FROZEN TO THE GROUND
Feed shocks drifted with snow make a pretty but chilly scene. Many farmers will remember what a chore it is to load feed that is covered with snow and frozen to the ground.

WHEN THE WIND QUIT BLOWING
This is what some of the roads looked like in the Grass & Grain area after the wind quit blowing the snow around. This scene is in Ottawa County.

DINNER TIME
A herd of hungry cattle surrounds bales of hay after this weekend's storm left several inches of snow on the ground. In the lower center of the picture the owner of this farm, located north of Salina, attempts to clear his drive with a tractor and scoop attachment.

Standby Generator Good Investment

"Is a standby generator worth the investment?"

This question is heard often by Extension agricultural engineers at Kansas State University. There is probably no answer that would apply to all situations.

Despite the efforts of power suppliers, electrical outages do occur in both rural and urban areas. Usually, they result in brief inconveniences. But they can mean severe economic loss, especially where livestock and poultry are concerned.

A standby generator is the best insurance against electric power interruptions. It's like having an insurance policy — you hope you never have to collect on it.

Standby generating equipment is of two types — engine-driven units and tractor-power takeoff models. Each can be stationary or portable.

Portability usually means versatility — a portable unit can quickly be moved to any location where electrical circuits are not available.

Being able to operate an electric welder in the field when machinery breaks down is one example of putting a standby to work. Tractor-driven units, therefore, have certain advantages. They also cost less and are available in single or three-phase power in most any size up to 50,000 watts.

Grass & Grain

January 12, 1971

The most commonly recommended sizes are 12,000 to 25,000-watt plants to handle requirements on the average farm. These units will supply enough power for most electrical equipment in farm houses and in dairy barns and swine and poultry buildings.

When this standby generator is to be hooked to the farmstead wiring system a double throw switch is a must to protect repairmen working on lines and to keep line power from burning out the generator.

Smaller units such as a 3,000-watt generator will provide enough power to keep lights burning and the furnace or the well pump operating. They would also allow minimum usage of other electrical equipment.

The part-load system is practical for some farms but not for others. Engine-driven units are sometimes advantageous. They are permanently installed, independent of any outside power source, and are ready to operate on a moment's notice.

These units can be manually or automatically started. The engine can be cranking as soon as a power failure occurs.

To determine the generator capacity needed for an emergency, add up the wattages of all lights, appliances and motors that must operate at one time.

Extension publication E20 — "Standby Electric Generators" — is available at your county Extension office or at Umberger Hall, Kansas State University, Manhattan.

Both Stockman & Consumer Miss On Meat Prices

A Nixon administration farm economist has opened another round of protest against retail meat pricing methods which he says deprive both consumers and farmers.

Middleman margins for beef have increased sharply while prices cattlemen get have risen more slowly and recently have fallen, Don Paarlberg, director of economics for the Agriculture Department said.

"During 1968 and 1969," Paarlberg said, "The price of choice steers fluctuated considerably, averaging 29.08 cents per pound for the 24 months."

"For the first 11 months of 1970," he said, "steer prices averaged 30.5 cents. But in December... prices fell to 28.48 cents."

At the same time, Paarlberg said, a difference between what farmers get and consumers pay — the marketing margin — rose steadily from 32 cents per pound during 1968-69 to 37 cents during the first 11 months of this year.

Retail prices, Paarlberg said, averaged 91.4 cents per pound for choice beef during 1968 and 1969. In the first 11 months of this year the price was 99 cents per pound and in December has averaged almost 96 cents.

He said meat packers and grocery chains generally increase margins when live animal prices fall and decrease them when prices rise.

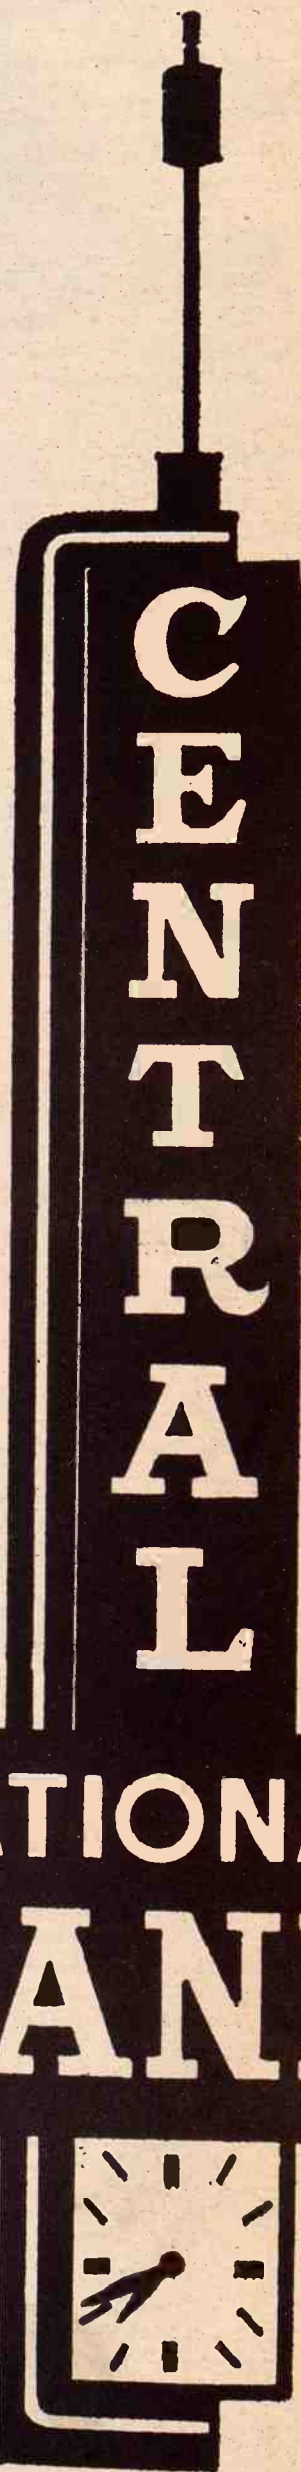

The trade, he added, could give consumers and farms a better break by holding price margins steadier.

MUTUAL FUNDS FELL BEHIND STOCK MARKET

The average of 467 mutual funds dropped more than 25 per cent in value in the past two years. The mutual fund loss in 1969 did not vary a good deal from the Dow-Jones industrial or other common indexes of stock market prices for that year. But the average loss thru late 1969 was nearly another 12 per cent while the D-J industrial, Standard & Poors indexes, and the New York Stock Exchange composite showed losses of 2 to 5 per cent during the year.

