Fall Cattle Sales

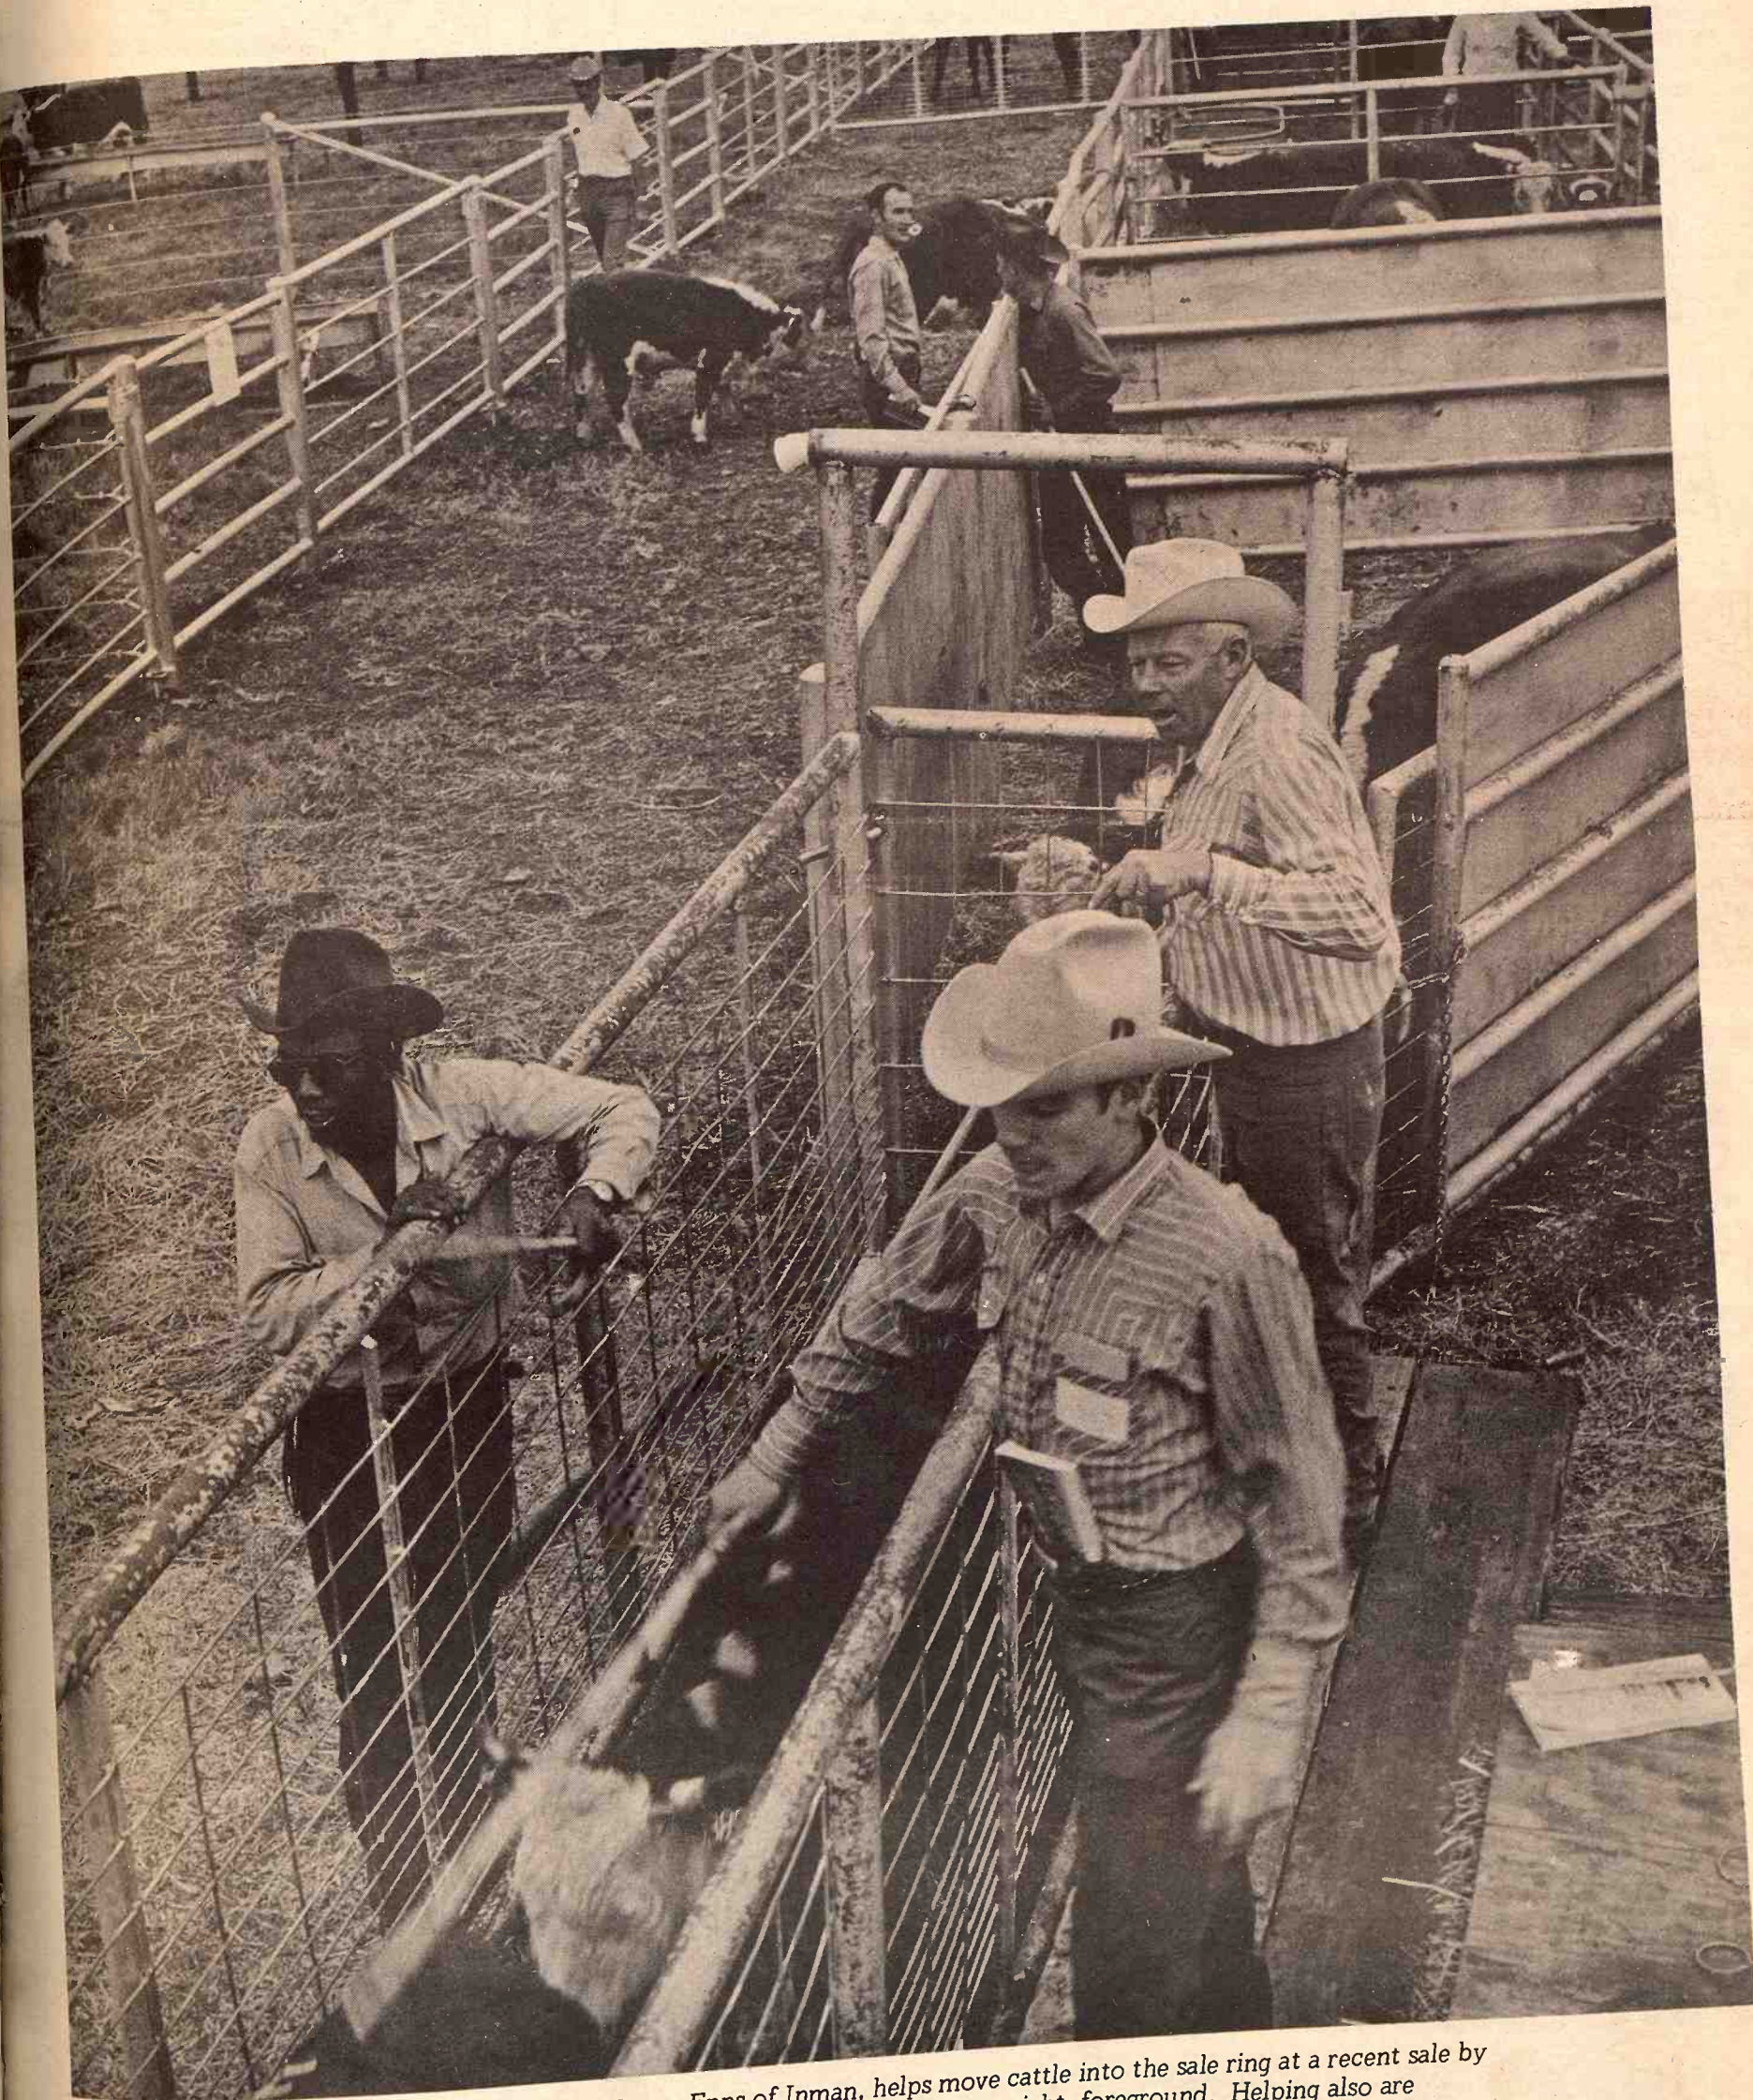

GRASS

& GRAIN

17th Year No. 36

November 2, 1971

The G&G area has the usual number of fall livestock sales, with area livestockmen not finding it difficult to find at least a couple of sales each week close enough by to attend. Production sales... association sales... exotics... close-outs... feeder calves... take your choice—a cattleman won't have to travel far to find cattle that he'd like to have.

A G&G area stockman, Menno Enns of Inman, helps move cattle into the sale ring at a recent sale by Coddling Cattle Research near Foraker, Oklahoma. Enns is at right, foreground. Helping also are Cornely Caldwell of Pawhuska and Jackie Griffin of Cushing, Okla. Gene Watson of Hutchinson managed this sale, along with the Reyes Brothers of San Antonio.

Poorest Wheat Pasture In 5 Years

Wheat pasture forage for livestock in the western two-thirds of Kansas at mid-October this year was quite limited, according to the Kansas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service.

While about a million acres of volunteer wheat had sufficient growth for grazing, only 61,000 acres was actually being pastured, the smallest acreage since 1967.

Only about 5 percent of this fall's seeded acreage had attained sufficient growth for pasturing by mid-October and very few livestock were yet grazing on it. Forage available on wheat pasture was rated mostly from fair to poor over the bulk of the wheat pasture area.

For the western two-thirds of Kansas the forage available from wheat pasture was rated the poorest in 5 years.

Rains since the middle of October have materially improved prospects for pasturing of seeded wheat later this fall. At mid-October an estimated 8 acres of wheat pasture was required to carry a 400 pound calf through fall and winter, about the same as in the past 2 years.

Great Plains Area

Wheat pasture in the 3-State area of Kansas, Oklahoma, and Texas was providing only limited grazing at mid-October. Forage supplies varied from poor to good.

However, grazing is expected to improve in November. Soil moisture supplies were adequate at mid-October in Oklahoma and Texas for rapid vegetative growth, and in Kansas have been improved by rains received since mid-October. About 15 percent of the seeded wheat acreage in the 3-State area had sufficient growth to pasture by October 15.

This compares with 10 percent at this time a year earlier. About 1.5 percent of the acreage was being grazed at mid-October, the same as a year earlier. Acres required to carry a 400 pound calf averaged 6.4 compared with 7.0 acres last year. Oklahoma (Western)

At mid-October only 10 percent of the western Oklahoma Wheat acreage had sufficient growth to permit any grazing, and only 1 percent had any livestock on it. By mid-October most intended wheat acreage was planted and half of the acreage was up to stand.

Most of the crop was in good condition. Generally, the outlook for wheat pasture was good with the exception of local areas of the Panhandle.

Acres of wheat required to carry a calf averaged 5 acres, the same as a year earlier. Moisture supplies, both top and subsoil, were ample for favorable growth during the coming month.

Texas (Plains)

Wheat pasture was furnishing limited grazing as of October 15. Approximately 22 percent of the 1972 wheat crop had sufficient growth for pasture as of October 15 with about one-third of this acreage being grazed.

Supply of forage and carrying capacity are above a year ago. Prospects for future grazing are generally favorable with most areas having adequate moisture for growth and few insect problems.

Acres of wheat required to carry a calf averaged 4 acres, compared with 7 acres at mid-October, when soil moisture was inadequate for normal growth.

fresh approach to pork profits

Litter Fritters, the freshest, most palatable pig pre-starter feed you can buy is here. Double-sealed in plastic to assure palatability and earlier dry food intake. Litter Fritters start young pigs on the road to profit in Co-op's all new Meat Market Program, the plan designed to produce better pork, higher profits.

Litter Fritters unique four-ply bag has two plies of polyethylene ... one sandwiched between craft paper walls to lock in freshness and flavor, the other bonded to the exterior surface to lock out contaminants.

And no pre-starter gets to infant pigs sooner with so much: Flavor, nutrients, Tylan + Sulfa medication, quality ingredients, easy-to-eat nugget form. Litter Fritters are rich in pure table-grade sugar and have high fat milk solids specially processed to preserve flavor.

