WILD OATS.

BY F. E. CHERRY. [For The Spirit of Kansas.] "For they have sown the wind and they shall reap the whirlwind."-[Bible.

Ah! yes, they sow in April! The seeds begin to swell, And sprout behind the whisky bars, And in the gambling hell; Wherever they are dropped The wild oats spring again, And every stalk a note in hand To pay the Devil's train. Ah! poor misguided youths! The heavier these notes grow, The more they get endorsed on them, They reap the deeper woe.

'Tis May. Crop sowed! Well, wait awhile, They now begin to see, The peculiar kind of grain, That they have turned beneath the lea. Kind friends look over to their fields, And older neighbors too, The same that shook their warning heads And spoke of this to you; They "couldn't see it" then, Oh, no! They plainly see it now,

And feel a little anxious Where to put this crop, and how. The crop's immense! the yield so great, How can they market it? Where will they get the sacks, and how, To store away replete, This yield of grain, of wild cats sown? They grow uneasy, now, And so in June they do propose, The whole crop up to plow, And plant a better; For indeed they hate this kind of grain, It grows so fast and yields so much,

It is not good, 'tis plain. But, like Canada thistles, It does the better grow For all th's plowing under, They always find it so. July! Taey're heading out! A little later, though, But erop much more productive For all this plowing so; But less they like this kind of oats, As now they older grow, And so, they work, and tug, and pull,

To kill it out, you know. Vain toil! They never can Destroy this crop or grain! And so they reap, and binu, and shock, With tears and groans of pain. Suffering may make them child-like, But still the crop will spread; A thousand hands will take their seed, And raise a crop indeed. The month wines on; too late! too late! The remorseles harvest comes, And brings a curse to many souls,

Scripture School work were brought to the first session on the subject of organization and the nomination of officers. At a subsequent session they made the following report: That this be known as the Annual Scripture School Conference of Friends of Kansas Yearly Meeting. That the following persons be its officers for the next year. For president, Dr. Stewart of Lawrence, for Secretary, E. Ellen Cherry of Lawrence; for vice President, Levi Woodward of Hesper; for Treasurer, Francis A. Wright of Lawrence; and that its next meeting be held at the same time and place next year. The report was agreed

A. Wright, on the 10th subject, one from the pen of Dr. William Nicholson, now in Washington City, on the same subject, one on the 6th subject, by Mary White of Prairie Center, and two by Drusilla Wilson and James Pitts, on the 9th subject.

The most distinctive feature of the society of Friends-that which marked them from the first and which they have with greater or less clearness borne since, is the importance they attach to the guidance of the Holy Spirit. They believe in the immediate revelation of God to man, that He manifests himself to every person, leading him to repentance and the blessed experience of His Salvation-That if each individual will attend carefully to the direct manifestation of the Holy Spirit, in the heart, which is the Comforter promised by the Savior, it will lead him out of error into truth.

The views held by Friends which are less peculiar to them now than formerly, on the subject of slavery, war, oaths, temperance, a ministy simplry for a living, are outgrowths of this great fundamental belief. From George Fox to the present they have ever pointed men to that which is in them. Upon this they rely for the conversion of souls-they make it the primary rule for guidance. They believe in a ministry under the same preparation. They believe in the scriptures as a divinely inspired work to which there is not only no equal but to which no other work is in many respects comparable. But they believe that the scriptures as a guide hold a secondary place, and that to be profitable they are to be read by the light and interpreted by the direct revelation of God's Holy Spirit. They maintain there is no conflict between the two, but as the scriptures have their source from the Spirit of God they must therefore agree, and where any one holds he is led by the Spirit contrary to the doctrine of Scripture he is under a delusion.

This doctrine Friends consider of the utmost importance in their Scripture IX. The consideration of the importance of a right estimate of the guidance of the Holy Spirit in Scriptural Instruc-School instructions, and hence their great

I have not the or indulging in a "fit of discontent," if you wish; but don't, I beg of you, work any spell to bring us any more "cold smells" either from the sea or the Rocky Mountains this season. Here it is the last of March, and the unruly month is going out with a bristling mane, and roaring voice; a veritable lion. Let us hope that April, grass-wheeled, and violet crowned, will bring us some of her usual clouds and tears, and give us an occasional breath of warm air. Here is Augusta Moore, in the Evangelist, lamenting the death of her cat, "Victor Alexis." At least she thinks he died, as he seemed ill and went, away, and she cannot find him. Take comfort, Augusta. Cats have a trick of running away from the kindest of patronessess, for an occasional ramble. Victor Alexis may come back yet. A cat loving Dominie from the far west condoles with Augusta, but suggests that the cat died of his name. If she had suffered him to female Thomas, he "might have been purring and rubbing his nose against her still." Now

