"All right, Charley," replied the other, folding the check and putting it in his pocket.

George and Charles Lambert were brothers, devotedly attached to each other, and both employed as clerks in the establishment of Mr. Clayton, a rich importing merchant.

"Here, George," said Charles Lambert to his grown in influence in the House, and the time was fixed when he was to be admitted as a partner. Ethelind Hale had striven, and, in her own belief, successfully to forget her old lover, George Lambert. From the time of his disappearance Mr. Randall had paid her assiduous court. His addresses were coldly received at first; but there is nothing like being slighted by one man to bend a woman's ear to listen to another. She is always ready to make a show of believing that quite as good fish remain to be found in the sea, as the one which has escaped from her net. Herbert Randall hung his head in confusion. He never became either the partner of Mr. Clayton, or the husband of Ethelind Hale. Indeed, the latter has been for several years Mrs. George Lambert, and Charles is Junior in the house of Clayton & Go.

A Narrow Escape.

The Schuyler mansfoil was the theater of a romance in the summer of 1781. Gen. Schuyler was not then in active military service, but at his house in Albany, or at Saratoga, he was the vigilant eye of the Northern Department. His person as a prisoner was coveted as a capital prize by his Tory neighbors. Walter Meyer, a Tory colleague of the famous Joe Beltys. was employed to execute a scheme for the seizure and abduction of the general, With a party of his associates, Canadians and Indians, he rowled in the woods near Albany for many days, and ascertained the exact situation of affairs at Schuyler's house from a Dutchman whom he had seized at his work. He learned that a guard of six men were there for the protection of Schuyler's person, three of them alternately on duty continually. The Dutchman was compelled to take an oath of secrecy. He did so with a mental reservation, and as soon as he was released, he hastened to Schuyler and warned him of his peril.

As the twilight of a sultry day in Augus was yielding to the night, Schuyler and his family were sitting in the great ball of the mansion; the servants were about the premises three of the guard were asleep in the basenounced that a person at the back gate wished to speak with the general. His errand was One day a stranger entered Mr. Clayton's understood. The doors and windows of the mansion were immediately closed and barred, the family were gathered in an upper room, and the general ran to his bedroom for his arms. Looking out of a window, he saw the house surrounded by armed men. To alarm the town, half a mile distant, he fired his pistol from his window. At the same moment the intruders burst open the front door. At that instant Mrs. Schuyler perceived that in the confusion she had left her infant in a cradle in the ball below. She was about to rush down the stairs after it, when the general interposed and prevented her. Her third daughter. Margaret (who was afterward the wife of the last patroon), instantly flew down the great stair-way, snatched the sleeping babe from its cradle, and bore it to its mother. One the hand of Mr. Clayton, who opened it and lts keen blade just grazed the infant's head, found it to contain a number of bank bills. er, supposing her to be a servant, called to her, as she flew up stairs, "Where's your master?" With quick thought she exclaimed, as she reached the verge of the upper hall, "Gone to alarm the town!" Her father heard Come on, my brave fellows! Surround the house, and secure the villains!" The alarmed marauders, who were plundering the general's dining room of the plate, fled in haste, carrying away some of the booty. The infant was the late Mrs. Catharine Van Rensselaer Coch-

Fight it Out.

A story is told of a daughter of a prominent person now in the lecture field which is peculiarly interesting and suggestive of unconscious wisdom. A gentleman was invited to the lecturer's house to tea. Immediately on being only highly incensed, but being very strict in counselled flight, and I yielded to his advice, to seated at the table the little girl astonished the family circle and the guest by the abrupt ques-

Why don't you know?" Finding the child persisted in her interroga tories, despite the mild reproof of her parents, he concluded to make a clean breast of the matter and have it all over at once. So he said with calmness which was the result of inward expletives: "Well, we don't live together. We think as we can't agree, we'd better not. He stifled a groan as the child began again, and darted an exasperated look at her parents, But the little torment would not be quieted until she exclaimed :

"Can't agree! Then why don't you fight it out as pa and ma do?"

"Vengence is mine," laughingly remarked the visitor, after "pa" and "ma" exchanged looks of holy horror, followed by the inevitable

ound, and does the bardest met of the root Why a Countryman Hugged a Homely

Girl. A couple from the country came into the city yesterday, procured a license, and were married in due form. They left on the afternoon train for home. They attracted the attention of every passenger by their display of affection. The young man kept his arm tight around the bride's waist, as if he was atraid she would vanish before he knew it, and she didn't seem to care if he hugged her right along for half a day. She was so terribly homely that every body wondered how he could love her, and by and by seemed to think that an explanation would be in order. He borrowed a chew of "I'm going to hug that girl though I know she isn't purty." "I wouldn't," briefly replied the man.

"And that's where you'd fool yourself," continued the young man. "When I'm hugging a hundred acres of clean, nice land, with forty head of stock on it, I can make the homlies girl in the world look like an angel to me."

A Joking Minstrel's Exploit.

Charley Backus, the practical joker, was in a small town in Connecticut the other day, and as he started for New York he stood on the rear platform of the last car of the train. Just as the whistle was blown, and the cars began to move. Backus espied a big fellow lounging in the depot, and, shaking his fist at him in assumed rage, he shouted:

"Oh, there you are, you viliain! I've been looking for you all over this cursed town! Oh you knave, you thief, you scoundrel !" At this time the train was moving rapidly.

To the horror of the minstrel joker the train was stopped and backed into the depot. Backus made a rush for his compartment in the drawing-room car, and locked himself in, just as the brawny-fisted depot-lounger boarded the train, and howled:

"Where is that Duffy who has been looking all over this 'ere town for me?' Backus kept himself in his prison until he reached New York, ora anottaboutmood, lat

WILLIAM CRAWSHAW, Com.

Losing Interest in the Grange.

