PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

"I believe in the future of farming". These words should characterize the thinking of every FFA member. There is a future in farming, but let us not forget the words that follow, ".....with a faith born not of words, but of deeds." It is not only the privilege, but also the duty and responsibility of each member and officer, with the help of your advisors, to perform the deeds that lead to a productive and happy future.

The FFA provides many opportunities for its members, but these opportunities are waiting for you to discover and use. They will not arise, take you by the arm, and lead you to the American Farmer Degree. You must make these opportunities arise and then take advantage of them, with the help of others, but not at someone else's expense. The best way to take advantage of these opportunities is to train for, and participate in the various training schools and contests held by the FFA. Be sure to develop a workable, but challenging program of work and make it a point to include the training schools and contests.

No organization can best accomplish its purposes unless the public knows its ideals and principles. Feel proud to be a member of the FFA and be proud to tell others about it. If each member remembers the final words of our FFA Creed "..... that I can exert an influence in my home and community which will stand solid for my part in that inspiring task.", we can make this one of the most successful and inspiring years, of and for the Kansas Association of Future Farmers of America.

We, as State Officers, have already received inspiration and knowledge through the National FFA Leadership Training Conference, held this summer in Washington, D.C. We are ready and willing to help guide and assist you through the year. We will do our best to help the FFA accomplish its goals and further its purposes. But we cannot possibly do it all. The rest is up to you.

Steve Robb, State President
Kansas Association of FFA

FUTURE FARMERS IN THE AGRICULTURAL HALL OF FAME

The Hall of Fame for Agriculture is to be located on a 700-acre tract of land near Bonner Springs, Kansas. The site chosen is a beautiful tract of farmland just off the turnpike. There was a great deal of competition among states to bring the Hall of Fame within their boundaries. Future Farmers of Kansas, farmers of Kansas, businessmen of Kansas, even the Governor and the Legislature pulled together in an attempt to bring this great monument to Kansas. Due to those efforts, plus the fact that we possess the ideal spot in the Nation for the Hall of Fame, Kansas won the honor.

Every Future Farmer knows from experience in his local chapter and State Association that coupled with honor, are duties and obligations. The Hall of Fame will be visited annually at National Convention time by several thousand Future Farmers from all over the Nation, and by our visiting Future Farmer friends from foreign countries. The history of agriculture will be assembled and preserved in this monument from all over the world. The plans are nothing short of stupendous.

I believe and feel you will all agree that the Future Farmers of America should be given the opportunity to take a leading role in carrying through the program that will make this shrine possible. Business and industry, recognizing the importance of agriculture in society, will want to help, and their help will be appreciated, but the Hall of Fame should belong to the farmers of the country. Several Kansas chapters have already set an example, which I know all of you will want to follow, by giving a dollar per member to help build the monument to agriculture.

The man who started the Hall of Fame movement and is at the front in its promotion, is known personally by some of you. The rest of you have heard of him or read about him. He is Howard Cowden, stockman, farmer, and President of CCA.

The National Chairman of the fund-raising committee, some of you have seen at a National FFA Convention, is Raymond C. Firestone. The Firestone Show is always a highlight of our program.

Mr. Cowden's right-hand helper is Dr. A.W. Tenney, past National Executive Secretary of FFA. Many of you have shaken hands with Webster Tenney.

Your agriculture teacher has a list of the State Leaders who have volunteered to help organize and run the fund-raising drive. Let's show them that the Kansas Future Farmers are eager to do their part.

CHAPTER PROGRAM OF WORK

October 31 is the deadline date for mailing your chapter activity Program of Work to F.R. Carpenter, Executive Secretary, Kansas Association of FFA, State Board For Vocational Education, State Office Building

Topeka, Kansas.

Official Program of Work blanks in sufficient quantities to supply a copy of your Program of Work to the State Office and an extra set for a carbon copy to be kept in the chapter files, were mailed to each chapter on August 18.

Forms I, II, & III of the National Chapter Award Program contain ideas which may be helpful in building Programs of Work. Include each member of the chapter in a committee.

Every effort should be made to have a program built and endorsed by the whole chapter.

Early scheduling of activities throughout the year is important. Too many activities at a given time will likely result in a scattering of effort and a lowering of standards. Too few activities will cause loss of interest. Fit your program of activities in with the school and community programs. Use of the 1959-60 "Calendar of Activities" for the Kansas Association of FFA will be helpful in building your chapter activity calendar.

