Ernest White and Dan Anderson are working on a 200 head hog finishing unit on the White farm on Route 2, Westmoreland.

Here Mr. Lauer is filling a hog feeder with feed that he has just ground in his new elevator. He raises about 1200 hogs a year and farms about 700 acres.

Carrol Lauer and one of his sons are shown here at the entrance to a new elevator that Carrol and some neighbors are building on his farm northeast of Olsburg. Mr. Lauer said the new elevator had 5,000 bushel overhead storage capacity and should be a real work saver in his hog feeding operation.

98% Of Butler County In Watershed Plans

Some 4Hers have put up a sign near US77 at Douglass that says "Butler County-Watershed Capital of the World."

Maybe it is. Nine watershed districts exist in the county, and 98 percent of the land is under an organized watershed program.

There are more than 100 flood-retarding dams in various stages, and 59 of them are completed. Over 2000 farm ponds dot the county, which is the largest in area in the state of Kansas.

A tour of the watershed areas was led this spring by Walter Woods, Leon, contracting officer for the Little Walnut-Hickory Watershed: James Fitzgerald, USDA project engineer in the county; and Harold Heise, district conservationist at El Dorado.

Watersheds spread over the county include the Little Walnut-Hickory, Rock Creek, Muddy Creek, Whitewater, Upper Whitewater, Middle Walnut, Fall River and Timber Creek.

"It was a case of 'flood or famine' back in the 1950s when the projects got under way after a disastrous drought which caused a shortage of drinking water for both animals and humans," Woods recalled.

WATERSHED ADVOCATES

Some of the leaders in watershed activities in Butler county are Harold Heise, Walter Woods, and James Fitzgerald.

FARM & RANCH LOANS

INTEREST RATES have been lowered for FLBA member-borrowers. Another important reason farmers & ranchers find FLBA their logical lending agency.

"Now with hundreds of acre-feet of water handy for use, there's a sense of security we've never had."

With completion of the projects, floods in Butler and Cowley counties on the Walnut River are believed to be a thing of the past.

When watersheds are at a virtual standstill in many places in Kansas, why has Butler County forged ahead?

"Butler County with its large area pasture land is an ideal place for watersheds," Woods explained.

"After the drought of the 1950s—and floods that followed—residents became water conscious. The county has had 100 per cent cooperation of landowners in donating easements for building the dams and land covered by the lakes.

"Now that the dams are completed, landowners have found the land with the lakes is much more valuable. In one case, land that was $80 per acre sold recently for $300. Farmers lease the lakes to various groups for fishing and recreational purposes. Covered by water, the land is actually more valuable."

Groundbreaking is expected this fall for an Army Corps of Engineers project to provide water for El Dorado.

The Towanda Dam will impound water for Augusta. Another dam near Douglass will supply that city. Groundbreaking is expected next year.

"Next to our rich Flint Hills grassland, our flood-retarding dams and lakes are our most valuable asset," said Woods.

Complaints On Cosmetics Firm

Koscot Interplanetary Inc. of Orlando, Fla., a cosmetics firm which does some at-home type selling in the G&G area, has been ordered to prove it is not in violation of the state securities law. A hearing has been set for Topeka June 28.

The state contends that the sale of distributorships and sub-distributorships is actually selling of securities, which are not registered in the state.

Koscot had earlier this year been under investigation by the consumer protection division of the Kansas attorney general.

Complaints have been registered against the company that the firm was in the business of selling distributorships not cosmetics, that dissatisfied buyers had trouble getting their money back, and that potential profits were exaggerated.

Distributorships have been selling at a $5000 stated price and sub-distributorships for $1000. The state attorney general's office estimates that 250 distributorships have been sold around the state, most of them in the Wichita area.

although no such increase ever received serious attention.

"I think we've gone about as far as the Legislature will go in what you can call real reform," Bennet said.

Bennet is a member of the Senate Assessment and Taxation Committee.

Rep. Shelby Smith, R-Wichita, chairman of the House Assessment and Taxation Committee, said the committee should look at revenue-raising plans for a five-year period, "rather than this idiotic year-to-year thing."

He said annual legislative discussion of tax increases is "driving industry wild each year."

Richard Ryan, associate director of the State Research Department, warned that "no matter how you cut it, there is a revenue problem in fiscal 1973 (beginning July 1, 1972). It certainly gets bad when you go into 1973."

The chairman of the committee, Sen. Frank Hodge, R-Hutchinson, chairman of the Senate Tax Committee, told members they might as well not meet "if we're going to hash around with little things like we did last year."

The committee discussed a study of the continuation of the tax lid-budget lid law which expires Dec. 31, 1972, but decided the study could wait until the 1973 legislative session.

However, the panel did elect to study the area of local sales and income taxes included in the 1970 law.

Three cities—Topeka, Lawrence and Manhattan—already have approved half-cent sales tax increases under the act.

Without additional legislation, those local sales taxes will expire at the end of next year.

Bennet asked that a study of the tax lid itself be delayed until its effect on local budgets for 1973 can be determined.

"It would be premature to pin a medal on the lid or bury it in black until the 1973 budgets are prepared," he said.

SALINA — A May 28 deluge of 6 inches of rain flooded the gym at Central High School here and ruined the floor. The loss was not covered by insurance and building funds will have to be used for the repair or replacement.

The panel also agreed to study:

- The direction the State Property Valuation Department is taking in its orders to 96 Kansas counties to re-evaluate rural land values.

- The taxation of cars owned by out-of-state college and university students.

- The severance tax on natural gas production and the tobacco products tax, both of which were passed by the House this year but bogged down in the Senate.

- State-assessed utilities with a review of a professional report being prepared by the Justin Haynes Co., Denver.

- The effects of the current Homestead Exemption Law.

- The classification of property by both statutory and constitutional means.

- The possibility of amending the state's inheritance tax and enacting a state gift tax.

- The taxation of mobile homes.

WE'RE OUT TO WIN YOU

Maybe you're not ready for that new tractor this spring. But ready or not, you owe it to yourself to discover this brand new concept of power, comfort and protection. Your Case dealer's Golden Opportunity tractor is ready for a no-obligation demonstration.

Big Case cubes . . . we've unleashed more of their power for '71. You'll plow faster, disk faster, handle any big load faster. And you'll do it smoothly and easily. Why? Big Case cubes . . . up to 451 turbo in the Case 1170. We've poured on more power in our Agri Kings . . . up to 12½% more. But we've still maintained the high-torque reserve power of big-displacement engines and moderate engine speeds.

Now the best in comfort is even better. Tomorrow's tractor, but yesterday's cab? Not with Case! We'll show you a whole new concept of comfort. A cab that's extra-tight, sealed from dust and dirt . . . a new filtration system that surrounds you with fresh, clean air in the dustiest conditions. And throw away your ear plugs. It's as quiet inside as your living room with the kids away at school!

We value your safety too. You're far more relaxed and alert at the wheel of a new Case Agri King—especially after a long day in the field. And a comfortable operator is a safer operator! Our cab, too, offers super protection—with a rigid frame that resists front crushing or overhead collapse, and supports the entire weight of the tractor on a complete rollover.

Are you ready to meet the "Black Knight?"

Your Case dealer's 1971 Golden Opportunity demonstrator is standard production, except for the paint—and reserved for you to drive. Test it in your fields with no feeling of obligation. But by all means try it—and see why we say "A tractor's just a tractor until you've driven a new Case!"

Brangus To Change Mix?

A meeting of the International Brangus Breeders Association at Texas this month may supply a decision by that group whether it is going to liberalize its registry so that it will be easier for a breeder to switch over to the Angus-Brahman cross.

The organization has a G&G area cattleman, Royal Buckley, who has a Brangus ranch near Ottawa, as its president, and Kansas City has been the headquarters of the association since it started 20 years ago.

