

December 23, 1969

Mrs. Lynn Hendrixson and her 2-year old son Darrin from Delphos cut down their tree. They had previously picked out this tree and placed a tag on it with their name.

"Stump culture" is not the usual method for growing trees, but sometimes it works. When the original tree was cut down, one small branch was left on the stump. This was staked and grew into a normal tree. The second tree was removed and now Chambers is trying for the third tree.

Although Kansas is noted for wheat, corn, alfalfa, and feed grains there are many "specialty" crops in the state which add variety to the farm scene. One of these is Christmas trees. There are over 50 Christmas tree farms in the state. Howard Chambers, post-master of Minneapolis, operates one of these farms near Minneapolis. Chambers first planted trees in 1959. Last year he set out 1300 seedlings six to eight inches high. His first sale from this plot was in 1966. He established a second plot in 1965 with 2192 plants. A few trees have been planted each year since then. Chambers now has three and one-half acres in trees. Starting next year he will have 500 trees of four to five foot height available each year.

Besides the usual farm chores of planting and cultivating, Christmas trees are sheared to properly shape them. They have to be sprayed for blight and insects. Rabbits are also a problem to the young trees. Another operation started in recent years is the "greenzit" program. Scotch pines have a tendency to turn slightly brown in the winter so now they are sprayed with a pigment in the field to keep them a bright green.

Scotch and Austrian pine are the favorites for Christmas trees, although he has experimented with other varieties. Trees are sold on the honor system. Customers come to the farm and pick out the tree they want and tag it with their name. When they want it, they come back and cut it down; which of course, is the old traditional way in true Christmas spirit. Chambers belongs to the Kansas Tree Growers Association. Each year he gives away about a dozen trees to churches, hospitals, and a few needy families and this is THE true Christmas spirit.

Flaw In Gun Control Law Lets Guns In

About the same number of cheap revolvers and pistols are available today as before enactment of the federal gun control law, which became effective one year ago.

The chief reason is that importers and manufacturers are cashing in on a loophole unrecognized until recently by even the law's chief congressional sponsor.

The law halted the imports of the small caliber, $10 to $20 handguns of the type police call "Saturday night specials." These cheap handguns are used in half the crimes involving guns, the National Commission on Violence said.

But under the law a gun is not a gun until the parts are assembled. Except for the frame, which must be fabricated in the United States, all other parts can be imported. Even 2-inch barrels can be imported by the thousands, although a single assembled gun with a 2-inch barrel can not.

Parts for 408,000 weapons have been imported in the past year for assembly in U. S. plants, the Treasury Department said. In addition companies have tooled up and made 380,000 of the cheap handguns entirely with U. S. produced parts — a practice allowed under the law.

There have been 325,373 handguns imported in the past year, all of the more expensive weapons exempt from the import ban. This compares with 1,155,368 handguns — both cheap and expensive — imported in 1968. Of the 1968 imports, 317,703, with an average value of $13, were ordered in a two-week period when it became apparent Congress would pass gun-control legislation.

Are Tax Protest Groups Serious?

The taxpayers' protest is spreading in Kansas.

Representatives of the Cowley

County Taxpayers Association plan to have a group on hand at the courthouse in Winfield to provide taxpayers with legal counsel and advice to those who wish to pay taxes under protest. Association members said they will distribute forms to those who wish to protest their 1970 property taxes.

The Cowley County group was formed at a weekend meeting and Floyd Reeves of Dexter was elected president.

The association agreed it should merge with a similar organization formed in Arkansas City.

More than 100 persons attended a meeting of the Montgomery County Taxpayers Assn., in Independence. They voted to withhold payment of their 1969 real estate taxes to protest tax increases.

Association Chairman A. P. Wildgrube of Coffeyville said the organization has recommended that all real estate property owners in the county withhold payment of their 1969 property taxes.

Another group — the Haskell County Taxpayers Assn. — voted to withhold the first half of their 1969 real estate taxes to protest what they say is an excessive tax load on real estate.

About 50 members of the group made the decision at a meeting at the courthouse in Sublette. The association plans to ask all landowners in the county to join in the tax withholding movement.

4 of 10 Farm Deaths From Machinery Slips

Persons under 20 and over 45 years share the greatest risk of being killed in farm machinery accidents, according to an Agriculture Department safety analysis.

The study was based on the 2183 farm fatalities in 1967. The total itself was 18 more than in 1966 despite a decline of 720,000 persons in the U.S. farm population, the report said.

Farm machine accidents killed 912 persons during the year, or about four out of 10 fatalities. Many of these were accidents in which tractors upset and crushed the operators.

Drownings and firearm mishaps claimed three of every 10 lives lost on farms in 1967, and falls, blows, burns, and other accidents killed another three of every 10.

"Youngsters between the ages of 10 and 20 accounted for nearly 21 percent of all accidental deaths," the report said. "Fatalities for those between 25 and 35 were only six percent of the total."

Accidents increased "significantly" after age 50 and continued high for older people despite their declining numbers and reduced farm activity.

The Corn Belt had more on-farm fatalities in 1967 than any other region, and the mountain states had the fewest, the report said. However, when compared with the number of people living on farms, the mountain regions had the highest rate — 28.9 per 100,000 persons — while the delta states had the lowest rates — 15.2 per 100,000, the report said.

Salina Plugs Its Parking Meters

SALINA — After February 1, you won't have to put a nickel into the parking meters around downtown Salina.

The city commission there approved a proposal from downtown businessmen to try free parking for six months in hopes of increasing business downtown.

A business group, led by clothier Dan Stevenson, maintained the meters are driving customers to outlying shopping centers where parking is free.

Voting for the proposal were commissioners Carl Rundquist, William Yost and Bob Caldwell. Casting a dissenting vote was Leon Ashton.

Mayor Don Millikan did not express an opinion. He votes only when a tie must be broken.

Under the ordinance, free parking would be allowed throughout the downtown area. Some parking stalls, however, would be limited to two hours and others to 15 or 12 minutes, depending upon location.

The fine for overparking would be increased from 50 cents to $1. If not paid within 24 hours, the fine would be $2. If a warrant were issued, the fine would be $5.

Mayor Millikan said the provision for six months is a "gentleman's agreement." The ordinance will not mention the six months, he said.

"If at the end of six months — or even less — the idea doesn't work, then we will repeal or amend the ordinance," he said.

The commissioners were asked what criteria have been established for determining the success or failure of the free parking proposal. "We're hard put for an answer," Millikan said. "It will have to be a matter of judgment."

One commissioner added, "If it doesn't work, I'm sure the downtown merchants will holler and let us know."

The parking meters will not be removed during the trial period. Each will have a decal affixed to it, specifying the time parking is permitted.

Canadian Wheat To Russia Less Than Figured

Canada has negotiated a contract to sell Russia 3,430,000 tons of wheat (about 130 million bushels), valued at more than $130 million.

This is the remaining portion of a Canadian-Russian wheat deal negotiated in 1966.

Shipments of the grain will start immediately, and Canadian officials hope most of these will be completed before the end of the current crop year, next July 31.

A Canadian official announced 73.4 million bushels of wheat would go to Russian ports, of which the equivalent of 9.5 million bushels of wheat in the form of flour would be delivered to Cuba.

The official said Russia will endeavor to make arrangements for the remaining wheat as soon as possible.

The official said the delivery program insures a good movement of wheat to West Coast and East Coast ports, including Halifax and St. John, throughout the winter. In fact, he said, a number of vessels are presently proceeding to St. Lawrence ports and will be loading before the end of this month.