REGISTRATION REQUIRED FOR ATTENDANCE AT NATIONAL FFA CONVENTION

If you plan to attend the National FFA convention this fall, you must bring to the Convention with you a completed "Official Registration" card. C. C. Eustace, State FFA Advisor, has a supply of these cards. Drop him a line telling him the number of your members who are planning to attend the Convention and he will get the registration cards out to you by return mail.

Problems for registration include:

1. Each registration card must be completed, including the parent, school official, and teacher signatures on the reverse side, prior to the members departure for the National Convention.

2. All members except the two official Kansas delegates and the seven American Farmer degree candidates must have completed registration cards. FFA members must register at the registration desk as a Chapter group. No individual youth will be accepted.

3. With each registration card ordered will be sent a booklet which has been prepared by the National FFA Officers. Each member who plans to attend the Convention will find many explanations of the educational tours on Monday and Wednesday afternoons and helpful ideas in the booklet which is entitled, "Welcome to Kansas City".

4. The adult registering a group of FFA members will receive a number of identification (ID) cards equal to the number of completed registration cards. These ID cards are to be signed by the adult responsible for the group and he will then distribute them to the FFA members for their signatures and retention.

5. The ID cards were first used last year and replaced the FFA buttons provided in previous years. The signed ID card must be shown as an admission ticket at each evening session of the convention. The card will be sufficiently attractive to serve as an ideal convention souvenir.

6. Registration cards for FFA members will not be available at Kansas City.

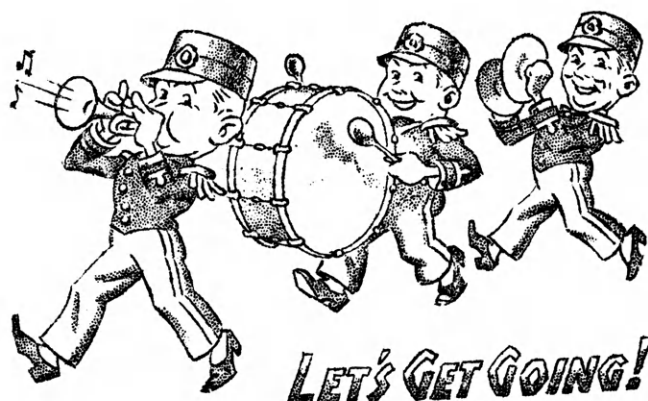

7. FFA Foundation donors and other adult guests will register at a special booth where registration cards will be available for them.

8. Members of the official State FFA judging teams may be registered for the convention along with other members. However, they also must be registered by their coach for the judging contest. The contest registration will start at 9:00 a.m. on Tuesday, October 13.

Two parsons were having lunch at a farm during the progress of certain anniversary celebrations. The farmer's wife cooked a couple of chickens, saying that the family could dine on the remains after the visitors had gone. But the hungry parsons wolfed the chickens bare. Later the farmer was conducting his guests around the farm, when an old rooster commenced to crow ad lib. "Seems mighty proud of himself," said one of the guests. TWO WEEKS
CAMP MINIWANCA

I was one of the two fortunate State FFA Officers to attend Camp Miniwanca, a Christian Leadership camp at Stony Lake, Michigan. Dale Bathurst, the State Sentinel, Mr. Lacey, Assistant State Supervisor, and myself attended this two-week camp.

The campers day at Miniwanca begins at 6:30 a.m. with flag raising and a cool dip in Lake Michigan. Then we dressed and cleaned the cabin for morning inspection. At 7:15 a fifteen minute quiet period began. Each boy would find a place to be alone and think about God and himself. Breakfast followed the quiet-period and then classes began with the study of four-fold living, the life and teachings of Jesus, creative living, and leadership in public life. In the afternoon we had one class and then tribal games. We had a free period from 4:00 until supper, which was served at 5:30.

Each evening after supper a vesper service was held. For night entertainment we had such activities as law council, rodeo, indoor track meet, grand council, and other programs. Sack time was set at twenty minutes after the evening meetings were dismissed.

The camp is built on four developments, physical, mental, social, and religious.

I met a lot of fine boys and learned a lot too.

I know that I will always remember the wonderful time I had at Camp Miniwanca.

Kenneth Lambert, Fredonia Chapter
State Secretary

The purpose of the camp was to encourage a fourfold development in each individual that attended. This included physical, mental, social, and religious. I attended classes in balanced fourfold development.

We had wonderful leaders that encouraged each individual to "think tall, smile tall, live tall, and stand tall".

We met outstanding boys from all over the United States and Canada, one from Puerto Rico, and one from Korea.

I enjoyed the two weeks stay at Camp Miniwanca and am sure it has helped me to understand myself and others better.

