Big Farm Year In Europe Cuts U.S. Trade Prospects

Agriculture department spokesmen say the European Common Market is headed for another big year in farm production, which is almost certain to complicate the U. S. farm export position with that important outlet.

The Foreign Agricultural Service said in a report that Common Market output in 1969 "promises to be again as large" as the bumper output of last year.

Small Luck In Northern Pike Spawning

Norton Reservoir is the only lake in Kansas which has, so far, shown any evidence of natural reproduction of northern pike, according to Roy Schoonover, fishery chief for the Forestry, Fish and Game Commission.

Schoonover stated that, although some natural reproduction of northern may have occurred in other Kansas reservoirs, fishery biologists have not discovered any indication of it. At the present time, adult northern pike, capable of reproduction, are present in several large lakes including Tuttle Creek, Council Grove, Marion, Cheney, Wilson, Elk City and Milford Reservoirs.

Apparently, the factor limiting reproduction in these lakes is the lack of suitable spawning habitat during the early spring. Northern pike normally seek out flooded vegetation for their spawning bed and, where this condition is not present, little or no survival of the eggs is possible.

Schoonover reports that negotiations are in progress with the controlling agencies of these reservoirs in an attempt to manipulate water levels to provide suitable spawning habitat for the northern pike at a time when it is needed. If it is possible to work out coordinated water level plans, the future of the northern pike in Kansas should be assured.

Department officials have been concerned for a long time over what they consider rising protectionism by the Common Market which threatens the 1.5 billion dollars annual market for U. S. farm products.

As European production rises and stockpiles continue, many officials say, the Common Market tends to look toward more restrictive policies to head off outside competition.

The report shows that the Common Market last year increased its farm production index to 131 per cent of its 1957-59 average, or three points above 1967.

Record grain production was reported by the community last year, up 3 per cent from 1967 and included major expansion in corn and wheat — two important U. S. exports.

"Last year, corn accounted for over 26 per cent of all feedgrain produced in the community," the report said. "The introduction of hybrid varieties has increased average yields to the point where corn can compete with small grains and other crops for land."

The FAS said the outlook for further increases this year for grain not only has diminished prospects for exports to the Common Market but has caused concern among its own officials on a shortage of storage space.

The report said prospects are brighter for exports of oil-seeds to the Common Market, but noted that these — primarily soybeans from the United States — are not expected to increase much.

The FAS analysis tends to reinforce the recent concern of department officials over growing European supplies and what officials there intend to do about them.

One of the most pressing proposals, now officially before the Common Market, is a plan to levy a stiff tax of $60 a ton on vegetable oil and $30 a ton on meal consumed in the common market countries. In this way, some Common Market officials believe, more butter and other European products now in surplus will be consumed because they would be cheaper.

Critics here say the so-called "internal tax" on oilseed products would have the effect of much higher tariffs on U. S. products, namely soybeans which account for most of the annual 500 million dollar oilseed exports to the Common Market.

Reasons For Fewer Tornadoes

A misplaced jet stream was credited with the unusually low number of tornadoes reported over the United States thus far this year.

The Weather Bureau's national severe storm forecasting center here said it received only 70 twister sightings in April, compared with 116 in April last year.

Only one person died in a tornado last month — this death coming in Alabama — against 46 victims of April of 1968. In April of 1965 a total of 264 persons died in tornadoes.

A Weather Bureau spokesman said fewer than 100 tornadoes were sighted in the first four months of the year — about half the usual number.

Experts explained the jet stream of cool, dry air which often collides with warm, moist air and produces tornadoes across the nation's midsection has been located further south this spring than usual. The result has been more rain and fewer twisters.

Weather Bureau authorities were unable, however, to predict how long the tornado luck will continue.

Propose A Farm Labor Bargaining Law

The Nixon administration has proposed a special collective bargaining law for farm workers and the idea got support on Capitol Hill.

George P. Shultz, secretary of labor, recommended that a farm labor relations board of three members be appointed by the President to conduct bargaining agent elections on large farms and to handle cases involving unfair labor practices.

Under the proposal, growers would be protected against "surprise strikes." And they would have the option of setting a 30-day no-strike period for mediation and binding recommendations by a neutral panel.

Shultz presented his proposal to a Senate labor subcommittee headed by Sen. Harrison A. Williams, Jr. (D-N. J.). The secretary said it is a product of discussion with the secretary of agriculture and others within the Nixon administration.

Williams, conducting a hearing on legislation to extend the provisions of the national labor relations act to agriculture, called the proposal a "very unique new departure."

Shultz told the subcommittee he supports the right of farm workers to form unions and bargain for employment terms and conditions.

He said product boycotts, such as that in progress against California table grapes, are not the way to do it, and no alternative is acceptable unless it includes a method for dealing with strikes at harvest time.

Under the Shultz proposal, a union would be required to give a 10-day notice of intent to strike. Before the deadline, the grower could call for mediation, fact-finding and recommendations during a 30-day period of his own selection — presumably harvest time.

The workers would be prohibited from striking and the grower would have to agree in advance to be bound by the recommendations of the mediator if they are accepted by the workers before the end of the 30-day period.

Shultz said the proposal differs from binding arbitration in that both the growers and the workers have a series of options.

The grower, he said, would not have to agree to abide by mediator recommendations if he elected not to call for mediation. But he would not get a 30-day no-strike guarantee.

The workers, he said, could strike before and after the 30-day mediation period, and would have the option of accepting or rejecting mediation terms.

The options of the growers and the workers would be reversed in the case of a lockout, for which a 10-day notice also would be required.

Co-op Leader John Toy Dead

MANHATTAN — John J. Toy, long active in co-op work in Riley county, is dead at the age of 91. Toy, who served as Riley county commissioner from 1930 to 1938, helped organize the Farmers Cooperative Association at Manhattan and was president for 40 years.

At the time of his death he was president-emeritus and a director of the Manhattan co-op, which in recent years has stretched into Pottawatomie and Wabaunsee counties also.

Toy was also an early director of the electric co-op at Wamego.

Protest DDT Ban In Michigan

The National Agricultural Chemicals Association said it will appeal the Michigan Agriculture Commission's decision to outlaw sale of DDT in the state.

Parke Brinkley, association president, said in a statement that the pesticide industry "will insist upon a full hearing before the agriculture commission as provided in the Michigan administrative procedures law."

Agriculture Commissioner B. Dale Ball announced April 17 the commission had initiated proceedings to outlaw sale of DDT in Michigan and said all DDT registration would be canceled within 30 days.

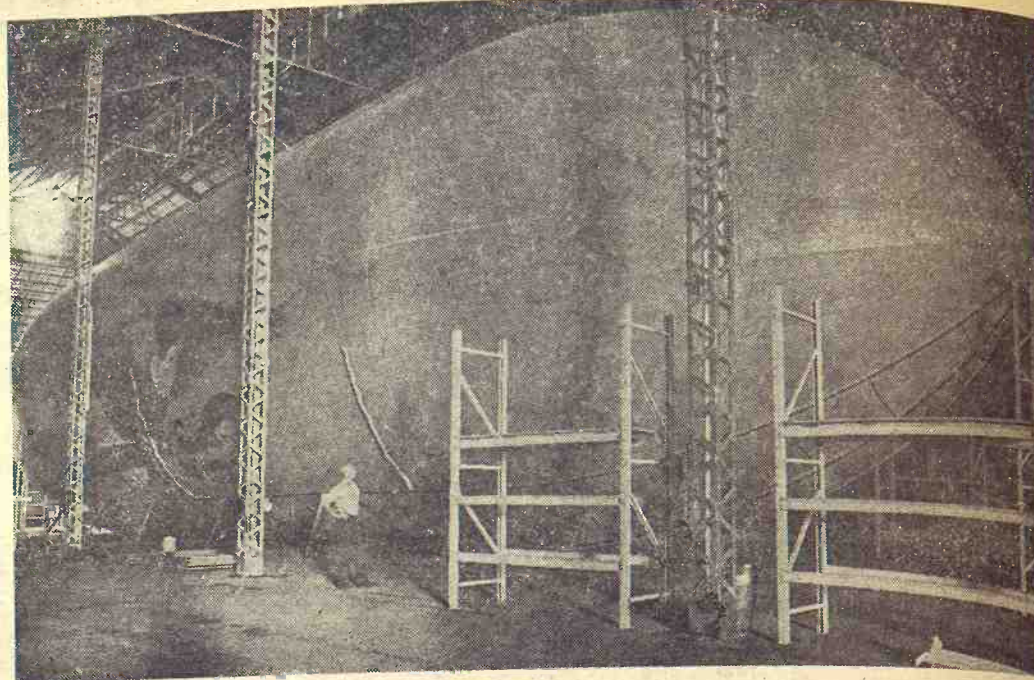

Mr. Brinkley said the commission referred to "recent findings of existing residue levels in wildlife environment" as the basis for its action.

