Milo in the Streets

MORE MILO

The Waterville Co-op had over 180,000 bushels of milo on the ground last week. Bill Newman, left, and Gail Hurt, looked after the operation.

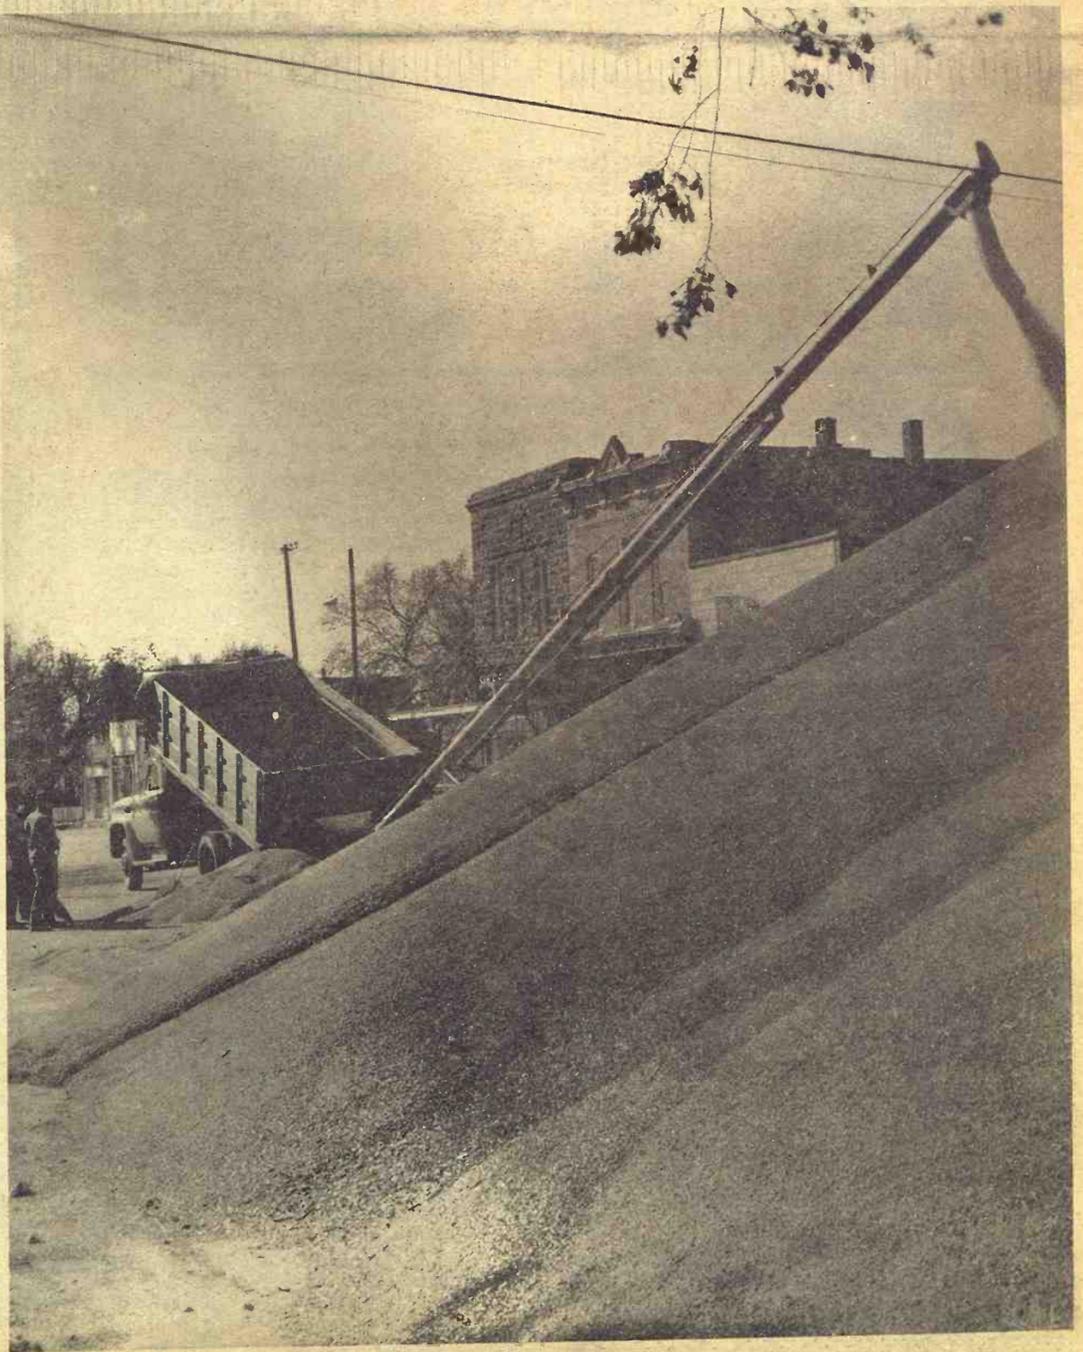

ON TWO LOTS

The Blue Rapids-Marysville co-op manager Allen Bargdill said that more than 200,000 bushels of milo had to be stored on the ground. He figured two lots at Blue Rapids would be full of milo.

UP TOWN

The streets of Leonardville were used to store area milo. Here part of 60,000 bushels are piled on the milo heap.

Studded Tires Winning Favor

Favorable reports of performance tests have buttressed a four-year boom in sales of studded tires for winter use.

The tires, with 60 to 100 tungsten carbide studs inserted in their deep "winter" or "snow" treads for better traction, are judged by impartial testing experts to be effective on ice and probably on hard-packed snow.

The amount of damage that they do to pavements is uncertain. And while traction in braking and acceleration is significantly superior on ice to that of other tires, studies show that studded tires on the rear wheels only do not materially improve a car's ability to turn corners without skidding.

Despite unresolved questions on the extent of damage to highways, most states have concluded that the safety potential is probably more important. The tires are now prohibited by only five states — Arkansas, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi and Texas — according to the American Automobile Association.

Estimated sales of the tires rose from 1 million in the winter of 1964-65 to more than 5 million last winter. The trade publication Tire Review predicts sales of 6.8 to 7 million, or 30 per cent of the total market for deep-tread winter tires, this coming winter.

Virtually all winter tires are now manufactured with holes for studs, which are usually inserted at retail shops. About $6 or $7 is usually added to the tire's price when studs are added.

On the basis of nine months of research completed last winter, the vehicle research department of the Cornell Aeronautical Laboratory at Buffalo, N.Y., has reported "substantial improvement in braking and acceleration on ice and packed snow, when winter tires are equipped with studs.

Tests on icy pavements at about 32 degrees Fahrenheit indicated that studded tires on rear wheels would reduce stopping distances by about 30 per cent, and that studded tires on all four wheels would cut the distances by nearly 50 per cent.

All four tires must be studded for significantly improved cornering performance, Cornell engineers reported.

The Cornell tests found that studs caused some damage to pavement surfaces, but the extent was not determined. On the other hand, the researchers said, it was possible that tire studs roughen highway intersections "to a degree that they actually become safer for all motorists."

The report also indicated that after 5000 miles of wear, most of the extra traction afforded by the studs was lost.

Inflation Peak Is Past?

The government has reported the smallest monthly rise in living costs in a year, two-tenths of one per cent.

Officials said, however, that 1968 is almost certain to wind up with the largest jump in prices in 17 years.

"It is safe to say the peak of the inflationary surge is past," said Arnold Chase, assistant commissioner of the Bureau of Labor Statistics, in reporting the comparatively small September rise.

The consumer price index for the month rose to 122.2, which means it cost $12.22 in September for typical family goods and services that cost $10 in the 1957-59 period on which the index is based.

The bureau also reported that the earnings of some 45 million workers climbed to an all-time high of $110.49 per week due to a four-cent jump in average hourly earnings. It was the largest gain in two years.

Only Fair Wheat Pasture In Panhandle

Wheat pasture available for livestock grazing in the plains areas of Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas October 15 varied from good to poor, the Agriculture department reports.

Fall seeded wheat, due for harvest next summer, is an important source of winter grazing wheat moisture conditions permit ample growth, the U.S. D.A. said.

Wheat pastures were good in Central Oklahoma; fair in the remainder of the state and in much of Texas Panhandle; poor to fair in the low plains area of Texas; and poor to fair in Kansas, the department said.

By mid-October 11 per cent of the seeded wheat acreage in the 3-state pasture area had sufficient growth for livestock grazing, compared with 10 per cent last year. It also is the highest this year for the date since 1961, the department said.

Doubts Over College Library Rivalry

Wrote Salina Journal editor Whitley Austin last week:

A walkout last week at Kansas State University appears to have been a cause of general rejoicing. It was different. Students were demonstrating for more books in the library. Nearly everyone agrees it is about time that campus activists march for Book Power, a strength that seems to have been neglected of late.

There was a sour note in the anthem, however. The Wichita Eagle editorially suggests that the basic reason for the march was that K.U. at Lawrence has a better book collection than K-State at Manhattan.

The Eagle points out that while $913,847 was budgeted for the K-State library, $1,725,206 was budgeted for the K.U. library, and adds that K.U. has an ambitious endowment program as well.