Dominie, that is too bad! Here are a couple of papers devoted to bringing all churches into one. Praiseworthy, perhaps, but I almost fear, not that he will exercise the same wisdom, practicable. We shall probably get no further before the millenium, than to ing traffic is brought to him for judg-"break down the division walls," as I. ment. That is a nice little joke, too, about the saloon keepers organizing and invading the churches, because here and there a person has gone crazy under the influence of religious excitement. A natural tendency to insanity will develope itself under any excitement, and it is noticeable that the last effort of a mind going to wreck, is frequently to grope for a foothold on what we instinctively feel to be the only sure refuge of helpless humanity. But, while we all know that the use of liquor tends directly and inevitably to insanity, who will say that that is the general tendency of religion? Here is a groan because they knelt in slush and mud with fine dresses on. Well, it was better so than to risk being dragged down to where they could get no was felt at the reading of one by Francis

In the first place that is slandering the women; in the second place the case is one which calls for earnest work; far more really than if it were property and homes that were being destroyed with ordinary flames instead of the souls and bodies of husbands and sons perishing in what one good minister called liquid fire and distilled damnation. Platt wants the good sisters to "look at the cause of the evil, and pray the thirst out of the throats of the consumers;" a thirst that is created by the means used to quench it. Mrs. Swissholm talks about law and advises submission to it. She would hardly consider a man's house being his castle, as a sufficient excuse for his making it a stronghold for pestilence to endanger the lives of the community, The judge who made it a nuisance, might have felt called upon by the statute to do so; but it is to be hoped

At our regular meeting four had conferred on them the fourth degree; after which a bountiful supply of good things were made to disappear in true patron style. The Daily News, of which Bro. B. C. Murray is the spirit, is devot n; much of its space to the interes s of the Order. We nave a well settled County and wealthy; the second in the great State of Texas; and it behooves us as Patrons to instill into the mind of conservative farmers, the advantages the Order presents, so that the purposes of its organization may be fully realized in our midst. Owing to the dull times that have prevailed since the panic, there has been a good deal of croaking among some of that class that are in Denison, and they have not been slow in prophesying that the infant wonder would soon follow in the wake of other cities that sprang into existence as it did. When the passenger depot, express office, and merchandise ears were burned, it was declared that the last straw had been reached and Denison's fate was sealed. Still, notwithstanding all this, new life and brighter hopes have been instilled by the fact that a Union Depot to cost about $30,000 is to be built at once. The H. & T. C. Round House, repair shops, and transfer warehouses are to be removed from Red River City to Denison, making this the terminus of both these trunk lines. The uncertainty has been overcome and property holders now ask from twenty-five to fifty per cent advance upon figures held before.

The school house which has been in an unfaished state for a few months is to be finished at once. The Board of Trade, which by the way is an active organization, is holding out strong inducements for manufactures, while the city proposes to remit taxation on all manufactories started in Denison. A number of enterprises are under way now.

The revival and temperance excitement has reached Denison, and a good work has veen done in the M. E. Church, (Rev. A. Jennison, Pastor). Some sixty have been added to the Church. A temperance league has been formed and about a hunired and fifty have already signed the pledge. M. V. B. Bennett, the "Brick Pomeroy" of South Kansas, who is now in Denison, is an active leader in this audable and necessary movement.

The spring time is well under way, and the citizens are improving their property; gardening is well over with, and greens are being offered in market. Fruit farms are being initiated. The wheat looks

Instead of devoting all their time to the raising of cotton, and buying their flour, ham, &c., they are beginning to find that wheat is just as good to raise for profit, as cotton; and can be produced with much less time and labor devoted to it. Having also the excellent gristing facilities afforded by the Boss, Jennings & Co., Mill, a further inducement is held out.

Efforts are being made to utilize the copper that lies in such inexhaustible quantities west of us, and a stock company is being organized to erect smelting works, &c., at this point.

I am much pleased to learn that the Lawrence Dam is proving a success. Hope to see the Head Center in a flourishing state soon, from the erection and furthering of manufactures on the banks of the sub- ing of manufactures on the banks of the Kaw.

ELDORADO, BUTLER Co., March 16. G. W. SPURGEON Secretary State Grange: I am ordered to correspond with you for the puprose of ascertaining what steps are necessary for us to pursue to consolidate with another Grange. Our Grange is small; having at this date but 25 members, and/our meetings are not well attended, on account of the distance some of our members have to come. Also, our meetings are held in the City of Eldorado, and we have to pay a high rent for our room. The matter was freely discussed at the meeting, and the general opinion was that we had better consolidate with some one Grange, and members who could not attend there could get Demits and go where it was more convenient. Will you please inform me how to proceed and assist us what you can in your official ca-Fraternally yours, pacity. J. E. MCCULLY, Secretary Eldorado Grange

ANSWER. First, application for permission to consolidate should be made to the Master of the State Grange and his consent obtained. The course for the Grange to pursue then would be for one of them to vote to surrender its Charter and to consolidate with the other, and for the other to vote to receive all the membeas of the surrendering Grange en masse. A copy of each vote duly authenticated, should be transmitted to the Secretary of the State Grange, and the surrendered charter should be returned to the National Grange through the State Grange, with the fact and date of surrender and consolidation enclosed therein, authenticated by the signature of the Secretary of the State Grange.