Count Soybeans In Feed Base, Southerners Ask

The Agriculture department has been urged to permit farmers in areas hard hit by the southern corn leaf blight to have soybeans considered as feed grains for purposes of maintaining their historical feed grain base.

Rep. Paul Findley (F-Ill.) made the request at a conference with Clarence Palmby, assistant secretary of agriculture, and Carol G. Brunthaver, associate administrator of the Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation service. Findley said the department has authority under law to allow his request.

Soybeans Become Second-Ranking Source Of Crop Income

Farmers took a beating from corn blight disease and drought last year, but still wound up with crops valued at a record high $24.1 billion, an annual Agriculture Department report indicates.

The report estimated the value of 78 food, fiber and livestock feed crops at $24,522,000 compared with $22,895,241,000 in 1969. Rising prices more than offset a decline of three per cent from 1969's record production volume.

In addition, the crop value summary pointed out, some farmers also got additional income from government support and acreage — retirement payments in 1970. The value of last year's crops including support payments — but not the land retirement subsidies — was put at a record $26.5 billion compared with $25.2 billion in 1969.

The report did not touch on another major component of farm income — returns from the livestock products which usually bring in more total dollars than crops.

Corn, as usual, was the nation's number one crop. Despite a 10 per cent drop in production because of blight and drought in 1970, the report showed the value of the crop up to a record $5.5 billion from the 1969 figures of $5.2 billion. With price support payments included, 1970 corn values totaled nearly $6.1 billion compared with $5.9 billion a year earlier.

The estimated season average price of corn, not including payments, rose from $1.16 a bushel in 1969 to $1.34 in 1970. Including payments, the averages were $1.28 in 1969 and $1.47 in 1970.

The report also showed that soybeans, the nation's third-ranking crop in 1969, replaced hay in the number two spot in 1970. Last year's soybean crop was valued at a record $3.2 billion compared with $2.6 billion in 1969. Hay dropped to third place with a 1970 value of $3.1 billion compared with $3 billion the previous year.

Other crops in the billion-dollar category, with 1969 values in parentheses, were: wheat $1.9 billion ($1.8 billion); tobacco $1.4 billion ($1.3 billion); and cotton $1.2 billion ($1.1 billion).

Five top farm states — compared with four in 1969 — reported crops valued at $1 billion or more in 1970. With 1969 values shown in parentheses they were:

Mix And Match Textures And Styles In Carpets

Solid colors are still around in carpet but the real excitement for floor coverings is in the patterns, prints and multi-colors which are rampant today, mixed and matched with contrasting or like textures, depending upon the preference of the designer — and you, of course.

Some stylists say the mix is the thing. One leading interior designer says, "there is no such thing as a 'formal' carpet or an 'informal' one. It depends upon how it is used and in combination with what."

Speaking of shag vs. plush, she continues, "people tend to think velvety plushes are formal, that zesty shags are informal. That's as wrong as saying Chippendale only belongs in a formal room, that Italian plastic is suitable only in informal settings."

The liberation of mixing furniture styles should also spur using different carpet textures in the same or adjoining rooms, without worries of "formal" or "informal," "traditional" or "modern," the designer suggests.

Shag carpet can be very chic, plush carpet can seem whimsical, she says, noting that the choice to which type of carpet should be only on the textural feeling desired.

So forget all about having to stick to a particular formula. Do what you like. Whatever your taste, whatever look you want, carpet manufacturers have made every type and style within the reach of everyone, you have only to choose your favorite.

Carpet can create new moods. They can be teamed with the new look today of animal skins, reptile skins, wood, cork and stone...the "go native" feeling. There are shags in print that give this kind of mood...there are prints in other types of carpet that also go well with this theme.

If you like printed carpet, this is your year for they are available in geometrics, abstracts, florals...just about anything you could want.

If you tend toward the Oriental look, then choose from one of the classic patterns in design now available.

Rugs, too, are being designed with the concept of mix in mind. Some utilize the sensual look and feel of long, wild, bold shag paired with level loop construction which gains added dimension from the marriage.

Ripe Olives Top Sandwiches

Use ripe olives as a perfect topping for a sandwich roll that contains an appetizing mixture of canned tuna and celery. To make sandwiches cut 3/4 cup canned pitted ripe olives in large pieces. Drain a 7-ounce can tuna and flake. Peel and dice 2 hard-cooked eggs.

Combine ripe olives, tuna and eggs with 3/4 cup chopped celery and 1/2 cup mayonnaise. Cut 6 hot dog buns in half, leaving one side attached and hollow slightly. Spread rolls with butter and heap with filling. Tuck a crisp lettuce leaf inside each roll.

More Instructions For Candy Recipe

We received this note from Mrs. Oscar Ohlde, Palmer, whose recipe for Elegant Christmas Candy appeared in the December 1 issue of G&G.

"I sent in a recipe for Elegant Fudge Candy. I sent the original recipe which I got from a program on the radio.

"Now when I make this I also add 3 tablespoons butter or oleo to the melted chocolate and cream cheese and keep it warm on the stove all the while I'm making it and while I add the powdered sugar. If it's too stiff, I add a little milk, just enough to be able to stir in the nuts and pour into greased pan.

"I'm sorry I forgot to mention this but hadn't made it for so long."

Safety Tips For Driving In Bad Weather

Since today's homemaker must do quite a bit of driving: Chauffeur the children, shopping; running errands; it's a good idea to review some safety tips for driving in bad weather.

Winter's fog, sleet, snow and ice can turn normally safe highways into accident traps. Your chances of getting your car through the next couple of months without a trip to the body and fender repair shop can be greatly improved by following these tips.

In rain, fog or snow, turn on your lights. Low beams will give the best visibility. When traveling in fog, watch the edge of the road or the painted center line. Always signal well in advance of a stop or turn. Then anyone following you has ample opportunity to slow down without skidding.

Let road conditions determine your safe speed. Slow down for curves and icy patches. Maintain safe stopping distances and anticipate braking needs. Pump your brakes when slowing on ice or snow (don't jam them on). If you skid, steer in the direction the rear of the car is skidding until you regain control.

Try to maintain an even speed when driving up icy slopes and hills. Avoid sudden braking, accelerating and turning. Move slowly on ice or snow to avoid wheel spinning.

Keep your windshield, rear window, headlights and tail-lights clear. Keep your gas tank more than half full — traffic tie-ups consume gas and electrical power rapidly.

And leave at least one window or vent partly open at all times to guard against carbon monoxide poisoning.

Don't Wait For Holes To Mend

Don't wait until holes appear in socks, sweaters, and other garments to do your darning. Look for the thin spots and darn them. This way, the darning is neater and easier.