If you have new litters on the ground, or coming soon, plan now to start them on Litter Fritters. When they reach 10 pounds in weight, switch them to the 10/30 Pig Starter Plan ... the second step in the Co-op Meat Market Program.

10/30 is specially formulated for pigs in the critical 10 to 30 pound range. 10/30 Plan feeds are the result of extensive Farmland Industries research and provide all the nutrients a young pig is known to require. Extra palatability and Tylan + Sulfa medication are built in. Plastic lamination on the bag exterior insures freshness and purity.

These profit-powered pre-starter and starter feeds are available at your nearby double-circle Co-op. And they're just part of the complete Co-op Meat Market Program, the way to better pork and a more profitable operation.

FARMERS OUTLOOK

L.H. Simerl

More Corn— Fewer Soybeans

The corn crop is much better than most everyone expected. Farmers are busy harvesting a record crop—despite the southern corn leaf blight and a very dry summer in many places.

This year's corn crop will total about 5.4 billion bushels, according to the latest USDA report which was based on conditions the first of October. The 1971 crop, thus, will be 1 billion bushels greater than the poor crop harvested a year ago. It is also 640 million bushels (13 percent) larger than the previous record crop, produced in 1967.

Reasons For Big Corn Crop
The big crop is the result of large acreage and a record national average yield. Farmers will harvest about 64.1 million acres for grain. This acreage is 12 percent more than last year, and the largest acreage harvested since 1960. The national average yield is estimated at 84.3 bushels per acre. That is 12.6 bushels more than last year, and 0.4 bushel more than the previous record set two years ago.

Some farmers still do not understand where the extra acres came from. Those acres became available for crops when the Feed Grain Program was changed so that no payments were made for setting aside more than 20 percent of the base acreage.

The big yields per acre are a surprise to many of us, in view of widespread blight and shortage of rainfall during the growing season. Although the blight appeared in many fields, it did little damage in most cases. The dry summer was offset by early planting, a warm June, and a relatively cool July and August.

While the corn crop will total about 5.4 billion bushels, domestic use and exports are likely to take not more than 4.7 billion. Thus, the crop is expected to exceed use by about 700 million bushels. Only once before—in 1948—Has the crop exceeded needs by such an amount.

The USDA price-support loan program is keeping prices at close to a $1 a bushel. If farmers put enough corn under loan, the market price will rise to 10 to 15 cents over the loan—but only a relatively few farmers would be able to redeem and sell their corn at that price.

Soybean Supply Short

The soybean crop is still short of normal market needs. The official October estimate was 1,175 million bushels, just 40 million bushels more than last year. The carryover of old beans on September 1 was only 98 million bushels, compared with 230 million a year earlier. Hence, the supply for the present marketing year will be about 1,273 million bushels. But at least 50 million bushels will be needed for year-end pipeline supplies, so the usable supply is no more than 1,223 million bushels.

This amount is considerably less than the use-and-export total during the past year, when disappearance was 1,268 million bushels. If the users of soybean meal and oil do not find satisfactory substitutes, a serious shortage of beans could develop next summer. The prospects for 1972 soybean acreage will soon become an important price-making factor.

MAJOR BANKS DROP PRIME BELOW 6 PERCENT

Major banks in the U.S. have cut their prime lending rate below 6 percent for the first time in several years. Prime rate is supposedly the lowest rate to the biggest and most creditworthy customers and influences the rates on consumer loans, home mortgages, and other lending. Morgan Guaranty of New York was the first to cut the rate from 6 percent to 5 3/4 and Chase Manhattan, Citizens & Southern of Atlanta, and the Bank of California followed.

Area Beef Firm Shows At Fair In Germany

A G&G area beef firm recently was the first Kansas company ever to exhibit products at the ANUGA food show in Cologne, Germany, the State Dept. of Agriculture announced Wednesday.

