Constitutional Prohibition. The leading issues in the Indiana campaign this year, as it is in Ohio and North Carolina, is the liquor question. The last Hoosier Legislature, which was Republican, passed a resolution for the submission to the people of a constitutional amendment prohibiting the manufacture or sale of liquors, wines or beer as a beverage. The Legislature to be chosen this fall is to say whether the amendment shall be submitted to the people. Although the issue is somewhat complicated, and neither party declares squarely for or against the measure, it is understood that Republican success will mean constitutional prohibition and Democratic success anti-prohibition. If this is so the Republican party ought to be defeated. A constitutional amendment, such as that proposed in Indiana, has already been adopted in two or three States. But such a law is the product of temperance tyrany and fanaticism. It cannot be enforced in any State without an unwarranted interference with rights and liberties to which a majority of the people are entitled, and an injury to recognized agricultural and industrial interests. Good people everywhere deplore the evils of intemperance and favor a proper regulation of the liquor traffic. But extreme prohibition is very different from any would make it unlawful for any person to drink at his own dinner-table a glass ranical remedy for the evil at which it crimination that nature makes between are never imitated or counterfeited. This is distilled spirits and fermented liquor, especially true of a family medicine, and it is positive proof that the remedy imitated is of the nighest value. As soon as it had been tested and proved by the whole world that Hop Bitters was the purest, best, and most valuable family medicine on earth, many imitations sprung up when they find that the guiding minds in the country differ between themselves, they begin to doubt their own special editor or minister, and consider the subject in hand as in a muddle. Only a few will follow the leader blindly under such circumstances, while the rest will give up in despair, suspend judgment and do nothing. The rival plans to meet the rum monster have had this injurious effect of rendering interesting to the subject of interesting to make money on the credit instead, expecting to make money on the constitution forbidding the use of dynamite without a license. All such details of the practical life belong to the legislature, not to the constitution. The introduction of this into the constitution. The introduction of this into the constitution belittles it, and endangers constitutional prestige.

The Kansas and Iowa movement, on the whole, is hopeful. It shows that the subject of intemperance is awakening all hearts, and in the right direction. It is our hope that the reaction which must follow will not be so strong the decicion of any leading on earth, many imitations sprung up and begout to steal the notices in which the press and people of the country had expressed the might prohibitory. A New Englander who recently went to the poor-house had been worth more than a hundred thousand dollars, but through his generosity he had dissipated his entire estate and came to want. There are many men of his kind in New York-good hearted fellows, who have helped all their friends who were in trouble and finally found themselves in a position from which there was no one to extricate them. Such a man always seems to have taken to himself the Scriptural command, given specially to one selfish young man who had large pos essions, to sell all he had and give to the poor, although were the Divine Adviser in human form on earth to-day He would probably beg good-hearted men to beware of impoverishing themselves for the benefit of persons who will never help themselves while there is any one else who will help them. In Palestine, in the days of Jesus, the poor were always very poor, and no efforts of their own could help them; but in America the helpless poor are hard to find, except in very large cities or among the hopelessly sick. There are plenty of opportunities for a generous man to do good, but the trouble generally is that the generous man is so good-natured and lazy that he would rather squander a dollar than be sure that a dime given in charity is proposely sure that a dime given in charlty is properly expended. No rich man can judiciously give away his whole substance and bring himself to the poor-house if he tries, no matter how generous he may be.—[N. Y. Herald.

The Railroad Magnate.

THE SPIRIT OF KANSAS is very credulous. It affects to believe every lying report that is circulated about Gov. St. John. The stale and absurd idea that he is owned by the railroads, finds a new version in this squib from THE SPIRIT: "If St. John is not a railroad candidate, it is unfortunate for him that special trains are put at his disposal." Not at all unfortunate. It only shows in what high esteem the prohibitionists of Indiana hold our worthy chief executive. They delight to do him honor by sending over an elegant palace car for his special accommodation. The editor of THE SPIRIT would enjoy such a compliment very much for himself. The only drawback to the enjoyment would be the possibility of having some whisky-skunk lie about him.—[Kansas Prog-

Well, this is good. So the railroad companies lied, did they, when they said that they placed a special car at St. John's disposal. The associated press dispatch said the railroad company tendered him and his company a special car. We confess that we should | Lawrence and to all the old settlers of it and like to be held in so high esteem that such honors would be tendered us, if we could get them honorably. If the terest not only to his own intimate friends, prohibitionists of Indiana tendered that special car then we retract. We are honorable enough to acknowledge ourselves wrong when proven so. But to the incidents of his life, without any comthe last sentence of Elder Peck's editorial is a little sting that we do not like. We have a very distinct recollection of a sermon preached by the elder one Sunday night, when he chose for his text a local item in the Journal giving the law of the land, and the prohibitory law in a retrospect of twenty years of the life of R. W. Ludington. In that sermon Mr. Peck compared the Journal to Judas Iscariot, who betrayed his master for a few pieces of silver, said the paper had sold out for money, etc. Yet in that whole item there was but one reference to the business of liquor selling, and that saying that during the raid a certain number of barrels of whisky belonging to him were burned. Openly, boldly, without any qualification Mr. Peck accused the writer of writing and the paper of publishing that article for money, and contended that we had bartered away our right to Heaven by it. Here is the article which he claimed would condemn us to eternal perdition:

A RETROSPECT.

