Its substance.

There are many of our common varieties of weeds which pound for pound costs as much of fertility as do the valuable cereals. Thus a ton of these weeds is produced at the same expense of nutriment as a ton of the gross crop of wheat or of corn. We suppose this proposition will not be disputed by intelligent farmers. The feult is that not enough thought is given to the importance of the subject. But admitting the fearful cost of weeds, the inquiry arises, how shall it be saved? And this involves the question, can it be done without its equivalent in labor? Unfortunately the latter problem is too seldom pressed to a practical problem is too seldom pressed to a practical solution. It seems to offer a field for labor in solution. It seems to offer a field for labor in which the results are all negative, and therefore discouraging to farmers accustomed to expend labor only for positive rewards. Therefore discouraging to fair intelligence who are even farmers of fair intelligence who are even farmers of Facts:

The Cherokees cultivate 80,000 acres, the gardeners ought to enlighten such men. But much may be done toward the destruction of weeds, without incurring the great expense which these skilled cultivators boldly hazard for that object. The first thing to do is to promote growth, and the next to destroy that growth, the best time for which is while it is feeble. If now, in the last of August, every stubble field was plowed as shallow as the work could be done, the weeds in growth would be arrested, and by the changed coudi tion many of them would die, and the seeds in the Territory. The productions are such as farmers of the west usually cultivate. They are enlarging their forms, improving their houses, and giving particular attention to orchards; They are advancing in wealth by the incaease of stock, both in quality and num'es.

The six small tribes having reservations in the northwest corner of the Territory, cultivate atotal area of 5,300 acres. The Wyandotts, who are only 575 souls, cultivate but 600 acres; the Ottawas, 800; the Senecas, 600 tion many of them would die, and the seeds in the plowed soil would germinate, and in their turn be fitted for destruction. Frequent cultivation during the remainder of the growing season would effect almost the entire destruction of all the weeds and seeds in the soil, to the depth cultivated. This method is so simple, easy and effective, and withal so cheapthat it should be tried in all fields badly in fested with weeds

THE measure of compensation is not to be found in any business, but in the man who prosecutes it. In this light dees farming pay has done what other men cannot do in the same business, his success proves nothing. But

I said just now that a probable cause of inreasing drunkenness was the increasing material prosperity of thousands who knew no recreation beyond low animal pleasure. If I am right—II am right—II must urge on those who wish drunkenness to decrease, the necessity of providing more, and more refined, recreation for the people.

Men drink, and women too, remember, not merely to supply exhaustion; not merely to drive away care; but often simply to drive away dullness. They have nothing to do save to think over what they have done in the day; or what they expect to do to-morrow; and they escape from that dreary round of business thought, in liquor or narcotics. FAST HORSES.—The wonderful performance of Goldsmith Maid at Buffalo week before last (trotting a mile in 2:15½, with a running mate) was beaten by the same staunch little mare at Rochester on the 12th. She engaged in a regular trot against Judge Fullerton and American Girl for $5,000, and was driven in the second heat to win an additional thousand dollars by beating her Buffalo time, then the best on record. She won three straight heats in 2:19½, 2:14½, 2:19¾. Nor is trotting the only kind whose record was cut down last used in 1:42½, which is a quarter of a second better than was ever done before.

She often works sixteen and seventeen hours aday.

THE DESIGN OF THE ORDER.

It was the intention of those who inaugurated the Granges that the farmers should educate themselves, and I wish I could repeat it a thousand times over in every farmer's ear, educate! educate! You must be educated to know your

It is the custom to allow the laboring man (farmer or mechanic) just about enough to keep soul and body together: at the same ought to be the most independent man in the world. Now let us all begin to work with our brains. If we can cultivate our farms 'judgematically,' as an illiterate member of the Assembly used to say, so as to double our crops, and then economize in various ways so as to save a fourth of the expenses, we shall have progressed a long way on the road to independence. Then let us set up co-operative stores, and; if possible, utterly break up the credit system. Thus the farmer and mechanic could work on, hand in hand, each benefiting the other.