The ANUGA show is the world's largest of its kind, attracting 185,000 visitors from 76 nations.

Sunflower Beef Inc. of Wichita exhibited a variety of individual steak cuts, selected beef roasts and other consumer cuts at the show. The meats were displayed in a frozen packaging developed by Sunflower to maintain a natural red appearance in frozen meat.

Joe Cowan, Sunflower marketing manager, was accompanied to Germany by Jim Swiercinsky, assistant director of the marketing division of the State Agriculture Dept., who sought to introduce Kansas agricultural products to overseas buyers.

Smallest Feed Grain Stocks Since 1956

Stocks of wheat in all positions in Kansas on October 1 were of intermediate size but stocks of feed grains, including old crop corn and sorghum grain, were quite small, according to the Kansas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service.

Stocks of all individual grains except rye were less than a year earlier.

Wheat stored both on and off farms in Kansas on October 1 totaled 387,243,000 bushels, down 9 percent from October 1, 1970 and compares with a range from 234 million to 678 million on that date during the 1960's.

Off-farm wheat stocks were 318,470,000 bushels, 9 percent below a year earlier while farm stocks of 68,773,000 were slightly lower.

Total rye stocks of 2,719,000 bushels on October 1 were about 1 1/2 times those last year and record high for the date.

Stocks of four major feed grains—old crop sorghum grain and corn combined with all oats and barley—in all positions total 49,550,000 bushels; less than three-fifths last year's and smallest for October 1 since 1956.

Sorghum grain stored from the 1970 or earlier crops totaled 13,784,000 bushels, about two-fifths of a year earlier and the smallest since 1957. These included off-farm stocks of 9,405,000 bushels and farm stocks of 4,379,000 bushels.

Old crop corn stored totaled 20,270,000 bushels, about three-fifths of those a year earlier. Off-farm stocks were 16,286,000 bushels and farm stocks 3,984,000 bushels.

Combined on and off-farm stocks of oats on October were 9,463,000 bushels and all barley in storage totaled 6,033,000 bushels; both down moderately from last year but moderately higher than on that date in most other recent years.

United States

The Nation's total stocks of the four feed grains (corn, oats, barley, and sorghum) on October 1, 1971, amounted to 50.6 million tons, 21 percent less than the 64.2 million tons a year earlier.

Large declines were noted in corn and sorghum while barley and oats were relatively unchanged. Stocks of all wheat were 4 percent above a year earlier and the highest in 8 years, and rye stocks were a third larger.

All wheat in storage, October 1 totaled 1,876 million bushels, 4 percent above a year earlier and the highest October stocks since 1963.

Off-farm stocks of 1,053 million bushels were 6 percent below a year earlier but farm holdings of 824 million were record high and 22 percent above a year ago.

Disappearance from all storage positions during July-September is indicated at 482 million bushels, compared with 465 million a year earlier.

Old crop sorghum grain stored in all positions on October 1 totaled only 91 million bushels, 63 percent below last year and the smallest October 1 stocks since 1957. Of the total supply, off-farm storages held 77 million bushels and farm storages nearly 14 million bushels.

Old crop corn stored in all positions on October 1 totaled 665 million bushels, 33 percent below a year earlier and the lowest for this date since 1952. Old corn stored on farms was 25 percent less than last year and stocks in off-farm facilities were down 44 percent.

Oat holdings in all storage positions on October 1 totaled 1,097 million bushels, a fraction under last year's record high. Off-farm holdings of 280 million bushels are a new high for October 1 but farm holdings are lower than in the last 2 years.

Barley stored in all positions on October 1 totaled 495 million bushels, 1 percent more than a year earlier. Off-farm stocks of 172 million bushels were 6 percent below a year ago but farm stocks, at 323 million bushels, were 6 percent above a year earlier.

Extension Groups Elect Officers

Kansas Extension Service has elected officers for four county agent associations at an annual conference at Kansas State University.

Memberships to the Agricultural Agents' Association—the Home Economics Association, the 4-H Agents Association and the Horticultural Agents Association—include representatives from the 105

Kansas counties.

Elected to the Agricultural Association were Marshall Walker, Grant County, president; Steve Kraisinger, Pratt, vice president, and Tom Maxwell, Allen, secretary-treasurer.

Home economics agents are Elsie Branden, Finney County, president; Helen Blackwood, Reno, president-elect; Jeanice Cress, Allen, first vice president; Gloria Gaston, Marshall, second vice president; Emily Robbins, Leavenworth, treasurer, and Janet Rediker, Morris, historian.

Jim Kibby, Wyandotte County, was elected president of horticultural agents with Norman Warminski, Sedgwick, elected vice president. Max Morris, Shawnee, was named secretary-treasurer.

Agents elected to the 4-H Association were Raymon L. Studer, McPherson County, president;

New Metals, Gimmicks, Tough Competition Dull Gillette's Edge

Special identification badges, uniformed guards, sealed areas that are off-limits to all but the privileged few, special push-button door security locks, an extensive research program that relies on human volunteers. A supersecret military project? A government defense plant? The CIA? Would you believe a razor blade plant in Boston? The plant is the world's largest of its kind and is home base for Gillette, the leading blade and razor manufacturer. The security is a partial reflection of the current supercharged competition among blade makers. Long gone are the relaxed "blue blade days" when Gillette had just about the entire blade and razor market tucked in its beard. Changes were slow in coming and carefully introduced. It's a different ballgame nowadays with aggressive challengers such as Wilkinson, Schick and Personna picking a battle with Gillette, and not necessarily coming off second best. The new products and heavy advertising have served to keep alive and accentuate what has been called the everlasting male dream of a better, more satisfying shave just around the corner. In the old days there was a simple carbon steel blade, the most popular style being the familiar double-edged blade. Today the shaver has a choice of various exotic metals and metal combinations including stainless steel, chromium, tungsten steel, platinum and titanium. (Gillette researchers are also looking into the use of gold alloy and diamond-type blade edges.)

King C. Gillette, whose photograph was until recent years major feature of Gillette packaging, first put his new razor and blade on the market in 1903. A total of 51 razors and 168 blades were sold that year. By 1917, razor sales reached one million a year and annual blade sales topped 120 million. When former traveling salesman Gillette died in 1932, his company had sold well over 60 million razors and 4 billion blades and was an international giant. The Gillette trademark was one of the world's most famous and the day of the straight razor and barber-shop shave was becoming history.

To date, Gillette has sold well over 500 million razors and 100 billion blades worldwide. U.S. production at the Boston plant is now running at about 1 billion blades and 12 million razors a year.

It wasn't until the widespread introduction of stainless-steel blades in the early 1960s that the razor and blade industry took on a new dimension. A major reason was that Gillette let the competition get a jump on it in the promotion of stainless-steel blades and after that first flush of success the competitors have become increasingly bolder. Gillette denies rumors it held back on stainless-steel blades because of concern over the impact on its blue-blade sales.

Grass & Grain
November 2, 1971

It is the 200-year-old British sword maker, Wilkinson, that gets credit for giving the new product its big push. Because of the jump its competitors got, Gillette's share of the big double-edged blade market slipped from some 90 per cent to about 75 per cent before the recent single-edged revival.

Gillette is estimated to have roughly a 60-per cent share of the U.S. blade market. Schick accounts for about 19 per cent, American Safety Razor Company (Personna, GEM) 12 per cent and Wilkinson 4 per cent, it's estimated.

A natural question is whether the advancements in blade and razor design are really beneficial to the user or simply marketing gimmicks. The "profit motive" is obviously at work in the recent stream of new offerings, but independent consumer-testing organizations also have found definite quality improvements, at least as far as many new blades are concerned.

Consumers Union, publisher of Consumer Reports Magazine, recently stated: "If you still use a carbon-steel blade rather than a stainless-steel blade, you'd probably be glad of a switch."

Consumer Reports, also, decided to test Schick's advertising claim that 17 barbers got satisfactory shaves when they shared a single super chromium blade. Or several times found that indeed the 17th person on various test panels would not change the test blade and in one case event he 19th. But C.R. also found that often the seventh, eighth, ninth or tenth panelist would change and once the first man to use the blade said he would have changed. Ben Alexander, a research executive at Gillette, states: "It's impossible to make a blade that appeals to everyone." He also adds, however: "People have forgotten how bad things were (in the pre-stainless days)."

As part of its research and development program, Gillette relies on volunteers from its work force to try different shaving products. On any given workday, perhaps 600 Gillette employees will show up for work at the Boston plant unshaven. During the day they will make their way to one of eight shave-test rooms, some with one-way see-through mirrors. Each volunteer has his own razor, aerosol can of shaving cream—and styptic pencil. ("We also test our competitors' blades," quips a researcher.)

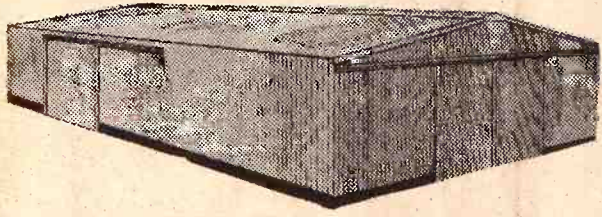

All of this leads to the question of what is the ultimate blade, the impossible dream toward which the research is climbing. Gillette marketing executive Russell Stewart answers, not entirely without seriousness, a blade that doesn't require shaving cream.

Mrs. Dean Roles Of Junction City Wins

Mrs. Dean Roles, R 3, Junction City: "I enjoy your Woman's Page recipes. I'm enclosing a new one I just tried lately and my children really enjoy these bars."