Yesterday on the door of R. W. Ludington's place of busines hung this card, "Closed till Tuesday." On inquiry we learned that R. W. Ludington had sold out his business to his brother H. H. Ludington, and that the closing was simply to take an inventory of the stock. This set us to looking back over the past.

When did R. W. come here? In 1857. One of the "old guard." We then looked the matter up, and found so much that interested us that we believed our readers would be in terested in a brief synopsis.

The Ludington's are descended from the oldest and staunchest of Puritan stock, and he majority of the old family have taken to ine ministry or the legal profession. Reuben Winchell Ludington came here with his mother Winchell Ludington came here with his mother in 1857, and in a small way commenced busist south of where Sands now has his harness shop. The family lived over the store, the floor of which was of native lumber, and when it seasoned the cracks were so open as to receive everything that happened to drop. Mr. Ludington was successful in business, and on the 1st of Jrnuary, 1863, had stired in his cellar hundreds of barrels of liquors that had cost him thirteen cents a gallon. Nearly every dollar he had in the world was invested in liquors. Quantril came and burned it all. In sixty days after the raid whisky rose to one dollar per gallon. Almost penniless, Mr. Ludington started in again after the raid, and though he has not made money fast his progress has been a steady one.

He built a house on New Hampshire streets near the Bullene place, and the one now occu. pled by Judge Thacher; besides which he own, several business blocks.

The aged and feeble mother when she came here, gradually grew more feeble. First she lost her eyesight and then her mind left her. But her sons stood by her to the last. As long as H. H. kept the hotel she had the best room the house afforded. When that was disposed of she was given pleasant rooms over R. Ws'. store, and the best care and nursing that money and love could give were hers as long as she lived.

R. W. Ludington has been twice Mayor of the city, the most enduring monument of his public service being Oak Hill Cemetery, which was purchased and laid out at his suggestions, and which is now presided over by his cousin. Mr. Wtnchell.

Mr. Ludington has been blessed with three children, all living. Wilber L. lives at Kansas City, Alice is the wife of Samuel Corey of this city, and Angie is Mrs. Judge Foster of To-

Mr. H. H. Ludington has lived here for sixteen years. He commenced in the old Eldridge House before the building was plastered. For years he was proprietor of the hotel which bore his name. He has made a success of every enterprise he has ever laid his hand to and will doubtless do the same now. He has two sons, George and Dewitt, both of whom live in the city.

Mr. G. W. Bowes, who was the editor of the Journal at that time, a strong prohibitionist and now a strong advocate of St. John, said in reply to Mr.

NOT FAIR.

The Rev. A. C. Peck, pastor of the Baptist church in this city, on Sunday evening last, preached a discourse from his pulpit-on the subject of "A Wholesale Liquor Dealer's Record." The theme was suggested by a local notice, which appeared in the Journal of the 14th inst., announcing the retirement from business of Mr. R. W. Ludington. The record of the events transpiring in this city are necessarily circumscribed in its limits, but at al times it forms a most interesting, if not the most interesting, and generally acceptable portion of the reading contained in the morning paper. Mr. Ludington is a gentleman so well known to many of the present citizens of of Douglas county, that the leading facts of his life might be supposed to be of general inmost of whom are readers of the Journal, but to any one who has ever heard of Mr. Ludington. An examination of this little piece of biography will show that it is strictly confined ments one way or the other.

Mr. Peck has stepped outside of the facts to allude to the position of the Journal in a most reprehensible and offensive way. We had supposed that the Journal had so often explained the relation in which it stood toward particular, that no misunderstanding could exist as to its position in any matters in which a regard for law and order were concerned.