Let us buy where we can buy cheapest, pay cash, and buy as little as possible at retail. and for heaven's sake quit the use of whiskey, and teach our children to abhor the use of tobacco in all its forms as well as coffee and rough manner, on these subjects, and I wish you would give us your ideas on them.—C. E. T., in Arkansas Grange.

INFLUENCE OF THE ORDER.

Driven by the logic of necessity, the Order of the Patrons of Husbandry sprung up in giant proportions, spreading over the land like beg and arge each and all to patronize only pure bred males, and never a mongred. While my take would incline me to patronic the thoroughbred stallion, (the best for all purposes that horses are used for), yet the many purposes that horses are used for yet the many purposes. In the flower produced the stalling of the produced the sta an immense banyan tree, sinking the roots zation of the Patrons of Husbandry. The rapid progress of the order is in a great degree attributable to its better and more systematic organization. In the western states its growth has been one of the most remarkable incidents in our social history. It grew out of a direct and long felt need for an organization that would enable the farmers to consult together ter feed and to turn the cows on in the spring, and arrive at a common understanding in regard to their interests.

Of late years it has been manifest to many who are now Patrons that the cordiality and pay you better than to sow rye for your young social status which formerly existed between professional men and themselves has to a great extent ceased to exist, and this conviction has weather. Two years ago I sowed ten acres, strengthened until it has become universal. Suffolk, is about the 10th or 15th of September. There have been too many men and to 200 bushels, equal to 30 or 40 barrels of petent—we may look forward with sorrowing women who have desired to live without flour, the exchange paying the running ex work. The grange proposes to benefit society not only by exalting universal labor, but by educating it, so that skill shall receive its merited reward.

The power of the grange movement will be directed to the reduction of taxes. A year before the war the cost of government, on our valuation was 1/2 of 1 per cent. It now costs 2 per cent., without taking into account indirect expenses, but interest on the debt. Add indirect expense, and 31/2 per cent. is a fair estimate at the present time. If the same principles of economy prevailed now as then, there and, as that was in accordance with his own would be a saving to tax payers of at least 3 prejudices, he concluded, as most people do, per cent. Other legitimate the ways intended to victimize the people; that the watchword of party is a snare and delusion; business interests will never suffer at the hand of the farmer, for he possesses intelligent foresight enough to know that if one branch industry suffers, all suffer.

LITERATURE OF THE GRANGE.

The order it may be said in the strictest sense, has a literature of its own. The essays doctrines and addresses, principles and doctrines of the Order, enunciated and promulgated, officially and otherwise, by the press throughout the country, and from the platform, may truly be said to be the outgrowth of the Order, and belong exclusively to it. treasures would have remained undeveloped but for the existence of the Order. Its educational feature has opened a wider field for the exercise of the mental and intellectual faculties than any other organized force during the

In spite, therefore, of the misrepresentations and ridicule of its opposers, or the misunderstanding and indiscreet zeal of its friends, the progress of the Order is regarded as one of the marvels of the age, and it needs no prophetic ken to predict that nothing less than the complete reformation and regeneration of society plete reformation and regeneration of society and the properties of the sense of the results accitably industrially, will be the results accitable and in any event let all the people were bestiring them.

The duties of an officer cease as such officer whenever charges are preferred against him. For instance, if charges are duly preferred against a secretary, a secretary pro tem is appointed, to whom the accused must surrender all books, papers, etc., belonging to the office till after the result of the trial.

As a means of intellectual improvement officers should commit their parts as fast as possible, the Lecturer perform his duty in full, and the lady officers should entertain the Grange with instruction in the different departments of grain, fruit and flowers.

HOW THE CRANGES ARE EDUCATING THE FARMERS.

