Three Wishes at Christmas

TO: 4-H Members

FROM: Glenn M. Busset, State 4-H Leader

A gift is, above all, An offering.

In French, one cannot give a gift, he must offer it. At first glance, this may seem an irrelevant play on words. On a deeper level, however, it is a fine and important distinction. I give is complete—wrapped, tied, delivered, and final. I offer is sensitive and open, an offering. It awaits a response—acceptance or rejection—to be complete. Regardless of what the giver offers, it is a portion of himself. Acceptance depends on the same delicate and sensitive perception.

I wish it were possible to offer a personal Christmas Wish to each of you. During this season of the year we people who call ourselves Christians are taking a look at ourselves and are asking if we like what we see. If I could talk to each of you, I would include these Christmas Wishes:

I wish you Good Luck, but the older I get, the less sure I am of what I mean when I say, Good Luck. I think, but I am not quite sure, I mean that I wish you endless problems—along with the enthusiasm, energy, and willingness to challenge them. May your record show that you solved somewhat more than half of the problems.

I wish you Success. When I force myself to think what that means, I finally hope that you will be useful in whatever you undertake. Every successful person that I have ever known was essentially a cheerful, effective, and faithful servant. Albert Schweitzer told a class of graduates, "I don't know what your destiny will be, but one thing I know, the only ones among you who will ever be happy, are those who have sought and found how to serve."

I wish you Happiness. Tying this wish to Dr. Schweitzer's statement, I can say with confidence and assurance that in about the same degree that you are helpful, you will be happy. It is a sad commentary on the learning ability of the human being, that this truth has been an article of religious belief for thousands of years; yet we see a vast scrambling for happiness through every avenue of expression except that of being helpful to other humans in need. It is axiomatic that few men ever understand the age in which they live. All of us must be involved in the lives of other people. None of us can ever be fully joyful, fully at peace, or fully happy until all of us are. If one person is unhappy or suffers, all suffer. If one person is joyful, it increases the joy of all.

In the 16th century, the poet John Donne' said it this way:

No man is an island, entire of itself; Every man is a piece of the continent, a part of the main; If a clod be washed away by the sea, Europe is the less; Any man's death diminishes me, because I am involved in Mankind; And therefore never send to know for whom the bell tolls: It tolls for thee.

No person is an island unto himself. We are a part of a wonderous network of relationships that begins in the hearts of those we love and reaches as far as around the world. Whether it be as a 4-H member, a student in school, in the home, or as a witnessing Christian, each one of us has something to say to the world. What we say and how we say it depends on how we value the gift of life. I hope you can accept my offer of three wishes for Christmas—and for the rest of your life. If you do, you will have everything that money can't buy.

Donne, John. Devotion, a collection of poems

Happiness is -- Christmas!

Christmas, the observance of the birth of Christ, is a time for joy, for singing, for thinking of and sharing with others. 4-H clubs observed Kansas Christmas last year in just these ways, as shown in news sent to Kansas 4-H Journal.

For 15 years the Busy Buzzers 4-H Club has purchased and decorated a Christmas tree for the Barton County home for the elderly. Patients enjoy the decorating, and often add comments as it takes place. Club members also carol at the home and bring cookies. When Christmas is over they take down the tree and pack away the decorations. Reporter Sandra Koelsch wrote, 'It's hard to believe there is a generation gap when one watches the sharing of young and old and a special Christmas tree.

Last year this club also sold Christmas ribbons made by the students of HOPE, Inc., a project to help retarded young people beyond school age. Daily classes teach useful skills, incuding making the bows. The $44.50 earned went back to HOPE, Inc.

Another Barton County 4-H club, South Bend Jolly Workers, donated to CARE, contributed food and clothing to a needy family, and caroled at homes of people in the community, especially the ederly. Kent Blakeslee was reporter.

The Bluestem 4-H Club, Butler Butler County, decorated the Town Hall for their own meeting and left the decorations for enjoyment of other groups using the hall. The club also went caroling.

As a Christmas service project for the community, members of the Chapman Shamrocks 4-H Club, Dickinson County, presented a box of homemade cookies and candy to the 50 residents of Valley the Chapman Manor Nursing Home in Chapman.

