A Start Toward Higher Supports On Wheat, Corn?

The new manual on uniform traffic control devices for streets and highways today was adopted by the Kansas Highway Commission as the standard to be used for signs, markings, and other traffic controls on the state highway system.

John Montgomery, director of highways, in announcing adoption of the manual for Kansas, said the changes will be made gradually so motorists will not be confused by having to learn several new sign symbols immediately.

"Biggest change in 1972 will be the use of a dashed yellow center line on all two-lane highways instead of the present dashed white line. By the end of 1972 the Maintenance Department expects to complete the change on the nearly 9,000 miles of two-lane highways.

Another addition in 1972 will be large X's painted in white on the roadway at approaches to railroad grade crossings. The letters RR will be painted in the X," Montgomery explained.

The Highway Commission obtains striping paint from the state prison at Lansing and already the prison officials have been informed that there will be a change in paint quantities needed in 1972.

The new manual includes a wider use of symbols to replace words on both regulatory and warning signs. Color coding also is being used more extensively.

At locations where maintenance and construction work is in progress, all new traffic control signs will be orange with black letters. This color will be used exclusively to mark these work zones.

Montgomery said, however, in most instances signs now in use along Kansas highways are in the new sign manual as alternates and their use may be continued. This will eliminate the need for a crash program of sign changes that would cost a great deal of money.

He predicted that the first change by the Highway Commission to the new symbol signs will be on urban state highway links in cities that are now revising their other street signing.

In January the Highway Commission expects to take bids for sign modification along 38 miles of I-70 in Gove and Logan counties. The plans include signs from the new manual. The "Yield" signs will be red instead of yellow; "Do Not Enter" signs will be red; and there will be combination red, white and black "No Left" or "No Right Turn" signs. The Highway Commission has an estimated 500,000 road signs along the 10,000 miles of state highway and perhaps 3 to 5 percent of these eventually will need to be changed as a result of the new manual.

The revised manual was adopted by the Federal Highway Administration as a national standard. It was developed in cooperation with the American Association of State Highway Officials; the Institute of Traffic Engineers; the National Committee on Uniform Traffic Laws and Ordinances; the National Association of Counties and the National League of Cities.

NEWTON SCHOOL BONDS TO COST 4.8 PERCENT

Newton will pay slightly over 4.8 percent interest on $4.9 million in bonds to build a new high school and renovate two older schools. Sterns Brothers and Co. of Kansas City bought the bonds. The interest will cost Newton about $3.2 million over 20 years on the $4.9 million in bonds.

CONSIDER CONTROLS ON RAILROAD-CAUSED FIRES

A hearing to determine whether the Kansas Corporation Commission should adopt rules and regulations to minimize the hazard of prairie fires caused by locomotives operating in the state is scheduled to open Jan. 11.

FROM PETS TO BUSINESS

The three children of Bruce Mills have a good thing going. About 5 or 6 years ago, their uncle gave them two orphan pigs. They took good care of the pigs, fattened them and planned on fresh pork for the table. But something happened on the way to the dinner table. The two pigs became pets. They just couldn't haul their pets off to the packers, so they kept the pigs and went into business. They now have 22 sows and the hog project will help put them through school.

The mills live on R. R. 5, Abilene; all except the oldest boy who is in military service. The other boy and girl are in school at Chapman. Bruce, shown here, helps with the pigs, but the children do most of the work. Bruce farms 800 acres and takes care of 50 cows and calves.

Set Details On Ag Convention

A highlight session of the 1972 Kansas Agricultural Convention will be the program on Thursday afternoon, January 13, which will feature three special attractions. This session will include an address by U.S. Secretary of Agriculture Earl L. Butz; an address by Kansas Attorney General Vern Miller; and a spectacular five screen, ten projector quadra-sound production, "Miracle On The Land," which portrays the amazing developments of American agriculture.

The public is cordially invited to this featured program, which will be held in the Main Arena of the Topeka City Auditorium to accommodate public attendance. This session will start at 1:00 p.m.

Secretary of Agriculture Butz, a nationally-known speaker on agricultural subjects, was born and raised on an Indiana farm. He has had a long career as a University educator and administrator at Purdue University, and was Assistant Secretary of Agriculture under President Eisenhower.

Attorney General Miller will have as his subject, "The Attorney General's Philosophy of Law Enforcement".

"Miracle On The Land" which was produced at a cost of $15,000 will display nearly 1,000 color pictures of agriculture in 23 minutes.

OUR DAILY BREAD

— by G&G Area Cooks

Mrs. Don Kirby, Sabetha, Winner Of Contest Prize

The winner, Mrs. Don Kirby, R 3, Sabetha, writes, "the three layers make a large beautiful cake when frosted with your favorite frosting. Sometimes I even hate to cut it. Hope you like this recipe."

THREE-LAYER CHOCOLATE CAKE

- 1 6-ounce package semi-sweet chocolate chips
- 1/4 cup water
- 2 1/4 cups cake flour
- 1 teaspoon soda
- 3/4 teaspoons salt
- 1 3/4 cups sugar
- 1 1/2 sticks butter or margarine
- 3 eggs
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 1 cup buttermilk

Melt chocolate chips in 1/4 cup cold water over low heat and set aside. Cream together softened butter and sugar; add eggs, beating after each. Add vanilla and chocolate mixture and beat. Sift dry ingredients and add alternately with buttermilk, beating after each addition. Pour batter into three 8-inch round pans and bake at 375-degrees, 25-30 minutes.

Mrs. Earl Forsberg, R 1, Burdick: "Am enclosing a check for 2-year renewal of your fine paper. We think it is one of the best papers that can be had. I also enjoy the recipes so am enclosing one that is especially good for this time of the year."

LOIS' DATE BALLS

Melt 2 tablespoons butter in heavy skillet. Add:

- 3/4 cup sugar
  - 1 cup chopped dates
  - 2 eggs (well beaten)
- Place skillet back on stove and cook on low heat, stirring constantly until thick. (I make mine real thick). Cool for three or four minutes. Add:
- 2 cups Rice Krispies
  - 1 cup chopped nuts (black walnuts are best)
  - 1 teaspoon vanilla
- Roll into small balls. Roll balls in fine coconut.

Mrs. Bruce Steffen, Manchester: "This recipe is good either as a cake or cupcakes."

FLUFFY BANANA CAKE

- 3/4 cup shortening
  - 1 1/2 cups sugar
  - 1 cup mashed bananas
  - 1/2 cup buttermilk
  - 1 teaspoon vanilla
  - 2 eggs
  - 1/2 teaspoon salt
  - 2 cups sifted cake flour
  - 1 teaspoon soda
  - 1 teaspoon baking powder
  - 1/2 cup English walnuts (chopped)
- Cream together shortening and sugar until fluffy. Add eggs; beat two minutes at medium speed. Add mashed bananas. Beat two minutes. Sift together dry ingredients. Add to creamed mixture along with buttermilk and vanilla. Beat two minutes. Stir in nuts (do not underbeat). Turn into two greased and floured 9-inch layer pans or 24 muffin cups. Bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees) 25 to 30 minutes. Remove cakes from cake pans, cool and frost with favorite frosting. It has a very good flavor and is very light.

