

GRASS & GRAIN

12th year no. 49

January 31, 1967

Riding Herd

Two men ride constantly thru the pens to check for injury and disease. The rider here is Bob Abel, who enjoys quite a reputation as a cowhand.

Talking Business

Shirley Sternad, yard manager, and George Rooney, president, discuss plans in the yard office.

Loading Feed

The operation uses in excess of 1 million bushels of corn a year plus hundreds of tons of silage. Location of Bostwick Irrigation District helps make this feed available nearby. Some silage is raised on the farm but much has to be purchased elsewhere. Silo capacity is 18,000 tons.

State Feedlots Bulge To Over Half Million Head

For the first time in history Kansas has over a half-million cattle on feed, with the Kansas Livestock Reporting Service estimating the total of cattle and calves on feed in the state as of January 1 as 586,000, up 22% from a year ago.

Of this total about 275,000 are on farm feedlots which feed less than a thousand head. Commercial feedlots feeding more than a thousand head had about 311,000 head on feed as of January 1.

The pictures on this page were taken at one of the several dozen large feedlots in the state. This is the Republican Valley Feedlot west of Scandia, in Republic County, on US 36. Located on 320 acres, the lots and feed facilities themselves cover about 90 acres.

The operation was begun in the early 1960s by George Rooney of Belleville, and now has 30 stockholders and employs 18 people, operating on a 24-hour schedule.

Feed Bunks

At the present time there are about 11,000 cattle in the yard at Scandia. Full capacity is 13,600.

Sometimes You Have To Pay

By John H. Coolidge
Kansas State University

If you sold or traded machinery last year on which you took investment credit, you may have to re-compute the credit when you file your 1966 tax return.

If you didn't keep it as long as you intended, there's a good chance you'll have to pay up some of the credit you used against your tax liability for the year you acquired the property.

Here's an example. Suppose John Smith bought a new tractor in 1962. He set it up for an 8-year life. But he bought an additional quarter section of land last year. He needed a bigger tractor to farm the extra acreage, so he traded the 1962 model for a more powerful new one.

Smith will have to re-figure the investment credit on the old tractor. He'll have to repay some of the credit he used against his tax when he bought the tractor in 1962.

It would work like this. Suppose Smith paid $6,000 for the tractor in 1962. He claimed an investment credit of $420 ($6,000 x 7 percent) on his 1962 tax return.

But Smith kept the tractor only 4 years. Thus, only a third of the investment is eligible for the credit. He claimed $420 in 1962, so he must now repay two-thirds of this amount. He'd have to add to his 1966 tax the extra $280 he claimed on his 1962 return. In effect, this is a delayed payment of part of his 1962 tax liability.

For purposes of determining actual life, investment credit property is considered as having been placed in service on the first day of the month in which it was purchased. Thus, had Smith purchased the tractor on June 30, 1962, and traded it on June 1, 1966, he would have had it 4 years for determining investment credit.

If there have been other investment credits earned but not used, the amount of the additional tax now due would be reduced by the amount of any unused credits from prior years. If Smith had carryover investment credit of $70, he could apply it to the $280 and add only $210 to his 1966 tax liability.

If you traded the machine in on a new replacement, you would first have computed your 1966 investment credit on the new machine. This would be a credit against your 1966 tax.

If you keep a machine longer than you intend, and really earn more investment credit than you claimed when you acquired it, you cannot later claim the extra credit. This is a one-way street.

Despite the recent suspension of investment credit, you can still claim the credit on $20,000 worth of eligible purchases made between October 10, 1966, and December 31, 1967.

Property with a useful life less than 4 years doesn't qualify for investment credit. If property's life is 4 to 5 years, count only a third of investment. If its life is 6 years, you count 2/3 of investment. If its life is 8 years or more, count the full amount of your investment.

Thus, if you exceed $20,000 of eligible purchases during period, you'll want to use year items first, then 6-year items, then 4- to 5-year items until you use the $20,000 of available credit.

Big Enid Elevator Sold

The 5¼-million bushel elevator at Enid, Oklahoma, has been acquired in total by the Johnston Grain Elevator Co., which has purchased the half interest belonging to Enid oil man Joe Champlin. The Johnston company had owned the other half and had administered the elevator since 1954.

No purchase price was announced. On January 20 an ad had appeared in the Wall Street Journal announcing an auction of the elevator. The ad produced several prospective buyers to Enid but Johnston immediately announced he had no intention of selling his firm's half interest.

Rare Bald Eagle Sighted Near Ramona

RAMONA — Nathan Bailey, Ramona, saw a bald eagle on his farm one mile west of Ramona.

Bailey said the bird was perched in a tree near a pond in a pasture.

According to recent publicity, bald eagles are becoming scarce in the United States. Pesticides have been blamed for the decline in population as well as encroaching civilization.

Not so in Kansas, according to Dr. John Zimmerman, professor of Zoology at Kansas State University, Manhattan.

"Although the eagle population in Kansas is probably down from several years ago, there are still numerous birds in the state, particularly in the winter," Zimmerman said.

Bald eagles don't nest in Kansas.

It usually nests in areas where there is a lot of water. Alaska has the largest eagle population, followed closely by Canada, Florida and the Dakotas.

"These birds get a lot of traveling done," Zimmerman commented.

Kansas usually has numerous eagle visitors in the winter and there has been an increase around large federal reservoirs.

The bald eagle feeds largely on fish.

Since the bird doesn't fly or maneuver quickly, it depends a great deal upon dead, and near dead fish and animals for food.

"Reservoirs in Kansas offer the large birds sources of this type of food and quite often lame or dead ducks," Zimmerman said.

Why don't eagles nest in Kansas?

Zimmerman wasn't sure, but he suspects that the lack of tall trees near large bodies of water here has something to do with it.

Where the eagles which visit Kansas in the winter come from is also a mystery.

"They may come from up north but it is likely that they are southern birds," he said.

Their habits are hard to observe.

There are no large reservoirs near Ramona but the eagle was perched in a tree close to a farm pond.

Mr. and Mrs. Bailey are bird watchers but they say they have only seen golden eagles in the past.

Bald eagles do not acquire the characteristic white head until they reach full maturity.

Often, people mistake younger bald eagles for golden eagles since the first few years of their life are spent in sooty brown feathers from beak to claw.

Western Kansas Is Irrigating Faster Than Its Ground Water Recharges

Ground water in Western Kansas is dropping faster than it is being recharged.