Until lately, the farmer read a great deal that gave him but little intelligence regarding things in which he is most interested. He read his party paper, which of course showed that his party was pure and all other parties corrupt. He saw but one side of the question that it was all right. It was a clear case that in government, would spring into newness of high, and it was equally clear that when some other party held the management, the country other party held the management, the country when his party was in power, taxes were not If by an irresistable concert of action the was going to the bad as tast as possible.

account of the size and cost. I know that the large eight page form is is adopted by nearly all the western agricultural journals, but I believe that the inconvenience for reference reduces them to a temporary value. All the popular eastern agricultural journals use a smaller page, and give more of them, and when bound in yearly or semi yearly volumes with an index, they form an agricultural encyclopedia in which any article can be found without trouble. I have in my library many such volumes, including the Country Gentleman, Practical Farmer, Agriculturist, Ohio Farmer and others, and in their present shape I have received more informa tion and practical assistance from them than in the first reading.

I, and I believe many others, would be pleased to see the FARMER resume its old form. Hoping that the FARMER may long live and prosper, and that its shadow may grow less, I remain a subscriber and friend of it.

One word personal to myself. The nomination mentioned above was not sought for by myself, neither were votes or influence directly or indirectly solicited. On the contrary, nothing out a conscientious sense of duty could have compelled me to forsake the resolution heretofore expressed in this journal, viz: that I could not be made a candidate for any office. Having, in obedience to my convictions, accepted the nomination, I take the privilege in closing this card, to say that in the canvass, vigorously and earnestly as it shall be prosecu ted by me, neither money, promises of places or other corrupt means shall be used to secure an election. If the cry of reform means any thing, it means a change from the average buying, begging and trading for votes. Respectfully, section 8 of the territorial preemption laws of 1855 (page 646) are in the nature of Judicial proceedings and should be treated with about the same respect as the proceedings of other tribunals of special and limited Jurisdiction.

IX. While the county board had the power under said preemption laws to determine whether any particular person had the right to preempt any particular person had they had no power to determine whether any such person or any other person had at any time paid for said land. The payment was to be made to the school treasurer and hence the records of the county board could not be evidence of such payment.

made to the school treasurer and hence the records of the county board could not be evidence of such payment.

X. A receipt given by the school treasurer for money paid for school land under said preemption laws is prima facie evidence and only prima facie evidence of the payment of said money.

XI. A party purchasing a merely equitable title to land cannot be a bona fide purchaser of the land so as to defeat prior equities existing in favor of the person noiding he legal title to the land.

XII. Under the territorial laws of Kansas passed in 1835 for the preemption of school lands the preemption right would be forfeited if he land was not paid for before it was offered for said (Laws of 1835, page 646, sec. 6). Under the school laws of said territory of Kansas passed in 1857 the school treasurer had a right to loan the money received from the said of school lands on good security to be approved by the county commissioners claws of 1857, page 63, sec. 3). Under these laws of 1853 and 1857 a piece of school land was sold land a promiseory note taken in payment therefor which note was secured and approved by the county commissioners. If at the time of the sale and the execution of said note it was understood by all the parties the purchaser the school treasurer the county commissioners and the makers of the note that the land was paid for and that said note was given for money loaned by the school treasurer to the parties executing the note and all was done in good faith, a subsequent failure to pay said note would not work a forfeiture of the purchaser right to said land. It was not absolutely necessary in a transaction like the foregoing that the money should pass from the purchaser to the school treasurer and then from the school treasurer to the school treasurer and then from the school treasurer to the makers of the note in order to make the transaction wild.

I. In order to exercise the right of stoppage in transitiu, no actual seizure of the goods before delivery to the vendee is essential. A demand of the carrier, notice in the conditions of the escrow takes effect the instant the conditions of the escrow are performed, even though the depositary has not formally delivered it to the payee.

II. Where a note had been placed in escrow to given to the payee upon the delivery of 200,000 hedge plants, or a tender and refusal to accept them, before any title to the note passes to the payee or any action can be maintained thereon. A delivery of part of the plants gives no right of action on the note for a provata amount thereof.