Ella Kovar, R 1, Rossville: "I am enclosing a candy recipe that is easy to make and very good to eat. The top of the chocolate may have additions of tiny silver candy rounds or other ornamental tiny holiday candies."

CHOCOLATE DROPS CANDY

- 2 cups peanut butter
  - 1 pound powdered sugar
  - 3 cups Rice Krispies (crushed or leave whole)
  - 1 stick margarine, melted
  - 1/2 cup chopped nuts or more, if desired
- Mix all ingredients together with a fork, then use fingers and form into small balls about the size of walnuts. Melt over hot water a 6 1/2-ounce Hershey milk chocolate bar, a 6 1/2-ounce package of chocolate semi-sweet morsels and 1/2 of a bar section of paraffin wax. When melted, keep the upper pan of chocolate in the lower pan of hot water. Now dip the balls into the melted chocolate, using a toothpick or fork to hold balls. Place on waxed paper to cool and harden.

Mrs. Eugene Wagner, R 2, Easton: "Enclosed is my recipe for a salad which may be used any time of the year. My kids enjoy this immensely."

ICE CREAM SALAD

- 1 package (4 1/2 ounce) orange or cherry gelatin
  - 1 small can crushed pineapple
  - 3 to 4 tablespoons chopped pecans
- Drain juice from pineapple and add water to make 1 cup. Heat to boiling. Remove from heat and dissolve gelatin in this. Stir well then add 2 cups vanilla ice cream. Stir until dissolved. Add pineapple and pecan nuts. Mix well and chill till set. (Do not add second cup of water to gelatin.) For a larger amount, double recipe.

Mrs. Ernest Priddy, R 9, Topeka, sent the following recipe:

HOLIDAY CRANBERRY RELISH

- 1 package (3-ounce) lemon gelatin
  - 1 package (2-ounce) raspberry gelatin
  - 1 1/2 cups boiling water
  - 1 package (10-ounce) frozen raspberries
  - 1 package (10-ounce) frozen cranberry-orange relish
  - 1 bottle (7-ounce) lemon-lime carbonated beverage
- Dissolve gelatin in boiling water. Stir in frozen raspberries and cranberry-orange relish, breaking up frozen fruit with a fork. Chill until cold, but not set. Carefully pour in carbonated beverage, stirring gently with an up and down motion. Chill until partially set. Pour into lightly greased 5 1/2-cup ring mold. Chill until firm.

It was stated earlier in G&G that we would print additional recipes received for the Annual Holiday Bonus Recipe Contest. Following are some of these entries:

Mrs. William Mastellar, R 2, Barnard: "Here is my original recipe which I make and serve on New Year's Day each year."

NEW YEAR'S COOKIES

- Dissolve 1 package yeast in 1/4 cup warm water. Scald 3/4 cup milk and add 2 teaspoons shortening, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/4 cup sugar. Soak 3/4 cup raisins and pitted prunes in hot water. When milk mixture is cool, add dissolved yeast, beaten egg, drained raisins and prunes, and 1 1/4 cup unsifted flour (medium batter). Stir thoroughly. Let raise in warm

More To Buying Bed Than Style

Furnishing a new home is an exciting experience for the older couple as well as for newlyweds. Buying furniture is basically a question of personal preference in style. But when the purchase is new bedding, more fundamental questions should be asked about size, construction, durability, cost, and comfort. It is important to remember that even a poor mattress can last 10 years, a long time to live with a mistake.

There are two types of mattress sold today, innerspring and foam models. And there are two types of foam, latex and urethane. The latex is a top-quality product that sells in the same price range as the innerspring model.

Both types of foam mattress are bed-sized pieces of foam covered with ticking so there are no tufts or buttons. They are flexible and can actually be rolled up to fit through a doorway or staircase. They are dustless, noiseless, lightweight, and cool.

The latex mattress is also mildew proof, very durable, and comfortable. Foam mattresses are good for the supersized beds because they don't have to be turned and are easily handled.

Innerspring mattresses are the most widely known. They vary a great deal in construction and cost.

When selecting an innerspring mattress, look for a smooth surface without tufting buttons. Also look for stout handles for convenient turning, ventilators on the sides to admit air, and ample cushioning material on top of the springs. A matching boxspring is a must and a written guarantee is important.

Size is also very important. Today's couples are advised to buy a queen-size bed or even king size. The standard double is not really large enough for two persons to sleep in comfortably.

Note Of Thanks

Mrs. John C. Patterson, Haddam, a winner of the weekly "Our Daily Bread" recipe contest, wrote the following note:

"Thank you for the gift I received for my recipe entry. It will be very useful. Keep up the good work."

Hairsetter Gives Quick Change Of Hairstyle

One of the nicest things about being a woman is the privilege of changing your mind and your looks every few minutes.

Today's women can be whatever they want simply by changing their outfits and hairdos. The fashion look right now has a definite feel of the 1940's.

And today a woman can wear whatever she likes to complement her mood.

An instant hairsetter is the key to changing hairstyles quickly. It eliminates sitting under a drier for hours or sleeping on rollers all night. An instant hairsetter can refresh a drooping set in minutes.

It is also the ideal solution for the traveling woman. Whether you'll be changing scenes from beach to backyard or from country to country, you won't have time for the busy wash-set-dry routine while vacationing.

Hair Drier Is Great Timesaver

Sitting under a hair drier for any length of time can be annoying if your schedule is busy.

The ideal hair drier should allow you to do some of your chores while it dries your hair. Unfortunately, most motors in hair driers are too weighty to carry easily, and the hoses get in the way.

There is a hair drier on the market which has a light 7½ ounce motor that floats on top of the bonnet. The cord is 14½ feet long so you can move freely about the room. You can dress, put on your makeup, vacuum, iron, even cook, while drying your hair.

The bonnet doesn't have elastic or drawstrings so it fits easily over the biggest rollers. You can even talk on the phone with this unit because the receiver fits under the bonnet without upsetting your rollers.

Cover Up Cold Signs With Makeup

During this time of flexible temperatures, many women fall victim to the common head cold and its unsightly watery eyes, red, shiny nose, and dragged-out, pale-looking countenance. Beauty authorities suggest a makeup pickup to help you feel and look better almost overnight.

Camouflage the dark circles under

Follow Tips To Get Good Enameling Results

Old-fashioned enameled furniture comes back into style. Available in bold, exciting colors and gleaming high-gloss and semi-gloss sheens, enamels "shine" in almost any setting.

Even if this is your first enameling project and you're all ready to charge in your paintbrush and go, keep good surface preparation foremost in your mind. Even minor surface defects are apt to stand out in enameled furniture, due to the gloss of the finish coat.

If you're working on an old piece of furniture and it's in good condition, begin by removing old wax, oil, grease, or dirt with mineral spirits. It is also wise to prepare the surface so that the new coating will adhere properly.

Make Skirt Do Double Duty

To make one skirt into two, an evening and a dress length, is an easy matter. First, select a skirt style for an evening length that is somewhat flared and as wide at the hem as at the hips. Make it in evening length, lined and hemmed.

Buy snap tape, which consists of two strips of twill fabric ribbon; one strip has heads, and the other has matching snap bottoms. Buy this in a length that will go completely around the bottom of the skirt.