The pesticide industry "will attempt to review evidence of these findings prior to the hearing to permit a full exploration of the decision during the course of a hearing," Mr. Brinkley said.

The bag - 150 feet by 33 feet - was built by a Wichita canvas firm. Later on it will be joined to another construction to become Tom Swift's story book airship balloon.

U. S. Milk Output Down

Milk production during the first three months of 1969 declined 1.5 per cent from a year earlier, but farmers' prices were up 5 per cent, the Agriculture department reported.

The drop in total production was what department officials had estimated two months ago. Officials said that output during the second quarter probably will continue below a year earlier.

Officials noted that March milk output per cow increased little from a year earlier, despite an 8 per cent gain in feeding of grain and concentrates.

Cow numbers were down 3.25 per cent during March, the smallest rate of decline for the month since 1962.

Prices dairymen received in January through March averaged $5.44 per 100 pounds of all milk, a gain of 5 per cent from a year earlier. The increase was attributed to higher government supports for manufacturing grade milk, and increases in federal marketing order prices for Class I or bottling milk.

Near Balance Of Feed Grain Use

An Agriculture Department official says signups by farmers for 1969 crop production-control programs indicate a near-balance in supply and use of livestock feed grains but the outlook for wheat is more uncertain.

Carroll G. Brunthaver, associate administrator of the agricultural stabilization and conservation service, said signups to divert land from production of corn, sorghum grain and barley this year could mean a reduction in carryover supplies.

"Wheat is less optimistic than feed grains, in my opinion," Brunthaver said, mostly because of large world supplies and prospects for reduced U.S. exports this year.

The department announced its final report on farm program signups for 1969 in which farmers indicate how much they intend to cut back acreages of major crops.

Record participation was reported in the feed grains program, with farmers agreeing to take from production more than 41,300,000 acres of corn, grain sorghum and barley.

Last year, when barley was not included, diversions actually totaled 32,400,000 acres, Brunthaver said, allowing for normal attrition, some 38,500,000 acres are expected to be held back this year.

Of this amount, he said, an estimated 34 million are expected to be diverted from corn and sorghum grain, and 4,500,000 from barley.

Final signups for wheat accounted for 45,700,000 acres of the national allotment of 51,600,000 for this year, which was a 13 percent acreage cutback from the 1968 program.

But in addition, department officials originally had indicated they wanted an additional diversion of at least 3 million acres below basic allotments. As U.S. wheat exports failed to strengthen in the face of rising foreign competition and the dock strike, some officials raised their sights to diversions of a million acres or more.

The report showed wheat farmers have agreed to divert 4,900,000 acres from total allotments, well below what some authorities believe necessary to reduce stockpiling.

The final report also showed the cotton program signup totaled more than 14,900,000 acres of the national allotment of 16,200,000 acres.

Cotton farmers are being encouraged this year to plant their full allotments in an effort to rebuild diminished reserves.

Family Problems In Desegregation Bussing

WICHITA — A Wichita mother, facing the prospect of her six children going to six schools next fall, has appealed to Gov.

Robert Docking for assistance in fighting the Wichita Board of Education's desegregation compliance plan.

Thirty-five persons have joined her in the protest by signing petitions that were sent to the governor.

Mrs. Wanda Keeler, who lives in the Ingalls elementary school area, is author of the "open letter to the governor from concerned Northeast Wichita citizens."

Mrs. Keeler said she has one child now attending Wichita Southeast high school. Another child entering high school next fall has been assigned to West high. A daughter now is in Robinson junior high and a son has been assigned to Mayberry junior high. She has two daughters in Ingalls elementary "and it is rumored one of these will be sent to Mathewson."

Another mother in the area, Mrs. Keeler said, will have children in seven schools.

In the letter, the parents state they "do not oppose the bus services in the Wichita public schools in an effort to integrate the schools."

"We do, however, oppose the plan of separating children of one home into several different schools. We feel the board of education is asking a great deal in separating families like this."

The letter points out that the new system will mean that children cannot participate in after-school activities because they must be ready to leave the school when the bus departs.

"When we have children attending the integrated secondary and high school, it seems so unreasonable for the school board to deny our request for the younger children to attend the same school and insist that they attend a different school. We request your assistance in this matter."

Under the school board's in-

Approve Grid Playoffs For High Schools

The State Board of Education has approved a plan for high school football playoffs in Kansas.

The action, by a 6-1 vote, assures football playoffs at the scholastic level in the state next fall.

The board approved a plan submitted by the board of directors of Kansas State High School Activities Association (KHSAA).

The KHSAA board voted 23-9 April 12 in favor of designating playoffs for senior high schools in Classes 5A, 4A, 3A, 2A and 1A, for 11-man football and Class 1A, for eight-man football. The championship game for 5A and the semifinal round for all other classes will be played Nov. 21. The championship game in the other classes will be Nov. 29.

Participation in the playoffs will be optional.

The complicated plan bases qualifying for the playoffs on a point system.

There would be two district qualifiers in Class 5A and four in the other classes.

A team would be classed in division according to its record. Teams winning more than half their games would be placed in Division One. Teams winning 50 per cent or fewer of their games would be placed in Division Two.

50 points would be given for a victory over a first division team, 42.5 points for a tie and 35 points for a loss. Forty points would be given for a win over a second division team, 40 for a tie and 30 for a loss.

If a team plays an opponent in a higher classification, it would get five points regardless of the outcome. If a team plays an opponent in a lower classification, it would lose five points.

For a perfect season, a team would be given 20 additional points. For an undefeated tied campaign, a team would be awarded 10 points.

Not All Rural 4-H Image

Trying to shed their exclusively rural image, more than 1,200 members of Kansas 4-H clubs will attend the annual 4-H Roundup at Kansas State University June 2 to June 9.

Students from cities and rural areas will tour the campus and participate in discussions on citizenship and career guidance, according to Marjorie A. Tennant of the K-State extension service staff.

There are more than 95,000 4-H members in the state, Professor Tennant said. The figure has remained steady during the past five years despite a decline in traditional 4-H activities.

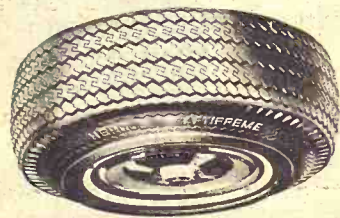

From cattle raising and judging the 4-H members have swung to special interests which will be reflected during the week.

In addition to older 4-H clubs operating on a year-long basis in agriculturally-related activities, short-term projects have been developed according to student interest in small towns, cities and suburbs, she said. Growth in the new special interest groups has been more rapid than in the conventional 4-H clubs.

While some students work in photography, electronics or bicycle safety projects, others have begun work in low income areas in Lawrence, Manhattan, Topeka, Wichita and other Kansas cities, she said, teaching sewing, cooking and other skills.

The 1969 roundup will be the 45th annual summer event for Kansas 4-H youth.

Corps Turns Down Southwest Kansas Dams

LIBERAL — Suggested reservoirs on the Cimarron river north and west of Liberal in Southwest Kansas are considered unfeasible by the Corps of Engineers and are not being recommended in either short-or long-range plans for the Cimarron river basin.

That was disclosed here by Col. Vernon W. Pinkey, Tulsa district engineer, at a public hearing attended by about 150 persons from Kansas, Oklahoma and New Mexico.

The hearing, the second on studies of the basin, was scheduled because of interest in development in the western part of the basin, Colonel Pinkey said. The first hearing, April 3 in Enid, Okla., dealt primarily with proposed Englewood and Skeleton reservoirs in Oklahoma. Those two reservoirs are recommended as feasible, Colonel Pinkey said.

