Wheat Protein Highest In Past Decade

The 1967 Kansas wheat quality report released Friday by the Kansas State Board of Agriculture showed protein content to be the highest since 1956 but test weight to be well below average.

As of Aug. 1, Kansas wheat production for 1967 was estimated at 229,820,000 bushels.

Protein content averaged 12.9 per cent, which compared with 12.2 per cent in 1966 and the 1961-65 average of 11.7 per cent. Weight per bushel averaged 60.2 pounds, well below last year's record 62.1 pounds.

Dockage was less than 0.5 per cent in 77 per cent of the samples tested and 1.0 per cent or more in only 4 percent.

Yield per acre, at 20 bushels, was one-half bushel higher than in 1966 but otherwise the lowest for the state in the last decade. The acreage seeded and harvested was the largest since the 1953 crop.

The New Look Bill Hagel

Bill Hagel, the Kansas City auctioneer who specializes in implement closeouts and inventory reductions, has lost his title as "world's biggest auctioneer." In June 1966 Bill (far left, facing page) weighed in at about 540 pounds.

Today (left) after surgery and a 15-month diet regimen, Bill has lost 320 pounds and is under 220.

In the center picture, Bill is shown with Mrs. Hagel and their son Jim. That picture was taken in the summer of 1966. At far right, Bill gleefully tries on the trousers and coat that he was wearing less than a year and half ago.

Think of the future—as well as the money—when you get a long-term loan on land. A Land Bank loan gives you the lowest interest rate possible . . . always. Several times in the past, the Land Bank has reduced interest on existing loans when economic conditions permitted. With a Land Bank loan, you can pay in advance . . . without penalty. The term is long to keep payments lower and give you more flexibility in your planning. A Land Bank loan is a loan you can live with. Talk it over with your local Land Bank Association manager.

E. C. Riley Case To Fraud Trial

BELOIT—A Cawker City businessman was ordered last week to stand trial in Mitchell County District Court on charges of obtaining money under fraudulent pretenses.

Edgar C. Riley, former Cawker City implement dealer, midway through his preliminary hearing in Mitchell County Court waived conclusion of the hearing and agreed to be bound over on six counts alleged in the charges.

Riley was charged with obtaining $45,974 from Trader's State Bank, Glen Elder, Kans., by selling the bank fraudulent promissory notes. Thirty-two alleged fraudulent promissory notes were introduced in evidence during the hearing. Riley was charged only with negotiating six fraudulent notes.

The only witness called during the hearing, which lasted 1½ hours, was James B. Warren, former president of the Glen Elder Bank. Warren said Riley first contacted him about doing business with the bank early in 1964.

"Riley explained his business operations and gave me an open line of credit and endorsed line of credit. He mentioned that he wanted to cut down his line of business at the state bank of Downs," Warren said.

Warren first was made aware that notes his bank subsequently discounted for Riley were worthless when informed by a district bank examiner July 31, 1967, he said.

He quoted the bank examiner: "By God, Jim, it looks to me like your bank is broke flatter than hell."

Under cross examination by Paul Aylward, Ellsworth, one of Riley's attorneys, Warren testified that he had obtained controlling stock of E. C. Riley Implement Co., Inc., Cawker City. Aylward asked Warren if that didn't cancel out the bad notes. Warren said it did not and that the notes still were property of the bank.

"I lost a bank that was worth $225,000 to $250,000 and I didn't get a damn thing for it. Riley said he wanted me and my wife to recoup some of the money we had lost on this," Warren said in an outburst.

Under questioning by Mitchell County Atty. Harry Gantenbein, Warren testified there were other losses to the Glen Elder bank caused by Riley.

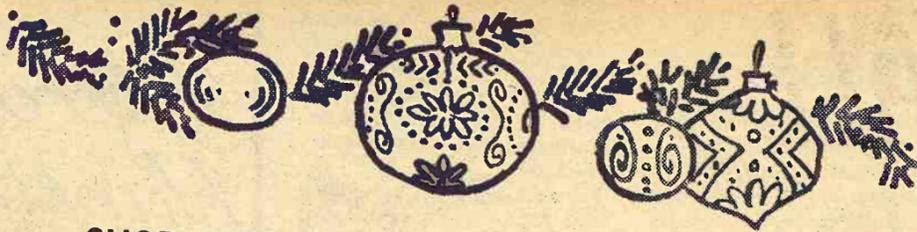

"There was a loss on this check kiting (covering insufficient fund checks) deal. At this time, it was down to $158,000 and something," Warren replied.

He previously relied heavily upon Riley's signature in his credit dealings, although he had discussed each note and its security thoroughly before any transaction, Warren said.

Meat Packing Grows In Kansas

Meat packing, already one of the leading industries in Kansas, will become even more important to the state's economy in the future, according to two Kansas State University agricultural economists.

Professor John H. McCoy and Research Assistant Don A. Johnson list three factors which point to an even larger meat packing industry in the state:

—Greater importance of livestock production.

—The trend towards slaughtering nearer the source of supply.

—Continued emphasis on development of off-farm businesses.

Later figures are not available, but in 1963 — the year of the last Census of Manufacturers — meat packing was the third most important industry in the state (as measured by value added by manufacturing). Aircraft manufacturing and petroleum refining ranked first and second, respectively.

Dollarwise, the importance of meat packing is indicated by these figures: $516 million worth of meat produced and $440 million pair for raw materials. Total payroll in 1963 was $54.2 million.

The industry employed 8,070 employees, or 7.1 percent of all manufacturing work force in the state, and contributed 5.2 percent of the state's total value added by manufacturing.

Prior to the early 1950's, slaughter exceeded livestock production in Kansas. This trend has been reversed since then, particularly in slaughter of cattle and calves. Increased livestock production has been the big reason for this shift, according to McCoy and Johnson.

Figures on per capita production and consumption bear out the fact that Kansas is a net exporter of processed meat. In 1965, per capita production in Kansas was as follows: beef, 381 pounds; pork, 130.8 pounds; and lamb and mutton, 8.2 pounds.

Data are not regularly published on per capita consumption by state. A recent study, however, reported Kansas per capita beef consumption at 132 pounds, considerably higher than the U.S. average estimated at 106 pounds for 1967.

Average 1965 per capita consumption for the U.S. was 58.7 pounds of pork and 3.7 pounds of lamb and mutton. Assuming these figures are representative of consumption in the state, then plants in Kansas slaughtered and processed more than twice as much pork, lamb, and mutton as was consumed in the state.

