We Beat Nebraska

Foreword

THIS has been a year of headlines — some of somber cast, others of a lighter nature. In this, the 1942 Royal Purple, we have attempted to portray Kansas State as it is reflected in the headlines — as each day sees another link forged in the chain of events that makes a college in a world at war.

We Went to War

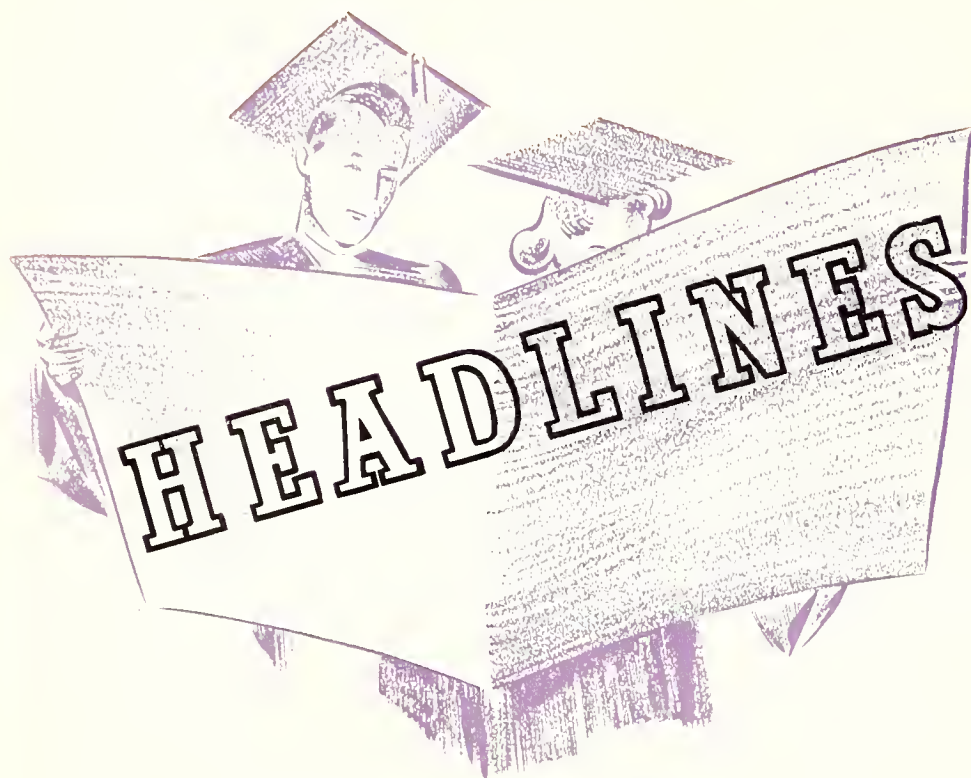

We Studied

IN A nation armed and fighting for her creeds — her way of life, college assumes a new significance. Here are born the hopes, the inspirations, of tomorrow and from here go the soldiers of today. To the values that call for courage and sacrifice, to the American spirit as represented on our campus, this book is dedicated.

HEADLINES OF '42

The school year 1941-42, remember? That was the year of headlines, some full of pathos, solemnity, and sober thought. Others were filled with fun, hilarity. That was the year war was declared, enrollment dropped, and the outside world seemed unstable. But on the campus, our own small world kept right on moving much the same, with only a faster tempo to mark the changing times.

Remember enrollment in September showed a decrease of 321 students from the former high of 4,090 set in 1940? Once more the campus was alive with frightened freshmen, weary seniors, all in the pleasant commotion called "getting educated."

Rush Week Ends

Rush week ended with sorority houses boasting 89 new members, while fraternities signed up 142 men following a busy rushing period. And another year of duties, teas, paddles and parties was under way.

Then came the get-acquainted period with the Y's entertaining freshmen at the College Sister party and the Freshman Kickoff. No sooner were these over and life had settled down to normal than the College took a beating from opponents of the Triple A who would have extension services keep their fingers out of government agricultural agencies.

Oscar B. Stauffer opened the year's series of assemblies as he gave the regent's address. Closer rule than theirs was proved as the student body voted to choose Student Council members by divisional vote, and the Greek governing groups enforced a no-sneak rule.

Building Program Important

Next, unheralded at the time, but most important to the College from a long time point of view was the building program, begun as the Kansas State College Building association and organized under the provisions of a law authorizing the construction of the Student Union building and additional residence halls. President Farrell was the guiding force behind the entire expansion plan.

The state, too, introduced a longtime building program for the state schools and the beginning of the accumulation of a large fund for use in putting the program into effect.

More planning for the future was apparent as plans were completed for three home management houses to be constructed on the campus, and land was purchased for a new farm for the Department of Horticulture.

Students, by now oriented to the College, began work on various projects. Collegiate actors began work on the season's first production, "The Male Animal," under a new director, Walter Roach. College bandmen began drill work, planning stunts for the first K-State football game.

The hectic fall rush started as Fort Hays opened the gridiron season. We battled to a disheartening tie. Jane Haymaker was elected chairman of the Purple Pepsters, and S.G.A. Prexy Larry Spear apportioned the money to K-State activities. Shirley Shaver was chosen to reign as Miss Manhattan, and later was first attendant to the American Royal queen.

Ags Feud with Columnist

Columnists had a stormy year as one was tossed in the horsetank by irate ags. Later engineers took another budding Winchell for a ride, the columnist plotting vengeance on his long walk home.

The U. S. Navy band put on a concert; the Collegian again won first class rating; and vets struck a triumphant blow at ags as Barnwarmer princesses arrived dateless. Chi O Betty Hathorn reigned as queen.

The Royal Purple made the headlines as it was rated All-American for the sixth consecutive time, and Henry Busse was signed to play at the 1942 Beauty ball.

The revived Wildcats shared the spotlight with Homecoming Queen Barbara Sperry as they downed the Cornhuskers in a 12-6 victory, with Zeleznak providing the scoring punch for the underdogs.

More elections and selections came along as the SAE's won Aggie Pop, Evelyn Stockwell was crowned K-State's most beautiful coed, and the Greeks won seven places to take the class elections.

War Stuns Campus

Then came the stunned excitement that was December 7. President Farrell asked that all draft-age students sit tight, and a program for accelerated studies was introduced.

Campus societies were examined by a committee to determine which deadwood groups should be eliminated, while the Student Union committee went ahead with plans for the building after the war.

Collegiates griped at the Pi Kappa Delta Gripe session, bought Christmas presents at the YWCA bazaar, saw Mary Cawood chosen honorary cadet colonel, and watched the second semester enrollment drop to 3,104.

K-State tasted the grimmer dregs of war as news of alumni casualties were reported, and students spent many hours talking to their draft boards in an effort to delay their call to service.

College student employees had their hourly wage scale raised as a result of a petition signed by both skilled and unskilled workers, but many NYA workers were dropped from the pay rolls as the local allotment was cut.

Ags presented their 19th little American Royal, the World Forum program reaffirmed religion in a troubled world, advanced students asked why no summer camp, and 500 men eligible for military service registered.

Philharmonic Performs

The Celebrity Series committee presented Karl Krueger and his famed Kansas City Philharmonic to an enthusiastic college crowd, and Chairman Arlin Ward announced another performance for later in the year.

The 22nd annual Engineers' Open House opened to a crowd of 14,000; the civil engineers won the Steel Ring trophy; and Louie Armstrong played for St. Pat's prom. John St. John ruled as St. Pat, with Shirley Kilmer as St. Patricia.

The annual Y-Orpheum had an Asiatic theme, with the Sig Eps winning the trophy. Dr. O. W. Warmingham spoke at life planning week, and President Farrell announced an expanded summer program.

Spring arrived and with it came picnics, spring fever, and Easter vacation. Following closely were Student Council elections, a new Board of Publications, and the annual R.O.T.C. inspection.

Home Ecs Exhibit Talents

Home ecs exhibited their class work and their talents during their Hospitality Days show and closed the two-day meet with the Hospitality hop. Mortar Board announced new members, and organizations made plans for next year's program.

Seniors rented their caps and gowns and sent their invitations. Everyone was caught in the mad whirl of Senior Sneak day, spring parties and the grind of finals.

So another volume in Kansas State's history fell closed, and the headlines of 1942 remained but a memory to be smiled at and talked about in years to come.

Those of us who leave the College this spring have all the regrets of other seniors, no more coke dates on the wall, no meetings, sneaks, elections, honors. But with our world at war careers and other future plans are more significant. With four years training in democratic living at K.S.C., men and women graduates alike are going out to fight for that creed in a shattered universe. What headline of 1942 could be more important?

"OUR DREAM OF a Student Union building is not dead" these members of the Union committee claim as they listen to Professor Weigel plan for its future construction.

Board of Regents Says "Yes" To War-time Policy Changes

JANUARY 16.—The Kansas Board of Regents today approved plans for granting semester credit concessions to Kansas State College students withdrawing for military or naval service. Action was taken also to award degrees to seniors expecting to graduate this spring but who might be called into the armed forces.

Also approved by the Regents was the College's program of "accelerated study," inaugurated as a war-time measure during the spring semester.

All policy changes or proposals for new buildings must be approved by the Board of Regents, which supervises the six Kansas state schools. Board members are appointed by Governor Payne H. Ratner.

Officers of the Board this year were F. M. Harris, chairman; Hubert Brighton, secretary; and Miss Katherine Moot, assistant to the secretary.

ABOUT TO SIGN an important document is Kansas' young but able governor, Payne H. Ratner.

GETS APPROVAL

Pres. F. D. Farrell in a special message today also urged students to remain in school until they have finished their college work or until being called to the colors. College students must "keep their heads and decide questions on the basis of fact rather than on the basis of rumor, excitement or heedless enthusiasm" he said.

Farrell Makes War-time Plans

President Farrell, with the Council of Deans, drew up in January the plans for the accelerated war-time College program put into effect here second semester.

It is his duty to supervise and regulate the scholastic activities of Kansas State's several thousand students. Its 500 faculty members are also responsible to him. To the President falls the task of conferring and negotiating with the Board of Regents about any change in the College's financial, staff, or policy matters.

C. O. PRICE wears his usual cheerful grin as he leaves for home after another day of question-answering.

PRESIDENT F. D. FARRELL has 16 years experience behind him as Kansas State's chief executive.

The President is dignified, scholarly, conservative—always. In his sixteen years as chief executive he has seen Kansas State grow from a small agricultural school to a nationally known college of several thousand students. His thought is first and last for Kansas State College.

Price Is Able Assistant

Serving as President Farrell's "man Friday" is ever-genial C. O. Price. As assistant to the President he handles everything from newspaper reporters to queries about post-victory holidays. His front-office job is filled with routine and special assignment work.

Old and New Collegiates Find Friends Among Administrators

SEPTEMBER 11.—Enrollment at Kansas State College reached the 3,718 mark today as the doors of Nichols Gymnasium closed on the last regular registration period. This 1941 figure is a decrease of nearly eight per cent from last year's 4,032 students.

Miss Jessie McDowell Machir, registrar, announced that the Division of Engineering with 1,018 students led in the number enrolled. Miss Machir, in addition to supervising registration, is chairman of the committee on admission and secretary of the faculty.

A total of 974 freshmen registered last Friday in the first day of their induction week. Preceding enrollment each year, prospective students are introduced to the campus during a freshman induction week, including instruction meetings, tours of the campus and a series of examinations, both physical and mental.

that the Student Health department serves 95.73 per cent of the students during each school year.

Besides the departmental offices in Anderson hall, student health facilities include the College hospital and annex, used for contagious cases and during epidemics.

All six of these College notables can testify that it takes a great amount of patience and time to keep Kansas State running smoothly.

S. A. NOCK, who received his doctor's degree at the University of Tartu, Esthonia, is the congenial and efficient vice-president of the College.

Agriculture Division Sponsors Annual Little American Royal

FEBRUARY 5.—Tonight marked the 19th annual showing of the Little American Royal, student livestock contest, which has long been one of the most popular features for visitors at Kansas State College during Farm and Home week.

More than 100 animals, including dairy cattle, horses, beef cattle, hogs and sheep were paraded around the gaily decorated arena of the livestock pavilion in the fitting and showing contest.

These animals were owned by the College and were assigned to the various student entrants early last month. The students, as exhibitors, were rated by judges on the basis of the appearance of the animals they were showing and the manner in which they displayed them.

DEAN L. E. CALL (above) of the Division of Agriculture, is a friend of all agriculture students with whom he comes in contact. Farming is his hobby just as agriculture is his profession.

AS AN ASSISTANT to the head of the Division of Agriculture, Dean C. W. Mullen acts as administrator of curricula affairs for agriculture students. He is a master at remembering names and faces.

Each year the Little American Royal is sponsored by the Departments of Animal Husbandry and Dairy Husbandry. Supervisors of the contest are the Block and Bridle and the Dairy clubs, both agriculture departmental clubs.

Mullen Is Assistant

C. W. Mullen, assistant dean of the Division of Agriculture, came to Kansas State after having served on the editorial staff of the Oklahoma Farmer Stockman.

Prof. F. W. Atkeson is head of the Department of Dairy Husbandry. Canadian by birth is Prof. E. G. Bayfield, head of the Department of Milling Industry.

AG STUDENTS STAGE SHOW

One of the few Kansas State executives to have two important and separate positions is Dr. W. E. Grimes, head of the Department of Economics and Sociology and head of the Department of Agricultural Economics.

Head of the Department of Animal Husbandry is Prof. C. W. McCampbell, an authority in his profession. Prof. L. F. Payne heads the Department of Poultry Husbandry, and Dr. W. F. Pickett, is chief executive of the Department of Horticulture. A recognized authority on soils is Prof. R. I. Throckmorton, head of the Department of Agronomy.

For many years representatives of these departments have served on various judging teams, and have consistently won high honors in competitions throughout the United States. K-State students have frequently won top honors in individual ratings in national shows.

An important factor connected with the Barnwarmer is the designing of the crown for the queen. It is planned to include representative motifs from each department in the division. This year's crown was designed in purple and gold.

The Division of Agriculture was responsible for the advent of a new type of social function to the campus this year. On February 7 home ec and ag students had their first mixer in Nichols Gymnasium, when more than 200 students danced to records and played informal games.

OCTOBER 11.—Kansas State's fourteenth annual Ag Barnwarmer was presented tonight in Nichols Gymnasium by students of the Division of Agriculture.

Betty Hathorn was chosen to reign at the dance. Her attendants were Jean Vasconcells, Dorothy Forster, Esther Ann Weeks and Virginia Gemmell.