Taste Treat

Use ground beef patties with slices of cheddar cheese and tomato sauce and bake in a moderate oven about 30 minutes. Serve on hot toasted buns for a delicious taste treat.

Tax Changes Affect Farmers

Kansas farmers will need to become acquainted with new provisions of the 1969 Tax Reform Act before filling out their 1970 income tax forms.

The act became law a year ago and represented an extensive revision of the Internal Revenue Code.

While some provisions of the new law were made retroactive to the date of proposal or congressional action, most of the provisions have been in effect only for the 1970 tax year.

Dr. John Schlender explains major changes in the tax act in a new Kansas Extension Service brochure now available at county Extension offices.

Schlender covers (1) provisions relating to farming and (2) provisions affecting taxpayers in general.

Under new provisions, Schlender points out that cattle and horses must be held for at least two years before owners can qualify for capital gains. Sheep, hogs and other livestock remain subject to the one-year holding period.

It is pointed out that the due date has been moved from February 15 to March 1 for filing of income tax returns by farmers who don't file declarations of estimated tax by January 15.

Farmers who file a declaration of estimated tax and pay in quarterly installments, or those who file an estimate by January 15, are not affected. They will file federal returns by the normal April 15 due date.

Other farm related tax provisions covered in the booklet deal with recapturing of soil and water conservation expenses upon sale of farmland, income treatment of crop insurance proceeds and prohibition of tax-free exchange of livestock of different sexes.

A change in the act that affects the public as well as farmers deals with personal exemption. This year the personal exemption is increased from $600 to $625. Next year it goes to $650, then to $700 and finally to $750 in 1973 thereafter.

The KSU economist pointed out that the tax surcharge was continued at a five per cent annual rate for the period January 1, 1970, through June 30, 1970.

"This means that for the calendar year taxpayers, the surcharge for 1970 will be 2.5 per cent of adjusted tax," said Schlender.

Up To 80% For Some Environment Practices

The Nixon administration's long-termed plan for paying farmers to concentrate more on environmental problems in carrying out conservation projects has been announced by the Agriculture Department.
Under a new name — the Rural Environmental Assistance program farmers will continue to collect government subsidies to help pay part of their conservation costs.

But they will be eligible for the highest rates, up to 80 per cent of the costs in some cases, for carrying out projects with long-range or community-wide benefits such as protection of a municipal water supply.
"The restructured program will be used to help preserve our environment, demonstrate good environmental enhancement practices, and return more public benefits at less public cost," Clifford

M. Hardin, secretary of agriculture, said.

The new plan succeeds the 34-year-old Agricultural Conservation program (ACP). Recent administrations have tried unsuccessfully to abolish the program but each time congress has insisted that the funds be spent.

Last year Congress appropriated 195.5 million dollars for 1971 ACP.
President Nixon, in bowing to the pressure, announced last month that he would proceed with the program but would put more stress on environmental problems.

The program last year cost 185 million. Yesterday's announcement said the specific level of spending for the new program in 1971 had not been determined.

Under the new program, officials said, the major thrust will be in practices aimed at curbing agricultural, industrial and municipal wastes through such features as dams, ponds, permanent grass cover, terraces, waterways and tree plantings.

These practices will continue, for the most part, to be eligible for 50 per cent financing from the government. Other practices, determined to be more of a temporary nature, will be recommended at reduced benefits of around 30 per cent.

Further, the department said, the temporary benefits will be available only under certain circumstances where county committees of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation service deem them necessary.

A spokesman said, however, there is nothing in the 1971 regulations to force county committees to accept the reduced rates or to eliminate specific practices.

Technically, officials said, no regular conservation practices were eliminated but some were combined to enable farmers to carry out the same projects under a common name.

"Practices that are good farming techniques that should be performed routinely and practices that are income-producing to the farmer will be deemphasized in favor of those having benefits for all citizens," the announcement said.

Decline In World Fishing

World fishing declined 2 per cent in 1969, the United Nations Food and Agriculture organization reported.
It was the first yearly decline since the end of World War II, the group said.

Grass & Grain 7

January 12, 1971

FAO estimated the total catch of marine and inland water fish that year at 69.41 million tons, below the record 70.73 million tons registered in 1968.

The figures include crustaceans and mollusks, but exclude whales and sport fishing. They are from the new FAO Yearbook of Fishery Statistics, Catches and Landings, which is based on official data and covers more than 200 countries and territories.

According to the survey, the 2 per cent drop was entirely in the marine sector. Decreased marine catches were reported by numerous countries, principally in Latin America and Western Europe. Only six of the 15 countries with catches of a million tons or more reported increases.

FAO sources said there were low catches by Peru at the start of the 1969-70 fishing season, and depletion of certain herring and mackerel fisheries in the North Atlantic and reduced factory-ship operations in the Southeast Atlantic.

The total catch of fish from rivers, lakes, pond and other freshwater sources continued to rise, reaching 7.48 million tons as compared with 7.26 million tons in 1968.

State Has Nearly Culled List Of Longtime Tax Delinquents

The State of Kansas, which was carrying nearly 50,000 delinquent tax accounts on its records, some dating back to 1933 when the state adopted income taxes, has nearly wiped the list.

A recent batch of 100 accounts totalling $28,000 was written off as uncollectable, leaving the state with a backlog of about 8,000 delinquents. The 1969 legislature authorized the Revenue Dept. to write off some old tax accounts, and there has been a systematic procedure to rid the deadwood since.

Previously, the state couldn't forgive a tax debt, even though many of the taxpayers were long since dead or moved away. The statute of limitations and incomplete records hampered some collections. The biggest batch of uncollectables were written off in December 1969 when about 20,000 accounts totalling close to $1 million were scratched. These were accounts of $250 or less on which there had been transactions since 1961.

Since then the screening has slowed, but the department says it examines every case to see if the tax can be collected in any way before it will be dropped.

The law allows tax liabilities to be forgiven if the taxpayers has died, moved out of the state, has no property in the state which can be attached, or is living on Social Security, or if the tax debt is more than 7 years old and there has been no activity on the account in that time.

If there is indication of fraud, the tax cannot be written off. Fraud also voids the statute of limitations.

The department expects to catch up when it clears the accounts receivable for income earned in 1965. State withholding tax started in 1966 and eliminated many reasons why Kansans failed to pay any or all of their state taxes.

He said the hybrid seed has tested and is "100 per cent effective in resisting corn blight."

Richard Metcalf, owner of Metcalf Farms and president of Pride Seed Co., flew some 15,000 pounds of resistant corn seed to Hawaii in August along with 90,000 pounds of machinery.

Two Fertilizer Firms Hike Rates

International Minerals and Chemical Corp., Chicago, is raising retail fertilizer product prices an average of 6 per cent.