Studies show an excellent basis for increasing livestock production in this state. Kansas-grown feed has generally exceeded livestock requirements.

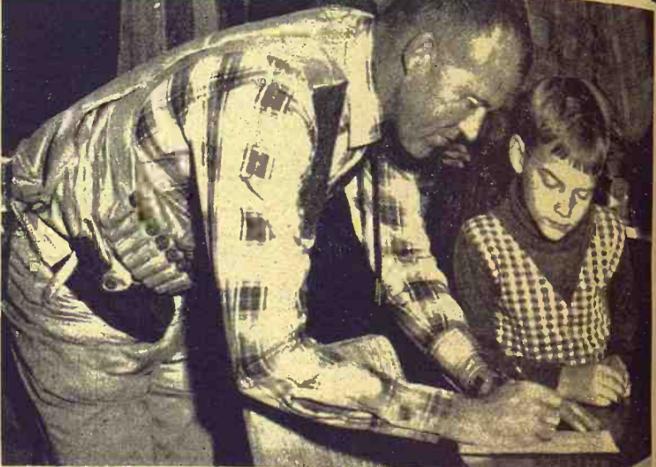

Purina Profits Dip A Third

Profits at Ralston Purina for the fiscal year just ended were down one-third.

The St. Louis feed company's annual report for the year ending September 30 showed record sales of $1.275 billion but profit was down to $29.9 million. Net income dropped to 99 cents per share, compared to $1.49 a share last year. Gross sales were up by 10.5%.

Raymond Rowland, chairman, and R. Hal Dean, president, said that a less advantageous economic year with respect to poultry prices and soybean crushing margins were factors in the earnings dip. They said, however, that the year brought a significant broadening of the sales base.

11 U.S. Astronauts Hunt Quail In G&G Area

Gordon Cooper gives an autograph for Jay Moeller, 7, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Moeller, Marysville.

Here are nine of the 11 who hunted in the G&G area: front, Ron Evans, Buzz Aldrin, Gordon Cooper, Charles Duke. Back, Neil Armstrong, Stuart Rossa, William Anders, James Lovell, D. K. Slayton.

Frank Borman and Michael Collins were gone when the picture was taken.

Lyle Jones, Frankfort, right, past president of the Kansas Flying Farmers, meets four astronauts of space fame. Stuart Rossa, Edwin "Buzz" Aldrin, James Lovell and D. K. Slayton talk with Jones.

The G&G area's quail hunting was the attraction that brought 11 U.S. astronauts to Marshall County to open the hunting season on the elusive bird. The group included Colonel Gordon Cooper and D. K. Slayton, now a civilian, who were two of the original seven American astronauts. Cooper is now the senior member of the U.S. space pilot crew.

With Cooper and Slayton were Jim Lovell and Buzz Aldrin, both of whom have "walked" in space; Frank Borman, who was in space for 14 days in a December 1965 flight; and Ron Evans. Charles Duke, Neil Armstrong, Stuart Rossa, William Anders, and Michael Collins.

The men hunted on the Dan Horigan farm three miles north of Frankfort.

Joining the astronauts were Mr. and Mrs. John M. King, Denver; Larry Hughes, former head of the Kansas Highway Patrol and now of Tucson, Arizona; and Darrell Gregory of the Kansas Highway Patrol.

The astronauts had hunted on King land in Colorado and there met Hughes, a longtime friend of the Horigans who often has hunted on their farm.

Whip cream; add sugar slowly and vanilla. Divide into two bowls. Put pineapple and nuts into one bowl of the whipping cream. Spread this mixture between the cookies, stacking them three high. Frost around and over the cookies with whipped cream from the other bowl and dash it with coconut. Refrigerate 12 hours. Makes six or eight snowballs. Can be decorated by topping with a maraschino cherry or cut slivers of red gumdrops to make a pointsettia or small leaves. Cut in small circles to make a wreath. Heats and candles can be used for occasions.

Modern Househunter Seeks More Than Shelter In Home

Housing experts state that today it is not enough to offer homeowners a house that merely provides shelter. Prospective buyers insist on good design, good looks and good materials.

Commenting on modern homeowners' demands, the National Association of Home Builders says that good house proportions, attention to exterior line and beauty and an emphasis on durability and low maintenance are sure ways of appealing to the buying public.

Homeowners' requirements also include: Rooms that permit both family living and individual privacy; easily accessible — and private — outdoor areas such as an atrium or shielded patio; sensible room arrangements and good traffic patterns and lots of convenient storage space.

The combination of low care, long wear and good looks is easy to achieve — inside and out — say the experts, through the proper use of building materials. An interior example is the extensive use of hardboard paneling, which is attractive, sturdy and easy to clean, in hallways, recreation rooms, dining areas and even bedrooms and living rooms.

To meet exterior requirements, many builders use asphalt roofing shingles which offer efficient weather protection and are designed by the manufacturer for many years of maintenance-free service.

Other exterior features that are getting attention from builders and buyers are: Windows which add to good house proportion, permanent color and

Make Water Paints

Even the tiny tots can paint safely if you provide them with water paints made of food coloring and water and a drop or two of vinegar. Put the different colors in a muffin tin — it's less likely to tip over.

Remove Lid Easily

If you have trouble opening a jar with a screw-on top, wedge the pointed end of a can opener under the edge of the metal top (just enough to release the vacuum), then twist. The lid will come off easily.

Cleans Spills From Rugs

To clean spills and avoid stains on rugs and upholstery, cover the soiled area with club soda, then rub with a sponge. (Test in hidden area first.)

Use Egg Poacher To Heat Baby Food

Use an egg poacher to heat baby's dinner. Fill the bottom with hot water and place a different kind of baby food in each compartment. The food will remain warm, even if baby likes a leisurely meal.

Aspirin Maker Gives Tips On Beating Sleep Problems

Do you have trouble sleeping? If so, you are among the 52 per cent of Americans who, according to a survey, have occasional or frequent difficulty achieving the bliss of slumber through the night.

Here are some tips on how to overcome insomnia from the manufacturers of a well-known aspirin:

Slow down physically and mentally after the day's work is done. Make your evenings peaceful and restful. Train yourself to postpone thinking about unsolved problems until the following day.