As a result, Kansas, Colorado and Oklahoma are cooperating in a survey to determine how fast the water table is dropping in Western Kansas, Eastern Colorado and the Oklahoma Panhandle.

Investigators from the states are now in the field and a group of geologists and engineers from state and federal agencies in Kansas are at work, too.

Fifteen men from Colby and Garden City offices representing the U.S. Geological Survey, in the Kansas Geological Survey, and the Kansas State Board of Agriculture's Division of Water Resources are handling the assignment in Kansas.

"Groundwater is being mined in parts of Western Kansas and in the adjacent areas of Colorado and Oklahoma," Dr. Frank C. Foley, director of the Kansas Geological Survey said.

"This means water is being withdrawn from underground reservoirs faster than it is being replenished."

"The amount of water in underground reservoirs is large, but not unlimited."

"We had hoped heavy rains in Western Kansas during the Summer and Fall of 1965 would have brought a significant decrease in pumping for irrigation and a significant increase in the amount of natural recharge, resulting in a rise in ground water levels. Despite these heavy rains, however, the ground water levels declined because the amount of pumping continued to exceed the amount of recharge."

"Because of below normal precipitation in 1966, and a further increase in pumping for irrigation, we expect a further decline of water levels for the year."

Water level measurements are made on a large number of observation wells and irrigation wells in late January each year to provide information on annual changes in ground water levels. Pumping for irrigation is at a minimum in the Winter months and water level measurements made at the end of this period are most representative, Dr. Foley explained.

Present irrigators are concerned about how long their water supply will last and prospective irrigators wish to be assured of a supply before investing in wells and equipment. The decline has been rapid enough that some irrigators are deepening or rehabilitating wells, and some are drilling additional wells to maintain their supply.

"In time the quantity of ground water in western Kansas aquifers may be enough that irrigation no longer be practical," Dr. Foley warned.

The extent and importance of the decline of ground water has led to a program of study of the area's groundwater resources.

Western Farm Show Dates Set

Featuring a complete array of farm machinery, the Western Farm Show, largest of its kind in the country, will be held February 27, 28 and March 1 at the American Royal Exposition building in Kansas City. Last year the show attracted more than 20,000 farmers from 12 states. This year attendance is expected to double. Tickets for the show are free and may be obtained from hardware and farm equipment dealers in the G&G area who are members of the sponsored association or by writing directly to the Western Implement and Hardware Association, 638 W. 38th St., Kansas City, Mo. 64111.

FARMERS OUTLOOK

A Look Back And A Look Forward

About this time each year we summarize major developments in farming during the previous year — and speculate about the coming year may be. Looking back, we believe that in Kansas this was a good year for 20,000 farmers of hogs, soybeans, corn, wheat, and for the own and may be of beef cow herds. It was a good year for farmers who fatten cattle for slaughter, for farmers in areas where the weather was severe.

Log Prices at terminal markets averaged nearly $24 a hundred pounds in 1966. That was 10 percent higher than the 1965 average, and 46 percent higher than the 10-year 1955-64 average. Farmers have increased production about 10 percent, but this brings pork out only halfway back to the level established in 1963 and 1964. During 1967, prices are expected to stay at profitable levels — probably $20 to $23 a hundred pounds — for the time.

Soybeans became the nation's best cash crop in 1966. Farm-benefitted from selling for high prices in 1966. The average yield in 1966 was 27 bushels per acre, 2½ bushels less than the previous year, but prices were higher than those of the year before. Prices may decline in 1967, but average yields will be higher.

Corn growers benefitted from exceptionally high yields in 1966, but prices were below year level until last July. The average yields for the crop were down 15 percent, but this decrease was more than offset by higher prices in the last quarter of 1966. The price trend may be downward in 1967, but our state average yield will be a little higher if the weather is decent. Wheat growers benefitted from price improvement in 1966. Prices were higher every year than one year before. The average yield of 41 bushels per acre was a new record high — 15 percent more than the 5-year average. Reserve stocks of wheat are likely to deplete to less than "pipeline supply" by July 1. Prices may be higher by July 1. Prices may be higher by July 1. Prices may be higher by July 1.

is up 26 percent, so a big crop is possible this year.

For dairymen, the situation improved substantially in 1966. This change began in the fall of 1965. By the last quarter of 1966, prices received for milk averaged $4.90 a hundred pounds — 75 cents higher than before the rise began, an increase of 30 percent. The price-support level has been raised 23 percent, to $4.00 a hundred pounds for manufacturing milk. This level of support is scheduled to continue through March of 1968.

Producers of feeder cattle had a good year in 1966. They sold most of their calves and yearlings for $24 to $28 a hundred pounds. These prices were 10 to 15 percent higher than a year earlier, and up 20 to 30 percent from two years before. They were the highest prices received since 1958 and 1959. Prices for feeder calves and cattle may average even higher in 1967 than in 1966 — because of the expected cyclical contraction of beef output.

Cattle feeding in the United States must be the biggest "Put and Take" game in the world. Since last spring it has been mostly "put, put, put . . ." Cash losses appear to have been $30 to $50 per head on most cattle sold in recent months. Despite these losses, cattle feeders have great confidence in the future, judging from the way they have been building feedlots and buying replacement cattle.

CLAFLIN — The Claflin Cooperative Association had sales of $463,864 in the past year with a saving of $7978, it was reported at the annual meeting. Members reelected Donald Ruggan and elected Steve Kinzel to the board. Philip Oberle is the manager.

GEHL MIX-ALL

• CRUSHER HEAD

Grinds! Mixes! Delivers!

The Gehl Mix-All, with economy plain feeder and exclusive crusher-feeder attachment, grinds, mixes and delivers the most uniform on-the-farm feed.

Here's proof: Samples of feed grains, ground by Gehl and competitive mills, were compared in a "sieve-shaker" analysis (a grinding uniformity test used also by commercial feed manufacturers). In test after test, Gehl samples were the most uniformly ground. And, the more uniform the grind, the better the mix!

In the Mix-All hammermill, 66 thin, alloy-steel hammers cut . . . not pound ingredients on a big grinding surface for faster feed flow with reduced "fines." Come on in for a close-up look at all the Mix-All features, including the swinging auger-feeder.

