GOOD IRRIGATION BUT BAD DRIVING

While Don Dearing, Belvue, top picture, was sitting in his van with water over the distributor cap and covering the motor, farmers south of Belvue were looking at their rain gauges or dipping tape measures into buckets that were dry the night before.

Dearing was heading toward his job in Wamego and didn't think that Welles Creek could be that deep on the gravel road leading to his home. With many neighbors reading 5 inches and more in their gauges, Dearing found the creek was higher than anticipated. Fortunately the van wasn't washed off the road and friends were able to tow it to Wamego for a clean up.

Otto Grieshaber, middle picture, in the foreground, and his brother, Carl, watch Roberts Creek recede. Otto's milo, right background, got the irrigating it needed by the soybeans, bottom picture, got more water than they needed. A lot of trash and logs were also deposited on the Grieshaber land.

Ben Rasch, Belvue, lives on the hill in the background. He had the foresight to build a dike along his corn patch to the left and most of the flood water was funneled back into the creek leaving his corn undamaged but well watered by the big rain.

DIDN'T NEED THAT MUCH RAIN

Clyde Holz, Belleview, and his children, Brenda, left, Larry and Deborah, are out looking over the damage. "We had 5 inches and even though it was dry we didn't need a gully washer," Holz said.

IRRIGATING SOUTH OF WAMEGO

The ironical thing about the rain was this sprinkler going full blast not over 15 miles from the 5 inch rain. While this milo was needing water Otto Grieshaber's milo was being flooded.

Nature does have a chance

We can clean up our air, rivers and streams. And electric energy will help—By powering sewage and industrial waste treatment plants, air filtering systems, waste recycling processes—and all the other facilities needed for the clean-up.

More electricity, not less, is needed to help solve our pollution problems.

Making sure there will be enough—and producing it in generating stations that are good environmental neighbors—is the big challenge facing KPL. To meet this challenge, we'll need to more than double our facilities over the next 10 years—including more anti-pollution equipment such as the huge air quality control system at our Lawrence generating station.

Our goal is the cleanest generating stations possible, providing all the electric energy you'll ever need.

Pay attention, not interest!

Pay attention to our new sale. And you won't be paying interest until next spring.

We're including new International® farm wheel tractors. Any used wheel tractors in stock. Plus implements sold with the tractors. Or Cub Cadet® lawn tractors and riding mowers.

Finance them through International Harvester Credit Corporation.

And you won't have an interest payment until March 1, 1973.

In fact, with a good trade-in, you won't have an investment until then.

In the meantime you reap the advantages: the lower price, the tax savings, the higher productivity.

So come down and see us about a trade. Take a little interest in yourself.

Weather One Reason or Soviet Grain Deal

Weather conditions seem to be the factor that lead to the $750 million deal for American grain to the Soviet Union. The Soviet crop problems are worsening even the Russians themselves are conceding that the weather has been a serious problem. "Cold, rainy weather has delayed the completion of sowing in Kazakhstan, Kirghizia and Armenia," Moscow Radio said recently.

"Sowing work in the Republic has been hampered by heavy rainfall, with hail and snow," said a broadcast from Xerevan, capital of the Armenia republic. This republic lies in the far south, nestled against Turkey in the mountainous area east of the Black Sea.

"By May 12, only 6 per cent of the spring sowing plan had been fulfilled in the republic, as against 46 percent at the corresponding time last year. This was due largely, although not entirely, to bad weather," said a broadcast from Tallinn, in the Estonia Republic.

"Heavy rainfall has been causing damage to young cotton plants," came the radio report from Uzbekistan, deep in the heart of Asia.

This latest spell of bad weather follows an exceptionally bad winter during which Russian farmers lost at least a third of their normal winter wheat harvest. Light snowfall didn't sufficiently insulate the maturing plants against the freezing cold, causing considerable winter kill. Winter wheat usually accounts for about a third of the Soviet Union's annual wheat crop.

The extensive winter kill afflicted the north Caucasus, eastern Ukraine, much of the central black-soil zone and part of the Volga. Fertilizer is being applied to help overcome the damage in some areas, but mostly the afflicted fields will be resown, mainly with barley.

The Communist nation's farmers also are being prodded by officialdom into "emergency" sowing of spring wheat. Soviet government sources said an additional 23 million acres have been sown with spring wheat.

Moreover, the government is determined to get the most out of its harvests. In the past, inefficient harvesting methods, lack of storage and other waste reduced the crop in the bin below yields in the field.

This year, the Russians want to change all that. In a directive from the council of ministers, the government spelled out a range of emergency measures, including some distinctly capitalist ploys.

Extra transport is being drafted to gather and bring in the grain harvest on a 24-hour schedule. Bonuses will be paid to drivers of large trucks and trucks with trailers used to bring in the grain. In Siberia, the Urals, the lower and middle Volga regions and the virgin soil areas of Kazakhstan, grain-truck drivers will be paid 40 per cent above the standard rate. Pay rates for workers loading and unloading grain in the virgin soil areas will be boosted 50 per cent, and incentives also have been established for tractor drivers and combine operators.

While these efforts might ease Russia's crop woes, they won't eliminate them. Reports from Eastern Europe indicate that half the Communist bloc has had bad crop weather this year. Conditions of Hungary's Great Plain region have been especially bad for winter and spring crops, officials in Budapest said. Latvia said it had planted only 3 percent of its potato crop by mid-May, far below the amount usually planted at that time.

In Poland, the unsettled summer weather compounds a problem with out-of-repair farm equipment. More than 100 "first-aid" brigades are being set up to get the harvesting machinery into shape by autumn, but a spareparts shortage is so severe that much of the grain may have to be cut by hand.

All this intensified the Soviet Union's grain problems. Russia already is committed to supply six million to seven million tons of grain this season to East European and other nations bound by bilateral agreements. The East European countries probably won't reduce their demand and are likely to ask for even more grain. Thus, the Soviet Union might have to tighten its own citizens' belts to fulfill its bloc obligations.

"Although total grain statistics in 1972 in the Soviet Union may not reflect the specific shortages, there will be a shortage of domestic wheat which could make it difficult to supply state stores with bread and flour products," said Radio Liberty. "By expanding the wheat area in Kazakhstan, the wheat shortage may be somewhat alleviated, but farming in the 'new lands' will suffer."

The Soviets, thus, are purchasing grain in Western markets to replenish supplies that could be diminished if this year's harvest proves as bad as current conditions indicate.

AN OPEN LETTER TO THE PEOPLE OF THIS AREA . . .
One year ago we moved into our new facility at 530 Humboldt, thanks to you. This move marked our 55th year in Manhattan. It was a record year, many new homes, commercial buildings and institutional facilities were built or remodeled with Home Savings assistance and your savings deposits.
We want to say "thanks" to you; how to was our concern. We wanted to do something that would be more reflective of our thoughts and feelings about our community . . . we wanted something we could all share together.
The decision was reached that we could best share our good fortune by aiding our institutions of higher learning, rather than a simple loan given to each individual.
Kansas State and the Christian College are always in need of extras that never fit into any budget category, be they new research books, technical journals, laboratory equipment, additional safety and security items, supplies or even fixtures.
So - It was decided we would make a gift in your name to the Manhattan Christian College or the University department of your choice during the next 30 days.
We will contribute $2.50 (the price of a customer premium) for every new account opened for $1,000 or more or for that amount or more added to your present account.
COME GROW WITH US - we care enough to pay you that extra in dividends . . . and share our good fortune with the community. ALL HOME SAVINGS ACCOUNTS ARE COMPOUNDED DAILY.

National Wheat Crop Drops Below '71 Record

The USDA has estimated the 1972 wheat crop at 1,551,000,000 bushels, down 5 percent from last year's record harvest.

There was no production forecast for corn, but the Crop Reporting Board said farmers will have 57.3 million acres for harvest this fall, 10 per cent fewer than in 1971.

Wheat and corn are in surplus supply, mainly as the result of record production last year. Both were included in a new $750 million sale of U.S. grain to the Soviet Union announced recently by the White House.

The wheat estimate was the first this year by the department for all types grown by farmers, although winter-types planted last fall were estimated earlier.

Winter wheat production this year was put at 1,195,199,000 bushels, up 3 per cent from 1971. Last month the forecast was 1.19 billion bushels.

Spring-planted wheat, estimated for the first time this year, was indicated at 77,301,000 bushels for durum varieties, down 12 per cent from 1971, and 278,167,000 bushels for other kinds, down 28 per cent.