It has always been a matter of wonder to us how a farmer, whether a member of the order or not, can lose interest in the grange. Such farmers must take but a narrow view of the character and purposes of the order, or are so ignorant of the laws which govern in the business and social world as to be unable to understand the power of combination among men. They probably went into the grange expecting some immediate important personal benefit, and meeting with disappointment, they had not the patience to await further developments. They do not know that the vast machinery of commerce, politics, &c., is set in motion and governed by a system of laws and combinations which are the result of organized efforts, such as are now being made by the farmers through their order, after many years of patient labor, denial and sacrifice They hear of boards of trade in New York and London, and other cities, but they cannot understand that the action of these institutions not only affect the business of the cities, but as directly shape and control the affairs of the producers of the country. A body of men in Mark Lane, England, determine the price of wheat in this country, and by the same power of combination in commercial centers in England and America, the price of cotton is fixed. There is not a farmer in this country who does not pay tribute to other classes whose laws and usages were originated and established in distant cities. The power of organization is felt, if not understood, in every farm house in America. The laws and usages of commerce in this country compel the farmers of the cotton States to grow cotton and pay all the expenses of putting it into the hands of the manufacturer in the East or in Europe. The producer gets barely enough to pay the cost of production, say twelve cents per pound, and does the hardest part of the work, while the middlemen, through whose hands the cotton passes; and the manufacturers, all realize a handsome profit—the latter receiving from 25 cents to 50 cents, and $1 to $5 per pound! This tremendous power, the result of organization, keeps the laboring man poor and his family in ignorance. And yet, when, for the first time, the opportunity is offered to farmers to combine for self-defence and self-advancement, they lose interest in the organization because the full measure of success is not attained at once. If they were wise they would look around them and notice how their more fortunate neighbors the merchants, bankers, &c., succeed so well, after to organizations that took years to establish. The result of these combinations of other able to see and understand it. To change this state of affairs, to enable the farmer to secure a just reward for his toil and buy what he needs at honest prices, and by the power of combination to protect himself from unjust and hostile legislation, the grange was estab-. lished. And yet, there are members "losing interest in the grange, and tens of thousands of farmers holding back from lack of confidence in themselves or these neighbors, or for considerations of a false economy! Such things are passing strange indeed .- (Miss.) Patron of Husbandry. Patrons' Centennial Encampment.

Doubtless very many of our Missouri Patrons intend visiting the great Centennial show at Philadelphia this summer. Some of them may not be aware of the special accommodations there prepared for the entertainment of members of our order. These are so ample as to be sufficient to accommodate four thousand persons per day. The usual conveniences of a first-class hotel are said to be found therelaundry, telegraph office, posto-ffice, ticket office, etc., etc. Fare, $1 per day, and 50 cents per meal. Pay only for the meals you get. Especial accommodations are made for families and ladies. The encampment is especially designed for members of the Patrons of Husbandry, Sovereigns of Industry, agricultural societies, farmers' clubs, temperance societies, and ther kindred organizations visiting the Cenennial exposition. The directors and managers are all Patrons of Husbandry. There is a large hall for grange meetings, lectures and preaching. The Secretary of the National Gran We are credibly informed that Brother O. H. county, Kansas, the following preamble and Kelly, Secretary of the National Grange, who has filled the office so acceptably since the orloved brother Edward Priestly, who died on der was founded, will, on account of the business which is accumulating on his hands in regard to the Florida lands, be compelled to resign the position of secretary sooner than he had intended to.

Secretary Kelley 1s, in in some respects, a fortunate individual. He published a "History of the order," two years ago, and certain critics "went for that history," and the advertising it got, gave it a ready sale. And now, since it is announced that he has accepted the agency of the lands alluded to, these same historical critics have commenced such a vigorous advertising of the lands, that the inquiries concerning them have begun to arrive in such numbers, that the worthy secretary has been literally overwhelmed with letters in reference to them.

For ourselves, we congraulate Brother Kelley upon his good fortune. We have no fears that the duties of his office will be neglected, and when he leaves his office as secretary, we are pleased to know that he will enter a highly lucrative business, where a liberal competency will be secured. Wherever he is, be it on his farm in Minnesota, or in the Land of Flowers, the latch string will always be out .- Colman's Rural World.

A Sensible View.

An intelligent correspondent of the Southern Plantation, discussing the withdrawal of cer tain manufacturing firms from arrangements made with the grange agents, covers some good points with the following remarks:

good points with the following remarks:

In all business transactions between men, particularly in contracts for trade, there is, or should be, consideration on either side; and in those of our order, with manufactures and wholesale dealers, the consideration of one is its combined patronage, and of the others a discount on their goods and wares, proportioned to the magnitude of this patronage. A certain reliable and, large patronage is always a value on the market, eagerly, sought after, by the trade, and is a power to command the most favorable terms. A dollar in the hands of an individual Patron will but no more, norshould favorable terms. A dollar in the hands of an individual Patron will buy no more, norshould it, than a dollar in the hands of any other individual, but through our organization, by means of well-devised plans of co-operation of co-operation assured patronage of a great brotherhood, and it has an enhanced value, and will buy more. In all our trade, then, we will be valued by the extent of our co-operation, and it is with us to establish for ouselves this value and power, to compete with any other power in the world's market for the most, fayorable terms, world's market for the most favorable terms. Nor can we ignore these principles of trade without disappointment. A Patron is no bet-ter than any other elever folks, simply because he is a Patrov, but let the organization be properly utilized, and he has advantages and benefits through it that they have not.

Knickerbocker Grange, New York City, has published the following caution. For the past year or two the Iowa State Grange has refused to furnish any person with a list of the granges of this State, which was, in a great measure, put a stop to the circulation of circulars among the granges of this State, not especially authorized by the executive committee. Notwith standing all this caution to protect our granges, some of these swindlers have obtained partial lists of the granges in many counties. The best way is to deal with none that are not satisfactorily endorsed:

Why the Grange is Wanted.

