INTRODUCTION

With the recent growth of Germany into one of the leading economic powers in the world and with the advancing interest in the United States for foreign language, there has become available a wealth of material which could be used in the classrooms by the teachers of German in this country.

Although there seemed to be much interest in this material, there was a lack of information available to the teacher about exactly what is available and where it is available. Much of this material could serve to lighten the load of the teacher while at the same time serving to stimulate the interest of the student. Although some inclusion of the standard teaching materials, e.g. textbooks and supplemental tape recordings, is to be found in this report, it is felt that these are more than adequately brought to the attention of the teacher through the advertising campaigns of the commercial publishers and for this reason this report dealt with those things, primarily, which are provided by those organizations interested in disseminating information about the cultural aspects of the country.

Statement of the Problem. (1) The purposes of this report were to bring together as many of these books, catalogs, periodicals, films, slides, instructional material, services, and other miscellaneous items under one cover, which would then be available to the teacher, and (2) to categorize the materials so that they may be located with a minimum of effort.

Limitations. Because there were some sources of which one did not hear and because there did not seem to be any way to obtain all possible foreign sources this report was limited to those addresses which were provided by public information agencies and through governmental agencies for the cultural material which was included in this report.

With regard to the published materials for classroom instruction in the language area, all known major companies were contacted but only those materials were used which were audio-lingual or similarly oriented.

Definition of Terms. The word materials, as used in this report, means those physical items which one might use in the teaching of the actual language or in the teaching of the culture of the country.

The word resource, as used in this report, refers to those places where one might obtain help in any form which will assist in the teaching of the language.

The word services, as used in this report, refers to those performances of acts for the benefit of another.

Procedures. The procedures used in carrying out this survey were:

1. The contacting of all major publishers, requesting information about their German language materials.

2. In examination of this material only those items were included which were applicable to the newer audio-lingual or direct method.
3. The contacting of all available agencies which distribute materials and provide services as previously defined.
4. The examination of this material according to the following criteria: (1) What was the content and (2) What was the type of material.
5. The addresses are to be found in Appendix B of this report. Rather than write the address after each item, it was deemed more expedient to place a code number at the bottom of the description. These code numbers refer to the address list in Appendix B and were listed in numerical order, i.e. A-1 refers to the first address at the beginning of the list. Subsequent addresses were numbered A-2, A-3, etc. Where materials were available from more than one source, address codes for both were given.

MATERIALS, RESOURCES AND SERVICES

Because many of these materials were constantly changing, the teacher must remember that given specific items may not be available. In their place, however, might be something just as worthwhile and probably more up to date. It is therefore recommended that when one orders items other than those available from commercial publishers a description of the subject matter being sought might result in a beneficial substitution.

BOOKS

Included in this section one will find only those books which would not be considered normal classroom instructional material.

INSTRUCTIONAL MATERIALS

In this section one will find books, films, tapes, and similar materials which are definitely of an instructional nature, having been constructed for the expressed purpose of classroom use.

There are many other items available which may be obtained from the publishers listed in Appendix B. This list was compiled from those books, films, tapes, and other materials which are generally considered to be useful with the audio lingual or direct methods and excludes, for the most part, those items which would not fit this description.

Books.

A-L-M GERMAN: LEVEL ONE, TWO, THREE, AND FOUR by Mary P. Thompson, George Winkler, and consultants. New York: Harcourt, Brace and World, 1961.

This is a complete kit of student and teacher's materials for the beginning oral-aural period. It includes texts, etc., and records. The student materials are in 15 separate booklets to be handed out as lessons are being learned. The course of study is divided into 14 units, each with its basic conversation and ample exercises. The Teacher's Manual, besides implicit instructions and explanations for all exercises, contains excellent tests for each unit.

The recordings are clear and well-enunciated. The lessons are based on proper grammar sequence, easily introduced by the conversations and learned through the drills which accompany each unit. The material is varied and the lessons can be easily amplified and adapted to teacher use. Audio-lingual skills are developed first. Practice records are intended for student homework. Level One is appropriate for a typical school year's work of five 45-minute periods a week. Level Two, Three, and Four have been published also. These are developed from the Glastonbury Materials, and they are produced by the Modern Language Materials Development Center under an NDEA contract and tested in NDEA Institutes and in pilot schools. A-25.

THE BASIC GERMAN WORD SERIES by Alan J. Pfeffer. New Jersey: Prentice-Hall, Inc., 1964.

This series uses the 1,268 most common German words and the most common phrases and idioms, scientifically gathered, and English definitions in order of their most common usage.