The estimates were based on field surveys as of July 1. Official production estimates for some important spring-planted crops, including corn, soybeans and sorghum grain will be announced in August.

Officials said, however, that based on recent yields, trends and acres planted the 1972 corn crop could total about 5 billion bushels.

Corn production in 1971 soared to a record 5.5 billion bushels when farmers boosted plantings in reaction to severe losses from blight the year before. The relatively small 1970 corn crop was 4.1 billion bushels.

The report said farmers planted 13.7 million acres to grain sorghum for harvest this year, 18 per cent down from 1971. There was no field estimate on production, but officials said average yields could produce a crop of 765 million bushels, down 15 per cent.

The national average yield of all wheat was estimated at 32.4 bushels per harvested acre, compared with 33.8 bushels in 1971. The winter wheat average was put at 33.8 bushels in 1971. The winter wheat average was put at 33.8 bushels per acre, compared with 35.2 last year; durum 30.8 bushels compared with 31.9; and other spring wheat 27.9 compared with 30.7.

Farmers planted 45.6 million acres to soybeans this year, 8 per cent more than in 1971. Based on average trends—not an estimate—production could be 1,277,000,000 bushels, up 9 percent from the record last year, the report said.

The yield per acre and estimated 1972 production, respectively, of important crops by major producing states included:

Winter wheat:
Pennsylvania 35 bushels per acre and production 10,255,000 bushels; Ohio 44 and 46,200,000; Indiana 45 and 38,025,000; Illinois 45 and 54,000,000; Michigan 38 and 22,800,000; Missouri 39 and 39,390,000; South Dakota 37 and 26,085,000; Nebraska 38 and 97,204,000; Kansas 33 and 304,590,000; Oklahoma 23 and 90,850,000; Texas 22 and 44,000,000; Maryland 38 and 4,332,000; Virginia 42 and 8,064,000; North Carolina 35 and 8,330,000; Kentucky 35 and 8,190,000; Tennessee 33 and 9,306,000; Mississippi 30 and 5,640,000; Arkansas 36 and 11,880,000; Montana 27 and 47,250,000; Idaho 49 and 37,240,000; Colorado 24 and 57,600,000; Washington 47 and 118,440,000; Oregon 42 and 34,062,000; California 41 and 17,179,000.

Surplus Grain Deal Trapped Up With Soviet Union

Following up on President Nixon's mission to Moscow, the United States agreed to sell $750 million in surplus grain to the Soviet Union in the next three years.

Officials called it the biggest grain deal ever between any two countries. The Western White House said President Nixon considers the agreement, signed in Washington, a very important concrete step forward in developing trade ties with the Communist superpower. Presidential adviser Henry Kissinger outlined details of the breakthrough agreement to businessmen and said it paves the way for progress on other economic issues such as settlement of the Soviets' World War II lend-lease debt.

With the agreement, the United States granted the Soviet Union for the first time the same Agriculture Department credit arrangement given on farm commodity sales to Allied countries.

Moscow's acceptance of the credit terms — repayment in three years with 6% per cent interest — came two weeks ago and followed the proposal made by Nixon in his Kremlin summit talks in May.

The agreement was signed in Washington by Secretary of Commerce Peter G. Peterson, Secretary of Agriculture Earl Butz and Deputy Soviet Trade Minister N. R. Kuzin.

It required the Soviet Union to buy from private U.S. commercial exporters a minimum of $750 million of wheat, corn, barley, sorghum, rye or oats in the three years beginning Aug. 1.

First year sales will be at least $200 million with Moscow having the option each year of the types of grain it wants.

This will be the third major sale to the Soviets of grain from U.S. stockpiles in a decade.

Moscow bought $150 million in feed grains last fall, and $140 million in wheat in 1963.

The latest deal elevates the Soviet Union to the second position on the list of foreign purchasers of U.S. grain, behind Japan's average annual purchases of $437 million.

Mobile Home Plant Planned

Washington, Kans. — Mann Industries, Lincoln, has announced plans to construct a mobile home manufacturing plant in Washington, Kansas.

Bill (W.W.) Mann, president, and Dave Weidner, Mann Industries, said the plant will be 50,000 square feet and employ 100 people. Mann expects the first mobile home to come off the production line by Feb. 15, 1973.

Mann Industries, which has a 39,000-square foot plant in Lincoln, will construct double-wides and modular homes at Washington.

Washington city council has agreed to issue $400,000 in industrial revenue bond to aid construction and the equipping of the Mann Industry plant.

Take Precautions When Acquiring Sun Tan

The first few warm days of spring and the growing warmth of early summer inspire many sun worshipers to go outside to work on that first tan. But initial encounters with the sun can result in painful consequences if you aren't careful.

The first time out, even the "tanners" in your family will have to take it easy. A few minutes of exposure begins to condition the skin for longer periods outside later. And even after the family is tanned, they can still get sunburned. Therefore, make certain everyone is protected at all times.

The best product to use is one which permits the sun's tanning rays to penetrate while blocking out its burning rays. The added moisture in tanning lotions helps keep skin soft and prevents drying out.

The areas which are not normally exposed to the sun, like the tops of the ears, back and sides of the neck, shoulders, chest, backs of the knees, and tops of the feet, require added protection until tanning begins.

If you burn, never tan, use common sense. Your skin will probably never tan, and you could suffer serious skin damage from repeated sun exposure. Use a product which blocks out all tanning and burning rays.

If you should become sunburned, try a cool bath. Applying a paste of bicarbonate of soda will often help. Aspirin can help relieve some of the discomfort too. If you're blistered, go to a doctor immediately.

Whenever the skin is broken, there's a chance of infection.

Bedtime can often be uncomfortable for someone who has been sunburned. Try sprinkling powder on the sheets. It will make them feel like satin and make your night more restful.

Common sense and good quality sunning products will help make the summer more enjoyable for your family.

Air Conditioners Give More Than Comfort

Air conditioning does more than merely give comfort.

It's a good thing, too, because most women need all the help they can get with their summer chores.

The room air conditioner helps to cut down on dusting, woodwork washing and painting, as well as household cleaning bills. What's more, air conditioners filter out the dust and grime that shorten the lives of curtains, carpeting and upholstery. The abrasive germ-laden dust particles are imprisoned in a filter, which is easily removed, washed and replaced whenever necessary.

The use of an air conditioner means windows and doors can be closed against hot dust blown in off the street. Another serious summer problem, mildew and dampness, is also solved, since the air conditioner doubles as a dehumidifier. The result is that the atmosphere is less attractive to moths and infinitely more pleasant for the human beings.

Bonus effects listed by the engineers included:

Elimination of the swelling and sticking of windows and drawers. Reduction of the stale room air.

Improved inside plant growth. Also, cut flowers stay fresher.

Dry cereals and crackers stay crisp.

Reduced peeling paint, sweating walls and buckling wallpaper.

Cross-ventilation unnecessary.

Spring and fall rituals of putting up and taking down window screens are eliminated.

In addition to cooling, homemakers with air conditioned homes are comforted in other ways.

Air conditioning frequently alleviates allergies, keeps women's makeup fresh, keeps clothes from wilting and reduces fatigue resulting from household tasks.

Protect Arms

Catch the soapy drips that run down your arms when washing walls and high objects by wearing a piece of old Turkish towel around your wrist. Hold the towel in place by a rubber band.

Entertain Children On Trips

Place a wastebasket full of new inexpensive toys in the trunk of the car. Leave it there until the children get restless on a trip — then bring out the toys.

Handy Hangers

Nail empty sewing thread spools in the garage or workshop to hang up work clothes. There will be no rust marks when garments are hung up wet or damp. The spools are less likely to tear garments than plain nails are.

Extra Hot Pad

When you need an extra hot pad, wrap a small magazine in heavy duty aluminum foil. When taped securely, these hot pads will last as long as the ones you buy.

Extra Hot Pad Marion Co. Farmers Construct 112 Miles Of Terrace

When you need a heavy duty aluminum pad, wrap a small piece of tape securely, these will last as long as the buy.

Farmers in the Marion County Conservation District have applied a considerable amount of conservation work during the past twelve months ending June 30, according to A. R. Gantz, county soil conservationist. 112 miles of terraces have been constructed. Gantz said this is enough to form a single terrace from Marion to Topeka.