G. W. SPURGEON. Secretary K. S. G.

Clear Creek, Kansas, March 25, 1874.

ED'TOR SPIRIT: Thinking perhaps a word or two from us occasionally would not come amiss, will try to say a word now and then to encourage our brothren of other Granges. We are getting pretty strong in this county; have 18 Granges now in operation, and our County Council seems to mean business, for each one is willing to take hold of the work and wants to see all things in nice work ng order. Our members have sent off quite a large order for farming implements and think it will soon begin to pay them something. There is a class of persons here, that are waiting to see how they can get their money back, and say they will join us when that time comes. Now, if the truth must be told, we don't want many of that class to become members of our society, for it does not savor of sociability quite enough to suit us ladies. When there is nothing but a matter of dollars and paring and disposing of them; and think they they are a grand improvement over other secret Orders. Mrs. SARAH A. STEWART, Secretary Grange 576.

EDWARD A. HODGE, Deputy for Marion Co.

I was present at the last session of the State EDITOR SPIRIT: Grange and remember voting one day on a resolution to discontinue the office of State and general deputies. Understanding that there were various charges (before the committee to whom was referred such matters) of irregularities against said Deputies, it was on their recommendation that the resolution was inwhether that action on the part of the Grange was just or not, I am unable to say, since the committee in their report made no specific committee in their report made no specific charges, but simply recommended that for the good of the Order the office be discontinued, I thought at the time that matters were being I thought at the time that matters were being crowded a little, but supposed that the wish of the Grange as expressed in a resolution would be entitled to a little respect. I would would be entitled to a little respect. I would enquire if there was no further action of the enquire if there was no further action of the Grange in that matter (I remember none.) What are we to understand by decision No. 21, of our worthy Master as published in the Spirit, and why is it that one of the Deputies reinstated by that ruling is organizing Granges in stated by that ruling is organizing Granges in sounties where there are Deputies already appointed.

I trust that you or somebody else can give a satisfactory explanation and quiet the fears of many Patrobs who are beginning to think that somebody has been guilty of wirepulling in Inquires.

ANSWER-We do not know the motives of men unless they somehow make them known; The only explanation we can give is that the action re ferred to by our correspondent, resulted in throwing out Mr. Gramer, our of the first and truest men in the Order, while the others were retained by order of the Master, bravirtue of their official position in the State organitue of their official position in the State organic zation. But it that was the intention, we do not believe the Master knew anything about it.

EDITOR SPIRIT: Please say to the Patrons that the Executive Committee have just finished mailing to all Subordinate Granges in the State, copies of Constitution and By-Laws, as revised at last meeting. We sent two copies to each Grange, where we have their address, those not receiving them, can be supplied by addressing me. Individuals or Granges wishing copies other than those sent, can be supplied at 5cts per copy or 50cts per dozen.

It is claimed they are a paying crop, and in addition to this, they can raise on the ground the year following a crop of beaus from one third to one ball of beans, from one third to one half more corn than they could have doue, in case the beans had not been grown. The reason assigned for this is obvi-

The bean requires a great deal of Ine bean requires a great dear of lime which they extract from the ground while growing, and in conse-quence, of course, the quality of soil for the growing of corn is enhanced.

We all know Carpenter's picture of cents, it is rather dry; and we want the good social gatherings often and are always ready to do our part at our harvest feasts, both in preitated; Chase, the Secretary of the treasury, stands behind the chair he hopes one day to fill, a very monument nopes one day to mi, a very monument of dignity, looking hopefully into the glorious future; Stanton, fierce and determined, has pushed his chair back, as if he had said all he had to say; Seward in profile, and Welles opposite, are evidently talking; while Smith, Blair and Bates stand respectfully back. Look at the picture well—note its solemnity, net meeting in which no business of an unusual character was transacted, and buried at Florence, Marioon County, with the ceremonies of the Order in accordance with her previous request. There were about 250 persons present; all of whom seemed deeply impressed, and we all felt that, the burial service was more appropriate and beautiful than any other we had ever seen. We had, however, never thought of its being the first in the State.

Broom Corn.