SCALLOPED OKRA & CORN RECIPE

- 1 can cut okra
- 1 cup milk
- ½ pound sharp cheese
- salt
- pepper
- 4 tablespoons butter
- 2 tablespoons flour
- 1 cup fine dry bread crumbs
- 1 can corn

Drain the water from the okra. Fry the okra in two tablespoons of the butter for about ten minutes, stirring often to prevent scorching. Place the okra and corn in alternate layers in a greased baking dish. Sprinkle each layer with salt and pepper. Make the sauce of the two remaining tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons of flour and the milk. Add the cheese and salt and stir until the cheese has melted. Pour over the okra and corn and cover with the crumbs. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) until the mixture is hot through and the crumbs are brown.

The following recipe is from Mrs. E. C. Anderson, R 3, Clyde:

1 can cherry pie filling
Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Gradually add sugar to butter in large mixer bowl, creaming at medium speed until light and fluffy. At same speed add eggs, one at a time, beating well for each. At low speed add flour and extract. Pour batter in well-greased 15x10x1-inch pan. Mark off in squares. Place 1 heaping tablespoonfull pie filling in center each square. Bake at 350 degrees for 45 to 50 minutes. Cool

Mrs. Vernon Sump, R2, Randolph: "We've been subscribers and interested readers of your paper for years. I especially enjoy the recipes and Woman's Page. With the snow on the ground one enjoys Gingerbread and since most farm folk are blessed with canned pears, here's a way to use them differently. I hope you enjoy the recipe as I have just tested it to make sure it is correct."

GINGERBREAD UPSIDE-DOWN CAKE

Melt 2 tablespoons butter with ½ cup brown sugar and spread in 9-inch baking pan which has been greased. Arrange 1 pint of drained, canned pear slices and ½ cup raisins in the pan. Place ½ cup sugar, ½ cup shortening in mixer and mix well, adding an egg. Then add the following ingredients which may be sifted although it is unnecessary:

- 2 cups flour
- ½ teaspoon baking soda
- 1 teaspoon baking powder
- 1½ teaspoons ginger
- 1½ teaspoons cinnamon
- ¼ teaspoon cloves
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- Add ½ cup boiling water and ½ cup dark molasses. Mix all together well and pour or spread over the canned pear mixture. Bake in moderate oven, 35-40 minutes. Serve warm or cold with whipped cream and a maraschino cherry on top.

(SURPRISE)

STRAWBERRY COOKIES

- 1 can Eagle Brand milk
- 2 packages family-size strawberry gelatin
- 1 cup ground coconut
- 1 cup ground pecans
- pinch of salt
- drop vanilla

Mix all together. Chill overnight. Roll and shape into strawberries, then roll in red sugar. Dip top of strawberry in green sugar. Sliver almonds, color with green food coloring. Use one piece of almond for strawberry stem. These cookies may be frozen or stored in refrigerator for several weeks. "They look like fresh picked strawberries."

Mrs. Fred Heigle, Longford: "I would like to submit this recipe for your recipe page. This is a very tasty dish. If I have to be away for dinner, I make it before I leave. I hope everyone will try this. It is so easy since there's no watching or stirring."

EASY BEEF & MACARONI

- 2 tablespoons salad oil
- 1½ pounds ground beef
- 1 package (7-ounce) macaroni
- ½ cup chopped green pepper
- 1 package (1½ ounce) dry onion soup mix
- 2 cans (16 ounces each) tomatoes
- 1 can (6-ounce) tomato paste
- ¾ cup water
- ¼ teaspoon pepper
- ½ teaspoon oregano
- 1 teaspoon chili powder

Place salad oil and ground beef in 10-inch electric skillet. breaking ground beef into pieces. Spread macaroni, pepper and onion soup mix evenly over ground beef. Turn skillet control to greens. Cover and cook 15 minutes. Do not stir before serving but stir before serving.

Mrs. Walter L. Johnson, met: "A very delicious and unusual method of preparing a beef and macaroni dish."

DUMP CAR. Stir in shortening (melted). Drop 1 can cherry pie filling into 1 yellow cake mix (12-ounce size).

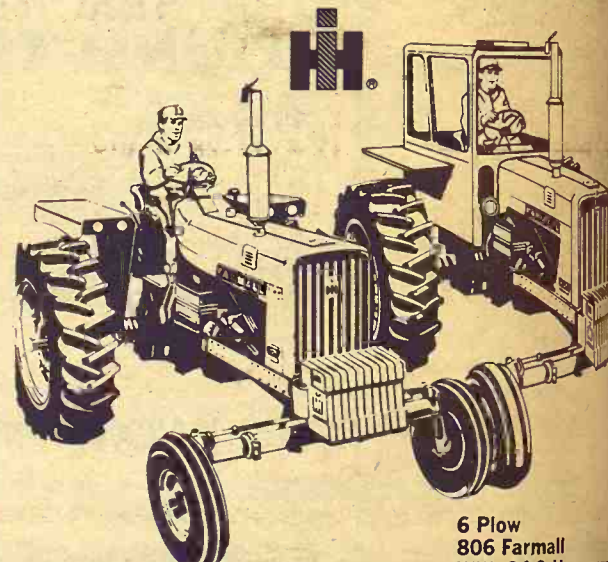

½ cup chopped nuts. 1 or 2 sticks margarine (depending on how much you want it).

Grease a 9x12x2-inch pan. Then "dump" in the pineapple and spread. Then dump in the filling and push it almost even. Open can dump and sprinkle. Sprinkle nuts over the margarine in patches on top. Bake in 350-degrees about an hour or until and brown. Serve plain ice cream. Note: Don't up. And it doesn't rise.

Mrs. Bob Grunert: "You can keep this in refrigerator for two weeks."

Manhattan Hatchery 1967 Chick Buyers Guide

We offer this year the choice of four breeds that have proven most profitable. H & N, which we feature, again leads the parade because H & N are easy to raise and work with; and they produce best with proper management.

DIAMOND LAYERS (100 Series) is the same bird we have sold for several years, and it, too, has gained in favor. This bird is superior to most top crosses and at a price much lower.

CALIFORNIA WHITES. Probably on its way to becoming the most profitable cross in America. It is bred and produced by one of the outstanding poultry breeders in America.

CORNISH ROCK. The top broiler cross. It will run at least ¼ lb. heavier than any other bird at a given age.

Mrs. Alfons Kruse, R2, Hanover: "We enjoy the paper so much. I have made this cabbage salad for several years. It is a never-fail recipe; so easy to make."