LEMON BARS

2 cups flour
1 cup powdered sugar
2 sticks oleo margarine
Mix above ingredients and press in bottom of a 9x13-inch pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 20 minutes.
2 cups sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon baking powder
3 tablespoons flour
4 beaten eggs
1/4 cup lemon juice
1/2 teaspoon lemon flavoring
Mix remaining dry ingredients. Beat eggs well. Stir in dry ingredients, lemon juice and flavoring. Spread over baked crust and bake 25 minutes more. Sprinkle with powdered sugar. Let cool slightly and cut into squares while still warm.

Mrs. Lula De Lair, R 3, Joplin: "This is a good dessert for the holiday season."

PUMPKIN CAKE

1/2 cup shortening
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup brown sugar
4 eggs, beaten
1 cup cooked, mashed pumpkin
2 cups sifted cake flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon baking soda

1/2 cup milk
1 cup chopped walnuts
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
Cream shortening and slowly add sugars, eggs and pumpkin. Sift together flour, baking powder and soda; add alternately with milk to mixture. Fold in walnuts and extract. Ice with your favorite icing or serve with whipped cream.

Mrs. George Oborny, R 4, Marion: "This is our very favorite Sunday dessert."

GRAHAM CRACKER ICE BOX DESSERT

1 package lemon or lime gelatin
1 1/2 cups water or pineapple juice, heated
2 egg whites, stiffly beaten
1 cup sugar
1 cup whipping cream
1 cup crushed pineapple
2 bananas

Dissolve gelatin in water or pineapple juice and chill until partially set. Beat until light and fluffy. Add sugar to beaten egg whites and beat again. Whip the cream and combine gelatin, cream and egg whites gently. Add fruit, mixing thoroughly. Line a 9x9x2-inch serving dish or pan with crushed graham crackers. Pour in gelatin mixture. Sprinkle top lightly with more crushed graham crackers. Chill. Best if made day before serving.

Revamp Suede Coat

If you have an old suede coat, it is possible to revamp it.

Carefully take the garment apart, then have it cleaned. After cleaning you can begin to reconstruct it.

First, examine the suede carefully. Reinforce worn sections with iron-on patches behind them. When sewing, use silk thread and a sharp needle.

Check your tension on a scrap of leather. You may have to tighten the upper tension. Set the stitch length for ten to 12 stitches an inch. Stay stitch shoulder seams with seam binding, as suede has a tendency to stretch, especially if it has already been used. Stitch slowly and do not pull the suede as you sew or you may stretch it.

When pressing suede, use a warm iron and cover the area to be pressed with brown paper. Press on the wrong side and under no circumstances use steam.

Recipe Request

We received this letter from Mrs. W. R. Seley, R 3, Junction City, 66441:

"I am wondering if anyone has a refrigerator bread recipe, the one you mix up into loaves and let raise for 24 hours in refrigerator. I would appreciate it very much.

"I enjoy the recipes in Woman's Page and try most all of them.

"If someone has this recipe, I would appreciate it if they would send it to me."

Perk Up Pillows

To make drooping feather pillows look and feel like new, tumble them in the automatic clothes drier. Make certain there are no holes in the ticking, or the feathers will work through.

Women More Susceptible To Some Skin Diseases

Cooking, housework, child care, personal hygiene and use of cosmetics are factors which cause women to be especially susceptible to a wide variety of skin disorders. Dr. Marjorie Bauer, of the University of Southern California School of Medicine who made this point at a California Medical Association Meeting, said that some women wash their hands 50 to 75 times a day.

Dr. Bauer explained that many cosmetics contain preservatives that act as skin sensitizing agents. Face creams containing free fatty acids and wax are responsible for an inflammatory response in acne. Eye makeup poses the risk of bacterial contamination. And, bits of fibers from eye lash extenders may enter the eye, producing irritation. There may also be allergic reactions to ingredients in lipsticks, or in hair lacquer, setting lotions, dyes, or permanent-wave preparations.

Constant overdrying of skin with resultant chapping and itching initiates a condition called "housewife's eczema." Women with dry skin are particularly susceptible.

In addition to wearing gloves—and Dr. Bauer particularly recommends synthetic rubber gloves—she also suggests that "excessive wetting and drying of the hands can be eliminated by cleaning the hands with hydrobase and water, or some innocuous vanishing cream, rather than soap and water."

(Surgeons who must wash their hands many times during the day often use an anti-bacterial, nonsoap liquid cleanser. The doctors are also concerned with keeping their hands as clean and germ-free as possible.)

In an article in Skin & Allergy News reporting on Dr. Bauer's talk, a photograph showed a patient with "nickel sensitivity", a condition which produced patches of dermatitis on her upper lip. The cause: the victim opened bobby pins with her teeth.

Update Sweaters

Sweaters from a few years back were long and loose. But today's sweaters are clingy and short to go with the slinky dresses and longer skirts. You can store those old sweaters in a closet until they're back in fashion or you can update them. Just cut the old sweater down to bolero length. If it's a pullover cut two seams down the front to make it into a vest. Then bind the edges with decorative braid to make it look like a new sweater. Or if you like add a fringe to the bottom of the braid as a finishing touch.

Brighten Stairs

To brighten basement carpet them with deck extra-tough cotton fabric. It comes in 12 widths. Glue canvas fabric cement. To give the colored fabric a right look between the more durability, paint the different eye-catching colors.

Study Lamps Should Give Glare-Free Lighting

Most persons are under the impression that study lamps should be considerably brighter than overhead lighting and that competition from other lights in a study room should be kept to a minimum. According to experts, these ideas are incorrect. Actually, study light should provide a glare-free level of brightness with no great contrast between the lighted desk and the rest of the room. The contrast between the bright surfaces and the dim area around them will be uncomfortable say the experts. The difference can be broken down by turning on other lights in the room. High-intensity lamps and gooseneck lamps, while good for some close work, are not good for studying, for they do not supply an upward and outward spread of light. There are, however, a number of approved study lamps which have met requirements of electrical-testing laboratories. In the absence of an approved study lamp, a regular table lamp may be used for studying. It should have a good diameter shade (15 or 16 inches), allowing both up and down lighting.

Good Time For Buying Food

It's a good time of year to buy food. It's the harvest season for many fresh foods. A popular food now is the potato. Did you know that researchers report potatoes can withstand up to 80 per cent more jostling one month after storage than they can at harvest time? Potatoes now in the market are freshly dug. It means they have not spent time in storage building up a resistance to rough handling. It means handle with care. From now until late autumn treat potatoes as gently as you would apples or eggs. Buy only what you can use in a week or two and then handle them with care. Don't store them in the refrigerator.

Rash On Earlobes May Mean Allergy

Irritation and rashes on the earlobes may be caused by your skin's allergy to the metal used in the earring clasp. You might try coating the contact points with nail enamel to prevent any infection. Do not wear the earrings for 24 hours after applying the enamel. After removing earrings, hold a witch hazel pad to the lobes for a few minutes to help soothe the irritation. Consult your physician if the rash does not disappear in a few days.

Longer Blazers

The blazer which is one of the biggest sellers on the market today is extending itself. In length that is. Now there are coats going down as far as maxi length styled after the classic blazer.

Back In Style

The Kitty Foyle dress with all its charming innocence is back. The dress is black with white collar and cuffs, but instead of the everyday jersey or knit the fabrics of today are velvet and satin.

Use Foil To Prevent Sticking

The next time you are applying iron-on tape, put a piece of aluminum foil under the hole in the garment so the tape does not stick to the ironing board cover.

Spray Starch Protects Rugs

Braided rugs will stay cleaner longer if they are sprayed with liquid starch. After washing a cotton braided rug, spread it on a flat surface on newspapers. When it is thoroughly dry, spray it with liquid starch on one side. In 15 minutes, turn it over and spray the other side.

Meal For Three

Sausage Bean Skillet is made by cooking 4 sausage links until done; pour off fat. Add 1 can (1 pound) barbecue beans and 1/4 cup chopped, cooked, dried apricots. Heat; stir now and then. Serves three persons.

Wax Sink Mats

Rubber sink mats won't stick to the drainboard if you apply a coat of paste wax to the underside.

Safe Food

Most shoppers for food want the best, safest food they can buy. If you're this type of shopper, there are a few basic tips to observe. Shop at clean, well-kept grocery stores. If you have errands to run do those first, then shop for groceries. Don't give frozen food a chance to defrost. Pick up those refrigerated and frozen foods last before you check out. Make sure those frozen foods are hard-frozen. And make sure refrigerated foods are cold. Don't buy torn or damaged packages, and don't buy a swollen can. If you happen to get a swollen can, don't open it. Talk with the store manager about it so he can notify the company. No company wants spoiled food under its name. Its reputation rests on quality. Take your perishable items home and refrigerate or freeze them immediately.

Don't Twist Knits

Most cotton knits now have wrinkle-resistant, shapeholding finishes, and are machine-washable. If you prefer to hand wash, remember to squeeze the garment without twisting, and rinse without wringing. After rinsing, blot out excess moisture by rolling the garment in a clean bath towel. Spread it flat on dry towels to dry. Smooth and shape the garment in place. If touchup ironing is needed, use a steam iron. When you cut out cotton corduroy for sewing don't fold the fabric crosswise. If you do, the same pattern piece will have the nap running up on one side and down on the other. Rub your hand across the corduroy to determine whether the nap runs up or down. It will feel smoother running down.

NFO Cites Its Collection Points At State Convention

SALINA—The nation's farmers will either unite or perish, Oren Lee Staley, national president of the National Farmers Organization, (NFO) told some 600 farmers and their guests here last week.

The speech came at a banquet closing day-long deliberations of the Kansas NFO in Salina. Staley shared the featured-speaker spot with Gov. Robert B. Docking.

Earlier sessions included re-election of major officers and adoption of resolutions to guide the state organization in the coming year.

