Wheat Belt Down US81

Sumner topped other Kansas Counties in wheat production for the fifth consecutive year in 1968, according to the Kansas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service. Sumner's output of 11,538,000 bushels established a new record for the county and exceeded last year's crop by 78 percent.

Reno County, with 11,078,000 bushels, ranked second and Sedgwick was third with 8,143,000.

Completing the top 10 counties were: Harper, McPherson, Kingman, Dickinson, Rice, Marion and Ottawa.

Eight counties in Kansas produced over 5 million bushels of wheat and 16 counties exceeded 4 million bushels.

The state's 1968 output of 243,775,000 bushels was the largest crop since 1961 and topped 1967 by 10 per cent.

Sumner Perennial Leader
Sumner has been the leading wheat producing county for 8 of the last 10 years and during the decade has averaged over 8 million bushels per year.

In 1962 and 1963, Reno County was tops in production and has continued to occupy the second position during the last 5 years.

McPherson, Sedgwick, Harper, Thomas, Ford, Finney, Barton and Dickinson counties have consistently been among the top producers during the last decade.

For acreage harvested in 1968, Sumner was the leading Kansas county with 392,000 acres. Reno was second with 331,000 acres, followed by Harper's 242,000, Barton's 236,000, Ford's 231,000, McPherson's 226,000 and Sedgwick County's 223,000 acres. Ford was the only western Kansas county to harvest over 200,000 acres.

In Eastern Kansas only Cowley County harvested more than 100,000 acres.

The central crop reporting districts accounted for 58 percent of the State's harvested acreage, western districts, 28 percent and eastern districts 14 percent.

For the state's 1968 crop, wheat was planted on 11,963,000 acres and harvested from 9,751,000 acres, 12 percent less than in 1967.

Highest Yields East
Average yields per acre were up sharply from a year earlier in the central and eastern dist-districts, but down significantly in the western districts.

Highest yields per harvested acre were in the northeast district, with Brown's 45 bushels leading all other counties. Doniphan's 42 bushels ranked second. Butler County in the southeast district had the third highest yield, 41 bushels.

Other top yielding counties included: Washington, 41; Anderson, Miami and Nemaha, 39; Chautauqua and Greenwood, 38 bushels.

Lack of moisture at critical times and severe insect damage sharply reduced yields in extreme western counties.

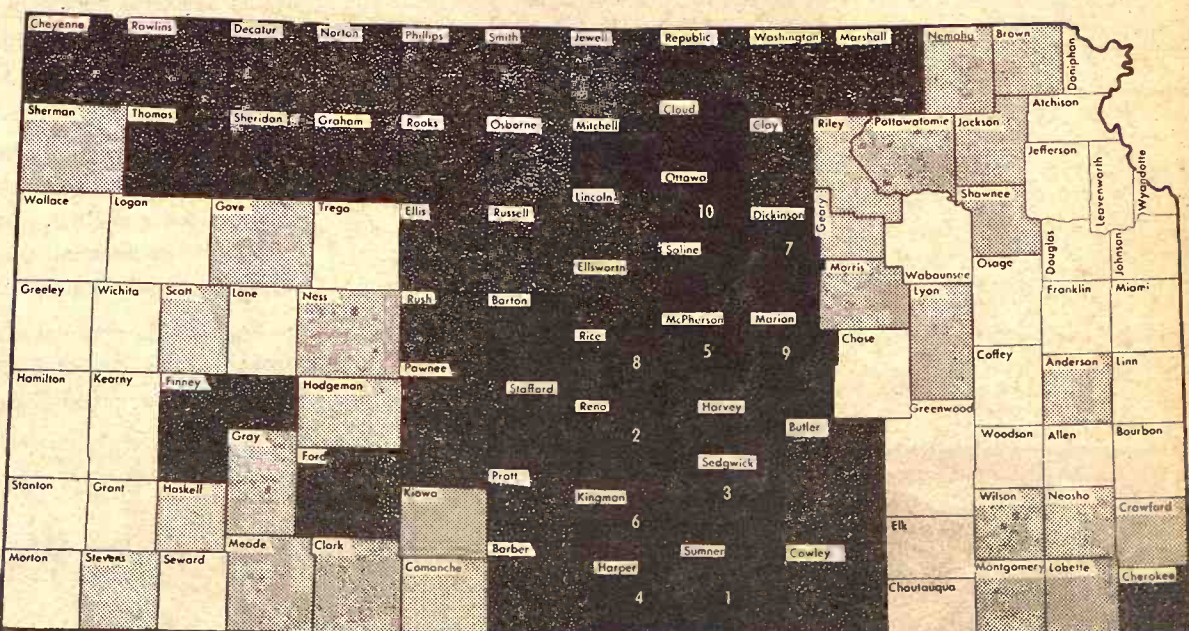

The state yield per acre averaged 25 bushels, the fourth highest of record and exceeding 1967 by 5 bushels.

Wheat seeding during the fall of 1967 lagged behind normal in early September, but gained momentum following rains and was nearly completed by the end of October. In extreme western Kansas, dry weather resulted in some spotted stands.

Continued lack of moisture in to early spring, coupled with greenbug and cutworm damage, caused sharp acreage losses and sharply reduced yields in some western counties. Elsewhere, ample late spring moisture and a favorable period of filling weather produced exceptionally good wheat yields.

A rather slow start of harvest was followed by favorable weather and combining was completed sooner than usual.

Milo Belt Key To Area Beef Boom

You already should be able to get good steaks more consistently in Kansas City, Omaha and Dallas than any place — and the steaks will increase in both quantity and quality between now and 1980.

Banks in those cities and smaller ones west need cattle experts in their loan departments.

Agricultural colleges and business schools in those areas need many more students than they now have.

Midwest citizens need to understand foreign countries and U.S. trade policies better than persons in any other part of the United States, because the Midwest has the greatest and fastest-growing interest in U.S. foreign trading policies.

Those are a few of the developments that Dr. Paul L. Kelley, professor of economics and head of that department at Kansas State University, Manhattan, sees now and in the immediate future for the hybrid milo belt of the U.S. The milo belt is roughly Nebraska, Kansas, western Oklahoma and Texas, with Kansas in its center.

Dr. Kelley, speaking to directors and managers of cooperatives, at their 19th annual conference on the K-State campus last week, backed his predictions with convincing data.

Three national trends support his ideas on more and faster beef steak from the milo belt.

1. As your income goes up, you eat more meat, fruit and vegetables.

2. U.S. population is increasing.

3. Production of meat in other areas has established or is declining so the milo belt is furnishing a lion's share of the increased meat needed.

Kelley and economists in his department predict an 80 per cent increase in beef production in Kansas by 1980. That is based on a 5 1/2 per cent annual increase but the state increase in 1966 was 14 per cent.

What happened, Kelley explains, is that the corn belt was the specialized meat-producing area until hybridization of sorghums made the milo belt competitive. Additionally the fastest growing areas of the United States are in the South and Southwest, both closer to the milo belt than the corn belt, which gives the milo belt a strategic location advantage.

"Although meat production already is by far the greatest income producer in Kansas, that segment of the state's production might double by 1980.

Its effect on the development of Kansas' total economy is too vast to be readily comprehended," Dr. Kelley said.

As the milo region specializes more in meat production, farms will increase in size, specialize more and use vastly more capital than now.

Meat production's capital needs (both short run and long run) could more than double by 1980, Dr. Kelley explained, because competition forces producers to substitute capital for labor. That's the way they get efficient, low-unit production. That's where banks and other lending agencies help with the development.

The tremendous increases in meat production and in all farm production being accomplished by large, efficient, specialized units will create a surplus of farm youth but they will be needed by the banks, fertilizer, machinery, chemical, advertising, feed, seed, meat packing cooperative firms and other agribusinesses whose growth must parallel meat production in the state.