Members of Wilroads Gardens 4-H Club, Ford County, brought canned goods to be distributed to a family in need. They decorated a Christmas tree at the Wilroads schoolhouse and had a gift exchange, Linda Clair reported.
In Harvey County, caroling

4-H clubs were Richland Livewires, Kellas, and Town Topper. Members of Town Topper 4-H Club also made cockleburr Christmas trees and spray painted them for centerpieces. Highland, Newton City Slickers, and Macon 4-H clubs had Christmas parties. Seven members of Sedgwick Sunflowers 4-H Club gave a skit entitled "Up a Christmas Tree." As service projects, Campus Champions prepared a fruit basket for the Opportunity School, and Kansas Jayhawkers gave a Christmas program for the Kansas Christian Home. Richland Livewires made a contribution to the Christmas Seals' Foundation.

Reporter Polly Morris of Holton wrote: "For the past eleven years hundreds of Lucky Stars 4-H members have gone to the Jackson County home for their Christmas caroling meeting. We find this is one of the most rewarding things we do each year. We take song, presents, and candy to the residents there. This year . . . we knew this would be our last trip to the home as it is closing. Most of the residents have already gone but their gifts were sent on to them. We have so enjoyed this privilege each year and we will miss going.

"We also enjoy going to the Westview Nursing Home which has 46 patients, 25 of which are active. After we went caroling we went back to the Fair Building where we enjoyed candy, popcorn balls and other goodies after our business meeting.

In Jefferson County, Grant-ville 4-H Club distributed 400 pieces of literature telling how to guard against fire hazards which may occur if people are not aware of the dangers involved with a Christmas tree. Chuck Bigham also reported that Grantville 4-H'ers wrote to radio stations in the Topeka area asking them to broadcast information over the holiday and during the coming year about highway safety. The purpose is to remind people to fasten their seat belts because with seat belts fastened they have "50 percent more chance of living or not obtaining bodily injury if they are involved in an accident."

Hunter in Mitchell County had a holiday look as local organizations decorated lamp posts on main street; Hunter 4-H Club had a "NOEL" candle for its decoration. The town had a holiday sound too as club members and their guests, members of Wide Awake 4-H Club, sang at homes in Hunter. Richard Sack-hoff was reporter.

Each year the Elkhart Chamber of Commerce in Morton County sponsors a Christmas parade with floats, area bands, and different organizational troops. The Watch-Us-Grow 4-H Club entered a float with the theme "Peace on Earth Good Will Toward Men" and won second among religious floats. The trailer loaned by Floyd Coen carried flags of nine countries and the 4-H flag. Holding each flag was a member of the club dressed in the native costume or uniform of his flag's country.

Donald Solze reported that Potentials 4-H Club of Ness County sent money to Larned State Hospital at Christmas.

Another Ness County 4-H club, the Utica Meadowlarks, strung popcorn and cranberries for Larned State Hospital, Sherry LaShell reported. Forty-two persons enjoyed games and holiday refreshments at the club party.

Members and adults of Richland Rustlers 4-H Club, Pratt County, went caroling to the rest homes, hospital, and ten private homes. Afterward they enjoyed a party at the Richland Community Building. Two Christmas baskets were delivered the day before Christmas.

In Saline County 4-H members made the scene at a variety of parties. Skating was fun for members of Mustard Seeds, Friendly Valley, and Saline Valley 4-H clubs. Caroling parties were on the agenda for Swinging 4-H'ers, Willing Workers, Bavaria, Kipp, and 81 Hustlers 4-H clubs, while potluck suppers were part of the December meeting for Smoky View and Falun 4-H'ers. At the meeting of the latter club, members participated in the presentation of a new 4-H flag and a new American flag to the club.

Saline County 4-H clubs also gave gifts or contributions to others; Sunny Valley to retarded children; Saline Valley to children in an orphanage; Mustard Seeds to an orphanage, and Kipp gave food to a family. Members of Willing Workers 4-H Club made tray favors for hospitalized children and gave gifts to persons at Ashlawn Rest Home. The special education class in the Salina School system received refreshments and small gifts from Cloverleaf 4-H Club; club officers acted as the committee to deliver the gifts and visit the class.