Make your bedroom a real sleeping room: A not-too-hard-or-soft mattress, light blankets, good ventilation. If your muscles or joints ache, take a hot bath and two aspirin tablets before retiring.

Don't try too hard to fall asleep because this only increases muscle tension. Take a "don't care" attitude. Learn to anticipate sleep in a pleasant frame of mind and make going to bed a happy event.

Relax.

Farm Bureau Into Farm Accounting Role

A conference for Farm Bureau members interested in the Farm Manager's Information Service will be held in the Clay Center City Hall basement Dec. 5, starting at 9:45 a.m.

The session will be conducted primarily for members in the area who are newly enrolled in the program, according to Forrest Adams, Manhattan, manager of the service, "but it is open to other members from any county wanting more information," he said.

Adams, who will conduct the meeting, described FARMIS — Farm Manager's Information Service — as an electronic data processing system that permits farmers to develop accounting records by means of a special duplicate checkbook system. The service is a department of Kansas Farm Bureau.

From the duplicate money transactions sent to the Kansas Farm Bureau processing center, farmers receive monthly journal listings, quarterly summaries, ten month tax planning summaries, up-dated depreciation schedules and current labor records. Tax consultant service is also furnished.

SET CATTLE FEEDER STUDIES IN DECEMBER

Two nutrition conferences for Kansas cattle feeders have been set for December. One is at Dorado December 6-7 and the other at Garden City December 12-13. K-State livestock specialists will be there.

Good Chance For Higher Net Farm Income

Prospects for 1968 net farm income in the United States "to total about the same as 1967" were detailed in a speech delivered by Chairman Rex F. Daly of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Outlook and Situation Board.

Speaking at the opening session of the department's annual national Agricultural Outlook Conference in Washington, Daly noted that record output and declining prices this year and a continued raise in costs have combined to reduce 1967 net income about 10% from the previous year's high average.

"Looking to next year, supplies of farm products will continue large, but prices received in general are expected to strengthen from reduced levels this fall," he said. He added that some increase in government payments to farmers is also anticipated.

Accordingly, he forecast a gain in gross farm income for 1968, "perhaps around a billion dollars."

"But production expenses will continue to increase and may largely offset the gain," he added.

Thus, farmers incomes will not keep pace with expected gains in the rest of the economy. Net income per farm, however, is expected to increase in 1968, compared with a small decline this year. Daly also said that after-tax incomes of persons on farms will likely improve next year.

This year's realized net farm income is expected to total $14.7 billion, down from $16.4 billion in 1966. "Despite expanding demand, supply increases in 1967 were large enough to reduce prices received by farmers in January-September by 5% from year-earlier levels," Daly said.

He reported that, with commodity program changes, planted acreage for 1968 wheat and feed grain crops may be about 10% smaller than this year. However, he said there is little basis for expecting overall crop output next year to change much in total.

Animal Science Day Set For Dec. 1 At Mound Valley Experiment Station

MOUND VALLEY — Live-stock will be the featured topic for the Animal Science Field Day at Kansas State University's Southeast Kansas Branch Experiment Station here on Friday, December 1.

Dr. Fred W. Boren, superintendent of this K-State research complex, said a 10 a.m. tour of the Mound Valley facility, 3 miles west of Mound Valley on Highway K-96, will start the program.

Four K-State researchers will present the morning program. David Stiles, dairy scientist at Mound Valley, will explain the dairy facilities; Dr. Drayford Richardson, KSU animal nutritionist, will discuss the beef steer project; Bob Mensch, KSU agricultural engineer, will outline the location of the new dairy research facilities; and Gary Kilgore, forage agronomist at Mound Valley, will report on the grass plots.

Dr. Floyd W. Smith, director

Wheat Honors

Honored at annual meetings of the Kansas Association of Wheat Growers and the Kansas Wheat Commission last week were Donna Schippers of Oakley, who was named 1968 Kansas Wheat Queen, and Charles W. Pence, who was named Wheat Man of the Year.

Pence, for the last two years with Great Plains Wheat, was formerly president of the Kansas Wheat Improvement Association.

Pence, in a talk to the wheat men at Great Bend, said there is speculation that wheat exports from the U.S. could reach one billion bushels annually within five years. He said prospects were large for developing markets in both Latin America and Asia.

of the KSU Experiment Station, will set the stage for the afternoon program with a discussion of "Animal Science Research in Kansas."

Since dairy has been a part of the Southeast research efforts for many years, three of the speakers will cover various phases of this type of production program. E. Ralph Bonewitz, Extension dairy specialist, will look at the "Value of Forage for Milk Production." Dr. Earl Farmer, KSU dairy production researcher, will review "Mastitis Control," and Bob Mensch will detail the plans for new dairy research facilities at Mound Valley.

Beef production is also important to the economy in this portion of the state, says Dr. Don Good, head of the KSU animal husbandry department, in his discussion of "Potential for Animal Production in Southeast Kansas." Dr. Richardson will also report on the potential for "Fattening Cattle in Southeast Kansas."

Questions Swirl Over Mahoney's Resignation

BONNER SPRINGS, Kan. — Elmo Mahoney, well-known Kansas farmer and curator of the Agricultural Hall of Fame, said last week he has severed his connections with the hall and is returning to his family farm near Dorrance.

His remarks came after reports that he had been temporarily suspended from his position at the Hall of Fame, and a hearing was to be held Dec. 13.

MAHONEY

"My reasons for termination with the hall are personal, and with deep regret. I have given the agricultural hall three years of my life. It has been a gratifying experience," he said.

D. W. Hinger, executive vice president of the historical center, said Tuesday that Mahoney had been off the job since about Nov. 1.

He indicated that Mahoney had been temporarily relieved of his post pending the hearing.

Hinger said he was responsible for the hiring and suspension of the staff, but gave no reason for suspending Mahoney.

"We've got a lot of reasons," Hinger said, "but I'd rather you would wait 30 days."

When Hinger was asked if Mahoney had been working in the hall since Nov. 1, Hinger said, "As far as I'm concerned his work is completed here. It's closed."

Mahoney said earlier his suspension was not the work of the board of directors, but the action of Hinger.

Mahoney said Hinger wanted him to go on the road to raise money for the Hall of Fame, and he refused because he didn't like the offer.

"The job didn't offer any salary, only a commission," Mahoney said, "and you can't do anything on that."

Mahoney said the matter would be discussed by all sides at the hearing Dec. 13 before the board.