MR. EDITOR: By request of quite number of farmers of this and adjoining counties, I wish to offer a few suggestions in regard to the culture of broom corn. First, if the farmer wishas soon after as he can, in order to give the corn the advantage over the weeds; or if he wishes to plant the last of May or June, he should plow early, and then re-break just before planting. Plant three feet one way and drill the other, being careful to drill according to the If the soil is very rich, drill tolerably thick; if thin, drill accordingly. I have seed of different kinds, but prefer the dwarf.

Where Has it Gone?

The expenses of the Government for the fiscal year commencing 1st. of July last, have been over four hundred millions. We commenced the year with nearly hundred millions in the Treasury—to-day the National strong box is empty, and the Secretary has been obliged to draw parties" a test of fellowship in the new out twenty five millions of the reserve funds to pay current expenses. Each man, woman and child in the country pays the General Government about ten dollars a year for being governed, beside the State and local taxes, aggregating two or three times as much more. Is there any need of this? Add to this the fact that a thousand millions or more of the wealth of the country is tied up in Government Bonds, owned mainly by large capitalists, and pays no taxes, and another fact is developed—that from sixty to eighty millions of the four hundred are dealers and farmers of the country, who sum in addition to their fair proportion of the National taxation, to make up the deficiency to that amount caused by the exemption of the bonds in the

When the Republican party was formed, did those who stood sponsors for it exclude candidates for admission because of past political opinions or acts? Was Butler questioned when he entered the Republican party? Was Logan questioned? Do the past acts of Beauregard and other rebel Generals prevent their admission to the! Republican party now? Is it not, rather, faithfulness to the new pledges by which they are judged?—Standard of they are judged?-[Standard of Saturday.

The personal citations in the above are unfortunate, so far as they are made to establish the doctrine that a Reform element must not make "conduct in past politer." True, Butler was not questioned when he applied for admission into the Republican party, but how much better it would have been for the party and the country if he had been.

The case of Logan is not quite so bad, though bad enough; while that of Beauregard and other rebel Generals, is but little, if any better. They all betrayed the party they belonged to, to join the Republican party the moment they became satisfied that it would be the successful party. There is no such thing as reforming a professional politician, in any effective sense of the term. If his conduct was bad in the old party, it will be as much worse in the new as his increased experience and opportunities will enable him to make it. He never leaves his old party so long as he thinks there is a probability of its retaining its power-he never joins a new party until he has become preuy confident of its success, and that it has an exalted seat in its synagogue for him. Preparing The Whitewash.

It seems to be a little early to begin to whitewash Gen. O. O. Howard, but perhaps, as the job is a big one, it may be well to commence in season. Secretary Belknap says that in stealing $76,000 of the fund to pay the bounty of colored soldiers, Howard was guilty of only a technical wrong, and that after all it is no more than many other officers have done. Wherefore, as the secretary would have us reason, Howard should be found not guilty, and be ordered to resume his sword, duty and plunder. [Springfield Register.]

[From the Junction City Tribune.]

During the last Presidential campaign it was fashionable with the newspapers who supported Grant, to say that no one could point them to a single thing that Senator Sumner ever did in his public career. Now, the very same newspapers and men are vieing with each other to see who can say the most in his praise. This is a fact worthy of comment. When party newspapers get so low as to villify such men as Sumner, against whom a word could never be justly spoken, it is high time a new party, new party newspapers, or something of the kind, took their places. It is a fearful state of affairs when such a man as Grant exacts from his adherents, loyalty so debasing as derision of men like Sumner and Greeley. It is almost blasphemy; it is absolutely wicked, and no party which is guilty of such a crime against good government, against the best of human kind, and which so outrages decency and justice, can continue to prosper. When the Republican party newspapers and leaders reached that point, they sealed their doom, and the sooner it comes, the better for all true patriots. We need the Charles Sumner kind of statesmen; we do not need the U.S. Grant sort of horse-jockeys and money-lenders.

It is the natural habit of some men to see nothing but wrong and say nothing but ill of the general consent of the citizens, in perfect those who choose to follow a different course than themselves, or who do not readily accept their ideas of propriety in public matters.

For instance, the Democratic Standard, a newspaper printed at the Journal Office, in cided, that the City had no power to create such this city, and edited promiseuously by a lot of a debt, makes no difference in the morality of political dead beats and others who would like the transaction. It is none the less an hones to be politicians if they had sense enough, has debt, and the City having received all the benefor several months been laboring zealously to dis anticipated from the loan secured, would be capture the Reform movement and turn it to none the less dishonored by a refusal to pay on the upbuilding of the antiquated theories and that ground than would an individual who long discarded ideas and purposes of Democraey, entertained by those who pretend to be running that concern. Their main conception of Reform is change—no matter how brought Moore is too honorable a man to be governed about, or what its probable effect. Their aim by any such sweeping declarations of repudiais success, only-no matter what means may tion as were expressed by the convention that have been used to secur; it—the rule that the end justifies the means, being the basis of their political morality and the acquirement of personal notoriety and a living at the public exconsummate purpose of all their schemes. Their doctrine, as enunciated through the columns of their organ, is, that it makes no difference what rascalities a man may have perpe trated in "past political parties" if he calls himself a Reformer now, he is all right, and to be trusted-in other words, that the Gauge of political merit is the degree of lustiness with which a man can shout "Reform."