24-HOUR CABBAGE SALAD
4 pounds cabbage
1 bunch carrots

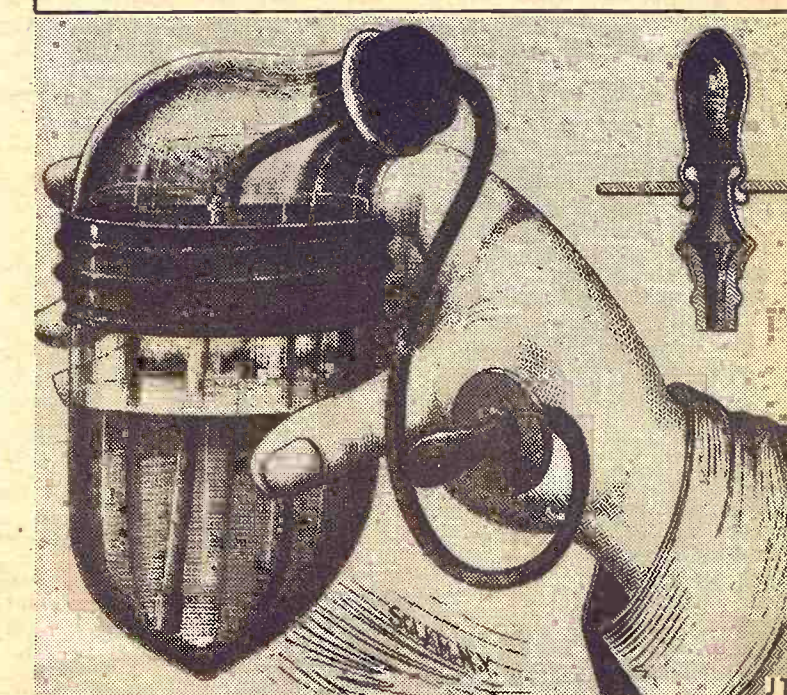

1 green pepper
Shred above ingredients fine.
2 tablespoons minced onion
Small amount celery seed
Boil 1 cup vinegar, 1 1/2 cups sugar. Soak 1 envelope unflavored gelatin in a little cold water and dissolve into hot liquid. Cool a little and add 1/2 cup Wesson oil. Season with salt and pepper. Add this solution to cabbage mixture. Let stand in refrigerator for 24 hours before serving. This salad will stay crisp for a week or longer if kept in a Tupperware container with the lid on tight in a refrigerator. Good to the last bite.

Mrs. Glen German of Solomon submitted a cookie recipe: E-Z DO COOKIES
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup Karo (white or dark)
Bring above ingredients to a boil and simmer one minute. Add 1 cup chunk peanut butter and stir until dissolved. Add 3 or 4 cups corn flakes. Pat in a 9x13-inch lightly-buttered pan. Cut into squares before cold.

Vast Change In Baby Bottles Since Great Grandma's Time

FEEDING BABY CHANGES

Hard as stone were the bottles and nipples used to feed babies in the past. Pewter, pottery, silver and porcelain feeding devices were common. Nurses were even carved from wood, gourds and animal horns.

Baby's diet was equally crude. Cow, mare or goat's milk was often the staple. Ground codfish, cornmeal and other nutritious foods were also fed to baby from crude dishes and funnel-like feeding devices.

Baby's diet was often supplemented in strange ways. Additional iron, for example, was supplied by wrapping calve's liver in a cloth and letting baby suck on it.

Today's new mother — and baby — have it much easier. The concentrated infant formulas available to her are not only clean, safe, nutritious and easy-to-use, but already contain needed vitamins and minerals.

According to one maker of prepared infant formula, ready-to-feed formulas today are scientifically prepared to approximate the nutritional results of human milk and can be used for the first full year of infant feeding and as a supplement to breast feeding.

Some of these modern formulas are also modified to provide additional benefits by being sterilized, homogenized and the butterfat in the Grade A milk has been replaced by vegetable oils. This is because infants, under certain conditions, do not tolerate butterfat. Replacement of these fats minimizes the possibility of minor digestive upsets.

One company has also gone a step further by making available to hospitals ready-to-use, sterilized forms of palatable fluids such as tea, bouillon and cola which have been used for decades for infants suffering from digestive upsets.

Squelch Feeding Tax Gimmick

A cattle investment tax benefit has been disallowed by an appeals court.

Some higher-income-bracket taxpayers seek low-taxed capital gains by investing in cattle to be fattened by professional feeders for sale. An advantage is that the owners take bigger than usual deductions from current income both for depreciation and for costs of feeding and caring for the animals.

Under some plans, moreover, taxpayers step up expenses by making substantial prepayments shortly before the end of a year for feed to be supplied the next year.

The Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals has just upheld a Tax Court ruling barring this latter move. A dentist in December, 1959, paid a feed-lot operator $25,000 for feed for his herd for 1960; the operator charged for the feed and his services against the prepayment as the feed was consumed. The Tax Court, backing the Revenue Service, held the cost of the feed should be deducted in the year consumed, not in the year paid.

The Ninth Circuit Court, agreeing, held the payment was really a deposit, not a deductible expense.

Manhattan Commission Co., Inc. Sale Every Thursday

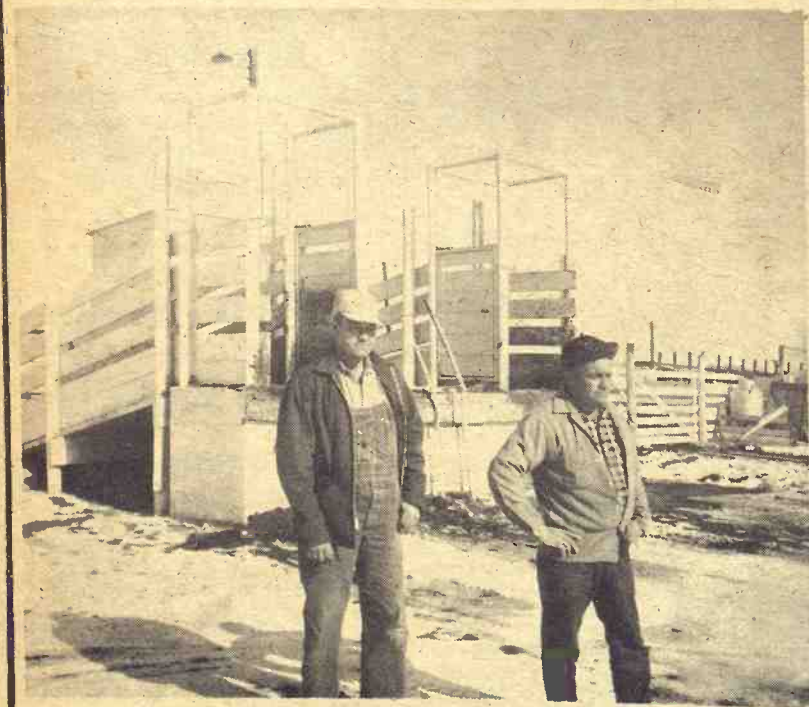

2 1/4 MILES EAST OF MANHATTAN ON

SPECIAL CONSIGNMENTS

- For Thursday, February 2
- 27 whiteface cows, a few with calves by side, balance heavy springers. These cows are all good aged cows.
- 1 good registered 3 year old whiteface bull