First-As to the facts upon which Mr. Peck has founded his charges against the Journal. he says:

"Not long since I read in a popular newspaper, a flattering review of a retired liquor dealer's record. It was highly commendatory of the energy and tact which he had displayed, and congratulatory of his being able to retire in peace and plenty to enjoy the fruits of his business. Now, I did not like that newspaper article. It seemed to me utterly reprehensible and a prostitution of the objects for which a paper ought to be published. It held up a false and delusive picture of success to the community. It commended what was utterly despicable. It concealed from view what if truthfully portrayed would make every person not shamelessly hardened stand aghast with horror and contempt." "Not long since I read in a popular newspa-

Mr. Peck has a number of flings at the Journal in the same vein, but this extract will cover the idea that he wishes to convey. Those who take any interest in this matter will be astonished, in referring to the notice in question, to find how very little there is in it to build up the series of charges upon which Mr. Peck has uttered. How it would be possible for any candid reader to make the inferences which Mr. Peck has drawn, we are utterly at a loss to conceive. Did the facts of Mr. Ludington's coming to Lawrence in 1877, of his a loss to conceive. Did the facts of Mr. Ludington's coming to Lawrence in 1857—of his beginning business here—of the street and place where he did business—of some of the hardships of life in the early days—of the losses he met with at the Quantrel raid—of the efforts he made to repair his losses—of the houses he built—of the positions he occupied by git of the people—warrant any such comments as Mr. Peck has thought fit to make? Was there anything in the relation of how good two boys had been to their mother—of how tender their watchfulness and care had become over her when the weakness of old age came to her—to conceal, because the men were engaged in an obnoxious business? money transactions which no man can gainsay. and there is a lesson of liberal giving for many worthy objects, which no man ought to shut out of view, to be passed to R. W. Ludington's credit, no matter what opinion may be held of busines in which he spent a portion of his

It is unkind in Mr. Peck to allude to the Journal in the way he has done. The facts do not warrant him in making any charge against the Journal. He has distorted a simple record into a glowing and flattering euloglum, and has left the impression upon the minds of his hearers that this eulogium was obtained at a sacrifice of principle upon the part of the Journal, and from the most mercenary of motives. If Mr. Peck had embraced every opportunity which he possesses of commending the course of the Journal when it insisted upon the highest regard being paid to the law of the State, he would have been doing better service to the cause of the right and truth than exaggerating the simple notices of some prai eworthy features in the life of an old settler, into the crime of an abandonment of every dictate of duty and honor, on the part of the Journal.

We still think if St. John 1s not a It is unkind in Mr. Peck to allude to the

We still think if St. John is not a tool of the railroads that it is very unfortunate that he should be placed in such a light as he was by that dispatch, and if the prohibitionists of Indiana paid for that special car we will gladly give the columns of THE SPIRIT to say so. If St. John himself says the railroad company did not furnish it we will accept that as true and print it in letters so bold that he who runs may read.

The Richmond people who have again been buying Confederate bonds doubtless have their motives for the acquisition of this species of property. Throughout his business career Mr. Ludington's word has been as good as his note, and that was good for all that he could possibly be induced to put upon it. He has been a generous helper of all projects of public improvement and contributed liberally to what are termed liberal and benevolent objects. For a year or two he proposes to rest. His family will remain here and most of his own time will be spent in the city; but from actual business Mr. Ludington proposes to rest.

The Stars and Stripes Good Enough for Him.

The ridicule cast upon that new-fangled device-the President's flag-recalls an anecdote concerning bluff old Ironsides Farragut. When Vice-Admiral Porter was in high feather in the Navy Department, during Grant's earlier administration, and had his eye on the possible succession at some day to the chief command of the Navy, he brained out an ensign for the Admiral, who at that time was the here Farragut. The standard was an odd-looking affair, and suggested the British cross of St. George as much as anything. The first time the new flag was raised on shipboard over the head of the old sea-dog—the victor of Mobile and New Orleans—the nondescript color blie and New Orleans—the nondescript color caught his eye at once. Pointing up to the flag, so the story goes, he angrily demanded: "What do you call that gridiron thing up there?" Somebody told him it was the newly devised Admiral's flag.
"Who ordered it to be hoisted?" he again asked. He was informed that Vice-Admiral Ponton had

Dr. B. J. Kendall. & Co., Gents:—I had a very valuable Hambletonian colt which I prized very highly, he had a large bone spayin on one joint and a smaller one on the other which made him very lame; I had him under the charge of two Veterinary Surgeons who failed to cure him. I was one day reading the advertisement of Kendall's Spayin Cure in the Closgo Express, I determined at once to try it, and got our druggists here to sind for it. They ordered three bottles; I took them all and thought I would give it a thorough trial. I used it according to directions, and by the fourth day the colt ceased to be lame, and the lumps had entirely disappeared. I used but one bottle and the colts limbs are as free from lumps and as smooth as any horse in the state. He is entirely cured. The cure was so remarkable that I let two of my neighbors have the remaining two bottles, who are now using it.

St. Albans, Vt., Jan. 20th, 1880.

Dr. B. J. Kendall & Co., Gents:—In reply to vour letter I will say that my experience with 'Kendal's Spavin Cure' has been very satisfactory indeed. Three or four years ago I procured a bottle of your agent. and with it, cured a horse of lameness caused by a spavin. Last season my horse became very lame and I turned him out for a few weeks, when he became better, but when I put him on the road he grew worse, when I discovered that a ringbone was forming, I procured a bottle of Kendall's Spavin Cure and with less than a, bottle cured kim so that he is not lame, neither can the bunch be found.