Corps of Engineers studies in the Cimarron river basin in New Mexico, Kansas and Oklahoma resulted in 24 recommended reservoir sites. The list was narrowed to nine considered feasible, all in Oklahoma, some bordering on Kansas.

All proposed sites in the western part of the basin, including those north of Elkhart and near Moscow in Southwest Kansas, were among those dropped.

Colonel Pinkey expressed hope that the Southwest Kansas projects could be revived. He said strong local support and strong endorsements by the congressmen could bring about revival or early construction of reservoirs far down on the priority list.

Several of those who spoke at the hearing asked that a new factor — recharging the underground water table by percolation downstream of waters released during flood control — be considered.

State Sen. Don Christy, a former member of the Kansas Water Resources board, said research into this area was just getting under way with encouraging results.

Colonel Pinkey described the criteria that the Corps uses to determine whether reservoir projects would pay their way in flood control, pollution control, water supply, irrigation, recreation, and fish and wildlife conservation. He noted that recreation alone is not enough to justify a reservoir project.

He said the Southwest Kansas projects do not measure up in paying their way, would be expensive to develop, sedimentation would be high, dependability of water supply would not be satisfactory, irrigation from the reservoirs would not be economical and flood control benefits would not be worth the cost.

Area Dairy Co-op Turns Down Bigger Merger

Mid-America Dairymen, Inc., a consolidation of 14 co-operatives in the Kansas City area, has decided against a further merger into an even larger organization.

The proposed new organization, which would be called American Milk Producers, Inc., would take in regional co-operatives throughout the Middle West from Minnesota to Texas.

Originally, Kansas City was served by Pure Milk Producers, a co-operative of dairy farmers delivering milk here. Through a series of mergers and consolidations, Pure Milk joined with other similar co-operatives to form Mid-America Dairymen.

The larger organization in advance to distributing milk gained control of several processing plants for the making of dairy products. Mid-America now represents farmers in nine states.

Mid-America belongs to a federation of similar large co-operatives which is called Associated Dairymen. Actually, this is an association with each co-operative maintaining its identity.

Within this association are some officials who think the various regionals should consolidate into one large organization and that is the basis for the proposal for American Milk Producers, Inc. Included along with Mid-America Dairymen would be Milk Producers, Inc. San Antonio, Tex.; Pure Milk association, Chicago; Twin Cities Milk Producers, St. Paul, and 14 smaller co-operatives.

8

At a meeting of representatives of the various regionals this week in Chicago, John C. Gage of Kansas City, representing Mid-America, made it known that his association does not want at this time to join American Milk Producers. The Mid-America board, Gage said, preferred the present association of the co-operatives and would not want to become a member of a larger group until a study is made of all the problems involved.

Withdrawal of Mid-America from the discussions did not halt the plans of the others in continuing toward a consolidation, Gage said.

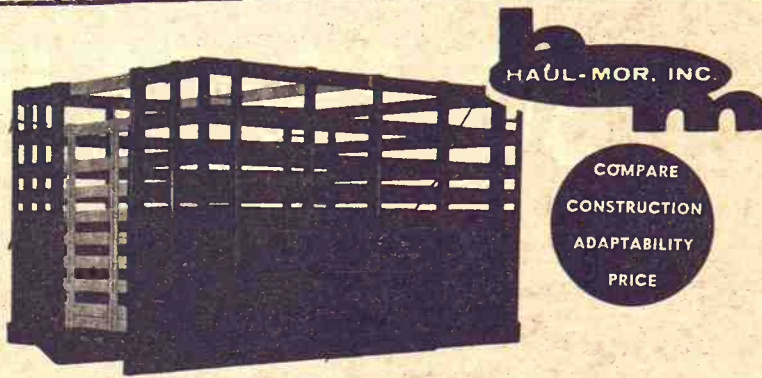

Poor Quarter For Mutual Funds

Mutual fund holders had no picnic the first quarter of 1969. Of some 300, only 16 did better than the Dow Jones industrial average, which lost nine-tenths of 1%. The best performer, a Canadian fund, Templeton, gained 5%. Twenty-eight funds lost 10% or more. The best gainer of the last five years, the Enterprise fund, which is up 500% in five years, lost 10% in the first quarter of 1969.

OUR DAILY BREAD

- by G&G Area Cooks

Manhattanite, Mrs. Warren Blodgett, Winner Of Prize

Winner, Mrs. Warren Blodgett, 1225 Hudson, Manhattan:
"Enjoy Grass & Grain very much. With strawberries almost in season, this is a delicious pie. Everyone enjoys this beautiful dessert. The crust is very good with cream fillings."

STRAWBERRY PIE

- 1 cup sugar
- 3 tablespoons cornstarch
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1 7-ounce bottle 7-up
- red food coloring
- 3 cups fresh strawberries
- 1 baked butter pecan crust

Combine sugar, cornstarch and salt in a saucepan. Stir in 7-up. Cook on medium heat, stirring constantly until thickened.
Add food coloring, a few drops, to tint glaze the same shade as berries. Cool slightly. Arrange strawberries in cooled pie crust. Pour glaze evenly over berries. Chill until set. Makes one 9-inch pie.

BUTTER PECAN CRUST

- 1/2 cup butter or oleo
- 1/4 cup light brown sugar
- 1 cup sifted flour
- 1/4 cup finely chopped pecans
- 1/4 cup shredded coconut

Cut butter, sugar and flour with pastry blender or fork until mixture resembles coarse cornmeal. Add pecans and coconut, stirring until distributed evenly through mixture. Place mixture into 9-inch pie pan. With back of spoon, press mixture evenly around the bottom and sides of pie pan. Bake at 375 degrees for 12-15 minutes or until browned.

This salad recipe was sent by Mrs. R. J. Cleverdon, R 2, Brookville:

5 CUP SALAD

- 1 cup pineapple chunks
(drained)
- 1 cup mandarin oranges
(drained)
- 1 cup miniature marshmal-lows
- 1 cup Angel Flake coconut
- 1 cup cream whipped or 1 envelope whipped topping made according to box directions

Mix and store in refrigerator until serving time.

Mrs. Roy Peterson, Burdick:
"With rhubarb in season this is a delicious recipe to be used as a dessert or a roll for any lunch."

FRESH RHUBARB ROLL
Combine 1 1/2 cups sugar and 2 cups water. Cook for five minutes. Pour into a greased baking pan, 8x12 inch. Make a biscuit dough, using 3 cups flour, 3 teaspoons baking powder, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/3 cup sugar. Cut in 1/2 cup shortening. Add 1 cup milk and stir slightly. Knead on a floured board. Roll into a 12-inch square. Brush with 3 tablespoons melted oleo or butter.

Spread dough with 3 cups fresh cut rhubarb and roll as a jelly roll. Cut into 1-inch slices and place in the pan with the sugar and water syrup. Bake at 450 degrees for 40 minutes or until nicely brown and done.

The next recipe is from Mrs.
Larry M. Elgin of Burlingame:

TOASTER TARTS (Makes 12)

Preheat oven to 400 degrees F.

Combine in a bowl:

- 3 cups packaged biscuit mix
- 1 1/2 cups crushed cornflakes
- 1/2 cup sugar

Mix well. Add 1/2 cup shortening. Cut in with a pastry blender or two knives until mixture looks like coarse cornmeal. Add 3/4 cup hot water. Mix just until blended. Divide dough in half.
Roll out each half to a square, 12x12 inches. Cut each square in 12 3x4 inch rectangles. Place 12 rectangles on ungreased cookie sheet. Place 2 teaspoons strawberry preserves in the center of each rectangle. Top with remaining 12 rectangles.
Moisten edges with water and seal securely. Bake at 400 degrees for 12-15 minutes or until done. To pack for lunch, cool and wrap in plastic wrap or serve warm at home with coffee. Tarts may be reheated in toaster. Note: Try varying the preserve filling. Apricot or peach preserves are good substitutes.