The Basic (Spoken) German Word List--Grundstufe $2.00.

The Index of English Equivalents for the Basic (Spoken) German Word List--Grundstufe, $2.50. A-40.

CULTURAL GRADED READERS, ALTERNATE GERMAN SERIES: INTERMEDIATE
New York: American Book Company, 1957, '58, '59, and '60. 5 volumes.

I. Schweitzer, II. Thomas Mann, III. Heine, IV. Beethoven, V. Steinmetz. These booklets contain good information that will appeal to high school students and mature junior high students. This alternate series is actually more interesting than the first series of cultural readers because of the choice of world-famous personalities. Exercises are simple, varied, and helpful. The questions test comprehension; the vocabulary exercises focus on words and word families and idiomatic expressions. A-2.

CULTURAL GRADED READERS, GERMAN SERIES: ELEMENTARY by C. R. Goedsche and W. E. Glaettle. New York: American Book Company, 1955. 5 volumes.

I. Sutter, II. Steuben, III. Carl Schurz,
 IV. Einstein, V. KleinStadt in Amerika. Interesting information about German-Americans who made great contributions to their adopted country. The exercises are simple, varied, and helpful. A-2.

DAS DOPPELTE LOTTCHEN by Erich Kästner. New York: Appleton-Century-Crofts, 1953.

A very charming story is told of twin sisters who reconcile their divorced parents (the source of the recent Disney movie, "The Parent Trap").

This is not "manufactured" German, but the language of German children. This makes some passages a bit difficult, but the high interest level and genuine humor carry the reader over the more difficult spots. For the second semester of Level II or for rapid reading at Level III. A-3.

DER BLINDE GERONIMO UND SEIN BRUDER by Arthur Schnitzler.
 Boston: D. C. Heath and Company, 1959 (Rev. Ed.)

This Novelle is well edited and all the difficult terms are explained in German in the footnotes, so the reader does not need to skip from the German text to an English explanation. A German-English end-vocabulary ... just in case! Fine, thought-provoking story for high school. A-11.

DEUTSCH, ERSTES BUCH,
DEUTSCH, ZWEITES BUCH,
DEUTSCH, DRITTES BUCH by Hugo Mueller. Wisconsin: Bruce Publishing Company, Milwaukee. Complete tapes, teachers guides, exercises, tests and keys are available for each of the 3 books.

The first book of the series is a truly modern text based on the latest methodology. It stresses the teaching of "spoken" German, stresses pattern drills, and presents the grammar in an effective and efficient way, based on structural linguistic analysis. Students actually learn to speak and understand German, especially if they are able to practice with the accompanying tapes.

The second book is an interesting and very difficult text which could be used as a basic text in Level IV, or later. The basic texts in each lesson are taken from the German newspaper, Die Welt, adapted somewhat.

The third book covers the stylistics of the German language. A-9.

DEUTSCH FÜR AUSLÄNDER, TEIL I.
DEUTSCH FÜR AUSLÄNDER, TEIL 1a.
DEUTSCH FÜR AUSLÄNDER, TEIL 1b.
DEUTSCH FÜR AUSLÄNDER, TEIL 2.
DEUTSCH FÜR AUSLÄNDER, TEIL 2a.
DEUTSCH FÜR AUSLÄNDER, TEIL 2b.

DEUTSCH FÜR AUSLÄNDER, TEIL 3.
DEUTSCH FÜR AUSLÄNDER, TEIL 3a.
DEUTSCH FÜR AUSLÄNDER, TEIL 3b. by Herman Kessler, Germany:
 Verlag für Sprachmethodik.

The Kessler series, especially the first part, is one of the very best textbooks and since the revision of part 2 in 1964 the entire series has been strengthened.

Parts 1 and 1a, and 2 and 2a are available separately or together in hardback editions. A-49.

DEUTSCHE GESPRÄCHE by E. P. Appelt and A. M. Hanhardt.
 Boston: D. C. Heath and Company, 1947.

Short conversations and longer playlets followed by exercises grouped in three categories: (a) questions about the dialog, (b) grammar and vocabulary exercises, (c) ideas for dialog adaptations or conversations similar to the basic one. Contents seem somewhat artificial and insipid. We do not believe students would be happy memorizing these conversations, but they would be interested to read them and talk about them. A-11.

DEUTSCHE HÖRSPIELE by Herbert W. Reichert. New York:
 Appleton-Century-Crofts, 1959.

Four radio plays, lively and up-to-date, include mystery, comedy, and serious drama, and are set in post-war Germany. Introductions, questions, good end-vocabulary. A-3.