The new, across-the-board schedules affect mixed fertilizers and fertilizer materials distributed by the company's retail farmers and independent distributors. The amount of the increase varies among regions, a spokesman said, and reflects higher costs for materials and rail freight rates.

During the past year, prices for raw materials, including phosphates, and ammonia reported strengthening demand prices after more than two years of severely depressed markets. In 1969, Saskatchewan, which has a considerable amount of phosphate in the U.S., limited production effort to raise prices.

Neal Schenck, International Minerals' vice president, said the price move reflects "a considerable strengthening in the retail fertilizer marketing picture throughout the U.S."

Swift & Co., Chicago, also is increasing prices of mixed fertilizers and fertilizer materials. The company wouldn't disclose the amount of the boosts. An official said the increases will vary depending on grade.

Safe Corn Seed From Hawaii

The harvest of 1,100 acres of blight-resistant hybrid seed corn soon will be enroute from Hawaii to the Midwestern corn belt to help combat a destructive leaf blight which swept mainland crops last year.

The seed corn is being cultivated on Hawaii's "Garden Isle," Kauai, by Metcalf Farms for the Pride Seed Co. of Glenn Haven, Wis., and four other firms which supply 25 to 30 per cent of the nation's seed corn each year.

Damage from Southern corn blight was blamed by the Department of Agriculture for a decline in the nation's corn production last year of an estimated 14.7 per cent from an anticipated yield of 4.8 million bushels. It was the smallest crop in four years.

"It's sure going to help, getting this winter crop to the mainland in time for spring planting," Harold Barr, office manager of Metcalf Farm's operations on Kauai, said.

"Here we are harvesting a crop and on the mainland the fields are covered with snow."

Job Training Program Ended In Wave Of Bankruptcies, Few Jobs

A federal job training program, lodged largely in the hands of outsiders, is grinding to a halt against a backdrop of bankruptcies that could cost the government millions.

In Los Angeles and New York City, the Nixon Administration is quietly but firmly phasing out this $15-million antipoverty program which already was in shambles when inherited from the Johnson era.

Run by the Labor Department, the Special Impact Program (SIP) was born in the days following the 1967 urban riots and was intended to aid the hard-core unemployed.

Nineteen companies in the two cities received $10.5 million in SIP funds, including one firm with a principal officer who a year earlier had been fined $5,000 for conspiring to steal U.S. government property.

How many of the hard-core jobless became permanent employees of the companies is a point that will be a source of contention as the government struggles to recover some of its investment through the courts.

But in Los Angeles alone, where 3,751 employees were to be hired, government figures show only 526 were on the job as of last June 1. In New York, where the hiring goal was 2,404 persons, only 566 were working.

Only three firms in the two cities are anywhere near to meeting their contract goals. At least eight firms either went out of business or into reorganization under the bankruptcy laws, leaving the government standing in line with other creditors and leaving a residue of bitterness in the ghettos and barrios.

One firm received $1 million from the Labor Department under a contract to hire 335 workers, but government figures show when company slid into reorganization had hired only 72. The government since has settled with the firm less than 20 cents on each dollar its claim for reimbursement of the contract's nonfulfillment.

In discussing some aspects of the SIP program, Stanley H. Ruttenberg, who as assistant secretary of labor for manpower in the Johnson administration had responsibility for it, said:

"It does, as I look back now, seem damn fishy."

The program design was sound enough. Private firms would be given up to a million dollars or more each in return for two key promises: first to hire specific numbers of hard-core-unemployed workers; second, to build or lease new expanded industrial facilities near poverty areas.

"The thing that was never considered," Ruttenberg said in interview, "was what would happen if they (the contracting companies) should go into bankruptcy. I did, nor did any of my associates suggest a clause to take care of eventuality."

KANSAS CITY, MO. HITS HALF MILLION

Kansas City, Mo., officially hit the half-million population mark. The 1970 census figures have been revised by the Dept. of Commerce giving Kansas City a 507,087. Initial returns showed 12,000 more than that. The Kansas City population is 168,213.

Keep Plug In Meat Import Loophole

The Agriculture department it would continue next year imports from Canada of meat produced in another country.

The barriers were put up last summer after meat shipments averaging about a million pounds a week threatened to wreck the quota system for restricting imports.

All foreign suppliers of meat Canada had agreed to limiting meat shipments to the United States. But Australia, New Zealand and Ireland stepped up exports to Canada. This meat then was shipped later into the United States.

LOTS OF WORK

The leftovers of last week's snowstorm kept McPherson street crews busy. The scene was repeated in all G&G area towns. The Christmas decorations in the background suggest another problem to most street crews in the area. They haven't been taken down in normal time because of the extra heavy snow removal and street cleaning operations.

See Waste Back Into Stock Feed

Government scientists are feeding barnyard manure back to cows and sheep in an experiment that some day may give consumers more food and less pollution. Cows utilize only 40 to 60 per cent of the grass they eat. The rests ends up on the manure heap. By chemically treating the manure and combining it with regular feed such as soybean meal in the form of pellets, scientists claim the animals can consume much of their own wastes and produce more meat, wool and milk.

Dairies Settle Out-Of-Court On Milk Prices

Five Wichita dairies have agreed to a $100,000 out-of-court settlement with the Wichita school district for allegedly fixing prices on milk and milk products. Attorney general Kent Frizzell never filed a suit against the companies but negotiated the settlement. The school district will get $90,000, and $10,000 will go to the attorney general's office for expenses of investigation. Under the tax lid, the school district will be unable to increase its budget by the amount of the settlement. However, it can be used to reduce the tax levy for the coming year. Companies settling were Steffen, Hyde Park, Beatrice, Borden and Associated Milk Producers.

Release New Wheatgrass Seed

Barton, a new western wheatgrass, has been released by the Kansas Agricultural experiment station, Dr. Floyd W. Smith, director, announced.

In experiment station tests at Manhattan, Hays and Colby, the new grass has produced more and resisted disease better than others from areas which produce wheatgrass seed commercially. At Colby, the new variety yielded 300 pounds of clean seed an acre.

Growers may obtain limited quantities of foundation seed for registered-seed increase from the Plant Materials Center, Waters Hall, Kansas State University, Manhattan.

The new grass is expected to be used in mixtures to improve rangeland and prevent erosion. It is well adapted to Western Kansas and areas of 3 other states.

Barton was first collected by the Soil Conservation Service in 1947. It has been increased jointly by USDA's Agricultural Research Service and Kansas State's experiment station.