Ronald Campbell, senior ag, supervised the planning of the Barnwarmer, the most important social function of the Division. His assistant was Tommy Benton.

ALPHA ZETA'S GIVE MEDAL

Group Gives Award to Freshman Ag Student With Highest Grades

NOVEMBER 6.—Newly initiated members of Alpha Zeta, national honorary organization for students in the Division of Agriculture, were introduced to active and alumni members at the annual stag banquet last night.

Members of Alpha Zeta are selected from the undergraduate students in agriculture on the basis of scholarship, leadership, character and personality.

Each year the organization awards a medal to the freshman in the division with the highest scholastic average for the year.

The outstanding social function of the society during the year is the banquet for undergraduate and alumni members in the spring.

Officers included Oscar Norby, chancellor; Robert Wagner, censor; Conrad Jackson, scribe; Max Dawdy, treasurer; Robert Singleton, chronicler; Bert Danielson, historian.

Block and Bridle Supervises Meet for High School Judgers

APRIL 28.—The high school vocational agriculture judging and farm mechanics contests ended today concluding a two-day meet.

Members of Block and Bridle club, national organization for students interested in animal husbandry, supervised the contest and assisted in grading student work.

In addition to sponsoring the Little American

Royal in collaboration with the Dairy club, Block and Bridle club sponsors a student livestock judging contest each spring.

George Inskip acted as president of the group this year, and Bruce Robertson was vice-president.

The Klod and Kernel Klub, better known as "Tri-K," sponsors the student crops judging contest annually. Members are students in the Agronomy department.

Officers of the group were Robert Wagner, president; Robert Singleton, vice-president; Donald Wood, secretary; Acton Brown, treasurer.

MILLERS JOIN ALPHA MU

Honorary Organization Sponsors Annual Stag Banquet in Spring

APRIL 10.—Alpha Mu, honorary milling fraternity, had its annual stag banquet tonight. This is the only social function of the club throughout the year.

Membership in Alpha Mu is limited to milling students with high scholarship and good character. The K-State chapter, which is the only one in the world, was organized on the campus to stimulate interest in milling.

Don Fleming was this year's president, with Don Dubois as vice-president, Johnny McCammon as secretary-treasurer and Ralph Kueker as corresponding secretary.

The Milling association, composed of all students in the Department of Milling Industry, is an organization for the purpose of furthering a better understanding between milling students and faculty members.

Dr. E. G. Bayfield, head of the Department of Milling Industry, acts as head of the seminar, and Don Fleming is president.

Farm and Home Week Visitors Shown Campus by Club Members

OCTOBER 15.—To foster a closer relationship among agriculture students and faculty members was the purpose of the Agricultural Economics smoker last night.

The club, open to students in the Department of Agricultural Economics, is a service club. One of its activities is sponsoring campus tours for Kansas State visitors during Farm and Home week.

Its officers during this year were Bert Danielson, president; Paul Kelley, vice-president; James Nielson, treasurer; Freeman Biery, recording secretary; Keith Fish, corresponding secretary.

A club organized for social purposes is the Sears Scholarship club, composed of student recipients of the Sears Agricultural foundation scholarships.

Paul Kelley, president; James Nielson, vice-president; Lowell Penny, secretary; John Aiken, treasurer, were the officers this year. C. W. Mullen was faculty adviser.

The opportunities afforded Sears members allow them to know students on other campuses who have been awarded similar scholarships.

HORT CLUB PRESENTS SHOW

Annual Exhibit Is Sponsored By Horticulture Department

NOVEMBER 15.—Members of the Horticultural club completed work on their annual show tonight. This exhibit, sponsored by the Department of Horticulture, is the only show presented at the College by an individual department.

Other activities of the club included a table tennis tournament on February 27. The tournament is open to all clubs in the Division of Agriculture wishing to compete.

Officers of the organization are Scott Kelsey, president; William Patterson, vice-president, and Julius Mai, secretary-treasurer.

Co-sponsor of this year's Little American Royal was one of the more active groups on the campus, the Dairy club.

Members are students in the Department of Dairy Husbandry. Activities of the club include the sponsorship of a student judging contest for both dairy products and dairy cattle and a dairy products judging contest for women students.

Jim Cavanaugh was this year's president.

HORT CLUB—Back row: Sherman Helm, S. W. 4-H CLUB IS KSC'S LARGEST

500 Members Climax Activities With Mid-winter Dinner-Dance

DECEMBER 12.—“The World Is Waiting for the Sunrise” was the theme of the 13th annual Collegiate 4-H club dinner-dance last night. The 4-H-ers dined in the basement of the Methodist church and danced in the Avalon. Keith Jones, vice president of the club, was toastmaster and presented a silver loving cup to Florence Houghton who was winner of the membership drive contest.

Membership in the 4-H club reached the record number of 500 this year to make it the largest organization on the campus.

This semester's activities, which were climaxed last night with the dinner-dance, began early this fall with a series of parties for prospective members. Four parties are to be held this semester and four next semester including the spring dance in April.

Six members of the Collegiate 4-H club attended the national convention of the American Country Life association held in Nashville, Tennessee, late in October. Tommy Benton, national president of the youth conference of this association and former president of this chapter of the 4-H club, attended the convention along with Marjorie Simmons, Drusilla Norby, Darrell Russel, Helen Woodard, and Keith Jones.

In January Gordon West, president of the club for the first semester, will give up his office to George Wreath for the second semester. Alfred Koch will replace Keith Jones as vice president and Betty Hutchinson will become the new secretary-treasurer replacing Alma Deane Fuller.

The new administration will face a busy semester with plans to be laid for the annual spring 4-H Roundup held on the campus in June. The club will also continue to sponsor the 4-H radio programs over station KSAC.

The largest project, however, ahead of the organization is the publication of the Who's Whoot. This book, which is distributed all over the state, is the annual 4-H yearbook recounting the activities of the club during the year.

This year Gordon West directed the staff, assisted by Lucille Owen. The annual, a paper-bound book of over 100 pages, will be distributed to 4-H club members during the June Roundup. Helen Woodard is the business manager.

Each county in the state is represented by a page of snapshots portraying their clubs' activities, and each receives a copy.

JUDGING TEAMS ENTER MEET

Ag, Home Ec Students Represent K-State at Livestock Exposition

NOVEMBER 29.—Four judging teams from Kansas State were represented at the International Livestock exposition in Chicago today. This Eastern trip is the climax of weeks of training on the campus in preparation for the contest.

Students in the Divisions of Agriculture and Home Economics make up the judging teams which represent Kansas State each year in contests over the nation. Trips are made to Wichita, Kansas City, Denver, Atlantic City as well as Chicago and cities in the Big Six states, to enable K-State judges to enter competition with other college students over the country.

Students Compete for Positions

Each team has its own coach. This instructor works with the students, giving them valuable information in the preliminary training of identification and classification in each of the judging fields. Competition for team positions is keen and classroom experience is the most valuable training a student can have for admittance to the team.

Many of the students have had previous experience in 4-H clubs and agricultural vocational work as a basis for judging work. Long hours are spent on actual practice judging before the teams are chosen.

During the long tours the teams hold practice sessions at various colleges and outstanding livestock and poultry farms in preparation for some big contest.

Allotment Defrays Expense

A yearly allotment from the College defrays the expenses for the judging trips each year. Money thus spent by the College is repaid by the teams with the trophies they bring back to K-State for outstanding work. A large bronze-bull trophy won several years ago by the livestock judging team at the International Livestock show at Chicago is now a permanent possession of the College and is on display in the west wing of Walters hall. Numerous other trophies brought home by K-State's ambitious judges fill the show cases in "West Ag."

Livestock Judges Fifth

The livestock judging team placed fifth in a field of 28 teams at the Chicago International Livestock show this year. Calvin Doile was third-high man in judging horses. At the American Royal in Kansas City this team placed fifth out of 20 teams.

First place among 11 teams went to the dairy cattle judging team at the National Dairy Cattle congress in Waterloo, Iowa. At the National Dairy show at Memphis, Tenn., the team placed third among 24 teams.

The dairy products team placed nineteenth out of 22 teams at the International contest in Toronto, Canada.

Entertained by Farrells

Although the work of K-State's judging teams goes unheralded by the majority of the students, their excellent showings in national and regional meets has done much to increase the college's prestige.

To express their appreciation of the work done by team members, President and Mrs. Farrell entertained the judges and their coaches at a dinner late last fall.

Judging Group Wins Scholarship At Livestock Show in Chicago

NOVEMBER 29.—As a result of placing fourth out of 11 teams at the International Livestock exposition in Chicago, the crops judging team brought a $100 scholarship back to Kansas State.

The scholarship will go into an alumni loan fund for use by agronomy students. This same team placed fifth out of 10 teams at the American Royal.

The poultry judging representatives ranked twelfth out of 15 teams at the Exposition, placing sixth in both production and exhibition classes.

Another team to compete at Chicago was the men's meat judging team, where it ranked tenth out of 12 teams. Jack Cornwell won honors when he placed first in pork judging. Their placing at the American Royal was seventh out of the 9 teams competing.

Home Ec Judges Take Two Firsts

Again this year the home economics meat judging team had a perfect season as they took first at the Mid-West judging contest for home economics students at Wichita and first at the American Royal in Kansas City.

And thus ended an eventful season for the judging teams at K-State. Prof. H. W. Bell was coach for the livestock judging team; Prof. A. O. Shaw coached the dairy cattle judging team; Prof. W. H. Martin had charge of the dairy products judging team. Prof. J. W. Zahnley headed instruction of the crops judging team; the poultry judging team was under the direction of Prof. A. E. Schumacher; and Prof. D. L. Mackintosh coached both the men's and women's meat judging teams.

AG STUDENT OUT

Third Issue of Magazine Features Little American Royal Activities

MARCH 20.—Featured in the third issue of the Ag Student which was released today are pictures of Little American Royal activities. Snapshots and names of contest winners of the Royal as well as the usual variety of material are prominent in this month's magazine.

Four issues of the Ag Student are received during the year by all agricultural students, faculty members in agriculture curriculums and alumni subscribers. Prominent in the October issue were pictures and stories of the Ag Barnwarmer, annual dance given by students in agriculture.

Fifteen Staff Members

Articles appearing in the Ag Student are written in feature style by the fifteen regularly contributing staff members. Agriculture students not on the staff are urged by the editor to write articles for the magazine.

The 24-page magazine is published as a medium for agriculture students to express their opinions and to make public issues and stands taken by students in the Agriculture division.

Dean C. W. Mullen is faculty sponsor of the magazine while Paul Dittmore acts as advisory editor. Heading the staff of the publication is Editor Robert Wagner. Other staff members are assistant editor, Roger Murphy; exchange editor, Jim Cavanaugh, and photographer, Max Dawdy. The business manager is Robert Singleton, who is assisted by Robert Randle.

Conrad, Durland Supervise Work of K-State Engineers

JANUARY 9.—Tentative plans for protecting the College so that all facilities would be in readiness to handle a theoretical air raid were presented at yesterday's meeting of the College defense council, Dean L. E. Conrad, chairman of the council disclosed today.

Dean Conrad last year assumed the responsibilities of Dean R. A. Seaton, head of the Division of Engineering and Architecture, who was called to Washington, D. C., to become Director of the Engineering Defense Training Program. Dean Conrad had served as head of the Department of Civil Engineering.

ACTING DEAN L. E. Conrad (top) of the Division of Engineering and Architecture, in addition to taking over the responsibilities of Dean R. A. Seaton, is head of the College defense council. Dean Seaton is now Director of the Engineering Defense Training Program in Washington, D. C. M. A. Durland (above), assistant dean, acts as adviser to engineering students and is a professor in the Department of Machine Design.

MARCH 14.—Yesterday the doors of the 22nd annual Kansas State Engineers' Open House exhibition opened to display to some 16,000 visitors a theme of "Twenty-five Years of Defense Progress."

Since the 1941 engineers' exhibition with a keynote of national defense, the engineer has established himself as a vital force in World War II. Hence, Kansas State engineers developed this year's theme as a means of displaying to visitors the place of the engineer in war-time America and the progress of defense materials.

Displays by each department showed the engineer doing his part in national defense in the research laboratory, in the drafting room, on the testing block, in the assembly line.

The engineering building was floodlighted each night of the two-day exhibition to guide visitors to the attraction center of the entire show. As in past years the engineers had various mechanical displays outside the building which attracted crowds of students and off-campus people.

A display of roads and bridges which the civil engineers study was shown by the members of this department. The architectural engineers showed the progress in defense architecture during the past quarter-century, including model modernistic defense factories.

Electrical engineers showed spectacular and modern developments in their field, including a radio-controlled tank and a full-scale telephone exchange. They also displayed a model of naval guns operated by remote control.

All engineers are urged to take part in the preparation and carrying out of the Open House exhibits.

Larry Spear was this year's Open House manager, and Leon Findley was secretary.

DEPARTMENT HEADS IN the Division of Engineering and Architecture include W. W. Carlson, shop practice; W. L. Faith, chemical engineering; F. C. Fenton, agricultural engineering; Linn Helander, mechanical engineering; R. G. Kloeffler, electrical engineering; G. R. Pauling, superintendent of maintenance; C. E. Pearce, machine design; C. H. Scholer, applied mechanics; Walter G. Ward, in charge of Engineering Extension; Paul Weigel, architecture.

RESEARCH LABORATORIES AND classroom laboratories are all a part of Engineering hall, dedicated November 19, 1921, coincident with the first Engineers' Open House exhibition.

The division magazine, the Kansas State Engineer, offers staff positions to those interested in writing or publishing a magazine. Tom Martin, junior in the Department of Chemical Engineering, was editor of the magazine this year. Business manager was James Walker, senior mechanical engineer.

Honorary fraternities in the division are incentives to high scholarship. Student branches of professional organizations form a link between the student engineers and the practicing field.

In addition to the various activities offered in the Division of Engineering and Architecture, student engineers are well represented in all-school societies, such as Phi Kappa Phi, Dynamis, and the Student Governing Association.

Students in the division have for their use Engineering hall, shops, and the Chemical Engineering building, the latter being the best in its field for equipment.

The Engineering division, always a close contender in the race for top enrollment, moved into the lead this year due to the increased demand for engineers in defense industries. Its ranks were further swelled by students taking defense training courses to equip themselves for work in the nation's war effort.

STUDENTS IN ELECTRICAL engineering laboratory study the mechanisms of electrical motors. Modern, well-equipped laboratories facilitate learning of fundamental problems in engineering.