I. In order to exercise the right of stoppage in transiting and endeavor to the version of the goods before delivery to the payee upon the effect the instant the opasses in the prosession is sufficient.

II. Such demand must be made of the one in possession of the goods and procession favor of another redition will not defeat the right of stoppage. It. Stoppage in transitius is the enforcement of allen and an ercession of the sale.

V. Hence, proof of the exercise of this right of stoppage. It is not proof of an absolute ownership.

Mo. R., Ft. Scott & Gulf R. R. Co. vs. C. A. Mor-nis, Treasurer of Bourbon County. Error from Bourbon County.

By the Court.

I. By contract with the Secretary of the Interior, Mr. James F. Joy became the purchaser of a tract in south castern Kansas known as the Cherokee Neutral Lands. By the terms of that contract lands were patented as paid for. Having paid for and received patents for a portion of these lands in March 1869, Mr. Joy assigned his contract to the plaintiff in error.

On the 8th of August, 1870, the plaintiff paid the balance of the purchase money, and on the 2nd of November, 1870, received a patent for the remainder of said lands. Held, That these lands paid for on the 8th of August, and patented on the 2nd of November, 1870, were not subject to taxation for the year 1860.

On the 25th of July, -866, Congress passed an act entitled "An act granting lands to the State of Kansas to said in the construction of the Kansas and Nesho valley railroad and its extensions to Red river." By the terms of this act, upon the certificate of this foovernor of Kansas that any ten consecutive miles of this railroad had been completed, patents were to issue directly to the K. & N. V. R. R. Co. for the lands opposite such completed section, and so for each successive section. No action on the part of the State was in erms called for.

The said railroad company, now the Mo. R., Ft. S. and Gulf R. R., as required, formally accepted the grant with its terms and conditions. Prior to 1870 it had complied with all the terms and conditions of the grant with its terms and conditions. Prior to 1870 it had complied with all the terms and conditions of the grant required to be performed by it. The State of Kansas took no action in reference to this matter until March, 1871, when the legislature passed a joint rosolution formally accepting the grant. No patents had issued for certain of the lands within this grant in Bourbon county up to April 21st, 1871; Held, That they were nevertheless subject to taxation for the year 1870.

LITTLE LOCKS OF HAIR.

BY MRS. S. W. WELSH.

They are garnered away in a perfumed box.
They are hearded as choicest treasures are;
Three little silken and shiny locks.
Three little vanished bables hair!

They were folded and labeled by trembling hand With eyes so dim they could scarcely sec. These three little packets with silken bands Are all of my bables left to me!

And often when burdened with sorrow or care
I come to this box where my treasures are kept.
And lovingly look on the soft bright hair,
With eyes that see clearer for having wept.

For the days come back when upon my breast Lay the little heads so bright and fair, When the warm sweet lips to my own I pressed. And tenderly touched the shining hair.

And surely though dimly I seem to see Beyond the gates of the city fair; And angels that nurture my bables there Touch with gentle caresses their shining hair.

WHAT SHALL THE CHILDREN WEAR TO SCHOOL.

We were present not long since, where two mothers who have daughters in a boarding school had quite an animated discussion upon the propriety of seminaries and other institutions of learning, requiring that young lady students should dress in uniform.

One mother contended that it was a very just and sensible regulation; the other, that teachers had no right to interfere with or pay any attention to such matters.

It occured to us to ask why such rules ever were made, and the more we thought about it, the more certain we became that some fault of the parents who send their daughters to school makes necessary a law which will compel girls to dress sensibly.

We are ashamed to say it, but it is an undeniable fact, otherwise such rules would never be enforced, that we have not knowledge enough to send our children to school sensibly clad. If we all knew how they ought to be dressed, I do believe we would have sense enough to dress them in that way and save ourselves the mortification of having a set of men tell us what our daughters must wear while at school.

