Grain Reserve Bill Dies In Committee

Dole Calls It A 'Gimmick'

A house agriculture sub-committee killed the administration's measure to boost reserve stocks of wheat, feed grains, soybeans and rice with an 8-5 vote Wednesday. The controversial measure was designed to protect commodity prices and build consumer reserves.

Chairman Graham Purcell, D-Texas, accused Republicans of responsibility for defeat of the bill and said he expects no attempts this year to revive the measure.

"With the solid Republican opposition to every effort made," Purcell told newsmen, "I don't see much chance of doing anything to help the farmers this year."

But Rep. Robert Dole, R-Kan., who had called the bill a "political gimmick" for the farm vote, said the measure was defeated at the insistence of farmer constituents.

"The farmers have had enough price stabilization and manipulation," Dole said. "They are not going to stand for any more of it."

Democratic Reps. John R. Rarick of Louisiana and G. V. (Sonny) Montgomery of Mississippi joined six Republican committee members in defeating the measure.

The bill would have established Commodity Credit Corp. stocks over the next two years at 20 percent of the annual domestic use and exports of wheat 15 percent of feed grains, 6 percent of rice and 6 percent of soybeans.

It would have required the government to buy on the market if reserves fell below those levels.

NFU Conference Is Dec. 15-16 At Salina

Plans have been set to hold the state conference of the National Farmers Union of Kansas in Salina in mid-December.

Scheduling of the statewide meeting for Dec. 15-16 was announced at a meeting of farmers sponsored by the Saline County Unit of the FU at the Holiday Inn.

Expected to attend are national leaders of the farm organization including the president, Tony Dechant of Denver.

During the first day of the convention there will be meetings of state and county officers and the organization's program committee.

The Saturday, Dec. 16 conference will be held in Memorial Hall.

Kansan Places In Tractor Contest

LINCOLN, Nebr. — The Kansas entry in the recent Western United States 4-H Tractor Operators Contest placed ninth in the event at Lincoln, Nebr.

Charles Magoffin, Sterling, represented the Sunflower State in the 11th annual event sponsored by the American Oil Foundation, reports John A. True, Extension agricultural engineer, Kansas State University.

True accompanied the Kansas contestant and was a judge during the event.

An Illinois 4-H'er took first in the field of 19 entrants, each a state champion in tractor operation.

Magoffin, 18, is a KSU freshman. He is a Reno County 4-H'er and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Magoffin. He was the 1966 state 4-H tractor operators contest winner and also was the Kansas state award winner in tractor and one of 12 national award winners.

lution," he said. "Funds will soon be available to enlist the talents of more scientists, engineers and economists for a concerted attack on these problems," McCain advised.

"The methodology of agricultural extension which has achieved such prodigious results in America is the most crying need of developing countries today in their efforts to raise their own food production," the president pointed out.

"Increasingly, then, the Kansas Agricultural Extension Service is being looked to as a model for nations in Asia, Africa and Latin America," McCain concluded.

House Rejects Bid For Greater US Meat Inspection

WASHINGTON — A bid to turn federal inspectors loose in virtually every major U.S. meat processing plant has been rejected by the House.

The administration-backed proposal was defeated 140-98 last week shortly before the House voted almost unanimously for a bill aimed at strengthening nationwide meat inspection practices.

A sponsor of the defeated proposal, Rep. Neal Smith, D-Iowa, said he was optimistic about the bill's future in the Senate. Smith, who wants many plants that sell their products entirely within a single state to measure up to the standards of those in interstate commerce, said several senators have indicated they'll back a tougher law.

As sent to the Senate on a 403-1 tally, the meat inspection bill would set up a new program of federal-state cooperation in meat inspection programs. It also would bolster Agriculture Department authority to control processors.

Narrow Escape

Stan Schurle, Keats, escaped without injury when his tractor slipped into a ditch and overturned during a rainstorm Wednesday. A feed wagon Schurle was pulling landed on top of the tractor, which was a total loss. Schurle was thrown free.

K-State Role In World Hunger Battle

"Kansas State University has become a major world center in the battle against hunger and agricultural extension has a key role in that battle," President James A. McCain declared at the opening session of the 33rd annual Kansas State University Cooperative Extension Conference in Manhattan last week.

"Those who so freely predict starvation on a global scale within 10 or 20 years are underestimating the problem-solving genius of land grant college research and extension and the resourcefulness of the American farmer and rancher in benefiting from these programs," the president said.

He reminded the conference that "well over $5 million of non-state funds have been committed to K-State to help in the battle against world-wide population growth will not out-run food production. This is tantamount to establishing a major new industry in Kansas," McCain said.

"More important," he added, "these funds will enable K-State scientists to attack more effectively the three principal obstacles to victory in the war against famine in underdeveloped countries."

"To insure an adequate quantity of food is still a basic problem," the K-State head reminded, "but the hybrid wheat under development by the Kansas Agricultural Experiment Station will produce substantial increases in yields in this, the nation's bread basket."

The nutritional quality of food is as crucial as quantity, McCain said, because "protein starvation afflicts millions of people today whose stomachs are full."

McCain reported that a major grant to K-State will support research designed to find ways of nutritionally enriching wheat and feed grains.

"Major problems involved in the storage, transportation and distribution of food call for so-

Geary Co. Welfare Project May Be Adopted On Statewide Basis

Geary County realized a savings of $100,000 this year due to an experimental welfare project known as Operation Fair Play. This project operates entirely without federal funds and it is hoped that this project will be adopted on a statewide basis.