SIGMA TAU SPONSORS PROM

Honorary Engineering Society Is Host at St. Pat's Dance

MARCH 15.—Sigma Tau, national honorary society for students in the Division of Engineering and Architecture, last night presented the St. Pat's Prom as a climax to Engineers' Open House.

Sigma Tau, which has the distinction of being the only national honorary society for engineers from all departments, had as its major project this year a program for gaining control of a portion of Prospect hill east of Manhattan and converting it into a park. The huge concrete letters, KS, now occupy part of the land and were originally constructed under the leadership of Sigma Tau.

Officers of Sigma Tau this year included Larry Spear, president; Don Moss, vice-president; Bill Bixler, secretary; Neil Vanderwilt, treasurer.

Steel Ring, honorary engineering fraternity whose purpose is service to the Division of Engineering and Architecture, each year awards the Steel Ring trophy to the engineering department with the most outstanding display at the Open House exhibition. The presentation is made at St. Pat's Prom.

CIVIL'S EXHIBIT WINS TROPHY

Bob Gilles Accepts Steel Ring Trophy for Open House Display

MARCH 14.—Bob Gilles, in behalf of the civil engineers, tonight accepted the Steel Ring trophy, presented each year at the end of open house activities to the department having the most outstanding open house exhibit.

Gilles, as director of the civil engineers' display, supervised the construction of exhibits depicting the evolution of the modern highway, showing models of prominent bridges of the world, illustrating the stages in the construction of drainage and sewage systems, showing old and new water tower miniatures, noteworthy dams of the country in scale models and showing a modern airport under construction.

All Departments Participate

Other departments which had Open House exhibits were those of agricultural engineering, applied mechanics, architecture, chemical engineering, electrical engineering, machine design, petroleum engineering, mechanical engineering, aeronautical engineering and shop practice.

State contribute their talent and efforts in the presentation of the Open House exhibition to acquaint the citizens of Kansas with the work being done in the College. In addition displays of a commercial nature are used to portray the progress made by industry in general. The planning and production of this two-day show are placed entirely in the hands of the students.

Spear Is Manager

Manager of the 1942 Open House was Larry Spear, senior in Mechanical Engineering; and secretary was Leon Findley, junior in Electrical Engineering.

The Engineering council, governing body for engineers, sets the Open House policies. It is also the duty of this body to handle the disbursements of general engineering fees and to further the development of the departments of engineering in general.

Defense Is Theme

The entire Open House exhibit was centered upon the theme: 1917-1942—25 Years of Defense Progress.

Novel exhibits shown this year were hamburgers fried on ice; a calliope made from beer bottles; "Waldo the Welder," a mechanical man; an ever-flowing wine jug; an osculometer; a mirrophone from which the operator's voice was played back, and a host of "test your skill" instruments, all planned and made by students in the division.

ENGINEER WINS

Kansas State Engineer Boasts Many Innovations, More Pages

MARCH 10.—The March issue of the Kansas State Engineer was released today, boasting a four-color picture of a TWA liner on its cover, the first of its kind to be used on an engineer magazine. The publication contains its usual variety of technical articles, personality sketches, illustrations and humorous features. The sixty-page publication was the Open-House number, and featured St. Pat cartoons, a photograph of St. Patricia candidates and a two-page picture of the Engineering building. This year the magazine has averaged four to eight pages more than previous Engineer magazines, despite war-time effects on paper prices and advertising.

A Prize-Winner

Last year's Engineer proved as in former years to be a prize-winner. In the contest of the Engineering College Magazines Associated, in which engineering magazines from colleges all over the country were entered, the magazine won more awards than at any time in its recent history. Honorable mention was awarded the Kansas State Engineer for having the best cover, the best illustrations, best editorials and the best all-around magazine. An editorial, "On Your Honor" by Ed Crowley, won third place for the best single editorial.

Editor of the 1941-42 Engineer was Tom Martin, and business manager was James Walker. The assistant business manager was Lloyd Durow, and assistant editors were Audrey Jean Durland and Grant Marburger. Prof. M. A. Durland and Prof. Linn Helander are faculty advisers for the publication.

ENGINEERS ARE ORGANIZED

Students From Two Chemical Departments Join A.I.Ch.E.

DECEMBER 3.—The position of the chemist in national defense was defined by Lt.-Col. M. B. Chittick, acting chief of the Chemical Warfare service in a talk before the American Institute of Chemical Engineers today. He pointed out that the Chemical Warfare service was grouped into four classifications — research, procurement of material, training in procedure and organization of troops.

The A.I.Ch.E. derives its members from students enrolled in chemical engineering and industrial chemistry. The organization serves the dual purpose of promoting interest in professional advancement and encouraging fellowship among the students in the chemical engineering department.

The Department of Chemical Engineering, headed by Professor W. L. Faith, was organized two years ago and conducts its classes in a separate building from Engineering hall.

Dave Lupfer was president of A.I.Ch.E. this year. Tom Martin was vice-president, and Kemble Sitterley was secretary.

IN DEPARTMENT GROUPS

The Kansas Committee on the Relation of Electricity to Agriculture reported a steady increase in the number of electrified farms in Kansas at a campus meeting conducted by the American Society of Agricultural Engineers in October this year.

F. D. Farrell, chairman of the committee, was a speaker at the meeting. Similar meetings for the purpose of furthering the art and science of engineering in agriculture have taken place during the school term.

The society is a means for furthering better relations between faculty members and students. Its function is to interest students in professional advancement.

The American Society of Agricultural Engineers had as this year's officers Marion Miller, president; Wesley Buchele, vice-president; Richard Eddington, treasurer; Earl Palmberg, secretary.

Student architects are brought into close contact with professional people in their field through the student branch of the American Institute of Architects.

Bill Ross headed the local chapter and LeRoy Hughes acted as vice-president.

ENGINEERING SOCIETIES

Organizations Aid Development Of Members' Latent Abilities

DECEMBER 17.—Major social function of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers was the mixer in Recreation Center last night.

In addition to offering social activities for engineers in the Department of Electrical Engineering, the organization serves in the development of latent abilities of its members.

Opportunities are afforded for presentation and discussion of papers, reports, abstracts, and for participation in inspection trips to places of engineering interest.

Kansas State College boasts one of the few television stations in American colleges. It is operated for the benefit of electrical engineers, whose curriculum includes specialization in the field of communication, electric power and commercial engineering.

Officers of the Kansas State branch of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers during the past year were Kenneth Hamlin, chairman; Joe McDonald, vice-chairman; Leon Findley, corresponding Repair and modernization of the 36-inch Sperry searchlight, a gift of the Red Star Milling company of Wichita to the Division of Engineering and Architecture, was undertaken this year by Eta Kappa Nu, honorary electrical engineering society. The searchlight will be used in the Engineers' Open House exhibition.

Eta Kappa Nu, membership in which is based on scholarship and good citizenship, was headed by Don Moss this year. Other officers included Melvin Johnson, vice-president; James Parsons, corresponding secretary; Kenneth Hamlin, recording secretary; Phil Blum, treasurer.

The American Road Builders' association, previously limited to junior and senior civil engineers, this year expanded its membership to honor students enrolled in the defense course, Materials and Inspection for Highways and Airports. The organization, which promotes interest in highway work, awarded special memberships in recognition of the high standard of the defense course enrollees. Ray Dunlay was president of the association.

Honorary Mechanical Engineering Group Sends Delegate to Conclave

OCTOBER 31.—A two-day informal initiation of members of Pi Tau Sigma, national honorary society for junior and senior students in the Department of Mechanical Engineering, ended today.

This year the group sent a delegate, John Piper, to the national conclave of Pi Tau Sigma in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, on October 29. The group also sponsored several civic projects.

The organization planned to entertain dates at a hayrack ride in the spring. Other activities included awarding a set of mechanical engineering handbooks to the outstanding sophomore in the department. They also sponsored an Open House exhibit and decorated and furnished a meeting room.

President of Pi Tau Sigma this year was John Piper. Edward Kirkham acted as vice-president. Corresponding secretary was Norman Ross, and Bob Harmon was recording secretary. Bob Myers was treasurer of the organization.

The Department of Mechanical Engineering has the largest enrollment of the entire Division of Engineering and Architecture. Its students are organized as the Kansas State Chapter of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers.

CIVIL ENGINEERS HAVE MIXER

A.S.C.E. Sponsors Informal Social to Promote Fellowship

DECEMBER 17.—Civil engineering students took time out from their slide rules and drafting boards to have an informal mixer in Thompson hall last night. The meeting was sponsored by the student chapter of the American Society of Civil Engineers for the purpose of promoting fellowship among faculty members, upperclassmen, and undergraduates in the department.

All juniors and seniors in the Department of Civil Engineering are members of A.S.C.E. Upon graduation, a student may apply for membership in the national society. The programs for the regular meetings, which are held every two weeks, usually feature a civil engineer who has had experience working in one of the various fields of the profession.

John McEntyre is president of the organization. Other officers include Ray Dunlay, vice-president; Harold Hamilton, secretary; Robert Tedrow, treasurer; Bob Gilles, Open House chairman; and Lloyd Durow, publicity chairman.

ORDER GROUNDS FLYING GROUPS

C.A.A. Authorities Temporarily Suspend K.S.C. Airmen's Activities

DECEMBER 8.—Civil Aeronautics authorities suspended flight of all airships from non-approved fields today due to the immediate war crisis.

Kansas State's Flying Wildcats and members of Glider club, professional organization for students interested in glider flying, literally had "their wings clipped" and have been grounded temporarily, during which time both groups will attend lectures and study the present flying conditions.

Don Hunt was the president of the Flying Wildcats this year. John Dart acted as vice-president; and Wayne Starr was secretary-treasurer.

Head of the Glider club was Richard Dreyer with Hershall Blackburn, vice-president, and Howard Turtle, secretary-treasurer. C. E. Pearce was faculty sponsor.

KSC Plays Host to Farmers At 73rd Annual Convention

FEBRUARY 3.—Continuing a 73-year tradition, around 1,000 farm people representing 100 Kansas counties gathered on the Kansas State College campus today to attend Farm and Home week, sponsored annually by the Division of College Extension. Instruction and inspiration in homemaking and in all the major divisions of the agricultural industry of the state are included in the four-day program.

Ranking with the Farm and Home program as a major activity of the extension service is the sponsorship of the 4-H Roundup in June, which draws some 1,500 Kansas young people to the campus annually.

FORMULATING AND DIRECTING plans for the extension activities is Dean H. Umberger, shown (above) in his office. Posing outside Anderson hall (inset) is Prof. L. C. Williams, assistant extension director. Professor Williams was in charge of arrangements for this year's Farm and Home week. Headquarters for extension workers are divided between Anderson and the Extension annex, located on Anderson avenue.

Home demonstration agents and county farm bureau agents serve as the "middle-men" through which the Extension division operates to improve farm and home conditions in Kansas. Many Kansas State home economics graduates serve as home demonstration agents whose principal function is to show farm women the latest wrinkles in food canning and family nutrition. Many agriculture graduates are county farm agents, whose trips from farm to farm keep the land owners posted on new crop techniques.

Correspondence School Popular

Another chief service of the College extension is its correspondence school, which offers courses by mail to students all over the country. Hundreds of students take advantage of the service annually, enrolling in courses ranging from trigonometry to sociology.

FARM WEEK BRINGS CROWD

By means of KSAC radio programs, information on agriculture, home economics and rural engineering is made available to everyone by the Extension division. Farm service programs are daily features of the College station. Cooperatively employed extension agents are now located in 103 counties of the state. The extension organization, which reaches more than 800,000 Kansas people each year, serves as a two-way communication system between the College and the general public. Through this medium Kansas State College attempts to make agriculture more prosperous and rural living more satisfactory. The work is maintained by a cooperative undertaking of the federal and state governments, through the United States Department of Agriculture and the College.

BEING THE HEAD of one of the largest divisions on the hill is not a simple task but Dean Radney W. Babcock (top) always finds time to answer the questions of his perplexed charges. Dr. Babcock came to this campus in 1930 after being the head of the mathematics department at De Pauw university.

L. E. HUDIBURG, physics professor, is now Dean Babcock's right hand man.

Physics Prof Will Aid Dean Babcock In Ruling General Science Division

SEPTEMBER 9, 1941.—Associate Professor L. E. Hudiburg of the Physics department was appointed assistant dean of the General Science division today, and will relieve Dean Babcock of many routine tasks.

No other division offers such a diversified curricula, one of the reasons for its great popularity with the students. Fall registration figures showed that 398 students were enrolled in the regular general science curriculum. The remainder were unequally distributed through courses in industrial journalism, business administration, pre-veterinary medicine, physical education, industrial chemistry and music.

Associated with the college for nearly 30 years, Prof. George A. Dean has taught many students the practical side of entomology. Dr. W. E. Grimes and his department emphasize fundamental as well as advanced theories of economics. Many fluent public speakers have received their initial training from Prof. H. T. Hill, head of the Public Speaking department, while Dr. E. L. Holton, dean of summer school and head of the Department of Education, supervises the college preparation of hundreds of potential teachers.

Divided Into 20 Departments

From one end of the campus to the other, General Science students trudge throughout the school year to study the conjugation of French verbs, or the symbols and compounds of chemical formulas.

The division is subdivided into 20 departments. "Genial Mike" Ahearn is the well-known director of athletics of the college. From Dr. J. H. Burt students learn about anatomy and physiology.

Dr. L. D. Bushnell, internationally recognized as an expert, introduces the novice to the world of the bacteriologist. Lt.-Colonel James F. Campbell is the vigorous commandant of the R.O.T.C. from whom students learn military tactics and strategy.

Prof. A. B. Cardwell directs the young physicists, while Prof. H. W. Davis supervises the English department where freshmen learn the niceties of theme writing and the outstanding classics from the field of great literature.

This diversity in subject-matter makes the division approximate a liberal arts course and contributes to its popularity.

Figures Show General Science Division Has Marked Decrease

JANUARY 29.—From the enrollment figures disclosed by the college registrar today, it was found that for two consecutive semesters, the Division of General Science was only in the runner-up position for having the largest division enrollment in the College. It was surpassed by the Division of Engineering and Architecture. Last year more than one-fourth of the student population was taking courses in General Science.

Spring registration also showed that there were only 798 students taking General Science courses as compared with 925 at the same time last year. The marked decline in enrollment was attributed to the unsettled world conditions.

Students' Health Watched

Dr. M. W. Husband and his medical staff are prominent in the division, for guarding the health of the entire student body requires their constant attention. Almost every freshman knows Dr. H. H. King, head of the Chemistry department. "Doc" King is also an ardent sports fan and is Kansas State's representative in the Big Six conference.