Other conservation practices completed include 220 acres of grassed waterways, four miles of ditches, five farm ponds, about 145 feet of drainage ditches. 595 acres of broomgrass and 176 acres of native bluestem grasses were planted. 5,104 acres are now considered to be adequately treated. Conservation plans were prepared for 67 farms covering more than 14,000 acres, or about 22 square miles. Owners received soils information and assistance in preparing a plan to control erosion on cropland and improve pasture and rangeland. Woodland and wildlife areas also were considered.

The following owners and operators have applied conservation practices to their land during the past two months.

Governor's Beef Tour August 5

One of the fastest growing cattle feeding areas of the world, southwest Kansas, will host the 1972 Governor's Beef Tour sponsored by the Kansas Livestock Association Saturday, August 5. The tour will start from Garden City, the business center of a fourteen county area which has greatly increased cattle feeding in the past few years. The impact this growth has had on the area and the state of Kansas will be the subject of the tour.

There will be two main stops at commercial feed yards on the tour. One will be at the Brookover Feed Yards, Inc., one of the pioneers of the industry. The Brookover yards, which has a capacity of 40,000 head, typifies the larger custom feedlot operations found on the high plains. The other operation, the Garden City Co-op Feedyard, is a cooperative venture which also does custom feeding for farmers and ranchers in southwest Kansas and nearby states.

In addition to these locations, the tour will visit a number of businesses that are closely related to this growth in cattle feeding. These will include the Farmland Foods packing plant at Garden City, and a number of irrigation, steel, concrete and equipment manufacturers and distributors. The tour will start at 8:00 a.m. and end at noon in Stevens Park in Garden City where there will be lunch and an address by Governor Docking.

The 1972 Governor's Beef Tour will coincide with the District 2 meeting of the Kansas Livestock Association and the Annual Cattlemen's Stag Dinner. There will be an afternoon program concerning legal problems for Kansas stockmen. The evening dinner will begin at 7:00 p.m. and Charles Andrews, Kanopolis, will be the featured speaker.

zoo director said, explaining why Tammy gets a birth control pill each morning.

Tammy is an African lioness who has had five litters of four to six cubs each. Since she's been fed the pill, the cubs have stopped arriving.

Peter Batten, head of the San Jose Zoo, said he thinks it's the first time anywhere that a lion — in fact, two lions — have been put on the pill. Tammy's 3-year-old daughter, Lee, gets the pill, too. There is no ready market for cubs, he explained.

according to the Kansas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service and the Kansas and Missouri Grain Inspection Departments.

For all 4,908 sample cars tested from 78 counties, including some in all districts of the State, average weight per bushel was 61.9 pounds, moderately above the 1961-70 average of 61.4 pounds but below last year's 62.4 pounds. Protein content for the 78 counties represented in the sample was 11.4 percent, compared with an average of 11.8 percent and last year's 12.0 percent.

Wheat in 87 percent of the cars tested so far graded No. 1, while 12 percent was No. 2, and only 1 percent No. 3 or lower grades. About 70 percent of the wheat was subclassed as hard winter, 2 percent as dark hard winter, and 28 percent as yellow hard winter. Total grade defects in this year's wheat was 2.1 percent, compared with a 7-year average of 2.3 percent and last year's 2.2 percent. This year's crop showed 0.1 percent foreign material, 0.1 percent damaged kernels, and 1.9 percent shrunken and broken kernels.

Northeast Kansas Wheat Weight, Protein Good

Early arriving 1972 wheat from northeast Kansas was showing excellent weight per bushel and above average protein content, while that from north central and northwestern Kansas was about average in test weight and a little below average in protein content,

NEW SALE BARN PLANNED

MARYSVILLE — When the landscaping is completed, the new sale pavilion for Marysville Livestock & Commission Co. will be as pictured here. It will be constructed on the site of the old Cahan dance hall, which now is being torn down to clear the site for the new facilities.

According to the owners, brothers Raleigh and Jim Breeding, the first sale at the new quarters will be in October, the old barn being in service until the new one is ready for business.

The Marysville sale was founded in 1941 by the late A.L. Breeding, father of the present owners. The present quarters have been in use since 1946.

A striking improvement in the new facilities will be the fully covered livestock steel pens capable of holding about 4,000 head of cattle. The structure will be 550' by 120'. The ring scale will be electronic, which will flash total weight and average weight of livestock in the ring.

The Cahan building had been a favorite for dancers over a wide territory. Some of the best known name bands played there a good many years ago.

Dairy Production Aiming At Record

The Agriculture Department says U.S. milk production this year may exceed 120 billion pounds, the most since 1965.

The 1972 projection was made in a preliminary dairy-situation report by the Economic Research Service in the department.

Officials said the projection estimate for the entire year was based on output during the first five months. In May, the report said, milk output was 11.3 billion pounds, up one per cent from the month last year.

For January-May, the daily average rate of milk production increase from the first five months of 1971 was 1.3 per cent. At that rate, total 1972 production would exceed 120 billion pounds.

The nation's milk supply has been increasing since 1969, mainly because of higher prices at the farm level which have encouraged farmers to slow down on cutbacks on dairy herds. Last year, the milking herd nationally averaged about 12.3 million cows, down only one per cent from 1970. That was the smallest decrease since 1954.

Despite the rising rate of milk output, the report said demand has more than absorbed the larger supply so far this year. That has meant a dip in government buying the milk products to help support prices at the farm level.

Through June, the report said, the Commodity Credit Corp. purchased an equivalent of 4.8 billion pounds of milk, down from 5.4 billion during the same period in 1971.

Looking ahead, officials said, milk prices paid producers are expected to continue higher than last year. They averaged 3 per cent higher in the April-June quarter, the report said.

Department economists have estimated cash sales of milk by farmers probably will exceed $7 billion this year, up from the record of $6.8 billion in 1971.

Dairy Product Manufacturing Up, Nemaha No. 1

Dairy products manufactured in Kansas plants during 1971 had a total value of $56,689,000, up 3 percent from 1970 and the highest value since 1961, according to the Kansas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service.

Production of American type cheese and creamed cottage cheese set new record highs for the State in 1971, while ice cream output and production of ice milk and sherbet combined were the second largest in 33 years of record.

Creamery butter production, however, declined about 7 percent from a year earlier and was only 39 percent of that a decade earlier. The milk equivalent of manufactured dairy products totaled 750 million pounds in 1971, some 44 percent of the State's total milk production on farms.

American cheese production in Kansas during 1971 totaled 30,458,000 pounds, up 10 percent from the previous record set in 1970. The cheese production was valued at $17,057,000.

Ice cream production in 1971 totaled 7,700,000 gallons and was worth $11,473,000.

Production of ice milk and sherbet combined totaled 5,536,000 gallons, down 2 percent from 1970. Worth $6,052,000, these products brought the total value of the State's frozen dairy products to $17,525,000.

Creamery butter production in Kansas in 1971 totaled 12,297,000 pounds, down from 13,201,000 pounds in 1970 and lowest in records dating back to 1929. It was valued at $8,485,000. Other important factory dairy products include 21,567,000 pounds of creamed cottage cheese, valued at $6,470,000, and 6,883,000 pounds of bulk condensed skim milk worth $619,000.

Nemaha County, with $12,283,000 worth of manufactured dairy products, was the top ranking county in value of factory dairy products in 1971. Marion County, with $6,763,000, ranked second; Sedgwick County, with $5,277,000, was third; Reno County, with $4,417,000 was fourth; Wyandotte County, with $3,638,000, was fifth; Washington County, with $3,039,000, was sixth; and Anderson County, with $2,087,000 was seventh.

The milk equivalent of Kansas manufactured dairy products in 1971 totaled 750 million pounds, compared with 736 million pounds a year earlier. Cheese production utilized 306 million pounds of Kansas milk; butter, 254 million pounds; and frozen dairy products, 144 million pounds. Milk equivalent of factory dairy products by months, ranged from a high in June of 69 million pounds to a low in October of 57 million pounds.

DICKINSON CO. TAX BASE GAINS NEARLY $1 MILLION

Dickinson County gained nearly $1 million in total valuations for tax purposes this year, which will form the tax base for the next fiscal year's budgets now in preparation.

Total valuation for taxes increased from $59,689,029 last year to $60,641,063, according to figures compiled by the office county clerk. These include real estate, personal and state assessed public utilities.

Feedstuff Supply Noticed When Low

Rod Turnbull

Kansas City Board of Trade

While it is routine for changing supply and demand situations to regulate the use of the large variety of feedstuffs available on U.S. markets, some recent developments have demonstrated dramatically how suddenly these changes may occur.