An old and useful citizen, a gentleman of first class business capacity, and one whose personal integrity is sincerely doubted by no one, not even his present maligners-in the strictest sense of the term, a just man, Col. Rankin has been unanimously selected for that post by a very large, number of his fellow citizens, as one who would be a creditable official, who would manage the city's finances solely in the interest of all its people, instead of making its officers an instrumentality for the gratification of the ambition of some and all of which are as good as the best, and look the cupidity of others; yet the Standard has the bad taste and the dishonesty to make an onslaught upon him which is as disgraceful and unmanly on the part of those who prompted it, as it is false and vicious. It can do Col. Rankin no substantial harm, for the relative positions occupied by him and those who perpetrated it, before the people of Lawrence, are too well understood for that, but it is humiliating to the good name of our City, that the name of no man not in its corrupt and corrupting alliance, can be mentioned for any public preefrance, no matter how good a name it may be, without being subjected to malicious detraction from a concern like the Standard, simply because Col. Rankin cannot be made a party to the scheme if demagoguery and personal amhition of those who dictate its course. We feel like apologizing to our readers for this digression from our usual course, in giving so extended a notice to the Standard, conscious as we are that newspaper criticisin of that paper is like throwing stones at a swill tub—the harder you hit it, the more liable you are to get be-spattered with the filthy contents, but we felt that its wanton and groundless attacks upon a most excellent citizen, and one eminently fit for the place to which he is nominated, should not go unrebuked.

THE CITY ELECTION.

It is matter of gratulation that at the City election to take place next Tuesday, we have two such good men in nomination for the office of Mayor; Col. J. K. Moore, of the Anti-Monopoly Club, at their convention held on Thursday evening of this week. They are both members of the Anti-Monopoly Clubboth excellent business men, and men of character and responsibility, and either would make in effective and faithful official.

While we coincide heartily with the aims of the Anti-Monopoly Clubs, and admire the good sence which led to the selection of so good a man as Col. Moore, we yet regret that they should have seen fit to burden him with the weight of the proclamation of general repudiation contained in their platform. If the City has had imposed upon it unjust burdens by any practice of fraud or deceit, it has a right to repudiate; but where obligations have been entered into in good faith, and by understanding of their effect and their respon sibilities, it is just as dishonest for the City to attempt to repudiate as it would be for an individual. The fact that Courts may have deshould refuse to pay a loan which had enable him to start in business and retrieve past mis fortunes. We believe, however, that Col.

nominated him, should he be elected. Judge Bailey was nominated for Police Justice by the Anti-Monopoly convention, and Judge Smith by the Citizens; as a whole, the pense, with little service and large pay, the tickets are both good, and between them there is no distinct line of demarcation on any public or political question.

This corporation is organized under the laws of Kansas. The capital is one hundred thousand dollars, and its stockholders are liable by statue to its creditors for twice the amount of their shares, making two hundred thousand their shares, making two hundred thousand dollars personal liability. One-half of the sav-ings deposits received will be loaned upon first mortages on real estate of ample value in this they have commodious quarters, and are much better fixed for the transaction of their rapidly increasing business.

There is one fact which especially entities these young men to the patronage of the public. They make all their bread of Kansas made flour, paying from three to four hundred dolars per month for flour made right here in Lawrence, by Lawrence mills, keeping that much money at home, for home use, instead of sending it abroad and thus depleting the home.

Bending it abroad and thus depleting the home.

The balance, except the amount necessary to be kept in the bank to meet ordinary calls of depositors, will be carefully invested in other first-class securities, such as can readily be realized npon, for the payment of deposits in case of special need. THE PLOW MONOPOLY.

Everybody knows or has heard of the great combination of plow manufacturers of the West, in which they pledged themselves not to sell to Granges or farmers' clubs, except through their own agents, and at agents' prices, which means 80 to 100 per cent above the cost of manufac- 4th. Is there no way of reaching a Masture. To meet this combination the Granges generally resolved not to purchase Grange?" plows of any of the makers connected with the Ring, but to seek out other means of supplying themselves, and meantime fix up the old plows once more till such time as satisfactory arrangements could be made for the purchase of new ones. To meet this emergency, various expedients have a dozen Past Masters every year. were devised. Early in the season, the which would be contrary to the spirit and enterprising firm of Wilder & Palm, plow manufacturers of Lawrence, who had re- case of vacancy of the Master's chair, the usual rates. Many of the Granges have the chair at the close of the term becomes business.