Agricultural colleges and commerce, business, and economics departments train youth for such positions, so enrollment in those areas should double during the decade ahead.

February 11, 1969

Specialization in agriculture, along with substituting machinery and capital for labor, will put a premium on managerial skills, Kelley pointed out. To be a part of specialized agriculture, youth will need specialized knowledge.

The agribusinesses prefer to hire those with farm backgrounds but many city youths also be needed to fill the specialized jobs, Kelley said.

The K-State economist listed several reasons for interest in foreign countries and in U.S. public and trade policies being highest in the Midwest.

Trends he predicts, Kelley emphasized, can be influenced by farm programs and public policies the U.S. adopts in the 1970's.

Before World War II, cotton and tobacco dominated U.S. ag exports. Since then Midwest products have become increasingly important. Exports of feed grains have tripled since the early 1950's. Wheat exports have doubled. Before World War II the U.S. share of world trade in wheat and feed grain was 9 per cent. In 1957 the U.S. had 57 per cent of the world trade in feed grains, 37 per cent of flour, 90 per cent of the world's soybeans exports.

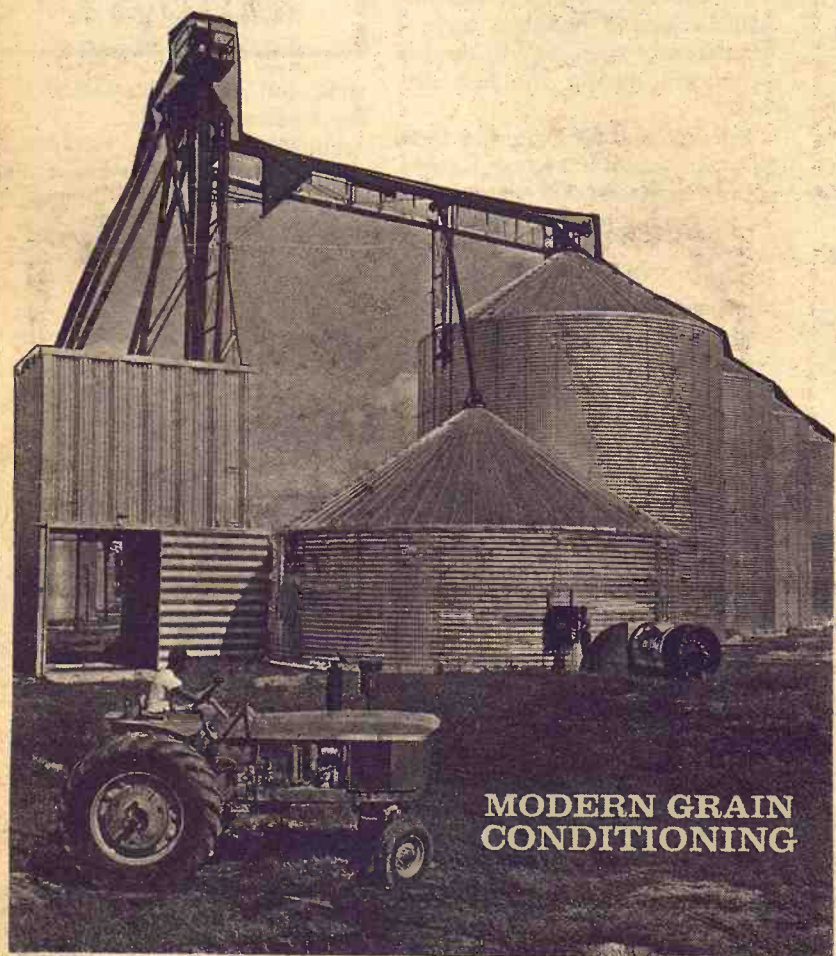

Midwest farmers produce 80 per cent of the feed grains, 75 per cent of the soybeans and 55 per cent of the wheat exported.

Midwest farms accounted for $3.1 billion of the total $6.5 billion of U.S. farm exports in 1967.

Kansas farmers, in the middle of the milo belt of that Midwest exporting area, have a critical stake in trading policies the U.S. develops during the coming decade, Kelley said.

The Midwest now has the most vital stake in policies that expand foreign markets and speed up the economic development of emerging nations around the earth.

Crop Clinic

Wed., Feb. 12

Sabetha, Ks. Civic Auditorium

Beginning at 9 a.m. — Lunch Served
All Farmers Welcome

"Integrated" grain systems planning will be the subject for a presentation by Behlen Manufacturing Co., Columbus, Nebr., during the 1969 Crop Clinic in Sabetha Wednesday, Feb. 12, in the civic auditorium, beginning at 9 a.m.

The company will offer technical information concerning the step-by-step development of a grain handling center, including drying, storage and handling.

A typical system includes a continuous dryer, wet grain holding tank above the dryer, elevator leg for handling grain in and out of storage and dry grain storage tanks.

DAN PETERSON

Dan Peterson, who will make the talk, was raised on a farm near Shelby, Nebr. He studies horticulture and entomology at Oregon State University and the University of Washington.

After four years in the Navy, Peterson was employed by a farm chemical company. Then he took a position with Western Farmers Association of Junction City, Ore., concentrating in the area of animal nutrition.

Peterson is now speaking to farm groups throughout the United States on guidelines in planning grain conditioning and storage systems.

Farm Index 5% Over A Year Ago

Prices received by Kansas farmers at mid-January 1969 were slightly above the previous month and moderately above last year, according to the Kansas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service.

Slight price increases were noted for most grain crops, beef cattle, calves, sheep and lambs, while hog prices were substantially above a month earlier.

Compared with January last year, egg prices were up sharply & prices for most livestock items were up moderately, but wheat prices were down considerably.

The index of prices received for all commodities was 233 per cent of the 1910-14 base period compared with 230 a month earlier and 222 a year ago.

Crop Prices

The crop price index was 152 per cent at mid-January, 2 points above December but 12 points below last year.

Wheat at $1.25 per bushel was 1 cent above December but 13 cents below January 1968.

State Holstein Dairy Record

A Holstein cow belonging to John W. Carlin & Son of Smolan has broken a state production record for older Holstein cows. The cow averaged nearly 39 quarts of milk a day for a full year, nearly four times that of the average dairy cow.

The exact record for the 365-day test; 30,440 lbs. of milk, 1160 lbs. of butterfat, and 2631 lbs. of solids-not-fat. They broke records belonging to two Holsteins owned by Francis Wempe of Lawrence.

SNOW GOOSE DISPLAY IN BROWN COUNTY

One of the largest concentrations of snow geese in Kansas in many years was seen by many viewers in Northeast Kansas at the Brown County State Lake in January. The Fish & Game Commission estimated there were 127,000 snow geese in temporary residence there — about five times the usual goose population in the state in January.

Closer Link Between Federal and State Returns

Income tax time is just around the corner, and a new Kansas Income Tax Law is now on the books.

The new Kansas law conforms closely with the Federal Income Tax Law, says John H. Coolidge, Extension economist at Kansas State University. This means new tax reporting procedures and new state tax forms this year.

Here are some of the new procedures:

- You will make out your Federal tax return first. Then attach a copy of Form 1040 and all supporting schedules to your Kansas return.

- The first figure on your Kansas return is your "Total Income" as reported on Page 1, Line 9 on Form 1040.

- You may have some additions of income not exempt from Kansas tax, such as state and municipal bond interest, federal net operating loss, federal income tax refund, etc.

- There may be subtractions on items which are exempt from Kansas law, such as interest on federal savings bonds, Kansas income tax refunds, dividends exempt from Kansas tax, etc.

- Kansas still allows all your medical expenses in excess of $50. So if you itemized your deductions, subtract out your medical allowance on your federal return and add back on your medical expenses over $50.

