KANSAS 4-H IN REVIEW

motor oil... for the best deal in the country

CO-OP Motor Oils are manufactured in a farmer-owned plant and formulated especially to meet the tough engine lubrication problems of today's automotive, agriculture, and industrial equipment.

Designed to function effectively under severest conditions of loads, speed and temperature, CO-OP Motor Oils exceed the requirements of the toughest tests that have yet been devised.

CO-OP Motor Oils have narrow boiling ranges, better oil consumption characteristics, better stability, and low temperature fluidity. CO-OP Motor Oils include extra, well-balanced additive treatments that protect engine parts to the fullest.

If you want a motor oil that's far beyond engine manufacturer's requirements . . . CO-OP Motor Oil is the one for you. Available only at your double-circle cooperative.

About the cover

Joe Schreibvogel and Mary Ann Lobmeyer make cookies while junior leader Tammy Schreibvogel looks on in the picture at right. Margaret Lobmeyer also helped to teach the beginning cooking class for Wide Awake 4-H Club in Finney County. Fitting and showing champions at the Heart of Kansas 4-H Spring Beef Show, pictured lower right, are Dwight Bair and Allen Konicek of McPherson County. Other winning showmen at the event in Ellsworth were Mike Hamm, Ottawa County, and Twig Marston of McPherson County. Dayul Dick, lower left, put finishing touches on his cowboy as he works in Mrs. Irwin Peters' ceramic shop in Reno County.

Here is your 1972 Kansas 4-H in Review—a glimpse of the fun and work, the learning and service, the successes and failures, of a good 4-H year. Each of the 105 counties is represented here, from Allen to Wyandotte, in alphabetical order.

More material came than we had space for. So we cut and condensed, groaning. We apologize to each of you whose story does not appear or is so short it's barely recognizable.

What experience do you most remember this year? Did you make a good profit on your steer or pig (thanks to that wonderful buyer at the sale), learn a new sewing skill, make a friend at Round-up, conduct a meeting with poise in spite of the noise of the wigglers? Did you help at Day Camp, see your reporter's articles in print, learn to judge, have the thrill of a top blue — or the frustration of a low white?

Whatever your experience, we hope 1972 Kansas in Review reflects it and will be a memory book for you.

TWO SYMBOLS OF PROGRESS IN KANSAS FOR KANSANS !!

Your IGA grocer is your friend and neighbor, dedicated to the service of his neighbors. He is proud of the progress he and his fellow IGA store owners have been privileged to make in Kansas, thanks to you and the many 4-H families that read this magazine and participate in 4-H activities. IGA and 4-H . . . two symbols of progress in Kansas.

Allen

This square dance team from Prairie Rose 4-H Club won a blue ribbon at Allen County 4-H Day. In the back row are John Sager, Chris Elmonhurst, Ricky Stephens, and James Smart. In the bottom row are Sherry Ensminger, Shelly Ensminger, Lila Ensminger, and Joyce Hampton. Reporter Marcia Jones writes, "The club wishes to congratulate these young people on their efforts."

Anderson

Two hundred fifty-five members in eight clubs take part in the 4-H program in Anderson County.

An outstanding leader who has served for 17 years is Mrs. Ivan Smethers of Selma Flaming Arrow 4-H Club. A 31-year leader is Vernon Velthoen of Star Shooting 4-H Club.

Anderson County's two 1971 Key Award winners are LaRita Croucher, Cherry Mound 4-H Club, a national safety winner, and Lynn Gordon Jr. of Lucky Diamond 4-H Club.

Atchison

The Rose Valley Rustler's 4-H Club, Muscotah, has received the Atchison Chamber of Commerce award as the outstanding club of Atchison County for the past six years. This award is based on a point system and encourages

4-H members to participate in 4-H competition and events. It promotes participation as a club and creates interest among members to do the best for their club, as well as working as an individual. During the past six years the club has taken part in and completed such projects as:

- Sponsored and held a diabetes clinic at the county fair.
- Sponsored county defensive driving class.
- Planned and held a senior citizens night, which resulted in a community club for this group.
- Planned and held a countywide drug abuse program.
- Helped sponsor a carnival for the purchase of an ambulance in the area.
- Members assisted school health nurse with pre-school measles clinic.
- Sponsored safety demonstration given by the Kansas Farm Bureau State Safety Director.
- Every member dental check-ups and held "good breakfast" checks at local grade school.
- Made and handed out "safety" stickers in towns of the county before a holiday weekend.
- Made tray favors monthly for the Horton Community Hospital.
- Served farm sales to raise money to pay fees for members to attend county and state camps.
- Members have made tapes for the local radio station KARE to promote 4-H and safety.

Members canvass each year for the Atchison County Cancer Society.

Members have attended township meetings and city council meeting to study government.

The club has received Certificates of Recognition in the national 4-H health program and safety program.

Each year the club has the privilege of presenting the worship service of the local church on 4-H Sunday. A garden tour and a club tour are yearly programs. Each year the club has entered a float and exhibited a booth at the county fair.

The Rose Valley Rustler's 4-H Club was organized in 1941 in a rural school house. During the past six years the average membership has been about 30 members. They now meet in the Muscotah City Hall.

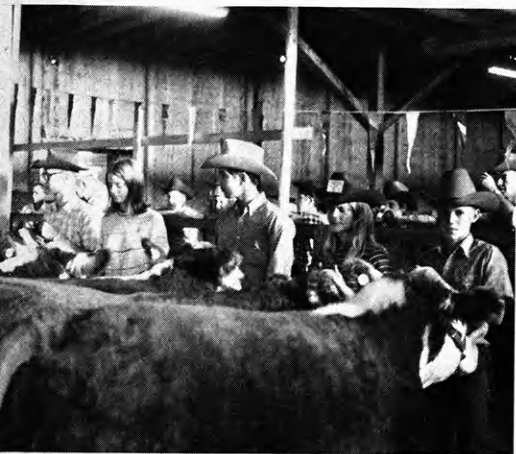

In the Rose Valley club are families interested in 4-H and, with fine sponsors in their county, they also find 4-H a rewarding experience.

Some trips won during the past three years by members of this club are: to Kansas 4-H Congress at Wichita, Kathy Armstrong, Jay Armstrong, and Jim Christie; to National 4-H Congress at Chicago, Illinois, Kathy Armstrong and Jay Armstrong; and to National 4-H Dairy Conference at Madison, Wisconsin, Mike Bodenhausen.

Kathy and Jay Armstrong receive the Atchison County Outstanding Girl and Boy award presented annually by the Blair Milling Company of Atchison. Bill Blair is shown presenting chests of silverware to these members. They received them at 4-H Achievement Night.

Barber

In 1971 Barber County 4-H'ers had the second place group of five steers and also fifth place on another group of five steers at the Kansas National Junior Livestock Show at Wichita.

The 4-H'ers won $60 prize money. Barber County averages about 17 steers each year.

Barber County has had an average of 140 barrows exhibited at the fair during the past three years.

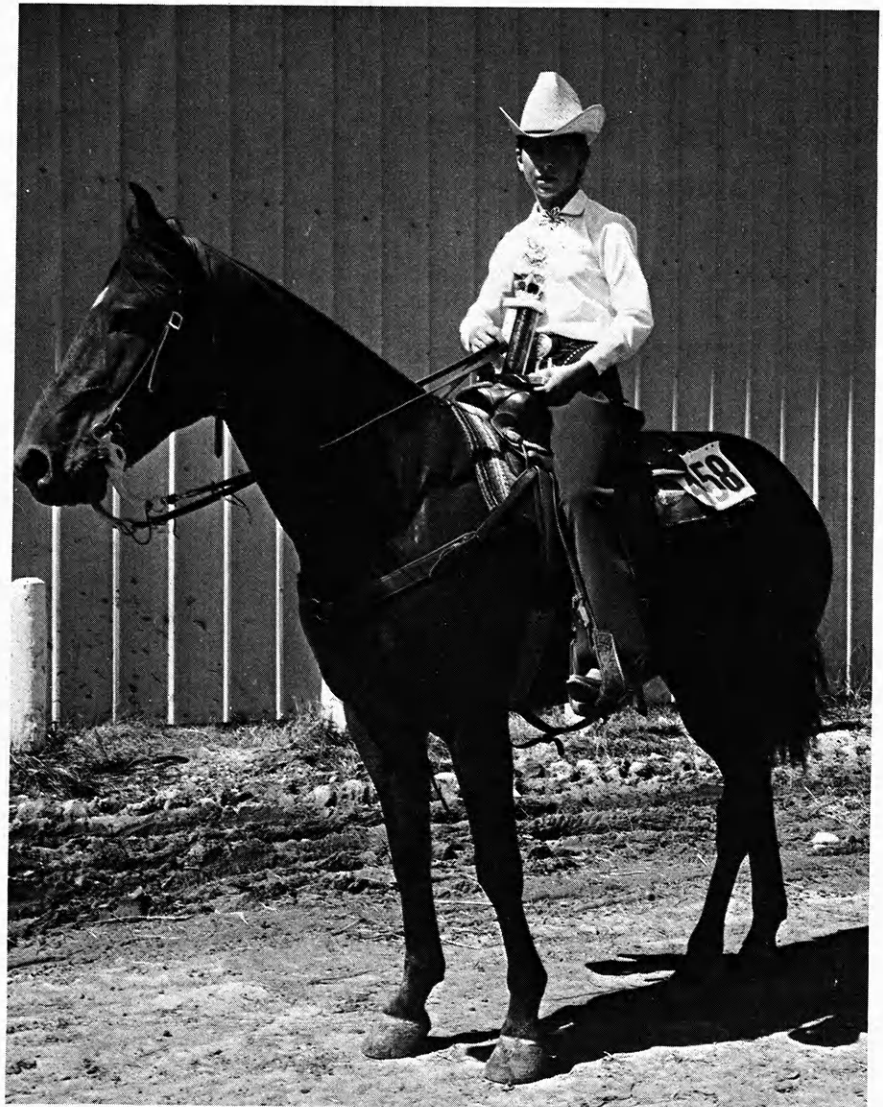

In 1967 a new hog barn was built on Barber County Fair Grounds for the 4-H'ers. The cost was over $6000.

The W-R Milling Company

McPherson, Kansas

They're almost ready for their turn at target practice on the rifle range at Rock Springs Ranch. These Barber County 4-H'ers are some of the 29 from their county who joined with 4-H members from seven other counties in a camp at Rock Springs Ranch in 1971.

Pictured is Tammy Strack with her horse and the trophy she won in the pole bending event at Kansas State Fair. Tammy took part in the district horse show and the state fair horse show and won several honors. Each year Barber County holds a horse show at the county fair.

Barton

Four hundred seventy-five Barton County youth take part in extension sponsored programs for young people, 338 as members of 15 4-H clubs and the remaining 137 as participants in special classes. These include tractor and lawn mower clinics, and classes in clothing construction, macrame, and needlecrafts.

In 1933 Barton County 4-H members entertained businessmen at a picnic to thank them for their support of 4-H work. This year the businessman's picnic was a summer event in Barton County for the 39th time. About 1000 persons attended.

Bourbon

Old Fort Rodeo Days were a highlight for the 4-H clubs in Bourbon County this year. A brand new saddle, given by the Wal-Mart store, was awarded to the queen. The queen is selected on the basis of which club sells the most tickets percentage-wise prior to the rodeo. It proved to be quite a race this year. The big night finally arrived and Peggy Clark of the Drywood 4-H Club was given a new saddle and a crown to wear. The first runner-up was Sherry Burchett, Eastside, and Carol Hazelbaker, Uniontown, was second runner-up.

4-H'ers like Peggy Clark regard the rodeo as a great learning experience. Riding in the grand entry every night and just being there before the community is a stimulating experience for many 4-H'ers. Participation of the 4-H clubs is very worthwhile for not only monetary reasons, as the clubs receive 10 per cent of what they sell, but also because it gives them a more permanent place in the community's activities.

So next year why don't you support your club or a favorite candidate?

—Sherry Burchett

Brown

International Foods, in its first year of enrollment, has become a popular project for 21 girls in Brown County.

At three countywide lessons during the spring and summer, the girls studied foods and customs of Scandinavia, Germany, and Mexico.

Each member and leader demonstrated a food characteristic of the country being studied and learned and shared a custom of that country with the group.

Resource people from the community were invited to attend and to teach the 4-H members a few words and phrases in the guests' native tongues.

By preparing, serving, and eating an entire meal with their guests, members taking International Foods gained insight into customs of other cultures.

Butler

For the eighth year Tuesday night meant square dancing fun to members of the Bluestem 4-H Club last winter. Mr. and Mrs. Enos Groves, who originated square dancing in the Bluestem 4-H Club in 1965, again provided instruction for the various age groups, 8 thru 12 and 13 and over. As usual, a lack of boys posed a problem, solved each year with an over-abundance of girls who will dance boys' parts, making it possible for the club to enter two or three squares each year in the county 4-H days contest in March.

As practicing progresses week by week at the Township Hall in El Dorado, the dancers and their parents begin planning their costumes. Since many of the members are enrolled in sewing projects as well as dancing, they sew their own square dance dresses.

By March the groups are ready for the second part of their goal, entertainment for various civic groups. In the past 8 years the club has performed at the Skelly P.T.A., American Legion, V.F.W., Sarah Watson and Walnut Valley nursing homes and others. They have been regular visitors to the Golden Agers club, where they have performed and then joined in the general fun of the evening.

—Shannon Martin

The Butler County Community Junior College Collegiate 4-H Club was active with community service projects during the year. First, at the Kansas State Fair in September, several members worked at the concession stand in the 4-H building for a day.

In October the club used radio promotion to publicize National 4-H Week.

In November club members gave officer training to 4-H'ers in Sumner County.

During February and March Collegiate 4-H'ers judged preliminary rounds of model meetings as well as 4-H Days in Butler, Sumner, and Cowley counties. In April members participated in the Rock Springs clean-up. Another project during April was the club sponsorship of a talk by Diann Wiens of Marion County who was an IFYE representative to Japan and who is an alumnus of BCCJC. The year ended with an evening picnic for club members and their guests.

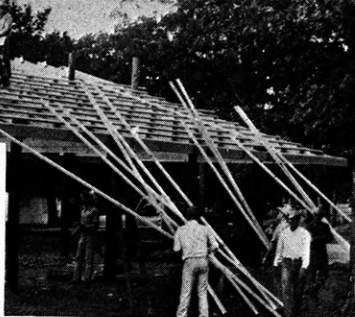

President and vice-president for the 1971-1972 school year were David Fullinwider and Helen Bidwell.

Chase

The Toledo 4-H Club of Chase County won second prize for their float in the annual Flint Hills Rodeo Parade. The theme for the parade was "We're Bucking for a Better 4-H Community."

WE'RE BUCKING FOR A BETTER 4-H COMMUNITY

It's under construction—the Chautauqua County 4-H livestock barn in June 1972.

4-H'ers in Chautauqua County really believe in the 4-H pledge. The 4-H pledge reads "I pledge my hands to larger service." They did just that.

Because of a tragedy in the county which took the lives of five 4-H'ers and the home economist a memorial fund has been established. Money from this fund was used toward building a barn to house 50 beef animals. The 4-H'ers then took action. Each 4-H club, as well as homemaker units and individuals, gave money. A local theater gave the proceeds from advance ticket sales of a show to the barn fund. 4-H'ers held a rodeo and horse show.

Then work began; the old barn was demolished and ground cleared. Poles were supplied and holes drilled by a local cooperative. 4-H'ers, parents, leaders, and others worked to have the barn ready for use at the Chautauqua County Fair.

"Pledging their hands to larger service" to these Chautauqua County 4-H'ers, parents, leaders, and citizens meant planning, funding, and building a 4-H livestock barn. Every Chautauqua Countian is very proud of this facility because he has seen this building materialize from a blueprint to a reality.

Cherokee

Learning can be fun! So the Sheridan 4-H'ers of Cherokee County found out when they tutored the West Mineral Grade School Title One students.

The "Reading Fun Club" started on January 10 and ran until April 17 of this year. The 16 pupils along with their 16 tutors engaged in many learning games and some hard work.

At the tutoring sessions each child was helped to improve his reading ability by reading books, working with flash cards, solving puzzles, and many other educational means.

The tutors had a few nerve racking moments but all in all it was an enjoyable experience for everyone.

The tutoring was just one of the projects the Sheridan 4-H has undertaken in order to complete the club project, citizenship.

Clark

Mrs. Phil Arnold, a former 4-H member, is leader of the new countywide horse project in Clark County.