The Combination, not satisfied with try-Plow and others are being sent into the tory in Kansas that will not come to sured. "It costs more," says the able chairman of our State Executive Committee, "to pay the transportation of the farm machinery used in Kansas every year, than it would to build the manufactories capable of producing it." A startling fact! Humiliating, suicidal in the extreme! No wonder we complain of hard times. No wonder we cry there of convenience, or choice, but it in no is no money in the country, when we are constantly shipping it all out. No won- sion. More properly it is of the nature of der the produce of our farms must go beg- an honorable suspension for a reasonable, ging for want of consumers. It always but unlimited period of time. We know will be so as long as we adopt the policy of no statute or ruling upon this point, of looking only to the present moment with no care for the future in our business that no person, once a member, can be relations. It always will be so till we begin to appreciate the fact that"indiividual happiness depends upon general prosperity;" and till we begin to lose the idea of our own little individual gains in the great common good.

But we started with the intention of simply calling the attention of the Granges to the "running fire" scheme adopted by John Deere & Co., to prevent us from starting business on our own account. When we consider that the enormous gains made by these companies out of our people in years gone by, is now being used by them to utterly destroy all our hopes of success in the future in the form of home manufactures, and home consumption, we are amazed that our State Agent should for a moment consider it to be his Ohio Legislature with a view to curduty to patronize that ring on any terms.

ANOTHER QUESTION.

We have only to say, that it was true that we received the almost manimous nomination of a republican convention, which was very largely composed of Patrons and farmers. Mr. Haff, who was elected, was the nominee of the straight signs or otherwise leaves his office before the straight of the straight democratic convention, and was not a private member of the Grange or is he a Past Master? 2nd. Did the Spirit the vacancy, or must the Overseer act till intentionally misstate the facts? For its sake we hope not.—[Kansas Farmer The above is part of the reply of the editor of the Farmer to a question we asked of the Industrial Age. If there had been no mistakes in it, or no indications of forgetfulness we should have let it pass as the wordy effort of a good little boy. The correction we make is that Mr. Haff was a Patron at the time of his nomination, and accepted the nomination as a reformer, not as a Democrat, and on that basis beat J. K. Hudson who was the Monopoly candidate. The part Bro. Hudson forgets to tell is the fact that he tried to get his reform neighbors to indorse him, and because they failed to see it in that light he had nothing left for them and the Grangers during the rest of the campaign but vilification and abuse. They could not see how a full blooded Berkshire could be made out of a common pig; hence he was beaten in a naturally strong republican district. Had J. K. told all this, his little historical episode would have been quite brilliant. Then too, if he had told his readers that his reformatory ideas are post election in their might have been thrown upon his recent cavourting. Farther along the Editor of the Farmer says Ross is not a Patron. Well, of course he is not, and never had the presumption try to be, but he does claim to be a reformer in every proper sense of the term, and in full sympathy with the purposes of the Patrons, and all he asks is the privilege of working with them for the accomplishment of those purposes, believing that he can accomplish as much for the good of the Order where he is, as he could by joining a Grange. But seriously, we ask, when did Hudson become a Patron? Was he a Patron while negotiating with Gov. Osborn for the vacant Senatorship? Was he a Patron during the three hours he waited at Kansas City, looking for the Gov. and his expected commission? Was he a Patron when he afterwards urged the election to that office of the greatest known monopolist in the State? In short, did he become a Patron at all till he concluded the best way to get his vengeance was to get inside the Grange and then destroy it by throwing fire brands about the camp? These are serious questions and many Patrons are anxiously waiting an answer wealth of nations, it must nevertheless be stimulated by manufactures, in order to assume its true position. The mutual relation of these mighty forces process. Hence we conclude that a of civilization, and their relative posi-Dimitted member is responsible to the tion to each other, should be maintained in order to insure parallel progress. A rich agricultural country is all important in the vicinity of manufactories, in order that the operatives may be supplied cheaply, constantly and surely either with the requisite raw material for their use, or grain, meat or vegetables for their consumption. True, the agriculturists do, as they should, control the country, and it is not only for their interest, but their duty, to en-courage their true allies, manufactories. The present movement, looking to the creation of manufactories in the center of the rich agricultural districts of this and other states, by the grangers, is a move in the right direction. Whenever granges or their members have any surplus capital, it should be invested in workshops and factories instead of stocks and bonds.

By the use of improved implements he gets more abundant crops. This reacts upon the mechanic and manufacturer, supplying them with agricultural products in greater abundance, and at cheaper rates.