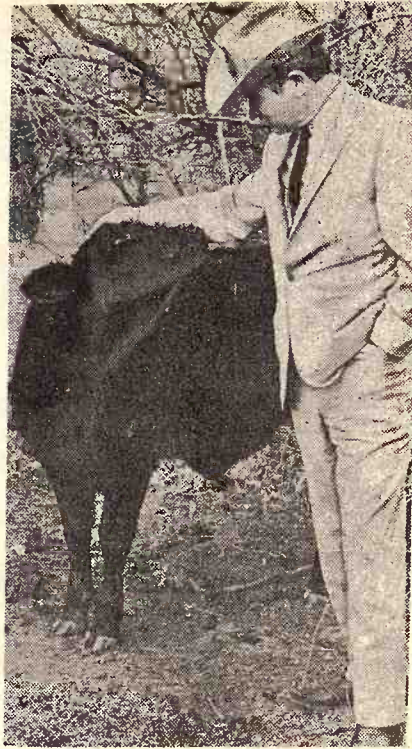

But most of the membership has been in the Southwest. The organization has about 700 members and in two decades about 32,000 head of cattle are registered. With new competition from exotic breeds, some members of the organization fear it can no longer survive without a new spurt of growth.

A Brangus is five-eighths Angus and three-eighths Brahman. If a breeder wants his own genetic mix without buying registered stock he must use Brahman bulls in a herd of Angus cows, all registered in their own association. If everything goes well, he could reach the proper genetic ratio in three cattle generations.

The six to eight years required to reach the proper genetic balance might produce the proper fractions but it isn't sure of producing the kind of animal the breeder is looking for.

In the meantime, he must keep careful records, separate the half-bloods and quarter-bloods and be sure that the right animals are mating.

What some in the organization hope will happen is that the organization will allow an easier way for Angus breeders to shift to Brangus. That way is to use a different percentage in reaching Brangus blood.

Various changes have been suggested for several years. The past spring the issue became highly critical at the annual meeting in Kansas City but motions that would have changed registry requirements were tabled.

A meeting at Kerrville, Texas, this month was expected to bring renewed attempts to change the system.

Brangus breeders contend that Brahman cows live longer than other cows and produce calves longer. They say that calves are small at birth, that cows have no calving problems, but the calves reach weaning time at greater weights than other breeds. They also contend their breed grades out well after slaughtering.

State Beef Slaughter Up 13% Thru April

Commercial production of red meat in Kansas during April 1971 totaled 150 million pounds, up 15 per cent from April 1970 but 5 per cent below March 1971, according to the Kansas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service.

Cumulative production for the first four months of 1971 totaled 590 million pounds, 15 per cent above the same period last year.

Beef production during the month was 117 million pounds, up 14 per cent from April 1970; but down 5 per cent from March 1971.

The number of cattle slaughtered totaled 189,000 head, an increase of 15 per cent from April 1970. Average liveweight was 1,048 pounds, 12 pounds lighter than April 1970.

Production in the first four months of 1971 was 476 million pounds, up 13 per cent from a year earlier.

April pork production was 33 million pounds, 18 per cent above April a year ago but 7 per cent below March 1971.

There were 209,000 hogs slaughtered, compared with 173,000 head during April a year ago.

Average liveweight of 246 pounds compares with 251 pounds a year earlier. Pork production in the first

Blight Makes Corn Market Jumpy

The corn market has been quite jumpy recently, but this was expected. There are two reasons: (1) Reserve supplies of corn and other grains are smaller than they have been for several years. (2) The drought continues as a serious threat to the 1971 corn crop. Considering these facts, some farmers were surprised to see corn prices decline from the high level reached last winter. The prices being offered to farmers recently were 10 to 15 cents a bushel lower than at the high time. Futures prices declined even more, over 20 cents. The lower corn prices should have caused no surprise. In short crop years, prices usually reach their high early in the marketing year — within a relatively short time after harvest. It now appears that feed grain supplies will be ample for the remainder of this marketing year; also, that supplies will be adequate for next year.

Usable Reserves

According to USDA estimates, the carryover of feed grains at the end of the present marketing year will total about 35 million tons. (It has been around 50 million tons in recent years.) Essential pipeline supplies figured as 10 per cent of a year's requirements, would be around 17 million tons. That would leave about 18 million tons of usable carryover, enough to meet normal needs for about five weeks.

No one knows how much corn and other feed grains will be produced this year, but the big grain users have been making forecasts — which they keep to themselves. Although producers could do the same, most of them are too busy with farm work. So we will offer some figures that may be of use to farmers who must decide when to sell — or buy — corn and other feed grains.

Production forecasts must be based on some assumptions. If farmers plant about the same acreages of feed grains as they reported in March and if yields are about the same as last year's (all below normal), 1971 production would total about 170 million tons. Added to the expected usable carryover, this would make a total usable supply of around 188 million tons.

Prospective Needs

The need for feed grains next year probably will be between 170 and 175 million tons, compared to this year's estimated figure of 173 million tons. If the usable supply of feed grains for the next marketing year is around 188 million tons and if use and exports total 173 million tons, that would leave a usable reserve in the fall of 1972 of 15 million tons — four weeks requirements.

The corn market is always nervous during the growing season. But it will be unusually excitable this year, because of the uncertainties caused by the southern corn leaf blight.

July Dates For District 4H Horse Shows

Seven district 4-H horse shows are on the schedule in July, giving youthful riding enthusiasts an opportunity to qualify for the state 4-H horse show, September 25-26, during the Kansas State Fair, Hutchinson.

Dates and places for the shows are:

- July 20, Salina
- July 21, Hill city
- July 22, Garden City
- July 23, Wichita
- July 26, Yates Center
- July 27, Ottawa
- July 28, Oskaloosa.

To be eligible for the state 4-H horse show, youth must receive a purple or blue ribbon at a district event.

Performance classes in the district and state shows include 4-H Western pleasure for all ponies, 4-H Western pleasure for all breeds except ponies, American Saddlebred three pleasure horse, 4-H Western horsemanship, saddle seat equitation, hunt seat equitation, 4-H reining (divided into two age groups) pole bending, and barrel racing.

During June series of 20, one-day clinics on the horse project is scheduled. Sherman Lauder, Blue Mound, for the second year, will conduct these educational meetings throughout the state in cooperation with county Extension agents. Horse judging, feeding and managing, grooming and care are some of the topics to be discussed. During the past year more than 3,600 Kansas 4-H'ers were in the horse project.

Surplus Milk To Cheddar Cheese At Hillsboro Plant

A new plant operating at Hillsboro, is converting Kansas' surplus milk into cheddar cheese, according to Jim Moore, Kansas division manager of Associated Milk Producers Inc., at Wichita.

The new plant opened recently in Marion County will have a capacity of 25 million to 30 million pounds per month converted into a Kansas manufactured product, he said.

The plant is running a single shift but when in full operation should handle much of Kansas' surplus milk, Moore said.

Some 42,000 dairymen in 17 states from Texas to Wisconsin have now joined hands under the Associated banner, Moore said. They produce 14 per cent of the nation's milk.

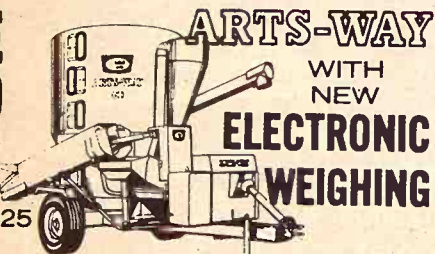

The cooperative enables dairymen in a surplus area, such as Kansas, to market milk in 14 "deficit" areas, he explained.

The expanded facilities of the Wichita AMPI plant now handles 8 million to 10 million pounds of milk per month distributed to 8 to 10 out-of-state processors and manufacturers, Moore said.

Facilities of the local AMPI plant now enable it to store 38,000 gallons of milk, Moore said.

Mrs. Gertrude Bayles Of Holton Wins Contest

Winner, Mrs. Gertrude Bayles, R 2, Holton: "Here is my rhubarb cake recipe that we enjoy at this time of the year."

CRUNCHY RHUBARB CAKE

- 1 3/4 cups sugar
- 1/2 cup shortening
- 1 egg
- 1 cup (either sour cream, buttermilk or sour milk)
- 2 cups flour
- 1 teaspoon soda
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- Vanilla
- 2 cups diced rhubarb
- 2 teaspoon cinnamon

Cream 1 1/2 cups sugar and shortening. Add egg, beat, mix in flour, sour cream or buttermilk, soda, salt, vanilla and rhubarb. Combine 1/4 cup sugar and cinnamon for topping, and put over cake before baking. Bake 350 degrees for 35 minutes until golden brown. (Note longer if frozen rhubarb used.)