Heatstroke

Cool it as much as possible in hot and humid weather and lessen your chances of suffering heat exhaustion. Victims of heatstroke usually exhibit the following symptoms: Pale and clammy skin; rapid and weak pulse rate; complaints of weakness, headache, or nausea; and cramps in stomach, legs or arms. The victim should lie down in a cool place with his head level to or lower than his body. If the person is conscious, give him a salt water solution — one teaspoon salt to one quart water — and then call a doctor.

Prevent Falls

According to statistics, 1-500,000 serious falls take place in and around the house every year. Always clean up wet spots on the floor at once to prevent falls.

Thank-You Note

A recent winner of the "Our Daily Bread" contest, Mrs. Albert Frohardt, Chapman, sent a note of thanks:

"You will never know how pleased and surprised when the 'Triumph Basket' came to me yesterday through the mail.
This basket will surely be used a lot in my kitchen, as there are so many ways it can be used. Many, many thanks to you for such a nice gift."

Bloat Guard
(POLOXALENE)
Proved Effective

What Causes Bloat?

When gas produced in the rumen is trapped in a stable foam, bloat occurs. Legumes (alfalfa, clover) are major causes of bloat. Death or severe production losses are likely to result.

Now There Is Protection.

University research developed and proved SWEETLIX BLOAT GUARD Blocks as an effective means of preventing bloat. Then it was proved again through extensive herd testing in the field.

Poloxalene Is Safe!

Poloxalene can be safely fed to all cattle — including lac-

Why Block Feeding?

Feeding of Poloxalene in mo-

Traveling With Children

Vacation is just around the corner. Motor trips with infants and children require just a few extra precautions to assure a safe and comfortable journey. If possible, limit your travel to only 200 or 300 miles a day and choose stopover points with facilities for recreation and infant care. Stock your car with a sufficient supply of disposable diapers and sealed jars of baby food. Make certain milk is pasteurized and water is pure. Also, see to it that your children's immunization shots (tetanus, polio and whooping cough) are up to date.

Check Fuse Box

Include the fuse box in your spring clean-up activities, reminds the National Fire Protection Association. Get rid of burned-out fuses and make sure you are using only 15 ampere fuses except on special circuits designed for heavier loads.

CASE rear-mounted 914 and 916 CULTIVATORS

Ruggedly built, remarkably simple... adjust quickly to various row spacings

Precision cultivating with simplified "single-gang" design and adjustable toolbar mounting—means you can cultivate rows of corn, soybeans, as narrow as 28 inches... as wide as 40-42 inches.

Simple, rugged construction. Just a single gang carries all shovels between each pair of rows. Gangs are quickly adaptable to various row widths. The number of gauge wheels and other moving parts are nearly cut in half! Cross pipe is extra-heavy square box-section steel. 5-inch on the 916, 4-inch on the 914.

Tough 18-inch stabilizer disks. One on the 914, two on the 916 guide cultivator between rows without side drift.

Spring-loaded to penetrate crusty, hard soils... yet ride over obstacles. Disks rotate smoothly on anti-friction bearings.

Quick 3-point hitching. Lets you switch from cultivating to other jobs in just minutes... without sacrificing cultivating quality or capacity.

Fit any tractor. The 914 and 916 fit any make tractor with Category II 3-point hitch. 914 4-row models available with an optional Category I hitch.

Handy, adjustable hold-up stands. Makes hitching faster, easier... convenient when storing implement.

Garden Borders Essential To Unify Plantings

Borders are important in the garden because they unify the plantings, an effect hard to achieve by other means. An elaborate planting is not necessary, nor is one of rare or unusual flowers.

A border should, however, be entirely of one kind of flower that does not vary greatly in either height or spread. The flowers may be of one color or of the varied colors available within a single kind or variety.

Two of the best border plants are sweet alyssum and dwarf zinnias. Several years ago, a truly tiny zinnia, only six inches in height was introduced and named Thumbelina. Perfect for a border, this has 1½-inch-wide flowers of red, yellow, pink, rose and white.

Colors now have been selected from this strain so that a border of one color is possible.

For generations sweet alyssum was known only with a white flower. There still are white-flowered varieties available, but there also are varieties with colored blooms — purple, violet, pink and rose.

So, within just the ranges of dwarf zinnias and sweet alyssum, many color combinations are possible between the border plantings and the flowers in the border.

Both sweet alyssum and dwarf zinnias are best grown from seed sown in a sunny place wherever the flowers are to bloom.

See Delay On Meat Controls

Small meat locker and slaughterhouse operators probably won't be pushed out of business by federal inspection legislation, a national official in the field said at Wichita.

E. B. Mayer, LaGrange, Tex., president of the National Institute of Locker and Freezer Provisioners, noted in an interview there was a strong chance Federal Wholesale Meat Act of 1967 provisions would not be in force by the original deadline. The act was to be in effect in all states next Jan. 1 except where states enacted their own similar legislation, as Kansas did this year.

"We were told this Feb. 1 was the deadline for publishing the new interpretations in the Federal Register," Mayer said, "and next Jan. 1 for the state compliance, but many of us think there'll be a delay."

Mayer was addressing the final session of a three-day annual convention of the Kansas Frozen Food Locker and Provisioners Association at the Broadview Hotel.

More than 300 persons attended the event, at which officers and directors were elected and Blaine Bowlin, Whitewater locker and meat processing operator, was chosen "Locker Operator of the Year."

The association's president, J. Frank Buehler, Claflin, was succeeded by former president-elect Loren C. Page, Garnett. New president-elect is James Macomber, Winchester, and new vice president is Ray Houston, Eureka. A new one-year director is Alvin Roepke, Waterville, and new three-year directors are Leo Robinson, Junction City, and Elmer Duis, Clifton.

Top Dairymen Averaged $232 Per Cow Profit

HIAWATHA — Top management paid off at the rate of more than $110 per cow the past two years for one group of northeastern Kansas dairymen, a Kansas State University study shows.

Returns to labor and management averaged $232.54 per cow on the most profitable one-half of the dairy farms in Farm Management Association No. 4 during 1967 and 1968. This compares to $119.92 on the least profitable one-half.

Thus, a high profit operator with a 50-cow herd would show a $5500 higher return than a low profit dairyman with the same size herd.

Higher production on the most profitable farms accounts for much of the difference. However, labor and machinery costs — repairs, depreciation and interest — were considerably higher on the low profit farms, says Leo Figurski, Extension economist from Hiawatha.

Hired labor on the low profit farms averaged $29.24 per cow, compared to $20.85 for high profit farms, he says. Machinery repairs were $9.28 on the low profit farms and $6.65 on the high profit farms.

Interest on machinery and equipment averaged $6.12 and depreciation $37.28 per cow on the least profitable farms. On the most profitable farms, the figures were $3.95 and $29.34, respectively.

Top managers substitute machinery for labor, Figurski says. However, both machinery and labor costs were higher on the low profit farms in this study.

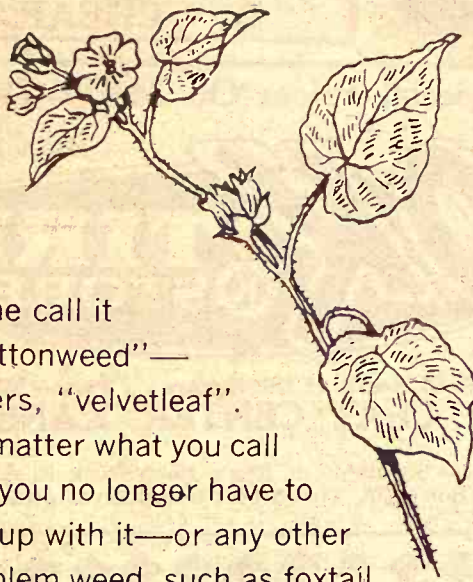

Total costs per cow — including feed and non-feed costs, averaged $539.58 on the low income farms and $510.74 on the high income farms.

Machinery costs per crop acre are higher on dairy farms than most other types of farms, Figurski says. Low income operators need to hold machinery costs in line with cow numbers or enlarge their herd to spread these costs over a greater number of animals, he suggests.

CHOLERA OUTBREAK IN CAROLINAS

States adjacent to North and South Carolina have been advised not to buy or transport hogs from the Carolinas. A rash of hog cholera in the two states has apparently spread northward into neighboring Virginia, causing six outbreaks there since March.