It is for the benefit of both that the producer and consumer should be brought into as close a relationship as possible, and there must be such steps taken as will lead to the cheap and speedy transfer of agricultural and manufactured products between them. Diversified labor is, the true key that Eastern papers bring us the particulars of the successful launching of the new iron steamer City, of Pekin, at Chester, on the Delaware, and America can now boast of possessing the largest serviceable steamship in the world next only to the Great Eastern. It is but a few months since Glagow and Belfast put in their claims for the honor of the largest ocean steamers—th Iberia and Brittannia, 4,820 and 4,750 tons respectively—but Pennsylvania now takes the lead and the laurels with a steamship of 5,200 tons register, and nealy 6.000 tons burden. Her total length is nearly 429 feet; breadth of beam, 6 feet 4 inches; and depth, 38 eet 6 inches. She has state-rooms for 150 cabin passengers, and steerage ac commodations for 2,300 more. Her coal commodations for 2,300 more. Her coal bunkers carry 1,500 tons, and her water apparatus distills 4,000 gallons of fresh water per day. She is built and fitted in the highest style of the shipbuilding art, and the weight of iron used in her construction is upward of five and a half million pounds. The triumph is a great one for Amer ica, especially in view of the constant croaking as to the ruin of our ship-building. Mr. John Roach, the build-er of the City of Pekin, declares as the result of his labors, that we can build better and cheaper steamships than Great Britain can; and he speaks from the experience of a lifetime. In the two years past he has completed seventeen iron steamships, and four or five more are on the stocks. His work is a sufficient endorsement of the late finding of the national board of trade, that no further government aid is needed for shipbuilding. Nor is Pennsylvania alone in intensity and date, a flood of light the good work. The ship-yards of Bosmight have been thrown upon his recent ton, New York and Maine are busily employed, and the tonnage of our country is steadily on the increase .- [Cincinnati Times.

Peanuts are worth in our city to-day cents per pound, which is $1.32 per bushel; and it is said they will yield in Southern Kansas from 60 to 80 bushels per acre.

The cost of raising this crop is but live. The cost of raising this crop is but little more than that of potatoes. We are told that in North Carolina alone over 200,000 bushels of these nuts are produced annu ally, and which find a realy market. Now t seems to us that it would be a nice thing for each farmer to raise a few acres of peanuts, which can be cultivated and gathered with but very little extra abor. The annual expenses of the family might be provided for by this product alone. Try peanuts .- [Columbus Jour

Mr. Whitecraft, living three and a half miles southwest, on the Cottonwood, says he never had a better prospect for wheat. The wheat which was sown early in the fall and put in with a drill is all right. We may expect a good crop of wheat if the season is favorable.—[Emporia News.

The Facts...

If any one knows the status of the financial affairs of the Agricultural College, it is E. B. Purcell, the Treasurer. His anis E. B. Purcell, the Treasurer. His annual report was dated November 30th, 18-73. In it he gives the indebtedness of the College at April 1st, 1873—the time when the new Board took control—at $27,866.09. At the date of his report, it had been reduced to $25,321.45—and this amount was still further reduced before the appropriation bill was passed. As Mr. Purcell's report has been published for months, those who accuse the present manageand at cheaper rates.

The interests of agriculture and manufactures are inseparably blended, and they must flourish or decline together. It is for the hearest of both that the second rate of the cheaper rates.

AN ABSCONDING JUDGE. He Takes Leg Bail.

We get the following from the Ft Scott Monitor:

Houston, and was continued in office by Marshall Tough. In his official capacity he took possession of a stock of dry goods belonging to Colonel H. T. But-ler, bankrupt, in June last. Immedi-ately after taking possession of the goods, suspicious proceedings on the part of Wells led to his being kept under surveillance by spies, and the fact became well established that he was secretly carrying off the goods—in other words, robbing the store. He was arrested on the 16th of June, having at the time of arrest a carpet sack in his ossession filled with merchandise from the store, amounting in value to $20 or $40. An examination was held, and he was bound over for trial at the next term of the district court, and gave bail for his appearance in the sum of $1,000. The trial was continued over one term of the court and was then brought here on a change of venue upon the affidavit of the defendant. Judge Weils came up to this city on Thursay last, and the lawyers, witnesses and other parties in the case were present and ready for trials but Walls put a cuictus on the proal; but Wells put a quietus on the proceedings by absconding on Thursday, leaving his bondsmen in the lurch.

The Sauborn Frauds

[From The Commonwealth.]