The pilot project, now two years old, encourages full or part time employment for mothers receiving aid to dependent children.

Under provisions of the program, working mothers are given an extra allowance to cover food, clothing, incidentals, transportation and child care.

Purpose of the allowance is to bring the net amount left to working mothers in line with amounts received by welfare clients who are not employed. Thus, a financial penalty for working is prevented.

The project is the only one in the nation being carried out under Title I, Sec. 1115 of the Social Security act which has not required federal funds, according to Claude Frese, director of the Geary County Welfare Department.

Currently, 24 mothers who qualify for a total of $8,160 per month in welfare assistance are enrolled in the project. However, they are earning $3,839 per month of their needs. The participants are allowed approximately $1440 per month for job-related expenses, so saving to the welfare agency is $2,339 per month, or approximately $30,000 annually.

Frese said 33 mothers who participated on the program no longer need assistance. Based on the county's average monthly payment of $200 to mothers receiving aid to dependent children, the saving is about $80,000 annually.

Marvin Larson, Topeka, director of the state Department of Social Welfare, said the state Welfare Board is interested in implementing the project on a statewide basis.

Originated in September 1965, Operation Fair Play requires an annual waiver from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare because the extra payments deviate from statewide rules and regulations.

The project was designed to cover three years. An application for renewal of the waiver, approved by Larson, is pending in Washington.

Larson said that if the project

November 7, 1967

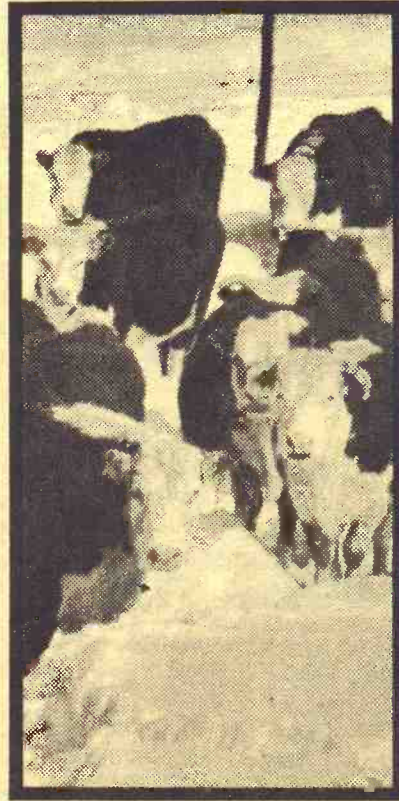

is implemented statewide, a waiver will not be necessary because the rules will apply to all counties in Kansas.

Reproduction . . . Key To Livestock Profits

Aiming for profitable returns from your beef herd, like any other part of your farm business, means setting your sights on high-performance beef.

Best way to "zero in" on bigger beef profits is to concentrate on reproduction — the most important function of your beef herd. When several cows come through the winter without a calf, it is costly. Farmers 'Hoodwinked' On Power?

An official of Kansas Power & Light Co. of Topeka has charged gas and oil companies in Kansas with "hoodwinking" farmers into purchasing self-contained electric power plants under the misconception that they are economical.

Representatives of two other major Kansas electric companies said, however, that they were unaware of any such problem and such units were no practical threat to regular electrical service.

"The oil and gas companies are trying to take over part of what was once controlled by utilities," Lee R. Nicholson, KP & L vice president in charge of marketing, said Saturday.

"Isolated power plants are not economical, but once they are installed, they are virtually impossible to replace because of cost."

Nicholson said the gas and oil companies were trying to counteract an economic decline in some areas by selling self-contained units to farmers and small commercial operations. The companies then sell the oil or gas necessary to operate the unit to produce the electricity.

This threat to the electricity market, according to Nicholson, can be counteracted only through active marketing programs by Kansas electric power companies.

Officials of other major Kansas power companies said they were maintaining successful programs to supply electricity to rural areas and indicated that they have experienced little if any competition with the self-contained units.

"We haven't encountered a great deal of this," said a Kansas Gas and Electric Co. official. "In fact, I can recall only one potential customer that we have lost to the self-contained units."

"The farmers have shown no interest in the units because of the expense and commercial institutions have found it just as easy to receive power from a regular utility company."

Jack Goodman, manager of Central Kansas Electric, said the gas and oil powered lights were just not economical enough to interest rural areas.

November 7, 1967

"The units do not pose any threat at all to us. They are far more expensive to buy and maintain when compared to our service," said Goodman. "I don't know of anyone in our part of the state that is using one. Their existence is so insignificant that we have just been ignoring them."

Nicholson said the answer to the problem, as far as KPL is concerned, is to expand their effort to serve the farmer and discover what his needs are.

Read how fall plow-down helps the "big three" elements condition cropland:

NITROGEN: Old crop trash will tie-up available nitrogen until it decomposes. By fall plowing nitrogen, you speed the decay of this crop trash and provide a rich organic soil base for the new crop to build on. In case wet weather delays your side-dressing, fall plowed nitrogen helps the plant continue normal growth until you can get into your fields.

PHOSPHORUS: Deeper placement of phosphorus—through fall plow-down—helps the corn plant develop a healthier, deeper root system... one that can reach down for subsoil moisture and promote continued growth an extra ten days to two weeks in case of dry weather. This extra drought insurance could spell the difference between profit and loss for many corn growers. Phosphorus also affects the corn plant's use of the other elements. For instance, without enough phosphorus early, plants can't take up the nitrogen and potassium needed for top yields.