Price and availability are factors that determine to a large degree, which feedstuffs will be used in livestock and poultry rations. There are many feedstuffs which have comparable values in a ration. As an example, prices are quoted on a dozen or more protein supplements. With certain limitations, any one can be substituted for another. And, among the feed grains are corn, milo, wheat, barley and oats.

Revelations on recent dramatic developments can be taken from routine government reports on feedstuffs prices. Among these reports are the "Grain Market News" and "Feed Market News" regularly published by the Agricultural Marketing Service of the U.S. Department of Agriculture at Independence, Mo.

The story is told in sentences picked at random from some of these reports, such as:

"Animal proteins gained strength in most areas. Meat meal and tankage picked up an average of about $1.50 a ton. Fish meal gained $1.30. Tight supply was credited with most of the strength, as demand was not rushing. The tropical storm Agnes interrupted domestic fishing and curtailed production of fish meal on the Gulf and Atlantic Coasts."

While American fishermen were having trouble with the storm Agnes, Peruvian fish boats apparently were running into just hard luck. Said a USDA report:

"Import material (fish meal) was very scarce and Peruvian sources reported discontinuance of fishing for the most part due to poor catch. Import material sold as much as $10 per ton higher in Portland."

The storm Agnes also disrupted feed supplies as it swept over the Eastern part of the United States, as these reports indicate:

"Meat meal and tankage continued mostly firm to higher (in price). Buffalo was the exception as material was readily available because several Eastern feed mixers were down indefinitely because of flood damage to plant facilities and railroads."

"Wheat millfeeds turned upward $2 a ton as several Eastern mills were unable to operate due to flood waters and damage to facilities and general reductions of run time due to slack orders for export."

The latter paragraph refers to the fact that flour mills operate to produce flour. Millfeeds are a by-product. When the mills are operating heavily to produce flour, they also produce a lot of millfeeds which they price to move, as they do not attempt to store it. When mills are shut down for any reason, or when they are operating on slack schedules, then obviously, they do not produce as much millfeed. If there is a demand for it under these circumstances, prices rise or feed mixers switch to some other product.

By-products of corn processing plants are high protein products called gluten feed and gluten meal.

The June 21, "Feed Market News" spoke of these products as follows:

"Gluten feed and meal prices held firm. Export demand helped move feed surplus and light production of meal found ready outlets to the expanding poultry feeding industry. Distillers' dried grains (another protein supplement) came under pressure as most dairy users turned to good pasture to supply a large share of requirements and prices fell nearly 50 cents."

Even a stepped up schedule in beer making can affect feed prices as this report avers:

"Brewers' dried grains turned surplus under heavy brewing schedules and after a wildcat strike was settled at a large midwestern brewery, prices dropped over $3 a ton."

All of this indicates that while the housewife may not realize it, the cost of producing the broiler or the roast for her table is affected by such things as a hurricane in the Gulf of Mexico or a boost in beer output.

Each Spring and early Summer, the demand for feed concentrates slackens as dairy cows and beef animals are put into pastures. Thus it was routine for a recent report to say, "Improving pastures responding to widespread rains reduced dairy and range cattle needs to the lowest point of this year."

The U.S. livestock and poultry industry makes tremendously efficient use of the many by-product feeds.

As mentioned, the flow of these feedstuffs into use depends almost entirely on price, and price is determined by demand and availability. The system works to the efficient utilization of all the products produced. This is why men in the feed business, including those at the Kansas City Board of Trade, are economically opposed to efforts by the government or anyone else to fix prices anywhere along the line. Without price fluctuation, some products would be in tremendous demand while either in short supply or unavailable, while some others would go unused and wasted.

Farm Safety Week Set July 25-31

National Farm Safety Week, July 25-31, is a reminder to farmers who'll be harvesting hay in the next few weeks that potential hazards are lurking around the corner.

Various types of machinery are used in haying, including mowers, conditioners, side delivery rakes, windrowers, balers, bale loaders, wagons, trucks, tractors, elevators, dryers, choppers and blowers.

Extension agricultural engineers at Kansas State University point out that wagons are often overlooked as a cause of serious injury or death to haying operators.

Most wagon accidents are due to falls and happen when the wagon is moving. Other injuries occur during loading. Tractor operators should be sure persons on the wagon are ready before starting and stopping. Signals should be used if the noise level is too high for voice communications.

Broken boards, protruding nails, cracked stringers and weak tires cause many accidents. Broken boards should be replaced and protruding nails pounded down. Cracked stringers may break when the rack is loaded and cause an upset. So repairs are called for here.

Of course, these are just a few of the problems that can arise during haying operation. The main idea of farm safety is to keep equipment in good operating condition and alert.

82 Years of Family Ownership &
Management

Dear Customer:
Twenty-three years ago John J. Sedlacek (our father) sold us the business which was started by his father in 1890 — some 80 years ago.
The store had made a living for one family and we wondered whether it could support three families? WE HAD THE SOLUTION — Continue as a small town store but operate on a larger volume basis, built up through the lowest possible mark-up on merchandise, offer gigantic selection along with free delivery. How well this plan has succeeded! Today the fourth generation is helping to make this possibility even greater than ever.
Francis, Joseph and Wesley Sedlacek.

Cutbacks Expected In 1972 Wheat, Corn Production

Farmers are expected to harvest five per cent less wheat than a year ago and — based on acres they planted — ten per cent less corn in 1972, according to the Agriculture Department.

In all, farmers planted 308 million acres of crops this year, down three per cent from 1971. Sharp cutbacks for wheat and feed grain were partly offset by increases for soybeans and cotton, crops both in demand for export and domestic use.

Wheat production was estimated at 1.56 billion bushels, down from the record harvest of 1.64 billion last year. The estimates were included in a report issued by the USDA.

There was no field estimate for corn, but officials said the 1972 crop could be 5 billion bushels, based on average conditions and yield trends.

Both wheat and corn are currently in surplus supply mainly as the result of record output last year.

The 1971 corn crop was more than 5.5 billion bushels from 63.8 million acres of corn for harvest.

Soybean plantings, 45.6 million acres, are eight per cent larger and indicate a possible crop of 1.277 billion bushels, nine per cent more than last year, officials said.

Cotton planting totaled 13.3 million acres, up 12 per cent from 1971. There was no production estimate.

Field estimates on 1972 production of corn, soybeans and some other major crops will be available next month.

Assistant Secretary of Agriculture Carroll G. Brunthaver told newsmen he was pleased by the reduced outlook for wheat and feed grain. Government acreage set-aside programs were tightened this year to encourage less production of those crops.

Although noting the recently announced $750 million grain sale to the Soviet Union over the next three years, Brunthaver said he could not predict now whether government control programs might be eased next year as a result of an expected larger demand for U.S. grain.

Brunthaver indicated, however, this outlook for grain use over the next 18 months indicates there will be some reduction in surplus stocks.

Farm exports rose to a record $8 billion last fiscal year, up $200 million from the previous high in 1970-71, including new value marks for U.S. soybeans and animal products.

The new export value record was for the year ended June 30. Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz said farmers are "well on their way" to reaching a goal of $10 billion in overseas sales annually.

Exports of soybeans, meal and oil totaled more than $2 billion last season, the first time any U.S. commodity has reached that mark, Butz said.

Soybean shipments amounted to 430 million bushels, up about three per cent from last year earlier, but higher prices pushed the value up 14 per cent to $1.4 billion. Meal and oil accounted for the remainder.

Grain exports, including mixed feed, were down six per cent to about $2.5 billion, with wheat accounting for most of the decline. Feed grain exports were up slightly to 20.5 million tons, aided by purchases last fall by the Soviet Union.

Rice exports, at more than 36 million bags, were about the same as a year earlier. Cotton shipments totaled 3.3 million bales down from 3.7 million, but the value was up 7 per cent because of higher prices.

Tobacco exports, including bulk smoking tobacco, totaled $570 million, about the same as in 1970-71, but the quantity was down to 560 million pounds, compared with 584 million a year earlier.

Officials said the figures were preliminary and that a full report will be issued later this month.

The sale of liquor by the drink on Amtrak trains began July 5. Complaints followed to E.V.D. Murphy, Kansas director of alcoholic beverage control, who sought Miller's advice.

Murphy said the trains could not qualify for liquor dispensing under the Kansas private club law because

No Booze For Amtrak Passengers On Kansas Tracks

The sale of mixed drinks on Amtrak trains in Kansas was ordered halted in a letter from Vern Miller, attorney general, to Harold Graham, Amtrak's vice-president marketing.

Miller said complaints had been made to his office that drinks are being sold on Amtrak's passenger trains operated in Kansas.