When asked if he was fired or suspended, he replied, "Well, I'm not active over there now."

'Share Cost Of Wheat Giveaway' Growers Ask

If the U.S. is going to give food away, the cost of it shouldn't be borne entirely by the wheat farmer who may get less for his crop than it takes to produce it, The Kansas Association of Wheat Growers asserted at its annual meeting at Great Bend last week.

The group asked that a law be passed to apportion costs of feeding a hungry world so that the general public paid more of the costs.

Named new president of KAWG was Ray Uehling of Ness City, who succeeds George Meeker of Garden City, who had served four years. Uehling had been vice president.

New vice president is John Becker of Sylvan Grove, a member of the executive committee for several years. Relected officers were Bob Deyoe, Ulysses, secretary; and John Newlin, Lewis, treasurer.

New director-at-large is Lawrence House, Goodland.

Bird succeeds Bill Goddard of Anthony as association president. Charles Garvin of Sedan was named vice president. G. A. Alexander of Alexander was re-elected treasurer. Billy Clark of Lawrence was elected to the board, succeeding Rex Seibert of Marion, who retired. Other board members were reelected: Goddard; Garvin; Herbert Rammer, Jr.; Hutchinson; Joe Lewis, Lawrence; and Sidney Warner, Emporia.

Some Late Season Strength In Slaughter Cattle Market

By Robert L. Coppersmith
Kansas State University

Cattlemen can look for some strengthening in the slaughter cattle market during the rest of 1967, but no major price rise is expected.

An increase in numbers of light cattle on feed October 1 may weaken the market next spring. Steers weighing 500 to 700 pounds were up 7 percent. Heifers under 500 pounds were up 43 percent.

Most of these cattle will come to market next spring and summer. If feeders bunch marketings from these weight groups next spring, prices could be depressed considerably.

The number of heavier cattle on feed October 1, on the other hand, was less than a year earlier. Steers weighing more than 1100 pounds were down 14 percent. Heifers weighing more than 900 pounds were down 7 percent. Most of these weight groups will be marketed before December 1.

Set District Dairy Meetings

Five district meetings of the American Dairy Association of Kansas are scheduled within the next couple of weeks.

Members in each will nominate a director and elect committeemen.

Here's the schedule:

Nov. 28	Sabetha
Nov. 29	Concordia
Dec. 5	Wichita
Dec. 6	Iola
Dec. 12	Parsons

Middleweight groups of cattle on feed October 1 were little changed from year earlier levels. Number of steers weighing 900 to 1100 pounds was up 1 per cent while heifers were down about 4 percent. Total marketings from this weight group during late 1967 will not vary greatly from last year.

Use Cartons To Promote Dairy Jobs

Nine Kansas dairy companies are joining during December in a state-wide promotional program to present career opportunities in milk foods processing and to publicize the dairy processing curriculum at Kansas State University, Manhattan.

The urgent need for young men and women in the field of milk foods processing has been expressed by the dairy and food companies in Kansas and surrounding states. This promotion is aimed toward the young men and women in our high schools and colleges to inform them of this need," explains Harold Roberts, a member of the Kansas State University dairy science faculty and a spokesman for the Kansas Dairy Industry Council, which is sponsoring the program.

According to Roberts, each of the nine Kansas dairy companies will be devoting one panel of a half-gallon milk container to information on milk foods processing careers and the opportunities for study in this field at KSU.

The companies which will participate in the program during December include Steffens Dairy Foods Co., Wichita; Gardiner Dairy, Garden City; Lawrence All Star Dairy, Lawrence; Tip Top Dairy, Hillsboro; Page Milk Co., Coffeyville; Mid-America Dairy, Sabetha; Westside Dairy, Junction City; Chappell Dairy, Manhattan; and Safeway Stores, Kansas City.

The idea of using half gallon milk containers as a promotional aid for careers in milk foods processing resulted from a meeting last spring of the Kansas Dairy Industry Advisory Committee, consisting of six plant managers, the Kansas Dairy Commissioner, the Chief Milk Sanitarian and members of the KSU dairy foods processing staff.

"Present plans include a repeat of this program in the spring and development into an annual promotional program throughout the state with additional companies participating," Roberts said.

KSU's pilot bottling plant does not bottle half gallons but K-State has been using the promotional information on its half pint containers (chocolate milk, homogenized milk and orange drink) for several months.

How to make a hex sign work for you—

Pennsylvania Dutch

BY FIELDCREST

The early Pennsylvania Dutch settlers used Hex signs to keep evil spirits away and to bring good luck. Fieldcrest can't actually guarantee you good luck when you decorate with their new spring One-look "Pennsylvania Dutch," but they do promise a generous dash of color and light, deft hand with these traditional motifs. If that isn't making a Hex sign work for you—what is? You can find the bird and flowers so popular in Pennsylvania Dutch designs, too. Sheets, blankets and bedspreads, towels, bath rugs and shower curtains are printed with a multitude of authentic Pennsylvania Dutch designs.

FARMERS OUTLOOK

What Devaluation Means To Farmer

Our farmers will lose a little because of the devaluation of the British pound. They will lose more as other nations follow the example set by Britain.

The devaluation of British money raises the costs of everything Britain buys from countries that do not devalue. For example, before devaluation, Britain could buy 280 dollars worth of U.S. products for 100 pounds. Now they will have to pay 117 pounds for the same products. Because of the higher costs, Britain will cut her purchases of products from the United States. She will also cut her buying from other countries that do not devalue. This could divert more of some products — meat, for example — to the United States.

Britain is the fifth best foreign buyer of U.S. farm products. Last year (1966), the British bought farm products worth $471 million from the United States — 7 percent of our total exports.

The biggest item on this British shopping list was tobacco. They bought $137 million worth of tobacco last year. More important to Midwestern farmers, the British also bought $106 million worth of corn; $50 million of wheat; $15 million of soybeans; and $30 million of other grains, feeds, soybean oil, and similar products.

They also took $49 million worth of animal products, such as lard, meats, hides, tallow and wool. Other important agricultural products purchased by the British in our markets include cotton, fruits, and vegetables.

At this writing (Nov. 20), we do not know how many other countries will follow the British lead and devalue their own currencies. Ireland followed quickly. The Irish took $31 million of our agricultural products last year, principally tobacco, corn, and other grains.