The inference is that both libraries should be treated equally; and there is an unwritten hint that Wichita State, which also seeks to be a top university, should be treated likewise.

This is precisely the trouble with higher education in Kansas. By seeking to triplicate university services we are straining the state's resources and at the same time short-changing public school education upon which the whole edifice of learning is based.

As a practical matter, there is no reason why the libraries should be equal or duplicate each other. It is not only that the universities do and should emphasize different fields and that K.U. is larger and more diverse in its offerings but also that advanced students at one campus may easily obtain the books and documents stored at the others. A courier service is provided for this purpose.

Moreover, K-State does have good collections in the fields in which it long has specialized. For nearly a decade, it has received special appropriations earmarked for books so that its collections might be improved. Certainly this improvement should continue. But it should not be on a basis of competitive duplication.

Only Fair Kansas Wheat Pasture

Wheat pasture feed supplies in the western two-thirds of Kansas on October 15 were only fair though slightly above both a month and a year earlier, according to the Kansas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service.

The supply of forage from wheat pasture was poor in most of the western one-third, but was reported as fair in the south central and north central as well as in some eastern counties of the central district. Relatively few cattle have been moved onto wheat pasture in the western two-thirds of the state because volunteer acreage was not extensively utilized and seeded wheat had not developed enough to be grazed.

At mid-October only about 5 percent of this fall's seeded wheat had sufficient growth to pasture and only 0.5 percent was actually being pastured. In most western areas, seeded wheat was up to a good stand and heavy mid-October rains should greatly improve pasture prospects. However, it was still dry in parts of western border counties. Considerable volunteer wheat was destroyed to control spread of mosaic, greenbugs and Hessian flies.

At mid-October, about 1,550,000 acres of volunteer wheat had sufficient growth to provide livestock pasture. This compares with 1,400,000 acres in mid-October 1967. Approximately 6.0 percent of the volunteer wheat acreage was being pastured, compared with 4.2 percent a year earlier.

Tax Board To Hear Grassland Appeal

November 5, 1968

The State Board of Tax Appeals has accepted jurisdiction in a tax equalization case involving much of the pastureland in the fabled Flint Hills of Kansas.

The action was initiated by the Marion County Board of Commissioners and asks the state board to equalize values placed on pasture and range land in Marion, Chase, Lyon, Elk, Cowley, Greenwood and Butler counties.

Assessed values on the land in the various counties fluctuates depending on location.

The Marion County commissioners, through their county attorney, D. W. Wheeler, contended all of the bluestem pasture area is similar and therefore should be assessed at about the same level.

Following testimony from the petitioners, the matter was recessed to allow other parties to prepare their cases.

Besides accepting the equalization application, the state board ruled that "the petitioners are proper parties to initiate the action under consideration, both in their capacities as county commissioners . . . and as individual taxpayers . . ."

The board also rejected motions to allow various individuals to intervene in the action.

The board noted, however, "It is the duty of the various elected county officials to represent the individual taxpayers within their county on questions of equalization between counties . . ."

The decisions were majority

U.S. Trade Surplus Better

The foreign trade surplus soared to $282.2 million in September, the best showing since November, 1967, the Commerce Department has reported.

The September surplus of exports over imports brought the cumulative surplus for the first nine months of 1968 to $834.3 million. In the same three quarters of 1967 exports were out-running imports by $3.5 billion — more than four times as much.

"If we continue at the September level of performance through the fourth quarter," said William H. Chartener, assistant secretary for economic affairs, "we ought to end up with a surplus on the order of a billion and a half dollars, which is somewhat more optimistic than the figures we've been using the last few months."

rulings with Sam Brookover of Eureka in Greenwood County dissenting.

The board allowed Wheeler to present a portion of Marion County's case since one of its prime witnesses was present.

Wheeler said the county felt "this is the only forum . . . where this issue can properly be raised." He said the county did not feel the matter could be considered by the State Property Valuation Department.

"We're asking the State Board of Tax Appeals to do its duty and equalize values across county lines," the Marion County attorney said.

An expert witness, Dr. Robert Hyde, associate professor of range management at Kansas State University, Manhattan, testified for the petitioners.

Hyde said he was familiar with the Flint Hills area, has done research associated with it and recently has inspected the area from an airplane.

GOOCH'S BEST
ENERGY TOTALIZER
...helps plan high efficiency cattle-growing rations

Three years of continuous testwork at the Gooch Research Farm, Manhattan, Kansas has moved cattle growing forward 2 important steps towards greater efficiency. Cattle performance was used to measure in terms of "net energy" the worth of roughages and grains to meet cattle's maintenance needs and to produce beef gains.

GOOCH'S BEST ENERGY TOTALIZER translates into practical form these cattle answers on how roughages and grains can be used to maintain, grow and finish cattle. In the hands of your Gooch Dealer, the Gooch Energy Totalizer can help with on-the-spot formulation of more efficient cattle growing rations. It carefully matches the energy values—also protein and other known essentials in roughages and grains to cattle's maintenance and growth requirements. The payoff is your cattle growing rations will be geared to the maximum use of feeds with more efficiency—greater profit returns.

Nixon Or Humphrey —

Whoever Wins, Farm Program To Change

Fundamental changes may be coming in the Government's farm program.

One sign came this year as a group of Republicans in the House tried to impose a $20,000 ceiling on subsidy payments to individual farmers.

The move failed, but it indicated the growing dissatisfaction in Congress with farm policy. The House and Senate arranged an election-year compromise to extend the farm program one year beyond its original expiration on Dec. 31, 1969.

But the compromise merely papers over the farm program's difficulties until a new Congress meets in January. Richard M. Nixon, the front-runner for the Presidency, is promising a thorough reappraisal of existing legislation that would provide a handy vehicle for advocates of payment limitations and other changes.

If Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey should win, he faces the likelihood of important Republican gains in Congress and the fact that farm subsidies are drawing more fire from Capitol Hill liberals and conservatives alike than at any time in recent years.

And both candidates realize that Congress has fewer and fewer farm-oriented members who have championed elaborate farm programs.

So, whoever directs the next turn in U.S. farm policy must deal again with a fundamental question: Whether any way exists for "commodity management," as it has evolved under eight years of Democratic rule, to satisfy the farmers it's intended to serve and the urban taxpayers who shoulder much of its considerable cost.

Right now, commodity management isn't doing so well. It's true that cotton surpluses are shrinking rapidly, thanks to liberal acreage-diversion inducements and adverse weather, but wheat supplies are threatening to reach 850 million bushels or higher come next July 1, when the new crop year begins.

That's uncomfortably close to the billion-bushel surpluses of the early 1960s that direct payments to farmers were supposed to lick.

Farm bins and grain elevators also are brimming with feed grains, the raw materials for meat, poultry and eggs. At the start of the new crop year next Sept. 1, the feed grain carry-over could be around 60 million tons, or some 50% higher than Agriculture Department economists believe is healthy for the farm economy.

Not surprisingly, farm prices for these key grains have skidded down to levels department planners never anticipated. Wheat was supposed to bottom out at around $1.40 a bushel, but recently hovered a few cents under the $1.25 average support loan level.

If there isn't much improvement in coming months, many of the 470 million bushels under government loan could wind up in Uncle Sam's ownership.

Similarly, feed-grain prices in the year ended Sept. 30 averaged some 13% below 1966-67 when they hit their highest level in a decade, and government take-over of corn, the chief feed grain, also might be substantial.

As a result, the government will spend nearly $1 billion more for crop loans than it had budgeted in January, and a total of $3.4 billion in farm subsidies through next June 30.

This was a glaring affront to Capitol Hill urbanites who saw aid to housing, education, job training and other social programs cut so sharply because of the Vietnam war. So the dissident House Republicans seized federal payments to individual farmers as the issue on which they based their unsuccessful farm-program opposition.

Significantly, the author of the $20,000 payment-ceiling was Rep. Conte, a Massachusetts Republican whose district gets only crumbs from Uncle Sam's farm-payments cake. An acquiescent bystander in previous farm-bill debates, Mr. Conte this time came armed with statistics on individual payments.

Farm programs developed in the 1930s as emergency aid to the small farmer, Mr. Conte reminded his colleagues.

But today, he said, "the 2% of farmers in America who gross more than $100,000 a year receive some 20% of farm subsidies." He argued that "there is simply no justification" to spend "hundreds of millions of dollars to subsidize large and wealthy farmers."

But the big cotton, feed-grain and wheat programs rely on cash payments and other inducements to attract voluntary acceptance of Government acreage controls, and defenders insist the size of participating farms must dictate the benefits.

"If one large farmer who has been forgoing production on 1,000 acres doesn't cooperate in these programs," Agriculture Secretary Freeman has said, "that means 100 small farmers will have to forego production on 10 more acres each to maintain supply and demand stability — and I believe that would cost more, not only in Federal funds, but in further curtailment of opportunity for small farmers."

Doctors' Fees Far Outleap Inflation

Hospital bills have more than doubled and doctors' fees more than tripled in the past 21 years, according to a government report.

The overall rise in medical costs during the period was 50 percent greater than the general rise in living costs, the Labor Department said today.

And the report had an answer for why few doctors will make their practice calls any more.