The Canadian Wheat Board, in anticipation of the sale, had halted sales of Nos. 2, 3 and 4 grades of Canadian wheat from the ports of St. John and Halifax.

The amount involved in the contract was much less than some traders had expected. There was buying of wheat in Chicago, which was generated by rumors that the volume would exceed the amount left open in the contract. Following news of the sale, wheat prices plummeted.

Argentina Again Out As Wheat Salesman

Argentina may be temporarily sidelined from the world's wheat exporting team for another season because of below-normal production during 1969-70, says the Agriculture Department.

In the past, Argentina has ranked with the United States, Canada, European Common Market, and Australia as a leading wheat exporter. But a short crop last season forced the Argentines to import wheat for domestic use so they could meet export commitments.

The Foreign Agricultural Service said in a report that "imports may be necessary again in 1970 if the government continues its policy of supplying its usual South American export markets."

Outlook for Argentina's current wheat crop has diminished because of early season drought and insect damage, the report said.

Some Borrowers Look To Loans On Life Insurance Policies

Owners of life insurance are borrowing heavily against their policies at a time when loans from other sources command record high interest rates and often are hard to obtain.

Interest rates on policy loans in most states are about 5 percent. So money obtained through them is the cheapest available.

Loans can be obtained on straight life, limited pay and endowment policies. Loans are not permitted on term insurance. On straight life policies the holder pays premiums throughout his life. Premiums on limited pay policies are paid for a specified number of years. The holder of an endowment policy pays premiums for a certain number of years and then received the full value.

Borrowings against life policies can go as high as 95 percent of the cash value, or the amount that has been paid in by the policyholder. There is no required period for holding a policy before a loan can be obtained but the newer the policy the smaller its loan value.

Insurance companies generally do not encourage such borrowing because it means they must lend out at 5 percent the same money they could invest elsewhere at a higher yield.

During the current period of tight money supplies, mortgage interest rates have risen to 8½ percent and more, and personal loans at banks have gone to around 12 percent.

Thus a person who borrows on his insurance policy can save a considerable amount of interest.

While about half of the states limit such rates by law to 6 percent, competition holds them to around 5 percent because the dominant New York insurance companies are limited by law to a 5 percent rate, according to a spokesman for the institute.

The Institute of Life Insurance reports that policy loans made in September, the latest month for which figures are available — totaled 385 million dollars, up from 220 million in September 1968.

Total policy loans in force in September amounted to 13.17 billion dollars — 6 percent of the insurance industry's total assets — compared with 11.04 billion a year earlier.

Such loans reached a high of 45.2 percent of assets in the depression year of 1935. The low point was 3.8 percent in 1950.

Business firms have found that they can raise money readily and cheaply by borrowing against company-paid policies covering their executives.

A borrower on a policy can choose to repay neither the amount of the loan nor the interest. But the interest would continue to accumulate and at the time of his death the amount of the interest and the loan would be subtracted from the total value of the policy.

Life insurance in force in the nation at the end of 1968 totaled 1.18 trillion dollars, having risen from 900.5 billion in 1965, 984.6 billion in 1966, and 1.08 trillion in 1967.

The approximately 1700 U.S. life insurance companies have about 130 million policyholders.

sociation have recommended reduction in appraised values of agricultural land.

They said they recommended those responsible for establishing property values for tax purposes re-evaluate agricultural lands in Southwest Kansas at 10 percent or more below present levels.

Declining prices in recent sales were given as prime reason for the request. The board endorsed use of net income potential as a major consideration in re-evaluation.

Delegates named to represent the association on the 1970 board of directors of the state organization are Dale Wilson and Bill Annis, Ulysses; Calvin Edling, Ensign; James Ford, Hugoton; Ray Trostle, Johnson, and Kim Clawson and Bayne Foster, Sallanta.

Annual meeting of the association has been set for Jan. 17, Ulysses.

Mrs. Stewart Earhart Of Hollenberg Wins Prize

Winner of the Pyrex container this week is Mrs. Stewart Earhart of Hollenberg. "This is a dessert my family looks forward to and is one of the few ways they will eat cranberries," writes Mrs. Earhart. "I always look forward to 'Our Daily Bread' for those recipes that add interest to our duty of family cooking."

CRANBERRY SQUARES

2 cups ground cranberries
1 large banana, sliced
1 cup miniature marshmallows
3/4 cup sugar
2 cups vanilla wafer crumbs
1 cup powdered sugar
1/2 cup chopped nuts
1/2 cup soft margarine
1 cup whipped cream or prepare 1 package Dream Whip
Combine first 4 ingredients and set aside. Then combine crumbs, powdered sugar and nuts. Blend in soft margarine. Reserve 1/2 cup of crumb mixture. Pat remaining crumb mixture into a buttered 8x8 inch pan. Spread with cranberry mixture, then top with the whipped cream. Sprinkle on the remaining crumbs. Chill thoroughly before serving.

Mrs. Elsie Gabrielson, Onaga, sent this recipe:

SAVORY ROAST BEEF

13 pound chuck roast
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 teaspoon sugar
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1 teaspoon rosemary
1/2 teaspoon thyme
1/4 cup chopped onion
2 1/2 cups pineapple juice
Cut slits in roast and fill with lemon juice. Let set overnight. Flour roast, mix dry ingredients and sprinkle over roast. Add onions and pineapple juice. Bake at 325 degrees for 2 1/2 hours, or until tender. The secret of a good beef roast, whether chuck or standing rib, is to roast it slowly in a low oven, never over 325 degrees, using a meat thermometer for the desired doneness, according to directions.

Mrs. Cleo A. Schultz, R1, Alma: "I wish more recipes of soups or stews would come out in the paper, especially in winter. Here is a different one from Nw Zealand."

LEMON & PASTA SOUP

2 pints boiling water
5 tablespoons instant chicken stock

1 carrot, grated (4 to 6 ounces)
1 onion, finely sliced
2 teaspoons salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
Vermicelli, broken 2 to 3 oz.
1 egg, beaten slightly
Lemon juice of 1 lemon

Dissolve chicken stock in boiling water. Add the onion and carrot. Simmer 20 minutes. Remove from heat. Strain and add salt & pepper to taste. Add vermicelli and cook rapidly for ten minutes 'til tender. Just before serving remove some of the soup and add to beaten egg in separate bowl. Pour this through a sieve and back into saucepan. Stir. Remove from heat and add lemon juice. Taste to adjust seasonings and serve, parsley garnish.

The following recipe is from Mrs. Tom Hartloff, Alta Vista:

NUTTY FRUITCAKE

2 envelopes Dream Whip
1 tablespoon instant coffee
1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
1/4 teaspoon nutmeg

1/4 teaspoon ground cloves
1 cup cold milk
1 teaspoon vanilla
1/2 teaspoon rum extract
1 1/2 cups mincemeat
3/4 cup chopped nuts
3/4 cup halved candied cherries
Combine Dream Whip, instant coffee, cinnamon, nutmeg and ground cloves in deep, narrow-bottomed bowl. Add milk, vanilla and rum extract. Blend. When fully whipped, fold in mincemeat, nuts and candied cherries. Freeze cake for at least 24 hours in an 8x4-inch loaf pan lined with waxed paper. Unmold and garnish with whipped topping if desired. Serves ten.

Mrs. Karl Stock, Oketo: "This is a real good candy recipe."