Some of the other countries that have joined with the U.K. to form the European Free Trade Association (EFTA) may also devalue their currencies. The EFTA nations are Austria, Denmark, Finland, Norway, Portugal, Sweden, and Switzerland. Altogether, the EFTA countries took nearly $800 million worth of U.S. farm products in the latest fiscal year.

Of these countries, Denmark is our largest customer. Last year, the Danes bought $86 million worth of U.S. farm products. More than half of their purchases were soybeans and soybean meal. Other important items were barley and tobacco.

Switzerland bought U.S. farm products worth $70 million — wheat, tobacco, cotton, and a large variety of other items. Sweden's total was $61 million; the largest items being tobacco and cotton. Norway bought agricultural items worth $54 million; the largest ones were soybeans, wheat, corn, sorghum grain, and tobacco.

If any of our competitors in world trade devalue their currencies, it would give them the advantage of being able to lower their selling price relative to prices of U.S. farm products. Countries that maintain the closest financial ties with Britain would be the ones most likely to devalue. These nations include New Zealand, Australia, South Africa, and India.

'Paradox In Farmer Position'

GREAT BEND — The American farmer is caught in a dilemma brought on by the federal government's preoccupation with the problems of the cities, Sen. Frank Carlson said here last week.

"It is a paradox of enormous irony that we ask the farmer to feed the world and then whip him to death with prices," he said at the final business session of the annual Kansas Wheat Conference.

Kansas' senior senator said the farmer looks toward Washington for some ray of hope. "But our nation's capital is involved in a national obsession with the plight of the city dweller.

"We really find ourselves in a paradox," Senator Carlson continued. "Farmers who find themselves caught in the cost-price squeeze stream to the cities, while city dwellers desperately seek the solace of the countryside and the traditional way of life of the American farmer.

"So we find the farmer looking to Washington for help and Washington preoccupied with our cities. How long can we expect the farmer to look — instead of demand — like his city cousin?"

The senator noted that farm product prices declined in October for the third consecutive month. They are now six per cent below the level of a year ago.

A Big Cut In Sheep Feeding

There are nearly a third less sheep and lambs on feed in Kansas this fall than there were a year ago. The Livestock Reporting Service places the number as of November 1 as 72,000 — smallest since records were started in 1960.

Included are those of wheat pasture, sorghum stubble, and beet tops as well as those in feedlots.

Sheep feeding is down markedly in Nebraska, Kansas and California, but Texas has had a major increase, some 40%. Total number of sheep and lambs on feed in the major feeding states as of November 1 was 1.7 million.

BOB MILLGATE DIES; WAS POPCORN KING

A man who was one known as the "popcorn king" in the G&G area is dead. Robert Millgate of Frankfort died in mid-November. He was 82. Millgate planted large acreages of popcorn in the Bigelow area before it was taken in the Tuttle Creek land acquisition.

Johnny Kaw Says:

Seed will not grow unless planted.

He predicted the net farm income for 1967 may be down as much as 10 per cent from last year when final figures are in.

"This distressing news comes at a time when personal income of nearly all other Americans is setting new records," Senator Carlson said.

"While this situation exists," he continued, "prices paid by farmers for goods and services used for production and for family living increased to the highest level in history.

"In the past 20 years, white collar workers have kept well ahead of inflation," he said. "From 1947 to today, hourly earnings of industrial workers rose by 123 percent. Over the same period, farm prices fell 11 per cent."

At a time when the cost-price squeeze is so noticeable, the need for the farmer to produce food has never been greater, he said. Seventy-three per cent of the nation's wheat crop, more than 900 million bushels, was exported in 1966 to help meet the problems of world hunger, Senator Carlson said.

"This is a most impressive contribution to this country's effort to try and reduce the current trend towards a world food crisis," he said. "Through such a program, the wheat farmer furnishes our country with one of the strongest foreign policy tools possible."

Wheat Growers Officers

MARKETINGS — Marketings of fed cattle in October-December are expected to be only 1 or 2 percent more than a year earlier. This level of marketings would be much less than any of the first three quarters of the year.

Full Ravines

It was late fall rains that filled ravines and field ditches like this one west of Salina five miles that gave G&G area so much trouble getting normal fall jobs done.

May Be A Wild Turkey Season In Five Years

Within the next five years, Kansans may be able to take to the field and bag their own turkey dinner for Thanksgiving.

That's the word from Oliver Gasswint, of the Kansas Forestry, Fish and Game Commission.

The commission has a program under way to increase the population of wild turkeys in the state and set up a hunting season.

Gasswint says the feeling is that within five years the population will be sufficient for a season on the wary gobblers.

"Our production so far has been tremendous," he says, "and the prospectus is excellent."

Gasswint says the 1963-64 winter flock count was 145 birds. These birds had migrated from Oklahoma.

Two years ago the commission brought in 125 turkeys from the King Ranch in Texas and stocked them at various points in Kansas, mostly in the central region. Last spring less than 50 more were transplanted from Oklahoma.

In the two years, the Kansas turkey population has skyrocketed to more than 891 birds. That was the winter flock count in 1966-67.

Gasswint says the birds being stocked in Kansas are the Rio Grande sub species of the wild turkey.

They thrive in a relatively open area with between 20 to 30 inches of rainfall. This is why the birds are being stocked mainly in central Kansas.

The turkeys gather in large flocks, sometimes up to 200 birds.

During the 1966-67 winter count, the 891 birds tallied were in small flocks, about 80 in number.

AMMUNITION PLANT PAYROLL TO $20 MILLION

The Army ammunition plant at Parsons should have an annual payroll of $20 million when it is in full operation. Employment at full capacity is expected to be about 3800 persons, and this figure should be reached in the second quarter of 1968. National Gypsum is the principal employer, but DuPont and the Army also have substantial payrolls.

If you can't say . . .

"We're finishing hogs out from $10.50 to $11.00 per hundred weight, total cost based on present grain costs."

...or...

"I'm saving $1.50 to $2.00 per head on finished hogs and bringing 45-pound hogs to market weight in only 95-100 days!"

...try Lasso Hog Supplement!

The remarkable figures above were taken from the records of one user of Lasso, the full feed ration. A starter, grower and finisher, Lasso provides a complete balance of vitamins, minerals, growth factor and Sunflower Brand Soybean Meal, nature's richest source of protein. The only place you can buy Lasso Hog Supplement is at Kansas Soya Products Company in Emporia. But, because you buy directly from the mill, you enjoy a healthy savings on every pound. Use this power-packed 40% supplement in mixing your own feed or let us build the complete feed for you. Either way, Lasso Hog Supplement (medicated or non-medicated) can get you to market 15 to 20 days earlier than other hog supplements. For larger, earlier profits, get Lasso Hog Supplement now!