WAR CUTS ENROLLMENT

Choral ensembles are directed by Prof. William Lindquist who is also head of the Department of music.

Future botanists study plant specimens in the Department of Botany and Plant Pathology of which Prof. L. E. Melchers is the head. world fame is Dr. Robert K. Nabours. The "grass-hopper authority" of the country, he is the head of the Zoology department. Dr. Ralph Price's American history classes have been campus favorites for many years for he and his capable staff give the background of history and government which enables students to understand their present day problems.

One of the finest college libraries west of the Mississippi is supervised by Arthur Bourne Smith who has been the College librarian since 1911. Prof. W. E. Stratton and his Mathematics department help the student to grasp the mysteries of square root, theorems, and logarithms.

Prof. R. I. Thackrey, head of the Department of Industrial Journalism and Printing, keeps aspiring journalists busy pounding the typewriters of old Kedzie hall, and working on campus publications.

JOURNALISTS HAVE PICNIC

Mixer Is Sponsored by Two Honorary Journalism Groups

SEPTEMBER 25.—Students in the Department of Industrial Journalism and Printing were entertained tonight at a "Journalism mixer," sponsored jointly by Sigma Delta Chi and Theta Sigma Phi.

Sigma Delta Chi, headed this year by Kendall Evans, is a professional fraternity for men journalists. C. J. Medlin is faculty sponsor for the organization.

Theta Sigma Phi is the professional organization for women journalists. Sponsored by Miss Jane Rockwell and presided over by Ema Lou Bireline, this year's group conducted various defense projects including the collection of magazines to distribute to soldiers stationed at Fort Riley. The organization also sponsored a tea for women journalism transfers and another for students enrolled in home economics and journalism.

THETA SIGMA PHIS reminisce as they look over the scrapbook kept of the organization's activities. Standing are Morgaret Mock, Foye Clopp, Mory K. Cantrell and Grace Christiansen; seated are Morgaret Wunsch, Mory Morris, Jone Rockwell, Mory Morgoret Arnold and Ema Lou Bireline.

General Science Honorary Gives $25 Prize to Aileen Hostinsky

MARCH 3.—A $25 award was presented to Aileen Hostinsky by the members of Phi Alpha Mu, general science honorary society for women, at the annual dinner meeting last night in Thompson hall. The prize was given Miss Hostinsky in recognition of her scholastic record—the highest for a junior woman in the general science division. The presentation was made by Mary Morris, this year's president.

Phi Alpha Mu has always been known on this campus for its exceptionally high scholastic standing. Those eligible for membership were initiated into the club in March.

The Williston Geology club has for its purpose the furthering of interest in geology. The club consists of all students concerned with the field.

The club sponsors the geology seminars and one social function each semester. At the spring election Claude W. Matthews was elected president for the coming year.

Bimonthly meetings were held to discuss geologic problems and outside speakers were frequently featured on the programs of this interest group.

Home Economics Students Display Activities During Two-Day Meet

APRIL 11.—“United for Service” was the theme of the 12th annual Kansas State College Hospitality Days, which ended tonight.

This two-day open house exhibit, sponsored by the Division of Home Economics, ended with the Hospitality Hop, formal dance given in Nichols Gymnasium. A college assembly for campus visitors as well as college students officially opened the event.

The program of the open house included exhibits of the individual Home Economics departments, judging and essay contests for high school girls, a style show, campus tours, teas and banquets.

Justin Is Appointed Chairman Of Kansas Defense Committee

OCTOBER 18.—For the purpose of determining a plan for better community health through nutrition the Kansas Nutrition conference met in Topeka today with Dr. Margaret M. Justin, dean of the Kansas State College Division of Home Economics, as the newly appointed head of the Kansas committee on Nutrition in Relation to National Defense.

Dean Justin is largely responsible for the active and constructive program of Kansas State's Division of Home Economics.

She received her B.S. degree in Home Economics at Kansas State and a B.S. degree in Education at Columbia university. She supplemented this training at Yale university, where she received the Culer Fellowship. She was given her Ph.D. degree at Yale also.

HOME EC HEAD AIDS

National A.A.U.W. Officer

As a recipient of the A.A.U.W. Foreign Fellowship from Yale, Dean Justin became an active member in the society and is now vice-president of the national group, elected to the office from the Southwest Central region.

As a consultant for all seniors in the Division of Home Economics, she has become an expert in advising students on their curricula and personal problems. She has a remarkable memory for the names of prospective Kansas State students, as well as women enrolled in the College.

In addition to her work as a faculty member, Dean Justin has written a number of books, most of which have been textbooks.

Coming from the University of Toronto, in Toronto, Ontario, Canada, Assistant Dean Eva Mc-

GOVERNMENT IN NUTRITION WORK

Millan now aids Dean Justin in the task of heading the Division of Home Economics. At the same time she serves as associate professor of food economics and nutrition.

Dean McMillan received her Ph.B. and S.M. at the University of Chicago.

The Kansas State College Division of Home Economics, acclaimed as one of the best in the United States, includes seven departments of study: art, clothing and textiles, child welfare and eugenics, food economics and nutrition, home economics education, household economics and institutional management.

Many books written by professors in the department are used as texts both on this campus and in high schools over the state, and some of these authoritative works are nationally known.

HOME ECS PLAN TO IMPROVE

"Hospitality Days" Is Sponsored

By Margaret Justin H. E. Club

DECEMBER 9.—The executive council of the Margaret Justin Home Economics club today formulated plans for a project to improve nutritional conditions of students.

President of the council is Patricia Beezley. Other officers include Martha Ann Pattison, vice-president; Emma Lou Thomas, secretary-treasurer; Jane Haymaker, chairman of the lecture board.

A responsibility of the Margaret Justin Home Economics club is the sponsoring of the annual Hospitality Days exhibition. The executive council this year appointed Marcile Norby, general chairman, and Jean Alford, chairman of the exhibits. Both are juniors in the Division of Home Economics.

The purpose of the Home Economics Freshman council is to help the freshman girl orient herself to the campus.

Its activities this year included a fall tea for freshman girls enrolled in the Division of Home Economics.

NUTRITIONAL CONDITIONS

At the annual November initiation banquet of Omicron Nu, national home economics professional society, new members were awarded recognition for high scholarship in the Division of Home Economics.

Omicron Nu chooses its members from senior and second semester junior classes in the division.

The society awards $10 each year to the freshman enrolled in the Division of Home Economics having the highest scholarship. This year's recipient was Emma Lou Thomas, of Hartford.

Officers of the group were president, Rachael Wagaman; vice-president, Helen Reiman; secretary, Marie Montgomery; treasurer, Irma Popp.

The major function of the Radio club, a part of the Margaret Justin Home Economics club, is the regular 10-minute informative program broadcast from KSAC each Tuesday.

The group, numbering some 60 women students, plans and produces its broadcasts with the assistance of Don Landis, graduate assistant in the Department of Public Speaking, and Bill Hall.

VET DEAN DYKSTRA supervises the administration of students in his division in addition to his duties as a professor of surgery.

VET DEAN HEADS COMMITTEE

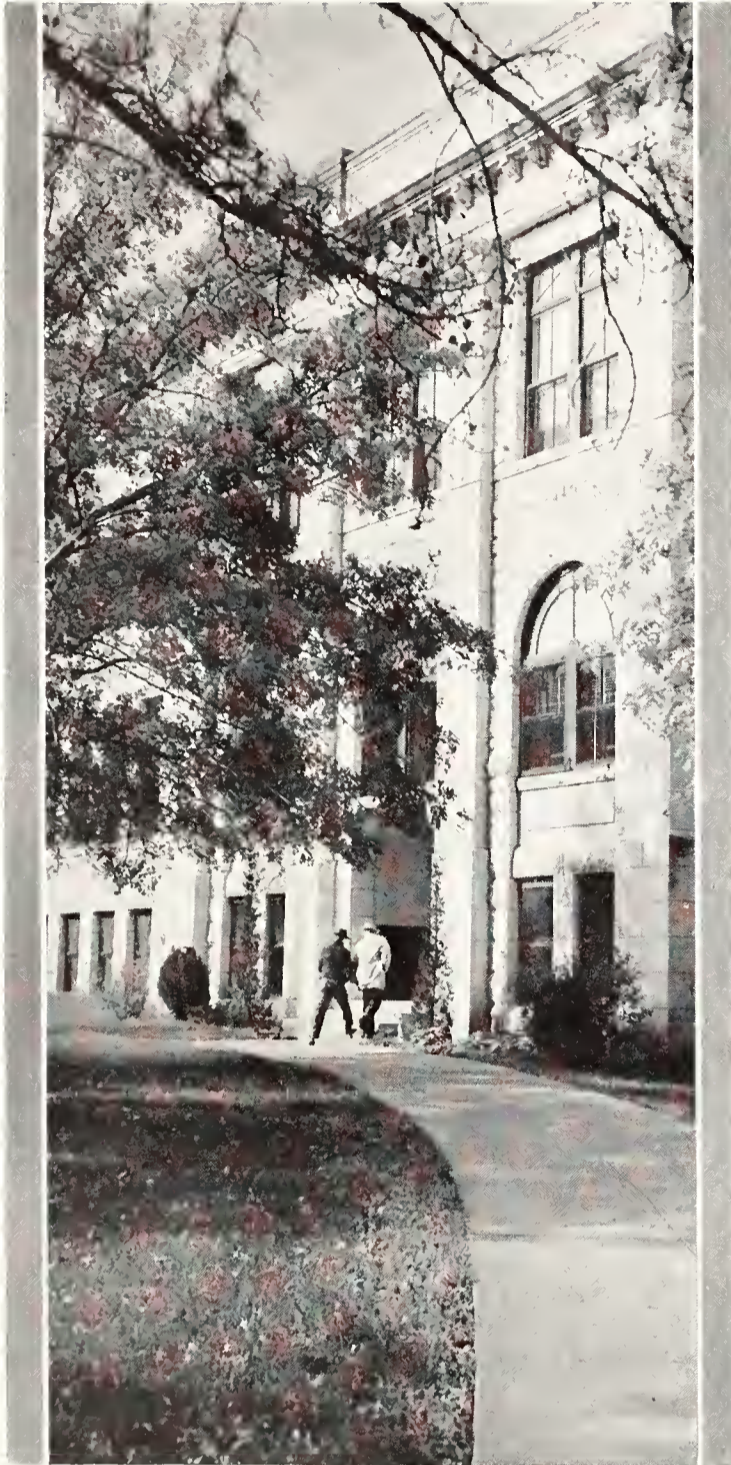

Dykstra Is Appointed Chairman Of Veterinary Defense Council

JANUARY 26.—Ralph R. Dykstra, dean of the Division of Veterinary Medicine, announced today his appointment as chairman of the Kansas Veterinary Preparedness committee. This committee is the Kansas subsidiary of the National Office of Defense and Welfare service. The purpose of this service is to make a survey of the veterinarians in the state and the needs of the livestock in Kansas for veterinary attention in comparison with the need in the army for veterinary doctors. Its function is to recommend to the National Selective Service board the areas where veterinarians are needed in private practice over the needs of the army.

A Native of Holland

Dean Dykstra came to the United States with his parents from Holland, and was graduated from Iowa State college in 1905. For several years he worked for the U. S. Bureau of Animal Industry. He is a member of Phi Kappa Phi, Phi Zeta, Gamma Sigma Delta, and Sigma Xi, honorary societies. Dean Dykstra, as chief of the veterinarians, is in charge of 19 faculty members and is a professor of surgery. He is past president of the American Veterinary Medicine association.

K-State Unit Is Listed as One Of Top Ten Schools in Country

AUGUST 15, 1941.—Today is the deadline for applications for enrollment in the Division of Veterinary Medicine. Enrollment in this division is limited to a total of 200 students by authority of the State Board of Regents. The first consideration for admittance to the division is that precedence shall be given Kansas residents or students from states with no veterinary school.

The vet course includes five years of college work before a degree is granted. During the first year the pre-vet is enrolled in the Division of General Science. Then upon acceptance he is transferred to the veterinary division. Acceptance is based mainly upon scholastic standings.

Listed Among Top Ten

The Kansas State College division is listed among the top ten veterinary medicine schools in the United States.

Veterinary buildings were built at K-State at a cost of more than $250,000 and are thorough and modern in all equipment. Modern classrooms and laboratories are found in Veterinary hall, main building of the division.

Vet graduates may enter the Bureau of Animal Industry, be officers in the United States Army or set up private practice.

200 ENROLLED IN VET COURSE

Over 18,000 cases were treated in the Kansas State Veterinary clinic during the past year, an increase of 3000 cases over the previous year. This clinic is the practice room for all junior and senior vets, for here they learn practical application for their previous training. More than 100 students are enrolled in the clinic course this year. The practice in animal surgery and treatment is valuable educational experience for future private practice, making the vet better qualified in his chosen profession at the time of graduation.

Because the division is the smallest on the hill, students know each other well, and vets are recognized over the campus for their comradeship and close cooperation.

Quite different from the clinic of 1872 is the modern hospital. In the first year of the clinical history just 54 cases were handled. From that year to the present time the practice has increased many-fold. College animals treated this year numbered 4150 as compared with the small number in 1872. Monkeys, beavers, deer and alligators were among the animals treated.

Work on Outside Cases

Every afternoon from 1 to 3 finds the vet hard at work on some case or driving around the country on ambulatory duty. Up-to-date equipment is in the reach of every student. Besides the large amphitheatre—where the students watch operations and have lectures, there is the small animal ward and the large animal stalls. In the Veterinary hospital are also the offices of the surgeons of the department. Dr. E. J. Frick is in charge of the Veterinary clinic.

INTERESTED VETS WATCH Dr. E. R. Frank operate in the amphitheatre in the clinic. This is just daily routine for the junior and seniors of the department.

VET COURSE IS "PEPPED-UP"

Curriculum Is Accelerated to Meet Army and Civilian Needs

JANUARY 29.—Vet students today began an accelerated curriculum enabling them to graduate sooner than has been possible before. This pepped-up course has been established to meet the need in both army and civilian life for veterinary doctors.

This will allow the student to graduate in three years with two summer schools instead of the required four years. The total of 137 hours of work is still required for graduation but the officials are increasing the hours and cutting down the time to meet the national emergency needs.

During the second year of this accelerated curriculum the vets must go to school from 7 a.m. to 6 p.m. The course includes 32 hours the freshman year, 18 hours in two summer schools, 43 the second year and 44 the last year. This change has been approved as a means of getting the needed well-trained doctors in the shortest length of time.