NOUGAT LOAF CANDY

5 cups white sugar
1 cup white corn syrup
1 cup boiling water
Stir all together in large kettle and cook until it threads. Have ready the whites of 5 eggs, beaten to a stiff froth. Pour over them one third of the above syrup and beat (use large crock or container for eggs). Return syrup to heat and cook until it forms soft ball and pour another third over the egg whites and continue heating. Cook the last third of syrup until it is brittle and add to eggs. Flavor with vanilla and add 1 cup nuts (black or English wa'nuts), chopped. It takes two people to make this, one to keep beating the egg whites while one cooks syrup and pours the three times. Pour into flat containers that are rinsed out with cold water. When cold enough, cut into small squares. This makes a large batch but is really good. Be certain to cover candy so that it doesn't dry out.

Mrs. Von Schanefelt, R 3, Abilene: "I am sending a recipe which I have made up but which we and a'l who have eaten it like very much. I call it:"

OH SO GOOD RICE

1/2 cup chopped onion
1/2 cup chopped celery
1/4 cup butter
4 cups chicken broth
1 cup uncooked rice (not minute rice)
1/4 teaspoon pepper
salt to taste (as some chicken broth is more salty than others)

Cook the onion and celery in the butter over low heat for about ten minutes. Add remaining ingredients and bring to a boil.

Cook slowly for 30-35 minutes. Chopped pimiento can be added for color. "I sometimes add chopped mushrooms for variation and I serve this dish in place of potatoes. This can be made up, put in a casserole and frozen. It can then be reheated in a moderate oven."

Mrs. G. R. Banks, Wamego, describes her recipe as being "very creamy and will keep a number of weeks."

FRENCH CREAM BAR

Cook 3 pounds granulated sugar, 2 cups corn syrup, 1 cup cream together to form a soft ball. Stir till cool, then add 1 pound walnuts, 1 pound dates, 1 pound brazil nuts, all chopped coarsely. Who'e candied cherries may be added. Pack mixture in oiled pan. Cover with waxed paper and slice as needed.

Mrs. Ione Knitter, R 1, Chiles Center, sent the recipe below:

NEVER FAIL

PEANUT BUTTER FUDGE
2 cups sugar
3/4 cup milk
Boil to a soft ball stage, then stir in:
1 jar marshmallow creme (5 ounce)
1 cup peanut butter
1 teaspoon vanilla

tor until firm. Remove from refrigerator and cut into 1/4 inch squares. For cake frosting add more cream. For ice cream topping add even more cream than for cake frosting. For chocolate mints, omit vanilla and add 1/4 teaspoon oil of peppermint. These candy squares can also be dipped in chocolate for chocolate covered candies. For dipping chocolate, you can use candy bars or a softer chocolate, not the plain hard chocolate.

Nellie R. Barry, R. 3, Concordia: "This pie has won me three prizes as well as many 'ohs' and 'ahs.'"

RHUBARB RASPBERRY PIE

2 cups rhubarb
1 cup raspberries (fresh or frozen)
1 cup sugar
1 teaspoon butter
2 1/2 tablespoons tapioca

Mix ingredients in order given. Let stand 15 minutes. Prepare favorite pastry for a two-crust, 9-inch pie. Fill unbaked pie shell with the well mixed fruit filling. Add top crust and bake at 400 degrees for 15 minutes; finish baking at 350 degrees for 45 minutes.

Mrs. Dwight Sperry, R. 1, Beverly: "We certainly enjoy your Grass & Grain paper. I would like to enter the following salad recipe in the contest. Our family enjoys it and I am sure you will too."

CRANBERRY SALAD

Grind 1 pound cranberries; add 1 cup sugar. Set this aside. Whip 1 cup cream. Cut up 3/4 pound large marshmallows into whipped cream. Drain well 1 small can crushed pineapple. Let all this set for two hours, then mix together. 1/2 cup walnuts may be added. "This is better if made the day before serving."

Mrs. Eldon Thorman, Clay Center, sent the next recipe:

BROWNIES

2 cups sugar
1 cup (2 sticks) margarine
dash salt
6 tablespoons cocoa
4 eggs, beaten
1 cup sifted flour
1 tablespoon vanilla
1/2 cup chopped nuts

Combine cocoa and sugar; cream mixture with margarine. Add eggs; mix well. Add flour and mix. Add vanilla and nuts to mixture. Pour into buttered 9 1/2 x 13-inch pan. Bake at 325 degrees 35 minutes or until done. They should be moist. Makes two to three dozen. If desired, frost with the following icing:

1 cup sugar
2 tablespoons cocoa
4 tablespoons butter
1/2 cup milk
pinch salt
1 teaspoon vanilla

Combine all ingredients except vanilla. Bring to boil and cook two minutes. Add vanilla, cool and beat. Spread over brownies. If it gets a little too thick, add a little more milk and beat again.

Sew Zipper Upside Down

When using a short zipper in the side of a dress, sew it in upside down. Arm movements then will not loosen the slide and cause it to slip down in unsightly fashion.

No White Spots

When baking chocolate cakes, dust greased cake pans with cocoa instead of flour. This prevents the dark cakes from being spotted with white on the bottom.

To Remove Ring

When a tight-fitting ring refuses to come off, wrap the finger snugly in aluminum foil, being sure to encase the knuckle. Coax the ring off gently and slowly.

To Make Drapes Hang Straight

To make cotton draw drapes hang straight after laundering, attach them to the baseboard or wall with transparent tape. Remove the tape after a few days and the drapes will stay straight.

Keeps Material From Slipping

A pillowcase placed over the leaf of your sewing machine will keep soft materials such as rayon, nylon and polished cloth from sliding as you sew.

Sheriffs To Wear Blue At Part Of Regulation

Atty. Gen. Kent Firzell said all county sheriffs and their deputies will be required to wear light blue uniforms with black accessories after Jan. 11, 1971.

The 1969 Legislature handed Frizzell the task of deciding the style and color of uniforms to be worn throughout the state.

The final decision followed the recommendation of an advisory committee of law enforcement officials headed by Gary L. Rohrer, an assistant attorney general.

As of Dec. 16, all uniforms purchased by counties for the sheriff and deputies will conform to the prescribed style.

The new uniform will look like this:

Gray felt "sheriff's style" hat with three-inch brim, light blue shirt with military pleats and black necktie, French blue trousers, black boots, French blue patrol jacket, dark blue nylon parka and black leather belt and gloves.

Riot helmets will be options but when they are used they will be blue.

The committee recommended that the standard uniform consist of three pairs of trousers and four winter and four summer shirts.

"As you can well imagine, selection of an appropriate uniform design and color that would be suitable for use in all counties, large and small, metropolitan or rural, is no simple matter," Frizzell said in a letter to county sheriffs.

He did not ask for the job of selecting a uniform for all the counties, he added.

"I assure you that I did not ask for the job. I trust that the designation having been made, all sheriffs and deputies will wear the new uniform with pride," he said.

Present uniforms may be worn during 1970.

Roehrer said should a sheriff be a woman or a woman be hired as a deputy, the uniform probably would be modified to include a light blue skirt.

Year-End Steps Can Save Taxes

Income taxes are sometimes painful, but some end-of-the-year figuring can ease the strain on your checkbook.

Whether your income is above or below average this year, you can lighten your tax bill by making a few management decisions before January 1, 1970.

The less your net income varies from year to year, the less income tax you pay in the long run, says Dr. John Schlender, Extension economist at Kansas State University.

Thus, the goal of tax management is to "even out" your annual income over a period of years. But you must act before December 31. After then, you can do little except pay the taxes you owe.

You'll never be able to keep your income perfectly level from year to year. But there are certain business transactions you can make or delay that will help eliminate fluctuations in your yearly income.