POTASSIUM: As with phosphorus, deeper placement of potassium by fall plowing is recommended by most soil specialists because it is better positioned for plant root uptake. Fall plowed potassium assures a ready supply of this important nutrient as soon as it's needed and eliminates any risk of application being delayed by spring weather problems.

Steady Report On Cattle On Feed

The number of cattle now being fattened for market is slightly larger than it was a year ago, according to the USDA October report of Cattle on Feed.

The report, covering 32 major feeding states, showed 8,566,000 cattle on feed — 2 percent more than last year. Reporting farmers said that they intend to market 2 percent more cattle before January 1 than they sold in this quarter a year ago.

An increase of 2 percent is not excessive. More than half of it is offset by the population increase. The number of persons of beef-eating age is up about 1½ percent.

Fewer heavy cattle. The number of steers weighing over 1100 pounds was estimated at 363,000 — 14 percent less than a year earlier. The number of heifers weighing over 900 lbs. was 350,000 — down 7 percent.

These two heaviest groups together totaled 713,000 — 10 percent less than a year before. Most of them were marketed in October or will be shipped in November.

(To each weight group of steers, we add the heifers weighing 200 pounds less, because heifers are marketed about 200 pounds lighter than steers. In 1966, for example, the average weight of steers was 1125 pounds; heifers averaged 929 pounds.)

Little change in middle weights. The number of steers weighing 900 to 1100 pounds was listed at 2,204,000 — 1 percent more than last year. Heifers weighing 200 pounds less were estimated 1,635,000 — down 4 percent. These two groups numbered 3,239,000 — ½ percent less than a year before.

Most of these cattle will be marketed before January 1.

The number of steers weighing 700 to 900 pounds in feedlots on October 1 was estimated at 2,023,000 — 2 percent less than a year earlier. Heifers 200 pounds lighter numbered 828,000 — 10 percent more than a year before. Together, these steers and heifers totaled 2,851,000 — 1 percent more than a year ago. Most of these cattle will be sold during the winter months — December through February.

More light cattle. Steers weighing 500 to 700 pounds were estimated at 1,041,000 — 7 percent more than a year earlier. The heifers weighing under 500 pounds were listed at 326,000 — up 43 percent. The total of these light steers and the heifer calves was 1,367,000 — 13 percent more than a year earlier. The number of steer calves under 500 pounds was reported at 380,000 — 19 percent more than last year.

Most of these light animals will be marketed next spring and summer. But the actual receipts then are not likely to be much over 1967 figures, because the number of other fed cattle to be marketed at that time is expected to be less than in the spring and summer of 1967.

In summary, prospective market supplies of cattle during the next few months are about the same as actual market receipts were a year earlier.

OUR DAILY BREAD

— by G&G Area Cooks

Mrs. Edward Kamphaus, Idana, Sender Of Winner Recipe

Mrs. Edward Kamphaus, Idana, wins the prize for the following recipe:

TURNIP SALAD

8 medium-size turnips ("I cut them into fourths and then slice them")

Boil turnips till tender. In another pan beat:

1 egg

Add:

1/4 cup vinegar

4 teaspoons sugar

1/2 teaspoon salt

1 teaspoon prepared mustard

3 teaspoons cornstarch

1 teaspoon butter

Bring this to a boil until it thickens. Drain turnips well and then pour the mixture over turnips. Stir so all turnips are coated. Very good served with fish. (Sometimes some vinegar is more sour than others so I add more sugar. You have to regulate according to taste.)

Mrs. Mary Nudson, R 1, Manhattan: "Since green tomatoes are so plentiful I would like to send a recipe I found to be very good and economical."

GREEN TOMATO COBBLER

To 1 1/2 cups green chopped tomatoes, and 1/2 cup raisins add 1 cup sugar, 2 tablespoons lime juice. Place in bottom of baking dish and pour over top the following batter:

1/2 cup sugar

1 cup flour

1 teaspoon baking powder

1/2 cup milk

2 tablespoons margarine, melted

1 teaspoon lime juice
Pinch of salt

Mix sugar, flour, baking powder and salt together. Gradually add melted oleo, lime juice and milk. Bake at 350 degrees for 20 minutes. Serve with cream. Lemon juice may be substituted for lime juice, if preferred.

Mrs. Clarence Wichman, Linn: "I enjoy the 'Daily Bread' recipes in the Grass & Grain very much and have tried many of them so I decided to send you one of my favorite recipes. It is a One Dish Meal and is very good."

MY FAVORITE ONE DISH MEAL

2 large potatoes

1/2 teaspoon salt

1/2 teaspoon pepper

1/2 cup uncooked rice

1 pound hamburger

1 teaspoon salt

1 sliced onion

1 or 2 sliced carrots

1 pint tomato juice

Slice potatoes in bottom of a greased casserole and sprinkle with salt and pepper. Add uncooked rice, then hamburger, then sprinkle with 1 teaspoon salt. Add sliced onion and carrots. Pour tomato juice over all. Cover and bake 1 1/2 hours in a moderate oven (350 degrees). Serve this with a green salad and you have your meal.

Mrs. Arlen Mosteller, Washington: "I always enjoy the recipes in the Grass & Grain and since pheasant season will be open soon, I'd like to submit this recipe for preparing pheasant."