He Gets Hungry

If you get hungry on a hunting trip, try to hook up with Darold Marlow, Wabaunsee county agent. In a recent extension newsletter, Marlow tells of a hunting trip in which he split one baloney sandwich, one banana and a pint of coffee with two other guys. Marlow told himself, "This wouldn't happen again."

Now, Marlow says he carries this in a lunch box on a hunting trip: 1 pkg. thick sliced baloney, 1 pound longhorn cheese (Alma & Bit-O-Gold both), 1 pound Jalapeno cheese, box soda crackers, 2 small cans salmon, 2 large cans Vienna sausage, 1 small jar peanutbutter, 1 small jar grape jelly, 1 jar semi-sweet chocolate bits, 1 package butterscotch candy, 1 box snickers peanut bars, 4 packages potato chips, 1 loaf rye bread, sandwich spread, mustard, 2 pkgs. cookies, 2 cans sardines, six tea bags, six Swiss-Miss instant cocoa, napkins, 4 extra cups, can opener, 1 jar candied sweet pickle sticks, 4 knives, forks and spoons and one cheese slicer. There is always 1 quart of coffee and 1 quart hot water.

"Don't misunderstand," Darold says. "We never eat all of this at anyone time. Usually one sandwich or another item strikes the fancy and does the trick. This is not a recommended balanced diet box by any means, but it's good."

Back Off On Excedrin Rules

The Federal Trade Commission announced it is abandoning efforts to establish a general rule requiring makers of headach and upset stomach remedies to back up their advertising claims.

Instead, the FTC said, it will move against misleading or deceptive advertising of nonprescription systemic analgesic drugs on a case-to-case basis.

By a 4-1 vote commission decided to scrap the 3½-year-old proposal that would, among other things, require drug manufacturers to prove any claims that their analgesics "are faster, stronger, or longer lasting" than those of their competitors.

the proved way to give pigs the right start—PURINA® PIG STARTENA®

Purina Pig Startena is a proved complete starter. It's the result of constantly improved Purina complete starters. In research tests the latest improvement boosted growth by 12.4 percent from 5.2 percent less feed, over the former ration—and that ration did a great job.

Purina Pig Startena is fed from the time pigs have been started on Purina Baby Pig Chow at one week until pigs weigh about 50 pounds.

If scours is a problem feed extra highly-fortified Purina Pig Startena (Special) for a week to ten days.

Tylan* is available in Pig Startena T-1 when you have swine dysentery problems.

Start 4H Building Although Funds Are Short

Although $160,000 short of their goal of $600,000, Kansas 4-H Foundation officials hope to start the township center at Rock Springs ranch in February. Plans for the two-level native one building at the state 4-H center for Junction City have been approved by foundation trustees.

J. Harold Johnson, Manhattan, foundation executive director, expressed optimism that the money could be raised by Feb. 1 so that Martin K. Eby Construction Co. of Wichita could start work on the center. It will have a 400-seat auditorium and 10 seminar rooms.

"It is possible that the project may have to wait, but if it does we are faced with the problem of inflation and rising costs again," Johnson said.

Mrs. Wavern Scott, Wichita, Kansas Farm Bureau Women vice chairman, led a fund-raising campaign that netted $80,000 for the center.

Crop Assn. Meets Friday

The annual meeting of the Kansas Crop Improvement Association will be held Jan. 15 in the Hilton Inn in Hutchinson.

Howard Wilkins, Extension agronomist at Kansas State

University and secretary of the association, reports that registration begins at 8:45 and the program at 10:00 a.m.

Five Kansas State University agronomy specialists will discuss timely subjects of interest to verified seed producers. Ted Walter will discuss new crop varieties; Carl Overley will describe progress of foundation seed production; Claude King will discuss seed treatment measures and southern leaf blight possibilities in Kansas; Leroy Brooks will discuss potential insect infestations and control measures for them; Wilkins will describe limited generations in seed production.

During the noon luncheon, the 1970 Kansas Premier Seed Grower will be announced.

Strike Lyons Law On Transporting Open Beer Cans

LYONS — A Lyons city ordinance prohibiting transportation of cereal malt beverages in an open container, patterned after ordinance applicable to several other municipalities, has been ruled unconstitutional in Rice County District Court.

Judge Frederick Woleslagel said the state governs transportation of such beverages and thereby preempts the municipal ordinance.

The finding came in a case appealed from Lyons Municipal Court, city of Lyons vs. Monty Suttle.

He was charged in October with having an open container of beer in his car.

Lyons, which has no similar ordinances pertaining to transportation of open containers of alcoholic beverages, adopted the cereal malt regulation as a deterrent to littering. The city council acted on a belief beer cans that litter streets were tossed from cars.

$66 Million For Kansas Soybeans

The value of soybeans lies in their wide array of useful products.

Processors, for example, can take a 60-pound bushel of soybeans and turn it into about 47 pounds of high-protein meal and 11 pounds of edible oil.

Most of the meal ends up as livestock and poultry feed. The meal also goes into the manufacturing of soy protein products. The oils is used for margarine, shortening, salad oil — even paints, plastics and cosmetics.

The U.S. is the world's largest producer of soybeans — growing about 1.1 billion bushels annually. As yet, Kansas is not a large supplier of soybeans when compared with states like Illinois.

Illinois produces 206 million bushels per year, while Kansas' 1969 soybean crop totaled about 20 million bushels. Kansas' soybean oil and meal production is valued at $66 million annually.

With demand outstripping supply, no telling what the future holds for soybean production in Kansas.

Using DDT Best Way To Get Rid Of It

DDT is a dirty three-letter pesticide, most persons will agree. But what should you do with that half-used can of it sitting on the garage shelf?

"Continue using it until it is all gone," Leroy Brooks, Kansas State University Extension entomologist, advised. His views were offered at the concluding session of the 17th annual Kansas State Shade Tree Conference on the KSU campus.

"Using it as an insecticide is a better way to use it up than to dispose of it wrongly," Brooks declared. He referred to such unacceptable means as dumping it down the drain, burying the can or tossing it into the trash can.

Brooks said that contrary to a common conception, degradation (breakdown) of DDT can occur in the garden, particularly where sunlight and other factors can change the chemical to harmless products.

In view of the government's crackdown on certain pesticides, especially DDT, is it illegal to use that chemical in the garden. Brooks said it is not illegal to spray roses and other ornamental plants with DDT but it is illegal to use the chemical on most food crops.

Brooks also said it is not illegal for a business firm to sell supplies of DDT on hand.

He presented a preview of KSU recommendations to combat insect pests of shade trees. For the first time since the list of recommendations was created several years ago, the list excludes DDT as a useful insecticide.