At the banquet in Kenwood Park 4-H building, Staley told the farmers that the so-called "Sisk Bill" now being considered in the House of Representatives offers nothing new in bargaining for farmers, but rather is "a system for government control and regimentation for agricultural activities."

Establishment of a nationwide collection, dispatch and delivery system by the NFO in the past year means "we can put our production in at the local level, then to the national level, and move it into new supply patterns or mix supply patterns like scrambling eggs," Staley said.

He referred to the 48-state system for providing collection points for farm produce including livestock and grain, and the sale of products in a "block system."

The NFO had made an effort this year to have their members put one-sixth of their grain crop into the NFO marketing pattern in order to establish the system. Staley said the system is the only thing giving farmers a chance to reach their goal of marketing produce at cost, plus a reasonable profit.

Earlier in the day, Jim Yount, president of the Kansas Federation of Labor (AFL-CIO) explained to the 468 delegates and 70 committeemen that goals of laborers and farmers are the same. Yount recommended closer communication between the two groups.

He listed four elements of the economy—farm, labor, industry and finance—asserting that corporations and financial institutions in Kansas do not pay their fair share of the state's tax load. He said that labor will join farmers in backing the proposal by Docking to maintain the tax lid.

In the 1969-70 fiscal year, Yount said, corporations paid $16 million in taxes while individuals, including farmers and laborers, paid $78 million—and banks and other financial institutions paid only $4 million.

Claiming that labor is not the real cause of increased prices, Yount said that in the price of an automobile, only $520 is labor cost.

The man who makes tractor tires makes $34.72 a day, or an average of only 46 cents a tire, he said.

By resolution, the Kansas NFO opposed corporate farming and integration of farming activities with other industries. It supported legislation to equalize the tax load and make more rapid determination of tax protests, and to continue the property tax lid.

Members also voted opposition to a proposal before the Legislature which would make licensing necessary for all farmers who either gather or deliver livestock for themselves and their neighbors. They believe this would foil NFO efforts to continue operation of some 25 to 30 "collection points" in Kansas.

Officers re-elected included

CCC Might Buy In Open Market To Prop Corn Price

The Agriculture Department reluctantly is reviewing a plan to bolster sagging corn prices by means of open market corn purchases for Commodity Credit Corp. inventories.

If the plan, based on little-used legislative authority, becomes a reality it would be at White House urging because of administration fears that current Grain Belt dissatisfaction over the generally demoralized condition of grain markets will be translated into Republican reverses at the polls in November 1972.

Agriculture Secretary Clifford M. Hardin and his top aides, for their part are quite unhappy over the prospect of such purchases, which presumably would have to be at a price in excess of the average $1.05 a bushel corn can get at the present by their crops under the federal support loan. These loans repaid in cash, but if the soft, producers have the letting the agency take corn in lieu of payment.

One well-informed department expert believes the commodity agency would acquire between 300 million and 400 million bushels of corn for the chase program to have a This year's harvest is expected to yield a record 5.4 billion bushels, thus would add some 600 million bushels to corn stocks in inventories. Together with some million bushels already on hand would lift the total surplus to 1.3 billion bushels by the end of the current crop year next Sept.

"It wouldn't be money spent," the department commented. "What are we do with all that corn after we bracket was 1,534,000—up 13 percent. The number of steer calves under 500 pounds was listed at

The number of heifers weighing over 900 pounds on feed October 1 was estimated at 380,000 head, 13 percent less than last year. Those at 700 to 900 pounds totaled 1,143,000—off 7 percent. Heifers between 500 and 700 pounds numbered 1,049,000—up 16 percent, while those under 500 pounds were 383,000—up 11 percent.

Heifers are marketed weighing about 200 pounds less than steers.
Hence, we combine each weight group of steers with the heifers weighing 200 pounds less to get an indication of prospective marketings of fed cattle.

Steers weighing over 1,100 pounds plus heifers over 900 pounds totaled 857,000 head, 10 percent less than a year earlier. Steers 900 to 1,100 pounds plus the 200-pound-lighter heifers numbered 3,523,000—down 7 percent. Steers 700 to 900 pounds and heifers weighing 200 pounds less were estimated at 3,866,000—10 percent more than last year. And the number of steers weighing 500 to 700 pounds combined with the heifers under 500 pounds totaled 1,917,000—up 16 percent.

The greatest increases in number of cattle on feed were in Texas, Kansas, Colorado, California, and Arizona. The largest decreases were in Iowa, Minnesota, and Illinois. The number of cattle on feed in Illinois October 1 was listed at 445,000—down 11 percent from a year before.
Of the cattle in feedlots October 1, farmers said that they planned to market 5,866,000 before January 1—1 percent less than a year ago.

Recent market weights were the same as a year ago, but they may soon slightly exceed year-before levels. Any increase in weights will be partly offset by reduced supplies of pork and by increased consumer buying power.

Beloit Co-op OKs Near 3/4-Million Refund

BELOIT—The largest distribution of cooperative earnings of any local cooperative in the G&G area was made last week by the Farmway members, who voted to approve a board recommendation to pro-rate over $724,000 as patronage refunds.

Much of these funds will be paid to members in cash early in December along with a 5 per cent portion of the life estate revolving fund.

Farmway volume of business reached $13.8 million in its 60th year of operation with assets of over 6½ million. This was the largest volume in history.

A $600,000 feed mill was under construction during the year which will raise the assets to over $7 million.

Changes in the by-laws were approved by the membership which will provide for non-members to share in patronage refunds if they choose. Only agriculture producers may become voting members under the new by-laws.

Four directors were re-elected to three year terms. They are Harold Guhn, Tipton; Fred Zvolanek, Vesper; Orwan Mann, Scottsville;
and Ernest Deschner, Beloit. Larry Walker, Beloit, was elected to serve a two year term.

Pro-rations on various items amounted to the following: 6.4 cents per bushel on grain; 8.15 per cent on feed and grain purchased; 15.32 per cent on fertilizer; 12.07 per cent on propane; and 4.76 per cent on refined fuels, oil and grease.

Cattle Feeders To Meet At Wichita

Business and Management practices will highlight the 1971 Cattle Feeders Conference November 11th and 12th. Feeders from all over Kansas are invited to participate in this the 7th Annual Feeders Conference sponsored by the Kansas Livestock Association. The conference will begin at 10:00 a.m. on Thursday November 11th at the Broadview Hotel in Wichita.

Titles of presentations include: Dare to Build; The Role of the American Cattleman in Exporting Their Technology; Guaranteed Cost of Gain—Who Gains; Feeding for What Purpose...An Overview of Consumer Marketing Challenges. In addition a mini panel on warehousing of feedlot cattle and research possibilities at Kansas State University will round out the one and one half days activities. Speakers range from the President of a well known business management firm to the President of the National Livestock and Meat Board to university research specialists.

"This is one event that feeders large or small won't want to miss," stated Tom Taylor, Great Bend, Chairman of the KLA Cattle Feeders Council.

Taylor went on to say that an up to the minute program report on the Cattle Feeders Service of the Kansas Livestock Association will be given by Virgil Huseman, Director of the service which was started less than a year ago to serve the needs of the cattle feeding industry.

Taylor said that the Cattle Feeders Service filled the need for a cattle feeders trade organization in Kansas. He continued by saying that the Kansas Cattle Feeders were pleased to be an active part of the Kansas Livestock Association and he looked for many exciting things to happen in the KLA in coming years.

Electric Co-op Declines To Sell To KCP&L

Members of Sugar Valley Electric Cooperative, Mound City, have voted Monday, Oct. 25, against selling their cooperative to the Kansas City Power and Light Company.

The vote to remain a cooperative electric utility came at a special membership meeting at the Linn County Fairgrounds, Mound City, called by the Sugar Valley Board of Trustees. This was the first time a sellout plan has been presented to the membership of a Kansas rural electric cooperative in the 33-year history of the state's rural electrification program.

Sugar Valley consumer-owners turned down the KCP&L offer by a vote of 383 to 159. The cooperative's bylaws required that two-thirds of members in attendance had to vote for the proposal in order to effect a sellout of the cooperative.

serves 1,330 consumer-owners, primarily in Linn and Miami Counties, south of Kansas City. The cooperative also serves small areas in adjoining Bourbon and Anderson Counties.

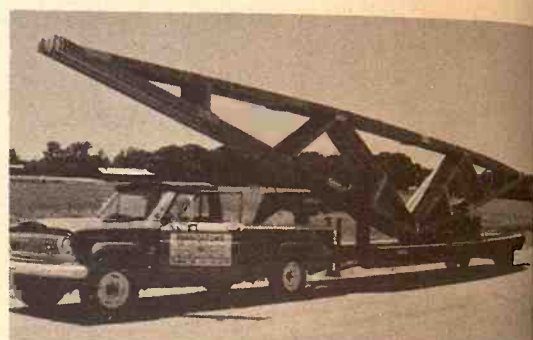

Sugar Valley is one of 37 rural electric cooperatives in Kansas which collectively serve more than 105,000 consumer-owners.

Onaga Dam Land Acquisitions By 1974?

WAMEGO—Acquisition of land for the Onaga Dam and Lake on the Vermillion River east of Louisville, Kan., is scheduled to start in 1974, a U.S. Army corps of Engineer official has told the Wamego Chamber of Commerce.

Construction of the proposed $43 million project is scheduled to begin in 1975, according to Charles C. Craddock, assistant chief, engineering division, Kansas City, Mo., district.

Work is expected to be completed 3 to 5 years after it starts.

Newton Votes Near $5 Million For School

The G&G area has been successful in getting local bond issues regularly passed. Newton put near two-thirds of a $4.9 million school bond on the ballot. The vote to finance a new high school and other schools passed 560 to 240. Twice in 1966 Newton passed similar proposals, but the first time the vote was 560 to 240 million and the other for 100 million.