Four 4-H clubs, Acres, Bear Creek Boosters, Englewood Blazers, and Minneola Boosters, are active in Clark County. Established for a number of years, they now have second generation 4-H members.

A longtime leader is Albert Redger, now community leader of Bear Creek Boosters. He has worked with 4-H members for more than 20 years.

In 1971 a Key Award winner in Clark County was Sally Shattuck of Bear Creek Boosters 4-H Club.

Clay

1971-72 has been a special year for Clay County 4-H'ers and supporters as they celebrated the Golden Anniversary of 4-H in Clay County. Various events and activities during the year have used "our 50th year" as a central theme.

The annual style revue at the county fair in August included both new and old fashions. The backdrop was divided into Flossie's, a store from 50 years ago, and a modern Lady Bug Boutique.

In addition to the outfits made by 4-H girls and those selected by 4-H boys for their projects, junior leaders also modeled a variety of clothes from the past. Long dresses, a military jacket from World War I, and fashionable hats showed that styles and designs do indeed come back into vogue.

National 4-H Club Week and the annual Clay Center Potique provided other occasions to promote 4-H with the 50th year theme.

During 4-H Club Week all clubs in Clay County displayed exhibits and booths proclaiming 1971-72 as our Golden Anniversary.

For the Potique Parade the 4-H council prepared a float that carried the '71 style revue and best groomed boy champions, Teresa Solbach and David McIntosh, dressed in their winning outfits, and Doug Trumble and Sharon Murray wearing fashions from the past.

The annual achievement banquet also played up the 50th anniversary theme. In addition to

Cheyenne

Dan Miller, far right, president of the Happy Lark 4-H Club, Cheyenne County, accepts from Karen Thelkel a dish, a gift of appreciation from a 4-S club in Nicaragua. Karen spent 14 months in Nicaragua with a youth development project, and helped with the project in which the Happy Lark 4-H Club had a sister 4-S club in Nicaragua, to which the 4-H'ers from Bird City have sent letters, literature about 4-H work and about Kansas, and a cash donation. Made by a 4-S member, the green and white dish has the name Happy Lark inscribed on it and a thank you note printed on the back. Mrs. Clarence Busse is people-to-people leader for the Cheyenne County club.

appropriate decorations, 4-H council president, Lennis Yarrow, commented briefly on the progress 4-H has made in the past 50 years.

Clay County 4-H'ers, leaders, parents, and supporters are working to make the next 50 years as great as the past 50.

1971 winners in the style revue and best groomed boy contest were, from left, reserve champions Lennis Yarrow and Kelly Meek; and champions Teresa Solbach and David McIntosh.

Cloud*

Cloud County is fortunate enough to have a child care center for mentally retarded children. So to help this program out, Fairview Hilltoppers 4-H Club decided for their club project to help with the Retarded Children's Association's moneymaking project throughout the year.

Our club members sold tickets for a soup supper and several members attended it. At Christmas time we sold more than 120 candles made by mentally retarded children. Some leaders also attended a benefit dance which the association held. As another money making project, the association for Mentally Retarded Children had a rummage sale to which our club members donated clothing and other small articles.

For extra projects, we made individual bunny cakes for each child at the Day Care Center at Easter time. For May Day each member brought a May basket to the meeting which we gave to each child.

Our club members have enjoyed the happiness we've brought to these special children and the appreciation of the children's parents.

About four years ago a 21-year-old young lady who had grown up here in Burlington was hurt in a car accident in Florida where her Air Force husband was stationed. Four days after the accident Carol gave birth to a healthy little boy. Carol laid in a coma for weeks; because of the head injury and coma, Carol was almost helpless when she came out of the coma and she remained this way for about two years. After being in hospitals in Florida, California, and Kansas, Carol came home to her parents' farm near here two years ago; she was hardly able to move a toe by herself and Carol McCarty lies on the table while a team of six persons gives her patterning in rhythm. Everyone had to be quiet so that Carol could re'ax so that her arms, legs, and head could be moved in rhythm. Her legs were hardest to move so this usually took adults to handle but the 4-H'ers took care of her feet, arms, and head. They helped especially with speech therapy during lunch time. The Burlington Best 4-H Club received the state health award in 1971.

barely able to sit in a chair and doctors gave her parents no hope that she would ever be any better.

An aunt of Carol's encouraged her parents to check into a therapy called "patterning" in which the motor cells are rebuilt in the brain through repetition. This took three teams of individuals a day— six persons in the morning for two hours, six persons each afternoon and six in the evening; Carol's parents asked for volunteers and they were overwhelmed by the response of friends and strangers. Sessions were started immediately and two years later the volunteers are still willing and ready to help.

The Burlington Best 4-H'ers volunteered to be the Thursday night team; some of us were not able to help with the "rhythm patterning"; we were there to help with therapy in speech. We donated at least 400 hours the first year while night sessions were used; this meant that we had to give up other activities at times but it was well worth it. We saw Carol begin to walk with help, her speech and memory improve; we saw her begin to give herself patterning; we saw her crawling from 3 feet to 18 to 20 feet; we saw her begin to creep on her hands and knees with help. Each improvement Carol made was as thrilling to us as it was for Carol. Carol had known most of us all of our lives and we had known Carol as she attended school here and with Carol's determination and cheerful attitude she gave us 4-H'ers a witness that will be with us all of our lives.

Even though night sessions are not necessary now some of our parents are on teams during the day and our youth help with sessions during the summer.

The love of family and friends has given to Carol the spark that doctors could not give her, but in return Carol's cheerfulness and sense of humor has helped each of us. Carol's determination has given each of us a stronger will to do the things that we must do each day. Our community has been affected because of this and as you work together on a team once a week, week after week, you become a real unit and are drawn closer together and concerned about each other.

The day that Carol is able to be united with her husband and little son as a family will be as thrilling a day for each of us as it will be for Carol. Yes, we believe that Carol will be able to live a normal life in the near future. Carol has made a remarkable comeback in the past two years; it has been slow at times, but Carol is just as determined today as she was at the beginning, and her faith has never wavered.

4-H ACHIEVEMENT

STATE WINNER

Andrew Schuler, III, Dickinson County has been enrolled in the beef project 9 years, in electric 6 years, in citizenship 2 years and public speaking 7 years. He has been president of his local club and president of the county 4-H Council and has served as the local club assistant beef leader and the assistant county electric leader and served as a judge at several county 4-H day contests. Another undertaking of Andrew's has been to landscape the new family farm home yard.

Andrew says that he hopes some day that he may be able to help young people of the next generation as much as he has been helped by the people through association with him in 4-H club work.

The Ford Motor Company is proud to present a maximum of four gold-filled medals of honor to county winners in the 4-H achievement program.

One state winner receives a trip to the National 4-H Congress in Chicago while twelve $600 Ford Motor Co. Fund Scholarships are awarded to national winners.

STATE WINNER

Lila Gatton, Russell County, has carried 17 different projects during her 9 years in 4-H. Her projects include all of the Home Economics projects, such as food preparation, food, nutrition, food preservation, clothing, knitting, bread, personal development, recreation, citizenship, public speaking, junior leadership and many others. She says she has completed 100 projects, presented 100 demonstrations and talks, appeared in plays and dances, exhibited 100 articles at the county fair and 25 articles at the State Fair.

Lila also says she has experienced a great deal of satisfaction during the past 4 years from her projects and from the way the Jayhawk 4-H Club she belonged to has worked as a team.

More than 800 people were served by Comanche County 4-H members at the alumni banquet at Protection High School. The Comanche County 4-H Council helped with the meal as a money-making project. 4-H members prepared relishes, baked potatoes, and, along with an extension homemaker's unit, baked 144 pies! Phyllis Robertson of Sunny Valley 4-H Club is council president.

Last fall Sunny Valley 4-H Club members, alumni, and leaders honored Mrs. George Deewall and Mrs. Raymond Parcel who had each given more than 30 years of service as leaders.

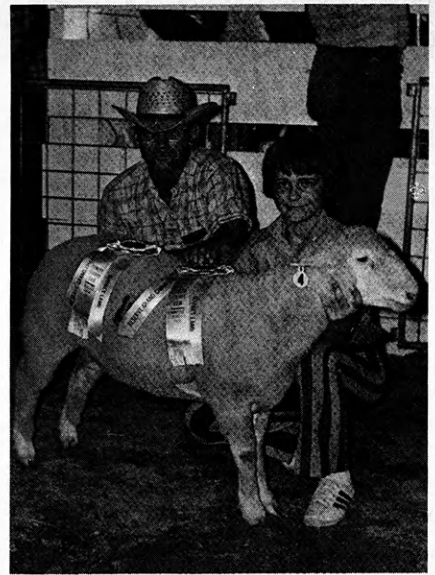

Extension home economist Katharine DeGeer said, "4-H members who have had Mrs. Deewall and Mrs. Parcel as leaders are found from one side of the U.S. to the other!"

Danny Huck of Loyal Hustlers 4-H Club, now disbanded, was Comanche County's Key Award winner for 1971. Comanche County now has four 4-H clubs.

Teresa Hodgson and Gene Coble are pictured with Teresa's reserve champion Dorset lamb at the Cowley County Fair. Buyer of the lamb was Howard Production Credit Association.

Teresa is song leader of the 32-member Udall 4-H Club.

On a Saturday in April Pleasant Valley 4-H Club members and leaders held a garage sale and cleaning day at Hackney Hall in Hackney. Twenty-two members gave the basement of the hall a new coat of paint, scrubbed the floor, mowed the lawn, and picked up litter in the yard. Upstairs, members held a garage and food sale.

The 4-H members worked from 8 a.m. to 7 p.m. to beautify their meeting place. The sewing girls under the leadership of Mrs. Ernie Tackett have made new curtains for the building. The community meeting hall will have had quite a face-lift when the community uses it the next time.

Udall 4-H Club has worked hard to achieve many goals. We have campaigned Udall for the March of Dimes and raised several dollars for this worthy cause.

We also had a king and queen contestant in the fair to contribute to a fund for Frank Farner, lone survivor of an automobile accident which claimed the lives of six Chautauqua County 4-H junior leaders last May. Three hundred dollars was raised by people paying a penny a vote. Our queen, Marilyn Magnusson, was first runner up and our king, Ralph Weninger, third runner up.

The club has also enjoyed many fun-filled activities, such as skating, wiener roast and picnics, tours with covered dish suppers, and the excitement of working and playing together to achieve our goals.

Last but not least we hosted an appreciation dinner May 1st for our business people who have helped support Udall 4-H in many ways. Small gifts were presented and we enjoyed an evening of fellowship together.

Organization leaders Mr. and Mrs. Jim Timmis and Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Wells have devoted many hours to build up a strong Udall 4-H Club.

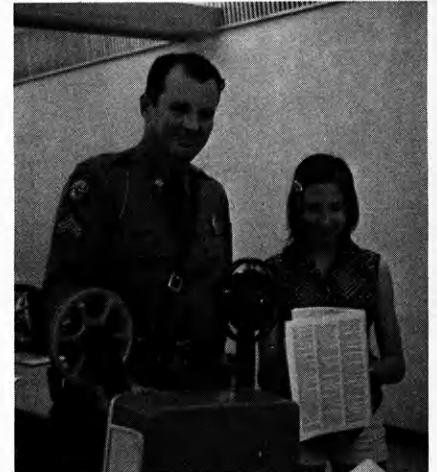

"Safety is our bag" says the Cloverite 4-H Club of Girard. This club has just sponsored its third Defensive Driving Course for the citizens of Crawford County. Mrs. Russell Murdock of the Crawford County Farm Bureau helped to co-ordinate the courses. The club has promoted other safety projects such as safety rest stops; handing out literature to approximately 1,700 people over Memorial Day, 4th of July, and Labor Day weekend. Cookies, cold drinks, or coffee were also served. Girard City Police Department and the Crawford County Sheriff Department cooperated with the club in this project.

Members of the Cloverite 4-H Club have put red safety tape on county bridges on secondary roads, put red safety tape on bicycles, given talks on radio, made safety posters (four members have won trophies for their efforts), put up window displays during Girard Homecoming, and a display booth at the Mall in Pittsburg during Youth Week. The club won a county safety award.

Sherry Von Soosten is president of the 40-member club. Dennis Brink is 4-H agent for Crawford County.

Harold Bowers, Kansas Highway Patrolman, and Lorrie Von Soosten, Cloverite 4-H Club member

A club for junior leaders was recently organized in Decatur County under the leadership of county extension director Kent Reinhardt. President of the group is Larry Van Vleet of Star Valley 4-H Club.

A hayrack ride was the group's first event.

As a moneymaking activity, Decatur County junior leaders sold fireworks in Oberlin for the Fourth of July.

Dickinson

A special ceremony was given at the model meeting of the Detroit Ramblers 4-H Club in Dickinson County honoring the second generation members who were Kent and Terry Eveleth and Larinda, Brian and Tama Paulson.

The club organized on January 9, 1949. A reunion honoring the second generation members was held at Sterl Hall in Abilene on April 9, 1972.

There were 110 county agents, leaders, former members and guests present, including the four leaders who served when the club was organized.

and has always been especially interested in basketball. Both Jacque and her brother Jeff, age 11, were winners for their age divisions in Sandy's pass, dribble, and shoot contest held in Junction City during the winter.

At club meetings, members are anxious for recreation time, as Jacque always has a new and exciting game to play. At Christmas she made a "pinata" filled with candy that members took turns poking and all scampered for the goodies as they fell. She received a blue ribbon for her recreation talk at Dickinson County 4-H Day and also presented it for the Chapman Lions' Club meeting. Her mother was a former Dickinson County 4-H club member and is a kindergarten teacher in the Chapman school system.

Two mothers whose children are second generation 4-H members are honored by the Detroit Ramblers 4-H Club in Dickinson County. From left are Brian Paulson, Tama Paulson, Larinda Paulson, Terry Eveleth, Mrs. Larry Paulson, Mrs. John Eveleth, and Curtis Stoffer and Glenda Kracke who were members of the initiation committee.

It was not surprising when members of the Chapman Shamrocks 4-H Club, Dickinson County, elected Jacque Sanborn to lead their club in recreation this year. Sports and recreation run in the Sanborn family. Her father, coach John Sanborn, led his Chapman Irish team to the Class 3-A state basketball championship this year. The Shamrocks feel they are the only club in the state that can boast a state champion basketball coach as a 4-H parent.

Jacque, 13, has been a 4-H member four years and is carrying projects in foods, clothing, knitting, civil defense, and recreation. She is a big sports fan

Doniphan

Several improvements have recently been established at the Doniphan County Fairgrounds.

A 6½ acre pond was constructed which adds beauty and recreation and picnic facilities. A landscape plan was developed with help from extension forestry. Approximately 850 seedling trees were planted on the west side of the pond this spring.

Another much needed improvement was addition of heat to the 4-H exhibit building with most of the funds donated by 4-H clubs, extension homemaker units, and other interested persons.

Plans are now underway for addition of restrooms and a storage room to the building. When this is completed this will make a year-round meeting and activity area for 4-H clubs and other organization which were in need of such a facility.

Just across the fence is a recently completed swimming pool which was inviting after a day at the fair in August.

Douglas*

The University of Kansas Collegiate 4-H Club, located in Lawrence, is quite active despite its size. We have about 12 participating members and we concentrate mainly on being a service organization to the community.

Last fall our club worked in the concession stand at the state fair, as well as holding the officers' training school for Douglas County. We always judge for several county 4-H Days in the surrounding area and this spring our club held a model meeting for the 4-H club which is sponsored by Cordley School for children attending a special education class here in Lawrence. Some of our members also attended and participated in the Rock Springs Ranch annual cleanup this April.

Our club has a few general business meetings, as well as some parties each semester. Our club, although small, does enjoy itself and the members feel that they are a part of something quite worthwhile.

Anyone attending Kansas University is welcome to join our club and for information should contact either

The group studying veterinary science met on Thursday evenings in the Oliphant home.

4-H youth in Edwards County had the opportunity this year to take part in a countywide veterinary science project with Rodney Oliphant, DVM, from Offerle as leader.

Animal nutrition was discussed at the organizational meeting. The youth were given information on how to determine the feeding values of a livestock ration.

During the four weeks of the program the 4-H'ers covered material in the project manual on animal disease.

Elk*

The Elk County Twilight Tour is an annual event held in May by the different 4-H clubs in Elk County. Purpose of the tour is to encourage people to protect and preserve natural resources. The tour is held in the evening, at twilight, because of the atmosphere it creates.