- Kansas has adopted the federal standard deductions (10 percent of income or the minimum standard deduction), both limited to $1000, in lieu of itemizing your personal deductions.

- On your 1968 Kansas returns, you will deduct any 1967 federal income tax paid in 1968 and also the 1968 income tax which you have just calculated and are paying on your 1968 return. Most farmers, therefore, get to deduct two years' federal income taxes on their Kansas returns this year.

- Kansas allows the same $600 exemptions and has the same dates for filing declarations of estimated tax and final returns as are required for federal income tax returns. Therefore, you cannot wait until April 15 to file your Kansas return unless you filed a Kansas estimate by January 15. If estimates were not filed by January 15, both Kansas and Federal returns are due by February 15.

Try a New Idea... WEAN AND PRECONDITION FOR PROFIT

Early weaning and preconditioning on Purina may mean $3 to $4 more return per calf. "We figure we made about $4 extra profit per calf by preconditioning," says J. L. Connolly, Dunn Center, N. D. He preconditioned 1,286 feeder calves last year by weaning 3 weeks early, vaccinating, treating and feeding the Purina Preconditioning ration.

Make the extra pounds of beef gained per calf during the preconditioning period pay for the other preconditioning investments. Calves gained 40.4 extra pounds on the Purina Preconditioning ration in 22 days in a test of 4,028 head. This is $12 extra return per calf on a 30 cent market. Calf producers make about $30 profit per calf each year... $3 more per calf is a 10% improvement.

Purina's Pre-conditioning™ Chow® helps provide the nutrition power calves need to gain extra weight and fight weaning and shipping stresses. It is a special complete formula to feed lightweight feeder calves with stilbestrol, extra vitamin A, trace minerals and antibiotics for top weight gains during this critical period. It works well with vaccinations and treatments.

Feeders are paying top dollar for calves preconditioned on good nutrition and that have disease protection... because they can benefit, too.

Make this year's calf crop return top dollar... precondition on Purina. Think about this new idea and Purina Preconditioning Chow... then contact your Purina dealer for a copy of Purina Complete Preconditioning Program to learn how a new idea may profit you.

Polled Herefords To Have Their Own State Fair Show

HUTCHINSON — The American Polled Hereford Association (APHA) has won its battle of several years for equal standing with the American Hereford Association (AHA) in the Kansas State Fair show ring.

The fair board voted to take control of the Hereford show away from the American Hereford group, which had previously dictated the rules for showing Herefords at the state fair. The action will take effect at the 1970 state fair.

An American Hereford Association register of merit show scheduled at the state fair the first four days this year will not be affected by the action.

The feud between the two Hereford associations began when the AHA ruled that polled Herefords were not eligible to show unless registered in both association registries. Most polled breeders refused to compete in the show ring at the fair last year after the AHA refused in last minute arbitration meetings to relax its rules.

A motion by board member Andrew Erhart, Stafford, which won unanimous approval, declared "the state fair have a Hereford show in 1970 with the only requirement being that animals must be registered in either the American Polled Hereford Association or the American Hereford Association."

Erhart also added a clause to invite both registries to offer additional premium money to be applied to the winnings of members of their respective registries.

"We told them that we want to run this fair and they can run their associations," said A. T. Sanger, board member from Moreland.

Previous fair boards have handled the topic of recognition for the polled Hereford breeders in low tones. They were generally afraid of offending the AHA.

then the strongest Hereford organization, and losing its support for the state fair show. Recently the AHA has shown signs of losing ground to the APHA, although it still has the largest registry.

Earlier, Walter Lewis, Larned, president of the APHA, and three other Kansas polled breeders, Lloyd Clarkson, Winfield, Elton Fisher, Seward, and Arnold Wittorf, Inman, appeared before the fair board's executive committee.

Lewis first proposed that the fair board authorize a separate classification for polled Herefords. He said his association would consider sponsoring a polled Hereford standard of perfection show, the equivalent of the AHA register of merit show, at the Kansas State Fair.

Fair President Andrew Olson, Dwight, informed Lewis that the sponsoring association of new classifications must provide premium money during its trial two years of showing at the fair, under present fair policy.

Although Lewis said the APHA would sponsor half of $10,000 for the proposed standard of perfection show, he was certain it would not accept establishing a new classification under those terms. Lewis did not push for entry in the state fair this year.

"I think it would be best, even if we had to wait a year or two, if we start this off with a standard of perfection show," he said.

Lewis said he felt the gap of disagreement was being closed between AHA and APHA. He said polled shows in the East have accepted minority groups of horned Herefords although AHA withdrew its premium support. AHA has also approved joint shows this year where less than 100 head were shown last year, but AHA officials have not favored Kansas State Fair becoming a joint show, Lewis said.

Avoid These Common Setups for Upsets

SPEED  Select safe speed for each job. Slow down when turning. Cut speed when working on slopes, near ditches or on rough, uneven ground.	CROSSING SLOPES  Cross slopes slowly. Look-out for dips, raises, rocks, gullies, etc., that could trigger upset. Set wheels wide as practical for job.	UPHILL  Go up slopes carefully. Use power gear if pulling heavy rolling load. On grades, engage clutch smoothly — don't jerk. Back the tractor up really steep grades.	DOWNHILL  Use lower gear, especially with heavy rolling load. Keep loads within ability of tractor to control and stop them. Wagons hauling heavy loads should have brakes.
DITCHES  Drive slowly when crossing or working along shallow ditches or grass waterways. Stay safely clear of irrigation or large open drainage ditches.	HIGH HITCH  Hitch only to drawbar or regular hitch points. Set drawbar no higher than 17 inches from ground. Engage the clutch smoothly, not suddenly.	PUBLIC ROADS  Observe traffic rules. Signal intentions. Identify rig with SMV emblem. Turn corners slowly. Shift down when going up or down grades with load.	LOADS ON FRONT  Operate front end loader according to instruction manual. Handle rig smoothly—avoid abrupt turns, jerky starts and stops. Don't overload. Add rear wheel weights.
LOADS ON DRAWBAR  Add front end weights for balance. Handle tractor carefully on slopes, when crossing ditches, on rough ground. Avoid hitting rocks, stumps, etc., with trailing vehicle.	HIDDEN OBSTACLES  Slow down in tall weeds or grass. Watch for hidden logs, stumps, rocks, holes, etc. Keep speed moderate at night and when visibility is poor.	MISUSE  Use tractor for the jobs it's designed to do—not for running errands, herding cattle or just plain horseplay.	MUD  When you can't back out, get help. Don't chain blocks to drive wheels — chassis can revolve around the axle if wheels stick. Avoid muddy spots when possible.

Medicaid Use Exceeds Funds

At the present rate, expenditures by the state of Kansas to secure medical aid for the needy may reach $35 million for the current fiscal year. Only $27 million was budgeted, and medicaid funds (Title 19) will likely run $7 million in the red.

Funds from the federal government will cover about $4 million of this shortage — if the state can come up with $1.5 million and the counties nearly the same amount.

If the state cannot make up the shortage, says State Director of Social Welfare Marvin Larson, it will have to cut the benefits of the program or prorate the losses back to the doctors and hospitals.

"We think, because of the flu epidemic the spending might have been higher than ordinary and we might go that high ($7 million in the red) but we will if we continue to spend as we have been," Larson said.

Eligibility for medicaid for the needy varies with circumstances, but as an example, a family of four cannot have an income in excess of $3000 a year to get the benefits.

Payments to doctors treating the needy jumped when the state went from the old medical assistance program to medicaid two years ago, but it was a normal jump because the law now confines payments to what is "usual, customary or ordinary" in fees. Before medicaid, the fees were restricted by law, and were generally about one-third of what a doctor was charging the general public.

"The increase in payment to doctors has been as expected, so it is not a part of our problem," Larson said.