Organization Promotes Technical Development Among Its Members

NOVEMBER 21.—Junior members of the American Veterinary Medicine association took off their white coveralls tonight and entertained guests at their annual Javmarack, one of the outstanding social functions of the A.V.M.A. at Kansas State. The association endeavors to develop its members technically along veterinary lines, and its programs include some literary and social training.

Another important party of the year is the spring dinner dance for all vets, featuring a guest speaker of national importance. The affair is usually semi-formal.

Speakers at the bi-monthly meetings are scientists along veterinary lines. Initiation into the Jr. A.V.M.A. is a private affair and strenuous for the freshman "patients."

Dick Shea was president for the fall semester and Don Christian will head the association during the spring term.

DR. E. L. HOLTON has served as dean of summer school since the first session in 1911 in addition to his work as head of the Department of Education. This year's summer school will meet for the thirty-second consecutive term.

935 ATTEND SUMMER SCHOOL

New Graduate Guidance Clinic Brings School Administrators

MAY 28, 1941.—Enrollment figures showed a slight decrease this year when the final figure of 935 students was announced by Edwin L. Holton, dean of summer school.

Encouraging the enrollment for 1942 is a graduate clinic in guidance. This course is designed for administrators and directors looking toward guidance and counseling responsibilities.

Other activities customary during the summer session include the production of one play, the publishing of a smaller edition of the Collegian and three celebrity series performances.

The purpose of school during the summer is to give additional training to teachers wishing to grow in their profession, and to meet the needs of those who are candidates for certificates granted by the State Board of Education.

Additional reasons for summer school are to accommodate superintendents and principals who desire research in problems of public education, and to provide a place for candidates for higher degrees.

Undergraduates who wish to continue their studies during the summer also use this session to advantage as well as high school graduates about to begin a college term.

DR. J. E. ACKERT, a nationally recognized parasitologist, heads the Division of Graduate Study. He is busiest during the summer because graduate students dominate the three-months' session.

ACKERT IS GRADUATE DEAN

Majority of Advanced Degrees Are Awarded in Summer Session

JUNE 2.—Sessions of the graduate clinic in guidance, designed for administrators and directors of guidance and graduate students, began today and will be continued for three weeks.

This guidance program clinic is the major activity of the graduate students and takes place during the summer session, which is the most popular school term for advanced scholars.

Graduate students are organized in the form of a Graduate club, designed to give a wider acquaintance among graduate students and faculty members. Most prominent member of the group is Dr. J. E. Ackert, dean of the Division of Graduate Study and promoter of research work at Kansas State College. Miss Margaret E. Abbott assists Dr. Ackert in his counseling of graduate students.

Outstanding faculty members in this division have attracted many qualified students to graduate work in the College. The majority of advanced degrees are given for work in the fields of home economics, agriculture, engineering and in physical, biological and social sciences.

Dean Ackert, who received his academic training at the University of Illinois, has headed the division since 1931. Before this time he was associated with the zoology department as an assistant professor.

BOARD DISTRIBUTES FEES

Faculty and Student Committee Apportions Money for Activities

SEPTEMBER 16.—Fees of the enrolling students were distributed yesterday among the various student activities at a meeting of the Apportionment board. The board was appointed by the SGA president and consists of the president, two faculty and two student body members.

The Faculty council must approve decisions made by the Student Council, and, if the two bodies cannot agree on a question, a joint meeting is held to discuss the matter. President Farrell has final say, if the two groups fail to concur.

APPORTIONMENT BOARD MEMBERS Al Coates, Prof. R. I. Throckmanton, Larry Spear, H. W. Davis, and Alma Deane Fuller are solemn as they make out the second semester activities allotment.

S. G. A. AMENDS CONSTITUTION

Student Council Members Now Will be Elected by Divisions

SEPTEMBER 25.—An amendment to the constitution of the Student Governing association providing for election of Student Council members by divisions instead of by the entire student body was passed today at a special student assembly.

Heading this year's Council, the last to be chosen under the old system, was Larry Spear, senior mechanical engineer. Secretary was Dorothy Beezley, home ec senior. Other Council members were engineer Don Moss, home ec student Jane Haymaker, ags Ray Rokey and Bob Singleton, general science students Faye Clapp and Ralph Perry, and veterinary medicine representative Richard Gorman.

Rokey was vice-president of the group, Perry served as treasurer, and Moss was corresponding secretary.

First major act of the 1941-42 Student Council was to tighten rules governing social functions. A $5 fine was imposed on organizations failing to schedule a function in the office of the Dean of Women 48 hours before it was held.

Council Starts Investigation

On the heels of this action came the Council's decision to set up a committee to investigate Kansas State's numerous student organizations. Announcement of this sent many a "deadwood" organization frantically scrambling into activity. Mary Margaret Arnold was appointed student head of the investigating group.

Despite the war and its consequent priorities, this year's governing group continued to draw up and amplify plans for Kansas State's dream Student Union building. Delegates were sent by the Council to the National Student Union convention at the University of Nebraska in Lincoln, early in December.

Routine activities of the Council included appointment of the apportionment and celebrity series boards. The Student Governing association, of which the Student Council is the executive body, also sponsors varsities—all-College dances. The dances this year were under the direction of Bill Bixler, appointed dance manager by the Council.

Serves as Election Board

All school elections are directed and managed by the Student Council. To this group falls the task of handling the mechanics of the elections, as well as seeing that there is no ballot-box stuffing or ghost-voting.

Disciplinary cases involving violation of S.G.A. regulations also come under the jurisdiction of the Student Council.

Cooperatively sponsored by the S.G.A. and the Royal Purple was the Royal Purple Beauty ball, which brought Henry Busse and his orchestra to Nichols Gymnasium. This replaced the annual "big name" varsity sponsored annually by the S.G.A. alone.

Following the football game with Kansas university, Moss, as council representative, presented the peace trophy to the K.U. governing body.

MEMBERS OF THE Organization Investigation committee listen to Mary Margaret Arnold as they meet in Rec Center. Other members of the committee, new to the campus this year, are Grant Marburger, Pat Beezley, Bob Lank, Prof. Roy C. Langford, Prof. R. I. Thackrey, Bob Wagner, and Mrs. Bessie Brooks West. The committee's purpose is to investigate student organizations as to their usefulness to the College. Questionnaires were sent to all clubs and a full report was made of the findings of the Student Council.

SEATED AROUND THE table in the office of Dr. S. A. Nock, the Celebrity Series board discusses its plans for the Series this year. Members of the Board are Doctor Nock, vice-president of the College and Prof. Jules Roberts of the Department of Mechanical Engineering, faculty advisers to the Board, Arlin Ward, first semester chairman, Carol Stevenson, second semester chairman, and Helen Woodard. Because of curtailment of the activity funds, only one major program was included on this year's series, the Kansas City Philharmonic orchestra.

K.S.C. DANCES

S.G.A. Varsities Provide Weekend Entertainment

FEBRUARY 20.—A capacity crowd attended the "Cherry Tree Swing" Varsity tonight in the Avalon ballroom. Matt Betton's orchestra furnished music for the dance.

Handling arrangements for S.G.A. sponsored varsities is the task of Dance Manager Bill Bixler, who, with his assistant, Don Neubauer, schedules and contracts for each all-College dance. The Avalon ballroom is the usual place, Matt Betton's the orchestra, and the time—almost any Friday or Saturday night. An innovation this year was the selling of "lucky number" tickets giving free admissions to students holding the winning numbers.

The annual "big name" varsity this year was combined with the Royal Purple Beauty ball to bring Henry Busse's orchestra to Kansas State dancers.

DANCE MANAGER BILL Bixler and assistant Don Neubauer count shekels to see if the baaks are balanced after a varsity.

APRIL 29.—Seniors ignored the principles of higher education today and abandoned classrooms for their annual sneak. Some flitted to the hills for picnics, others jammed the free morning Varsity.

Presiding senior this year was Phil Myers, Independent party leader. The graduating class chose Bill Bell, also an Independent, for vice-president, Chi Omega Mary Griswold for secretary, and Jane Haymaker, Pi Beta Phi, for treasurer.

Plans for the sneak, graduation ceremonies and invitations were under the direction of these executives. Committee members were Marje Rogers, LeRoy Hughes and Margaret Kerr, invitations; John Hancock, John St. John, Pierce Wheatley, Violet Farmer and Martha Lou Alexander, sneak.

Scholastic Honorary Places 33 Undergraduates on Spring List

MARCH 30.—Thirty-three undergraduate students were elected to membership in Phi Kappa Phi, national honorary scholastic society, it was announced today.

Two graduate students and three faculty members were also elected to membership. With the fall selections this year's group includes 61 new initiates.

A student must have senior classification and rank in the upper ten per cent of his class scholastically to be eligible for membership in the organization, which established its local chapter in 1919. Present president of the organization is Professor L. F. Payne. Faculty members chosen this year were Dr. Ruth Lindquist, Prof. Eva McMillan, and Dr. William H. Metzger. Six Outstanding K.S.C. Students Recognized at Annual Banquet

FEBRUARY 6.—Six seniors were presented tonight to a crowd of more than 1,000 Farm and Home week visitors as the outstanding students in their respective divisions. The introduction was made at the achievement banquet which climaxed the annual farm week.

Choice of the outstanding students was based on character, ability, scholarship and leadership. The students selected were Raymond Rokey, Division of Agriculture; Dorothy Beezley, Division of Home Economics; Keith Wallingford, Division of General Science; James Bowyer, Division of Engineering and Architecture; Donald Christian, Division of Veterinary Medicine; and Albert Grundmann, Division of Graduate Study.

Other recognitions and awards for scholastic achievement were given throughout the year. At the annual recognition in late spring members of all College honoraries are recognized.

NOVEMBER 1.—Blue Key, honorary organization for senior men, climaxed its sponsorship of the annual Homecoming activities today by presenting the student-elected queen and her attendants to a football crowd of 7,000.

Bob Lank headed the group this year. Other officers were Arlin Ward, vice-president; Bob Dunlap, treasurer; Phil Myers, secretary and Ethan Potter, alumni secretary.

Most important event sponsored by Mortar Board, honorary society for senior women, is the annual fall dinner honoring students with outstanding scholastic standings. Dorothy Beezley was this year's president.

SENIORS ARE CHOSEN

Selections Are Based on Students' Participation in Outside Activities

OCTOBER 10.—Sixteen prominent Kansas State seniors were selected today by a committee on the basis of extracurricular activities. The committee, composed of Kathleen Knittle, H. W. Davis, and Norman C. Webster of the faculty and students Don Neubauer, Chairman Mary Morris, and Mary Margaret Arnold, endeavored to choose students from each division prominent in various fields of outside activity.

Those chosen appear on this and the following pages.

The popular faculty members featured on the underclass pages were selected by the student body in an election sponsored by the Royal Purple and held in connection with the class election in the fall. Although several hundred professors' names were written in on the ballots, those pictured were named as the first choice of more than 200 students.

CLASSES ELECT

Handel, Zeleznak, and Taylor Chosen to Rule Underclassmen

OCTOBER 5.—In a closely contested election, the freshman class today chose Warren Taylor, Independent, as president for the school year. Taylor defeated his Greek opponent by only a few votes. Other officers elected were Gregg Chappell, vice-president and Amy Griswold, secretary-treasurer, both Greek candidates.

The 1,426 members of the freshman class promise to be active as a group this year. January 16 the freshmen will dance to the music of an imported band at their party in Nichols gymnasium. The previous week an informal mixer will be held for the class in Rec Center to encourage the sale of the dance tickets.

GUIDING THE FRESHMAN class through their first year were officers Gregg Chappell, Warren Taylor and Amy Griswold.

Zeleznak Rules Sophomores

In the regular elections this fall officers of the other undergraduate classes were chosen. Michael Zeleznak, Kansas State's football star and Independent candidate for president of the sophomore class, won the election for that office. Ned Rokey captured the office of vice-president and John Aiken became treasurer. Both of these men were Greek candidates. Margaret Ann Collings, Independent, was chosen sophomore secretary.

As an organized group the sophomores will not be prominent this year. Many of them have already separately won coveted positions on the campus, and efforts will be bent along this line by the class of '44.

Greeks Take Three Junior Offices

Winning junior class candidates included Bob Handel, president; Jerry Porter, treasurer, and Pat Townley, secretary, marking up three wins on the Greek slate. Danny Howe, Independent, was

The elections, sponsored by the Student Governing Association, were quiet this year, except for a skirmish over allegedly faked ballots and several whitewashed sidewalks.

Juniors Look to Next Year

Like the sophomores, the juniors concentrated this year on individual scholarship and honors. Ahead of them is the dream of a successful senior year crammed with recognition and activities and the lure of a bulging key chain.

However, junior women were active in Prix, honorary organization, which was headed this year by Margaret Bayless, with Miss Kathleen Knittle as faculty adviser. Members, chosen for their scholarship, dependability and character, worked hard to further the aims of promoting leadership, fellowship, and a well-rounded educational life.

Prix Works for A.W.S.

This year Prix cooperated with Mortar Board, senior women's honorary, in an attempt to establish the Association of Women Students on the campus. A.W.S., an organization working for the coordination of all women of the College, is a new venture at Kansas State.

All sophomore women were entertained by the members of Prix at their annual tea in the spring at Van Zile hall. Next year's members will be announced when the new Mortar Board members are made known in April.

PRIX MEMBERS GATHERED in Deon Moore's office to talk it over include Carol Stevenson, Potricia Townley, Morgaret Hill, Morgaret Boyless, Foye Clopp, Jeon Alford, Betty Lou Wiley, Mory Morgoret Arnold, Patricio Beezley and Mordile Norby.

DYNAMIS FETES "SMARTIES"

All-School Honorary Chooses Members from Every Division

OCTOBER 9.—Dynamis entertained members of the organization and those eligible for membership at their annual "Smarty Party" yesterday afternoon.

Fred Walker is this year's president and M. F. Ahearn is faculty adviser of the organization whose purpose it is to further campus cooperation and to investigate opportunities for improvement on the campus. Members are chosen from the three upper classes for their scholastic standing and their leadership qualities.

Another organization on the campus whose scholastic record is always high is Phi Lambda Upsilon. This club is composed of industrial chemistry and chemical engineering students who show promise of leadership. Carl Latschar is president this year and Dr. J. H. Shenk is faculty adviser of the group.

Phi Lambda Upsilon held a picnic early this fall for all new chemistry students and new faculty members. Each year they award a handbook to the high ranking chemical engineer and industrial chemist in the freshman class.