The people who attend ride on a trailer and make different stops on the particular farm which the tour covers. A different club each year puts on the program for the evening and the junior leaders from that club give talks on different subjects concerning soil and water conservation. The 4-H'ers get involved this way by discussing advantages of soil and water saving and its techniques and devices.

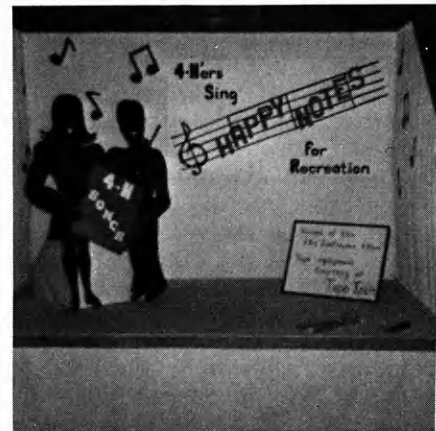

With the coming of modern machinery and equipment it is necessary to modernize and update your farmlands and your water sources.

Elk County has a large number of watershed dams that provide plenty of water for Elk County ranchers and also for recreational purposes.

To complete the evening the 4-H club in charge provides a picnic supper for those in attendance.

—Monty Tredway

*Ellis

Recreation is the club project of Ellis Sunflowers 4-H Club. The club booth showing that singing can be fun won reserve champion at the county fair. The booth had a continuous tape playing with the voices of the Ellis Sunflowers 4-H members singing songs as they do at a club meeting.

Being a 4-H parent for just one year may seem difficult, but recently at the model meeting of the Good Hope 4-H Club in Ellis County Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Pfannenstiel were honored for being 4-H parents for 31 years.

Ruth Gross, president of the club, moderated the ceremony and presented a plaque to Mr. and Mrs. Pfannenstiel. Members of the club took the place of the Pfannenstiel children and told of their experiences as 4-H members.

—Allen Dinkel

In February of 1946 the first meeting of the newly organized Winners 4-H Club was called to order by Leona Wasinger, the club's first president. In November 1946 the club was awarded a charter and gold seal.

Today, 25 years later, the club is still prospering. It is very active in community service and has a wide variety of projects.

Hopefully, the Winners 4-H Club will prosper for another 25 years.

Ellsworth

The 14th annual Heart of Kansas 4-H Spring Beef Show was held Saturday, May 13, at the Ellsworth 4-H Building. The 4-H show originated as a part of the former Purebred Beef Cattle Show in the Heart of Kansas.

In 1958, the show included a class of 4-H steers. From this start evolved the Heart of Kansas 4-H Spring Beef Show. The current show retains the practice of inviting counties surrounding Ellsworth, but other changes have occurred through the years. The Charolais class has been added to the original Hereford, Angus and Shorthorn classes. Standards for the breeding heifers and steers have also been changed since 1958.

The 14th annual spring beef show included 4-H members as participants from Rice, McPherson, Ottawa, Lincoln, and Ellsworth counties.

The following standards were used to select the champion animals; good size and scale with straight and trim lines and meatiness shown by width and muscling in the loin, rump and hind quarters. Winners in the breed classes were—Mike Hamm, Ottawa County, Simmental cross; Lori Nelson, McPherson County, Angus. From Ellsworth County, Beth Rush won with her Charolais steer; also, Brian Huseman with his Shorthorn steer. Jill Carlson, from McPherson County, placed first with her Hereford steer.

Champions in the fitting and showing class were as follows: Mike Hamm, Ottawa County, junior reserve champion showman; Dwight Bair, McPherson County, junior champion showman; Allen Konicek, McPherson County, senior reserve champion showman; Twig Marston, McPherson County, senior champion showman.

Finney

The Wide-Awake 4-H Club has been tracing its history this year. In January a potluck supper was held to honor past leaders of the club. Invitations were sent to 18 former leaders. Ten attended the supper. During the meeting that followed a poster listing all former leaders from 1930 until the present was hung in the club room. History of the club was discussed by Margaret Lobmeyer, club historian, and Elmer Haas Jr., first club president. In the picture below, Mr. Haas placed the club's 11th purple seal on the club's charter. Also during the meeting Mrs. J. H. Lightner, a former leader, initiated three new members, including her grandson and a great-grandson.

Six charter members still living in the area were invited to attend the club's March meeting. Five of these members attended. During the meeting Mr. Elmer Haas Jr. hung a picture of his mother, who had organized the club in the summer of 1929, in the club room. Mrs. Haas Sr. started the club with 13 members and was leader until 1935. During this meeting Elmer Haas Jr., Harold Kleysteuber, and John Staley recalled that they were Wide-Awake's first livestock judging team.

The club plans to hang more pictures of former leaders and to continue tracing the history of the club.

Ford

Mrs. Robert Gordon and Diana Pruitt of the Northwest Hustlers 4-H Club serve as targets for a sponge throw in the Ford County annual 4-H Carnival. This was one of twelve games of skill available for 4-H members and leaders to try.

For an evening of fun plus a moneymaking project, try a 4-H Carnival. Ford County's twelve 4-H clubs have banded together each year for a countywide carnival. Admission is a pie or cake per family and a "white elephant gift" per 4-H member.

Each 4-H club sponsors a game of skill and one other booth such as spook house, pony ride, cake walk, bingo, flea market, country store, popcorn stand, snow cone stand, or food stand. A dollar entitles a person to play the games of skill all night for no additional charge.

Money raised is used to pay various 4-H council projects such as camp and trip scholarships, county-wide 4-H parties, IFYE delegates' expenses, and county fair improvements.

Whoop-ee!! We're off to Day Camp! Forty-five 8 and 9 year olds are eager and bubbling as they board a bus for two days of fun.

Each year the Franklin County Junior Leaders Club sponsors a day camp program for the younger 4-H members in the county. The camp, this year for the first time, initiated the new Kiwanis facilities at Pomona Reservoir.

The boys and girls are divided into two groups when they arrive at the lake area. Three junior leaders are assigned to each group. There are three full-time camp counselors and the county 4-H agent, Dave Smith. While one group explores the game area where they can play box hockey, ping pong, carom, and tether ball, the other group tries their hand at canoeing. Safety is stressed at all times and life jackets are always a requirement while using the canoes. This is a first time experience for many youngsters.

During the busy morning, three other junior leaders prepared lunch for the campers. Each camper at the two-day camp paid a fee to cover expenses which included use of the campsite, food, and transportation.

Swimming is the featured afternoon attraction. The beach area at Pomona Lake is well marked with buoys so that none venture into the water too far. There are lifeguards to whistle any back who do go too far. Obeying the rules of water safety is something that even young 4-H'ers can do.

A snack of cookies and kool-aid is served before the bus loads to return to Ottawa.

This day camp was formed for the express purpose of providing fun and also a learning experience for the youngest 4-H members. Later they have a chance to attend camp at Rock Springs and then Round-up, but for now, because they are young, they don't qualify for the regular camps. Young children enjoy

Geary*

In Geary County a livestock buyer at the sale after the fair can always expect a personal visit and "Thank you" from the 4-H member whose animal he bought.

After the sale, each 4-H'er who sold an animal goes to the extension office in Junction City to receive his check. He is also given a large green and white rosette with a 4-H emblem in the center, the words "Livestock Buyer" on one streamer, and "Geary County 4-H Sale" on the other.

Then the 4-H member takes the ribbon to the person or head of the firm who bought his animal, presents the ribbon, and says his "Thank you" in person.

*Gove

1971 state winner in public speaking was Cheryl Lynn Roberts from Gove in Gove County. Her first project talk when she was a young 4-H member was a health talk for 4-H Day; she got a white ribbon. Of her talk Cheryl said, "It was anything but according to 4-H standards."

But many talks followed, and she progressed to county, regional, and state winner.

There is one difference between Cheryl's story and that of many other 4-H members. During the summer after she had graduated from high school, a freak accident with a horse put her leg in a cast for six months. As doctors debated the fate of her leg, the future became bleaker by the week.

To go to Kansas State University had been her dream; now she had to cancel her enrollment. She wondered if she could continue in 4-H.

Plans were revised, and with help from friends and teachers, Cheryl attended Colby Community College. And she finished her last year of eligibility as a 4-H member.

Her perseverance was rewarded as she won the Key Award, gold pin, and other honors.

"My first impulse," she said, "was to call all my leaders and agents and congratulate them."

Cheryl accepts responsibilities along with the honors. She is citizenship leader in Meadowlarks 4-H Club and a counselor for ecology conference at Rock Springs Ranch.

As of this September, Cheryl is majoring in home economics at Kansas State University. And her leg, aside from providing her with a built-in barometer, is almost as good as new.

Graham*

May 1 seven members and two parents of the Centennial 4-H Club took 60 May baskets to Dawson Place, a rest home in Hill City. Left to right with the baskets are Donna Davis, Jeff Davis, Steve Schlingloff, Delia Cox, Renee Davis, and Andy Davis. Standing in the back are Mrs. John Davis and Mrs. Robert Brown.

The May baskets were made from plastic strawberry baskets with colored pipe cleaners for handles. Stapled to each handle was a slip of paper which read: "HAPPY MAY DAY! From the Centennial 4-H Club." The baskets were filled with candy and homemade brownies baked by the members of the Meals for Today the Easy Way cooking class. They are Denise Worcester, Delia Cox, Renee Davis, and Lee Ann Brown. Their leader is Mrs. Robert Brown.

The oldest person who received a May basket was O. M. Harris, who is 98.

We all enjoyed making and delivering the May baskets.

Your General Motors These 4-H

La Rita is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Croucher, Jr., Westphalia and has been in the safety project for 5 years. She has made a total of 137 safety and return checks, 71 other surveys of her own, 31 safety talks at club meetings. La Rita has shown 2 films, written 38 items for newspapers, checked 120 cars for key reminders, tested water for safety, helped prepare and guide the preparation of 4 safety booths, sold 36 slow moving vehicle emblems, given 7 talks to organizations, made 2-5 minute radio tapes, placed reflectors on two low-water bridges, cleared a blind corner and made 2 window displays.

She has given 17 demonstrations in the area of safety and given 35 talks. She attended the National Safety Congress in 1970 and served as a counselor at the Farm Bureau Safety Seminar in the summer.

These progressive, independent General Motors dealers are proud to salute the 4-H safety winners in Kansas. May your efforts continue to reduce the accident toll in the home, on the farm, and on the highway.

Grant

Who cares? We do, say the members of the Grant County Full-O-Pep 4-H Club. The Full-O-Pep club is taking people-to-people as the club project and the members decided to go to the Western Prairie Care Home regularly to put on a 30-minute program of songs, skits, and talent. Our visits are made during months when the home probably won't have any other entertainment. This project is enjoyed by the people at the home and the 4-H'ers. We have been going to the home and giving programs for 2½ years.

Sewing is fun for girls of the Grant County Full-O-Pep 4-H Club. The girls had a style revue of their own and modeled the summer garments they made during their sewing project meetings . . . they're all set for fun in the sun. Their leader is Mrs. Leon Shapland.

Gray

Gray County 4-H'ers participated in the annual Cherry and Apple Pie Contest again this past year. This activity is not found too often in Kansas anymore. This year there were five contestants in the senior division and three in the junior division.

Victory Electric of Dodge City sponsored this 4-H activity. The winners were awarded portable electric mixers. Ann Moomaw of Ensign Boosters 4-H Club was the champion in the senior division and Tina Habiger of the Charleston Astronauts 4-H Club was champion in the junior division.

The 4-H'ers are judged on personal grooming, following the recipe, confidence, and orderliness as well as on the pie.

There was one boy who entered the pie contest, which shows they like to cook too.

A new project for Richard

Wade of the Sky High 4-H Club is chinchillas.

A female chinchilla produces two litters a year and usually one or two young per litter. The young chinchilla is raised for 9 to 10 months at which age they are ready to be primed. Priming consists of special environmental controls which improve the quality and set of the fur. The process of priming takes about 120 days after which the animal is pelted and the hide tanned. Then the pelt is ready for market.

For best results chinchillas require individual cages, good ventilation, a temperature between 55 and 75 degrees, and calm handling.

The cost of caring for a chinchilla is moderate for a year. The feed is a special mixture quite similar to the feed used for rabbits.

Greeley

Art and conservation have been big out west in Greeley County 4-H this year.

The Golden Opportunities 4-H Club has been participating in the conservation program for a number of years. Projects have included replacing cedar trees damaged by fire, planting and maintaining Russian olive trees for windbreaks around the city ball diamond and along a park area, establishing mum beds in cooperation with other 4-H clubs, and participating in the Tribune Arbor Day Centennial observation by purchasing and planting two trees for PRIDE Park.

The centennial observation was sponsored by the Tribune Shade Tree Commission who planned the planting in cooperation with the extension forestry specialists and coordinated the purchase and planting of those trees. Thirty-four trees were provided by various individuals and groups and were planted April 10 following the Arbor Day program. In the picture, the Golden Opportunities 4-H members are planting one of their trees. Their leaders are Mr. and Mrs. Dean Hornbaker.

Interest has been high, countywide, in arts and crafts. Mrs. Willard Werner, county 4-H program chairman, took the organizational leadership of this pioneer project.

Classes were held for all enrollees in the basic principles of design. Other objectives were to learn skills for leisure time and to develop creative abilities.

Classes were then organized in macrame, decoupage, candle-making, sketching, and oil painting. Eight leaders worked with almost 50 boys and girls in over 100 projects. All articles are to show originality in design.

A record sheet has been adopted. At the county fair each member may exhibit one article in each phase in which he is enrolled.

Greenwood

Some 32 4-H members and 4 adults from Greenwood County spent a week in July this summer in Dakota County, Minnesota, returning the Minnesotans' visit to Greenwood County in 1971.

Ten boys and 21 girls from Minnesota enjoyed a week of Kansas 4-H hospitality last July, including a special trip to Wichita, Cowtown, Cessna Aircraft, KARD T.V., and Consistory, supper and a swim plus a watermelon feed in the Eureka park.

For a week the 4-H'ers lived, worked, and played with Greenwood County 4-H families learning new farming practices and local customs.

Hamilton

Hamilton County 4-H families were host on June 13 to 35 Colorado 4-H members and 2 leaders from the San Juan Basin during an overnight stop on the Coloradans' way to a 4-H exchange with 4-H members of Noblesville, Indiana.

The group was greeted by A. D. Cauthon and a reception committee of 4-H members and leaders. After an hour swim in the Hamilton County pool, supper was provided by the 4-H families at the Hamilton County fair building.

The guests were welcomed to Hamilton County by Neil Schroll, vice-president of the 4-H council, and by Lawrence Alwin, manager of the Syracuse-Hamilton County Chamber of Commerce.

The Colorado delegation then presented a slide program on 4-H, agriculture, and scenic beauty in the San Juan Basin, which the 4-H families and others from the county enjoyed.

Following the program the Colorado delegation went to various 4-H homes for the night, and after breakfast were sent on their way toward Indiana.

Harper

The Tip Top 4-H Club in Harper County has organized a dairy club for 11 members from three different 4-H clubs and from five different families. The purpose of the club is for all those with common interests to work together and learn from each other.

For the first project meeting a judging group went to the All-Kansas Black and White show to judge and see the animals.

The second meeting was a tour to each farm to see each project. All 11 members went on this tour. After seeing all the projects, there was a picnic lunch and in the afternoon Eric Latta showed how to clip his heifer and also the art of trimming hooves. The younger members learned lots about grooming for show.

There was a dairy foods poster contest on the tour and prizes were given. These posters were exhibited the week of June 1 in Anthony and Harper.

A third project meeting was a tour of Steffens Dairy Plant in Wichita in June.

To keep members informed, two members of the Tip Top Club, Jacky and Sheri Vogt, created a newspaper to send to each member.

Another newspaper was sent out after the county fair results were in and the dairy plant tour was over.

—Chester Barber

Harvey

Out of 40 teams in the livestock judging contest at Mid America Fair in 1971, Harvey County had the top team. Team members were Susan Gatz, third high individual, Kathy Gatz, fourth individual, and Don Voth.

Harvey County also had the first place dairy judging team at Mid America Fair. Gerrold Jost was second high individual; other team members were Jean Sauerwein and Karla Allen.

Christmas was observed in a variety of ways by Harvey County clubs. The Newton City Slickers junior leaders held a Christmas Crafts Day for all 4-H'ers. About 25 attended. Kellas 4-H Club had "A Bible verse" for December roll call, read the Christmas story, and sang carols.