Due to blizzard and road conditions last Thursday, we had a very light run. Due to weather we called a lot of people that were bringing cattle to the sale and had them wait until next week's sale. We do have over 1000 head consigned for next Thursday's sale at present time. So we will have a large sale this next Thursday, if weather permits. We did not know if all our out-of-state buyers could get here therefore we called and held all our big consignments back. You can always depend on us to get you the top dollar for your livestock at all times. Because our buyers depend on us to inform them what they can buy at our sale. First we must have cattle to sale and also we must have the buyers here to buy them and this is what we do. Prices are steady to strong on what we had last Thursday. We did sell quite a number of cows and our cow market was extra good.

Two of Manhattan Commission's regular yard men, both with years of experience. Left is Gerald Woodard; and Walt Suttor.

The Best Of Facilities For Handling Your Cattle

Pictured are the improved pens which make handling of cattle efficient and speedy. Many hundreds of head can be run through the sale ring any Thursday without delay because of these finer backyard facilities.

Manhattan Hatchery Man Virgil Renz Dies In Wreck

Killed in a 2-car crash north of Holton on US 75 last Friday morning were Virgil F. Renz, of Manhattan, owner of Manhattan Hatchery; and the driver, Paul H. Wilkins, Clay Center.

Renz was 49, Wilkins 45. The death of Renz occurred in the midst of an expansion program. Considered one of the largest producing chick hatcheries in Kansas, Manhattan Hatchery operated several laying houses on the property back of the main building, and has under construction three new laying houses on Renz land between Manhattan and Wamego. Renz was a pioneer in production of turkey poults.

Renz' parents had owned a hatchery in Wakefield, Virgil going into business for himself west of Manhattan in 1949. Surviving besides his wife are three sons, who are employed at Fort Riley; Allen, a student at Fort Hays State College; and Rudy, a Manhattan high school student.

The Mauer-Neuer Packers of Arkansas City have reopened the former Banfield Packing Co. stockyard at Ponca City as a 2-day-a-week hog buying station. The stockyard had closed in November.

Nudge Should Start Bank Rate Decline

A borrower in the G&G area probably should be able to get a loan at a lower rate of interest following moves last week by some metropolitan banks in reducing their prime rates.

The move in the U.S. started with the Chase Manhattan Bank in New York City, which cut its prime rate from 6 to 5½%. By no means was there a rush by other banks to follow suit, but many major banks did and presumably others will have to follow.

Several banks in Kansas City, including Commerce Trust — the city's largest, cut their prime rate to 5½% the next day following Chase's announcement, as did the Union National in Wichita. The Fourth National Bank in Wichita, Kansas' largest bank, did not immediately announce a cut, saying it "would watch the situation."

While the announcements concern only prime rates — that is, the interest charged on what banks consider their "best" loans — the effect should filter within weeks to other types of business, farm and individual loans.

586,000 Cattle In Kansas Feedlots

For January 1, 1967, the number of cattle and calves on feed for the slaughter market was a record 586,000 head, according to the Kansas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service.

This was 22 percent more than the number on feed a year ago and 41 percent above the 1961-65 average for the date.

Farm feeding operations accounted for 275,000 of the total while there was a record 311,000 head on feed in large feedlots with a capacity of 1,000 head or more.

Marketings of fed cattle for slaughter during October, November and December 1966 totaled 260,000 head, a sharp increase from a year earlier. Cattle and calves placed on feed during the October-December quarter amounted to 370,000 head, a 12 percent increase from the comparable quarter in 1965.

Cattle on feed January 1 were classed by weight groups as follows: 31,000 head weighing 1100 pounds or more, 191,000 head weighing 900-1099 pounds, 238,000 head weighing 700-899 pounds, 108,000 head in the 500-699 pound group and 18,000 weighing under 500 pounds.

The total of those weighing over 900 pounds increased 17 percent while those under 900 pounds was up 25 percent from a year ago. Steers and steer calves on feed accounted for three-fourths of the total on January 1 or 437,000 head, while heifers and heifer calves totaled 149,000 head. Cattle on feed

January 1 by length of time on feed were classed as follows: less than 3 months, 358,000 head; 3 to 6 months, 211,000 head; and on feed more than 6 months 17,000 head.

Kansas farm feeders reported a daily average feeding ration as follows: 17.2 pounds of grain, 1.5 pounds of high protein feed,

2.0 pounds of hay, and 13.4 pounds of silage. These averages are all above a year ago except for hay which is down 1.5 pounds from last year.

Intentions of Kansas farmers were to market 320,000 head of those on feed January 1 during the January-March quarter and the remainder in later months.

Not For Sale — But For Exhibit Only — THIS ALLIS-CHALMERS DREAM TRACTOR

Farm Tractor of the Future?

Could be, and with more comfort than the average living room. Designers at Allis-Chalmers built two demonstration units like this to show the degree of sophistication that can be reached in modern tractors. They are surveying farmers at several large farm shows to learn what farmers want in equipment, comfort and convenience. The customized cabs include features such as ① two-way citizens band radio; ② stereo tape player; ③ AM-FM radio; ④ pressurizer that keeps the cab free of dust, dirt and pollen; ⑤ and ⑥ closed circuit television with camera focused on the implement behind the tractor; ⑦ electronic seed planting indicator; ⑧ air conditioner; ⑨ convenient grouping of operator controls; ⑩ and ⑪ rich, black, upholstered arm chair and cab interior; ⑫ plush nylon carpeted floor; and tinted glass.

Here's Month's Farm Forecast

All classes of livestock will show good price prospects during February, indicate Kansas State University economists in their monthly market forecast.

Hogs and lambs may show biggest gains. Slaughter and feeder cattle will be steady to slightly higher.

Specific summaries on major Kansas commodities are as follows:

ALFALFA HAY — Slightly Higher. Seasonal.

LAMBS — Steady to Higher. Reverse in receipts due to heavier lambs on feed will accompany seasonal increases.