B. J. Kendall & Co., Gents:—Having got a horse book of you by mail a year ago, the contents of which persuaded me to try Kendall's Spavin Cure on the hind leg of one of my horses which was badly swollen and could not be be reduced by any other remedy. I got two bottles of Kendall's Spavin Cure of Preston & Ludduth, Druggists of Waseca, which completely cured my horse. About five years ago I had a three-year-old colt sweenied very badly I used your remedy as given in your book without roweling, and I must say to your credit that the colt is entirely cured, which is a surprise not only to myself but also to my neighbors. You sent me the book for the trilling sum of 25 cents, and i I could not get another like it I would not take twenty-five dollars for it.

Yours truly,

B. J. Kendall & Co.—Gents: This is to certify that I have used Kendall's Spavin Cure and have found it to be all it is recommended to be, and in fact more too. I have removed by using the above callous, bone spavins, ring-bones, splints, and can cheerfully testify and recommend it to be the best thing for any bony substance I have ever used, and I have tried many as I have made that my study for years.

Respectfully yours,

B. J. Kendall & Co.—Gents: I have tried your Spavin Cure on a chronic case of bone spavin, which has been treated by two of the best doctors in the land. The case was fired twice, and I can safely say that Kendall's Spavin Cure did more good than anything which I ever tried. I believe it to be a good remedy for a great many, difficulties. Ring-bone and bone spavins I am sure itses. Ring-bone and bone spavins I am sure will cure if taken in time. It is also good for scratches, grease heel, etc.

Dr. B. J. Kendall & Co.—Gents: Reading your advertisement in Turf, Field and Farm, of Kendall's Spavin Cure, and having a valuable and speedy have which had, been lame from spaving for eighteen months, I sent to you for a bottle by express, which in six weeks removed all lamewill cure if taken in time. It is also good for scratches, grease heel, etc.

Yours respectfully,

T. B. MUIR.

Dr. J. B. Kendall & Co., Gents:—I have used your "Kendall's Spavin Cure" on a bone spavin and am pleased to report that it has taken the enlargement completely off. It took only one bottle to perform the cure. I am conddent if it is properly used it will do all you claim for it.

Yours truly, C. M. LINCOLN.

TATEMENT MADE UN DER OATH.

To Whom It May Concern:—In the year 1875 1 treated with 'Kendall's Spavin Cure.' a bone spavin of several months' growth, nearly half as large as a hen's egg, and completely stopped the lameness and removed the enlargement. I have worked the horse ever since very hard, and he never has been very lame, nor could I ever see any difference in the size of the hock joints since I treated him with Lendall's Spavin cure.

Dr. B. J. Kendall & Co., Gents:—I think it my duty to render you my thanks for benefits and profits which I have derived from your invaluable and far famed Spavin Cure. My cousin and I had a valuable stallion, worth $4,000, which had a very bad spavin and was pronounsed by four eminent yeterinary surgeons beyond any cure, and that the horse was done for ever. As a last resort I advised my cousin to try a bottle of Kendall's Spavin Cure. It had a magical effect, the third bottle cured it, and the horse is as well as ever. Dr Dick, of Edinburgh, the eminent veterinary surgeon was an uncle of mine, and I take great interesr in assisting his profession.

B. J. Kendall & Co.—Gents: I tried your Kendall's Spavin Cure and it had the desired effect. It cured the spavin, which other treatments had falled to do. I did not use quite one bottle of your liniment. After the spavin was removed I drove the horse and his mate over 500 miles, from Linn county, Iowa, to Harlin county. Nebrasks, with a load of about 2,000 pounds, and made the trip in four weeks. Please send me your Treatise on the Horse, price 25 cents.

KENDAL'S SPAVIN CURE.

ON HUMAN FLESH it has been ascertained by repeated trials to be the very best liniment ever used for any deep seated pain of long standing, or of short duration. Also for Corns, Bunions, Frost-bites, or any bruise, cut or lameness. Some are afraid to use it on human flesh simply because it is a horse medicine, but you should remember that what is good for Beast is good for Man, and we know from experience that "KENDALL'S SPAVIN CURE" can be used on a child 1 year old with perfect safety. Its effects are wonderful on human flesh, and it does not blister or make a sore. Try it and be convinced. and it does not blister or make a sore. Try it and be convinced.

B. J., Kendall, M. D.—Dear Sir: The particular case on which I used your, 'Kendall's Spavin Cure,' was a malignant ankle sprain of sixteen months standing, I had tried many things, but in vain. Your 'Kendall's Spavin Cure' put the foot to the ground again, and, for the first time since hurt, in a natural position. For a family liniment it excells anything we ever used.

