely exported tractor and helped establish the Company in many world tractor markets.

1955 — The 900 was Ford's first row-crop tractor built to handle front-mounted equipment.

1958 — The Fordson Dexta joined the Fordson Major as another strong British entry in the export market.

1967 — The Ford 5000 is one model in today's worldwide line of Ford tractors.

Eight Watersheds Get Planning OK

Planning will begin soon on eight watershed projects in Kansas, according to the Kansas Watershed Review Committee.

Sand Creek — Marion and Harvey counties.

Middle Walnut — Butler, Cowley, Sedgwick counties.

Wet Walnut — Scott, Lane, Ness, Pawnee, Barton counties.

Elk Creek (Delaware Jt. District no. 10) — Nemaha, Jackson, Atchison counties.

Grasshopper-Coal — Neosho and Wilson counties.

Buffalo Creek — Jewell, Mitchell, Republic, Cloud counties.

Wolf River — Atchison, Brown and Doniphan counties.

Applications for federal assistance in all the watersheds are sponsored by watershed districts organized on the drainage basins and by soil conservation districts in the designated counties.

GRASS & GRAIN

August 8, 1967

Fair Farming Edition

Burke Matthews, 12, of Culver 4-H club, will show this horse at Ottawa County Fair August 14-17. This is his first year as a 4-Her.

BARNARD

Harold Good of Barnard shows some of the trophies he hopes to add to this fair season. Harold has a reserve champion at the state fair, county fitting and showing championship, and a state female shorthorn trophy. Harold's home county, Lincoln, produced state fair championships in both 1964 and 1965.

Mary Beth Matthews holds registered Quarter Horse and 6-week old colt. She lives in Tescott in Ottawa County, and her father is a co-op manager. Ottawa County Fair is August 14-16.

Brenda And Day-Old Duck

Brenda Brown, 4 years old, from Cuba, Republic County, holds a day-old duck belonging to her brother Bobby, who has a 4-H project of ducks.

INCO

Harold Good of Barnard shows the registered Shorthorn he will enter at the Lincoln County Fair at Sylvan Grove late this month. Harold won the fitting and showing championship at the county fair last year and placed fourth with a late summer yearling at the National Western Stock Show this January.

Art Kruse of Lorraine chats with Ellsworth implement dealer Bob Hokr over a chisel. Fair time frequently is an occasion for farmers and equipment dealers to get together on a deal.

Canada Sells Soviets Again

The Soviet Union has purchased $150 million more of Canadian wheat and flour for delivery between now and next July.

The announcement of the purchase was made at a news conference attended by Trade Minister Robert Winters and N. S. Patolichev, Soviet foreign trade minister.

Winters said the new contract — the second of a three-year Soviet-Canadian wheat agreement signed in 1966 — involves the sale of a minimum of 5,000,000 bushels of wheat and flour for shipment by July 31, 1968.

Marcia Bryan of Canton was crowned Wheat Queen at the McPherson County Fair at Canton. Runnersup were Cheryl Kaufman, Moundridge, and Myrna Lindholm, Windom.

Cool Start Hurt Beekeepers

At mid-year 1967 Kansas beekeepers had 47,000 colonies of bees on hand, according to the Kansas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service. This was 4 percent less than a year earlier, but 4 percent more than average in the 1961-65 period.

A mild winter reduced losses from freezing and starvation, but a late cool spring lowered hive activity. About one-eighth of the colonies were newly established in 1967.

The condition of bee colonies on July 1 was 80 percent of normal, 3 percentage points below the same date last year and the poorest condition for the date in a decade. Activity was adversely influenced by cool, wet June weather, and there was increased incidence of Nosema this spring.

In 1967 the development of nectar plants was responding to bountiful rainfall during June following only limited growth during dry weather earlier in the year. The condition of nectar plants around July 1 was 79 percent of normal this year, 12 percentage points above the same date last year but 5 points below the 1961-65 average for the date.

Why No News From P&S?

A livestock dealer in this area has been suspended by the Department of Agriculture from dealing in cattle. This is common knowledge and has been a topic of conversation at sale barns in the area. I read a report of it in the Salina Journal, telling why and when the man was suspended. Yet I haven't seen such a report in Grass & Grain, a newspaper which obviously gets to more livestock people than any other in Central Kansas. Are you covering up for him or are you just failing to do a job that is reasonably yours?