There is one school in this country where all young ladies are compelled to wear calico, for their outside dress, and it seems to us that no choice could be much more unwise for if kept in a neat condition it is a very expensive material, it has but one recommendation and that is that every pupil can afford its first cost For the Kansas Farmer and none need look better dressed than an-

Some children, as well as some grown peo ple, have skin so sensitive or so irritable that they should have the flannel suit all the same, and wear a muslin one under it.

If these precautions were taken it would prevent a vast amount of pneumonia, rheumatism, ague, croup and consumption.

When young girls walk to school through the snow with cotton stockings and muslin drawers reaching only to the knee, and slipping above it when they sit down, we wonder they chilled in the extremities, and is sent back to the heart to sap their vitality in the effort to keep them warm.

Let us dress our boys and girls sensibly, and give them a chance to grow into healthy, hardy, beautiful men and women.

FASHIONS AT SARATOGA.

How they Dress at the Famous Watering Place

Last evening I had a long talk with the belle of the states about good clothes. As the young lady is pretty well known in America, I suppose it is not indelicate to tell you that her name is Miss Clara Louisa Kellogg. Miss Kellogg is famous for being one of the most correctly dressed young ladies in America. So as the thousands of young ladies promenaded in their ceaseless tramp up and down the balcony and through the broad halls, we held a cony and through the broad halls, we held a ditton of State Grange will not as yet permit us to send out Lecturers at the expense of the State Grange to impart the belle of the states about good clothes. As the running talk on the subject of ladies dresses.

The first young lady to pass was Miss of Philadelphia, a short, blonde young lady short sleeves.

It is a great saving of stockings, as well as a great saving of stockings, as well as a great addition to the warmth of the feet, to make socks or moccasons out of scraps of flan nel, reaching about to the top of the shoe, to be worn over the stockings.

We think children should always wear good thick woolen stockings in winter, but if the feet perspire badly and become damp, it is a good plan to have them wear the feet of old cotton stockings next the skin.

It is a great saving of stockings, as well as a mother, as a thing too delightful to lightly at her there, as she stands away across the room against the white wall. You can see the feet of continuation of country life dress, but no neck or arms. In fact the effect o a comfortable living.

Hattie was no ordinary girl, far from being Gauze or lace shades the white of the neck and the brown of the dress and makes an accord and not a harsh note."

"But we are talking about colors, Miss Kel-

We have the eight notes arranged in octaves above and be eight notes arranged in octaves above and be low. White in color corresponds to the highest note in music, and black to the low bass. We raise an octave in music by putting in more vibration—by diluting the sound. We raise an octave in color by putting in more white—that is by diluting—and when we have raised several octaves the red becomes pink, the yellow straw color, and the dark green becomes pag green." comes pea green.'

"But how about the symphonies in music and color?" I asked.

"Ah, there we have my idea beautifully il-lustrated," exclaimed Miss Kellogg, enthusi-astically. "When I mix several crude notes astically. "When I mix several crude notes from different octaves I produce a symphony or harmony. When you mix several crude the work would have been more uniform.

Just then a young lady from Louisville, Ky.
passed by all dressed in red and blue and yellow and white. The Louisville young ladies all run to bright colors.

"There!" continued Miss Kellogg, "that young lady is wearing the crude notes of the natural scale. No symphony—no harmony— not even a chord. How much more agreeable to the cultivated eye all these colors would be if they were mixed together. Mix the red and yellow and blue and white in proper proportions and she would have the lovely pongee, or slate or dove color, or Bismarck brown, or sage green—all lovely symphonies."

A little child now struck a few notes on the piano. "See! that child is playing red and blue and yellow!" exclaimed the prima donna. "Chil-dren and savages like the crude eight notes eight colors unmixed and disnies in music and color. Sharp lines disappear as they do in the rainbow, or as they do in the rainbow, or as they do in the coloring of the marble, each melting into the other, and stealing a little of the other. A tall lady from Portland now passed by with a little short man from Boston.

A DISCORD.