The first step is to estimate your income and expenses for the current year. If the estimate is considerably higher than normal, you may consider the following possibilities for leveling income as suggested by Dr.

Schlender:

—Buy and take delivery on machinery repairs and farm supplies you will need early in 1970, such as seed, chemicals, fuel, oil and grease.

—Postpone livestock and crop sales where you wouldn't suffer price reduction or drastic decreases in livestock feed efficiency.

—If someone owes you money for labor or services, delay collection until 1970.

—If you must sell property before the end of the year, sell on an installment contract. Do not collect more than 30 percent of the sale price in 1969, however, or all the gain will be taxed this year.

If your estimated taxable income is lower than average, Dr. Schlender suggests you try to increase 1969 income and postpone some deductible expenses until after January 1.

Here are a few ways to raise income:

—Sell grain or livestock before the end of the year.

—Cull your dairy or breeding stock and sell before the first of the year.

—Collect money due for labor or custom work done.

—If you are eligible, take a CCC loan on some of your grain.

—Delay some expenditures and postpone payment of operating expense charge accounts until

December 23, 1969

next year.

—Don't take the 20 percent additional first year depreciation on machinery already purchased in 1969 and don't set them up with rapid depreciation methods. Selection of depreciation method on machinery purchased in 1969 is one tax management decision that can be made after December 31.

Unless you're quite familiar with tax regulations, you'll probably find it profitable to consult with a tax consultant. But remember that you must take action before the end of the year purchases and sales.

Your county Extension agent has a publication designed to help you make profitable year-end tax management decisions. Ask him for a copy of "Income Tax Management for Farmers," North Central Regional Extension Publication No. 2.

Wildlife Buildup Concern In Africa

Excessively high numbers of animals are bringing a deterioration to the environment, causing increasing concern among game reserves and parks from South Africa through East and Central Africa, Tanzanian game expert said.

W. A. Rodgers, a game research officer, told the Tanzania Society that it now appeared certain that the reduction of reserves with rigid boundaries caused a change in natural balance. He said elimination of man-induced mortality through hunting and settlement in reserves had led to a rapid rise in animal numbers.

Research techniques are rapidly developing, he said, but we still have a long way to go before the research office and the wildlife manager have accumulated sufficient data in order to ensure that Africa's wildlife heritage will exist in perpetuity while proving economic benefit to the government and people as a whole.

Decade Review At Fertilizer Conference —

'Fertigation' Way In 70's

A variety of challenges — including a need to increase realized net income per farm — faces Kansas agriculture in the 1970s.

This and other observations were made during the annual Kansas Fertilizer and Agricultural Chemicals Conference by Dr. Floyd W. Smith, acting vice-president for agriculture at Kansas State University.

"In 1968, despite a gross agricultural income of $20,111 per farm, net income dropped to $5294, about $600 per farm less than in 1966 when gross income per farm was only $18,920," Dr. Smith said.

Dr. Smith commented that production efficiency gains will not be as easy to come by in the next decade as in the 1960s. He pointed to recent achievements in hybridization of grain sorghum, advancements in fertilizer usage and to an unprecedented period of favorable climatic conditions which did much to advance agriculture.

"By the same token, it must not be forgotten that there is a distinct possibility of a major drought during the next decade," he continued. "This makes it imperative that even more attention be devoted to efficient water use."

Beef cattle production may expand by as much as 80 percent during the next decade, he said, because of the growth of commercial feedlots. Swine production should show further gains, he predicted, and production per cow should increase more in Kansas than for the rest of the nation, although dairy cattle may decline in numbers.

The KSU acting vice-president sees no letup in pollution problems. He said insecticide residues will continue to receive attention, as will be the case with herbicides, fungicides and nematocides.

"Animal waste disposal concern will become greater and more concern will be expressed about water pollution and air pollution arising from use of fertilizer nitrogen," he said.

In reviewing the 1960s, Dr. Smith said the decade saw Kansas wheat yield rise to 31.5 bushels per acre and corn yields increase to 75 bushels per acre. He added that grain sorghum yields may reach 57 bushels per acre this year.

Dr. Smith concluded that the Kansas fertilizer industry achieved maturity during this period with sales increasing threefold.

Dr. Paul E. Fischbach of the University of Nebraska told conferees that the practice of applying plant nutrients through irrigation water is increasing in popularity for farm crops. "Fertigation" seems to have many cost-cutting and yield-boosting factors going for it, he suggested.

He pointed out that one of the advantages of applying nitrogen fertilizer through the irrigation system is that it is applied at the time the crop needs it.

Discussing new crops, Howard D. Wilkins, K-State Extension agronomist, said Cutler and Calland soybeans are two new varieties that should be of interest to all soybean producers.

Wilkins said Kanza alfalfa is new and one of the best varieties developed for this area. He advised farmers to ask several questions before growing new crops.

These questions, he said, should include: "Is there real need?" "How does it compete with other crops for time, labor machinery and storage?"

Dr. R. L. Vanderlip, KSU agronomist, and Jim Trybom, graduate student, reported research results show flaming delays the flowering of inbred lines of grain sorghum from two to eight days.

They said it is often necessary in hybrid grain sorghum seed production to cross inbred lines of different maturity to obtain the best levels of performance. This makes it necessary to delay one in order that both lines flower at the same time to obtain good cross pollination.

Dr. Larry Murphy, a KSU agronomist, discussed fertilizer research, including the practice of applying fertilizer through irrigation water. He said attention is also being given to the pattern of ammonia retention in soils when anhydrous ammonia is applied by undercutting blade, and to fertilization of irrigated corn.

Dr. David A. Whitney, KSU Extension agronomist, said liming of acid soils is an essential part of obtaining optimum crop production. He added that limestone needs in Kansas have been estimated in excess of two million tons annually, while in 1968 only one fourth of that amount was spread.

Oliver Russ, also of KSU, discussed profitability of herbicides, saying they must be used wisely. He cautioned that the benefits of herbicides are not always measured in terms of dollars and cents.

Gehl leads again. Big, new 120-bu. Mix-All combines "biggest-of-all" capacity plus Gehl's commercial-quality grind and mix ability. One demonstration will prove the 115MX can help you manage more livestock. Here's why:

- Exclusive hay feeder smoothly feeds bale slices to the mill.
- 120-bu. mixing tank, plus new 21-in. mill increase feedmaking capacity 40%.
- 66 thin cutting hammers—more per sq. ft. of screen area than other mills.
- 10-foot, high pivot (46") auger unloads feed where you need it.

These and many other features put the giant 115MX way ahead of competition. More farmers — 35,000 of them — own Mix-Alls than any other make.

Mobil Settles; Co-on Left On Asphalt Suit

The Socony-Mobil Oil Co. has presented the state of Kansas with $821,000 as part of a settlement involving charges that 12 road oil companies fixed the prices of liquid asphalt sold to the Kansas Highway Commission.

Socony-Mobil had sold the state 25 million gallons of the stuff for some $2.5 million between 1959 and 1964.

The settlement with Mobil removes the charges against the company. The only large defendant remaining in the suit who has not reached a settlement with the state is the Consumers Cooperative Association.

Wildlife Building Concern In Africa

Excessively high animal populations are bringing a new dimension to the environmental problem, causing increasing concern in many game reserves and parks from South Africa to East and Central Africa, Tanzanian game experts said.

W. A. Rodgers, a research officer, told the Wildlife Society that it appeared certain that the destruction of reserves with boundaries caused a natural balance. He called for elimination of man-induced mortality through hunting and settlement in reserves but a rapid rise in animal numbers.