HOGS — Steady to Higher. Seasonal decline in slaughter. Pig crop report not as bearish as previous indications.

SLAUGHTER CATTLE — Steady to Slightly Higher. Supply of fat cattle expected to ease off. If average weights can be held or reduced, we can expect some price improvements.

CORN, MILO, SOYBEANS, SOYBEAN MEAL — Steady to Slightly Higher. Somewhat dependent on weather and livestock feeding needs.

FEEDER CATTLE — Steady Slightly Higher. Strength in fat cattle plus optimism for later year prices.

WHEAT — Steady. Bearish market from now until April wheat report large world crop. Price advances depend on export commitments and future received.

MILK — Slightly lower. Past season peak but still at highest level since 1950's.

EGGS — Lower. Continued increase in number of pullets coming into production will increase pressure on prices.

'Tax On What Land Earns Not What It Costs'

TOPEKA — A past president of the Kansas Livestock Association last week called for assessment of farm land on the basis of what it earns rather than what it sells for.

Bill House, Cedar Vale, spoke before the House Assessment and Taxation Committee.

"Land has two values," said House, "what it is worth to you to work it and what you get for it when you sell out."

House said both federal and state governments take out a good sized slice on the basis of sale value. Farmers and ranchers can't live on that unless income doubles, he added.

House said farmers do not own land for development purposes but to make a living.

"In California," he said, there has been a constitutional amendment permitting land to be assessed on an earning basis as long as it is used for agriculture.

"If it is used for development, they go back three years and assess at the higher rate.

"We are asking you to divide the two values and let us live on assessment of earning value, not sale value."

House told committee members that the agriculture industry now pays about 25 percent on its earnings. He said the industry would be happy with 3 percent, the rate used for taxation of the earnings on stocks and bonds.

Bill House

House said the cattle feeding industry is not in any danger of moving out of the state now, though a $10 differential in the cost of operation is enough to cause feeders to shift from one place to another.

This could be in taxes, labor or feed cost among other factors, he explained.

"If we're on the high side," said House, "you can kiss the industry goodbye, and that includes packing houses."

"We have enough feed in Kansas for 2 million to 3 million cattle. At the same time we are shipping feed to the West Coast. We think the industry here could triple as long as the freight rate on beef is equal to the rate on live animals. I would hate to see us lose out because of taxation."

"House said it takes $12 to $14 in taxes to produce a calf in Kansas compared to $2.50 in New Mexico. He said cattlemen in the Flint Hills have been able to compete with this because they get a heavier calf."

"We have picked up four packing houses in Kansas," House said. "Our elevators will stay in business only if we keep our feeding industry. This is important."

House said most states in the

Town Wells Dry In Hunter

HUNTER — Residents of this farming community don't have to be reminded of the state's 1966 drought — they're still living it.

For some of the 180 persons who make this southern Mitchell County town their home, the drought has been expensive. But for everyone here, it has been an inconvenience.

And the same holds true for many farmers and ranchers within a 15-mile radius, who like the townfolks, have found themselves without a water supply because of dry wells.

Hunter's situation hit a throat-parching low when the last of the town's three wells gave out.

Since then, city officials have called on the Sylvan Grove water supply as a temporary solution.

southeastern United States, those competitive to Kansas, exempt cattle from assessments.

House and other Kansas Livestock Association members urged the committee to consider exempting cattle held for shipment out of the state from personal property tax.

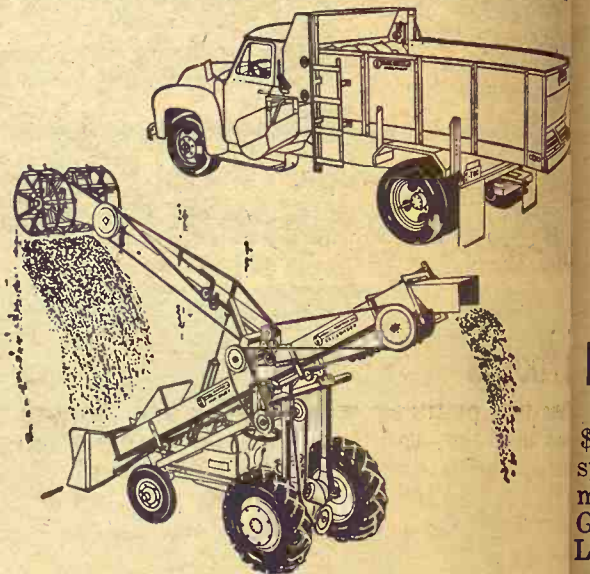

"I'll bet Goodyear would move out of Topeka if it was assessed on the tires in its warehouses," House said. "This is the same thing as feedlot cattle."

House said the agriculture industry has become a liability will move out of the state can't make a profit.

House said the 1955 legislature's changing the exemption age for tax exemption from 6 months to 12 months state only $1 million, with free port law cost $3 million.

He did not say what shipment of feeder cattle and shipment would cost in lost.

A New Wheat Variety Released

MANHATTAN — Seed of a new hard red winter wheat variety called Parker will be available in Kansas and Missouri this fall.

Release of the wheat was announced by the Missouri Agricultural Experiment Station, the Crops Research Division of the USDA, and the Kansas Agricultural Experiment Station.

Seed of Parker, developed by the Kansas Station and the USDA Crops Research Division, was released to registered Kansas and Missouri seed growers last fall, so limited supplies of Parker seed should be available after harvest this summer.

Crosses that produced Parker include Quivira, Kanred, Hard Federation, Prelude, Kawvale, Marquillo, and Tenmarq. Parker matures early, has short, stiff straw, and resists leaf rust and hessian fly. It is susceptible to soil-borne mosaic, wheat-streak mosaic, stem rust, bunt and loose smut.

Parker is expected to compete favorably with Triumph in both Kansas and Missouri. It is recommended in Kansas only for south-central and central areas.

Parker's milling and bread-baking qualities are satisfactory; it has long mixing time and moderate loaf volume potential.

Original Parker seed came from the Kansas wheat breeding program; Missouri increased the foundation seed last year.

Another 4% Drop In Total Farms

The 3,258,000 farms operating in the U.S. during 1966 represented a 4 percent drop from the total a year earlier and were nearly 25 percent below the 1959 total of over four million.

Despite the cutback in farm numbers, however, land in farms — at 1.14 billion acres — was down less than 1 percent from a year earlier.

During 1967, it is expected that the number of farms operating in the U.S. will show a further decline — dropping to 3,176,000, or a 2.5 percent decrease.

