Drop In School Numbers Starting To Show

Enrollment of high school seniors in Kansas will drop by nearly 3,000 students by 1980, Kansas Master Planning Commission predicted in its second annual report.

The decline, even greater than the commission first estimated last fall, will be more than 8,000 by 1987.

"The institutions of higher education, including the community colleges, will begin to feel the impact of the declining high school enrollments in the closing years of this decade," said Dr. Kenneth Anderson, executive director for the commission.

Headed by Wilbur Billington, Federal Reserve System economist from Mission, the commission was created by the 1970 Kansas Legislature to assess education needs in the state.

It is completing a junior college-vocational study and recently was authorized to study the six schools under Kansas Board of Regents.

The 1970 predictions proved to be within 4.98 per cent (247 students) of accuracy for Sedgwick County and only 1.85 per cent (641 students) overestimated for the state.

Anderson predicted last year there would be 35,255 seniors in Kansas public and private high schools for 1970-71 school year and 34,614 were enrolled.

In 1970, he estimated there would be 35,893 seniors enrolled this fall, but this has been revised downward to 35,243.

Fewer seniors will be around to enroll in 4-year or community colleges or vocational schools in the years 1973-74 to 1979-80 than was at first predicted, Anderson said. He estimated senior enrollment by 1980-81 will be down to 31,630, a drop of 2,984 from the present enrollment.

By 1987, he predicted, there will be 26,339 seniors—a drop of 8,275 from the present level.

The report does not speculate on the impact declining enrollment may have in college building and financing plans for the future, but the data is being used by the State Board of Regents and other agencies in making their own projections.

Impact of a declining birth rate the past few years is shown in first grade totals in the report. In 1967-68, there were 41,270 children in first grade classes, compared to 35,914 in the 1970-71 school year. The commission estimated that this month 32,369 youngsters will enroll, and the number of children entering school will drop to a low point of 28,835 by the 1973-74 school year.

By 1974-75, Anderson predicts first grade enrollment will begin to rise again, to 29,327. If these predictions are accurate and a sizable percentage of first graders remain to graduate from high school, Kansas colleges, universities and vocational schools could not expect another large upswing in enrollment until about 1986.

Anderson, former dean of the University of Kansas School of Education, cautioned that any change in migration patterns or the state of the economy could influence the projections.

Twelfth grade enrollment in the late 1970s and into the mid-1980s is expected to decline in most areas of the state, including the Wichita-south central region, the commission study indicates.

The only major enrollment increase is due in the northeast area, including Topeka, the study shows.

Loaner Car As Sales Key To New Am Motors Policy

In a bold move to bolster its U.S. car sales, American Motors Corp. has announced revised warranty policies to include use of a free loan car if a customer's 1972 model is tied up overnight for servicing.

The change is part of the company's "buyer's protection plan," unveiled along with its 1972 models for newsmen in Detroit.

The plan also includes revised pre-delivery inspection and repair procedures, a 12-month or 12,000-mile guarantee that includes such previously uncovered items as spark plugs and wheel alignment, and an owner's "hot line" to encourage buyers with service problems to call the factory collect from anywhere in the United States.

Big Change

The plan goes far beyond warranties in effect on 1971 models and may force other manufacturers to follow suit.

Ford, General Motors, Chrysler and Volkswagen had no immediate comment on the announcement. Typically, warranties are announced with final prices just before new model introduction.

Under its plan to loan cars, American Motors will underwrite its dealers' costs to have a fleet of loaners on hand for customers whose 1972 models may be tied up overnight or longer for warranty repairs.

Reimburse Dealers

It will also reimburse dealers for each time a loaner must be used, according to George Brown, national service manager.

The loaners will be 1970, 1971 or

August 17, 1972 American Motors cars with power brakes, automatic transmission, and air conditioning. In the south and west, Brown said, the new warranty could be a buyer up to $50 in the ownership.

Southeast Fescue Pastures Need Multiple Treatments

Southeastern Kansas farmers who give their fescue pastures an annual application of nitrogen and think they are doing all they can for their grass may want to heed the results of a fescue fertility study recently completed in Labette county.

Don Chisam, Labette county Extension agricultural agent, and Verlin Peterson, area Extension agronomist, established K-31 fescue fertility plots in 1969 on the Lloyd Bennett farm near Oswego.

Their three-year results indicate that the absence of soil phosphate and lime is a limiting factor in the response of fescue to nitrogen.

Clipping yields from the plots distinctly showed that whenever phosphate was missing, grass yields were much lower. Results also showed the necessity of correcting soil acidity with lime before establishing fescue.

The plots were established on typical southeastern Kansas old native Parsons silt loam soil. The initial soil test showed only four pounds of available phosphorus per acre, 60 pounds of available potassium, and only one percent organic matter. The soil was acid with a pH of 5.5. Vegetation was primarily wire grass and weeds.

The plots were planted in September and all soil treatments made before the final seed bed preparation.

The plots received either zero lime or a rate of 8,000 pounds of agricultural lime per acre (5,000 pounds effective calcium carbonate).

Nitrogen rates ranged from zero to 200 pounds actual N per acre; phosphate rates were either zero or 50 pounds per acre; potassium rates were either zero or 30 pounds.

In the control plot with no fertilizer or lime, the grass yield was 1.4 tons per acre of air-dry fescue.

In the plot with only 100 pounds of nitrogen (no other fertilizer element or lime), the yield was still 1.4 tons per acre.

A plot treated with 100 pounds nitrogen, zero phosphate, 30 pounds potassium, and 4 tons of lime yielded 2.8 tons fescue per acre.

A DIFFERENCE IN FESCUE PASTURE

Don Chisam, Labette county Extension agricultural agent, shows differences in fescue growth attributed to proper fertilization and soil conditioning. The sparse plot on the left received no lime and no nitrogen or phosphorus. The lush plot on the right received a double rate of lime and a complete fertilization treatment.

An identical treatment except for the addition of 50 pounds phosphate jumped the grass yield to 3.7 tons.

Two plots having 150 pounds nitrogen, 300 pounds potassium, and 4 tons lime—and varying only between a zero and 50 pound application of phosphate—yielded only 1.9 tons for the plot with no phosphate and 3.7 tons for the plot with phosphate.

As a result of the fertility trials, Chisam and Peterson are recommending that farmers wishing to establish or improve fescue should first apply lime at a rate indicated by soil test.

At planting, they recommend fertilizing with 50 pounds of nitrogen, 50 pounds of phosphate, and 30 pounds of potassium. The relatively low rate of nitrogen will help keep annual grasses such as cheat and foxtails from overcrowding the young fescue plants.

After fescue is established, they recommend an annual February application of 100 pounds nitrogen per acre, plus phosphate and potassium as indicated by soil test. Farmers choosing not to make an annual soil test should apply 50 pounds of phosphate and 50 pounds of potassium every third year.

