UNION WAREHOUSE IS LATEST MOVE OF JOBBING ASSN.

Modern Warehouse Facilities to be Established by Merchandise Department in Very Near Future in Kansas City

IMPROVE SERVICE

Jobbing Association Plans Location Near Unloading Chutes of Stock Yards; Can Efficiently Handle Large Line of Merchandise

Another forward step in cooperative service is to be taken by the Farmers Union Jobbing Association, distribution to growers: according to action taken by the board of directors in a meeting held crop, as well as the second 1933 pay-water" he is in. At any rate, the in the firm's offices in the Board of ment of 8 cents a bushel on the farm Kansas Union Farmer is what got Trade building, Kansas City, last allotment, less local costs, are con-Thursday, April 5. This forward ditional upon proof of compliance step will take the form of establish- with contracts. ing a terminal warehouse in Kansas City, Kansas, for the convenience and service of cooperative elevators, stores and business associations which handle products distributed by the merchandise department of the Jobbing Association.

With the establishment of this new service, not only those products han-dled at present by the Jobbing Association, but many additional products gins. as well, will be warehoused in a building easily accessible to the trucks which operate between Kansas City and the various points in Kansas. Railroad facilities will also be available. The Jobbing Association has several suitable buildings in mind, any one of which may be leased advantageously. The warehouse will be located near the loading and unloading chutes of the Kansas City stock yards. A great number of trucks come to this point daily, many of them hauling live stock for cooperative associations, most of whom ship to the Farmers Union Live Stock Commission Company. Thus the opportunity to extend cooperative Farmers Union service will be greatly enlarged.

A large number of these trucks and for 1934. now haul merchandise back to the different points from which they orig- family use and exempt from procesinate. At present, many of these sing tax, with statement of place of trucks must necessarily traverse a processing, with amount sold, if any. trucks must necessarily traverse a processing, with amount sold, if any out by the different members, credit off the Florida coast. In addition, many lines of merchandise for which there is a demand on the part of cooperatives over the state, but which have not been hasdled by the Jobbing Association because of lack of warehouse facilities, can now be handled conveniently and profitably.

Much of the products which will be housed in the new warehouse will be handled on a commission or consignment basis, which will relieve the Jobbing Association of the necessity of large outlays of capital which would be necessary if the products or merchandise had to be bought outright. One advantage to be gained by the establishment of a Farmers Union warehouse, as pointed out in the discussion preliminary to the board's action, has to do with the possibility of a cooperative ordering mixed lots of merchandise, and having them picked up in one truck load, or sent out in one mixed car by rail. As conditions are now, many different items must be ordered and sent out from many different factories or distributors. This affords an opportunity for the cooperatives to save a great deal of money in the matter of transportation, to say nothing of the time thus saved. Several different jobbers, distributors or manufacturers, have expressed their desire to store their products or merchandise in the Farmers Union warehouse, and this merchandise, of course, may be picked up easily from this one central point.

H. E. Witham, manager of the Jobbing Association, said he did not build up great hopes that the warehouse would be a big money-making project, but declared that it certainly will be a great service to the cooperative stores and elevators which give the Jobbing Association its patronage. "We expect to develop the merchandise department of the Jobbing Association, and this warehouse project is almost an absolute neces sity in such a program," said Mr

One important item as far as the Farmers Union warehouse is concerned will be the handling of petroleum products, as well as the other merchandise distributed by the Un-ion Oil Company of North Kansas City to the various cooperative oil and gas stations and bulk plants throughout the state of Kansas. Readers wil be advised of the full line of merchandise stored in the warehouse, a soon as it is in operation, which should be in a very few weeks.

FARMERS UNION WIBW PROGRAM

Radio Station WIBW, Topeka, the radio station of the Capper Publica tions, offers the Kansas Farmers Un ion the use of its facilities each Thurs day evening from 7:30 until 7:45. The members of the Farmers Union are ed a habit of tuning in for the programs. Tune in again this week.

Farmers are warned that it is not necessary for them to get any outside help in this, or to pay anyone for offers to assist them. In addition to forms sent to farm operators, a supplementary form will be sent to landlords. For those tenants who operated a farm in 1933 which was placed under contract, and who have now left the farm, a third form will be sent. These 1933 tenants, if they received the first installment of the 1933 payment, are, under certain conditions entitled to the second payment.

COOPERATIVE GROUPS TO HAVE ANNUAL MEET AT MANHATTAN IN MAY

A conference for members and of ficers of Kansas cooperative organization will be held at Kansas State we, like Brother Peterson, would like college May 10 and 11. A committee, at the request of the Kansas committee of farm organizations, is laying plans for the conference.

Members of the arrangements committee, headed by Dr. W. E. Grimes of the college, are; C. B. Cochrane, president of the Kaw Valley Potato Growers, Topeka; H. E. Witham, Farmers Union Jobbing association, Kansas City; L. C. Williams, college, Manhattan; L. E. Webb, Farmers Cooperative Elevators, Dodge City; E. H. Hodgson, state director of the farm bureau, Little River. The program will deal with recov ery projects of the AAA and the farm credit agencies as they relate to cooperative work, Doctor Grimes said.