But, he added, hospital costs that had been expected to increase about 10 per cent have jumped 17 per cent.

Many states are having money trouble adjusting to medicaid, Larson said, and "Kansas is in better shape than most."

But, he added, his department is concerned about the projected deficit.

Meanwhile, in another area connected with medicaid payments, Attorney Gen. Kent Frizzell has sent a directive to the Social Welfare Department that his office plans to prosecute any medical professional found abusing the program.

"As far as we know — our auditing staff is small — fraud is not showing up in any measurable proportions. Some is obvious. It isn't done in the overcharge, but we have to watch for bills of the proper amount when, in fact, the services were not performed," Larson said.

Cream sugar and butter; add flour. Pat into a large pan. Bake 10 minutes at 350 degrees. Mix the following and spread on top of baked mixture:

Bake 10-15 minutes more at 350 degrees or until a golden brown

FROSTING

- 2 tablespoons melted butter
- 2 tablespoons orange juice and a little rind
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- powdered sugar (enough for spreading consistency)

Mrs. Fred L. Baxa Sr., R1, Cuba: "I am sending one of my favorite recipes which my family sure likes very much."

FRUIT SALAD

- 1 small can crushed pineapple
- 1 small can mandarin oranges
- 1 small can green seedless grapes

Use juice from above and add water to make three cups. Add liquid to 1 box orange tapioca pudding and 1 box vanilla pudding. Cook and let cool. Add to above fruit and three bananas. "You can make it a day ahead as the bananas will not turn black."

We have had numerous requests for copies of a Sweet Dill Pickles recipe that was the prize winner in the August 27 1968 issue of Grass & Grain and was sent by Mrs. James Stehno of Munden. Due to the inquiries received on this recipe, we are reprinting it at this time.—(ed.)

SWEET DILL PICKLES

- 6 cucumbers
- ice water
- onion slices
- dill, fresh or dried
- 1 cup sugar
- 1 cup water
- 1 pint vinegar
- 1/2 cup salt

Soak whole cucumbers in ice water three to four hours. Drain. Slice or cut into strips. Combine sugar, water, vinegar and salt; bring to a boil. Pour over pickles to within 1/2 inch from jar top. Adjust lids. Process in boiling water bath (212° F.) 20 minutes. (Start to count the processing time as soon as hot jars are placed into the actively boiling water.) Remove jars from canner and complete seals unless closures are self-sealing. Makes three pints.

Letter From Contest Winner

This letter was received from a recent winner of the "Our Daily Bread" contest prize, Mrs. Jerry Schwartz of Randolph: . . . "I want to thank you for the nice prize. It certainly was a surprise.

"The last time I made the grapenuts, I ground them with the blender. Cut them in small pieces and let stand overnight and put them through the blender the next morning while they are still soft. Don't try to put them through if they are completely dry. Then finish drying on a cookie sheet in the oven. This is so much easier than grinding them."

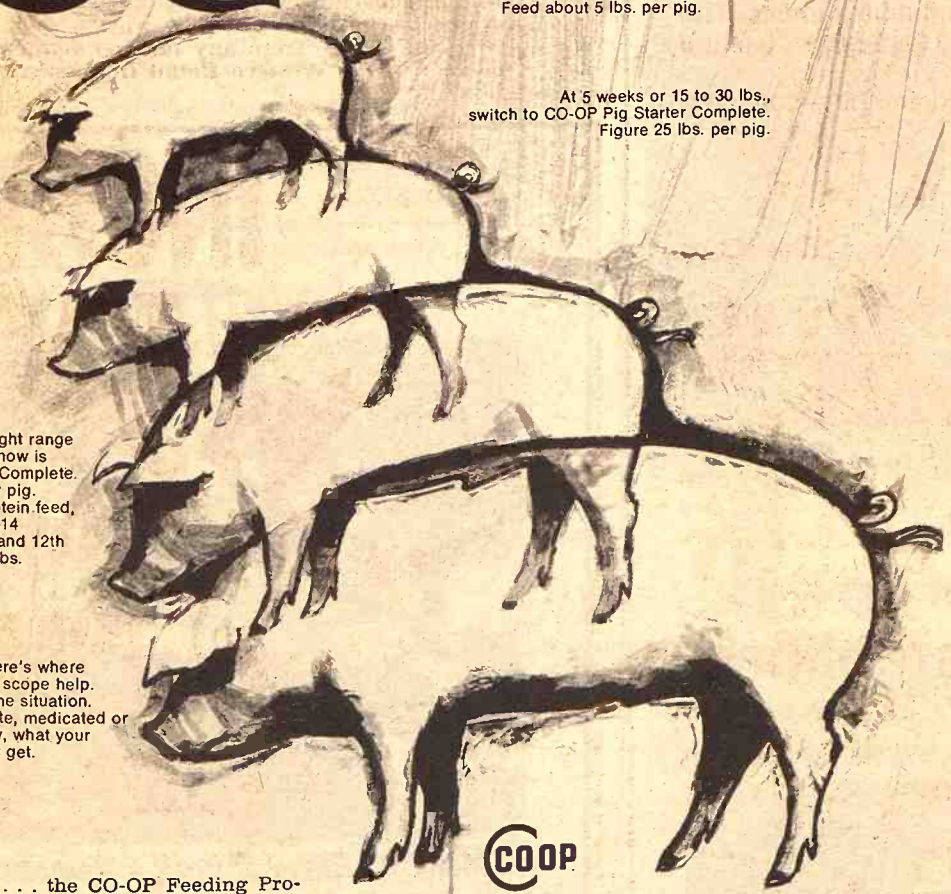

By Beverly Macy

Things I'd never know if I weren't a mother: That the cereal shaped like little "O's" sometimes hurt when you step on them barefoot and that pieces of Mr. Potato Head are really murder; that little boys like to put icicles in their pockets; that you can tell how much your child has grown by observing how much higher the dirty marks are on the walls.

A word of encouragement to nervous young brides — after you get a few good meals on your record, you can serve a dish not up to par with no apology and a minimum of explanation. Take the other evening at our house — I put the potatoes on the table and said, "if the potatoes are lumpy it's because I didn't whip them long enough. I didn't want to splatter my clean curtains and I didn't have time to move."

We were short on wash cloths so I bought a bunch on special. These were put out by a well-known company but after being washed they shrunk to less than half the original size. Maybe we weren't supposed to get them wet?

THE PLANNED HOG

The beginning. Baby pig, 0 to 4 weeks in age, 5 to 15 lbs. weight. Start him on CO-OP Pig Pre-Starter Complete. Feed about 5 lbs. per pig.

At 5 weeks or 15 to 30 lbs., switch to CO-OP Pig Starter Complete. Figure 25 lbs. per pig.

8 to 12 weeks old. Weight range 30 to 75 lbs. The feed now is CO-OP Pig Grower-16 Complete. You'll feed 100 lbs. per pig. If you want a lower protein feed, try CO-OP Pig Grower-14 Complete for the 11th and 12th week. Plan to feed 60 lbs. per pig.

12 weeks to market. Here's where CO-OP's flexibility and scope help. You tailor the feed to the situation. Complete or concentrate, medicated or not, high protein or low, what your herd needs is what you get.

There's the plan . . . the CO-OP Feeding Program that speeds your pigs to market in better shape and brings them in Heavy on the Profit Side. Where they belong. Call your CO-OP Feed Man. He has a plan for you. A profit-plan.

Carpeting Is Rolling Up Big Market

Carpeting, which now appears in many model homes and apartments, is a rapidly growing part of the multi-billion-dollar floor covering market.

The Bureau of Building Marketing Research says builders now include some carpeting in more than 75 per cent of their models. What's more, seven out of ten homes and apartments sold from these models include some carpeting.