He said the Rail Passenger Service Act of 1970 does not exempt Amtrak's trains from Kansas laws regarding alcoholic beverages.

Miller said failure to comply immediately with his ruling would result in arrests and prosecution. But Miller said he was confident Amtrak

DERAILED GRAIN CARS

Eight Rock Island grain cars loaded with wheat created the fifth mess for this railroad in slightly more than a year. Two cars, not pictured, were pushed over the 30 foot embankment. The two grain cars shown here were leaning on trees and considered dangerous because of the possibility they could roll on down the steep hill.

Damage was estimated by the line's officials at about $22,000 as wheels and undercarriages were ripped from a number of the overturned cars. Part of the cleanup involved moving spilled grain and removing some of it from the cars to local elevators before the cars could be righted.

Railroad officials said the cause of the accident has not yet been determined. "But it definitely was not the roadbed," commented C. R. Thurston, Des Moines, Iowa, the superintendent for this section of the Rock Island. "We worked on this section just a month ago," he said.

Meat Exporting Countries Expect To Step Up Trade

Australia may be considering a boost in beef shipments to the United States by slowing down exports to other lucrative markets such as Japan and Europe, according to a government source.

About half the beef Australia exports already comes to U.S. consumers. But now that President Nixon has lifted quota restrictions, Australia may attempt to boost U.S. sales in hopes of getting a larger permanent share when quotas are re-imposed.

In other words according to the source, Australia would like to set a precedent this year to help build a base for a larger normal quota later when controls resume.

When he suspended quota restrictions June 26, Nixon said the open door would apply only for the balance of 1972. The action was taken to make more meat available to American consumers at a time when U.S. beef cattle are at record high prices.

The Australian Meat Board, which oversees shipments to the country's world markets, is scheduled to meet later this month to discuss the opened U.S. market and the supply of export meat Australia is expected to have available during the balance of the year.

Donald M. Rubel, assistant administrator for commodity programs in the Foreign Agricultural Service of USDA, said the provision in the 1964 meat quota law which requires quarterly estimates still applies.

The law which prescribes quotas for fresh, frozen or chilled beef, veal, mutton and goat, requires the secretary of agriculture to estimate every three months the amount of such meat expected to be imported during the entire calendar year.

That estimate, for the third quarter, was due by July 1. Rubel said he did not know exactly when it would be announced.

Before Nixon suspended the restrictions, the estimate was for 1.24 billion pounds to be imported this year, based on "voluntary restraint" agreements with the supplying countries.

Of that, Australia's share was 600.4 million pounds and New Zealand's 250.9 million. A dozen other countries, mainly in Latin America, accounted for the balance.

Through May — the most recent figure available — quota meat imports this year totaled about 456.4 million pounds up 14 per cent from the first five months of 1971. The May shipments totaled 107.9 million pounds, a 41 per cent gain from the month last year.

Australia through May this year exported 219.6 million pounds of meat to U.S. markets, up 43 per cent from a year earlier, according to government records.

The wide-awake bank makes it all so easy.

Toxaphene Rules Dropped For Cattle Tick Eradication

An amendment to federal regulations to allow use of toxaphene as a dip for cattle tick eradication has been adopted by the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Previously, the regulations governing inter-state movement of animals permitted use only of arsenic, dioxathion (Delnav) and coumaphos (Co-Ral).

Both species of cattle ticks — Boophilus microplus and Boophilus annulatus — have been found in a quarantine zone in south Texas. The quarantine zone, necessary because of presence of the ticks in Mexico, extends from the mouth of the Rio Grande River 500 miles northwest to Amistad Dam near Del Rio and varies in width from a few yards to several miles.

APHIS officials have alerted cattle owners to watch for ticks and to submit specimens for identification. If fever ticks are found, infested and exposed cattle are dipped in tick-killing baths at regular intervals for at least one year.

To protect fish and wildlife, officials warn that after dipping, animals must be kept out of streams and ponds for at least seven days. Tests made at Beltsville, Md., have shown that until that time elapses, animals retain enough dip solution on their legs and bodies to pollute water.

Tobacco Crop Estimated Lower

The Agriculture Department, in its first estimate of the 1972 tobacco season, estimated the flue-cured crop at 1,019,284,000 pounds, down five per cent from last year.

In 1971, flue-cured production totaled 1,077,790,000 pounds and in 1970 it was 1,192,261,000.

Crop Reporting Board officials did not make yield and production estimates for burley and other types of tobacco in the July report. Those will be made in August.

However, 1972 burley plantings were estimated at 228,000 acres, up seven per cent from 1971. Based on that acreage and recent yield trends, the burley crop this year could total 571 million pounds, compared with 473 million in 1971, the report said.

Based on similar projections for other types, the 1972 tobacco crop — from total plantings of 849,450 acres, up one per cent — could total 1,752,000,000 pounds, compared with 1,709,000,000 in 1971.

Officials said the flue-cured crop was retarded early this season by cool, wet weather. In mid-June the crop was short of moisture over much of its growing area, but rains from tropical storm Agnes and recent showers have helped.

Based on July 1 indications, the flue-cured crop was estimated to average 1,963 pounds an acre, compared with 2,050 last year.

Democratic Farm Plank Listed

The farm plank drawn up during the Democratic Convention seemed to get lost with the Gay Liberation Front, the abortion plank and legalization of marijuana stimulating more interest in Miami.

Highlights of the farm plank, listed in Doan's Agricultural Report, follow:

- Replace the 1970 Farm Act with permanent legislation that will include loans and payments to farmers and effective supply management to raise family farm income to 100 percent of parity based on 1910-14 ratios.

- End program benefits to farm units larger than family-sized farms.

- Strengthen the family farm by improving farm bargaining, extending marketing order authority, prohibiting farming by corporations whose resources and income are primarily off the farm, and prohibiting the use of tax shelters.

- Support the United Farm Workers in their non-violent efforts to gain collective bargaining recognition and contracts, unemployment insurance compensation benefits, workman's compensation benefits, and delivery of health services for farm workers plus the removal of sugar workers from the custody of the USDA.

Tax Revenues Pass Estimate By $16 Million

Preliminary figures indicate Kansas general fund receipts exceeded estimates by at least $16.14 million in the fiscal year ended June 30.

"It shows a strong economy in Kansas," said Sen. Glee Smith (R-Larned). "The estimate was revised at the end of December and the increase has been in the final six months of the fiscal year."

The report indicated that individual income taxes and retail sales and compensating use taxes accounted for the major part of the increase over the estimate. Individual income tax receipts for the fiscal year totaled $94.24 million, up $7.74 million from the estimate. Retail sales and compensating taxes totaled $179.49 million, up $6.59 million over the estimate.

Smith pointed particularly to the sales and compensating tax receipts as showing a strong economy in the six months ending June 30.

The excess of revenue over estimates will ease state finance problems facing the 1973 Legislature.

USDA Says Egg Producers Should Make Cutback

The Agriculture Department says egg producers should cut production two per cent the first half of 1973 "to avoid the price problems" which plagued them this year.

The recommendation was in an 20

Grass & Grain
July 18, 1972

"egg marketing guide" published by the Agricultural Marketing Service in USDA. Laying flocks should be trimmed to reduce egg output near January-June below year earlier levies, the report said.

Large supplies of eggs have held down prices farmers get for more than a year. Last month they averaged less than 28 cents a dozen, compared with 31.2 cents for all of 1967, as year used for comparison.

DAD'S BIG HELPER

Raymond Krouse and his son, Dean, are going to do some grinding for their hogs. Krouse, Wheaton, runs 400 head of feeder cattle and farms 400 acres of broken ground. "I can't understand why they want to cut back beef prices when the farmer was just beginning to make a decent profit," Krouse said when talking about his cattle operation.

Crop Production Estimates Hold Farm Programs

Crop production estimates by the Agriculture Department over the next few months will shed some light on where government farm programs are headed and, to some extent, how American farmers can expect to benefit from the new $750 million grain sale to the Soviet Union.

The recent grain deal is the largest undertaken by the Soviets. Under any circumstances it can only help American farmers by adding that much more to their export total, currently running at a record $7.8 billion annually for all products.

Administration officials say the Soviet agreement, which includes sales of U.S. wheat, corn and other feed grain over the next three years, will strengthen grain prices at the farm level.

But U.S. crop production still is huge despite the greatly improved outlook for exports, rising demand for more livestock production here at home and government curbs aimed at trimming output.