BAKED PHEASANT AND RICE

Boil 1 1/2 or 2 pheasants with garlic salt in enough water to cover till done or comes off the bone. De-bone. To the meat and liquid add:

1 1/2 cups chopped celery

1/2 cup chopped onion

1 stick margarine

1/2 teaspoon monosodium glutamate
Salt to taste

Cook 2 cups brown rice or make half of it white rice. ("I sometimes use all white rice but the brown rice adds to the flavor"). Cook till just done. Add to the spice mixture then add 2 cans cream of chicken soup or 1 can mushroom soup in place of 1 can of chicken soup. Put in casserole and bake about 45 minutes to 1 hour in a 350-degree oven or till brown chicken works fine in this but if using a hen you won't need the margarine.

(Earlier we had a request from Mrs. Moser for a good Kolaches recipe — ed.)

Mrs. Eugene Arensman, Kanopolis: "I'm sure Mrs. Moser would like this recipe as I've used for years. With eight children I always double the recipe and it works equally well."

KOLACHES

1/2 cup shortening

1 pint milk

1/2 cup mashed potatoes

1/2 cup sugar

1 tablespoon salt

2 eggs

2 packages dry yeast

1 teaspoon baking powder

1/2 teaspoon soda

4 cups flour (approximately)

Mix together shortening, milk, potatoes, sugar, salt and eggs. Bring to a boil. Cool. Then add yeast, baking powder and soda. Add flour to make stiff dough. Let rise 20 minutes, knead down, let rise again. This time make into little balls. Let rise until double in bulk. Brush each ball with melted shortening. Make an impression in center of each. Fill with your favorite filling. Let rise a few minutes. Bake at 425 degrees for 8-10 minutes or until a delicate brown. Makes 50-60 kolaches.

BOHEMIAN KOLACHES

1 1/2 cups scalded milk

1/2 cup sugar

1/2 cup shortening

2 eggs

1 package yeast or yeast cake

1/2 cup warm water

1 cup mashed potatoes

2 teaspoons salt

6 1/2 cups flour

Scald milk and add shortening, sugar, salt and mashed potatoes. Cool. Add yeast to lukewarm water. Add eggs and yeast and about 3 cups flour and beat well, then add rest of flour and knead well. Let rise double in bulk, knead down and let rise again. Form small balls and place on greased sheets. When light to touch make an impression in center of each with tips of fingers and fill with any kind of filling. Let rise again for about 15 minutes or till light. Bake at 375 degrees for 13-20 minutes.

Mrs. Charles Thomas, R1, Chapman: "As there seems to be plenty of green tomatoes this year, maybe some of your readers would enjoy this recipe. We sure like this."

GREEN TOMATO PIE

3 cups sliced green tomatoes

1 1/2 cups sugar

3 tablespoons flour

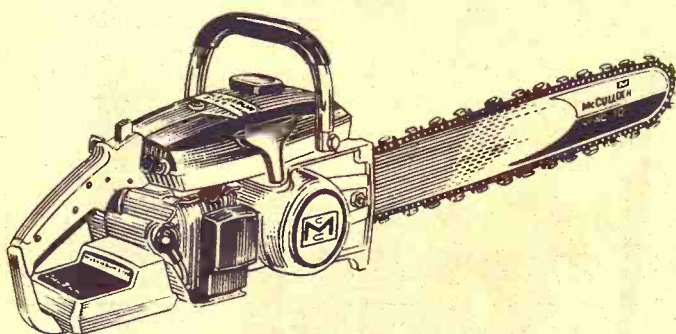

1/4 teaspoon salt

Mothers Should Teach Good Cleanliness To Preschoolers

Bathtime is fun time — if you're three years old! And mothers of preschoolers know that this is the time to help develop good cleanliness habits. Many youngsters will try to bathe themselves, imitating mother, as soon as they can reach their feet. This is mother's first clue that she can begin teaching her youngster to wash himself. She must guide his hand and show him how. Soon he'll be able to bathe with only a few directions from her. Playing in the water is still a big treat, though, and it may seem easier to let him play, dry him off and tuck him in for the night.

But instilling proper cleanliness habits when a child is young pays off for him through adolescence and adulthood.

Cleanliness and good health habits are important all our lives and the ideal formula of soap 'n water stays with us through adulthood.

Beautify Jewelry

To beautify jewelry that has become tarnished, soak in a solution of one part household ammonia, five parts water and a dash of liquid detergent. After soaking the jewelry for a short time, gently brush it with an old toothbrush, rinse and dry.

Marinade

Equal parts of oil and lemon juice, plus garlic, make a good marinade for chicken that is to be broiled. The garlic may be crushed or it may be peeled and halved.

Winter Shortcake

Serve your family a winter-time shortcake. Layer thawed, drained frozen berries between white cake layers. Then frost with sweetened whipped cream and sprinkle with grated coconut. This dessert is especially good after a light meal.

Zippy Sauce

Add a bay leaf to canned tomato sauce to provide extra zip in the flavor.

Breakfast In Bed Ensemble Will Please Coffee Lovers

Here's a tip from the creators of Dura-Clad thermos bottles, for wives who enjoy sleeping late or husbands addicted to coffee at the crack of dawn.

Just add an extra measure to the evening brew and keep it overnight — fresh and piping hot in a glass lined vacuum bottle — ready and waiting to start off another busy day.

