ROYAL PURPLE

KANSAS STATE COLLEGE, MANHATTAN, KANSAS

F O R E W O R D

In this—Kansas State's fiftieth yearbook—an attempt has been made to present pictorially an accurate story of the many phases of college life. We have maintained a policy throughout the year of showing students as they really are, whether they are studying, dancing, playing football, or merely striding down the campus walks. We want the 1941 Royal Purple to picture Kansas State as it is, not as some would like to have it.

This was an eventful year. The Presidential election, selective service, Lend-Lease bill and the rumblings from Europe entered into our school life indirectly, but noticeably. We sincerely hope that the following pages reflect accurately these and other events, which together made this a memorable school year.

DEDICATION

This book is dedicated to the spirit of the Kansas State student body. Although this spirit is an abstraction, it is alive, possessing personality, devotion and patriotism in the same sense as a human.

This spirit, involving these necessary commendable features and virtues, has been the guiding force in dictating our conservatism at a time when half the world is engaged in war and security is potentially threatened.

Even though we have an ever-increasing feeling of uncertainty toward the future and cannot concentrate in a strictly scholastic manner, we have maintained an enjoyable balance of thought.

We have seen our fellow students called from the classrooms to serve their country. We have been given notice to report for army duty at the termination of the school year, or we have seen our friends desert civilian life for that of national service. We feel that we are approaching a critical period in our young lives.

As we are being prepared to meet life itself, we see a number of disturbing influences reaching out to welcome us into an uninviting, barbaric world.

In the midst of these disturbing forces, we recognize and offer tribute to the courageous spirit of America and Americans which is ours to share. May we preserve this spirit in the future when we are called upon to exercise its ultimate strength.

It's a lonely trek up the hill for a hurried bit of cramming before class starts, as the rising sun lights the way for this young miss.

After two hours in a stuffy classroom, a seemingly endless chain of students strides past old Anderson toward a campus gate.

With their last morning recitation over, visions of lunch and a few minutes relaxation beckon boys and girls off the campus with smiles and hurried steps.

The noon hour is all too short for most students, and it's back to laboratories or classrooms for the afternoon, via entrance steps near Nichols.

In mid-afternoon this scene of students descending the steps near the auditorium on their way off the campus toward home, is typical.

The long way around is the shortest way home, or at least this couple seems to think so as they head for home and dinner through the trees down Lover's Lane.

It may not be the most popular place on the campus, but it's the most populated on school nights, with hundred of heads bent over library reference books.

The witching hour, midnight, finds the classrooms quiet, the library closed, the walks deserted, with the power plant the lone campus guardian.

ADMINISTRATION

FRED M. HARRIS, of Ottawa, chairman of the State Board of Regents, is known to Kansas State students as a true and loyal friend of the college.

State and School Officials Compose Governing Personnel

The State Board of Regents is supreme government for the six Kansas state schools. To them is given the power to recommend faculty changes, advise new buildings, and dictate policy.

Acting on the advice of Pres. F. D. Farrell the board appointed new faculty personnel, and acted to recommend the proposed new student union building in the legislature.

Appointed by Governor

The Board is composed of nine prominent state citizens who are appointed by the governor for a term of four years. They hold monthly meetings at Topeka or at one of the colleges whose policies they control.

Officers of the Board this year were Fred M. Harris, chairman, and Hubert Brighton, secretary.

Any new changes to be made in policy or any new buildings that are necessary are reported to the Board by the President, and they in turn report their findings to the legislature if legislative action is necessary.

Governor Payne H. Ratner

President Governs School Activities

TO DIGNIFIED Francis David Farrell is entrusted the well-being of nearly 4,000 students, as well as the administration of all Kansas State College affairs.

Serving as President for fifteen years, he last year was elected president of the Association of Land-Grant Colleges and Universities, an honor which marked him as one of the outstanding educational leaders in the United States.

During his reign at Kansas State he has seen the college almost double its enrollment, and has seen his own duties multiply in proportion.

President Farrell received his Doctorate degree in agriculture at Nebraska University, so he readily understands the problems of agriculture, and the place of a state college in the development of the state.

Not only is Dr. Farrell personally responsible for the student body, but he also must preside over more than 500 faculty members, including teachers, field workers, and research technicians.

Understands College Relations

In addition, he serves as chairman of the Council of Deans, endeavoring to integrate the various divisions into a congenial whole. To him falls the task of interpreting the needs and desires of every department and division so as to give the students the best instruction available.

As K-State's ambassador to the State Board of Regents, the council that controls the policies of our five state schools, President Farrell recommends changes in matters of finance, staff, or policy whenever he deems it advisable.

Although members of the student body are not very well acquainted with the President, each one that comes in contact with him is impressed by his fairness, conservatism, quiet dignity, tact, and efficiency. He is extremely busy but desires students to feel free to talk with him on problems of school adjustment. Whenever some overly-enthusiastic boy or girl over-steps his bounds, he can be sure of fair and understanding consideration by the President.

A Competent Assistant

Friendly, efficient, and infallible are the adjectives most frequently applied to C. O. Price, President Farrell's right-hand man. To him come the requests, complaints, odd jobs, and trivia involved in governing the large number of students.

Whenever either a faculty member or student is faced with a seemingly unsurmountable problem, he takes it to "C. O." and knows he will get understanding cooperation. In addition to his secretarial job, Mr. Price is often sent on special assignments by the President.

C. O. PRICE, the President's efficient front-office man. He knows Kansas State well.

President Francis David Farrell

VICE-PRES. SAMUEL ALBERT NOCK, a familiar campus figure, takes time off from executive duties to joke with the students.

Being Vice-President of Kansas State College is no small task, Dr. S. A. Nock will tell you. His duties include being general good-will man for the College, and its business representative. To him falls the task of creating an understanding between the college and the public.

In addition to his other duties of handling enrollment adjustments and personnel work, Dr. Nock has found time to teach courses on the history of the English language and to become an authority on literature.

Dr. Nock, who came to Kansas State in 1936, received his doctor's degree at the University of Tartu, in Esthonia. This, plus his wide reading and friendly humor, makes him a popular lecturer and favorite of the students.

His office handles the credentials of all students who plan to enroll each fall. He laughingly claims he doesn't mind working all summer, except that it keeps him from baseball, a favorite sport.

Kansas State students are little familiar with the voluminous work done in the Division of College Extension save that county agents and extension workers are often on the campus.

Under the able guidance of Dean H. Umberger, this division sponsored the seventy-fifth annual Farm and Home Week during February, and also the 4-H Roundup in June. Both of these meets bring over 1,500 persons to the campus each year.

Working through home demonstration agents and county farm bureau agents, the Extension Division operates to improve home conditions and to promote efficient farming methods throughout Kansas. They supplement the work by printing bulletins of information.

Radio station KSAC is operated chiefly for the distribution of information found in the research departments of the College and the extension workers.

DEAN H. UMBERGER, director of the Division of College Extension, administers the off-campus activities of Kansas State College.

Graduate and Undergrads

James E. Ackert has headed the Division of Graduate Study since 1931, previously being associated with the zoology department as an assistant professor. From his Fairchild office he rules the activities of over 200 graduate students, some sixty of whom will be awarded advance degrees this spring.

Dean Ackert's students, a minority during the winter session, dominate the summer school. Thinking in terms of oral examinations, masters' or doctors' theses, they spend hours in research. Physical, biological, and social sciences are the major fields of endeavor.

Although graduate students are seldom seen or heard, their efforts have resulted in several outstanding contributions. The division has become generally known for its reputable students.

Summer school in Manhattan connotes a lot of hard work in hot weather, but Dean E. L. Holton insures his charges a pleasant as well as a profitable time.

DEAN J. E. ACKERT of the Division of Graduate Study, has gained national recognition as a parasitologist.

DEAN E. L. HOLTON has headed Kansas State's summer school since its first session in 1911. He is also professor of education.

For their entertainment and education he sponsors a miniature Collegian, outstanding musical programs, and a dramatic production for which any student or townspeople can try out.

Most of the session's near 800 enrollees are school teachers from over the state or college students making up deficiencies. To Dean Holton falls the task of seeing that they receive the best instruction. For this purpose 190 instructors teach almost 450 courses during June and July in addition to supervising post-graduate work.

Dean Holton himself has headed the department of education since 1910, and has been Dean of Summer School since its first session thirty years ago. He is recognized as a leader in Kansas educational circles.

Executors

DR. A. A. HOLTZ is the man to see "when a feller needs a friend." As men's advisor he runs an odd-job employment bureau, teaches sociology, and also heads the Y.M.C.A. In addition, he's a friendly counselor.

Dr. A. A. Holtz, Secretary of the Young Men's Christian Association on the campus since 1919, finds time to teach sociology, helps students to better understand themselves, and supervises the Christian Forum committees. His official college position as men's advisor corresponds to dean of men capacities at other schools.

Julius Terrass Willard graduated from Kansas State in 1883. Since that time he has served as professor of chemistry, Dean of the Division of General Science, and Vice-President from 1918 until 1935. After three years of writing, Dr. Willard has published a history of the college. The book is now available to alumni of the school.

When Mary P. Van Zile resigned as Dean of Women last year, she concluded more than thirty years of service to the college. She was a professor in the Division of Home Economics and later headed the division. Since 1908 she was the guiding light to thousands of girls who came to her for aid and counsel. Mrs. Van Zile as Dean Emeritus retains an active interest in "her" students.

DR. J. T. WILLARD has served Kansas State in many capacities in the sixty-two years he has been connected with the college. At present he is College Historian.

MRS. MARY P. VAN ZILE, recently resigned Dean of Women, is one of the most beloved figures on the campus. As Dean Emeritus she is highly interested in college affairs.

Student Affairs

It takes a great amount of time and patience to keep a school as large as Kansas State running smoothly, as these campus notables can testify.

Over a thousand coeds look to Miss Helen Moore, Dean of Women, for advice on personal problems and for friendly cooperation in student affairs.

Every student's individual coughs and sneezes are the personal worry of Dr. M. W. Husband, whose official title is director of student health. When he isn't busy feeling pulses in the college hospital or the dispensary, he teaches a class in preventative medicine, a popular course.

Veritable matriarch of registration is Miss Jesse M. Machir, who also keeps the records of students' grades.

To Kenney L. Ford falls the task of keeping Kansas State constantly before the eyes of the alumni, hence his many speaking engagements.

DEAN HELEN MOORE, new to Kansas State last fall, has already made a distinguished name for herself on the campus. Coeds respect her for her determined noble efforts.

KENNEY L. FORD (lower left), supervises student loan funds and also is in charge of alumni-college affairs. Miss Jesse Machir (center) rules each enrollment from her position as registrar. Dr. M. W. Husband (right) is in charge of student health.

Council Rules Undergrad Activities

TO GOVERN nearly 4,000 students is the responsibility of the Student Governing Association, composed of nine outstanding students elected by popular vote. Headed this year by Bill Hickman, the group is composed of two members from each division except Veterinary Medicine, which chooses one representative.

The other General Science student on the council, beside Hickman, was Mary Ann Bair. Engineers were Bill Bixler and Fred Eyestone. Roger West represented the Division of Veterinary Medicine, while Gene Fair and Charles Adams were chosen by the Agriculture students. Home Economics representatives were Jessie Collins and Dorothy Axeell.

Enforce Constitution Laws

It is the duty of the Council to see that no student violates the laws of the Student Governing Association constitution. On rare occasions the Council acts as a court to pass sentence on the behavior of individual students.

In the class elections this fall two students tried to vote twice, only to have the firm arm of the student law reach out and bring them before the governing body.

Bill Hickman, as president, appointed the Kansas State Apportionment Board, and served with this committee to plan the amount delegated to each of many college activities, including the S.G.A.

Selects Committee Members

He also selects members of the Celebrity Series Committee, who arrange for outside talent to be brought to the campus, expense financed by the student activity fee.

This year proved a hectic one for S.G.A. Council members because of the campus controversy on the out-of-town dance rule. This law prohibited students from attending unapproved dances out of Manhattan unless written permission from their parents was filed in the office of the Dean of Women.

The reason for the enforcement was twofold. Out of town dances are not chaperoned, and students attending them cannot keep College hours. For these reasons, the Council decided to check dances of this kind. Offenders were to be brought before the governing group, and were eligible for suspension or expulsion.

Students Resent Law

Immediately, K-Staters were up in arms and demanded that the law be repealed. The council was divided and the faculty was opposed to repeal. Finally the issue was put before the student body for vote.

Although the majority voted to do away with the rule, college officials claimed that the necessary fifty per cent of the students enrolled had not balloted. So Kansas Staters prepared to spend an uneventful winter. However, a special investigation disclosed that due to decreased enrollment, a bare half had voted, and the law was repealed.

To oil the troubled waters they added an amendment that students who attended unapproved dances would be responsible to the Council for their conduct.

Even in quiet years the S.G.A. representatives have a hand in balloting, for they select members of the election board.

The Student Council next year will play an important part in the many requisites involved in building and financing the new Student Union Building. The structure is to be financed and managed by students, the building expenses to be defrayed by student activity fees.

BILL HICKMAN, conscientious president of the Student Governing Association, is a senior in industrial journalism. His duties were numerous and complicated.

A joint student-faculty corporation will be set up to handle the issuance of bonds. The bond revenue will be used for initial expenses.

Five Numbers Scheduled

This year the college played host to the Eva Jessye choir, nationally known Negro chorus . . . Fray and Braggiotti, noted piano duo, played a return engagement on the campus . . . Kurt and Graee Graff brought their ballet to the college auditorium . . . and Tony Sarg and his marionettes performed in the spring . . . John Mullholland, magician, was scheduled for an April program.

Each fall, after the activity fees are collected from enrolling students, the S.G.A. president appoints the Apportionment Board, composed of two members from both the faculty and the student body as well as himself.

Fee Total Distributed

They then apportion the proceeds to various campus activities including the Celebrity Series, Manhattan Theatre, judging teams, debate squads, athletics, and student publications. Don Moss replaced Bill Keogh second semester, as a member of the Apportionment Board.

S.G.A. DANCE MANAGER ARLIN WARD and his assistant, Dick Gorman, stand by at each varsity to drop the money in their little box and stamp the dancers paid.

To give Kansas State students an opportunity to hear and see famous entertainers and lecturers, the Student Governing Association sponsors a Celebrity Series.

Each fall the president of the S.G.A. appoints two student members to serve with two faculty representatives and himself on a committee in charge on the series. They make arrangements for the performances and arouse student interest in the visiting notables.

Student Council decisions must be approved by the Faculty Council on Student Affairs. A copy of each decision is sent to the faculty group, and if it is not returned within a certain time, an appeal is made. If the two councils cannot agree on a matter, it is discussed and settled at a joint meeting. This fall the group arbitrated the out-of-town dance question, and similar controversial subjects.

Jack Gardner, popular cage coach, was appointed to the committee last year, his first year at Kansas State.

S. G. A. Sponsors Varied Varsities

One of S.G.A.'s projects is the promotion of varsities—dances at low cost to allow all students to participate. Although Matt Betton is the usual music, the dance manager, Arlin Ward, this year planned a "guest artist" series, bringing new musical talent to the campus.

Biggest name of the year was Herbie Kay who brought his band here in the fall for a well-attended varsity in the gymnasium. Other guests included Kansas bands and soloists.

Dance Books Sold

Another innovation this spring was the S.G.A. varsity dance book. Second semester dance tickets were put in one book to be sold at a reduced price. Four dances were offered for $2.25, the last one being the "Draftee Varsity," April 4.

Because of the controversy over the dance-rule decision disallowing students to attend out-of-town dances not sanctioned by the College, more emphasis than ever was put on S.G.A. sponsored varsities.

Offer Varied Music

Manager Ward, cooperating with the Council, promoted more and varied dances for the K-State swing-minded students, so that the necessity of their leaving town for excellent dance entertainment was disproved.

Matt Betton and his orchestra, favorites at K-State, threw a scare into the Wildcat social camp when they were offered a contract to play in New York. However, Betton refused, much to the satisfaction of students who desire to keep him here at school.

History Chronicles

EVERYBODY LOVES a parade and students proved that the Homecoming celebration was no exception.

BRIMFUL of bright-sweatered coeds, of college boys in rattle-trap model T's, of tense, quiet hours during exam weeks, of noisy enthusiasm at football and basketball games—1941 was a typical college year. And yet there was an ominous difference, for over all the gaiety and studiousness of college hung the shadow of world conflict and an uncertain future.

For the first time in history the national government authorized a peacetime draft for military training, and more than a thousand Kansas State boys registered. Dean Seaton, head of the Division of Engineering and Architecture, was made national director of the nine million dollar engineering training defense program in Washington, D. C. The division opened several defense courses, including a class in explosives.

New Dean of Women

A new dean of women—Miss Helen Moore—came to K.S.C. at the beginning of the year to guide coeds. Dr. J. T. Willard's "History of Kansas State College" came crisp and shining off the press.

November brought the national election at which many students voted for the first time—the intensely interesting election in which "F.D.R." shattered all precedent and was granted a third term.

Pride was felt by the student body when the College newspaper rated All-American honors for the second time and the Royal Purple won All-American for the fifth consecutive year. The Kansas State Engineer was rated the best illustrated college magazine in the nation.

Year's Outstanding Events

Name Band Here

The Greeks won a close class election — remember? And Herbie Kay's sweet music played at the name varsity of the year . . . Then Kansas State won, placed or showed in every event entered at the American Royal. The Home Ec meats judging team won first for the sixth consecutive time . . . Fred Waring was to write a Wildeat song, but the ASCAP-BMI controversy foiled plans . . .

Loss to the campus was the death of E. V. James, for twenty-eight years a professor of history at the College. Likable Lieut.-Col. J. K. Campbell became head of the Department of Military Science succeeding Col. Karl McKinney.

Campaigns for new buildings waxed more heated than ever before and bills for a Student Union and dormitories were passed by the legislature. Desire for a Military Science Building was satisfied when the federal government appropriated $92,595 and the state provided an additional $30,000 grant.

"ISN'T SCIENCE WONDERFUL?" mutter these amazed visitors at Engineers' Open House.

THE OLD NORTH BARRACKS go up in smoke as spectators enjoy the show, and students turn volunteer firemen.

National defense was the timely theme for Engineers' Open House and former K-Stater Bob Strong's St. Pat's Prom music was carried over four radio stations. A fire, burning down a barracks used as a small animal laboratory with the loss of 1,400 guinea pigs, and the destruction of another barracks housing agriculture engineering implements, provided an unwelcome climax to Open House. The State Legislature promptly provided $69,000 for replacement of the buildings.

A National Broadcast

NBC broadcasted from the campus the National Farm and Home Hour over fifty-five stations. Home Ec Hospitality Days rolled around in April and soon the year neared its end—with the record—remember?—of surpassing K.U.'s enrollment for the first time in history.

Independents won the spring election, taking eight of twelve elective offices in the Student Council and Board of Publications. Larry Spear was chosen Council president.

Football Leads Off Sports Activity With New Coach at Helm

AN IMPORTANT role in college life is played every year by the football team.

As a member of the Midwest's best—the Big Six conference—the Kansas State Wildcat gladiators of the gridiron vie for honors with the country's top pigskin aggregations.

Adams Makes Debut

During last fall's campaign, the proteges of newcomer John Harold (Hobbs) Adams met with only average success, but were hampered by key men's injuries and inexperience.

Each season the "color" of the college football season seems to grow more colorful. Interest is born with the first afternoon's practice. Enthusiasm increases as the opening game nears.

Kickoff Starts Season

And the first of a series of Saturday afternoon games climaxes anticipation as the kickoff resounds throughout Manhattan. Memorial Stadium awakens, martial music fills the crisp, fall air and the season is begun.

MICHAEL FRANCIS (MIKE) AHEARN, has guided the destinies of Kansas State athletics for thirty-seven years. As director of athletics, he has a national reputation.

This football season was anticipated with interest by students, faculty and town fans.

JOSEPH W. NEWMAN, director of sports publicity, sits at his typewriter . . . a familiar pose. His sports services chronicle doings of K-State's athletics.

"HOW MANY, PLEASE?" questions Frank L. Myers, assistant to the director of athletics. Myers handles the money in the department and helps coach the Wildcat baseball nine.

HOBBS ADAMS, of Southern California, took over the Kansas State head coach's chair for his first season last fall.

Staff Changes Made

A NEW coach and a new assistant were the principal players in the football season's pageant. Hobbs Adams, former Southern California star, succeeded Wes. L. Fry. He promoted O. L. (Chili) Cochrane, a former Wildcat grid great, to No. 1 aide and summoned Bill Schutte from the San Diego, Calif., high school to tutor the K-State linemen.

Unofficial, but none-the-less enthusiastic assistants to the new coaching staff were the cheerleaders. For the second year the policy of "coed inspiration" was adhered to and sisters Susan and Marianna Johnson were selected to "make 'em yell."

Fans Support Team

More than once during the season, K-State's vocal efforts in urgent support figuratively rocked old Memorial Stadium. Director Lyle Downey's band furnished musical accompaniment for each Saturday afternoon's spectacle.

BACKFIELD COACH Owen L. (Chili) Cochrane, a former K-State star, tutors the ball-carriers.

"WATCH FOR A PASS," says Coach Adams to Halfback Ray Rokey before he enters the lineup. Rokey is expected to star next season.

MEMORIAL Stadium saw four home games during the season, each with its own thrills. The Wampus Cats and the Purple Pepsters, Wildcat pep organizations for men and women, kept the echoes resounding. Organized cheering, which served as a nucleus for the entire "home" side's enthusiasm, came into its own.

Pre-game rallies, dances, free shows, and pep speeches—better than ever by the Rev. W. U. Guerrant, set the stage for the Wildcats' appearance on the emerald green and carpet-like turf of Ahearn field. The won and lost column wasn't too impressive, but the season was followed interestingly.

Wildcats Play Four

MISFORTUNE shadowed the K-State eleven from the initial encounter. It was no morale-booster when tiny Emporia State threw a real scare into K-State in the first afternoon of play. Losing Gene Fair, the team's spark-plug, in the second clash of the season didn't help matters any.

There was some consolation in a decisive victory over Kansas University's hapless Jayhawks but the Wildcats weren't able to do anything about Alumnus Jim Yeager's "magic" and the Iowa State Cyclones proved better mudders.

Nebraska to Pasadena

And it was reported that Nebraska players learned that a triumph over the K-Staters would mean a trip to the Rose Bowl . . . which it did, indirectly.

Injuries and lack of powerful reserves told the story of the won and lost column.

Home Engagements

The new fundamental system took time, even for the old hands who worked under the new mentor in spring training. Replacements had to be found for such stalwarts as All-Big Six End Don Crumbaker and bulky Jim Brock, an extra point kicker of note. An even dozen "K" men from 1939's squad were gone.

Experienced First String

Big Bernie Weiner, a star as a junior, was the center of attention as the K-State line's mainstay. The ends were well-manned by Wally Swanson and Don Munzer. Ed Huff and Bill Nichols boasted limited guard experience and Ken Hamlin was the No. 1 center.

Kent Duwe, Chris Langvardt, Lyle Wilkins and Art Kirk won their monograms the previous season in the backfield, giving Coach Adams an encouraging start, but throwing the burden for reserve material on untried sophomores.

Emporia State Is Initial Victim

THE Wildcats presented their new coach with a victory in the first game of the season, but waited until the last three minutes to do it. The final score gave K-State a 21-16 margin over Emporia State coached by F. C. (Fran) Welch.

Cocked and primed after pointing to the contest since their opening practice, the Hornets buzzed into Manhattan prepared to sting. And sting they did.

Emporia Scares Fans

No loyal K-State rooter in the crowd of 7,000 persons worried much when Halfback Keith Caywood dropped back and calmly booted an early period field goal. In fact, not many gave it a second thought when the visiting Emporians began dominating play. For Sophomore Quarterback Bill Quick put K-State back in the game with a touchdown pitch into the waiting arms of Sophomore End Jim Watkins.

But the shadows began to lengthen and the Hornets had gained a 16 to 14 advantage by virtue of touchdown thrusts by Marvin Hamman and Caywood. A little 150-pound guard, Melvin "Shorty" Long had spent most of his defensive afternoon in the Wildcat backfield.

Fumble Recovery Wins

A goal line mixup with a resultant bobble gave K-State's desperate gridders a last-minute opportunity. Big Bernie Weiner fell on the elusive ball on the 3-yard line and Halfback Art Kirk crashed the line for the deciding score.

It was with a sigh of relief that the ardent Wildcat supports heard the crack of the final gun. Words of praise were lavish for the "watch charm guard," Long, who was the game's stand-out. But the K-State sophomores were uncovered and the season was under way.

PLEADING FOR A GOAL line defense, the Kansas State cheering section eyes the game with tense anxiety. The last-ditch stand materialized against the Emporians and the crowd relaxed momentarily . . . later.

SOPHOMORE SENSATION Bill Quick cracks the Emporia State line for six valuable points. The Hornet line failed to halt Quick's advance short of the double-stripe.

Lose Fair and Game at Colorado

LEFT-FOOTED Bill Quick, who gave the radio announcers trouble when he "quick-kicked," showed signs of developing into a star.

Encouraged, the K-Staters rolled into the Rocky Mountains to tangle with the Colorado Buffaloes, champions of their conference only to lose 6 to 7.

Shades of the past shattered hopes for an ultimately successful season, when Quarterback Gene Fair suffered a broken leg. Big Elmer Hackney, Wildcat star of the previous season, had been injured against the Coloradoans the year before.

Rain Disrupts Play

The high altitude and a lack of air forced the Wildcats to play under slightly adverse conditions, added to a pouring rain which began early in the afternoon and continued throughout the game.

Leo Stasica, a Buffalo halfback with the speed of a mountain goat, snared a pass and scampered across the K-State double-stripe, then kicked the extra point.

Before bowing out for the remainder of his college career, Fair literally slipped through a hole in the right side of the line and dashed 57-yards for six points. But the soggy ball and driving rain made Weiner's placement attempt unsuccessful.

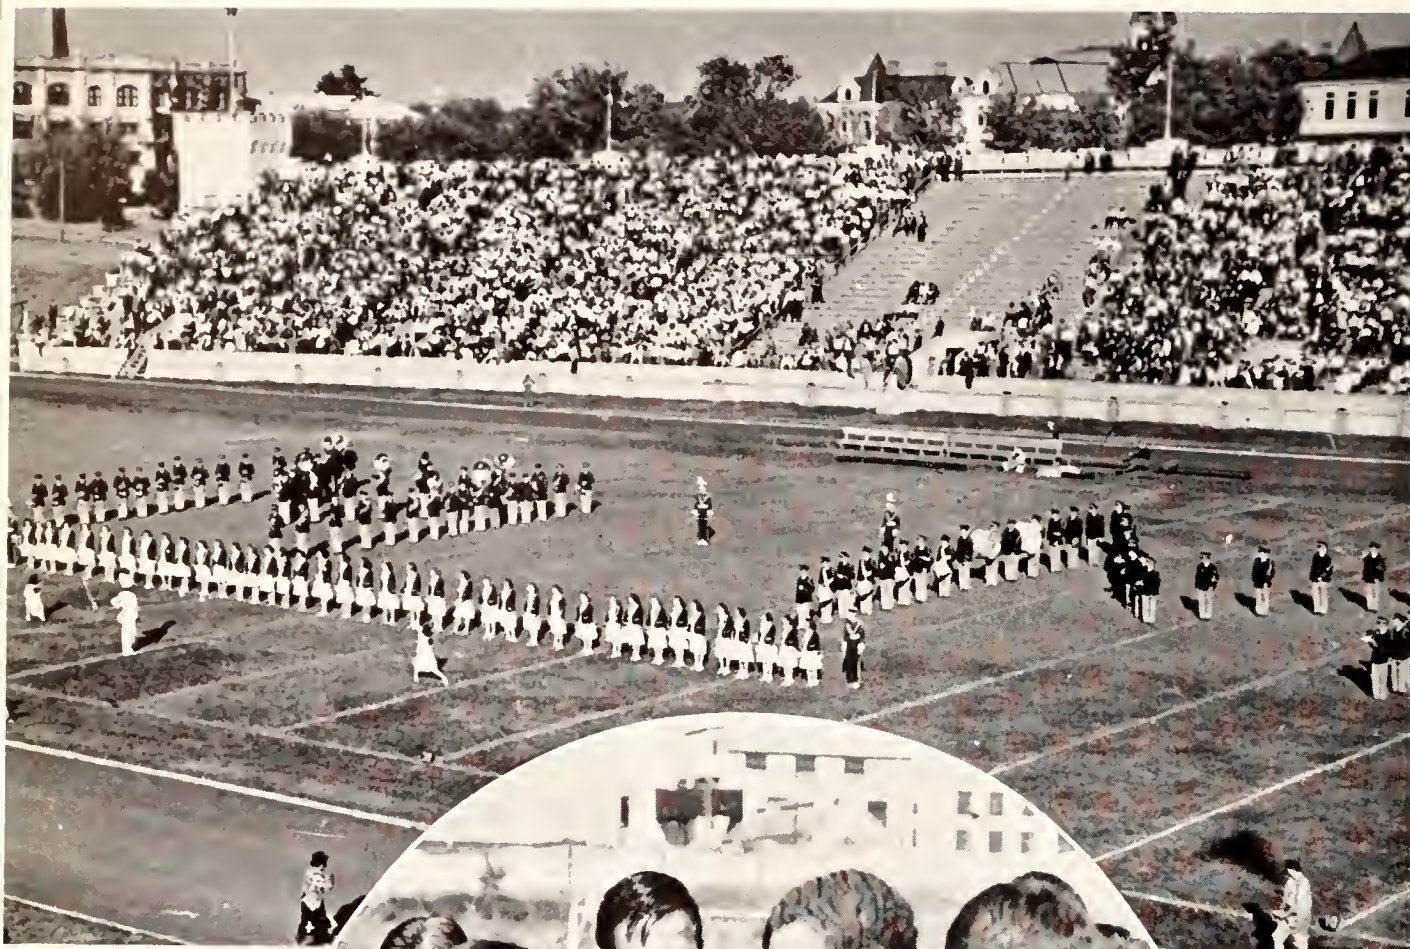

Fair's Loss Hurts

Midway in the third quarter Fair was hit by a pair of tacklers and his leg snapped.

Statistics favored Kansas State but frequent fumbles gave the ball to each team. The loss of Fair slowed the K-State ball-carrying attack considerably, although Langvardt and Duwe made substantial gains.

Kansas State threatened Colorado's goal line in the final quarter, but the powerful Buffs maintained a stout defense and held possession of the ball at the gun.

GIGANTIC LETTERS on the turf were formed by the marching band and the Purple Pepsters at the Missouri game.

NO TIME FOR POW WOW on K-State's part here as Oklahoma's star Indian back, Jack Jacobs, totes the pigskin into a Wildcat swarm of potential tacklers. Langvardt (No. 47) made the tackle, with aid by Barnhart (No. 39).

Bow to Tigers and Oklahoma

MISSOURI'S Paul Christman returned to where he began as a sophomore and passed the Tigers to a 24 to 13 victory over the Adams aggregation. Halfback Langvardt sped around end eighty yards to a touchdown and Bill Quick passed to Wally Swanson for K-State's other tally.

But Christman teamed with Bob Steuber, Harry "Slippery" Ice and Bill Cunningham to chalk up four scores. Ice and Cunningham did the ball-totin' while Steuber caught "Pitchin' Paul's" aerials. It was Parents' Day in Memorial Stadium.

Jacobs Leads Sooners

Oklahoma's Sooners bruised their way to two touchdowns, battering across into scoring territory by brute force. Indian Jack Jacobs and Sprinter Orv Mathews, however, skirted the ends for sizeable gains as the moustrous Oklahomans overpowered the K-Staters 14 to 0 on the Norman gridiron.

Weiner shone in the line and Quick in the backfield despite defeat. Pile-driving John Martin, the O.U. fullback, blasted into the Wildcat forward wall several times, teaming with Mathews and Jacobs for the triumph.

THAT "ROCK CHALK" is powdered by sheer force as K-State's Duwe pulverizes the K.U. forward wall. That determined grimace on the Wildcat fullback's face carried him for a substantial gain.

Kansas Blanked at Homecoming Fray

CROWNING of Homecoming Queen Fay Elmore, was highlight of the annual intra-state clash. But fans saw the Wildcats count three times, and threaten to score on several other occasions before finally choking the Jayhawks, 20 to 0. Quick hurled a 20-yard pass to Watkins.

Don Munzer intercepted a K.U. pass and lumbered across the Jayhawk goal for a second score and Ray Rokey scored a third after catching a Duwe flip. Duwe's ground gaining efforts gave him the day's laurels.

Win Peace Trophy

Art Kirk, the day's game captain, accepted the peace pact trophy from the queen while goggled Don Pierce. K.U.'s star center looked on disheartedly.

A throng of the "old grads" picked the proper day to watch their alma mater's eleven reach the conquering heights. Victory celebrations were the order of the weekend.

OOPS! THAT'S ONE less Kansas tackler to be avoided as Tackle Norbert Raemer blocks out a Jayhawk defensive back.

KENTUCKY'S famous Hatfield-McCoy feud has little on the traditional Kansas University-Kansas State athletics rivalry. Loyal blood, though not very much of it, has been spilled in the ancient intra-state battles.

To prevent repetition of the previous year's goal-post fight, and to promote real harmony between the two Big Six schools, representatives of the two student councils got together and hit upon an idea.

Winner Awarded Trophy

A miniature goal-post trophy was purchased to be given the winner of the annual football game. Each school shared the cost of the trophy to be displayed by the winning school until a game is lost in the rivalry.

Hordes of red-and-blue-shirted Jayhawks descended hopefully on downtown Manhattan for a pre-game pep rally. Men's and women's pep organizations from K.U. were guests of the Wildeat groups.

Remember "Breather"

Neither team nor well-versed gridiron followers had forgotten the famous "breather" game of 1938, when Kansas State proposed to take the afternoon off and play the Jayhawks. When the dust and feathers cleared, Kansas had won the game decisively.

Memorial Stadium filled rapidly and the game began. K.U. flag wavers competed with a stiff wind although the Jayhawks were far behind, the "K-State funeral dirge was played" and a Wildeat dummy was carried from the field. Homecoming Queen Fay Elmore capped ceremonies with the trophy presentation to Wildeat Captain Art Kirk.

INTRA-STATE PEACE between Kansas U. and Kansas State is the object of this conference at which Homecoming Queen Fay Elmore is shown previous to presenting Game Capt. Art Kirk, K-State, the peace-pact trophy.

Michigan State Bowls Over Wildcats

THE week after the Homecoming triumph over K.U., the Wildcats packed their mole-skins and headed for the Northeast. At East Lansing, Mich., the Michigan State Spartans gave the K-Staters their season's worst drubbing, 32-0.

The decisive victory was a particularly pleasurable one for Spartan Mentor Charles Bachman, former head coach at K-State.

Aerial Tosses Wild

Intercepted passes spelled the K-State stalwarts' downfall. The hardy Spartan defenders exhibited a stout ground-gaining game that kept the man behind the scoreboard busy most of the afternoon.

Substitute Quarterback Turner fell victim to the sturdy defense. His trusty right arm, which was hurling Wildeat forward passes, found costly marks in the guise of Michigan State interceptors.

Defense Halts Score

It was an "off day" for the K-State eleven. A stellar defense staved off other Michigan State scoring threats but the Wildeat attack bogged. Fumbles were frequent by both teams. Halfback Langvardt was missing from the lineup, nursing a severely cut lip.

STOP! AND THAT'S just what the Michigan State ball lugger decided to do upon meeting such an impressive array of white-jerseyed Kansas State linemen . . . on the Wildeat goal line. Duwe (No. 36) Barnhart (No. 29), and Kirk (No. 50, left) help the Spartan make his halt decision.

South Carolina Pass Wins

PASS defense weakness allowed South Carolina's Gamecocks to cross Kansas State's goal line in the final quarter which edged out the Wildcats 20 to 13.

The Southern eleven's main scoring forte lay in a passing game and all three scores resulted from long aerials.

Chris Langvardt counted the game's initial tally but was later carried from the field with an injury. The Gamecocks bounced back and took to the air for a marker.

Quick Makes Gains

Quarterback Bill Quick reeled off long gains in a sustained drive that put the pigskin in position for him to pitch a "strike" into the arms of end Jim Watkins for K-State's other touchdown.

But the defense against air attack lapsed and South Carolina scored the deciding touchdown.

The extended jaunt across the nation into the Southland was this season's long trip. The season before, K-State met Boston College.