Each family in the Kansas Jayhawkers 4-H Club brought a box of tissues or roll of paper towels for the Day Care Center. For December refreshments, each family brought cookies. A grab-bag gift exchange was part of the fun for Sedgwick Sunflower 4-H Club. Their community service committee helped dispose of people's discarded Christmas trees.

Clubs which went caroling were Lucky 13, Newton City Slickers, and Burrton Western Harvey Boosters.

Haskell

Junior leaders of Haskell County have been holding a series of painting parties to create their own welcome signs for Haskell County. Seven signs have been prepared to erect at highway entries to the county.

The painting parties attracted 4-H artists to lend their talents to painting the signs, and the do-it-yourself attitude of the junior leaders speeded construction of the signs.

4-H is here to stay in Haskell County and 4-H members are willing to paint it down in green and white to prove it.

Hodgeman

In early spring a new 4-H club was organized in Hodgeman County. Named Southwest Ramblers, it now has 15 members.

As a moneymaking activity, the Hodgeman County 4-H Council sold fireworks before the Fourth of July. The council made out a schedule and members from different clubs took turns working in the stand.

The five 4-H clubs in Hodgeman County are Silverlake Hustlers, Busy Bee Juniors, Prairie Stars, and Jolly Jayhawkers, in addition to the new Southwest Ramblers.

Jackson

In June members of the Topeka Kennel Club brought 20 dogs to Holton for a demonstration for Jackson County youth.

The Topekans gave special information about dog grooming, dog obedience and dog show procedure. 4-H members taking the dog project and other interested persons attended.

million children with serious lung damage have cystic fibrosis. The Valley Victors 4-H Club is trying to help. Many children will benefit from our small gifts of money. This really makes our club feel proud.

—Dorene Kirkham, reporter

The Rock Creek 4-H Boosters have taken health for their project this year. In accordance, we had a great tour of Stormont Vail Hospital. We were taken through the laboratory where we saw tests of blood, urine, bacteria, dissecting, X-ray, the emergency room, pediatrics, and other areas. Everyone enjoyed seeing behind the scenes of a hospital and all the special care that we don't usually see as a patient.

The volunteers were pleased with gifts for pediatrics. Through the year our cake walk proceeds at each meeting is given to a health charity that month.

We all enjoyed getting out to sell peanut butter for cerebral palsy.

—Linda Peters, reporter

Williamstown 4-H Club had 17 members last year. But they had so much fun and "talked 4-H" so much, that this year their membership is up to 45!

Jefferson County 4-H Council sponsored a new activity this year. We had an exchange visit with Winnebago County, Illinois, this summer. Members representing each club in our county lived with and exchanged ideas with families in Illinois. Next year they will return the visit.

Kansas Dairy Princess Becky Smith is a Jefferson County girl, a member of the Lucky Lakers 4-H Club, and Denise Coleman, Miss Topeka, competing for the Miss Kansas title, is a member of Lake View 4-H Club. Both are from Ozawkie.

In Grantville 4-H Club we work each year on people-to-people as a club project. Two of our members performed a song and dance in Dutch with authentic costumes which our minister brought back from a recent visit to his family in Holland. Two others learned a song in Dutch for the Christmas Eve service in our community. Several of our members helped with a community dinner with an Indonesian theme. Three girls from our club performed an Indonesian candle dance in native costume. We have team talks at each meeting about different countries.

All members participate in model meetings even though enrollment in the Grantville club is 48. Each member has a responsibility in the meeting. We concentrate on unusual ceremonies that illustrate a project the club is working on. We have been county winners four out of the past five years. To encourage other clubs to work in this activity, our club is giving the county a traveling trophy to be kept one year by the club who is winner in this event.

To 4-H'ers in our club, ecology is a new name for community improvement which we have practised since 1932! This year Grantville 4-H'ers used a ceremony in model meeting to illustrate how we helped plant the first National Children's Forest in cooperation with National Forest Service and Hunt-Wesson Foods. The food company provided a tree for each label sent in, to replant a burned area. Our club helped plant 69 trees in Mark Twain National Forest in Missouri where an arsonist started a fire one year ago.

—Beth Bigham, Jefferson

County 4-H Council reporter

Jewell

An enviable 4-H record has been achieved by Jerry Dahl, who is an active and award-winning member of the Webber Wide Awake 4-H Club in Jewell County. This is another good example showing that determination and enthusiasm coupled with encouragement and help from parents and friends can enable the handicapped to take a place proudly in their community.

Jerry is 17 years old and is at present attending school at Beloit, U.S.D. 273, in the TMR class. Although his speech is somewhat defective, this has been no deterrent to his winning many honors in 4-H work.

Jerry began his 4-H work in 1966. He has taken a total of six registered Angus heifers as projects since that time, showing them in the heifer class one year, then as cows the second year. In the county fair the first year he received a red ribbon on his heifer; he also attained the one and only purple ribbon for the best kept stall. These calves he fed, haltered, broke, and got ready for showing practically by himself.

In 1969-70 he bought a registered quarter horse and showed it at the county fair. He was capable of breaking this horse to the halter, and with a little coaching from his mother and dad, he trained it so he could show it in the halter class. This was a difficult project to show in competition—for Misty is a high spirited animal.

Jerry helped his dad with planting Jerry's 14 acres of wheat and operated the combine a little in harvesting. For showing, he hand picked a gallon of seed. He received a state fair blue ribbon at the county level, and a red ribbon in state fair competition.

At the county achievement banquet Jerry received the county award in beef and wheat.

Jerry gives something, too; he spends a day a year helping clean the fairgrounds and three days at the county fair. He has helped with construction of the new livestock buildings on the fairgrounds.

The county agent comments that Jerry has been a good influence on the 4-H members of the county with his winning personality and his willingness to try hard. They are always right there ready to help Jerry and encourage him.

Jerry's parents are grateful for the ways in which 4-H has helped Jerry. His 4-H activities have given him a feeling of being accepted in the club and community. 4-H has given him an avenue for personal development and achievement.

—Condensed from an article titled "4-H Record" by Velva Riley in TRACKS, published by the Kansas Association for Retarded Children.

Johnson

Loading a recycling van with newspapers are Sharon Boehm and Patty Russell, members of Sharon 4-H Club.

Members of the Sharon 4-H Club of Johnson County have worked this past year to improve the environment in their community. They have had four paper drives, raising $229.05. The club has stressed the importance of eliminating accumulated papers as they are a safety hazard.

The building of bluebird houses for the endangered bluebird was a project the club initiated in the spring. They built 26 houses.

A panel was presented by several members of the Sharon 4-H Club for the March meeting of a Federated Women's Club. The panel's topic was Environment Thru A Teen-Ager's Eyes.

—Patty Russell, reporter

The Greenwood Meadowlarks picked up corn to raise money, then donated $100 to the K. U. Burn Center in memory of Christine Mills, a former club member. Christine was fatally burned last summer when a gas hot water heater ignited the gasoline she was using to clean paint brushes.

The 4-H'ers have participated in other safety projects. A bicycle safety check was held for all students of Greenwood Grade School. Minor repairs were made by the older members. Also the 4-H'ers painted safety lines on the playground and street.

Our club took part in the Step One Program. We collected bottles, papers, and tin cans. We cleaned the ball park and the roadsides. Over 900 pounds of tin cans were collected. Whew! That's a lot of cans.

—Dee Anderson, reporter

The Johnson County Dog Club is a very active group. Besides the regular monthly meeting the members meet each Wednesday evening for ten weeks to give their dogs obedience training. Al Abernathy and Mr. and Mrs. Steve Dennis of the German Shepherd Dog Club of Greater Kansas City, Missouri, are teaching the obedience training sessions. Mrs. Jean Lichty of Gardner is leader of the 4-H dog club and 28 members are training their dogs.

—Leesa Bottoms, reporter

Leesa Bottoms, Morning Glory 4-H Club, Johnson County, gave a talk, "An International Agreement on Safety," about the new road signs.

State Winner

Steven Russell, Greenwood County, is state winner in the Agricultural Program and has been enrolled in agricultural projects for 9 years. At the present time he has 15 head of dairy animals. Other agricultural projects that he has carried are horse, hog, corn, alfalfa and wheat. Last year he had 5 acres of alfalfa and 50 acres of wheat. The feed and hay that he raises on his crops project help reduce his feed cost. He was also enrolled in vet science and animal nutrition, tractor, photography, health and reading and has given numerous talks and demonstrations at local club meetings, Mid America and Hutchinson State Fair.

Steven has an interesting beef project going with mixed breeds crossing his father's Brown Swiss cows with Murray Grey, Simmental and Charolais. He plans to study ag journalism at Kansas State University this fall.

Editor's note: Sheri Henderson, Kansas Wheat Queen, formerly a member of Sunset 4-H Club in Kearny County, has written this article about wheat in the wheat state. A student at the University of Kansas, Sheri is a member of the K.U. fencing team.

"I am no stranger to wheat," Sheri writes, "having worked at a grain elevator office, as an ASCS reporter, and also driven wheat trucks at harvest time."

It's hard to imagine life without wheat. Just count the number of foods in your cupboards that contain wheat. Or drive around your town and count the number of hamburger stands, pancake houses, and pizza parlors, all serving food made from wheat flour. At the same time, wheat remains one of the most plentiful and economical sources of nutrients vital to good health. Wheat foods provide the average American with more nutrition at less cost than any other kind of food. Yes, wheat is very much with us all day long, from breakfast through dinner and snacks.

Wheat is a provider in another way, too—it creates jobs. From the time wheat is planted to the time it reaches the dinner table, it involves many people. These people owe their very livelihoods to the growing, shipping, milling, baking, and distributing of wheat and its many products.

Kansas has an impressive record. We continue to produce one-fifth of the wheat raised in the United States. Wheat is our No. 1 cash crop (average annual sales of wheat represent about one-third of the total cash receipts from all farm marketings in the state). Kansas is the leading state in flour production and second in number and capacity of grain storage plants.

And finally, Kansas leads the High Plains area in the new market development through Great Plains Wheat Inc. Supported by wheat commissions of Kansas, Colorado, Nebraska, Oklahoma, and North and South Dakota, this association of wheat growers has the job of helping to market American wheat at home and overseas.

One of the two basic organizations in Kansas working hard to promote wheat is the Kansas Association of Wheat Growers, organized as an independent commodity organization by Kansas wheat producers to improve the wheat industry of Kansas. Supported by voluntary dues of wheat producing members, the K.A.W.G. has its main office in Dodge City, with Don Crane as its current president.

WHEAT

and Kansas 4-H

The Kansas Wheat Commission salutes Kansas 4-H club members and leaders, whose dedication to Kansas agriculture and the education of our rural youth in the American way of life is building leaders for all walks of life in the world of tomorrow.

As sponsor of educational trips for 4-H young people in the fields of Nutrition and Marketing, the Kansas Wheat Commission is proud to have a part in recognizing excellence in performance in 4-H projects and leadership.

These trips provide inspiration and widen the horizons of career opportunities in agribusiness and nutrition, thus improving the prospects for young people throughout the state.

The Kansas Wheat Commission with Kansas 4-H'ers strives to "make the best better".

The other important organization continuing to promote wheat products is the Kansas Wheat Commission, organized as a state agency under the Kansas Wheat Act of 1957. The K.W.C. is supported by a 2 mill per bushel wheat levy. Its main office is located in Hutchinson, with Creel Brock as its current administrator.

One of the main projects this year of the K.W.C. was the sponsoring of a nutritional awareness award, a trip for three 4-H girls to Minneapolis in June. These young ladies are interested in working with wheat foods and hopefully will continue to help Kansas promote wheat.

The Kansas wheat producer continues to have the power to break all wheat producing records of the past. The 1971 wheat crop, with a 34.5 bushel state average per acre, was not only the biggest yield ever produced in Kansas, but also was high quality milling wheat. And with the Kansas Association of Wheat Growers and the Kansas Wheat Commission promoting the sale of wheat and wheat products, our state is promoted, its economy, and its people.

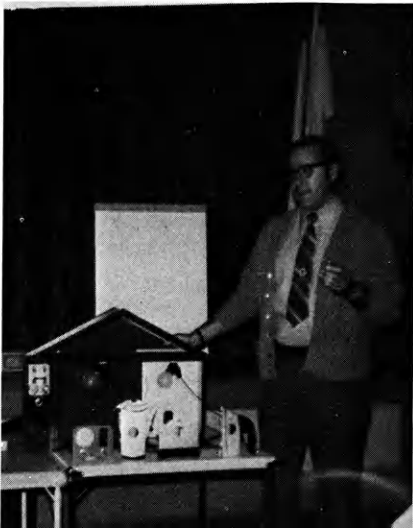

—Sheri Henderson,
Kansas Wheat Queen

For a community service project, members of the Southwest Kearny 4-H Club of Kearny County held an open meeting on fire safety for the public.

The safety committee arranged for Charles Hougland shown in the picture below, of the Kansas Farm Bureau Safety Department, to put on his exhibition of "How Fires Around the House are Started and Methods of Prevention."

Following the demonstration program, members of the 4-H club served homemade ice cream and cake to their 45 guests and club members.

—Janey Waechter, reporter

Kingman

4-H poultry projects have received increased attention during the past year in Kingman County. Enrollment in poultry projects has been increased by a 4-H pigeon club which has been organized during the past year.

The purpose of the club is to further the breeding and exhibiting of all varieties of purebred pigeons. Membership is made up of boys 8 to 19 years of age, some of which are also enrolled in community 4-H clubs. This group meets monthly.

Objectives of the club this past year have been for the members to learn the standards of perfection for the breed of birds they have and to be able to recognize the symptoms of the more common diseases found in pigeons.

A group project has been the construction of poultry and rabbit pens for use at the county fair in August.

The club is making plans for an open pigeon show, besides the county fair show, to be held in October.

Club officers are Dennis Cooper and Kurt Weber both of Kingman. Bob Baruth is their leader.

Kiowa

Kiowa County 4-H clubs are sponsoring a Great Pumpkin Growing contest for all students in the county.

The contest began May 1 when students picked up entry blanks and pumpkin seeds. It will end at a carnival Halloween night when prizes will be given for the three largest pumpkins and the three best jack-o-lanterns in both junior and senior divisions.

Hayse Greenhouse in Greensburg furnished all pumpkin seeds for the contest. Prizes have been offered by S & H Hardware, Mullinville; Dodge City Office Equipment, Dodge City; Coast to Coast Store, Haviland; and by Fleeners Jewelry, Gambles Store, Duckwalls, and Pratt Drugs, all of Greensburg.

Labette

Lane

As our county is participating in the PRIDE program, we have several 4-H clubs who helped in a one day cleanup of the community. Along the same line, each 4-H club has donated an ecology barrel for the Lane County Fairgrounds.

Lane County offers its 4-H members educational trips. In January older 4-H'ers go to Denver where they attend the Western Livestock Show. In June 4-H'ers are sent to Round-up, to Camp Crockett in Colorado, and to SW Camp at Dodge City.

One project that stands out is the landscaping of the hospital grounds in Dighton. The Dighton Goldiggers are footing the bill for an approximate $800 hospital improvement. Like any other club trying to raise money, they have had food sales and other money raising projects.

Leavenworth

Our 4-H club pledge ends in the words "... for my club, my community and my country." One of the club goals of the Lansing Busy Bees 4-H Club of Leavenworth County is an extensive community service program.

The first step in fulfilling our goal was to go Christmas caroling in the local hospitals and homes for the aged. Club members profited as much as the shut-ins as they saw the twinkling eyes and pleased expressions on their faces.

With the help of the Salvation Army, the club selected two needy families with a total of six children. Each family of the club gave a gift to one child and a committee wrapped each of the gifts. They tagged each gift as to the age and sex of the recipient and the giver was simply "Santa." On December 22, leaders of the club delivered the gifts, accompanied by a tree and trimmings. For one family it was the first tree to decorate in their own home.

—Nelta Egli

Lincoln

Highlight of the program at the Lincoln County Achievement Party was a talk on drugs by Sgt. Milton Mills, Junction City Police Department. He related some of his personal experiences when working in the narcotics division, and had a display of different narcotics, pipes, syringes and other drug abuse material. Sgt. Mills has presented nearly 2000 talks to various groups during the past two years.

A film on drug abuse was also shown.

Nine 4-H clubs received seals. Leaders and first year 4-H members were recognized. Outstanding 4-H'ers were awarded Key Awards, Silver Achievement Awards, county project champion medals, and other awards.

Refreshments were provided by the Lincoln Chamber of Commerce.