The master of the State Grange of New York says: According to the census of 1870, the investments of the farmers of this State (New York) in agricultural implements and machinery amounted to within $3,000 of $46,000,000. Of this amount at least from $10,000,000 to $15,000,000 at some previous time must have been paid as profits to parties standing be-tween the manufacturer and the farmer, and this for a class of property that requires fre-quent renewals. Were it possible to unite the entire agricultural interests of the State in our organization, the savings from this source alone would pecuniarily compensate the members for all the outlay they would ever be called upfor an the outlay they would ever be cancer up-on to make to secure and maintain their mem-bership, and leave a large surplus, from which should there he no other source of relief, to lighten the burdens of taxation that are how resting so heavily upon the landed interests; and this, too, at the expense of a class that frequently avoid their just share of this, burden. As a financial enterprise, this purpose is perfectly legitimate, and is in no sense revolution. ary to any existing laws of trade. It is simply adapting them to our use. Those results, however, can be realized only through the earnest and unqualified efforts of individuals, and all local and district organizations; laborating in unison with and freely co-operating with rour executive committee. your executive committee minute. in regard to the granges in Suffolk county, N.

K., as follows:

We have differen granges, some alive and some not so lively. The one (Earnest) over which I have had the honor to preside for two years, is flourishing; we have gradually grown to a membership of sixty, and are working nicely. We have had a council for over a year, but we did not accomplish much. It is my desire to build the thing up, for I know full well that unless we can have a central co-operation in this (Suffolk) county we cannot expect much from the granges. If you will observe the map you will see that our county is peculiarly shaped, and that our granges are widely separated, and unless we can have a central reunion once in a while, we forget each other, and there is not one grange in the county able to do business to any extent or great advantage without the co-operation of the others. I am free to say that, in my opinion, the National and State Granges should, by any and every means, help the subordinates, and not force them to pay for fancy degrees and fol de-rol, or anything of no real practical benefit.

True Grange Grit.

True Grauge Grit.

The master of the Missouri State Grange has just had concluded a four years' case in the courts against the Pacific Railroad Company for damages for the killing of a valuable horse. The manner in which Mr. Allen fought against the wiles of this monopoly, stamp him as a granger of the true grit. In all probability the case brought Mr. Allen out in debt, buthe was fighting for a principle, and hereafter that company will, no doubt, act wisely and settle fairly when it comes in contact with a true granger. Although it will serve to show that farmers have determined to exercise more general interest in matters that so nearly concerned them, and not, as heretofore, suffer corporations to make rules to govern both sides. The discussions in the grange have awakened them.

A member of one of the most energetic wide awake granges, of which we have any knowledge, writes to the Miss. Patron concerning the grange of which he is a member, as follows:

We have a farm committee appointed at each We have a farm committee appointed a cach meeting, to visit each member's farm in regular order, and render a written report of the condition of the brother's farm, stock, &c., Thesa reports are subject to the criticism of the grapge, and almost invariably bring out some useful information. We also have a regular subject for discussion at each meeting. In addition to this we have a class of instruction, on the unwritten and written work. At each meeting five members are selected from the roll, and the worthy master appoints one of the officers to interrogate and instruct the class. This is not only very amusing but at the same time very beneficial, for by pursuing this course, if any officer should be absent, any brother draister present will be fully capable of filling his or her place, Secretary Kelly informs the National Grange that of late the order appears to be everynearly 200 new granges is reported every month, notwithstanding it seems that almost the entire Union is occupied. Grange Courts.

There is a clause in the grange constitution that one member of the order shall not go to law with another member until the question shall be submitted to the members of the grange court. We trust this rule will be enforced in every subordinate grange. The clause during the year 1875 saved the Patrons of Kentucky $100,000 by preventing litigation. Every subordinate grange should have the members of the grange court elected, and it should be the duty of that court to do all in their power to preyent litigation among their members. This clause has prevented neighbors from going to law, kept them friends, and been a blessing to them and their families.—Exchange

An exchange says, "there are 51 granges in Indiana which have saved to their members on an average of $578.60 to each grange, and 85 others $407.25 to a grange on an average, by making their purchases direct of manufacturers. Here we have a saving of $72,191,25 by only 136 of the 1,991 granges in the State. We have no reliable information from the other 1,857 granges, but it is fair to presume that all of them have made large savings by direct dealing, and the whole amount would doubtless astonish the members themselves."

The State lecturer in lowa is doing good work in the field, one good feature at the appointments being to call up the masters of the subordinate granges and ask them to give their experience so far, and present condition of their respective granges. THE SPIRIT OF KANSAS.

LAWRENCE, THURSDAY, JUNE 15, 1876.

PLATFORM OF THE INDEPENDENT

The Independent Party is called into existence by the necessities of the people whose industries are prostrated, whose labor is deprived of its just reward as the result of the serious mismanagement of the national finances, which errors both the Republican and Dem oratic parties neglect to correct. And in view of the failure of these parties to furnish relief to the depressed industries of the country, thereby disappointing the just hopes and expectations of a suffering people, we declare our principles and invite all independent and patriotic men to Joyn our ranks in this movement for financial reform and industrial emancipation.

First—We demand the immediate and unconditional repeal of the specie resumption act of January 14, 1875, and the rescue of our industries from the ruin and disaster resulting from its enforcement, and we call upon all patriotic men to organize in every Congressional district of the country, with the view of electing Representatives to Congress who will carry out the wishes of the people in this regard, and stop the present suicidal and destructive policy of contraction.

Second—We believe that the United States note issued directly by the government and convertible on demand into United States obligations, bearing an equitable rate of interest, not exceeding one cent a day on each one hundred dollars, and interchangeable with United States notes at par will afford the best circulating medium ever devised; such United States notes should be a full legal tender for all purposes, except for the payment of such obligations as are by existing contracts expressly made payable in coin. And we hold that it is the duty of the government to provide such a circulating medium, and insist, in the language of Thomas Jefferson. "that bank paper must be suppressed and the circulation restored to the nation, to whom it belongs."