Wanda Wedel, Langdon, Mo.: "These are very easy, but delicious."

SIMPLE BARS

- 3 sticks oleo
- 1 cup white sugar
- 1 cup brown sugar
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 4 eggs
- 2 cups all-purpose flour
- 2 cups quick cook oatmeal

(uncooked)
Mix in order given and spread on 10x15 cookie pan. Bake at 350 degrees until light brown, about 20 minutes. Cool in pan and frost with your favorite chocolate frosting.

Mrs. Owen W. Jones, 702 North Maple, Frankfort, sent this recipe:
SWEDISH MEATBALLS
1 pound ground beef

1/4 pound ground lean pork
1 egg, slightly beaten
1 small chopped onion
Enough coarse bread crumbs to be absorbed by 1 cup milk
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
2 teaspoons seasoned salt
1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
Mix thoroughly — should be rather moist. Shape into small balls and fry in hot fat, turning constantly. Do not overcook. For gravy: To small amount of pan fat in which meatballs were fried add 1 can beef bouillon (consomme) and two bouillon cubes in which enough flour has been added to make thin gravy. Pour over meatballs and serve. Serves ten.

Mrs. Albert Krauss, R 2, Gypsum: "It's strawberry time again. I have used this preserve recipe for five seasons straight. They don't have that oversweet taste."

STRAWBERRY PRESERVES

- 4 cups strawberries, washed and drained
- 4 cups sugar
- 1 1/4 tablespoons vinegar

Bring ingredients to a boil and let boil three minutes. Stir with pancake turner so as not to break the berries. Pour into shallow pans and shake frequently until cooled. Shaking causes the berries to take up the syrup. Let preserves stand overnight. Pour cooled preserves into sterilized jars and seal.

Mrs. Orville Sawin, Barnes: "I really enjoy your recipes in Grass & Grain. With all the June weddings I would like to send my recipe for Fruit Punch, which is truly refreshing."

FRUIT PUNCH

- 3 cups sugar
  - 1 1/2 quarts water
- Boil this for five minutes, cool then add:
- 2 cans frozen lemon juice
  - 4 cans frozen orange juice
  - 1 large can pineapple juice
  - 1 1/2 quarts water
- Mellow in refrigerator for several hours. Just before serving add 1 quart gingerale. This will make it a pink, add fruit punch; for green add etc.

Home Food Slicer Gives Professional Type Slicing

Are you stymied by the problem of cutting last weekend's big roast into sandwich slices, slicing a ham or preparing bulk cheese? Then you may want to investigate an electric slicer that has been introduced for home use.

The slicer offers a professional "slant" on slicing for today's homemaker. The food platform and blade are deeply angled to keep food snug against the blade for accurate slicing. And the slicer is made to order for those big slicing jobs. The six-inch wide food platform can hold jumbo hams, family-sized roasts or bulk cheeses. The platform also has a built-in thumb guard.

The large, chrome-plated blades cut uniformly, slice after slice and it stays sharp. The aluminum thickness guide is rigid yet light, enabling you to slice just the thickness you want, from wafer thin to three quarters of an inch.

And important to busy homemakers, the unit comes apart easily for cleaning. The slicing components can be removed in

Floors Need Wax Stripping Periodically

Resilient floor coverings need to be stripped of old wax periodically to prevent "yellowing" and make cleaning easier.

Stripping old wax does not have to be done frequently as some homemakers mistakenly think. Two or three times a year, depending on the traffic conditions and frequency of waxing, is adequate.

To strip a floor properly, sweep floor thoroughly to remove dust and dirt. Then apply a liberal amount of wax remover over a three-foot square area. Let stand two or three minutes and then rub with a stiff brush, fine-grade steel wool, or an electric floor scrubber.

Wipe away cleaning solution and old wax with a sponge mop or cloth. Repeat procedure over entire floor. Rinse the floor with clean, cool water. Let floor dry. It should look dull but clean. Apply a new coat of wax. Two coats may be needed for sufficient gloss.

Lubricating Mask

This is more applicable to leather than vinyl shoes.

Old Crow's good taste begins with men who love to work with their hands.

Anthony Clark has a big responsibility. One false move of his hands and he's mixed the wrong measure of grain for the Old Crow formula. Does he ever miss? The proof is in the good taste of our Bourbon.

Making Bourbon which tastes good, bottle after bottle, made Old Crow famous. Back in 1835, our people figured out the formula that took Bourbon-making out of the hit-or-miss category. Later, they handmade the first sour mash Bourbon. We still use our hands in making Old Crow.

After work, most of our men keep on using their hands. Anthony Clark calls on the same craftsmanship mixing grain as he does tying fishing flies.

Over the years, craftsmanship like this has made Old Crow America's best-tasting Bourbon.

Lacy: Kansas Hires Workers By Qualifications, Not By Color

Businesses in Kansas and elsewhere pay little attention to the color of a man's skin when they are hiring employees, says Jack Lacy, but they are becoming more and more concerned about employee qualifications and attitudes.

"The people who are hiring want the most competent, most qualified person available, and they don't care about race, color or creed," said Lacy, director of the Kansas Department of Economic Development.

Lacy has declined to be drawn into any debate over whether the Kansas Commission on Civil Rights is pursuing discrimination complaints against Kansas businesses too aggressively, as some in the business community have claimed. But he did say anything that disrupts the business climate of a state or community disturbs businesses and makes them wish they were elsewhere.

Lacy added: "Civil rights commissions exist in all 50 states. Our problem here is probably less severe than it is in some other states."

Complaints filed by two men against an Ottawa, Kan., firm which are being processed by the commission on civil rights have stirred a controversy.

Troy Scroggins, executive director of the rights commission, said the rights commission is only carrying out its statutory responsibility to investigate all complaints in the Ottawa case.

"It certainly is not our policy, purpose or intent to harass, to badger or hamper any business in Kansas," Scroggins said.

Lacy said Kansas has developed a "spirit of co-operation" in working to attract and hold business in the state. "We must continue it," he said. He said employers in Kansas are becoming "more concerned with competence than with education" and said employers have added a fourth R to the training they want their employees to have.

Helping minorities achieve the competence desired by employers is a problem, he said. In recent years, Lacy said, the civil rights movement and the war on poverty have also generated interest in the basic skills necessary for employment.

"These skills have been of continuing concern to employers who desire to employ the best qualified worker in each position, and are perhaps of even more concern to the potential worker himself. Often people possessing adequate technical skills are still not able to obtain employment or, if hired, are not able to keep to the job because of certain other deficiencies," Lacy said.

Kansas City 26th Wichita 51st In Census Rank

In the ranking of cities by population Kansas City, Mo., moved up a notch in the last decade from 27th to 26th, the Census bureau reported.

The Kansas City 1970 population is listed as 507,409 compared with 475,539 in 1960.

St. Louis slipped from 10th to 18th and from 750,026 to 622,236.

Wichita, the largest city in Kansas, is ranked 51st in size in the nation with 276,554 compared with 254,698. That is the same rank it held 10 years ago.

Kansas City, Kansas, now is 80th with 168,213, compared with 98th a decade ago when the population was 121,901. Topeka is 115th with 125,011 persons. Ten years ago it was 100th with 119,484.

The 10 largest cities by rank: New York, 7,867,760; Chicago, 3,366,957; Los Angeles, 2,814,152; Philadelphia, 1,948,609; Detroit, 1,511,482; Houston, 1,233,802; Baltimore, 905,759; Dallas, 844,401; Washington, 756,510, and Cleveland, 750,903. Of those only New York, Los Angeles, Houston and Dallas gained population. All the others lost.

The bureau said there were 153 cities of 100,000 or more in population in 1970 compared with 130 in 1960. It noted 59 lost population in the last decade, 26 gained as a result of annexation or consolidation, and 68 showed population increases within their 1960 city limits.

Resigns As Head Of Controversial Tech Institute

Resignation of H.M. Neely as president of controversial Kansas Technical Institute, Salina, has been received by the Kansas Board of Education.