Unsigned
BENNINGTON

Presumably the reader is referring to Bob Grace, longtime cattle dealer in the Salina-Minneapolis area who was suspended by the P&S Division of USDA for not meeting bonding requirements. As G&G has explained several times, we have reluctantly decided not to detail news from P&S regarding suspensions because we are convinced that the division uses the news to manage hearings. Without expressing any opinion about any current livestock cases involving P&S, G&G believes that current methods are excessively bureaucratic, heavy-handed, and undemocratic.

NON-STOP FORAGE TEAM

Handle hay or silage non-stop with a Gehl Self-Unloading Forage Box and Hi-Throw Blower... any crop, any size silo

Nothing gets along better with Gehl Blowers than Gehl Boxes—the perfectly matched team that saves you time and money when you buy it... keeps on saving time and labor all year long. Quick action safety bar across box front stops unloading instantly! Activates, too, from the side.

It takes big capacity, big dependability to keep big choppers going. And, that's what you get in Gehl Hi-Throw Blowers... good reason why 1 out of 3 farmers the last six years bought Gehl blowers. New, 55-in., six-blade FB88 blasts any crop to any silo height... with big capacity. Low, 20-in. hopper, recessed wheel virtually eliminate spillage.

of Importance to the Young Farmer...

It's important that a young man plan well for his full lifetime of farming, and one of the most important things to plan is buying equipment. Over the years a farmer will accumulate a tremendous investment in Machinery.

As soon as a Young Farmer starts laying out his plans, he's sure to think of his local International Harvester dealer, because International is the one company which can supply every machine the Young Farmer will need in his operation. That's why, when it comes to buying equipment, it's such a good idea for the Young Farmer to rely on his local International Harvester dealer. He is the one who can supply every machine the Young Farmer will need in his farming operation. It makes good sense to buy International because it's so much wiser to Match Machines: There are many parts which are interchangeable. The IHC dealer is a good, dependable agent, and there is the proven stability of an old, reliable company standing behind every piece of equipment sold.

And selling to young farmers is nothing new to International Harvester men—they've been doing that very thing for more than 4 generations.

Wide Interest In Irrigation Tour

Some 300 farmers from many sections of Kansas took a 100-mile drive to see advancements in irrigation in the Pawnee Valley around LaCrosse. Evidence of the extreme growth of interest in irrigation was the distances — from corner to corner of Kansas — the farmers came to watch method and results of irrigation in the area. Farms visited were those of Vic Pechanec, Maynard Glantz, Ed Oborny Jr., Anson Horning, John Lewis & Sons, Keith Mull, and Carl Lyda.

If He Can Just Pass On That Extra Rib Set

McLEAN, Tex. — An extra pair of T-bones on every steer is the apparent goal of Libby Cattle Co., Bueyeros, N. M., and Jake Hess of Dr. Hereford's Ranch, McLean.

A registered Hereford bull, once co-owned by the University of Arizona, is gaining quite a reputation in the cattle world. The animal not only has an extra pair of ribs himself, but also his offspring are coming up with an extra set of ribs.

Most cattle have 13 sets of ribs. This bull, Dr. Onward 211, now 7 years old, has 14. He was bred on the Dr. Hereford's Ranch with registered stock.

Dr. Bruce Taylor, head of the University of Arizona science department, told the Southwestern Crop and Stock Magazine this means extra dollars for beef producers because of the extra vertebrae, meaning extra length and extra T-bones. In experimentation with this bull at the university, Dr. Taylor learned that one-third of the steers he produced had 14 pairs of ribs.

Discovery of the extra ribs came after gainability tests and slaughter.

Hog breeders have been breeding hogs with 14 sets of ribs, and now, Hess says he believes beef men can breed the same traits.

Hess said he now has a generation of heifers believed to have the 14 pairs of ribs, too. Two sons of the now-famed bull on the Libby Cattle Co., ranch are believed to have the 14-rib characteristic.

Another son of the unique bull recently was purchased by the American Breeder Service, Chicago, for $2,050 at a recent university sale.

Where Does Phillips Rank?

How big is Phillips Oil compared to the other large oil companies in the U.S.? I presume it's not so big as Standard, but it must stack up pretty well with the others.

John Hambill
SALINA

Phillips ranks 8th, behind Standard of New Jersey, Texaco, Gulf, Mobil, Standard of California, Standard of Indiana, and Shell. Conoco and Union follow Phillips. In the G&G area, we'd guess Phillips probably ranks second or third.

How Do Rural Power Costs Rate?