For the coffee drinker, there is an engaging "Breakfast in Bed" ensemble — a high fashion, pint vacuum insulated bottle complete with matching cup and serving tray. Not forgotten are early risers partial to both juice and coffee — they'll favor the twin bottle "good morning" ensembles.

Bottles are made of tough polypropylene: Cups and trays of Tyrl styrene acrylonitrile. Informally elegant, the ensembles are available nationally at fine stores in four smart decorator colors.

"when a feller needs a friend"

It's a pretty bleak situation that greets a feeder pig upon arrival at your farm. Behind him lies a long hard trip, weaning, vaccination and other stressing experiences. And . . . at the bottom of this ramp a hostile environment awaits him. Here he will have to mix with strange pigs from other farms . . . and their strange germs.

What this lonely, run-down pig needs is a friend to help him "get a leg up" on the rough situation he faces. Thanks to Purina Research he now has a powerful friend—NEW PURINA FEEDER PIG CHOW—a specially formulated Chow to help feeder pigs—or any pigs—overcome any kind of stress condition.

When a "feller" arrives at your place suffering from stress, give him a tremendous boost with PURINA FEEDER PIG CHOW. It offers extra nutritional fortification, antibiotics, vitamins and growth boosters.

656 HYDROSTATIC
ALL-SPEED DRIVE TRACTOR

IHCC'S
FINANCE CHARGES
PAID FOR YOU
WELL INTO 1968!

This is the first big farm tractor with Hydrostatic All-Speed Drive, the drive that provides any speed from 9 mph in reverse to 20 mph forward . . . change on the go, under load or with no load . . . with no clutch . . . and without touching the throttle.

Push the Speed Ratio (SR) control forward to move forward. The farther you push it, the faster the speed—from zero mph to 20 mph. To stop, just move the SR control back to zero mph and have smooth, safe, controlled stopping. To back up, move the control rearward into reverse ratio and pick any speed, zero to 9 mph in reverse.

That's all there is to it! No clutch to use. You're propelled by smooth IH hydrostatic power! At any speed from "9 below to 20 above."

Think of all the clutching and shifting you won't do with Hydrostatic All-Speed Drive. Think of being able to maintain higher average speeds on every job by choosing the exact speed needed every time . . . and changing speed any time, on-the-go. It follows that no matter what the crop or conditions, this Hydrostatic All-Speed Drive provides the ideal speed for getting the most out of both tractor and equipment.

And it's a pleasure to drive. So easy to operate that any driver will get more done—and actually enjoy doing it—with IH Hydrostatic Drive. Farmers who helped us test this tractor say there is just nothing like IH Hydrostatic Drive to speed the work and save wear and tear on the man. Skeptical? A few minutes behind the wheel will make a believer of you.

Combination Appliance Is Space - saver, Time - saver

Compact side-by-side refrigerator-freezer combinations are making it possible for today's busy homemaker to conveniently and economically store large quantities of fresh and frozen foods. And this means fewer trips to the supermarket, plus the ability to take full advantage of in-season food buys.

One company, for example, has introduced a new Food Center 24 which provides the homemaker the convenience of 24 cubic feet of storage area in a compact cabinet which is less than a yard wide.

Actually, it is two appliances in one. It is a 15 cubic foot frost-free refrigerator and a nine cubic foot freezer in a single cabinet which takes up no more space than either a separate refrigerator or upright freezer would have required just a few years ago.

Designed to fit easily in the kitchen, the Food Center 24 stands 66 1/4 inches high to clear most overhead cabinets and offers two or more cubic feet of storage space than any other model available in a cabinet less than 36 inches wide.

The freezer can accommodate up to 314 pounds of frozen food and the refrigerator features new adjustable cantilevered shelving which allows the homemaker to arrange and store food to suit her individual needs and fancy.

Grass & Grain

Cleans Stained Cups

Remove stains from inside your coffee and tea cups by rubbing with a damp cloth sprinkled liberally with salt.

Recover Headboard

If there is an old headboard in your basement or attic, you can give it a glamorous new life by covering it imaginatively. Try quilted velvet or chintz or even flowered wallpaper and buy bed linen to match.

Tastier Cheese

Always remove cheese from the refrigerator about an hour before serving to soften the texture and heighten the flavor.

ATTENTION: Mr. Cowman —

Here is your opportunity to obtain a good set of well bred cattle in top condition that will continue to produce. These are good big rugged cattle — pasture raised and in pasture condition, ready to go to work.

The Hills Sink To Rest

Rolla Clymer, the longtime editor of the El Dorado Times, is often called the "poet laureate of the Flint Hills." Well he should be, for no one has written about Kansas' famous grassland with the love and style that he has.

One of the marvelous aspects of Clymer's writings of the Flint Hills is his ability to continue to write fresh words, year after year, season after season. Here is a Clymer editorial written as the Flint Hills change their hue and their mood in the transition from one season to another.

By ROLLA A. CLYMER, Editor
The El Dorado Times

The Hills these days have lost the vivid coat of green which they have worn superbly during months just past. The shades of their wondrous bluestem cover are now blending into tones of yellows and russets and browns, which form a lustrous pattern. But these bright hues will not long endure. According to the immutable laws of Nature, they soon will fade — and then the Hills will enfold themselves into peaceful sleep.

The Hills are ever lovely under any change of aspect — and particularly so these frosty, autumn mornings. When the sun first peeps over the far-flung ridges, their landscape takes on the trappings of a modern fairy land. Clouds of blue-white mist arise from the ground. As the sun's rays grow stronger, they swirl about in magic spirals and eddies, mingling with the ever-present haze that is a hall-mark of the Hills.