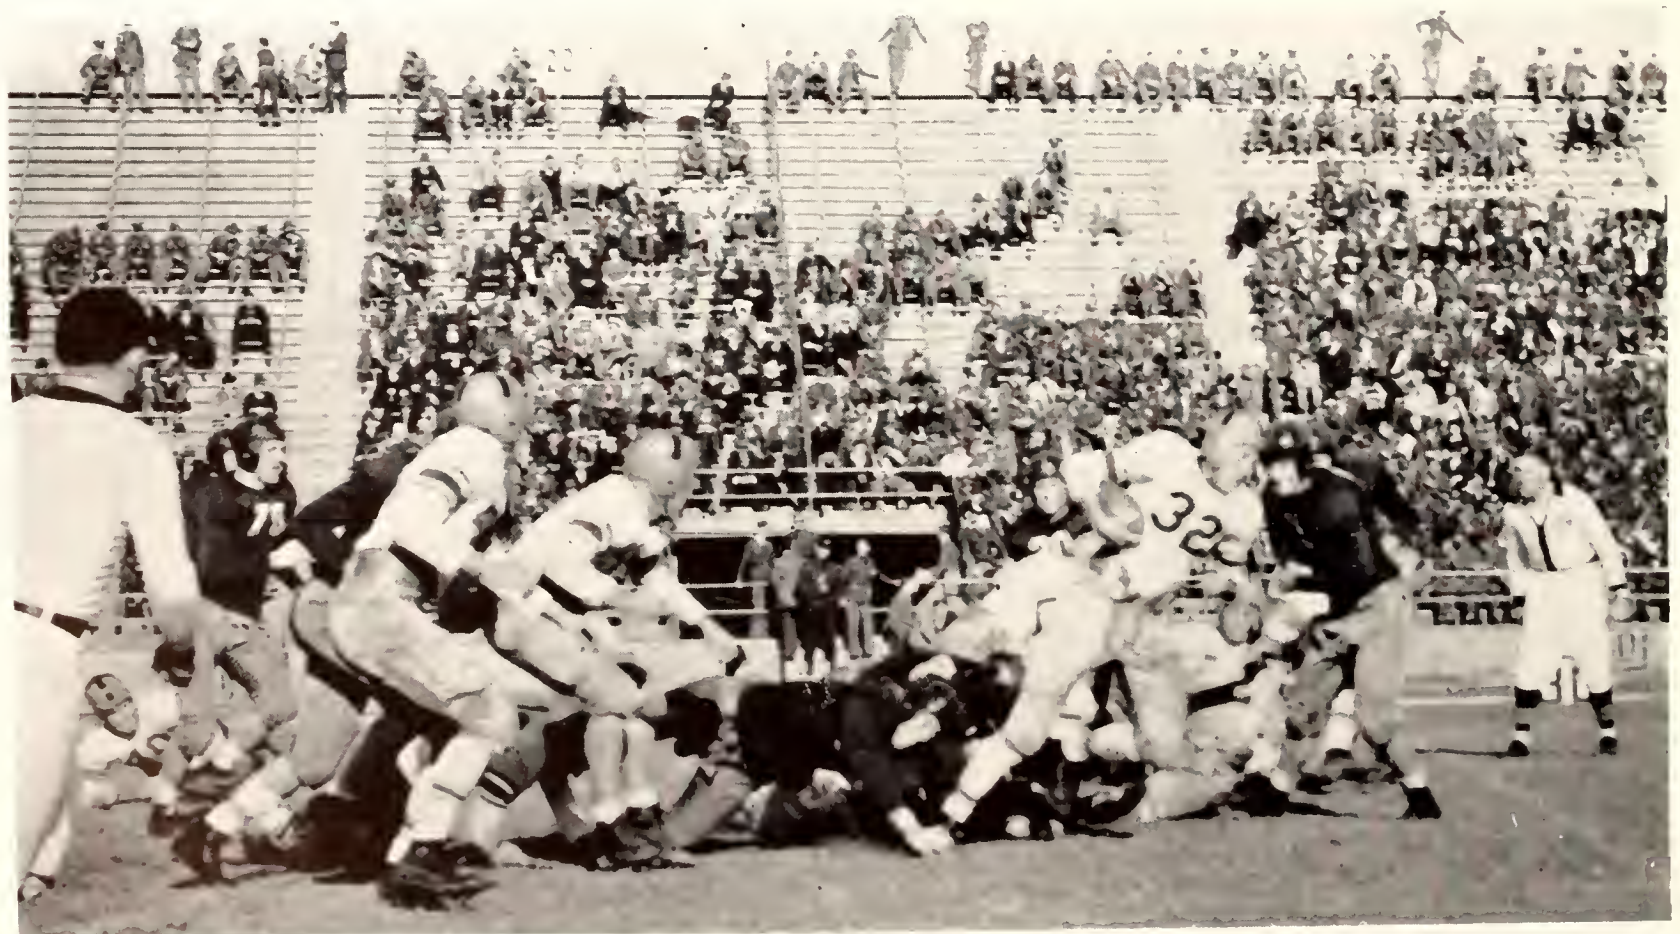

Southern hospitality was at its best and the game Gamecocks will return the honors in visiting Ahearn Field next fall.

Take to Airplanes

The Southerners exhibited the brand of aerial football that is rapidly becoming characteristic. The Carolinans played the role of gracious host in winning, displaying true Southern hospitality.

QUICK REELS OFF a 15-yard gain against the South Carolina Gamecocks in the Columbia, S. C., stadium. The K-State sophomore (No. 32) was lugging the leather in his off-tackle specialty and heading for that pay dirt farther down the line.

Yeager Jinx Holds

IN 1932 a member of the Kansas State graduating class was an athlete named Jim Yeager. He began coaching and scheduled games with his alma mater. Strangely enough, he never lost a game to the College where he learned the game. Last year was no exception.

Coach Yeager brought his Iowa State Cyclones to Manhattan on a muddy Saturday afternoon and they skidded back to Ames with a 12-0 victory. Little Quarterback Larry Owens dashed and sloshed 40 yards for a touchdown and Merle Osborne cracked the line for the second score.

Illegal Passes Hurt

The Wildcats threatened to count all afternoon. Bill Quick tossed two passes to Don Munzer, but both were ruled out because Munzer was outside the end zone.

BAND DAY OCCASIONED a festive day for many a high school musician. Thirty-seven bands filled Memorial Stadium for the Iowa State game. Abilene's classy musicians (upper) and Minneapolis divided time between game halves to march in review.

Huskers Take Finale at Lincoln

THE Rose Bowl-bound Nebraska Cornhuskers played host to Kansas State in the season's finale. The end runs of Walter (Butch) Luther and the line-smashing of Herman Rohrig gave the Nebraskans a 20 to 0 decision and they were invited to the Pasadena Pageant.

Harold Benham, K-State sophomore who had graced the bench all season, heard opportunity knock when he was sent into the game and his punting was a Wildcat feature of the day. All-American Guard Warren Alfson, the mainstay of the Husker line, was outstanding. The K-State gridders drew words of praise for holding the score down.

Season's Curtain Falls

This game saw the curtain close on Coach Adams' initial Wildcat gridiron season, after which he lost no time in gathering facts and compiling data on available material for next year's campaign. A spring practice with several inter-squad games was beneficial.

BOARD THE LINCOLN-BOUND train, the entire squad of Kansas State freshman footballers (left) looked forward to the future when maybe they'd be varsity men.

DON'T CROWD, GENTLEMEN . . . Coaches Schutte (left), Cochran and Adams (center) are surrounded by Manhattan business men at the football banquet's lobby.

The Manhattan Chamber of Commerce feted Coach Hobbs Adams and his stalwarts at the annual football dinner at the Hotel Wareham. Chris Langvardt was elected honorary captain for the season and the speaker's spotlight was shared by Coach Adams and Frank Prentup. Prentup, a K-State alumnus, coached the Manhattan high school team.

Verbal bouquets were dealt to individual stars and the unsung heroes whose names seldom found the headlines.

The banquet hall was filled to overflowing for the season's climax.

Frosh Look Ahead

THE destinies of the gridiron Wildcats failed to reach great heights but loyal and far-sighted supporters of Saturday afternoon's pigskin panoramas could see into the future.

Eleven of the football veterans won't return for competition next fall, but new heroes will take their places. A star-studded squad of freshmen gave Freshman Coach Don Crumbaker one of the greatest yearling aggregations in the school's history.

Assisting Crumbaker in tutoring the freshman gridsters were Jim Brock and Ray Ellis, former K-State men.

The Adams system of fundamentals took hold in its initial year and the Wildcats gained confidence as the season progressed.

Lose Eleven Men

When the eleven seniors checked in their moleskins for the final season, it left important gaps to be filled. Captain Chris thrilled many a crowd with his ubiquitous dashes. Bernie Weiner won all-conference honors at tackle. Wally Swanson played a stellar game at end with Don Munzer. Little Bill "Stubby" Nichols, a guard, added the extra points. Ken Hamlin was a "workhorse" at center. Ken Makalous, tackle, Al Niemoller, and Charlie Fairman, both guards, were all dependable reserve linemen who broke into the starting lineup alternately.

Hopes for attaining gridiron glory in the rugged Big Six conference were dashed severely when Gene Fair suffered a broken leg. Fair was the backfield's triple-threat "sparkplug." Art Kirk was the kind of player depended on to be at the right place at the right time.

POTENTIAL TIMBER for next year's varsity, barring unforeseen developments, of course, this squad of freshman huskies donned the roles of each of K-State's opponents for daily practices. In this picture the yearlings relax before being called back onto the field to oppose the varsity.

Wildcat Cagers Win Third of Games—Fifth in Conference Race

THE 1940-41 basketballers of Coach Jack Gardner lacked experience but managed to equal the record of the season before with half a dozen triumphs against twelve losses. It was the second season for youthful Coach Gardner.

Three victories in the Big Six conference, more than any previous Wildcat team had gained in several years, gave the Gardnermen fifth place in the conference. Iowa State's Cyclones and the Kansas University Jayhawkers tied for the championship. Nebraska finished a close third with Oklahoma behind the Huskers. Missouri's hapless Tigers occupied the Big Six cage basement alone.

Old Nichols Gymnasium literally shook when students in every nook and cranny and on the rafters too, cheered the wildcats on to victory. Gov. Payne H. Ratner and members of the Kansas Legislature witnessed the thriller with K.U. but voted down an appropriation to give the College a new Field House.

SMILIN' AND HANDSOME Jack Gardner is the guiding light of Kansas State's hardwood warriors. Besides devoting his time coaching basketball, Gardner worked extensively for a new K-State Field House.

Look to Big Six Foes

FIVE "K" winners from the previous season answered the call with four outstanding sophomores graduated from the freshman squad. Jack Horacek, Chris Langvardt, Danny Howe, Norris Holstrom and Ken Graham were back for service. Yearlings Larry Beaumont, Tom Guy, Dean Lill and George Mendenhall rounded out the nucleus for a fairly well-balanced outfit.

Schedule Tough Games

Gardner had scheduled games for the Wildcats in the nation's ruggedest competition. The Big Six was considered as strong as the previous season when champion Kansas had won the Western National Collegiate Athletic Association divisional title, losing the national crown to Indiana.

A squad of freshmen said to be the greatest in history began work with the varsity . . . but several of them left at the end of the semester.

Win Three Straight

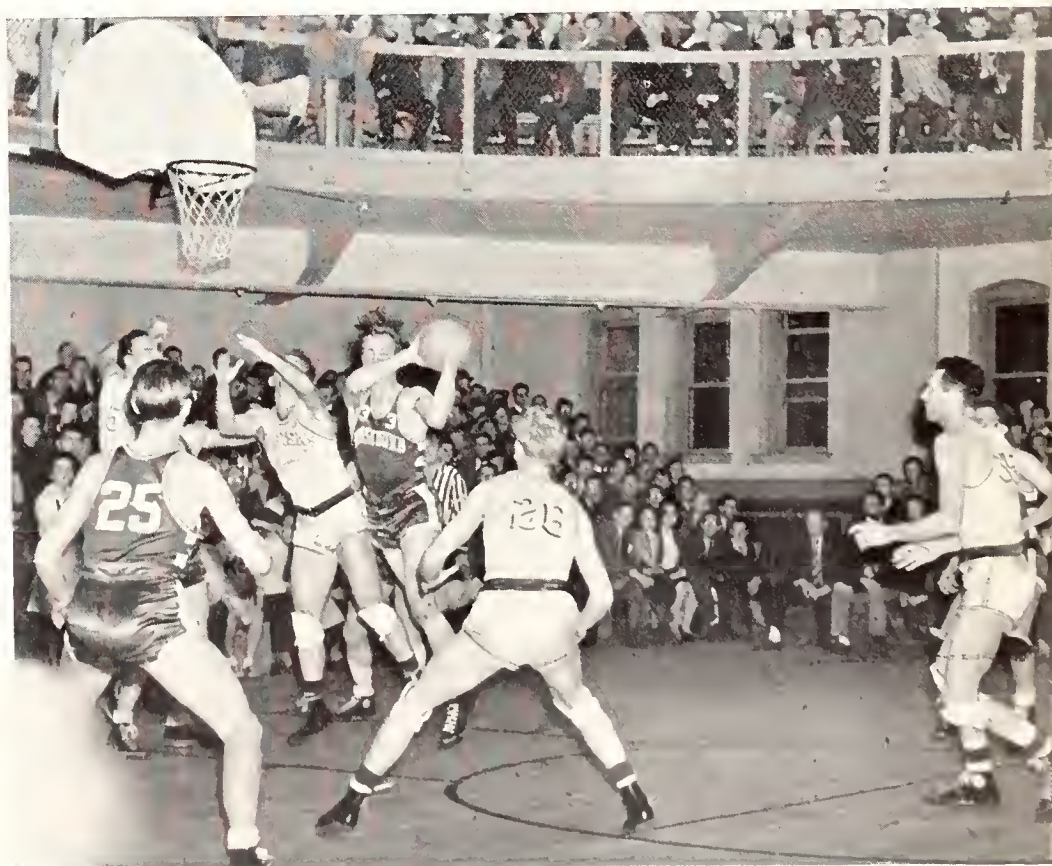

OFF ON the right foot, the Wildcats racked up three consecutive triumphs in the first three games of the young season.

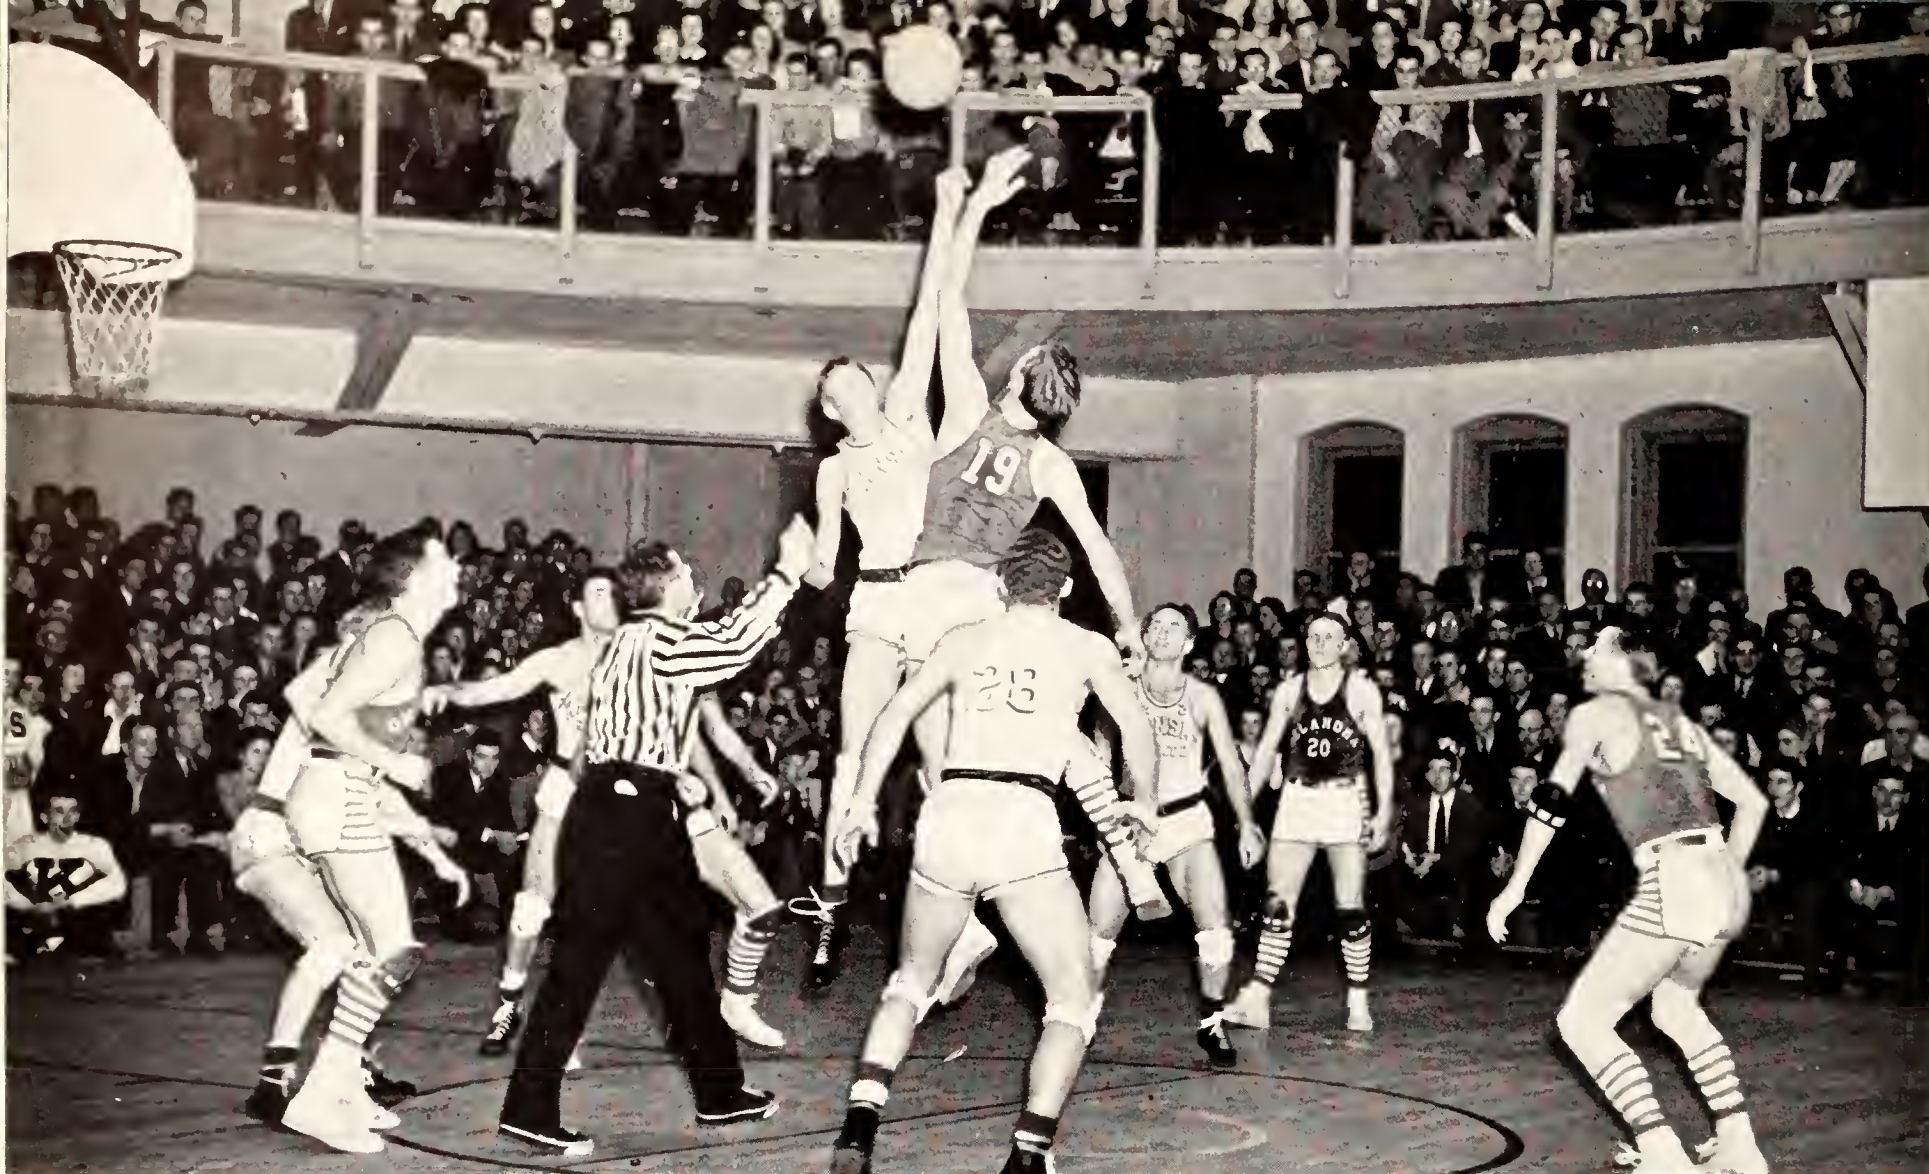

K-State bowed in by beating Washburn, 23 to 15 in a low-scoring affair in Nichols Gymnasium. Sophomore Tom Guy counted eight points. In the Washburn Field House, Jack Horacek found his scoring optic and the Gardner proteges emerged with the Ichabod scalp, 33-29. Horacek counted 11 points and stood off the Topekans almost singlehanded during the second half.

Doane Third Victim

Everybody was "hot" the night Doane college of Crete, Nebr., invaded the Wildcat lair. Guy led the attack with 14 points but the entire lineup took part in an impressive 54-27 triumph.

DEAN LILL AND Oklahoma's elongated Hugh Ford jump for the ball in the most hotly-contested game Kansas State enthusiasts have seen in years. Langvardt (No. 23) stands by for aid.

Drop Five on Eastern Holiday Trip

THE "Pride of Dixie," Kentucky University, gave K-State her first defeat of the season, 28 to 25, in a roughly-played encounter. Both Guy and Beaumont went to the bench on fouls as did a pair of Kentuckians.

The annual eastern trip proved a costly one insofar as the "won-lost" column was concerned. Five losses were incurred at the hands of the East's top quintets. Villanova downed the Gardnermen 51 to 34. Jack Horacek and Dan Howe poured in six points each.

Enjoy Trip East

George Washington University won decisively 48 to 25. Seton Hall college, whose five were rated nationally high, eked out a 34 to 29 triumph. Larry Beaumont scored nine points. Horacek again led the State scoring machine as Illinois took the Wildcats' measure 25 to 29.

A WILD-EYED CROWD jammed the floor to congratulate Wildcat players after the overtime triumph over the Sooners. Larry Beaumont here holds the center of attention.

Split with Nebraska

LITTLE Mr. 1941 hadn't had his three-cornered pants long before the Big Six season got under way. The Nebraska Cornhuskers won a 33 to 23 game over Kansas State when the Wildcats faded in the second half. Larry Beaumont swished nine points. Don Fitz and Sid Held were the big guns for Nebraska.

A hair-raising game that left spectators weak with excitement saw Gardner's club knot the score against Oklahoma's favored Sooners in the final five seconds of the game. Langvardt popped in the deadlocking basket after Holstrom intercepted a faulty pass. A tight defense and an inspired offense held the Oklahomans scoreless and the Wildcats marked up their first victory over the Sooners since the conference was organized.

Gov. Payne H. Ratner and some 150 solons heard the massed plea for an adequate place for basketball games.

At Norman, the Oklahoma Sooners gained revenge, 46 to 38 in a nip and tuck clash. The lowly Missouri Tigers never threatened as Kansas State walloped them 34 to 24.

Bow to Iowa State

The Iowa State Cyclones were torrid in the second half and beat the Staters 50 to 41 in a wild scoring fracas. Kansas State's five "cooled off" and the crowd got a bit warm, booing lustily.

Many Close Contests

ROY STORM, a Missouri guard, swished a long goal in the last 20 seconds of the return game at Columbia. The Bengals followed through and eked out a last-second 30 to 28 victory.

The bitter rivalry between Jayhawk and Wildcat hit a new high as K.U. stayed in the race for the title by beating Kansas State 50 to 45 in Lawrence. The count was tied and the game ended as Engleman flipped in a field goal. In the extra period the Jayhawks capitalized on scoring breaks and won by a narrow margin.

Wildcats Take Second Place In Big Six Race

RUNNER-UP nine in the Big Six conference behind the champion Oklahoma Sooners, the baseball proteges of mentors Frank Myers and Dougal Russell were firm believers in the ancient sport maxim "anything can happen."

The season saw the Wildcats on bat-busting sprees that sent more than one opposition pitcher to his shower. Air-tight hurling duels were followed by wild frolics of hits and errors.

Kansas Protests Run

All was quiet on K-State's diamond until outfielder Christ Langvardt stole home plate one afternoon, counting a run in a late inning of the traditional battle with Kansas University's Jayhawks. "Yer safe!" yelled his umpship, "and I do mean you!"

The verbal battle that followed furnished only one of the year's thrills, each game holding a momentary spotlight. But the doubleheader with K.U. was the season's attraction.

ALL

Ten games won and six games lost made up the season's total. Eight triumphs were annexed from conference while four defeats were being stamped on the Big Six ledger.

Oklahoma's 7-won, 1-lost record sent the baseball bunting to Soon-erland. All-American footballer Paul Christman and pitcher Carl Miles led Missouri's Tigers into a strong third place behind K-State. Iowa State, Nebraska and Kansas trailed in order in the race with the Jayhawks winning only one of ten.

Brock Pitches Wins

Workhorse of the nine was big Jim Brock, who, on one occasion during the season, pitched and won both games of a double-header. Chris Langvardt doubled behind the plate. Duitmann and Reid, with Langvardt, formed a classy crew of fly-shaggers.

Ken Graham was a standout at first base and the K-State keystone combination of Hornsby to Miller was difficult to surpass. At the hot corner, Lee Townsend did yeoman service. Ralph Marshall, catcher used his experience in handling pitchers excellently.

A triumphant debut over Baker University's Wildcats opened the Kansas State season. The visiting Methodists were downed 8 to 1. Kansas University tasted its only Big Six blood at K-State's expense in Lawrence, outlasting the Wildcats, 16 to 14, in an uncultivated conference opener.

Wildcats Win Second

But the Wildcats smacked 14 runs around the base paths the following afternoon and the initial defeat was avenged in a 14 to 4 victory. Erv Reid's big bat led the assault and the outfielder's box score showed four hits in five platter trips. The first two-game series at Lawrence was comparatively a quiet prelude to what followed when the Jayhawks returned the visit.

Title-bound Oklahoma demonstrated hitting prowess and early season hurling strength in winning both contests of the two-game series played at Norman. Scores were 14 to 2 and 3 to 1.

Wintry breezes whistled across the campus "moor" the afternoon Oklahoma A. and M.'s Cowboys invaded the Wildcat domains. But the

. . . BUT THE JAYHAWKS, one and all, definitely disagreed with arbiter Edwards's decision, in the matter and hesitated not a moment in protesting loudly. K.U. Coach Ralph Conger (right) and trainer Dean Nesmith (left), argue heatedly, but to no avail.

... "OR ELSE WHAT!" ... challenge both teams, charging onto the diamond. It would appear that the two teams can't decide whether Langvardt was safe or out. K.U., in a caucus at the right, is definitely convinced he was out, while the K-Staters agree with "his honor" the umpire, wholeheartedly.

wind played second string to the chilling effects of the two pitchers, Jim Brock and A. and M.'s "Lefty" Feldkamp. The two teams locked in a pair of contests that gave the laurels to the moundsmen.

Pitchers Allow Three Hits

Feldkamp allowed only one safety and Brock's offerings were touched for only two base knocks. A. and M. squeezed out both games, the first 1 to 0, and the second, 6 to 3.

K-State's nine blew Iowa State out of the conference lead, beating the Cyclones in a double bill. The scoreboard read: Kansas State 9-6, Iowa State 6-2. The twin win marked the beginning of a triumph string that remained unbroken for half a dozen games.

Ray Rokey's timely blows and stout-hearted pitching by Jim Brock gave the Myermen a set of storybook victories over a touted team of Missouri Tigers. Both tilts were won in the final inning and both scores stood 7 to 6 in favor of the Wildcats. Rokey's utility ability proved useful throughout the schedule, allowing him to be shifted from the throwing hill to third base, thence into the outfield.

The warriors of the diamond racked up their sixth consecutive victim's hide when the war-path was halted by the Huskers of the University of Nebraska. The northerners lost the first encounter, 2 to 8, but bounced back with an about face and promptly "husked" the Wildcats decisively, 11 to 1.

Best Is Last

Crowd-thrilling climax to a successful season came with the schedule's two-game finale on the home diamond with the Jayhawkers. History of the bitter intra-state rivalry, which oft repeats itself, began nearly half a century ago.

Kansas State was near the top of the Big Six and K.U. could show only a single victory, that over the Wildecats. The atmosphere became charged after the K-Staters won the first of the two-game series, scoring 11 runs to the Jayhawks four.

Fans Enjoy Fireworks

A capacity throng, partisan for the Wildcats, filled the bleachers early in anticipation of what was to follow . . . and follow it did! Big Monte Merkel, the K.U. catcher, was the butt of the afternoon's derision from the outset.

The Jayhawks were off in the lead but the advantage melted as the game moved into late innings. Langvardt started the fireworks by stealing second base. An infield play moved him to third base with the tying run and the curly-headed flash promptly added home plate to his booty. Backstop Merkel, who believed sincerely he had tagged Langvardt, didn't approve of either the rough bodily contact and flying spikes, nor the umpire's decision. Consequently a near riot ensued.

Abuse was heaped on the head of umpire Edwards, who didn't seem to mind. The crowd's temper flared and photographers had a field day. Fortunately, after so long a time, order was restored.

Langvardt Poles Homer

In his next appearance at the plate, Langvardt blasted out a home run with Reid on base. Two more runs were chalked up by the Wildcats before the ninth inning when the final score read 8 to 4.

Seniors Marshall, Miller, Townsend, Duitsman and Reid checked in their purple and white baseball suits for the last time, having completed their final years of eligibility. . . .

MONTE MERKEL, the K.U. catcher, would see absolutely no humor in the occasion, but outfielders Reid (center) and Langvardt seem to be enjoying themselves as they trot across home plate after the latter's 4-base blow.

Hurlers Brock, Kirkland and Woolf, also played their last college ball.

Play Impressive Ball

The 1940 season was acclaimed one of the most successful in the diamond annals of Kansas State college. Co-mentors Dougal Russell, a former star Wildcat athlete himself, and Frank Myers, assistant to the director of athletics, assumed the coaching mantle when regular baseball headman Owen L. (Chili) Cochrane, was promoted to number 1 assistant in the football department.

In addition to a high conference ranking, the proteges compiled an impressive non-conference record. Rockhurst college, whose Hawks fell before the K-Staters, stood at the head of the baseball class in Greater Kansas City and the Oklahoma A. and M. Cowboys were rated one of the nation's top teams.

Three Lettermen Back

The '41 season outlook is hopeful, with such stalwarts as Ken Graham, Warren Hornsby and Ray Rokey to form the nucleus for the team.

The two gents wearing the blue serge suits in the Wildcat home games were Charley Edwards and the Rev. B. A. Rogers. . . . Gridiron star

Bill Beezley, a senior athlete, shifted his affections from football to the diamond to be team's handyman.

Captain Hackney Leads Mates to Third Place Win

AS THIRD PLACE team in the Big Six conference behind Nebraska and Oklahoma Universities. Coach Haylett's cinder oval athletes won recognition in the Midwest's circle of select track teams.

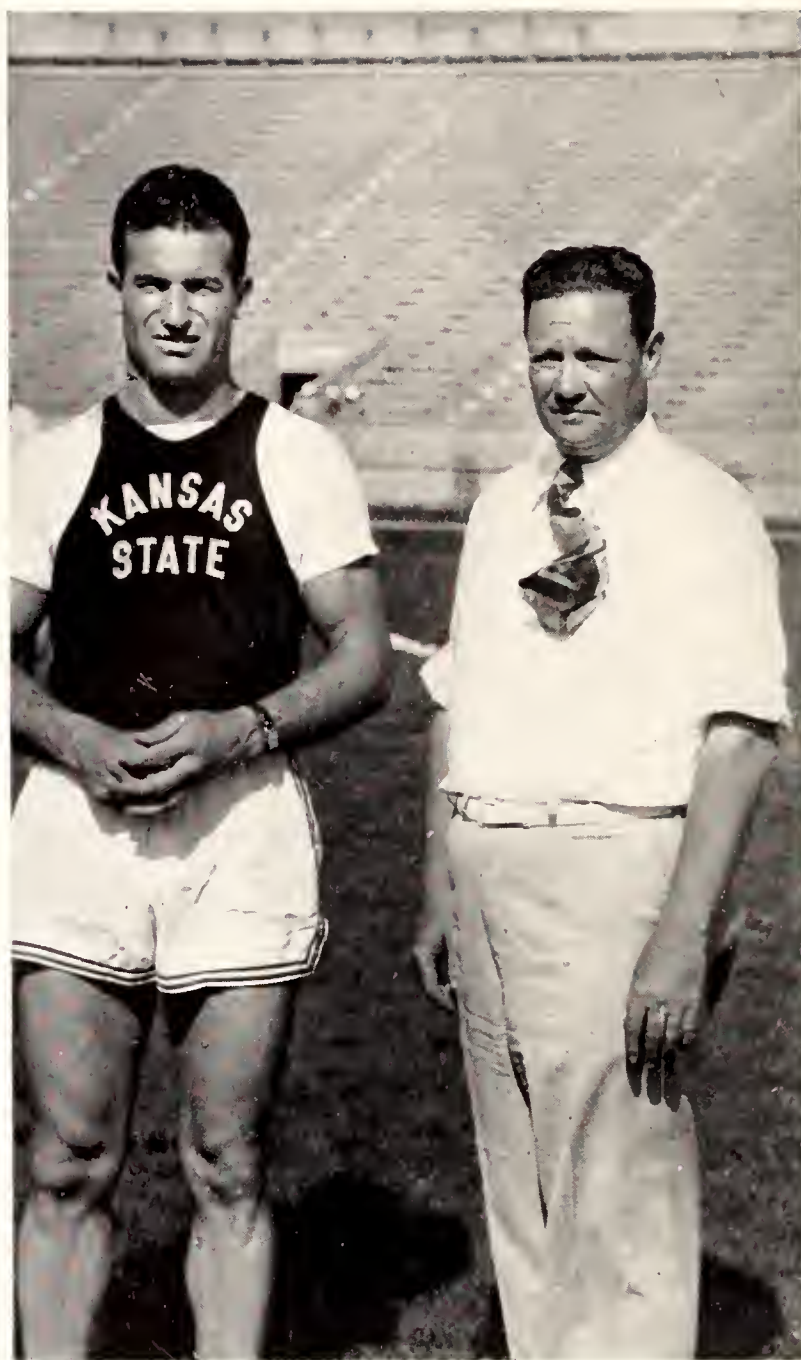

The season highlight saw the Wildeat thin-clads upset a powerful Aggie aggregation from Oklahoma A. and M. College rated one of the country's top flight squads.

Relay carnival performances brought laurels to individual stars. Much in evidence at the Colorado Relays were the purple and white jerseys. The annual Kansas Relays at Lawrence marked an afternoon of point-winning for the Haylettmen. A profitable junket into the Southland was made when the Wildcats competed in the yearly Texas Relays at Austin.

Suffers Wrist Injury

A history-maker was big Elmer Hackney, who captained the team for the 1940 season. The "One Man Gang," continued his phenomenal tossing of the shot as a senior and, despite a painful wrist injury suffered during the football season was undefeated in collegiate competition. He retained the Big Six crown and was the shotputting pacesetter at each of the three relay games in which the K-State team competed. The wrist injury may have cost the "big boy" a world mark in his favorite event according to opinions by experts who treated the hurt.

Hackney at the start of the season held seventeen records, including the American mark of 55 feet 11 $\frac{3}{4}$ inches. He out-pushed opponents throughout his career and became one of the nation's most publicized athletes. Coach Haylett, who tutored Hackney to fame, characterized the big star as "a real and great competitor whose natural abilities as an athlete were practically unsurpassed."

CAPTAIN AND COACH pause a moment to survey three successful seasons . . . All-American Elmer Hackney and Coach Ward Haylett spread a K-State track gospel from coast to coast.