SALE EVERY Thursday

Our sale last week at Manhattan Commission Co. was very successful market-wise. We had a special stocker and feeder sale in conjunction with our regular sale that proved to be very successful. We had a great number of buyers that were here wanting to buy cattle and were certainly willing to pay the high prices that the cattle brought throughout the auction.

We feel that if you have cattle to sell, we can get as much or more for them as any market throughout the area. If you have cattle to sell, we'll be glad to come out and look them over; or just bring them in.

Following is a partial listing of our sale Thursday, October 28:

Pecan Growers Still See Profits

Kansas State University research indicates pecans can be grown profitably with proper tree thinning and fertility practices.

About 80 pecan grove owners saw first hand results of this research and viewed the latest in harvesting equipment during a field day at the Southeast Kansas Experiment Field near Chetopa. Most state pecan groves are located in the south central and southeast areas.

Dr. Frank D. Morrison, Extension horticulturist at KSU, explained a five-year KSU study on a native pecan grove at the experiment field indicates best results are obtained when trees are thinned and 500 pounds of ammonium nitrate are applied per acre.

The average yield with this treatment was 29.6 pounds of nuts per square foot of trunk area. This was a 485 percent increase in nut production over a group of control trees.

Unthinned trees that were not fertilized yielded only 6.1 pounds of nuts per square foot of trunk area.

Morrison said weeds are a major obstacle to pecan production. Excessive losses of transplanted pecan trees may result during the first year of growth if weeds are not controlled.

This problem is most common during the summer when rainfall is limited and young root systems can't compete with weeds for moisture and nutrients.

KSU weed control research shows certain herbicide treatments help control undesirable vegetation in a pecan grove with varying degrees of success.

Another alternative to hoeing, which is the best but most expensive weed control practice, is the use of mulch materials to help prevent weed growth and hold moisture.

Dr. Morrison is encouraging pecan growers to heed research results and follow the latest recommendations.

With the help of county Extension agricultural agents, he has launched a pecan grove improvement project in Linn, Neosho and Labette counties. Individual growers in these counties work with their county agents in improving the groves. Morrison is hopeful the program will spread to other counties.

"We've hardly scratched the surface as far as realizing all the potential of pecan production in Kansas is concerned," commented Morrison. "But we are making strides, thanks to research and the desire of grove owners to improve and expand their operations."

The farm equipment industry expects its business to pick up in 1972.

That was the consensus of industry leaders in outlook estimates prepared in conjunction with the 78th annual convention of the industry's manufacturing organization, the Farm and Industrial Equipment Institute at San Antonio.

The manufacturers who produce an important share of the nation's industrial and construction machinery as well as its farm machinery expect both areas of their business to show improvement. A few anticipated business may increase as much as 10 percent. One of these was Lyle E. Yost, president of Hesston Corporation, who also has served as president of the FIEI this past year.

"The industry should collectively show improvement for 1972 and could be up as much as 10 percent over 1971," Yost said.

Ben H. Warren, group vice president of International Harvester Company, and William A. Hewitt, chairman of Deere & Company, both felt sales for 1971 will end up ahead of 1970 and should improve next year.

"Industry sales of farm equipment in 1971 should end the year up slightly over 1970 results. As for 1972, we at International Harvester believe the favorable factors which will affect the farm equipment business will outweigh any unfavorable elements. We foresee about a 5 per cent increase in sales volume for the industry on a constant dollar basis," Warren said.

"There seems to be sound reason for our industry to anticipate the coming year with cautious optimism," Hewitt said. "Retail sales of farm equipment are improving after a somewhat slow start and should end the year above 1970. This improvement in retail activity will help ease the pressure of heavy inventories."

"Industrial equipment sales are responding to the sharp recovery that has taken place in housing. They should be even better in the coming year as the dollar volume of residential construction continues to increase."

John E. Mitchell, president of Massey-Ferguson Inc., the U.S. subsidiary of Massey-Ferguson Limited, said "the coming year should be one of continuing improvement for the farm and industrial equipment industry in North America." He based his optimism on anticipated advantages accruing to U.S. farmers from the administration's economic package "including the dampening effect on inflation of farm production input."

CEDAR VALE RANCHER BUYS BIG AT CODDING SALE

MAKE PURINA STEER FATENA YOUR 4% INVESTMENT

Only about 4% of a cattleman's total investment goes for feed supplement. While expenses for cattle, feed-lot facilities, equipment and grain are of primary importance, it's the 4% invested in supplement that often makes the difference in profits.

Purina Steer Fatena, available with stilbestrol and antibiotics, is built for fast gains when time means money. Its blend of protein, calcium, phosphorus, trace minerals and vitamin A is formulated for maximum feed efficiency on the belief that top production requires top ingredients.

Whatever your investment, you'll be counting on results from 100% of it. Don't cut the corner that could cut your profits. Make your 4% Purina Steer Fatena. Stop in at our Checkerboard store and compare.

Fruit Crops Need Winterizing

By Dr. Frank D. Morrison
KSU Horticulturist

Fruit crops can be "winterized." Steps should be taken by home horticulturists to protect fruit plants from damage during the winter months.

Fruit trees and bushes should be hardened before heavy freezes take place. Plants that are hardened have stopped growing, carbohydrates have accumulated and the plants become gradually less susceptible to low temperature damage.

The hardening process usually occurs naturally as temperatures fall. However, growth in plants may be promoted by fall fertilizing and pruning. These two practices should be postponed until the plants are fully dormant.

Trees and bush fruits should be protected from damage by mice and rodents. Wire screens that are shaped cylindrically around the trees will help to eliminate rodent damage.

Commercial repellents are available and may be sprayed or brushed on the lower portions of the fruit plants and high enough to repel rabbits standing on their hind legs.

Weeds and grasses should be removed from the trunks of trees and away from the canes of bush fruit. This growth provides a good nesting place for mice and rabbits.

A straw mulch spread over strawberries will help protect these plants from low temperatures. If bales of new straw are used, they should be broken open and spread out to promote germination of weed seeds before being spread on the strawberries.

The strawberry plants should not be covered until plants are dormant, usually around Thanksgiving time. The mulch over the plant should be about two inches thick after it settles.

Other advantages in the mulch are that it helps to hold moisture and to keep the strawberries and fruit clean as they are maturing next spring.

Court To Hear Abilene Protest On Tardy Tax Bills

ABILENE—A hearing will be held this week before Dickinson County Court Judge Albert B. Fletcher Jr. on a motion by the city of Abilene for summary judgment on a lawsuit challenging controversial belated paving tax assessment, some of which are more than 10 years old. The city commission last July approved special paving and sewer assessments totaling $750,000 against more than 700 parcels of real estate.

The work was financed through the issuance of temporary notes which were purchased with idle city funds rather than sold to banks.

The sewer assessments were not challenged.

Plaintiffs in the suit contend the city was negligent in performance of duties and alleged the belated taxing action is illegal.

When the suit was originally filed by Fletcher Dawson and other property owners Judge Fletcher ruled it could be a class action covering all property owners involved in 25 separate street improvement projects completed between November, 1960 and June, 1962.

Some 350 affected property owners were notified by mail that they would automatically be included in the suit unless they requested not to be a participant. The number of persons electing to be a party is expected to become known Monday.

15 HIGHWAY DEATHS IN MARION CO. THIS YEAR

Worst highway death rate in the state is in Marion county, which counted its 15th death of the year last week. The 15 deaths amount to one for every 1000 in population in the county. Killed last week were Beatrice Marie Klassen and her son 7-year old Douglas at an intersection of two county roads north of Goessel. Also killed was 85-year old Charles Horst of Peabody, whose car was struck by a semitrailer at US50 in Peabody.

Amtrak Says It's Already In Red Ink

Amtrak, the agency created by Congress to take over the money-losing passenger train system, formally begins going broke itself this week, its president has told Congress.

Roger Lewis gave his red-ink view to a Senate Commerce subcommittee considering an administration request for an extra $170 million to keep Amtrak going through July 1973.

Amtrak has made some progress, Lewis said in the year since it was created and the six months it has actually been responsible for passenger operations on a reduced system of service.

No complete figures were given, but James M. Beggs, under secretary of transportation, said the number of riders is up 30 per cent in the Northeast section of the country. Lewis said much time, effort and money has been spent to date acquiring Amtrak's 1,200 passenger cars and refurbishing them, consolidating ticketing, reservations, and commissionaries. It soon will be possible to charge a ticket with two national credit card firms, he said.

Subcommittee chairman Sen. James Hartke, D-Ind., at one point asked for 25 seconds silence, then asked Beggs: "Now how can you expect anyone to wait 10 times as long for someone to answer the phone to make a reservation?"

Beggs said, "We're on the verge of being able to call to make a reservation." Amtrak, when it was created a year ago, was given $40 million outright and $100 million in federal guarantees. Some 20 railroads are paying the agency a total of $200 million in 36 monthly installments.

for taking the passenger operation off their hands. In turn, the railroads operate the trains at cost plus 5 per cent for Amtrak.

Aussies Won't Fill Meat Quota

The Australian meat industry will fall approximately 15,000 tons short of its allowed exports to the U.S. this year under the 1971 Voluntary Restraint Agreement because of dock strikes.

The chairman of the Australian Meat Board, Co. M. H. McArthur, said, "Circumstances in the USA beyond the control of the Australian meat industry have created uncertainty and a situation in which U.S. importers of Australian meat have been reluctant to bid for supplies.

"Longshoremen on the west coast of the USA went on strike on July 1, 1971 and access through all west coast ports has been denied since

Carlson Food Forum At K-State This Week

MANHATTAN—Grain leaders from around the country gather for the three-day Sen. Frank Carlson Forum on World Food Problems this week at Kansas State University.