In Sedgwick County members of the Delano 4-H Club of West Wichita shared the spirit of Christmas with a family of nine chosen from the Red Cross list of needy families. After collecting clothes, toys, games, food, and money the 4-H'ers were able to present to each child a box of clothing and five wrapped packages containing either a toy or game. Money collected was used to buy a ham and fresh fruit and vegetables to add to the boxes of donated canned goods. The gifts were presented to the family by club members with the help of jolly old St. Nick himself!

Members of Shunga Valley 4-H Club, Shawnee County, sang Christmas carols at Fairlawn Nursing Home,, Presbyterian Manor, and the Topeka Convelescent Center and then returned to Crestview Shelter House for their meeting and Christmas party.

Dorothy Adams reported that Piper 4-H Club, Wyandotte County, distributed nine fruit baskets in and near Piper.

Reporter Troy Horine expressed the spirit of the Delano 4-H Club in West Wichita, and that of many 4-H'ers, with these words by Esther Baldwin York:

"Giving is a joy if we do it in the right spirt. It all depends on whether we think of it as "What can I spare?" or "What can I share?" Ready to present gifts are members of Delano 4-H Club, Sedgwick County. In the front row are Ronnie Goetz, president, and Santa Claus. In the back row, left to right, are Ronnie Barnhart, Troy Horine, Connie Horine, Dee Ann Wills, Daniel Muly, and Tom Haner. Cindy Haner is not pictured.

School was out for Christmas, and the committee members of Piper 4-H Club met at Mrs. Hilda Holyfield's home to assemble fruit baskets. Left to right are Mrs. Laurel Perry, a club leader; Joy McMillian almost hidden; Lisa Marshall; Laine Perry; and chairman of the committee, Dorothy Adams.

The float of Watch-Us-Grow 4-H Club in the Christmas parade at Elkhart showed flags and costumes representative of the United States, Mexico, Japan, West Germany, Switzerland, Sweden, Great Britian, India, and France, with the 4-H flag at the back of the float. Bonnie Tucker was reporter.

A wise man once said "Children and trees grow up together—they should be good friends." And indeed they are; but trees need the attention of people to help them get started.

In turn, they will shade you from the hot summer sun, protect you from winter winds, attract songbirds, clean the air for you, produce oxygen, and in some cases even provide tasty food items.

The Kansas State and Extension Forester provides 26 kinds of trees and shrubs at low cost, for people everywhere in Kansas.

Plan now to start an individual or group project of tree planting next spring. Order forms are available at all county Extension offices, and should be sent in as soon as possible to avoid the

It wasn't Christmas time, but the spirit of giving was evident when members of the Leib 4-H Club near Edna in Labette County toured the Extended Care Center Inc. at Coffeyville. As part of their health project the 4-H members had made bibs for the patients and they presented them to the administrator Beulah Robinson. Kristi Maxson was president and the control of dent of the club. Others in the picture are Kim Goodwin,

The junior health leader is Kent Cooper, adult health leader is Mrs. Fred Cooper, and club leaders are Mr. and Mrs. Charley Hayes.

Editor's note: For many 4-H members, a highlight of their 4-H experiences is a trip to National 4-H Congress in Chicago. What is this trip really like? We asked Gary Fornelli,

Lawrence, one of last year's delegates who was named to the Congress as a sectional winner in public speaking. Here are his impressions as he remembers the Congress almost a year later

By Gary Fornelli Cottonwood 4-H Club Member Douglas County

A trip to National 4-H Congress is an event every 4-H'er should try to attain. It is something to look forward to and to work for to earn the opportunity to go. It wasn't until I had accumulated quite a public speaking record that I thought of reaching this goal. I had friends and a brother who told me about how great and fantastic it was and after I had attended the Congress as a public speaking project winner, I understood what they were talking about.