DEUTSCHER ALLTAG: EIN GESPRÄCHSBUCH FÜR AUSLÄNDER, 3rd edition, by Johanna Haarer. Germany: Max Hueber Verlag, Amalienstrasse, München, 1960.

In organization and intent, very close to a cultural reader. The utterances rather long to be memorized, but since the book is to be used with rather advanced students the conversations can be read as dialogs and their content can be discussed in German. There is no actual word-study exercise in this book and all phrases and idioms or even words are explained in German. The situations are culturally authentic and realistic, and they will interest young people. The book does not try to be "funny" and is very refreshing and pleasant. A-34.

DEUTSCHLAND REVUE, periodical ed. by Franz F. Schwarzenstein. Germany: Hoffmann and Campe Verlag, Quarterly.

Strong appeal for adolescents (clothing styles, etc.) Very up-to-date in appearance. The translation permits better description and would encourage the reading of the German because of ease of reference. A-17.

DIE WELT IM SPIEL by E. M. Fleissner. New York: Appleton-Century-Crofts, 1958.

It is hard to decide whether this is an elementary reader containing easy playlets and conversations or an actual conversation book, but it is definitely written for oral work. The language and content are easy enough for high school classes and the conversations and plays might be acted out in class sessions or during meetings of the German club. Word study is very good, exercises are few but varied. A-3.

ELEMENTARY GERMAN SERIES, BOOKS ONE TO FIVE by Peter Hagboldt. Boston: D. C. Heath and Company, 1957.

I. Allerlei, II. Fabeln, III. Anekdoten und Erzählungen, IV. Eulenspiegel und Münchhausen, V. Fünf berühmte Märchen.

Five little readers which can be bought separately. The language is graduated in difficulty; so are the exercises. The interest level is not uniformly high. Allerlei is devoid of interest and bores students with constant repetition of sentences written only to teach easy vocabulary. Fabeln is much better. Anekdoten und Erzählungen might interest the younger students with its stories of kings and noblemen and little historic anecdotes. Münchhausen und Eulenspiegel is by far the best of the five. Fünf berühmte Märchen brings us "The Hansel and Gretel," and others. A-11.

FIRST BOOK IN GERMAN, new edition by James A. Chiles, Josef Wiehr and Jack R. Moeller. Illinois: Ginn and Company, 1963. $5.60.

This revised version has been brought up to date in factual content and modern usage. It specifically is intended for audio-lingual use. Tapes, teacher's guide and key, and student practice records are available for use with the text. A-24.

FOUNDATION COURSE IN GERMAN by Conrad P. Homberger and John F. Ebelke. Massachusetts: D. C. Heath and Company, 1964. $5.75.
Tapes 7 reels - 7", $70.00; Phonograph records (6) - 7", $8.00.

This course, complete with all the new "gadgets", is designed along lines of the direct method. A-11.

GERMAN CLUB MANUAL by Emma Marie Birkmaier. New York: Thrift Press, Ithaca, 1949.

Unusually good in the rich variety of suggestions to stimulate interest and activity through the club. It not only offers concrete help but also gives full directions for procuring more help. A-46.

THE GERMAN HERITAGE by Reginald Phelps and Jack Stein. New York: Holt, Rinehart and Winston, 1958.

This is a very fine cultural text for high school. A-26.

A GRAMMAR OF THE GERMAN LANGUAGE by George O. Curme. New York: Ungar Publishing Company, 1952 (2nd ed.)

The standard American reference grammar. An invaluable reference work which should be in the possession of every teacher of German. Not a historical grammar, but a descriptive grammar of the written and spoken language. Very detailed, but the excellent indexes permit ready reference. A-48.

HANS UND WILLI: TEN GERMAN ONE-ACT PLAYS by Milo Sperber. New York: Appleton-Century-Crofts, 1955. $1.50.

Plays suitable for 1st-year reading or performance. There are small casts and amusing situations. A-3.

HIMMEL, MEINE SCHUHE! by Georg Fröschl. Boston: D. C. Heath and Company, 1939. (paper $1.00).

A little detective story about the loss of a pair of precious shoes. Nicely illustrated. Questions for each chapter. Vocabulary in a separate but attached booklet, visible page by page. A-11.

HÖR GUT ZU by Gerard F. Schmidt. New York: Mcmillan Company.

This supplemental reader can be used either as a beginning reader and/or as an aural skills stimulator for German I students or at the intermediate level where aural skills have not been stressed earlier. A-36.