B. J. Kendall & Co.—Gents: I wish to add my testimony in favor of your invaluable liniment. "Kendall's Spavin Cure." In the spring of 1873 I slipped on the ice and sprained my right limb the knee joint. I was very lame, and at time suffered the most excruciating pain. I wore a bandage on it for over a year, and tried most everything in my reach, but could find nothing that would give me permanent relief. When I a overworked, it would pain me very much. In April, 1878, I began to think I should be a cripple of for life, but having some of "Kendall's Spavin Cure" thought I would try it. I used one-third of a bottle and experienced relief at once. The pain left me and has not troubled me since. I feel very grateful to you, and would recommend "Kendall's Spavin Cure" te all who suffer with sprains or rheumatism.

Yourstruly, MRS. J. BOUTELL.

KENDALL'S SPAVIN CURE.

Kendall's Spavin Cure is sure in its effects, mild in its action as it does not blister, yet it is penetrating and powerful to reach any deep-seated pain, or to remove any bony growth or any other enlargement if used for several days, such as spavins, splints, curbs, callous, sprains, swellings, any lameness and all enlargements of the joints or limbs, or rheumatism in man, and for any purpose for which a limment is used for man orbeast. It is now known to be the best limment for man everused acting mild and yet certain in its effects. It is used full strength with perfect safety at all seasons of the year.

The American Trotting Horse.

One of the material evidences of our advancing civilization is found in the greater improvement and more extensive use of the 'light harness horse. Blood, and form and size and action have been the objective points of breeding him, till now he begins to assume a type of standard excellence. Especially does this superiority obtain power of the English Thoroughbred, equally well placed for his peculiar courage and stout-hearted capacity of the Hunter; the docility of the Nedjid Arabian; the tractable patience of the hardy Canadias, and the enduring wear and tear of the pouderous Percheron.

To-day the American trotting horse, among the various breeds of horses, stands out as the best horse for all practical purposes combined on the face of the globe.—[Cor. National Live-Stock Journal, Chicago.

Danger of Removing Cattle to Het Climates.

It is never safe to send an animal of the bovine species which is over one year old from a cold to a hot climate. It should always be in a thin condition and shipped the latter part of autumn, when the weather will be the coolest on its arrival at the port of destination. and as the following spring opens it will get gradually accustomed to the

He cultivated the corn latter are often as injurious as the in a manner that would be a credit to the best former. It should be watered from a pure source all it will drink, five times a day, and be only moderately fed. It might be taken out for exercise for half an hour or more just before sundown, and again before suurise.

Rock salt should be constantly kept in its feedbox, for it to lick at pleasure, and a half to a full, heaped tablespoontul of sulphur, according to size and age, and twice as much pure wood ashes given it, once or twice a week. If these last two be mixed with a little bran or meal, the animal will take them readily.—[Cor. National Live Stock Journal, Chicago.

A Poultry House.

"How, when and where shall we go to work to build us a poultry house?" is an old refrain to the song, "We want to keep poultry right off." And we are expected to be able to stand up and give a satisfactory reply under any and all conditions. A person about to build should, if possible, observe and investigate some fowl house already eracted that gives its owner satisfaction, and by practical consultation with some one near at hand can learn much more than one who knows nothing of his situation can inform him. A few general hints, how ever, may also be given.

For aspect, the glazed front should face the east and south. This affords you the sun's rays from the earliest morning, to late afternoon, as a rule, and it is the early hours of sunlight and warmth that fowls mostly covet in winter and chilly spring time. The glazing should be entire, upon one or two sides of the house, whatever may be its size or length. If the sashes are tightly placed, it is amply protective as a wall, upon these two warm sides, while the first cost is no more than ceiling or battens, and clapboarding. The birds will enjoy both the light and the warmth thus atforded them; and it the other two walls are banked up, or are made impervious to wind and weather by a double boarding (four inches between the inner and outer walls), packed to the eves with straw daubed with coal tar to keep off virmin, you may thus have a cheap, comfortable house that your early spring chickens will thrive in, and your adult birds will appreciate from December to April.-Am. Horse-Shoeing of the Ancients.

The Eastern nations, especially the Circassians, clamped to their horses' feet circular shoes. The clamps extended beyond the web, and were bent upward, so as to press against the wall. A strange phenomenon, partaking of the miraculous, occurred about a mile west of Mound City on the Blue Mound road, last week. A man, name unknown, rode under a large oak tree to shelter from the shower. As he sat on his horse, with the animal's head near the tree, a stroke of lightning shivered the top and passed down the trunk on the side towards the horse and rider, tearing out a wide belt to the ground. The horse was instantly killed, while the man escaped with a very light shock.

A Young Girl Takes Poison on the Union Pacific Train.