RENO COMING

In a letter to the editor of this paper, Brother Peterson mentions the write-up last week. Speaking of the Tommers, he says he likes them very much. "I like her all I dare to," he says, then adds: "I wish we had more women in the Farmers Union like easier for us men."

me when I went to Salina, the same modities. as John did. We, the Booster Club, didn't place enough importance upon about it to help him out of the predicament he got into. (Right here, marketing agreements. we want to pause long enough to say that it was not Anton's fault at all, nor was it the fault of Mr. or Mrs. Tommer. It was "just one of those things" that happen). Then Mr. Peterson says: "Arthur Cyr, our efficient ex-secretary-treasurer of Dane Local, is the originator of the chart, and I hope you give him the credit for it. I think every county should have one. There is always some one in the county who can exsome one in the county who can ex-plain it. There ought to be one in every school house. If you can use this chart, keep it. If not, return it to me. Mr. Cyr can make another for the Dane Local." So now we have the story of the chart. It is a mighty good idea, and for each Local to have one. We are going to keep Mr. Cyr's original chart here at the state office for any one to see who comes in and asks to see it. It is practically the same as the one described in last week's paper. The first sheet carries the legend, in large letters, "FRUITS OF CO-OPERATION." Branching off from the trunk are limbs or branches formed with the following: Live Stock Commission Co.; Cooperative Produce Assn.; Jobbing Association; Auditing Association; Life Insurance Company Mutual Insurance Co.; Royalty Company, and Union Oil Co. Underneath "tree" are the words, in large

Under them are the words, "EDUCA-TION.

AND COMPRATION. TION AND COOPERATION, a worthy pair." Another page shows four plums, with the words, "Political Plums," underneath. The last page shows two jars of golden, canned fruit, indicating that the fruits of cooperation may be preserved for future use-even for future generations.

The Chart winds up words: "This chart and lecture designed by Arthur Cyr, Greenleaf, Kansas, for the Dane Boosters of Local No. 546. Fall of 1933." We might suggest that still another page might be added, with spaces provided for all new members to sign Additional spaces might be provided for old members to sign, too. This would provide a record of those who really want to "support the entire tree.' With the consent of Brothers Cyr This is considerably in excess of the consent of the Tommers, too. The chart, and the ideas, are good next October. We'll make a big dishave a packer buyer in their terriconsumption in any other country.

Kansas dairymen who attended the egional dairy adjustment conference at Kansas City, Mo., April 2 and 3 expressed themselves as being in favor of some kind of dairy production adjustment.

Of course, only a small percentage of the dairymen of Kansas attended the conference. Not all those who did attend agreed with all the details of the proposed plan, but they expressed their belief that the decline n the index of dairy farmers' prices from 140 in 1928 to 69 indicated a distressed situation among dairymen which could only be remedied by some sort of production adjustment. In Kansas, it is pointed out, butter production figures alone show the plight of the dairy industry. While production of butter increased 49 per quarter of a million dollars. The first 21 years of my life were spent on the farm owned and operated by my father, whose principal source of revenue was derived from the sale of livestock. He depended entirely on the open competitive market to make such sale. At the time I was employed by the FarmersUnion Livestock Commission Co. very little thought was given to the subject of direct marketing as it was practically in its infancy. A strenuous campaign on the part of the leaders of the various farm organizations throughout the trade territory of that market, with the able assistance of the former manager, was put on in an effort to establish cooperative livestock shipping associatios. At the peak of the life of said associations there were 345 shipping livestock to the open market at Kan-

In about 1928 a noticeable decline was evident, association after association discontinued shipping, managers of these livestock-shipping associations would advise their company that the local packer representatives in their territory were destroying their shipping associations.

In order to break up an association a packer buyer will contact the owner of the largest number of hogs to be shipped out to market and bid so close to the top (which is established at the nearest competitive public market) that the producer will sell his hogs. This accomplished, the shipping manager cannot ship his cooperative load that week because of short weight, which, of course, would make his expenses too great. The balance of the load must then be held for another week or sold to the local packer buyer at his (the buyer) own price. This practice has continually increased until the number of livestock-shipping associations has de-creased to about 25 in the Kansas City livestock trade territory. On the 1st day of April, 1933, I secured the services of an able man who had formerly managed a successful cooperative livestock-shipping association, and who was acquainted with the annual butter crop dropped more State of Kansas. President Roosevelt undoubtedly had in mind from the beginning two great National roads to recovery Therefore, he asked Congress to pass two recovery laws, one the National Industrial Act, the other the Agricultural Adjustment Act. These Laws were passed by Congress in short order, and immediately administrators for themselves; but that they exist as were named and the machine was a means of supplying cooperative thrown in action, which required hunmaintaining a central membership or practice cooperation. Our so-called "overproduction" is brought about largely by under-consumption. With a recapture of purchasing power, on the part of agriculture, industry and labor, it is our belief that the whole economic problem would be smoothed out. I believe that President Roose velt was right when he suggested these two methods for general recovery and better times.