"If it's managed right, fescue can be as good a tame grass as we have to offer in southeastern Kansas," Chisam concludes. "But it takes a complete fertilizer program to push the grass to its limit of profitability."

First to serve the farmer.

Chicago Stockyards Downhill From 1924 Peak

The pens of the Union Stock Yard, where more than a billion creatures have waited for death, were empty Saturday for the first time in 105 years.

The huge stockyard, which opened Christmas day, 1865, officially went out of business last week.

Demolition of pens and buildings will begin immediately in order to allow development of an industrial park in the stockyard area that runs from Exchange to 45th between Halsted and Racine.

The International Amphitheatre probably will be converted to a warehouse by 1973, and the Stock Yard Inn ultimately may be closed.

The owner of the property will extend a number of streets and will construct sidewalks, lighting, sewers and waterlines to city specifications. By 1977, it is hoped the entire area will be devoted to light industry and warehousing that could provide as many as 3,000 new jobs.

It had been obvious for years that the Union Stock Yard would have to close some day, but many persons found it hard to accept the fact. The yard had provided both a living and a way of life for generations of Chicagoans.

And in its peak year of 1924, Chicago received a record 18,653,539 head of livestock—including almost 4 million cattle and calves, more than 4 million sheep and 10 million hogs.

Then the decline started.

By 1962, total livestock receipts in Chicago had dropped below 4 million. Trading in hogs was terminated altogether in May, 1970, and total receipts that year dropped below a million. A Union Stock Yard official estimated that 1971 receipts would have been about 700,000 if the yard had continued in operation to the end of the year.

Chicago in its heyday had been a terminal market. That meant that livestock shipped here normally would be bought by one of the Chicago packers—and also would be killed and processed here. But the big packinghouses began to move out of the city in the 1950s because of economic pressures. The Union Stock Yard gradually evolved into a shipping market.

Moreover, the number arriving here had been reduced by the growth across the country of slaughtering and processing facilities built by producers and feeders at the livestock's points of origin. Animals increasingly have been killed where they were raised.

Omaha long ago took over Chicago's title as the nation's No. 1 livestock handler. But in fact the day of the big terminal market as such also has passed with decentralization into regional markets and packing operations.

The big stockyards were built on the outskirts of big cities, alongside railroad lines. The big cities grew bigger and the yards found themselves well within the urban limits, occupying areas where land values and taxes were rapidly rising, not to mention water bills, which also soared.

All these problems were compounded by a shift in the mode of transporting livestock, by the advent of the truck. In the past, almost all livestock was transported by railroad. Today, almost all livestock is transported by truck.

By the same token, increased traffic congestion has discouraged farmers and others from trucking their animals to inner-city stockyards.

"It got so you never saw farmers here," said a yard executive. "I remember one day I was told a farmer had showed up, and I went out personally to meet him. He told me: 'Never again. That expressway was pure hell.' So we lost him, and everybody like him, to the auction markets and the buyer stations out there in the country."

Finally slaughtering and processing in Chicago had been dominated by the big 3 firms whose multistoried plants had become obsolete. The firms faced growing competition from independent packers with small, efficient plants. They also had to conform with the ever-stricter sanitation regulations enforced by the federal government.

Studies were made, and the cost of modernizing the Chicago plants was found to be prohibitive. The firms' directors decided it would be cheaper and wiser to build new plants in the country—where other attractions included lower taxes, fewer traffic jams and less expensive water, pumped from private wells. Also—possibly—more productive labor.

After the major packers moved out, it was perhaps inevitable that the stockyard would either close—or follow them.

Except when a stiff wind is blowing the passing of the Union Stock Yard nodoubt will be mourned by many nostalgic Chicagoans—especially by those who worked there (among them a pen cowboy named Daley, who later went on to become mayor of Chicago). But such sentimental lines of his past have forgotten the lines of his present. "Bareheaded, Wrecking, Planning, Breaking, Rebuilding." So it ended. With a new

OUR DAILY BREAD

— by G&G Area Cooks

Mrs. Bill Graham Of Miltonvale Wins Prize

Mrs. Bill Graham, Miltonvale: "I enjoy the recipes from G&G as they are so practical."

OPEN PEACH PIE

- 2 cups sliced peaches (raw)
- two-thirds cup brown sugar
- 1 cup sweet cream
- 2 tablespoons cornstarch
- 2 tablespoons white sugar

Line a 9-inch pie pan with pastry dough. Place peaches in this. Sprinkle white sugar over the peaches. Mix cornstarch and brown sugar together. Add sweet cream and pour over the peaches. Bake in a 450-degree oven for 15 minutes. Reduce heat to 350 degrees and continue baking until peaches are done.

The next recipe was sent by Mrs. Walter Diederich, Barnes:

APPLESAUCE CAKE

- 1/2 cup butter or oleo
- 1 cup brown sugar
- 1 3/4 cups sifted all-purpose flour
- 1 cup applesauce, warmed
- 1 teaspoon baking soda
- 1/2 teaspoon vanilla
- 1/2 teaspoon ground cloves
- 1 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1 1/2 teaspoons Angostura bitters
- 1 cup chopped seedless raisins
- 1 tablespoon flour

Cream butter then add sugar and cream together. Add flour alternately with applesauce in which soda has been dissolved. Stir in extract, spices. Angostura bitters and raisins dredged in 1 tablespoon flour. Bake in a greased and lightly floured loaf pan, 8x8-inches at 350 degrees for 45 minutes.

The following recipe is from a 12-year old G&G area cook, Carol Wienk, Barnes:

PINEAPPLE SCOTCH BARS

- Filling: 1 (1 pound, 4 1/2-ounce) can crushed pineapple
- 1/4 cup sugar
- 1 1/2 tablespoons cornstarch
- Crust: 1 1/2 cups flour

- 1/2 teaspoon soda
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1 1/2 cups rolled oats
- 1 cup brown sugar (packed)
- 3/4 cup shortening

Filling: Combine all filling ingredients. Cook and stir over low heat until clear and thick. Cool while making crust. Crust: Mix flour with soda and salt. Mix with oats and brown sugar. Work in shortening until mixture is crumbly. Spread half of crumb mixture evenly over bottom of 9-inch square pan. Cover with pineapple filling, spreading evenly to edges and corners. Sprinkle remaining crumb mixture over top. Carefully press down crumbs to smooth top. Bake in moderately hot oven (350 degrees) 35-40 minutes or until brown. Can be eaten when cool.

This recipe is from Mabel G. Keim, R 1, Minneapolis:

FUDGE ICE CREAM CAKE

- 1 package (1 pound, 2 1/2-ounce)

- chocolate cake mix
- 1 pint chocolate ice cream
- 3 eggs
- 1 cup water

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Grease and flour a 10-inch tube or bundt pan. Combine all ingredients in a large bowl and beat for four minutes or until smooth. Pour into prepared pan. Bake for 40 minutes or until done. Frost with chocolate frosting.