About 100 guests representing marketing, processing, transportation, research, economy, growers and nutrition aspects of the grain industry are expected at the event. It is the third such forum conducted by KSU.

Carlson gave the welcome address at a banquet Monday.

Distinguished service awards were presented by Dr. Glenn H. Beck, vice president for agriculture, KSU. The workshop is designed to explore ways of solving world food problems.

In the three days, guests will hear topics discussed concerning the needs and opportunities in world marketing of grain and grain products in the 1970's, the world demand, nutritionally, for grain; impacts for changing potentials for world grain production, combining crop breeding and product fortification, future food for peace programs, coordinating production, marketing and international trade programs; needed improvements in transporting and handling international grain shipments and solving logistics problems in international marketing.

The Keynote address, which is open to the public, will be given at 9:30 a.m. Tuesday by Dr. John A. Hannah, administrator, U.S. Agency for International Development.

Forum discussion groups will be held following morning and afternoon presentations by speakers.

Poultry Conference At Wichita This Week

The Kansas poultry industry will come into the spotlight Wednesday and Thursday at the annual convention of the Kansas Poultry Association at Wichita.

Turkey raisers, egg producers, hatchery men and poultry dealers—300 strong,—will convene to catch up on consumer demand, problems and solutions, according to Robert Coombs, Halstead, member of the board of directors.

Registration Wednesday will be at 1 p.m. followed by a program at 2 p.m.

"Future of Agriculture as a Banker Sees It" will be the subject of the address by William S. May, vice president of the Federal Land Bank of Wichita. An address by Wilbur Levering, vice president of Merchants National Bank, Topeka, will follow.

Thursday's program beginning at 10 a.m. will feature as speaker Dr. A. W. Adams, Department of Poultry Science at Kansas State University, Manhattan. He will speak on pesticides.

"Corporation versus Private Enterprise in Egg Production" will be discussed by Cliff Stewart Hy-Line Poultry Farms, Des Moines, Iowa. Dr. L. A. Wilhem, Chicago, will discuss "Market Orders."

Two panels in the afternoon—"Can a Four-Cent Egg Contract Survive?" discussed by Larry Huff, Carthage, Mo., Cliff Stewart, Des Moines, and Clark Kirk, St. Louis, and "Where Do We Go From Here?" by Dave Hund, Paxico, Kan., Leonard Marteney, Buhler, Kan., Pat Sauble, Cedar Point, Kan., and Burt Wilson, Solomon, Kan.

A 6:30 p.m. banquet will feature the "Sing Out Kansas" group.

Why Not Just Plain Old Soap?

If detergents are so bad, why not soap?

That's the advice given to Senate committee by a Washington University professor, Barry Commoner.

His views were given vigorous opposition by the detergent industry and Commoner has challenged them to a head-to-head confrontation before Congress.

In his formal testimony, Commoner said there are signs of a new and potentially serious human health hazard in eutrophication, a process he and other scientists blame partly on the phosphates in detergents. They say the phosphates kill lakes and rivers by greatly stimulating the growth of water-borne plants.

The main problem, Commoner said, is that soil bacteria, which normally will not grow in water, are stimulated by the the presence of phosphates in combination with other elements in water.

"In natural waters, the failure of bacteria to grow is an important barrier between us and pathological organisms in the soil," he said.

Soap has no harmful effects on the environment that could not easily be corrected, Commoner said.

"I propose the government set a 5-year deadline for the removal of all detergents from the market and force a return to soap."

He said there is no reason why ordinary soap cannot do an effective job in most household cleaning.

The Commoner viewpoint was opposed by industry witnesses who also voiced objection to pending legislation which would limit the amount of phosphates in commercial detergents.

William C. Krumrei, director of government relations for the Procter and Gamble Company, said his firm is trying hard to find a substitute for detergents—but not because they think it's a good idea.

"We are pursuing that goal because many of our customers in this country have been persuaded that somehow phosphates are harmful to the environment," Krumrei said.

"Since we are in the business of selling products that people want to buy, we are doing our best to comply with the beliefs of our customers about phosphates, even though the likely result of this will be greater costs to the consumer in doing laundry and with no benefit to environment," he said.

Mastitis Council Annual Meeting Next Week

The second annual meeting of the Kansas Mastitis Council, Inc., will be held at Williams Auditorium, Umberger Hall, Kansas State University, on Wednesday, Nov. 10.

Ralph Bonewitz, Extension dairy specialist at KSU, reports that the program begins at 10 a.m. and will include much useful information about preventing, controlling, and limiting losses from mastitis—a mammary system disease costing the Kansas dairy industry untold thousands of dollars.

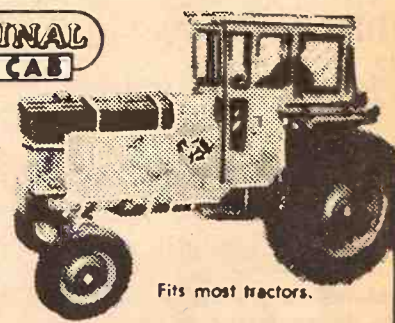

The program includes a movie on modern mastitis management, a discussion and demonstration on milk let-down by a dairy cow, a mastitis discussion by an outstanding Missouri dairyman, a regulatory report on Kansas findings of the American Milk mastitis, and a report of laboratory Producers, Inc.

Prairie Chickens Under Gun Starting Saturday

EMPORIA—Come Nov. 6, prairie chickens will be the object of attention in the scenic Flint Hills of eastern Kansas.

On that date, an estimated 40,000 hunters will head for the rolling grasslands in pursuit of the fast-flying prairie grouse, better known as the greater prairie chicken.

According to Kansas Forestry,

Fish and Game Commission officials, the central portion of the Flint Hills—Lyon, Morris, Chase, Greenwood and Butler counties—will provide the best hunting prospects during the hunting season, which opens Nov. 6 and runs through Nov. 9.

"Practically all of our population surveys have indicated a decrease in the over-all prairie chicken population," said Gerald Horak, Cottonwood Falls, game biologist for the commission.

Ranchers throughout the prime chicken range likewise claim the chicken population is down from previous years.

Horak said above average rainfall throughout the Flint Hills provide excellent pasture growth for nesting and brood rearing and few birds were observed during the summer due to ideal grass conditions.

"Some feeding flocks have formed in recent days and some ranchers have reported seeing some flights into harvested grain fields," Horak said.

Horak said a good hard freeze is needed prior to the season to kill insects in the pastures since insects, particularly grasshoppers, are major food items for chickens during spring and summer months. In autumn and winter, after the insect supply has been depleted, chickens utilize waste grain in harvested fields of sorghum, soybeans and corn.

In setting the season this year, commissioners allowed to final two days to provide landowners an opportunity to hunt their land on Monday and Tuesday following the weekend opener.

As in previous years the daily bag limit will be restricted to two chickens; possession limit will be six on and after the third day. Hunting for greater prairie chickens will be confined to that area of Kansas east of U.S. 81 and I-35W. Shooting hours will be from one-half hour before sunrise to sunset.

Great Bend Juco Drops President, Re-Aims Program

GREAT BEND—Dr. C. O. Robinson, president of Barton County Junior College six years, has been relieved of his position only moments after he submitted his resignation effective June 30, 1972. Robinson first submitted his resignation to the trustees of the 1,400-student school. After some discussion, the board voted that Robinson should be relieved immediately "so that the college can move ahead with modification of the college philosophy concerning vocational education."

Sources said this meant the board wished to strengthen the school's vocational program.

Named to temporarily succeed Dr. Robinson was Dr. Paul D. Hines, dean of instruction.

The board passed a resolution expressing appreciation for Robinson's tenure. He was the school's first president.

FIRST VOTE FOR SWISS WOMEN LAST WEEK

Women's Lib may not be progressing fast enough to suit many American women, but they could be starting farther back. In last week's elections for Parliament in Switzerland, women were allowed to vote for the first time. Women comprised about 1.9 million out of the total 3.6 million Swiss eligible to vote.

Sees Slowdown In Land Values

ABILENE—A slight increase in farm land values during the 1970's was forecast here by Wilton B. Thomas, Extension economist at Kansas State University.

"There are more reasons to be mildly optimistic than pessimistic as far as the trend in land values in the years between now and 1980," he told about 650 persons last week at the annual stockholders meeting of the Federal Land Bank Assn. of Abilene.

He predicted, however, that land value increases could be substantially less than those during the 1960's.

At the 1971 American Royal we had RESERVE CHAMPION on our spring yearling pen and 3rd in class on our senior calves. They all sell along with many 1/2 brothers. Our cattle have been selected "to weigh" and have the "eye appeal" that you good sound ranchers still demand.

Select your next bull or bulls from a herd that has been on a within herd record program for twelve years. We are confident it can improve your profit picture.