How do rates paid by farmers for REA service compare to what city customers pay to Kansas Gas and Electric and Kansas Power & Light? How are REA rates in Kansas in comparison to REA rates in other states?

G.E.M.
SOLOMON

Like local property taxes, utility rates defy general comparison because there are so many rate structures and consumer usages. In general, REA rates are higher in Kansas in relation to city power rates than in other states, and, of course, rural rates are generally higher than in town.

Here's why: KP&L has 223,000 customers on 10,000 miles of line, while state REAs have only 114,000 customers on 59,000 miles of line. In fact all the municipal and private power companies in the state have only about 40 percent of the miles of line the REA's must maintain.

In investment, both have approximately $1200 per consum-

from the G&G Area

er — with the REAs slightly higher than the private companies.

The private power companies have a density of 12 customers per mile of line compared to 1.7 consumers per mile of line for the co-ops.

The high cost of power is another factor. Kansas is the only state west of the Mississippi which has no access to federally generated power. It is surrounded by states which have ready access to federal power.

Here's a comparison of Kansas rural power costs to urban costs related to national averages on the same comparison:

For 250 kilowatts, rural cost 155% of urban cost in Kansas; 115%, U.S. average.

For 500 kilowatts, rural cost 136% of urban cost in state; 112% U.S. average.

For 750 kilowatts, rural cost 124% of urban cost in Kansas; 105% U.S. average.

For 1000 kilowatts, rural cost 122% of urban cost in Kansas; 101%, U.S. average.

Can't Remember A Tax Decrease

I have read a couple of stories, both of them wire service articles I think, to the effect that Kansas and North Carolina were the only two states in the past legislative sessions to reduce state income taxes.

Who is doing the reporting, anyway? There hasn't been an income tax decrease in Kansas. Surely no one could be so stupid as to figure the cut in the state withholding from 15% to 10% of the federal tax was a cut in state income taxes. The tax remains the same; the withholding was simply larger than necessary and 10% of the federal withholding comes closer to being about the right amount of state tax. But there sure hasn't been any state income tax decrease.

Not-Paying-Any-Less-Taxes
SALINA

The reader's contention that the change in withholding doesn't lower the state income tax is, of course, correct, but his memory is short. One of Robert Docking's points in his campaign against Governor Avery last fall was the tax increases from the previous legislative session (Half percent increase on sales tax to 3%; rise of 1% on income tax in all brackets) affected lower incomes more than higher ones.

The Docking's remedy was scorned by many as insignificant, the lowest bracket was reduced by the legislature by 1/2 of one percent. The change has the effect of saving a flat $10 on the total tax bill of a single taxpayer.

Hays Livestock To Build Barn

HAYS — The Hays Livestock Commission Co. is going to build a new sale barn.

Location will be a 15-acre site about three-quarters of a mile north of I-70 highway on the east side of K183, said Gerald Frazier, president of the company.

The hays firm presently has a barn located in the city, and Frazier said it would be used until the new facility is completed sometime this fall.

The new market will be a multi-level steel and glass building, housing the sales arena, a restaurant, weighing area and offices.

The yard area will be constructed of pre-fabricated steel posts, panels and gates, with a capacity of more than 2500 head of livestock.

ASCS Has 5000 Grain Bins In State For Sale

A stepped-up program of selling Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC) grain bins has been ordered by Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman.

In Kansas, the Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) has been selling some bins regularly both by auction and on sealed bid basis.

Average selling price in Kansas has been about $350 apiece for the 3,250-bushel capacity steel bins, state ASCS officials said.

Between 4,000 and 5,000 of the bins remain to be sold in 43 counties, officials said. Announcements are made in the area of each sale so that farmers may purchase the bins.

Kansas currently is storing only 3,394,077 bushels of grain — mostly corn — in the 43 counties which have bins.

Freeman said sale of the bins was being pushed to allow farmers to buy them for on-farm storage capacity.

Kansas ASCS officials said the state will retain some bins in the corn areas of the state, because in these areas some shortages of commercial and country elevator space occurs from time to time.

Counties having bins and the number which will be sold include:

Allen, 60; Anderson, 74; Atchison, 64; Bourbon, 47; Brown, 454; Cherokee, 72; Clay, 171; Cloud, 186; Coffey, 69; Cowley, 20; Doniphan, 201; Douglas, 28; Elk, 35; Franklin, 102; Geary, 45; Greenwood, 30; Jackson, 67; Jefferson, 35; Jewell, 119; Johnson, 68; Labette, 53; Leavenworth, 41; Lincoln, 60; Linn, 30; Lyon, 16; McPherson, 105; Marshall, 866; Miami, 41; Mitchell, 240; Morris, 44; Nemaha, 150; Neosho, 92; Osage, 17; Ottawa, 60; Pawnee, 13; Phillips, 49; Pottawatomie, 45; Republic, 235; Riley, 36; Smith, 258; Washington, 567; Wilson, 70; and Woodson, 21.