Linn

The favorite food show proved to be most popular with the 4-H foods girls in Linn County in 1971.

The Parker 4-H girls took part for the first time in 1972. They held a meeting with Mrs. Helen Barnes, county extension home economist. The group discussed favorite foods, planned menus to go with them, and planned place settings appropriate for serving the food.

The 4-H girl brought her favorite food, place setting and centerpiece to be judged July the 18th. The judge visited with each girl concerning her menu and place setting. The place setting, centerpiece, and menu were brought back to the fair where they were placed on exhibit. Placings were put on them at the fair.

* Logan

Fifty per cent of the 4-H members in Logan County attended county camp at Rock Springs Ranch June 16 to 19, 1971. Six counselors and 59 4-H members attended county camp; 118 boys and girls were enrolled in 4-H in Logan County in 1971.

Lyon

The Reading 4-H Club members and Reading High School donated books and magazines which were sent through the International Book Project to India and to Liberia, West Africa. These were sent to help enlarge libraries in high schools and colleges. Club members spent two evenings sorting, wrapping, and addressing packages.

This is a part of our people-to-people projects. We also planned for a speaker at a regular club meeting and had a roll call of current events about a foreign country.

—Marion Fagan, reporter

The Frost 4-H Club celebrated its 30th anniversary in November by inviting charter leaders and members and their families to an achievement party.

After a covered dish supper Mrs. Nels Munson, the first community leader, had the honor of cutting the 30th anniversary cake.

Entertainment was provided by the clothing girls in the club and a few of their fathers. While the girls modeled clothes they had made, their fathers were modeling everything from a maxi-dress to hot pants and a mini-dress.

—Howard Myers, reporter

The Sunflower 4-H Club of Lyon County has had several aluminum drives this year. Members have picked up cans along several roads.

Another activity was having a booth at the county fair to promote 4-H. It had a green cloverleaf with four white H's.

—Margaret Stewart, reporter

Rinker 4-H Club, the oldest 4-H club in Lyon County, with 40 members, cut, hauled, and stacked three large truck loads of wood for the Clare Pearson family. Mr. Pearson was injured in a combine accident.

We called it a woodchoppers' ball, as we had a wiener roast afterwards.

"They are an eager and energetic learning group and I'm very proud of each one," foods leader Mrs. Lawrence Winkley writes. Making snickerdoodles in the Winkley home are, from left, Debby Hett, Julie Hett, Kim Hett, and Patricia McGiness of the All American Foods class of Lucky Leaf 4-H Club of Marion County.

Marshall

4-H was in the spotlight in Marshall County in October 1971, as 4-H'ers participated in a promotional campaign to inform more people about 4-H as well as to thank the many loyal supporters of 4-H in Marshall County.

Over 200 individual 4-H'ers took part in this unique promotional campaign, which consisted of 45 second radio tapes made by each 4-H member. On the tape, each 4-H'er gave his name, the name of his 4-H club, and a listing of his projects. The 4-H'ers also thanked the people of Marshall County for all the support that they had given the 4-H program and urged them to continue their support.

These radio tapes were played on the local radio station approximately 60 times per day throughout the entire month of October.

This promotion was made possible by Herbie Hoeflicker of KNDY Radio and the many friends of 4-H in Marshall County who sponsored the tapes.

Ginny Cohorst, Home City Hustlers 4-H Club, gives a veterinary science demonstration, with help from her hamster and dog.

This has been a busy year for members of the Happy Go Lucky 4-H Club of Marshall County. They collected for the heart fund, cancer fund, contributed to the town of Vermillion for the Christmas lights, and had an IFYE bake sale. They have collected papers from all over and sold them for a moneymaking project. The cooking girls cooked a German meal for their parents. The knitting girls busily knitted ponchos, vests, hats, and slippers. The gardeners busily planted seeds and hoed weeds. The calves and horses were groomed. Horse owners rode over the hills. All this was part of getting ready for the fair.

—Tressa Jacobson, reporter

Yes, we of the Home City Hustlers 4-H Club really do hustle. Every year we have a lot of our members take part in 4-H Days.

This year we were awarded one top blue, one alternate blue, five blues, eight reds, and one white.

Does it look like we hustle or not?

—Joyce Wright

Planting trees was the Jolly Farmers 4-H Club project for this year. All the 4-H'ers gathered and picked out what kind of trees they wanted.

At their community schoolhouse they planted one maple, one oak, and a walnut tree for Arbor Day. Jolly Farmers planted trees at members' homes too. Now everyone will get firsthand experience caring for their trees.

Our club's members have participated in model meeting and ended up second in Marshall County.

Club president is Steve Miller. We have 18 members.

—Barbara Strunk, reporter

McPherson

In McPherson County this year 4-H Day appeared in a new setting. One hundred twenty 4-H members gave presentations in five stores and a parking lot in downtown McPherson. Extension photographer Marjorie Tennant pictured a 4-H'er enrolled in a popular project.

"How to make a garment facing" is demonstrated by Julie Tarun, New Frontiers 4-H Club.

Meade

In Meade County 140 young people take part in six 4-H clubs. Non-4-H'ers also have had opportunities for activities sponsored by the extension service.

The tractor driving clinic taught tractor safety to young drivers.

Rip Rocket materials about good human nutrition were distributed in the grade schools.

In the parks in Meade, Plains, and Fowler kindergarten through fourth grade children took part in pet and hobby shows. A monkey from South America was the most unusual pet.

Girls in junior high and high school received information about careers in home economics. Speakers from the College of Home Economics at Kansas State University told them about these opportunities.

Miami

Twin Valley 4-H Club members of Miami County have been very active with their health activities. One of their favorite projects is Lakemary Center, a school for exceptional children. Once a month for the monthly birthday party they make tray favors for the 105 children that attend this school. Instead of a gift exchange at Twin Valley's Christmas party, each member gave a small donation for Lakemary. This is the ninth year they have done this at Christmastime.

In 1971 they also bought seven gifts for Lakemary's Christmas party at the Paola High School. This spring they collected buttons to be used for mending and teaching aids at Lakemary.

In April Twin Valley sponsored the drug film, "On Your Doorstep," by Art Linkletter at Town Hall in Paola. They served cookies, coffee, and kool-aid to those attending.

—Steve Debrick, reporter

The Twin Valley 4-H square dance group of Miami County, formed in 1966, has won top blue ribbons six of seven years they have danced at County Club Day. The dancers have performed for patients at the Osawatomie State Hospital several years, danced for the Retired Workers, the Eastern Kansas County Officers luncheon, the Miami County Fair, and other local events. From left, in front, are: Connie Debrick, Jim Bob Prothe, Kathy Debrick, and Darryl Prothe. Back row: Carol Peckman, Curtis Kettler, Clinton Peckman, and Beverly Mueller. Their sponsors are Mrs. Robert Prothe and Mrs. Harold Peckman, Block. Six of the original members are still with the group in 1972.

Mitchell

A community service project in Mitchell County which combined the efforts of two 4-H clubs, Future Citizens and West Beloit, cleared an old pioneer cemetery that had been left for years unattended and uncared for. Weeds and two large thickets of chokecherry bushes had taken over this cemetery plot, hiding the grave markers.

It was a cold, damp, dreary day when members, leaders, and parents of the two clubs gathered. Axes, saws, spades, and shovels were used to clear the chokecherry thickets and trim the cedar trees. Branches were raked into large piles, which were hauled off to burn.

By 3 in the afternoon the area which had become a public nuisance and eyesore, as well as a hideout for marijuana parties, had been transformed into an attractive spot with an excellent view of the countryside.

Waconda Winners 4-H Club of Cawker City and their families each individually presented gifts which were all placed together in one big box and given a few days before Christmas to the girls at the Industrial School in Beloit.

The club received a letter from the campus council president in gratitude for remembering the girls at this special time of year.

Triangle Boosters 4-H Club members picked up trash on West Main and West Eighth streets in Beloit. They also plan to make a bench with a trash container to be placed on the corner of Mill and Main.

Hunter 4-H Club members of Mitchell County attended church as a group at the Ash Grove Methodist Church in observance of 4-H Sunday. In the afternoon they went on a rock hunt in the Blue Hills, and finished the day with a picnic supper.

—Jeff Sackhoff, reporter

One headstone can be seen now, and some of the weeds are going, while members and parents of West Beloit 4-H Club ply shovels and rakes to clean a little pioneer cemetery. In the picture are Linda Ludwig, Ronnie Weber, Bob Ludwig, Mrs. Marcellus Weber, and Mrs. Marvin Brobst.

STATE WINNER

Alan Wiley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Wiley in Leavenworth County, has been enrolled in the petroleum power project for 4 years. He has attended 15 project meetings, completed 33 work units, put 260 hours in the project, participated in the county tractor operator contest for the last 4 years and last year placed 19th in the state tractor operator's contest.

He has given 2 demonstrations in the area of tractor and safety, was tractor junior leader for his club, helped 2 younger members who were first year tractor project members with record book and tractor adjustments. He says, "knowledge gained from the tractor project has made him a safer driver who takes better care of his equipment."

Related projects to his tractor project are crop projects. Alan says "the most important principle that he has learned in 4-H is the sense of values."

The American Oil Foundation, Chicago, is proud to have a part in the 4-H Petroleum Power Program, including the Tractor project, a Small Engines project, and providing—

- Four gold-filled medals for county winners
- An all expense paid trip to the National 4-H Congress for the state winner
- Six $700 college scholarships for national winners

We would like to let you know about our 4-H club. The Cheery Cherokee 4-H Club is growing with 11 new members. There are 31 members.

The club held a bake sale recently which was a big success. It made $44 to help cover expenses for the club.

The club is carrying conservation as a club project this year. We put a window display on wildlife in a downtown store during Wildlife Week March 19-25. Some of the children put up purple martin houses and are learning some of their habits by watching them. Some of the members are keeping a bird count, also supplying bird feeders.

One family is interested enough in the project to have made wildlife covers of brush in the pasture to help the wildlife.

Morris

"Got a horse?" This was the question that rang through Morris County two years ago when the Morris County Horse Club was organized. Originally started as a 4-H horse project club, the club has now opened its doors to include other youth in the county interested in horses.

At first interest was weak, but after the club's first trail ride, attended by fifty riders and many parents, membership began to increase. Last year the club's activities included a trail ride, cook out, and a play night.

The Morris County Horse Club is proud of its hard work, especially in judging, and has learned that it really pays off. Morris County's horse judging team placed first in the competition at the state fair in Hutchinson in 1971. Members of the team were Gary Gieswein, Greg Gieswein, Suzanne Muller, and Wanda Wilkerson. Suzanne Muller also was on the state's horse judging team that went to the national contest in Harrisburg, Pennsylvania.

Like most clubs we were in need of money so when we were asked to serve pie and ice cream to a square dancers' convention we jumped at the chance and we made a nice profit. About a hundred dancers especially enjoyed our homemade ice cream and were disappointed when we ran out.

This year all members were determined to make the club a success. After officers were elected in November a winter program of films and speakers was planned. The films included information on grooming and horsemanship. The guys especially enjoyed the films on roping and cutting. Our local veterinarian also came to our meeting and talked on horse diseases.

To get everyone ready for future activities the first spring meeting was a clinic at the Dean Smith Training Stables. Lyon County 4-H Horse Project Club members were our guests. Instructions were given on showmanship, grooming, and horsemanship. Dean Smith with the assistance of his staff, Mike Anderson, Mark Chestnut, Bob Nelson, and Blue Thompson, helped each member individually with his own horsemanship problems. A type demonstration was given by Kenneth Muller. A horse was properly groomed; then instruction was given on how to show a horse at halter.

The next couple of months were busy ones for the horse club. In May we had a play night for the club members. Reining, pole bending, and races were on the program. In June we tried a Tri-County Horse Show. If the club gets brave we may try an overnight trail ride before the weather turns cold this fall.

Starting with only a few members, the horse club has grown considerably the past two years, now having a membership of 45. Through our shows and clinics we have learned more about what we are all most interested in, horses. It hasn't been easy, but we feel all our hard work has paid off. Our sponsors Jack Gieswein and Kenneth Muller deserve much credit for their work.

We hope that the club is as big a success in the future as it has been in the past.

The Watch-Us-Grow 4-H Club of Morton County has recreation as a club project. We have found recreation is an excellent way to be of community service.

The club has two singing groups. The junior group, 13 and under, consists of 18 singers. This group of 18 is also an organized dance team. The older group, over 13, consists of eight singers, self-accompanied on guitars. In past years they have entertained many various groups including rest homes for the aged.

Another big project was added this year when in March the club gave a "Remember When" party for all residents of the area over 60 years of age. It was held in the City Hall at Elkhart. The large hall was completely decorated in antiques, large round tables, kerosene lamps, pot bellied stove, etc., including cow chips and homemade soap. A team of mules and a two-seated buggy was available from 1 to 4 p.m. for rides.

The evening from 6:30 to 10 was spent in visiting, playing games, and entertainment, furnished by the 4-H members, complete with chorus girls and bartenders. Refreshments were available at all times. At the beginning of the evening an orchid corsage was given to the oldest lady present and a boutonniere given to the oldest gentleman present.

The team work of the club was a very rewarding experience. Six committees—entertainment, games, transportation, publicity, refreshment, and door prize—worked diligently for the success of the party. It was financed by the district recreation commission.

The response of the guests was overwhelming and the club plans to make this an annual event.

An appreciation, achievement, and recognition night planned by the Centralia Aces 4-H Club for their October meeting proved a success.

Twenty-eight invited friends and boosters of the club were guests of the members and their families for a soup and pie supper.

The meeting was open to the public. New officers were installed by the retiring community leader, Mrs. Nelson Beard. The last year's officers and leaders were presented pins. Boosters' stickers were presented to the guests. Members receiving champion and reserve champion ribbons were asked to stand and be recognized.

The program was presented by 4-H members. Carol Winkler is club president.

Twelve leaders and junior leaders of the Centralia Aces 4-H Club attended the Area 4-H Training Conference at Effingham.

Sessions were held to provide ideas for helping members to complete project requirements. Junior leaders went to sessions that would help to better their clubs.

—Debbie Schlaegel, reporter

The Happy Home Helping Hand 4-H Club of Nemaha County is taking community service as a club project this year. Each family has chosen an older person and is helping them in any way they can, such as visiting with them when they are lonely, or doing whatever errands they can to make life a little easier for them. Another way the club plans to help older folks is by going to the convalescent home during the summer months. The families of the club will be divided into groups of three and will go three different times to play bingo and visit with the older folks at the convalescent home. The club feels that community service is a most worthwhile project.

Some people say, "There's nothing going on in little towns today." That is not true in Goff. The Rustlers 4-H Club of Nemaha County has something going all the time.

A highlight for children in the community was the Easter egg hunt sponsored by this club. The picture above shows some of the crowd.

Friday before the hunt the junior leaders gathered at Goff City Hall to color and decorate about two hundred boiled eggs. Besides these the club also bought two dozen plastic eggs in which notes were enclosed. Just prior to the hunt all the eggs were hidden in three different lawn and park areas.

More than 40 children were divided into three age groups at the direction of the president of the Rustlers, Jeff Engelken. Junior leaders took each group to the proper hunting area. Prizes, furnished by the town's business people and the club, were given each child who found a plastic egg. Other prizes were also given to the child in each group who found the most eggs. All present had a lot of fun, even the grown-ups on the sidelines.

Ruth Ellen Bartholomew, reporter of Lucky 13 4-H Club in Neosho County, wrote a history of this 27 year old 4-H club. Here is a much shortened chronology:

- 1945—Lucky 13 4-H Club was organized June 20. The name was chosen because it was the 13th club in the county. Mrs. Henry Watkins and Mr. Coets were community leaders to 30 members.
- 1946—The club received its charter. As money raisers, members had a box supper, a paper drive, and cleaned the Pleasant Ridge and Fairview schools.
- 1953—Members served a dinner and sold Christmas cards to raise money.
- 1954—New leaders were Mr. and Mrs. K. L. Swanz.
- 1955—Three hundred and eighty-seven pounds of nails were picked up as part of the safety project; Mrs. Watkins returned as leader.
- 1958—Pond safety was the theme for the county champion booth. The first UNICEF drive was held. (This has been continued: $118 was collected in 1971.)
- 1960—Money was raised for Rock Springs Ranch and for new buildings for the Neosho County Fair.
- 1961—At the Reunion parade the club float with a Pioneer Days theme placed first.
- 1965—Mrs. Watkins retired after being a leader for 19 of the club's 20 years. Replacing her were Mr. and Mrs. Gale Mullen.
- 1966—Erie celebrated its centennial; Lucky 13 club member Debra Mullen was crowned queen.
- 1968 and 1969—Mr. and Mrs. Loren Dillinger were leaders.
- 1970—Highlights were the building of a flagpole at the county fairgrounds and a trip to Topeka to visit the Capitol, museum, and governor's mansion.