Hackney Ends Career

The "Gang" is considered the greatest athlete in Kansas State's history. His three campaigns emblazoned his and K-State's name across the headlines of the nation. The end of Elmer Hackney's competition in a Wildeat uniform marked the personal close of a record-breaking era, during which K-State destinies rose to the heights. There will be other putters of the shot, probably colorful ones too. But there will never be another "One Man Gang" Hackney.

squad in the season debut, a meet calculated to ready the Wildcats for a full schedule.

Big Six competition opener saw potent Oklahoma take measure of the Haylettmen, $77\frac{2}{3}$ to $53\frac{1}{3}$ in the spacious Norman stadium. Hackney began his string of triumphs in the conference that remained unbroken. Thaine High, who had won the Big Six's indoor two-mile crown, was a winner as was javelin tosser Elvis McCutchan. Art Day literally leaped to a K-State first in the high jump for the fourth event victory. Second and third places, however, weren't numerous enough for more than a strong showing.

The medley relay team placed fourth and "the Gang" won his shot put event in the annual Texas Relays at Austin.

Win Over Mizzou

A surprise victory over Missouri's favored Tigers, $68\frac{1}{2}$ to $62\frac{1}{2}$ heartened the K-State cindermen for their point-winning performances at the Kansas Relays and the Colorado Relays on successive weekends. Against the Missonrians, the Wildcats counted first places in only four events but scored heavily in runner-up roles to win the meet. Tiger star "Lonesome John" Munski broke the tape in both the mile and two-mile races, edging out High in the double-distance.

Letterman Louis Akers took 100-yard and 220-yard dash honors. Hackney's five points in the shot-put and a discus throw triumph by sophomore Dick Peters were K-State's outstanding performances.

Fourth at Relays

Point totals were large at the K.U. Relays with Hackney in his usual spot in the winner's circle. The sprint medley relay team, the two-mile relay team and the four-mile relay team each scored a fourth. Day deadlocked for fourth place behind several of the nation's top high jumpers.

At Boulder the mile-relay quartet topped the field. The four two-milers were beaten by a stride and finished second. Darold Dodge was third in the high hurdles.

TIMBER TOPPER Darold Dodge, Wildcat star (extreme right), races over the low hurdles against two Oklahoma A. and M. Cowboys.

Visiting Cowboys from Oklahoma A. and M. college were beaten by a narrow margin, $66\frac{1}{2}$ to $64\frac{1}{2}$, when the mile relay team of Don Adee, Henry Haeberle, Sam Johnson and Ralph Robinson won the final event.

National Champ Here

A. and M.'s Don Boydston, national A.A.U. champ, won the high jump event but victories by Akers in the 100, Dodge in the high hurdles, Hackney in the shot-put, Droge in the discus, McCutchan in the javelin, and Jensen in the broad jump furnished a winning margin. The Cowboy trackmen were rated as one of the outstanding aggregations in the midwest.

The conference meet at Nebraska was all Nebraska. The Huskers finished far ahead of the pack, led by carrot-thatched Gene Littler, a speedy quarter-miler. Hackney retained his Big Six championship for the third consecutive season. Bill Vanderbilt, a weights man, finished third in the shot. Akers scored points in both the dash events, winning fourth in the 220 and fifth in the 100.

Distance Men Place

Clingman stepped into a third place in the mile. Thaine High trailed Munski for a second in the two-mile while Clingman and Kelley finished fourth and fifth. Points in field events by Solt, Day and Droge gave K-State third place.

Indoor Trackmen Take K.U.

KANSAS state's indoor track team entered three dual meets this year and emerged the victor in only one of the three contests. In the Big Six conference meet, the Wildcats finished in the cellar as Nebraska took first.

A strong aggregation from Drake downed Coach Ward Haylett's team by a score of 68 to 36 in the first meet of the season. Ed Darden, Wildcat hurdle ace, tied the meet record in winning the high hurdles while Ken Makalous and Kent Duwe tied for first in the shot.

Win Over Kansas

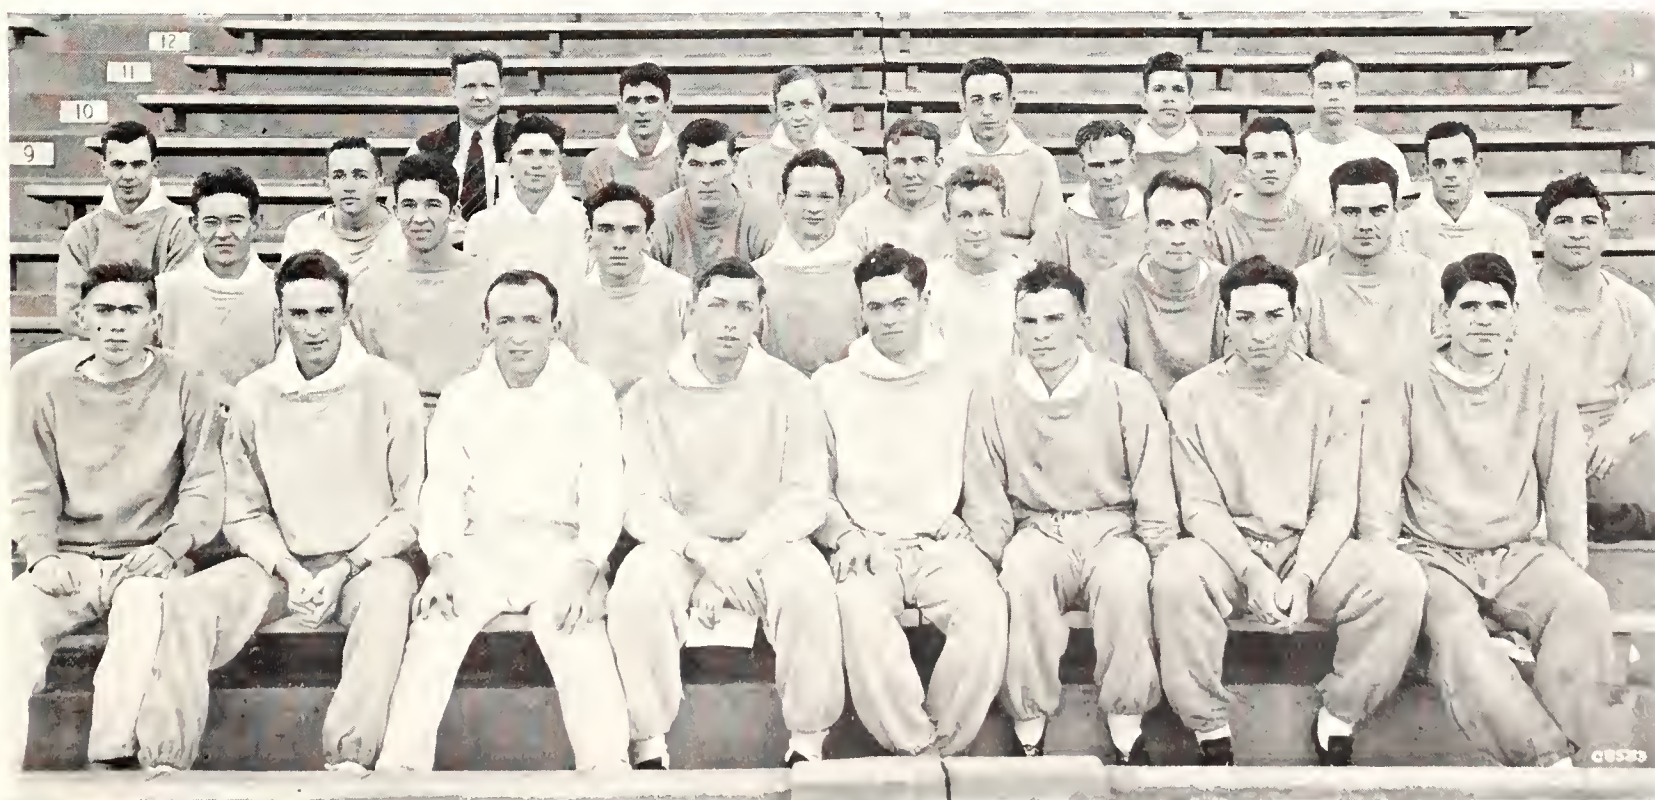

The Kansas State men of the oval path won their only dual meet from Kansas by a score of 56½ to 47½. Darden again proved his ability in the high hurdles by winning first place. The Nebraska Cornhuskers proved to have too much power as they downed the Wildcats, 77 to 27.

At the Big Six meet, K-State finished in sixth place with Darden taking second in high hurdles and the mile relay team winning third.

Two-Milers Win Fifth

AT THE Armour Tech relays in Chicago, the Kansas State two-mile relay team of Johnson, Miller, Burnham, and Payne won first place honors.

Coach Haylett's two-mile team composed of High, Miller, McClellan, Borthwick and Kelley won two races, lost one, tied one and finished fifth in the conference.

The two-milers defeated the Missouri runners, 20 to 15, with High winning first and McClellan fourth. Oklahoma A. and M. runners were next to go down before the Wildcats, 21 to 15.

High Places High

Oklahoma downed the K-State team 20 to 16 and the Staters returned to tie Kansas University, 18 to 18. High placed first in the A. and M. meet, second against Oklahoma, and third against Kansas.

Grapplers Take Second In Big Six Conference Mat Meet Here

KANSAS State's wrestling team under the able direction of Coach B. R. "Pat" Patterson finished the current season with six wins to seven defeats and took second place in the Big Six conference meet.

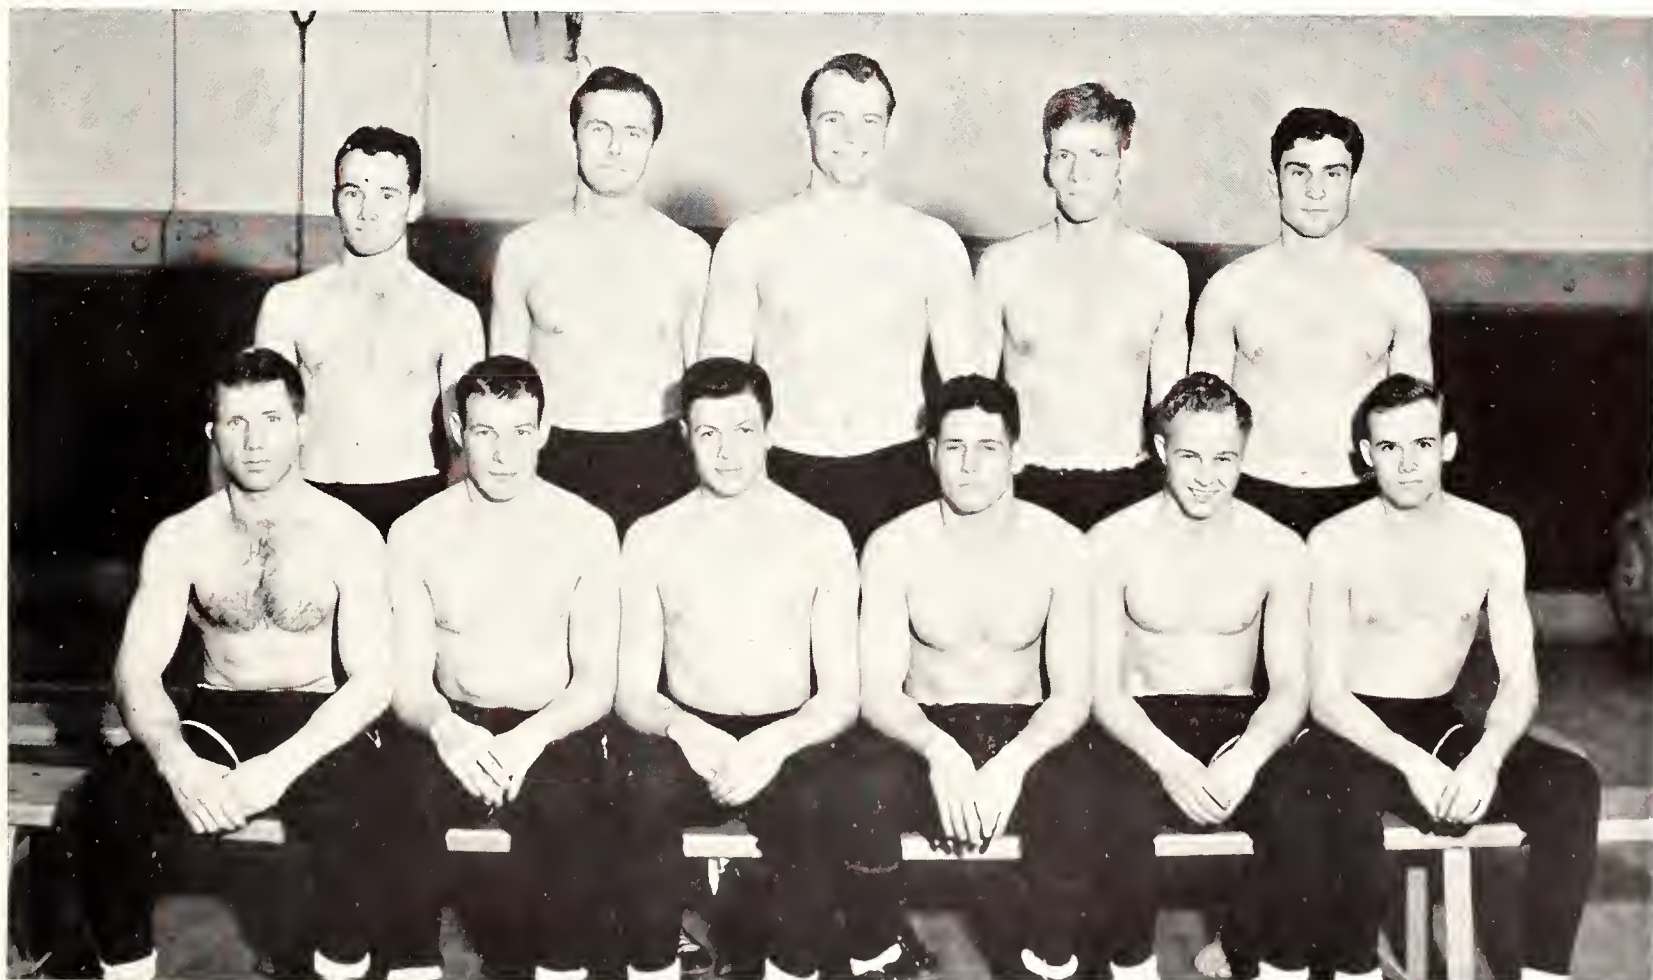

The Wildcat wrestlers started the season back East losing to Franklin and Marshall, 9 to 23 and then to Lehigh University, 9 to 17. The team won its next three matches from Virginia Polytechnical Institute, Virginia Military Institute and Vanderbilt University.

The National Collegiate championship team from Oklahoma A. and M. journeyed to Kansas State and gave the Patterson men a 21 to 3 spanking.

Nebraska University furnished the competition for the last scheduled match of the season and the Kansas State team defeated the Cornhuskers, 17 to 11.

Porter Takes Second

Two members of the regular wrestling team entered the National Collegiate Wrestling Tournament at Bethlehem, Penn. Leland Porter won second place among wrestlers from all over the nation in the 155 pound division. Glen Duncan entered the meet but failed to place.

Netmen Take Fourth

LED by Captain Robert Thornburrow, the Kansas State netmen finished the 1940 season with four wins, two ties, and six defeats and took fourth place in the conference matches at Lincoln.

The Wildcat courtmen, coached by C. S. Moll, started the season with a 5 to 1 victory over Fort Hays on the local courts only to take a 2 to 4 beating by the Washburn Ichabods in their next match.

A visiting quartet from Nebraska next took the Wildcats into camp with a 5 to 1 victory. Coach Moll's racketmen rebounded to avenge the Washburn defeat earlier in the season and whip the Ichabods, 6 to 0.

The Kansas State men of the clay courts traded matches with University of Kansas as each school won, 5 to 1. Lettermen on the 1940 squad were Captain Thornburrow, Jack Horacek, Eldon Sechler, and Jim Cushing. Bob Hammond was a squad member.

Golfers Fail to Follow Through

KANSAS State's golfers, under the direction of Coach M. F. "Mike" Ahearn, blasted their way to nine victories in thirteen starts during the 1940 season, and then took last in the Big Six meet. The Wildeats won their first four matches of the campaign before conceding their initial loss to the Wichita Wheatshockers.

Coach Ahearn's proteges rebounded after losing their initial match and were victorious in four more starts against Emporia State, University of Kansas, and University of Nebraska.

It was the stubborn Wichita aggregation that again defeated the Wildeats. It was their second loss of the season—a $14\frac{1}{2}$ to $3\frac{1}{2}$ score on the foreign links.

The Kansas State clubbers next journeyed to Nebraska where the grass greens proved to be too much of a hazard as they lost, 3 to 15. Upon returning to Manhattan, the local quartet was host to the University of Kansas and handed the Jayhawkers a $14\frac{1}{2}$ to $3\frac{1}{2}$ defeat.

The Wildeats ended their match play by dropping a close contest to the Missouri Tigers, $8\frac{1}{2}$ to $9\frac{1}{2}$.

Led by Captain Benny York, the Kansas State linkmen traveled to Lincoln for the conference matches but took a tailspin and finished in sixth place. Other members of the squad were Arlin Ward, Richard Gorman, James Paustian, and Bill Mundy.

Highlight of the year was the double-blanking of Hays in early season non-conference matches.

Swim to Second

LOSING only one dual meet this season and winning second in the Big Six, C. S. Moll's swimming team finished one of the best seasons in his twelve years at Kansas State.

Early in the season the Wildcats invaded three Colorado schools where they won from Greeley State, Colorado Mines, and the University of Colorado. The Wildcats defeated every Big Six conference team in dual meets except Nebraska. The Huskers were edged out in the Big Six meet, however, by the Wildcats.

Although they were able to win only second in the league, they defeated every team at least once. Iowa State was the champion again this year.

Marshall Stover and Leo Yeo have been the most consistent winners for Kansas State. Stover, distance man, has completed another year without a defeat in either the 440 or 220 yard swims. Yeo, sprinter, was defeated only twice.

INTRAMURALS

Men and Women Compete in Comprehensive Program of Athletic Events

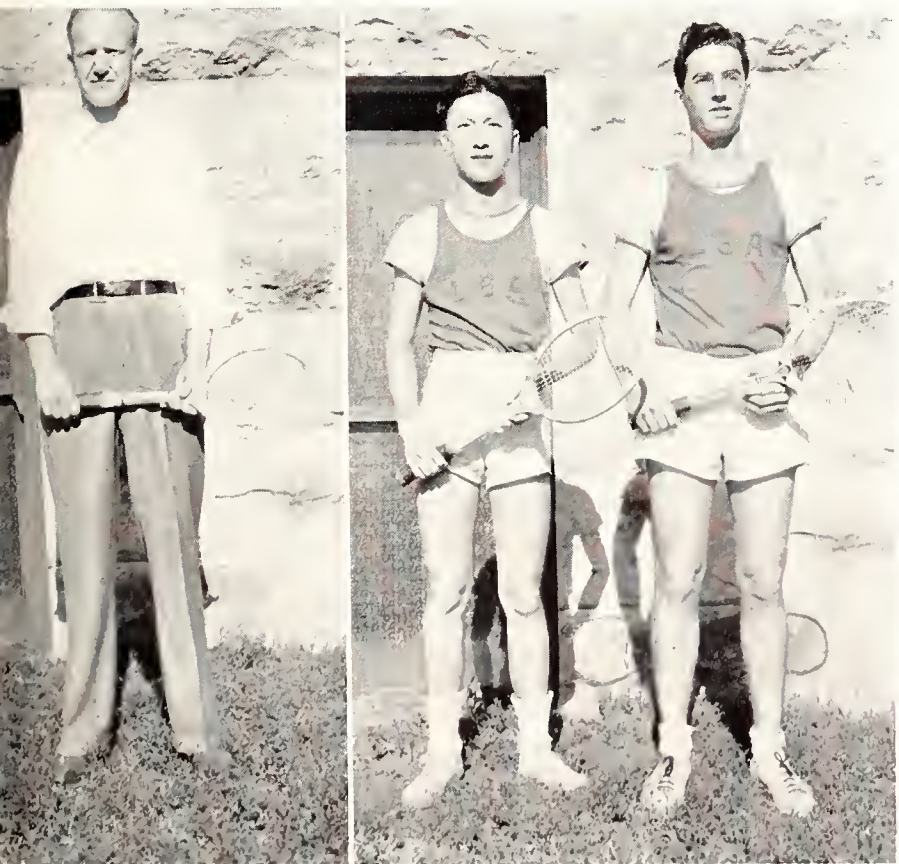

MEN'S intramural sports under the direction of Prof. L. P. Washburn make it possible for every male student on the campus to participate in some form of athletic activities. Competition this year was offered in twelve different sports with over a thousand students participating.

Competition in the intramural sports is divided into two divisions, fraternities and independents, with the winners in each division competing for the All-School championships.

1940 Spring Sports

Tennis, track, and softball were the final sports on the 1939-1940 program. In the fraternity division, Carroll Preusch represented Delta Tau Delta in the tennis singles matches and won first place honors. George Schumaker and Delmar Atchison from the Sigma Nu house won the doubles title from the Alpha Tau Omega team.

Henry Bender won the singles championship in the independent division but was defeated by Preusch in the battle for the school title. Gerald Klema and Ko Kwok Lau won the independent doubles crown and also defeated Schumaker and Atchison for the school title.

Twenty Softball Teams

In the softball league last spring, twenty teams entered in the fraternity division with the Sig Eps emerging the winners by defeating a strong Alpha Gamma Rho team in the finals. Of the 14 independent teams, the Dragons and Tri Alphas battled their way to the finals with Dragons winning 5 to 0.

THE Dragons played the Sig Eps for the softball title of the school and won the title in a hard fought game.

One hundred and forty-five men took part in the fraternity outdoor track meet. Alpha Gamma Rho fraternity finished in first place with 104 $\frac{1}{4}$ points followed by the Delta Tau Delta team with 67 points. In the independent division, the L.S.A. team scored a total of 118 points for first place honors with the Night Hawks finishing second.

Golf to Wittenberger

Wayne Wittenberger, Delta Tau Delta, and Dean Snow, member of the Skunker team, were the fraternity and independent winners in the intramural golf tournament held at Stagg Hill golf course. Wittenberger toured the 18 hole course with a score of 74. Max O'Dell, Phi Kappa Tau, was runner-up in the fraternity group with a 75.

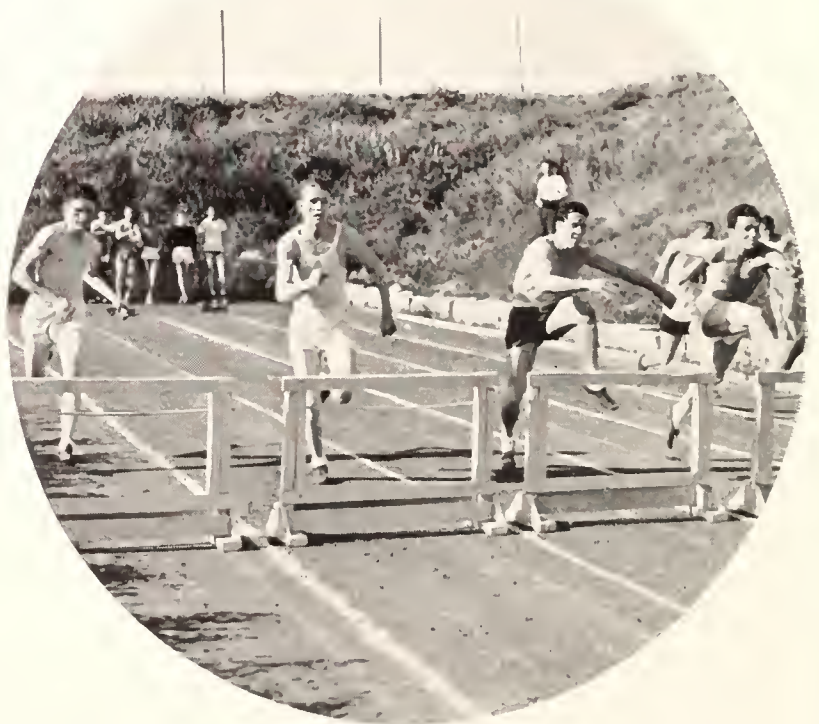

Snow shot a 75 for low independent score while John Babcock and Bill Cook tied for second place with 83's.

Ochsner Wins Horseshoes

Intramural horseshoe throwing was one of the first events of the current school year and drew 196 entrants. Raymond Ochsner, Theta Xi representative, annexed the singles crown among the fraternity men with Gene Craven, also a Theta Xi, winning second place. Veryle Snyder won the independent singles title. However, Ochsner defeated Snyder for the championship of the school.

Eighteen teams entered the fraternity touch football tournament and twelve teams participated in the independent division. Delta Tau Delta copped the fraternity title by defeating the Tau Kappa Epsilon gridders, 3 to 2. The Hoodlums defeated a strong Jr. A.V.M.A. team, 1 to 0, to win the independent title. In a hard fought battle, the Delts defeated the Hoodlums, 1 to 0, for the All-School title.

Forty-eight Teams in

The basketball league drew 19 teams from the fraternity division and 29 teams from the independents. A total of 113 games were played during the season. The fraternities were divided into four groups with Alpha Tau Omega, Sigma Phi Epsilon, Phi Delta Theta, and Kappa Sigma winning in their respective divisions. The L.S.A. team took first place among the independent basketballers.

The Kappa Sig hoopsters won the fraternity title by defeating the Phi Delts in the finals, and then defeated the L.S.A. team for the school title.

AT THE close of the 1939-40 season, sweaters and letters were awarded to the high scoring individuals in each division. Winners of letters in the fraternity division were Charles Snider, Bob Kauffman, Roland Kruse, Claude Shenkel, C. W. Adcock and Mare Schowalter. Independent letter winners included Wallace Rankin, George Sklar, Marion Miller, H. Lau and A. Wexler.

Winners of sweaters in the two divisions were Lyle Boley, Wilbert Duitsman, Fred Officer, Warren Hornsby, R. P. Miller, Edward Smercheck, Gerald Klema, Wilbur Black, Warren Linville and Paul Dickens.

AGR Is Highest

Alpha Gamma Rho fraternity won first place honors among the fraternities for the highest number of points during the season last year. The AGR team garnered 808½ points during the year while Delta Tau Delta was second with 719 points. Night Hawks totaled 682½ points in the independent league to nose out the high scoring L.S.A. aggregation which scored 680 points only 2½ points short of Night Hawk score.

KAPPA SIGMA scores a goal in a hard fought game against the L.S.A. team for the school basketball championship. The Kappa Sigs won.

Coeds Have Competition

THIS year marked the sixteenth year of women's intramural activities on the Kansas State campus. Miss Katherine Geyer, assistant professor of physical education for women, had charge of the intramural program.

The intramural program was started in 1924 with volleyball being the first activity. Only one sport was played until 1926 when swimming was added to the activity which has grown steadily and includes nine events at the present time.

Geyer in Charge

Miss Geyer took charge of the intramurals for women in 1927 and has directed the activities since that time. The program was organized to meet the need of women students for some form of athletic activities. Any woman in College may participate in any intramural sport.

The coed's program is divided into two divisions — one for the sorority women and the other for the independents. Girls at Van Zile Hall have their team in the independent league and other independent teams outside of Van Zile may organize and enter the competition. The winners between sororities in each activity play the independent winners for the school championship.

Many Participate

In the softball tournament last spring, 133 independent and sorority women participated.

DORIS KITTELL (left) took first place in the ping-pong tournament among 228 entrants.

THE Pi Beta Phi team defeated the Tri Delts for first place honors among the sororities. The X team defeated the Neophytes, 19 to 0, in the independent league. The X team proved to be too strong for the Pi Beta Phi team as they won the All-School championship, 22 to 2.

The Pi Phis continued their point gathering as the 1940 season drew to a close by winning the swimming contest. Jane Haymaker, Jeanne Amos, Barclay Wright, Martha Lou Alexander and Caralee Laming were members of the winning team.

Pi Phis Win Again

At the close of the 1940 school year, the Pi Beta Phi intramural team was awarded the women's intramural plaque for the second successive year for having the largest number of points won during the season.

This year's X team started off the season by winning the tenniquoit tournament. The Van Zile Hall team furnished the competition for the X girls in the finals but failed to win.

Dancing on Program

Social dancing, folk dancing, and tap dancing furnished competition for over 100 women students this year. Bette Roth, representing Alpha Xi Delta, won first place in the tap and clog dancing finals. Mack Lattimore teamed with Violet Farmer to share second place honors with the Pi Phi team of Martha Lou Alexander, Jane Haymaker and Mary Jane Wiek.

Joan Nethaway and Doris Shull, Chi Omega sorority dancers, took first place honors in the social dancing. Mary Shaver and Dorothy Green, Pi Beta Phi, danced their way to second place honors.

In the folk dancing finals, Chi Omega received first award with their "Highland Fling" number. The Alpha Delta Pi's interpretation of a Dutch folk dance won second place.

Neophytes Win Volleyball

In one of the closest games in the intramural volleyball tournament, the Neophytes downed a strong Van Zile Hall team, 35 to 31 in the finals. The Van Zile team led 19 to 17 at the half way mark but was unable to continue the pace during the second half. Jean Werts was the manager of the Neophyte team.

Two hundred and five women competed in the women's posture contest this year. The Pi Beta Phi team won first place with a total of 46 points. In second place, close behind the Pi Phis, were the Neophytes with 40 points. The Van Zile team finished in third place with a total of 34 points.

Pat Potter, representing Delta Delta Delta sorority, won first place in the intramural shuffleboard tournament when she defeated Nancy Donnelly, Pi Beta Phi, in the finals.

JOAN NETHAWAY and Doris Shull are pictured above as they won the social dancing contest this year. Mary Shaver and Dorothy Green were runner-up.

BETTE ROTH, Alpha Xi Delta sorority, took first place honors in the tap dancing.

DIRECTOR H. MILES HEBERER puts the finishing touch on a posed love scene from "Arms and the Man."

DURING the 1940-41 season, the Manhattan Theatre said farewell to H. Miles Heberer, all-star director of the past fifteen years, and introduced Sherwood Keith, who proved his ability to direct entertaining plays for Kansas State audiences.

In the 1940 season, Maxwell Anderson's unusual drama, "High Tor," was presented to Manhattan Theatre audiences. "High Tor" was based upon a legend from the days of Henry Hudson's expeditions. It was believed that on stormy nights the crew of a ship lost in the days of Hudson still looked for a fleet that had never rescued them.

Kaslow Plays Van Dorn

The owner of the High Tor was Van Van Dorn, portrayed by Milton Kaslow. The action of the play evolved around the situation arising one dismal night when three bank robbers, two crooked business partners, state troopers, the ghost crew and Van Van Dorn met on High Tor.

D R A M A

Manhattan Theatre Plays Well Received By K-State Audiences

Their various meetings created complicated situations. The lovely seventeenth century wife of the ghost crew's captain, played by Marianna Kistler, added pathetic romance to the tale when she fell in love with Van Van Dorn.

Trenkle Is Star

Clifford Goldsmith's comedy, "What a Life," began the fall season. Local audiences enjoyed the light comedy based upon a high school boy who had a knack for getting into trouble.

Heading the cast of this Broadway hit was Henry Aldrich, popular radio character, done by Thomas Trenkle. Feminine trouble in his life was provided by Barbara Pearson, high school activity girl, played by Betty-Lee Beatty, a Manhattan Theatre favorite.

The plot centered around the troubles of these two high school students. In the main part it concerned Henry Aldrich convincing Barbara Pearson to go to the spring prom with him.

In Director Heberer's last play in Manhattan Theatre he, himself, took the leading masculine role. Opposite Director Heberer in "Arms and the Man" was Martha Baird, who played the part of Raina, a Bulgarian army officer's daughter.

Shaw Comedy Produced

A quadrangle replaced the usual love triangle in this typical George Bernard Shaw comedy. The plot for the play was furnished by the romances of the silly young Bulgarian woman in war time. She was betrothed to a Bulgarian officer and loved by an old servant. Captain Bluntschli, a professional soldier fighting against the Bulgarians, played by Heberer, completed the quadrangle.

THOMAS TRENKLE as Henry Aldrich, talks it over with his "mother," Ann Steinheimer, in "What a Life."

THERE SEEMS TO BE a difference in opinion between Thomas Trenkle, as Henry Aldrich, and Dale Derger, high school menace of Henry. Betty-Lee Beatty, as Henry's current heart-throb, looks on with disgust.

ANN STEINHEIMER (center) makes up Betty-Lee Beatty for the production, "What a Life," and Lois Mary Robinson (left) receives foundation make-up by Martha Baird.

AS HIS debut to Manhattan Theatre audiences, Sherwood Keith chose the three-act play by Walter Ferris, "Death Takes a Holiday." The leading masculine role in the production was that of Death, played by Keith Thompson. Opposite him was Mary Marjorie Willis in the part of Grazia, a beautiful girl with whom Death came in contact.

Keith Makes Debut

The play was based on the poetic conception of Death, suspending all activities for three days, during which period he fell in love with a beautiful girl and through her, realized why mortals feared him. Death, as enacted in the play, was a natural, human person.

Black Light . . . Death

Two unusual features, a background of music and the use of black light with the character of Death, accented the production. Different from anything used before, for this play was the new black light property feature, which added to the weirdness of the character.

A CONTROVERSY ABOUT what's going on seems to be the basis of the problem confronting the cast of "High Tor," last production of the 1940 spring season. The stage setting was realistically crude for the production.

Orators and Debaters Extend Kansas State Good Will Over Country

HOWARD T. HILL popular professor and head of the department of public speaking, is always in demand as an after dinner speaker.

THE Kansas State debate squad, made up of three men students, took an extended tour over the southern and eastern states this spring discussing the question "Western Hemisphere Union."

The team, made up of Frank Rickel, Merrill Peterson, and Frank Seymour debated with teams from Loyola University, Rollins College, University of Miami, Temple University, Carnegie Tech, and other colleges throughout the East and South. While on the tour, the three-man squad stopped in Washington, D. C., where they toured the capital city.

Many Contests Entered

FRANK SEYMOUR, who has been active in speech work for the past two years, represented K-State at the Missouri Valley tournament held in Lawrence in March. Although he failed to place in the final listings, Debate Coach Norman C. Webster looks on him as his most promising orator.

Other individual entries by the squad included Mary M. Willis, who entered the State peace contest last spring at McPherson college, and Franklyn Flynn who spoke at the Missouri Valley extemporaneous speech tournament.

Rate Excellent

At the annual Inter-State Debate Tournament, held at Winfield in November, the team won a rating of excellent. When they competed at the Missouri Valley contest, they entered jointly with two debaters from Wichita. Thus they were not eligible for formal ratings.

AN APT PUPIL. Debater Merrill Peterson convinces an imaginary audience while teammate Frank Rickel grins up at him.

NORMAN C. WEBSTER, coach of the debate squad, frowns and gestures as he exhibits the proper technique in putting over a point.

The debate squad performs frequently before local service clubs and high schools, as well as secondary schools throughout the state. Including all their in and out-of-state meets as well as their radio debates, the team participates in over sixty contests a year.

Culver Stockton college and Bethany college were on the campus this year for radio debates, and members of our squad traveled to Wichita for a debate with Wichita U. speakers.

Norby Wins Oration

Although not a part of the college debate program, the Inter-Society Oratorical contest sponsored by the four campus literary societies provides an opportunity for Kansas State students to display their forensic abilities.

This year, Marcile Norby, a representative of Ionian society, spoke on "True Americanism," and won the five-dollar prize. Orville Burtis, speaking for the Athenians, placed second in the contest.

JUDGING TEAMS

College Representatives Win National Honors in Various Meets

STUDENTS in the Divisions of Agriculture and Home Economics make up the judging teams which represent Kansas State in contests each year all over the nation.

Trips are made to Kansas City, Chicago, Atlantic City, Denver, and other cities where Kansas State teams enter competition with other college students over the country.

Each judging team has its own coach who works with the students who have had preliminary training in identification and classification in their particular field. Competition for the team positions is keen and students must make the most of classroom experience and actual practice judging in order to place on the teams.

Former Training Benefits

Many of the students have had training in 4-H Club and vocational agriculture work as a background for their work. Tryouts for the teams is on a competitive basis and long hard hours of study and practice is necessary.

PROF. F. W. BELL (center), livestock coach, gives a few pointers orally on sheep judging to a freshman class in animal husbandry.

STUDENTS ADMIRE the trophies which are exhibited in the animal husbandry department. The bronze bull trophy is a permanent possession of the Livestock Judging team.