Neely told Salinans and his staff he had been accused of being unwilling to work with Salina residents to promote KTI, was said to have been unwilling to take advice and criticism, and was unable to convince persons across the state of the need for the institute.

The House Ways and Means committee voted in April to begin phasing out the institute, which has been accused of duplicating other programs in the state. However, money was included to operate KTI for another year.

Neely, the school's first and only president since its creation five years ago, fought for continuation of its programs. He negotiated last year with the Salina Area Vocational-Technical School on merger plans, which proved fruitless.

A state vocational advisory committee headed by a former state school superintendent, Merle Hayden, recommended the merger, but the state board disagreed. Phasing out also was recommended by James Bibb, state budget director.

The school trains students in 2-year and short-term engineering and computer programs. It is located on the former Schilling Air Force Base reservation.

Your International Harvester Dealer can show you 615 and 715 combines that should cost more. But they don't. Why wait?

Harvest Is Close At Hand

Check the power, prices and capacities of our new 615-715 combines with comparably sized machines.

You'll find that we're determined to give you more combine for every dollar you invest.

For example, we give you up to 107 hp in the 715. Up to 96-bushel capacity in the grain tank. Capacity features you can count on in any crop or condition.

Of course you get Quick-Attach platforms and corn heads. Variable speed cylinder and fan drives. Choice of belt propulsion or Hydrostatic

All-Speed Drive.

Naturally, some things we wouldn't think of changing. Like our full-width threshing. Practically plug-free fin-and-wire racks. Opposed-action cleaning.

These new 615 and 715 combines can be equipped with 10½- to 18½-foot platforms, or 2-, 3- and 4-row corn heads. See your International Harvester Dealer. Compare them with any other like-sized combines. Then decide how you want your 615 or 715—finance, rent or lease.

Methodists Study Support Of Two Area Colleges

A special study committee has recommended that United Methodists decide whether they want to retain Kansas Wesleyan and Southwestern colleges as church-related colleges.

At the Kansas West church conference at Wichita, Dr. George Richards, Wichita, presented the resolution to hire a research consultant to assist the committee in preparing a final report to the 1972 annual conference on the future of the 2 church-related schools in Salina and Winfield.

Conference delegates were told the "crisis situation" with regard to finances and enrollment can be solved but the most urgent decision is "whether the church should be involved in higher education".

Dr. Richards said that almost every United Methodist conference across the nation is facing the same problem of support for denominational schools. But the Kansas West conference is the first one to propose this kind of crisis study and decision, he said. This is the most drastic appraisal of this problem that this conference has ever made, he added.

"We must not try to use a mild remedy to solve such a deep problem, and we can't wait too long", said Dr. Orville Strohl, president of Southwestern.

Dr. Richards said the special committee believes the church "does have a vital stake in higher education, but the extent of its commitment and the degree of obligation it is willing to assume is not readily apparent."

He said the proposed state tuition grant program "would help, but it alone will not solve the problems".

"There is evidence that some of the clergy have begun to develop a fresh appreciation of the significance of the church-related college," he said, "but lay people do not seem to share this enthusiasm. One of the most obvious needs is reappraisal of the role of the church in higher education. If we solve this, we can take care of the financial problems."

McLouth Votes More Taxes

McLOUTH — Voters in McLouth School District No. 342 have approved a 6-mill increase in property taxes. The vote in a special election was 225 for and 165 against increasing the levy to 31.87 mills.

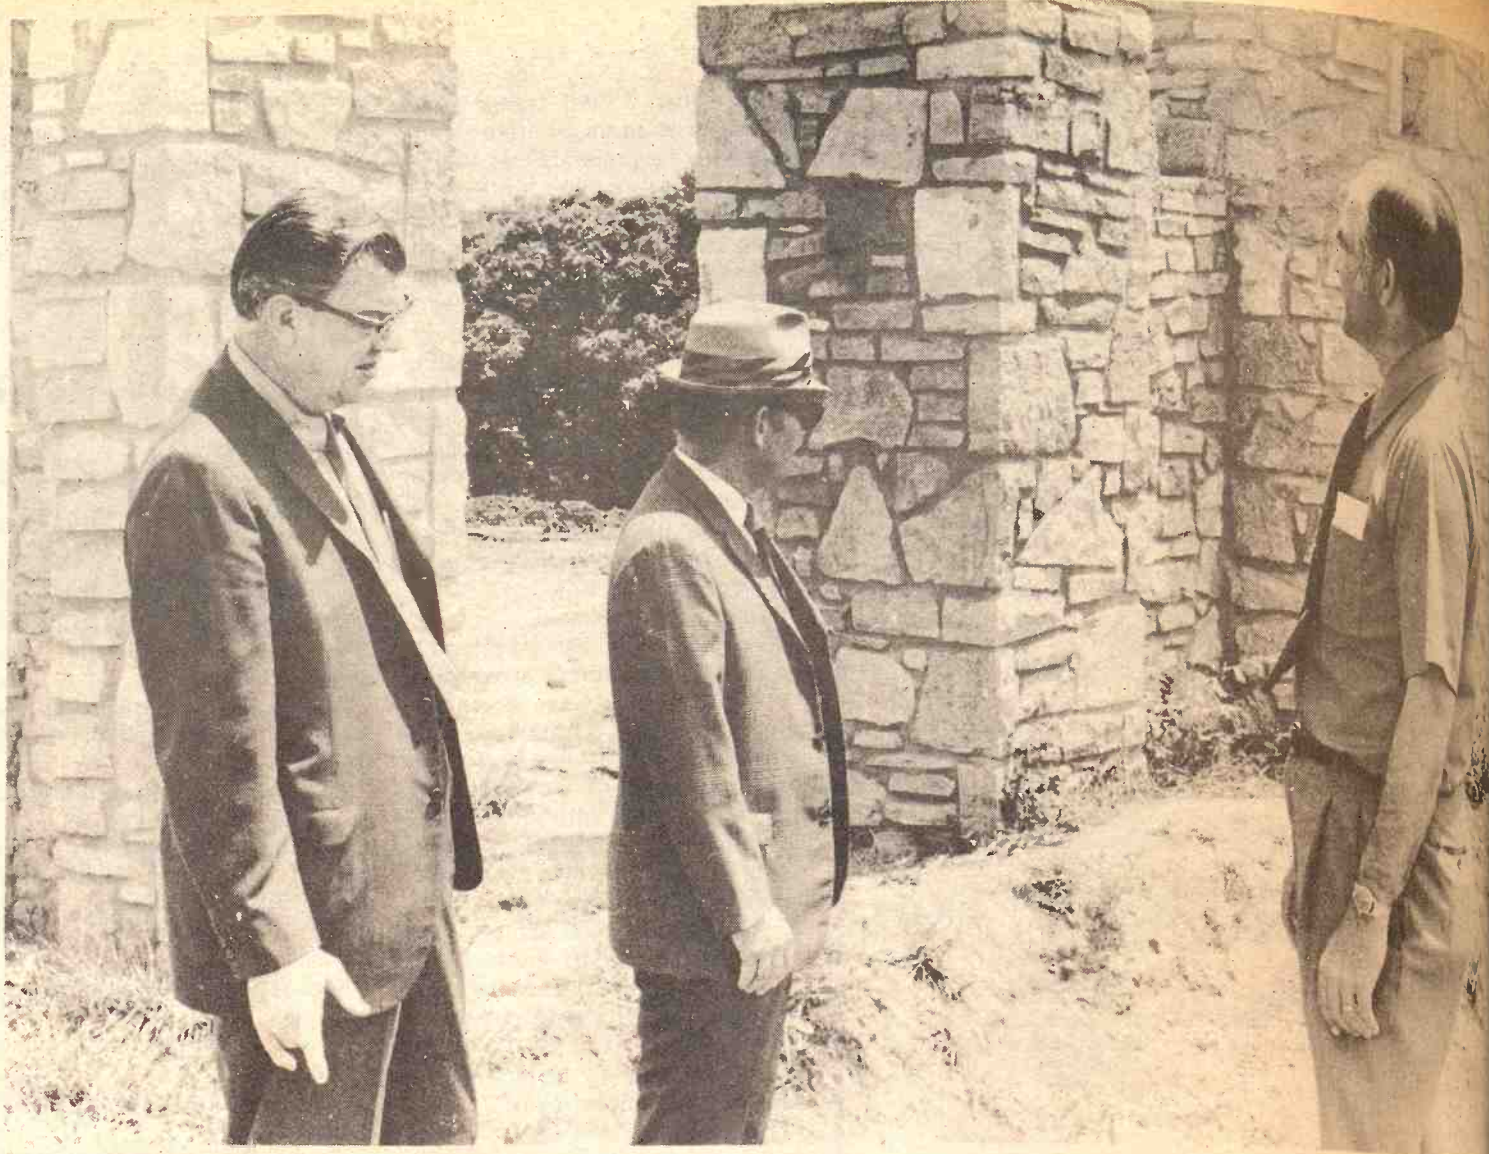

The additional money will be used to offset the loss of federal payments in lieu of taxes following the closing of the Sunflower Army Ammunition plant as well as rising enrollment and salary increases.