Sew the snap-head twill strip around the inside of the hem. Turn the skirt up to the desired short length and pin in place. After marking on the lining, sew the other strip of snap tape in place on the lining. Snap the snaps to wear the skirt short, and unsnap for evening. Its an easy way to add to your skirt wardrobe.

Choose Baby Gift That's Pretty And Practical

The birth of a new baby is a time for rejoicing which some persons like to celebrate by bringing a gift to the infant. It is important to remember that any gift for the baby is one for its mother too.

If the baby is a girl, she probably has plenty of pink and a boy most likely has lots of blue. Why not think in terms of green, yellow orange, or some other bright color? Babies love color and a mother will appreciate a splash of color in her infant's wardrobe.

Is the gift practical? Think about the weather as well as the size of the youngster. Short pants may be cute but aren't very good for an active baby or crawling child. Little girls need pants too, once they begin moving around a lot. One-piece jumpsuits of stretch fabrics are an excellent choice.

Is your gift durable? How will it look after repeated washings and drying? If your present can be popped into the washer and drier and comes out looking like new, it will certainly be appreciated.

Be sure to read hang-tags carefully. It's surprising that such delicate-looking outfits are really machine washable and dryable and permanent press too.

Button On Girl's Scarf Is Handy

Sew a button on the end of a small girl's scarf. When she takes off the scarf, she can button the scarf through a coat buttonhole. This saves her from losing the head scarf or wrinkling it by stuffing it into her coat pocket.

Lift, Don't Push

When rearranging furniture, lift the pieces. Do not push them as this will eventually break and weaken the rug fibers.

Russians In Market For U.S. Soybeans

The Soviet minister of agriculture indicates his country would like to buy American soybeans as well as corn and feed grains.

Asked if Russia would buy soybeans, V. V. Matskevich, the minister, replied: "First of all, soybeans."

He was asked whether he had discussed soybeans with Earl O. Butz, the new U.S. secretary of agriculture. "Secretly speaking, he asked," Matskevich replied.

Matskevich and five other officials from the Soviet Union's agricultural establishment have been inspecting U.S. agricultural production since Dec. 10 in Nebraska, Iowa, Illinois, Texas, Ohio and Colorado.

Early in November the Soviets agreed to buy 2.9 million tons of corn, barley and oats here. U.S. agricultural interests have been wondering whether that was a one-shot deal or the first of continuing sales of farm products to Russia.

Matskevich was asked whether soybeans are more important to Russia than corn. I wouldn't put the question that way," Matskevich said. "The climatic conditions in our country are not favorable for soybeans and corn. To have balance, we need both corn and soybeans. We need soybeans for a protein balance."

End Of Cloud Co. Rural Ambulance

Ambulance service apparently will cease in rural Cloud County by next February with no solution to the problem in sight.

Service will cease in Clyde, 15 miles west of here, by Feb. 1, leaving only Concordia adequately serviced.

Funeral directors in Jamestown, Miltonvale and Glasco report the business is not self-supporting.

County commissioners say there are no funds for operation of county ambulance system. They say combining ambulance service with the rural fire district has been ruled out.

Other states followed and today Arbor Day is observed throughout the U.S. In Kansas, it's the last Friday in March.

Also known as the varnish tree, the goldenrain is a native of Korea. Because it is drought resistant, relatively free from insects and diseases, and tolerant of alkali soils, the goldenrain should grow in all parts of Kansas.

The compound leaves are up to 15 inches long—dark green on top and pale green below. The showy summer flowers are bright yellow and hang in clusters 8 to 14 inches long. Seed pods in autumn are brown, bladder-like puffs with papery walls.

Naughton called the goldenrain an attractive specimen tree that can be used for a multitude of beautification purposes.

Free Tree With Seedling Orders

A goldenrain tree seedling for spring planting will be added free of charge to each tree or shrub order placed with the Division of State and Extension Forestry at Kansas State University.

Gary Naughton, Extension forester in charge of this year's tree distribution program at KSU, said 10,000 free seedlings will be provided on a first-come, first-serve basis. Persons who have already ordered trees will also receive the bonus.

The offer is made to call attention to the centennial anniversary of Arbor Day, "It's the first year we've been able to obtain goldenrain seedlings and it will be a one-time offer," Naughton explained.

Arbor Day was first established by the Nebraska legislature in 1872.

Several Joint Meetings With KLA Convention

Several Kansas Livestock Groups will meet at the 59th Annual Convention of the Kansas Livestock Association, January 5, 6, and 7 in Wichita at the Broadview Hotel, announced Fred Germann, Dwight, President of the KLA.

The Kansas Cowbelles and the Kansas Junior Livestock Association will hold their annual meetings at the KLA Convention. Germann said that both of these groups are KLA affiliates and add greatly to making the KLA a family affair.

The Cowbelles carry on many promotional and educational activities throughout the year to serve the Livestock and Meat Industry. Mrs. Ruth Thompson, Abilene, State President of the Cowbelles will be chairing the Cowbelle sessions.

The KJLA completes the family atmosphere of the KLA with the young men and women taking part in youth activities. Gary Theurer, Wellington, is president of the KJLA and will be conducting their sessions on Friday January 7th. The KJLA sponsors an annual Field Day and several awards and prizes for various youth activities.

Bob Lukens, Beloit, President of the Kansas Sheep and Wool Growers Association has announced that their association will also be holding their annual meeting in connection with the KLA Convention. He said that they will be meeting the morning of January 6 in the South Ballroom. He encourages sheepmen in Kansas to attend the Sheep and Wool Growers Annual Meeting and to stay over for the KLA meetings.

Dick Strohl, Cunningham, Chairman of the Kansas Pork Producers Council Feeder Pig Committee, also announced that his committee would meet at 9:30 a.m. January 6 at the Broadview Hotel in the Guard Room.

The Kansas Livestock Auction Association will also be holding their annual meeting in Wichita at the Broadview during the KLA Convention. Ed Durbin, Moline, President of the organization, said that his group will hold two breakfast sessions, one on Thursday at 8:00 a.m. and one on Friday at 8:00 a.m. We will also hold a brief afternoon meeting at 1:00 p.m. on Thursday and the Annual Competitive Livestock Marketing Luncheon will be held at noon on Friday, stated Durbin.

Fred Germann said that he was pleased to have these groups holding their meetings during the Convention. He said this type of interest in KLA is very typical of the enthusiasm shown this past year in our organization. He hoped that stockmen from all over Kansas would plan now to attend and participate in the committee meetings, general sessions and the First Livestock Industry Trade Show being held at this years convention.

Legislative Favor For Tax Lid

Don't misread the weight of the arguments from critics of Kansas' tax lid.

There is reason to believe that legislators, who will be heading for Topeka next week for the annual session, still favor the tax lid.

And a good percentage of them favor extending the lid this session, even though the law does not expire until the end of 1972. That's the conclusion of a mail survey of legislators taken by a newspaper wire service.

United Press International said it sent out questionnaires to the legislature's 165 members. It got back 109 responses and 62 percent of them said they favored retaining the law. Against retaining the law were 27 percent, while 11 percent returned the questionnaire but did not answer the question.