During the long trips, the teams hold practice sessions at various colleges and at outstanding livestock and poultry farms in preparation for some big contest.

Coaches work patiently with the teams in order that they may well represent Kansas State. Their practical experience, years of training and teaching ability are a contributing factor to the success of the teams.

A Permanent Trophy

Many trophies are awarded the Kansas State judges annually and are exhibited in the various departments which have teams. A large bronze-bull trophy was won several years ago by the livestock judging team at the International Livestock Show at Chicago and is a permanent possession of the College.

Meat Judges Win Honor at Royal

THE MEN'S Meat Judging Team represented Kansas State in two contests during the fall of 1940. The team won ninth place in the American Royal in Kansas City and was fifth out of thirteen teams at the International Meat Judging contest at Chicago. Oscar Norby was ninth ranking student at the Chicago contest.

Members of the Home Economics Meat Judging team had a perfect season as they took first places at both the Mid-West contest in Wichita and the American Royal in Kansas City. In the Kansas City contest, Cornelia Burtis was high individual in judging beef and shared honors with Edith Buchholtz in judging lambs. Oklahoma A. and M. furnished the competition in both the contests which the women's team entered this year.

Prof. D. L. Mackintosh is the coach for both the men's and women's teams and has been consistent in turning out winners for Kansas State.

Livestock Judging Teams Take Trophy

COACH F. W. Bell's Livestock Judging team entered the Kansas City American Royal Livestock Show this year and finished seventh among twenty teams. The team then entered the International Livestock Exhibition at Chicago and was high team in beef cattle judging and eleventh out of thirty-one teams in total score for the contest.

At the National Western Stock Show the Junior Livestock Judging team, composed of Bert Danielson, Frank Marcy, George Wreath, Dean Weekman and Harold Peterson, was high team in placing all classes of livestock and also high in judging breeding livestock and giving reasons for selection.

Max Dawdy, Oscar Norby, Calvin Doile, Norman Griffith, Conrad Jackson and Richard Wellman composed the junior team which entered the Southwestern Exhibition at Fort Worth, Texas, and won fourth place among twenty teams. The team won permanent possession of the beef cattle trophy by winning in that division for the third time.

Crops and Poultry Teams Finish High

Kansas State's Crops Judging team took second place honors in two important contests this year. At the Kansas City National Collegiate Grain Judging contest, the team ranked first in identification, second in grading and third in judging. The team traveled to the International Hay and Grain Show in Chicago and finished in second place in total team score.

Members of the Poultry Judging team carried away first place recognition at the annual Intercollegiate Poultry Judging contest in Chicago. The team won four trophies and $95 in cash. William Winner was the high scoring individual of all the entrants. Prof. H. M. Scott was the team coach of the four poultry judging experts.

Dairy Products and Dairy Cattle Judges Active

The Dairy Products Judging team entered the Students National Contest for Judging Dairy Products at Atlantic City, N. J., last fall and finished twelfth among twenty-one teams. The team placed seventh in butter judging, and ninth in ice cream judging.

Prof. W. H. Martin coached the team comprised of Dale Brown, Wayne Marcoux, Clayton David and Conrad Jackson.

Members of the Dairy Cattle Judging team entered the Dairy Cattle Congress at Waterloo, Ia., where they placed eleventh in judging all breeds. At the National Dairy Show in Harrisburg, Penn., the team ranked tenth out of twenty-five entrants.

Prof. A. W. Shaw coached the four man team that represented Kansas State at various national meets.

M I L I T A R Y

Col. Carl F. McKinney, Infantry, U. S. Army (above), was professor of military science and tactics and head of the Kansas State R.O.T.C. unit first semester this year.

One of the youngest colonels in the United States, Colonel McKinney was popular with the cadet officers. When the Army opened a post at Fort Huachuca, Arizona, Colonel McKinney was ordered to head that unit of the 165th Infantry.

Lt.-Col. James F. Campbell (right), who succeeded Colonel McKinney as commandant of the College R.O.T.C. unit is vigorous, dynamic, personable.

The colonel, popular with army men and a friend of many students, came to the College in 1937 with the rank of major. He received his promotion to lieutenant-colonel last spring.

THE rattling tap of the snare drum, the muffled pound of the bass, heavy on the left beat, the barked commands of the cadet officers, —these sounds of potential armed might were not so hollow this year as a nation swiftly marshalled men and materials for its defense.

For 1,200 men in drab and their 200 officers at Kansas State, the Reserve Officers' Training Corps work came to mean something new. The pledge: "I do solemnly swear that I will support and defend the Constitution of the United States against all enemies, foreign and domestic . . ." was this year for the first time since the beginning of the R.O.T.C. in 1918, being put to intensely practical use.

Back in the ranks of the rookies, John Jones and his squad mates this year learned more about the practical problems of war. Under forced draft these first and second years students were given rigorous training in the business of war.

While they concentrated on basic training, their immediate officers—the junior and senior students in the advanced R.O.T.C. unit—intensified their study of actual military situations and the practice of commanding a modern army.

The ranks of these “cadet officers,” as the advanced students are called, were swelled this year to 200, and many additional applicants could not be accommodated.

Chief cadence-beater is the military band which trains with the artillery and infantry units second semester preceding annual review. Prof. Max Martin conducts the pace-setting outfit.

One regiment of two divisions comprises the military strength of the Kansas State unit. The division of infantry regularly enrolls students in General Science and Agriculture; the coast artillery division includes students from the Division of Engineering and Architecture, and the departments of industrial chemistry and milling industry.

Heading both units was the P.M.S.&T.—professor of military science and tactics—Col. Carl F. McKinney, first semester, and Lt.-Col. James K. Campbell, second semester.

Subordinate military activities that contribute much to the enjoyment that comes with the brotherhood of the army include such fraternities as Scabbard and Blade and Mortar and Ball.

Since the establishment of Company "L," First Regiment, as the first Scabbard and Blade unit in Kansas, the local group has grown in membership, prestige and activities.

Mortar and Ball is the honorary artillery organization—founded here in 1926. The informal initiation held by this group each year is a campus tradition. The two military organizations are active on the campus in other than a military way.

Orchestra Boasts

Strains from Beethoven, Schubert, Tschai-kowsky and other great masters fill the auditorium every Tuesday evening during the rehearsals of the fifty-eight piece orchestra.

Members learn the structure and phrasing of each composition in their wide repertoire as interpreted by Prof. Lyle Downey, the director.

Messiah Is Presented

At Christmas time, the orchestra collaborated with the choral ensemble to present Handel's Messiah. Their annual spring concert featured Prof. Charles Stratton on the piano.

It is this concert toward which the organization directs its many rehearsals for perfection. Two important playing engagements of the orchestra are the processions of both baccalaureate and commencement exercises each year.

Messiah Features Glee Clubs and Orchestra

IN THE traditional yuletide presentation of Handel's Messiah, the choral ensemble made its first appearance this year.

Again under the directorship of Prof. William Lindquist, Hayden's Creation was presented during the observance of National Music Week at the College.

The choral ensemble is composed of men and women in the three College glee clubs and was accompanied by thirty-five members of the College orchestra. Prof. Max Martin, concertmaster, was supported by Prof. Charles Stratton, pianist, and Prof. Richard Jesson, organist.

These performances were given for the benefit and entertainment of students, faculty members, and townspeople.

Vocal soloists for the Messiah were Nancy Pat Wilkins, and Arlene Mayer, sopranos; Hilda Grossman, contralto; Edwin Sayre, tenor; and Don Prier, bass.

POTENTIAL CARUSOS lift their voices in the College men's glee club while Prof. William Lindquist directs.

One of the most comprehensive music shows of the year, the Messiah is always well received by the student body.

BIG PERFORMANCES for college musicians is the annual Messiah when both glee clubs and the orchestra combine to entertain the public. They are shown below as they appeared at the presentation.

MEN'S GLEE CLUB—Back row: William Lindquist, L. Burton Greer, G. A. Mullen, Alfred Leek, Leon Findley, Philip Kaul, Dale Dyer, James Baxter, Wayne Good, Joe Chilen. Middle row: Bruce Johnson, Thomas Palmer, Joe Schmidt, Wayne Brown, John A. Divided into three smaller units, the choral ensemble rehearses every Monday night. Prof. William Lindquist supervises the work of the men's glee club, while Profs. Edwin Sayre and Hilda Grossman direct the two women's organizations.

Spanish songs, rhumbas, and interpretive dances were presented by Prof. Edwin Sayre's glee club in their "Spanish Nocturne" stunt for Y-Orpheum.

Membership in a glee club carries one-half hour college credit.

PUBLICATIONS

R. I. THACKREY, head of the department of journalism and printing, came to Kansas State last June, from the University of Minnesota.

Various News Organs Disseminate Campus Information to Students

CHAIRMAN of the Board of Student Publications is R. I. Thackrey, who this spring is completing his first year as head of Kansas State's department of industrial journalism and printing.

Other members of the board are H. W. Davis and E. T. Keith, faculty representatives, and three students elected by popular vote. This year Mary Jean Grentner served as secretary and Ed Abernathy and Ray Bukaty were the other student members.

Board Makes Selections

The Board, which meets when occasion demands, selects the editors and business managers of the Collegian and Royal Purple. It also determines the policies of both College publications. In addition, the members play host to the students selected for doing outstanding work on either campus organ at the annual publications dinner.

THE BOARD OF STUDENT Publications discusses the policies of the press. Left to right they are: H. W. Davis, Ed Abernathy, Ray Bukaty, R. I. Thackrey, Mary Jean Grentner, E. T. Keith.

THIS spring when the gold keys were awarded at a banquet at the Country Club those honored were: Royal Purple: Don Makins, Gene Poggemeyer, Marjorie Rogers, Peggy McClymonds, Mary Margaret Arnold, Milt Dean Hill, Ross Booth, Ray Bukaty, Jack Curtis, Gordon West, Harry Bouck, Gilbert Carl, Jack Thomasson, Byron White, Faye Clapp, Bill West, Dave Lupfer.

Win K Awards

Collegian: James Kendall, Herbert Hollinger, Mary Margaret Arnold, Kendall Evans, Robert Rathbone, Fred Parris, Jack James, Phyllis Patrick, Terry Dougherty, Grace Christiansen, Walter Martin, John Williams, Murray Mason, Bob Gahagen, William Hall, William Stevick.

C. J. Medlin, a K-State graduate himself, is the guiding hand of the College publications. To him staff members come with their trials and tribulations, and "Mex," as he is nicknamed, has an answer for everyone. Aided by his secretary, he keeps the books, files pictures of all the students represented in the yearbook, and takes care of the national advertising in both the Collegian and Royal Purple.

ancing the budget, and taking care of correspondence fill his day, although he also finds time to teach a class in newspaper management.

Collegian Presents

FORMULATING THE POLICIES of the second semester Collegian were editor Walter Martin (left) and business manager John Williams. They featured a spring fashion issue in April.

MOUTHPIECE of Kansas State students is the bi-weekly publication, The Collegian, brainchild of the College's potential journalists. Reporting and editing news of 4000 students—no small task—is delegated entirely to K-State journalists, who devote Monday and Thursday afternoons to the cause.

Publishing The Collegian entails virtually the same responsibilities and problems as those involved in a large newspaper. Sports, society, news and editorials have their own pages and editors. Advertising is handled by a separate staff.

Wins All-American

This fall, for the second consecutive time, The Collegian was awarded All-American rating in newspaper competition. Triumphant, too, was the Collegian staff when the Student Union bill, for which the paper had campaigned extensively, was passed by the State Legislature.

News of Campus

Holding the reins of the first semester Collegian were Jim Kendall, editor, and Murray Mason, business manager. Assisting the editor were Herbert Hollinger, associate editor, and Walter Martin, copy desk editor. Bob Rathbone headed the sports department and Mary Margaret Arnold was society editor. On the business staff were John Williams, Bob Gahagen and Doug Gary.

Martin Is Editor

Second semester Collegian heads were Walter Martin, editor, and John Williams, business manager. Associate editors were Kendall Evans and Bob Rathbone. Fred Parris was sports editor, and Phyllis Patrick edited the society page.

MURRAY MASON (left) and James Kendall were responsible for the business and editorial departments respectively of the first semester Collegian.

STUDIOUSLY READING campus news are these three collegiates who find the lounge in Recreation Center an ideal spot to rest and learn what the Collegian reports.

Edit Daily Capital

Carrying on a twenty-year-old tradition, Kansas State journalists journeyed to Topeka on January 29, Kansas Day, to report, write and edit the Topeka Daily Capital. Professionals for a day, students literally took over every department of the paper while the regular staff kibitzed or took a holiday.

Hollinger, City Editor

Head man and editor for the day was Herbert Hollinger. Assisting him were James Kendall, state editor, Walter Martin, copy editor, Bob Rathbone, sports editor, and Mary Margaret Arnold, woman's page editor. Approximately thirty students were on hand to help in putting out the Kansas Day paper.

Publish Names—Humor

EDITING the Student Directory entails filing and typing the names of more than 4,000 students and faculty members, arranging for the printing of the 100-page booklet that gives offices and phone numbers of all faculty members, and listing campus organizations and the presidents and sponsors.

The directory carries, in addition, the complete S.G.A. Constitution. This year Marje Rogers compiled the book and Pat Grentner was her assistant.

Kickapoo Is Suspended

Kickapoo, campus humor magazine that made its debut on the campus a year ago, after a valiant fight with student apathy and faculty censorship, suspended publication in the spring.

Edited by Victor Blanks, the magazine carried poems, articles, and stories written by students, as well as faculty contributions. Covers and art work were also designed by collegiates.

Struggling to keep the publication out of the red was Paul DeWeese, business manager, who supported Kickapoo by advertising and promoting circulation.

EDITOR MARJE ROGERS (standing) and Pat Grentner get a chuckle as they read proof on the Student Directory, but typing 4,000 names isn't all fun.

Committee in Charge

The policies of the magazine were controlled by a student-faculty committee and the two organizations which sponsored it, Theta Sigma Phi and Sigma Delta Chi.

VICTOR BLANKS GUIDED Kickapoo through a hectic existence this fall which finally ended in suspending publication of the humor magazine. Paul DeWeese (right) was business manager.

Divisional Magazines

THE KANSAS Agricultural Student, voice of the Division of Agriculture, put on new clothes this year, changing to a new nine by twelve inch coat from its old seven by ten; substituting "popularized" features in place of more technical articles, adding many pictures, an editorial page and more material about students.

The magazine is published four times yearly and is sponsored by the Agricultural Association, to which all students in the division belong. The association selects the editor, who this year was Glenn Busset.

Sent to School

Of the 1,500 copies printed, 600 go to instructors in Kansas vocational schools and to high schools teaching vocational agriculture.

Staff members include Busset, J. Stanley Winter, business manager; Robert Wagner, assistant editor; Robert Singleton, assistant business manager; C. W. Mullen, faculty sponsor; and Paul L. Dittmore, advisory editor.

for Ags—Engineers

SOMETIMES termed by its readers “the magazine that is read backwards,” the Kansas State Engineer has a dirt column, “Engine House Gleanings,” that is a work of art. But the art just begins there.

The Engineer this year was judged as having the best illustrations, the second best editorials and the third best single editorial among all magazines in engineering colleges in the nation.

Produced by Editor Al White and Business Manager Charles Webb and their staffs, it was entered in the contest of the Engineering College Magazines Associated with twenty-eight other journals.

Feature Pictorial Story

A pictorial story of an engineering subject has been featured each month in the center-spread called “Highlights in Engineering.”

A record was set in the March issue this year when a 48-page Engineer, the largest ever, came off the press. “It took that much to tell about the 1941 Open House,” the editors say.

BUSINESS MANAGER CHARLES WEBB (left) and Editor Al White are here talking over the February issue of the divisional magazine they put out. The journal is almost entirely self-supporting.

THE Kansas Magazine, first founded in 1872 and revised in 1933, is edited by Kansas State's journalism head, R. I. Thackrey. Chartered by the state as a non-profit organization, the Kansas Magazine Publishing corporation last year distributed more than 3,500 copies of the magazine.

Faculty members on the staff include R. W. Conover, associate editor; Helen Hostetter, associate editor; John F. Helm, art editor; C. J. Medlin, business manager; E. T. Keith, production manager. Ruth Maxine Dvorak is secretary of the K.M.P.C. The yearly magazine is printed on the College presses. The publication is made up of essays, fiction, verse, and pictorial art—all by Kansas residents.

Publish Alumni Paper

A K-State publication slanted for alumni is the Kansas Industrialist, weekly newspaper published by the journalism department. In its sixty-fifth year, the paper enables College authorities to keep in touch with alumni throughout the country, as well as keeping alums informed of campus happenings.

All members of the Alumni Association are subscribers to the paper edited by R. I. Thackrey. Hillier Krieghbaum, Jane Rockwell and Ralph Lashbrook are associate editors, with Kenney L. Ford, alumni editor.

JUSTLY PROUD OF the new issue of the Kansas Magazine they are looking at are John Helm, R. W. Conover, Ruth Maxine Dvorak, E. T. Keith, R. I. Thackrey, C. J. Medlin. Editor Thackrey appears especially pleased with the contents.

Provide Publicity

ALL publicity from the College concerning students, activities, and campus accomplishments comes from the office of R. R. Lashbrook, director of the College News Bureau.

Assisted by Margene Holmes, Lashbrook sends out thousands of pages of publicity material a year to various papers throughout the state. He also distributes pictures of outstanding faculty members and students to publications in this area.

Another method of disseminating news from Kansas State is the College radio station, KSAC, under the direction of the Extension Division. James Chapman is in charge of KSAC and serves as program director.

KSAC Airs Information

On the air twice daily in the morning and again in the afternoon, the radio station endeavors to give Kansas farmers and housewives helpful suggestions devised in research by different campus divisions.

RALPH LASHBROOK, director of the News Bureau and his assistant, Margene Holmes, disseminate Kansas State news to publicize College activities.

In addition to these faculty talks, students give newscasts twice daily, appear in dramatic sketches they have written themselves, and also participate in radio forums on current issues.

1941 Royal Purple

BYRON WHITE, business manager, kept the books in black ink, and handled all the advertising of this year's Royal Purple.

FIVE-TIME winner of the highest award made to College yearbooks is the record of Kansas State's Royal Purple. This year's staff, the largest in the history of the yearbook chosen from more than 100 applicants started out with an eye toward another "All American" award to hang on the office wall.

The business staff, under the management of Byron White, labored long hours making advertising layouts to sell to local merchants and also to national advertisers. The office staff, supervised by Bill West, worked nearly every day filling in picture receipts and making out the index in the spring.

Staff Kept Busy

Writing 400 pages of copy, indexing 3,000 names, and arranging for more than 4,000 pictures kept the entire staff busy and brought worried frowns to the foreheads of the various division editors.

Don Makins, editor, announced his staff in the late fall, and weary hours of pounding copy, making copy fit the page, making page layouts, and writing outlines followed. As the final copy deadline neared, even underlings let their studies go to get their pages done on time.

Records College Year

ROYAL Purple work isn't all hectic rushing however. There are trips to the engravers or to the printers for the editor and business manager . . . or bull fests in the office when the day's work is done . . . and best of all there is the satisfaction of a job well done, not to mention the opportunity for a coveted gold key for outstanding work on the annual.

It isn't all writing. There are thousands of individual pictures and informal snapshots to be taken in the fall and early spring. Gene Poggemeyer as photography editor kept photographers on the job all year. Then, after the deadline, when the other staff members enjoy the lull, the cameramen are out snapping scenes for next year's book.

ANOTHER ALL AMERICAN award was Editor Don Makins aim this year. He took pride in the lithographed natural-color cover—the first of its kind in U. S. yearbooks.

Co., Topeka, and the Burger-Baird Engraving Co., Kansas City, both had their experts on the job to make this year's Royal Purple the best and most representative ever.

"NOW THOSE PANELS WILL go right here," Editor Don Makins tells Graduate Manager C. J. Medlin, and assistant editors Gene Poggemeyer and Marjorie Rogers.

ROYAL PURPLE QUEEN OF QUEENS

Royal Purple Royalty

Most coveted honor for a Kansas State coed is to be selected Royal Purple beauty queen.

Two girls are nominated from each organized house, and independent girls are chosen by petition. Then their pictures are sent to Hollywood to be judged by some popular movie star—this year it was Cary Grant.

The four queens are presented the night of the Royal Purple beauty ball, amid excited screams from the winners' sorority sisters and dates.

Cary Grant . . . Beauty Judge

Feminine hearts went fluttering when it was announced that Cary Grant would judge Kansas State's most beautiful girl, and the masculine mind seemed to feel he'd do the job to their liking.

Two unidentified photographs of each candidate were mailed to the movie star. From these Grant made his choice.

Mr. Don Makins, Editor
1941 Royal Purple
Kansas State College
Manhattan, Kansas

Dear Mr. Makins:

When I received your request to judge Kansas State's most beautiful girl it seemed an easy and very pleasant task, but it proved to be otherwise. You have too many beautiful girls in Kansas!

Frankly, after narrowing the contestants down to about a half dozen, I felt rather baffled, so I took their portraits out on the "Penny Serenade" set and passed them around. A consensus of opinion was taken---including that of my co-star, Irene Dunne, and Producer-director George Stevens---and here are the results. We have indicated first choice with three runners-up. Their portraits are so marked.

My best to the boys and sincere admiration for the Kansas State co-eds.

Best regards.

Sincerely,

CARY GRANT

All-College Groups Include Honoraries; Top Is Phi Kappa Phi

HIGHEST honor for a Kansas State senior is election into Phi Kappa Phi, national scholastic honorary society. Chosen from the upper ten per cent of their respective divisions, members are announced in the fall and again in the spring.

Through the efforts of the local chapter of Phi Kappa Phi, founded on this campus in 1918, recognition of the College has been made by the American Association of Universities. The organization also was instrumental in making a "C" average necessary for graduation.

This year's members, by divisions and the semester of their selection were:

Mortar Board

Blue Key and Mortar Board, honorary organizations for seniors, base their membership on leadership, scholastic achievement, and participation in extra-curricular activities.

Each year, Blue Key sponsors the Blue Key homecoming ball, and the presentation of the homecoming queen besides conducting the freshman tours of the campus in the fall. With Jaek Haymaker as president, the men originated the Fieldhouse campaign.

The Spinster's Skip, when girls assume the expenses for the evening, and an annual tea for freshman girls are the two major events on Mortar Board's program. In the fall they present a plaque to the freshman girls with the highest grade average.

Blue Key

Prix

Announced at the Mortar Board Hallowe'en dinner, Prix members are chosen for their scholarship, dependability, and character. Made up of junior women, the group promotes leadership and fellowship and tries to promote a well-rounded educational life. Mary Griswold was president this year, and Miss Kathleen Knittle was faculty sponsor.

To further campus cooperation and to investigate opportunities to improve the campus as a whole are the aims of Dynamis. The club is the only organization on the campus to choose its members from the three upper classes, basing their selection on scholarship.

Robert Lank was this year's president.

Dynamis

Headed this year by Gene Fair, Scarab is a social organization to promote fellowship among the different fraternities. One member from each fraternity is chosen every semester. He is prominent in campus activities and interested in politics. The society cooperates with Senior Men's Panhellenic, and also holds a smoker in the fall. Prof. R. P. Wagers is faculty sponsor.

Scarab

This year for the first time students who had received Danforth scholarships to attend the American Youth Foundation Camp in Shelby, Mich., banded together to form the Danforth Fellows. The group, which meets three times each semester, was headed by Robert Singleton. Prof. Robert J. Eggert serves as faculty adviser for the twenty members.

MacKirdy, Slief, Freeman, Ewing, King.

Scabbard and Blade

Outstanding among the annual sights on the campus are the strenuous but entertaining Scabbard and Blade and the Mortar and Ball initiations for new members.

Both are national honorary organizations for the military-minded and differ mainly in membership. Scabbard and Blade members are prominent cadets in the advanced infantry courses, and Mortar and Ball is made up of outstanding advanced students enrolled in artillery.

Richard Cech and Lt.-Col. H. S. MacKirdy act as president and faculty sponsor respectively of Mortar and Ball.

Wampus Cats, local chapter of Pi Epsilon Pi, national pep organization for men, was headed by Mac Davidson. The group plans and helps stage pep rallies, performs on the field at football games, and otherwise tries to stir up enthusiasm at athletic contests. Dr. H. H. Haymaker is faculty adviser.

Wampus Cats

The purple coats and white sweaters and skirts of Purple Pepster members are familiar on the campus before athletic games. This local chapter of Phi Sigma Chi also helps promote pep, sponsors a Gold Digger's ball, and performs at football games. Mary Ann Bair was president this year, and Miss Katherine Geyer was the faculty adviser. Two girls from each organized house are elected into the organization, in addition to independent members.

Phi Epsilon Kappa

John Jackson was president of Phi Epsilon Kappa, national professional fraternity for men physical education students. This organization bases membership on scholarship. The local chapter meets twice each year with women physical education majors for social functions, and meets monthly to hear speeches by various athletic instructors. L. P. Washburn is faculty sponsor.

K Fraternity

K Fraternity extends membership to those men who win varsity letters. The organization sponsors a sale of freshman caps to first-year men at the beginning of the year. Members enforce their rule that the caps be worn by meeting occasionally at campus gates with paddles. K.U. Coach, F. C. "Phog" Allen, was guest speaker at one of their meetings. Wallace Swanson was president.

Back row: Duncan, Nichols, McClellan, Johnson, Yoos, York, Collins. Third row: Kelley, Payne, Rokey, Raemer, Carl, Yeo, Stover, Ward. "Above all nations is humanity" is the motto of the Cosmopolitan Club. Its purpose is to promote international understanding. Membership includes all foreign students on the campus and an equal number of Americans. Most outstanding of the events of the club is its annual "Feast of the Nations" at which each foreign member prepares and serves one of his native dishes.

Cosmopolitan Club

To encourage literary effort and criticism is the purpose of Quill Club. Ur Rune, the local chapter of the American College Quill Club, is composed of all those who have gained membership in the club by submitting a manuscript which is read and judged by a committee. "The Mirror," a magazine of creative writing, is published annually by the club.

Frog Club

Frog Club members are chosen by competitive tests, proving their ability to do various swimming strokes. The girls meet twice a month and demonstrate the fundamentals of being a mermaid. Marie Baylies headed the organization this year, and Miss Lorraine Maytum was faculty sponsor.

The Women's Athletic Association is responsible for the intramural sports and all other athletic activity for Kansas State girls. The W.A.A. council consists of one representative from each of the competing organizations. June Light was this year's president.

Literary Societies

Chief among cultural organizations at Kansas State are the four literary societies, designed for students interested in literary accomplishments. Once a week, members of each group meet to hear speakers, extemporaneous debates, discussions or book reviews.

Two members from each society compose the Inter-Society Council, which serves as a governing body for all four groups. Miss Helen Eleock is the faculty sponsor for the council and Martha Wreath is president.

Highlight of the activities sponsored by the clubs is the annual Inter-Society Oratorical contest, in which members of each group participate.

Ionian and Browning societies are organizations for women, while Hamilton and Athenian are men's clubs. The groups often have inter-society meetings and parties.

Composed of seven members from each sorority on the campus, Enchiladas is a national honorary dancing organization that aims to promote inter-sorority social fellowship.

The group meets regularly at the various chapter houses to become better acquainted and to plan the two formal parties that are held, one in the fall, the other in the spring. Since Enchiladas membership is based on dancing ability their sponsored dances are welcomed by guests.

This year Joan Nethaway was president of the group, Betty Wolf was vice president, Gwendolyn Lee, secretary, and Laura Randall, treasurer. Mrs. Mary Myers Elliott is faculty sponsor.

Officers for next year were chosen in the early spring with Jane Haymaker elected new president.

Pi Kappa Delta

Of international scope is Pi Kappa Delta, honorary forensic fraternity. Under the leadership of Faculty Sponsor Norman C. Webster and President Frank Rickel, the organization at Kansas State serves to encourage forensic achievement on the campus.

Orchesis

Orethesis, national honorary dancing society, affords Kansas State girls opportunities for dance interpretation and composition. Besides its regular meetings, the organization often appears on various other campus programs. President of Orethesis is De Arline Shull.

Back row: Ineta Ruth Neel, Margaret Dickhut, Betty Jean Hale, Betty Lee Beatty, Fay Elmore, Jeanne Sellon, Dorothy Johnstone. Middle row: Connie Blackburn, Betty Roth, Alice Gunn, De Arline Shull, Mary M. This year, the college 4-H has had an active committee endeavoring to obtain a 4-H Fieldhouse for Kansas State, while another project of the club has been the laying of plans for the annual round-up, which is held on the campus in June. At that meeting, copies of the "Who's Whoot," 4-H yearbook which contains a record of the activities of the organization, will be distributed to members throughout the state. Martha Wreath was editor and Betty Hutchinson assistant. Paul Sanford was business manager, and Gordon West, assistant.

First semester officers were: Hobart Frederick, president; Keith Thompson, vice-president; Wilma Evans, secretary-treasurer. Officers during the second semester were: Tommy Benton, president; Clayton David, vice-president; Helen Woodard, secretary-treasurer. This is the largest campus organization.

Independent Freshman Council

Independent freshmen students generally win a majority of class offices, and in addition organize a Freshman Council to oppose Greek nominees. A recreation program is provided and activities include a dance each fall in Recreation Center. The successful class officers promoted several freshman class activities.

The Independent Student Party is a political organization which meets once each semester to choose officers. There are no dues, and the group cooperates to defeat Greek students in the annual elections for class officers and student council members. Frank Rickel and Cruger Bright were in charge this year.

Coed Court

An innovation at Kansas State are the independent houses established near the campus for men and women who do not belong to Greek organizations. The groups elect officers, have regular meetings, and otherwise try to stimulate friendship and cooperation among their members.

Concordia Club

Once during the year these organizations meet for a joint party, and their officers often get together and discuss common problems.

These groups, recognized by the College, are chaperoned by Manhattan women in whose homes they live.

Led by Bertil Danielson, Concordia club is one of three such men's houses, while Coed Court, headed by Marjorie Nell Spillman, is one of seven girls' organizations.

Van Zile Hall Officers

VAN ZILE Hall, only residence hall for women at Kansas State is home for 130 coeds, who trudge the long stretch from the northeast corner of the campus daily. The dormitory was named after Mrs. Mary P. Van Zile, former dean of women.

Built in 1927, Van Zile is a popular place to stay during the school year, as evidenced by the long waiting list in the dean's office, of girls who are prospective residents.

Officers Rule Dorm

Helen Jackson was Van Zile's president the first semester, Betty Lu Titus acted as vice-president, Manette Sexson as secretary, and Virginia Hoover was treasurer.

Second semester found Miss Titus elevated to president, Helen Reiman chosen as vice-president, Irene White, secretary, and Jane Larrick, treasurer.

Residents of the hall can cooperate with the cooking, serving, cleaning, and other duties to reduce their living expenses while in school. The minimum number of hours for each girl is thirty, during which time she is supervised by seniors in institutional management who are required to live in the dormitory for one semester.

Practical for Home Ecs

In addition to creating a harmonious atmosphere for Kansas State coeds, Van Zile serves as a practice laboratory for Home Economics seniors.

Van Zilers have their own Open House in the fall to enable freshman residents to get acquainted with men students, and also hold numerous informal dances as well as their formal parties in the spring and fall. Mrs. Nina Rhoades is housemother.

VAN ZILERS can defray part of their College expenses by working in the dormitory kitchen. And they find "k.p." fun.

Each Division Boasts Numerous Organizations—
Honorary and Professional

Character, personality, and leadership are the basis for selection of members of Alpha Zeta, honorary agricultural fraternity.

Promotion of the interests of agriculture is the main objective of the organization which meets twice a month. Each year Alpha Zeta awards a gold metal to the outstanding ag freshman. Harold Fox was chancellor this year.

Klod and Kernel Klub

Membership in Klod and Kernel is restricted to students majoring in agronomy and members of the agronomy faculty. The purpose of the society is to add interest in this work and to help students and faculty members in the department to become better acquainted.

The club meets twice a month with faculty and outside speakers appearing on the programs. Henry Smies was president.

Block and Bridle

Sponsoring the Little American Royal during Farm and Home Week is the main activity of the Block and Bridle club. Members of this animal husbandry organization also sponsor student live-stock judging contests and the home economics meat identification and judging event. This year's president was Eugene Watson.

A social and professional fraternity to promote further friendship between the faculty and students is the purpose of the Agricultural Economics Club.

At the meetings held twice each month, students and faculty members led group discussion on some phase of agricultural economics. The club endeavors to secure as many prominent guest speakers as possible to speak on various subjects. During Farm and Home Week, tours were arranged by club members for the visitors.

Officers for the year were Milton Manuel, president; Kenneth Jameson, vice-president; James Booth, treasurer; Bertil Danielson, recording secretary; and William Winner, corresponding secretary. Dr. W. E. Grimes was faculty sponsor.

Horticultural Club

Sponsoring the annual "Hort Show" was the special event of the Horticultural Club this year. To further interest among the members is the purpose of the club, which meets twice a month. Dean Cassity and Walter Keith served as presidents first and second semester, respectively, with Prof. R. J. Barnett as faculty sponsor.

Dairy Club

Student dairymen interested in the study and development of cattle and dairy products are members of the Dairy Club, which meets twice a month. Highlight of the year was the sponsorship of the dairy cattle show at the Little American Royal. Presidents for first and second semester were Francis Wempe and Russell Nelson. Sponsoring of various judging contests throughout the year was a club feature.

Alpha Mu

Students in the Division of Agriculture who have been awarded scholarships by the Sears-Roebuck Agricultural Foundation are automatically members of the College Sears club. The Sears Spur is a newsletter published by the group. With Osear Norby president, the club this year numbered nearly fifty members.

Milling Association

One purpose of the Kansas State College Milling Association is to create harmony and good fellowship among students in the department. Every student miller is a member of the organization.

Officers for this year were Willard Meinecke, president; William G. Kelly, vice president; Pierce Wheatley, secretary. Morris Buckman was intramural manager and the faculty adviser was Prof. R. O. Pence.

The association meets twice a month with various faculty members of the college as speakers. Occasionally, outstanding millers are obtained as guest speakers.

Members of this professional group are well-known in the Division of Agriculture, with representatives in Alpha Zeta, honorary agricultural fraternity, and other prominent organizations.

Back row: Edmond Anderson, Wayne Godsey, C. O. Swanson, E. G. The student administrative body of the Division of Engineering and Architecture is called the Engineering Council or "council of directors." Executive officers elected at large from the division and members chosen within special groups comprise the Council. The group acts as a student council for the division and as a "go-between" among the departments.

Engineering Council

Interest in radio in the electrical engineering department is fostered by the Kansas State Radio Club. To maintain and operate an official amateur radio station at the club headquarters is the purpose of the organization. Ray Murray was president of the radio men this year.

Steel Ring

Service to the Division of Engineering and Architecture is the purpose of Steel Ring whose membership is based on leadership and scholarship. Two members are chosen from each department and two from the division at large. Each year Steel Ring awards a cup to the department presenting the best display at Open House. Roger Ghormley was president this year.

Sigma Tau

Sigma Tau, national honorary engineering fraternity, is composed of outstanding engineers from all departments. Members have assisted in many campus projects and promoted scholarship among the engineering students. Sigma Tau annually sponsors St. Pat's Prom, one of the seasons social highlights. The national conclave for Sigma Tau was held on the campus last fall.

Electrical engineering students at Kansas State are brought together in mutual friendship by the local chapter of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers. The institute forms a definite link between the student engineers and the electrical engineers in the practicing field. The student branches are promoted in order to prepare the student to take his place in the active field of electrical engineering.

The local chapter has carried on an extensive program during the past year with the idea of giving the students a better professional backing. Officers of the organization were Dick Allen, president; Ray Murray, vice-president; Donald Musil, recording secretary; Robert Peterson, corresponding secretary; Laurence Slief, treasurer. Professor R. G. Kloeffer is faculty sponsor.

Schwartz, Victor Stockebrand, Garland Childers, James Adams, Harold Lechron, Aven Eshelman, Harley Lucas, Shelly Lane.

American Road Builders Association

Better professional relationship with those in the road building field is the purpose of the student branch of the American Road Builders' Association. Junior and senior civil engineers are eligible for membership. Under the presidency of Kenneth Henry the association carried on an active program during the year. Other officers were Emory Bond, vice-president; Melvin Scanlan, treasurer; and Harley Lucas, secretary.