Research techniques are rapidly developing, he said, but we still have a long way before the research and the wildlife management accumulated sufficient order to ensure that wildlife heritage will be perpetuated while providing economic benefit to the people and people as a whole.

Natural Gas Bubbles In Cheney Lake

A quantity of pressurized low-grade natural gas has been discovered beneath Cheney Reservoir and bubbles oozing to the surface are creating something of a phenomenon, Bob Hess, Wichita water department director, says.

Although water department officials are keeping a watchful eye on the natural gas, Hess said no salt has been discovered and water quality has not been endangered.

Hess, at a City Hall press conference, said the natural gas deposit was discovered two weeks ago by an observant fisherman in an area about one half mile from shore on the southeast side of the reservoir.

The release of natural gas into the water may have been caused by a fracture in rock formations, or a low grade exploratory well in the area may have become unplugged, Hess said.

Measures to be taken to relieve the gas pressures, Hess said, will include the drilling of offset wells outside the lake area. If this does not stop the escaping gas, he said the water department may have to lower the lake level to cap any well that might be unplugged.

About 30 percent of Wichita's water supply is drawn from the reservoir.

Cat Tractors To Russia

A deal which would ultimately send 17 million dollars worth of tractors to the Soviet Union is awaiting U. S. government approval, according to a Caterpillar company official.

The tractors would be built in Tokyo by Caterpillar-Mitsubishi Ltd., an equally owned subsidiary of the Caterpillar company of Peoria and Mitsubishi Heavy Industries Ltd. of Japan.

They would be sold to a Japanese trading company, which in turn would trade the tractors to Russia for lumber as part of a barter deal between the Soviet and Japanese governments, Caterpillar said.

The manufacturer said this is the first such transaction involving Caterpillar and a Communist country, even though there will be no direct dealing.

The 765 tractors and a stock of replacement parts will be shipped to eastern Siberia. Although built in Japan the tractors will contain a power shift transmission made in the East Peoria plant, a spokesman said.

"Even though these tractors are being built in Japan, every aspect of this transaction is being cleared with the U. S. government according to U. S. laws concerning sales of non-strategic goods to Soviet bloc countries," said D. R. Lammers, vice-president of the company's Australian division.

Company spokesmen were not able to say how long it would take to get government approval, or when the tractors would be delivered.

Historian Sees Soviet Collapse In 15 Years

A young Russian historian predicts the Soviet system as it now exists will end in about 15 years.

The prediction appears in a lengthy article by Andrei Amalrik in the current issue of Survey, a magazine devoted to Soviet and Eastern European studies. The article will soon appear in book form.

Amalrik, at 31 years old, already has served time in Soviet jails on charges that some plays he wrote were anti-Soviet and pornographic.

In his analysis of the present Soviet society, Amalrik sees a weak and undistinguished regime trying only to maintain itself in power and making small concessions to achieve this.

Amalrik believes the collapse

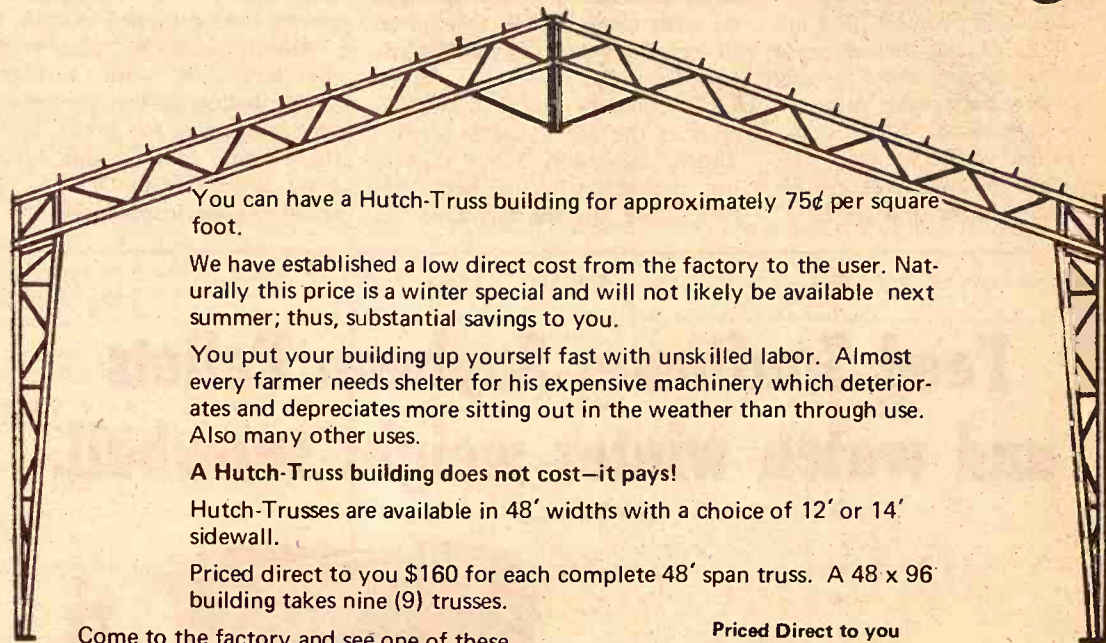

Grass & Grain

December 23, 1969

will probably come as a result of war with China. The war, he believes, will not be any sudden nuclear disaster, but a long, drawn-out guerilla type struggle over vast areas of China and the Soviet Union.

As Soviet forces are withdrawn from Eastern Europe, Amalrik expects a process of "de-Sovietization" will begin there, including demands for the return of territories seized by the Soviets from their European neighbors.

Hutch-Truss Buildings

You can have a Hutch-Truss building for approximately 75¢ per square foot.

We have established a low direct cost from the factory to the user. Naturally this price is a winter special and will not likely be available next summer; thus, substantial savings to you.

You put your building up yourself fast with unskilled labor. Almost every farmer needs shelter for his expensive machinery which deteriorates and depreciates more sitting out in the weather than through use. Also many other uses.

A Hutch-Truss building does not cost—it pays!

Hutch-Trusses are available in 48' widths with a choice of 12' or 14' sidewall.

Priced direct to you $160 for each complete 48' span truss. A 48 x 96 building takes nine (9) trusses.

Come to the factory and see one of these buildings.

Even if you cannot put up your building now, take advantage of this winter special.

Science Serious Now About Controlling Hailstorms

The Russians say they can "shoot down" a hailstorm, and U.S. scientists think they have prospects of turning the hail to rain by seeding clouds from aircraft.

That may sound like something farmers have heard before, but there are increasing signs that scientists may have acquired enough knowledge and experience to bring hailstorms under control.

Hailstorms cause an average of $300 million damages to crops in the U.S. each year, with the greatest damage in North Dakota, Nebraska, Kansas, Iowa and Minnesota.

The Russians contend they are ahead of us in the technique of hail control, saying they already have made spectacular reductions in crop losses. They say their system works so well that more than 7 million acres are being protected now, and by 1971 the application will be nationwide.

Six Soviet scientists recently visited the national center for weather research at Boulder, Colo., and they described how they use artillery shells to "shoot down" hailstorms.

An angry thunderstorm approached a wheat-growing section of the Soviet Union last summer, and radar indicated the hailstones were beginning to form in the towering cloud. It was seven miles away and the developing hail threatened to destroy the sorely needed crop.

Instantly, an artillery battery fired several plastic shells loaded with silver iodide to explode in the cloud and the hailstorm was disrupted.