Sales have been set at Kensington and Bellaire in Smith County for Aug. 21. Auctioning will begin at 10 a.m. in Kensington and 1 p.m. in Bellaire.

Livestock Assn. Gives Ground — But Just A Little

The Kansas Livestock Association Board of Directors, meeting at Garden City last week, "gave ground" a little on the state brand commissioner appointment but reaffirmed a recommendation for the state livestock sanitary commissioner A. G. Pickett.

The board and Gov. Robert Docking have been at odds over the two appointments since early spring.

In a decision after more than six hours of meeting, the board voted to submit three names for brand commissioner that would be acceptable to the governor within 30 days.

Gov. Docking had not announced his sanitary commissioner recommendation but indicated the announcement would be made this week.

"I already have a person in mind," said Docking. "I expected the livestock association to re-affirm their recommendation so it won't make any difference."

The board decided in an executive session lasting more than two hours Saturday afternoon to stand pat on their recommendation that Pickett be renamed livestock sanitary commissioner; to re-affirm recommendation for three members to the Kansas State Livestock Commission, and to move KLA headquarters from the state office building by Oct. 1.

The three livestock commissioners recommended in March during the KLA annual meeting in Wichita are Irving Walker, WaKeeney; G. Fred Williams, Hutchinson, and Harold Scanlon, Abilene.

The board expressed hope it would be able to work with the governor in the interest of "Kansas industry" to obtain legislation satisfactorily providing program continuity in state livestock affairs.

Accusations of "politics" have been exchanged by both Democrats and Republicans since Docking refused to renew Pickett's appointment.

ett's appointment.

Docking has contended his appointive power has been unduly delegated by a 1919 law that provides for only one name to be recommended by KLA for the state sanitary commissioner job.

KLA has contended it has complied with the law and has refused to give the governor another name.

Pickett, who has been serving without appointment, said he intends to continue his work.

Pickett is executive vice-president and secretary-treasurer of KLA in addition to his state agency appointment. He receives $7000 from the state and $7000 from KLA annually.

During an open morning session it appeared the board and the council were somewhat divided in their attitudes toward the gubernatorial problem.

At one point one of the men had "goofed" in listing men who would not serve along with Hade Guppton, Greensburg, who has been state brand commissioner since 1961.

Although he and others pointed out that since they needed to abide by the spirit of the law since they expected the 1919 law to be observed, they nonetheless praised Guppton's record as brand commissioner. They cited the fact that brand registrations have increased 33 percent and income from brand regulation stood at $141,000 now, compared with a low of about $75,000 in 1960.

They pointed out that the state had appropriated from $8000 to $45,000 a year to support the Kansas Brand Commission until 1956 when all state support was withdrawn.

ROTARY DRILLING — AIR OR FLUID CIRCULATION

Caylor & Wohler do all farm and domestic well drilling with rotary equipment with a choice of air or fluid circulation as conditions permit or warrant. Whenever possible we use air circulation, the most modern innovation in rotary drilling. We have pioneered the development of this method in water well drilling in the Kansas area. Where it can be used, and it is usable in almost all rock well and shale drilling, water is seen almost the instant it is encountered and the quantity available can be measured directly and instantly! This is accomplished by running the air borne flow of water over a calibrated Wier plate. Guess work is eliminated in the test hole — you know immediately the quantity of water that should be available from the finished permanent well!

Our methods have been and are being copied — the best indication and recognition that can be had for any new technique. We are the old timers though at this business and intend to remain the best.

Rotary drilling with air circulation will out-perform and outdo cable tool or "stomper" drilling in this area in almost all instances. It is the latest and a truly modern method. Stomper drilling originated with the Chinese some 4000 years ago when they were also using wooden plows. The well customer should have interest in having wells drilled with modern efficient techniques as he would in any other undertaking. Progress through science and engineering will be reflected in any operation. Our firm is the only one in this area with experienced graduate geologists on its staff!

Geary County Tour

About 250 persons took part in a Geary County Soil Conservation, Crops and Commodity Tour, visiting farms of Ray and Sam Jahnke, Emory Strauss, and John Schmedemann.