Dry Leader Hollomon Retires To Bryan, Texas

The Rev. Roy S. Hollomon, retired director of the Kansas United Dry Forces, and his wife have decided to make Bryan, Tex., their home.

Hollomon headed the Kansas dry organization from 1951 until Dec. 31, 1970.

The Hollomons plan to leave Topeka for Bryan where he served as a pastor from 1925 to 1933.

NEED A BARN!!

Manhattan Lions Club members Tom Roberts and Charles Herr, along with a Manhattan Park Board member, Mr. Vinton Puckett, look over the proposed site of a Small Animal Barn and barnyard for the Majors Children's Zoo at Manhattan. The local Lions club has selected the "Children's Farm" as a community service project. The Lions club is hoping to find a typical "American Type" gambrel roofed small barnyard barn, possibly in the G&G area that could be moved to the site or possibly torn down and reconstructed in place. They would appreciate hearing from anyone in the area who might have such a building that they aren't using.

American Dairy Princess, 20-year-old Jane Logan from Mount Gilead, Ohio, toasts the month of June, proclaiming it National Dairy Month.

Official Dairy Month Proclamation

WHEREAS, June is the month when nature bestows upon us her most nearly perfect weather, and

WHEREAS, Milk is nature's most nearly perfect food, it seems most appropriate to celebrate the pleasures and benefits of milk and milk products during this first month of the summer season.

NOW, THEREFORE, We hereby dedicate this glorious month of June as a tribute to the American dairy industry and the dairy farmers of this community whose daily work and devotion continually contribute so much to the nation's health and prosperity.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Jane Logan, American Dairy Princess, do proclaim the month of June to be National Dairy Month, and do encourage all citizens to enjoy milk and other dairy foods, and do urge civic and business organizations to co-operate in this observance in public and in private in order that we may enjoy continuing good health and increased prosperity.

Only Eight Inches Of Topsoil Keeps Food On Table

Pick up a ruler or a yardstick, spread your hand across it and measure the span. Unless you're a Chamberlain-type basketball player, the measurement likely will be between seven and nine inches. That distance — no more than the span of your hand — literally is the difference between mass starvation and bountiful living in America. For the United States as a whole, there is only an average of eight inches of topsoil left in which to grow food for U.S. tables and for millions of less-fortunate people abroad.

Rep. Keith Sebelius (R-Kan.) made that dramatic point recently in a discussion of soil stewardship in the House of Representatives. As a result of the population explosion, land development and widespread abuse of our limited soil resources by nonagriculturists, only eight inches of topsoil are left across the United States for farmers to use in providing either feast or famine," Sebelius said.

Sebelius also noted that the average age of U.S. farmers is 52 years. He said this present era must be a turning point in the nation's history for it is absolutely essential to attract younger men into farming and related jobs.

A key to that, the representative added, is adequate farm income.

"The great disparity between agriculture and the rest of our affluent society must be eliminated if we expect farmers to continue to invest in soil and water conservation practices and if we expect our younger generation to make the same commitment," he continued.

Sebelius noted that his state of Kansas, prompted in part by the experiences of the dust-bowl days of the 1930's, has made enormous strides in its stewardship of the soil, but that much remains to be done. Nearly 80,000 conservation plans have been initiated in the state for work on 26 2-3 million acres.

"The Kansas team of trained soil scientists, volunteer leaders and farmers had produced 268,754 miles of terraces and diversions, 278,458 acres of grassed waterways; 90 watershed reservoirs; 1,663,337 acres of range seeding; 85,889 farm ponds and 1,320,044 acres of cropland converted to other uses, such as pasture," he said.

"This astounding record illustrates a united effort involving federal, state and local co-operation directed by local citizens yet, only 36 per cent of the 29,623,793 cropland acres in Kansas has been treated adequately for conservation and erosion control."

Sebelius said that farmers, in fact, have been pioneers in the nation's newly-discovered concern over the environment as the completed conservation practices indicate.

"Farmers, ranchers and our state and county conservation committees have made their personal commitment to our natural resources," he continued. "These dedicated stewards have made it possible for the American farmer to utilize and conserve our limited soil and water resources in such a way that—for the first time in history—man has a realistic chance to win the war against malnutrition and hunger."

But Sebelius added that rural residents and their co-operating agencies cannot continue to do the job alone.

"Environment is not someone else's responsibility," he concluded. "Our environment is each citizen's front yard, sidewalk, road, air or water. It is the character of rural or small town America and also of urban America."

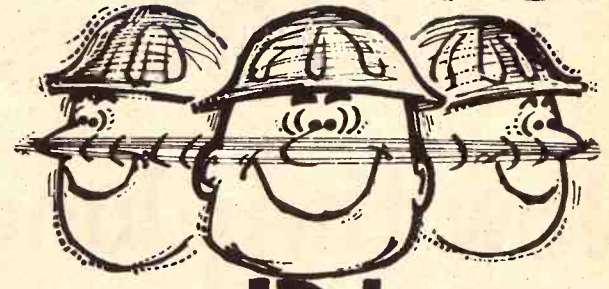

"I am hopeful that the 92nd Congress will enact legislation to perpetuate conservation efforts and to guarantee economic prosperity for family farming units throughout America. Without the efficiency and productivity of the family farm operation, our whole economy would suffer."

May 1970, when work began on a new wing and remodeling of the existing museum building.

Special displays from the museum are exhibited in the Eisenhower Library which is open to the public. Wickman said actual construction was completed on schedule, despite several changes in design and additions to plans by the government. Most of the delay was caused by slow delivery of fixtures and display arrangements.

built for Milk Production

When it comes to building a Purina milking ration, microscopes and milking parlors have a lot in common.

The microscope represents just one of the many painstaking research tests made in checking ingredients, developing and mixing a ration, then re-checking the finished ration.

Each Purina dairy ration is proved in feeding trials at the Purina Dairy Research Center, as well as in exhaustive laboratory tests.

As for milking parlors, each Purina milking ration is built for the production it can help you get from your herd. Today's successful dairymen are proving that good nutrition is far more than just filling the rumen. The level of nutrition you put into the cow's digestive system is what helps her produce up to her bred-in ability.

Drop in soon and let us recommend a Purina research-proved milking ration for your herd. Thousands of good dairymen across the country are taking advantage of the research that's built into Purina milking rations. How about you?

Stable Job Market For Ag Graduates

MANHATTAN — An annual survey of job opportunities by 14 Midwestern colleges of agriculture reveals starting salaries this spring are up an estimated 3.2 per cent over a year ago, reports Dr. Carroll V. Hess, dean of the Kansas State University College of Agriculture, one of the participating institutions.

Analyses by placement directors for the North Central Region Colleges of Agriculture reveals that approximately one and a half jobs exist for each available B.S. graduate in agriculture.

Hess says strongest demand for graduates is in sales and management positions, with attractive opportunities also in the food sciences and in vocational agriculture teaching positions in high schools.

For those with advanced degrees, the strongest demand is in food sciences, and in university teaching and research, he adds.

The same survey shows that average monthly starting salaries for 1970 graduates were $682 for those with a bachelor of science, $822 with a master of science, and $1,122 with a doctor of philosophy. Comparable starting salaries for 1969 graduates were $661, $796, and $1,066 respectively.