The Soviets report that explosion of the silver iodide shells almost inevitably turns developing, damaging hail to beneficial rain. They say the technique has cut hail losses by 20 percent, and that $30 in crops are saved for every $1 spent on the artillery.

American weathermen have, in fact, verified the extensive hail research, particularly in Northern Colorado and North and South Dakota. They have developed radar to measure rain and hail, used infrared photography to outline the boundaries of hail swaths, flown airplanes into and around hailstorms, and plotted vertical winds by balloons.

But they have not yet seeded a hailstorm in its developing stage, as the Russians have done, to demonstrate that forming hailstones can be turned to rain.

Americans do not plan to seed thunderstorms with artillery shells, believing the manpower requirement is too great. Instead the seeding will be done by aircraft, according to Dr. Guy Goyer, atmospheric physicist for the National Center for Atmospheric Research in Boulder. He points out that planes can cover 10 times the territory of an artillery battery. Rockets loaded with silver iodide will be fired into the clouds, or they will be "bombed" with cartridges dropped from planes.

In the United States farmers paid out 23 million dollars in premiums to insurance companies for hail loss protection in 1967.

The Russian system of hail suppression requires that silver iodide, or lead iodide, be inserted in a cloud just as hail is forming. Timing is critical. Only four or five minutes must elapse between discovering the hail and exploding the shell.

In theory, hail forms around seeds or nuclei of ice, dust and other material in a cloud. In a situation where there is a relatively small number of nuclei and a lot of moisture, the hail grows to a damaging size.

Seeding provides a tremendous increase in the number of nuclei, because it is divided among so many more seeds, the available moisture should form very small hailstones — so small they would melt before reaching the ground.

The Soviet system relies on hitting the bulls-eye, the small zone at the head of strong updrafts where water droplets accumulate and hailstones grow. "They have a basic system that seems to work," said Byron B. Phillips, deputy director of the hail project at the Environmental Science Services Administration here. "We can begin to build on their substantial accomplishments."

Phillips believes the U.S. will mount "a really critical" hail control test in 1971 or 1972, obtain some definite answers by 1973 or 1974, and see a lot of operational seeding by 1974.

Soviet meteorologists began hail research heavily in 1956 and had an active field program by 1961, about five years before the first major American experiments.

G. K. Sulakvelidze, director of the High Altitude Geophysical Institute, Nalchik, USSR, says the basic Russian unit is a 2-phase radar system, manned by 25 men, and four artillery batteries, manned by five men each, protect 400 square miles.

The Soviet government decided in April, 1967, he wrote, to introduce hail modification into national budget so that at the end of a 5-year plan every area in the USSR damaged by hail will be protected."

Inspired by Russian success, Americans began to organize massive hail experiment. The National Center for Atmospheric Research was placed in charge and Dr. William Swinbank of NCAR was named director. Because of budgetary restrictions the original proposal for a 5-year plan was cut to three.

The multimillion dollar project, a cooperative effort of federal agencies and universities, probably will be underway 1972 with a permanent staff.

In contrast to some other fields, Soviet scientists have been extremely cooperative in sharing the results of their hail experiments with our scientists. They have withheld information only on the composition of their plastic nonsplintering shell, which they developed in 1963 at a cost of $300,000. Prior to that, they fired metal artillery shells.

With all that bombardment, has the Russian populace complained? Sulakvelidze says no.

"It should be noted," he wrote, "that during the 3-year work in a densely populated area, despite the firing of about 10,000 missiles, none of the local inhabitants complained about fragments."

Soviet meteorologists have been able to forecast hail on the ground with 90 percent accuracy. But Sulakvelidze, along with American scientists, believes they are still "far away" from a complete understanding of hail storms."

Feed Sunflower Soybean Pellets and watch winter weight snowball.

It's a long drive to market bloom and few cattlemen can afford to sit out the winter. So, to finish ahead of the other herds this spring, feed Sunflower Soybean Meal Pellets this winter.

During winter months, most of the feed your cattle will eat merely goes to meet basic energy requirements. Most herds will be doing well to hold their own. That's why you need a super-charged protein supplement if you're looking for a substantial winter weight gain. The best one you can buy, and feed, is Sunflower Soybean Meal Pellets.

This is a supplement made from nature's richest source of protein.

Prime soybeans. They're carefully processed to preserve vital protein content while actually increasing their palatability and digestibility.

Feed Sunflower in 40% soybean meal pellets or as 36%, 32%, or 22% formulated range cubes.

Don't let cold weather hold up your herd's drive toward market bloom. Keep them moving. Supplement winter grasses with Sunflower Soybean Meal Pellets and pack on the pounds. That way, winter feeding will be more than just dead wait.

Addington Acquitted On Federal Charges

William H. Addington, once head of a grain empire and Kansas political figure, was acquitted of all 19 counts of an indictment charging him with issuing false and fraudulent warehouse receipts.

A U.S. District Court jury that deliberated for nearly 16 hours also acquitted Kenneth E. George of Mountain View, Okla., former manager of Addington's warehouse at Elkhart.

They were charged with issuing false and fraudulent receipts for 57.5 million pounds of grain — enough to fill 500 railroad boxcars to make up a train four miles long.

Judge George Templar of U.S. District Court dismissed the jury at 5:51 p.m. ending the trial that began Dec. 3.

Edward Johnson of Topeka, a government attorney, had told the jury that the warehouse at Elkhart had a capacity of 84 million pounds of sorghum. But Johnson said that in 1965, it had obligations against it for 140 million pounds.

Defense Attorney Robert Hecht of Topeka said the government failed to prove Addington himself falsified receipts and that the element of fraud was absent because of a lack of evidence of intent to deceive.

Addington testified in his own behalf and said he didn't know that an invoice for $38,252 for warehouse charges at Elkhart as of Sept. 30, 1964, was paid by the Federal Commodity Credit Corp.

A conviction on state charges of fraud has been appealed by Addington to the Kansas Supreme Court. The state charged him for fraud based on a Nov. 8, 1965 inspection of his grain elevator at Hutchinson. State inspectors reported a 419,000 bushel shortage.

NO DUSTY TRAIL HERE

The dust is nearly gone and the trip is easier and shorter, but there still are some of the elements of the old cattle drive remaining. There were a thousand head involved in this movement along US83 south of Turpin, Okla. The mile and a half trip down the highway took about an hour.

A dozen horsemen herded the cattle to the pens of the Panhandle Feed Yards with a feed truck, to which the cattle were accustomed, leading the way. The cattle, owned by a trust fund managed by M.M. Schoonover, Liberal, Ks., and Lee Bowen and Harold Daniels, operators of the feedyards, will be marketed within 30 days.

He was sentenced to one to five years imprisonment, but has remained out on bond pending outcome of the appeal.

Job Chances Cut Rural Migration

The migration of people from farms to cities slowed during the 1960s partly as a result of more job opportunity in rural areas, says a new report by the Agriculture Department.

Employment in rural areas — counties without metropolitan centers — increased at the rate of 5.2 per cent during 1962-67, compared with an average growth rate of 4.0 percent for the cities, the report said.

Officials say more job opportunities in rural areas have helped reduce the population flow to cities.

"Although the rate of movement of people away from farms has remained high," the report said, "the number of people involved has dwindled as the size of the farm population has declined."

During World War II an average of 1.6 million persons left farms each year, compared with the average of 700,000 annually during the mid 1960s, officials said.

But because more people lived on farms in the 1940s, the losses averaged less than 6 percent of the farm population each year. The much smaller numerical loss in recent years has been more than 6 percent annually.