Credit Importance Looms Larger

LAWRENCE — Credit, already an important resource to the farmer, will become even more vital in the future when farms are fewer in number but larger in size, Raymond Doll, vice president of the Kansas City Federal Reserve Bank, said here August 1.

Speaking at the first annual Farm Management Field Day, Doll said that total farm debt has increased 10 percent in each of the past 5 years.

"Credit is like any other resource in agriculture," he said. "If used properly, it's one of the best tools a farmer has. But used unwisely, it can get you into trouble."

Doll pointed out that a recent Federal Reserve Bank survey shows that it's not unusual for farmers to have $100,000 of outstanding debts. Twelve farmers in the Kansas City district have more than $1 million in debt, he added.

"Farmers must first decide how best to get the capital required to survive in farming, then how best to use it," he said. "Much of their success will hinge on this decision."

Doll said he looks for a continuation in the trend which has seen farms decrease in number since 1916. "Farms which produce more than $20,000 worth of farm products a year are growing in number," he said. "It's those that produce less than $20,000 a year that are fading out."

"More than half our farms produce less than $5,000 worth of products annually. If these farmers can do anything else for a living, they are being forced to leave the farm."

He explained that two-thirds of all farm income is needed for expenses. Thus, to net $7,000 of income a year, a farmer must gross $21,000.

Farmers of the future will become primarily decision-makers, he said. They will use less energy for physical labor, but more in organizing their businesses — in managing land, labor, and capital.

"They will decide not whether to use fertilizer, but what kind of fertilizer to use and how much. The correct kind and amount this year may not necessarily be the same next year."

This type of decision-making requires considerable amounts of data, he said. Keeping accurate records and evaluating them properly will be a most important means of obtaining this information.

More than 300 persons attended the Field Day, sponsored by Kansas State University in cooperation with the Chamber of Commerce, Kansas City, Mo. Those attending visited the Al Pendleton farm and the Raymond and Roger Pine farm near Lawrence and heard the operators describe their farm

Why It Pays To Supplement Pasture With Good Formula Dairy Feeds

Grass alone cannot give your cows all the food values they need for sustained high production.

When you are feeding cows bred to be top mil' producers, the need for proteins, minerals, vitamins and unidentified factors in the ration is very important. This need is even greater in late summer and early fall when pasture may be close-cropped and dry.

CO-OP Nutritionists know that dairy farmers must have proper feed to get maximum results at lowest possible costs. That's why CO-OP Dairy Feeds are Profit Checked for results. CO-OP Dairy Feeds are formulated to give a ration that will best supplement the shortcomings of the dairymen's forage program and will produce 100 lbs. of milk at the lowest feed costs.

• CO-OP Dairy Feed -12 is a high TDN, well-fortified dairy ration that contains essential vitamins and minerals. It is recommended to be fed with excellent, high protein pasture or with liberal amounts of high quality all-legume hay.

• CO-OP Dairy Feed-14 should be fed to producing cows, dry and freshening cows, heifer or bulls on very good pasture or very good quality legume hay.

• CO-OP Dairy Feed-16 is a well-fortified, well-balanced ration that is preferred by thousands of dairymen who demand an efficient dairy feed for a variety of feeding conditions.

• CO-OP Dairy Concentrate-32 can be fed on top of the grain to dairy cows or may be mixed with farm grains to produce a well-balanced and fortified ration.

• CO-OP Dairy Concentrate-50 is designed for mixing with farm grains to produce an efficient, high production ration.

Come in and let us show you the CO-OP Dairy Feed best suited for your dairy herd.

Crop Bins Lightest In A Decade

Stocks of major Kansas grains in all storage positions on July 1 were much below average, according to the Kansas Crop Reporting Service.

Stocks of old crop wheat were the smallest in 15 years and combined stocks of the four major feed grains the smallest in a decade.

Soybean stocks, however, were the second largest of record for July 1 and rye stocks a little above average.

Stocks of old crop wheat in all storage positions on July 1 totaled 81,739,000 bushels, 17 percent below a year ago and only about one-fifth the July 1 stocks in the 1961-65 period.

Off-farm stocks of old wheat at 64,733,000 bushels were 27 percent smaller than last year. Farm stored wheat on July 1 totaled 17,006,000 bushels, 60 percent more than on hand July 1, 1966 and 34 percent above average.

Old crop rye stocks, at 532,000 bushels, were 23 percent below the stocks on hand a year earlier but 3 percent above average.