Third—It is the paramount duty of the government in all its legislation to keep in view the full development of all legitimate business

THE PROSPECT—GOOD TIME COMING.

At no time since the universal decline in business caused by the great financial stringency, credit system and every unfavorable circumstance connected with the commercial depression that has been weighing upon our country during the last few years, has the prospect for a return to the good old times of confidence and plenty been so favorable to our own Kansas as at the present. No blessing the effects of which might be originated within the boundaries of this valuable new acquisition to the union has been omitted. . Traveling through the various agricultural portions of Kansas the eye encounters growing crops that can only be surpassed in immagination. The wheat crop in particular is a beautiful picture on both bottom and upland soil. The 10,046,116 bushels of winter wheat harvested in Kansas in 1875 will be left far behind when the product of the present season is apprecated. Corn, notwithstanding the fact of its having been planted a few days later than is the custom, is, nevertheless, of a more than ordinary stand and with the faworshie weather will undoubtedly make a fine yield. Another important return of general prosperity, is the almost unlimited expanse of pasture most unlimited expanse of pasture fort | A.L. Moore, Deputy lands covered with an uncommonly swigorous growth of tender grass on which thousands of cattle have been feeding until they have become or are rapidly becoming in a fine condition for the castern market w All these things are going to demand money and Blat in abundance Incombrances on property and other obligations that were necessitated during the reign of destruction may be very materially lightened and a general revival of all branches of industry expected.

FRAVELS OF MASTER HUDSON AND EDITORIAL WANDERINGS.

DEAR SPIRIT :- As we promised to lkeep our readers posted about our swing around the circle, we avail ourselves of this, our first opportunity to write. We left Lawrence for Olathe on Monday, June 5th; on our arrival at the latter place we met Worthy Master Hudson, properly equipped, and ready to commence the hard work, as well as the hard journey mapped out.

On Tuesday we met the Patrons of doneson county, who, we are glad to say, are in a flourishing condition. While we were there they fully organ-dized a co-operative association, and subscribed a capital of five hundred subsorbed a capital of five hundred dollars to commence with. We feel government retires the greenbacks, and that the Patrons of Johnson county people can retire to their holes.

boarded the early morning train and no better evidence than the daily ocwe found a large hall full of intelligent, earnest Patrons. Master Hudson hands and otherwise using it to their gave them an address that occupied own personal power and self-aggranabout two hours, when we adjourned for dinner. We have attended a good many grange picnics but the feast prepared by the good sisters whom we met at Fairmount carries off the palm, have to do is to "fix up the slates," or we here and now, award them the blue ribbon for the best grange feast ever term it, beats all "cheek" that I supgotten up. We will say to our readers posed human flesh was heir to. Now, that the Patrons we met at Fairmount are among the best, and most earnest in the State. Bro. T. C. Deuel, the deputy of Leavenworth county, invited us to spend the night with him, but on on the subject of habits, we found to our good health, we concluded we would go home with Bro. O.Markham, who said we might smoke in every room in his house.

We agree with Bro. Deuel that smokleast, so useless a practice. On Friday morning Bros. Deuel and Markham harthe country to Springdale; we here exand Markham for the many courtesies shown us.

At Springdale we met a large number of active Patrons, they have a co-oper-Willits, Dept. of Jefferson county who escorted us to his fine farm where we spent the night. Bro. Willits had called a special meeting of his grange for that their profit. Saturday we met the Paoughly organized, having a Pomona Grange of about one hundred and fifty members, and are also running a large and successful co-operative store. We confidently expect good work from the Patrons of Jefferson county. Bro. -Eschelman brought us from Oskaloosa to Valley Falls where we now are. We address the Patrons here this evening. We leave here at four o'clock to-mor-

ED. SPIBIT:-My corn is planted and cultivated once, and it is raining, so I can't work out, hence I have a little breathing time, and wish to notice briefly, Mr. Banker. As he objects to government bonds and counts his couhaving his epitaph written yet, (and pons. Banker, with his numerous I don't know as we can blame him for wishing the evil day postponed) we will endeavor to deal in facts more to his liking, and far more within his compass of research and thought, viz., the finances of this present evil world. The following, from the Kansas Chief, explains itself:

Silver resumption works splendidly. It is hoarded away as fast as given out, or is shipped East where the banks are buying it up, at three per cent. premium. Resumption is a mighty good thing; and the people ought to be su-premely happy to know that these East-ern bankers are dictating the financial supposed large amount held in the granaries of farmers. This, I think, will prove a delusion. This agency is frequently asked, what will new wheat open at? It is safe to say that it will not command a better price that No. 8 wheat of 1875 growth, which now is worth only $1.05 in St. Louis, or $1.03 in Kansas City. Old wheat will con-tinue to bring the highest price in any market until the new has been stacked and has gone through the regular sweat that wheat must go through to make it merchantable.

While on this wheat subject, allow me to suggest to some of our people, that the season portends rain, similar to last year, and seeing and knowing that we we lost fully 25 per cent. by damage with too much rain, that a very few dollars expended in buying a cheap article of unbleached muslin, such as I can furnish for six or seven cents per yard, three breadths sewed together, and well painted with white lead and oil, which would turn water, and prevent crickets from eating them, were stretched over the tops of each grain rick, especially those cut by headers, would save many thousands of hard earned dollars. And after harvest, and the wheat is threshed, they would come in play for the hay. This is a cheap tarpaulin, and will last, if properly taken care of, for six or seven years.