Today, there are only about 10 million farm people who comprise about 5 percent of the population compared to 32 million persons in the early 30's.

"Because fewer people are involved, the report said, "the impact on nonfarm areas of destination cities has lessened."

The farm statistics were included in a report by the Economic Research Service.

DEFENSE AGAINST RABBITS

Clyde Scott, forest technician at Council Grove Reservoir (left), and Les Pinkerton, area Extension forester of Kansas State University, put up wire barricades to keep rabbits and other pests from eating young trees at the reservoir. Rabbits, K-State foresters say, annually cause serious and costly damage to trees and plant species at reservoirs throughout the state. Among other culprits are rats and gophers.

What You Weigh Factor In How Much Booze You Can Hold

A 180-pound man might drink five bottles of beer before he gets drunk, but three bottles would do it to a 120-pounder.

The heavier man might drink five shots of whiskey before falling "under the influence," but four would do for the little one.

And all holiday drinkers should remember that even the "average" drink has a mind-dulling effect for an hour after it is consumed.

These are among the guidelines for drinkers set forth by the American Medical Association and the National Safety Council in a new campaign to teach drinkers how long the effect of a drink lasts and what it does to their driving ability.

They believe the campaign is a more realistic approach toward drunken driving. More than 25,000 of the 55,200 automobile fatalities in 1968 involved alcohol consumption, and the organizations conceded that past campaigns urging drivers not to drink at all have had little effect.

The council and the AMA have prepared charts relating drinks and body size to the degree of intoxication.

Most states consider a person with a 0.15 percent concentration of alcohol in the blood to be "under the influence." But some states, federal agencies, the AMA and the Safety Council recommend that a person with a 0.10 percent alcohol concentration in his blood be presumed "under the influence."

Among popular alcoholic drinks, beer contains the lowest percentage of alcohol while whiskey and rum have the highest, but — because of the size of the drink — cocktails such as martinis and manhattans are the most intoxicating.

A 120-pound drinker reaches the 0.10 percent concentration level with slightly more than three bottles of beer. The 180-pound drinker would have to consume five bottles to reach that limit.

The 120-pound whiskey drinker would reach the 0.10 percent level with less than four one-ounce shots. The 180-pound drinker could have five.

One and a half martinis or manhattans would bring the 120-pound drinker to the 0.10 limit. Just over two would bring the 180-pounder to that level.

If a driver doesn't follow the ideal course of total abstinence the two groups suggest:

Drink in a way that will keep you from being under the influence when driving. "This means that most individuals should not drink more than one bottle of beer or one highball an hour."

GEARY COUNTY PAROLE TO SOLDIER DRUG-USER

A former Fort Riley lieutenant has been paroled from a 6-month jail sentence from Geary county court, provided he admits himself to a clinic for drug users and promises to quit using and selling narcotics. Freddie Griffith, 22, was arrested in June at a farm home southeast of Junction City. Griffith was discharged from the Army in September. He served 32 days of the sentence.

Fire At Crofoot Feedlot Mill

STRONG CITY — A fire caused extensive damage to the Crofoot Cattle Co. feed grinding mill about a mile west of here.

Lester Pierce, Chase County Fire District chief, said the blaze broke out at 2 p.m. Saturday afternoon as about 12 men were working in the sheet metal building.

Pierce said the fire destroyed conveyor belts and wiring and estimated the damage at from $10,000 to $15,000. He said some equipment was not damaged, "but they'll have a lot of repair work to do before they can operate again."

The cause of the blaze was not immediately determined, but Pierce said it may have been touched off by a spark from a welding unit being used by workmen.

The fire was brought under control in about half an hour and firemen left the scene an hour later.

Burns-Salisbury

MANHATTAN, KANS.

'Twas THE NIGHT

'Twas the night before Christmas
And at the North Pole
Was a twinkle in the eyes
Of a Merry Old Soul

He sat straight and proud
On his shiny Ford Tractor
And told all his elves
They had nothing to fear

"I'll make all my rounds
Now faster than ever,
Save effort and labor
On my good-will endeavor

"I'll haul bigger loads;
My toy shop will know it,
I'll save on expenses,
And my ledger will show it.

"Now Dasher, now Dancer
Now Comet, you see;
This new Ford Tractor
Is the one for me.

It handles so easy;
Gives a better ride, too.
I think it's the finest,
And so, too, will you.

The pleasure that's mine
Can belong to each fellow
Who visits the men
Who sell Blue and Gray

"He's your Ford Tractor dealer
And he joins in our call;
Happy farming to you,
And Merry Christmas to all"

A 4-Yr. Setup On Drivers Licenses

Beginning Jan. 1, Kansas will implement a four-year driver license renewal procedure with a new type of license, H. J. Ulrich, superintendent of the state Motor Vehicle Department, said last week.

I DON'T THINK I'M GOING TO LIKE IT

The reaction to a shot hasn't changed very much for small boys over the years. This Miami, Fla., youngster was about to receive diphtheria antitoxin serum as part of a program to inoculate 41,000 schoolchildren. Diphtheria, generally considered to have been defeated as a public health menace for 30 years, had taken the lives of three Florida youngsters before the program was started.

The 1969 Legislature authorized the new system.

"It will take four years under the new renewal procedure to place all drivers in the plan. This is necessary to keep an even work-flow in the department and coordinate the new plan into the present renewal method," Ulrich said.

on John Schnittker, undersecretary of agriculture in the Johnson administration and now a professor of economics at Kansas State University.

Schnittker had said he favored Nixon administration plans to base price supports on recent market prices instead of parity formulas and urged limiting government support payments to $5000 per crop or $10,000 per farm.

Crane said he was surprised that a Kansan would make such recommendations.

"I argue," said Schnittker, "that a person who wants to put a ceiling on payments is making an effort to save the government farm program. The big point the Nixon administration is making is to terminate the cotton allotments and reduce the level of price supports. I am for parity as a concept but not as a symbol."

Crane said a ceiling on price support payments would discriminate against the larger and more efficient farmers and drive them out of the farm program.

Livestock Convention Moved Up Two Months

Dates for the Kansas Livestock Association convention are two months earlier than usual this year, according to Robert L. Hudelson, executive vice president.

The 57th annual convention, bringing nearly 1000 livestock men and their wives to Wichita, will be Jan. 8 and 9 at the Broadview Hotel. Board meetings will be Jan. 7.

The date has been set earlier this year to correlate association activities including legislation for the good of the livestock industry, Hudelson said.

Seventy-five years of progressive leadership by KLA in the livestock industry will be celebrated in this year's convention. Organized in 1894, the history and progress of the association parallels the development of the Jayhawk state, according to Raymond Roemer of Grainfield, president.

The observance will open officially with committee meetings Jan. 8. Sessions begin in the afternoon at 1:30.

Mayor Donald Enoch will welcome the livestock men and wives. This will be followed by an address by Roemer and another by C. W. McMillan, Denver, executive vice president, American National Cattlemen's Association.

Dr. W. E. Thorn, minister of Metropolitan Baptist Church of Wichita, will speak. Stockmen's stag dinner will be at 7 p.m.

Friday's program will begin at 8 a.m. with a stockmen's breakfast and a general session at 9:30 a.m. Speaking at the morning session will be Mrs. George Fox, Cambridge, president of Kansas CowBelles; Tim Barton, Garnett, president of Kansas Junior Livestock Association; Jack Crowner, radio-TV announcer, Louisville, Ky.; and Robert Schmidt, Hays, president of Kansas State Chamber of Commerce.