"With an overload of patients, physicians in some cases have been discouraged to practice by making house calls by raising the rate for such service to a level that few patients are willing to pay," the report said.

The shortage of doctors and other medical personnel was cited as a major factor in the rise in medical costs, coupled with a demand because of medical insurance that has made better care available to millions.

Drug prices have remained relatively stable, according to the report.

The report said that since 1946 hospital room rates have skyrocketed 354 per cent and doctors' fees climbed 107 per cent. All medical costs averaged out to a rise of 125 per cent.

This compared with a rise of 10 per cent over the same period for all living costs measured by the government, including food, housing, clothing, transportation, recreation and medical care.

Highway Priorities

"The increasing demand for hospital services has forced hospitals to expand both their facilities and their staffs, pushing costs upward," said the report.

Stored Wheat Still Only Third Of Early 60s Total

Stocks of wheat in storage in Kansas Oct. 1 were the largest in three years but less than half the amount of grain held in the early 1960s, the Federal-State Crop and Livestock Reporting Service said today.

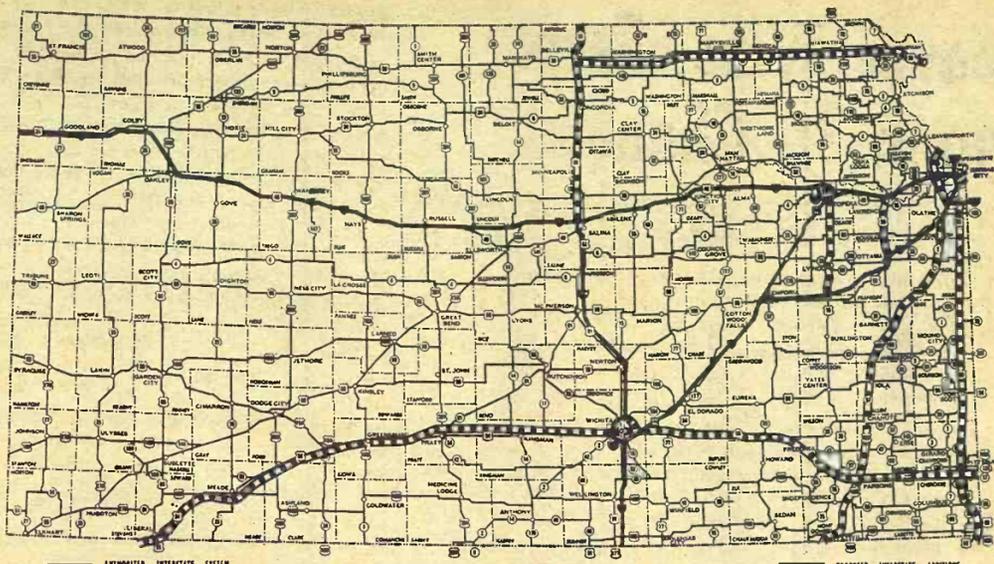

It said combined stocks of major feed grains were about one-fifth larger than a year ago but the second-lowest in more than a decade.

Of the total, 213,298,000 bushels were in mills, elevators and warehouses or under Commodity Credit Corporation control.

Stocks of old crop sorghum grain, old crop corn, oats and barley totaled 66,099,000 bushels.

The service also reported 42 per cent of the Kansas sorghum acreage had been harvested. Corn harvest is 40 per cent complete and soybean harvest 72 per cent complete.

Highway Priorities

Here are the trafficways which will get priority in Kansas' plan to add 944 miles to the Interstate system. The proposed additions are indicated with the dotted lines and include the Kansas City to Galena freeway paralleling the eastern border of the state.

Also in the plan a freeway project of US 75 south of Topeka to the Kansas Turnpike; a 157-mile run along US169 from Olathe southwest to Coffeyville and an eventual connection with a freeway to Tulsa; a 26-mile run on US59 from Lawrence to the Kansas Turnpike near Ottawa; a 78-mile improvement of US81 from Salina to the Nebraska line; a nearly 400-mile east and west route which would connect Wichita to Pittsburg east and Wichita to Liberal west, there connecting with a freeway to Tucumcari, N.M.; and an improvement of 152 miles on US 36 from St. Joseph to Belleville.

The plan is not new, most of it being part of the 1962 Jorgensen report, and is primarily a way for the state getting in line for federal highway funds, presuming that there is an extension of some sort of the present federal funding of Interstate routes.

The Kansas application might not be considered until after 1974, which is the deadline for completing the Interstate mileage already authorized.

Congress this year authorized another 1500 miles of the Interstate system, and the Kansas application is expected to be among applications from all 50 states totalling over 40,000 miles.

The Highway Commission figures the 944 miles covered in the above map would cost $670 million. Presently 90% of Interstate costs come from federal tax funds and 10% from state tax funds.

Ft. Riley Troops To Germany

Apparently the Army expects to send 10,000 to 12,000 troops of the 24th Infantry Division, now at Ft. Riley, back to Germany before spring for accelerated NATO maneuvers, but no one is about to discuss it yet.

Brig. Gen. Linton S. Boatwright, commander of the two brigades of the 24th sent to Ft. Riley last spring, told members of the third division's Augsburg-based brigade during a visit there that "tentative plans" were being made for full 24th Division participation in a NATO winter exercise to be held in Germany.

Pentagon spokesmen say "there's been nothing new since Mr. Clifford's statement." Defense Secretary Clark M. Clifford said in mid-September that 20,000 to 40,000 extra American troops will be sent to Europe early in 1969.

When 34,000 men were returned from Europe early in 1968, the Defense Dept. said it was with the understanding they would commute to Europe for exercises, but no movement had been expected until at least the fall of 1969.

Season On Prairie Chickens

Kansas first major upland game bird season is open this week, with the 7-day prairie chicken season ending November 8.

The season opened Saturday, with prospects considered not as good as last year.

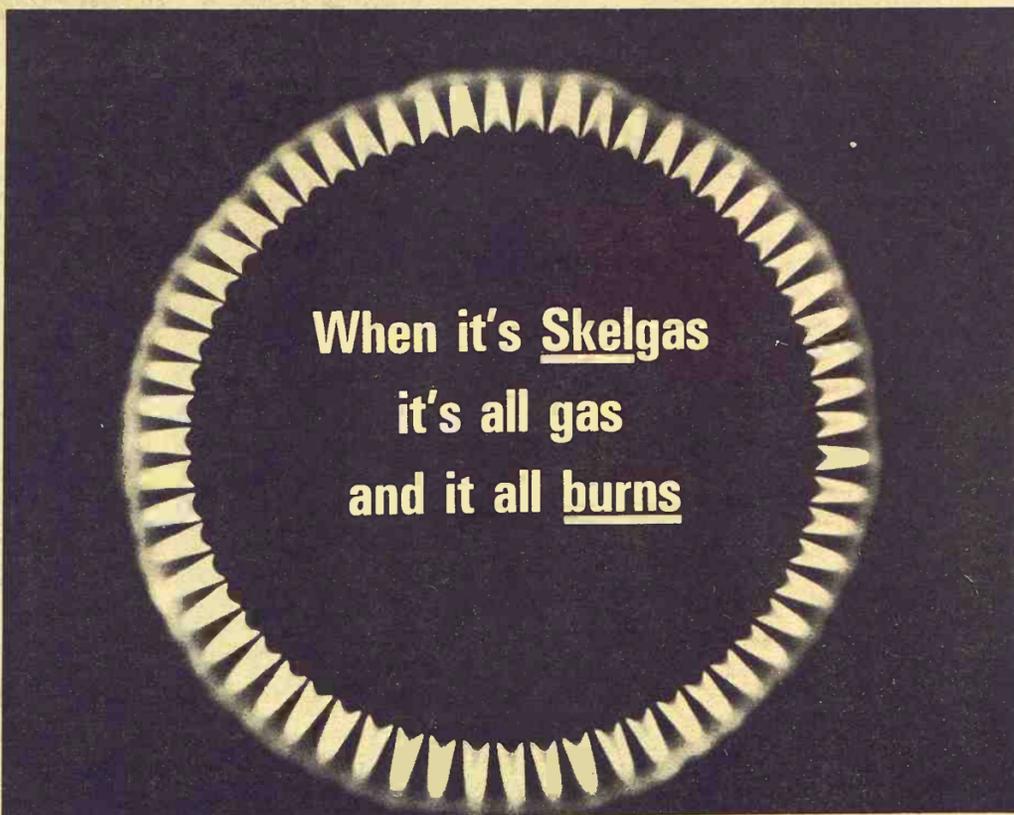

The area includes all of the state lying east of US77, except for Atchison, Brown, Crawford, Doniphan, Jefferson, Labette, Leavenworth, Miami, Montgomery and Wyandotte. In addition, all of Butler and Marion counties are in the hunting area.

The daily bag limit is two with a possession of four on the second day, and six on and after the third day.

Kansas is one of only five states having a prairie chicken hunting season and boasts the largest prairie chicken population of any state in the nation.

CASE

A Case man beats the spring rush by pouring on power in the fall

Planning to beat chancy weather next spring by plowing down this fall? Makes sense—especially if you have enough power to make every good fall day count big. Easy-going, big-displacement power that keeps a 4-row shredder humming at full rpm—a heavy anhydrous rig moving along smartly behind a 13-foot chisel plow.