The K-State Career Planning and Placement Center reports starting salaries for recent K-State agricultural graduates to be $8,400 a year for those with B.S. degrees; $8,500-$12,000 for those with M.S. degrees; and $10,000 to $15,000 for those with Ph.D. degrees. Twenty-eight per cent of the firms and agencies which interviewed on campus this year were looking for agricultural graduates.

In 1970 the 14 Midwestern university colleges of agriculture graduated 4,144 students with B.S. degrees, 1,108 with M.S. degrees, and 672 with Ph.D. degrees. These graduates were placed as follows: private industry, 23 per cent; graduate study, 17; teaching and extension, 9; farming and farm management, 10; government work, 7; military services, 21; other, 13.

Participating in the annual survey of placement of 1970 graduates and estimates of job prospects for 1971 graduates, in addition to Kansas State University, were Illinois, Iowa State, Lincoln, Michigan State, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, North Dakota, Ohio State, Purdue, South Dakota State, Southern Illinois, and Wisconsin universities.

Court Decision May Strike Out Responsibility Law

The U.S. Supreme Court Monday has struck down a Georgia "Financial responsibility" law that revokes the driver licenses of uninsured motorists who are involved in accidents, regardless of whether they are at fault.

Kansas has a similar law, under which the indefinite suspension of "quite a few licenses a year" has been effected, according to a spokesman in the State Motor Vehicle Department.

Under present law, a Kansan who is involved in an accident loses his license if he does not buy a liability insurance policy, post a bond or put up cash to show he has "financial responsibility."

The liability rates were increased at the 1971 session from $10,000 per person; $20,000 for an accident and $5,000 for property damage to $15,000 per person; $30,000 per accident and $5,000 for property.

"I would assume that the (high court) decision hits our law too," said Rep. John Hayes, R-Hutchinson, chairman of the House Insurance Committee.

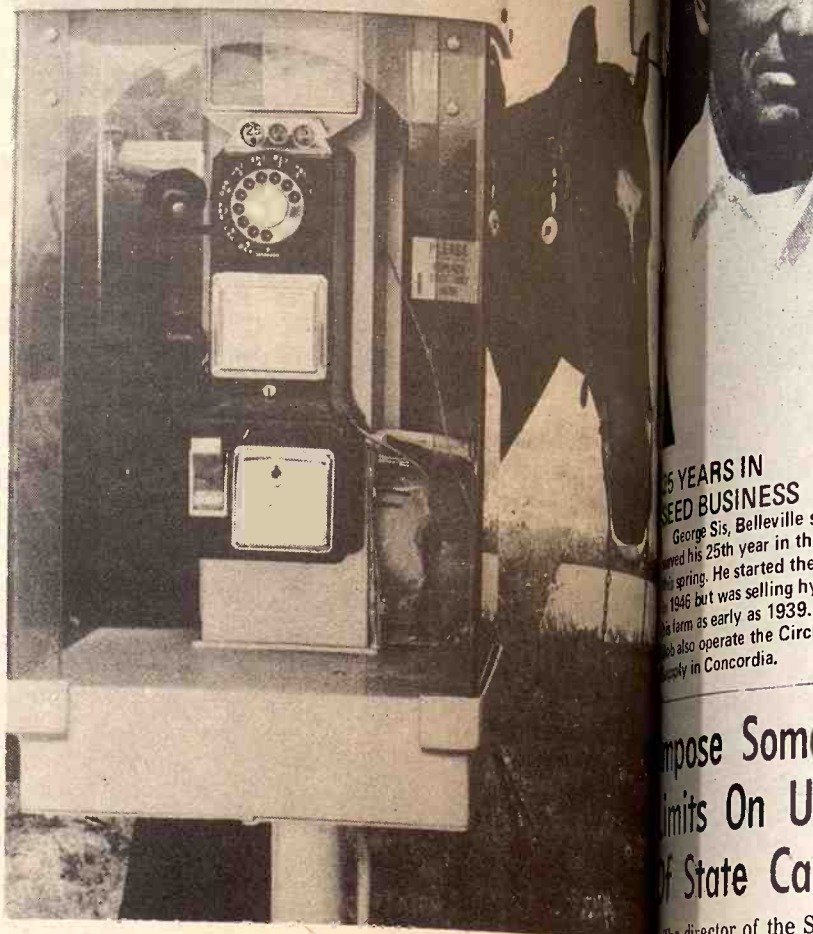

The court, in an opinion issued by Justice William Brennan, Jr., declared that Georgia, and therefore other states, may continue to use its law only if it gives motorists "fault" hearings before revoking their licenses, or if it decides to revoke licenses only after courts have found uninsured motorists liable for damages in civil lawsuits.

Justice Brennan said the "financial responsibility" scheme violates the constitution's due process clause because motorists are stripped of their licenses without an opportunity to show that they were not negligent, although they are liable for damages only if they negligently cause injuries.

Hayes said Kansas may rewrite its laws to allow motorists to drive until fault hearings are held, and suspend only the licenses of the negligent.

Or, he said, the Legislature may decide to write a compulsory liability law as three states now have.

Impose Some Limits On Use Of State Cars

The director of the State Department of Administration today called on agency heads to eliminate the use of state-owned cars for going to church and for commuting between the office and home. Robert F. Brandt said discontinuance of the two practices could cut state car mileage by an estimated 3.6 million miles annually and reduce vehicle operation costs by more than $200,000 per year. Brandt asked state agency heads in a memorandum to eliminate use of state cars during lunch hours and for other peripheral business. The executive director of the Department of Administration said the memorandum on using state cars to commute is a follow-up to creation of a motor pool operation among the larger state agencies to cut vehicle operating cost. The Kansas Legislative Council recommended last year that the Department of Administration investigate the creation of a motor pool operation for the state's approximately 1,355 vehicles. Brandt placed the Department of Administration, the largest state agency with jurisdiction over five major state government divisions, into a motor pool operation in January.

Last month he said his pilot motor pool project proved the pool system "cut about in half" the cost of using state automobiles assigned to his department.

Brandt said in his memo to agency heads, "In a further effort to promote efficiency in the use of state automobiles, a request is made of all agency heads who have state cars under their jurisdiction to make every effort to eliminate all commuting time, i.e., trips between office and home, at the earliest possible time."

The Dept. of Administration director said he had a meeting with representatives of the larger state agencies recently, and that they estimated state cars were used about 10 per cent of the time for "commuting purposes."

Brandt said state-owned cars are driven a total of about 36 million miles a year. A 10 per cent cutback in driving them would represent a saving of about 3.6 million miles.

Brandt noted in his memorandum the state has clamped a moratorium on the purchase of any new automobiles due to lack of available funds.

"Kansas statutes limit the purchase price of a state automobile to $2,000," he said in the memo.

"Under existing conditions, it is impossible to purchase automobiles for this amount. Thus, it becomes necessary to restrict the use of state cars as much as possible without affecting business operations, thereby increasing the life of the automobile," the Brandt memo said.

The state formerly was able to purchase air-conditioned sedans for less than the $2,000 limit primarily because of a subsidy on cars sold to governmental units that were given to auto dealers by the manufacturers.

Car makers have withdrawn the subsidy, and the purchase price of new vehicles jumped about $1,000 per car.

14 Locks To Bring Waterway To Wichita

ARKANSAS CITY—Cost of extending the Arkansas River Navigation system from the port of Catoosa, Okla., to Wichita, by way of Arkansas City, is estimated at 700 million dollars, Lt. Col. E. L. Morris, of the Army Engineers in Tulsa, said.

"Preliminary analysis of the proposed navigation extension into Kansas looks feasible," Morris said, and he added that the Corps of Engineers' feasibility and survey studies are scheduled for completion in 1977. Navigation as far north as Wichita could be a reality in the 1990s, he said.

Morris said several methods of extending the system into Kansas are under study, but the two principal routes in Kansas are past Arkansas City and by the Walnut river to a point near Augusta for a port of Wichita, and the other route is all the way to Wichita by way of the Arkansas river.

Morris expressed the opinion that greater savings would be realized by using the Arkansas river route entirely, but that the Arkansas-Walnut route is not yet counted out. "In either case, 14 locks and dams would be required to raise the water at least 700 feet above the water level at the port of Catoosa," Morris said.