BUTTONWEED SEWING UP YOUR SOYBEAN PROFITS?

Some call it "buttonweed" — others, "velvetleaf". No matter what you call it—you no longer have to put up with it—or any other problem weed, such as foxtail, lambsquarters, smartweed, ragweed, or pigweed—cutting your profits. In light to medium soil types, "Lorox" gets buttonweed—and the other ones, too—and at less use-cost than other leading soybean weed killers. Need we say more? OREN LEE STALEY,
President, NFO

"What will you give me?"

For farmers, a question to forget!

For years, you and I took whatever buyers would give us for our farm products. And we took it on the chin.

But now there's something farmers and ranchers can do to help determine what they'll be paid for their farm production.

That something is NFO, National Farmers Organization. Through NFO, farmers and ranchers combine their production into blocks and bargain collectively with buyers. Which means higher farm prices and decent profits. A better life for farm families.

Get the facts about NFO. Send the coupon today for your free copy of THE BIGGEST FARM STORY OF THE DECADE. Do it now. The next time you say, "What will you give me?" you could be talking about your farm.

Increased Consumption Buoy Beef Prospect

CHICAGO — Stamped beef demand is outstripping production, pushing prices to the highest levels in more than a decade. And, cattle analysts say, prices could be nudged still higher.

"The industry is producing beef that consumers want, and the consumers have the money to afford more beef — even the better cuts," sums up one cattleman.

Last year, beef consumption in the U. S. reached 110 pounds per capita, up 3.5% from 1967 and one of the largest advances in recent years. Per-capita consumption was less than 100 pounds four years ago, and was 55 pounds in 1951, when choice cattle sold in Chicago for a record $38 or more a hundred-weight.

Choice cattle prices reached $34, while the average price of choice steers in early May was $32.25. The average price of all steers sold at Chicago the first week in May was $32, the highest in 17 years.

This "bull market" for cattle is being felt at the supermarket meat counter. The retail price for choice beef so far this year is averaging more than 90 cents a pound, up 4% from a year earlier and the highest for the 10 years in which the government has compiled this average. One government economist believes the 90-cent average is the highest ever reached by choice beef.

But most consumers aren't balking — at least not yet. As a result, meat packers are actively competing for cattle supplies to maintain efficient slaughtering operations. Many packers say they're being forced to reach to more distant points to buy fed cattle, which account for about 75% of the U. S. beef supply. "Demand for finished cattle is coming from all directions," says one feedlot operator in the Southwest, where cattle feeding is showing the biggest expansion. "Buyers just don't seem to be able to get their needs filled," he says.

The demand for fed cattle, in turn, has spurred a scramble for feeding stock, animals that have to be fattened for later slaughter. Steers, calves and heifers have been particularly strong, with prices for some preferred types hitting the highest level in more than 15 years. Many analysts expect feeder prices to move higher before the upturn levels out.

The humming economy has played a big part in the strong cattle market, and more than one economist figures that a major slowdown in national economic growth would soon be reflected by a decline in beef demand. "Consumer income probably has more of a bearing on beef than on most other farm-produced products," says one government economist. In explaining the current demand surge, he states, "The economy got hotter than we planned last fall and consequently the beef market rose more than expected."

According to figures collected from Federally inspected meat packing plants, U. S. cattle slaughter so far this year is running at a record pace, 8% above a year ago. Because of the lighter weights of cattle being shipped to market, beef production is 6% higher than a year ago.

But some economists believe the increase in beef output isn't nearly as great as these figures indicate, partly because Federal inspection was expanded greatly last year and so the figures reflect activity of more packing plants and not necessarily more slaughtering — including that which isn't federally inspected — slaughter of steers and heifers in the last 10 days actually was below a year earlier.

This source claims that first quarter commercial output of steer and heifer beef was up only 1% from a year earlier, while the population was increasing about 1.5%.

John W. Goodwin, agricultural economist at Oklahoma State University, says that if fed cattle continue to be marketed at lighter weights and if "we can avoid bunch marketings through May, prices for cattle will rise in June and could reach their 1969 peaks late in the fall or early winter." He thinks there aren't enough cattle "in sight" to halt the price rise at the current rate of demand.

Norton E. Smith, livestock analyst with Paine, Webber, Jackson & Curtis in Chicago, says cattle "would have to be hard pressed for choice Chicago steers to average below $30 a hundred pounds. I just can't see them going under that level, at least through mid-1970."

Heat Great Lakes With A-Power?

Bathers who complain that the Great Lakes are too cold might be able to swim in warmer water if nuclear power plants heat waters along popular beaches.

The idea of using hot water discharged by nuclear generating stations to warm beach water has been proposed by Roman H. Koenings, U.S. Bureau of Outdoor Recreation regional director at Ann Arbor.

"You have to be a relatively hardy individual to swim in several lakes for extended periods — and I'm not just talking about Lake Superior," Koenings told the Great Lakes Research conference.

Abraham Lincoln

George Washington

HOW THEY'D LOOK

As envisioned by a Kansas City Star artist, Abraham Lincoln and George Washington would look rather much in place in today's styles. There's a sincere, clean-cut result from Lincoln, with crew cut and modern eye-glasses. Washington doesn't look out of place either with an Ivy League hair cut, modern garb, and a lodge pin in his lapel.

But the results going the other way in time produce less satisfactory results. Wearing Civil War hair styles, President Nixon and Vice President Agnew look more like campus radicals than 19th century statesmen.

Farmland Picks Clay Center As Site For Hog Improvement Program

Clay Center has been chosen as headquarters for a major hog improvement program to be conducted by Farmland Industries of Kansas City.

Tommy Mills, Farmland field representative, said the co-op organization had selected Clay Center because of the huge packing plant to be built there.

If the program develops as anticipated, it will be a major hog improvement program spreading well out of Clay Center to perhaps 100 to 200 miles into the state.

Based on a need for more locally produced feeder pigs

the program is designed to create a farmer-owned system to produce uniform high quality feeder pigs, Mills said.

"I must stress that this is not a program to promote feed from local cooperatives, but a program designed to improve the quality of hogs in the entire area," Mills said. "Any hog producer will be eligible for the program." The local Co-op will coordinate and promote the program.

The program will be based on two ideas, animal testing and crossbreeding.

Boars and gilts will be constantly tested for a specific period of time. Hogs will also be tested for a specific amount of back fat and leanness.

Mills said testing will provide the best growth rate, increase feed efficiency and increase the amount of lean meat on hogs.

A system of crossbreeding will be employed that will increase litter size, increase livability of the hogs and increase hog growth rate.

The program is getting started locally now, Mills said, and will take about two years to get into full operation.

The program is designed so that small as well as large operators may be involved, he said. An operator may do breeding only, feeding only, or both operations at once.

The program is a controlled method of production. One of the extra heavy advantages of the program is that farmers should receive a premium for butcher hogs because the hogs will be of the quality that packing plants need.

The program will be introduced into surrounding counties in the near future.

Mills said a similar program has been operating out of Beatrice, Nebr., with considerable success. The program there has been spreading into Iowa because of the quality of hogs produced, he added.

HERINGTON STICKS WITH GRASS GREENS

HERINGTON — The Herington country club will continue to have grass greens, at least for another year. At a recent meeting a vote to install synthetic greens on the 9-hole course at a cost of $16,000 resulted in 35 yes votes, 31 no's, and 33 abstentions.

NEW JERSEY TO VOTE ON LOTTERY

New Jersey voters will decide next November whether they will approve a state operated lottery. The subject has come before the legislature several times over the last 20 years but has never been approved for a referendum. New Hampshire and New York are the only states in the U.S. which have state-approved lotteries.

May Ease Liquor Control On Clubs

Gov. Robert Docking has signed into law a bill that many persons contend would in effect all of class A private clubs in Kansas to serve liquor by the drink.

But Col. E. V. D. Murphy, director of Alcoholic Beverage Control, said that although the legislation makes a major change in present law, he is not yet certain just what the impact will be. Murphy said he is studying the changes.

Under present law, class A private clubs — nonprofit clubs as distinguished from the profit-making class B clubs — are required to keep a book showing the amount of liquor credited to each member stated in brand, age, volume and dollar amount.