1970 and 1971—Leaders were Howard Kennedy and Mrs. Charles Standley.

1971—The club received its 11th purple seal. At the Neosho County Fair, Lucky 13 had six grand champions. At Mid America Fair in home economics judging. Susan Simmons was first individual and a member of the first team. Susan Simmons and Ruth Ellen Bartholomew were on the second place home improvement judging team and on the fourth place poultry judging team. Members winning county awards were Susan Simmons, Mike Kennedy, Shirley Dillinger, Debbie Dillinger, Ruth Ellen Bartholomew, Tobe Standley, Mary Pat Smith, Rhonda Ford, and Lisa Sailors.

1972—Leaders are Mr. and Mrs. Loy Reinhardt. Club president is Shirley Dillinger.

In Ness County, interest and participation in 4-H Club Day are encouraged by awarding four sweepstakes ribbons to the clubs who have the greatest number of entries, who receive the most blue ribbons, the most overall points, and the most blue ribbons at Regional Club Day. This year the Schoharie 4-H Club was presented all four sweepstakes ribbons.

All kids enjoy camping! Ness County provides every youth whether he is in 4-H or not this experience at Southwest 4-H Camp during the summer. Not only do the kids have fun but they learn many things in classes taught by junior leaders. The 4-H enrollment is boosted when non-4-H youth have an opportunity to find out about 4-H and its experiences.

There's one thing that just about everyone agrees on, and that is that safety is important. Solomon Valley Hustlers 4-H Club members have something to add to that: they think it's fun!

For four years—club goals, roll calls, project talks, demonstrations, and booths at the Norton County Fair have been part of the Hustlers' safety program. They placed second in the state in 1970 out of all other clubs in which safety was the club project. They also were in the top ten in the state in 1971 and have held the county championship for four years.

Along with their other activities, two Safety Nights were held to which the public was invited. One year the Busy Jayhawkers 4-H Club helped with the program. The highlight of each program was a R.E.A. mouth-to-mouth resuscitation demonstration. Along with the demonstration, a film was shown by Don Hauck and Maynard Wendell at the first Safety Night, and by Wayne Owen and Lewis Schindler at the second. Other films were shown and project talks and demonstrations were given by members of the two clubs. Two of the Hustlers presented a puppet show on veterinary safety. The safety consultant for the State Highway Commission, Fred Stewart, presented the Hustlers with a safety certificate and a check for $100 for their second place finish in the state in 1970.

The Hustlers sponsored a Defensive Driving Course in February of 1971, attracting 30 drivers. Instructors for the eight hour course were Kansas Highway Patrol Sgt. Sherm Kolacny of Wakeeney and Jim Dodds, Farm Bureau safety director from Manhattan. The course was developed by the National Safety Council and held in cooperation with the Kansas Farm Bureau.

The Solomon Valley Hustlers 4-H Club wishes to thank all who have helped and cooperated with them in their safety program.

Twenty members of the Burlingame and the Carbondale Rustlers 4-H clubs participated in a 4-H Sunday Mass May 28 at St. Patricks Church in Scranton.

The 4-H'ers served as ushers, servers, lectors, organist and participants in the opening processional and offertory processional.

Mary Robitaille of the Carbondale Rustlers baked the unleavened bread used for communion and Denise Reves of Burlingame baked a cake decorated with the 4-H emblem. The cake was served during the coffee hour following mass.

Osborne

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Steinshouer were honored with an appreciation party as they completed 52 years of 4-H leadership. More than 500 members have taken part in 4-H work in the Solomon Valley 4-H Club in Osborne County during the years the Steinshouers have been leaders; these members have completed more than 2,000 projects.

Club president Craig Heinen was master of ceremonies for the program. Mrs. Steinshouer had written a poem telling of 4-H work in the county and of the history of the club. Many accomplishments were remembered. One member, Bill Bortz, attended 4-H Congress in Chicago.

The Steinshouers' four children were present at the party. All former 4-H members, they are Glenda Sullivan of Downs, Janice George of Hartford, Darlene Manely of Lebanon, and Terry Steinshouer of Kansas State University. Grandchildren Kevin and Kathy are now members of the Solomon Valley 4-H Club. This family has a combined total of 110 years in 4-H work.

Best wishes to Kansas 4-H

1971 was a year several Ottawa County 4-H'ers will remember because of the honors that were bestowed upon them.

Russell Crosson of the Woodsdale 4-H Club certainly will not forget 1971 because of the trip he received to the National 4-H Congress as a reward for being the state winner with his sheep project records.

Russell's brother, Curtis, also took some honors and won for himself a trip to the American Royal in Kansas City.

Elaine Geist of the Solomon Valley 4-H Club represented Ottawa County at the Kansas 4-H Congress, as the result of her work in the citizenship project. Elaine won a trip to the American Royal, and was also the representative for Ottawa County at the first 4-H Invitational Conference held in June, 1972.

Ask any of the 218 active 4-H members from Pawnee County during this past year and they will tell you that participation is the key to enjoyment and success in their work. In fact, they might say:

Participation is being a willing worker in one of the eight clubs: Pawnee Peppers, Zook Zippers, Tiny Toilers, Rozel Rockets, Gem Dandys, Burdett Blue Ribbons, Conkling Cubs, and Garfield Boosters.

Participation is taking part in County 4-H Day. Each club in Pawnee County entered a model meeting. Individual demonstrations, illustrated talks, public speaking, talent numbers and skits were presented. At Regional 4-H Day at Great Bend Donna Bowman had the top blue in senior demonstrations and Susan Apley had top in junior illustrated talks.

Participation is helping to prepare and serve the food for the annual July 4-H Businessmen and Women's chicken dinner to show appreciation for the fine cooperation given the county

4-H club program by the business and professional people of the county.

Participation is working on something new. The Pawnee County 4-H Council has approved a new award—"4-H Youth Church Award." 4-H leadership spent four years developing the application form for the award. The award gives recognition to the importance of religion in the process of character building. It is an aid to providing a complete program for the moral, social, and spiritual development of 4-H club members.

The 4-H candidate for the award will work with his pastor in the areas of: 1. Being faithful in his religious duties; 2. Growing in his personal devotional life; 3. Developing an understanding of the teaching, practices, policies, and organization of his own church; 4. Giving practical expression to his religious convictions in service to his church. After successful completion of the projects involved, recognition would be given in the local church on the Sunday of National 4-H Club Week.

Participation is working on the junior leadership level to help younger members with their projects, holding county meetings for special programs, and working to support special projects such as providing grants for those who attend the Citizenship Short Course at Washington, D. C. Debby Phinney and Gayla Smith attended from Pawnee County in 1971.

Participation is leading the horses and going to the 5-state 4-H Horse Show at Dodge City. Three members attended the Garden City District Horse Show where all three qualified for the state fair. Size of the project has grown from 6 in 1967 to 33 for 1971.

Participation is working with your dog until you and he both understand just what is going on. This project has grown from 2 members a few years ago to 21 in 1971. Size of dogs involved ranged from a tiny Yorkshire Terrier to a Saint Bernard.

Participation is completing your project so that it can be shown at the county fair.

Participation is taking part in the annual state fair; working, wondering, and waiting to see how it will all turn out. It is meeting new friends from over the state, it is cleaning up and carting everything home afterward. It's being glad you came.

Participation is ending the year with the 4-H Achievement Banquet where awards are given out, and staying for the party afterwards. Outstanding 4-H girl for 1971 was Denise Deege; outstanding boy was David Fleske.

Participation is showing your appreciation to all who helped you.

Participation is a key word to Pawnee County 4-H members.

—Mrs. A. D. Apley

Members of the Lone Prairie 4-H Club of Phillips County have something to be proud of: for 10 consecutive years they have received a purple seal. The club will celebrate its 20th anniversary next year. Enrollment has ranged from 13 to 40 with the present enrollment at 18.

Pratt

Richland Rustlers 4-H Club, Pratt County, has placed among the top ten clubs in state health competition for the past two years. One health related activity was making tray favors for residents of Pratt's nursing homes. In the picture 4-H members work on Valentine's Day favors. Nancy Marteney, club health chairman for four years, stands at the back of the picture.

1971 began with a January junior leader dinner, with a program on personal development by county home economist Gayle Roberts and Pratt Junior College speech instructor Mrs. Betty Stevens. In February there was a county Valentine party. A St. Patrick's Day party was held in March, and junior leaders talked with a panel of college students at an April gathering.

In July 4-H'ers entertained local businessmen with a chicken dinner and program. Even the July before-and-after fair-grounds cleanups included some recreational time! August sported a swimming party for 4-H'ers having record books in the extension office on time.

Kingman County junior leaders were invited to a September picnic which included the traditional picnic foods, a watermelon feed, songfest, and paddle-boating on a farm pond. During the first part of September, there was a countywide, Back-to-School party, where members could bring guests and prospective members.

Halloween brought a party with a fortune teller, ghost stories, spook den, and witches brew. In addition to the parties, three county square dance sessions were held last year, for beginner and advanced dancers. There's never a dull moment in Pratt County 4-H!

—Kenna Giffin, reporter

Rawlins

This year for the first time in Rawlins County, all 4-H members with livestock projects had a new plan to help them check on the rate of gain of their animals.

The Rawlins County 4-H Council worked out a procedure for weighing and marking animals based on guidelines established by the state 4-H livestock committee.

The Rawlins County Artificial Breeders Association let 4-H members use the association's portable scales for a $1 fee per member. The scales were used to weigh steers 120 days before the fair, and lambs and swine 90 days before fair time. Steers and lambs were eartagged and swine were tattooed on the ear.

County extension director Steven Fisher pointed out that when animals were weighed at the fair the daily rate of gain was figured, a figure which perhaps was of some help to the livestock judges. Also, at the early weighing date the 4-H member could compare the weight of his animal with the desired weight at that age, and then determine whether to make adjustments in the ration in order for his animal to reach optimum weight by the fair.

Reno

Bring 19 girls and boys together in a series of "working" meetings to make some object of beauty and usefulness. Add the spark of enthusiasm and genuine interest in the fourth to tenth graders and the results are pleasant, satisfying, and successful.

So goes the story of one part of the Reno County 4-H ceramics project this year, involving 84 members.

Scene of this class is the ceramics shop owned and operated by Mrs. Irvin Peters in Buhler. Leader of the class, meeting this year 15 times from November to March, is Mrs. Harold Dick.

For seven years Mrs. Dick has shared her interest and talent in the ceramics craft with Reno County 4-H'ers and many others. She assisted in organizing the county ceramics 4-H project and has conducted classes in her home five years and in the Peters shop for two years.

Mrs. Peters has contributed much to the Buhler class by providing a well-equipped place for meeting, selling supplies in quantities needed by the individual class members, and generously giving of her ideas and "knowhow."

Bob Davis, Reno County Extension 4-H agent, praises the 12 ceramic leaders now serving in the county and reports that 190 pieces of work of their "students" were exhibited at the 1971 Reno County Fair. Some went to open classes in the art section of the Kansas State Fair in Hutchinson.

Republic

Rice

Supporting activities for young people is a pleasure to most of the older generation. Most settle for the reward of watching the younger set participate in the event.

Let's turn the picture around for once. Have you seen the expression on a sponsor's face when a 4-H youth hands him a ticket and tells him the 4-H'ers are sponsoring an appreciation picnic for people like him who work to better 4-H? Most of them just stand there and look at the boy or girl like they just couldn't believe what the youngster told them.

Rice County 4-H'ers sponsored, for the first time, an appreciation picnic for businessmen and other individuals that contributed to the 4-H cause. Along with these people, 4-H members, their families, and leaders also attended the feast.

Take some old hedgewood and a makeshift barbecue pit, along with a couple of strong-armed plowboys, and you have a perfect combination for the wildest chicken barbecue we could devise.

As this was the first attempt at an event of this sort, plans developed rather slowly. But with the help of several strong-minded people, a barbecue pit was made of a pipe frame and tin sides and bottom so it could be used over again, and preparations became complete. Grates to hold 48 half chickens were made, with an extra one to lay on top of the chicken and turn it over the pit. This arrangement was similar to that used by Kansas State University Poultry Science Club.

Start by dipping the chicken in butter, sprinkle with barbecue salts, and place it on the grate. Finally, put it over the pit. It takes about 45 minutes to cook—then spread barbecue sauce over it and baste.

Final touches were covered dishes, brought by the 4-H families, and milk and ice cream furnished by local dairymen.

Comments! There sure were. In fact, people wanted to know if we would have any chicken left over after the picnic, and if we would sell it. In two hours it was all sold. This helped offset expenses.

People are already asking if we will hold it again next year. We hope to and hope to have a bigger turnout than this year. Not only did the picnic honor those who contributed to 4-H in Rice County, it also helped gather a larger crowd for our livestock sale.

—Leo Charvat, county extension 4-H agent

Larry Schalles, left, Karen Schalles, Lisa Lindsay, and Glen Schalles huddle in a blind waiting to observe the mating dance of prairie chickens. Robert Henderson, extension wildlife damage control specialist, arranged for the field trip as part of the Strong 4-H Club's ecology project, perhaps the only one of its kind in Kansas. Club conservation leader is Mrs. Merlin Dellen. The unusual project is in its third year.

Delmar Conner, head of the appreciation picnic, flips the chickens at the barbecue in Rice County.

Riley

Sponsoring a new club, Hunter's Island 4-H Club, was an activity of Strong 4-H Club in Riley County this year.

Other community service projects were sending cookies to Irwin Army Hospital at Fort Riley; cleaning 20 bags of trash off Bluemont Hill for Keep America Beautiful Week, and saving aluminum for recycling. The 4-H members picked up trash along a two-mile stretch of road; this activity was prompted when someone had a beer bust and dumped four boxes of cans and bottles along the road.

Another community service project was collecting for cancer and multiple sclerosis drives at nearby trailer courts.

Each member in Strong 4-H Club enrolled in junior leadership has four or five younger members to call about monthly meetings, special meetings, parties, and to help with record books and project talks. Junior leaders try to just be there to listen and help in any way.

Rooks

State winner in home improvement in 1971 was Lynn Shannon Carpenter, Rooks County. This was no surprise to Rooks Countians, for home improvement is one of the favorite projects here. In the Palco 4-H Club, 15 girls and boys are enrolled in this project.

The home of each person enrolled is visited while work is in the planning stage, and again at the end of the project. Thus each member learns from the others' experiences as well as from his own.

The county leader is Mrs. Therson Townes, Palco.

County home economist Lorita Mahoney pointed out that simple things, such as a new wastebasket or bulletin board, can improve a room, so 4-H members often begin with such changes; some stay in the project for several years and move on to large changes, even remodeling.

"It's fantastic, the creative things they think of doing," Mrs. Mahoney said. One girl chose to improve the stairway, making five interesting improvements there. A requirement of the home improvement project is that younger members make three, older members five, improvements in the area they choose. This is often the member's bedroom, but it may be any room in the house—even the stairway.

Rush

Mrs. Viola Schraeder fits a pair of slacks on Marsha Kershner. Fran Jira is watching and learning the techniques of fitting.

Tricks for Treats is an interesting food project for boys in the Walnut City 4-H Club in Rush County. They learn how to prepare simple vegetables, sandwiches, desserts, and beverages.

Mrs. Marvel Dellett, project leader, stresses the importance of nutrition by showing pictures and food models. She also stresses safety, good work habits of personal cleanliness, and organization in the kitchen.

The 4-H boys plan, prepare, serve and judge the food at each meeting. The most enjoyable part of the meeting is eating the food they have prepared.

In the Walnut City 4-H clothing projects, girls learn construction methods of good sewing. They also learn styles, materials, color, and lines which will go well with their personalities and figures.

Tips on posture, good personal grooming, and how to model are topics discussed and practiced in modeling school. In the style review at the county fair the girls have an opportunity to show how the garments they have made fit and complement their personality.

In the beginning phase of the 4-H clothing project Mrs. Helen Jira, project leader, teaches the girls to develop good sewing habits early so that their later sewing will be easier. Joyce Schraeder, junior leader, has worked with Mrs. Jira to develop more interest among the younger members and to improve the quality of work.