The printers promise me my catalogues the latter part of this week; those sending their ten cents for it arrangements to ship their own grain; it does not require any capital to do this; but the best accountant in the grange if an agency for purpose is to be established that each brother's wheat would be properly accounted for. If no agent is made or appointed, each individual can ship his own grain. For private instructions, see my new catalogue for 1876. Anything additional that those about to ship may wish, Fraternally, write to this office. A. T. STEWART.

Here in Douglas county, Harrison's denunciation of anybody counts for naught and nobody with fatness, while they enjoy all the thinks of making a defence. His first comforts and luxuries and power of charge that I am the "true friend of the bondholder"—meant in its most offen-sive sense—is utterly false, as Harrison knows, and every one else who ever heard me speak upon the question Farther along he speaks of presenting a petition to me—for my signature I suppose—and tells what I said. Hon. James G. Blaine, the prominent Republican candidate for the Presidency, was taken suddenly ill on Sun-day last, while on his way to church. He was unconscious for several hours, but was better on Monday morning, and still continues to improve rapidly. His physician states that the hot weather and an overworked brain was the cause of the attack.

The Leavenworth Times of Tuesday says: "Yesterday afternoon, about half past five o'clock, as Mr. Jonathan R. Phillips, who was about seventy-six years of age, and lived on Fifth avenue, between Spruce and Congress streets, was returning to the house from the garden, where he had been at work, looking after some flowers, he suddenly fell to the ground and uttered an exclamation of pain. A girl, employed about the house, seeing him fall. ran to his assistance, and calling for help, succeeded with some difficulty in getting him into the house, placed him on a bed, and sent for a physician. He however, expired in a few minutes. The physician who attended him says his death probably resulted from heart

Telegrams from Washington, D. C., dated June 9, state that Jacob Thompson, Secretary of the Interior before the war, had been served with a probonds taken from his department, and for the amount received by him from the Confederate States, and which it is alleged, reverted to and became property of the Confederate States, and one million dollars as interest. Thompson said he noticed in the newspapers some days ago, that Secretary Chandler has made the charge that he had abstracted these bonds, but now his charge had been abandoned, and a civil suit instituted to make him personally responsible for the acts of a subordinate clerk. Mr. Thompson says he, as an agent, was instructed by the Confederate gov enument to turn the unexpended bal-ance of $1,000,000 over to the Confed-erate agents abroad. This he did, and afterwards, there was a final adjust-ment of his account, and a full and final receipt of all moneys was given to him, which receipt he has now in his possession.

City and Vicinity.

WE have had rain enough during the past week to last a month. The crops are smiling.

BEGIN this season to improve your stock of swine, and order a model Berkshire pig or two of Maj. Coburn, where you can get the best at hard times prices. Read his advertisement.

WE have just received a catalogue and price list issued by Montgomery Ward & Co., of Chicago, Ills., which shows very plainly that these gentlemen are selling all goods pertaining to a first class supply house at remarkably low figures. This firm are receiving the patronage of a large number of granges in Kansas.

THE Evening Standard of Monday published the announcement that Mr. F. J. V. Skiff had sold that paper to Hon. E. G. Ross and Ely Moore. Fred Skiff is known all over Kansas as one of the most energetic young newspaper men in the State, and we are sorry that he has concluded to retire even for a time from the Centennial Fourth.

A large number of Sunday Schools will meet and celebrate the 4th of July on the old camp one-half mile south of Baldwin. The Declaration of Independence will be read by Prof. Sweet. The Centennial will be pronounced by L. F. Green. M. S. Meacham is the presiding officer. Rupt. Scragg is the Marshal; the afternoon exercises will consist of Pioneer speeches by old settlers.

Celebration of the 4th of July.

The Sabbath Schools of Coal Creek and Vinland have united to celebrate the Centenary year of American Independence on the 4th of July, in the Roe Grove, 1 mile northwest of Coal Creek school house. Exercises of the usual order, beginning at 11 o'clock a. m., consisting of music, orations, &c. There will be a stand on the ground for the sale of ice cream, lemonade and other refreshments.

All granges, orders of good templers, Sabbath schools and the public in general are invited to attend. By order of the committee. VINLAND, June 13th, 1876.

Sewing Machine on Easy Terms.

Any person wishing a first-class, new Sewing Machine, can be accommodated, on the most favorable terms, by calling or sending to the SPIRIT office, Lawrence. The "New American" Sewing Machine has been adopted by the State Grange of Kansas as their standard machine. We have seen letters from the following named gentlemen and ladies of the Kansas Grapge, who have the "New American," all praising it in the highest terms: W. P. Popence, Topeka; John G. Otis, Topeka; J. L. Hulso, Junction City; J. D. Hardy, Hiawatha; D. D. Moorhead, Mound City, and

THERE are certain implements conceded to be necessities by certain iarmer, such as the axe, the plow, the harrow and the spade." Many others might properly be classed therewith, among which we would suggest a good agricultural newspaper, although it might be a stretch of propriety to call a newspaper an implement, it certainly is a "means" necessary to successful farming. There is another article which farmers think "can be got along without;" that is a good scale. Every one who has anything to buy or sell by the pound, should have a reliable scale of his own, then in buying he is not obliged to receive fourteen ounces for a pound. All men are not thieves, but there are thousands who "roll in riches," out of which they defraud the poor farmer by false weight. It does no harm to watch honest men, and to do that successfully, weigh on your own scales everything you buy or sell. Many are deterred from buying scales by the exhorbitant prices a-ked for them by agents, both local and traveling. The trade has been revolutionized by Jones, of Binghampton, N. Y., who sells direct to the user at manufactors' prices, prepays the freight, and asks no pay until the scale is received, tested, and found satisfactory. His free price list will give you cost of scales at your railroad station.

The readers of the Spirit are again reminded of the importance of remembering an institution that all Patrons, as well as others, will find to their interest to bear in mind. We refer to the mammoth clothing house of Hammerslough, the enterprising clothing merchant of Kansas City. His stock embraces everything a man may need for himself or boys. Remember then to call on Hammerslough or send him your orders. He'll attend to you.