Emma Pierce, who some time ago was a waitress in the California restaurant, North-Topeka, took poison last evening while on her return from Lawrence, on the evening train. She had requested a young man to bring her a drink of water, which he did. When she drank it she took a white powder, telling him that it was quinine. In a few moments she was seized with spasms, and it soon became evident that she had taken poison. When the train arrived at the ucp.

The train stopped so short a time in Grantville that no physician could be found, and a telegram was sent to Topeka for one to be at the depot on the arrival of the train. The case is wrapped in considerable mystery, but rumor has it that a certain young man is at the bottom of the terrible act.

About four o'clock last Friday morning, a man and waman stopped at the Kaw Valley House, kept by Mr, E. M. Pike, in North Lawrence, where the man registered himself and the woman as P. A. The woman complaining of being sick, did not eat her dinner at the regular time, but ate it atterwards.

During the afternoon she bought a dime's worth of strychnine at George M. Lindley's drug store in North Lawrence, saying she wanted it to kill rats. The strychnine was labelled with a red-bordered label, with the word "poison" prin, ed on it, and also having the skull and cross bones on the left-hand margin. She had some pictures of herself taken at the iron gallery in Lawrence in the afternoon, selling, it is said, her long glossy hair to get the money to pay for them. THE BLUE RIBBON FOR KANSAS, The Blue Ribbon Won by the Exhibit of Kansas Products at the Minn-sota State Fair at Minneapolis, Minn.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Sept. 8. Immense crowds of people visited the Fair grounds to-day, and the exhibit of Kansas is still the great attraction in the Agricultural Hall. The committee to award the special premiums offered by the Association for the best and most tastefully arranged exhibit of agricultural products made by any corporation, to-day made their report, giving the prize to the exhibit of the products of Kansas under the auspices of the Kansas Land Department of the Union Pacific Railroad. Below I give the report of the committee. Kansas has certainly a reason to feel proud of receiving this premium, which consists of

A DIPLOMA AND A BEAUTIFULLY ENGRAVED MEDAL, for she had four strong competitors; it is acknowled by every one the finest display of agricultural products ever made by the Northwest country-Minnesota, Dakota, Montana, Idaho and Manitoba-and the prize received was well earned.—[Chicago Tribune.

REPORT OF THE JURY.

Office of Minnesota Agricultural and Mechanical Association, Minneapolis, Minn , Sept. 8, 1882. We, the undersigned committee, appointed to award the special premiums offered by this association for the best and most tastefully arranged display made by any corporation, desire to make the following report:

For this premium there were four entries, viz: The Northern Pacific Railroad, the St. Paul, Minneapolis & St. Louis Railway, and the Kansas Division of the Union Pacific Railway.

After a careful examination of the displays made by these roads, it is the unantmous opin-tion of this committee that the premium be awarded to the Kansas Division of the Union Pacific Railway on the following grounds:

The display shows the greatest variety of grains, both shelled and in the stalk, fruit, vegetables, wood, and stone, AND OF A BETTER QUALITY THAN ANY OF THE OTHER EXHIBITS:

it is also the best, most artistically arranged. it is also the best, most artistically arranged, and unique of any shown.

We also desire to commend especially the excellent quality of the fifteen samples of wheat shown, both shelled and in the stalk, particularly a sample of Russian wheat which yielded sixty-one bushels per acre.

The exhibit of corn is also especially fine, samples being shown in the stalk measuring sixteen feet in height, with large well-developed ears from twelve to fourteen inches in length.

veloped ears from twelve to fourteen inches in length.

The display also embraces samples of broom corn twenty feet high, sorghum eighteen feet high, rice corn, rye, barley, oats, and sixty-five varieties of grasses.

The fruit and vegetable department of this exhibit shows thirty varieties of apples, ten of peaches, thirteen of grapes, three of pears, Irish potatoes, sweet potatoes, tomatoes, onions, string-beans, squash, watermelon, pumpkins, rhubarb, cantelopes, carrots, white beans, etc., all of unusual size and good quality.

A feature of the display is the twelve varieties of wood and nine of stone, marble and coal.

In making this award we feel that it is richly deserved, and that the display reflects great credit on the Land Department of the Ransas Division of the Union Pacific Railway and the gentleman who arranged and has charge of it.

tables and fruit that set the heart of the gran-ger into a pulpitation, and draw from oulook-ers generally exclammations of surprise and delight. Said an old farmer who had been gazing on the exhibit in mute admiration for fitten minutes: "If a man can raise such-crops as that in Kansas I want to get there as soon as possible. Why, that is as good wheat as can be raised in Minnesota or Dakota. And look at that corn and oats! and as for fruit and look at that corn and oats! and as for fruit and garden truck, we can't touch Kansas. I tell you what's the matter—I think we are a trifle teo far north for real success in general farming. We can raise as good small grains as anybody, but I want to live in a country where we can have fruit to go along with it, and where a man hasn't got to pitch hay at his stock nine months in the year." It is certainly a magnificent display, and will open many eyes in Minnesota to the possibilities of agriculture in Kansas.