Case power! Case high-torque design is what makes the powerful difference. Big bore and long stroke—for maximum leverage. A torque reserve that peaks higher, reacts instantly to overloads—licks most of them without a slowdown. Displacement is a big 451 cubic inches in the 7-plow Case 1030 (with NH3 rig), 401 in the 6-plow 930 (with stalk shredder). Both run at relatively low rpm—up to 600 less than high-speed competitors. Here's power built not only to lug, but to last.

Now's the time to see these big-producer tractors at your Case dealer—and arrange for a proof demonstration. Lease or Crop-Way Purchase Plans available to fit your income pattern. J. I. Case Company, Racine, Wisconsin.

Which Fuel Is Best For You?

Coal and oil companies, as well as gas and electric utilities, work continually to convince the American homeowner that he should use their respective fuel to solve his heating problem. To a great extent, the experts agree the majority of their es the fuel, i.e., his plumbing or ing factor, they say, is the individual's usage of household space and the family's patterns of living.

It is generally agreed there is no one fuel that is satisfactory for all households and all families. Since the source of the fuel itself may well prejudice the advantages of it, it is suggested that the American homeowner would do better to consult the man who is responsible for the installation and efficiency of the heating unit that uses th efuel, i.e., his plumbing or heating contractor.

Notes From Winners

Two thank-you notes were received from "Our Daily Bread" contest winners.

Mrs. Charles Lachman of Cuba writes:

"A sincere thank-you for the unusual corn-on-the-cob server set I received for winning the recipe contest. Being a salt and pepper shaker collector, I especially appreciated the cute salt and pepper shakers that are included in the set. Thanks very much."

The other note was sent by Mrs. Paul Epp of Newton:

"Thank you very much for the corn server set I received. I know I will use it a lot. I enjoy your recipes in the 'Our Daily Bread' column very much. This was the first time that I sent in a recipe, so imagine my surprise when I realized that I had won the recipe prize. Thank you again."

Recipe Correction

Bulbs Like Well-Drained Soil

When growing spring-flowering bulbs, it is most important to have a soil that drains well — even more important than high fertility. A loose, crumbly soil allows the roots to penetrate easily and eliminates any possibility of the bulb rotting. Heavy soils can be loosened by adding peat moss, sand or other lighteners. No fertilization is necessary at planting time; gardeners can apply bonemeal in the spring when shoots emerge above the ground.

"No, it's nothin' serious, I jist went dancing with Jake Saturday night!"

RECALLING THE OLD DAYS at Jack Daniel's brings to mind the time the new tax man discovered Tennessee whiskey.

In his first day with us, the new tax man had seen some Jack Daniel's being made. So, of course, he expected it to be barreled the next day. When it wasn't, he was confused. You see, he didn't know about the extra step we take that other distillers don't. That's charcoal mellowing, a time-consuming process that smooths our whiskey through ten feet of charcoal before it's barreled. When he understood this, he realized what sets Tennessee whiskey apart from all others. Just a sip of Jack Daniel's, we believe, and you'll make the same pleasant discovery.

Sinks Add Color- End Kitchen Drudgery

According to the experts, the modern American housewife makes two prime demands on her kitchen: It must be comfortable and pleasant to work in and it must have a fair share of labor-saving devices.

Appliance and fixture manufacturers have not let the housewife down. Conveniences range from microwave and infrared cooking equipment to electric knives and can openers. Even the kitchen sink has added features such as single lever fittings, detergent and hand lotion dispensers, remote control drain action and even special bowl designs to simplify disposer use. The sinks are really wild, and, of course, work hand in hand with the increasingly popular automatic dishwashers.

In the opinion of fixture manufacturers, a modern new sink not only adds color to the kitchen, but gives it a new air of freshness. Costs for complete kitchen remodeling may run high, however, changing only the sink usually can be done at a moderate expense. And do not overlook your plumber in your planning — he's a pro at budget matching.

While not entirely free from household chores to the extent her husband's business has been streamlined, today's housewife really can reduce her working hours and begin enjoying some of her outside interests, if she adds even a few of these work-saver products when she is furnishing a kitchen in a new home or remodeling her present kitchen facility.

Lint May Be Due To Dust Cloth

If your wood furniture appears to have lint on the surface, it might be from the cloth you use. Try the new disposable dusters that are lemon-scented, lint-free dusting papers, safe for the finest furniture and you've no dirty rags to worry about.

G&G Area Cooks Give Aid In Recipe Search

Oh no, it isn't "Dilly Bread,"
Said readers of "Our Daily Bread"
In letters to the Woman's Ed
The name is really "Dilly Bread!"

Thanks so much to you, Dear G&G area cooks, who responded so well to the request for the recipe Mrs. Edwin Wortman, Ruskin, Nebr., wanted.

This recipe for Dilly Bread appears to be representative of the large number received in response to our request, although some have slight variations, the majority were basically the same as this:

DILLY BREAD

A Batter Bread — no kneading! Just mix the savory batter, let it rise, and then turn it into a casserole dish.

1 package active dry yeast
1/4 cup warm water
1 cup creamed cottage cheese, heated to lukewarm
2 tablespoons sugar
1 tablespoon instant minced onion
2 teaspoons dill seed
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon soda
1 unbeaten egg
2 1/4 to 2 1/2 cups all-purpose flour
1 tablespoon butter

Soften yeast in water. In a mixing bowl, combine cottage cheese, sugar, onion, butter, dill seed, salt, soda, egg, and softened yeast. Add flour to form stiff dough, beating well after each addition. (For first addition of flour use mixer at low speed.) Cover. Let rise in warm place (85 to 90 degrees F.) until light and double in bulk, 50 to 60 minutes. Stir down the dough. Turn into well-greased 8-inch round (1 1/2 or 2 quart) casserole. Let rise in warm place until light, 30 to 40 minutes. Bake at 350 degrees F. for 40 to 50 minutes until golden brown. Brush with soft butter and sprinkle with salt.

Your editor has learned a great deal about Dilly Bread, that it is often called "Dilly Casserole Bread," that it at one time won big money in a bake-off contest and that many G&G families enjoy this recipe.

Also, it was reaffirmed that when your editor needs help in locating a recipe she needs only make it known to the area cooks who are more than willing to take time from their busy days to give assistance.

We do wish to give credit to all who answered our SOS and are giving the names of contributors. Some women have already sent the recipe to Mrs. Wortman, and your editor plans to forward all others received also, so she can take her choice.

Nature's Raw Material

By Mrs. Warren L. Roepke
An early autumn rain wakened me not long ago and, as I lay nestled under the covers, I wondered if it would last all day. Over a cup of hot coffee I thought of a few things to entertain Bruce, our 2-year-old, if he couldn't go outside. However, by the time the routine of breakfast, dishes, minor thoughts of dinner and a chase through the house trying to catch our lively youngster were over, the drizzle had stopped. So about 9:00, the two of us donned boots and jackets and ventured out.

I inhaled the unmatched fragrance of the clean early-October air touched with dried leaves as I tended to the rather prosaic job of hanging up a load of wash. Bruce, unburdened with any necessary tasks, headed for the nearest puddle. Test steps, slowly taken, were soon followed by the delighted splat-splat of rubber-clad feet racing gleefully through muddy water.

As I watched, Saki's comment that "boys are nature's raw material" flashed into mind. When Bruce caught me grinning at him Cheshire-like, he hollered, "Mom-mom! Water! 'Plash!'" "Mom-mom! Water! 'Plash!'" "John Adams came for me on the run. My hand was grabbed enthusiastically and the next thing I knew a game of follow-the-leader was under way, Bruce captaining a team of three. Misschief, the family tiger cat, tagged along humbly, black-striped feet daintily avoiding most of the wetness.

The little boy's delight made his jam-and-toast smeared face glow when he saw "Mom-mom" would "plash" hard, too! I dared not miss a puddle, either, for I was told about it, a stubby finger poking a hole in the air in the direction of the by-passed water, an insistent "'plash!" demanded.

Some places were deep enough that the 'plashing got Bruce's shoes and jeans soaked, his gold corduroy jacket spattered with mud. I decided about 40 minutes of that was enough without undue risk of a cold.

"Bruce, you're sippy."
"Yup," he agreed, happily 'plashing through another accumulation of now muddy slime. "Don't you think we ought to go in for some dry clothes and a snack?"
"Nope!" 'Plash, 'plash.
"Aw, come on!" Silence, except for more 'plashing. "Hey, there's the mailman! Let's go see if he brought us a letter from Grandma!"

"O.K." Taking my hand, he called out a loud "wun!" and off we went, boot-laden feet thumping down the gravel road.

Tom, our friendly, dark-haired mailman, waved cheerily to us as he moved on to his next stop. We both waved back as we reached our box. Moving more slowly now, each carrying a share of the delivery, we trudged back to the house, Bruce chattering about "his" mail, me absently answering while reading a letter from his Grandma.

Before going inside, we struggled with stubborn boots. When his reluctantly came off, shoes still inside, filthy water poured out and ran over the gray floor of the porch. Giggling, Bruce pointed to the muddy stream and said, "Water! Dir-ty!", a statement I agreed with wholeheartedly as we entered the coziness of the kitchen for dry clothes and a mid-morning snack.