Before going to Chicago, all the delegates attended an orientation meeting that was special in itself. At this orientation the adult leaders that were to accompany us to Congress met with us and gave advice and directions about everything from tipping to important appoint-ments to keep. They were able to help set the stage for us with slides taken at a previous National Congress. It was at this orientation that I began to realize just what was happening to me. Anything I was concerned or curious about, the leaders always seemed to have the answers.

The first of many "first-time" experiences during this week was the ride to Chicago in a pullman car. Here, with fellow 4-H'ers around, I made friends Bringing honor to themselves and to man, Dickinson County. A sophomore the Sunflower State are 11 4-H members who were announced during National 4-H Congress as national or sectional award winners or both in 4-H project work. Another Kansan, Betty Lou Denton, was honored as a national alumni award winner. A delegation of 35 Kansans attended the 50th 4-H Congress in Chicago November 28 to December 2.

For the first time, a Kansan has won the Lassie 4-H Veterinary Medicine Scholarship. He is Arthur Dirks, Dodge City, a sophomore in veterinary medicine at Kansas State University.

For the fourth year Champion Valley Farms, Inc., Camden, New Jersey, is donor of two $800 scholarships nationally, one to a boy and one to a girl.

When Arthur was a member of Richland Boosters 4-H Club, Ford County, he took veterinary medicine as a project, and studied the importance of animal nutrition, sanitation, vaccination and immunization. His knowledge was readily applicable to his dairy and poultry projects.

In 1968 Arthur was state winner in petroleum power, and in 1967 represented southwest Kansas at the national land judging contest in Oklahoma City.

Two of his major projects are electric and beef; he now has an Angus herd of 21 heifers and cows and 16 steers. Andy has served as president of his club and of the county council in addition to being assistant beef leader for his club and assistant electric leader for the county.

Donor of the trip to Chicago and a $600 scholarship is Ford Motor Company Foundation, Dearborn, Michigan.

Kenneth Kellog, Phillipsburg, is a national award winner in the 4-H automotive project. A freshman at Kansas State University, he is also a state award winner in the personal development project.

During four years in the automotive project Kenneth cared for five cars owned by the family, purchased a used car for himself, completed a driver's education course, put cars through safety checks, and worked with all parts of a car. Kenneth has served as junior leader and has been president of his club, the Phillips County City Slickers 4-H Club.

fast and soon got over the uncomfortable feeling of being a loner. Upon arriving at the Congress I developed friendships with many more of the several hundred delegates.

Can you imagine more than a thousand enthusiastic 4-H winners from all over the Nation gathered together? If you can, you have an idea of what the atmosphere was like at the Congress. To describe it is difficult. All I can say is, "You had to be there to know.'

The entertainment was the best; comedians that made you laugh constantly, singing groups that you just loved to watch and listen to, the Chicago Symphony Orchestra playing selections that were unbelievably beautiful—all this plus many other of Chicago's attractions. I was particularly interested in the Chicago Art Gallery and could have spent the whole day just wandering about there, but there were so many other things to do and see.

Every day was filled with meeting new people, seeing the sights, participating in the interesting and enjoyable assemblies. Sometimes we were on our own to do what we wanted, and in Chicago there is no problem finding something fun and ex-citing. The banquets, luncheons, or any occasion where food was the important item on the agenda was a delight for the most pampered appetite. And I cannot let pass without a "plug," the wonderful and courteous accommodations we experienced at the Conrad Hilton Hotel.

The only sad time at 4-H Congress is saying goodbye to the people you have come to know so well after only a week. The events at National 4-H Congress, the new friends, the donors that provide funds and in other ways support the Congress are things for which I will always be thankful.

Every 4-H member is a win-ner. My wish is that every winner could attend a National 4-H Congress so they too could have the beneficial experience that I will always remember and appreciate.

A 17 year old girl who has canned or frozen more than 2,000 containers of food is a national winner in food preservation. She is Susan Heitman, Clearwater, a member of the Sedgwick County Ninnescah Valley 4-H Club. In her work in this project, Susan has learned causes of food spoilage, experimented with different strengths of vinegar in making pickles, and checked the use of various vegetables and fruits in casseroles for the freezer. She finds that containers of jelly and jam make ideal gifts.