If our readers are not altogether familiar with these "frauds," it may not be imar with these "frauds," it may not be impertinent to tell in as few words as possible what they are. It appears that congress passed a law May 8th, 1872, whose provisions very curiously authorized the appointment of three persons by the secretary of the treasury, to collect any and all outstanding revenue or other grown. all outstanding revenue or other govern-ment claims of a delinquent character. The bill, it now transpires, was hatched in the fertile brain of B. F. Butler, and the first appointee under the law was a certain pet of his named Sanborn, who certain pet of his named Sanborn, who proceeded to collect the revenue, and farm out his contracts in various districts, employing for the purpose the regular revenue machinery of the government, receiving as his legal compensation fifty-per cent. of the revenue so collected. He had managed to collect ab ut $300,000 when the infamous nature of the law became anthe infamous nature of the law became ap parent, and it is to be presumed that his occupation is, or will soon be, gone.

The ways and means committee are vigorously investigating the case. The very plausible comprehension of the law, and that which at least did not prevent its passage was, that it was to be in the nature of a detective agency to supplement the er to hinder a full inquiry. He makes use of every pretext imaginable to avoid laying public documents before the committee, that would in any way throw light upon the manner in which the bill authorizing the contracts was passed, or as to how they were made. The complicity of his assistant, Sawyer, in the frauds, has already been fully established, and it is more than hinted that Secretary Richardson himself was compirant of the transing public documents before the commitson himself was cognizant of the traudulent nature of she contracts, and knowing that, perfected them, and was thus made an accessory before the fact, to one of the worst schenes of plunder that has of late years come to light. His reluctance to furnish papers bearing on the case, is certainly susceptible of an explanation not at all complimentary to his honesty.—[Atchison Patriot.] The war on whiskey took quite a practical turn at Burlingame, Osage County. this s a e, a few days ago. Two ladies, who have drunken, idle husbands, went to the saloon where their husbands idle their time away, and told the keeper that they had come to show him how their husbands acted when they came home drunk ban's acted when they came home drunk fro n his whiskey; and thereupon proceed-ed with their little hatchts to demolish windows, decanters and glasses. While they were at this work, the saloon keeper's wife, who lived over the saloon keep-er's wife, who lived over the saloon, sent-word down that they had her permission to go on with the destruction.

Horace Greeley's estate will prove much more valuable than has been supposed Instead of being worth but $25,000 or $30.000 as was thought a short time after his death, it represents a value of about $122,-000 or with annual to render his daughters. quite enough to render his daughters comfortable.

People may talk as much as they like of the fruitlessness of the present war on whiskey by the ladies, and of the impossibility of accomplishing anything by this mode of warfare; but the revenue reports tell quite a different story. The Water Commissioners of St. Louis have been endeavoaing during 1873 to improve the water of the Mississippi for the sake of the consumers in the city. Facts indicate that the water is not so pure but that it is susceptible to improvement. The general arrangement is for the water to be pumped into "settling" basins, and from these into the city reservoirs. These are cleaned every week, and the sediment removed during the past year equaled 156,700 tons; from which it appears that Mississippi water contains some mud.

Go East by way of St. Louis.

In these days of railaoad competition the wise traveler selects his route before leaving home. In almost every instance he desires to reach his destination as speedily as possible, and for the accomplishment of that purpose the Missouri Pucific Through Line from the West to the East, via Kansas City and St. Luis, offers inducements unsurpassed by any other line in the country. Everything connected with the Missouri Pacific R. R. is first class, and the adoption of the Miller Platform and Westinghouse Air Brake, together with its Pullman Sleepers, and Reclining Chair Coaches, render a trip over the line perfectly safe and pleasant. Passengers from all paris of the West by taking its Express Trains at Kansas City, Leavenworth, Atchison and other prominent cities, are landed in St. Louis at seasonable hours morning and evening, and in ample time to make direct connection with all railroads for every point in the North. East and South. Particular information with maps, time tables, &c., may be had at the various 'Through Ticket, offices in the West, or upon personal or written applications to G. H. Baxter, Western Passenger Agent, Kansas City, Mo., or E. A. Ford, General Passenger Agent, St. Louis, Mo.

The completion of the greet iron bridge over the Missouri river at Booneville, enables this popular line to offer still better facilities for the business between the Northeast and Southwest.

Two daily trains will be run between Hannibal and points in the great Neosho valley, in direct connection with all lines. Also two daidaily trains between St Louis and points in Southern Kansas.

For the texas trade, new and better facilities are offered. The rates have been greatly reduced, and arrangements have been made whereby through Pulman palace cars are run from Chicago, Qusney, Hannibal and St Louis to Galveston, without change, passing through the finest portion of Southwest Missouri, Southern Kansas, the Indian Nation, and the most desirable portion of Texas.

Any one contemplating a trip to Southern Kansas, the Indian Nation or Texas, should address Thomas Dorwin, general passenger agent, Sedalia, Mo., for a correct map, with time tables, rates of fare, &c.