Favors US77 Over US81 As Nebraska Interstate Route

US81 has been given favored status as the general route for an Interstate Highway improvement north-and-south thru Kansas and Nebraska, but a Beatrice, Nebr., state senator thinks US77 should be given more consideration.

Fred W. Carstens figures that either US77 from Lincoln to the Kansas line or from Lincoln thru Beatrice and Fairbury to the Kansas line near Chester might be preferable to US81 for first priority.

Said Carstens: "There is a tremendous volume of passenger and truck traffic coming up from Kansas and I believe that a fair survey would probably show that it carries more livestock and farm produce than any other comparable stretch of highway in the state."

The traffic is going both to and from Kansas down to Texas, and to the east to Kansas City and the west to Denver, said Carstens.

"In addition," Carstens said, "huge quantities of fertilizer and petroleum products are transported, with the petroleum products coming from the south into Nebraska and the fertilizer products going south into Kansas, and east and west to other points. I seriously wonder if the highway department is fully aware of the changes that have been taking place in the traffic pattern on Highway 77 in the last five years."

"It is also very difficult to understand why Highway 77 is constantly and persistently being neglected," Carstens said.

"It is one of the oldest stretches of highway in the state and the present 10 miles between Pickrell and Highway 41 south of Cortland is probably one of the most obsolete stretches of concrete in eastern Nebraska. It is not only inadequate, but it is dangerous and a hazard to life."

He feels it is almost unbelievable that any suggestion would be made to build an interstate connection between York and Kansas.

CK BULLS Year After Year

THEY SAY:

1. "My cattle are looking mighty fine in the feedlot. The bulls I am using from CK really make my steers look and do wonderful."
2. "When we get these bulls home we will have CK bulls on our cows. Approximately 80 bulls."
3. "We have used CK bulls for 15 years exclusively. Our calves are in big demand."
4. "We sold our calves this year, all by CK bulls, at a $2.00 premium, weighing 505 pounds."
5. "We have been using CK bulls for 12 years. Pick 10 of our kind and send them to us in February."
6. "We sold a part of our ranch this fall with some cows and bulls (all CK). We want 10 bulls in early spring."
7. "CK makes our bull problem easy. We can get the kind we want—5 or 50—and always at reasonable prices, fitted right, tested and uniform."

Advise Using New Tax Values Despite Lawsuit

Robert Londerholm, Kansas attorney general, says he will advise officials in 21 counties where property has been reappraised to go ahead and use new valuations for tax purposes this year.

Londerholm said he will inform the officials they are not legally bound by a decision in a Johnson County case, even though he thinks they are in a similar factual situation.

An exception, the attorney general said, is Clark County. Taxpayers there have filed suit to try to prevent officials from applying reappraised values this year.

Londerholm said he will advice officials in the other counties that they should comply with a state law requiring property to be assessed at 30 per cent of justifiable value.

These counties are Butler, Chase, Edwards, Elk, Greenwood, Haskell, Jewell, Kingman, Logan, Lyon, Marion, Neosho, Norton, Osage, Osborne, Ottawa, Pratt, Republic, Russell, Scott and Stevens.

In the Johnson County case, the district court ruled that new values as a result of reappraisal could not be used for tax purposes this year.

Londerholm has asked Ronald Dwyer, Kansas property valuation director, to intervene in the Johnson County case to bring the matter to the Kansas Supreme court for a hearing on its merits. The attorney general said he has not yet received an answer from Dwyer.

Londerholm, a Republican, earlier had criticized Gov. Robert Docking for failing to support his efforts to intervene in the suit on behalf of the state.

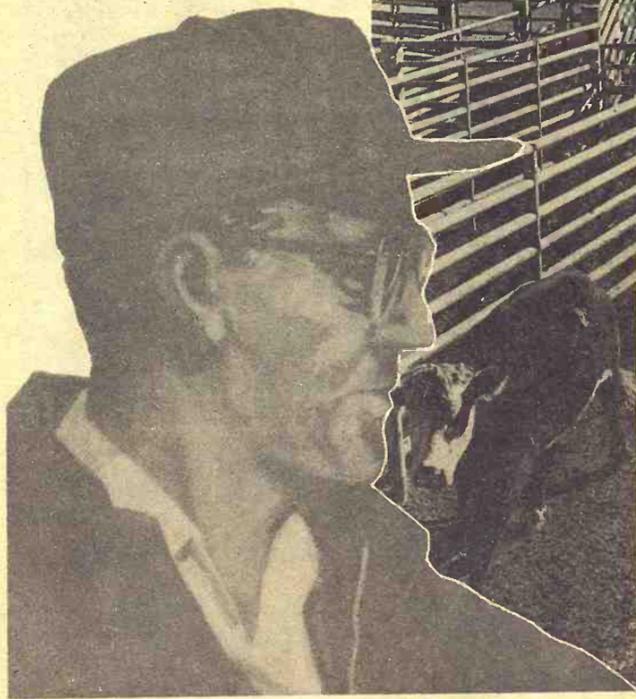

The criticism followed the Kansas supreme court's action in dismissing an appeal by the state from the Johnson County decision. The court ruled that Londerholm was not in a legal position to make the appeal. Londerholm said the appeal was designed to bring Johnson County into compliance with state law requiring property to be assessed at 30 per cent of justifiable value. He said under a previous appraisal average assessment in Johnson County was about 13 per cent of justifiable value.

Put yourself

I like to feed cattle.

But I lose a lot of time getting them started on full-feed.

Wonder why big feedlots are starting to use Purina® Starters?

They say it's so simple. Just give 'em hay the first day. Then fill up the bunks and let 'em eat all the Starters they want. No mixing worries. No founder. Say they really like it.

Believe I'll try Purina Cattle Starters this year.

You're not alone. Most cattle feeders take too long to bring cattle up to full feed. And lost time often costs money.

That's why Purina Research developed Cattle Starters, a complete high roughage ration to start yearlings on full-feed in just 24 hours. Purina Beef Calf Starters start calves under 500 lbs. the same way... fast and easy. And we recommend using Starters with Stilbosol* because research proves it pays in results.

Too Much Steak?

Are farmers producing too much steak, beef roasts and hamburger? Not for consumers — but maybe so much that some farmers will lose money on the cattle they are feeding. That is the possibility indicated by the USDA report of Cattle on Feed as of October 1.

The report itself says nothing about prices, profits, or losses. It is a 20-page compilation of statistics showing estimates of the number of cattle on feed in 32 different states, the time and kinds on feed, the number in various weight groups, and the farmers' marketing intentions. We have to make our own estimates about prices during the coming months.

The USDA report shows that there were 9.5 million cattle in feedlots on October 1 — 11 percent more than in 1967. Steers on feed numbered 6,553,000 — 9 percent more than last year. The number of heifers was 2,933,000 — up 15 percent.

While the percentage increase was greater for heifers, the numerical increase was larger for steers. Steers were up by 525,000, while heifers were up 389,000.

The price outlook appears favorable for another 60 days or so, but beef marketings may be bunched during the winter. Also, there may be a heavy run of hogs at that time. And business activity might slow down — if Uncle Sam really cuts spending, as has been urged.

More steers. The number of heavy cattle on feed was not excessive. Steers weighing over 1100 pounds were estimated at 339,000 — 7 percent less than a year before. Steers weighing 900 to 1100 pounds numbered 2,251,000 — just 2 percent more than last year.

Steers in the 700-to-900 pound bracket were listed at 2,348,000 — up 16 percent. Those weighing 500 to 700 pounds were estimated at 1,235,000 — 18 percent more than a year before. Steer calves (under 500 pounds) totaled 380,000 — the same as in 1967.

More heifers. Government statisticians estimate the number of heifers weighing over 900 pounds on feed October 1 at 375,000 — up 7 percent from a year before. Heifers weighing 700 to 900 pounds were listed at 1,144,000 — up 10 percent. The 500-to-700 pound group totaled 1,027,000 — up 24 percent. The figures for heifer calves (under 500 pounds) was 387,000 — up 18 percent.

Cattle feeders indicated that they would market 5,355,000 of those cattle during this October-December quarter. That number would be only 7 percent greater than the total marketed a year ago in the same quarter.

It is worth noting that marketings of fed cattle were about 7 percent larger during this past July-September quarter than one year before. But demand apparently increased even more, since prices of fed cattle averaged about $1 higher than in 1967.

In view of the large number of lighter cattle now in feedlots, there is a danger of excessive marketings during the winter quarter (January-March). Receipts might run 10 percent over year-before levels. In addition, average slaughter weights may increase, making more beef per animal.

More pork, too. Pork supplies will also be very abundant this winter. When the USDA polled farmers on September 1, they reported 5 percent more pigs under 60 pounds than one year before. Those pigs will be sent to market during the coming winter.

The outlook calls for caution, not panic.