As junior leader, Susan assisted ten younger 4-H'ers with food preservation projects. She has served as pres-

For the second year in a row Kansas has a national winner in safety. This year it's LaRita Croucher, Westphalia, a Garnett High School senior and member of the Anderson County Cherry Mound 4-H Club. Safety surveys and checks, talks and demonstrations, newspaper articles, water tests, and preparation of four safety booths are some of the accomplishments LaRita lists in her story of safety promotion. She attended the 1970 National Safety Congress in Chicago and the Kansas Farm Bureau Safety Seminar.

Some of LaRita's concrete efforts for safety were selling slow moving vehicle emblems, placing reflectors on two bridges, and clearing a blind corner. General Motors, Detroit, Michigan, is donor of the trip and $1,000 scholarship.

Several members of Valley View 4-H Club, Cowley County, in cooperation with Chief of Police Don Owens, held a car safety check in Oxford. Thirty cars were checked in one hour and three of these were found to be defective in some way. Safety has been the club project for several years. Reporter is Terry Craft.

Jerry Meng, K-State Collegiate 4-H Club president and former Doniphan County 4-H member, was speaker at the Doniphan County 4-H Achievement Night in Troy. The program followed a basket supper.

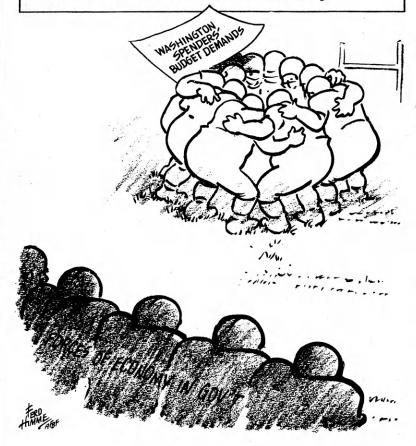

Thirty-five adults and members from Sunnyside 4-H Club, Johnson County, viewed exhibits, watched judging of Duroc hogs and Hereford cattle, and went to the horse show at the American Royal. Mrs. Glenn Schulz arranged the trip and drove the bus. Bill Norris, the 1971 club president, was the Johnson County boy delegate to the American Royal 4-H Club Conference. Annette Norris is reporter.

Richland Center 4-H Club, Marshall County, is interested in safety, writes reporter Alice Nicholas. The club booth on safety was grand champion at the county fair, and members cleaned weeds away from fire hydrants and passed out safety strips. Norman McGeeney was grand champion in the best groomed boy contest. Judy Gress was district winner in food and nutrition.

Jeanette Whitehair reports that the booth of Abilene Aggies 4-H Club, Dickinson County, received top purple at the Topeka fair. Three members of the club judged at Hutchinson and one at Topeka. Steve Whitehair was third high individual in poultry judging at Hutchinson and won a trip to Chicago in November.

Painting the clubhouse floor was one activity which kept Richland Rustlers 4-H Club members busy this fall. The paint was donated by friends of the club to add to the building restoration. Green clovers with white H's on the leaves were painted at varying intervals on the basic color, red. Paint-splashers Nancy Marteney, Linda Norris, Stuart Reed, Steve Marteney, Jess Cowan and LaTricia Pritchard met four times to finish the job. Kenna Giffin is reporter for the Pratt County club. Kenna was named state winner in newswriting.

CAN THEY HOLD THAT LINE ?

Inflation is a serious threat to economic stability. Excessive federal government spending is the basic cause of our current problem of inflation. Deficit spending by the federal government and policies which expand the supply of money and credit faster than production clearly lead to inflation. Both Congress and the Executive Branch of government must face up to this fact and bring expenditures into balance with income at tax rates which are not oppressive.

We oppose excessive government spending and monetary policies which would lead to further inflation. Efforts of the Federal Reserve Board to restrain inflationary increases in private credit should not be offset by increases in direct government lending.

We encourage an all-out effort to make the public aware of these basic economic facts so that they will be in a position to cause the Congress and the Executive Branch of government to end excessive inflation and bring about a stable growth based on increased productivity.