American Society of Civil Engineers

All juniors and seniors of the civil engineering department are members of the student chapter of the American Society of Civil Engineers. Upon graduation, a student may apply for membership in the national society at a nominal rate. Emory Bond was president of A.S.C.E. this year. Prof. M. W. Furr is faculty sponsor.

The student branch of the American Institute of Architects is enjoying its second year of existence on the campus of Kansas State College. The organization, one of the first in its field in the United States, brings the member architects into close contact with professional architects. Professor Paul Weigel, who is faculty adviser of the group, is one of the chief promoters of this organization in this country.

American Institute of Architects

With a membership of approximately thirty men, the student branch of the American Society of Agricultural Engineers is a potent factor in correlating the work of the student engineer with that of the practical world. This organization, one of the oldest of its kind on the campus, is under the leadership of Gerald Van Vleet. Prof. F. C. Fenton is faculty adviser of the group.

Eta Kappa Nu

Beta Kappa chapter of Eta Kappa Nu, under the presidency of Garold Way, is another honorary fraternity fostering high scholastic standing. This organization, however limits its membership to student electrical engineers. Eta Kappa Nu presents an award to the outstanding sophomore in the electrical department each year and helps with the annual Engineers' Open House.

Pi Tau Sigma

With two of its charter members still on its active roll, Pi Tau Sigma, newly organized fraternity, offers recognition to the outstanding students of the department of mechanical engineering by voting them in as members. The organization, under the leadership of Bert Sells, plays an active role in orienting freshmen Mechanicals.

It has often been said that the mechanical engineering department offers one of the best balanced courses in the Division of Engineering and Architecture, being well represented in many different fields of engineering by its graduates. The department offers three options to the upper classmen.

Through the student branch of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, to which most of the juniors and seniors belong, the “mechanicals” are offered excellent encouragement to debate and to present technical papers at their annual meetings. The student branch at Kansas State this year was under the leadership of Graham Mellquist, student chairman. Mellquist was also president of the senior mechanical engineering class while William Fitzsimmons headed the junior group.

Mechanical Engineers

The sophomores as well as the junior and senior classes of this department have their own seminars to which they invite prominent men to be guest speakers. These seminars are not always devoted to speakers, however. Some are devoted to planning picnics and others feature technical movies.

The "mechanicals" from Kansas State are not backward when it comes to walking off with victories in debates and with top honors in the presentation of papers. A debate team of Phillip Myers, Richard Breckenridge, Joe Blackburn, and Vincent Ellis took the honors at a debate held last fall in Tulsa, Okla.

Glider Club

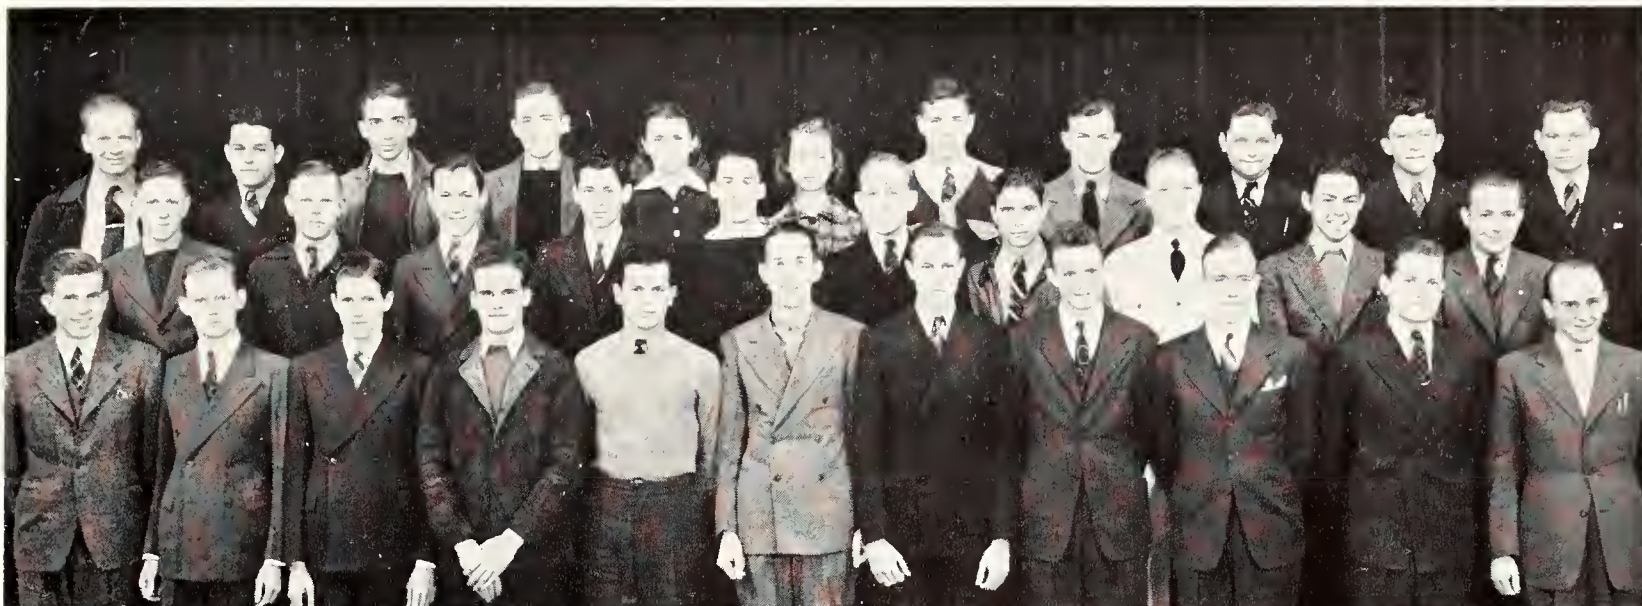

Howard Turtle guided the Kansas State Glider Club through its tenth year on the campus. Made up of both students and faculty members who share a common interest in motorless flying, the group meets monthly to discuss gliders, and also to fly their McFarland glider, which they bought last year.

Only a year old, the Flying Wildcats endeavor to create and maintain a feeling of cooperation and fellowship among men enrolled in the civilian pilot training course at Kansas State. In addition they strive to promote scholarship and increased interest in aviation progress. C. E. Pearce is faculty adviser.

American Institute of Chemical Engineers

Hugh Shade led the American Institute of Chemical Engineers through another active year. The group seeks to cooperate with other chapters of the organization throughout the United States, thus making valuable contacts. They also aim to establish friendly relationships with individual students in the department.

Courses in chemical engineering were only recently integrated into a separate department, spurring A.I.Ch.E. members to greater achievements. Although engineers have little time for fun in addition to their heavy curricula, the Institute has "get-acquainted" meetings plus an educational program.

W. L. Faith, head of the newly created department is the faculty adviser.

Engineers' Open House a Feature

TRADITION would have it that this year's Open House was better than all the twenty that preceded it, for each year the event becomes better in quality of presentation and larger in number in attendance.

Open House visitors, numbering 16,000, were surprised to learn that the show was put on entirely by student engineers, for there was a professional atmosphere about the whole presentation which raised it above the ordinary standards of student work.

An Annual Success

Engineers' Open House is one of the most outstanding annual events on the Kansas State campus from the standpoint of quality and the statewide publicity it receives.

Several hundred student engineers under the leadership of Bert Sells and Larry Spear, manager and secretary respectively, joined in making this year's show the success that it was.

Civils Win Trophy

The civil engineering department, under the leadership of Garland Childers, copped top honors in inter-departmental competition by winning the Steel Ring trophy, presented each year to the department whose exhibits are judged the best.

Theta Sigma Phi

Top-notch women journalists make up the membership of Theta Sigma Phi, national professional group. Among the activities Theta Sig sponsored this year were a Dutch Treat varsity, a Spinster's Skip, and a book sale. Jennie Marie Madsen's was the guiding hand, and Miss Jane Rockwell was faculty sponsor.

Comparable to Theta Sigma Phi, is Sigma Delta Chi, professional organization for men journalists. The group planned several smokers for outstanding visiting journalists, and also sent president Herbert Hollinger to the national convention in Des Moines. Both clubs cooperated in printing a college humor magazine the first semester. Hillier Krieghbaum was faculty adviser for SDX.

Alpha Kappa Psi

Alpha Kappa Psi, national professional commerce fraternity, is an honorary organization for men enrolled in Business Administration. Alpha Omega chapter, one of 55 in the nation, was headed this year by Bernard Nash. The group meets twice a month, and climaxes the year's activities with a banquet in the spring.

Business Students Association

The Business Students Association is one of the newest departmental organization names on the hill. Formerly called the Commerce Association, the group meets monthly and hears advice on how to meet the problems of the business world from prominent speakers. They also sponsor an inspection trip to Kansas City in the spring. Keith Schmedemann was president this year.

Nancy Wilkins was this year's president of Mu Phi Epsilon, honorary music fraternity for women. The group proposes to further American musical standards and to stimulate music appreciation. Each spring a recital is held in which every member participates. Miss Clarice Painter is faculty sponsor.

Mu Phi Epsilon

Members of Phi Lambda Upsilon must be chemistry majors who show promise of leadership. Warren Grubb was president of the society which this year honored two students for scholastic achievement. They also entertained freshman chemistry majors at a banquet in the fall. Dr. J. H. Shenk is faculty sponsor.

Popenoe Entomological Club

Popenoe Entomological Club is a professional and social club which meets regularly to listen to original research by members in the field of insect study. The group was named in honor of a former head of the department of entomology at Kansas State. Everett Blood headed the society, which includes both students and professors. Donald A. Wilbur is faculty sponsor.

Pi Mu Epsilon

Pi Mu Epsilon endeavors to encourage scholarship and development among students who are mathematically inclined. The organization is composed of students, graduates and faculty members who have a high scholastic average in mathematics subjects. W. C. Janes was this year's president.

The organization was installed on the campus in 1935.

Marjorie Spurrier was awarded the 25 dollar prize offered by Phi Alpha Mu for having the highest scholarship record for junior women. This is only one of the many activities of this honorary society for girls in the Division of General Science. Kathryn Blevins was this year's president, and Miss Helen Elcock is faculty adviser. Phi Alpha Mu often has the highest scholastic record of any campus organization.

Members of Phi Delta Kappa are chosen from the faculty of the College and the public schools. The choice is based on scholarship and personality as fitness for teachings. Robert Williams was the president this year. Dr. O. W. Alm is faculty adviser for this professional education group, founded in 1922 on the Kansas State campus.

Home Economics Executive Council

Omicron Nu is a national home economics professional society which chooses its members from the senior class and second semester juniors. The choice is based on scholarship, character, and leadership.

Home Economics Freshman Council

If you are young, inexperienced, and don't quite know what college is all about, you're lucky. That is if you're a home ec freshman assigned to a home ec counsellor. Freshman counsellors are a group of junior and senior women selected to aid in orienting new girls on the campus. They explain problems in choosing curricula and in personal perplexities.

In the spring the counsellors attend a training school taught especially for them by Miss Margaret Raffington. In the fall they put their theories in practice by holding individual conferences with the freshmen and leading group discussion meetings.

These freshmen counsellors are responsible to the executive council and the faculty for their discussion and counseling groups.

Kansas State's Division of Veterinary Medicine is ranked near the top of the ten colleges in the United States offering such a course. Although it is a professional course with many possibilities of employment, the division keeps the enrollment down—allowing only sixty new students a year.

This process of selection results in high scholastic averages and eliminates students in college for “the ride.”

Course Is Tough

Admittedly the “roughest” curriculum on the hill, veterinary medicine is a five year course with clinic practice offered during the senior year.

Students in the division have their own organization, the junior chapter of the American Veterinary Medical Association. The society is a combined literary, social, and professional group, and is quite popular with the students. R. D. Immenschuh was this year's president, and Dean R. R. Dykstra is the faculty advisor.

Fight, a Feature

Among activities of the vets is the annual clash with the ags, which, though riotous, provides a lot of fun for everyone. More serious, but no less entertaining, are the two parties sponsored by the Jr. A.V.M.A. the fall “Jav-marack,” and the semi-formal dinner dance held each spring.

The division also awards prizes to the students who excel in efficiency, pathology, therapeutics, and physiology.

Denominational Groups Play Active Part

KANSAS State's religious organizations work on the principle that a college student needs religious education, a chance for an interchange of ideas through discussions, and a social life supervised by the church. To that end each student is offered an extensive program in which he can participate as much as he desires.

The college Y.M.C.A. and Y.W.C.A. offer such a program to all students, regardless of their church preference, and each church has its own activities for members. The various groups cooperate to bring to the campus for two days, the annual Christian World Forum featuring outstanding speakers in religious thought. These men and women lead discussion groups, give lectures, and grant personal interviews to students seeking solutions to their problems.

Boast Many Members

Dorothy Axcell was president of Y.W.C.A., whose membership was more than 600. Their activities included the sponsorship of Aggie Pop, annual stunt night, college sister work, the Christmas bazaar, and weekly radio programs. Erma Murray is executive secretary, serving in both an executive and advisory capacity. Those girls holding key positions in the association are members of the Y.W.C.A. Cabinet. This group makes the initial plans and is the central organizing power for the many Y.W.C.A. activities.

Religious Federation

The purpose of the Kansas State College Religious Federation is to coordinate the religious efforts of the denominational groups on the campus. It sponsors four union meetings of all church groups during the year, religious emphasis week in the fall, and cooperates on other religious projects on the campus. The federation is made up of two representatives from each student religious organization and the advisers and ministers of all religious groups.

Y.M.C.A.

The Y.M.C.A., since it was moved to this campus in 1920, has functioned to promote service on the campus. It offers religious and social fellowship. Y-Orpheum and Band Day are its major projects. The group also sponsors an annual fall watermelon feed and football kick-off, dime dances and the all-school mixer. Ralph York was this year's Y.M.C.A. president.

Social companionship in the form of picnics, hikes, and parties, in addition to a complete religious program, constitute the aims of the Baptist Young People's Union. More than 60 students participate in the activities, which are supervised by Dr. A. A. Holtz and Stella M. Harriss.

Vernon Holman headed the group which sponsors Sunday morning Bible school as well as a regular evening service.

Twice each month Theta Epsilon, Baptist girls' organization, meets to discuss religious and social problems that confront them. In addition, they have parties and various projects throughout the year. Once each spring the girls meet with other women's religious groups for a get-acquainted party. Irma Popp was president, and Miss Stella Harriss was faculty sponsor.

Congregational Good Fellowship Society

Sunday night vesper services, monthly social functions, and numerous discussion groups make up the program of the Congregational Good Fellowship Society. The organization, headed by Marie Cron, endeavors to give students with Congregational preference a well-balanced social and religious life.

The society is sponsored by the local church, and participates in the regular church program.

Newman Club

The Newman Club, organization for Catholic students, offers religious training and instruction to the Catholics of the campus, in addition to providing them with social good times. Their program includes occasional picnics, dances, and monthly Sunday-morning breakfast meetings. Ray Bukaty was president this year, and M. F. Ahearn was faculty adviser.

Rev. E. J. Weisenberg leads discussion groups on social, economic, and religious problems that face the student of today.

MORE THAN ONE hundred Newman Club members pose on the steps of Seven Dolors Catholic church after an early morning mass. Average attendance is well over the hundred mark the first Sunday of each month when meetings are held in the church basement. President Bukaty is shown in black suit in center of front row.

MEMBERS OF THE Christian Endeavor are shown on the church steps following a morning service. The C.E., as it is commonly known, boasts a large attendance of college students. This group is one of the two active organizations sponsored by the Christian Church.

Providing fellowship and spiritual guidance for young people is the Christian Endeavor of the Christian church. Members of the organization meet every Sunday evening for a social hour, vesper service and a forum. Highlight of the year's program is the annual Christian Youth banquet, at which Dr. Douglas Horton, on the campus for the World Forum, spoke this year.

Sponsors of the group are the Rev. and Mrs. J. David Arnold. This year's C.E. president was Oscar Norby.

Christian Endeavor

Kappa Beta, national sorority for Christian church college women, was established here in 1913 by the Rev. J. David Arnold and is now one of nine national chapters. Meetings twice a month center around cultural and religious interests. President of Kappa Beta this year was Mary Evelyn Nielson. Mrs. J. David Arnold sponsors the group.

Gamma Delta

Harold Rall presided over Gamma Delta, organization of Missouri Synod Lutheran college students, this year. The group, which numbers about 40, met each Sunday night for discussion and business meetings. Suppers are served every other Sunday. The Rev. H. H. Frohn, pastor of the local Lutheran church, serves as faculty adviser for the society.

Lutheran Student Association

The Lutheran Student Association provides a religious "home" for students connected with the Lutheran church. They hope to build up a national and international fellowship among Lutheran collegiates. In addition they planned parties and hikes and organized various discussion groups.

Bertil Danielson was president of the organization, and the faculty sponsors were Inez Ekdahl, Dena Cederquist, and the Rev. H. H. Frohn.

The Presbyterian Christian Endeavor offers its members an effective combination of social and religious activities with its Sunday evening meetings and frequent entertainments. Outstanding among the year's events is the annual Easter breakfast held at the church.

Open to all Presbyterian students, the organization is sponsored by the Rev. W. U. Guerrant and was headed this year by Marjorie Spurrier.

Presbyterian Christian Endeavor

Organized for the purpose of fostering friendly relation among girls of the Presbyterian church is Phi Chi Delta. The group's fifty-five members have a monthly dinner meeting besides a regular business meeting. Programs this year were on "The Road of Life."

President of this year's group was Ruth Campbell. Mrs. W. U. Guerrant is the sponsor.

Phi Alpha

Serving as a medium to bring the college men of the Presbyterian church into closer fellowship is Phi Alpha. Membership, however, is not limited to that denomination. At monthly meetings the members gather to discuss common problems, hear a faculty member or an out-of-town speaker. The group was organized and is still sponsored by the Rev. W. U. Guerrant. President of Phi Alpha this year was John Koger.

Young People's Christian Union

An organization for United Presbyterian college students is the Young People's Christian Union. Discussion groups and outside speakers make the regular Sunday evening meetings interesting in aiding the young people in solving their personal problems. Dr. and Mrs. A. M. Reed are the sponsors of the group. President of the young people's society this year was Fred Germann.

Back row: Roy Currie, Rowene McMaster, Lela Ruth Nye, Alta Inskip, Mary Phillips, Eugenia Currie, Gladys West. Middle row: Donald Anderson, Marian Moeller, Mrs. A. M. Reed, Dr. A. M. Largest denominational group on the campus. Wesley Foundation members pose on the steps of the Methodist temple following a Sunday morning worship service. Average attendance is more than 200.

An organization with 1,736 members is bound to take a lot of work and more than a little time. Headed by Doyle LaRosh, Wesley Foundation this spring completed its nineteenth active year on the campus.

Wesley Foundation

Designed to provide a home away from home, the Methodist church provides a recreation room and kitchen facilities for all Methodist preference students. Every Saturday night finds Methodists congregating for a hike or party, and Sunday's program includes morning worship, an evening social hour, and Wesley Foundation League.

The Wesley Foundation cabinet, made up of thirty students, meets monthly to plan the activities for the next month and to make suggestions and criticisms of the program. The entire group is supervised and sponsored by the Rev. and Mrs. B. A. Rogers.

Besides their regular activities, the organization has a banquet for senior members in the spring, a weekly newspaper, and sponsors gospel teams that travel throughout the state.

The other half of the Wesley Foundation Sunday school attenders crowd in for their picture. This is the first service of four during the day.

Kappa Phi

“Every Methodist college girl of today a leader in the Church of tomorrow” is the motto of Kappa Phi. With more than 80 members, the organization holds meetings twice a month at which they discuss religious problems and personality development.

Headed by Welcome Bender, Kappa Phi girls cooperate on Christmas charities, and other projects. Once each semester they have a joint meeting with Phi Tan Theta and also occasional social functions. Mrs. B. A. Rogers is the sponsor.

Phi Tau Theta

Phi Tan Theta, Methodist young men's organization, meets every two weeks to participate in devotional programs or discussions of religious topics. Ralph Perry was this year's president, and the Rev. B. A. Rogers was adviser for the group. The Methodist men were active in the organization.

Wise Club endeavors to bring Episcopalian young people together for fellowship and religious education. Composed of over forty members, the group urges students to join and partake of the many benefits of the organization.

Wise Club

Darcy Doryland is president of the club, and Emma Hyde, the Rev. C. R. Davies, and Miss Dorothy Barfoot are faculty advisers.

Connected with the local church, Wise Club members participate in church programs, as well as meeting on Sunday evenings for fellowship suppers and discussions of student problems.

Whenever a student hits a snag in his religious thinking or has a problem on his hands he feels free to call on Father Davies for help. The group is also interested in social welfare work.

Sixty chapters of Alpha Delta Pi have been established since the sorority was founded in 1861. The local chapter was founded in 1915.

Officers this year were Rose marie VanDiest, president; Barbara Schenk, vice - president; Mona Marie Jones, secretary; Margaret Hardenbrook, treasurer; Ruth Brunner, Panhellenic representative. Mrs. Ransom Stephens is the sorority housemother, and Mrs. John Hepler is chapter adviser.

The chapter house, located at 518 Sunset received an addition much welcomed by members last summer to be used this year. The new addition included a popular recreation room.

ALPHA XI DELTA

Taking college life seriously were the Alpha Xi Deltas, who ranked first among sororities in scholarship for the year 1939-40. Virginia Delano, Bernice Horton and Dorothy Triplett are members of Phi Alpha Mu, honorary general science society for women.

Fifty-four chapters of Alpha Xi have been established since its founding in 1893 at Galesburg, Ill. Alpha Kappa chapter was organized here in 1922.

Chapter officers this year were Vanora Weber, president; Lorraine Shepardson, vice-president and Panhellenic representative; Jacqueline Eidson, secretary; Irene Sloan, treasurer. Mrs. Golda Brann is house-mother, and Miss Dorothy Barfoot, an Alpha Xi alumna and faculty member, is the chapter adviser.

Alpha Xi's don't neglect their social life with frequent spreads and parties at the chapter house.

CHI OMEGA

Queens are plentiful in the Chi Omega house: homecoming queen was Fay Elmore; Bette Bonecutter Mason won honors as one of the Royal Purple beauty queens, and Lois Mary Robinson reigned as a princess at the Ag Barnwarmer. Jo Lann represented Chi O in Mortar Board.

Founded in Fayetteville, Ark., in 1895. Chi Omega now boasts ninety-five active chapters. Kappa Alpha chapter was installed here twenty-six years ago.

The X and horseshoe officers were Marian Boomer, president; Eloise Morris, vice president; Emy Lou Ragland, secretary; Winifred Boomer, treasurer. Mary Griswold was Panhellenic representative. Dr. Mary T. Harmon is chapter adviser, and Mrs. P. J. Groody is the sorority housemother.

CLOVIA

Organized on the Kansas State campus September 4, 1931, for girls who are interested in 4-H Club work, Clovia is well represented in 4-H circles. Wilma Evans is secretary of the Collegiate 4-H Club and Betty Hutchinson acts as assistant business manager of Who's Whoot, state 4-H publication.

Presiding over Clovia this year were Wilma Evans, president; Roberta Vawter, vice president first semester, Ocie Alice Taylor, second semester;

Freda McNickle, secretary; Grace Evans, treasurer. Betty Hutchinson was Panhellenic representative.

Mrs. George Farmer is the Clovia housemother and Mrs. M. H. Coe is the chapter adviser. Faculty members include Mable Smith, Mary Elsie Border, and Gertrude Allen.

Clovia went national this year when another chapter was established at Iowa State.

The chapter house is at 303 N. Sixteenth.

Tri Delts came in for their share of queenly glory this year when Barbara Schmidt was chosen Homecoming Queen attendant, and when Cary Grant selected Jean Bishop as a Royal Purple beauty queen. Activity girl of the crescent-wearers is Jennie Marie Madsen, president of Women's Panhellenic and Theta Sigma Phi, and chosen by the Royal Purple as one of the outstanding seniors.

Founded Thanksgiving eve, 1888, in Boston, Mass., Delta

Delta Delta now has an active chapter roll of eighty-seven. The chapter at Kansas State was installed in 1915.

Officers were Betty Wolf, president; Helen Kirk, vice-president; Mary Morris, secretary; Marion Penley, treasurer; Margaret Mack, Panhellenic representative.

The Tri Delt act won first place at the annual Y-Orpheum this spring, carrying out a patriotic theme.

KAPPA DELTA

In their white colonial house Kappa Delt girls extended hospitality in all directions this year by way of frequent and novel parties. Bringing recognition to the sorority were Dorolyn Johnsmeyer, outstanding in Manhattan Theatre plays, Marjorie Gould, a St. Patricia nominee, and Beth Sirridge, elected vice-president of W.A.A.

Seventy active chapters of Kappa Delta have been established since the founding of the sorority at Farmville, Va., in 1897. The local chapter was granted its charter in 1920.

Officers of the sorority this year were Jane Baker, president; Ruth Remick, vice-president; Gloria Swanson, secretary; Betty McLeod, treasurer. Ruth Remick was Panhellenic representative.

Mrs. A. A. Holtz acts as the chapter adviser. Mrs. Ellen Running served her first year as Kappa Delt housemother.

ZETA TAU ALPHA

Founded 'way down South—Farmville, Ala., to be exact—in 1898, Zeta Tau Alphas have retained their reputation for that good old Southern hospitality. Dinner dances and open houses at the sorority house were frequent.

Active chapters of Zeta Tau now number seventy-nine. Beta Upsilon's tenth birthday on the Kansas State campus occurs May 4 this year. The sorority is one of the most recently established ones on the campus.

Zeta Tau officers this year were Aldine Spessard, president; Marie Reinhardt, vice-president; Ruth Douglas, secretary; Ruth Martin, treasurer; Betty Boehm, Panhellenic representative. Miss Lueile Rust, a faculty member, is the chapter adviser. Mrs. O. L. Horner is the housemother.

Faculty alumnae include Alpha Latzke.

Beta Upsilon chapter, located at 1906 Leavenworth, is the outgrowth of a local organization, Alpha Theta Chi.

Council Governs Sorority Activities

A COMPLETELY revised set of rushing rules complicated this year's rush week, but Women's Panhellenic Council spent many hours ironing out the offending details and promise that next fall will find rush week running smoother.

The Council not only governs women's panhellenic life, but issues a pamphlet each year to prospective rushees explaining the sorority system. They rule rush week with a firm hand, and also sponsor the spring inter-fraternity sing.

The presidency of the organization is rotated so that no one sorority retains leadership. This year Jennie Marie Madsen was president, Mary Griswold was vice president, Ruth Brunner was secretary treasurer.

Every spring the Women's Panhellenic honors the four outstanding women in each sorority at a luncheon, designed to promote good feeling among coed greeks.

Senior Group Heads Fraternities

Serving as the coordinating link for the nineteen fraternities on the campus, Senior Men's Panhellenic sponsors the Homecoming decorations contest and cooperates with Women's Panhellenic to put on the inter-fraternity Sing.

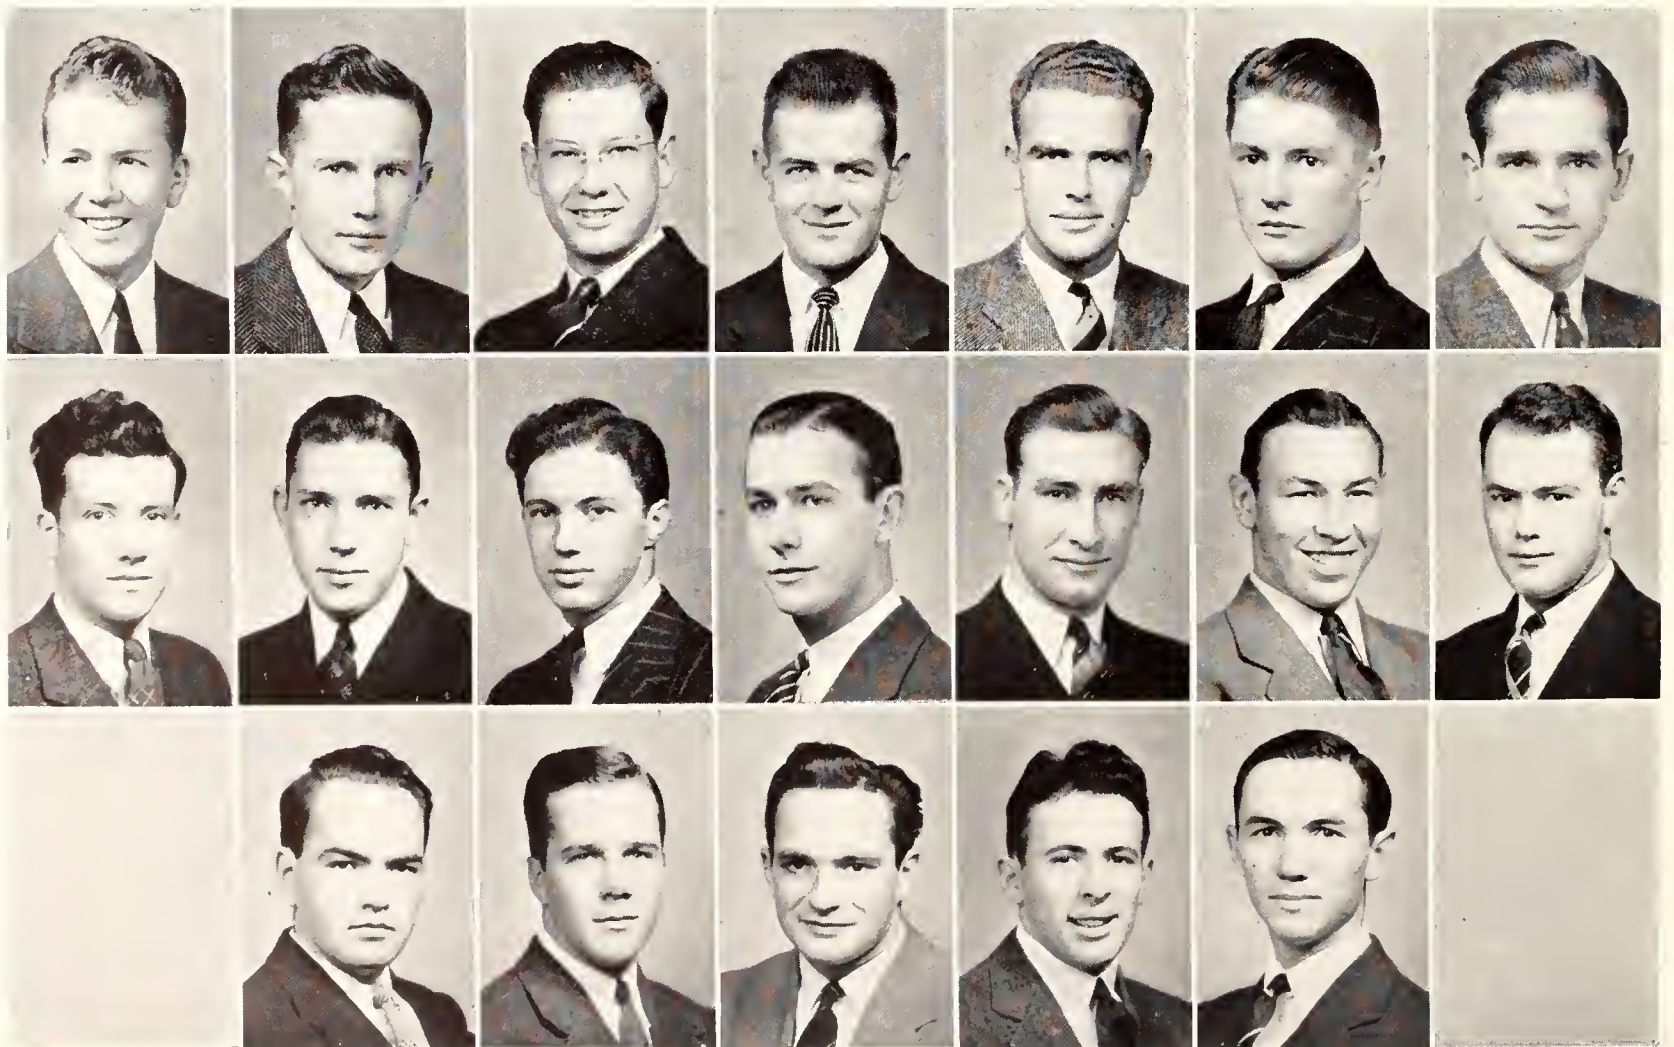

Officers for this year were president Jack Haymaker; vice president, Louis Noel; secretary-treasurer, Martin Kadets. Second semester, Wayne Deaver headed the group.

Composed of one member from each fraternity, the organization meets once every two weeks at one of the various houses. They also have a formal dance in the fall that is a highlight of the social season.

To Senior Men's Panhellenic falls the job of disciplining fraternities that break rush rules or fail to cooperate with the group.

Originating as a national college society for Masons, Acacia was founded in 1904. The local chapter was established in 1913, and in 1933 Masonic requirements for membership were dropped.

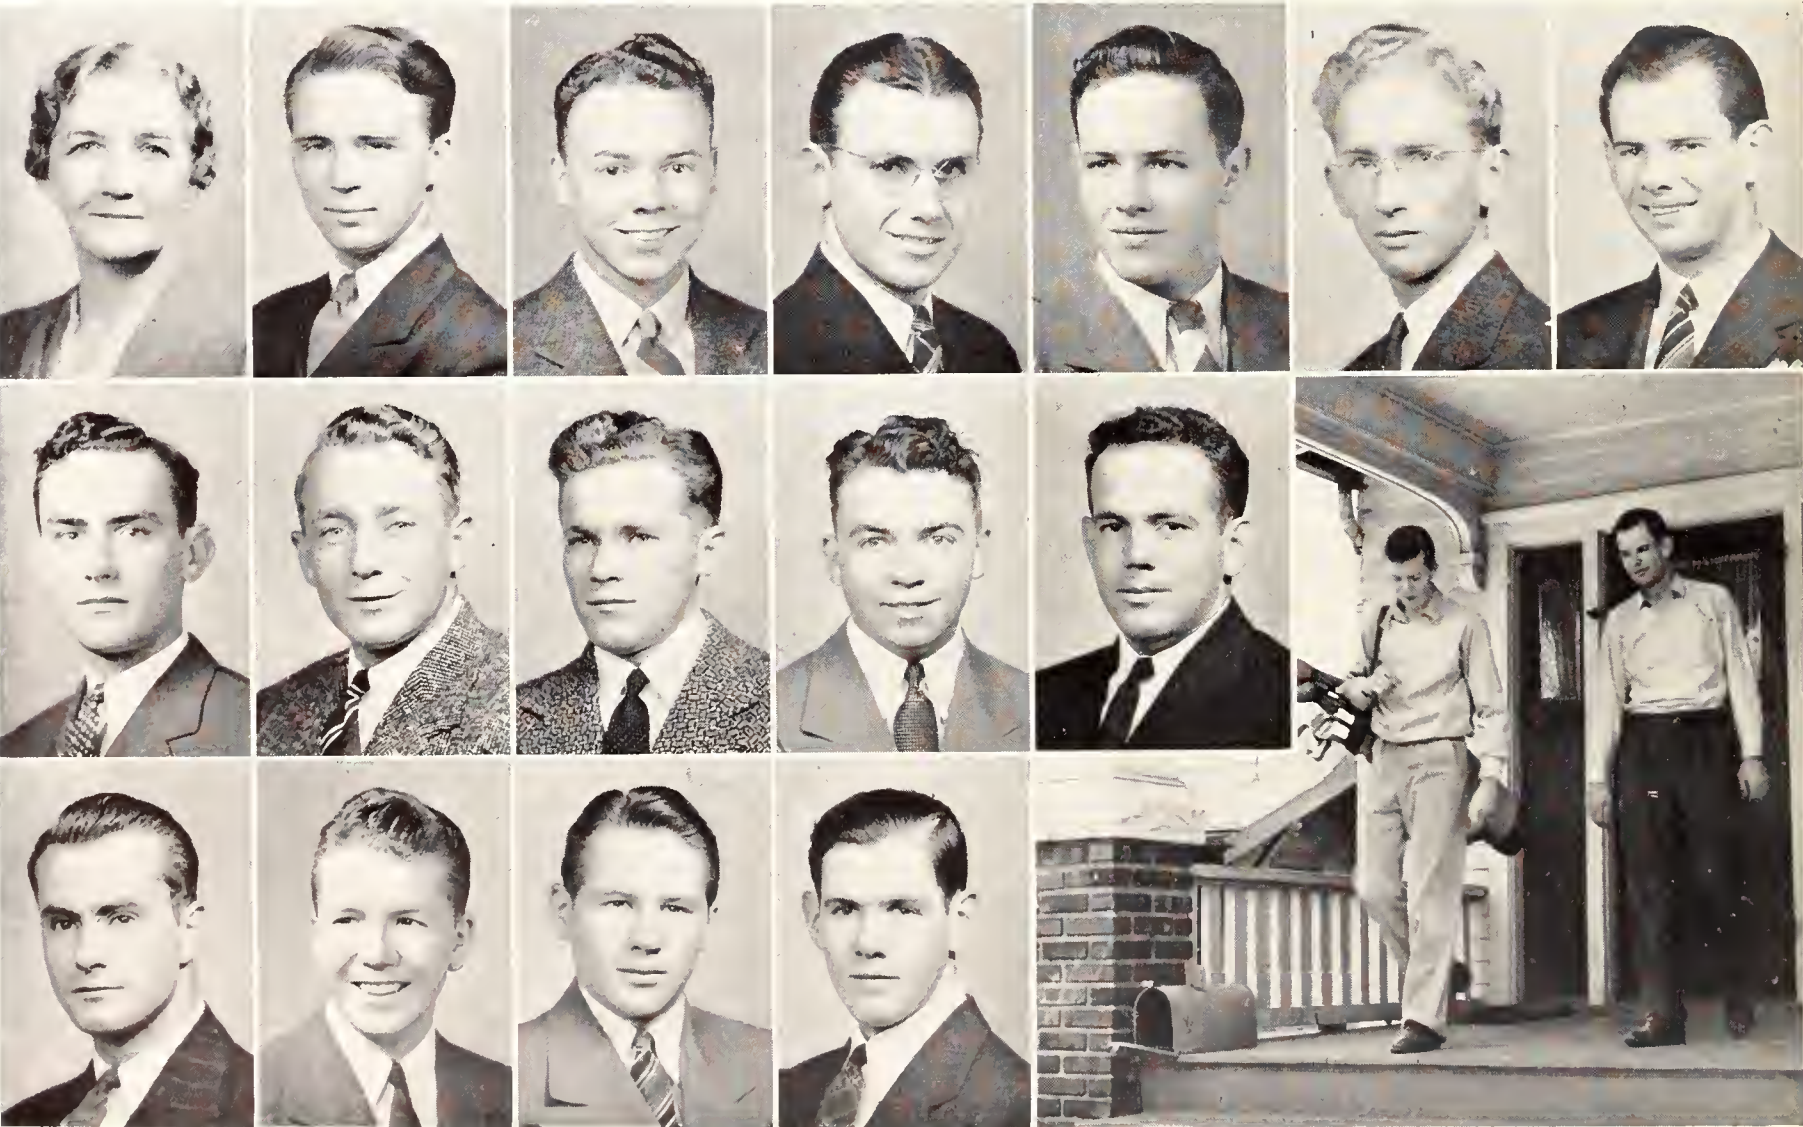

Major event on the K-State campus was the publishing of Acacia alumnus Dr. J. T. Willard's book, "History of Kansas State College."