In the early morning hours, the entire spacious expanse of their domain seems to be clad in garments of gossamer. As the day advances, this eerie and witching garb vanishes — and gleaming peaks and valleys are revealed in crystal-clear outline — with herds of young bees still cropping the luscious provender they offer.

No wildflower blooms today in the kingdom of the Hills; no birdsong breaks the reigning calm. All the piquant, merry warblers long ago departed for other climes, leaving only the owl and the hawk to soar in graceful planes above the silent scene. Winter, with its raging storms and bitter chill, looms in the offing — and all the wild, free life of the Hills is preparing for its coming.

We of earth kind, who love our Hills because of the profound uplift they continually vouchsafe to our souls, are reluctant to witness their transition from a state of glorious activity to one of quietude. We may comfort ourselves, however, with this assurance: Over countless centuries, the Hills have kept the faith with men. When the day of Resurrection dawns in far-off spring, they will return in all their wonted splendor.

So, as they sink to a richly-earned period of repose, may we say: "Go With God."

Farmers Ask Dole To Reconsider On Purcell Bill

WAKEENEY — A measure of discontent among some Western Kansas farmers has resulted from Representative Bob Dole's opposition to the Purcell bill.

A telegram, signed by sixty farmers, was sent to Dole urging he reconsider his stand.

The Purcell bill would create strategic reserves of wheat, feed grain, soybeans and rice. It is being debated in the Livestock & Grains subcommittee of the House Agriculture committee.

Contained in the telegram to Dole was the following:

"No one should know better than you what low wheat prices and high cost of operation have done to the wheat farmers of your Congressional district.

"We believe that your effort to kill the Purcell bill in the Livestock & Grain subcommittee is a breach of good faith with the hard-working people of your district.

"The Purcell bill is the only legislation we know of which offers any kind of financial assistance for hard-pressed West-

Get The Facts About Meat

The Union State Bank in cooperation with local retailers and the County and State Extension Service will help consumers get the facts about meat November 9th, Thursday evening at 7:30. This clinic to be held in the Clay Center City Hall auditorium, will be a short course in meat education which is intended to better educate the consumer regarding selection, identification, grading, buying, storing, and preparation of all kinds of meat. An extension meat specialist from K-State will be on hand to help with the program.

It seems many shoppers are unfamiliar with various cuts and their proper preparation as the difference depends on the area of the carcass from which they were taken. A happier consumer who will buy and enjoy more meat is our aim. Bring your friends or your 4-H Club for an education on meat.

Local meat retailers and our bank are giving away choice cuts of meat as an added attraction. Registration for meat cuts will be in Clay Center food stores, at the Union State Bank or before the program.

CO-OP Feeds with Tylan and Sulfa Do It Best!

A fat hog is as outdated as the horse-and-buggy days. Consumers demand good, lean meat . . . and smart producers are increasing their net profit by supplying good, lean hogs. Leaner market hogs bring more money and yield the meaty cuts the consumer wants.

CO-OP Protein Concentrates, Complete Swine Feeds and Pig Feeds won't make a pig leaner, but when properly mixed and fed will make pigs gain fast and efficiently.

CO-OP Feeds are available with Tylan and Sulfa. Tylan and Sulfa work together, increasing weight gains and improving feed utilization in the presence of dysentery and atrophic rhinitis.

The CO-OP Swine Feeding Program will do a good job in your operation. Get together with a CO-OP Feed man and get all the details.

president for Iowa Beef Packers Inc., said the sale was completed over the weekend.

In the package deal, Armour & Co. transferred its Emporia plant and another plant at West Point, Nebr., to Iowa Beef Packers.

Armour acquired Iowa Beef Packers' hog slaughtering plant in Sioux City, Iowa.

McGill said the Emporia plant will be re-opened but the exact use has not been determined.

That decision, he added, will be made after engineers have completed a study for "structural redesign" of the facility.

He said there probably will be some beef slaughtering and possibly other operations here.

McGill said Iowa Beef Packers is the second largest beef slaughtering company in the nation and actually ranks bigger than Armour in beef operations.

The company has six slaughtering plants in the nation, including the two acquired from Armour.

Armour closed its operations here unexpectedly last month and the plant has stood idle since.

House Probe Shows Unwarranted Penalizing Of Auto Policy Holders

It was announced last week by House investigators that it is common practice for some automobile insurance companies to penalize policy-holders for accidents regardless of who is responsible.

Chief counsel of a House judiciary subcommittee, Kenneth R. Harkins, based the conclusion on an analysis by his staff of 520 complaints received from policy-holders during a recent study of auto insurance.

Harkins described as typical several cases outlined in a staff report to the full judiciary committee.

One case involved a man whose car had been struck by hit-and-run drivers twice. The company that had carried his insurance notified him that his policy would not be renewed.

Another case concerned a company that increased a policy-holder's rates by 30%, or $36 per year because of an accident. The man employed an attorney in an effort to prove to the company that the accident was not his fault.

A vice-president of the company said in a letter to the attorney that it did not matter who was at fault in the accident.

Still another case involved a person whose car was damaged in a parking lot. Six months later it was struck in the rear by another automobile while stopped at a traffic light. According to the report, the company notified the man that the policy would not be renewed.

Hope To Get Brucellosis Funds Back In Budget

TOPEKA — The Kansas Livestock Sanitary Commission last week urged restoration of about $200,000 cut from its fiscal 1969 budget by the State Budget Division.