Thus, much still depends on how 1972 crop production turns out, particularly for wheat and corn. There are surpluses of both, currently mainly as a result of the record harvests last year.

The wheat carryover on July 1, the start of a new marketing year, was more than 900 million bushels the most in nearly a decade — and total feed grain reserves by fall will be around 50 million tons, the most since 1965.

Last year's record corn crop was at least half a billion more than export and feeding needs this year, thus adding to the stockpile.

Based on farmers' planting intentions last March, the 1972 corn crop could be about 5.1 billion bushels. The USDA will not estimate '72 corn production officially until August.

The rosier outlook for grain exports because of the Soviet deal and the rising demand for more meat also will have an effect on how administration policy makers line up on 1973 crop acreage set-aside programs.

Ideally, the planners would like to see such an improved market outlook for both wheat and feed grains that some of the set-aside requirements could be eased for 1973. Those curbs are designed so farmers must take a share of their crop land from production in order to qualify for payments and price supports.

The requirements were tightened for 1972 because of the huge crops last year and the growing surplus of feed and wheat. Now, if prices for grain improve, the outlook continues strong, domestic feeding keeps those curbs could be relaxed a bit next year.

Kansas Bans Acupuncture

The ancient Chinese art of needle medicine, known in modern times as acupuncture, has been prohibited in Kansas.

The 11 members of the state board of the Healing Arts voted unanimously against it.

"We're not condemning acupuncture per se," said Dr. F. J. Nash, secretary of the board.

"But we don't think there is any place in this country where it has been used or taught enough so anyone can claim proficiency at it."

Fred Sturm, executive director of the board, said he does not know of any attempt to practice acupuncture in Kansas.

The board took its action at the request of Dr. Kenneth Graham of Leavenworth, president of the Kansas Medical Society. Nash said the society did not oppose acupuncture but asked that the board make a ruling on it.

FOR SALE — Super WD9, good plow tractor. Larry D. Richecky, Belleville, Ks., 913 987-5570. x23

FARM MACHINERY

Priced for immediate sale. No prices will be noted this week due to high taxes, high water, highway improvements & high pressure big bureaucratic government.

We made it through the Democratic convention. Now if we can just make it through the next Republican thing.

Used 900 Case tractor, runs good, has power steering & hydraulics, but no wheels. Less wheels $950. With wheels $1350. John Deere 830. Case 9000 tractor '58 or '59 model. Allis WD tractor with power steering, still cheap. Allis Chalmers D-17 '63, clean, has power strg. Set of rice tires for combine, with wheels, $169.

See where Big Government selling 750 million in wheat to Russia. Goin' to make us farmers rich. See where McGovern has himself a rich buddy, like Dick has. Helps keep food on table. Mr. Pearson, our senator, flew over big Marion Dam with copter, looked down & says "leak not serious." What would we do without them?

931 Case row crop '67 model, new wheels & tires. 1966 Case 931 row crop tractor, very good tractor, all new tires $4450.

B IHC tractor with rear mtd. mower $395. 1030 Case tractor, '67 model, 3 pt., very good.

Connally back from world tour, gave Dick report, says all running smooth, prisoners OK, goin' to get 'em home after election. Poor old Spiro T goin to lose out to Texas Connally for the vice-president. Says he don't want it but would take it if the people want him so badly.

See where poor folks can buy flood insurance on government program providing they live on a hill.

5 bottom 14" Case JR semi-mtd. plow, like new condition. 14' aluminum boat, 18 HP motor & trailer $379. Tom Hett was down to visit me, said he finally sold a John Deere tractor.

New Case 330 baler, must sell this week to wind up. 8' Moline oneway in near new condition.

Several fast hitch IHC 3 bottom plows. 1963 Case 930 Comfort King tractor, very clean tractor. 1953 Moline U row crop tractor with hydraulics.

New Case 3 bottom 14" plow $339.

Several good Allis roto balers, rebuilt, new bands, rolls, etc. 1/2 dozen now in stock.

Several new Allis combines, G's, F's, must sell at once or sooner.

Several new Blair feed wagons, heavy discounts on these to clean up. IHC W6 tractor, runs ok, take $495.

Still have 3 crawler tractors to sell: 1000 Case with loader, 800 Case crawler with loader, 450 Case crawler with loader.

Many other items, both large & small, too numerous to list. Large stock of used tractor & combine tires. No. 133 Case twine tie baler $397. Case 135 wire tie baler $397. Will deliver on most listed.

Russian Grain Deal To Handle Kansas Farm

The Soviet Union purchase $750 million worth of grain during 1970. The purchase creates a huge market for Midwest grain. Godrick Turnbull, public affairs for the Board of Trade. Turnbull said the purchase was announced by President Nixon in August 1 with a total of $200 million in grain, sorghum, rice and wheat.

"It's bound to American agriculture," said. "All this grain is going to be sold at a profit out of here. All the Board of Trade has heard of some 'depression' in the markets. People were buying particularly on the strength of business deal."

Under the agreement will make averaging $250 million in grain over a three year period. Credit Corporation.

"Russia had some grain," Turnbull said. "It has been going to give the We have lots more available than we can use. boost to the agriculture." Turnbull noted in that published announcement had not mentioned soybeans, an important supplement which is relatively scarce here. "Any country that buy feed grains would supplements to feed."

Russian Grain Deal To Help Kansas Farmers

The Soviet Union's agreement to purchase $750 million in American grain during the next three years creates a huge bonus market for Midwest grain farmers, says Frederick Turnbull, director of public affairs for the Kansas City and working board of Trade.

Turnbull said the grain sale announced by President Nixon will begin Aug. 1 with purchase of at least $200 million in wheat, corn, barley, sorghum, rye and oats in the next year.

"It's bound to be good for American agriculture," Turnbull said. "All this grain has got to come out of here. All week long at the Board of Trade there have been rumors of some 'deal' and it has used the markets to strengthen. People were buying wheat, particularly on the strength of some kind of business deal that was going on."

Under the agreement, the Soviet Union will make purchases averaging $250 million in each of three years through credit made available through the Commodity Credit Corporation.

Russia had some poor crops," Turnbull said. "It has told its people to give them more meat. They have lots more wheat, corn and soybeans than we can use. This is a big boost to the agricultural economy."

Turnbull noted in his comments published announcements so far did not mention purchase of soybeans, an important protein food supplement which is both costly and relatively scarce here now.

"Any country that would need to feed grains would need protein supplements to feed with it," Turnbull said.

bull said. "World wide, the price of soybeans is sky high."

The Soviet Union made grain purchases totaling $150 million last year and about $140 million in 1963.

But Turnbull called previous Russian purchases "bolts out of the blue" rather than guarantees extending over a period of years that farmers could depend and plan on.

He said the big grain purchase is particularly timely for Midwesterners since they are harvesting what appears to be another near-record wheat crop, while corn and milo crops are also looking good.

Farm Exports Break Record, Over $8 Billion

Farm exports soared to a record $8 billion during the year ending June 30, up 3 per cent from the previous high of $7.8 billion in 1970-71, Earl L. Butz, secretary of agriculture, announced.

When dock strikes tied up ports last year, administration officials feared farm exports would drop sharply, perhaps to $7.4 billion or less. Butz said, however, that 4.2 billion-dollar shipments in the last half of the fiscal year, offset the earlier slowdown.

The 8 billion-dollar total included record sales of more than $1 billion in animal products such as butter and other dairy items, hides and meat. Exports also reached a new high for soybeans and soybean products, totaling more than $2 billion, a high mark for all U.S. farm commodities.

Butz said the entire increase resulted from commercial sales, which have risen about 50 per cent over the past three years. Exports under government programs, such as Food for Peace, have held steady at about $1 billion annually.

Butz said the administration's goal is for $10 billion a year for farm exports. Barring further dock strikes, sales are expected to increase again during the current year, he said.

"World markets continue strong, and we will continue to administer policies and programs in ways that enable our agriculture to benefit from the growth in consumer demand around the world," he said.

Butz said the announcement of a new 750 million-dollar U.S. grain sale to the Soviet Union over the next three years is a major breakthrough in export trade.

All four cattle had been certified by the owners as free of the chemical.

Livestock producers have been required since Jan. 8 to certify DES has not been fed or has been withdrawn from rations seven days before slaughtering.

Federal law prohibits any trace of DES-Diethylstilbestrolin human food because it has caused cancer in laboratory animals fed large doses.

Department officials say no trace of DES has been detected in muscle tissue or red meat of animals, only in livers.