DODGE CITY HOSPITAL TO CLOSE MARCH 1

St. Anthony Hospital at Dodge City will close March 1 because of financial problems. The hospital has been averaging only 47 per cent occupancy and has a $42,000 operating debt. The Sisters of St. Joseph, which operates some hospitals in the G&G area, has been managing the Dodge City hospital. Dodge City has one other hospital, Trinity, with a 90-bed capacity. St. Anthony has 50 beds.

"SOOEY" — NIXON MISSES PIG CALL

Too bad he wasn't home to meet the pig farmers. He was well represented by security guards, secret service agents & FBI — Also Park Service police. Also the humane society people were there to threaten the pig farmers not to turn any pigs or hogs loose or they would be fined $500 & thrown in jail.

Seems like we all are living under constant threats from our government for something or other. NFO does have a lot of merit even with a 54-truck convoy of hogs on Washington. To celebrate this occasion, we are going to try not to sell anything this week.

REAR-MOUNT BLADES

See us for rear mount blades with 3 pt. hitches, sizes 6' to 9'. We'll make these with 2 point or snap coupler hitches on order. These blades can be big labor savers for cleaning livestock feed floors, loafing sheds and to eliminate mud holes in feed lots, which would help to hold the bacterial count down. Also for snow clearance for driveways and other areas.

TRUCK SALES DOWN 10 PERCENT IN 1970

Sales of trucks by GM, Ford and Chrysler in 1970 were barely over 1.5 million, more than 10 per cent below the 1.7 million sold the year before. GM, hurt by a strike, saw truck sales decline by 18 per cent from 842,000 the year before. Ford fell 4 per cent to 713,000. Chrysler had a 3.5 per cent gain to 145,000.

Safety Hints For Chain Saws

Receive a new chain saw for Christmas? Here are some safety reminders from Extension agricultural engineers at Kansas State University:

—Start the saw on the ground or a stump; never on your knee.

—Never walk while the saw is in operation. Always carry the saw with the blade pointing to the rear.

—Use the spurs or "dogs" in making your cuts — not the tip of the saw.

—Don't cut brush with the saw. Start cutting only when you have a clear place to work, a secure footing and a safe exit from falling limbs and the tree.

—Maintain correct chain tension and adjust the idling screw so that the chain stops when the motor is idling.

A chain saw can cut through two feet of wood as easily as you can saw a two-by-four. It can cut off an arm or leg in a split second. So treat it with the respect it deserves.

WATCH CO. WORKERS AGREE TO PAY CUT

Workers at the Hamilton Watch Co. factory at Lancaster, Pa., have agreed to take a 10 per cent wage cut in an effort to keep afloat the nation's oldest watchmaking business.

EUREKA MAN ON NATL GALLOWAY BOARD

SKUBITZ GETS INTO RAYBURN BLDG OFFICE

Kansas now has two of its congressmen in the Sam Rayburn House Office Building in Washington, D.C. The $100 million building contains offices for some but not all congressmen. Rep. Joe Skubitz gained enough seniority to get an office in the building. Garner Shriver already was in the building.

DECLINING INTEREST RATES REFLECTED IN LOW BID

Junction City will pay 3.89 per cent for $534,094 in 10-year obligation bonds, the lowest interest rate in several years. The total interest amounting to $115,172, compared to $102,576 charged last May at a rate of 5.87 per cent. The bond was sold to Fourth National Bank and Trust Co., Wichita.

FIFTH CUT IN BANK INTEREST THIS YEAR

For the fifth time this year, there has been a general cut in interest rates demanded by banks. The most recent move, again initiated by the Chase Manhattan Bank of New York, was a drop from 7 to 6 1/2 per cent on "prime" rate, generally the rate received by the largest, most solvent borrowers. The rate change should find its way to lower mortgage and consumer loan rates.

AGREE THAT WICHITA DRUG TRAFFIC DOWN

The use of heroin in Wichita schools is on the decline, say police and an underground newspaper, the Wichita Eagle. The police think that education has cut off some of the drug while the underground newspaper editors think their threat to the names of pushers gets the message across to schoolboys.