CIVIL WAR BATTLE — The Battle of Mine Creek, Kansas' only Civil War battle, is commemorated by a monument and tombstones in Annex to No. 1 National Cemetery at Mound City, Kansas. The battle took place about noon, October 25, 1864, when the U. S. Army defeated Gen. Sterling Price's rebels attempting to cross Mine Creek, which is located near Mound City. The Yankees routed the rebels, capturing over 1,000 men, to end the warfare in Kansas. In 1889 the 45 Yankee bodies were moved from Mine Creek to the present National Cemetery at Mound City. Kansas' No. 1 National Cemetery is located at Fort Scott. — ENJOY KANSAS — TAKE A KANSAS HOLIDAY.

Orville Uses His Own Set Of Figures

Net farm income this year is expected to be more than 15 billion dollars, the fourth highest level in history, Orville L. Freeman, secretary of agriculture, reports.

Freeman said the boost in realized net income is proof that government farm programs are working.

"I think this shows we're on the right track," he said. "It demonstrates that 1967 marked only a temporary deviation from an upward cycle that began in 1961."

Freeman said the projected 1968 income is an increase of 800 million dollars over last year, exceeded only by net income in 1947, 1948 and 1966.

Gross farm income, he said, is estimated at 51 billion dollars this year, about 1.5 billion more than ever before.

Freeman said net income on a farm-by-farm basis this year is estimated at $4900, the second highest in history.

He said net farm income is "the most objective measure" of farmers' economic situation.

Freeman said details of the government's 1969 livestock feed grains program would not be announced before the election and probably not until after the department's next crop report due November 12.

HILLSBORO HOLSTEIN AT 50-TON PRODUCTION

HILLSBORO — A Holstein cow belonging to Chester Unruh has been cited by the Holstein-Friesian Association of America for a 50-ton lifetime milk production. The cow is 15 years old.

FORD REPORTEDLY SHELVES ELECTRIC CAR

Industry sources say the Ford Motor Co. has put on the shelf its electric car project, which a couple of years ago some officialists in the company said was within "five to ten years" of production. Reportedly problems of building a battery large enough to power a test vehicle and controlling the temperatures at which a sodium-sulphur battery must operate have not been solved.

Poultry Men Are Encouraged

An optimistic outlook for egg and turkey prices into 1969 was forecast Wednesday by speakers at the 38th annual Kansas Poultry Industry Convention at Wichita.

Egg prices are up and production should continue at profitable prices for the next six to eight months, said Orvel H.

Cockrel, publishing director of Poultry Tribune and Turkey World, Mount Morris, Ill.

Cockrel forecast a "cautious outlook" on the long-range view on egg prices.

"Chicks hatched in September were up 5 per cent and eggs going into the incubator are up 15 per cent. What happens depends on what producers do as far as the placement of pullets. We might overdo it again, he added.

Egg prices were low until four months ago when the industry got back above cost of production and since that time they have been at profitable levels, Cockrel said.

"Last year was the most difficult in the poultry industry in that eggs, broilers and trukeys were all below cost of production," he added.

"A good year ahead in the turkey industry" was forecast by Cockrel. He based his prediction on a 15 per cent cutback nationally in production of turkeys this year.

He also noted that cold storage of turkeys was down 15 per cent from a year ago.

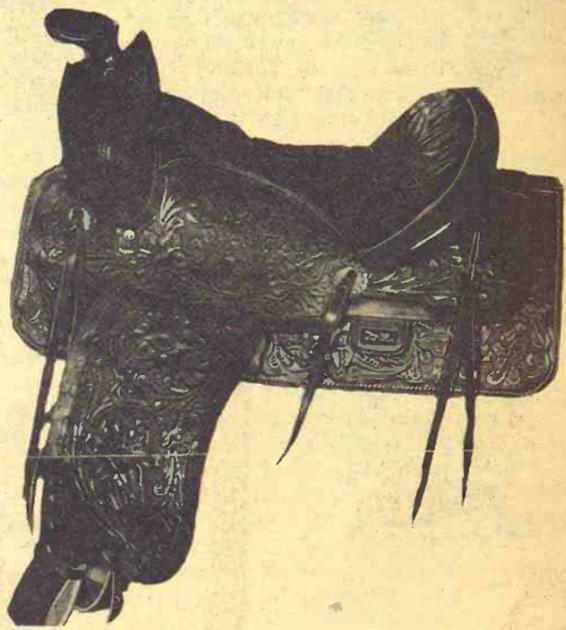

Clarence A. Schmidt, McPherson, vice president of the Kansas Turkey Federation, also termed the turkey outlook "good" for next year. He predicted market prices of 2 to 3 cents above last year for this year's crop. He said that Kansas turkey production is down 35 to 40 percent from 1967.

After going through the worst depression in 27 years, egg prices have strengthened and should continue if producers don't overexpand, agreed Harry J. Reed of Farmland Industries Inc., Kansas City.

Topeka Site For Farm Bureau Convention Next Week

Kansas farmers representing 105 county Farm Bureaus will meet in Topeka November 10-13, at the 50th annual convention of Kansas Farm Bureau, the state's largest general farm organization.

Registration will start Sunday afternoon. Dr. Peter Armacost, president of Ottawa University, will speak at the evening vesper service. The final general program event of the day is a talent find conducted by the Young Farmers and Ranchers Committee.

The first session Monday morning will feature addresses by President Ray Frisbie, McDonald; Mrs. Victor Haflich, Garden City, State Chairman of Farm Bureau Women and Ward Wright, director of Farm Bureau Insurance Services. In the afternoon an open discussion of tentative resolutions will be conducted by John Junior Armstrong, Muscotah, vice-president of Kansas Farm Bureau.

Ten "Women Leaders of the Year" will be honored Monday at the annual breakfast for Farm Bureau Women. Ten men will be named "Farm Bureau Leaders of the Year" at the banquet that evening. Dr. Tom Haggai of Tom Haggai and Associates Foundation, High Point, North Carolina, is the banquet speaker.

Principal speakers Tuesday are the Honorable Frank Carlson, Concordia, United States Senator, and Bill House, Cedarvale, president of the American National Cattlemen's Association.

The November 12 program also features a panel discussion of "Issues and Problems of the Day." The moderator is Thad M. Sandstrom, vice-president and general manager of WIBW Radio and TV, Topeka. Panelists are Carl Nordstrom, director of research and assistant general manager, Kansas State Chamber of Commerce; Harold Stones, director of research, Kansas Banker's Association, and John Blythe, assistant manager of legislative research, Kansas Farm Bureau.

District caucus meetings will be held Tuesday to nominate five members of the Kansas Farm Bureau board of directors. Board members whose two-year terms are expiring are Frank Boyd Jr., Moran; Walter H. Porter, Reading; Brad Judy, Montrose; Gilman E. Bishop, Norton, and Paul H. Nelson, McPherson.

Also to be nominated at district caucuses are five members of the state committee of Farm Bureau Women. Completing two-year terms are Mrs. Harold Jones, Hamlin; Mrs. Chester Reed, Peru; Mrs. Dan Musil, Frankfort; Mrs. Louise Ahnert, St. John, and Mrs. John Valentine, Ashland.

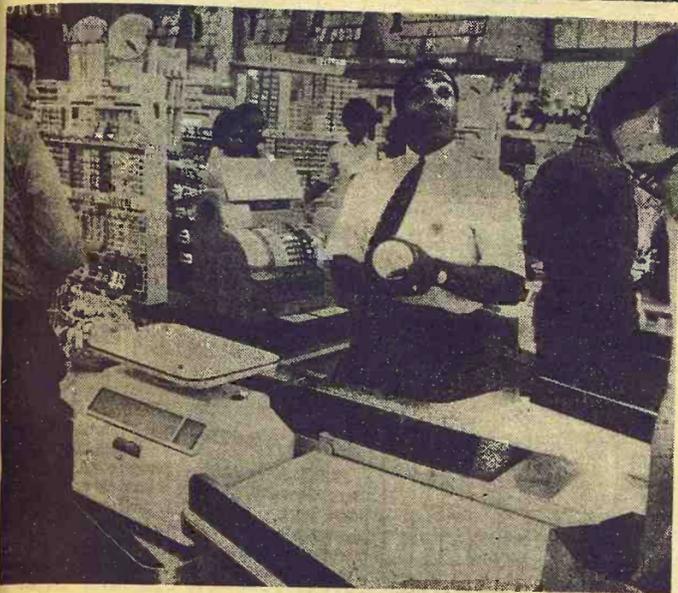

Members of the Kansas Farm Bureau board of directors and members of the state committee of Farm Bureau Women will be elected during the afternoon business session.

Included in the Tuesday program will be awards to counties for membership achievements and safety activities; reports from affiliated services and finals of the Discussion Meet. The Farm Bureau queen will be crowned at the annual ball featuring the music of the Dean Adamson Orchestra.

Final discussion of resolutions, adoption of official policy on state issues, recommendations on national issues and election of officers and voting delegates to the American Farm Bureau annual convention will close the meeting Wednesday.

Five voting delegates to the national meeting in Kansas City, Missouri, Dec. 9-12 will be elected. A total of seven delegates including the president and vice-president will represent Kansas Farm Bureau.