"That is a discord," continued Miss Kellogg, fixing her eyes on the ill mated pair. "Why will tall women forever get little men, like Parepa and Rosa? Why will a yellow haired girl wear a b'ue dress? Why will a sellow laired girl wear a b'ue dress? Why will a sendy old man die his mustache black? Why will the sah pale woman wear red? Why will the red faced woman wear white? APLETON KAN., May 4, 1874.

HON. J. K. HUDSON: Dear Sir and Brother—Your valuable favor, the Patrons' Haud-Book has been received. I consider it the most complete work of the kind I have seen. There is in it what every Patron should how and all Patrons who would have posted in Grange. know, and all Patrons who would keep posted in Grange matters should have a copy as a book of reference; and especially should it be kept in every Grange in our state

Lecturers at the expense of the State Grange to impart the astruction which is so essentially necessary to the harmo-

The very reasonable price at which your book is sold will enable all who desire the work to procure a copy.

My correspondence with Subordinate Granges and Dep-nities throughout the state warrant me in saying that out of the fourteen hundred Granges now organized in Kan-sas, there are not five per cent. of the number that are not in good working order and rapidly increasing their mem-bership by initiations.

From Thomas Taylor, Master of South Carolina State Grange.

I am indebted to you for a very useful book and friendly attention. I read with satisfaction your explanation of the farmers movement. I shall recommend the Hand-Book to my Subordinate Granges.

From Dudley T. Chase, Master of New Hampshire State Grange.

I have examined the work with some care, and find much to commend.

From H. II. Angell, Treasurer Kan. State Grange. SHERMAN CITY, May 1, 1874. BROWN CATTY, May 1, 1874.

BRO. HUDSON: Allow me to congratulate you on the success you have attained in producing that much needed work, the "Patrons' Hand-Book." We have tried it, and would not be without it for five times its cost.

Fraternally, H. H. ANGELL.

From Jos. T. Moore, the Master of the Maryland State Grange:
Accept my thanks for your Hand-Book. It is a very valuable work and will be of immense value to Patrons generally.

From Henly James, Master of the Indiana State Grange:
It will prove to be of great value to the Patrons and will supply much needed information on many points.

From T. R. Allen, Master of the Missouri State Grange: It shall have a careful perusal.

From A. B. Smedley, Master of the Iowa State Grange:
It contains valuable information and cannot fail to be of great use. It is a valuable addition to our literature in this direction.

From Geo. I. Parsons, Master of the Minnesota State Grange:
Something of the kind has long been needed, and I think your little book supplies the want.

From W. H. Chambers, Master of the Alabams State Grange:
The book will be of great convenience in my administration as a summary of usefu information. I regard it as a valuable contribution to our Grange literature and feel assured that it will be thus considered by our entire Order.

Grange.

I have not had time to critically examine it, but from the source it springs I doubt not it contains much inform-ation interesting and valuable to members of our Order. The nuch needed in the Grange." Something of the kind was

From O. E. Fanning, Sec. Illinois State Grange. I think it about what we need, and each Grange should have a copy.

From G. W. Spurgeon, Sec. Kansas State Grange. Your Hand-Book contains a vast amount of information long desired and needed by members of the Order throughout the State. It will be of great value as a reference to all in need of instruction, and will have a tendency to greatly lessen the labors of the officers of the State Grange. From G. W. Lawrence, Sec. North Carolina State Grange. I think the Patrons' Hand-Book a good thing for its size, containing much valuable and useful information for members of our Order.

From W. C. Porter, Master Nebraska St. Grange. The place your book is designed to fill, in Kansas, is one that ought to be filled in Nebraska. From E. M. Law, Sec. Alabama State Grange

It is absolutely necessary to make the work uniform throughout the States. I am glad you have started the ball, and hope all the States will follow in your track, and have the work alike in every State in the Union. The difficulty members of the Grange, as well as those outside the Order, who take an interest in its growth and prosperity, have experienced in securing authentic information concerning the organization, suggested the compilation of this official and reliable information concerning it. The book will be found of interest and value, especially to Patrons-Achiston Campion.