STUDENTS ARE FINGERPRINTED

Alpha Phi Omega Cooperates With FBI to Sponsor Project

MARCH 3.—Dr. C. O. Warmingham, member of the American Youth foundation staff, met with members of the Danforth Founder's Fellowship last evening. Dr. Warmingham is one of the representatives sent by the Foundation to the 38 chapters of the Fellowship.

Danforth Fellowship is composed of students who have been awarded the Danforth scholarship enabling them to attend the summer camps conducted by the national organization.

Alma Deane Fuller was this year's president.

Alpha Phi Omega, national scouting organization, spent a busy year under the leadership of Bruce Johnson, president, and Dr. C. V. Williams, faculty advisor. They sponsored Boy Scout day this fall and asked Scouts from all over the state to attend the opening football game here.

This spring they obtained the cooperation of the FBI and set up facilities for the fingerprinting of students for use in the civilian identification files. Blood donorship was another item on the list of this service organization as all of the members had their blood typed for reference by the Red Cross.

R.O.T.C. Training Takes on New Meaning as Nation Enters Combat

DECEMBER 7, 1941.—Military training took on a new light today at Kansas State College as surprise attacks were made upon Pearl Harbor and the nation's fortifications in the Philippines.

For 1,200 men in olive drab and 200 officers of this unit of Reserve Officers' Training Corps the oath of allegiance held a new meaning. The oath "I do solemnly swear that I will support and defend the Constitution of the United States against all enemies, foreign and domestic . . ." was actually put to the test this year as war gripped the United States.

Lt.-Col. James K. Campbell, Infantry, United States Army, is head of the Kansas State R.O.T.C. unit this year. Before coming here in 1937, he was with the 11th Infantry at Fort Benjamin Harrison, Indiana. Previous to this assignment he was with the 27th Infantry in Hawaii. Working with a staff of nine commissioned officers, he influences the life of each basic R.O.T.C. student on the campus.

VIGOROUS, DYNAMIC, ARE words often used to describe Lt.-Col. James K. Campbell, commandant of the Kansas State College R.O.T.C. unit.

STAFF CHANGE

Grisham Replaces McDonald On Enlisted Military Staff

SEPTEMBER 13, 1941.—A change in the faculty of enlisted men of the Kansas State R.O.T.C. unit was effected today when Staff Sgt. C. D. McDonald was replaced by Sgt. F. L. Grisham. This was the only change made in the personnel of the Military department.

Sgt. H. O. Williams and Sgt. F. L. Grisham have charge of the office work. Sgt. E. J. Larson acts as sponsor of the rifle teams while Staff Sgt. R. E. Wilson has complete control of the supply room.

Mueller.

BASIC R.O.T.C. TRAINING IS

Each Man Student Is Required To Drill His First Two Years

SEPTEMBER 13, 1941.—First drill of the year's compulsory military training began today by practice marching. This military training is required of every freshman and sophomore man enlisted as a regular student at Kansas State.

Practical problems of war will be stressed this year as foreign powers enter their third year of war and the United States enters peace-time draft measures. Rigorous training in theoretical fighting and technical knowledge of weapons improve the minds of the basic students along military lines.

While the basic students concentrate upon imaginary problems, the advanced students increase their knowledge along actual military situations, including the practice of regular army commanding. The cadet officers have 200 in their ranks this year as more enlisted as possible candidates for commissions upon the completion of the four year training.

Heading this regiment of the R.O.T.C. is the P.M.S.& T.—professor of military science and tactics—Lt.-Col. James K. Campbell. The regiment is composed of two battalions—one, infantry, and the other, coast artillery.

COMPULSORY

Completion of the year's work is the annual inspection of the entire regiment in the late spring. Footwork is the keyword as this inspection takes place amid polished leather and shiny brass. The 1,200 basic students must be on their feet and ready to "pass in review" at a moment's notice.

Rated "Excellent"

Inspecting officers from the regimental headquarters in Lincoln, Nebr., last year rated Kansas State's unit "excellent." Inspection of the entire regiment took most of the morning while practice classes were continued in the afternoon. In the classroom theoretical material was the keynote of discussions.

A SALUTE TO the flag as cadet officers and honorary cadet officers pass in review.

K-STATE GETS NEW MILITARY

Ground Is Broken for Structure On Northwest Corner of Campus

MAY 13, 1941.—President Farrell today broke the first soil for the new Military Science building, a two-story structure that will be on the northwest corner of the campus just north of the Veterinary hospital. The brief ceremony took place as honorary cadet officers and R.O.T.C. cadets looked on.

Plans for the building are unusual in that the front will be two stories with a basement, while the middle section will be a basement and first floor. The back of the building will be just a first floor addition. This stairstep fashion will accommodate the entire rifle range in the basement.

War Hinders Work

Constructed completely of native limestone, the Military Science building will cost $125,000. It is hoped that the building will be completed for the fall semester of 1943, but due to the national war effort, a definite date cannot be set. The construction is under the supervision of the WPA. Included in the building besides the rifle range will be the offices of the staff; and lecture, class and store rooms.

The construction of such a building has long been the dream of the Military department as classes are now scattered over the campus.

Military instructors are looking forward to the building's completion, expecting the new facilities to coordinate and strengthen the R.O.T.C. course here.

Changes Were Necessary

With the rifle range in the northeast wing of the Memorial Stadium, the general staff offices in Nichols Gymnasium, and classes in Fairchild hall, Dickens hall and the gym changes were necessary for efficient instruction. At the present time the drill field is split into sections over the south side of the campus.

Under the new set-up drilling will probably be on the northwest practice field.

ANNUAL MILITARY BALL IS Regiment Chooses Cawood To Reign as Honorary Colonel

JANUARY 10.—Mary Cawood was presented as honorary cadet colonel at the Military ball tonight in Nichols gymnasium. The attending officers chosen were Mary Griswold and Ruth Weigand. Members of the Cadet Officers' club were hosts at the dance, only formal all-school dance of the year.

At the back of the bandstand, a gold and silver artillery shell on a rotating platform was placed against a red, white and blue fanshaped background. From the shell the honorary cadet officers were presented to the dancers.

An exhibition drill of the crack rifle squad under the direction of Dick Powell, was given by 24 senior cadet officers following the presentation. The patrol, supervised by Capt. E. L. Andrick and Capt. A. O. Flinner, ended their display with the unique Queen Anne salute.

Bixler as Escort

Miss Cawood was escorted from the platform by William Bixler, cadet colonel; Lawrence Spear, cadet major of the artillery, presented Miss Griswold, and Miss Weigand came in on the arm of Ray Rokey, lieutenant colonel of the battalion.

The cadet majors for the infantry are Bill Werts, Fred Jones, and Jack Leonard. Cadet majors for the artillery are Spear, Charles Burket, and Paul Furbeck.

SUMMER R.O.T.C. CAMPS ARE

Governmental Order Affects K.S.C. Junior Cadet Officers

FEBRUARY 20.—The United States government announced today that there would be no more summer R.O.T.C. camps for advanced cadets until six months after the duration of the war. At present there have been no arrangements made for the junior officers.

This announcement has brought home the war's effect upon K-State military students, for it leaves junior students in doubt as to their immediate future. Advanced R.O.T.C. cadets who will receive their commissions in May are assured of active duty upon graduation.

A general feeling of unrest on the campus followed the declaration of war. Ellis Boldra, sophomore in mechanical engineering, was the first K-State student to enlist in the U. S. army after war was declared. However, President Farrell issued a statement for all draft-age students to "sit tight" until plans could be made concerning their position. "War or no war, the vacations are not to be cut short," he said. A new draft registration of all men from 20 to 45 was held on the campus in connection with the national registration, February 16. This was the second one on the campus for the draft-age men.

Grad Killed in Africa

These two grads, while they were the first K-Staters to be killed following the declaration of war, were not the first killed in World War II. "Tim" Kleinenberg, graduate of 1926, was the first fatality from Kansas State when he gave his life last March while with the British forces in Africa.

Lt. Glenn H. Boes, civil engineering graduate of 1939, was also killed in service with the U. S. Army Air Corps in Java.

BAND PLAYS FOR INSPECTION

Musicians Complete Year's Training at Spring Review

APRIL 28, 1941.—Inspection today ends activities for the military band at Kansas State.

With trumpets blaring and drums pounding rhythm the pace is set for the military units passing in review. Members of the band are regularly enrolled in the two-year basic training and compete for positions and membership in the band. Students, under the direction of Prof. Max Martin, consider it an honor to play the martial music for the cadets.

Inspection is not the only busy period for the band, for all spring, weather permitting, the brassy noise of trumpets, and the beat of the bass drum has been heard over the campus as they practiced.

Today is the final test for the cadet officers, too. For as their units compete for the best company, so they are being judged according to their ability as officers.

Gerlach Is Second High Man In Randolph Hearst Matches

MARCH 13, 1941.—Kansas State men's and women's rifle teams placed fifth and fourth respectively at the annual meet in Booneville, Missouri. Jim Gerlach was second high man among 34 teams in the Randolph Hearst matches with 190 out of 200 possible points. K-State teams won 14 out of 22 in telegraphic matches this year. Lucille Smith and Corby Hart are team captains.

INITIATIONS ARE AMUSING

Two Military Honoraries Open To Advanced R.O.T.C. Students

OCTOBER 10.—Echos of "zero, one, two, three," and "animals, halt!" filled the campus today as Scabbard and Blade and Mortar and Ball ended their strenuous but amusing initiations for the year.

Military-minded cadets can further their mutual interest in military affairs through the fellowship of Scabbard and Blade. This national organization was established as the first Kansas chapter, Company L, First Regiment.

Founded in 1926, the K-State chapter of Mortar and Ball is best known for the originality of initiations. Affecting outstanding advanced students enrolled in artillery, this national fraternity is a brotherhood for improvement along artillery lines.

Bill Fitzsimmons is president of Mortar and Ball and Major H. E. Stover is faculty sponsor. Advisor for Scabbard and Blade is Capt. M. J. Peters and Arlin Ward is president.

WALTER ROACH (ABOVE), who "never gets excited about productions because life is too short," criticizes a Manhattan Theater rehearsal.

NEW DIRECTOR

"The Male Animal" Marks Debut Of Roach to Manhattan Theater

OCTOBER 25. — Walter Roach, new assistant professor of public speaking, made his debut to Manhattan Theater audiences last night when he directed "The Male Animal," first production of the 1941-42 season.

Joe Jagger, as a dreamy college professor in a midwestern university, played the leading role in the comedy. The action of the play had its origin in the appeal of the college literary magazine's editor for academic freedom being mistaken for Communist activities.

Actions which followed led the professor to believe his wife, played by Betty Jean Sharp, was in love with another man. Keith Thompson and E. L. Kistler, as alumni of the college and former friends of the professor's wife, added to development of the plot.

Sister of the professor's wife, portrayed by Barbara Bouck, was the center of the attentions of two collegiates, played by Phil Smith and Al Huttig.

The play had as its setting a midwestern university during the weekend of a homecoming football game. The plot involved the calm English professor in a Communism threat, a love triangle concerning his wife and one concerning the younger set.

The cast of the play were newcomers to the Manhattan Theater stage with the exception of Joe Jagger and Keith Thompson, veterans of last year.

Walter Roach, director of the Manhattan Theater, is a graduate of the University of Iowa. After graduation he went to New York to design sets, act in and direct productions "not to become a professional but to gain valuable experience in my profession."

From New York he went to the University of Wisconsin to direct student theater productions. This fall he became assistant professor in the Department of Public Speaking.

BUSINESS MANAGER OF the Manhattan Theater is Narman C. Webster (above), whose job includes ticket sales and supervision of the Theater's finances.

"GEORGE AND MARGARET" BRINGS

Second Comedy of the Season Is Applauded by K-State Audiences

DECEMBER 6.—"George and Margaret," Gregory Savory's success on the London stage, was last night's Manhattan Theater production, directed by Walter Roach, assistant professor of public speaking.

The comedy's plot centered around a typical American family, the parents of which were played by Ernestine Baker and Bob Stafford.

Action of the play developed from the dignified son's falling in love with a maid of the house. The role of the son was played by Jack Thomasson, and the maid was portrayed by Arlene Shoemaker. The daughter, Jeanne Jaccard, completed the scene of activity by falling in love with her brother's friend, played by Paul DeWeese. The role of the brother was taken by Phil Smith.

Last night's production marked the last Kansas State stage performance of Bob Stafford, veteran of the Manhattan Theater for the past two years.

Other members of the cast were relatively new to Manhattan audiences. Jeanne Jaccard played in "Tweedles," a production of last spring. Phil Smith was in the cast of "The Male Animal," first production of this year.

The success of Manhattan Theater productions has been partially due to the stage crews and their supervisors. Don Landis of the Department of Public Speaking has been manager of the stage sets of the last two productions. His assistants have included Jim Miller, Harold Rall, Maurice Tjaden and Dixon Beatty.

O. D. Hunt, assistant professor of electrical engineering, has for many years been in charge of stage lights.

LAUGHS

His assistants in the lights crews for the two productions this fall have been Bill Swim, Bill Bryson, Bruce Johnson, Richard Green, Kenneth Lewis, Wilber Hole and Vernon Peterson.

Jim Andrews and Guy Lemon have supervised the make-up of production casts.

The Manhattan Theater was organized in 1927 by Dr. Howard T. Hill and H. Miles Heberer, both of the Department of Public Speaking. Although it was established as a means of entertainment for both audiences and participants, its existence depended upon individual and season ticket sales.

Townpeople, faculty members and students alike were allowed to participate in productions. Since 1935 try-outs for productions have been limited to upperclass students. It is now a college enterprise with entertainment, not profit, as its purpose. Any profit realized goes back into the organization. Students are admitted to the plays by means of activity books. Elizabeth McFadden's "Double Doors" has been selected as the season's closing play.

PROP COMMITTEES AND stage crews work long hours decorating the sets for Manhattan Theater productions.

JEANNE JACCARD FINISHES application of make-up before she dons her costume for "George and Margaret."

Seymour, Pruett Are Winners At Denver Speech Tournament

FEBRUARY 14.—Two Kansas State debaters today won honors at the Rocky Mountain Speech tournament held at the University of Denver. Frank Seymour was elected speaker of the house in the student legislative assembly, and Rex Pruett won his division in conversation, a newly developed type of speech competition. David Hurst and Embert Coles also made the trip and participated in the progression discussion.

This marks the second major speech event which these debaters have attended. Four teams participated in a tournament at Emporia Teachers college, where they met competitors from Kansas university, Ottawa, Baker, Emporia State and Washburn.