PATRONS AND OTHERS calling at our store are cautioned to be careful in finding the proper number, 518 MARKET STREET, with a LARGE STREET CLOCK, keeping accurate time, hanging just over our doorway. Be careful to see the number and name of irm, BENNETT & CO., and enter right under the clock. Even it told "this is Tower Hall," do not believe it without noticing the clock right over your head, the name and number on it. We are thus particular from it having come to our knowledge that Patrons, as well as others, have been sold inferior and trashy garments at high prices by unscrupulous persons doing business in our neighborhood, who constantly deceive and swindle the unwary in this way, representing their stores to be ours.

Those who visit Philadelphia we shall be glad to have call on us, whether they wish to purchase or not? We shall at all times be huppy to show our goods and explain our mode of doing business.

Kansas Pacific Railway.

Citizens of Lawrence and vicinity, when you travel anywhere, always take the old reliable pioneer line—The Kansas Pacific Railway. It is the only through route reaching your city, and extends from Kansas City, through central Kansas and Eastern Colorado to Denver, at the base of the Rocky Mountain. When you need a respite from business cares, or feel weary, or in bad health, go visit the resorts of the Rocky Mountains. The scenery, of Colorado is grand, and its climate unequalled. The medical waters of its great hot, cold and warm soda, sulphur and other springs, and its celebrated natural baths, have wonderful curative properties. When you wish to go East or South on business, take the Kansas Pacific line, and buy your ticket only of F. C. Gay, agent at the Kansas Pacific Depot or Ludington House offices. He has a most complete set of through tickets and baggage checks to all points of the country, and will give you reliable information concerning connections, time, rates of fare, &c. The Kansas Pacific Railway offers you dispatch, safety and sure connections. Through passengers remember, the few changes of cars in union depots, and the vexations of other lines are avoided. Pullman cars are on all express trains. Street cars and omnibus lines are run regularly to and from the Kansas Pacific depot. O. S. Lyford is General Superintendent, and Beverley R. Keim, General Passenger Agent, with offices at Kansas City.

For delegates and others wishing to attend the National Conventions, for the nomination of candidates for President and Vice President of the United States, the "Old Reliable" Hannibal and St. Joseph R. R. will place round trip tickets on sale at Kansas City, Leavenworth, Atchison. St. Joseph, and other stations on its line at Half Fare or one full fare for the round trip. Tickets for the Republican Convention, which meets in Cincinnati, June 14th, will be placed on sale June 9th, and will be good for return passage June 20th. Tickets for the Democratic Convention, which meets in St. Louis, June 27th, will be placed on sale June 24th, and will be good for return passage July 2d. HOUSEHOLD DEPARTMENT.

This is a special department, edited by a lady of Lawrence, and devoted particularly to matters of nterest to the wives and mothers who peruse our columns. This feature of the HOME JOURNAL has proven very attractive to our readers, and wil e maintained and enlarged.

AGRICULTURAL DEPARTMENT.

In this department we shall give from week to week such facts, suggestions and observations on agricultural topics as may prove valuable and ineresting to our readers

HORTICULTURAL DEPARTMENT.

The HOME JOURNAL publishes full reports of he proceedings of the Douglas County Horticultural Society, the best organization of the kind in the State. Many valuable papers are read before this society, and its discussions are of great value to every horticulturist.

GENERAL LITERATURE.

The HOME JOURNAL gives every week several columns of choice literature, such as carefully selected stories, poems, essays and descriptive articles, calculated to interest and instruct its readers.

LOCAL AND STATE NEWS.

We aim to give a bird's eye view of all that is going on in Kansas. Our crop reports during last autumn were the fullest published in the State and did much to redeem it from the unfavorable impression created by the drouth and grasshopper

ANADERESS

Delivered before the Kansas State Horticultural Society, at its Sixth Semi-Angual Meeting, held at Olathe, June Sib bild 7th, 1876, by the Bresident, Prof. E. Gale.

Ludies and Gentlemen of the Kansas state Horticultural Society, and Citizens of Olathe :-In our meeting here to-day we recognize the fact that horticulture must hold a prominent place in the estimation of a very large class of the most influential and advanced minds of the age. The close relation of this society, to the financial and social prosperity of the State has been an accepted fact, for years among those who have watched with pride the developmen of our noble commonwealth. If the State has passed through seasons of depression the true friends of our adopted State, have had faith, in ther, and the experience of to-day justifies that faith. It our orchards and gardens have been defoliated and almost ruined by the swarming pests of the northwest, the members of this society have quietly looked to the future, if not with a prophet's eye, at least with a faith in the possibilities of Kansas soll said cliniate which gave even in the darkest hour, the promise of grander results yet to come, and what we see to they is only the foretaste of greater things in of our noble commonwealth. If the State has grander results yet to come, and what, we, see to-dny is only the foretaste of greater things in the future.

It is well sometimes to give a reason for our faith, and our actions. Why are we here? and why does this society claim your attention? There must be some reason for it, and circumstances demand that we seek a reason for the very existence of our society. In these times there are none of us who can afford to waste days over an object which can do us or others there are none of us who can afford to waste days over an object which can do us or others no good. The demand of the day is embraced in this single sentence: "Cut down all unnecessary expenses." We cannot afford to leave our business to do either useless work, or work which will be as well done without us. It is a settled principle of political economy that every hour occupied and every dollar spent in a useless cause, or even in a desirable one which would have been attained as effectually without our aid is so much wasted capital, thereby making the world so much the moorer. The members of this society have some little interest in hot bedutural pursuits, but probably tew of us wish to waste our time or our money without some adequate return service and desperentatement in every department of the control of

In order to embrace, all that should be included in our estimates, of what are strictly horticultural products, we must add no inconsiderable sum to, the aboys for the products of the yegetablu garden, and also of doriculture as an occupation. In the absence of any positive detectis probable that the horticultural products of the country cannot be less than $179,000,000. This estimate it should be remembered does not included the products of nurseries nor the enhanced value of estates as the result of forest culture, also producing this yast result, henses has already taken a proud position. The inut interest has already proved an important one, and is dastined to assume even greater proportions in the luture.