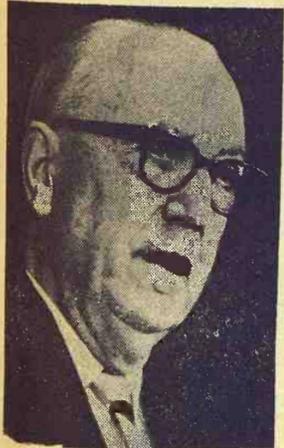

Making Opportunities

A large step in Negro opportunities in Kansas has been taken in Topeka, where an IGA supermarket has been opened by Bill Harper. Harper owns and manages the store at 17th and Kansas, in a neighborhood where it should have both white and black trade.

Dr. Menninger Doubts Crime Figures

Dr. Karl Menninger of Topeka, Kans., argued Tuesday that there has been no real increase in violent crime in America and said the idea behind the phrase "law and order" is self-destructive.

"More murders have taken place by far in the past than today," the 75-year-old psychiatrist said. "Violent crime has been diminishing all the time."

he said. "They take place in the homes. Most nonviolent crime takes place in the department stores, supermarkets."

Menninger, chairman of the board of trustees of The Menninger Foundation in Topeka, spoke at a news conference held in connection with publication of his book "The Crime of Punishment."

Asked about statistics to the contrary, Menninger insisted, "I see no convincing evidence that there has been any increase in violence."

He referred questioners to the novels of Charles Dickens and suggested that the Boston Tea Party and the Crusades could be classed as riots.

"Your chances of being murdered in Eskimo country," he said, "your chances of being murdered in Chicago, your chances of being murdered in the desert are about the same."

MIZOU CHAROLAIS NET NEAR HALF MILLION

The recent Red Carpet Charolais sale during the American Royal at Kansas City was surely one of the highest cattle sales ever, grossing $480,900 with 12½ bulls averaging $13,200 and 53 females averaging $6075. The highest price for a bull was $45,500. The sale was sponsored by the Missouri Charolais association.

Massey-Ferguson leads the challenge to old-fashioned corn harvesting ideas

You'll see more combines than ever before in corn fields this fall as the revolution in corn harvest expands. This year, more corn will be shelled than left on the ear. Indiana farmers combined 62% of their corn last year... Illinois 56%... Minnesota and Iowa about 34% and the shift rolls on at better than 5% per year. The University of Nebraska estimates that 45 to 50% of that state's corn acreage will be combined... but this will represent 70 to 75% of the bushels. The combine is making the corn picker obsolete, just as the corn picker shoved the husking hook into the junk pile. Corn head sales will be double picker sales this fall.

Why the rapid change? Here's what university agricultural engineers say:

"It simply isn't practical for many farmers to handle today's large quantities of corn in the ear." Indiana

"The farmer can get more capacity with a corn combine than he can with a picker." Nebraska

"Most corn farmers also grow soybeans and like to have one harvest machine." Minnesota

"Ear corn storage is becoming obsolete and farmers like to get their crop harvested earlier." Iowa

Massey-Ferguson leads the field in corn combining both in numbers and in pioneering ideas for fast, complete corn harvest. Farmers like the on-the-go controls that permit precise corn-saving adjustments. They like the big capacity of a broad line of combines specially designed for corn harvest. And they can choose from 17 different corn head/combine units sized to fit all types of farms. MF combines handle rows spaced 20 to 40 inches and in 2, 3, 4, 6 and 8 row sizes.

New MF combines have Quick-Attach corn heads and grain tables that permit corn harvest in the morning and soybeans in the afternoon. With a little practice, a farmer can change from bean table to corn head in just 5 minutes.

The trend toward corn combining is running strong. If you're still picking corn, you'll want to consider the change. And when you do, take a close look at Massey-Ferguson... the leader in corn combining.

PRESIDENTIAL ELECTION PATTERNS

In the past four decades the vote has run the gamut from Roosevelt's one-sided victory in 1936 to the 1960 contest when Kennedy received 49.5 per cent of the popular vote to Nixon's 49.3 per cent. However, the electoral vote that year didn't reflect the closeness of the balloting, with 303 for the Democrats and only 219 for the Republicans.

END OF TRAIL — This boulder in Abilene, Kansas, marks the end of the old, historic Chisholm Cattle Trail. When the Union Pacific Railroad reached Abilene in 1867, the town became the nearest market for hundreds of cattle owners between Abilene and Texas ranches. As a result, Texas cattle drives through grazing lands all the way to Abilene were common sights. The trail was named after Jesse Chisholm, a part Cherokee Indian and a trader with the Wichita tribe. Chisholm used his vast knowledge of English, Spanish, and 14 Indian languages to promote peace along the trail. America's first cow town, Abilene thrived and grew into a robust, gun-slinging city. It, however, lost its market in 1871 when the Santa Fe Railroad reached Newton. — ENJOY KANSAS — TAKE A KANSAS HOLIDAY.

mann says only a minority of Nebraskans understand, it is estimated that almost half the income earners will pay no state income tax. But they may not know it, with the first tax not to be collected until next year.

In short, Nebraskans will vote whether or not to retain a tax they have not yet fully tested. Nebraska has in the past taxed itself as little as any state in the U.S. The vote this week will determine whether they will keep the income tax or not.

Cooper Flock Grosses $2500

HAVEN — One hundred head of registered Southdowns were dispersed for over $2500 to Kansas and Oklahoma buyers despite a downpouring rain here. Sellers were Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Cooper & Sons.

Virgil McClure of Newton purchased the most head, taking 29. Other major buyers were Otto Stelter of Towanda and Ronald Wedel of Moundridge.

Harold Tonn, auctioneer and sale manager, reported about one fourth of the sheep were sold to Oklahoma buyers. Tonn said the Cooper flock was founded for 4-H purposes and a number of ewes sold to buyers with that in mind.

Nebraska Income Tax Suddenly Has Friends

The state of Nebraska, which in 1966 appeared to be on the verge of banning nearly all the major means of raising taxes by the state, suddenly is finding friends of the income tax all over the place.

A referendum calling for a ballot test of a constitutional amendment prohibiting the state government from imposing an income tax is being voted upon, and the proponents of the amendment have gotten the issue on the ballot, the income tax has so many friends they are almost hard to count.

Both major political parties have pledged fealty to the income tax. So have the Republican and Democratic state central committees.

Every state-wide farm organization says the income tax needs to be saved. The Nebraska AFL-CIO and most major educational groups agree.

Individual Chambers of Commerce, including Omaha's and Lincoln's, are on record against the anti-income tax amendment. The state Chamber of Commerce and the Retail Merchants Association are behind them.

Most surprising, the Omaha World-Herald, for years the flagship of opposition to a broadened tax base, editorially declared the income tax should be retained.

Governor Norbert Tiemann is for it, and in the 1966 election he had some unkind remarks for income tax.

One feature the Nebraska income tax has is a $7-a-person food tax credit. Because of this credit feature, which Tie-

New Forestry Building

This new structure of the State and Extension Forestry Service at Kansas State University, Manhattan, is headquarters for 16 extension foresters who serve the state's forestry and rural fire protection programs. The $175,000 facility, regarded as one of the most functional of its kind in the country, was financed by U.S. Forest Service Cooperative Funds. In addition to offices, it includes a constant-temperature cold storage area, tree shipping room, maintenance garage, and literature stock room. The K-State extension foresters annually store and distribute more than 1 1/2 million trees representing 26 species, to farmers and others throughout the state. The foresters have obtained more than 1500 surplus army vehicles which have been converted to fire trucks for use in 275 Kansas rural areas. The trucks, manned by volunteer community firemen, provide protection for 35-million acres of Kansas land.

Kansans Shelling Out $2 Billion For Taxes

Kansans shelled out just short of $2 billion in taxes last year, an increase of roughly 20 percent in two years.

The federal government took about 60 percent of the total, which figures $1.959 billion in federal, state and local taxes.

Here's the bite for the last fiscal year in millions:

Local property $414.8
 State $ 361.6

Just two years ago, the total of taxes paid was $1.621 billion, with state taxes going up about 9%, local taxes about 27%, and federal taxes about 26%, from $936 million in 1965 to $1.183 billion in the past fiscal year.

Increased incomes, of course, accounted for some of the tax gain, but not for all. Personal incomes in the state were up about 15% from $6.0 billion in 1966 to $6.9 billion in the last fiscal year.

The average tax then — $1.96 billion taxes on $6.9 billion income — is 28%.

The figures come from a report by the Kansas Legislative Council research department.

"Of the $361.6 million state tax collections in the last year, $154.2 million (or 43%) was distributed as state aid and shared taxes to local governments for spending," said the report. "Thus local units ultimately received $569 million or 73% of the combined state and local taxes.

The report shows that of the $414.8 million in local government taxes collected, school taxes accounted for over half with 57% compared to 23% for counties, 17% for cities and 3% for townships and special districts.

Here are the basic sources of income for the state in millions:

From Rags to Riches

Here's an Horatio Alger story in horseflesh.

The picture at upper left was taken in 1953 shortly after a 3-year old Quarter Horse named Camelot's Pearl was bought for $15 at Greensburg. At the time the mare weighed 575 pounds.

Three years later, now heavier, in better condition, and heavy in foal, she sold for $115. A dark grey as a young horse, she was now turning lighter in color.

Now in the stable of V. B. Wheatcroft of Dodge City, she had turned a light grey color at the age of eight and produced this handsome stud colt, Pearl's King Leo.