Special day for Joe Jarvis, U.P., 29 4-H'ers

It was a special day in several ways when the Union Pacific scholarships were presented to 29 Kansas 4-H members this fall. First, the scholarships have been given for 50 years, and last year were doubled in amount, to $400.

Then, Dr. Glenn Busset, state leader 4-H and youth, presented a plaque in appreciation of Union Pacific Railroad's outstanding service to Kansas 4-H. This honor is rarely given to an organization. Joe Jarvis, supervisor agriculture and livestock, Union Pacific Railroad, who accepted the plaque, is retiring after directing the scholarship program for 30 years. #### EVERYBODY KNOWS ELECTRIC COOPERATIVES LIGHT RURAL SCHOOLS. BUT DID YOU KNOW WE HELP LIGHT EVERY CITY PUBLIC SCHOOL, TOO?

We do! Indirectly, of course, but we do. Because like you, Electric Cooperatives pay property and sales taxes. And that's where most of the money comes from for schools.

Perhaps you've heard Electric Cooperatives don't pay taxes. It isn't so! We don't pay income tax. And the reason we don't pay income tax is that we're a non-profit corporation and there's no profit to tax!

But property tax and sales tax, we do pay. We expect to. We want to. We think it's money well spent. Don't you?

Marie's Musings

At Chrstmas, almost everyone feels in a holiday mood and you might be planning a party, so here are three games that you might like to add to the entertainment.

What or Who Am I

Prepare cards which have printed on them the name of something associated with the Christmas season. When all of your guests have arrived, pin a card on the back of each guest. The guests attempt to find out what the word is on their backs. They may ask other guests only questions which may be answered by "yes" or "no". When the guest has figured out what he is, he is to remove the card and write his name on it and turn it in to the leader. The leader writes a number on each card in the order he receives it. Later, award a prize to the first five or ten guests to turn their cards in. Limit this game to five minutes.

'Twas the Night Before Christmas

Give each player a pencil and paper. Tell the guests you are going to read Clement Moore's "The Night Before Christmas", leaving out certain words. The players are then to fill in what they think is the correct word. Be sure to leave out the names of the reindeer. These are difficult to name. When you have finished reading the poem, reread it, filling in the correct words. Let the players check off their lists. Give a prize to the one with the longest list of correct words.

Find the Bell

The group forms a circle, standing side by side and close together, with IT in the center. A small, tinkling bell is passed around the circle on the outside and IT tries to located the bell by its ring. (Holding the bell by the clapper is absolutely forbidden.) When he succeeds in locating it, the one caught with the bell becomes IT. This game is especially popular with children.

Flash! Billy McDaniel is a national winner!

Later story is on page 8.

Kim Brotton and Billy McDaniel look on while Leslie Brotton assembles a Better Light Better Sight lamp from a kit Billy ordered for him.

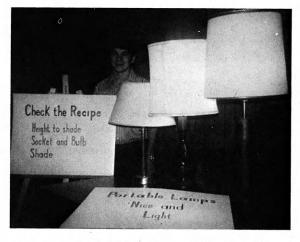

What goes into a well-designed lamp for functional lighting? Bill studied what is required for good lighting and made this lamp which received a purple ribbon at Mid America Fair.

Saline County youth is state electric winner

State winner in the electric project for 1971 is Billy McDaniel of Salina. During his seven years in the electric project he has completed 52 work units. Two years ago the McDaniels moved to a different farm, and Billy's skills came in handy in replacing old electric wiring in the shop and around the

A 4-H member for nine years, Bill was president last year of Saline Valley 4-H Club. He developed plans for county electric meetings with the help of Mrs. Linda Preston, county 4-H agent. Forty-eight persons attended the two meetings. Two other 4-H'ers, Lynn Kelley and Charles Lindshield, and Bill led a practice session on soldering and tying the underwriter's knot.

A freshman at Kansas State University, Bill is on vacation this week at National 4-H Congress in Chicago. Westinghouse Electric Corporation, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, is donor of the trip for the state electric winner.

At County Club Day, Bill's demonstration about how to assemble portable lamps won a purple rating.