Make Beauty Treatment While You Bathe

Being lithe and graceful, young fresh of face and figure are the wish of most American women. And they can discover the techniques and they need to be beautiful in the bath. You don't learn how to be beautiful these famous places, but rather, learn how to use what you have as your best advantage.

Massage and exercises are salon specialties individualized for each person. A famed salon director recommends that at-home exercises be done on a faithful schedule of 15 minutes in the morning and 15 minutes in the evening.

If you have neither the time nor funds to luxuriate in the salons, this business is beautifying men, you'll be able to appreciate the tips that can make you feel and better with little time each day and no funds. Who would ever guess that could be exercise?

For a beautifying bath with exercise benefits, sit straight in the tub with legs outstretched. Place a medium-size rubber ball between your knees, keeping ankles together. Keeping ball in place, press knees tightly together. Count to five, relax and repeat ten times.

To firm upper arms and bust, sit straight in tub as before with the ball between palms, elbows raised high and fingers pointed up. Press palms together slowly, relax and repeat ten times.

For the problem area—waist and stomach—stand with feet about eight inches apart. Place your palms on the front of your upper thighs. With slow movements, "walk" your hands down your legs to your feet. Keep knees straight and breathe in on the way up, out on the way down. Repeat six times.

Cleanse with a non-alkaline soap for non-drying effects and end with a lavishing of fragrant creams and lotions for an all-over tingle of freshness.

PINKEYE, GERMS and "BLAH" HAY

Say goodbye to all three when you pick up on these great new ideas in the Animal Health department at your local CO-OP.

CO-OP Pinkeye Medication. Proven remedy for pinkeye in animals. Now in an opaque plastic container that provides better protection for the ingredients. Comes with handy adjustable trigger applicator. One pint. $2180

CO-OP Kleen. A powerful new all-purpose disinfectant-detergent-deodorant for cleaning and sanitizing hard surfaces. Ideal for use anywhere around the farm or house where germs thrive. One gallon jug goes a long way. $1836

CO-OP Hay Start. A new medicated, vitamin-fortified top dressing for hay that adds palatability to get calves eating hay earlier. Can also be used on grain and concentrate rations. In 25-pound plastic tub with measuring spoon. $2760

Shiny Hair

Keep beauty aids clean or your hair will lose that silky sheen. Frequent washings with soap will keep brush and comb sparkling.

Feet Need Special Care

The body fights off infection more readily when circulation is good. Sluggish circulation tends to affect the feet because they are farthest from the heart.

For this reason, foot care is important for everyone, and especially for diabetics, for they are more susceptible to infections and this may upset insulin balance.

Most important is daily washing of the feet in lukewarm, soapy water and thorough but gentle drying to avoid skin abrasions. Change to clean stockings or socks daily.

Prevent Creases

Place a magazine over the bottom of a wire coat hanger that you use to hang trousers. Anchor the magazine with a couple of paper clips and the pants will not get creased from the hanger.

Use Iron On Patches To Reinforce Garments

Iron-on patches are very convenient for patching and mending as home seamstresses know.

Have you tried using the patches on the inside instead of the outside of worn or torn clothes? As soon as a knee or elbow begins to show signs of wear, reinforce the weak areas from the inside by ironing on patches.

Even slightly frayed areas will benefit from a patch ironed on the inside.

To really stretch the life of clothes, use patches on new garments.

Johnny Kaw Says:

Great trials do not make heroes, only reveals them.

Unit Helps Reduce Indoor Air Pollution

If you have ever seen the dust in a shaft of sunlight streaming through your living room window, you are well aware of air pollution. And if you suffer from hay fever or are allergic to other types of pollen, you know that pollen concentration can be almost as heavy indoors as out.

Solving the pollution problem outside may take some time, but we can do something about the problem indoors now. Portable air cleaners on the market today make your home or office as fresh as the great outdoors used to be.

Air cleaners remove dirt, dust, pollen and odors, giving relief to hay fever sufferers, removing smoke from offices, saving cleaning time and even money for redecorating.

One such unit cleans air at the rate of 175 cubic feet a minute. It removes 99 percent of pollen and 80 percent of smoke, dust and other airborne particles from air passing through the unit. So all of the air in a totally enclosed 12x15-foot room, with an 8-foot ceiling will be cleaned seven times an hour.

Other features of the air cleaner are the Spanish-Mediterranean styling, ball-type casters for portability, on-off, clean and fan switches and signal lights that indicate when the systems are on.

Though the major air-pollution problem will take time to solve, an air cleaner can give you clean air to breathe in your own home.

No Ironing

As you launder drip dry curtains give them the final rinse in a thin water-starch solution. Shape curtains with your hands as they dry and there will be no need to press them.

Handy Storage

A soft drink carton kept under the sink provides excellent storage for wax paper, aluminum foil and other wraps.

Handy Item

A small nail brush kept near the sink in the kitchen is handy for cleaning such food implements as grinders, graters and other pieces with small crevices.

St. Marys Co-op Hike Annual Gross To $4.8 Million

ST. MARYS—Record sales of $4,869,215 were reported for the year ending June 1, 1971, by the Farmers Union Cooperative Business Association. Total sales last year were $4,216,940.

Leo Ronsse, general manager, reported the year's business at the annual meeting.

Ed Brennan Jr. was elected to the board of directors to replace Milton Ronnau who declined to continue his long service on the board. Directors re-elected were Alex Johnson and John White Jr.

Grain handled during the year showed a sharp drop from the preceding year, reflecting the drought of last summer which cut the yields of fall-harvested crops.

During the year ending June 1, the Co-op handled 1,325,070 bushels of grain compared with 1,728,600 for the year ending June 1, 1970. Only wheat showed an increase in volume with 275,630 bushels as compared with 243,615 for the preceding year.

Corn volume revealed the extent of the 1970 drought as total corn bushels were 635,450 as compared with 972,000 bushels for the year ending June 1, 1970.

White corn outstripped yellow during the past year; volume for the former was 444,320 bushels and for the latter 209,130 bushels.

The elevator handled 345,320 bushels of milo during the past year, compared with 403,000 for the preceding year. Soybean volume for the past year was 50,670 bushels, slightly less than the 54,500 bushels handled during the year ending June 1, 1970.

Total cash pay-out to patrons for the year amounted to $63,000.

On the expense side of the ledger, the association paid out $345,620 in salaries, wages, and commissions and $34,083 in taxes.

Guard that investment by giving your cattle the Sunflower brand.

By telephone. It's that easy. A call to Dickens 2-7270 brings you Kansas Soya's custom-mixed cattle feed, carefully prepared in accordance with your formula and dependably delivered in compliance with your timetable. Just in case you're not completely satisfied with the results you're getting with your present formula, that same telephone call will also give you valuable formula guidance. Free. Before you hang up, you'll have the feedlot-proven formula that will provide maximum gain at lowest cost.