Murphy said, for example, a member fills out for a club agent a purchase order saying he wants a fifth of eight-year-old bourbon of a particular brand at a cost of $5.25. The agent then uses the purchase order to get the liquor.

The law states further that no liquor shall be served to a member of the club unless the member shall have a credit balance in his liquor pool account.

But the legislature struck out the words "brand, age and volume" to require only that the list show the dollar amount. This would seem to mean that the list show only that a member agreed to purchase, say, $12 worth of liquor.

Murphy said he thinks the legislation, effective July 1, will create problems in administering the private club law. But he said he can't be certain of its impact until he has more time to study the bill.

TO "TURN OFF" NIAGARA FALLS

This drawing shows how a coffer dam erected for the Corps of Engineers will close off the entrance to the American channel at Niagara Falls this summer.

Purpose of the half-million dollar project will be to allow the Engineers to study the river bed and cliff face to determine what remedial action can be taken to stem erosion of the cataract and remove rock accumulations at its base.

Heavy rock slides at the American Falls over several years have threatened to make the Falls a gradual incline instead of the spectacular falls it is. The larger and better known Horseshoe Falls have had similar repair work in the past, altho a complete water stoppage has never before occurred.

Add Restrictions On Lindane

Federal approval of lindane insecticide products for many uses in vaporizing devices has been cancelled by action of the U.S. Department of Agriculture, which cited undue risk to the health of persons chronically exposed to such vapors.

Some 34 different lindane products are affected. Lindane was approved in 1951 for commercial and industrial use in vaporizers only at times when few or no persons were in the vicinity. It was not for home use, the department said, but it was found to have been used in household fumigation. One department experiment under restaurant conditions showed that in five days time "practically all food, packaged and unpackaged, contained illegal residues of lindane," the department said.

FARMERS OUTLOOK

L.H. Simerl

Corn Supplies Smaller, Tighter

Supplies of corn — especially "free" corn — are smaller than they were a year ago. This is the principal reason why recent prices were about 10 cents a bushel higher than last year.

The tighter supply situation is shown by a study of the recent USDA report of Stocks of Grains on April 1 and other official market publications.

Less corn on hand. Stocks of corn on April 1 were estimated at 3011 million bushels — 6 percent less than the amount on hand a year earlier. This figure was considerably smaller than many market analysts had expected. Possible explanations are that: (1) The crop harvested last fall was smaller than official estimates. (2) Farmers have been feeding more corn to livestock than was expected. (3) There were heavy field losses in Minnesota and other areas.

Stocks of corn on farms April 1 were estimated at 2194 million bushels — 8 percent less than last year. CCC bins held 149 million bushels — 52 percent more than a year before. And the amount in elevators, mills and warehouses was 668 million bushels, down 6 percent.

More corn under price support. The amount of corn under price-support loans on April 1 totaled 1,070 million bushels — 41 percent more than one year before. New corn under loans was listed at 368 million bushels — 8 percent less than last year. But old corn under resale loans totaled 445 million bushels — double the amount under resale in 1968. And the CCC owned 257 million bushels — 89 percent more than a year ago.

A tighter "free" supply. Subtracting the amount of corn under price support from the total stocks gives the "free" supply. That supply on April 1 apparently was about 1940 million bushels (compared with 2447 million bushels a year earlier) — a reduction of 21 percent.

The apparent use and exports of corn during the last half of the 1967-1968 marketing year totaled 2043 million bushels. The disappearance this year should be that much or a little more — say 2050 million to 2150 million bushels. Subtracting these amounts from stocks on hand April 1 leaves 900 million to 1 billion bushels for carryover next October 1. These figures are considerably smaller than the 1162 million bushels of old corn carried over last fall, but they are larger than the 823 million bushels carried over in the fall of 1967.

Needs may exceed "free" supplies. In addition to the corn that will be needed for domestic use and exports, at least 150 million bushels more will be required for "pipeline" supplies — working stocks at feedmills, elevators, and in transit. Thus, the total amount of corn needed may be 2200 to 2300 million bushels.

These quantities exceed the stocks of "free" corn on hand April 1 by 260 to 360 million bushels. Prices offered to farmers will have to be high enough to cause them to redeem and sell this amount of corn, now under price-support loans. The redemptions and sales may include some corn that is under the resale program, as well as new (1968) crop corn that has been placed under loan.

Prices of corn (May futures) already have climbed 18 cents from the low point reached last fall. Recent prices offered to farmers were 5 to 8 cents above local loan rates. The question now concerns the amount of corn that farmers will sell at prices near recent ones. Future price changes may depend largely on the weather and consequent prospects for the 1969 crop.

Grass & Grain

May 13, 1969

GLAZE OVER CHRISTOPHER'S MEDAL

A St. Christopher medal, worn by many Roman Catholics as religious charm, may lose some of its value to travelers aware that St. Christopher is one of 40 saints who have been dropped from the liturgical calendar of the church. A decree issued by Pope Paul VI said the deleted saints were removed from the listing because it is doubtful that they ever existed.

Cancellation from the calendar means that henceforth the saints involved are not considered subjects of churchwide devotion. St. Christopher has been considered the patron saint of travelers. Among other saints dropped from the list were St. Barbara and St. Susanna.

5c Sales Tax? Docking Says It Could Happen

Gov. Robert B. Docking, appearing on a television news conference aired on Kansas stations Sunday, said the state sales tax may have to be raised two cents in 1970 because the 1969 legislature provided additional school aid over his veto.

The increase from three to five cents on dollar purchases, Docking said, may be necessary if the legislature is to prevent property taxes from increasing. The Democratic governor said that to keep property taxes from increasing next year to fund the $27 million boost in school aid; the legislature will be faced with providing an additional $54 million in the 1970 session.

"I said I would veto the legislation if the legislature did not provide funding," Docking said, "and when they did not provide the funding I vetoed the bill even though I might agree that the schools may have needed more money."

Flint Hills RECA Meeting Is Wednesday

COUNCIL GROVE — The annual meeting of the Flint Hills Rural Electric Co-op Association will be held here May 14. Registration starts at 6:30 p.m. at the high school gymnasium. The meeting is the 31st annual one for the association.

Among the items of business will be the election of four district trustees. Trustees whose terms expire this year are Pierce Powers, Junction City; Donald Peterson, Delavan; Pascal Roniger, Burdick; and L. J. Hilsenbeck, Marion.

in district 1 is William Moritz of Junction City. Harry Miller of Herington and Wilmer Tischhauser of Wilsey will compete for the trusteeship in district 2.

Roninger will have competition from Neil McCallum of Elmdale in district 3, and Hilsenbeck from Rufus Bateman of Marion in district 4.

Forecast 5th Best Wheat Crop

Kansas could harvest its fifth largest crop of wheat this year despite poor prices and a considerable cutback in acreage, crop forecasters say.

A boost in the production forecast was made for May 1 by U.S. Department of Agriculture officials. It shows Kansas may harvest 278,488,000 bushels this summer. The forecast was up 6 million bushels from a month earlier.

J. E. Palleson, chief statistician for the Kansas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service, Topeka, said the estimate is based on predicted yields of 28 bushels per acre from 9,946,000 harvested acres.

Except for the western tier of counties, where poor moisture conditions during the fall and winter doomed many acres to destruction because wheat failed to sprout or grow, the remainder of the state's wheat crop looks good.

In areas where wheat is headed or heading, one more rain is likely to be enough to bring on the bumper crop, Palleson said.

Insects and disease have been only minor problems this year. Both pale green and Army cutworms have invaded some fields at the west edge of the state, but wheat is growing so rapidly that damage is not considered important in all but a few fields.

Some soil-borne mosaic was showing in fields of south central Kansas earlier. Yields from these fields may be cut because of infestations, but the loss is not considered to be great.

NEW OFFICERS FOR N.E. MANAGEMENT ASSN.

New officers elected by the Farm Management Association No. 4 (northeast Kansas) are Wilmer Tischhauser, Wilsey, president; Malcolm Gistand, Everest, vice president; Mark Hund, Paxico, secretary. Raymond Gaul of Troy will be a director representing the data processing department.