A mark was then carved upon some rock or tree near by, as a remembrance of the compact. Such a thing as a breach of contract was rarely met with, so highly did the people regard their honor.

When the march of improvement brought the new mode of doing business, they were often pained by these innovations. An anecdote is handed down of a farmer who had been to the Lowlands and learned worldly wisdom. On returning to his native parish he had need of a sum of money, and made bold to ask a loan from a gentleman of means named Stewart. This was kindly granted, and Mr. Stewart counted out the gold. This done, the farmer wrote a receipt and handed it to him.

The church members are now holding a camp-meeting near Wleatand. One of the ministers who addresses the meetings is the Rev. Mr. Strobel, of San Francisco. At a recent | rail. meeting a man asked him if he would not pray for him. Mr. Strobel kindly complied. Then the stranger requested him to come with him to a secluded part of the camp, where he said he had a sister and a brother for whose salva-tion he desired prayers to be offered. Mr. Strobell again granted the request. When they had reached the place the man leveled a revolver at Mr. Strobel's head and said: "Throw up your hands." Mr. Strobel threw up his hands swiftly and was then robbed of his watch and chain and all his money. At last accounts the church members were in hot pursuit of the robber.

Chalk and perseverance are the means by which a Middlefield, Mass., man hopes to collect a long since overdue debt. The man who owes it to him is a deacon, and likewise a stage-driver. Every day or two the creditor sallies out, chalk in hand and perseverance in heart, and adorus the barns, fences, rocks and other objects along the stage route with such inscriptions as: "Lying lips are an abomination to the Lord; but they that deal truly are His delight"; "Do not say that you have paid a debt when you have not even paid the interest on it"; "Over $1,000 due and not paid yet"; and so forth. Then the passengers ask the stagedriver deacon what these things mean; which is not calculated to lull him into forgetfulness of his debt. One day, recently, the chalk-wielding creditor scored a center shot. The descon had been talking in church about brotherly love, and next morning the fences and barns were eloquent with: "Give us more brotherly love—and pay your debts": "Let brotherly love prevail— but pay your debts." The pastor has been trying to arbitrate the matter, but with little success. The deacon admits owing the money, but hesitates to settle; and the other says he will continue his "black-board exercises" until he gets his money or exhausts the chalk market.

The new fiscal year thus far continnes the story begun in the old, of a great decrease of merchandise imports. lions excess of exports over imports; The difference is twenty-two millions for this period of one month. Still more striking does the result become on taking together many months. During the twelve months prior to Aug. 1, 1881, the excess of merchandise exports was more than a quarter of a billion dollars; but during the seven months with a fervor that cannot otherwise be prior to Aug. 1, 1882, the excess of mercandise imports was more than fifty millions. Large crops of all kinds and a good foreign demand for them will be needed to check and reverse this tendency during the present fiscal

A beautiful painting has been discovered in the ruins of Pompeii. It represents the Judgment of Solomon, and is said to be the first picture on a sacred subject that has been discovered in the buried cities. A correspondent describing the picture says: "On a dais sits a king holding a sceptre and robed in white. On each side of him sits a counselor and behind them six soldiers under arms. The king is leaning over the front of the dais toward a woman in green robe, who kneels be-fore him with disheveled hair and out-stretched hands. In the center is a three-legged table, like a butcher's block, upon which lies an infant who is held in a recumbent position in spite "It's a receipt, sir, binding me to give ye of his struggles by a woman wearing a turban. A soldier in armor and wearing a helmet with a long red plume holds the legs of the infant and is about to cleave it in two with his falchion. The agony of the kneeling mother, the attention of the listening king and the triumph of the second woman, who gloats over the division of the child, are all manifest."

Mrs. Hunter was carrying two bundles aboard the day boat for Albany, in this city, when Mr. Snider kindly relieved her of half the burden. On deck they sat down together, and as Mr. George Fricker, superintendent of the they sailed up the Hudson they rapidly Southwestern Stage Co., states, that he has grew well acquainted, though previused Leis' Dandelion Tonic whenever he has ously total strangers. Sol. Miller's Candidate.

Sol. Miller states that it is his present impression that he will vote for ex-Governor Rebinson for Governor, as the ablest and best man in the race, and who, while a man of strictest temperance and morality, yet believes in the largest political, religious and perhe cares nothing for the platform that nominated him; his record and outspoken sentiments are better than any platform.

This declaration from the veteran Kansas editor only affords another instance of the correctness of the view taken by The Times of the blunder committed by the Democratic State convention.