Whether the tax lid should be extended during the coming session drew a more limited response, although 51 percent of the responses avored that immediate move.

Some legislators think the extension of the lid can wait until 1973 because any local governmental budgets for 1973 will have to be approved in 1972 when the law is still effective.

Governor Docking has said that getting the tax lid extension approved in the coming session is one of his major legislative goals.

The 1970 legislature imposed the lid on property tax levies and operating budgets of counties, cities, school districts and junior colleges for tax years 1970, 1971 and 1972.

Subject to specified exceptions, property tax levies were limited to the dollar amount levied in 1969 and operating budgets to 105 per cent of the amount budgeted in the preceding fiscal year or in 1970, whichever was greater.

It also offered optional income or sales tax authority to local governments to provide alternate sources of revenue, subject to voter approval. Topeka, Lawrence, and Manhattan adopted local half cent sales taxes under the law this year.

Docking, who pushed hard for enactment of the law in 1970, is pushing hard again for the 1972 Legislature to extend the law. He claims it has curbed property tax increases.

Some legislators say extension of the lid will turn into the hottest political issue of the 60-day session. Republicans control both houses of the legislature.

Docking also says he will recommend measures to tighten up the lid although specifics have not been revealed on what he has in mind.

House Minority Leader Richard C. "Pete" Loux, D-Wichita, says he will jointly sponsor legislation to extend the lid.

"The expiration date should be repealed, to make the tax lid a permanent feature of the system, thereby encouraging further efficiency and alternate sources of revenue," he says.

Sen. John M. Simpson, R-Salina, says the lid on the levy should be retained, but the limit on spending should be repealed.

"Additional finance should be provided to local governments by the state, and local governments should have the right to impose local sales and income taxes without prior voter approval," he says.

Several legislators are expected to sponsor measures dealing with the lid law.

Death From DDT Substitutes

A University of Chicago toxicologist has warned physicians to expect more cases of pesticide poisoning because of DDT substitutes.

Dr. Kenneth P. Dubois, professor of pharmacology, said the substitutes are more toxic than DDT, which has been banned for use in the home, on lawns, trees and garden. "It always has been customary in the past to give a high priority to safety of a pesticide to man," Dubois said.

"But the present concern about the building up of chemicals in the environment, particularly those that are detrimental to wildlife, overshadowed the medical aspects of the problem."

"As a result, the physician has become increasingly involved in treatment of pesticide poisoning in urban communities."

Parathion, one of the organophosphate substitutes being used, DDT, is highly toxic, he said. A lethal dose for man is less than a gram.

Typical signs of poisoning are blurred vision, headache, nausea, tremors and difficulty in breathing.

If the dose is lethal, convulsions occur and the immediate cause of death is respiratory failure.

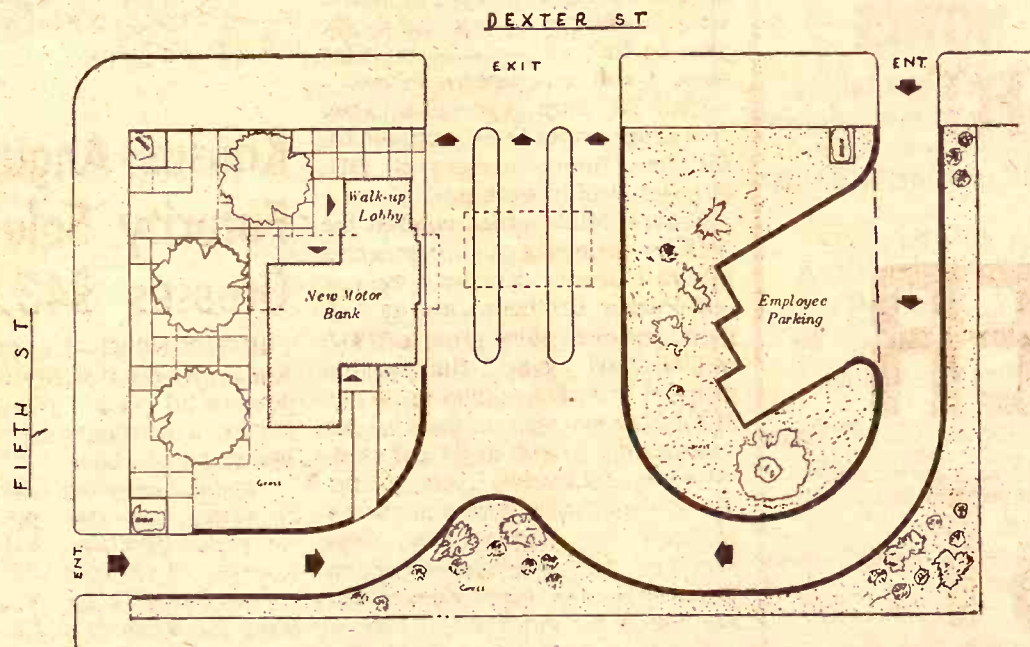

"The onset of symptoms is usually rapid, and death generally takes place within 24 hours," Dubois said.

Toymakers Find Everything Not Fun And Games

For toy manufacturers 1971 wasn't the usual fun and games.

After years of steady growth, the toy business went flat this year with a number of industry giants hard-hit by recession, a reluctance of retailers to buy, dock strikes and higher overseas costs. Moreover, consumer activists leveled a steady stream of criticism at the industry, attacking unsafe toys, misleading packaging and advertising, and even the theme of some toys.

Long-considered a virtually inflation-proof business, toys, games and hobby sales had been rising eight to 12 per cent annually in recent years. This year, however, the Toy Manufacturers of America, the industry's trade association, said a gain of two per cent over 1970's 2.3-billion dollars wholesale sales was about the best that could be hoped for.

According to the trade association, manufacturer's shipments for the first nine months of 1971 ran about 1.1 per cent behind last year.

Topper Corp. told its shareholders that based on information presently available it might lose $10 to $15 million this year.

Mattel, the largest U.S. toy manufacturer, with sales of $347.5 million last year, may finish the year in the red for the first time since it was incorporated in 1948.

Ideal Toy Corp. reported a 2.5 per cent drop in sales to $57.4 million for the first three quarters of 1971, although profits were up.

General Mills, which entered the field by acquiring such companies as Craft Master, Kenner Products and Parker Brothers, saw its toy, game and craft sales grow to $126.6 million last year. But profits dropped from $10 million in 1969 to $1.4 million last year, or from 9.6 per cent of total profits to 1.1 per cent.

Remco Industries, one of the oldest names in the business, filed a petition in bankruptcy last January—it has since been dismissed—and other companies are feeling the pinch.

About the only bright lights in the industry were focused on companies which specialize in educational or preschool games and toys.

Fisher-Price, the largest maker of preschool toys, recorded a 40 per cent jump in sales last year to $32.4 million, and expects a similar increase in 1972.

TEACHER OF YEAR

The 1972 "Kansas Teacher of the Year" is Selma Maronde of Russell. The award is part of a national program. A native of Gorham in Russell county, she has taught for 44 years in that county, the last 17 in special classes for handicapped young people.