Fighting for Farm Bills The Seventy-third Congress is in session. Many Bills, which are backed by the Farmers Union, are still pending. In Kansas we are making a heroic fight at the present time for the Capper-Hope Bill, which seeks to control and regulate the packers in the purchasing of livestock. Just recently hearings on this proposed Bill were conducted before both the House and Senate Agricultural Committees. The Farmers Union of Kansas took the lead in this fight. These Committees have not considered the testimony presented at these hearings to date. I am in Washington at the ized in mass numbers, we could come to Washington at any Congress and Therefore, everyone pitches in, forms committees and all go to great length to make our visit a celebrated occasion. Farmers come from miles around and the whole town turns out. There are parades, attendance prizes there is special entertainment.

Farmers Respond From 1925 to 1931 we have operated a total of twenty-six exhibit trains, covering many vital subjects in farming. Each state unon may send one contestant in each class to the national convention contests. The National Union will present gold and silver medals to first and second winners in each class, and all other contestants will receive bronze medals. An elimination contest in the Four-Minute speech class will be held the afternoon preceding the opening of the convention. The two placing first and second will compete finally before the convention on the aftternoon of the first day of the convention.

The essay contests will also be judged the day preceding the opening of the convention. Final placing of contestants will be made by the judges before the essays are read before the convention, as delivery does not count in making the decision. Mr. E. H. Everson, President Farmers Educational and Cooperative Union of America,

Dear Mr. Everson: Realizing the responsibilities that have been so suddenly thrust upon you, we feel sure that you would welcome an expression from the local and county units of our organization, with that thought in mind we submit the following:

ALOIS BIRZER WRITES ABOUT ODIN AFFAIRS

Claflin, Kans., April 1, 1934 Dear Mr. Lynn: Herewith I send you the report of my-or, rather our Local (Ddin Local No. 233)—which is not as good as I would like it to be. Now, since I wrote you the last time, I had the sorrowful misfortune to lose my wife. Her death, February 19, was caused by diabetes. And since that time we lost another member of our Local, Lorenz Kaiser, whose death was caused by cancer. Of course you already knew about it because there were resolutions of sympathy in the Farmers Union paper. Now, as to the standing of our Local Union. Our Local is in its 27th year. It was organized in 1908. And it was one of the last Locals organihad to go through. There were many hardships from outside of the Union, such as politics, business concerns, Non-Partisan League—the biggest one was the Farm Bureau-business failures. And don't forget the kickers on the inside who always know more than the rest, but don't do anything but kick and kick again. They do not even pay dues.

But our Local is still alive and the only Local in Barton county.-Alois

Earlier in the year, before the death of Mrs. Birzer, Alois Birzer had written the state secretary, and in that letter, which he did not send until later, he said Odin Local No. 233 was organized on January 8, 1908. They had intended to have a meeting on the Local's borthday, but due to the fact that a young couple in the Local got married that day the Local meeting was crowded out because of the other social events. Then Mr. Birzer pointed out that 'our County Union number is 33, our Local number is 233, and we just passed the year 1933; but I hope our membership will beat 33 again this

Mr. Birzer is hot on the trail of a lot of his neighbors who should belong to the Farmers Union. With the help of the other members of his local, he will get those membershps, too. He is a tireless worker, and has been one of the main spokes in the wheel in the Odin Farmers Union for a long span of years. In spite of the great sorrow which has come to him, and which he mentions in his letter, has never faltered in his work for the Farmers Union. All of which shows he really believes in it. More Alois Birzers are needed.

ons of the chicks in the shell and are to some extent preventable, according to Dr. T. C. Byerly, of the Bureau of Animal Industry United States Department of Agriculture. The normal position of the chick before hatching is with the head near the air sac at the large end of the egg. The chick breathes the air in the sac before it pips the shell, but in case of an abnormal position the chick may die from suffocation. The principal cause of abnormal positions of chicks in the shell is believed to be improper tilting of the eggs in the tray from the fifth to the fifteenth days of incubation. Eggs incubated with the small end up show the highest percentage of abnormal positions of chicks, and the Department therefore recommends that eggs should never be allowed to stand in this position. Eggs in many com-

degree angle, with the large end up, which is believed to give fewer ab-normal positions among the chicks Dr. Byerly's experiments indicate that losses from abnormal positions of chicks in the shell may be reduced, though not entirely eliminated. An incubator tray was devised that maintains a position between the horizontal and 45 degrees angle. The eggs were turned mechanically every 15 minutes and rotated on their long axis in an arc of 60 degrees to 120 degrees but were never rolled over and over. Eggs in a similar experiment