Another Dairy Merger In Offing

ERIE — Members of the Neosho Valley Co-operative Creamery Assn. of Erie are voting by mail on a proposal to merge with Producers Creamery Co-operative of Springfield, Mo., it was disclosed last week.

Wayne Pearce, general manager of Neosho Valley, said members will meet here Dec. 9 to ratify results of the balloting.

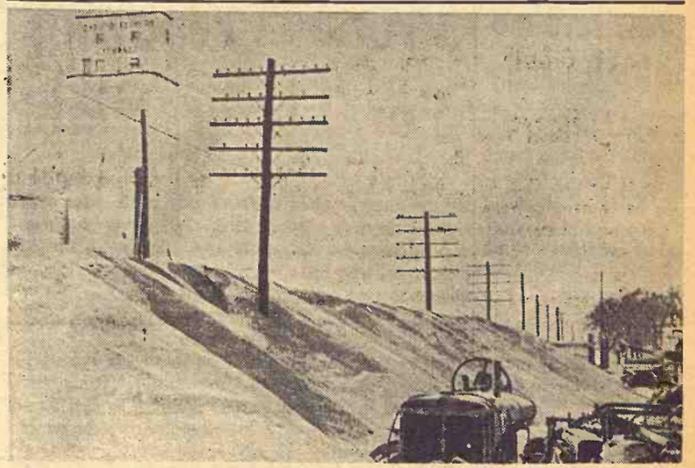

Pearce said no cash or stock would be involved in the proposed merger, that members of Neosho Valley simply would join Producers.

Neosho Valley has about 750 members, assets of more than $1 million and annual sales volume of over $5 million a year. It operates in 15 counties of southeastern Kansas and southwestern Missouri and owns a creamery in Erie producing butter and condensed milk.

Pearce said the creamery with its 50 employees would continue operating under the proposed merger.

Producers operate in southwestern Missouri and Iowa with annual sales volume of some $75 million.

Cull out 6 or 8 of your uglies. Feed them separately on the CO-OP Beef Feeding Program. We think you can get them up to par without paying through the nose.

How can we be so confident? Here's how:

Concentrates - We carry a complete line of protein concentrates that undergo continual quality and performance testing. Whether you order concentrates or complete feeds, you know you're getting sound, balanced nutrition.

Cobalt and Zinc - Recent tests at the CO-OP Research and Demonstration Farm prompted addition of cobalt and zinc in beef feeds. This new addition cuts feed costs per hundredweight gain. (One test Hereford steer made an average daily gain of 4.51 on cobalt and zinc.)

Stilbestrol - Still available in CO-OP Beef Feeds to stimulate liveweight gains and improve feed conversion.

Thiabendazole - We have 3 brand new cattle wormer feeds with thiabendazole. Safe, sure roundworm control with just one feeding. Give us a call soon. We'd like to feed your uglies.

Johnson Bulls Average $355

SALINA — Forty bulls average $355 in the annual fall sale of Elmer L. Johnson & Sons Herefords of Smolan, Ks. The sale attracted buyers from Nebraska, Illinois, Colorado and Kansas.

Fourteen cows sold for a $230 average. The sale also advertised 275 coming 2-year old commercial heifers.

The top selling bull brought $880 from Merle Reiser of Brownlee, Nebraska. Dale Pound, also of Brownlee, paid $585 for another bull, and another Nebraskan, Earl Vowers of Kimball, was volume buyer with 10 head.

The top-selling female was a 5-year old cow which brought $400 from Richardson Holmquist of Smolan and Mike Reed of Assaria, the latter getting her bull calf.

Among the G&G area buyers: Victor Bandel, Alma; Oliver Vonada, Sylvan Grove; Dale Herp- ick, Council Grove; Leo Burger, Ada; Fred Christenson, Galva; Kenneth Trickle and Raymond Goure, Miltonvale; Willard Olson and V. Worst Hoof And Mouth Epidemic In English History Still Rampant

In the rolling farm country of west central England and north Wales, hundreds of farmers, accustomed to rising before dawn, are sleeping late this week. The reason is simple and grim: Their cows are dead.

So are their sheep and pigs. By the end of last week, more than 170,000 animals on nearly 1000 farms had been slaughtered in the worst outbreak of hoof and mouth disease in this country's history. Government veterinarians and volunteer workers still had not traced the cause.

Many farmers are bitter because the Ministry of Agriculture has not yet clamped a ban on imports of meat, especially from Argentina, which supplies 10 per cent of Britain's meat and where the disease is endemic.

It is possible that the virus, which attacks only beasts with cloven feet but which can be carried by almost anything, came from South America, or from a number of other countries which sell meat to Britain, but no one knows.

A series of restrictive measures have been taken to control the spread of the disease.

Movement of livestock is forbidden without special license and a number of livestock shows, meetings of farm groups and horse races have been cancelled.

People have been urged not to travel unnecessarily in the infected areas, and special disinfectant pads have been laid on key roads leading to uninfected areas to prevent cars from carrying the virus on their tires.

There has been no difficulty in getting farmers to comply with the restrictions. In fact, many have virtually barricaded themselves off from the world.

The first sign of the disease came a month ago when a pig on a Shropshire farm was found to have hoof and mouth disease.

Gradually, the outbreak became an epidemic, and 21 counties were affected. Although the number of animals slaughtered has been rising by about 10,000 a day, the disease has not invaded any new areas in several days.

The ministry of agriculture still insists there is no danger of a meat shortage in Britain, which has about 35 million livestock.

The alarm has spread to other countries as well. Italy and Holland have banned imports of cattle, sheep and pigs from Britain; in fact, Ireland has not only banned all livestock imports but is now refusing to admit any vehicles by ferry from Britain, and the Irish agriculture minister has appealed to his countrymen working in Britain not to return home until the epidemic is over. The alternative, he said, could be a "national disaster."

Still A Hunter

Still a hunter at 94 years of age, Charles Calwell of Topeka got a pheasant when that season started. Got it on his first shot. Calwell uses an old Winchester Model 97 shotgun. He came to Kansas in 1881 and has been hunting most of the years since. He thinks tho, that he might quit after this season. Something about getting too old.