Other finalists in the state program were Mrs. Beulah Byall, Garnett; Mrs. Lois Cook, Cheney; Mary Martin, Lincoln; and Frank Nelson, Emporia.

Staple items such as bicycles and traditional games such as Scrabble and Monopoly also appeared to be strong despite an otherwise dismal industry picture.

Kansas Angus Futurity Sale Grosses $43,000

HUTCHINSON—The 17th annual Kansas Angus Futurity produced a successful sale, grossing over $43,700, with 34 bulls averaging $898 and 22 heifers $600.

The top-selling bull was consigned by Kansas State University and sold for $2,800 to Moyer Angus Farm, Hopkins, Mo.

The champion bull of the futurity went for $2250 to Robert Barr of Protection. The champion was shown by Caldwell & Wagner, Harlan.

Caldwell-Wagner also had the champion female, which sold for $2250 to Darrell Hills of Holton.

Wheat In Best Winter Shape In A Decade

This fall 10.1 million acres of winter wheat were seeded in Kansas for harvest in 1972, according to the Kansas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service.

Seeded acreage was up 5 percent from a year earlier, but still the fifth smallest wheat acreage seeded in the State in more than half a century.

Acreage increases from a year earlier were substantial in the northwest, south central, northeast and southeast districts of the State.

Seedings were below a year earlier in scattered counties, but all districts showed some increase.

The first forecast of the 1972 wheat crop indicates 313 million bushels, a shade above the record large 1971 crop.

The 1972 production forecast represents a prospective yield of 31 bushels per seeded acre, 1.6 bushels less than in 1971 but the State's second highest.

the production forecast is based on condition of the growing wheat as of December 1, currently available soil moisture supplies, and assumes that weather and other factors between December 1 and harvest time will be normal.

Seeding of the 1972 wheat crop got a rather slow start in early September because of lack of moisture in the early seeding areas of western Kansas.

MARKET REPORTS:
Radio Station WIBW, Topeka, Monday 12:15 p.m.; Tuesday, 7 a.m.
Radio Station KJCK, Junction City, Monday thru Saturday, 8:30 a.m.

September materially improved situation and seeding moved rapidly. For the State, seeding virtually complete by the end of October. Stands were generally to excellent with only limited replanting.

Growth of fall seeded wheat generally been good, with the well rooted down and ground covered in most areas to pre serious wind erosion.

In a few north central local top growth has been limited delayed seeding resulting in moisture shortage at usual seeding time. Planting of wheat was delayed in some southeast Kansas areas because of wet fields.

December 1 conditions of wet fields was 94 percent of normal, highest in a decade. Insect disease damage this fall has been light, but yellowing of wheat has been reported in some areas. Generally the wheat is in good shape with ample supply of moisture.

United States
The Nation's 1972 winter wheat crop was seeded on 42.2 million acres compared with 38.7 million acres a year earlier and a rise from 38.4 to 54.3 million acres during the preceding decade.

The U.S. winter wheat production in 1972 is forecast at 1.291 billion bushels, based on the December conditions. The forecast, if realized, will be 11 percent above the 1971 crop and 16 percent above 1970.

U.S. Importing Farmstuff Too

The United States, well known the world's leading exporter of farm products, also is growing an importer of agricultural goods.

During the year ended last July 30, American farmers sold a record $7.8 billion worth of products overseas. At the same time, the foreign counterparts sold $5.8 billion worth in the U.S. market.

Thomas A. Warden, a foreign trade analyst in the Economic Research Service, says that imports of farm products have averaged an increase of about six per cent a year over the past decade.

Last year, the United States nudged aside Britain as the second leading importer of farm products. West Germany is first.

There are two categories of imports, competitive products which are produced in this country such as meat, sugar and tobacco, and noncompetitive items such as bananas, coffee and crude rubber.

In 1960, says Warden, about half the farm imports were competitive products. Last year nearly two thirds of them were.

Farm Vote Up For Grabs -- No Ifs, And Or Butz

"What America needs is a farm program without any ifs, ands or Butz."

That was Senator George McGovern of South Dakota speaking to the NFO convention at Kansas City early this month. "If I become President," said the South Dakota Democrat, "I will select a secretary of agriculture whose heart beats for the family farmers of this country."

It may have been political rhetoric, but the NFO people appeared to approve, and two more Democratic presidential hopefuls, Senators Edmund Muskie and Hubert Humphrey, came on to also make puns about Butz and profess their party's and their own particular devotion to the farmer.

What it all means, think some political pundits, is that Democrats think they have a strong chance to win in 1972 the farm vote which traditionally has voted Republican. The impact of the farmer in a voting bloc has been discounted in recent years as his number has dwindled to 2.7 million. But both parties concede that there is sufficient discontent on the farm with high costs and low income that farmers could be the key to enough states to swing the election. President Nixon carried about a dozen key farm states in 1960.

Nixon, who frequently called the farm situation "intolerable" in 1968, did not come to Kansas City to the NFO convention, nor did Butz. The Republican voice at the NFO convention was Sen. Bob Dole of Kansas, national chairman.

In contrast to the bombastic Humphrey and the other two Democratic farm policy critics, Dole talked largely about non-farm matters. He talked about winding down the war in Vietnam and the changing complexion of the Supreme Court.

But at a news conference following his appearance on the NFO program, Dole talked bluntly: "I

Despite Critics, Studded Tires Hold In Sales

Studded snow tires keep a grip on the market despite road damage complaints.

Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., which predicts a 7 percent increase in new snow tire sales this year, says tires sold with studs appear to be accounting for 40 percent of the sales, about the same proportion as last year.

Studs hold their own even though they are banned for the first time in Minnesota and threatened with bans elsewhere. Utah's road commission has prohibited them after next spring; they're under heavy fire in Great Lakes area states for chewing up highways.

Tire industry officials continue to contend that the merits of studded tires in providing better traction outweigh any road damage they might cause.

They claim recent tests prove cars equipped with the tires have fewer accidents in winter driving.

At the same time, Kennametal Inc., a major stud producer, begins turning out newly designed studs it claims are 50 percent less wearing on roads than its previous product. The new studs won't be generally available until next winter, however.

$3 Soybeans Mean $50 Million Crop

Soybean farmers have made another substantial contribution to the Kansas economy this year.

Verlin Peterson, Extension crop production specialist at Kansas State University, says total farm value for Kansas soybeans this year probably will soar past the $50 million mark.

He calculated that on the basis of 19 million bushels, at a price of approximately $3 per bushel.

"I'm busy talking soybeans these days because a lot of people have done well with them in recent years," says Peterson. "It's been several years since we've had $3 soybeans."

Peterson says it's too early to determine Kansas soybean acreage next year. Some farmers may be encouraged by the price to plant more beans.

In 1972 U.S. producers will be permitted to plant any combination of their acreage—after allowing for set-aside—to wheat, feed grains, or soybeans without losing their planting history for the respective crops or farm program benefits.

HONOR TO ANGUS LEADER, LATE FRANK RICHARDS

Frank Richards, who was executive secretary of the American Angus Association in its major growth years from 1946 to 1964, was honored at the International Livestock Exposition at Chicago, when this portrait of the late livestock leader was placed in the Saddle and Sirlion Club gallery there.

Richards died of a heart attack in 1970. He knew he was to receive the honor before his death.