Dr. Robert Bohannon, director of Kansas State University Extension, will speak at the noon K-State alumni luncheon.

Friday afternoon speakers are William H. VanDusen, agribusiness management director, Boulder, Colo.; Frank White, Associated Milk Producers director, Cedar Vale. Election of officers and a business session will follow.

Gov. Robert Docking will address a 6:30 p.m. stockmen's dinner. Awards will be given by Bruce Behmyer, KFH farm director.

Meeting during the convention will be Kansas CowBelles, Kansas Veterinary Medical Association, Kansas Junior Livestock Association, Competitive Livestock Markets and other groups allied to the livestock industry.

Tax Revolt Spreads To Phone Company Protest

A telephone company has joined individual Kansas tax- payers and two other utilities in protesting property assessments.

The Kansas Telephone Co. paid the first half of its 1969 real estate taxes under protest at the Leavenworth County treasurer's office. In a letter accompanying a check for $6158, the company said it is protesting $3257 of that amount as discriminatory.

The company, which serves 20 towns in northeast Kansas, claims the state director of prop- erty valuation assessed its prop- erty in the state at $5,844,500, when 30 percent of the value of its real estate was no more than $4,875,000.

Call It John Deere Day Or Call It Farming Frontiers — Now's Time For It

Old Timer left the farm several years ago to work in town, but he remembered that John Deere day had to start in the thirties because he was a boy on the farm and his folks looked forward to the annual sociable at the JD dealer's.

The first John Deere Day came upon the American farm scene in 1937. It lost its name, this year when "Farming Frontiers '69" came out of the JD Idea Department, but the occasion remains John Deere Day to most farmers and dealers.

Originally a dealer was required in his franchise to promote a JD day each year as a method of introducing the new line of machinery; and to host the farm families at a noon dinner. In many towns, the day was holiday-like. At Council Grove, Kansas, for instance, the parking meters were masked with specially printed hoods to declare the day was John Deere's, and parking was free.

Why was the name of a successful promotion changed? According to a dealer, the manufacturer concluded that diminishing attendance and less interest in the social feature of the day called for a new approach to restore attendance. "Farming Frontiers" is it.

Also changed is the arbitrary daytime event. Dealers decide for themselves whether to hold their events at night or during the day. And whether to serve a full lunch or refreshments.

But one feature prevails at all the gatherings. The movie will be shown, either at the dealer's location, frequently at a movie house. Or, in the case of Tri-County Sales in Herington, an all day event at a rented community hall with a night dance to top the celebration.

First of the new year "JD days" will be Shouse's at Abilene; Janu- ary 6; W. W. Smith & Sons at Clay Center January 7; Kansas Farm Machinery at Topeka, January 8.

The firm also states that, in general, property in Leaven- worth County is assessed for tax purposes at no more than 17 per- cent of justifiable value in mon- ey, the usual selling price, and that therefore the company's as- sessed valuation in the county should be no more than $60,223, or 17 percent of its $354,250 cash value. It alleges that to require it to pay taxes on 30 percent valu- ation while other properties pay taxes on 17 percent is discrim- inatory. Nearly 40 of Kansas' 105 coun- ties now have or are forming lo- cal taxpayers associations to pro- test what they feel are inequita- ble prop assessments.

FARMERS OUTLOOK

L.H. Simerl

How Dairy Farmers Gain

Dairy farmers have gained considerably in recent years. They are expected to have another good year in 1970. Dairying is the second-largest agricultural enterprise in the United States. Only the beef industry produced more cash receipts for farmers.

Two major factors. These have helped to boost returns to dairy farmers: (1) Milk marketings have been decreasing since 1964. (2) Consumers have been willing to pay higher prices for milk and other dairy products. The price-support level was also raised — from $3.15 a hundred pounds for manufacturing milk in 1964 to $4.28 in 1968 and 1969.

It might be argued that boosting the price-support level raised market prices. There is some merit in this view, but it is more important to recognize that other price-lifting factors made it possible for the USDA to raise the price-support level without prohibitive costs. Government purchases of dairy products to support prices this year were equal to about 4 percent of the milk marketed by farmers. This is the second-smallest removal since 1960. Hence, there should be no strong pressure to reduce the price-support level during 1970.

Less milk. U.S. milk production decreased from 127 billion pounds in 1964 to 116 billion in 1969. During that period population increased from 192 million to over 203 million. Thus, the production of milk per person decreased from 66 to 57 pounds or more than 14 percent.

MANHATTAN, KANS.

The average retail prices of milk and other dairy products increased 18 percent between 1964 and 1969. The prices received by farmers for milk went up 28 percent, about twice as much as the increase in average prices of other farm products.

Farmers' cash receipts from the sale of milk increased from $5,027 million in 1964 to $6167 million in 1969, some 27 percent. Because of the decline in the number of dairy farmers, the average increase per dairyman was considerably greater than 27 percent.

Fewer dairy farms. The USDA has estimated that the number of commercial dairy farms decreased from 367,000 in 1964 to about 300,000 in 1969 — a decline of 18 percent. Thus, cash receipts per dairy farm (from the sale of milk) increased about 50 percent over five years.

Most commercial dairy farms are ordinarily family farms. By official definition, a "commercial farm" is one that has annual sales of $2500 or more. That's pretty small potatoes — milk, too! Five average cows produce about $2500 worth of milk a year. Typical commercial dairy farms are much larger, averaging about 35 cows each. Most of these are one-man farms, except where there are other large enterprises on the same farm.

December 23, 1969

State trends. Milk production in Illinois has been decreasing several years. The 1969 total may be 3 billion pounds. If that would be 3 percent less in 1968, and 25 percent less in 1964. Illinois now produces 2.72 percent of the nation's milk compared to 3.15 percent five years ago.

Many of the dairy farms in Illinois are in the northernmost tier of counties bordering on Wisconsin. Another important dairy area covers a few counties east and southeast of St. Louis. Sales of milk bring Illinois dairy men about $150 million each year.

A THICK TREE FROM KANSAS

The Christmas tree picked out by Mrs. Lynn Hendrixson of Delphos is just as wide as son Darrin is tall. Kansas grown trees are more dense than most of the trees that are imported.

HE LIKES THE CHOICE

Darrin Hendrixson of Delphos seems to be pleased with his mother's choice.

Set Beetgrowers
Suit As A
Class' Action
A request by Ark Valley Beet Growers Association that their breach-of-contract suit against American Crystal Sugar Co.,
Denver, be heard as a class action will be argued this week in U.S. District Court in Wichita.
The case arose Nov. 20 when beet farmers in the Kansas counties of Finney, Kearney, Haskell, Grant and Stanton asked for and received a restraining order from Finney County District Court in Garden City.

The order required American
Crystal to accept all beets offered by the growers with whom they had contracts, regardless of the sugar content of the beets.
The farmers charged that the company was refusing — in violation of its contracts — to accept beets with sugar content of less than 12 percent.

The case was removed from Finney County District Court to federal court in Wichita after the company had asked the federal court to dismiss the restraining order.

The order was dismissed by Judge Wesley E. Brown on Nov.
25 and American Crystal then filed an answer to the suit. Their reply held that they were without knowledge that the Kansas association represented a class of 116 growers as the suit alleged.

The company admitted in the answer that it had refused to accept beets with a sugar content of less than 12 percent, but said this was because such beets did not conform to terms of the 1969 contracts.

In a counterclaim filed with the answer American Crystal alleged that it was damaged by having been required to accept substandard beets from the growers during the time the restraining order was in effect Nov. 20 to Nov.
25.