Officers this year were James Sealey, president; Charles Hodgson, vice-president; Darrell Bozarth, secretary; Irvin Hodgson, treasurer and Panhellenic representative. Prof. V. D. Foltz is chapter adviser, and Mrs. Ella Lyles is house-mother.

Faculty members are Dr. R. J. Barnett, Prof. W. R. Brackett, Dr. L. D. Bushnell, Kenney L. Ford, and Dr. C. V. Williams.

ALPHA GAMMA RHO

Alpha Gamma Rho rolls read like a list of who's who on K-State judging teams, for they have seven team members.

The national fraternity was founded in 1908 at Indianapolis, Ind., and the local group was organized in 1927. There are 31 active chapters.

AGR's won the intramural championship for the spring of 1940, as well as the Sickie and Sheaf trophy from the national office for two consecutive years.

Officers of the group were: president, HoBart Frederick; vice-president, Richard Evans; secretary, Gerald Van Vleet; treasurer, Kenneth Jameson; Panhellenic representative, Robert Lank. Mrs. Olive Kipfer was housemother, and B. R. Patterson was chapter adviser.

Prominent in campus activities were Bob Lank, retiring president of Dynamis, Fred Walker as in-coming president, and Gerald Van Vleet, a member of the wrestling squad.

ALPHA KAPPA LAMBDA

Alpha Kappa Lambda was founded at the University of California in 1914, and the local chapter had its beginning in 1930. Active chapters now total eight.

Each fall the group entertains faculty members at a tea, and this year they introduced their new housemother, Mrs. R. B. McCarroll, to Kansas State.

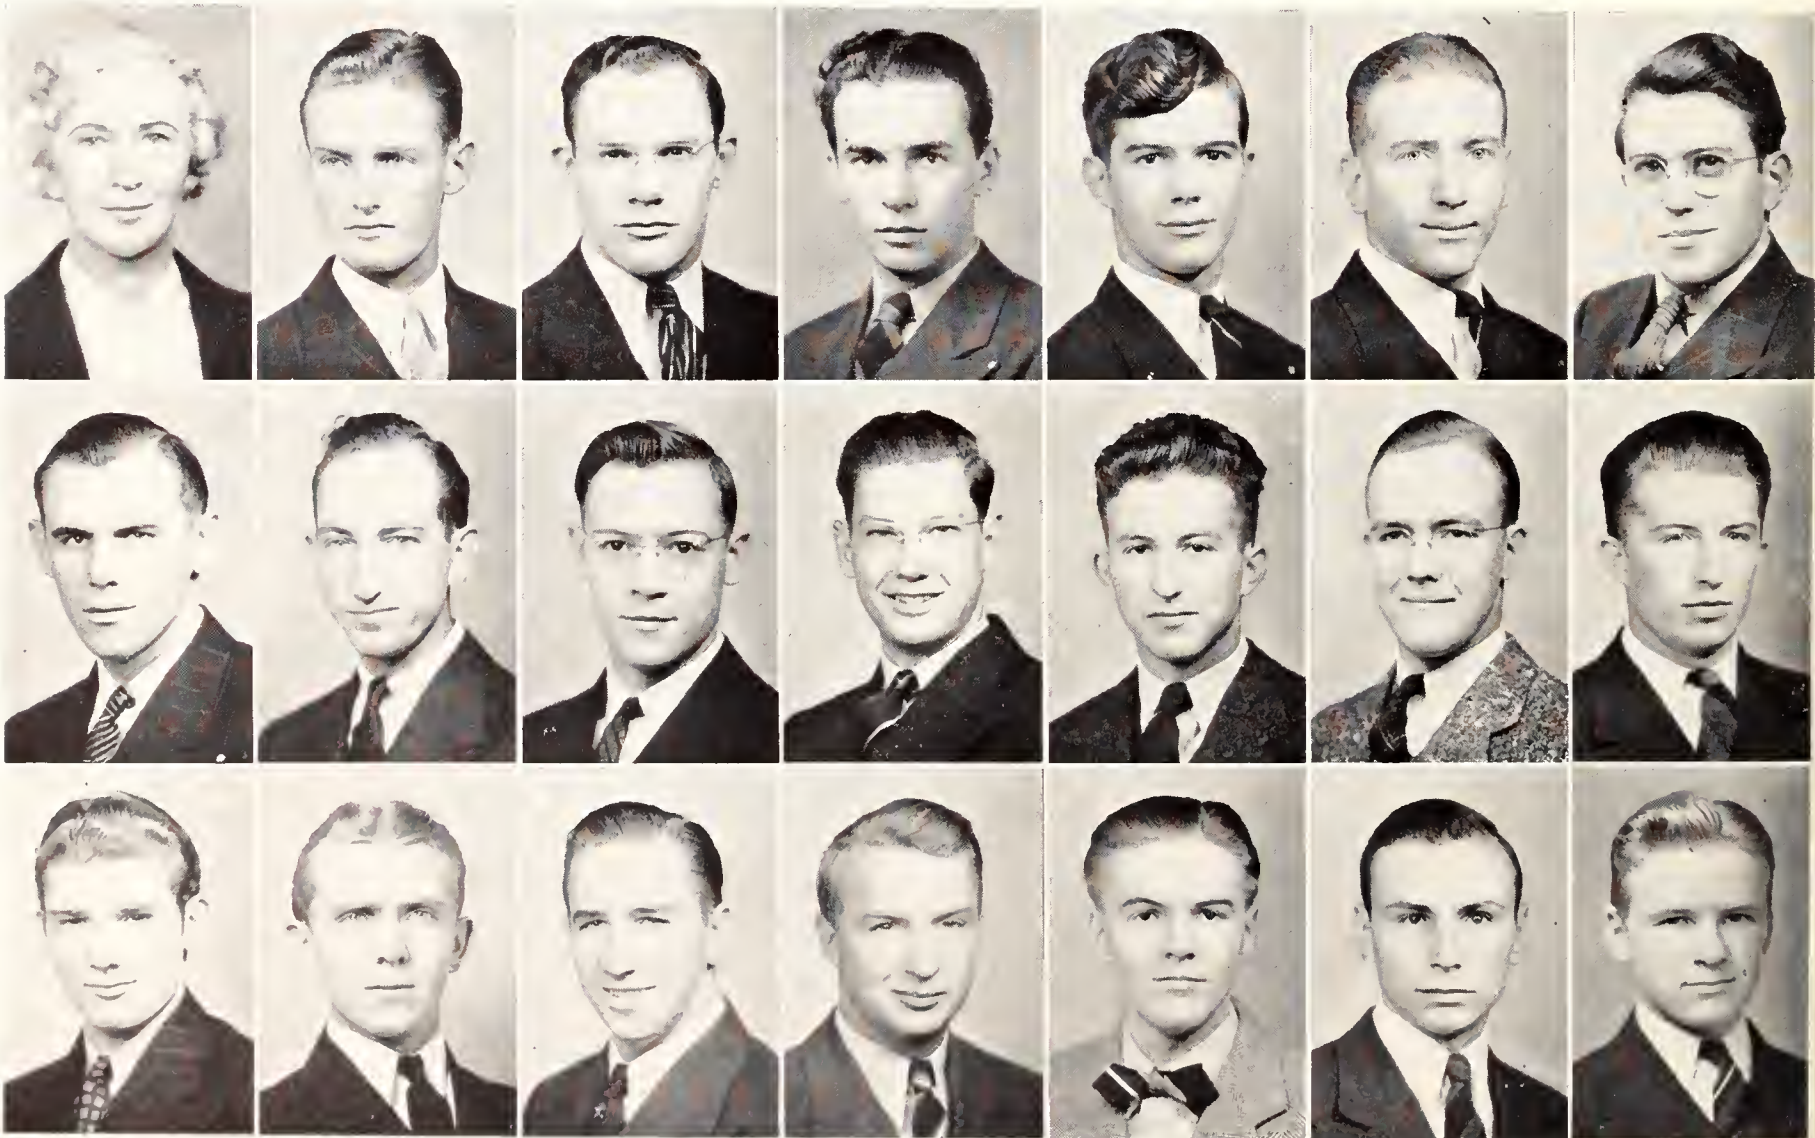

Chapter officers included: Kenneth Henry, and Hugh Shade, presidents first and second semesters, respectively; vice-president, Howard Anderson; treasurer, Merton Badenhop; secretaries Eugene Haun and Don Bertholf. Charles Rindom was Panhellenic representative, and James Chapman was faculty adviser.

Members in the faculty include: Dr. John W. Greene, Dr. A. A. Holtz, Dr. J. A. Hodges, C. O. Price, and H. M. Stewart.

A definite national policy of the fraternity is to participate in christian activities and maintain high scholarship.

Top row: Mrs. R. B. ALPHA TAU OMEGA

Back to the days of the pioneers went the A T O's to stage one of the most original parties of the year. The "Frontier Party," strictly a costume affair, is an annual campus event.

Prominent on the football roster were Don Munzer, Norbert Naemer, and Jim Watkins. In basketball and baseball competition Kenneth Graham was outstanding.

Since its founding in 1865 in Richmond, Va., Alpha Tau Omega has established ninety-four chapters. Kansas Delta Theta chapter has been organized since 1920.

Chapter officers were Eugene Ruff, president; Don Munzer, vice-president; Dick Powell, secretary; Myron Hornbaker, treasurer; Jack Thisler, Panhellenic representative. Mrs. Effie Chaffin is housemother.

Clarence Smith was ATO "Activity Man," an outstanding member of Pax and Men's Panhellenic. Tom Muir was a member of Blue Key.

BETA KAPPA

Hamlin University saw the first chapter of Beta Kappa installed in 1901. The local group, one of forty-seven active chapters, was organized in 1938.

Officers of Beta Kappa for the first semester were: Tom Joyce, president; Cecil Byers, vice-president; George Peircey, secretary; Kenneth Yoos, treasurer. Second semester, Cecil Byers was president, Tom Joyce acted as vice-president, and Vance Aeschleman was treasurer. Charles Kaiser was Panhellenic representative and Dr. D.

C. Warren was chapter adviser. Dr. Warren and Prof. A. J. Mack are Beta Kappa alums on the faculty. Mrs. Bertha Napier has been housemother since the chapter was organized.

Beta Kappas entertain frequently with house dances and picnics. Also they have their "rose" dinner dance in the spring, followed by a sweetheart dinner at the chapter house.

The boys that wear the diamond this year boasted the largest pledge class on the campus, as well as taking first place in homecoming decorations.

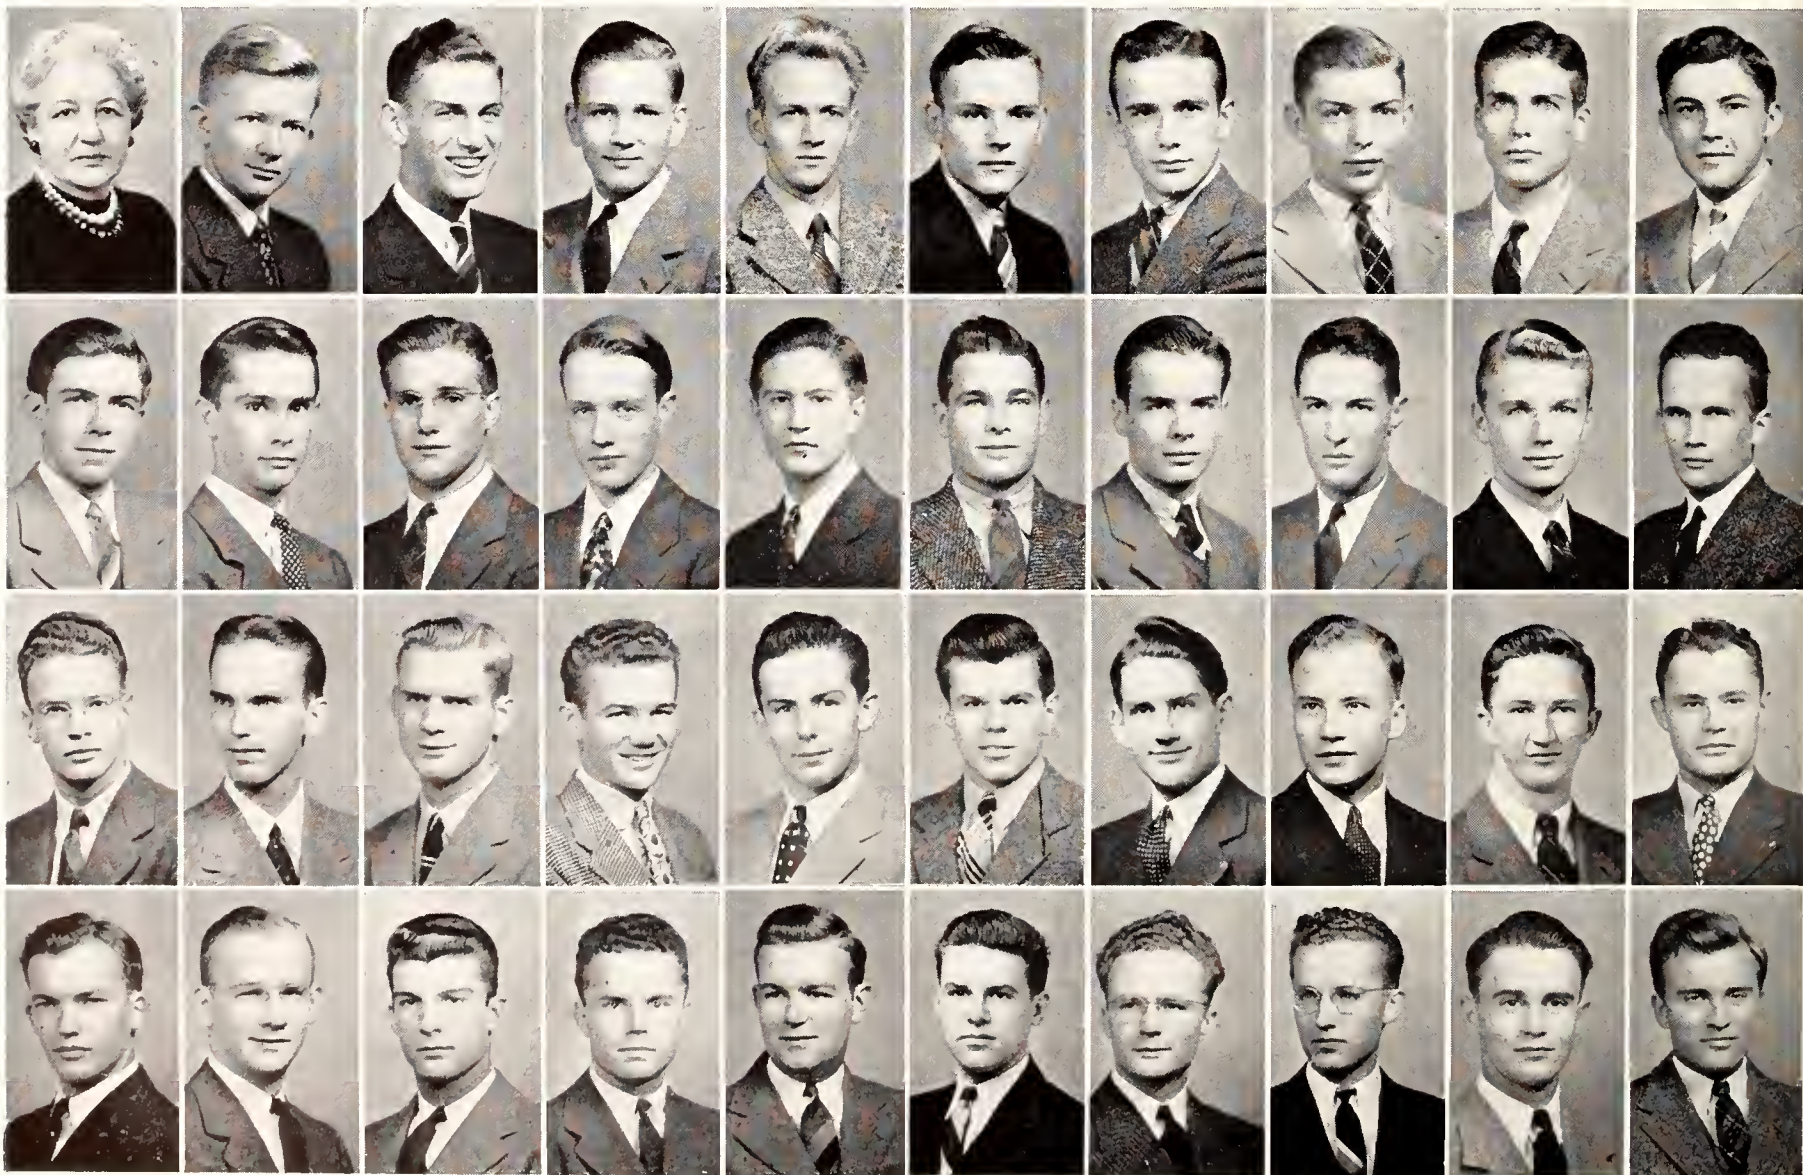

Founded at Miami University, Oxford, Ohio, in 1839, the national organization boasts ninety active chapters.

The annual Beta Pig dinner and the Beta-Phi Delt Biad, celebrating their joint beginnings at Miami U. are two outstanding parties of the school year.

John Shaver, outstanding engineer, presided over the Betas this year. Vice-president was Robert Page; secretary, Ethan Potter, and Rex Wells served as treasurer. Blue Key President Jack Haymaker was the Panhellenic representative, and Dr. H. H. King is chapter adviser and Mrs. A. W. Cochrane, housemother.

The chapter house, located at 500 Sunset, was one of the first fraternity houses to be built on "Fraternity Hill," now a location for several new structures.

Top row: Mrs. A. W. Cochrane, Bentson, Bartels, Wright, Hedrick, Miller, L. Kistler, Brown, Ransopher, Sharpe. Third row: Corby, Foncannon, Lehman, Hegler, Luttgen, Smith, Peine, Reed, Miller, Green. DELTA SIGMA PHI Sailing, sailing went Delta Sigs and their dates at the annual Sailors' Ball, highlight of the fraternity's social calendar. Gobs in blue middies and sailor caps danced with maids from ports on the seven seas. Sunday night buffet suppers and house dances were frequent at the Delta Sig house.

Delta Sigma Phi had its beginnings in New York City in 1899. Forty-seven chapters have since been established, the local chapter receiving its charter in 1925.

Fraternity officers this year were C. A. Buck, president; George Godfrey, vice-president; John Eaton, secretary; Dale Dyer, treasurer. Carol Lewis was Panhellenic representative. E. A. Cleavinger is the chapter adviser, and Mrs. A. F. Morgenson is housemother.

The Honorable James J. Davis, a prominent member of Delta Sigma Phi and Senator from Pennsylvania, presents a cup each year to the chapter securing the most life members.

Prominent in athletics this year were the Delta Taus, with basketball regulars, Norris Holstrom and Jack Horacek, scoring often for the Wildcats. Keeping the crowd in good spirits were cheerleaders Bob Washburn and Harold Kalousek.

Fraternity president Vincent Ellis is a Blue Key member. Six Delts are members of Sigma Tau.

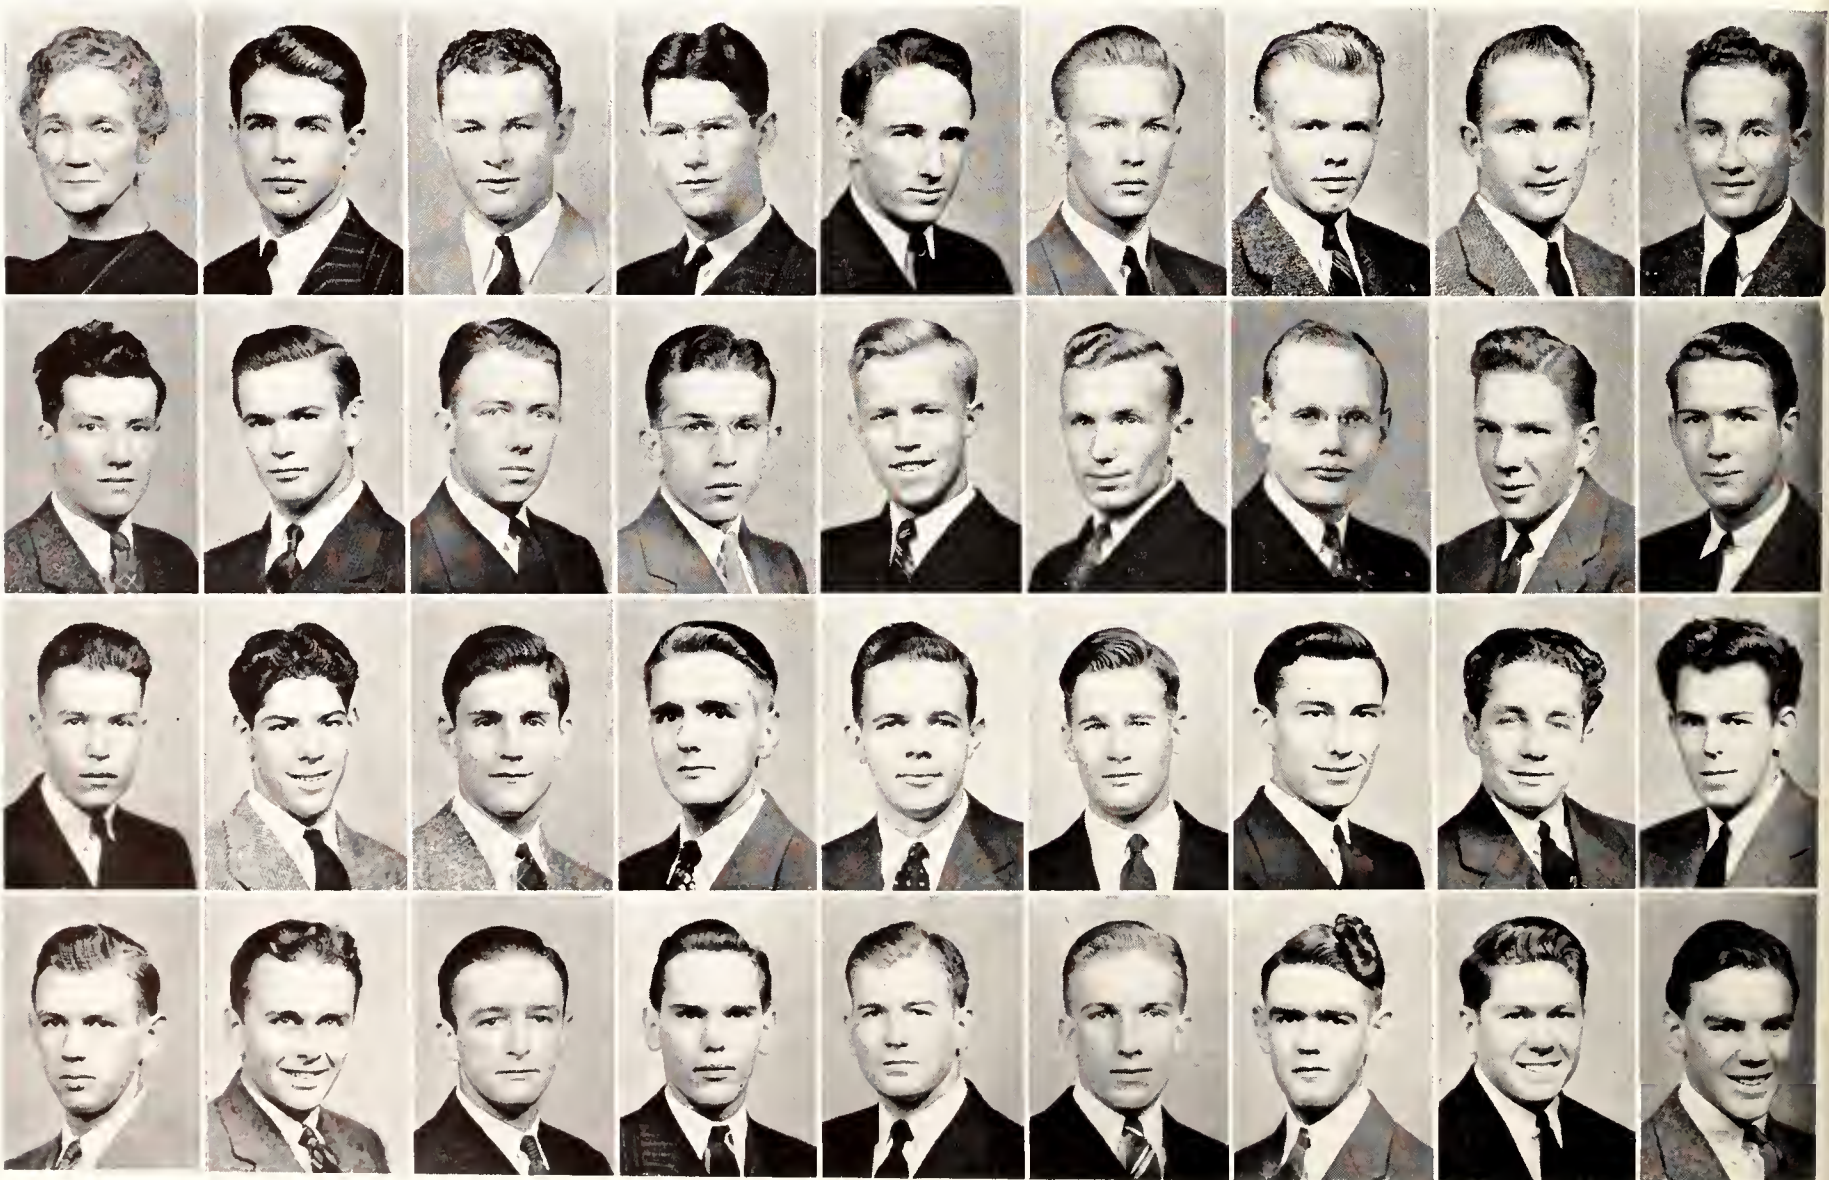

Delta Tau Delta was founded in 1859 at Bethany College in Virginia. The Kansas State chapter was founded in 1919.

Officers this year other than President Ellis were Norris Holstrom, vice-president and treasurer; Warren Hornsby, secretary; Leonard Hoover, Panhellenic representative.

President F. D. Farrell is an alumnus of the fraternity. L. E. Call is the faculty adviser, and Mrs. W. W. Davis is house-mother. The house is located at 1224 Fremont.

FARM HOUSE

The eight active chapters of Farm House fraternity had their beginning on the campus of Missouri University in 1905. The local chapter was established in 1921.

Farm House members were active on this year's judging teams and Harold Fox was chancellor of Alpha Zeta, national honorary agricultural fraternity.

tary; Henry Smies, treasurer; Arden Reiman, business manager.

Clayton David represented the fraternity on the Panhellenic board, and Prof. C. D. Davis was chapter adviser. Mrs. E. L. Taylor is housemother.

Members in the faculty are F. W. Atkeson and F. W. Bell.

The chapter house, located at 1409 Fairchild has been the dwelling place of Farm House members for years.

KAPPA SIGMA

Maintaining their traditional top standing in athletics, Kappa Sigs copped the intramural basketball championship this year. Added athletic glory was brought by John Hancock, who won the Big Six heavyweight wrestling crown.

Prominent in the field of politics was Fred Eyestone, student council member and Blue Key man. An important Greek position went to Hancock when elected president of Scarab.

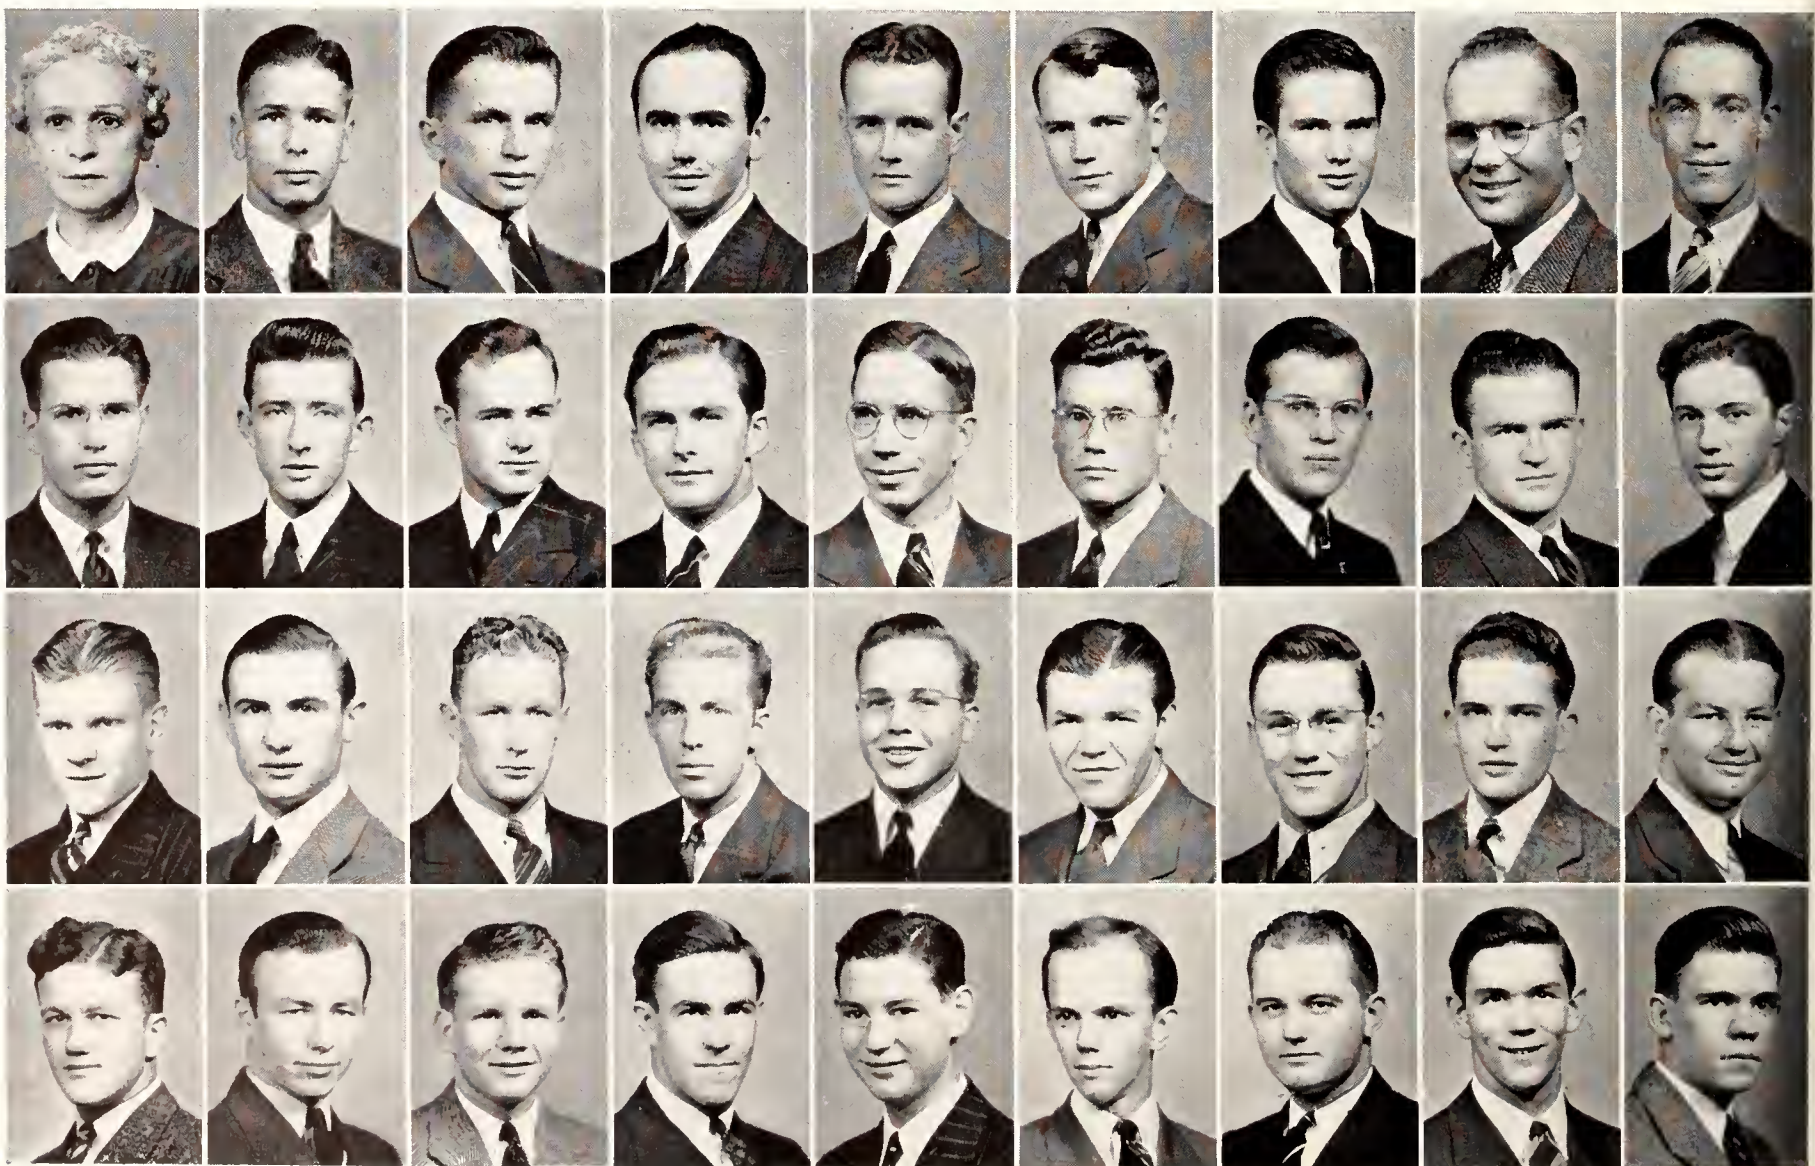

Founded in 1869, Kappa Sigma now boasts 109 active chapters. The fraternity was installed locally in 1919.