Richards headed the Angus Association when it established permanent headquarters in St. Joseph. Registrations in the association grew over 5-fold from the 74,000 head that were registered when he became head of the organization in 1946.

The painting was done by James Jay Ingwersen, whose family was long associated with livestock trading in Chicago.

U.S. Increased Farm Exports To Most Buyers

Fifteen countries bought nearly three-fourths of the $7.8 billion worth of U.S. farm products exported last year, says the Agriculture Department.

Farm exports moved into 157 countries during the record year ended last June 30, the Foreign Agricultural Service said in a report. But a relative few accounted for the lion's share. Shipments to the European Common Market bloc of countries, for example, were valued at a record $1.77 billion. West Germany was the biggest market in the group buying $587 million worth.

Japan bought a record $1.22 billion in U.S. farm products and was the biggest single-country buyer. Canada purchased $788 million worth.

Grass & Grain

December 28, 1971

The top 50 countries bought 94 per cent of the U.S. farm export total last year, some $7.28 billion worth, the FAS said. Of the top 50, some 37 increased purchases from a year earlier. The largest gainers were West Germany, Korea, Japan, the Netherlands and Yugoslavia. Exports were down from a year earlier in 13 of the top 50, with India, South Vietnam, Pakistan, Indonesia and Mexico showing the largest declines.

Loss In Car Horsepower, Just Method Change

That were the automakers pulling cars that had zoomed up to 400 horsepower suddenly stepped up as mere 325 horsepower 1972 specification lists?

It's not that the new cars have less power than they did but that specifications listed for 1972 cars are net horsepower—the actual power delivered to move the car. Many auto experts have said for years that's the way it should be.

In the past horsepower figures were gross power—what the car produced when tuned for maximum power. Of course much of the power dissipated through the radiator, fan, alternator, starter, air cleaner, and all other equipment necessary to operate a car but not included in the net horsepower rating. The motor running for a few seconds.

General Motors started a year ago publishing both gross and net horsepower ratings. California, however, forced the carmakers' hands this summer when it passed a law requiring that only net horsepower ratings be used in all

To Build New State Lake Near I-70 At Salina

SALINA—Next summer, residents of northcentral Kansas will have a new lake, Saline County State Lake.

The Kansas Forestry, Fish and Game Commission has announced it is converting a borrow pit, formerly owned by the State Highway Commission, into a small state lake. The 78-acre tract of land, including the pit, was recently transferred to jurisdiction of the fish and game agency so a lake could be developed.

"This pit, 21 feet deep from ground level at its deepest point, was excavated by the Highway Commission to provide fill dirt during recent construction of the new U.S. 81 freeway which runs just east of the lake site," said Walter Harrison, Pratt, chief of the game commission's field services division.

Located 1½ miles west and two miles north of the old I-70 U.S. 81 interchange, the lake should cover 38 or 39 acres when full. The remainder of the tract of land will be used to provide picnic and sanitary facilities. Harrison said a well will probably be drilled in the future to supply drinking water.

"Most of the water for the lake will be supplied from an irrigation type well. The water will be pumped into the lake by an electric-powered pump," Harrison explained. Test wells have already been drilled by Rosencrantz-Bemis Enterprises, Inc., of Great Bend, and a permanent well will be drilled early next month which should supply a minimum of 650 gallons of water per minute.

"We are also going to put in five 36-inch tubes with gates to allow us to take or by-pass runoff water,"

Grass & Grain

December 28, 1971

Harrison said. "While one well may not be adequate to maintain the lake's level, runoff water can be used when needed."

Hogmen Head Off Big Buildup

The number of hogs and pigs on Kansas farms December 1 was down moderately from a year earlier but substantially higher than in any of the previous 16 years for which December 1 records are available, according to the Kansas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service.

The September-November 1971 pig crop was down slightly from 1970, but the annual 1971 pig crop and prospective spring 1972 farrowings are slightly above a year ago.

Inventories Down

There were 2,100,000 hogs and pigs on Kansas farms December 1, a decrease of 5 percent from last year but 28 percent more than in 1969.

Included in this total were 273,000 head being kept for breeding purposes and 1,827,000 head for market.

The number of breeding hogs was down 8 percent from a year earlier while market hogs were 4 percent lower.

The number of market hogs in all weight groups of 60 pounds or more was down from last year.

Decreases ranged from 4 percent for hogs weighing 180 pounds and over to 11 percent in the 60-119 pound group. The number of market hogs weighing under 60 pounds increased 2 percent from last year.

Past Quarter Pig Crop Smaller

Sows farrowing during the September-November, 1971 quarter totaled 119,000 head, down 3 percent from last year.

There were 910,000 pigs saved during the quarter, down 3 percent from 1970.

Pigs per litter for the quarter averaged 7.65 compared with 7.60 a year earlier and a range of 7.20 to 7.70 during the previous decade.

The total Kansas pig crop for 1971 is estimated at 3,259,000 head, an increase of less than 1 percent from 1970 and the largest since 1943.

Expect More in Spring

Farmers in Kansas plan to farrow 95,000 sows during the December 1971-February 1972 quarter, compared with 99,000 a year earlier.

During the March-May 1972 quarter, 125,000 sows are expected to farrow, 2 percent more than during the same quarter in 1971.

If these forecasts are realized, spring (December 1971-May 1972) farrowings will total 220,000 sows and with pigs per litter average, allowing for trend, produce a pig crop of 1,694,000 head, 1 percent above 1971 and largest since 1943.

United States

Hogs and pigs on farms in the United States on December 1, 1971 are estimated at 63.0 million head, 7 percent less than a year earlier.

Hogs and pigs kept for breeding are estimated at 8.5 million, a decrease of 10 percent.

Market hogs and pigs at 54.5 million were down 6 percent.

The June-November 1971 pig crop is estimated at 45.7 million head, 8 percent below a year earlier.

A total of 6.3 million sows farrowed in this period, 9 percent less than a year earlier.

The December 1970-May 1971 pig crop is estimated at 52.4 million head, virtually unchanged from a year ago.

The annual 1971 pig crop (December 1970-November 1971) was 98.0 million, 4 percent below a year earlier.

Hog producers intend to farrow 6.5 million sows from December 1971 through May 1972, 10 percent less than a year earlier.

Up To $1.32 For Second Round Of Corn Buys

The Government went into the market place for the second week in its effort to bolster corn prices.

The purchase a week ago was of 1.77 million bushels, somewhat more than was purchased the weekend before.

The two purchases together amounted to about 3.2 million bushels. The grain trade has offered over 13 million bushels to the government, with USDA taking lowest prices in areas that would help boost corn prices the most.

As in the first week, the second purchases were made from storage points in Kansas, Missouri, Nebraska and Iowa.

The second-round prices ranged from $1.19½ to $1.32 per bushel, averaging a few cents more than the first week buys.

Prices have risen all over the Corn Belt in the last 30 days. The Chicago cash market rose 21 cents in a month and about 13 cents a bushel between the purchases.

An announcement today (Dec. 28) will report on the third purchase from offers made over the Christmas weekend.

The U.S. produced about 5.5 billion bushels of corn this fall, about three-quarters of a billion more than is needed to handle domestic and anticipated export demand.