Average size of farms is expected to continue upward to 359 acres in 1966, compared to 342 acres in 1965 and only 288 acres in 1959.

An Early Day Big Ditch

Efforts to irrigate drylands of Kansas are not limited to deep well pumping and water districts organized near big federal dams. This picture shows construction of the Eureka Canal, one of the most famous of the big ditches, in the 1880's. A commercial project to use water from the Arkansas River near Garden City, the big ditch was a failure — a case of plenty of canal but not dependable water. Traces of its path can still be seen in Gray and Counties.

The big ditches were dug with haste and error. One was dug for a short distance, water was let in to see if it would flow down the ditch, and this practice continued throughout the building.

Kansas Congressmen Blast Farm Policy

A resolution, calling on the administration to stop "discriminatory activities" against U.S. farmers and ranchers was introduced last week by Kansas' five Republican House members.

The measure would direct the administration, particularly the Agriculture Department, to use every means to improve farm prices "in order to build a strong and viable market economy for agriculture."

"We feel compelled to offer this resolution early in this Congress because it seems apparent that this administration places a very low priority on the nation's agriculture," Reps. Robert Dole, Chester L. Mize, Larry Winn Jr., Garner E. Shriver and Joe Skubitz, said in a statement.

Contending the administration last year used the farmer as "a whipping boy for its inflationary policies," the statement said the Secretary of Agriculture continually depressed grain and livestock prices by dumping government owned commodities on the market.

At the same time, the Kansans said, the administration's domestic fiscal policies pushed farm production costs to record heights.

They said farm prices now are at only 77 percent of parity and the farmer is earning only about 60 percent as much as his city cousin. Administration farm policies will cause net farm income to drop by at least 5 per cent during 1967, the group said.

New District FCIC Director

MANHATTAN — Leo B. Holt-haus of Baileyville has been appointed district director for the Federal Crop Insurance Corp. in Northeast Kansas.

Holt-haus, 38, succeeds Elmer Frohn of Manhattan who retired Dec. 31 after holding the post 14 years.

The 17-county district is made up of Atchison, Brown, Cloud, Doniphan, Jackson, Jewell, Lincoln, Marshall, Nemaha, Osborne, Pottawatomie, Republic and Washington counties.

Holt-haus began with the corporation in 1955 as a supervisor, and has been a supervisor since 1962.

He was born in Baileyville, Mo., and operates a 480-acre farm.

Year's Gains Reported By

CLAY CENTER — Milling Co. has reported a 100 percent increase in tonnage, a 100 percent increase in net profit for the past year. The company's annual report, released last week, shows a tonnage increase of 100 percent, as was a 100 percent increase in net profit. Directors of Key Bank, McKee, Paul Williams, Starkweather, Fred, Jim Hammel, Foster, Chester Oberg.

NFO Says Hog Station To Open On Feb. 3

WAMEGO — The National Farm Organization will open a hog station here on February 3. The station is located at the intersection of US24 and K99. Farmers must sign an agreement, according to NFO spokesmen. Kilian said that the station will be the first of its kind in 25 cents of the market for grade hogs at Kansas and Wichita markets.

St. Marys Co-op To Build Offices

ST. MARYS — Construction of an administrative building to house the offices of all divisions of Farmers Union Cooperative Business Assn. has been authorized by the board of directors, Leo Ronsse, general manager, has announced.

The building, plans for which have been submitted, will be erected between the present elevator office building and the former offices of KFU Hybrids and its subsidiary, the petroleum business, was purchased last summer. Ronsse said he hoped the new building would be ready for use by harvest time.

The old buildings will be removed when the new structure is occupied. Included in the plans is a new scale. The building will be an all-metal type, but the front, facing south, will be of ornamental masonry.

Marion, chairman of the House Assessment and Taxation Committee, said a number of legislators feel the ratio study has not been used properly in indicating the relative level of tax assessments between agricultural and urban property and between various sections of the state.

"Some of the legislators think the sale price of property has been used more in arriving at the ratio of tax assessment when the productive value of property should have had more consideration," Slocombe said.

Slocombe's committee is considering a bill recommended by the legislative council to impose a nominal state tax on transfers of title to real estate.

Kansas has relied upon a federal tax on such transfers for obtaining information on the sale prices of real estate for use in the assessment ratio studies.

The federal tax is expiring, however, and the state tax is being proposed as a substitute method of acquiring the information.

"I think some members would just as soon see this bill fail so the assessment ratio study could no longer be performed as it has been in the past," Slocombe said.

Rep. Thomas Van Cleave, D-Kansas City, agreed with Slocombe that the assessment ratio study may be in trouble.

He said some alternative must be found in the distribution of state funds to take the place of the assessment ratio study if this is discarded.

"There have been discussions of possible alternatives," Van Cleave said, but no one has come up with anything acceptable so far."

Half Of Rural Poverty In South

Only 29.1 percent of the nation's population lives in rural areas but 43.4 percent of America's poor are found there, the National Association for Community Development reported last week.

The association reports that in rural America, 26.9 per cent of the people are poor — family income under $3,000 annually or individual income below $1500— compared to 14.4 percent in urban areas.

More than half of rural poverty is found in the South," the report says. "All but three of the 250 counties in which rural families had the lowest median incomes in 1959 were in the 14 southern and border states."

The report says three out of four of the rural poor are white but poverty to greater proportionately among Negro and other nonwhite rural residents.

The report, in a booklet entitled "Dimensions of Rural Poverty," was issued in advance of the association's three-day conference on rural poverty which opens Monday.

Rural areas most in need of economic development, according to the report are southern tobacco and cotton areas, Appalachia, the Ozarks, upper Great Lakes region, northern New England and Indian reservations.

"In many of the poor rural areas, the greatest undeveloped resource is the people who live there," says the report. "This is especially true in the South."

First Land Bank Loan Was Made 50 Years Ago To Larned Farmer

TOPEKA — Kansas is the home of "firsts" in the nation's Federal Land Bank system. The Federal Land Bank of Wichita was the first of 12 organized in the nation, and a loan to a Larned, Kans. farmer was the first made under the new program 50 years ago, William G. Pledsted Jr. told a group of business and state leaders here Tuesday morning. Pledsted was here for the kickoff of his organization's 50th anniversary... part of the year-long program to call attention to the contributions farmers and ranchers make to the nation's economy.