Carpeting is now used in living rooms, dining rooms, bedrooms, kitchens, baths, family-rec rooms and outdoor patios of model homes.

The trade journal of the building supply industry, says large building supply retail chains are promoting carpeting as a mass market product that almost anyone can afford.

Currently, 22 per cent of U.S.

households buy carpets or rugs during a year. General promoting by the carpeting industry promises a substantial increase in the consumer's desire.

The builder market for carpeting expanded when the FHA ruled that carpeting could be included under FHA financing.

According to the trade journal, building material retailers sell carpeting on the basis of appearance, comfort, styling, insulating and acoustical properties.

is cool, unroll and remove with towel. Spread with pineapple whipped cream. Reroll. Chill until ready to serve, at least 1 hour.

Friction Lotion Most Refreshing

Many great continental ideas, explored and expanded by the American beauty industry, soon became a part of our lives. One of the more recent is the so-called "friction lotion," a light cologne designed to be used as an after body bath rub. It is a totally new fragrance experience and is great to use after a long warm soak in the tub to help "de-kink the kinks" or to top off a shower to give that extra verve and sparkle for an evening out on the town. The lotion dries as soon as it touches the skin and helps to close the pores, too. It's a ritual that is warming in winter, cooling in summer, refreshing anytime. Just slosh it all over by hand or a terry-cloth bath mitt. The Greeks had a work word for bathing which meant to drive the blues away, and certainly a friction lotion used after tub or shower helps to do just that.

NEW... biggest feedmaker built!

Gehl leads again. Big, new 120-bu. Mix-All combines "biggest-of-all" capacity plus Gehl's commercial-quality grind and mix ability. One demonstration will prove the 115MX can help you manage more livestock. Here's why:

- Exclusive hay feeder smoothly feeds bale slices to the mill.
- 120-bu. mixing tank, plus new 21-in. mill increase feedmaking capacity 40%.
- 66 thin cutting hammers—more per sq. ft. of screen area than other mills.
- 10-foot, high pivot (46") auger unloads feed where you need it.

These and many other features put the giant 115MX way ahead of competition. More farmers — 35,000 of them — own Mix-Alls than any other make.

We introduced big turbo tractors in 1964. Now—millions of owner-hours later—the new 1256 Turbo

Step up to an engine built for turbo all the way. The 1256 Turbo is not an ordinary diesel, beefed-up to handle a turbo-charger. This 116 PTO hp engine was designed from the beginning for turbo. The engine has twin-jet, oil-cooled pistons, exceptional fan and radiator cooling capacity and a bigger engine oil cooler. The power train matches—with a big 14-in. Dyna-Life clutch and with heavier bull gears.

Step up to shift on the go. Exclusive Torque Amplifier lets you power shift non-stop through the tough spots. Shift on the go under full load to reduce speed 22%, increase pull by 28% in each gear. TA doubles speeds to 16 forward, 8 reverse. Step up to true position comfort design. The seat adjusts fore and aft, tilts up and down, raises or lowers hydraulically and adjusts for operator's weight. Arm rests flip up. Set the 5-position tilt steering wheel to suit you.

See your dealer for many other International step-up features and an IHCC flexible financing plan.

The International 856, a 100 PTO hp tractor, has the same low-friction-type 407-cu. in., diesel engine as the 1256 Turbo.

Homemakers Officers

Continuing their duties for another year as officers of the Kansas Extension Homemakers Council are: (left to right) Mrs. Floyd Steele, Wichita, treasurer; Mrs. Douglas Fell, Basehor, secretary; Mrs. J. J. Moxley, Council Grove, president; and Mrs. Harold Goff, Manhattan, vice president. They were elected during the KEHC's annual meeting which closed the annual Home Economics Days on the K-State campus January 28-29.

Proper Planning Is Key To Kitchen Efficiency

Most homemakers agree that the kitchen is their major work centers — where they spend a majority of their time.

Actually the kitchen is divided into a number of "work centers," which must be properly located in a relation to the sequence of work to be performed there. The major "work centers" are the refrigeration center, clean-up center and cooking center.

Refrigeration: This center should have sufficient drawer, shelf and counter storage to handle its share of the numerous kitchen utensils common in today's kitchen. There should be a minimum of 15 inches of work counter at the opening side of the refrigerator, and more if possible.

Clean-Up: This center handles half the chores performed in the kitchen, being used in both preparation of three daily meals and the clean-up that follows. It should be located between the range and refrigerator and should have at least 24 inches of space on each side of the sink, whether the sink is double or single bowl. In addition to the dishwasher, space must also be planned to store detergents and cleaning equipment, as well as utensils.

Cooking: The best location for the cooking center is near the dining room and breakfast area. A counter at each side of the range is important for best work patterns and safety. There should have at least 24 inches of counter at the side away from the sink and 24 inches minimum at the other side. A large amount of storage is required in this area for pots, pans, trays, utensils, dry foods and condiments.

Wood Lends Beauty, Permanence To Home

Wood, unique, versatile, durable, is the product above all others to lend beauty and permanence to a home. Use it as a structural element, for wall paneling, in furniture or fencing, or floors and doors, in cabinets or kitchens — wood gives character and style and strength to any home.

Fences of wood have taken on new form, function and design. They can play a dozen different roles and carry each out to perfection. Wood fences can be glamorous and exciting — and utilitarian, too.

Go "92 Certified"... choice of 12,000 Oliver owners

It's Oliver's Time-Making 1850—best seller for three big reasons.

92 Certified PTO Horsepower. Owners love the way their 1850's tie into the tough jobs—and stay with them. Every 1850 has "test tractor performance" because each one is factory certified to turn out a full 92 PTO horsepower or more. That's why the 1850 outworks tractors with higher ratings.

Equipped your way. If you want an 1850 with a 3-point hitch and weight transfer for your big disk harrow, you can have it. Or if you want no more than a drawbar and remote-ram hydraulics, it's your option. Also anything in between. There's a similar wide range in wheel equipment, in cabs, in fuel tank capacity. Your choice of optional equipment all the way.

Hydraulic-Shift gives you 3 power-shifted speeds in each of 6 basic gears—18 speeds in all. This Oliver option is the easiest way yet to keep all your big power at work—to travel 20% faster whenever the load permits; or have 20% more tough-spot pull at your fingertips.

So, if it's work you want done just your way, try the Oliver 1850 at your dealer's. Big in comfort, too. Twelve thousand users aren't wrong. Oliver Corporation, Chicago, Illinois 60606. Subsidiary of White Motor Corporation.

Trend To Frozen, Packaged Meat

Housewives will find big changes in the next departments of their favorite grocery stores in the next decade, researchers at Kansas State University believe.

She'll find the meat pre-cut, pre-trimmed, pre-packaged and pre-frozen. Emphasis will be on quality and quantity control. She will be able to buy individual portions — perhaps two or three servings to the package — all of equal thickness, equal weight and with the same degree of leanness.

These are some of the things being learned by Dr. Harold J.

Tuma, meats specialist, and a team of researchers as they examine trends and methods for marketing lamb. They believe the same thing will happen to beef and pork in the coming years.

"I would expect that in the future, within the next 10 years, we would have almost a complete line of frozen meats at the retail level so that the housewife can go in and purchase almost any meat item on a frozen basis.

"We have some trends in this direction and as we visit with the people that are making the decisions in the large packing plants throughout the country, and as we visit with manufacturers of equipment and the retailers, they all favor and they all see this trend," Tuma said.

"In the interim there will be an evolution, not a revolution, in this area of meat marketing."

He said industry representatives indicate it will take at least five years to advance the marketing of retail frozen cuts of meat so that the housewife can shop in this manner.

All segments of the industry with which these researchers have talked across the country believe this method of meat marketing is coming and indicate that they would like it very much.