Ther is really no other part of the union where tim is really no other part of the union where tim-bericulture ishould meetive greater attention than here in Kansas, and/everything which fa-vors treevel ture will promote the very highest therests of the entire State. In this direction this society has abored althfully and constant-by from the deglining. And we probably do not mistike the desire of the society when ave say that it has been our purpose to give more thought and time to the subject of tree, culture involved the wasting or saving of minious of dollars, the first and the same same saving as minious of dollars, the first and saving and the first regarded from this stand point, there is yet another aspect of this question which cannot be overlooked, and that is its influence upon the adornment of home, and consequent refinement of society. With the parent, whether in town-or country, there is something else to be thought of besides the dollar. The culture of a test for the beautiful in nature cannot be be thought of besides the dollar. The culture of a taste for the beautiful in nature cannot be safely discarded either by the parent or patriot, and it must be acknowledged by all that there is no employment which does so much to elevate and 'refine as the pursuits of horticulture. It is well known that the work of the horticulturist takes a very wide range, and must demand the most patient labor and study.

poorer. The members of this society have some little lutrest in horticultural primaris, but probably lew of us wish to waste our time or our money without some adequate return to either ourselves or others. There are reasons for looking this question square in the face po-day, and determining it we care whether the intricultures shall prosecute its work as hitherto, or give it into other hands work as thierto, or give it into other hands when the tricultural shall prosecute its work as hitherto, or give it into other hands when the proper and the protect that we shall be proposed that the state of the various papers, reports, the did to those who mever have and perhaps never will make this work a possibly a review of the past. As illustrative of this point let us note some of the society have sought to encourage such discussions, and secure such addresses at its annual and semi-annual meetings. In this we can do no more than simply name a tew of the able papers that have been presented to the society and hence now here the property.

First in the order of presentation is a paper by Dr. Wm. M. Howsley, on "The rot of the grape and mildew of three and prevention," Cultivation of small fruits," J. Saxe; "Dea

If the were to seek simply, the interests of nurserymen, doubtless, these could be effected best by a special-organization. If we were to seek the interests of farmers alone, probably there is no better channel than that already existing, and which is proving a nighty power in the land, (Trefer to the Patron. 11) Por good reasons Putrons do not ask for an appropriation from the State. Now there should be some clearly defined rule irrelation to this matter. It should be fined rule irrelation to this matter. It should defined rule in relation to this matter. It should not take us long to see that the dealer in bank stock or town loss, ought not to be permitted stock or town lots, lought not to be permitted to advertise his business at the expense of the State, of the specuator in lands to unload through State patronage; but where the lite should be drawn so as to withhold State aid and dispense it justly, is a serious question, and one for the people of Kansas to decide, and in this regard weare we are willing to leave our interests with the people.

We think that there are a few questions settled beyond reasonable doubt. Let us repeat them:

1st. That the field embraced within the compass of our work is broad enough to determine a special organization.

2d. That our society has adhered strictly to the work of promoting the horticultural interests of the State.

3d. That this society has made a record in the history of the State which its originators and supporters have reason to regard with

4th. That the work of this society concerns more nearly, the interests of all classes than that of any other organization in the State and hence, can legitimately claim a reasonable sup-that of any other organization in the State and hence can legitimately chain a reasonable support from the State. While we have undoubted rights in the direction of State support, the question may be properly asked, whether the interests of the society while not, be ultimately promoted by so organizing as finally to place us beyond the need of State aid. It is a fact well understood that this organization need not in its nature be expensive, and yet its work here for the State. It is possible the time has not come for the discussion of this avestion, of an independent existence. But it may not be amiss to consider it in connection which is already in the hands of a large and intelligent committee.

In connection with this matter I desire to call your attention to the fact that some plan should be devised for carrying forward the work of the society.

At the last annual meeting a Committee of Experiments was appointed, one of its number being made Commissioner of Experiments was appointed, one of its number being made Commissioner of Experiments was appointed, one of its number being made Commissioner of Experiments with headquarters for the present at Manhattan. A report of the work of that committee will be made to the society at this meeting.

It remains for you to decide what the future of this society is to be. While we are compelled to look at only work primarily from the stand point of pecticiary returns, we know that you will believe in the higher quiture of hortculture, and in this fact that the highest interests of the State and the social and intellectual culture of the race are intimately associated, with the pursuits of hortculture. Through the gains and losses of the past we have attained some experience, which can be made available in the future. Let us seek to use it for the good of the State and the social and intellectual culture of the sace are intimately associated. With the pursuits of hortculture.

Through the gains and losses of the sace with all our deliberations and plans that fatherly

ED. SPIRIT: Our wheat in this sec tion of the country is covered with rust. What is the cause, and what will Prevent or remove it? R. NEWTON, Kan., June 5th, 1876.

ANSWER .- An over-abundance of rain followed with hot, damp weather, will cause wheat to rust. Nothing within the power of man can prevent its coming or remove it after its appearance. If the rust is on the blade and not on the stalk no danger need be apprehended, but if rust is on the stalk room personal observation, Prof. Riley states, so far as Missouri and Riley states, so far as Missouri and or stem, and the kernel is in the dough, cut it down as soon as possible, for by so doing you will save the sap already in the stalk to mature the grain, whereas, if you leave it standing with rust on the stem the grain will very soon become dead. What Shall we do With our Sheep?

On this subject the Michigan Far ver

There is some anxiety among sheep breeders to know what course to take with their sheep. "What shall we do with them?" they ask.