He and his staff are conducting similar breakfast meetings with key business leaders in Oklahoma City, Denver, Colo., Albuquerque, N.M., and Wichita covering the four states served by the bank of Wichita. Pledsted said tentative plans call for the meeting to be held in Wichita about March 1. One of the highlights of the 50th anniversary year is set for March 27 in Larned with festiities marking the golden anniversary of the First Federal Land Bank Association, chartered there March 27, 1917. Pledsted said he expects the remaining 11 presidents from the other federal land banks to participate along with representatives from the appropriate federal agencies in Washington. A parade is planned and a day-long exhibit of art carrying out the theme "America's Farmers: Providers of Plenty." Reporting on its 50 years of service to Kansas, Oklahoma, Colorado and New Mexico, Pledsted said the Federal Land Bank of Wichita has made 172,838 long term loans amounting to $1.1 billion. Long-term loans now outstanding from the bank total more than $420 million to more than 32,000 borrower-members of the 63 federal land bank associations in the four states. Approximately 25 of these associations are located in Kansas. Pledsted said his bank, in the face of the tight money market, is determined to meet the needs

Freeman Says He'll Prop Sagging Farm Prices

Orville L. Freeman, secretary of Agriculture, said last week he was concerned over recent declines in farm prices and promised to use measures at his disposal to strengthen them.

He told a news conference that farm prices have declined 5 per cent in recent months and now average 2 to 3 per cent below 1966.

Farmers In Squeeze

"Farmers are again increasingly caught in the old squeeze between the prices they receive and the high cost of farming," he said.

Freeman said that steps already taken by his agency to bolster farm prices included increased government purchases of some items—oranges, pork, beef and dairy products—for welfare use and the school lunch program.

He said that other steps that could be taken included increases in government farm price supports. He emphasized, however, that he had no proposed increases under consideration now. But, he added, the door is open to possible increases.

Freeman said there were strong indications that farm prices in 1967 would average little if any above current levels. He said, however, that farm costs were expected to continue edging upward.

No Relief Seen

"There appears to be little or no chance," the secretary said, "consumers will benefit from lower farm prices. Other costs are such that food prices will continue to edge upward—although more moderately than last year."

Freeman said that continued heavy programming of food for shipment abroad under assistance programs should provide some strength to farm markets. Likewise, he said, a planned expansion in the food stamp program should help. Under this program, needy persons would receive supplemental food buying power in the form of government stamps usable at grocery stores.

Christmas Leftovers

Mrs. W. E. Trussell, employee of Johnson Grocery & Hardware at Kackley, a Republic County village, holds some Christmas leftovers from Christmas selling.

tion of ammonia by late summer 1968.

The plant will have a capacity of 600 tons a day and will be similar to a plant Farmland put into production last fall at Fort Dodge, Iowa. The concern also has an anhydrous ammonia plant at Hastings, Nebr., and is three-fourths owner of the Cooperative Farm Chemicals Association plant near Lawrence, Kansas.

Young said the Dodge City plant will serve cooperatives in western Kansas, Western Oklahoma, the Texas Panhandle and eastern Colorado.

The Dodge City location was selected after considering supply of natural gas, needs of local cooperatives and their members, transportation facilities and rates, he said.

Dodge City Picked For Co-op Anhydrous Plant

Farmland Industries Inc. officials last week announced selection of Dodge City as the site of a new anhydrous ammonia plant.

The plant, to be on a farm five miles east of Dodge City, will serve farmer cooperatives affiliated with Farmland Industries.

Homer Young, president, said construction schedules are not worked out but plans call for an early start and produc-

HOGS START 12 Noon

We had another top sale last Saturday, with an exceptional good run of both cattle and hogs. There was a great deal of activity from the many buyers that were competing strongly on all classes of cattle. Prices were strong to higher. More are bringing their cattle and hogs to Junction City to get the top dollar. A very attractive sale is rapidly taking shape for this Saturday. With several consignments already on hand.

SPECIAL CONSIGNMENTS:

Miniature Meat Loaves Are Nutritious And Tasty

Miniature meat loves, with a surprise garnish baked into each one. Unbelievably simple to make, Midget Meat Loaves use onion soup for flavor and corn flake crumbs for tenderness and bonus nutrition. Bake them in muffin cups and serve two per person, one of each "flavor". Suggested accompaniments include baked squash, a green vegetable, bread sticks and a red cabbage salad.

MIDGET MEAT LOAVES

3 cups corn flakes or  $\frac{1}{4}$  cup packaged corn flake crumbs
1 $\frac{1}{2}$  pounds ground beef
1 teaspoon salt
1/8 teaspoon pepper
1 $\frac{1}{4}$  cups 10 $\frac{1}{2}$ -ounce can condensed onion soup
3 stuffed olives, halved
6  $\frac{3}{4}$ -inch cubes Cheddar cheese

If using corn flakes, crush into fine crumbs. Mix together corn flake crumbs, ground beef, seasonings and soup. Spoon mixture into 12 ungreased 3-inch muffin cups; press lightly to shape. Press olive halves into half the meat loaves; cheese cubes into remainder. Bake in moderately hot oven (400 degrees) about 20 minutes. Yield: six servings, two midget loaves each.

Health Hints

Ever wondered why we seem to catch colds in winter months just before that big date or before the weekend guests arrive?

Well, we're more apt to catch colds when we're tired and run-down. And rushing around getting ready for any big occasion can be energy-sapping.

To make that special occasion really "special," however, this advice is offered:

Try to stay out of crowds before the big date; a simple sneeze can travel a distance of three feet.

Avoid chilling and wet feet.

Eat well-balanced meals — despite a hectic schedule. You'll be giving your body an important advantage, one that can help ward off colds.

Make a "nap" part of your routine when getting ready for that special occasion.

Kansas Trademark

No things of beauty, stone fence posts still line much G&G area rangeland, as durable reminders of the past of livestock industry in Kansas.

Russell Area Co-ops To Vote On Merger

RUSSELL — A proposal to merge the Russell County Cooperative association here and the Farmers Cooperative Elevator Association of Dorrance, will be voted upon by the members of the two organizations. The new organization would be known as AGCO, Inc., an abbreviation for Agricultural Co-operative.

Auctioneers: Lawrence Welter, Gene Toby & Verlin Green

We sold 561 hogs Monday along with 309 cattle on a very good market. Our good hogs of the right weight bringing $20.40 to $20.60, with the top on one load at $20.70. We were expecting a good run of cattle Thursday but due to the storm the run was cut to 831 head. What we had sold steady, except for the cows, which were 50¢ higher. Weather permitting we are expecting over 2000 head for next Thursday, with a good many calves and yearlings being offered.