The money was earmarked for a calf vaccination program aimed at controlling brucellosis. A similar item was cut from the agency's 1968 budget. It was not restored.

The current calf vaccination program ended July 1.

James Bibb, state budget director, said the agency's request for fiscal 1969 was $751,205. His recommendation was $547,343, a slight increase over the present budget of $543,102 expected to be spent this fiscal year.

Under the brucellosis program previously in operation, the state picked up the tab for vaccination of privately owned calves. The federal government pays for the serum.

Harold Scanlan of Abilene, chairman of the commission, said it appeared to be a good investment on the part of the state to spend $200,000 to protect the state's cattle industry. The industry is valued at more than $800 million.

Dr. John F. Hudelson, commission veterinarian, said the disease comes primarily from cattle being shipped into Kansas from Oklahoma and Texas.

He said that until surrounding states are classified as modified certified brucellosis free, Kansas should continue the vaccination program.

"We won't see the effect of stopping vaccination in July for several years — until the animals reach maturity," Hudelson said.

"We've come so far in getting this thing licked," it's not time to stop now," Scanlan added.

Members of the livestock commission said the vaccination problem does not lie with the big cattlemen but with the marginal producers who see the vaccination as one place to cut expenses.

Gov. Robert Docking asked if the $200,000 it costs the average rancher to protect his herd would not be considered a wise investment since that herd would be valued at about $10,000.

Hudelson said it is a good theory that does not work in actual practice.

The commission veterinarian also suggested the need for legislation to prevent laymen from administering the brucellosis vaccine themselves. He said the serum is dangerous and should be handled only by a veterinarian.

A. G. Pickett, state livestock sanitary commissioner who usually presents the commission's position on budget cuts, did not attend.

He participated in a State Board of Health meeting on water pollution in Wichita.

Pickett and Docking have been engaged in a running battle since the governor said he definitely would not reappoint him to the post.

Less Milk Use A Dairy Problem

By Roger H. Wilkowske
Kansas State University
The price picture is still fairly bright for Kansas dairymen. But a continuing decrease in per capita consumption of milk and cream may put a damper on income prospects for the years ahead.

Americans are consuming less milk today than in years past. Per capita consumption slumped from 320 pounds in 1960 to 296 pounds last year, a drop of about 7 per cent.

Consumption in Kansas, already lower than in most markets of the country, has dropped even more sharply. In the Wichita and Kansas City markets, per capita use dipped 15 per cent, from 257 pounds and from 289 pounds to 244 pounds, respectively.

Consumption in the Neosho Valley market decreased more gradually, falling some 8 per cent from 243 pounds to 224 pounds.

Only in the South, where per capita incomes are lower, is the consumption lower than in the Kansas markets.

While per capita consumption of fluid milk and cream was slipping in Kansas and most other markets, it was going up in some areas. In the Ozarks, Chattanooga, and Clarksburg markets, consumption was up more than 40 pounds per person during the 6-year period.

The significance of the decline in milk consumption is extremely important to dairy farmers. Grade A milk production in Kansas has been increasing. Out-of-state sales of milk for fluid uses are becoming more difficult to secure. Class I utilization has gone down. Higher support and class prices conceal the effect of lower consumption, but the problem still exists. In fact, higher retail prices for milk and increased competition for imitation milk and non-dairy substitutes compound the problem. An effective promotion program to increase consumption of fluid milk is long overdue. If dairymen fail to solve the problem of declining consumption, all their other problems become insignificant.

Proposed Law Would Save Family Farm From Taxes

WASHINGTON — Senator Fred R. Harris, D-Okla., last week proposed legislation he said would have estate taxes on family ranches, farms and small businesses computed on earning power rather than on sale prices.

Harris, joined by Senator Frank Carlson, contended the measure would save hundreds of family farms from forced liquidation because of high estate taxes.

Can't Drive Tractors

A boy employed on a farm could still milk the cow but couldn't drive a big tractor under new federal rules announced for youths under 16.

The new rules will bar several occupations considered hazardous on farms and govern operating of motor vehicles but they won't affect youths working on their own family farms.

Two Effective Dates

The rules on agricultural jobs go into effect next January 1. The motor vehicles rules go into effect immediately.

The Labor department, in announcing the changes, also eased regulations to permit 14 and 15-year-olds to work as late 9 o'clock during summer months. The old curfew was 7 o'clock.

The youngsters will be allowed to take part in antipoverty work-training programs during school hours under certain conditions, the announcement said.

"According to National Safety council figures, the death rate for agricultural workers is exceeded only by those for miners and construction workers," the department said.

The new order was issued under 1966 amendments bringing certain agricultural operations under the fair labor standards act.

Covers 800,000 Workers

The department said there are some 800,000 paid farm workers under the age of 16 — about one-fourth of the nation's farm work force.

"A recent Department of Labor study covering only seven states and incomplete even in those seven, showed nearly 4,000 injuries in two years to farm workers 10 to 17 years old," it said.

The order prohibits youths under 16 from handling certain pesticides, dynamite or other explosives, operating a tractor of over 20 horsepower, operating several other types of mechanized farm equipment, power saws or working from a ladder or scaffold over 20 feet high.

Youths under 16 also are barred from working inside gas-tight silos, grain or fruit storage enclosures where there is danger of asphyxiation under certain circumstances.

"Working in a yard, pen or stall occupied by a dairy bull, boar or stud horse," also is out.