Tommy Keener, Jeff Keener, Mrs. Marvel Dellett, and Greg Dellett enjoy eating their finished products.

In the second phase of the clothing project, 4-H girls make clothing for school. Mrs. Viola Schraeder, project leader, helps the girls master some of the more difficult techniques of clothing construction. Tips on fitting and pressing are stressed.

Leann Schraeder, junior leader, has worked with Mrs. Schraeder in emphasizing good grooming habits. The girls learn that to be well-groomed one must wear clothing that is neat and clean as well as to have good personal grooming. In this phase the girls also learn to care for their clothes and to wash a sweater.

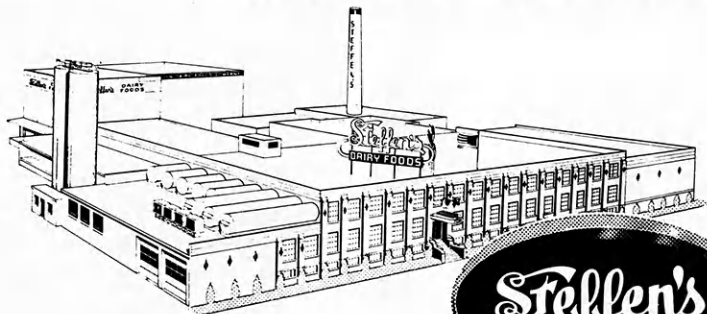

Mrs. Dorothy Schraeder serves as project leader for Planning a Wardrobe, Clothes for Special Occasion and Complete Costume. She works with the girls on developing their wardrobe plans, right colors, and becoming lines for their figure type. Advanced construction techniques, selecting accessories, and fibers, natural and man-made, are covered by Mrs. Schraeder in project meetings.

Russell

Because members of the Lone Star 4-H Club in Russell County realized that there is always a need for safety education, members made a special effort to reach as many people in the area as possible with information about safe practices. This was done through the local radio station, local newspapers, and through community projects.

After deciding to carry out Operation Safety, the wheels were set in motion for many community projects. Below are some of the outstanding activities the club members helped organize and carry out.

They made sure that two OPERATION SAFETY news articles and one radio program reached the people every month. In December members canvassed Russell handing out 700 "Christmas Tree Safety Tips." The club distributed 1200 copies of the bulletin "Tornados in Kansas" to residents in the community in April. They also showed a film on "Tornados" at the club's safety night in April.

In May the boys and girls assisted with the Sportsman School sponsored by Lincoln and Russell county extension councils and the Lake Wilson Development Association. This school was held at Otoe Park at Lake Wilson. 4-H members made posters, distributed 350 brochures and 23 handbills to publicize the school. Six members and the project safety leader attended the school and passed out educational material.

In June 12 members assisted the local police department in the car safety check lane, checking lights, brakes, windshield wipers, etc., on the 200 vehicles that went through the check lane.

As long as human lives are lost or crippled and property and natural resources lost by human carelessness the club feels that much educational work needs to be done and the people need to constantly be reminded of hazards. The club hopes that through their efforts in safety some may become safety conscious and lives may be saved.

Saline

Saline County hosted an area entomology clinic in Salina in May. John Jilka, moderator for the clinic, organized the program with the assistance of Mrs. O. S. Fent, county entomology leader.

A highlight of the day was a presentation by Dr. A. W. Lindquist, world known entomologist. Other sessions included an insect identification contest, talks and demonstrations, a slide presentation, and a presentation for basic entomologists by Mrs. Nadine Griffin, Dickinson County entomology leader.

Counties represented were Butler, Cowley, Dickinson, Ellsworth, Geary, Harper, Marion, McPherson, Mitchell, Ottawa, Riley, Russell, Saline, Sedgwick, and Sumner.

4-H members giving talks and demonstrations were: Ned Garringer, Dickinson County; Cindy and Debra Rolph, Sharon Swanson, and John Jilka of Saline County.

Winners of the insect identification contest were:

Basic:

- 1st—Tim Bentz, Marion County
- 2nd—Scott Garten, Dickinson County
- 3rd—Todd O'Neil, Saline County

Intermediate:

- 1st—Jimmy Griffin, Dickinson County
- 2nd—Mark McCain, Dickinson County
- 3rd—Steve Garringer, Dickinson County

Advanced:

- 1st—David Reiswig, McPherson County
- 2nd—Martin Klema, Russell County
- 3rd—Cindy Rolph, Saline County

The clinic was just the spur needed to get the enthusiastic entomologists out into the field and collecting.

Scott

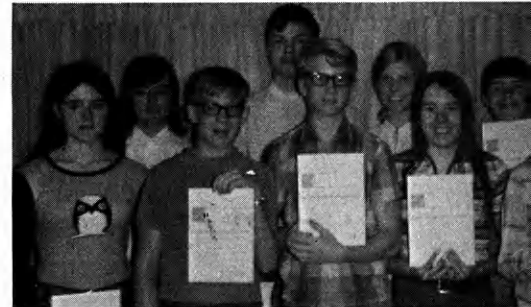

Boys and girls pictured below are proudly showing the packets they used recently in helping collect for the cancer crusade in their community. They are members of the Manning Jayhawkers 4-H Club, Scott City, in Scott County.

This active group, under the direction of their leader, Mrs. Clifford Scheuerman, used their free time to call on 86 families in the community to donate for this worthy cause. This is ten years in succession that members of the Manning Jayhawkers have volunteered their services for the cancer drive.

Among some of the other projects the health committee have had are sending old eyeglasses to "New Eyes For The Needy," and sending fruit baskets to the ill in the community.

As a reward for getting their record books completed and in on time, 28 4-H members and leaders of Town and Country 4-H Club enjoyed an overnight camp-out at Camp Lakeside at the Scott County State Lake.

The fun started in the afternoon with swimming, then supper, and then the regular monthly meeting was held. Then the group went swimming again, and later returned to the lodge for cookies, popcorn, and pop. Ghost stories were told at midnight. The next morning the group had breakfast before going home.

Jim Wyant, 15, of Peck Ramblers 4-H Club has broadened his sheep project of raising ewes and lambs to helping others with their projects.

Sheep project members in Sedgwick County have been urged by their leaders to shear their show lambs in June so they will still be in short fleece for the county show in August. Jim shears lambs of members in the Peck club and several surrounding clubs, as well as for some members in Cowley, Sumner, and Butler counties.

Jim is shown in action in the picture above.

Welcome to Ninnescah Valley 4-H land. In the few short minutes we have, we'll go on a tour and see what some of the N.V. 4-H'ers do with their time. I won't call it spare time as any 4-H'er knows there isn't much of that.

At the start of our tour you will see our two community leaders, Roy Clark and Pat Callaway. Roy was a ten-year member and a Chicago trip winner. Pat was also a active 4-H member.

Our club president is Janet Reusser. She does a very good job helping to guide our 68 very eager 4-H'ers. I should say eager till it comes their time for a talk. Then for some reason they aren't so eager, but they always come through.

This year we have 27 different project leaders. We can't say thank you enough to these leaders for giving of their time, and losing some of their patience.

Our livestock projects are very strong this year; sure hope leader Bill Woods is. Thirteen young people have decided to try to educate a beef to follow them around the ring and to do all the right things. We also have members enrolled in swine and horse.

This year Stanley Combs decided to take the reins and educate seven young men on electricity. We haven't heard of any calamity so guess he is going strong.

MacLean Briggs with hammer in hand is going to show seven young men how to hit nails and not their fingers in woodworking.

Let's walk on down this path to a clover patch. Maybe if we will listen hard enough we might hear some bees a-buzzing. Who is there with a hat and screening covering his face? No one but Byron Reida trying to show his group enrolled in bees how to keep from getting stung. Of course he is telling them the honey is worth all the trouble you go to in getting it.

It has been quite a while since we have had leaders in any of these projects. So our hats are off to the brave men.

Maybe we had better see if we can see what some of the N.V. girls are doing. Oh, I hear a very familiar sound. Mrs. Jane Bloomer has 18 Let's Sew girls and the way it sounds, every one is ripping. Hats off to Jane for the fine job she is doing.

What's this? We find a room so quiet if a pin dropped it would scare you. No wonder every one is quiet; they are counting their stitches. Here Mrs. Ida Lou Combs is trying to explain to a member not to worry; that she knitted a sock that would fit a bear which she made for her little brother. Good luck, Ida Lou.

I think I smell smoke. Oh it couldn't be, but it is smoke coming from Mrs. Thelma Shinn's kitchen. I hear helper Mrs. Judy Woods saying, "Every one stay calm." We have learned a very good lesson that when you are cooking macaroni you have to stay with it and stir it.

Five young women decided to have a bread club, and are making various kinds of bread. The leader is Mrs. Gladys Clark, and Mrs. Rose Ellen Heitman assists.

Of course the good thing about this group is, you get to eat what you make. And they haven't had a failure yet.

I have just hit a few of our projects but I think you get the message. It takes a lot of practice for anything you do in 4-H. You will find any 4-H member will agree to the old saying "Practice makes perfect."

A lot of man-hours have gone into the new Seward County 4-H and extension building. The white stucco building has a large meeting room, a small meeting room, a kitchen area, bathrooms, and a storage room. The walls are paneled in light colored wood and the ceilings are white acoustical tile. At present, the kitchen area isn't complete but the plans call for one stationary wall to house the sinks, stove and refrigerator. The opposite wall will be a movable cabinet and counter wall. This will allow for a larger floor space when needed for demonstrations or for a larger group to prepare meals and work.

The 4-H and extension service had been trying for a number of years to acquire a building for meetings and storage. Former county agent, Joe Van Cleve, had talked to the county commissioners about this need. Then it just happened, that this building was no longer needed by the owner, Robert Hood. Mr. Hood gave the building to the commissioners. Through the efforts of county commissioner Basil Hodges, the county moved the building, set it on the foundation and had the plumbing, sewage, heating, and wiring installed and the exterior repaired and stuccoed.

The 4-H clubs were then responsible for providing the supplies and work for the interior. The 4-H council has spent approximately $750 on the interior under the supervision of a local carpenter and active 4-H leader, Dick Taylor.

Many other 4-H club leaders, agents, parents and 4-H members have spent a good deal of time working on the building. This list would be too numerous to name, but the 4-H'ers really appreciate the efforts of these fine people.

The building is owned by the county, but the operation of the building is under the direction of the 4-H advisory committee, the extension agents, the county 4-H foundation, and the 4-H council.

—Steve Nix, president,
Seward County 4-H Council

Seward County is very proud of its new 4-H club, the Southwestern Heights 4-H Club. This club is located in the eastern part of the county. The club was formed last October and has 44 members.

The club has three community leaders, Mrs. J. L. Handy, Don Brown, and Mrs. Carl Lightle.

—Roxanne Jacobs, president

This year for the first time Seward County has had a model railroad project. The project is led by Herman Page, assisted by members of the Southwest Kansas Railfans Assn.

In this project members learn how to make a model railroad layout and scenery, and how to build cars and buildings. They also learn how to make minor repairs on their cars and engines. Scale model railroading is currently a popular adult hobby, and this is an introduction to it.

Additional activities of the project included visits and operation on various layouts owned by adult modelers and a tour of the Rock Island railroad yards in Liberal.

Although the project is mainly of interest to boys, there have been three girls enrolled.

The local John Deere dealers (listed below) salute those 4-H Club members who have been selected from 30,000 Kansas 4-H'ers as outstanding in their respective projects during the 1971 project year. Selected first as county winners in their home county, a committee of county agents and extension specialists chose the state winners on the basis of records submitted to the State 4-H Office.

State Winners' records were submitted to a committee of state and national 4-H leaders meeting in Chicago who selected a group of national winners in each field to represent the more than two million 4-H'ers in the U.S.

Shawnee

For the past several years, Shawnee County has held its 4-H Day in the covered mall at White Lakes Shopping Center in Topeka. Busy shoppers can stop to hear the 4-H'ers give a talk, demonstration, musical or talent number. Even the youngest members are learning to speak with a microphone so they can be heard amid the hustle and bustle of the Saturday crowds.

The Spring 4-H Beef Show is conducted by beef project leaders in April of each year. This show provides an opportunity for members to exhibit their animals prior to the fair. A judging school is usually held, and a fitting and showing demonstration is given.

A Spring 4-H Mall Fair is held in June at White Lakes Shopping Center Mall and lasts two days. Each club displays an exhibit about a project designated by the mall fair planning committee. There are classes for vegetables, flowers, and flower arrangements.

Older Shawnee County 4-H members plan and supervise a weeklong day camp each July for 8 and 9 year old 4-H members and underprivileged non-4-H members.

Friends of 4-H Picnic, held in July, is the time when Shawnee County 4-H members express their thanks to the businessmen of the community for the help they give the 4-H'ers during the year in providing fair premium money, supporting 4-H livestock programs, providing awards at the Achievement Party, sponsoring the annual leaders' banquet, and for many other helps that are given 4-H.

A special activity the past year was an exchange trip with 4-H'ers from Mt. Vernon, Illinois. Four Shawnee County 4-H members — Vicki Doud, Suzanne Shaw, Mark Mannel, and Randy Nason — visited the Illinois 4-H'ers in July. These members then hosted Donna Kimmel, Diane Marlow, Alan Estes, and Mark Kelly when they visited Shawnee County during the 4-H Fair in August. The entire exchange was sponsored by Shacoka, the county organization for older 4-H members. Shacoka helped finance the exchange trip to Illinois by selling ice cream bars at White Lakes Mall each Saturday during June in observance of Dairy Month. Sandra Shaw, County Dairy Princess, was in attendance at the booth during the time it was open for business.

Shawnee County has a newly organized Teen Council which will sponsor countywide activities for teenage 4-H members. Officers are Suzanne Shaw, president; Richard Henock, vice-president; Janis Hetrick, secretary; LuAnne Conaway, treasurer; and Becky Kelsey, reporter. The council is composed of two representatives from each club in the county. Adult leaders representing each club usually meet at the same time after which a short joint meeting is held for exchange of ideas.

The Solomon Valley 4-H Club in Sheridan County held an ice cream social at the schoolhouse in Studley May 13, as a fund raising project to help finance the club members' attendance at county camp this summer. In addition to selling ice cream, cakes and pies donated by families in the club were sold. A total of $104 was raised and parents as well as club members helped in making the event a success.

As a result seven members of the club attended county camp at Rock Springs July 13-17.

Mary Laughlin of the Glendale Livewires 4-H Club and Marcia Waugh of the Jolly Workers 4-H Club presented a 4-H cake to Goodland mayor, Stan Webster, to celebrate National 4-H Week.

Smith

With a No. 1 National Guard group at hand, the Busy Bears 4-H Club, Smith County, selected gun safety as club project. The guardsmen offered to give complete instructions on care and use of a gun. There are 27 4-H members enrolled and very eager to learn.

National Guardsman Ron Morgan teaches 4-H'er Barbara Abbott the correct way to use a gun.

We thought of this club project because of the number of shots through stop signs and other road signs. Aiming and shooting carelessly is very dangerous.

We ask you—how many careless people are aiming at your town?

—Janeen Nelszen, reporter

Stafford

Stafford County 1971 4-H story winners, Sheila Schrepel and Jeff Mawhirter, give guide lines to other 4-H'ers about writing their annual narratives.

Each 4-H'er has a story to tell at the end of the 4-H year in connection with completion of project records.

In Stafford County these stories are used as a basis for the special story writing award sponsored for the fourth consecutive year by the 4-H council.

Stories of all 4-H'ers who are nominated for county champions automatically are entered in this activity. Any 4-H'er, however, may have his story reviewed merely by submitting his record book to the extension office at the close of the club year.

The three top ranking stories are published in the newspaper to focus attention on the county 4-H club program in connection with National 4-H Club Week. Trophies are also presented at the annual 4-H Achievement Banquet.

Stories are reviewed by the extension agents, then judged by a newspaper editor. He considers the effectiveness of the 4-H member's narrative in portraying some of the values derived from the member's experience in the 4-H program.

Interest in the ceramic project has grown steadily since its beginning in Stafford County several years ago.

The project was started as an outgrowth of existing facilities available throughout different areas in the county — kilns, greenware supplies, etc.

Two objectives of the project are defined as follows:

1. Develop an appreciation of a quality ceramic object.
2. Increase understanding of art principles as applied when choosing ceramics as accessories.

The Stanton County 4-H clubs spearheaded a drive for additional chairs for the 4-H building.

Local seed dealers and all the 4-H clubs donated money enough to buy 100 chairs, plus a chair caddy. One seed company representative is building another chair caddy.