BOOST IN A BUCKET

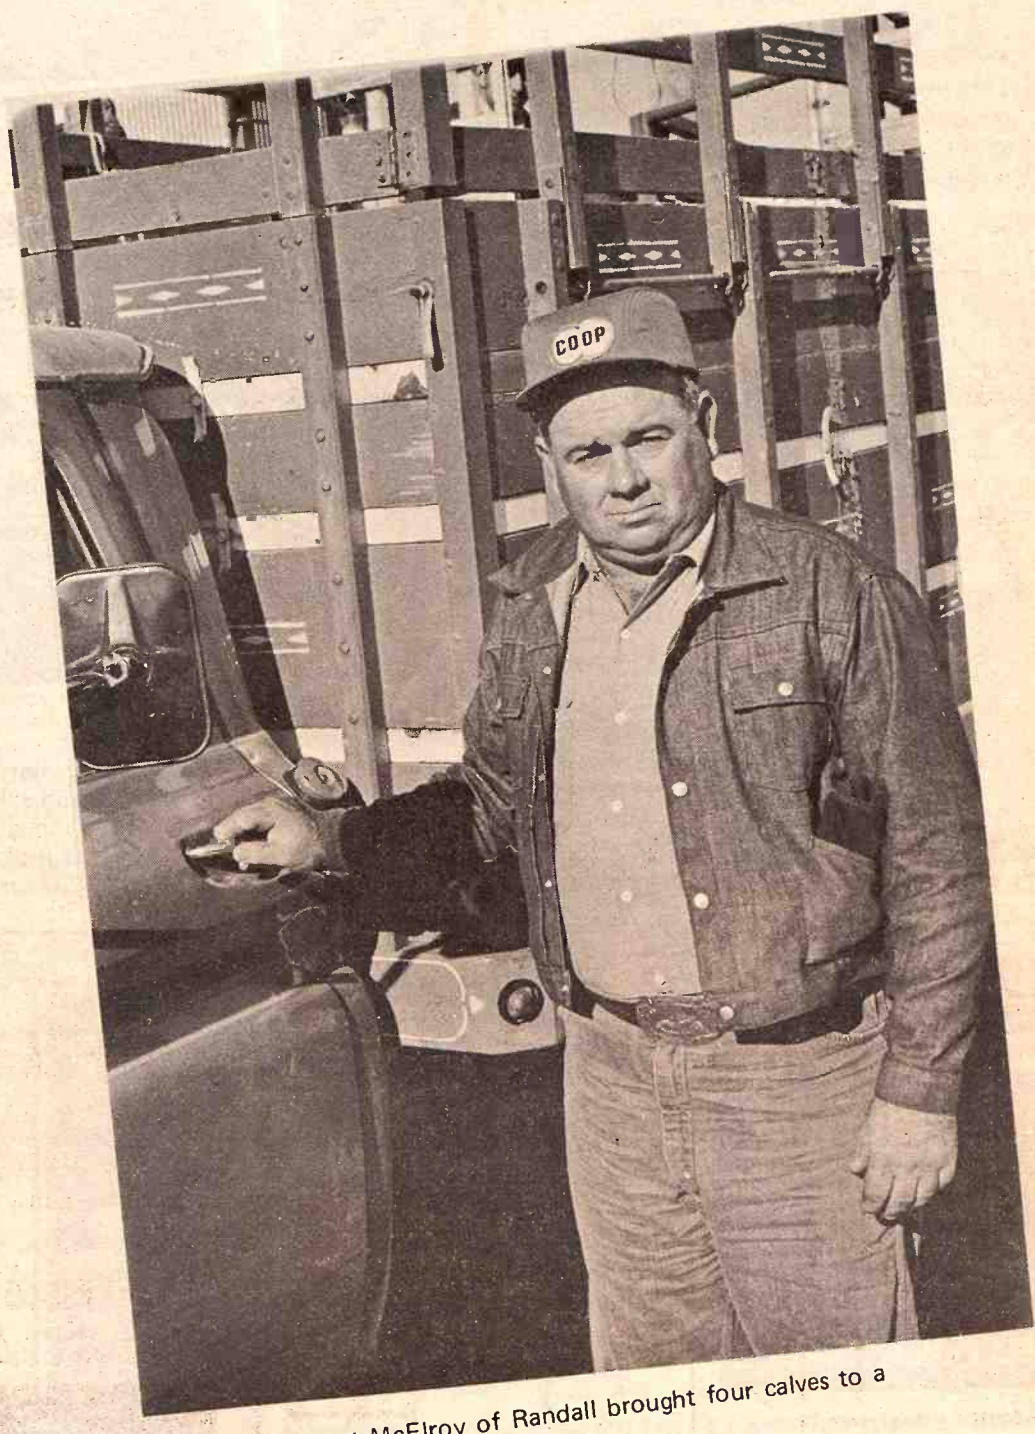

John Stover of Glen Elder was helping his father-in-law Carol Loomis put metal siding on the barn. They were using the tractor loader for a scaffold. Loomis said that metal siding was cheaper than paint. Stover moved here recently from Wallace County to do some of the farming for Loomis. They raise milo, wheat, alfalfa, hogs, and cattle.

TRIMMING HEDGE ROWS

Jim Cross isn't lost in the woods, it just looks like it. Jim farms about a thousand acres near Jewell to wheat and milo, he feeds 250 cattle and is part owner of the Jewell Implement Co. He was taking advantage of some nice weather to trim up some of the hedge rows around his farm.

Life Goes On As Winter Closes In

Gilbert McElroy of Randall brought four calves to a G&G area sale last week.

HE SOLD HIS HORSE

Terry Mitchell of Glasco brought his horse to the sale at Beloit to be sold. While there he helped move the cattle to different pens. Terry is in the sixth grade. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Richard Mitchell.

NURSETTE BUYER

Robert Forbes of Carbondale bought several nursettes at a winter G&G area dairy auction. He plans to increase his dairy calf herd and cut his labor with these machines.

STARTED SHORTHORN BOOK

The first cattle registry in America was started 125 years ago by Lewis F. Allen of Buffalo, N.Y., who started registering Shorthorns in 1846. Since then, the American Shorthorn Herd Book has recorded over 3.4 million Shorthorns. The association will feature the work of Lewis Allen at the National Western Livestock Show at Denver this month and at other events during the year.

Burning Rules Draw KLA Advice

One of the burning issues at the convention of the Kansas Livestock Association at Wichita concerned burning.

A regulation which was due for implementation the first of the year would give authority to the State Board of Health to regulate all burning. The Livestock Association wants that authority to be eliminated as far as it relates to land clearing, crop and pasture management.

The KLA also spent considerable time phrasing an interest in bank loans. The association figures most banks are unable to take care of many livestock loans because of loan limits set by law. One of the resolutions at the Wichita convention urged the legislature to reduce the limits on banks so that they could provide larger loan limits and greater mobility of bank deposits within the state.

Other resolutions by the livestockmen:

• School Finance — Called for relief from the advalorem tax, the current school aid distribution formulas, the 10-mill County Foundation Levy and the property valuation index as a basis for fund distribution. The KLA favors "reliance for school revenues on a local income base in lieu of the property tax base...the income tax (to) be collected by the state and returned directly to the local school district of origin." It urges "that we retain a tax lid until a school finance plan similar to this is adopted."

• Local Tax — Opposed giving the option of local income tax to local governments and opposed any additional statewide property tax levies.

• School Administration — Favored placing all public educational programs not under direct supervision of a unified school district under control from the state level.

• Assessment — Favored adoption of legislation to assure that real estate be appraised for tax purposes on the basis of its ability to produce net rental income. Supported elimination of personal taxes except on motor vehicles.

• Highways — Urged that the federal highway trust fund be maintained inviolate for orderly, planned highway construction.

• Soil Conservation — Favored retention of the cost share basis for Agricultural Conservation Program (ACP) for permanent practices, and favored urging the legislature to match funds supplied by counties for continuation of local soil conservation districts.

• Prairie National Park — Opposed any forced removal of grassland from private ownership for park purposes.

Good U.S. Water Supplies

The nation is starting 1971 with a pretty good water supply, the U.S. Geological Survey says.

Hydrologist John C. Kammerer said water supplies now are "in a little better shape than they were a year ago."

He said that "streamflows are above normal for this time of the year in many areas of the nation from California through the northern Great Plains, Missouri, and western Pennsylvania and northern Virginia."

As an example, Kammerer said the Mississippi River flowed at an average rate of about 307 billion gallons a day at Vicksburg, Miss., during December — about 50 per cent above average for the month. The flow represents the runoff from nearly 1.5 million square miles.

"Despite below-normal streamflows on Long Island, N.Y.; in the Southeast; southern Florida; and throughout much of Texas," he said, "the nation's water supply picture on the whole looks pretty good compared to a year ago."

Set Details On Contest To Pick Pork Queen

SALINA — The 1971 Kansas Pork Queen Contest will be held Feb. 4 at the Hilton Inn in Salina, Mrs. A. B. Cain Jr. of Benton has announced.

Deadline for entries in Jan. 21. Contestants must be single, ages 18 to 21 inclusive as of Jan. 1, 1971. Each must reside on a farm on which swine are raised or be the daughter of a parent now actively engaged in the production of swine.