Nebraska FB Calls For Marketing Edge

LINCOLN — Roland Nelson, Mead, was re-elected president of the Nebraska Farm Bureau Federation at the organization's annual meeting. Also re-elected were John Klinker of Ralston as vice-president and Robert Thompson of Lincoln as secretary-treasurer.

The only new member named to the board of directors was Milton Fricke Jr., of Papillion.

Foremost among a number of resolutions adopted on national farm policy was a proposal calling for a marketing association of producers to obtain improved farm prices. The government's role in marketing, the resolution added, should be limited to that of an impartial referee.

Another resolution suggested that the federal government impose monthly quotas on meat imports and that foreign meat shipments be monitored on a daily basis if practical.

Approved on a voice vote was a measure urging the government to explore and adopt new methods of obtaining accurate crop and livestock reports. The resolution said the current reporting service has been largely "inaccurate and damaging to agriculture market prices."

The Nebraska Farm Bureau members opposed efforts to organize farm workers by other than voluntary methods and rejected collective bargaining for farm workers.

Additional efforts were urged to be made in Congress to bring organized labor under antitrust laws.

Senior Citizens Conference Set At Salina Dec. 9

A Senior Citizens Conference will be held in Salina December 9, with old persons from eight G&G area counties invited.

The conference has been scheduled by Congressman Bob Dole in the first of a series of such meetings in the First Congressional District.

Senior citizens from Saline, Ottawa, Cloud, Republic, Jewell, Mitchell, Lincoln, and Ellsworth counties have been invited to the Salina conference. Representatives from Social Security, Small Business Administration, State Department of Social Welfare, Veterans Administration, and the Kansas Veterans Commission will be present.

Dole said invitations had been mailed out to several thousand older people in the area but emphasized that anyone over 60 years of age was welcome, whether an invitation had been received or not.

This herd has been on DHIA records since October 1965. We invite your inspection of these cattle prior to sale day. Twenty of these cows are in production now.

COW POKES

By Ace Reid

"Wul, Sheriff, in our town we ain't got much law, but we shore got order!"

Lynn Christenson, mayor of Marion, said the community is concerned about the continued operation of the hospital and he believed a hospital district would be formed to operate it.

"A district is most feasible because when the hospital was first created a large part of the funds came from the Marion area and I expect this should be the case if it becomes a tax-supported institution."

Christenson said there had been "feelers" from the city of Herington about the possible consolidation of facilities in the Marion-based hospital and the Herington hospital.

"A hospital district would include eastern Marion County and possibly part of Chase County," he said.

G&G Auctioneers Please Note

The sale of an old Italian military airport near Siena, Italy, is going to require a box of matches and an auctioneer with tough fingers. In the auction system to be used, a match is lighted each time there is an offer. If the flame dies before another offer is made, the property goes to the last bidder.

Question On Carlson

Kansas Senator Frank Carlson snipped a ribbon to open a new airport runway at his hometown of Concordia last week, but he made bigger news when he said he had not yet made up his mind whether or not to run for a fourth term in 1968.

Carlson was once thought likely to retire after the current term, but events of the past four years (since William Avery quit the House to become Kansas governor, then lose a bid for a second term) suggested he would indeed be a candidate next year. But last week, the senior senator said he would make up his mind soon, pointing out that if elected for a fourth term he would be over 80 at the end of the tenure and would have been in public office for 40 years.

Regarded as almost a sure shot for re-election, Carlson, if he decides not to run, will be altering political plans of Congressmen Dole and Shriver and perhaps Democratic Governor Robert Docking too.

Nuns Leave Marion Hospital!

MARION — People here have learned that the St. Luke Hospital at Marion will close if no one steps forward to take over the operation.

The Sister Adorers of the Most Precious Blood order of the Roman Catholic church will not operate the hospital after June 1, 1968.

"An acute shortage of Sisters in the religious community" was given as the primary reason.

Enrollment Gain At Institute

SALINA — Schilling Institute here has opened its second academic year with a 110 per cent increase in enrollment.

The Institute has 175 full-time students, an increase of 92 over the 1966 enrollment of 83. An intramural athletic program and a student newspaper have been started.

The school's placement office will open this year and officials say from 50 to 100 companies will visit the campus to interview prospective employees.

Good Year For Sugar Beets

The sugar beet harvest has been sweet music to Western Kansas Farmers whose fields are yielding average to above average tonnage with very good sugar content.

Albert Maddux, Finney County agent, estimated the beets were averaging from 18 to 20 tons per acre. The sugar content is 16 to 17 per cent. About 5000 acres of beets are planted in Finney.

Triple Rice Crop In Amazing Indian Output

TANJORE, India — Farmers here in the leading rice-growing district of Madras state have written India's biggest agricultural success story of the year by tripling the size of their early crop.

They did this by sowing a high yielding variety of rice called ADT 27, on 600,000 acres of paddy land. Moreover, half this acreage is being doublecropped for the first time this year.

When the harvest is completed, the early crop is expected to add up to 900,000 tons — a net increase of 600,000 tons, by far the biggest addition any single district will make to the record crop of 95 to 100 million tons that India expects to reap this year.

Part of the increase will be due to unusually well distributed monsoon rains after two years of widespread drought. But part of it will also be due to the new high yielding seeds that have been planted on eight-million acres, or 5 percent of India's arable land.

ADT 27, which was developed locally, does not have a potential yield as high as some of the new imported varieties. But officials here are convinced it promises better results because it is much more resistant to disease, requires less in the way of fertilizer and expert cultivation and produces a grain that suits local tastes.

At the moment Tanjore district seems almost to be bursting with rice. Extra freight cars and trucks have had to be laid on to cope with the enormous increase in output.

Derrick Marks Russell On I-70

RUSSELL — An 88-foot high oil derrick will hold 5-foot high letters at the top, spelling out "Russell." The derrick will be placed at the I-70 and US 281 interchange a mile south of town.

All of this is part of Russell's five year $8500 sign program to promote I-70 and the city.

The sign may work, but the derrick won't. The oil well tower won't be connected to anything; it will just hold the sign.

Average Tractor HP To 65

OTTAWA, Canada — Tractor sales in North America have decreased steadily over the last 17 years and the trend is continuing. At the same time the average horsepower of tractors sold in North America is on the increase.