HÖR ZU UND RAT MIT! by Gustave Mathieu and Guy Stern. New York: McGraw-Hill.

This item could be very helpful for second semester or second year students in developing listening skills. A-35.

KULTURLESEBUCH FÜR ANFÄNGER by Harry Steinhauer. New York: Mcmillan Company, 1961.

Good short readings, poetry which is easy to understand, and a great variety of simple stories. No transition from one section or story to the next; no obvious plan except to offer simple, cultural reading material. Some of the "humorous" stories are not funny at all. The captions for the pictures are in English. No exercises. A-36.

. . . LACHT AM BESTEN by Peter Fabrizious. New York: Appleton-Century-Crofts, 1957. $2.25.

Another collection of 21 simple and humorous stories, short and graded in difficulty. It will be read with ease and pleasure. A-3.

LERNEN SIE DEUTSCH! by Oscar C. Burkhard and Edwin F. Menze. New York: Holt, Rinehart and Winston, 1955.
Basic grammar, intergraded readings, and conversational drill. Can very easily be adapted to the oral approach. A-26.

LIEBE AUF DEN DRITTEN BLICK by Robert A. Baker. Boston: D. C. Heath and Company, 1946.
A love story with an American college campus setting. For 2nd and 3rd semester. A variety of exercises. Questions and self-tests on vocabulary. Frankfurt print. A-11.

PETER HAT PECH by Arnold Littmann. New York: Holt Rinehart and Winston, 1961.
A suspenseful plot of the Emil und die Detektive type, located in present-day East and West Berlin. The main characters are adolescents who speak a natural language which will appeal to American students. The exercises are varied and unusual. A-26.

PÜNKCHEN UND ANTON BY Kästner. New York: Adler's Foreign Books.
A very interesting mystery story, culturally authentic, written for children in colloquial German. It lends itself excellently to conversation. No notes or end-vocabulary are included. A-7 (under Adler).

REPORTER IN DEUTSCHLAND by Viola Herms Drath and John Winkelman. New York: Holt, Rinehart and Winston, 1959.
(Tapes on loan for duplication or for sale).
In trying to cover every aspect of culture, this book overwhelms the reader. The chapters are well written and the illustrations up-to-date, but the exercises are limited to questions and sentence translations. Suitable for conversation practice. A-26.

REVIEW AND PROGRESS IN GERMAN by W. P. Lehmann and others. New York: Holt, Rinehart and Winston, 1959.
This book covers very thoroughly all major points of written grammar and deals briefly with spoken grammar. Readings are simple. Exercises are so plentiful and varied that the teacher may select either oral or written ones for class or homework assignments. Pattern drills, word formation exercises, index are included. The only defect is a somewhat cluttered lay-out. A-26.

SAG'S AUF DEUTSCH! A FIRST BOOK FOR GERMAN CONVERSATION by C. R. Goedsche. New York: Appleton-Century-Crofts, 1954 (2nd ed.) $1.95.

Fifteen conversations, each preceded by a picture and a descriptive narrative, setting the stage for the conversation. Fifteen additional short conversations. Exercises are included. A-3.

TYPISCH DEUTSCH? by Otto Graf. New York: Holt, Rinehart and Winston, 1959. $3.60.

A very clever and original series of sketches contrasting German attributes with American ones. These humorous vignettes and their lively illustrations will appeal to high school students and at the same time teach some rather profound insights into German and American characteristics. A-26.

VERSTEHEN UND SPRECHEN by Helmut Rehder, Ursula Thomas, Freeman Twaddell and Patricia O'Connor. New York: Holt, Rinehart and Winston.

This book is very similar to those of the ALM series. In some ways it is considered better in others not as good.

Subsequent levels have recently become available. This series is available with tapes, records, teacher's manual and flash cards. A-26.

VOM BILD ZUM WORT: EIN BUCH FÜR SPRECH- UND AUFSATZÜBUNGEN by Werner Neuse. New York: W. W. Norton and Company, 1958 (2nd ed.)

Twenty-one wordless sequences of pictures with appropriate vocabulary for each picture. The student is to talk about the picture stories or write conversations or narratives with the help of the oral work done in class. There are exercises designed for word-study and grammar review. The more difficult words, structures, and exercises are starred, so they can be left out by a less advanced class. Due to the flexibility of pictures and vocabulary this book lends itself to a variety of exercises at different levels. English and German are never intermingled. A complete end-vocabulary is included. A-52.

WER ZULETZT LACHT by Peter Fabrizius. New York: Appleton-Century-Crofts, 1952.