Put City Waste On Cropland As Best Solution To Disposal Problem

CHICAGO — The twin problems of waste disposal and pollution are usually associated with cities, but with the increase in confinement feeding of livestock, the problems have invaded the rural areas.

A look at what Chicago is doing on an experimental basis with "digested" sludge may offer some future hope not only for cities but for the livestock industry too.

At the 41st annual conference of the Water Pollution Control Federation here in September, 1968, Dr. Thomas D. Hinesly, assistant professor of agronomy at the University of Illinois, and Ben Sosewitz, acting chief of maintenance and operation for the Metropolitan Sanitary District of Greater Chicago, summarized the experiments in a paper.

The district's planners concluded that waste disposal on cropland was a method that best met the four major criteria: 1. Did not contribute to any environmental pollution (water or air); 2. Was of beneficial use; 3. Was economical; and 4. Was a perpetual solution. The district contracted with the University of Illinois to test the conclusions under field conditions on corn and soybeans.

Sludge is handled as a liquid with a solid content of three to five percent. Irrigation methods used for the sludge include aluminum irrigation pipe with spray heads, spray heads on the back of tank trucks, and the ridge and furrow method, according to B. T. Lynam, assistant

POLLUTION SOLUTION?

The ridge and furrow method -- application of waste materials to farmland -- has been proposed as a possible solution to the pollution problem. A joint experiment by the Chicago Metropolitan Sanitary District and the University of Illinois is testing the feasibility using digested sludge -- sewage wastes held for about 14 days at 95 degrees -- for land reclamation and fertilization.

chief engineer for the Sanitary District. There is no odor problem with "digested" sludge -- that which is held for around 14 days at 95 degrees.

Construction of the main research facility was completed too late last year for accurate conclusions, since crops were too near maturity before the irrigation systems were completed. Greenhouse experiments with corn show that using a one-inch application of fresh sludge will inhibit seed germination, and even a 1/2 inch application will hamper seedling development. With a two-inch application of old digested sludge, however, germination and seedling development were good.

Test wells drilled to 20 feet showed evidence of pollution after a heavy rainfall, but it was concluded that surface water entering the wells after the heavy downpour was the cause. Efforts have been made to correct this.

Digested sludge with around three percent solids contains only a small amount of nitrogen and phosphorous in the liquid part, but a large amount of potassium. The solids contain most of the nitrogen and phosphorus, and only a small amount of potassium.

$11,000 IN COINS FROM A PAUPER

Coin collectors inspect old coins from the Bertie Draper estate before bidding started at the recent sale in Burlington. Draper, an eccentric who lost his life in a fire which destroyed his home at LeRoy, in Coffey county, was presumed to have been destitute, he and his family before him having been on welfare for many years.

Thousands of coins were raked from the ashes of his home. The coins had a face value of $7787 and brought $11,534 at auction. Also recovered from the home was $600 in currency, plus other charred paper money, whose value had to be determined by the U. S. Treasury.

About $5100 of the money brought in the auction will be returned to the Coffey county welfare department, which had carried Draper on its rolls from 1958 until his death last October.

Draper was 76 when he died. He had hauled trash and garbage and sold fruit from the orchard on his 40-acre farm to supplement his welfare payments, which at the time of his death, were $58 a month.

New Cigar And Gasoline Taxes Go On June 1

The first of two new revenue laws enacted by the 1969 session of the Kansas Legislature goes into effect June 1.

That measure places a 35 percent tax on all tobacco products other than cigarettes, which already are taxed at the rate of eight cents a package.

The tobacco products, such as cigars, pipe tobacco, snuff, and chewing tobacco, previously were not taxed.

Estimates are that the tax will bring in about $2 million annually.

The other revenue measure enacted this year was part of the controversial accelerated highway construction bill.

It provides for a two cent a gallon increase in the gasoline tax, bringing it to seven cents a gallon.

That same bill also increases the diesel fuel tax from seven to eight cents a gallon but does not affect the present five cents a gallon tax on liquified petroleum.

The entire amount of the tobacco products tax, a tax on the wholesale sales price, goes to the general fund for support of governmental activities.

The revenue from one cent of the gasoline tax hike, about $11.2 million, will be returned to cities and counties. The other half goes to the Highway Commission for construction of a system of expressways. The Highway Commission also receives the revenue from the diesel fuel tax hike which will be used for road repair and building.

Both the gasoline and diesel tax hikes go into effect July 1.

Kansas Got $1.40 Back From Federal Tax Dollar

The federal government spent more money in 33 states than it collected from them in taxes in the 1965-67 fiscal period, the National Industrial Conference Board reported.

Its expenditures in two states matched tax revenues and were lower in 15 states.

The figures are contained in the board's third annual study, "The Federal Budget: Its Impact on the Economy." The study was directed by Dr. Michael

E. Levy, manager of the Fiscal and Monetary Department of the board, a non-profit business research organization.

The expenditures examined included outlays for defense purchases, civilian and military payrolls, direct grants and unemployment insurance payments.

The top gains in federal expenditures over taxes were mainly states with fairly small populations while several populous industrial states were among those with larger deficits.

The four top gainers, which received $2 or more in federal expenditures for each $1 paid in taxes, were Alaska $4.50, Hawaii $2.30, District of Columbia $2.20 and North Dakota $2.

Mississippi, New Mexico, South Dakota and Virginia each benefited by $1.70 in federal money for $1 in taxes. Among other major gainers were South Carolina $1.60 and Georgia, Alabama, Wyoming and Montana $1.50 each.

States receiving substantially less than they contributed were Delaware, 60 cents; Illinois, Michigan and New York 60 cents each; New Jersey, Ohio, Pennsylvania and Wisconsin 70 cents each and Indiana, New Hampshire and Oregon, 80 cents each.

Nevada, Minnesota, Massachusetts and Connecticut were on the short end with 90 cents each.

West Virginia and Iowa came out even.

Other states where the federal government spent more money than its tax returns were Kansas, Oklahoma, and Texas, $1.40 each; Maryland, Kentucky, Arkansas, Louisiana, Nebraska, Colorado, Utah, Arizona, California, $1.30 each; Rhode Island, North Carolina, Florida, Idaho and Washington, $1.20 each; Maine, Vermont, Tennessee, and Missouri, $1.10 each.

The study showed defense spending excluding personnel was the highest expenditure item, averaging $20 billion a year during fiscal 1965-67.

On a per capita basis the national average for defense payments was $1.54 but a number of states received considerably more than the average.

Alaska received about 5 1/2 times the national average, Connecticut nearly 3 times, California and Hawaii more than 2 times, Georgia and Texas about 1 1/2 times, and Maryland, Arizona, Kansas and Virginia more than 1 1/4 times.

Final Tab On '68 Cotton Crop

USDA says the final tab on the 1969 cotton crop was 10.948 million bales, worth $2.083 billion. That's nearly half again as big as the 1967 crop which produced 7.5 million bales. Cotton acreage was up 15% in 1968.

Cotton prices averaged 22.1 cents a pound for lint, down 3.5 from 1967. Cottonseed averaged $50.50 a ton, compared with $55.20 in 1967.

Linn County Organizes Rural Water Plan

MOUND CITY — Sixty-three rural residents applied for water service after an organizational meeting of Linn County Rural Water District No. 2.

The Farmers Home Administration has tentatively approved a $108,300 loan for the district, according to Frank Lewis, FHA supervisor in Fort Scott.

Locations and lengths of water lines are uncertain and the final design will be determined by sale of subscriptions. The city of Pleasanton will sell water to the district.

The 63 who signed paid the initial $25 fee, Lewis said. The benefit unit price — total cost to the subscriber — is $210, which may be reduced if a federal grant is approved, Lewis said. Members of the district will contribute at least 10 per cent of the cost, he said.

Cutoff date for the sale of benefit units is May 20.

Attorneys have started preparing necessary forms and will meet with smaller groups of district landowners to process applications.

Boundaries were established after the board of county commissioners formally incorporated the district. The boundaries are the Missouri state line on the east, the Marais des Cygnes River on the north, a line running south near the east side of Mound City on the west and a line running east within two or three miles of the northern boundary of Bourbon County on the south.

Landowners elected Ed McWilliams, chairman; Earl Troth, vice chairman; David Bradley, secretary; Ray Holder, treasurer; and Marvin Murray, board member, all of rural Pleasanton.