The four new residues were from steers in California, Kansas, and Texas and from a dairy cow in Ohio.

The Kansas steer was presented for slaughter by the Kansas Feeders, Leoti, and the liver contained 1.6 parts per billion of DES.

The Food and Drug Administration, noting the continued DES problem, has proposed a hearing on use of the chemical in livestock feed to help determine if it should be banned entirely.

Worst Screwworm Epidemic In 10 Years For West

A screwworm epidemic in the Southwest, the worst in about a decade, edged past 25,000 cases last week, scientists said.

Officials at the Mission Screwworm Eradication Laboratory said 3,518 new cases were confirmed in Texas during the past week. This count included cases in 15 additional counties, ranging from Matagorda in South Texas to Collingsworth and Armstrong in the Panhandle.

Texas now has confirmed screwworm cases in 182 of the state's 254 counties.

Texas' total for the year is 24,615 cases, Dr. M. E. Meadows of the Mission laboratory said.

Other states reporting new confirmed cases during the past week include Arizona, New Mexico and Oklahoma. Arizona had 49 new cases, bringing its total for the year to 295; New Mexico had 21 new cases for a total of 71, and Oklahoma had four new cases for a total of 18. California had two confirmed cases earlier this year.

Much of the battle against the screwworm is fought from the air with thousands of sterile flies dropped from airplanes in areas where confirmed cases are found. The sterile flies are produced at the laboratory here.

Officials at the laboratory say this year's epidemic is the worst since the massive eradication program began in the Southwest about 10 years ago.

Turnbull noted in his comments published announcements so far did not mention purchase of soybeans, an important protein food supplement which is both costly and relatively scarce here now.

"Any country that would need to feed grains would need protein supplements to feed with it," Turnbull said.

Kansas School Enrollment Down, Study Predicts

Kansas elementary and secondary school enrollment will continue to decrease for some time, the Kansas Association of School Boards predicted in a study released recently.

Because of the decline, the association's report recommends the state's unified school districts "consider consolidation for more effective use of resources."

But "barring some unforeseen setback," a new wave of students from an anticipated 1973-1974 first grade increase will reach high school senior status by 1984-85, said George A. Robinson, KASB research director, Topeia.

"Continued adjustments in the teaching staff will be necessary" if the decline continues as expected, the report stated.

"Colleges and departments of education on the numerous campuses should continue to assess the needs of the teaching profession for new teachers and adjust programs accordingly," the association said, and proposed school board building and remodeling programs must be related closely to district growth rates.

The association proposes that the state's 311 unified school districts "consider consolidation for more effective use of resources," and warns that declining enrollments will result in higher operating costs per student.

Kansas had 487,500 students in kindergarten through high school in 1965-66, enrollment reached 502,732 in 1968-69 and dropped to 486,298 in fall 1971.

The state aid plan developed during the period of district unification and spiraling enrollments "should be carefully analyzed and revised," said KASB.

Robinson also noted the apparently high dropout rate among high school seniors.

There were 40,105 seventh graders in 1966-67, the report stated, but only 34,488 were graduated last spring an apparent dropout rate of 14 per cent.

Predicting is made uncomfortable for researchers in the report who observed that Kansas birth rates declined each year from 1961 to 1967 then began rising again to 38,215 in 1970.

Impact of the birth rate on future enrollments and Kansas economy is clouded, the report stated, because it is impossible to tell how many students will remain in the state.

Enrollment in special education for the handicapped and gifted has increased from slightly more than one-half of 1 per cent of the total enrollment in 1966-67 (2,863) to 1.45 per cent of the total (7,068) in 1971-72, according to KASB figures. Wichita schools alone enrolled more than 4,000 students through the special education division the past school year.

The association cites national studies from U.S. News and World Report which indicate statisticians overestimated population of the nation during nine out of the past 12 years.

There are three million fewer preschool children today than 10 years ago, national reports indicate. High school enrollments are still rising but the 14-17-year-old group is expected to decline after a peak of 16.8 million in 1974.

Fantastic Frasier The Lion Made Love Not Roar

Frasier the lion made love not roar.

Cast off when a Mexican circus went bankrupt, the scruffy, scrawny cat was rescued by Lion Country Safari, Laguna Hills, Calif., a wildlife preserve, and nursed back to health.

He was clearly past his prime. Bleary-eyed and nearly toothless, he suffered from rheumatism and arthritis and had trouble walking. His 20 lion years were the equivalent of more than 80 human years.

But he became a national sex symbol by his success as a lover. He sired 35 cubs in 18 months.

Frasier was introduced to a "pride" — a pack of 12 young females — after the fussy lionesses spurned at least five young, virile candidates. One would-be lover was badly mauled.

Putting Frasier in with the pride was supposed to be a joke. But the next morning the lionesses were found purring placidly in the sun near an exhausted but happy Frasier. He lay on his back, paws in the air.

He was adored by the lionesses. When he was hungry the females would fetch his food and place it at his feet and even chew it for him. When he took walks, a lioness took her place on each side of his elderly and infirm body to hold him up.

As his exploits gained national renown, Frasier watches, tee-shirts and caps were marketed and attendance at Lion Country jumped by 20 per cent. He was named "father of the year" in a congressional resolution. Election officials said they found dozens of "Frasier for President" write-in votes in the June 6 California primary.

But, Frasier's rein is over now. The old lion died in his sleep of apparent kidney failure.

His epitaph was spoken by Pat Quinn, chief animal warden.

"We put him in with the pride as a sort of joke, after the females turned down the other cats," said Quinn. "It started as a spoof, but Frasier didn't take it that way. In his own right, he established himself as a most phenomenal lion."

'72 Wheat Crop Fourth Largest

The State's fourth largest wheat crop, but smaller acreages of major feed grains were indicated by mid-year survey data, according to the Kansas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service.

Cool temperatures and intermittent showers during late May and much of June helped small grain yields per acre this year, with barley setting a new record high and wheat, oats and rye only slightly below previous peaks.

The 304.6 million bushel wheat crop was 3 percent below last year's record production and slightly less than in 1952 and 1969, but above other years.

Oats production of 8.4 million bushels was 14 percent below last year, and the barley crop of 3.3 million bushels and rye crop of .9 million bushels were quite small.

At mid-year row crops were developing normally and in good condition in most areas. Hail, excessive or not enough rainfall and greenbugs have caused some damage in local areas. The State's 4.4 million acres of sorghum planted was down sharply from last year and the 1.6 million acres of corn down moderately, but soybean plantings of 950,000 acres were up 8 percent.

Winter Wheat
Kansas 1972 wheat production is expected to total 304,590,000 bushels, the fourth largest crop on record.

The estimated yield of 33 bushels per harvested acre is below the record high of 34.5 bushels set last year, but otherwise equal to the highest on record.

The 9,230,000 acres for harvest was above the past two years, but below other recent years. Abandonment of 8.6 percent of the 10,100,000 acres seeded last fall was the highest since 1968, but below the ten-year average.

Weather during late May and the last two-thirds of June was generally favorable for filling of heads, and yields were good to excellent in most parts of the State.

Wheat suffered from lack of moisture in some western and southern counties before general rains provided relief in mid-May. Early April freezes reduced some yields, and a number of local areas suffered hail losses.

By July 1, about 60 percent of the State's wheat was cut, behind the 70 percent on this date last year and the 1961-70 average of 65 percent. Extensive lodging made combining difficult in many fields, but overall grain losses were light.

Sorghum-Corn Acres

Sorghum acreage planted for all purposes this year is estimated at 4,400,000 acres, 15 percent less than last year. Kansas farmers expect to harvest 4,300,000 acres for all purposes, compared with 5,102,000 acres last year.

Farmers planted 1,555,000 acres of corn this spring, 6 percent less than a year earlier. Of this acreage, 1,515,000 acres are expected to be harvested for all purposes and 1,215,000 acres harvested for grain.

White corn acreage for harvest this year is estimated at 48,000 compared with 99,000 last year. Due to wet field conditions, planting of sorghum and corn moved slowly during most of May, but accelerated to normal progress during June.

Stands of most row crops have been good, although some reseeding of sorghums has been necessary due to greenbug damage, washing effect of heavy rains, and some crusting.

Growth of corn has been excellent in both irrigated and dryland areas, except for a few local eastern areas where moisture has been short.

Other Crops

Oat production is estimated at 8.4 million bushels, 14 and 18 percent, respectively, below the 1971 and 1970 crops, but otherwise the largest since 1964. The 195,000 acres for harvest are expected to yield 43 bushels per acre, exceeded only by last year's record yield of 45 bushels.