The Patrons' Hand-Book,

Agricultural College The most Valuable Work for the Grange yet Published.

Every Patron who wishes to be thoroughly informed egarding the history, character, laws, rulings, constitution, decisions and work of the Order, should have one of these books.

Contains everything pertaining to the Grange, except he secret work. he secret work.
There is no other work like it in extent and value to aembers of the Grange, or to those who wish to become nembers of the Grange, or to those managers. The principles and character of the organization, its alims and objects are fully set forth, and the objections made for the want of definite information are here fully and completely answered. Parliamentary Rules and Usages From Cushing's Manual.

Nearly one-third of Cushing's Manual is inserted, which will be found of great value in all kinds of deliberative bodies. It supplies a want long felt in our debating some carmers' meetings, in the Grange and all kinds of public all the control of the control o as recommended by the Executive Committee is modeled from the Iowa Monitor and well known forms and usag-es of the Grangeroom. It is authoritative, coming as it does from the highest and most trustworthy source.

How to Organize a Grange. This alone, will be worth many times its cost to the new Granges of the State.

The careful preparation of this part of the Hand-Book was given to Mr. W. P. Popenoe, a member of the Executive Committee, who is whout doubt one of the best informed officers of our State Grange. In a clear and concise manner he has explained away many of the difficulties which have heretolore attended the organization of Granges.

The Patrons of the State will join us in thanking Mr. Popenoe for his most excellent presentation of this subject.

Our Business Agencies. This subject is very practically discussed by our efficient State Agent, M. 106, Odis.

The addition of the business feature to the Grange, including co-operative by Jing and selling, cutting down extraordinary profits by Jing and selling, cutting down er nearer together and offing away with unnecessary numbers of middlemen brings into the work of the State Agent many difficulties and problems requiring time, expense and much patient labor.

From Wm. McCaig, Sec. and St. Agt. Nebraska State Grange, I am much pleased with your Hand-Book.

From T. A. Thompson, Lecturer National Grange. It is certainly a very desirabe rade mecum for Patrons, and especially for Grange officers.

From R. W. Pratt, Sec. New Jersey State Gran I consider it a very valuable work, as a book of reference, and the low price at which you sell it brings it within the reach of all.

Let Us Smile.

"Have you Blasted Hopes?" asked a young lady of a librarian with his handkerchief tied over his jaw. "No, Ma'am," said he, "it's only a blasted toothache."

A "Big Indian" strayed away from his camp and got lost; inquiring his way back, was asked, "Indian lost?" "No," said he disdainfully, "Indian no lost; wigwam lost." striking his breast he exclaimed, "Indian here."

"What is love, Nanny?" asked a Scotch "What is love, Nanny? asked a Scotch minister of one of his parishioners, alluding, of course, to the word in its scriptural sense. "Hoot, fye, sir," answered the blate Nanny, blushing to the eenholes, "dinna ask me sic a daft-like question. I'm sure ye ken as weel as me that love's next to cholera. just the werst inside complaint for lad or lassie

It was "darling George" when a bridal couple left Omaha; it was "dear George" at Chicago; at Detroit it, was "George," and Chica o; at Detroit it was "George," and when they reached Niagara Falls it was "Say

"Herodotus, my son, what time is it?" inquired Mr. Spilkins of his son, who had just come home from college. "Well, father," replied the youth, pulling out his watch, "let x represent 11 o'clock, and y equal ten minutes, and x—2y is the answer." Spilkins pondered for a moment, and then said he thought is must be about bed time

Evidently the old man couldn't understand it. He mused deeply and sadly, and with a last sorrowful look into the open but vacan room, turned away, muttering as he went:

KILLED BY A COMPOSITOR .- Such was the verdict of the coroner's jury on the case. The circumstances were as follows:

He loved madly, passionately. His fair one smiled, and all was going well. His suit was safe, but in an evil moment he conceived the idea of clinching it, so to speak, with a poem He wrote his poem in a moment of heavenly inspiration, and sent it the village weekly. It

Maud Mary Jane Pilkinton Filer, White skirted marvel of duty:
The wide world can never beguile her,
My gold-headed, blue-belted beauty.