Now aged eight, the stud colt in the preceding picture is shown with his Kentucky owner, Paul Lynn of Owensboro, sold for $10,000 after he won the world's barrel racing championship. Camelot's Pearl, the shaggy little mare which once brought $15, has produced nine foals for Wheatcroft, six grey and three sorrel. She has another AAA colt and track record holder among her many outstanding offspring.

Shira had this suggestion for those who cannot stop overnight:

"Buy only one pack at a time.
Carry it in a buttoned pocket.
Don't carry matches or a light-sugar free gum or candy hand-

He conceded that increase in

"If weight can be maintained,

Australia Cuts Wheat Support

Australia is getting a new wheat price support program which will cost the government less money.

Australian farmers apparently are not happy about the new program, but have agreed to it reluctantly, according to Fred M. Lege III, U.S. agricultural attache at Canberra. Lege is a former rancher of Ft. Worth, Texas.

The program is called the wheat stabilization scheme and it is sort of a 3-price system. The new "scheme" first was proposed by the government in August and was finally endorsed by the Australian Wheat Growers' federation in September. It still must have the approval of the legislatures of the wheat-producing states. When this is obtained, it will be in effect for five years beginning with the 1968-69 season.

On the whole, Lege said (in dispatches to the Department of Agriculture in Washington), the new program reduces government payments to wheat producers by substantially lowering the guaranteed price for grain moving into export.

It also revamps the index used to calculate the price for grain sold on the home market.

In effect, the whole new program is just a revamping of the old one that has been in use several years. Edwin A. Jaenke, a high official in the Department of Agriculture in Washington, explained that in Australia, all wheat is sold to the government, just as it is in Canada.

Australia then guarantees the farmer an export price for a certain quantity each year, a fixed price for the grain used domestically and then the remainder that is sold for export goes at the world market price. The farmer, in effect, gets a blend price after all the wheat is sold. However, he gets an advance at the time his grain is marketed, with a final payment later.

This year, apparently, the government will have little to pay. At the time Lege sent his information to Washington, the export price on wheat was $1.43 a bushel, just 2 cents below the guarantee. Thus on 200 million bushels, the government would be out only 4 million dollars.

It is difficult to make comparisons between U.S. and Australian prices because wheats are not of the same quality and freight charges differ. Domestic prices in the United States are below the U.S.I.G.A. export minimum. Therefore, it is necessary for this country to invoke an inverse subsidy on wheat exported in order to get the price up to the minimum. The exporters pays this subsidy to our government and presumably it is the difference between the cost of the wheat here and the fixed export price. The inverse subsidy money goes into a fund which will be distributed among farmers co-operating in the government's wheat program.

While it is difficult to compare prices, apparently, Jaenke said, the Australian wheat guarantee price this year will amount to about $1.22 to $1.23 a bushel on the farm.

An interesting facet of the Australian price system concerns the grain that is exported above the 200 million bushels on which the government promises a guarantee. This wheat, as explained, goes at the world market price. A major market for Australian wheat is China and China has not joined the I.G.A. The Australians are said to be insisting that China pay the I.G.A. minimum, but China doesn't have to if it can find grain elsewhere, or if it chooses not to buy any at all. It will be interesting to observe along this line this winter — for instance, will China be able to buy wheat at less cost than the so-called free nations of the world?

Australia is expecting a bumper wheat crop. It may reach 500 million bushels, which could cause the country some marketing problems. This is the big reason the government changed the support program. Initially, farmers were asking for a higher support price, not less, but in view of the big crop and the problems that could be associated with it, they finally agreed they had better take what they could get, Lege said.

Irrigators Pick Great Bend For Annual Meeting

Kansas Irrigation and Reclamation Association members selected Great Bend for their fifth annual meeting, December 5, Russell Herpich, Extension irrigation engineer at Kansas State University and secretary of the group, announced this week.

Attention of the Association will be on water development with reports and discussion of the Kansas water management district law, the state water development program of the U.S. Corps of Engineers, and the new state evapo-transpiration laboratory.

Representatives of the Kansas State Board of Agriculture, Division of Water Resources; the Kansas Water Resources Research Institute at KSU, the National Reclamation Association; and the U.S. Corps of Engineers will report. "Water and the Plains" will be discussed by Dr. Harold E. Jones, Extension specialist in soil fertility at KSU.

The evapo-transpiration laboratory, just being established, will conduct work to cut loss of water. Evaporation and transpiration account for the greatest loss of water in Kansas. A year ago KIRA unanimously passed a resolution calling for establishment of such a laboratory in the state.

Irrigation farming comprises the state's greatest single demand for water. Though ample supplies of water exist, expansion of irrigation causes concern for future availability of water from streams, reservoirs, and the ground.

The meeting will also include executive sessions of the Association's board of directors, according to L. E. Annis, Ulysses, president of KIRA.

Great Pumpkin

Here's the Great Pumpkin Charlie Brown's been talking about. It weighed 75 pounds when shown by 2-year old Brenda Pfaff of Randolph. Brenda is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dean Pfaff, and the pumpkin came from their garden.

Pfaff said he had planted three hybrid seeds and this pumpkin came from the only plant that grew. The quality of the pumpkin was good, says Pfaff, with very few seeds. Mrs. Pfaff has since cut up the pumpkin and frozen it. Coming up: several dozen pumpkin pies.

More Interest In Preconditioning

Preconditioning of cattle draws wide-eyed interest now. The term means different things to different people, but there are attempts to standardize the procedure throughout.

The entire preconditioning program is based on logical assumptions, explains Dr. Homer K. Caley, Extension veterinarian at Kansas State University.

"There is a definite need for the reduction of disease in our stocker & feeder cattle," Caley says. However, the problem of a workable protection program is controversial and not all people are satisfied with the results.

"Ranchers and feedlot operators that are basing their comments on 1 year's observations may be in for disappointments later on, for the shipping fever complex is so variable that it cannot be predicted," Caley says. Each group of cattle will be slightly different and will react differently during the weaning and moving period.

Caley explains that most authorities are in agreement that weaning for 3 weeks before shipping would be ideal. Some people who are pushing the preconditioning program believe that calves may gain 40 to 60 pounds during the weaning period and that that added weight will pay for the program.

Other people doubt that a calf will gain weight during the weaning period and so the controversy still exists. "The answer is that some calves may gain some weight while others may lose weight," Caley says.

Acclimatizing weaned calves for at least 3 weeks before putting them into feedlots, and good feedlot management, prevented shipping fever more effectively than any combination of shipping fever vaccines currently available for researchers at North Dakota State University who studied more than 6000 feeder calves.

Over 2000 calves given antibiotics, sulfonamides and vitamins at an average cost of $1.44 per head had a higher rate of sickness and a higher cost of treatment per head than 223 calves receiving no medication at all on arrival at eight feed-lots. "Good management is still the most important part of a successful livestock operation," Caley adds.

More Outdoor Funds For State

Kansas has been allocated $646,880 for fiscal 1969 by Secretary of Interior Stewart Udall from Land and Water Conservation Fund appropriations.

Since the fund was authorized Jan. 1, 1965, the state has received $3,783,718 from it on a 50-50 federal-state matching basis for planning, acquiring and developing outdoor recreation areas and facilities approved by the government.

Fiscal year allocations for 1965, covering only the last half of the year, were $144,709; for 1966, $1,176,888; 1967, $902,158, and 1968, $913,083.

The amount which Kansas could receive in subsequent years if the state can provide matching funds may increase substantially because of congressional action in July.

It authorized increasing the fund to $200 million annually in the five fiscal years from 1969 to 1973 either from general treasury revenues or from outer continental shelf mineral leasing receipts.

Congress adjourned, however, without appropriating any funds under the authorization.

The Department of Interior is expected to submit appropriate legislation to the 91st Congress to cover the last half of fiscal 1969.

Reserve Funds For Rural Town's Progress

F. Jackson George, Kansas director of the Farmers Home Administration, said loans totaling $2.29 million and grants totaling $97,880 have been reserved for 14 rural communities for the development of water or sewer systems during fiscal year 1969.

George said the projects will bring modern water or waste disposal facilities to an estimated 6,745 rural residents.

The location and amount of funds reserved include:

Northeast Labette County, $364,470; southeast of Olathe, $499,560; western Republic, $369,000; north of Columbus in Cherokee County, $322,900; east of De Soto, $19,000; west of Arma in Crawford County, $27,630; southwest of Olpe in Lyon County, $116,160; Niotaze area in Montgomery County, $86,000; west of Pittsburg, $30,000;

BUN OUT OF WORK. STUDY FUNDS AT KU

Demand for jobs by students at the University of Kansas has forced temporary disbandment of a work-study program principally financed by tax funds from the U.S. Dept. of Health, Education and Welfare. Nearly 500 students had been employed under the work-study program, with $182,000 needed to employ that many students but with only $133,000 allocated.

Beef and Pork Consumption

Beef consumption will be 1½ to 2 pounds more per person this year than in 1967. This will be 107½ to 108 pounds per person. It will extend the almost continuous increase since the 80 pounds consumed per person in 1958. Human population is up two million persons from a year ago. This is an increase of one percent. Consumption of pork this year will be about 65 pounds per person — up about one pound from 1967.