If you mix your own ration, let Kansas Soya supply the best protein supplement you can feed. Sunflower Brand Soybean Meal or Pellets are made from prime soybeans, nature's richest source of protein. They're specially processed to retain their weight-lifting protein elements and, at the same time, improve their natural palatability and digestibility. That's why Sunflower Brand tastes better, packs on the pounds faster and makes marketing more profitable.

Whether you choose custom-mixing or mix your own, prefer pre-arranged delivery or pick up your own order, Kansas Soya's automated in-and-out truckloading and grain bank facilities are always available. Call Kansas Soya now. And call collect.

Forecast Beef, Pork Prices Over Last Year

Livestock output will show a seasonal rise this fall but meat demands will keep farm prices from tumbling severely, the Agriculture Department says.

There will be more beef and pork during the second half of 1971, but less veal, lamb and mutton than a year ago, USDA officials said.

Outbacks by hog producers have improved the pork outlook from this time a year ago when market prices jumped drastically from early in 1970.

The report said market hog prices at major markets in late July were just under $20 per hundredweight, more than $4 above the low levels of last fall. However, the report noted, the July price was still about $5.50 less than producers received during the peak last summer.

Officials said hog prices will slip as slaughter increases this fall but prices for the fourth quarter of 1971 probably will average $1 or more than they did in Oct.-Dec. last year.

Fed cattle sold for slaughter in the second half of this year probably will increase from a year earlier. Prices probably will weaken some but still average more than last fall, the report said.

Cow slaughter rose five per cent during the first six months of 1971, with drought in the southwest a major factor in forcing many into the market.

The 1971 calf crop is larger by four per cent, pointing to a bigger supply of feeder cattle next year, the report said.

Kansans Talk With Rainmaker

Kansas ranch and farm leaders are eyeing the Oklahoma rainmaking bandwagon.

W. P. Krick, selected by Gov. Fred Hall's Oklahoma Weather Modification Committee, to seed rain clouds, met with an informal group of Kansans here to discuss the rainmaking plans.

Krick also met with a similar group in Dallas which also expressed interest.

The Kansas group said it did not share Oklahoma's sense of urgency over the drought. But individual members said they would confer with Gov. Robert Docking about the possibility of getting Kansas support for a regional rainmaking venture.

of the turbine facility.

Ford didn't mention how many engines a day it is now building, but it has said before it expects to build 200 this year.

The company said the turbine engines will have an installed price competitive with premium diesels. The basic engine may cost more, but fewer accessories are required, it said. The basic price of the Ford turbine is approximately $9,000, with its marine application in the area of $13,000 to $14,000.

ELISION KILLS TWO CRAIG CATTLE

ELLEVILLE—Two head of cattle owned by Robert Craig were killed when hit by a car driven by John Passmore, 18, Agenda. The elision was on a country gravel road southeast of Belleville. Craig had a 450-lb. roan steer and a 500-lb. black bull.

Ford Starts Production Of Gas Turbines

Ford Motor Co. has begun production of gas turbine engines and claimed it now has "clear leadership" in the automotive-type engine field.

The engines being built at the company's new turbine plant in Toledo are not for trucks or other vehicles. But they have been designed for such work.

Initially, they will go to the mining industry and to manufacturers of construction equipment, electric generator sets, air compressors and pumps.

Industry Milestone

Wilson W. Sick, general operations manager of Ford's industrial engine and turbine operations, said the first engines off the line Tuesday "mark a milestone for the gas turbine industry."

"For nearly two decades Ford and other engine makers have been striving to perfect and produce this new kind of power plant. We are pleased to be first on the market, not only because it means our efforts have been successful, but also because it promises Ford clear leadership in the field."

Sick said that by the mid-1970s the Toledo plant will be manufacturing turbine engines for heavy duty trucks.

GM Production

General Motors' Detroit diesel engine division is also swinging into turbine engine production at a plant in Indianapolis. It has a press showing scheduled later this month.

Outside: 451 turbo cubes under the hood—Inside: "Quiet as a kitten"

Quiet!

SOUND LEVEL AT OPERATOR'S EAR AT FULL THROTTLE AND 100% LOAD (Leading 100-136 hp tractors)

WITH CAB		ALL OTHER TRACTORS TESTED
CASE 1170 TRACTOR	87 dBA	97.5 dBA
CASE 1070 TRACTOR	89.5 dBA	95 dBA

WITHOUT CAB		ALL OTHER TRACTORS TESTED
CASE 1170 TRACTOR	87 dBA	99 dBA
CASE 1070 TRACTOR	95 dBA	99 dBA

Remember, 6 extra decibels mean twice as noisy. Impartial tests show other leading tractors tested have sound levels up to 8 dBA higher than the 1170 with cab. In every power class, Case tractors recorded substantially lower noise levels.

There's a growing awareness that excessive tractor noise can be damaging. Case recognized this problem and set out to develop a smoother, quieter tractor. Now the official results can be told.

When a new Agri King owner rated his Case cab "almost as quiet as a kitten on a featherbed," he could be accused of exaggeration.

But in no way exaggerated are two facts:

1. Excessive tractor noise can severely impair your hearing and efficiency.
2. Case Agri King tractors are quieter by far with or without cab—in every power class.

The degree of quietness is not a matter of individual opinion. Impartial test figures for all major manufacturers are now a matter of record. You see the results in the chart at the left. Sound levels with cab range from the Case 1170's 89.5 dBA (decibels) to a competitor's high of 97.5 dBA. Without cab, the level ranges from the Case 1070's 95 dBA to a high of 99 dBA for other tractors. Note that an increase of just 1 dBA results in a 17% higher noise level!

So add restful quietness to a long list of advantages when you own a Case. Advantages like bigger displacement engines that handle every job faster with plenty of reserve muscle. Moderate rpm engines that result in tremendous torque and an engine that lasts ... and lasts. The downright comfort of a Case tractor, and the protection of a Case-built cab that has proved its ability to support the entire weight of the tractor in event of an upset.

These advantages can be yours in any Case Agri King Tractor—from 63 hp up. Your Case dealer is ready to demonstrate. J I Case Company, Racine Wisconsin 53404.

Set Details On North Central Irrigation Tour

Irrigators interested in successful farm irrigation techniques and practical irrigation research will want to attend the annual North Central Kansas Irrigation Tour and Scandia Irrigation Experiment Field Day.

The two events will be September 18-19. The tour will be in the morning and the field day in the afternoon.

reports Kenneth Fromm, Mitchell county Extension agricultural agent.

First stop on the tour will be the Solomon Valley Feedlot and Kansas Bull Testing Station east of Beloit at 9 a.m. The second stop will be at the Theron Wilson farm 2 miles southwest of Asherville on the river road where irrigated corn is produced.

The third stop is on the Elmer Johnson farm 2 miles south of Courtland. Johnson has an irrigation water scheduling demonstration. The last stop before lunch will be at an irrigated land drainage demonstration in the Kansas Bostwick Irrigation District 2 miles northeast of Courtland.