Statistics provided by Ford of Canada at a public hearing of the royal commission on farm machinery, showed tractor sales in Canada decreased to 32,000 in 1966 from 54,000 in 1950. In the U.S. the drop was to 227,000 from 400,000.

Average horsepower of tractors has increased to 65 from 35

Clock Builder

F. J. Lund of Manhattan built this grandmother clock for his son, Dr. Curtis Lund of Rochester, Minn. Lund, a one-time Riley County Clerk of District Court, had done little woodworking until he decided to build the clock. The Swiss movement came from a clockmaker, and he built the case from native Riley County walnut.

'At Low End Of Economic Pile'

The citizens of the United States are walking a tight rope so is the government of the United States. The least little incident will send both crashing to the ground.

One half of all goods and services purchased by the average citizen during the last year has been with credit. In fact he is so heavily in debt that he has become an economic slave. Both husband and wife have to work outside the home. There is no time for genuine relaxation — for cultural pursuits — for withdrawal from the world and contemplation of spiritual values.

Private debt in the past fifteen years has gone from 200 billion to 1000 billion or one trillion dollars.

Us farmers (our economy hired men have renamed us agri-business men — and under the new title we are supposed to produce more for less) are further along than the rest of society. We are at the bottom of the pile. It is our own fault. Back in the days when we had statesman government, one of our own, Senator Capper, saw the needs for farmers to organize and price their production. The Capper Volstead Act was passed in 1922. At the same time, to prevent farmers from following through, a farm organization was organized to keep the farmers disorganized. It has been fairly successful because farmers have been doped into believing that they are dependent only on themselves, which is a lot of baloney.

It is just about midnight — the NFO is in the saddle. It is trying to rouse the countryside, but the TV is making

from the G&G Area

so much noise the knock can't be heard at the door. So we had better turn off the TV — nab our coats, climb on the Great Charger, save our farm, our community, our state, our nation and our world.

For every dollar paid the farmer for his production it generates another seven dollars in the economy. If farmers had been paid parity of income for the past fifteen years, enough wealth would have flowed through the economy that tax revenues from it would have paid in full the entire national debt. I challenge anyone to dispute this statement, and I'll further add that our agricultural economists ought to be fired for the rotten job they are doing!

USDA Study For 'Small Farmer' Program

Orville L. Freeman, secretary of agriculture, will begin a survey this week for the Johnson administration to find out what kind of federal farm programs low-income farmers want and need to improve incomes. Freeman disclosed that he and several department aides will hold six regional meetings this week at which they will outline state and local farm officials' procedures for making the opinion survey.

The meetings will be held in Denver and Philadelphia Monday, in Chicago and Kansas City Wednesday and in Atlanta and Dallas-Fort Worth Friday. Freeman will conduct the Denver meeting.

Other department officials will preside at the other sessions.

Out of these meetings will come scores of local gatherings at which individual farmers will be asked to submit their views. Freeman said that something must be done to enable small farmers, who want to stay on the land, to boost their income and level of living.

The secretary said that it is obvious that present programs aren't fully meeting needs of such farmers. To be laid before them for their reaction are some 30 tentative program ideas developed by the department.

These programs could cost the government millions of dollars a year if all were put into operation. Freeman said, however, that not all could be implemented due to the government's need to hold down spending.

These programs would offer, in various manners and forms, financial and technical help for improving small farm enterprises, aid in acquiring needed additional farm resources such as land, machinery and the like, training in the organization and management of farm coopera-tives, and assistance in making more effective use of forest resources.

The Kansas City meeting will include officials from North Dakota, South Dakota, Nebraska, Kansas, Missouri, Iowa and Minnesota.

An Aging Farm

There aren't many 13-year old hogs around, even sows. But this 13-year old sow on the Charles Sinclair farm near Columbia, Mo., will be kept alive on an experimental farm set up in 1965 to study aging.

Because researchers cannot expect to complete a 50-year observation of human aging, the farm has been set up to study domestic animals which have shorter life spans and relate the findings to humans.

25 Stories on KU Campus

A 25-story humanities center will be built at the University of Kansas at a cost of $5.8 million with present plans to have it open by the fall of 1970. Built into the side of a hill, the building will be 332 feet high on its tall side, taller than the Capitol in Topeka. It will provide offices for 1000 professors and classrooms for 3000 students. The site is where the old Robinson gym was located.

Lowest State Birth Rate Since 1940

The Kansas birth rate in 1966 was the lowest since 1940, the Kansas Board of Health said last week. The department's annual summary of vital statistics showed a total of 36,190 births, down 7.6 per cent from the 1965 total of 39,178. The illegitimacy rate climbed to an all-time high of 5.6 per cent of all births. There were 21,998 deaths reported in Kansas in 1966, an increase of 1.6 per cent over 1965. The average age at death for males was 65.8 years and females 71.

The four leading causes of death were heart disease, cancer, vascular lesions and accidents. These accounted for nearly three-fourths of all deaths. Heart disease accounted for a new yearly high of 8,565 deaths. There were 3,490 deaths from cancer, 2,669 from vascular lesions, and 1,391 from accidents. Lung cancer was the principal site of this disease among males while the breast was the leading site among females. Motor vehicle fatalities established a record high of 708. There were no deaths in 1966 for such formerly deadly diseases as diphtheria, measles, polio, smallpox, typhoid fever and whooping cough. There were 780 infant deaths in 1966, a record low. There were more marriages in Kansas in 1966 than in any year since 1948. The average age of 19,360 grooms was 26.2 years. The average age for brides was 23.7. There were one-third as many divorces as marriages, with 6,144 recorded.

58 LOTS
30 BULLS • 28 COWS

PV ZATO TONE 49TH

The 30 Bulls are all serviceable age — large yellow, good headed, heavy boned, range bulls. There are several excellent herd sire prospects among them.

We can't praise this bull too highly as he has probably helped our breeding program more than any bull we have ever owned. His calves are yellow and carry that long and deep rear quarter like their Pappy.

13 bred heifers coming 3 years old are top heifers as they came right out of our replacement heifers. These heifers will start calving the last of February 1968. 15 Heifers — Each one of these has the right to make a large flat backed cow. These 15 heifers are all calfhood vaccinated and will sell open. The bulls and heifers are sons and daughters of PV Zato Tone 49th Majestic Silver 135th and Silver Crest A 49th, grandsons and granddaughters of TR Zato Heir 40, TR Royal Zato 33, CK Crustynine 17, and Golden B Tone 24th.