Speech Tournament Here

Kansas State College has been chosen as the site of the 1943 Missouri Valley Speech Tournament in which approximately seven state universities and colleges participate. Frank Seymour was the Kansas State orator for the 1942 tournament, and Rex Pruett represented the college in extemporaneous speaking.

An annual event in the speech field is the State Peace Oratorical contest. Robert Barofsky was chosen to represent Kansas State. Oratory is under the direction of Dr. Howard T. Hill, who every year coaches the Kansas State orators for the major contests. Included, also, in his work is the coaching of students for the various extemporaneous speaking contests.

Two Pi Kappa Delta members of the Kansas State chapter, accompanied by Norman C. Webster, attended the national Pi Kappa Delta speech conference at Minneapolis, Minn., early in April.

The two members, Frank Seymour and Rex Pruett, participated in four events of the five-day meet. Both took part in the debate tournament. Frank Seymour entered the oratorical contest and Pruett the extemporaneous speaking contest. Seymour was elected to represent the College in the student legislative assembly, and Pruett served as alternate.

Approximately 500 students from all parts of the country were in attendance at the conference.

Other Fraternity Activities

Pi Kappa Delta, the honorary forensic fraternity on the campus, has maintained constant activity in all forms of speech work. One of its most prominent was a student gripe session. All students on the campus who had a dislike or a "gripe" to air were invited to a special meeting sponsored by Pi Kappa Delta. The public was invited to attend, and an animated discussion took place after each gripe was presented.

Officers of the fraternity for the year have been: Mary Marjorie Willis, president; Terryll Dougherty, vice-president; Alma Henry, secretary; and Jeanette Coons, treasurer.

Each year, after the new Pi Kappa Delta members have been elected and initiated a banquet is held, guests at which include alumni of the fraternity.

DR. HOWARD T. HILL, head of the public speaking department, pears over a road map before one of his frequent speaking engagements.

Public Relations Department

Departmental staff members, who include William Troutman, Walter Roach, H. Miles Heberer, Norman C. Webster, Donald Landis and Dr. Hill, constitute a very important part of the public relations work for the college.

FITCH SPLITS COLLEGE BAND

Division Into Two Groups Will Make Concert Production Easier

NOVEMBER 30.—The Kansas State College band has been divided into the first and second concert bands, according to William Fitch, director. The first group is composed of 58 members and the second of 55 collegiate players. The split was made for ease in concert production, not because of the superiority of one over the other.

Each of the bands plans to give at least two concerts and the spring concert series will begin February 12, when the first group will play a program of modern numbers and old favorites in the College Auditorium.

Plans are being made for the second section to play for the entertainment of soldiers from Fort Riley. The concert will be held in the Manhattan USO center.

Twilight Concerts Are Spring Feature

Soon after the beginning of the second semester, work will start on the annual Twilight concert series which will be held during the last few days of the semester in the quadrangle. During this concert series, women are allowed to play with the band.

Throughout the football season, the College band is composed entirely of men. This year the group numbered over 100 members, 60 of whom were new. This marching band was also under the direction of Fitch, who is replacing Lyle Downey, now on leave of absence.

With Tom Hutchison again serving as drum major, the musicians made their first appearance in a between-halves stunt at the opening Hayes football game. The entire band was present at all football games, and different sections composed the pep bands which stirred enthusiasm in basketball crowds.

Bandsmen Receive Credit

The bandsmen spend five hours a week in intensive rehearsal for which they receive one-half hour credit each semester. Members are chosen in competitive tryouts in the fall.

The band is governed in its organization by the band council, consisting of Chan Murray, president, Harold Lechron, Lloyd Peterson, Max Wenrich, Neal Vanderwilt, and William Mosley. This council meets periodically to decide upon and direct the activities of the band.

The other instrumental group on the campus, the Kansas State College orchestra, is under the direction of Charles Stratton. This year it is composed of 42 members.

THESE 100 MEMBERS of the College band await the rise of Director William Fitch's baton.

MU PHI EPSILON—Back row: Arlene Moyer, Clarice Pointer, Elizabeth Brewer, Esther Wiedower. Front row: Shirley Marlow, Catherine Detrich, Geroldine Gundy, Jeon Wright.

The orchestra plans to play several concerts during the year. The first of these, featuring both modern and classical music, will be held on January 18 in the College Auditorium. Mr. Stratton, conducting, will be assisted by Keith Wallingford at the piano.

Participated in Y-Orpheum

The orchestra collaborated with the men's and women's glee clubs in the presentation of the act for Y-Orpheum and the Christmas Oratorio. Other important playing engagements of the orchestra are the processions of both baccalaureate and commencement exercises.

Annually, the orchestra gives its spring concert, preceded by weekly rehearsals at which the musicians strive for tone and precision and learn structure and phrasing.

Fraternity Furthers Musical Standards

Mu Phi Epsilon, the honorary music fraternity for women, is headed this year by Geraldine Gundy. The organization endeavors to stimulate music appreciation and further American musical standards. In the spring of each year, Mu Phi Epsilon holds a recital in which every member participates, instrumentally or vocally. Miss Clarice Painter is faculty adviser for the group.

The local chapter, placing emphasis on the need for music in the world today, plans to send a delegate to the national convention in Denver this summer.

DIRECTOR CHARLES STRATTON and the College orchestra pose before a concert in the auditorium.

MUSIC GROUPS GIVE ORATORIO

Glee Clubs, Orchestra Combine To Present Bach's Composition

DECEMBER 14.—The Yuletide spirit was heralded in today as Kansas State College and the Ministerial association of Manhattan sponsored the presentation of Bach's "Christmas Oratorio" by the College glee clubs and the College orchestra. The performance, an annual one, was given for the enjoyment of students, faculty and townspeople.

Appearing in the music fest were the three choral groups, the men's glee club and the two women's glee clubs, and the Kansas State College orchestra. The entire ensemble was under the direction of Professor William Lindquist, head of the Department of Music.

Also featured in the presentation of the six part masterpiece of Johann Sebastian Bach were this group of soloists: Lt. Andrew White, bass; Prof.

Edwin D. Sayre, tenor; Hilda Grossman, contralto; Geraldine Gundy and Shirley Marlow, sopranos.

Brass Sextet Featured

A brass sextet composed of Ferman Bitter, Marshall Braly, Frank Marshall, C. S. Clay, William Hall, and Neil Vanderwilt, entertained before and after the Oratorio with carols.

Supporting the solos was a section of the orchestra accompanied by Richard Jesson on the organ and Charles Stratton on the piano. Max Martin was concertmaster for the evening.

Oratorio Is Popular

Bach composed the Christmas Oratorio in 1734 and meant it for church performances only. Since then, however, it has enjoyed tremendous popularity in public appearances during the Christmas season all over the world. The operetta-like work is based on traditional German hymns.

THE ENTIRE PERSONNEL of the Oratorio, including the three choral groups, the College orchestra, and five soloists pose before their performance.

The choral ensemble is divided into three groups, one men's and two women's glee clubs. Professor William Lindquist supervises the work of the male chorus and Edwin Sayre and Hilda Grossman direct the women's organization.

Feature Songs from India

Besides appearing in collaboration with the orchestra in the Oratorio, the choral ensemble will also present a stunt for Y-Orpheum. The skit will be centered around an oriental theme. The ensemble will sing "Hymn to the Rising Sun" and "Song of India." Professor Sayre will be soloist and will be accompanied by the choral group with the background music of "Kashmiri Song" and "Temple Bells." The scenery for the stunt will be an authentic replica of Moslem architecture.

Miss Alice Jefferson, member of the music faculty and former teacher at Isabella Thoburn college in India, was technical adviser for the act.

To Present "Aida"

Work will begin in the middle of March on the production of the opera "Aida" by Verdi. The opera will be presented in May with 125 people taking part.

The 55 members of the men's glee club will present a concert with the College band for the Farm and Home Week audiences and more concerts will probably be presented this year by the individual vocal units.

The choral groups rehearse once a week for which the students receive one-half hour credit. Members are selected by try-outs open to all students of the College.

Annual Feast of the Nations Is Sponsored by Cosmopolitan Club

NOVEMBER 21.—Speaking of his personal experiences in Germany and Austria, Dr. Ed Heilpern, now of Topeka, gave listeners at the annual Feast of the Nations last night an idea of "What Is Happening in Europe."

The occasion was the annual dinner sponsored by the Cosmopolitan club and prepared by foreign students belonging to the group.

Allen Webb was president of the club this year.

Other officers were Mary Frances Isely, vice-president; Jean Nickerson, treasurer, and Victoria Majors, secretary.

The American College Quill club, national organization for the purpose of promoting creative writing among college students, established the local Ur rune on this campus in 1915.

Officers of the group this year were Marje Rogers, president; R. W. Conover, vice-president; Bettie Brass, treasurer, and Peggy Ann McClymonds, secretary. Miss Ada Rice, former national president, is sponsor.

ENCHILADAS ENTERTAINS

National Honorary Dancing Group Opens Greek Formal Party Season

NOVEMBER 7.—Members of Enchiladas, national honorary dancing organization opened the formal party season tonight with the first of their biannual dances.

Organized to promote inter-sorority social fellowship the group is made up of seven girls from each national sorority on the campus.

This year's officers include Jane Haymaker, president; Violet Farmer, vice-president; Margaret McCutchan, secretary; Martha DeMand, treasurer; and Ocie Alice Taylor, song leader.

DANCERS GIVE DEMONSTRATION

Four Orchesis Members Stage Show for Junction City A.A.U.W.

FEBRUARY 10.—Four Orchesis members under the direction of Irmel Williams gave a lecture and dance demonstration for the A.A.U.W. in Junction City this evening.

The girls from the national honorary dancing society were Betty Smith, Virginia Lee Green, Beth Clark and Dorothy Chartier. Doris Paustian played both drums and piano accompaniment for the girls.

Ancient Greek Name

Orchesis is an ancient Greek term meaning to dance, and the club gives an opportunity for girls who are really interested to express themselves by rhythmical movements. Miss Margaret H. Doubler of the University of Wisconsin originated the dance group.

The club is limited to those students who can pass a dancing test and those interested in it as an art. Once in the club the member does movements with rhythm factors and dance compositions.

Officers of the club this year were Betty Smith, president; Dorothy Chartier, vice-president and reporter; Virginia Lee Green, secretary-treasurer; and Mary Louise Johnston, dance notator.

Junior Orchesis

Within the organization is a junior Orchesis, existing to prepare girls to take the examination for the senior group. Members, with the help of Miss Williams, sponsor of the society, express themselves through interpretive movements.

Members of Orchesis appear in the annual Y-Orpheum show as well as in programs for groups in the community.

This year Y-Orpheum was shrouded in the Oriental mystery of India, and Orchesis members, in colorful native costumes presented "The Ghara," a temple dance and an authentic well dance.

Initiation Is Ritualistic

At present there are 18 members in the club. A ritualistic initiation for new members is held twice a year.

Doris Paustian is the only honorary member ever admitted to Orchesis. She became a member because of her interest in dancing and her musical ability in relation to modern movements.

Base Membership on Ability

Orchesis, is not an honorary organization, but bases its selection of members on ability and interest in the dance.

LIT SOCIETIES HOLD CONTEST

Representatives from Four Groups Will Try for Prize

MARCH 20.—The annual public speaking contest of the four literary societies on the campus will be tomorrow, according to Miss Helen E. Elcock, faculty adviser for the combined groups.

This year two representatives of each of the organizations will participate in an extemporaneous speaking contest instead of the usual oratory. The winner will receive $5.

The purpose of these four societies, Ionian,

Hamilton, Browning, and Athenian, is to train college people in public speaking and the methods of conducting formal meetings. A secondary purpose is social.

The Inter-Society council governs the four clubs. It consists of representatives from each and sponsors joint meetings and one Inter-Society party each semester.

Ionian and Browning are clubs for women while Hamilton and Athenian are organizations for men. The four groups have several joint meetings during the year as well as parties and picnics.

BOARD CHOOSES

Hamlin, Payne and West Are Chosen to Rule Publications

APRIL 8, 1941.—A stormy election week was climaxed today with the election of Kenneth Hamlin, Martha Payne and Gordon West to the Board of Student Publications. Faculty members on the Board are: Prof. R. I. Thackrey, head of the Journalism department who serves as chairman, Prof. E. T. Keith and Prof. H. W. Davis.

Chief function of the board is to choose editors and business managers for the two major Kansas State publications, the Collegian and Royal Purple. Eligibility requirements and press policies also come under the committee's jurisdiction. A major crisis occurred for the two publications when both business managers were declared scholastically ineligible after nine weeks of the first semester.

PROF. R. I. THACKREY, head of the Department of Industrial Journalism and Printing and chairman of the Board of Student Publications, pouses in the middle of one of the many letters his work requires.

EDITORS

Board of Publications members, who will guide the College publications during the 1942-43 school year, are Margaret Ann McClymonds, Francis Gwin and Drusilla Norby.

Journalists Are Honored

Annual high spot for Kedzie hall journalists is the Publications banquet which each spring honors students who have done outstanding work on publications during the year.

Gold keys for work on both the Collegian and Royal Purple this year went to Grace Christiansen, Mary Margaret Arnold, Betty-Lee Beatty, Don Richards and Bob Rathbone.

Keys for work on the Collegian were awarded to Kendall Evans, Jack James, Arlene Shoemaker, Dick Remington, Betty Lou Hancock, Hurst Majors, Margaret Mack, Bob Gahagen, Ed Potter, Bob Hilgen-dorf and Bill Hall.

Medlin Is Head Man

God-father of the College publications is C. J. Medlin, whose task it is to supervise the scatter-brained efforts of potential journalists. It is to him that students bring the problems and headaches growing out of publishing a student newspaper and yearbook.

As graduate manager, Medlin has complete charge of mailing lists, business correspondence, filing work and national advertising for both College publications. Keeping the budget balanced is one of his more harrowing tasks.

Working with "Mex" Medlin in his various capacities are assistants Mary Margaret O'Loughlin and Grace Christiansen. Miss Christiansen edited the Student Directory, published early in the fall to provide the student body with a complete list of the names and address of 4,000 faculty members and CHECKING AND DOUBLE-CHECKING names is the job of Grace Christiansen and Mary Margaret O'Laughlin, assistants to C. J. Medlin.

COLLEGIAN

Arnold, Evans Are 1941-42 Editors of College Paper

FIRST SEMESTER EDITOR Mary Margaret Arnold and Business Manager Bab Gahagen confer about a Collegian layout. The two are at work in the downtown Collegian office where many a midnight session is held to produce the twice-weekly paper. The office is located in the Mercury-Chronicle building, where the type is set and the paper is printed.