Two KSU administrators will speak following lunch at the Scandia Irrigation Experiment Field—3 miles west of Scandia and 2 miles north or 3 miles north of Courtland and 3 miles east.

Dr. Floyd Smith, director of the Kansas Agricultural Experiment Station, will discuss "Quality Environment for People—and Corn." Dr. William Johnson, head of the KSU Department of Agricultural Engineering, will talk about "Reducing Corn Harvesting Losses."

Research projects at the Scandia field will be described by Stanley Clark, field superintendent. These projects include: fertilizing irrigated corn; controlling corn insects, using feedlot wastes in irrigated corn production, and using herbicides in corn production.

nation's No. 1 feed grain crop.

Overshadowed by southern leaf blight, the European corn borer caused more than $250 million in losses in 1970 to corn farmers in 15 of the biggest producing states. It was the most damage in 16 years.

A weekly insect report by the Agricultural Research Service said Tuesday the 15 states lost nearly 196 million bushels or almost 5.4 per cent of their combined output.

"It's too early to tell with any certainty what they'll do this year," J.W. Gentry, assistant director of plant protection in ARS, told a reporter. "But the potential is there."

Field reports also are beginning to show corn borer buildups in Iowa, Wisconsin, Indiana and Minnesota, officials say.

The borer threat comes as government officials, led by Agriculture Secretary Clifford M. Hardin, meet today at the University of Illinois on the corn blight problem.

Last year corn production dropped from July estimates of 4.8 billion bushels to 4.1 billion. Blight and other damage, including from droughts and insects, were the main causes.

But if blight had not occurred in 1971, the damage from corn borers would have been in a major spotlight. The $250 million lost from the insects in the 15 states was by far the most since farmers in the same areas lost $261.4 million in 1954.

August 17, 1971

In Iowa alone last year, the corn loss from borers was put at 66.4 million bushels worth $85 million.

Other top losses in 1970 reported by ARS included: Nebraska 52 million bushels and $66 million; Minnesota 20.7 million and $25 million; and Illinois 15.3 million and $20.9 million.

Gentry said corn borer infestations are cyclical, gradually increasing over a period of years and then declining. However, he said, the possibility exists that the current cycle may still be on the upswing for 1971.

Thursday

We had a good run of cattle at our sale last Thursday, August 12. Our market was active on most classes of cattle, in fact higher in a good many places. However, heavier feeder cattle were lower in spots. We are expecting a good run of cattle for our sale next Thursday and have people coming that are sure wanting to buy cattle. Contact some of us if you have cattle to sell or bring them on in.

Following is a partial listing of the sale last Thursday:

BEST AT GEARY CO. FAIR

Joey Boller had the grand champion steer at the Geary County Fair. The 1250-lb. Charolais-Angus crossbred sold for 71 cents a pound, grossing $839, at the sale of 4H stock following the fair. The Central National Bank was the buyer. Joey is 16, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph F. Boller. The Bollers bought the steer from Haddock Farms of Minneapolis a year ago.

Cotton Demand Keeping Up With Bigger Output

Based on Aug. 1 field conditions, the nation's cotton crop this year will be barely large enough to take care of demand by U.S. mills and meet exports during the 1971-72 marketing season. The Agriculture Department announced the year's first cotton production estimate, 10.9 million bales, a gain of eight per cent from 1970 output of 10.1 million.

Although some improvement was indicated in yields, an average of 452 pounds per acre compared with 437 last year, much of the gain in outlook is the result of a larger acreage for harvest, some 116 million acres. That is some half a million more than the 1970 crop.

Officials say the revised carryover supply of cotton at the beginning of the new marketing year which began Aug. 1 was about 4.25 million bales, the smallest reserve in 20 years.

The cotton industry and USDA had been hoping for a production this year of around 12 million bales, enough to cover 1971-72 demand and build up the reserves.

A new cotton outlook report is scheduled for Aug. 20. It is expected to show total cotton use in 1971-72 down slightly from last season's 11.5 million bales, mainly because of some shrink in exports. If the Aug. 1 production forecast holds true, that would point to a further reduction in cotton carryover supplies a year from now.

However, the Crop Reporting Board pointed out in its report yesterday that the historical differences between the Aug. 1 estimate and the final production tally has varied over the years from 28,000 to nearly 1.8 million bales.

That means the monthly cotton estimates for 1971 output are almost certain to be modified. However, it would take an increase of around half a million bales to meet the expected demand.

Cuba Contains Hog Disease

Cubans slaughtered 200,000 hogs between May and July to control an outbreak of African swine fever, a Canadian veterinarian says.

Dr. Norman McAninch and four other veterinarians employed by the Canadian government spent 12 days in Cuba last month advising and controlling the virulent hog-killing disease.

Cubans slaughtered 20,000 hogs on infected premises and destroyed the carcasses. A further 180,000 healthy hogs were slaughtered to establish a buffer zone around Havana province, the only area affected.

"As far as we know the disease has been contained," Dr. McAninch said. "The last reported case was July 1."

$120,100 gross for the Maguire estate. The land averaged out at $160 an acre, with two tracts bringing $200 an acre.

Sold at the courthouse in Abilene by Junction City auctioneer C. W. Bill Crites, the land was settled in the 1860s by Patrick Maguire and had been the home of Viola, Bridgett and Matthew Maguire for many years.

W. J. Chamberlain of Chapman bought two of the seven farm tracts, paying $18,100 (about $133 an acre) for the original quarter-section homesite. Chamberlain also bought 80 acres of creekbottom farmland with some pasture for $14,700—about $183 an acre.

One quarter-section of creek-bottom and upland farmland sold to John Gantenbein of Abilene for $200 an acre, grossing $32,000.

A $200 an acre price was also paid for a 68-acre tract consisting of 32 cultivated acres and the balance in timber and creek. Tom Dunn of Manhattan was the buyer.

An 80-acre pasture sold to Jim Cooper of Chapman for $12,200—about $152 an acre.

Another 80-acre tract, in upland ground and pasture—sold for $149 an acre to Eugene Fields of Solomon. That 80 grossed $11,900.

The other farm tract was 114 acres of upland cropground which sold for $17,100—$150 an acre.

A separate sale in the partition was a small unoccupied house on one lot in Newton which sold for $500 to

SHOWS RESERVE CHAMPION HEIFER

Gregg Sexton, Harmony showed the reserve champion Holstein heifer at the 1970 Central Kansas Free Fair at Abilene. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Sexton, R. 1 Abilene. This year's fair is slated for Aug. 16-20.

Raymond Slaymaker of Emporia.

Crites reported that among those attending the sale were Dorothy Jane Faubion, daughter of Mary Scanlon Faubion of Kansas City; Dennis and Paul O'Connor, Salina; and George Boles of Abilene. All are heirs of the estate.