Twenty-two very simple stories, amusing but not silly, that can be read with ease by Level II students. Exercises and vocabulary are included. A-3.

WIR SPIELEN THEATER by Annabel M. Williamson. Boston: D. C. Heath and Company, 1959.

Contains six short and very easy plays which can be put on in class without scenery or properties. Exercises are included. A-11.

SUMMARY AND CONCLUSIONS

The purpose of this report was to determine what materials, resources and services were available to teachers of German. Through contacting all available organizations which were known to handle such materials and services, it was hoped to determine what kinds of material were available in what amounts and from what sources. These items were then analyzed according to their subject area, e.g. economic, cultural, political, and were then classified into the following categories: books, catalogs, films, instructional material, periodicals, services, slides, and miscellaneous items.

There appeared to be an abundance of materials both those which were free on request or on loan and those which were available for purchase or rent.

Although there were more films listed than any other type of item, it is to be understood that they are of a more permanent nature than many of the pamphlets and booklets which are constantly being brought up to date and revised and are therefore published in new editions or under new titles. Because these things deal with a living society, they are of necessity not stagnant and are in need of this constant revision.

The materials and services of the governmental agencies were treated more thoroughly because they did not receive advertising comparable to that of the commercially published materials.

Many of the materials, resources and services listed in this report could be used by instructors for more effective cultural presentations; Thereby increasing the students knowledge of the target countries.

Since many of the items have undoubtedly changed even as this report was being written, it is concluded that the teacher who wishes to make the most of these materials would be wise to keep in constant contact with those governmental agencies which are involved in the production and dissemination of the materials in order to keep abreast of what is new. This can best be done through a periodic letter of inquiry as to what is available.

It was concluded that the following list was a minimal list of materials, covering as many facets of the cultural side of the countries as possible. Each item is listed by title, with the page number on which it is to be found in this report.

It may be further concluded that no request for help seemed to be too small or unimportant and that the staffs of these organizations always seemed willing to help the teachers in any way possible. Therefore, if some type of item or subject area did not seem to appear in this report, the teacher would be well advised to inquire of the appropriate agency.

APPENDIX A LETTER OF INQUIRY

April 12, 1965

Dear Sir:

We are making a survey of available services and materials for German teachers in the United States and are writing you to see what you have available. We would appreciate a quick response to this letter with as complete a listing as possible.

Would you send us the following information:

- a. A list of publications which are available through your office.
- b. A list of pamphlets available through your office.
- c. Any films available through your office.
- d. A list of any artifacts available through your office.
- e. A list of tapes or recordings available through your office.
- f. A list of services which you provide.

And along with this, please send any other information that you think would be of use to the teachers of German.

If you know of other offices both in the United States or in Germany where we might write we would appreciate your sending their address so that we might contact them.

We think there are many teachers that do not now know what is available and we have hopes that this survey will be of considerable value to them.

We wish to thank you for your help and will look forward to hearing from you in the near future.

Respectfully yours,

Jerry C. Hall
Supervisor of Modern Languages
Riley County High School
Riley, Kansas 66531

MATERIALS, RESOURCES AND SERVICES
AVAILABLE TO TEACHERS OF GERMAN

by

JERRY CLARK HALL

B. M. E. Kansas University, 1955

AN ABSTRACT OF A MASTER'S REPORT

submitted in partial fulfillment of the requirements for the degree

MASTER OF SCIENCE

College of Education

KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY
Manhattan, Kansas

1966

The purpose of this study was to:

1. Locate all materials, resources and services available to teachers of German.
2. Make these materials, services and resources available to teachers of German.

The procedures employed in this study were:

(1) To contact all available organizations which handled materials, resources and services useful to teachers of German.

(2) The items were to be analyzed according to their subject area.

(3) The items were also to be classified according to their physical description.

A minimum list of materials was given in the report which would be useful to the teachers of German. This list included most of the cultural aspects of the German speaking countries.

Since more films were available than any other type of materials, it was concluded that this was due to the constantly changing nature of the materials in the books and pamphlets and that these, unlike the films, were constantly being revised and published under new titles.

More attention was given to governmental agencies as their materials, resources and services did not receive as much publicity as the commercially published materials.

It was stated that more effective cultural presentations could be made by the instructor with the materials, resources and services found in this report.

It was concluded that the instructors should keep in constant contact with the agencies which handle these materials, resources and services as the constant change of the materials makes it necessary to replace old, out-of-date items with more recently published ones.

No request seemed too small or unimportant for the governmental agencies, and the instructor was advised to contact these agencies for information on any subject which did not seem to appear in this report.