The American Sheep Producers Council at Denver currently is financing research into the possible marketing of lamb in this fashion. Tuma said there is strong likelihood that the beef and pork segments of the industry will sponsor research in this direction also.

Tuma said representatives of the sheep, beef, and pork segments of the meat industry sat down together last May, talked over the future and decided that retail cuts of meat — pre-packaged, pre-cut, pre-trimmed and ready for cooking — would be the next move.

Much of the meat in the hotel and restaurant business now is pre-packaged and frozen, then purveyed, jobber-style to the restaurant kitchen.

Tuma explained that the current method of freezing leaves the meat a darker color while it is inside the vacuum-sealed package. Color is restored after the meat is returned to open air.

Research being carried on at K-State currently is designed to learn methods for freezing meat, putting it into air tight containers — and yet retaining the bright red color the modern American housewife demands.

Uniformity and quality control are likely to be the keys in meat sales of the future, Tuma believes. While selections of various cuts or items the housewife wants may increase, she will be assured that the packaged meat quality and one package is essentially just like another.

This control and uniformity will lead to yet another advancement in the meat industry, Tuma said.

This development will be toward assuring the packer, processor and retailer of uniform quality and quantity to place in display cases.

This likely will bring about the development of centralized processing and packaging — possibly at the packing house itself.

One packer, Iowa Beef Packing, already has begun this idea. It foresees a time when a car load of cattle will be unloaded at a slaughtering, processing, packaging plant and will come out the delivery door as pre-cut pre-trimmed, pre-packaged, pre-frozen cuts of meat for delivery to a grocery store.

Uniformity in frozen meats will be like frozen orange juice or similar items now, Tuma believes. The new processing and distribution also will mean better returns for producers and processors as well as retailers.

And consumer costs will be comparatively lower.

Aussie Wheat To Red China To Help U.S. Sales

HUTCHINSON — The recent sale of 2.2 million metric tons of wheat by Australia to Red China may help United States wheat markets, G. C. Fowler of Hutchinson said.

Fowler is administrator of the Kansas Wheat Commission.

Fowler said U.S. wheat producers could not be hurt by the sale because the government has prohibited wheat sales to Red China.

"With this much wheat going into Red China it means just that much less competition for the rest of the world wheat market," Fowler said.

Huge Wheat Sale By Australia To Red China

A wheat sale of 2.2 million metric tons to Red China by Australia has been announced. Shipments will begin in February and conclude in March 1970.

The contract called for a possible 10 per cent variation, a decrease or increase, in the amount of wheat taken.

G. C. Fowler, Kansas Wheat Commission administrator, said the sale represented one-sixth of Australia's total production in 1968.

The news of the huge sale could have an optimistic reaction on American wheat market. It could not hurt American wheat producers because the government has prohibited wheat sales to Red China.

"It means just that much less competition for the rest of the wheat market," Fowler said. The sale amounts to about 145.2 million bushels of wheat. The sale price is not known yet.

Australia, pressing heavily to move her over-production of wheat, has whittled the International Grain Agreement world prices "pretty closely" from time to time, Fowler said.

Australia has harvested substantial crops for the last three years and, since they lack storage facilities, are being pressed at home for an aggressive wheat sales movement.

Tulsa Port Makes Kansas Vulnerable

The Arkansas River in Kansas is a sleepy stream that seeps across the southwest and leaks out on the southern border below Wichita.

Once the river crosses the state line, its personality changes. For Oklahoma, Arkansas and points south, the river will hold major sea ports that promise to hypo economies. It will be one of the major economic rivers in the world.

That same needle that will shoot Oklahoma and Arkansas full of vitamins will draw blood from Kansas, according to state economists and industrialists.

The reason is simple: Kansas will not be able to offer industries the low freight rates that will be available in Oklahoma and Arkansas.

A Northwestern University survey showed that rates for long haul, large-volume goods such as wheat, sorghum, petroleum and other resources — elements of Kansas' life blood — are far cheaper by barge.

The survey listed barge rates at three mills per ton-mile, rail carload rates at seven mills per ton-mile, and truck rates at 25 mills per ton-mile.

Presently in Kansas, all but a pittance of the natural resources leave the state by rail or truck. Some go to the port of Chicago; some go east to the Missouri River and on to the port of New Orleans; some go west for San Francisco and the Pacific Ocean; most head by rail and truck to Houston, and thereby into international commerce.

All of this movement costs the seven mill or 25 mill rate, a price that few industries are willing to pay if there is an alternative.

The port of Catoosa near Tulsa, the rest of the Arkansas River and other waterways provide an alternative. Industries are taking advantage of it.

Jack Lacy, director of the Kansas Department of Economic Development, said, "We just went through a disastrous realignment of the flour milling industry, all because of realignment of the nation's transportation. I have begun to fear it in the petroleum industry. I pray that it doesn't happen in the cattle feed industry."

This realignment Lacy talked of evidenced itself in 1964 when millers in Salina, Newton, Kingman and Winfield closed down.

According to industry-minded men in the state, Kansas needs to become more of a "processing" state, rather than a "resource" state.

"Less emphasis should be placed in this state on producing raw materials and more should be placed on processing raw materials," Lacy said.

Lacy's point is that Kansas should handle its materials twice — when its produced and when it's processed. In that way, taking things out of the ground won't be the only source of revenue.

The University of Arkansas listed a few of the benefits the river project will have on the Arkansas economy in a bulletin issued last year. They include the very points that Lacy and Herd spoke about.

The bulletin predicted expansion of Arkansas' cattle feed industry, milling industry, petroleum industry, corn and feed grains industries, soil and rock industries, and wood-pulp, paper, plywood, and lumber industries.

W. J. Hauserman Jr. of Junction City and Larry Epley of Manhattan were busy moving sheep from one area to another last week.

Expand State Fair To Nine Days

HUTCHINSON — The Kansas State Fair Board performed a juggling act here, shifting from a six to a nine-day fair.

Format of the new nine-day fair will vary little from the six-day affair except that the fair will have some new exhibits about mid-week. Many of these changes result from the lack of facilities to house the large number of potential exhibits for the duration of the fair.

There will be two school days at the 1969 fair. Monday and Friday were designated school days by the board after Hutchinson school officials proposed the change. Auto demolition derby performances, new to the fair, are scheduled on both afternoons. Although popular on both coasts, few have ever been scheduled in Kansas. The winner of the event is the last driver whose car will still run after all others on the track have been demolished.

The board also approved negotiation of a contract with Gordon McRae as headliner of the first variety show, to run Saturday through Tuesday nights. A country and western music show, with Hank Williams Jr. as one of its headliners, will play Wednesday and Thursday nights, and another variety show, for which talent is not yet picked, will run Friday through Sunday nights.

Future Farmers of America will play a more prominent role this year in the youth division. FFA livestock exhibits will make their first appearance at the fair. They will occupy the 4-H livestock building after 4-H'ers move out on the third day of the fair. Their show will be primarily a fat livestock and carcass show.

Some changes can be expected on the 4-H side of the fair grounds. Jammed racks of 4-H clothing displays will be gone this year. There will be no competitive judging of either clothing or 4-H photography. Selected exhibits of both will be displayed. Kansas State University extension officials are working on other changes to improve the 4-H appearance of the state fair.

The board voted an increase of about $9000 in premium money.

A custom of paying participating school bands 25 cents per member came under discussion by the fair board. Only one member of the board, Everett Erhart, Stafford, who has the longest tenure on the board, could recall why the custom was started many years ago.

Erhart said the money was intended as lunch money for each band member. However in recent years, none of the band members has seen the quarter allocated to him. Fair Secretary Wallace White said a check with school administrators showed that most schools place the money in their activities fund.

Marvin Green, Girard, said this pittance was responsible for the state fair participation of the Pittsburg band last year, although it amounted to only $26 for the whole band. He said the money was used as gas money for the school buses which transported the band.