It was a pretty poetic flower as it stood, but the compositorial (foth laid his typographica) hand upon it, and when it appeared "skirted" was spelled with an "h," and "belted" had two "l's" in it, and an "i." And so they laid two "l's" in it, and an "i." And so they laid to stood to be something to the same the smooth of the same the smooth of Loan desired. him tearfully away beneath the daisies, and rendered a verdict as above.

"Would my little Ezra," asked a fond mother, "like to be a missionary and go and preach to the suffering heathen?" Tears, bright, pearly drops of feeling, glistened in little Ezra's eyes as he murnured, "No, I wouldn't; but I'd like to be on the perlice long enough to put a tin roof on the big lummax that stuck shoemaker's way on my seat to-day at school." shoemaker's wax on my seat to-day at school

She was a foot taller than he. They walk ed along the street, however, arm in arm, as happy and contented as two children just out of the mud pie pile. Just as they turned the of the mud-pie pile. Just as they turned the corner at Third and main, he looked up at her and murmured in tones like the god of thun-der; "Sal, dog gone my hide, if you ain't the sweetest, littlest mite of humanity that ever got squeezed into such a little space!'

Towering from her lofty pedestals, she calm-ly answered, "You bet, Jack!"

As a man with a pensive look on his counter nance, and a basket on his arm, was walking down East street the other day, he trod on something which evidently was very slippery for one of his pedal extremities suddenly evinced a desire to go ahead of the rest of his body, and the result was he concluded to sit down which he did without even taking off lindina; body, and the result was no to the state off Indiana; down, which he did without even taking off WHITNEY MANUFACTURING CO., Paterson, N.J.

Now by some miscalculation the basket reached the ground first, and as he hadn't time to look he sat down in it. When we reflect that the basket was filled with eggs we can enter somewhat into his feelings, and then to have a horrid boy come along, and say, "Look here, old rooster; you can't hatch them eggs."

We are sorry to learn that a German chem ist has succeeded in making a first-rate brandy out of sawdust. We are a friend of the tem perance movement, and we want it to succeed. but what chance will it have when a man can take a rip-saw and go out and get drunk with a fence rail? What is the use of a prohibitory liquor law if a man is able to make brandy smashes out of the shingles on his root or if he can get delirium tremens by drinking the legs of his kitchen chairs? You may shut an inebriate out of a gin-shop and keep him away from taverns, but if he can become uprorious on boiled saw dust and dessicated window sills, any effort at reform nust necessarily be a failure. It will be wise, therefore, if temperance societies will butcher the German chemist before he goes any fur ther.—Dunn County (Tenn.) News.

Is Self-Threading and Light-Running.

By its simplicity the most inexperienced are enabled without any previous instruction to at once understand and operate it successfully.

There are No Holes to thread in the Shuttle—injurious alike to the eyes and patience of the operator—but the Shuttle is ready for use just as soon as the Bobbin is placed in it.

The Tensions both of the upper thread and in the Shuttle are Self-Regulating and can in a moment be easily and perfectly adjusted to work from the finest to the coarsest spool cotton.

All its wearing points are adjusted on steel centres, thereby avoiding friction and making it at once the most perfect and durable machine now before the people.

most perfect and durable machine now before the people.

The State Grange of Kansas has selected and adopted it as the STANDARD MACHINE and the one best adapted to the constant, every day use of their Patrons.

When exhibited before the State Grange of Missouri while in session at Boonville it elicited remarks of admiration and praise from all who saw it operate.

We are in constant receipt of orders and communications from Grangers throughout all the western states and territories, and solicit correspondence with every member of the Order of Patrons of Husbandry who desirous of purchasing the best, cheapest and most durable machine in the market.