First USDA Open Market Buys Bolster Corn Price

As promised, new USDA secretary Earl Butz sent the federal government into the open market to buy corn last week, and the impact was felt immediately.

USDA went into the market to buy nearly 1.5 million bushels of corn from midwestern terminals. Part of the purchase was 400,000 bushels from an Atchison facility and another 350,000 bushels were bought from a Lincoln, Nebr., firm.

Butz had said when confirmed as USDA secretary on December 3 that there would be a quick effort to bolster sagging corn prices.

The impact was felt immediately with Kansas City prices going up 7 cents in the days after the purchase.

The corn purchases were made for $1.12 to $1.30 per bushel, with variations reflecting locations and costs of transportation.

About 16 million bushels had been offered to the government by various private sellers. The initial purchase was less than 10 percent of the amount offered. USDA officials said other offerings were priced too high.

Corn prices fell to 90 cents a bushel at many corn belt locations during the fall harvest. Prices had come back somewhat after harvest, generally to about $1, but trade sources said the price had not yet come back to profitable levels before the open market purchase.

Butz said the department would continue to make weekly offers to buy, with offers to be received each Friday in the office of Carl Heaton, Commodity Credit Corporation director at Kansas City.

The sale to the Atchison firm was for $1.29½ cents per bushel and "transit." "Transit" refers to grain received by rail, which may result in cheaper transportation costs to California or the Gulf of Mexico.

Other sales were made "flat," which refers to truck-received grain with no freight bill.

The other purchases last week were from a storage at Sioux City, 200,000 bushels at $1.16 flat; Council Bluffs, 150,000 bushels, $1.22 flat; Herndon, Iowa, $1.15 flat; Waterloo, Iowa, 100,000 bushels, $1.12½ flat; Gilman, Ill., 100,000 bushels, $1.19 flat; Nebraska City, Nebr., 75,000 bushels, $1.21 flat; and Lincoln, Nebr., 350,000 bushels, $1.31 transit.

Ease Limits On Big Packers

The Packers Consent Decree, which since 1920 has prevented meat packing firms from wholesaling nonmeat foods and other commodities, has been amended by the U.S. District Court.

The order will permit Swift and Company, Armour, Wilson and Cudahy to manufacture and wholesale more than 100 product lines that had been barred by the decree which was signed Feb. 27, 1920 in settlement of an antitrust suit brought against Swift and other major meat packers.

The order also permits the companies to enter the previously banned product lines by acquiring other firms subject to restrictions on size and market position. Remaining valid, however, is the ban against entering the product areas at the retail level.

THEY'RE HORNED (not Polled)

This is a Polled Hereford bull

Everyone knows that, we thought, but a picture of a Polled Hereford appeared in the ad last week for The Morris County Hereford Assn. annual sale Sat., Jan. 29.

How Much Corn Will Government Buy?

by Rod Turnbull
K.C. Board of Trade

The potential exists for the current cornbuying capital of the nation to be in a U.S. Dept. of Agriculture building in the south part of Kansas City.

This building houses the Kansas City Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service Commodity Office of the Dept. of Agriculture. It is the office charged with the task of buying corn for the government in a determined effort to raise prices. Corn so purchased will be, in theory at least, isolated from the market, thereby reducing supplies available to others.

The word, "potential" is used advisedly here concerning the Commodity Office's importance as a corn-buying agency because no one, at least anyone outside the government, knows at this time how big the purchases will be.

This uncertainty in itself is a market factor.

But grainmen at the Kansas City Board of Trade and at other exchanges say it is logical to assume that if the government purchases are to be of any moment in sustaining prices, they must be of an appreciable volume. After all, volume is the word that describes the corn situation. Total supplies this fall at the start of the marketing year were at 6.2 billion bushels following the harvest of a crop of 5.5 billion bushels.

And, it is a fact that the government apparently intends to be buying corn for some time. When Earl L. Butz, the new Secretary of Agriculture, announced the corn-buying program Dec. 3, he said specific amounts to be purchased and prices to be paid would be a "continuing determination." He revealed the first purchases would be made Dec. 13.

A few days ago the Kansas City Commodity office announced that offers would be received from those desiring to sell corn to the government every Friday "until further notice," except when Friday falls on a holiday.

Corn offered to the government in this program at this time must be yellow, Grade No. 2 or better, with 14 per cent or lower moisture and in-store in warehouses (elevators) with official weights and grades.

Many inquiries have been received in recent days at the Kansas City Board of Trade concerning purchase of white corn by the government. The answer to the inquiries has been that the government's initial offers to buy have specified yellow corn only.

When offers to sell are received on Friday, the government reveals its acceptances and prices paid on Monday. Monday, Dec. 13, only 1,425,000 bushels were purchased. Prices paid were generally in line with market values at the locations where the corn was bought.

Monday, Dec. 20, the Commodity Office revealed it had purchased 1,770,000 bushels.

When corn is purchased by the government, it will be left just where it is in storage, at least for some time to come.

The government corn-buying program obviously is a subject for discussion in the grain trade. Heavy purchases of corn in the current buying program would take some of the urgency out of passage of grain reserve measures. Some in the grain trade argue. Others contend that the government knows from experience how difficult it is to return surplus stocks to market channels and therefore will not want to build up supplies beyond necessary minimums.

While the government does not reveal ahead of time what prices will be paid or how much corn will be bought, the trade logically assumes these decisions are made at the highest level in the Dept. of Agriculture in Washington.

The government, incidentally, already owns a lot of corn. Before the new purchase program started, it had 138 million bushels of old corn to which it had taken title under forfeited loans in the price support program. In addition, as of Dec. 1, farmers had put 313,178,000 bushels of new corn into the loan program. The title to this still is possessed by farmers. A year ago Dec. 1, only 91,649,000 bushels were under the loan.

MORE CATTLE 'LOST' BUT FEW 'FOUND'

There are quite a few "lost" cattle reported in Marion county. But not many are "found." And that has county sheriff June Jost puzzled. Jost recently reminded people in Marion county that the law requires that a stray animal taken up must be reported to the sheriff.

SMITHS RESIGN AT WICHITA STOCKYARDS

The Smith family, associated with the Wichita livestock market since 1913, will no longer be guiding the Wichita Union Stockyards after February 1.

Conlee Smith, left, will retire on that date and Dan Smith III, right, has resigned as general manager. Conlee Smith has been president of the company. He took over management from his father, the late Dan C. Smith, in 1950.

The Wichita Stockyards were acquired a year ago by the Sierra Petroleum Co.

Wall Street Journal And The Family Farm

The Wall Street Journal will never be confused with the Farm Journal or an Extension Bulletin. It does, however, carry a great deal of news about agriculture. And sometimes it has a viewpoint about farming as it relates to the economy.

Recently it had something to say about the appointment of Earl Butz as Secretary of Agriculture and "family farm" controversy behind the Senate approval of that appointment.

The opinion from the financial newspaper will doubtless be resented by many G&G area readers, who may think they have heard the reasoning before. Here is what the Wall Street Journal said:

In order to win confirmation as Secretary of Agriculture, Earl Butz had to persuade the Senate that he, too, would protect and preserve the small "family farm." If he succeeds in this task he will serve the interests of neither agriculture nor the nation.