'Young Farmer' Title To Lawrence Man

Cletus Grosdidier, 32, of Lawrence, was named Outstanding Young Farmer of the Year at the annual Kansas Jaycee Award Banquet at Abilene.

Grosdidier, former high school coach and teacher, started dairy farming southeast of Lawrence in 1961 when his father retired. He changed from general farming to a specialized dairy operation and has been a leader in Douglas County in development of new farming practices.

He operates a 640-acre farm with 235 acres tillable and in addition manages a 140 cow-calf Hereford farm.

A graduate of St. Benedicts College in 1958, Grosdidier at one time coached at Kelley High School, which now is closed.

He was judged winner among 40 contestants nominated by Jaycee chapters throughout the state. He received a $200 bond, a plaque and an all-expense paid trip for himself and his wife to the national young farmer contest at St. Paul, Minn., in April.

Second-place winner was Dale Keeseecker, 30, who operates a hog and grain farm in Washington County. He received a $75 bond and a plaque.

Third place went to Larry Womacks, 33, who operates a 1000-acre stock farm in Cowley County near Atlanta. He received a plaque and a $25 bond.

Double Squeeze Or Profit

The farmer, like the businessman and consumer, sees his purchasing power decline each year as inflation takes a bigger bite out of his wallet.

But inflation has been especially rough on the farmer by raising the cost of things he must buy at a time when prices have been falling for many of the commodities he produces and sells.

Wheat prices have fallen to their lowest levels in a generation. Interest rates, on the other hand, are at their highest level in years. As a result, the parity ratio has dipped to depression levels.

Paying a debt is one of the best illustrations of how farmers are affected by inflation, says Ruth Clifton, research economist at Kansas State University.

In 1947, it took 437 bushels of wheat to pay off a $1000 debt, she says. In 1950, 500 bushels of wheat were required, and last June it would have taken 806 bushels.

Mrs. Clifton looks to the Nixon administration as one of the main factors that may hold hope in halting the inflationary trend.

Too Much Scotch, Too Many Volks And Nikons

A passion for scotch whiskey, Japanese cameras and foreign sportscars nearly changed the U.S. from an exporting nation to an importing country in 1968.

The margin of exports over imports in 1968 was only three-quarters of a million dollars, down from the $3-$4 billion surplus of recent years. The trade surplus was the lowest since 1937.

Imports were up nearly one-fourth last year. Exports were up too but only by 9%. Trade experts said U.S. exports last year would have been higher except for strikes and threats of strikes by longshoremen and strikes within domestic copper, steel and aluminum industries.

RED CROSS ASKS MORE FOR BLOOD

Hospitals will have to pay $13 instead of $10 a pint for blood from the Wichita Regional Blood Program administered thru Red Cross. The program supplies blood to hospitals in about three-fourths of Kansas. The raise will become effective in March. Hospitals have additional charges to process blood which vary from an additional $10 to $23 per pint.

Savings From Veterinary Research

Veterinary medicine researchers are striving to overcome millions of dollars in losses for livestock producers in a series of projects at Kansas State University.

Dr. Charles Cornelius, dean of the College of Veterinary Medicine, said practical application of the research underway at the college will make huge savings in the feedlots, among the herds and flocks of Kansas.

Dr. Stanley Leland and Dr. William Lindquist, parasitologists, are attacking the problems of parasites in commercial livestock.

One of the great problems among parasites in livestock, they said, is the fact that much of the damage is done in a way that is difficult to detect. This is called sub-clinical parasitism.

Complicating the problem, of course, is the fact that many parasites which annually cost stockmen millions of dollars in Kansas alone do not kill the donor animal. They don't even make the animal noticeably ill.

These two researchers are keeping parasites alive in test tubes. This allows them to study the life cycles of these little beasts and come nearer to checking their absolute reactions to drugs, chemicals, and other means of control.

These men, along with Dr. Harry Anthony, head of the animal disease laboratory, are hoping for a breakthrough at an early date.

Anthony is working toward a vaccine which will control keratitis (pink eye) in cattle. This disease is infectious and can sweep through a commercial feedlot causing animals to lose weight or fail to gain rapidly because of the pain from their sore eyes.

Pink eye is responsible for upwards of $5 million in losses annually in Kansas alone, according to Cornelius. It is hoped an early breakthrough to control of the disease will come from the research of Dr. Anthony.

The veterinary medicine college has implemented and strengthened its approach to attacking commercial livestock diseases in recent years.

Latest development is a new section in the clinical areas of the college. This section is termed a meat animal medicine department. This group of researchers is devoted to finding controls for current commercial livestock diseases.

In the realm of research that may apply to man, but is devoted primarily to livestock, is a herd of leukemia cattle at K-State.

This herd of cows is being studied with an eye to learning exact causes of leukemia in cattle.

Dr. Al Burroughs is researching the leukemia project. He is isolating viruses and trying to learn their cause and control. Several viruses have been isolated and their effect on the leukemia cattle studied.

Of particular interest to the rising feedlot approach to animal feeding in Kansas is the work being done on shipping fever and the whole complex of diseases that affects animals in their respiratory systems, Cornelius said.

Dr. Claire Hibbs, another researcher at K-State, is devoting much effort to the control of salmonella. He is studying its habitat, the ways it is spread, and how it may be controlled especially in the livestock and red meat areas as well as around poultry and eggs.

Although it is most difficult to predict when success may be reached in pure research on disease control, Cornelius said he is hopeful that the next few years will bring controls to many of these problems.

Milo Output And Use Coming Out About Even

Exports of livestock feed grains for 1968-69 are lagging well behind last year's pace and may be down 5 to 10 per cent from the 23 million tons shipped last season, the Agriculture department predicts.

Officials said the balance between total feed grain use and production last year and this year is expected to be closer than in most recent years. Despite large yields of feed grains such as corn, sorghum grain and barley last season, the department said, more is being fed to livestock and may boost total domestic use by as much as 6 million tons over 1967-68.

The marketing year for corn and sorghum grain ends September 30, and that for oats and barley June 30. Current stocks in use include 1968 production for these crops. Officials said the over-all supply available for 1968-69 is 216 million tons, which includes 168 million produced last year and 48 million tons carried over from previous crops.

Total use estimated for the current year is 169,300,000 tons, or slightly more than the total produced last year. This includes 132,200,000 tons for domestic feed; 15,500,000 for food, industry and seed; and 21,500,000 tons estimated for exports.

The corn supply for 1968-69 was estimated at a little more than 5.5 billion bushels, about one per cent less than a year earlier. Corn use, including exports and domestic feeding, was estimated for this year at 4.5 billion bushels, or slightly more than last fall's bumper crop. Thus the corn carryover by September 30 will be about a billion bushels, down about 100 million from last fall, the department said.

The sorghum grain supply for 1968-69 was estimated at a little more than 1 billion bushels, up 3 per cent from last year, while oats and barley stocks are 12 to 13 per cent larger, the department said.

CBK Making Ripples With Corporate Farms

CBK Industries Inc., which announced in early 1967 that it intended to get into farming in a big way, has bought its first major production facility. CBK has bought for $2.5 million in cash and term notes, Arizona Cottonseed Products of Phoenix.

Arizona Cottonseed owns 10 cotton gins in Arizona and California and a pre-pressed solvent cottonseed oil mill near Phoenix that handles annually 120,000 tons of cotton seed. The gins handle 100,000 bales in season.

In less than two years more than 30,000 acres of land have been leased or purchased and 13 companies operating in varied industries and services have been sold or closed down.

Recently, CBK also acquired Universal Helicopters of Houston. CBK president J. R. Dominick said about $250,000 will be spent this year on aerial application of weed and pest controls and ownership of its own fleet of helicopters will prove economical.