Cross-Shield Avoid Payment In Lieu Of Taxes

An impasse over contract terms indicates Shawnee County will not collect any money from Blue Cross-Blue Shield this year in lieu of property taxes.

The medical-hospital insurance company has not responded to a contract proposal by the Shawnee County Commission "and I don't think it will," Commission Chairman John Hiller said.

"We'll just put them on the tax rolls again," Hiller continued, "and they will take it to court and win again."

When it was established in Kansas in 1945, the company was granted tax-exempt status by statute. One dealt with Blue Cross, the hospital portion of the organization. Blue Shield was added later.

State Rep. Jim Buchele, D-Topeka, led a successful fight in the 1969 Legislature to repeal the two statutes.

To remain tax-exempt, the hospital-medical organization must now prove it qualifies under State Constitution provisions which exempt nonprofit, charitable benevolent institutions.

Blue Cross-Blue Shield had agreed to pay $60,000 this year for fire and police protection and school aid in lieu of property taxes, but asked for a five-year contract with the county.

Hoping the Legislature eventually will change the company's classification, the County Commission will accept only a one-year contract.

KPL Sets 5-Year Construction Plan

The Kansas Power and Light Co. will spend $119 million for construction during the next five years, Balfour S. Jeffrey, KPL president, says.

Jeffrey, speaking at the utility's 45th annual shareholders' meeting at Topeka, said $103 million will be spent for the electric department and the remainder for the gas department.

The major construction expenditure will be completion of a 430,000-kilowatt unit at the

UP SCHOLARSHIP

Gregory Allen Grater of Green, Clay county, is one of 17 Kansas farm youths who have received $200 scholarships from the Union Pacific railroad.

Lawrence generating station, a KPL official said. Other money will be spent for transmission lines and substations in northeast and central Kansas.

The utility's 1968 total operating revenue was $8 million greater than in 1967 and reached $83,316,000, the greatest in the history of the company, he reported.

"It was the best year in corporate earnings and dividends paid to shareholders, in personal earnings paid to our employees, and the lowest price for electricity to our customers. The per cent increase in our electric output exceeded the national average, due to the fine economic growth of the area we serve."

A program of gas powered irrigation pumping started in 1968 was pointed out as an important marketing effort in the gas department. The company added 6,700 horsepower of this service in 1968 and expects to increase this by an additional 15,000 horsepower of gas irrigation pumping in 1969, Jeffrey said.

ROXBURY SHEEP KILLERS MAY BE BOBCATS

ROXBURY — David Eagles, a Roxbury farmer, believes it may have been a bobcat which killed eight of his sheep recently. Eagles said the dead sheep were chewed around the neck and had one to two-inch gashes over them. They were in a fenced-in area bordered by Gypsum creek. Two bobcats were shot near the Eagles farm two years ago.

May 13, 1969

Marijuana Users Fooled By Dummy Smokes

Ten regular smokers of marijuana got the same effects from dummy cigarettes in a laboratory experiment as they did from the real thing, two medical researchers reported today.

At times in the test the young men smoked real marijuana cigarettes. At other times, in the same laboratory, they smoked cigarettes that looked, tasted and smelled exactly the same but lacked the active chemical ingredient in marijuana.

And they could not tell the difference.

Both kinds of cigarettes gave them the feeling of being mildly "high" or slightly intoxicated.

The experiment shows, among other things, the unreliability of trusting smokers to judge the potency of the marijuana they use, the researchers said in a report to the convention of the American Psychiatric Association.

In another phase of the experiment, the same young men were given, at different times, pills containing the active chemical in marijuana, or pills that looked and tasted the same but which had none of the chemical in them. The real pills contained 20 times the amount of the active chemical as found in marijuana cigarettes.

In these comparisons, the men could detect the difference. And the real pills boosted their pulse rate and altered their perceptions of time and space relationships as the smoking of real marijuana cigarettes can do.

The experiments were reported by Reese T. Jones, and George C. Stone, both of the Langley Porter Neuropsychiatric Institute and University of California School of Medicine, San Francisco.

RAISE CONSERVATION LEVEL AT KANOPOLIS

Conservation level at Kanopolis Lake has been increased from 1459 to 1463 feet, a level which was the conservation pool mark until it was lowered several years ago. The change is considered good news for fishermen.

SKILL IN AUTO MECHANICS TROUBLE SHOOTING

Two Manhattan teams placed well in an auto mechanics trouble shooting contest in which teams from high schools and vocational technical schools competed.

Second-place high school team (top picture) was composed of Vaughn Murphy and Gary Bonawitz, shown with instructor Tony Ekart.

In competition among post-high school men was the team of Ray Hammond and Dennis Adams, shown with instructor Charles La-Master (bottom picture).

The top-ranking high school team was the Circle high school team of Towanda, Richard Parsley of Benton and Dennis Roths of Wichita.

The post-high school team with top rank came from the vo-tech state college at Pittsburg with Tom Storey of Girard and Dennis Walker of McPherson on the team.

The top-ranking team on a written exam came from the Salina vo-tech school - Ghazi Jahay of Ellinwood and Dennis Boyce of Carlton.

Second ranking high school came from the Flint Hills vo-tech school at Emporia - Joe Hooper of Council Grove and Chuck DeLancey of Emporia.

Sale Every Saturday

Radio KNCK '1390' 6:45 T. T. S.

We had a very good run of all classes here this past Saturday. Cattle were selling fully steady throughout the sale, and in spots seemed a bit stronger. There were 121 consigners for cattle and hogs; 65 buyers for all classes of stock. We don't know how many buyers are necessary for a good sale but one thing is certain, we appreciate each and every buyer. Buyers are assured of country fresh stock every Saturday and you don't have to worry about trader cattle or company owned cattle as these are held to a minimum.

We'll be open for business every Saturday throughout the summer with all sales beginning at 1:00 sharp. We will have our regular HORSE SALE THIS MONTH, MAY 26, but there will be no horse sales during June, July, and August. Regular horse sales will resume in September. Stop in, visit, compare our sale to any other, then decide where you'll do business. The following are some of the sales made this past Saturday:

Simplify Tax System By Stripping Most Deductions

Wilbur D. Mills of Arkansas, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, has disclosed some of his ideas for fundamental reform of the tax system. It appeared improbable, however, that many or any of them actually would get formal consideration by Congress this year.

Among Mills' major ideas are these:

- Ban personal deductions, except for contributions to charity, unless they exceed 10 per cent of a taxpayer's income. The ban would include the standard deduction. In exchange for loss of this deduction, he would lower tax rates significantly.

- Change the system of taxation on capital gains, so that the rate gets lower the longer the property was held before being sold. The rate for property held only a year or so probably would be higher than it is now, under Mills' idea.

- Eliminate the present escape from taxation of capital gains on property held until death by providing that the heirs of property that has appreciated in value pay taxes, whenever they sell it, on all the appreciation since it was bought by the person from whom they inherited it.

Just how seriously Mills intended to pursue any of these ideas was not clear.

He said that he did not know how they would be received by members of his own committee, and it was learned later from other members that none had yet been brought up for discussion there.

Nor was it clear whether Mills would stick by these ideas doggedly if the Nixon administration opposed them, as appeared quite possible in the case of his plan to change the whole basis of personal deductions.

Other members of the committee have been saying ever since the Nixon administration put forth its first package of tax reform proposals April 22 that Mills was determined to seize the initiative on the reform issue from the administration. Some saw his comments as his ways of doing this.

Mills' idea of prohibiting all personal deductions, except charitable contributions, unless they exceed 10 percent of a taxpayer's income, is similar to one proposed by the Kennedy administration in 1963. The Kennedy recommendation was for disallowance of personal deductions that did not exceed 5 percent of income, including charitable contributions in the total.

The public outcry against the proposal was so great — even though it, too, came coupled with a plan for offsetting reductions in tax rates — that the idea never was even seriously considered by Congress.

Recipients of charitable contributions — churches, universities, and so on — were among the opponents, but so were millions of ordinary taxpayers who saw that they would lose the deductions for the interest on their mortgages.

Mills explained that he saw the elimination of deductions totaling less than 10 percent of income as a large step toward tax simplification.