Officers were Fred Eyestone, president; Pierce Wheatley, vice-president; Fred Jones, secretary; John Moore, treasurer; Pierce Wheatley, Panhellenic representative. C. W. Penley is adviser to the chapter, and Mrs. Verne Sibley is the house-mother.

The chapter house, located at 1221 Thurston, is exclusively located near the eastern entrance to the campus.

Sunday night open houses, the Beta-Phi Delt Biad, and the Phi Delt spring formal place Phi Delta Theta high in the social world. Athletically speaking, they point with pride to Tom Guy and Larry Beaumont, varsity basketball stars, and Lewis Turner, a varsity football man. Byron White was prominent as Royal Purple business manager and Norris McGaw was a Blue Key man.

Phi Delta Theta made its appearance on the Kansas State campus, Feb. 25, 1921. The national fraternity was founded at Miami University in 1848.

PHI KAPPA

From its beginnings at Brown University, Phi Kappa has branched out into twenty-five schools, the local chapter being organized in 1921.

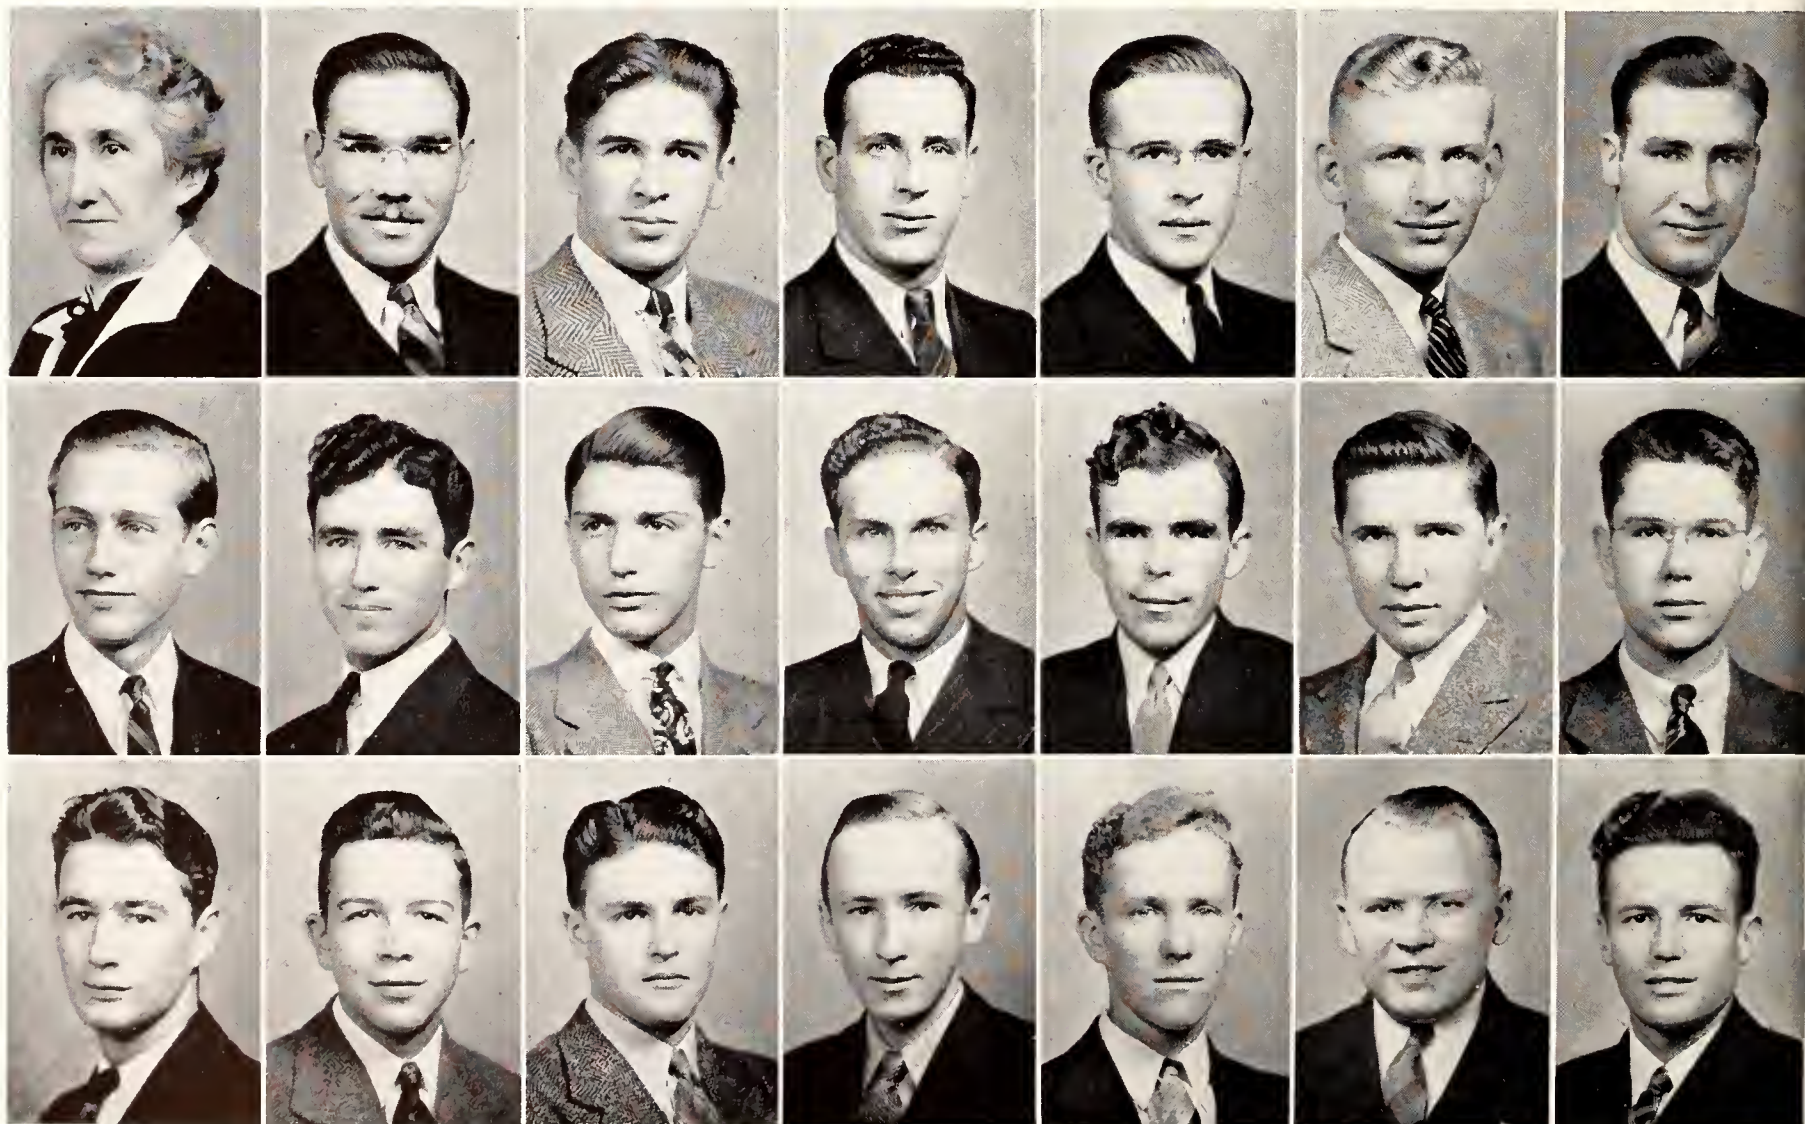

Raymond Bukaty, president of the group, is also president of the senior class, a member of the Board of Student Publications, and a Blue Key member. Other Phi Kappas are active in Dynamis, Mortar and Ball, Scabbard and Blade, Sigma Tau, and Sigma Delta Chi.

Wayne Deaver, second semester president of Senior Men's Panhellenic, was secretary of the fraternity, Edward Brenner was vice-president, and treasurer was Gabriel McGrath. Prof. J. P. Callahan served as faculty adviser.

Members in the faculty include Professor Callahan, Dr. L. B. Faith and Dr. Harold Howe. Mrs. O. H. Halstead is house-mother. The chapter house is ideally located at 1909 Anderson, near to the southwest entrance of the campus.

PHI KAPPA TAU

Jack Young was this year's president of the local chapter of Phi Kappa Tau which was installed on this campus in 1925. The mother chapter was established in Oxford, Ohio, in 1906. There are now 46 active chapters.

Other officers for the year included Wayne Bogard, vice-president; Keith Collins, secretary; and Don Miltner, treasurer. Marc Schowalter served as Panhellenic representative, and Dr. Roy C. Langford was chapter adviser.

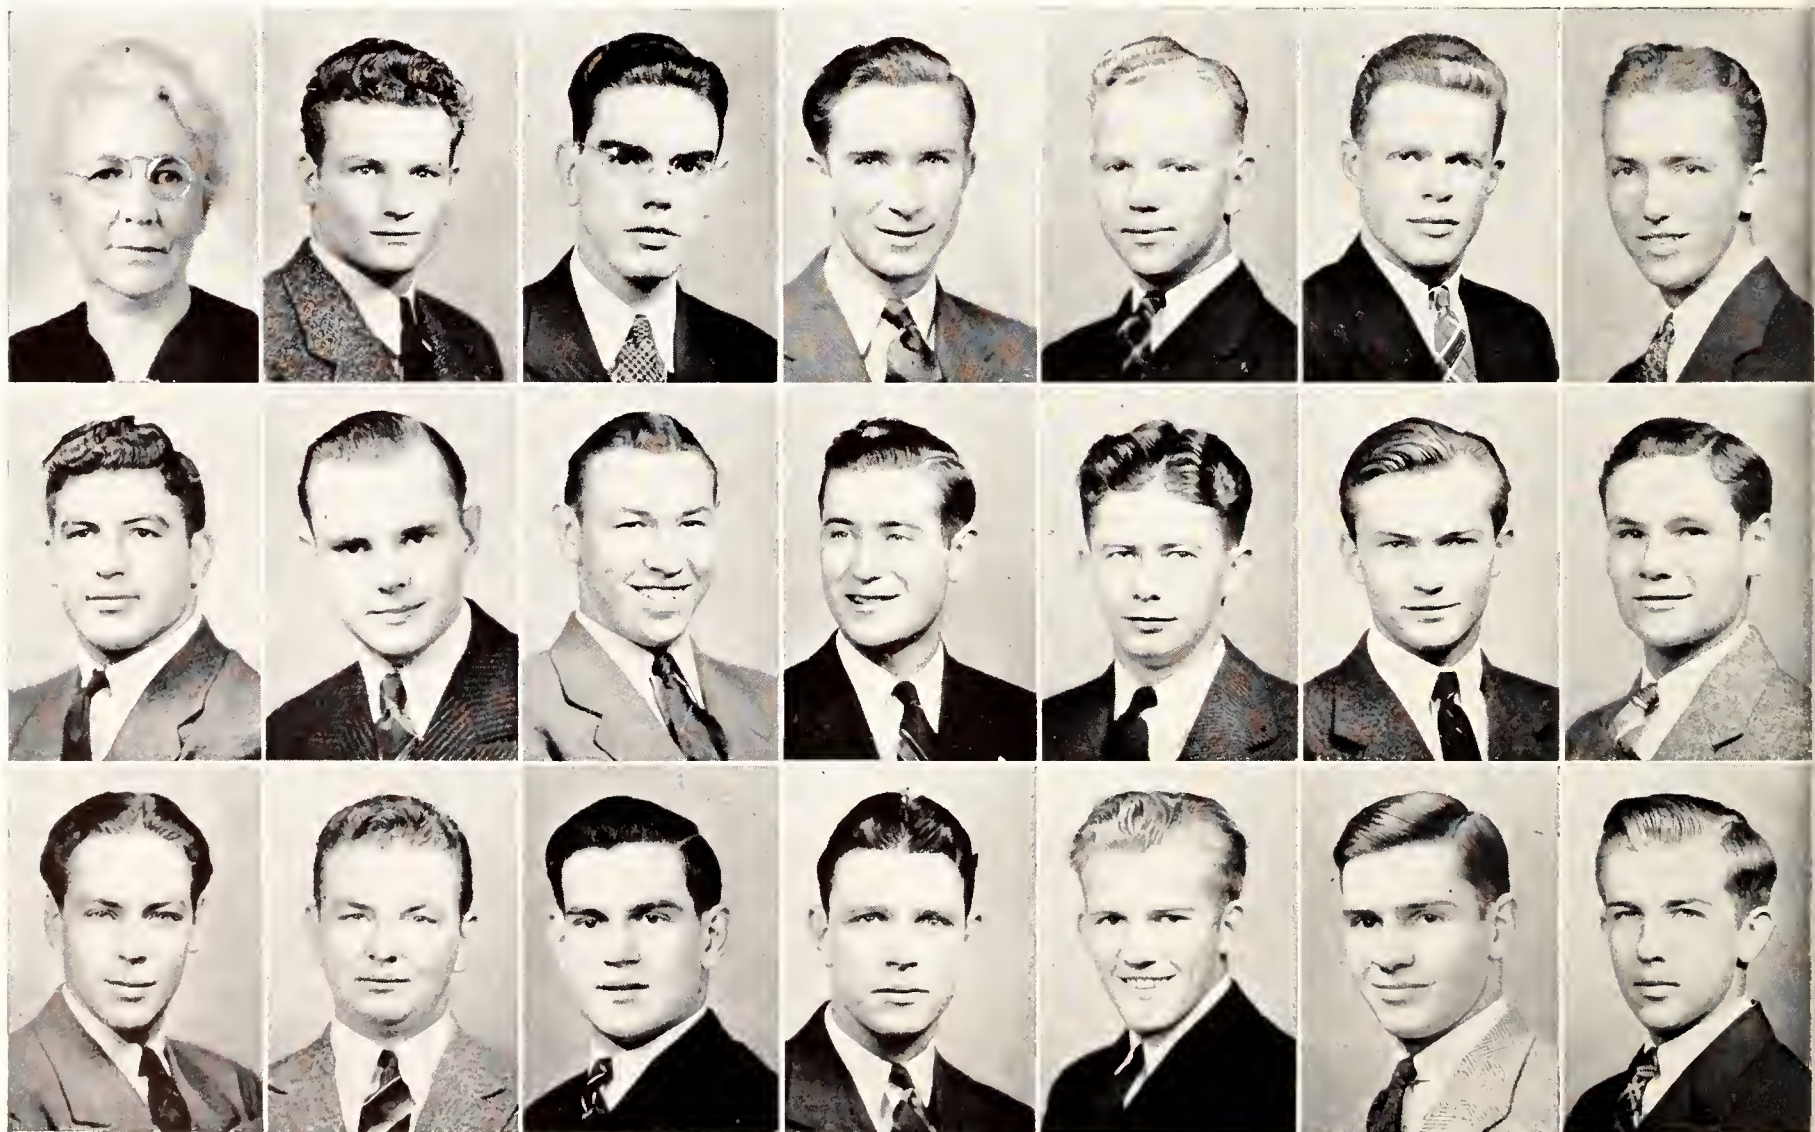

Wearers of the pearled pin entertain dates at frequent house dances, and are justly proud of an excellent winter party.

Faculty members include M. W. Furr, H. M. Heberer, R. C. Hill and Dr. J. C. Peterson.

PI KAPPA ALPHA

The fraternity boasts a Blue Key man, Jack Ransom.

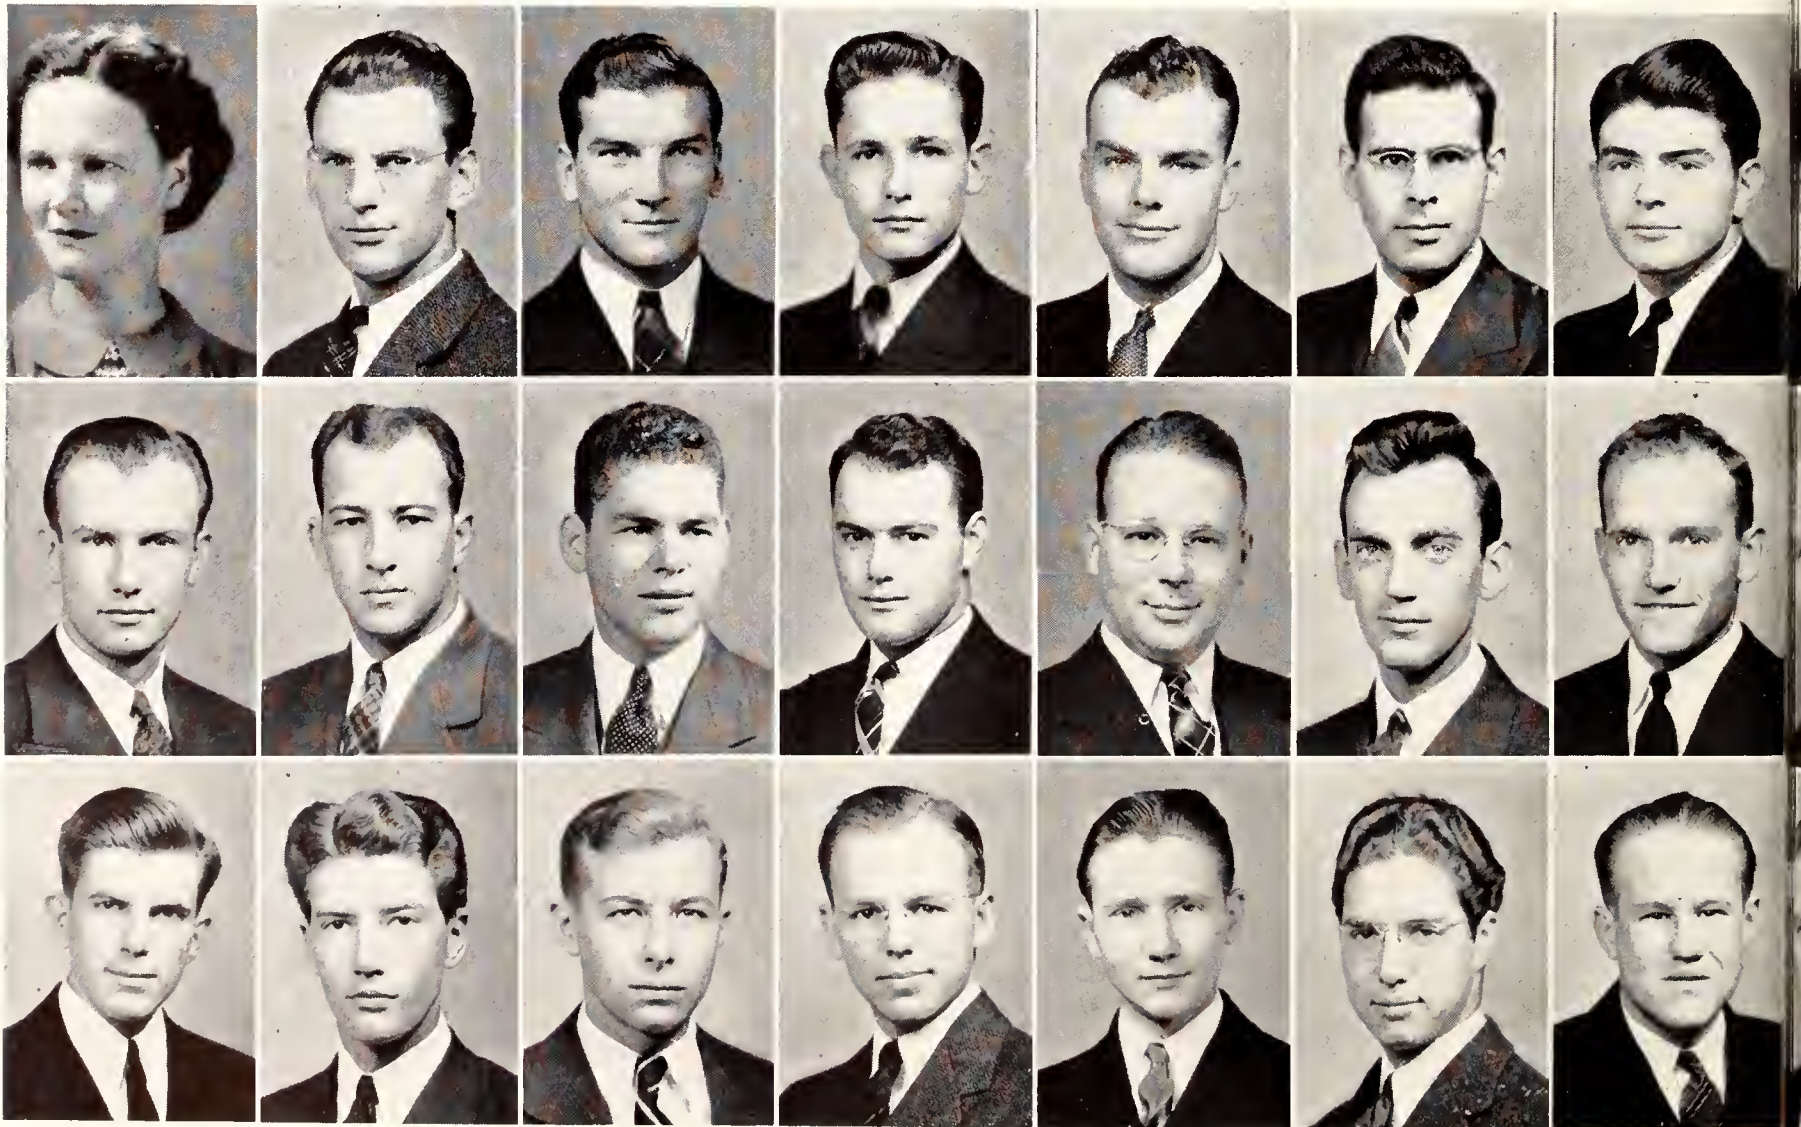

Date of the fraternity's Southern founding was 1868. Since then, eighty-one chapters have been added to the roll, Alpha Omega having its origin in 1913.

Presiding over PiKA this year were Nolan McKenzie, president; Charles Anderson, vice president; Keith Cook, secretary; Jack Ransom, treasurer; Louis Noel, Panhellenic representative. Dr. W. E. Grimes, chapter adviser, and Mrs. R. I. Murphy is housemother.

Faculty members include H. C. Baird, E. V. Floyd, R. Throckmorton, J. V. Hepler, A. L. Olsen, M. L. Otto, W. E. Martin, and A. O. Shaw.

SIGMA ALPHA EPSILON

"Away from it all" are the members of Sigma Alpha Epsilon in their modernistic house west of the campus.

Founded in Tuscaloosa, Ala., in 1865, the fraternity organized on this campus in 1913. National rolls now total 114 chapters.

Home of numerous athletes, the Sig Alphas claim footballers Kent Duwe, Larry Duncan, and Charles Kier, as well as wrestler Bob Dunlap.

Worth Linn attained the highest R. O. T. C. rank — Cadet

Colonel. Jack Parker was a Blue Key man.

Head football coach Hobbs Adams and his first assistant wear the Sig Alph pin, as does R. I. Thackrey, head of the journalism department.

Officers were: Worth Linn, president; Tom Martin, vice-president; Rod MacRae, secretary; and Bob Anderson, treasurer.

Mrs. Margaret Shannon is housemother, and Professor Thackrey is faculty adviser.

SIGMA NU

Shining brightly this year was the white star of Sigma Nu, with the aid of Blue Key member Alden Miner and Big Six swimming star C. W. "Bus" Lamer. Ray Adams brought additional glory when named the outstanding student in the General Science Division.

Sigma Nu cadet officers are numerous—appropriately so, as the fraternity was founded at Virginia Military Institute in 1869. Sigma Nu made its appearance on the K-State campus in 1913.

Officers of the chapter were C. W. Lamer, president; Harold Underhill, vice president; David Crews, secretary; Bob Kauffman, treasurer. Don Kortman was Panhellenic representative. Housemother is Mrs. Elizabeth Sheetz, and chapter adviser is A. P. Davidson.

The chapter house, a new modern structure, is located at 513 Sunset.

SIGMA PHI EPSILON

Wearers of the pearled heart of SPE exhibited their dramatic talents this spring to win the coveted Y-Orpheum long act trophy. Also among the Sig Ep conquests was the 1940 spring soft ball championship.

Sigma Phi Epsilon had its beginnings in Richmond, Va., in 1901. Seventy-two active chapters have been established since then, Kansas Beta having its founding in 1918.

Chapter officers for this year were Boyd McCune, president; Harold Domoney, vice-president; Bert Doran, secretary; Albert Praeger, treasurer. Don Liebengood was Panhellenic representative.

C. O. Grandfield, a faculty member, is the chapter adviser, and Mrs. Esther Hammond is the fraternity housemother.

Among the activity men residing at 221 N. Delaware was Gene Fair, Student Council and Blue Key member and quarterback on the football team. Ken Hamlin, Boyd McCune, and Al Praeger were outstanding.

TAU KAPPA EPSILON

Carrying the ball for Kansas State as well as for Tau Kappa Epsilon were Max Timmons and Bill Quick, prominent varsity football regulars.

Not choosing to ignore the social side of college, the Tekes strove for originality in their frequent house dances and established a reputation for staging novel parties.

Founded in 1899 at Bloomington, Ill., Tau Kappa Epsilon active chapters now number forty-five. January 31, 1931, is the date of the local chapter's installation.

Officers were Glenn Halver, president; Martin Kadets, vice president and Panhellenic representative; Robert Chapman, secretary; Gordon Howell, treasurer. Chapter adviser is Dr. R. P. Wagers. Mrs. Blanche Jackson is housemother.

Teke members and their campus achievements include Bob Chapman in Dynamis and Martin Kadets as an officer of Men's Panhellenic.

THETA XI

Originally a social organization for engineers, Theta Xi joined the ranks of national fraternities on the Kansas State campus in 1931. The national organization was chartered in 1864 at Rennselaer Polytechnic Institute at Troy, N. Y., and at first was colonized only at technical schools. Thirty-five chapters are now active.

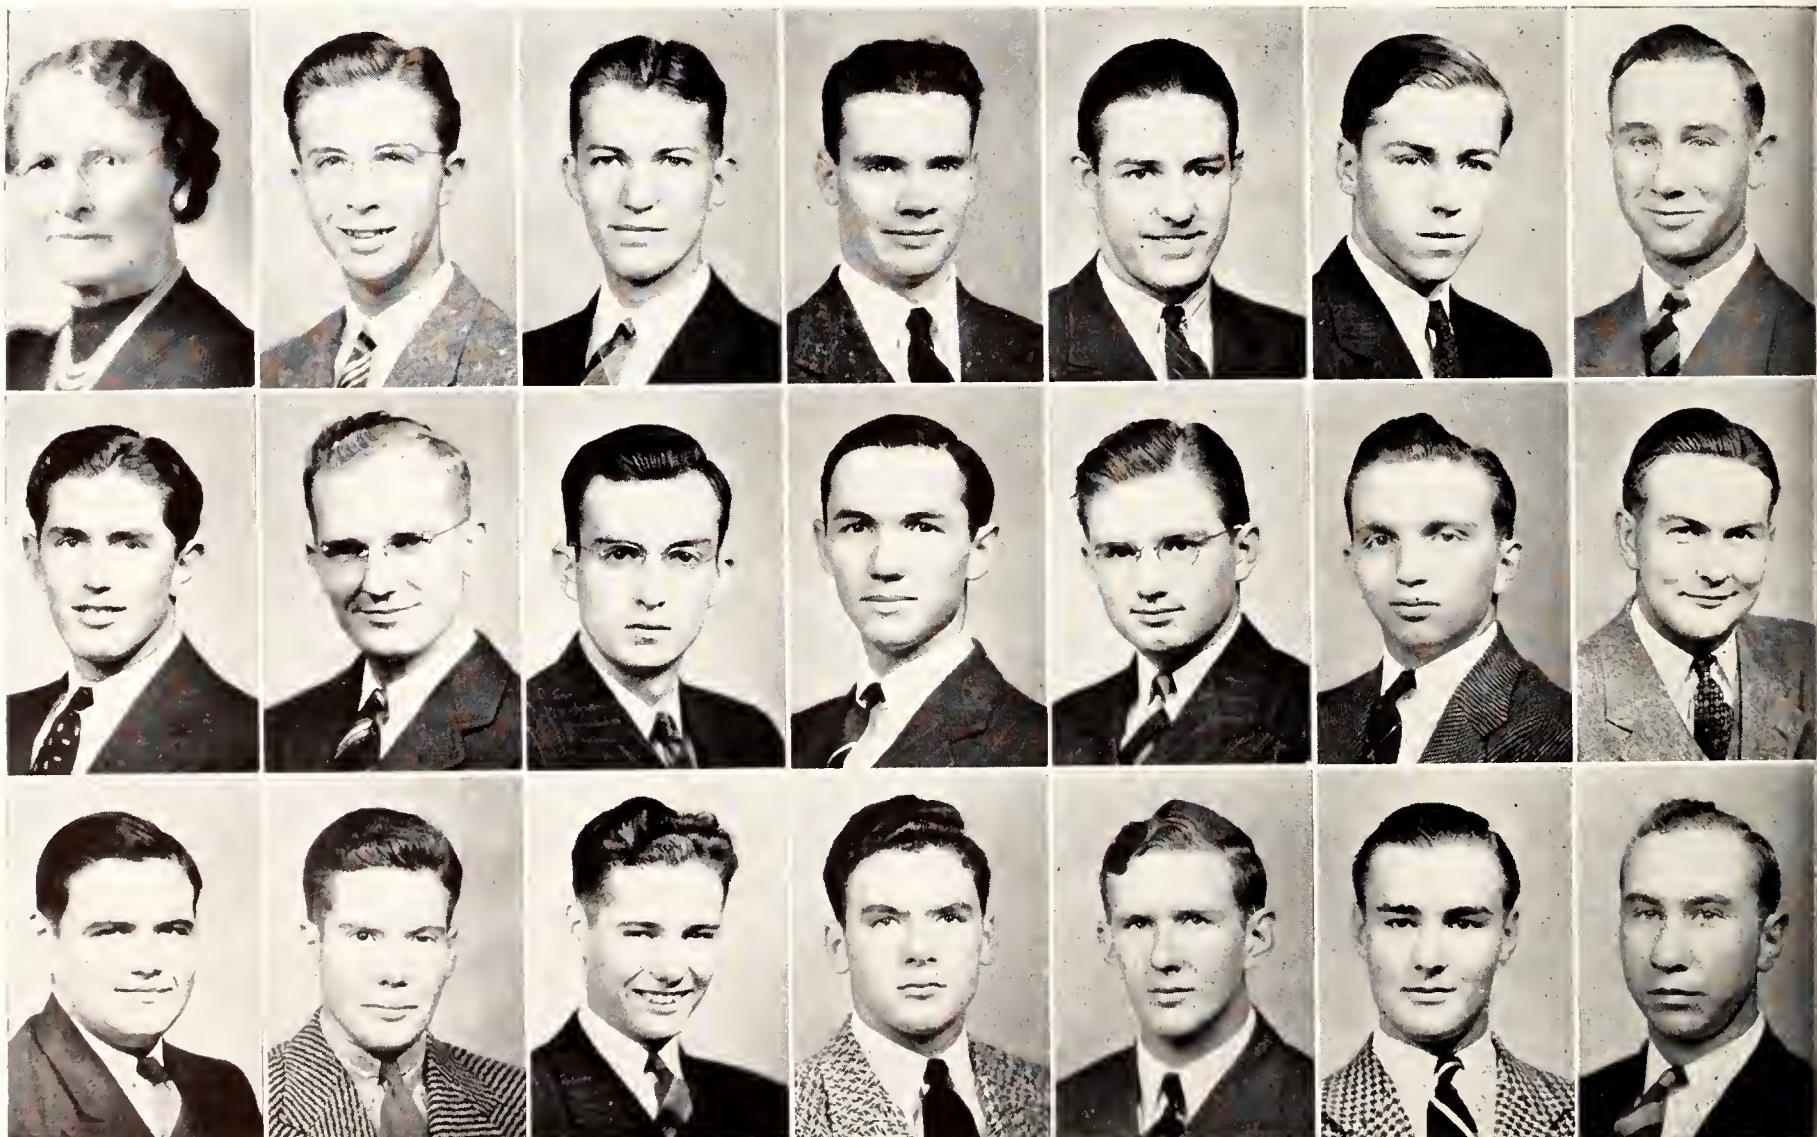

Most publicized of Theta Xi social functions is the annual "Tuffy Strut," at which a true "honky-tonk" atmosphere is created.

Officers were Jewel Ogden, president; Kemp Stiles, vice-president; Jack Banks, secretary; Charles Williams, treasurer; Jack Warner, Panhellenic representative. Mrs. Rose Cassidy is housemother, and Prof. J. H. Robert is the chapter adviser.

Other faculty members wearing the pearl-studded pin besides Robert are H. N. Barham, B. W. Beadle, G. F. Branigan and K. W. Miller.

The chapter house, located close to the campus, is at 1614 Fairchild.

With the exception of Chris Langvardt, who served as treasurer, Greek candidates won all the senior class officers. President was Raymond Bukaty, vice-president was Robert Page, and Dorothy Green acted as secretary. Bukaty's position was a responsible one.

Juniors Look Ahead

In the fall election for officers of the junior class, Thaine High, independent, was unopposed in the race for the presidency. The other students selected were members of Greek organizations. They included John Hancock, vice-president; Marjorie Spurrier, secretary; and Raymond Rokey, treasurer.

Juniors were not active as a class this year, but individually they proved their worth in many extra-curricular activities as well as school work. Hoping for membership in the senior honoraries or election to the student council, juniors kept their noses in their books and played the game of politics.

Independents Run Sophs

Dominating the sophomore class election this year was the Independent Student Party, which captured three of the four class offices, much to the dismay of politically minded Greeks. Presiding over the sophomore class for the year was Grant Marburger, independent. Also representing the independent faction were Wilma Gantenbein, secretary, and Jim Nielson, treasurer. Rex Pruett, a Greek, was vice president.

Frosh Are Active

FRESHMAN INDEPENDENT students are shown below as they make nominations for class officers to oppose the Greek candidates in their annual election. The independents won all three offices.

Early in the school year freshman independents met to choose their candidates for class officers. Later, Greek students elected their nominees through Freshman Panhellenie. As in recent years the contest was easily won by the independent students, and John Aiken ruled as president of his class. Helen Dahl was chosen vice-president, and Gerald Goetsch served as secretary-treasurer.

Chosen Outstanding Scholars in Divisions

THE SIX outstanding students in each of the divisions of the College were announced at the annual achievement banquet which closed the seventy-fourth annual Farm and Home week in February.

The students, one graduate and five seniors, were selected on a basis of their scholarship and extra-curricular activities during their four years of college work.

Each Division Represented

Ray Adams was selected from the Division of General Science; Dorothy Green represented the Division of Home Economics; Howard Busby was selected from the Division of Veterinary Medicine; Howard Zeidler was chosen from the Division of Engineering; George Cochran represented the Division of Agriculture; and Arlene Waterson was chosen from the Division of Graduate Study.

All Prominent Students

Adams, with his grade average of 2.953, has the highest scholastic record of the class of 1941, and the grades of the other students selected were all above 2.5.

All the students chosen were active in their respective divisional organizations and had received Phi Kappa Phi freshman recognition for their excellent first year work.

Dean L. E. Call

Dean Call joined the Kansas State staff in 1907. In 1925 he was made Dean of Agriculture and Director of the Kansas Agricultural Experiment Station. He is one of the few Kansas State executives to have two important and separate positions.

Since 1930, Dean Call has served on the board of directors of the Federal Land Bank located at Wichita. He was president of the bank in 1934. He is the author of several agricultural publications. In constant demand as a speaker on many programs in Kansas and over the United States, Dean Call finds little spare time.

Much of the success of the Division of Agriculture is due to his untiring and capable administration.

The Kansas State College Division of Agriculture gives systematic training in agriculture which fits young men for work in that line.

Graduates of the college from this division have entered the fields of farming, agricultural extension work, teaching, scientific investigation, and service in industries closely related to agriculture.