There were thousands of Republicans who would not have voted for Gov. St. John had the Democrats endorsed Hon. Charles Robinson's nomination, because they would have thought with some reason that the former could be defeated. As matters now are, the nomination of Mr. Glick by the Democrats destroys any such hope, and there will only be a few who, like Sol. Miller, will throw their votes away.

The Democrats lost their opportunity, and paved the way for the re-election of Gov. St. John by the customary large Republican majority-indeed, it looks as if it would be even larger than in the past. The Demo-cratic leaders, however, had it in their minds that they must stick to the same old ruts in which they have been running for the past fifty years, in order to be able to show a clean record of party fealty in event the Democracy should at any time in the near future come into national power. There would be a new division of the federal offices then, and the fellows out this way want to have an equal chance with the rest.—[Leav. Times.

The Salina Herald says: "For a long time five or six beer-storing establishments have been running in Salina, doing a large business. and the county attorney has decided to make a test case of them, to see whether or not they are violating the prohibitory law. The plan they are working on is about this: A man wants some beer. He has it sent for, and kept upon ice at one of these places, and pays so much for the trouble and storage. He does not buy it here, but has it shipped from the east to the care of the man who is to keep it cool and give it to him on demand. The person who keeps the beer on ice only make a profit on its storage, so it is claimed. Each person who keeps beer at these places is given a card or ticket with numbers representing the number of bottles in store, and the numbers are punched out as the owner draws on his

We are in receipt of the September issue of this popular journal, and find it as formerly, sparkling with life, variety, and interest. The "Pass of Splugen," "The Blue Juniata," "Moonlight in the Forest," and "Carriage House and Stable," are fine illustrations. "Our Puzzle Nook" and "Honor's Debt" are continued and are growing in interest. The editorials are short, to the point, and spirited. while Jay Hubbell gets a ventilation in words of fearless dignity. A Step Forward.

The Prairie Farmer, one of the most valued of our exchanges, comes to us under the name of the People's Illustrated Weekly and Prairie Farmer, and changed in form to sixteen pages The illustrations are profuse and elegant, the reading matter most varied and interesting, consisting of stories, sketches, humor, news, and editorials on agriculture, horticulture, and current topics. It will undoubtedly commend itself more than ever to the intelligent public. While in size, illustrations, and reading, it is abreast with periodicals selling at $4.00 per year, the price remains at $2.00 per year, or five cents per copy. On leaving the parental roof to make a car journey to the far west, the father took the son aside and gave him, besides a check, this advice which goes to show that the old gentleman possessed a level head: "You are going west, John, to cast your common lot with the industry of the country. Do nothing which you would be ashamed to have come back here to us; and above all take the county paper and see that it is paid for once a year, for next to a clear conscience for solid comfort, comes the county paper, full to the brim with local and general news, markets, and now and then a warning against signing receipts when presented by strangers.

BARB FENGE WIRE

A. HENLEY, MANAGER AND PROPRIETOR. LAWRENCE, This wire is now the most popu ar one in Kansas. See that the name "Henley Wire" is on.

The sensational statement is made by Foreman Dickson, of the star route jury, that somebody connected with the Department of Justice offered him twenty-five thousand dollars to vote for the conviction of Brady and ex-Senator Dorsey, while offers of only two and three hundred dollars were made to the other jurors. This bribery business must be probed to the bottom and the guilty parties exposed and punished whether acting in the interest of the prosecution or the defence, whether trying to buy a verdict of guilty or one of acquittal. But Mr. Dickson's story is not only highly improbable, but it is very suspicious, especially in view of the fact that he is pecially in view of the fact that he is one of the two or three who stood out for the acquital of Brady and Dorsey on every ballot from first to last. To suppose that the government has undertaken to influence the verdict improperly is absurd. The charge that the defence has attempted to bribe the jury is entirely probable. What Mr. Dickson relates has every appearance of being a "put up job," cunningly designed for a special purpose. A thorough investigation of the matter is likely to damage, not the prosecution, but the defence.—[N. Y. Herald.

Sedgwick Steel Wire Fence

Is the only general purpose Wire Fence in use, being a Strong Net-Work Without Barbs. It will turn dogs, pigs, sheep, and poultry, as well as the most vicious stock, without injury to either fence or stock. It is just the fence for farms, gardens, stock ranges and railroads, and very neaf for lawns, parks, school lots and cemeteries. Covered with rust-proof paint (or galvanized) it will last a life-time. It is Superior to Boards or Barbed Wire in every respect. We sak for it a fair trial, knowing it will wear itself into favor. The Seedgwick Giates, made of wroughtiron pipe and steel wire, dety all competition in nextness, strength and durability. We also make the best and cheapest All Iron Automatic or Self-Opening Gate, although a strength and the strength of the self-weak of