The earliest that construction would begin on the Kansas extension is 1990, Morris said.

A Plan To Level Out Gas Bills

People who are bugged by high gas bills in the winter can ease their pain a little under a new plan by the Gas Service Co., the Kansas City-based utility which serves some 735,000 customers in the Midwest, many of them in the G&G area.

Customers of Gas Service can pay their bill on an averaged basis, paying the same amount each month of the year.

The plan is optional and available right now. Gas Service calls the plan "LPP," Level Payment Plan.

Probable gas bills for the year are totaled and divided by 12 to arrive at equal monthly payments. Customers will be billed equal amounts until May of each year, when they will receive a statement to balance the account.

If the payments have exceeded the actual cost of the gas used, the

FIVE YEARS AGO . . .

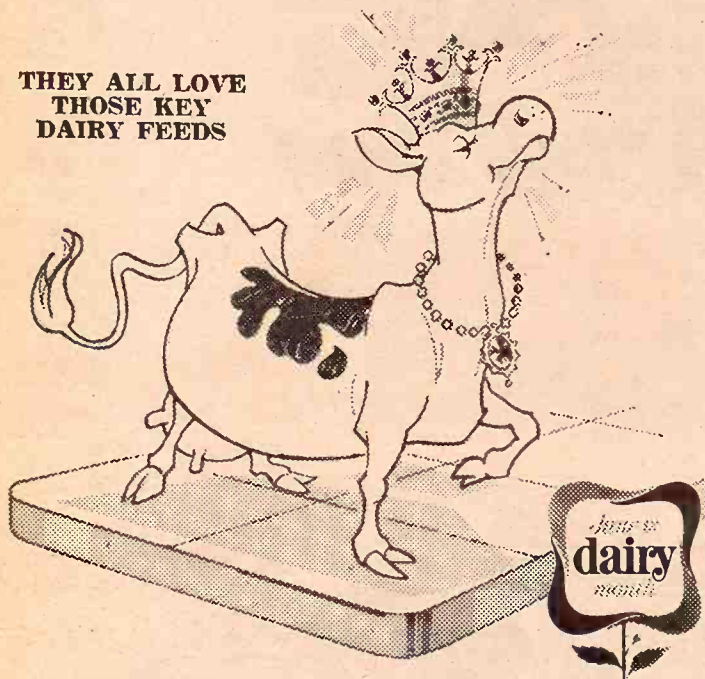

Several weeks with frequent tornado warnings provided the G&G area with an apt reminder of the great tornado of June 8, 1966, which took 16 lives at Topeka and left scenes of destruction like this one on the Washburn University campus.

The 1966 tornado, which also smashed a corner of Manhattan and left its mark in the area between, is regarded by insurance men as second in damage only to one that hit Lubbock, Texas, in May 1970. Property damage at Topeka was estimated at $100 million; at Lubbock, about twice that.

There are still marks of the 1966 tornado and even when the severe weather watches in the G&G area start to number well into the 300s for the current season, many people's memory of 1966 will not allow them to ignore a new one. When the 1966 tornado hit Topeka, that was Weather Watch no. 201.

GM Sees Major Restyling A Year Away

General Motors Corporation announced that its 1972 cars will be virtually the same as this year's plans a major restyling of its intermediate-sized cars for 1973. While G.M. declines to comment officially on future styling, it has provided information supplied to the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration by Ernest Starkman, G.M. vice-president for safety and environmental matters.

Starkman told the NHTSA that in order to meet new standards for crashworthy bumpers in 1973-model cars, "We have made extensive changes to our passenger cars that are far in excess of our normal model year change."

A major restyling of the G.M. intermediates, which include Chevrolet, Chevelle, Pontiac Le Mans, Buick Skylark and Oldsmobile Cutlass, had been planned for the 1972 models which will appear this fall. But that was canceled by the 67-day United Auto Workers' strike against G.M. last fall. The restyling apparently is the revision which had been planned a year earlier, along with the changes needed to incorporate the new bumpers.

G.M. gave further credence to speculation 1973 would see a complete redo of at least some lines when Mack Worden, vice-president for marketing protested proposed, more stringent bumper standards for 1974 cars saying, "The 1964 standards will necessitate extensive redesign and retooling of our 1973 bumper systems only one year after its introduction."

G.M.'s full-sized cars, which received extensive restyling with the introduction of 1971 models, are expected to remain largely unchanged through 1973, as are the compacts. There has been a general trend throughout the industry in recent years toward longer periods between major restyling.

The only U.S. cars expected to see major restyling this fall are the intermediate-sized Ford Torino and Mercury Montego and the luxury Ford Thunderbird and Lincoln Continental.

Special Interest Groups Ignore Election Reports

Kansas has a law on the books that requires any group that supports a candidate or issue to disclose how much it spent on its effort.

But getting them to report is difficult.

Even such an organization as the United Dry Forces, which successfully countered a liquor-by-the-drink amendment in November hasn't filed any such report with the Secretary of State, although the law seems to be clear in requiring such a report by December 31.

The group which promoted the liquor amendment, Kansans for Modern Alcoholic Beverage Control, hadn't filed such a report by June 1 either.

Even the Kansas League of Women Voters, which would seem to be the most circumspect of political organizations, didn't detail the source of its money or exact expenditures when it reported to the Secretary of State that it had spent a total of $174.87 to support amendments to reorganize the executive branch of state government.

"There's nothing I can do about it," says Mrs. Elwill Shanahan, Secretary of State. "I have no authority. I can't notify the organizations because I don't know who they are." Mrs. Lavina McDonald, an assistant Secretary of State for elections, said there is no trouble getting the statements from political candidates or parties because there are legal records of their existence.

The special interest organizations, however, are not required to be registered before they begin to function.

Mrs. Shanahan said the only thing her office can do to bring in the financial reports "is issue a press release."

Ford Plans A Mark IV

Ford Motor Co. confirmed it will replace its Lincoln Continental Mark III car line, which it called "highly successful," with a new Mark IV line in the 1972 model year.

The company wouldn't say why the Mark III, introduced in 1968, was being replaced. But industry sources indicated that the Wixom, Mich., plant where the Mark III is built will be switching over to separate body

Washington Announces Lifting Of 21-Year Old China Trade Embargo

WASHINGTON—The White House announced last week that a 21-year old trade embargo on trade to Red China has been lifted.

President Nixon made public the list of exports that U.S. industry may ship to the Communist country under a general license, meaning the products can be shipped without further government approval.

Nixon said the list includes most farm, fish and forestry products, tobacco, fertilizers, coal, selected chemicals, rubber, textiles and some metals.

In addition, he said, agricultural, industrial and office equipment is included, as well as household appliances, electrical apparatus in general industrial or commercial use, some electronic and communications equipment, and some automobile equipment and consumer goods.

Nixon also decided to sweep aside a requirement that American business must obtain government permission to export wheat, flour and other grains to China, Eastern Europe and the Soviet Union.

The Chinese export list appeared to parallel closely a similar list on exports to the Soviet Union, which has been in existence for some time.

Nixon said products not listed on the general license list may be considered for specific licensing "consistent with the requirement of U.S. national security."

This is the way the United States now handles exports considered to be of a strategic nature to the Soviet Union and Eastern Europe. In order to ship products not on the general license list, U.S. exporters must make direct application to the Commerce Department.

Nixon also decided to permit all imports to enter from China under a general license. But he retained authority for future controls in imports if necessary.

"Imports from the People's Republic of China will be subject to the tariff rates generally applicable to goods from most Communist countries," he said.

Nixon announced in April that he was relaxing the embargo on China trade established in December 1950. He said only nonstrategic goods would be permitted for export.

The list of goods permitted under what is termed a general license includes largely nontechnological items with such highly sophisticated products as computers, diesel engines, electronic equipment and jet engines omitted.

Businessmen may ask the government to approve export of items not on the list, but they must obtain a specific license to do so. Although shipment of some of these items has been allowed, approval is slow and uncertain.

Recently, for example, the Commerce Department approved export of $85 million in trucking equipment of the Soviet Union, after holding back the application for two years.