Names of the dealer and seed company were stenciled on the back of each chair.

Two hundred four 4-H members and 26 adults judged at the March 25 Livestock Judging Contest in Stanton County. Local farmers and ranchers furnished sheep, swine, and cattle for the eight classes of livestock.

Seward County received the first place team award and Finney County was second. First place individual winner was Phil Whetstone, Finney County. Second place went to Vick Wells. Mrs. Walter Wacheter of Lakin was the adult winner.

Stevens County 4-H'ers vote each year to honor some person or business firm which has made an outstanding contribution to 4-H work. Recent honorees were John Plank and Ken Varah.

For three years Mr. Plank has donated his time to teach the training class in tractor operation. This summer 12 young people were certified, enabling them to be employed as tractor operators.

Mr. Varah gives a hand to 4-H members with livestock projects. He conducts the livestock sale after the fair and often buys back cattle.

A special horse club for 4-H'ers and non-4-H'ers as well adds to the fun in Stevens County. One of their activities is riding in parades; they won first prize in a parade at Johnson.

Key Award winners in Stevens County last fall were Jane Kuharic and Shila Moore.

The five Stevens County 4-H clubs are made up of 112 members. The groups are City Slickers with the largest membership, Cloverleaf Cowboys, Daisy Dell, Jolly Jays, and Mapleleaf Rustlers.

Sumner County 4-H horse project members, under the leadership of Paul Mahoney, county horse project leader, hit the trail to revive the cowboy spirit.

Approximately 75 4-H'ers met at the Lawrence Swingle farm for a trip back to the olden days. The traditional chuckwagon was drawn by a matching pair of mules. We rode for about an hour on the dusty trail before reaching our destination.

The junior leaders set to work preparing supper for the hungry riders. They fixed hamburgers, spuds, corn-on-the-cob, fruit salad, and tea over the campfire. Everyone washed his own utensils; then saddled for a moonlight ride. Finally the riders settled down to good ole campfire singing.

After a midnight snack of cake and fruit, boys retired to their camp by the horses and girls to their camp.

We were awakened by the rising sun the next morning. A little sleepy-eyed, we managed to follow the chuckwagon on foot to an area picked for a Sunday morning service. The services were prepared and presented by the 4-H'ers. With the sun rising, the atmosphere of peace and contentment was the perfect way to start a day.

The cooks fixed a breakfast to the cowboys' delight! We had scrambled eggs, hash browns, ham, and Texas toast. After camp was cleaned up, we saddled up and had a serious training session. Then we went on a follow-the-leader trail through the wilderness.

After a chow of stew, relishes, and tea we started to break camp. Everyone was just about ready to saddle up when someone yelled "Watermelon." WHAT-A-MESS!! Everyone finally saddled up and started homeward bound. The 4-H'ers ended the trail ride in a BIG SPLASH. Everyone was thrown into a nearby horse tank. Even Paul Mahoney, the county 4-H horse project leader, made a BIG SPLASH.

Paul, with the help of the 4-H'ers, completely planned and carried out this big ride. He has really made the horse project in Sumner County outstanding. His goal has always been fun in work, leadership, and learning.

Sumner County has shown through this trail ride and other events that through lots of hard work, planning together, and good sportsmanship it is possible to have good fun the old fashioned way.

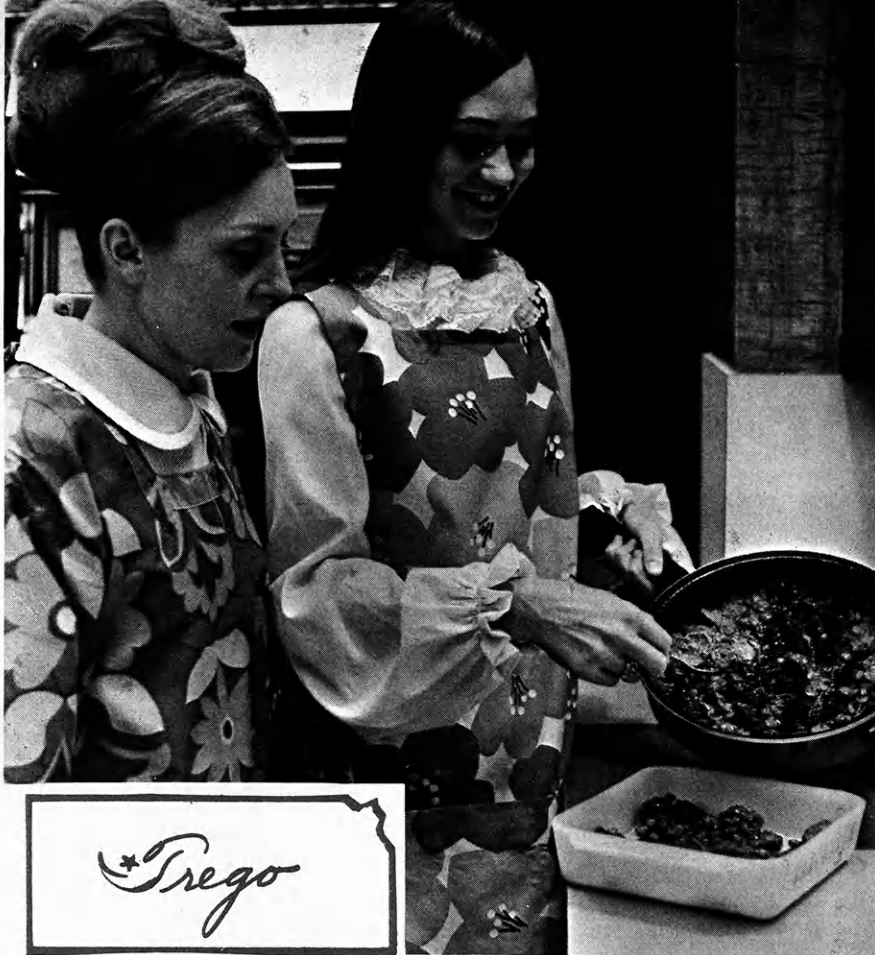

This summer the citizenship committee of the Abilene Hustlers 4-H Club in Thomas County sponsored a youth employment center to help young people from 14 to 17 years old find summer jobs. Those wanting work left their names at the office of a local newspaper, the Prairie Drummer. Employees who could use teenagers for full or part-time help also left their names.

Then the 4-H'ers helped to match the employers and potential employees.

* Trego

Paula Felder of the Busy Kansans 4-H Club, Trego County, had the opportunity to work in the Pillsbury kitchens last December in Minneapolis, Minnesota.

She assisted Mrs. Donnie Flora, a home economist and an author of cook books, in testing the 50 winning recipes from the recent Canadian Bake-Off contest. The purpose was to gain experience and insight in the field of home economics. Mrs. Flora and Paula are shown in the Pillsbury kitchen in the picture above.

Paula was a very busy girl the five days she was employed by the Pillsbury Company. The 50 recipes from the Canadian Bake-Off were tested in the kitchens in five days. Paula was personally responsible for ordering the groceries that would be used in the recipes each day. Several of the recipes were prepared by Paula on her own, and she helped with each of the other recipes.

The experience that Paula had through her 4-H food project the past ten years helped her to know the cooking methods and measurements so that she knew what and how much to order. She admits that sometimes she made mistakes and would have to reorder, but even that usually turned out to be a learning experience.

Paula is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Felder. They live on a farm 15 miles southwest of WaKeeney, Kansas.

Some of Paula's 4-H projects include: food, clothing, dog, health, junior leadership, and baby beef. She enjoys all the projects but admits that food and meal planning are her favorite. She has entered her 4-H projects every year in the county fair. She was won six purple ribbons on food entries that she has taken to the state fair in Hutchinson.

During the busy seasons, Paula is responsible for cooking meals for her family of two sisters and two brothers while her mother is busy helping with other farm tasks.

Paula is attending Kansas State University majoring in home economics.

—Vickie Wedermyer, reporter

Joann Loflin, Stanley Hillman, and Lawrence Waldschmidt Jr. all of the Ogallah 4-H Club, each received the Key Award at the 1971 Trego County Achievement Night.

Wabaunsee*

A four-hour trail ride in the Flint Hills is an annual event for 4-H members in Wabaunsee County. This spring Wabaunsee Countains sponsored their 20th annual 4-H rodeo. Another rodeo was one of the county fair activities.

Three hundred fifty-five young people take part in 11 well-established 4-H clubs in Wabaunsee County.

* Wallace

The Harrison Endeavors 4-H Club from Wallace County served the second annual daylight breakfast for the farmers variety test plot tour. At 6 a.m. in the local county grade school, pancakes, sausage, and coffee were piping hot and ready to be served to the men.

Harrison Endeavors members also helped at jackpot roping contests at the OK Corral during the summer.

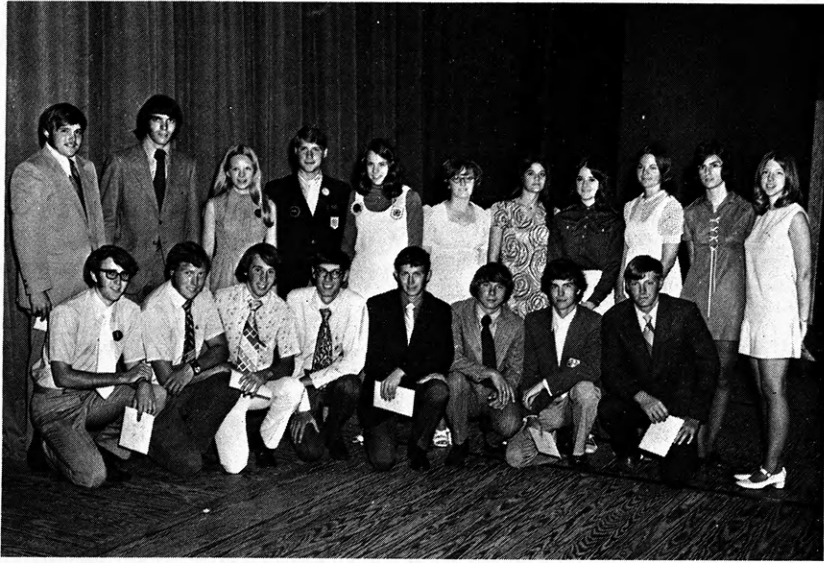

Washington*

How many 4-H'ers know why they received the ribbon that they did at the county fair?

In past years we have been trying to increase 4-H members' learning experiences by using conference or consultation judging at the Washington County Fair. Our first project exhibit area to be judged by consultation was 4-H clothing. Each phase of the project was broken into different judging sessions with various judges. Each 4-H'er was assigned a certain judge and a time to meet with the judge. The parent or project leader is also invited to attend with the 4-H members. In this small group the judge can ask questions of the 4-H'er or leader about a particular part of the

And these 20 youth served admirably. They were the counselors at the 1972 State 4-H and Youth Round-Up held at Kansas State University last June 5-9 and were on scholarships provided by Farmland Industries.

These collegiate 4-H and older 4-H youth gave four days of their time to the development of others. They know it is important that leadership skills in young men and women be developed and refined. They know that the leadership opportunities at the Round-Up does this. The future of agriculture in Kansas and elsewhere will be served by the understanding young people who attend the Round-Up each year.

Farmland Industries has long been associated with this program, and is pleased to give recognition to these outstanding young men and women who served as junior advisors and made the 1972 4-H and Youth Round-Up a success. Congratulations to all the outstanding Kansas youth who attended.

garment. For instance, if the garment is constructed in an unusual manner the 4-H'er may have a reason why it was done this way. When the judging of the garment is over with, the 4-H'er knows why it received a white or a blue ribbon, whatever the case may be.

An added item to the consultation judging of clothing is that when a particular step or process is done well, regardless of the final ribbon placing, a colorful arrow is pinned to that area and a note is written about the excellent workmanship in that area. When people view these at the county fair they can immediately see some good workmanship on white ribbon garments as well as on the blue ribbon garments. Consultation judging has increased the level of accomplishment for the Washington County clothing project members.

Knitting was the second area to move to consultation judging. This is handled the same way as clothing judging.

Last year 4-H food classes were judged by consultation. Again a time schedule was developed and the 4-H'ers came in and visited with the judge while their products were being evaluated. Tasting of their own products is a real enjoyable experience as the judges tell them about texture, appearance, etc.

Woodworking and electricity projects were initiated in to consultation judging last year. With continued work and assistance from the parents and leaders, it can be a very successful and worthwhile learning experience.

Another area we are starting with this type of judging is 4-H booths with the 4-H booth committee present while the judge evaluates the booth.

The Busy Beavers 4-H Club of Wichita County celebrated its 20th birthday. The club started with just nine members.

The club celebrated the birthday at a regular monthly meeting last November. Refreshments for the meeting consisted of a decorated birthday cake made by a member of the club.

The Busy Beavers 4-H Club of Wichita County and the Harrison Endeavors 4-H Club of Wallace County have had exchange meetings this year. At these meetings members from both clubs shared in the programs.

—Debra Fischer

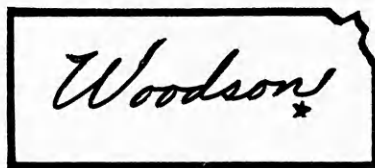

Wilson County has 12 4-H clubs. Each club has its own goal, but our 4-H community goal is to improve the fair-ground in Fredonia. Each year we improve some part of the buildings.

Many older members remember when the fair displays were located in tents downtown and even when livestock was penned up downtown. So you see that's why we're working so hard at bringing our buildings up to date.

Each year we've had a bean supper to earn enough money to buy tables and chairs for displays. This year we're trying to earn enough to remodel the Porter Building so everyone can use it all year round. By starting to earn enough money, each club challenged other clubs to see who could make the most money. One club sold tickets and raffled off a pig. Others had a box supper or concession stands.

None of this could have been done if the Wilson County Fair Association hadn't helped. They have built many buildings like the Porter Building, pig, cow, and sheep pens, and even places to wash livestock. We would like to SALUTE Wilson County Fair Association and 4-H'ers of Wilson County.

—Janice Neill

During fall 1971 and spring 1972, the Woodson County 4-H Council made $675 for their council treasury while performing a community service.

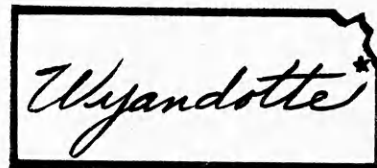

This came about as the result of serving five dinners for local groups which needed meals served at special meetings.

At the time, many organizations were having dinner meetings and the regular organizations and restaurants which normally cater meals were swamped, so the 4-H council helped by taking on some extra meals to serve.

Help and food were donated by each club in the county for each of the dinners.

Menu and recipes were charted out ahead of time by county extension home economist, Mary Lee Edwards, and meal committee chairman, Mrs. Maxine Morton. Adult women leaders and junior leader girls prepared and served the meals which usually consisted of something like ham, green beans, scalloped potatoes, salad, pie, and coffee, tea or milk.

Twenty members of Apache 4-H Club provided a Christmas party for the children of the Cerebral Palsy Day Care Center at the Pilgrim Congregational Church.

Girls in knitting projects knitted 18 neck scarves for the boys and girls. Dental care kits were provided by Dr. John Anderson as gifts.

Guests at the party were Santa Claus and Eugene Lanham, Wyandotte County extension agent.

Mrs. Dorothy Schlessman, director of the center, thanked club members for their "... continued interest in the children." This is the second year Apache 4-H Club has chosen the center for its community service project.

Experience brings broad view of electric field

A broad view of the field of electricity has come to Christopher Finney, Winfield, as a result of his experiences. He worked as an electrician's helper for 80 hours wiring two new houses, one of which is all-electric; he assisted in installing new lights and replacing outlets in the kitchen of the Tisdale Methodist Church gym; and helped wire the Cowley County 4-H booth installing lighting and outlets.

Christopher is vice-president of Cowley County 4-H Council and has held every office in Liberty 4-H Club. He is a Key Award winner. For six years he has carried the Angus heifer project.

Last winter Chris worked after school and on Saturdays as an electrician's helper for Winfield Electric Company. He will be enrolled this fall as a law student at Washburn University.

Sister June restored the finish on lamps, and then Christopher helped her rewire them.

An electric dryer will be a help to this family after Chris gets it wired in.

Christopher installed breakers in a sub-feeder panel in an all-electric home he helped wire.

Projects made in 1971 included a shop fan, indoor-outdoor trouble light, and wiring display board. Light and board were exhibited at the state fair, with the light receiving a red and the board receiving a blue.