Our answer is, take a conservative, steady course, pursue it steadily, and do not be carried away with the cry of cheap wool, but aim to keep a flock of sheep on your farm. There are many considerations in favor of keeping a few sheep on every farm. They are good fertilizers; they afford some va-riety to farm life; they are a food pro-ducing animal; their wool always sells for cash at some price, and they are easily handled and their product is cheaply marketed.

to the farmers of Michigan for their wool. Just the season they want money for harvesting. At this season they be are busy; they have a few days to market their wool and get a little money, and this gives them capital for the summer's campaign. No other crop can fill or take the place of the wool

We understand there will be a dispesition to sacrifice sheep on account of the low price of wool. We recollect the scare of 1869, and we also recollect that those who held on its wool production made the money, and we apprehend this will be the case again.

We do most earnestly recommend that wool growers cull their flocks and turn off all inferior, non-productive sheep, but let no one imagine that the bottom is about to fall out of the business. There are altogether too many bounds of wool; turn off all this low kind of trash. Mark every shep for the shambles that does not come up to the standard. It is time the wool growers of this State got entirely through with the scrub rams and ewes. It is time that all half bred bucks were sent to the shambles, and there should be a loud call for the best thoroughbred rams. There should be an advance along the entire line of the standard and the stock is gaining new advocates that does not come up to the standard. The same thing is true in regard to cattle. Fortunately, good qualities and sound health are also transmitted. But we must not overestimate the law of inheritance. It does not operate uniformly and invariably; hence breeding is a science.

A CLUMING THE LOW IN TH along the entire line of sheep breeding. We wish our voice could reach every flock master in the State with such potency as would compel the slaughter this season, of every scrub ram in the borders of the State.

The best flocks are the ones that are the season at this with sheep as it is going to pay. It is with sheep as it is with swine or cattle—there must be culled—some pains must be taken with breeding stock. All we can say is, let the man who has a good flock of sheep keep making it better. Resolve to add one pound to every fleece.

Jersey Milking Can.

This can is of tin, globular, with a fiat bottom and a rim around it. The upper part of the globe open, and has a flaring top, which is about eight inches in diameter at the edge. A handle, like a pitcher handle, is upon one side, attached to this flaring top. When in use, a rather closely woven linen napkin is tied over the top, and under the handle, so that, it will sag down into the can to a depth of three inches or so. In this sag of the strainer a sea-shell is laid—one of the shells of a seallop define in such the top of the shell, and the load soon rises and nearly fills the strainer; specks of falling dirt, mostly restauped the top of the loam. Those which are carried down awash—over the edge of the shell and lie beneath it. The Grasshopper Scourge of 1876. Where is charring gave for western farmers, conveyed in Prof. C. V. Ritey's recent statements, in a Colorado naper, relative to the probable unmbers of the grasshoppers during the coming summer. Some one, it appears, has asserted that the soil of the region in the north west portion of the country lying east of the Rocky Mountains is covered with prodigious numbers of grasshopper eggs; and the disagreeait its quietus in so characteristically effective a manner that we are half inclined to be grateful to the mendacious individual who set the story affoat, since it has been the means of obtaining such welcome intelligence from probably the best entomological au-

Kansas are concerned, the report is wholly groundless. In Minnesots, a State commission has determined that the eggs have mostly perished from excessive moisture, which dissolves the glutinous substance which normally protects and holds them together. In some parts of the high country lying east of the mountains, especially toward the north, eggs have been deposited in numbers by, the swarms which left the lower and more fertile country devastated last year; but in that re-gion, such is the case every year, for it is the native home of the swarms that minutes, rub the corn well with sweet occasionally extend to the upper Missis oil. If the trouble reappears repeat the SWEET POTATOES, sippi valley. In Missouri, Kansas and operation. Let us know it a convenient braska, however, the number of eggs, laid by the few straggling insects that passed over those States last fall, will not equal that laid in ordinary seasons by indigenous species. In Colorado there is every hope that the protracted rains destroyed the eggs.

Prof. Riley gives it as his conclusion, in addition to the above, that, compared with other parts of the country, those States ravaged by tocusts in last spring and early summer will enjoy the greater immunity during the same season of 1876, not only from asily handled and their product is heaply marketed.

In June about $2,000,000 will be paid of obnexious fusets, except the wood by the formers of Michigan for their borers. In short, the people of the ravaged section have every reason to be hopeful rather than gloomy.—Sci-entific American

The Law of Inheritance.

The law of inheritance among the numerous species of plants and animals is well known and acknowledged. So in-clusive is this law, that a new character appearing in a single animal is often transmitted, sometimes for a time, and sometimes in the most persistent or permanent manner. An unimportant peculiarity, not an essential character-istic, is frequently transmitted through the male or female, and re-appears in the offspring at their maturity, or when they are advanced in age, as in certain

In the horse, hereditary disease is a well recognized fact. Youatt says "that there is scarcely a malady to which the facts, and steady perseverance on the part of the breeder. The last hundred years are full of facts all going to show clearly that the principle of inheritance may be utilized in forming superior breeds of all the domesticated animals, and doubtless the future will place the true principles of breeding more com-pletely under the control of man. The adaptation of nature, with all its array of powers, to the comprehension and control of human reason, is unquestionably more perfect than men have ever imagined, and it is this fact which insures perpetual progress to civilization.—Live Stock Record.

Vertigo.

I have a mare which I took out to exercise a few days ago; she had been standing in the stable for ten days. I walked her and jogged lier slow for about five or six miles, and then let her out to her full speed for about half a mile, and I had to pull her real hard o get her down to a walk again. Just at that point she made a peculiar noise or groaning and fell down, straighten ed her limbs and whinnied two or three times. She then lay perfectly still for a time, when I got her up and drove her home. Please be kind enough to tell me what was the trouble, and oblige a