America began as a nation of small family farms, a fact that politicians never tire of recalling. There is no doubt that this rural past did a lot to forge some of the better elements of the American character. There also is no doubt that the life of the early farmers wasn't as marvelous as some of today's family-farm advocates appear to think.

The farm at first was pretty much a self-contained unit, producing all or nearly all of the needs of its family operators. Gradually farmers began to barter with their neighbors or to sell some of their produce in nearby towns. As transportation facilities expanded the farmers began to be able to reach markets farther and farther away.

Farmers, then as now, were businessmen and, like businessmen, some were more astute and ambitious than others. With a growing population and growing markets, many farmers began to enlarge their operations, to the point where many farms no longer could be operated solely by members of the owners' families.

Agricultural research produced better seed and fertilizer, improved machinery and methods. Farms began to require increased capital investment if there was to be hope of increased return. A lot of family farms incorporated, particularly after the tax laws began to make that arrangement advantageous. The corporate agriculture that politicians now attack is often only family farming come of age.

Around a half century ago the politicians began to take notice of the changes going on in agriculture. Change can be and often is painful for some of the persons and institutions involved, and the politicians knew that a great many voters still lived on farms.

Because agriculture was and is so vital to the nation, its health or lack of same is a proper concern for government. The trouble is that the government, from its early entry into the field, has tried not so much to facilitate and cushion change as simply to stop it.

It hasn't worked. The government has funneled out many billions of dollars to support farm product prices, deluding itself that it was thus saving the family farm. But economic factors have made it necessary for farms to get bigger and bigger, and the bulk of those federal benefits have gone to the bigger farms, not the marginal operators who really need it.

If Secretary Butz follows the wishes of his Senate critics he will now proceed to push for more of the same. The big farms will grow larger and the small farmers will steadily grow more desperate.

That would be sad, to say the least. In some of his pre-appointment writings and comments, the Secretary appeared to see that it was time for the government to try an entirely different tack.

Government could, if it would, start to free the farm economy from its tight federal management. In passing it's surely worth noting that the current corn glut, and the resulting low corn prices were produced, primarily by mistaken advice given farmers by the Agriculture Department.

Farms should be free to continue to grow, to the extent that larger operations are more efficient. Bigger, more efficient farms, incorporated or otherwise, will provide growing opportunities for better-trained youth who seek a future in agriculture.

If the government dismantled its costly controls, it would free funds that could be much better used to provide the sort of help that's really needed, in training, relocation or whatever. Efficient farms, free of federal meddling, could find larger markets at home as well as abroad.

To the task of devising wiser federal tactics Secretary Butz brings a wealth of governmental, academic and on-the-farm experience. It would be unfortunate indeed if he now merely pushes the same old futile programs.

Dipping Required Of Cattle From Scabies Area

its tight federal management, passing it's sure word to the current corn glut, and resulting low corn prices. Advice given farmers by Agriculture Department. Farms should be free to grow, to the extent that operations are more efficient. Bigger, more efficient farms, incorporated or otherwise, provide growing opportunities for better-trained youth who stay in agriculture.

If the government discontinue costly controls, it would free that could be much better than provide the sort of help that is needed, in training, research, federal medding, could feed markets at home as well as abroad. To the task of devising federal tactics Secretary brings a wealth of government academic and on-the-farm experience. It would be unfortunate indeed if he now merely passed the same old futile programs.

Dr. John Hudelson, Kansas state veterinarian, last week took action to halt spread of scabies from 34 Texas counties and 16 counties of Oklahoma into Kansas.

All 50 counties involved have been placed under quarantine by the U.S. Department of Agriculture after discovery of originating points of a spreading epidemic of scabies in November.

Hudelson said about 90 per cent of the cattle coming from Texas and Oklahoma go into commercial feedlots.

The new requirement will demand that cattle coming into Kansas from the area must be "officially dipped" and certified on the animal health certificate at least 10 days prior to entry into Kansas.

Kansas veterinarians will reinspect the animals after their arrival. Only one case has been found in Ford County, were dipped in special chemical. It is believed spread of the disease in the state has been stopped, Hudelson said.

The dipping is performed by immersing the entire animal in a vat of either toxophene or hot-limed sulphur. Usually the toxophene method is used because of the cost and equipment necessary for using hot-limed sulphur.

Reports show three feedlots and two ranches are involved in originating the parasitic disease in Oklahoma. In Texas, reports show seven infected ranches and 34 exposed ranches. New cases are still being discovered in those areas, prompting the federal embargo.

Scabies is a parasitic disease that causes lesions in the flesh of cattle, but is not considered dangerous to humans.

"We have had excellent cooperation among ranchers and feedlot operators in Kansas," Hudelson said. "Therefore, we have kept the disease from spreading."

"We took this method of control, because we believe this will provide the greatest service to our livestock buyers and feedlots, without taking chances on spreading the disease among cattle in our own state," he said.

Puzzle Over Yellow Wheat

ARKANSAS CITY—Wheat that is turning yellow in this area is triggering questions for Cowley

County agent Charles W. Smith.

Smith said he has looked at several fields and is in contact with Kansas State University's plant pathology department, which, he said, is stumped as to what is causing the yellowing.

"They have received numerous samples," Smith said, "and they are finding some soil-borne mosaic, rush, natural slowing of plant and yellow dwarf."

"The yellowing is being observed in all varieties and on all classes of land and appears to be more prevalent in early seeded fields."

Smith said he is advising Cowley County farmers to go ahead and treat fields as though they were going to keep the wheat for a crop. He said he is advising against plowing up the yellowed wheat, but to wait until spring "when we may have the answer."

DEAD AT 102 YEARS AFTER 75th ANNIVERSARY

ENTERPRISE—A man who celebrated his 75th wedding anniversary in September died last week. He was Charles Reuter, 102 years of age, onetime blacksmith and farmer in the Dickinson county area around Enterprise and Detroit. His wife, 97, survives.

SHOULD I USE WHEAT FOR GRAIN HARVEST
OR PASTURE IN EASTERN KANSAS?

Abundant wheat pasture is high quality feed for growing cattle. Starting about April 1, wheat grows rapidly for 45 to 60 days. This is the period that maximum beef production should be obtained from pasturing wheat. With adequate moisture, an acre of wheat during this period can support 3 or 4 head of 500-pound cattle.

The stocking rate should be heavy enough to keep the wheat grazed down. This will delay maturity and provide a longer grazing season. The average gain may be about 1.75 pounds per day per animal. During April the gains may be above this, although they'll slow down as the wheat matures.

Weather conditions may have a big influence in the results. Dry weather may limit the growth or excessive rain may cause muddy conditions in which the animals destroy much of the grazing.

Although the feed cost per pound of gain may be low the cattle program must be such that other costs do not eliminate the possibility of a net profit. Possibly the best program would be one in which the cattle go to a feed lot for finishing as they come off wheat pasture.

The expected returns from a pasturing program may be calculated and compared to the returns from a harvested wheat crop. The returns should include the federal farm program payments under the different alternatives.—Herman W. Westmeyer, Extension Beef specialist, Kansas State University.