Stocks of the four major feed grains — sorghum grain, corn, oats and barley — in all storage positions totaled 82,703,000 bushels, the smallest aggregate supply since 1957, 16 percent below a year ago and 39 percent below average.

Sorghum grain stocks of 48,643,000 bushels were the smallest in 10 years, 29 percent below a year ago and 47 percent below average. Off-farm stocks of sorghum grain, at 34,683,000 bushels, were 36 percent below a year ago.

Corn stocks of 30,746,000 bushels were 10 percent above the stocks on hand July 1, 1966, but 14 percent below average. Off-farm stocks of corn, at 18,810,000 bushels were 12 percent above last year but 4 percent below average. Corn stocks on farms totaled 11,936,000 bushels, 7 percent more than on hand a year earlier but 26 percent less than average.

Stocks of old crop oats totaled 1,622,000 bushels, 5 percent below a year earlier, 40 percent less than average and the second smallest for the date in 25 years of record.

Old crop barley in all storage positions totaled 1,692,000 bushels, 74 percent above last year but only about one-third the 5-year average.

Soybean stocks in all positions totaled 4,315,000 bushels, the second largest stocks of record for the date and 24 percent above the stocks on hand a year earlier. Soybeans stored on farms totaled 928,000 bushels, more than double the amount on hand a year earlier.

United States

National stocks of wheat on July 1, 1967 were 20 percent below a year earlier and the smallest since 1952.

Record high soybean stocks totaled 49 percent above last July 1 and 46 percent above average.

Stocks of the four feed grains on July 1, 1967 totaled 65 million tons — 10 percent below a year earlier and 30 percent below average.

The Only Store In Town

John Armour runs the only store in Niles, in southern Ottawa County. And John's store is a real "help yourself" place. Started as a blacksmith shop, the business still has smithy and repair tools for local people to come in and use to fix their own things. When the last retail store closed its doors in Niles, Armour added a stock of milk, bread, candy, and gasoline to accommodate local people, who also use his place as a loafing center. "You can buy about anything here," says John. "A nut or a needle."

Chisholm Line

Melinda Chisholm, a junior at the University of Oklahoma, may be at some of the fair celebrations in the G&G area this month as a linkage with the old Chisholm Trail, whose centennial several of the fairs are observing. Jesse Chisholm, a part-Indian peace negotiator, had his name used for a famous trail on which cattle were driven from Texas to shipping points in Kansas.

Lunch Time

One of the highlights of haying or harvesting is lunch time. Morris Jorgenson and son Michael, Frank Jorgenson, Edgar Rosebaugh, Jim Jorgenson, Janet Jorgenson and mother Mrs. Frank Jorgenson, and Clifford Hiltgen all take a brief rest while haying near Barnes in Washington County. Extreme heat and humidity has been making haying a little less pleasant than it usually is.

Air Conditioning? Who Needs It?

Dairy cattle keep cool in a Clay county pond.

Steady Weeding

Gerald Pierce has 130 acres of corn under irrigation two miles east of Clyde. Midsummer rains have forced steady weeding in fields.

New Manager At Area Hatchery

MANHATTAN — Dayne Keck of Springdale, Ark., has been named manager of Manhattan Hatchery, it was announced by Marie Renz, widow of the founder of the big hatchery. Keck had managed a large hatchery in Rogers, Ark. With his wife, two sons and daughter, he now resides in Manhattan.

Czech Dancers

Dancers at the recent Czech festival at Wilson in Ellsworth county were Cheryl Frederking, Sharyl Klema, and Connie Frederking, all of Wilson.

Set Dates For Fall Field Days

K-State's Agricultural Experiment Station has set the dates for 13 fall agronomy field days.

Locations include the K-State experiment station, five branch stations and seven experiment fields across the state.

Spring and fall field days are held at most K-State research sites, says director Floyd Smith, so that farmers can get a firsthand look at the results of tests designed to develop new crop varieties for specific sections of Kansas, to determine the best date and rate of planting, to test response to fertilizer combinations, and to devise better tillage and cultivation methods.

Here's the slate:

August 25 — Parsons
August 31 — Powhattan
September 1 — Ft. Hays
September 5 — Manhattan
September 6 — Minneola

Debbie Vail Has Top Steer At Shawnee Fair

TOPEKA — The Shawnee County 4-H Club Fair ended on a rewarding note for Debbie Vail, 12, Wakarusa, and Vickie Moran, 16, Auburn.