Funds from the sale of the companies plus long-term debt have been used to acquire land. To help finance the latest acquisitions, CBK has privately placed with investors $2.4 million or 7.65% convertible preferred stock and $600,000 of common stock. The company has issued warrants for 353,000 shares of common, which may be exercised within five years at $12.75 a share.

Waterville Takes Care Of Itself

WATERVILLE — The businessmen of this southern Marshall County town are looking again for a tenant to occupy their $50,000 medical clinic they constructed just a few years ago, but they had no trouble finding a renter for their new restaurant building.

Blocking of the US 77 and K-9 intersection when 77 was rebuilt led to the closing of the cafe which had been at the corner for many years.

So the Waterville business community huddled and came up with Waterville Corporation to provide the city with this highway cafe. The building was leased to a nearby farming couple, Mr. & Mrs. Gene Roepke, who equipped the building, put up a sign and got off to a good start.

Postmaster A. N. McAtee is president of the corporation. Vice-president is John Vail; secretary-treasurer Rowland Edwards. Other directors are J. A. Thompson, banker; George Benfield, Marc Lamoreaux and Norman Lull.

The restaurant seats 84. It is air conditioned and has a sliding wall to provide private accommodations for clubs and parties.

Neither of the Roepkes had restaurant experience, but they've had plenty of advice from the numerous stockholders who paid $100 a share. And support both from the neighboring towns as well as motorists.

The corporation has given the tenants three months free rent, then will collect on a volume percentage. Their aim is to earn 6% on their investment and enable the renters to buy the property through retirement of the corporation stock.

Farm Warning From Elmo Mahoney

DORRANCE — Elmo Mahoney, president of the Russell County Farmers Union, predicts that if farm income doesn't improve "We'll lose a third of the farmers in Kansas in the next three years and half of them will be gone in five years."

He added, "Then what will you do with the economy out here? This is serious! They talk about the Dirty Thirties. The only difference now is that we don't have the dust storms, but the economy is the same."

Mahoney said he strongly supports a taxpayers protest march on Topeka, but he said he thinks plans for a taxpayers' meeting in that city this week are a bit premature.

"Half the towns in the county are looking for new industry," he said. "The greatest industry they have is the agriculture in the county. If farmers in the county had a million dollars more, they'd spend it in the towns."

Mahoney predicted that unless the farm economy is improved, and soon, corporations would take over the small farms of Kansas. "When that happens you won't need your banks and implement companies. They'll fly their Lear jets and go do business in Kansas City and St. Louis."

If the 900 or so farmers in Russell County were reduced to 10 or 15 large corporations, Mahoney said, "there wouldn't be any need for a single town to exist in the county after that."

Earlier Mahoney took to task Ray Frisbie of McDonald, Kansas Farm Bureau president.

Frisbie told a leadership meeting in Russell County that a taxpayers' march on Topeka was not necessary.

Frisbie declared, "If you spend your time on something constructive, you don't have time to spend it on things like marching on the state capital. We don't plan to have 25,000 members in Topeka. Who would listen to them?"

Mahoney countered, "The only way you can influence legislators is by paying them a personal visit and lobbying for your cause."

Mahoney said that State Sen. Warden Howatt, D-WaKeeney, is working on a tax valuation bill which taxpayers could support. He added, "I understand the Farm Bureau also has a bill in the hopper regarding the school situation. If it is okay, we would be willing to support it."

He declared that the property tax can no longer support public schools alone.

He said farmers wouldn't be griping about reasonable tax increases. "My taxes under the new state appraisal deal went up just $12 more than 100 per cent. At the same time my income has gone down," he said.

Salina Farm Show Dates April 8-10

More machinery on display for a longer time will mark the Mid-America Farm Exposition April 8 through 10 in Salina.

The exposition is the successor to the Farm Materials Handling exposition which had met with success under the sponsorship of the Salina Chamber of Commerce agriculture committee.

At the request of exhibitors, the committee expanded the exposition to 3 days and broadened the scope of machinery to include all farm equipment.

The 1969 show is sponsored by the agriculture committee of the Chamber, the Kansas Farmer-Stockman magazine, and the Kansas Power and Light Co. There's no admission charge.

"The show," said a committee spokesman, "will offer farm operators and livestock producers from every section of Kansas an opportunity to see and compare — all in one place — the newest machinery and supplies available for nearly every job on the farm or ranch.

"In addition to major field implements and tractors, there will be exhibits of automatic feeders, hay loaders, feed mixers, grinders, augers, silage equipment, farm trucks and trailers, water systems and irrigation equipment, hydraulic systems and dairy equipment.

"Also featured will be feed and seed displays, fertilizers and farm chemicals."

The Salina Chamber has informed the farm equipment industry of exposition dates and facilities available.

Show grounds will be at Agriculture Hall and the 4-H building in Kenwood park, with both indoor and outdoor display space available.

'Cautious Optimisim' From Feeders

Cautious optimism for the cattle feeding business in the immediate years ahead was expressed by Charles Phelps, Hastings, Ia., president of the National Livestock Feeders Association, at the association's annual convention at Kansas City.

Phelps, serving his second term as president, recalled that he spoke at the convention last year when conditions were somewhat depressed for the cattle feeder. But the year started out pretty good and then got better.

Prices were reasonably good, he said, and the market was stable throughout the year.

"In fact," Phelps said, "fed cattle prices throughout 1968 were far more stable than in any year as far back as 1964."

The year of good prices and a stable market occurred at the same time that cattle were being slaughtered at record levels. Domestic beef production was increased by 3 per cent over 1967 and imports were up 17 per cent. Yet overall fed cattle prices averaged around $1.50 a hundred pounds higher than in 1967, there were many instances when the increase reached $3 a hundred.

"In 1968," Phelps said, "we marketed about 6 per cent more fed cattle than we did in 1967. Yet on January 1, 1969, we found we had 10 per cent more cattle in our feedlots than on January 1, 1968.

In addition to this growth, we also see rapid development and construction of new feedlots in certain areas, with corresponding phenomenal expansion of numbers on feed wherever this is occurring."

Any business will expand in areas where it is economically feasible to do so, Phelps agreed. But he also warned that this economic feasibility may well be overdone.

"Should that occur," he said, "the healthy position of the entire industry over the whole country could be seriously impaired.

"As this rapid expansion in some localities is taking place, we are not seeing a decline of feeding in other areas. In other words, there is not a transplant of the feeding business from one region to another and I sug-that cannot be favorably utilized until next year or the year after."

February 11, 1969

This year, the bonus goes to a Case man's wife

...or does it?

Your wife will think it does, because she can choose—as her gift from Case—a beautiful old-fashioned grandmother's clock—or a Maytag automatic washer—or a Tappan double oven gas range—or other female-pampering items. Her choice depends on the combine you order during your Case dealer's Winter Wonderland.

But the real bonus goes to you. In fact, you're a two-way winner!

First—you get the best early-season buy to be found anywhere. Want proof? Have your Case dealer figure your deal!

Second—you'll enjoy the bonus performance advantages in any Case combine you choose—from extra-wide 40-inch threshing-separating to a giant 52 inches.

Match the Case 1660, for example, with any other combine in its class. A huge 52-inch cylinder—widest of any leading brand. 50 square feet of separating—32 feet of cleaning area. Plenty of elbow room for heaviest wheat, maize, beans, corn. 100 bushel bin. 100 hp Power Jet V-8 engine. Fingertip hydrostatic steering and complete on-the-go controls. Wide or narrow row corn headers.

Order your new Case combine now—during your Case dealer's Winter Wonderland. Ask him for complete information and description of bonus gifts applicable to the combine of your choice. Minimum down payment in cash or trade qualifies. No finance charges until season of use with Case Crop-Way Purchase Plan. Limited time offer. J. I. Case Company, Racine, Wisconsin.