Crites and Ray Wilson of Abilene conducted the sale.

Big Money Needed For Votes — But It Doesn't Guarantee Election

Candidates who spent a record $59.2 million for radio and television advertising in 1970 may have good reasons to wonder about the investment.

In California, Norton Simon, a millionaire industrialist, spent $800,823 on broadcast ads in an attempt to win the Republican senatorial nomination. But the incumbent, Sen. George Murphy spent only $71,007 and won the primary by more than a half million votes.

In Florida, Republican Rep. William C. Cramer took on Democratic State Sen. Lawton Chiles for the Senate. Cramer spent $145,484 on broadcast time, and Chiles spent only $49,489. Chiles won the election by about 130,000 votes.

In Arkansas, Republican Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller outspent by a wide margin his Democratic challenger, Dale Bumpers. Rockefeller put $308,360 into political broadcasts and Bumpers, $117,725. Bumpers won with 61.7 per cent of the vote.

The top spenders on radio and television did not always lose, of course. Actually, a majority of them won.

New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, a Republican, for instance, spent more on political broadcasts in 1970 than did any other general election candidate. Republican Rockefeller outspent his Democratic opponent, Arthur J. Goldberg, $1,182,177 to $364,527. And Rockefeller won by a plurality of 730,000 votes.

But a survey released by the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) shows that enough top spenders lost to raise a few questions.

In 1970 general election races for governor, 19 candidates who outspent their opponents won and 16 lost, according to a Congressional Quarterly study of the FCC figures.

Among Senate candidates, 20 who spent the most won and 15 lost. In House races, 229 of the higher broadcast spenders won and 125 lost.

(Broadcast ads were used in only 354 House races.)

The success rate of top broadcast spenders ranged from 54 per cent for governors to 57 per cent for senators and nearly 65 per cent for House candidates. Yet other factors seem to have a greater correlation with winning.

An incumbent running for re-election in 1970 apparently had a much greater chance of winning than a challenger who spent large sums on television and radio ads.

In the general elections, 71 per cent of the incumbent governors running for re-election won their races. The re-election rate was 80 per cent for senators and 96.7 per cent for House members.

Little research has been done on the effectiveness of spiraling expenditures for political broadcasts. But one recent survey indicates that news coverage may influence more voters than do television ads.

The study, conducted by Decision Making Information (DMI), a Los Angeles political consulting firm, involved 4,520 voters in 10 states. It showed that 39 per cent of those interviewed said newscasts or news articles were their most important source of information about candidates.

KANSAS CITY VOTERS NIX SCHOOL TAX AGAIN

KANSAS CITY—Voters here have defeated for the second time a proposal to increase the tax levy to finance schools. The vote for a 65-cent increase got 52 percent support, but state law in Missouri requires two-thirds favor. A vote for a larger increase got 54 percent favor in May.

2 1/2 miles.

10-Room House South of Wamego

Five large rooms on main floor finished nicely with part paneling. Five rooms in full basement with two walk out doors onto large concrete patio. This home is approximately ten years old and in good repair.

The home is equipped with a forced air gas furnace, attic exhaust fan, hookup for gas or electric cook stove, extra nice sink in utility room, 500 gallon propane tank and a good well with ample water with a good submersible pump that is pumping at present time. Septic system is in good condition and has not given any trouble.

All located on nice sodded bluestem grass consisting of 3 acres (more or less). With a little time and landscaping this can be made into a very nice appearing home or as an investment for rental and potential of Mobil Home court.

TERMS: Seller will furnish the buyer with an abstract certified to date showing title in the sellers, with no liens against the property. Buyer shall pay 25 percent down on the day of sale and balance upon delivery of deed and abstract in 30 days.

POSSESSION: Will be given in 30 days or when balance of money is paid in escrow.

TAXES: Of $124.86 to be prorated to date of possession based on 1970 taxes.

Property For Sale

Improved 400A on all weather road in Mankato area, 6 room modern home completely insulated, wall to wall carpet, built-in tub and shower. 2 well built barns, each 32x28, one metal covered, abundance of good water, 200A rolling land, cultivated, all conservation practices completed, 200A excellent grass with good fences. The big pasture fenced with woven wire & 3 barbed wires with 1 hedge most every 8 feet next to growing grain. This is the cleanest offering that I have had in 20 years. Not a thistle on the place. $150 per acre, 10% down, 20% March 1, then balance at 6% interest and $1500 principle each year.

Improved 80 in commuting distance from Manhattan on oil road. 3 bedroom modern home, completely insulated, has 2-car garage, big barn, 40 acres beautiful cultivated land, 40 acres excellent grass, at $18,000. With 10% down and 20% March 1, then annual payments with 6% interest. Your children can live at home and drive to college from here.

Improved Republican River bottom 320, with 292 acres very good cultivated land, two high producing irrigation wells, $140,000 on low interest long term contract.

Beautiful modern home in good small town, 5 rooms, bath, kitchen, built-ins, new roof. Good metal outbuildings, 6 lots, barn will make 100 bu. per acre. Now get this, only $1500 with $100 down, $300 possession date, then $30 per month.

Clip this ad and mail it to our smudged friends and relatives in other states. They will love you for it. No better place to live than the Midwest. This agency sold 36 properties from Jan. 1 to July 31 for a dollar volume of $1,006,425. If you list your property with us we will spend the necessary money to let the buying public know about it. We can sell your property if your price is consistent with its value.

Commission rate 5% on first $100, 2 1/2% on the balance. Call or write for appointment.

Missouri farmers say if they're going to drive on new highways they want them toll-free on a pay-as-you-go basis and they are willing to pay higher gas taxes to build them. That was the favor in a resolution passed by the Mid-Continent and Missouri Farmers Associations at convention last week.

Seedling Response Over A Million

More than a million young trees are now dotting the Kansas landscape that were not there last spring, thanks to a record shattering response by Kansans to the annual tree distribution program of the Division of State and Extension Forestry at Kansas State University.

Gary Naughton, assistant state Extension forester, reports that 1,219,000 tree and shrub seedlings were ordered and distributed last spring. This is one-third more than the 1970 figure of 914,000.

Individual orders rose to 4,371, an increase of 27 percent from 3,402 orders in 1970.

The number of trees was the highest since 1962 and the third highest on record. The number of orders was the highest since 1964.

Naughton attributes the program's success to "better publicity and more awareness by Kansans of the role trees play in their environment."

In an effort to better assure survival of evergreens the foresters offered potted seedlings this year. More than 96,000 of them were distributed.

Initial reports from the state indicate that favorable weather has made tree survival for all species—both bare-root and potted—excellent this year.

Another new feature in 1971 was wildlife bundles. Naughton reports that 241 wildlife bundles containing 35,550 trees and shrubs were ordered.