In announcing easing of the trade barrier with China, President Nixon included it as part of a general effort to normalize U.S. relations with Peking and end the isolation of the Asian giant from the rest of the world.

The move certainly won't provide a vast new field of profit for American exporters, not if experience with Soviet Union is a valid measuring stick.

In 1970, U.S. exports to Russia totalled $118.5 million, a small part of the United States' more than $40 billion trade with other countries.

Officials expect trade with China will make up a similarly small part of total U.S. exports, at least in the next few years.

China's trade with non-Communist countries is estimated at $2 billion, although expanding in recent years.

"The main impetus behind the expansion in this trade was the pressing need in China for technologically advanced machinery, industrial raw materials, fertilizers, and wheat," the Commerce Department said in a recent report.

"In exchange, the free world obtained primarily crude agricultural materials, textiles, and foodstuffs."

Another barrier to expanded Chinese trade is an absence of long-term credit from other countries, forcing China to trade largely "on a cash, short-term or barter basis," the department said.

The United States helped to remove that barrier somewhat when it announced last month it was removing all restrictions on dollar transactions with China.

The Nixon administration has already announced plans to expedite visas for visitors and scientists from mainland China.

It also has relaxed carrying Chinese cargo permitted U.S.-owned flagships to visit Chinese ports.

WABAUNSEE COUNTY

A very well improved 600 acre all modern dairy or livestock farm. This is an ideal father-son setup, having a new ranch type home and good facilities for several classes of livestock. 500 acres are tillable, 100 acres good grass, 3 large ponds, plenty of other water. 120 acres now in alfalfa, 132 acre wheat allotment. This farm has new loan that can be assumed and owner will consider carrying part of their equity. Possession can be given August 1, 1971. More land is available in the immediate area. If you are looking to relocate, don't pass this farm by.

A small 132 acre improved retirement farm, 100 acres good grass, 32 acres broke. Good improvements. $160 per acre.

80 acre unimproved with 70 acres broke close to the above farm. $135 per acre.

Too see any of the above farms, call:

We still have a good stock of Stroda 30' elevators. Don't be caught short. Call us and we will deliver. Same low price $269.00. This is a local Kansas Marion made product. Now being produced by Longhofers with local labor — Help same Kansas & buy some.

Did we have a flood 3 weeks ago. Yes we did in the office in the shop etc. People coming in "say" I didn't know Marion would flood any more I thought you had a federal dam. "Yes we do" but the corpse built it in the wrong place. Forgot to survey well. Didn't realize there were 3 creeks joining the Cottonwood River at Marion. The corpse damed the Cottonwood. Looks like the farmer was right should have been 3 4 5 6 7 or 8 miles further down stream.

Future Of Clay Center Packing Plant Is Uncertain

CLAY CENTER—A major portion of the stock in Pork Packers' International, has been sold to the York Packing Company of York, Nebr., John Bear, chairman of the board of Pork Packers' International, has stated.

The status of the multi-million dollar pork packing plant scheduled for construction here is not known at this time.

York managers have informed Bear that Clay Center will be taken under careful consideration by York for possible expansion.

"Our failure to get the plant into operation was a result of economic mis-timing," Bear said. "Had the stocks gone on the market thirty days earlier, the plant would have been built and paid for by now."

Shortly after the announcement in April, 1969, that Pork Packers would build the plant here, the stock market broke on Wall Street and the conditions have never since been acceptable for proceeding with the plant, Bear said.

Plans for the proposed Clay Center plant, soil tests and other pertinent information have been turned over to York Packing, Bear said.

"We picked Clay Center as a site because it was, and still is, an ideal spot for a pork packing plant," Bear said.

PEABODY CELEBRATES 100 YEARS

Among several towns in the G&G area celebrating centennials this summer is Peabody in Marion county. The town will have a 5-day celebration beginning June 30.

Fred Smith, at left, is chairman of the Brothers of the Bush and will emcee festivities.

Among the displays during the celebration will be the work of Marilyn Jones, right, an expert in carding, spinning, dying and weaving wool. Mrs. Jones, who assists her husband in the raising of several breeds of sheep, also owns a greenhouse where she raises many of the flowers and plants used in dyes for her wool.

Wheatgrowers Test Limits Grain Trade

The Kansas Association of Wheat Growers has urged President Nixon to rescind the ruling under the Cargo Preference Act requiring that 50 per cent of wheat exports under PL 480 be shipped in U.S.-flag ships. In a telegram to the President, Donald Crane, Wright Kansas, KAWG president, called the ruling a "barrier to exports of our grain into world markets," and pointed out it could be lifted by executive order. "The American farmer suffers severe inequities, and today is paid only about 67 per cent of what he is actually worth to the economy of this country," Crane said in his telegram to Nixon. "He has continued to produce abundantly for this nation and the world, yet he faces discriminatory practices such as the 50 per cent American bottoms restriction in exporting his grain. This arbitrary ruling has weakened the rural economy by the loss of millions of dollars of grain sales in world markets," Crane said.

Pointing out that the farmer is held in a cost-price squeeze Crane continued saying, "It is bad enough to be in a position where you continually receive less for what you sell and pay more for what you buy without being faced with discriminatory rulings such as the 50 per cent American bottoms requirement on wheat and other grain shipments. In my opinion it is certainly not right for such restrictions as this to be placed on grains when manufacturers and dealers in other goods do not face such a ruling."

Machines Replace Migrant Workers In 5 Years

A research group finishing a 2-year study of 13,000 migrant farm families, has predicted a relocation of workers in the next five years that will surpass the industrial revolution.

This will happen, the Manpower Evaluation and Development Institute said, unless the government works to restrain migrants for farm jobs.

"Most hand labor jobs will be wiped out in the next five to seven years," said Miss Margaret Garrity, who with Shirley Sandage directed the Migrant Research Project.

"We had thought the migrant stream would endure another 10, 15 or 20 years," Miss Garrity said, but mechanization in the farm industry is making sweeping advances.

"There is definitely more hunger in the stream as jobs are being wiped out," she said. "Migrants are going into the stream expecting jobs and there are none."

Asserting federal agencies disagree on how many men, women and children actually follow the uprooted, go-where-the-jobs-are life, Miss Garrity said there probably were 500,000 workers in the stream with their families today, and counting an average of three to four youngsters in each family that means 4 million persons move from farm job to farm job.

Without emergency hunger programs last year, Miss Garrity said, there probably would have been widespread hunger and malnutrition, possibly even starvation. This extends not just along the migratory stream but in the home bases, mostly Texas, California and Florida, where migrants return with no means of support until the next season.

wheeled cycle and plans to chalk up 1,000 miles by the Labor Day weekend.

The tricycle was a birthday gift Nov. 25, 1970. Besides the speedometer, he has installed a small portable radio, horn and shopping basket. He is considering a canvas surrey to put on top of his cycle, complete with fringe, so he can travel in all kinds of weather.

The Peabody cyclist decided to give up driving a car about a year ago because of his age. He became depressed because he had to depend on friends and relatives for transportation.

"I went downhill physically, too," he said. "But since I've been riding this tricycle, my legs and general circulation as well as my spirits have much improved."

Snively cycles about five miles a day, riding to the grocery store, across town to pick up laundry and out to favorite fishing spots in the country.

He worked as a railroad telegrapher for many years in Kansas and Oklahoma before his retirement several years ago. As Peabody's oldest native citizen, Snively will be honored at the centennial celebration parade in July.

Live Up To 'About 500' Billing

Westmoreland, the county seat of Pottawatomie county, has long claimed to be a town of "about 500." Now the figure has been reached without stretching. County assessor figures for Pottawatomie list Westmoreland with 523 people, up 33 from a year ago and presumably the first time the town has had over 500.

The county population is listed at 12,385. One of the most rural counties in the G&G area, Pottawatomie has about 44 per cent of the population living outside incorporated towns, eight of which have less than 500 population.

The other towns in the county: Wamego 2560, St. Marys, 1576, Belvue, 169, Emmett 144, Havensville 165, Louisville 221, Olsburg, 149, Onaga 800, St. George 261, Wheaton 106. A part of Manhattan also projects into Pottawatomie county and 256 persons reside there.
