

4- H Records ARE Important

By J. H. Coolidge Extension Economist K-State University

Your editorial on the importance of 4-H records in the June issue of the Kansas 4-H Journal is a stinger. I doubt if you really mean all that you implied.

Records may not be ALL important in 4-H work, but they do help emphasize the educational side of the pledge of "my head to clearer thinking."

The mental exercise required to keep some records of materials used and money handled in carrying out a project is just a sample of similar requirements which the club member will meet throughout life. Physical exercise may be more fun than mental exercise, but both are necessary for proper growth.

Don't Lower Requirement

Dropping the requirement for recording facts of the project and writing a little story when it is completed would be like minimizing the importance of grades in school.

Athletics and social events are a part of school and a part of life. Don't you agree with me, though, that recreation is only a contributing arm of education?

Train the Head

So let's keep training the "head." We all like desserts, but a balanced meal also includes proteins. Let's keep the 4-H program a balanced program, not a recreational society.

We try to make the records fit the project. Simple records for beginning projects, and more complete records for projects usually carried by older mem-

Some try to carry advanced projects too early in their club experience. I still believe the pencil is one of the most important "tools" for the 4-H member as well as for his Dad. Keeping records and writing will be important as long as we use money.

I think keeping and using records are good training for success in life.

1400 Take TB Test in 4-H Sponsored Project

More than 1,400 Lincoln county children and adults took the tuberculin skin test this spring in a project sponsored by the County 4-H Council.

All supplies and services were provided free by Health and Tuberculosis Associations, doctors, nurses and 4-H leaders.

Only 30 of the 1208 Lincoln county school children failed to get the test. One hundred percent of the school personnel and 98 other adults were also tested.

Adult 4-H leaders made all arrangements for the tests including organizing the lines, setting up tables and assisting with keeping records.

Clark Businessmen Get Free Coffee, Doughnuts from 4-H

Free coffee and doughnuts were served to Clark county businessmen by the 4-H Clubs to show their appreciation for the support given the 4-H program.

Four clubs in the Ashland area —Acres, Bearcreek, Sitka Hustlers and Lexington — served a Businessmen's Association Coffee in Ashland on the first Saturday of National 4-H Week.

Businessmen and their employees were invited by letter and by personal invitations from 4-H members on the morning of the coffee.

The Minneola Boosters 4-H Club showed their appreciation to businessmen in their area by serving coffee and doughnuts on the last Saturday morning of National 4-H Week.

Englewood Blazers 4-H Club gave each businessman and employee a pass for coffee and doughnuts at the local cafe.

Learning and practicing good manners is one of the primary goals of the 4-H personal development project. It's a rich experience that you share with 4-H'ers when you become more thoughtful of others and concentrate on good manners.

One of the "door openers" stressed in this project is: be yourself, be natural, be sincere. You can be sincere by being a friend to all and by acting in a friendly way. Why don't you make progress now in the 4-H personal development project?

Two new 4-H programs were among those emphasized at Round-up June 6-10.

Every 4-H member is encouraged to participate in the 4-H safety program and all teen-age 4-H members in the personal development project.

The Southwestern Bell Telephone Company, through the Kansas 4-H Foundation, is encouraging more 4-H'ers to participate in the new personal development project by carrying promotional advertisements in the Kansas 4-H Journal and by Awards by the Kansas Farm Bureau Safety Department, General Motors and others, again arranged by the Kansas 4-H Foundation, make it possible for every 4-H member to receive an award for safety work.

Patriotic Songs

Patriotic songs are those national songs reflecting the spirit of the people and their love for home and country.

They may be either legendary or composed songs. They are often inspired by historical events.

The entire story of our national anthem, The Star Spangled Banner, was inspired by one battle in the War of 1812 as watched by Francis Scott Key.

Other familiar patriotic songs such as America and America the Beautiful do not reflect any one great event, but were the development of the patriotic feelings of the composers.

Great historical events and periods of crisis have inspired the composition of many songs deserving to be known as patriotic songs.

Patriotic songs coming into popularity during the Revolution were all English airs, sung to words written in America. Best known of these are Yankee Doodle, The Star Spangled Banner, and God Save George Washington. The latter song became the song we today call America.

The period of the Civil War brought out more truly great patriotic songs than have ever been developed by any nation during a similar period.

Many are familiar today. Some of these include The Battle Cry of Freedom; Tramp, Tramp, Tramp; The Vacant Chair; When Johnnie Comes Marching Home Again; Tenting Tonight; Marching Through Georgia; and two that will never be forgotten -The Battle Hymn of the Republic and Dixie.

A patriotic song of another land that may be familiar to us is the French national anthem, Marseillaise, regarded as the most inspiring of all patriotic songs. Of an entirely different nature is another familiar patriotic song, Finlandia, or as we usually know it, A Song of Peace.

The words were written by the

Song of the Month

(Continued from Page 10) chief musician of Finland, Sibelius, and the melody is that of an old Finnish folk song.

Note to Song Leader

Take your choice here, depending on the age and musical skill of your club, of the patriotic song you wish to sing.

America and America the Beautiful are, perhaps, easier to sing than The Star Spangled Banner. It would be quite appropriate for the club to sing Finlandia as a patriotic song at the June or July meeting.

Value to Farm With 4-H Electric Project

Dean Erickson, Eureka High School Senior, has spent 7 of his 9 4-H years in the electric project. A member of the Upper Fall River Jayhawkers' Club in Greenwood County, Dean has served his club in numerous offices including secretary and president.

This past year alone, in his 4-H electric project, Dean has rewired the entire family home, lowered the ceiling while putting in ceiling fixtures, wired half of the barn and constructed a portable electric fence for his pigs.

For this summer, Dean plans to wire the other half of the barn and wire the brooding house and farrowing house. Besides wiring the farrowing house, he also plans to put in an automatic watering system, electric heat and lights.

One of the most valuable electric appliances on the farm, the family freezer is used to provide better meals at lower cost for the Erickson family.

Dean is well advanced in his electric project, but he says, "There are plenty of valuable electric projects that can be done by 4-H'ers just starting out. It's just a matter of asking your leader for advice."

Dean Erickson knows the value of electricity on the farm and how to use it. For this reason, the Electric Power Companies of Kansas salute this fine young Kansan.

After lowering the ceilings in the family home, Dean puts in a new ceiling fixture.

For providing temporary pastures for the pigs, Dean finds an electric fence works best.

For milking dairy cows on the farm, Dean uses a vacuum milker powered with an electric motor.