In addition, 42,550 black walnut and 29,050 pecan seeds were distributed. These nuts had received special treatment—called stratification—to assure their germination. Black walnut seedlings ordered doubled from 40,000 to 80,000 this year.

Naughton sees this increase as an indication that Kansans are learning walnut's value and recognizing that it is a resource that must be restored through new plantings.

Evergreen trees were among the most popular species distributed this year largely due to their use in windbreaks and Christmas tree plantings. The seven most popular species overall were: Scotch pine, 140,780; Eastern redcedar, 134,090; multiflora rose, 82,525; black walnut, 80,327; Austrian pine, 60,535; American plum, 36,175, and Russian olive, 30,725. Nearly 30 tree and shrub species were distributed.

Naughton points out that in addition to the trees ordered through the Extension program, Kansas landowners planted 150,000 more evergreens that they purchased from private nurseries. In general these trees went into Christmas tree plantations.

Based on normal forestation rates, Naughton estimates that 3,000 acres were repopulated with trees distributed through the Extension program. "We hope to see this figure continue to climb in future years," he concludes.

Cancel National Youth Quarter Horse Congress

The National Youth Horse Congress, including the National Finals of the American Junior Quarter Horse Association, has been cancelled for 1971 due to the VEE quarantine.

It had earlier been "postponed indefinitely" with the hopes that the disease situation could be controlled in time to reschedule the event later in 1971.

Charles A. Calish, NYHC Chairman, and Don Jones, Executive Secretary of the American Quarter Horse Association said in a joint statement, "Several months of planning are necessary for a national show of this magnitude and the federal quarantine has been extended to several more states. Since it is not known when the quarantine will be lifted, we feel it is prudent to cancel the two events for 1971. Both will be held in 1972 with the dates to be announced later."

According to Jones, the Second Annual AJQHA Convention, originally scheduled to be held in conjunction with the NYHC and Finals, will be held in Dallas at the Adolphus Hotel, October 1-2, 1971. Delegates are expected from all the 42 affiliated junior associations to select the second slate of officers to guide the rapidly growing organization. Everyone interested in the AJQHA is invited to attend the Convention.

Calish said that several hundred NYHC entries had been received and that all entry fees were refunded. The more than $20,000 in scholarships, medallions, saddles, and other awards that had been donated will be held for the 1972 NYHC Show.

Public Aid — Or Schools To Close, Say Catholics

There may be a wait-and-see attitude about which type of public aid Catholic schools are going to push for in the months ahead, as one Catholic educator suggests, but the foremost decision has already been made.

That decision is, simply, there will be a push for state funds.

Catholic leaders in Kansas alarmed over decreasing enrollments, increasing costs and recent Supreme Court decisions, feel the parochial school system is doomed, unless governmental aid is forthcoming.

The trend is readily apparent in Kansas. The Wichita diocese reports a drop from over 12,000 students in 1966-67 to under 9,000 in 1970-71, Kansas City, Kan., from nearly 24,000 to just over 16,000, and Salina from about 6,000 to around 4,000.

Kansas officials estimate that, if state schools were to absorb the students in Catholic schools, it would mean an additional tax burden of $15 million to $18 million.

As disturbing as that trend may be to Catholic officials, they say another trend is just as disturbing—and that the second trend has a definite correlation with the fewer students trend.

Bluntly, the Catholic educators say, fewer religiously affiliated personnel, either sisters, brothers or priests, are teaching in parochial schools, necessitating a greater number of lay personnel.

In the Salina, diocese the percentage of lay teachers has only increased from 43 to 45 percent in the past five years.

Other dioceses report greater decreases in religious instructors. In Kansas City, Kan., lay teachers represented 30 percent of the teaching force in 1966-67, 50 percent in 1970-71; in Kansas City-St. Joseph the comparable figures were 47 percent and 56 percent; in Wichita 33 percent and 45 percent.

Not only has the percentage decreased, but the number of religious affiliates teacher has decreased absolutely, educators say.

"There's no way to sidestep that," says Msgr. C. J. Brown, the school director for the Salina diocese. "This isn't a young group (of sisters teaching in the Salina diocese)—quite a few elderly ones are retiring. And, a considerable amount are taking up other (nonteaching) activities now; they have a choice."

"There's no doubt a higher percentage (of lay teachers) in every diocese," Father Brown goes on. "No place is fortunate enough to have a sufficient number of sisters to fill the gaps. Vocations are becoming less."

August 17, 1971

The increase in lay teachers could even hurt some of the now viable parish school systems, says Father Brown.

"We're going fullsteam ahead," he reflects on his parish school in Beloit. "but if we lose two or three sisters, we'll have to increase our budget some $25,000. That's not easily done."

How many Catholic schools, given the trends, will close within the next few years?

Catholic educators are vague on that. "If possible future state or federal aid is removed," says John Schmiedeler, the layman who heads the Kansas City-St. Joseph diocese school program, "then the majority of our schools would close within the next few years."

63 Bridges To Be Posted For Lower Weights

The State Highway Commission this month will post 63 highway bridges for loads less than legal licensed weights, according to John Montgomery, director of highways. "The number of posted bridges will increase as the bridge inspection program now underway continues, but we are inspecting and posting the oldest structures first," the director said.

He added that the 63 structures to be posted are in addition to 13 that have carried 10-ton-load-restrictions for several years. The listing of posted bridges will be updated each month.

"The load limitations result from new federal regulations that are more conservative than most states have used," he continued.

Montgomery explained that in 1967 the Silver bridge over the Ohio River between Ohio and West Virginia fell with the loss of several lives. The Congress reacted in the 1968 Federal Aid Highway Act and specified that a national bridge inspection program should be instituted. After considerable study, federal regulations to implement the inspection program were written and approved by the Federal Highway Administration and the American Association of State Highway Officials late in 1970.

"Early this spring, the Highway Commission's staff held schools for personnel that would be used to make the field inspections, and a bridge design engineering squad was assigned to figure the stresses on the structures based on the field inspection data, and formulas that take into account the age of the materials and the traffic loads.

"Our Maintenance Department, in cooperation with the bridge section of the Design Department, picked 300 of the 4,371 state highway bridges which they knew would probably need attention first. The list is based on periodic inspections made by the Maintenance Department for many years," he said.

Field work has been completed on 196 spans and office checks on 98 of them. Work will be completed on the 300 priority bridges in the next eight to ten months. One of the problems of the office checks is that the structures are 40 to 50 years old and no plans are available for checking.

Inspection of the remaining 4,000 bridges will take another two years.

The federal bridge inspection program also applies to all county and city bridges on federal aid road systems, and these inspections also are underway in many areas. These no doubt will result in further load restrictions.

State highway structures to be posted in the first round are in 35 counties scattered across the state on 37 highways. US-numbered highways that will have posted spans include US-24 in Riley county; US-56 in Osage; US-83 in Logan; US-154 in Ford; US-160 in Clark and Stanton; US-270 in Grant; and US-281 in Barber and Russell.