Barley production for 1972 is estimated at 3.3 million bushels, less than half the 1971 crop. Yield per acre was a record high 41 bushels on 80,000 acres harvested.

Rye production is estimated at .9 million bushels, with the 45,000 acres harvested averaging 20 bushels per acre.

Acreage of soybeans planted this year is estimated at 950,000 acres, 8 percent above last year, with 930,000 acres expected to be harvested for beans.

Sugar beet acreage planted was 36,000 acres with growers expecting to harvest 35,000 acres, 4,000 acres less than last year.

Expected dry edible bean harvested acreage is 7,000 acres, unchanged from 1971. Production of Irish potatoes is estimated at 90,000 cwt., 27 percent below a year earlier.

Fruit

Commercial apple production is expected to total 9.0 million pounds, smallest since 1967. Peach production is forecast at 1.7 million pounds, smallest since 1966.

Hay and Pasture:

All hay acreage for harvest is estimated at 2,470,000 acres, nearly the same as last year. Pasture and range feed condition on July 1 averaged 83 percent of normal, 2 points below average.

45 Kansas 4-H'ers To Washington July 23-29

For 45 Kansas 4-H'ers from 24 counties the week of July 23-29 brings a trip to Washington, D. C. and the 4-H Citizenship Short Course at the National 4-H Center.

Conducted by the National 4-H Foundation, the Citizenship Short Course is an experience of "listening, sharing, receiving, caring, and touring" for senior high school age youth. Kansas delegates were selected from applications submitted to the state 4-H office, Kansas State University. In addition to the Sunflower State 4-H'ers, the Short Course will include members from Arkansas, Kentucky, Louisiana, Michigan, Mississippi, Nebraska, New Mexico, Pennsylvania, Tennessee, Virginia, and Wisconsin.

The schedule includes speakers, discussions in small groups, field trips to historical centers and government offices, including the White House, recreation, and informal visiting.

The Short Course emphasizes the meaning of citizenship and practical ways in which youth can become involved and contribute to their community.

Farmland Industries, Kansas City, provides some funds for the trip although most of the cost is paid by the delegates and-or county sources. The group will be guests of Farmland Industries the day they leave, July 20. The chartered bus trip is from July 20 to 29.

Sue Partch, Saline County Extension home economist, Salina; and Paul Oltmanns, Marshall County Extension director, Marysville, will accompany the group.

The delegates by counties are: Barton — Jeanne Karst and Dean Stoskopf; Cowley — Paulette Jones, Susan Guinty, and Jim McClung; Crawford — Diana Kunshek and Sherry VanSoosten; Edwards — Eric Smith; Elk — Terry Wilmet; Ford — JoAnn Glenn, Deborah Wiles; Geary — David Shaw; Harvey — Kathy Wiebe; Jewell — Barbara Roe;

Kansas Farm Situation Under Eye of KCLRS

Would you like to know how bad the corn borers are in Atchison County this year? Or the prospective value of the 1972 Kansas wheat crop? Or how many cattle are being held on feedlots in the state?

Just wait a while, and chances are the Kansas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service will announce it. If you can't wait, call on them. They can probably tell you in a matter of minutes, for hardly a seed sprouts or a sow litters in the state without the service's knowledge. As for bugs, well! They keep a special eye on them.

You'd never think it to visit the KCLRS offices, though. Located on the second floor of the Federal Building, 5th and Kansas, the KCLRS section is occupied by some 30 employees and very little else. The atmosphere is quiet, almost somnolent.

But appearances are deceptive, for this is the hub of an information net that covers Kansas like a spiderweb, and there are nearly 35,000 unpaid volunteers who make it effective.

Of some 85,000 farmers in the state, reports J. E. Pallesen, statistician-in-charge, some 30,000 regularly furnish data to the KCLRS. "Many of our regular monthly farm reporters have been doing this for years; some of them for the second and third generation."

Then there are about 2,500 local merchants, 1,800 mills and elevators, 250 slaughtering plants, 960 dairy products plants, 40 hatcheries, 63 alfalfa dehydrating plants, four soybean processing plants and 105 county agents, plus a like number of county assessors — all furnishing at least some of the grist for the KCLRS' mill.

There are also reports of receipts of livestock by stockyards, packing plants, local auctions, animal health departments. . . And grain sampling results from the Kansas and Missouri Grain Inspection Depts. and so on.

Properly sorted, tabulated, compared and summarized, all this raw data emerges in some 200 different reports per year, contained in about 400,000 copies.

Counting the questionnaires flowing to and from the office, Pallesen estimates total mail volume in the last fiscal year amounted to something like 800,000 pieces.

The KCLRS makes reports on 21 crops and 10 livestock products items on a weekly, monthly, quarterly, biennial or annual basis. Included are a weekly weather and crop summary, a monthly crop report, a prospective acreage plantings survey, an annual crop summary, county estimates of major crops, wheat variety and wheat quality report, a January livestock inventory, monthly cattle-on-feed surveys, quarterly hog and pig summaries, monthly slaughter reports, monthly dairy production tables, quarterly egg production reports, monthly price reports and such annual summaries as the Farm Facts Bulletin.

These all are produced by the nine statisticians and 22 clerks in the central office from data supplied by mail surveys, backed up by enumerative surveys and occasional on-the-spot objective yield measurements by part-time field representatives.

The data is tabulated by computer through a hook-up with a large rented unit, and shared almost instantly with U.S. Dept. of Agriculture officials in Washington. "We have a gadget hooked on our phones now, and we get facsimile material between here and Washington," explained Pallesen. "It takes six minutes to transmit or receive a page of statistics."

Probably the simplest report to prepare is the weekly weather and crop summary. Each of the state's 105 county agents makes a report on Friday or Saturday and drops it in the mail. These are received in Topeka Monday mornings, sorted, edited and tabulated by one person in about two hours. A statistician reviews the tabulation, writes a summary statement, gets it edited and sends it to a stenographer for stencil preparation. The resulting report is released that same afternoon.

Other, more complicated reports take longer.

The major acreage report takes "several clerks a week to prepare."

The KCLRS mailing list now totals 6,330 governmental agencies, news media, agri-business and interested persons — "everyone concerned with Kansas agriculture," as Pallesen puts it. Not all get every release, and some may be interested in only one or two. In addition, each volunteer reporter also gets a copy of the report in which his data was used. "That's his pay for submitting the report to us."

Pallesen, a white-haired, kind-faced man who has headed the Topeka operation since 1958 figures the greatest continuing value of the reports is in providing an unbiased summary of state farm products market values. "This is considered a direct benefit to every consumer as well as every producer."

He says "We think many folks, from the producer to the ultimate consumer, are interested in keeping on top of the agricultural situation, and especially so in an important farming state such as Kansas."

"Everyone concerned with growing, harvesting, transporting and processing the Kansas wheat crop, for example, is very concerned with the progress of the crop throughout the growing period."

"We've heard a lot recently about livestock prices. Well, everyone concerned, clear down to the housewife who does the shopping, is interested in how many cattle on feed there are," because the available supply of meat will have a quick and direct impact on the cost of steaks and hamburger.

Railroads use the annual December wheat forecasts to plan where boxcars will be needed in the harvest seven months later. Slaughtering plants use cattle and hog data to project their own operations in coming months. And farmers, of course, use the KCLRS reports to try to match output with demand.

"We are hopeful that the farmer, either directly or indirectly, receives the most benefit, because the lack of reliable estimates results in a wider range of pricing" and resulting market dislocation, Pallesen concludes.

He feels his staff's crop and acreage forecasts "have a serviceable degree of accuracy, depending on weather conditions later, but say beyond those we don't make economic predictions." Instead, the KCLRS limits itself to factual reports on conditions as of a particular date.

And, he says, the process is getting more refined each year.

"We do a more scientific sampling procedure in obtaining the information" today than in past years, Pallesen says. "Previously, we had livestock reports, we had questionnaires out through the mail carriers. Now we work with a smaller list and a random selection and endeavor to get a report from each person in the sample," striving for 100 per cent returns.

"We get a few refusals. We never quite achieve 100 per cent, but we come very close."

In such sampling, the KCLRS relies heavily on its 40 part-time field enumerators, mostly farmers or farmers' wives, who work on an hourly rate basis. If the office mails 2,000 livestock questionnaires and gets a 50 per cent return, the field enumerators phone those who failed to report. If they can't be reached by phone, the enumerators visit the subject's farm in person.