FARM-CITY WEEK
November 20-26, 1959

Leaders in the National FFA office have helped develop information and suggested activities for youth organizations to use in observance of Farm-City week. Circulars containing these suggestions will be mailed to chapters soon. The activities used in connection with Farm-City Week have considerable value in promoting better public relations for farmers, and certainly should be a matter of great concern to the FFA.

DUES AND SUBSCRIPTIONS DUE

Unnecessary correspondence can be eliminated if chapter treasurers will send in the state and national dues and the magazine subscriptions (75¢ per member) along with the magazine subscription lists. Due date is October 31.

ENCOURAGE SCOUTING

"Encourage scouting and other organizations with similar objectives," is included in the Kansas Association of FFA program of work for this year. The operating budgets for the seven Boy Scout Councils in Kansas are financed entirely by gifts from the citizens and organizations in Kansas. The scouting program in Kansas included training for approximately 55,000 boys in the state. What better way can FFA members encourage the scouting program than by contributing as individuals or as chapters to this very worthy program.

NATIONAL FFA LEADERSHIP TRAINING CONFERENCE
WASHINGTON, D. C.

Four Kansas FFA officers and the Executive Secretary attended the first National FFA Leadership Training Conference held in Washington, D.C., July 21-24.

The group also took part in the dedication of the National FFA Building at Alexandria, Virginia. Senator Frank Carlson of Kansas gave the Dedicatory Address.

While in Washington, the group of officers from all the states heard President Eisenhower; Secretary of Agriculture, Ezra Benson; and Secretary of the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, Arthur S. Flemming.

Among the places of interest that were visited by the group were the White House, Capitol, Washington Monument, Jefferson Memorial, Lincoln Memorial, Mount Vernon, the Archives

Building, and the Senate and House of Representatives Office Buildings.

Mr. Benson spoke to the group from the steps of the Jefferson Memorial. He stated that we need more "models" and less "critics". He quoted Thomas Jefferson as stating that "Agriculture is a science of the very first order" and that "No occupation is so delightful to me as culture of the earth". Mr. Benson said that the answer to the farm problem was simply that ineffective controls should be eliminated. He stated that the hope of the Nation and the World is the proper development of character of each person.

While in the Nation's Capitol, the group visited four of the Kansas congressmen in their offices and Senator Carlson and Senator Schoeppel.

Mr. L.G. Derthick, Commissioner of Education, U.S. Office of Education, state that the FFA was commanding attention of national leaders equal only to the attention that was given the visit from Queen Elizabeth. Mr. Derthick pointed out that since he had been in Washington, he had become deeply impressed with the dedication and consecration of the men and women in government.

Mr. Edward Foss Wilson told the state officers that for many people there were three ages in life. 1st- "Please help me"; 2nd, "I can do it."; and 3rd, "Can I give you a hand?" He indicated that for some people the third age came more quickly than for others. He also challenged the group that they should never feel that they have arrived in leadership.

At the time our officers visited the Arlington Cemetery, there had been 101,048 buried there. An average of 4,500 people visit the Arlington Cemetery each day.

While visiting the Capitol, the group was highly honored to hear some remarks from Mr. Lyndon Johnson, Majority Leader of the Senate; Mr. Sam Rayburn, Mr. Estes Kefauver, and other outstanding men in congress.

TWO SERVICES AT NATIONAL FFA BUILDING

The National FFA Building houses the National Future Farmer Supply Service and the National Future Farmer Magazine.

During the dedication program, each state president took part in the "Spreading of the Soil Ceremony. The Kansas soil was obtained from the site of the Agricultural Hall of Fame at Bonner Springs, Kansas. Also stones were provided by each state to be used in an entranceway to the building. The Kansas stone was cut from a limestone rock which was taken from the foot of a grave on Boot Hill in Dodge City, Kansas.

A feature story is to appear in the National Future Farmer regarding the sources of the stones and soil from the various states that were used in the ceremony at the National FFA Building.

DEDICATION PROGRAM OF THE
FUTURE FARMERS
AMERICA BUILDING
CONGRESSIONAL RECORD

On July 27, 1959 before the Senate, Senator Frank Carlson of Kansas asked that the dedication program and the dedicatory address at the National FFA Building be published in the Congressional Record. A Chapter wishing a copy of the Record can probably obtain one by writing a congressman or senator. This material would be good to use as part of a civic program or in other public relations work. Ask the congressman for the July 27 Congressional Record. The reference to FFA begins on page A6448 of the Congressional Record - Appendix. The State Office of FFA has a copy of this Record on file.