Each girl went home with a top award — the grand champion steer award, and the overall top showman award — respectively.

During the final event of the two-day fair at the livestock auction, Miss Vail sold her 1010 lb. Angus prize steer for more than $560 to Falley's Market.

John Blythe Joins KFB

John Blythe, Council Grov farmer and stockman, has joined the staff of the Kansas Farm Bureau.

He has become a member of the department of legislative research for the state. The department is headed by Clarence Rupp.

Blythe will assist county farm bureaus with advice on assessment and taxation.

Married and the father of three children, he has farmed in Morris County since 1946 when he was discharged from military service as a fighter pilot and flight commander in World War II.

Karl and Keith Burgess of Sterling give their Ayrshire calf a good washing before Rice County Fair last week. They have been winners at the National All-American Ayrshire Breed Show.

Here's Mid-Year Livestock Report

Mid-year livestock surveys indicated the expected 1967 calf crop in Kansas of 1,666,000 head to be 1 percent less than a year earlier but the third largest of the last decade, according to the Kansas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service.

The anticipated 1967 lamb crop of 329,000 head was down 3 percent from a year earlier, and wool production of 3.4 million pounds is expected to be down by 7 percent.

The expected 4,731,000 chickens raised during 1967 is 9 percent below 1966 and a 34-year record low.

Calf Crop

Calves already born and to be born in Kansas in 1967 are expected to total 1,666,000 head compared with 1,677,000 head during 1966, but about 1 percent above the 1961-65 average.

A reduction of cows and heifers of calving age on hand was the primary cause of the reduction of the calf crop from a year earlier.

The number of calves born and expected to be born this year, expressed as a percentage of 1,872,000 head of cows and heifers 2 years old and over January 1 was 89 percent, 1 percentage point higher than last year. This percentage is not strictly a calving rate since the January 1 inventory of cows and heifers 2 years old and over does not include all heifers that gave birth to calves during the year and includes some cows that died or were slaughtered without calving.

Lamb Crop

The lamb crop in Kansas for 1967 is estimated at 329,000 head, down 3 percent from 1966 and 14 percent less than the average for the 1961-65 period.

The number of breeding ewes 1 year old and over on farms and ranches January 1, 1967 was 324,000, a decrease of 8 percent from the previous year.

The lamb crop percentage (number of lambs saved per 100 ewes one year old and over on farms and ranches January 1) this year was 102 percent, 6 points above 1966, which reflects the unusually good lambing conditions that prevailed during the late winter, spring and early summer months this year.

Wool Production

Wool shorn and to be shorn during 1967 in Kansas is estimated at 3,362,000 pounds. This is 7 percent less than the 3,598,000 pounds clipped in 1966 and 28 percent below the 5-year average production. The number of sheep shorn and to be shorn in 1967 is estimated at 410,000, some 16,000 head less than a year ago.

The estimated weight per fleece for this year is 8.2 pounds compared to 8.4 pounds in 1966.

Chickens Raised

The number of chickens raised on Kansas farms during 1967 is expected to total 4,731,000, 9 percent less than the 5,199,000 raised in 1966.

The number raised for 1967 would be the smallest number in 34 years of record and reflects a fairly steady decline during the past 10 years. The peak number for the State was in 1943 when 37.5 million chicks were raised on Kansas farms.

United States — Calf Crop

The 1967 calf crop for the United States is expected to total 43,056,000 head, 1 percent less than 1966.

Cows and heifers 2 years old and older on January 1, 1967, at 49,793,000 head, also were 1 percent less than a year earlier.

The number of calves born and to be born in 1967, expressed as a percentage of cows and heifers 2 years old and older the first of the year, is 86 percent, the same as in 1966. This percentage is not strictly a calving rate because the January 1 inventory of cows and heifers 2 years old and older the first of the year, is 86 percent, the same as in 1966. This percentage is not strictly a calving rate because the January 1 inventory of cows and heifers 2 years old and older does not include all heifers that give birth to calves during the year and includes some cows that die or are slaughtered before calving.

LAWRENCE — A Farm Management Field Day, billed as a "must" by co-sponsoring Kansas State University and the Kansas City Chamber of Commerce, attracted about 300 people last week.

Two farms enrolled in farm management associations were featured.

At Pendleton's cattle feeding farm east of Lawrence was visited in the morning. In the afternoon, the group traveled across the Kansas river to the farm owned and operated by Raymond Pine and his son, Roy Pine.