The state queen will receive a $100 scholarship from the Kansas Porkette Association. She also will be eligible to represent Kansas pork producers at the National pork producers convention in 1972.

If the Kansas representative wins at the national contest, she will receive a $2,000 scholarship to the school or university of her choice. The scholarship is awarded by the American Cyanamid Co.

The current Kansas Pork Queen is Kathy Eilert, 19, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Eilert of Valley Center.

Anyone wishing to enter this year's contest should contact Mrs. Cain, president of the Kansas Porkettes, Benton 67467; Mrs. Emery Berry, Rt. 1, Minneapolis 67467, or Stan Bratcher, Sedgwick County extension agent, 9000 W. Central, Wichita.

DEEP LOST IN BARN FIRE

Martin D. Stucky of McPherson lost 100 sheep and 40 lambs when a fire destroyed a barn at his farm northeast of McPherson. Stucky and his son Gary lost about half their flock.

ALL PLANT EXPAND

McCall Pattern Company in Mattan plans to expand its distribution center. Work will start in winter, with operations expected to begin in October 1971. Expansions are necessary to accommodate printing, cutting and g operations being shut down in Dayton, Ohio.

Black Walnut Demand Exceeds Supply In State

about any way you want to make it, the black walnut is the king of the forest.

Black walnut is considerably more valuable than any other tree in Kansas and the United States. Its wood is in such demand that many walnut trees are being cut before reaching maturity. It means one thing: the supply is diminishing. That's why Extension foresters at Kansas State University are urging Kansans to plant black walnuts.

Of course, planting means planning. You just can't plant trees, period, and leave them to make it on their own. Management is important, especially where black walnut trees are concerned.

Kansas isn't thought of as a black walnut state — yet. But the black walnut can grow to maturity in any county in the state, under proper management.

During the last decade, one company purchased more than 3½ million pounds of Kansas walnuts for processing into nut meats. Obviously, the nuts as well as the wood are valuable.

Again this year one-year-old walnut seedlings and stratified walnut seed are available from the Division of State and Extension Forestry at Kansas State University. Your county Extension office has application forms.

CONSUMER BORROWING TAKES SHARP DROP

Consumer installment loans took their greatest decline in 28 years in November, with the total amount owed on Autos, appliances, boats and the like at the lowest level in a year and a half. Federal Reserve authorities cited the General Motors strike as part of the reason for the decline.

Multi-County Clinic On Control Of Animal Waste

EL DORADO — County agricultural agents, livestock men and cattle feeders from 17 counties are expected in El Dorado Jan. 14 for an Animal Waste Management Clinic.

Clinic sponsors are the El Dorado Chamber of Commerce and the Butler County, Kan., Agricultural Extension Service. Equipment relating to waste disposal will be shown in the county 4-H Club building.

The clinic will open at 7:30 a.m. with a Chamber of Commerce breakfast at Campbell's restaurant, with viewing of exhibits beginning at 9 a.m.

THAT'S A ONE WITH TWELVE ZEROES

Since the gross national product became a well-known term to the reading public, economists have been telling us that the U.S. would soon hit the $1 trillion level in a year.

It may be an off-year for the economy but there's still enough jangle in commerce — and enough inflation — that 1970 is the year.

The total value of all goods produced and services performed in this country this year reached $1 trillion early in December.

One trillion — that's a one with 12 zeroes after it, or one thousand billion dollars' worth of steel produced, autos sold, sewers cleaned, ground plowed, doctor's bills, cokes drunk, college classes taught, theatre tickets used...you get the idea.

President Nixon marked the economic occasion by unveiling at the Commerce Department a new Gross National Product clock, an electronic device which ticks off the growth of the nation's output of goods and services at the rate of $2000 per second.

Speakers during the day include Leo Wendling of Kansas State University, an extension engineer; Allen Guernsey, of the Kansas State Board of Health, and Elwyn Holmes, an extension agricultural engineer from Kansas State University.

Warm Hogs Grow Faster

Got an old building that is cold and perhaps uncomfortable to your growing pigs? You may want to consider radiant gas or electric heaters over the sleeping area, says Elwyn S. Holmes, Extension agricultural engineer at Kansas State University.

January 12, 1971

Holmes says research conducted at Purdue University indicated feed efficiency was improved 50 pounds per 100 pounds of pork produced when heaters, with no bedding, were compared with bedding in an open front shed. Two 10,000 BTU heaters per 30 pigs were used in the experiment.

BEECH MAKES ANOTHER PAYROLL CUTBACK

Beech Aircraft will lay off about 450 employees at plants at Wichita, Salina, Liberal and Boulder, Colo., because of less work. The reduction amounts to about 9 per cent of the total work force. Employees will still be working, with weekly pay close to $1 million. Beech has the payroll last January. Workers laid off will come from Wichita plant.

By Ace Reed

"Jake, what we want to know is when your go send us something other than deductions."

Start wheat growing again fast...top-dress NOW!

Wheat needs nitrogen to resume growth as soon as the young plants awaken from winter dormancy. This is the crucial stage at which Gulf Mr. N[®] full 33.5% nitrogen converted into extra bushel building power.

Wheat responds more profitably to fertilizer than virtually any other crop, according to leading agronomists. That's why it's important to apply Gulf Mr. N[®] early for a fast spring come-back and a nitrogen growth-boost that lasts clear through to harvest. Topdressing 120 lbs. per acre of Gulf Mr. N[®] now will pay off in a bonus yield that can easily average 10 extra bushels per acre.

program in the two states)...could result in contract awards of between $30 and $40 million. This is considerably more than the $10 to $15 million figure I gave you last year. So, in short, the military side is a much brighter one," Anderson said.

Included are $9 million in work to be awarded at Ft. Riley for construction of three large tactical equipment shops and a bachelor officers' quarters $10 to $12 million in expenditures at Ft. Leavenworth for two family housing projects totaling some 300 sets; of quarters; about $1.5 million in rehabilitation at Sunflower Army Ammunition Plant, and perhaps $2 million in similar work at the Kansas Army Ammunition Plant, Parsons.

Also in Kansas, Army Reserve centers are to be constructed at Parsons, Pittsburg and Osage City for total of $1.5 to $2 million in contracts. All are expected to be advertised for bids this year.

Anderson said military work in Missouri includes about $1 million for paving, storage and shop buildings at military facilities on Rosecrans Municipal Airport, St. Joseph; five projects totaling $3 to $4 million for plant rehabilitation and expansion at Lake City Army Ammunition Plant northeast of Kansas City, and work at Ft. Leonard Wood and the St. Louis Army Ammunition Plant.

Some projects may be scheduled later at Richards-Gebaur Air Force Base, just south of Kansas City.