Load limits will depend on the type of vehicle, whether straight truck; tractor and semi-trailer; or truck and trailer; and the spacing of the wheels.

As an example, the bridge on K-4 four miles northeast of Dover in Shawnee county will be posted 10 tons for straight trucks with single axle; 20 tons for semi-trailer units with four or five axles; and 25 tons for tractor, truck and full trailer.

The Commission's engineers have figured the new maximum loads on each structure. Once signed, these posted limits are sufficient evidence for law enforcement agencies to make arrests of vehicle operators whose vehicles exceed the weight limit even though they are within their license limits, Montgomery said.

TO MARK BOUNDARIES AROUND TUTTLE LAKE

MANHATTAN—A survey crew for a Topeka engineering firm has started work in the Tuttle Lake area to determine exact boundaries and provide markers to indicate the line between the federal area and adjoining land. The engineering firm is Cook, Flatt & Strobel.

Horse Disease May Produce Needed Census

The outbreak of Venezuelan Equine Encephalomyelitis, which has been halted with only two cases in horses reported within a week in Texas, is responsible for a beneficial spinoff: A U.S. horse census, the first since 1960. Officials of the Agriculture Department have requested that extension Services of each state co-operate by conducting a horse census immediately. The USDA says that knowing county, state and national horse numbers will help officials combat V.E.E. and other possible diseases.

The annual census was discontinued 11 years ago when there were only 3 million horses left in the United States, far below the peak of 25 million reported by the USDA in 1920.

Ironically, the annual tabulation was discontinued at the approximate beginning of a national pleasure-horse boom, which has occurred in the last decade.

Earlier this year the American Horse Council estimated there were some 7.5 million horses in the nation. But that figure may be much too low, according to findings in the current V.E.E. situation.

In New Mexico, for example, authorities believed there were some 20,000 horses in the state. However, when veterinarians began vaccinating horses to prevent the spread of the deadly form of sleeping sickness into that state, some 70,000 horses were brought by their owners to vaccinating stations.

"We need to know how many horses there are so we can plan vaccination programs and other health measures, if the need arises," Dr. Homer Caley, extension veterinarian at Kansas State University explained. "Knowing how many horses we have also will help us assess the industry's economic contribution to our state, establish growth trends and plan for the future."

The census also will include mules and donkeys, which have not made the comeback registered by the various breeds of pleasure horses.

What is obvious is that the character of today's equine population is vastly different from 50 years ago. Most of the nation's horses have moved to town, or at least to the suburbs, where they are used entirely for pleasure.

In Kansas, however, many horses still are used on cattle farms and ranches and thus still may be considered work animals. Nationally, in 1971 it is estimated that more than nine of each 10 horses are used for recreational riding.

OVERTURNED TRACTOR KILLS ADMIRE FARMER

EMPORIA—A 32-year old farmer was killed when his body was pinned beneath a tractor which overturned northeast of Admire last week. He was Gary Phillips, who died as a result of a fractured skull and broken neck.

A PLEA FOR FUNDS FOR BURN UNIT

When Christine Mills of Shawnee, died several weeks ago from burns, it brought home to all of us again the great need for a burn unit for Kansas and the Kansas City area. Scarcely a day passes that we do not read or hear of some one being badly burned in this area, and of their need of the modern treatment that a burn unit would provide. A burn unit for this area would eliminate the need to move these patients when they are in a critical condition.

Climbing a high mountain seems like an impossible task if we look only at the top. It can only be climbed one step at a time. The same is true soliciting for the burn unit. Each contribution is one step nearer the top. Won't you help take that one step?

When our granddaughter Kathryn Kihm of Chanute, died last fall of burns received in an apartment fire in Lawrence, we established a memorial to

Forecast Now For Biggest Corn Crop Since 1932

Kansas can expect another bumper crop in corn this year, just weeks after the winter wheat crop 1971 set a record, according to Kansas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service.

Following last year's record high, the 1971 corn crop is estimated at 8.9 billion bushels, approximately 10 per cent above last year's crop, the largest since 1932, the Kansas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service said.

The estimated average yield per acre of 80 bushels this year, is a record high, breaking the old record of 75 bushels per acre, set in 1968.

National Record

The crop will conform to a predicted record national crop this year, which includes a record corn crop for Iowa, expected to reach its half billion bushel crop in history, according to the U.S. Dept. of Agriculture.

The Agriculture Dept. estimated Wednesday the 1971 corn crop at a record 5.35 billion bushels, 30 per cent more than last year.

The average yield per acre was put at 83 bushels, compared with 71.7 last year when southern leaf blight severely reduced production.

First Estimate

It was the first government estimate of this year's corn production. A projection usually made in July was canceled because of uncertainty over blight in the 1971 crop.

The previous record corn crop was 4.76 billion bushels in 1967.

Agriculture officials in Des Moines said that based on conditions as of Aug. 1, it is predicted that total corn production for Iowa this year will be 1,143,436,000 bushels with a yield of 97 bushels per acre.

This compares with a disappointing 859,140,000 bushels last year. The total corn production record for the state was set in 1967 when 986,332,000 bushels were harvested.

Bushel Below Record

Should this year's predictions pan out, the yield per acre forecast would be one bushel below the previous record of 98 bushels set in 1969 in Iowa.

Airlines Angle For New Rates

The chairman of the International Air Transport Association's conference on fares predicted that airlines will approve a new schedule of fares including the advance payment plan that reduces the New York-London round-trip rate $73 and $83.

Most of the new fares would take effect next April 1, but Reynolds indicated some would be effective this winter.

Standard rates would not be affected.

The package includes these round-trip rates for New York-London flights:

- $199 off season and $249 peak season for persons who reserve and pay for their tickets three months in advance and stay abroad 22 to 45 days. At present the rates are $272 and $332 for a stay of 29 to 45 days with no advance reservation required.

- A youth fare of $195 off season and $225 in the summer for persons 12 to 22 years old.

- A winter rate of $200 for groups of 10 to 12 persons staying overseas seven or eight days.

- A rate of $237 off season and $280 peak season for groups of 15 staying overseas 14 to 21 days. This reduces the minimum required stay from 17 days and the maximum from 28.

A conference began closed-door meetings six weeks ago in an attempt to work out a rate schedule that would meet the growing competition from charter airlines and regularize the youth fares which a number of lines put into effect this year.

AT-THE-ELEVATOR PROTEIN TESTER

Here's the device that shows promise of being able to measure the protein value of wheat in a quick test right at the elevator. The machine was demonstrated briefly late in the harvest season at a co-op near Rexford in Thomas county.

The machine utilizes infra-red rays to measure protein. The machine tested at Rexford was rushed to its test by its Maryland manufacturer, Neotec Instruments Inc., and results were inconclusive.

The machine, however, shows promise of being able to test not only protein, but moisture, oil, fat and starch contents of corn, soybeans, milo, as well as wheat.