The program at both farms stressed farm management.

Pendleton puts corn from his high-yielding Kaw river bottom land into the silage for an economical cattle feed. He feeds out around 1000 head of cattle each year.

Pendleton has 200 acres in crops out of a total of 252 acres in his farm. With no elaborate equipment, he has a large investment in facilities for storing and handling feed. In fact, he manages a total investment of $143,000.

The Pines now operate about 1000 acres, mostly in cash crops. This year they have 400 acres in corn and they seed and fertilize for yields of 150 bushels to the acre.

They have gone to narrow-row cropping in the last two years — corn rows only 30 inches wide instead of 42 — and this involved getting a new set of machinery. Among the new machines is a planter for planting and fertilizing eight rows at a time.

This father-son partnership is prepared to irrigate and early this spring when the country was extremely dry they pre-irrigated some fields on which they expected to plant corn and soybeans. However, in June the irrigation was "flooded out" by the rains and it hasn't been needed since. Corn and soybean prospects are excellent.

Farm economists and other staff specialists from K-State explained to visitors the management decisions involved in operating the two farms.

Pam Pallister of Sterling showed her Hereford at the Rice County Fair last week.

Grass & Grain

Variety show numbers will be featured Friday night, August 18, with the Lucky Stars bringing comedy, music, magic, audience participation and novelty acts.

Another first occurs Saturday night, August 19, when the Jaycees will culminate an extensive junior miss program, with the Junior Miss Pageant. Washington county's new queen will be honored at 9:30 with a dance.

Three evenings of entertainment and it's all free.

Entries Will Stay 3 Days

Another "first" this year, according to Bert Chapin, secretary, is that this will be a full three day fair. Entries, including booths, will still be in place for viewing on Saturday night.

Add Art Categories

Increased interest in art has brought about an enlargement of the hobbies department, under the direction of Mrs. Joe Lundblade. Most of the new categories, Chapin said, are in the art division.

Auction in Grandstand

Still another "first" is the livestock auction will be held in front of the grandstand Saturday afternoon. Businesses will be bidding for the animals as they did prior to last year.

Area youngsters will find Friday afternoon a good time for fun. Rides will be cut to 15 cents that afternoon from 1:00 to 5:00.

Preparations for the fair include the installation of two new fans in the livestock building and painting show cases. The board hopes to install fans in the industrial arts building next year, according to Chapin.

Success of the parades which for two years have been held at 6:30 on Friday and Saturday evenings has been great enough to continue this practice. Theme of this year's parade is "Wild, Wild West." Adding to the parade will be the junior miss contestants who will be featured on floats and other entries.

States Hike Sales Taxes

State governments resorted to a variety of ways this year to raise taxes. The most popular was hiking sales tax bites. These sales tax increases were made:

- Illinois increased its sales tax from 3.5 percent to 4.25 percent and allowed local sales taxes to be increased from one-half to three-quarters of 1 percent.

- Iowa increased its sales tax from 2 to 3 percent.

- Minnesota enacted a new sales tax at 3 percent but added substantial exemptions such as food, drugs and medicines.

- Nevada enacted a new county sales tax of 1 percent that brought state and local sales taxes up to 3 percent.

- Nebraska enacted a new sales tax of 2.5 percent, but it is scheduled to drop to 2 percent Jan. 1, 1969.

- North Dakota increased its sales tax from 2.25 to 3 percent.

- Rhode Island raised its sales tax from 4 to 5 percent.

- Texas enacted a 1 percent sales tax for cities and counties.

- Washington state hiked its sales tax from 4.2 to 4.5 percent.

- Wyoming increased its sales tax from 2.5 to 3 percent and repealed its one-half of 1 percent local sales tax with the agreement that the local governments would share in part of the state sales tax increase.

House Of Meditation

Tons Of U.S. Wheat Rotting In India

NEW DELHI — Thousands of bags of rotten American wheat are piling up in government warehouses here.

The wheat, which was shipped thousands of miles from American ports to Bombay, was spoiled by rain during the 960-mile rail journey to the Indian capital.

The wheat is unfit for human consumption. It is being stored in warehouses at Naraina, Shakti Nagar, and Pusa near New Delhi. The government now faces the decision of how to dispose of it.

Government officials say between 1000 and 2000 tons of American wheat, sold to India for Indian currency under the PL-480 program, are arriving in New Delhi every day to meet an acute flour shortage in the capital.

A high percentage of the open freight cars and is being wheat is being transported in spoiled.