FARM MACHINERY FOR SALE
1 used manure spreader, brand X, call it what you want. Price raised to $99.99.
Sounds like we are now going to start loving the communists. For years we have been fighting them. Now our beloved do-gooder president is on the way to China & Russia to make them allies or something.
Model T Ford running gear, no motor, no body on top. A steal, $39.99. Has box. Model A Ford running gear, same price.
Schlussinger says 5 million lbs. of TNT exploded in Alaska won't bother anyone. Says so in the Nixon manual. Write your favorite bureaucrat in Washington, tell him to forget it.
Keep looking over your shoulder. Someone may be waiting to turn you in for something. Government hiring lots of stoolies to keep tabs on honest people if there are such left.
932 Case tractor, big std. tractor, adj. front & rear, wts., hydraulic, '68 model, like new $4800 Might be a good time to move the United Nations Building to Iceland or Greenland. Shouldn't be hard to do since it was pre-fab to start with.
1 used 900 Case tractor, std., in good condition, will sell cheaper this week $1399
1 WD Allis with tires, wheel and hydraulics $449
WD 45 Allis, good cond. $679
Sometimes seems as we are getting to be too much a police state — when they can grab your camera, destroy film etc., then slap their hands.
Blair feeder wagons F.O.B. there $879 — More here.
Once said better dead than red. Now saying goes better dead than misled.
Cab & air conditioner for 1030 Case tractor, complete $599
All's XT 190 tractor, nice machine $4495
Farmhand stocker complete with 3 attachments $239 F.O.B.
3 bottom 16" Case 3 point plow, like new $239
3 bottom 16" Case 3 point plow, nearly new $229
4 bottom Case 14" plow, nearly new $656
5 bottom Case JRA semi-mt. plow — new $1179
New 4 bottom Case 16" plow, new, complete $879
Genie one time said, politics like coaching football — you have to be smart enough to understand the game and dumb enough to think it's important.
Do Mr. Nixon a favor this week & help him with his freeze prices. Don't buy anything new this week. Will help bring prices down. But instead come down this week & buy something used from Longhofers at Marion. Same address. Phone EV 2-2620.

Oxygen-Limiting Silos Worth The Extra Cost?

Oxygen-limiting silos are considerably more expensive than the conventional concrete tower facility but have been shown to be 2 to 5 percent more effective in preventing storage losses.

Citing a recent study made in Wisconsin, Wilton Thomas, Extension farm management economist at Kansas State University, said that new information is too late for use in most 1971 investment decisions but could be important in 1972.

From a cost standpoint, Thomas said oxygen-limiting silos generally require 2 to 2½ times the initial investment of concrete tower types.

"The need for this capital for use in possibly more profitable investments in other parts of a business is one of the most important points for consideration," he said.

Wisconsin researchers pointed out that it takes a higher level of management to hold losses in a concrete tower silo to within two percent of those in an oxygen-limiting structure.

Thomas said the research indicates the prime consideration is whether the reduced losses offset higher investment costs. In a test case, a loss difference of four percent was not nearly sufficient to offset the higher cost of the oxygen-limiting facility.

Even with 10 percent difference in storage loss, and filling the silo 1½ times per year, the dry matter in the silage would have to be worth $75 per ton to offset the higher cost of the oxygen-limiting silo.

In defense of the oxygen-limiting silo, Thomas said the bottom unloading feature provides greater flexibility in operation. This type of silo also allows feeding of smaller quantities without spoilage losses during warm weather.

"To the degree that the silo can be refilled on a practical basis during the season, the oxygen-limiting silo has an advantage," he concluded.

Catholic School At Dodge City Drops Building Program

St. Mary of the Plains College at Dodge City has decided to drop its building program and make use of existing facilities.

The board of trustees made the decision at the recommendation of the College Council which pointed to sagging finances and enrollment as the reasons.

The building program developed a few years ago called for a library, science and fine arts additions to Hennessy Hall, the main building on the campus.

"We feel we have enough space in our existing structures," William V. Tucker, the college's first-year president, said Thursday. "Some will need to be remodeled but I feel we have sufficient space."

Tucker said the school is operating at a deficit. He said the building plan was made when administrators forecast an enrollment of more than 1,000 students.

Instead, enrollment has dropped about 25 percent from last year to the present 470 students.

Fertilizer Session At Topeka In Mid-December

The annual Kansas Fertilizer and Agricultural Chemicals Conference will be held Dec. 13-15 in the Topeka Municipal Auditorium.

Sen. Robert Dole, R-Kan., will highlight the conference with a discussion about the national scene in agriculture.

Included in the program are sessions on merchandising farm chemicals, equipment operation and application costs, credit sources and their use, using sulfur on Kansas crops, an industry approach to environmental protection, new applications of plant tissue research, the effect of fertilizers on the environment and on quality, a look at the future of applications, herbicide and insecticide recommendations for a look at the status of the Chemical Law.

The conference is sponsored by the Kansas State University Department of Agronomy and the Kansas Fertilizer and Chemical Institute, Inc.

Dr. McCain

Dr. James A. McCain, president of Kansas State University, told the annual county extension conference at Manhattan that the maximum numbers of manufacturing plants, research laboratories and other agencies and industries employing large numbers of people should be located in rural areas or in communities of 50,000 population or less.

McCain, in a prepared text, said this development should be established through the executive branch of the national government. The administrator, he said, should have direct access to the President.

"This office should have the authority to draw upon the resources of several departments of government, including Agriculture; Housing and Urban Development; Health, Education and Welfare; Transportation; Commerce, and Interior," McCain said.

Rural development has acquired sharp national focus in recent months, McCain said.

McCain said the immediate objective of the program should be the reversal of migration from country to city. He said, "In fact, 70 per cent of our people are jammed into 2 per cent of our land."

McCain said, "In the absence of national policy and programs, some American people are beginning to take matters into their own hands and seek relief from the discomforts of city living by moving elsewhere. Hundreds of persons in recent months, for example, have migrated from New York and other eastern population centers to communities in rural Montana, many of them accepting jobs at a considerable reduction in salary in order to escape the dehumanizing atmosphere of the big city and exploit the attractions of life in a small community."

"The recent influx of people and industries into the sparsely populated areas of Oregon has apparently so shaken that great state that its governor took to national television to urge people either to stay away from Oregon or make their visit short!"

"A financial periodical recently listed a large number of corporations which have moved out of New York City into smaller communities."

"During the decade of the 1960's, for the first time since the Civil War, more people moved into than out of the 16 states of the South."

"Such developments as these might well mark the beginning of a national back-to-the-land movement."

McCain said full use should be made of the cooperative extension services of the land-grant universities, reaching as they do with staff and programs into all of the 2,600 rural counties of the nation.

He said, "Adequate safeguards should be employed in order to preserve the attractions of life in small towns and cities and rural countryside. Limitations should be placed on population size and density. Strict measures should be taken to prevent pollution of the environment."

Big Counties To Continue State Senators 'At Large'

Senators in Wyandotte and Johnson Counties would again run at-large in 1972 instead of from individual districts in each of the four metropolitan counties, a Kansas legislative committee has decided after a year-long study.

The Kansas Senate is under a mandate from a 3-judge federal court panel to reapportion in time for the 1972 general elections. The committee was charged with drawing up a redistricting plan.

Sen. Jack Robinson (R-Wichita), chairman of the committee, said that the group would recommend to the 1972 Legislature that senators in the four metropolitan counties, including Shawnee and Sedgwick counties in addition to Wyandotte and Johnson counties, would run at-large.

"There is too much involved in trying to draw up the boundaries of senatorial districts in the big counties and especially in Johnson County where the population continues to grow at such a rapid rate," Robinson said.

"After all, the federal court directed that the senators in those areas run at-large in the 1968 elections. If they felt such a plan was constitutional, there is no reason why we should not be able to do the same thing."

Under the redistricting plan, Sedgwick County would continue to have six senators running at-large, Johnson County would continue to have four and Wyandotte and Shawnee counties three each.

In one switch temporarily agreed on by the committee, Jefferson County would be transferred into the senatorial district in which the three Shawnee County senators will run at-large.

Sen. Norman Gaar (R-Westwood) is a member of the committee and favored a continuation of having the senators in the metropolitan areas run at-large.

Robinson said the population variance between the largest and smallest senatorial districts under the plan would be less than 10,000 persons and that this was well within the population variation guidelines handed down by the federal court in the Kansas case.

Some of the senators asked about the affect on the population figures in the light of an attorney general's ruling that youths 18 or over could register in the counties in which they attend college and vote there.

Robinson said he did not believe this factor could be considered since no one knew how the youths would register and vote and that in addition the basis for population in judging the figures for each district were already prescribed by statute.

"The Kansas statute provides that the figures we use in such cases are the figures developed annually by the Kansas State Board of Agriculture," Robinson said. "If we use these figures, the registration by the college students won't be a factor."

"Of course, it's always possible that a move will be made in the coming Legislature to use federal census figures instead of the agricultural census. We'll just have to wait and see if such a move is made and if it carries and then go from there."

Robinson said that the remaining districts outside of the four large metropolitan areas had only relatively minor shifts of counties or townships in an effort to make adjustments in population.

He said the shifts being considered in those areas would not become final until the committee holds its final meeting next month to give final approval to a specific plan to the 1972 Legislature.

TRACTOR ACCIDENT KILLS MANKATO FARMER

MANKATO — Glen J. Roe, 63, a Jewell County farmer, was killed in a tractor accident at the junction of US 36 and K14. Roe was driving a tractor pulling a hay baler on a county road and was attempting to turn. The tractor rolled into a ditch and pinned him beneath it.

BIDS TOO HIGH ON DURHAM SCHOOL BUILDING

DURHAM—All bids were too high for construction of a multi-purpose school building in this western Marion county town, and the Board of Education has turned them down. The architect's estimate on the building was $37,000. Bids ranged from over $39,000 to $47,000.

LIVESTOCK & COMMISSION CO.
MARYSVILLE, KANSAS

First Shorthorn Winner At Royal Since 1944

For the first time since 1944, a Shorthorn was named grand champion here at the American Royal.

Melinda Frank, 16, Mechanicburg, Ill., bought the alternate steer in a pen of five feeder calves exhibited at the 1970 American Royal by Krug Shorthorn Ranch, Russell, Kan., and returned this year to top all steer entries. The steer was named champion 4-H steer prior to winning the grand championship.

Miss Frank's family raises Polled Herefords, but "Shorty" was purchased because he was a good buy at 40 cents per pound and because "he was the one I wanted."

The steer proved to be an extremely good buy when he sold to the Plaza Inn for $7.52 per pound for a total of $7,730.56.