Recognized Over Country

The division is one of the best known at Kansas State, the school having been formerly named Kansas State Agricultural College. Although the "Agricultural" is no longer used, the division continues to accumulate recognition throughout the United States on a basis of earned merit. The division is composed of seven departments.

C. W. MULLEN is Assistant Dean of the Division of Agriculture and assistant director of the Kansas Agricultural Experiment Station. An associate professor of agronomy, he is also a friendly adviser to students.

Probably the best-known department of the division is that of milling industry headed by E. G. Bayfield. Kansas State has the distinction of being the only college in the United States to offer a degree in milling. The enrollment is limited to sixty-five for the four-year course, and graduates are usually readily employed.

Other departments in the Division of Agriculture are dairy husbandry, animal husbandry, animal husbandry, poultry husbandry, horticulture, agronomy, and agricultural economics.

For many years representatives of this division of the College, on various judging teams, have consistently won high honors in competition with students from institutions all over the United States. Students of Kansas State have placed at the top many times in individual ratings.

Present Little Royal

The Little American Royal is presented each year when students exhibit College-selected animals in competition. The Royal is a climax of the annual Farm and Home Week and many of the hundreds of rural people attending the event are guests at the show.

Division of Engineering and Architecture Features Twenty-first Open House

Dean R. A. Seaton

Dean R. A. Seaton found many demands being made on his time as Dean of the Division of Engineering and Architecture, Director of the Engineering Experiment Station, and college N.Y.A. administrator. Early in the year Dean Seaton was granted a leave of absence in order that he might answer a call from Washington to become Director of the Engineering Defense Training program.

Being called to do work of a national defense nature is not new to Dean Seaton, for in 1918 he served as Captain in the Engineering Division of the Ordnance Office in Washington, D. C.

A Kansas State Grad

Dean Seaton is truly a Kansas State product, having received both his bachelor of science and master of science degrees here. Who's Who devotes a goodly paragraph to Dean Seaton's activities.

The Division of Engineering and Architecture is playing no small role in the National Defense program, having given up, temporarily, its Dean and having started, under the direction of Prof. W. W. Carlson, courses vital to the defense industries. Among these newly created courses are materials inspection, explosives, and tool engineering. These courses, which are of collegiate grade, extend over a period of twelve weeks and in some cases offer limited college credit.

This activity in the National Defense program has not disturbed the usual decorum of the remainder of the Division, however. The "mechanicals" still run tests on their steam engines and condensers; the "electricals" still labor in their "labs"; the "chemicals" still tinker with their test tubes, and the 400 freshmen still gape in wonder at what they are about to get into.

M. A. DURLAND is Assistant Dean of the Division of Engineering and Architecture. Besides teaching classes he handles the College N.Y.A. and acts as adviser for Engineers' Open House.

E E R I N G

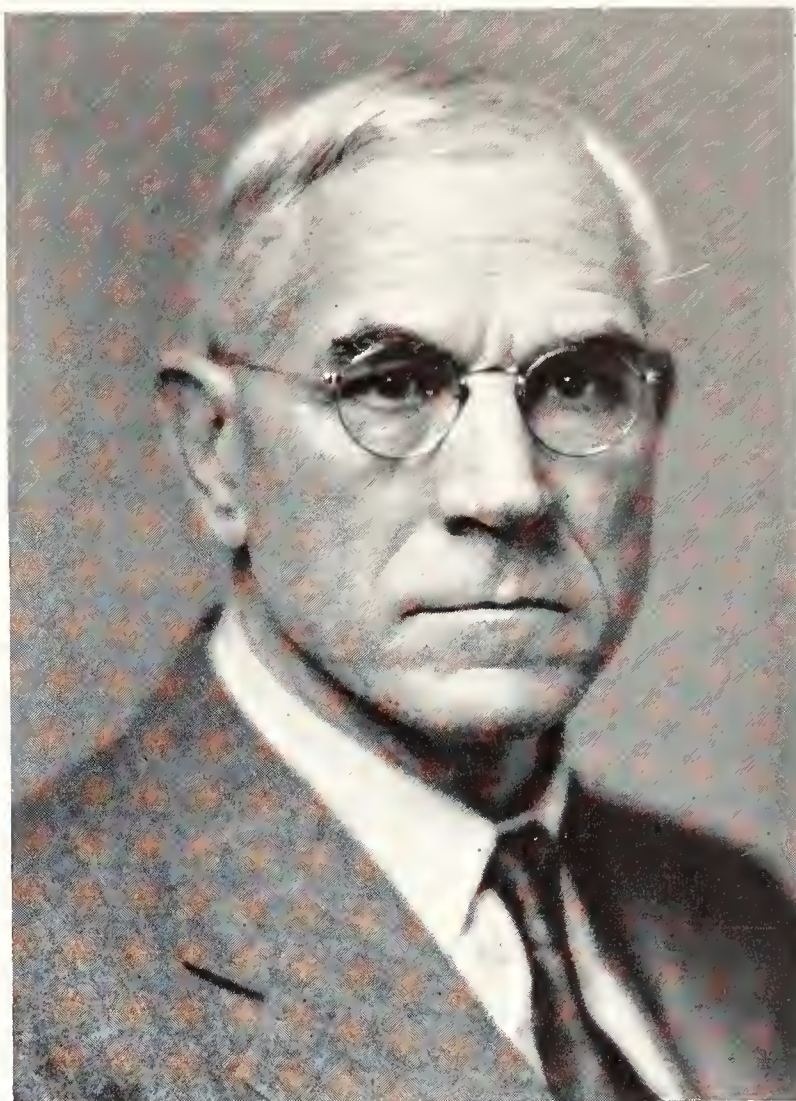

The thoroughness with which the "slip-stick sliders" do their work has on many occasions drawn favorable comment from Pres. F. D. Farrell and has again displayed itself in the presentation of the twenty-first annual Engineers' Open House, which was, in the estimation of the thousands who viewed it, "strictly super."

Although the slide rule carriers burn much of the proverbial "midnight oil," they find time to take part in many campus activities, being well represented in honorary organizations such as Phi Kappa Phi, Blue Key, and Dynamis.

The caliber of this division as a whole is evidenced by the large number of graduates who each year answer the call of the major engineering companies of the world for technically trained college graduates.

New Division Dean In

Acting Dean L. E. Conrad has temporarily given up his duties as Head of the Civil Engineering Department to take over the duties of Dean of the Division of Engineering and Architecture. Dean Conrad received his B.S. degree in civil engineering in 1904 at Cornell College and his M.S. degree in 1908 at Lehigh University. He has been at Kansas State since 1908.

Dean L. E. Conrad

Dean Conrad still teaches advanced courses in his former department along with his new duties. Prof. F. F. Frazier replaced Dean Conrad as head of the department.

GENE

Dean R. W. Babcock

Dr. Rodney W. Babcock, genial Dean of the Division of General Science, always finds time to joke or chat with one of his students. Although his is the largest division on the hill, he manages to keep on the go with talks and discussion groups, as well as being ready to help his worried charges iron out a problem.

Dean Babcock came to Kansas State in 1930 to assume his present role, having graduated from the University of Missouri and taken his Doctorate at the University of Wisconsin.

A favorite course in the General Science Division is the astronomy class that Dean Babcock teaches in the fall. He delights in pointing out the stars to bewildered pupils during their "star gazing" labs.

In addition to being little short of a mathematical wizard, the dean plays a good game of golf that is a constant source of conversation between general science students and himself.

Division Is Largest Numerically With More Than 1000 Students Enrolled

It isn't anything new for the Division of General Science to cop top honors in the highest enrollment race, and this year was no exception. More than 1,100 of the school's 4,030 student population first semester, were taking courses in that division.

The spring semester found 333 students enrolled in the basic general science curriculum, with the remainder distributed through courses in business administration, industrial journalism, physical education, pre-veterinary medicine, industrial chemistry, and music.

Division Is General

The popularity of the division can be attributed somewhat to its being the nearest approach to a liberal arts course at Kansas State. However, the chief emphasis is on technical training.

PROFESSOR C. M. CORRELL, in addition to relieving Dean Babcock of a multitude of administrative duties, teaches history and government. He had been assistant dean of the division since 1927.

R A L S C I E N C E

Classes in music, history, modern language, literature, and government are designed to provide background material in an effort to equip the student to face the present day situation. New courses in philosophy and the history of religions have also been introduced.

Departments in the division include those of music, physical education, chemistry, English, military, and natural sciences such as botany and zoology. Indeed, the division has been aptly called "a little bit of everything."

A tour of the departments would find students bending over test tubes, learning of the world of atoms and of valence. Or in Fairchild perhaps they are listening to a discourse on ancient civilizations or the recent happenings in Europe.

Learn Varied Arts

Across the campus, mathematics students learn of square roots and logarithms, or the art of after dinner speaking. In Kedzie, student journalists pound typewriters and learn the techniques of the interview, and across the street in Anderson they "parle le Francais" or perhaps its Spanish.

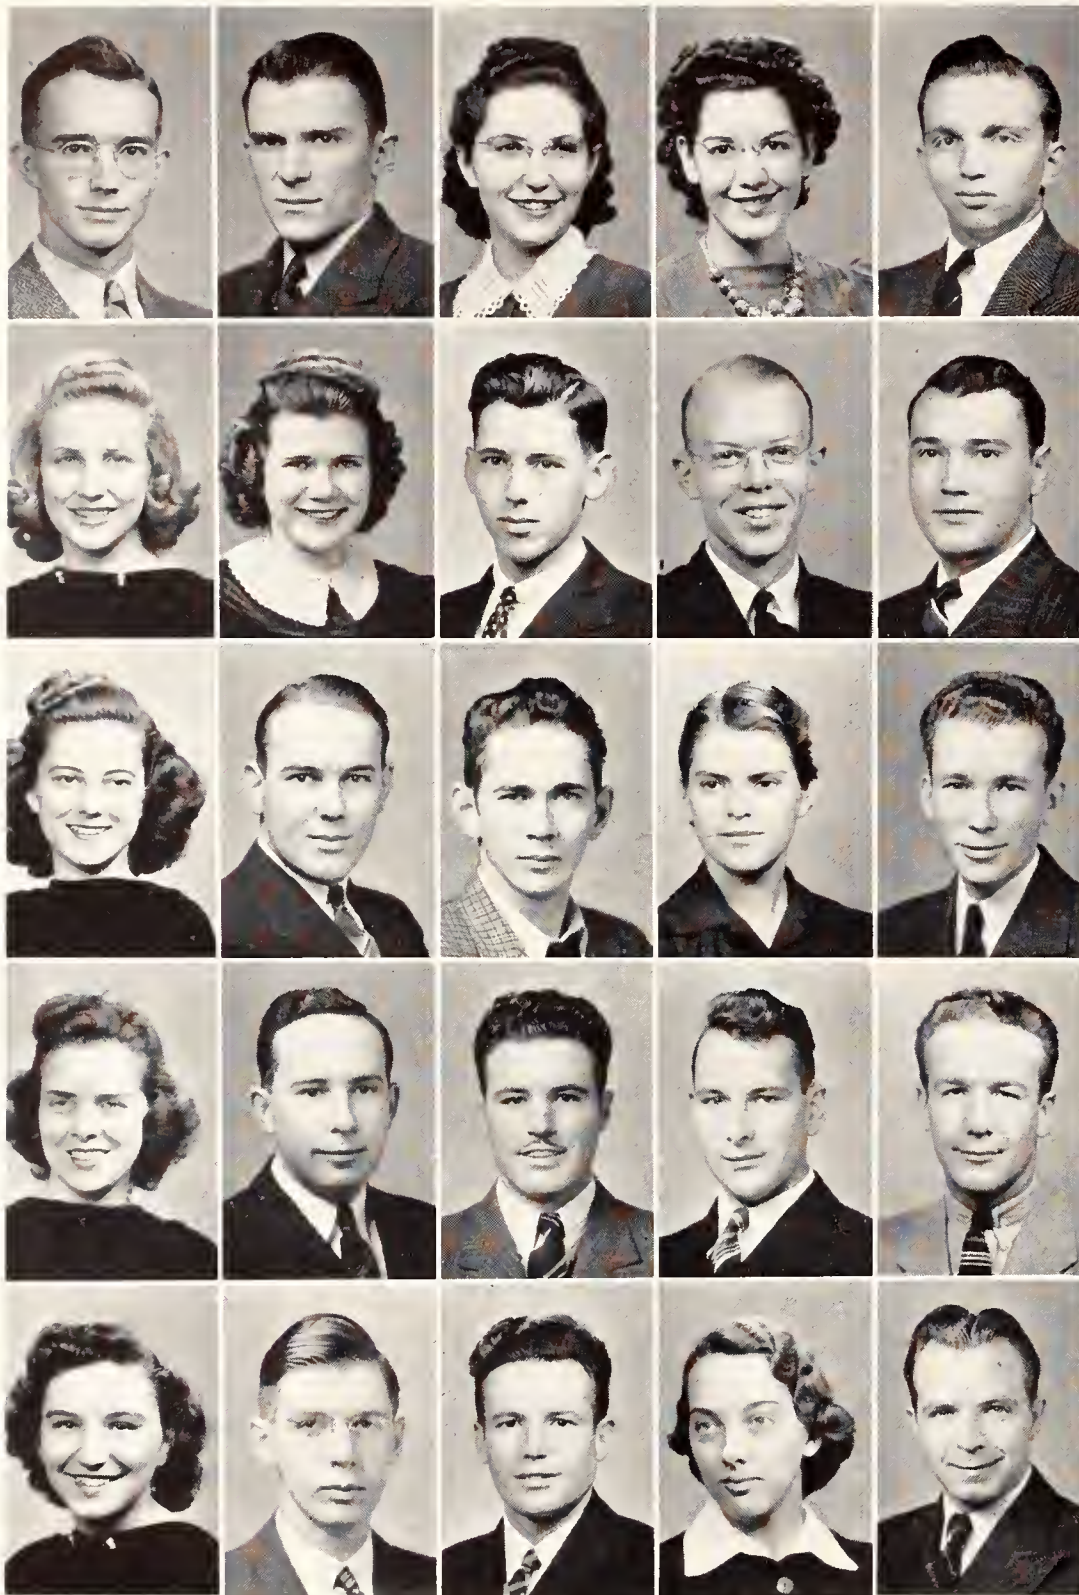

THE INTRICACHES of the hydra cause puzzled and curious stares in zoology lab.

Dean Margaret Justin

Home economics majors look to charming Dean Justin for advice on their curriculum and their personal problems.

Although she travels extensively to give talks on scholarships and home economics, Miss Justin has found time this year to secure residence halls for women on the campus. She is also an ardent worker in the American Association of University Women.

An authority on problems related to household affairs and on technical home economics, she has written several books in addition to her work at Kansas State.

Name Club in Honor

The Margaret Justin Home Economics Club was so named by majors in her division as a tribute to her.

Through her efforts and supervision, the Division of Home Economics has been acclaimed one of the best in the United States.

Division Presents Annual Hospitality Days to Show Coeds' Work

Breaking enrollment records is nothing new to the Division of Home Economics, but this year's figures are better than ever. Last year saw 750 girls enrolled in Home Economics, and this fall the figure had risen to 840. Each fall also sees more girls transferring to Kansas State from other colleges, in September there being over 100.

More Instructors Added

To meet the many demands of an increased enrollment, the division has added several new instructors, especially in the child welfare department. They have introduced a new course, "fundamentals of demonstration."

Also contributing to research and instruction are the thirty graduate students who teach part time or else conduct experiments in their chosen field.

IN ADDITION TO her duties as associate professor of food economics and nutrition, Eva McMillan shares with Dean Justin the task of heading the Division of Home Economics. As assistant dean she is in charge when Miss Justin is away.

E C O N O M I C S

Other innovations in the division this year included a change in lecture plans, whereby sophomore and junior classes have interest groups. In these group meetings they discuss drama, opera, contemporary novels, folk music, and photography.

Also, a cooperative system is furnished by the department for girls who have to earn their way through college. These young women are given jobs in the college cafeteria and at the residence hall.

Transfer students are taken in hand by the Division of Home Economics and hear lectures on the library, college history, home projects, and the choice of electives and options in their curricula.

Profs Publish Books

Besides their regular duties in the classroom, home economics professors have found time to publish many books which are used as texts on the campus and in high schools over the state.

Outstanding event of the year is the annual Hospitality Days, with an ever increasing attendance. The purpose of the three day meet is to let high school girls and townspeople become acquainted with the college and the home ec work. The Hospitality Hop in Nichols Gymnasium concludes the week's activities.

LEARNING NOT to burn the biscuits is only one of the things these girls are taught in foods lab. They are also instructed in planning, buying, and serving meals.

Dean R. R. Dykstra

Widely-known in the field of veterinary medicine is Ralph R. Dykstra. Through the efforts of his division, his position, and his contributions to research, Dean Dykstra and the Division of Veterinary Medicine at Kansas State are regarded highly.

In addition to supervising the administration of the students in his division, Dean Dykstra is in charge of nineteen faculty members and is a professor of surgery.

Iowa State college lists him as a graduate in veterinary medicine with the class of 1905. For several years he worked for the U. S. Bureau of Animal Industry. He is a member of Gamma Sigma Delta, Phi Kappa Phi, Phi Zeta, and Sigma Xi honorary societies. Dean Dykstra is a past president of the American Veterinary Medicine Association.

Right at the top of the list of the ten veterinary medicine schools in the United States is the Kansas State College Division of Veterinary Medicine.

Enrollment in this division is limited to a total of 200 students by authority of the State Board of Regents. Students wishing to enter this curriculum must apply several weeks in advance of the opening of the college year.

Five Year Course

The "vet" student is required to complete five years of college work before a degree is granted. During the first year the veterinary student is known as a "pre-vet" and is a member of the Division of General Science. Admission to the course in the division is based on the applicant's scholarship record and other prerequisites.

MISS MARGARET DAUM acts as an assistant to the Dean, taking care of most routine, secretarial, and student work. Her jobs are numerous as the division has no official assistant to Dean Dykstra.

Young men enrolled in this division are fortunate to pursue their studies in an agricultural state, where livestock is numerous. This provides an opportunity for clinical experience.

Graduates in veterinary medicine have a variety of vocations from which they may select a position. Some become small animal practitioners, United States veterinary meat inspectors, tuberculosis and animal disease control and eradication workers, quarantine officers, or officers in the United States Army.

Others become general practitioners in rural agricultural communities. On the commercial side, some become manufacturers of serums and vaccines or veterinarians for large dairies and other corporations.

Modern Equipment Featured

Kansas State College veterinary buildings were built at a cost of more than $250,000 and are thoroughly equipped. Modern classrooms and laboratories may be found in Veterinary Hall.

Each year hundreds of animal patients are treated in the veterinary clinic located on the campus. Members of the clinical staff and advanced students also go out in the surrounding country to treat animals.

DAISY MAE COMES TO KANSAS STATE !

Dear Lil' Abner:

Whee . . . I just had to pull up in front of the postoffice and write to you. I bet you're giving me mental solitary confinement these days, but honest my life here at K-State has been mapped out like a timetable ever since I arrived.

And I do mean arrived! I know, because last year's beauty queen, Shirley Shaver, actually spoke to me today.

Now that I am all situated, with my dates and doin's in filing order, I think I'm going to like this campus for an office.

Rush week is a thing of the past, and your own "dogpatch belle" is now a pledge of Beta Alpha Gamma (just called the B.A.G.'s around here). Tri Delts came out on top as far as numbers were concerned, but you ought to see some of the sweet stuff in the other houses!

Kickapoo's dirt columnist rated Pi Phi's Jeri Ames and Kappa's Ardis Nash at the top of the pledge lists.

A fine fellow came bursting into the house yesterday, and sold me this new stationary. He's a jovial printer named "Busey" Busenbark, who has a twinkle in his eye and a joke on his lips. Asked by him what kind of plant a Kansas State Creeper is, I looked dumb and replied my usual "I dunno."

"It's not a plant," says he, "it's a football team!"

That's just about right too, Lil' Abner. K-State's team crept along to a win 2-lose 7 record this fall. The team's one redeeming virtue is that it beat K.U. 20 to 0. Look's like all the fun and frolic is being taken out of the K.U.-K-State competition from now on . . . a peace trophy has been bought and goes to the winning school.

I've learned a lot here at school . . . just so that you'll be as smart as I am I'll tell you why Pi Phis use an arrow for a pin.

Quote: Because they're all in a quiver until they get a bow: Unquote.

My roommate is so short she would have to stand on a box to kick a duck on the ankles, but we get along. We went to the freshman lectures and a tour of the campus the first couple of days. They took us out to the Dairy Barn, and Marty got chased by a gentleman cow. There wasn't any slow motion about Marty . . . I thought she was trying to make an eight o'clock along about 9:15!

I was talking to Ash Monahan of the College Drug yesterday, and he swears up and down, backwards and forwards that he saw this sign on a Tri Delt sorority house down south.

"Late dates, Singing Bees, Southern Hospitality, Charades, Scooters, Radios, Dice games, and General Racket Store."

A little something about men's "Gush Week" . . . Phi Delts got a prize by pledging basketball hot-shot Gerald Tucker. According to Mrs. "Ma" Crowder, who says she hears all sorts of things in her busy establishment, it was all very simple for the boys. It seems that manswerable questions and questionable answers were shot at the prize sandwiched between praises of Phi Delta Theta and the deed was done!

Chating with "C.W." Bills at the Nu Style beauty shop t'other day I got a laugh out of this . . .

"I had a little dog. His name was August. August was fond of jumping at conclusions, especially at a cow's conclusion. One day he jumped at the conclusion of a mule. The next day was the first of September."

When I looked bewildered, he added, "That was the last of August!"

I've been here at K-State long enough to find that all K-State freshmen are "green," and that some sophomores remain in that discolored state. Bob Osborne, AGR pledge is one of those sophomores.

Mrs. "Eva" Kiser, of Pines Cafe fame, claims Bob said to her: "Did you ever row a bicycle?"

"You row a boat not a bicycle," she answered.

"Well," quoth he, "my father rode one once."

the general motif for both interior and exterior decorations was corn. All of the thundering herd of the Ag Division was present, and several old alumni came out from behind the bushes occasionally.

Ted Varney, former K-State SAE, who now runs the College Book Store, claims that one of his brothers in the bond" (he won't disclose the name) approached him as follows:

SAE brother: "Ted, I would like to consult you to ask for the hand of your daughter."

Ted: "But, my dear fellow, she is only five years old!"

SAE brother: "That doesn't make any difference. You give me a job, and I'll wait for her to grow up."

At the Scarab dinner at the Crystal Room not long ago there was quite a lull in the conversation. During the lull "Cotton" Limbocker, who runs the "joint" leaned over John "Kappa Sig" Hancock and said in a stage whisper, "Did you know my daughter has a Kappa Sig pin?"

John, who registered astonishment, says, "Gosh! Has she learned to walk with it very well?"

Wayne Hanna, down-town service man, says he still can't see why someone snickered when the lady real estate promoter said her latest development in the North End was a failure.

You know, Li'l Abner, I think about you lots. It's made a bit difficult by fellows like Bob Kauffman, Sigma Nu "five year man," who came into the Manhattan Floral yesterday and told "W.W." Willis, "I'll take six of those cards that say 'You're the only one I love!'"

Did you hear about Literal Izzy, Li'l Abner?

Little Izzy is a funny
And eccentric sort of waif;
Swallowed all his sister's money . . .
Said that he was playing safe.

And then Herb "Scoop" Hollinger was telling me about the skunk who stuck his tail out in the wind and started singing "It All Comes Back to Me Now."

At one of the varsities not long ago Paul Harrold and Marjorie McClenin were chosen king and queen of swing. Their proficiency in turning on the heat in the middle of a crowded dance floor is astounding.

Fraternities and sororities have been having a lot of sneaks this fall. In Dogpatch language, Li'l Abner, these sneaks are just good excuses for an informal

P.S. Did I tell you what the termites nightmare is? No? 'Tis . . . I Dreamt I Dwelt in Marble Walls.

Say Lil' Abner . . . you can't guess what has happened here at the "Old School"! Fred Waring has promised to write up a batch of junk for K-State in the form of a new school song!

The silver moon shines down,
The clouds in flakelets melt, quizzes. He adds that that "blank" feeling you get before a quiz is only natural and tells us what to do for it. . . . that doesn't help me any, because he doesn't tell us what to do if the "blank" feeling is during the quiz too!

"Bowlegs," soothingly states a doctor who ought to know," indicates robust health and plenty of brains: think of all of the co-eds at Kansas State who should have been in Phi Kappa Phi and didn't make the grade just because their curves weren't right.

Don "golfing demon" Lovett, of Don and Jerry fame, was discussing clothes in one of those locker-room bull fests the other day. Don has the following to say about Laundrymen:

"When your Unions are worn
And your shirt tails are torn
And your collars are frayed at the end
And you have no good hose,
No rag for your nose,
Oh, what you gonna do then?

"When your ties all fade
And your coat takes the shade
Of the back of a mange-eaten cat,
And the time comes to call
On the sweet little all
Oh, where you gonna be at?

"If we had our way
With the laundry man's pay
For his treatment to our Sunday best,
He'd wear his shirt tail
Out riding a rail
With tar adorning his vest."

Lil' Abner, you might like to know about this marriage "Forrest" at the Palace told me about even though you aren't the romantical type. He said, "Last week in New York a fellow named Warren Bromo married a girl named Alice Seltzer. We predict their marriage will be a fizz."

I dropped in on "Bob" Stevenson yesterday at the store. Although he was about as busy as a lone ant at a Sunday-school picnic, he took time off to chat with me. I found out that Ray Rokey, fine-football-fellow whom I've written you about before, is suffering from high blonde pressure . . . could it be from too much play, or were his signals mixed?

DON AND JERRY (above, upper), busy as Sat. nite on Mon. aft. "Rex" and "Forrest" beam at Palace Cokers. Jean, Nancy and Dorothy . . . satisfied Stevenson customers.

Guess what, Li'l Abner? Laurence Blaker at the Studio Royal took the most glamorous picture of me. Yessir, your Daisy Mae can have just as much oomph as any campus cutie, except maybe Mary Shaver, who was plenty all right as 1941's Royal Purple Beauty Queen.

When I was posing for my picture, I overheard Laurence telling his wife, who is also his assistant, that the reason we have eagles on all our American money is that it symbolizes swift flight! How true, my boy, how true!

At one of the numerous Greek winter parties lately, I talked to that ever-present stag, "Link" Wilson. He said he was a bit unhappy because he had mailed his girl a letter a day for the past year and when he got home . . . she had married the postman! But don't worry, about me, lad, because you know that,

"If you love me as I love you,
We'll both be friendly—and untrue."

I heard a poem the other day, that may not have reached Dogpatch yet. I'm afraid it may apply to me, if I don't watch my waistline.

Poem:

"How fat she is;
She used to wasn't . . .
The reason is
She daily doesn't."

"Little Joe" Drgastin, that keen Phi Delt with the Russian name, told me of some difficulty he had getting out of a class. It seems Ralph Lashbrook, journalism prof, was informed by a voice on the telephone that Joe was sick that day and would be unable to attend class.

"Very well," said Prof. Lashbrook, "who is this calling?"

"This is my roommate" said little Joe!

All of which reminds me . . . I was talking to J. R. "Power and Light" Hoover today, and ask him if his son's education had proved of any real value.

He said, "Sure, it's cured his mother of bragging about him."

I have very little faith left in college boys, Li'l Abner. I asked a few of them what they thought of women in general . . . their various and sundry qualifications, and here are some of the answers I got.

Johnny Moore, Kappa Sig man about the women: "Woman is constantly banishing thought to make room for fancy."

Bill Bixler, independent speedball, "If you want to know a woman's bad points praise her to another."

Dutch "Come-ride-with-me" Schulze, "There are two kinds of women . . . the experimenting and the experienced."

Grant Marburger, independent smoothie, "As a woman's waist increases, her faith in man decreases."

Bill Ross, Phi Delt good-joe, "The only way of stopping a woman's mouth is by kissing it."

GENIAL "J. R." of Power & Light.

I overheard the following during the Field House parade the other day, which shows for sure how men talk about les femmes. First Rah Rah: "She's pretty as a picture." Second Rah Rah: "Yeah, nice frame, too." Incidentally the parade was so successfully rowdy that one fellow emerged from it having to look up to see down.

Got in on "Brick" Martin and "Sol" Bradwell quipping:

"Whatcha doing?"

"Writing a joke."

"Tell her hello for me."

And I've just found out what a shoulder strap is, too. It's what keeps an attraction from being a sensation.

This recently written literary piece is taking the campus by storm. It's called Ode to a Screwball.

And what do you get?"

You're marked down forever
 As strictly all wet.
 You try to be witty
 And what's the reward?
 A few laughs of pity
 In some minor chord.
 You try to be humorous
 But strive as you may,
 The slams will be numerous
 And they'll all come your way.
 The moral is clear
 If your life would be sunny
 Don't try to be FUNNY!!!

Bill Farrell, Yellow Cab Mgr., started that one.

Guess I've rattled on about campus life enough,
 Li'l Abner. I hear my chemistry book calling me

About that time
 Balmy spring night

Dear Li'l Abner:

These super-duper spring nights remind me of the nights that I got those romantic feelings back in Dogpatch. Thinking of Dogpatch always reminds me of you, and remembering you reminds me that I hope you're remembering me, so I decide to write you to remind you.

We had quite a time here in Manhattan last week,
 Li'l Abner. A new musical comedy came to the Wareham. The bill-boards read: "50 beautiful girls.
 45 gorgeous costumes."

Ten people were killed in the rush for tickets for the opening performance.

Canteen's Dale Simmons, in answer to a customer's, "Do you have any Lifebuoy?" replied, "you might try me, girlie."

Aggie Hardware's "George" Given and George Salisbury and Ward Keller swear they were on a jury when the judge with a sense of humor said to the prisoner to be sentenced to be hanged." Haw, Haw, Haw . . . you'll die when you hear this!"

Manhattan Bootery's Loren Simmons: "I know a place where women don't wear anything . . . except a string of beads once in a while." Harv Langford of Campus Cleaners: "Gee! Where?" Loren Simmons: "Around their necks, stupid."

"Well, I think I'll put the motion before the house," said Betty Roth, Alpha Zi Delta, as she danced out on the stage during Y-Orpheum.

Li'l Abner, I overheard the following this morning, and was thinking how unlike John you are. "L.M." Steele, of Baltimore Hotel fame, says to Chester Long, City Dairy milk-slinger, "I wonder why John jumped in the river?" Says Chester, "I guess there was a woman at the bottom of it."

Last night was the Phi Delt spring party . . . I overheard Marjorie Rogers, Chi O entie, ask her date, "Does my gown look as tho it were falling off my shoulder?" Says date Don Wallace reassuringly: "Naw, let's dance."

"I'm sorry," replied Marjorie, "But I must go and re-arrange it, it's supposed to look that way."

Li'l Abner, I know a Sigma Nu whose motto was "Reach for a sweet instead of a Lucky" until one of the sweets slapped him. And the growing strata of elastic conglomerates received another accretion.

A salesman who wandered into Duckwalls last week, was asked by Mr. "Manager" Gaede what he sold.

Smart salesman who was too tired to make an impression said, "I sell underthings to nudist colonies."

Mr. Gaede, with that I've-got-him look on his face asked, "What kind of underthings do nudists need?"

And the not-to-be-out-done salesman replied, "Cushions."

Just so that you will be up on the K-State slang when (and if) you come this way visiting, I'll tell you that Don "Ask-me-I'll-tell-you" Kortman says that "Fanny" has passed on; that the posterior portion is now referred to as "Twin Sitties."

I wish you could have been here for the military ball, Li'l Abner. Your gloom period would have disappeared when you saw the galaxy of beauties that were there. And laugh . . . jokes were going round and round with very little "blow through here" involved. I drew my armor plate a little closer around me when Bill "life-of-anybody's-party"

Werts said, "Itches is something that when a recruit is standing at attention his nose always."

And as Don Moss said while he was waiting to see the Doc at student health, "Life is just one everlasting struggle to keep money coming in, and hair, teeth and vital organs from coming out."

Saw a coed yesterday who must be the one of whom was said, "No matter how well she is feeling she's in awfully poor shape."

"SHOWEY AND SHINY fountain fixers reflect readily in the tables untarnished top" . . . Duckwalls.

Mrs. Knostman, the Gillett's own manager, tells this one about a flighty little miss who had made her nest in the hotel for awhile. It seems she was sitting on the hotel porch with an astronomy prof of whom she asked, "Is that Venus?"

"No, that's Jupiter," said the Prof.

"How clever," said the gushing miss, "to be able to distinguish the sex at this great distance."

And, Li'l Abner, you might like to know that Lyle "I'm-going-to-Annapolis" Cox told me that Life is the art of drawing sufficient conclusions from insufficient premises. He's never been to Dogpatch, has he!?!?

A buch of us were out guzzling beer the other night, when I. M. "Slim" Rediker said that a machine had been invented that would measure the heat of a co-ed's blush. He added with an "I'm-a-prize-Cheshire-Cat-and-I-just-helped-myself-to-a-hatful-of-cherries" smirk on his face, "It is planned to demonstrate this wonderful invention just as soon as a machine can be invented to make a college girl blush."

I must tell you about the time last week when Prof. "Fritz" Moore rapped on his desk and yelled, "Gentlemen, order!"

The entire class shouted, "Beer!"

One of the keen-kid Vets, Nolan Ludwig, took a big-brotherly interest in me and told me

For the engineer is a strange being and possessed of many devils.

Yea, he speaketh eternally in parables, which he calleth "Formulae."

And he wieldeth a big stick which he calleth a slide rule, and he hath but one Bible . . . a handbook.

He talketh always of stresses and strains, and without end of thermodynamics.

He showeth always a serious aspect and seemeth not to know how to smile.

For he seeketh ever to pursue the scientific investigations,

And his marriage is a simultaneous equation involving two unknowns and yielding diverse answers.

I overheard a couple of seemingly jealous females say about Jean Clark, independent sophisticate, "Sophisticated? Why, that girl wouldn't even believe that the stork brought baby storks!"

"BOBBY" looks over Cole's clothes.

Last night I overheard Mrs. "Style Rite" Geffert saying to "P.J." Dalton, "Your daughter looked quite tempting in that biblical gown she wore last night."

"What do you mean, biblical gown?" asks he.

"Oh you know, sort of lo and behold!"

While I was getting "beautified" in the Lady Beautiful shop yesterday, one of the Pughe sisters told me about the time Larry Spear, popular engineer, was asked in ancient history, "Name two prominent ancient sports."

"Anthony and Cleopatra," replied Larry.

Walter Martin, Collegian editor quipped during the rush of a "Collegian afternoon," "The old-fashioned girl used to swear under her breath, whereas the girl of today doesn't care who hears her. This is, of course, the Boulder Dam project we've heard so much about."

I heard Erma Murray, Y secretary telling Marianna Kistler, to be married in June, not to do this.

"The demure young bride stepped down the long church aisle. As she reached the platform before the altar, her slippered foot brushed a potted flower, upsetting it. She looked at the spilled dirt gravely, raised her child-like eyes to the sedate old minister. "That's a hell of a place to put a lily," she said.

And then Ray Reed declares he and W. L. Aldrich of Laramie Street Grocery fame met and conversed as follows in an army camp.

Reed: "Halt! Who goes there?"

"W.L.": "American."

Reed: "Advance and recite the Star Spangled Banner.

"W.L.": "I don't know it."

Reed: "Proceed, American."

Jennie Marie Madsen, talkative and tricky Tri D, says that an old maid is a woman who has been good . . . for nothing.

"Of the People . . by the People . . for the People"

Immortal words by the Great Emancipator. During the past decade costs of government have soared. Taxes have steadily increased.

This company paid $2,230,366.85 in federal, state and local taxes for the year 1939. Whatever the costs, the necessary functions and services of government must be maintained. It is a citizen's duty to support our government that is "of the people — by the people — for the people."

As taxes increase the possibility of decreased electric rates is farther removed. The percentage taken by taxes of our sales dollar has a direct bearing on the cost of electric service to our customers. Taxes are the concern of all.

Against that day, fix in your mind the name of BURGER-BAIRD. It will then be a more important fact to you than dates (historical —not the other kind) or irregular verbs or formulae.

Good plates? Yes, the best, and pride in their craftsmanship. Prompt with them, too.

But the main thing that keeps Burger-Baird the best known name among middle-west engravers seems to be—well, call it "savvy." It means interest and understanding, not merely for the engravings, but for your larger objectives as well.

People seem to like that, and so, no doubt, will you. Keep us in mind, won't you?