Youths under 16 can still milk the cows, process dairy products, raise chickens and operate garden-type tractors.

Other jobs listed as hazardous and prohibited for youths under 16 include "serving as a flagman for an aircraft" during crop dusting operations, driving a truck, car or bus on a public highway, although they can drive vehicles on the farm itself.

Seeding Of Wheat Nearly Completed

Although dry weather has restricted growth and development in western sections of the state, fall-seeded wheat generally is in good condition in Kansas.

The Kansas Crop & Livestock Reporting Service announced that seeding of wheat for 1968 is virtually complete.

Harvesting of sorghum grain and corn is running later than usual.

SAFE CARS MUST SAY THEY ARE

Beginning Jan. 1, all new American automobiles will have to have visible labels or tags saying they conform with national safety standards.

Report Clears Resnick's Charges

No Egg On Farm Bureau's Face

Kansas Insurance Commissioner Frank Sullivan isn't doing any favors for the Kansas Farm Bureau Insurance companies, and they're not doing any for him or his office.

That's the way a state Attorney General's report cleared

Sullivan last week of charges made by a New York congressman who named the Kansas Farm Bureau specifically in charges he has levelled at the American Farm Bureau over several months.

Congressman Joseph Resnick of New York said that Sullivan had favored Kansas Farm Bureau companies in exchange for "improper gifts."

Basically, the report from Attorney General Robert Londerholm last week said that Kansas Farm Bureau didn't ply Sullivan with athletic season tickets to Kansas State games, didn't spend several thousand dollars for country club memberships, and didn't overlap expenses of the insurance companies into the Kansas Farm Bureau so that the organization could use the money for political purposes.

Resnick had suggested Sullivan had allowed the Farm Bureau excessive expense allowances in establishing rates, but the report noted that the commissioner did not have that power.

In fact, the Farm Bureau companies came out with a usable blurb in the report. It noted that Farm Bureau's expenses amounted to $29.69 for every $100 received in premiums compared with a $40.50 average for all companies in Kansas, and noted that Farm Bureau Mutual rates were comparable or lower than those of other leading mutual insurers, including State Farm and Alliance Mutual.

Foot And Mouth In England!

Foot-and-mouth disease struck in 14 new locations in England last week, bringing the total number of outbreaks to 75.

The Ministry of Agriculture said more than 7000 animals had been slaughtered in four counties — Shropshire, Ches-ire, Lancashire and Staffordshire.

Ernest Corrigan, regional veterinary officer, said the situation was "explosive."

He appealed to farmers to put as much animal stock as possible under cover and to show the utmost vigilance.

Up From Milford Depths

ICC Slaps Down Santa Fe Action

WASHINGTON — The Interstate Commerce Commission called discontinuance of four trains by the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railway "a breach of its own notice" and said it was leaving the line without legal authority to take the trains off.

On October 10 the Santa Fe had filed notice of intent to discontinue mail-passenger trains No. 3 and 4 between Kansas City, Mo., and Gallup, N.M., and No. 7 and No. 8 between Chicago and Los Angeles and Bakersfield, Calif. Under ICC regulations, a railroad must give 30 days notice of intent to discontinue trains. But the commission noted that the Santa Fe discontinued the trains on Oct. 19 and 20 which was prior to the notice time required.

Army Spots UFO In Area

Four unidentified flying objects were sighted yesterday morning near Wakefield by members of a Ft. Riley Army unit.

The unit reported the sighting in the sky of four bright objects near the intersection of S 77 and K-82. The objects had been seen earlier by four police at Clay Center, and Clay Center police had notified police in Junction City to contact the Riley for identification of the objects by military authorities.

Officials at Ft. Riley told Junction City police they believed the object was a satellite, but dispatched the Army unit to check.

The unit reported spotting the objects in the sky, and said at one time they appeared to be quite low. The lights hovered, according to the unit, then moved to the east and back to the west before disappearing.

The unit reported training a spotlight on the objects, but could not distinguish what they were.

MILEAGE

MONEY MAKER—The best all-wheel tire you can buy! Wide center rib design gives top stability and peak mileage. 3-rib tread with extra-deep sides assures you of load-lugging traction for the life of the tire. The strong nylon cord body can be recapped again and again. And its sonic engineering reduces rhythm noise, helps keep drivers awake.

POWR-GRIP HEAVY SERVICE—If the work you do takes your trucks through mud, sleet, and snow, then this is your tire! Its modern, traction-packed tread is over 37% deeper than highway tires for that extra mileage you need. Its deep buttress grooves give greater support. And the rugged nylon cord body yields a full measure of recaps for minimum per-mile cost.

TWO SALES EVERY WEEK

MONDAY

Hogs & Cattle

Hogs sell at 11:00 a.m. followed by our regular cattle sale as they are unloaded.

THURSDAY

Cattle Only

Selling starts at 11:00 a.m. Cattle will sell in the order they are consigned on the books.

We sold 3302 cattle and 477 hogs last week despite the stormy weather. Our markets looked lower on hogs with a $17.75 top. The cattle market was 25 to 50¢ lower on feeder cattle but the calves were steady to $1.00 higher at our special sale Friday. Due to the storm, which kept a lot of calves and yearlings from getting in, we are having another special sale Friday November 10th. We already have over 2,000 head consigned for this sale and expect to have 3,000 more. Some of the best calves in the state will be here Friday. Here are some sales made last week.