OCTOBER 7.—The Kansas State Collegian for the spring semester of 1941 was awarded First Class rating today by the Associated Collegiate Press. This is the fourth time the paper has entered the contest and each time has ranked high. Organization, content, style of news stories, features and editorials of the papers were all rated "excellent."

Published semi-weekly, the Collegian brings to its readers news of Kansas State College students—their interests and activities. A four-to-eight page paper, it is reported and edited entirely by Kansas State's embryo journalists.

The first semester Collegian staff moved into new quarters at the rear of Kedzie hall, which had been remodeled into editorial offices during the summer months. New equipment and furnishings were provided for both these and the downtown offices where the paper is printed.

Arnold Is Editor

Directing the activities of the Collegian during the first semester was Editor Mary Margaret Arnold. Business manager for the first nine weeks was Bill Hall, succeeded by Bob Gahagen, who held the position for the remainder of the year.

Evans Takes Over

Planning the editorial policies of the Collegian for the second semester was Kendall Evans. Assisting him were Grace Christiansen, associate editor; Jack James, copy desk editor; Dick Remington and Don Richards, co-sports editors, and Arlene Shoemaker, society editor. Second semester business staff

K.S.C. Journalists Put Out Topeka Paper for 21st Consecutive Year

JANUARY 28.—For the 21st consecutive year Kansas State College journalists journeyed to Topeka today to publish the Kansas Day edition of the Topeka Daily Capital. Regular staff members took a holiday and left the paper in almost complete charge of the practicing journalists.

Editor of the Kansas Day paper was Mary Margaret Arnold. Assistant editor was Terry Dougherty; copy desk editors were Harry Bouck and Glenn Williams; state and sports editor was Jack James, and woman's page editor was Betty-Lee Beatty. Approximately 25 KSC journalists assisted in putting out the edition.

Thackrey Edits Kansas Mag

Also edited by Professor Thackrey is the Kansas Magazine, a non-profit publication which prints works of outstanding Kansas writers. Founded in 1872 and revised in 1933, the Kansas Magazine was distributed last year to more than 3,500 readers. Many Kansas State faculty members and alumni were contributors to the magazine. The magazine is printed on the College presses.

DISTRIBUTE '42

Editor Marje Rogers Expresses Appreciation to Yearbook Staff

MAY 14. — Distribution of the 1942 Royal Purple began today when the first shipment of books arrived from the bindery.

When asked to comment on the yearbook, Marje Rogers, editor, said, "With a string of six All-American Royal Purples behind us, editing the yearbook this year was at once a privilege and a challenge.

"The war brought many changes in plans, and decreased enrollment caused us to curtail innovations we had planned to introduce. Ineligibility due to grades and enlistments for military service necessitated several changes in personnel.

"However, the staff of the 1942 Royal Purple presents the yearbook to the student body with the hope that it accurately portrays the headlines of the year, and will serve to keep the present living in the future.

Medlin Is Indispensable

"The job of editor would have been impossible had it not been for the cooperation and able advice of C. J. Medlin, graduate manager of publications. From the time the first plans were formulated last spring until the final copy went to the printers in April, he was ever ready to lend a hand.

"To arrange for the taking and engraving of more than 4,000 pictures, to write 400 pages of copy, to send out numerous letters and present the Beauty ball would have been a never ending task had it not been for the two assistant editors, Margaret Ann McClymonds and Mary Margaret Arnold.

MEMBERS OF THE business staff discuss contracts and copy as a deadline nears. Standing are David Lupfer, Mant Green, Alfred Huttig. At the desk are Audrey Durland, Faye Clapp and Ja Anne Coaney.

They spent many long afternoons and evenings slaving over names, copy and pictures.

Staff Deserves Credit

"Equally valuable for their assistance were Lois Hodgson, who edited the tedious class section; Jack Thomasson, who spent days on the military section; Betty-Lee Beatty, who capably edited the organizations' write-ups; Ann Ford, to whom fell the task of doing the religious and miscellaneous pages, and Bob Rathbone, who wrote the sports copy.

"Invaluable in the office were Grace Christiansen, Mary Margaret O'Loughlin, and a host of others, as well as Betty Whitney and Marian Darby for their commendable work on the index."

JUDGE — Over punch and cookies Henry Busse met and pondered over the 23 candidates for Royal Purple beauty queen. The reception, at the Wareham hotel Flame room, saw faculty members mingle with two candidates from each sorority, three from Van Zile hall, and two independent candidates.

Busse worried, expressed his indecision, and finally made his choices known to Editor Marje Rogers and C. J. Medlin, graduate manager of publications. Thus selected, the queen and her three attendants stepped from a mythical Royal Purple to be presented to the Beauty ball crowd.

WORLD FORUM DRAWS LEADERS

Religious Federation and YMCA Cooperate for Annual Meeting

FEBRUARY 14.—Various phases of youth work and Christianity were discussed at the Christian World forum held here this week. Dr. Burriss Jenkins, Dr. Gordon Thompson, Dr. Orville Walters, and Rev. Wallace W. Robbins were the principal speakers. Two of the sponsors of this annual affairs are the Kansas State Religious federation and the Young Men's Christian association.

The purpose of the Religious federation is to coordinate the efforts of all the denominational groups on the campus. It consists of representatives from all of the religious organizations and holds four union meetings a year.

The activity calendar of the YMCA headed by Don Phinney has been extremely full this year. This fall 2,200 muscians marched in 36 bands as the YMCA sponsored the annual band day. "Y Orpheum" took the spotlight this spring with its variety of student acts. The popular "Y" dances and student forum programs are also numbered on the YMCA's long activity list.

PROGRAM IS EXTENSIVE

YWCA Activities Include Aggie Pop and Annual Christmas Sale

SEPTEMBER 10. — Freshmen and transfer women were guests tonight at the annual College Sister party, sponsored by the YWCA. Invitations included every woman student interested in attending. The College sister program was continued throughout the school year, the 750 YW members being divided into 32 groups. These met at the homes of town women for suppers and evening meetings.

Activities Are Varied

As president of the campus-wide organization, Mary Griswold directed the widely varied activities. In addition to the College sister work, the YWCA sponsored Aggie Pop, annual stunt night at Kansas State, a Christmas bazaar, at which goods from many countries are sold, study and discussion groups and forums on problems of student interest. It cooperates with the YMCA and the Religious Federation in sponsoring the Christian World Forum.

Serving in executive and advisory capacity is Erma

Murray, executive secretary of the YWCA. She assists in directing the activities of the YW cabinet, the nucleus group of the larger organization. This year a sub-cabinet, or leadership council, of girls working in leadership capacity was established. A widely known activity of the YWCA is its weekly 15-minute radio program, the Blue Triangle hour.

Extensive Religious Program

The College YWCA works in conjunction with the YMCA, the Religious Federation and the numerous church organizations in providing religious education for College students. They offer extensive programs of a spiritual nature, church supervision of social life, and opportunities for discussion of student problems. Regular Sunday night programs may include social hours, vesper services and discussion meetings. Week-end parties and retreats are also planned by many religious groups.

Pastors or student pastors of the various Manhattan churches have special offices on the campus so that they may be easily available for personal conferences. Thirty-five religious orders are represented on the Kansas State campus.

WESLEY FOUNDATION PROVIDES

Annual Palm Sunday Breakfast Highlights Methodist Program

MARCH 30.—Palm Sunday was observed yesterday by the Wesley Foundation of the Methodist church with their annual Easter breakfast. A worship period was held in the church sanctuary and breakfast was served in the social hall to about 300 students. The breakfast was followed by a program including an address by Doctor Ormal Miller.

The Wesley Foundation council of 39 members was in charge of the worship program and the breakfast. Each of the council members is in charge of some phase of the activities of the organization and this executive group meets monthly to plan the program for the coming month and to make suggestions and criticisms of the program.

This organization of more than 1500 students is headed by Phil Myers and the entire group is under the supervision and direction of the Reverend and Mrs. B. A. Rogers.

The purpose of the Saturday Niters is mainly recreational. They meet once a week in the social hall of the church.

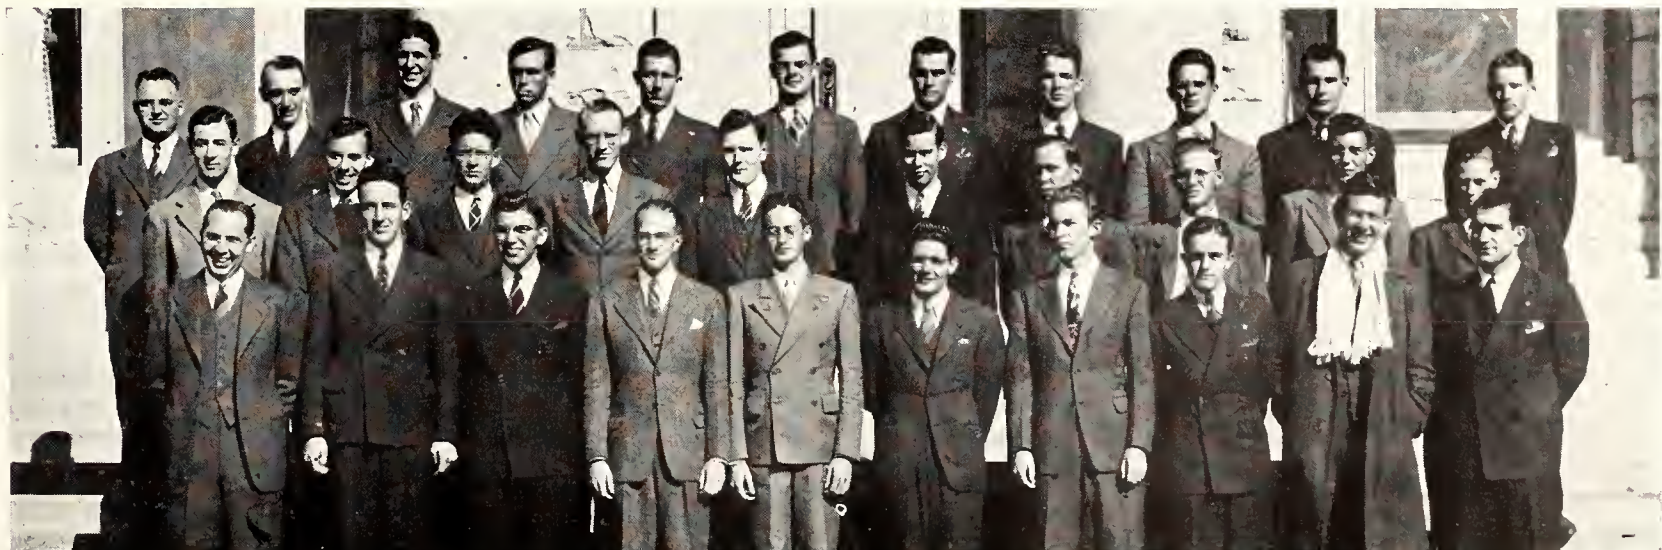

Kappa Phi, an organization for Methodist women, meets twice a month and is presided over by Edythe Goodwin. Mrs. Rogers is sponsor of the group whose purpose is to train young Methodist women for leadership. The theme, "Constellations," is being carried out this year by programs including discussions by members and talks by outside speakers.

Nationally Affiliated

Delta Sigma Theta, composed of Methodist men, is the brother organization of Kappa Phi and has an identical purpose. Delta Sigma Theta's president this year is Wilbert Nixon and the sponsor is Mr. Rogers. Both of these organizations are nationally affiliated.

Besides the regular activities throughout the week, the Methodists publish a weekly newspaper and sponsor gospel teams that travel over the state.

WESTMINSTER FOUNDATION

Christian Endeavor Cabinet Governs Various Committees

MARCH 12.—Kansas State's Christian Endeavor cabinet of the Presbyterian church met yesterday to report on the work of the various committees under its jurisdiction.

The cabinet is the governing body of the Westminster Foundation, an organization made up of Presbyterian students and directed by the Rev. W. U. Guerrant.

The Foundation is divided into committees, and it is the chairmen of these smaller groups who serve on the Cabinet. Each of these committees has a separate function. Perhaps most active of them is the gospel team, which travels hundreds of miles each year to near-by churches to tell of the work that is being carried on here. Other committees handle such affairs as social functions, finances, and meetings. There are several smaller organizations within the Foundation, including the Inner Circle, a devotional group.

Phi Chi Delta, headed by Irene White, is the women's organization of the Westminster Foundation. The club carried out the theme "Walking with the Master" this year in its bi-monthly meetings.

SERVES PRESBYTERIAN YOUTH

Members of Phi Alpha, an organization for college men sponsored by the Westminster Foundation, have monthly fellowship meetings. The programs consist of discussions by members or talks by outside speakers.

The Reverend W. U. Guerrant founded the organization on this campus and serves as the faculty advisor. The club serves as a medium to bring college men of the Presbyterian church into closer fellowship. Membership, however, is not limited to that denomination.

On March 19th, Moses M. Shaw, national secretary of the Young People's Christian Union, spoke at a banquet given in his honor by the members of the local chapter of that organization. Mr. Shaw showed a group of pictures depicting the work of the other college chapters all over the country.

The Young People's Christian Union is a society for college students attending the United Presbyterian church. The Reverend and Mrs. A. M. Reed are sponsors of the group which features discussion groups and outside speakers at regular Sunday evening meetings in an attempt to aid its members in solving personal problems.

Gamma Delta Meets Each Week Talk Over Christian Problems

JANUARY 19.—“History and Beliefs of the Congregational Churches” was the theme of last Sunday’s meeting of the Goodfellowship society of the Congregational church. The group met in the church basement, and after the usual supper had been served, Mrs. C. O. Swanson spoke.

First semester president of the society was Cornelia Burtis who was replaced by Ina Palmer. The Reverend C. T. Brewster serves as sponsor for the organization, whose purpose is to help its student members in their consideration of Christian problems.

Gamma Delta, young people’s organization of the Missouri Synod Lutheran church, entertained the members of the surrounding congregations of that church in an all-day rally in November. Their program included a worship period, a motion picture, and recreation.

Norman Kruse is president of Gamma Delta, and the Reverend H. H. Frohm is the adviser. The purpose of the organization which meets every Sunday evening, is to train church youth for greater activity in the church in years to come.

L. S. A. HAS THIRD BIRTHDAY

Lutheran Students Contribute To Indian Student Scholarship

DECEMBER 18. —Members of the Lutheran Student association gave their annual Christmas party last night at the home of Prof. Verne Sweedlun, one of their faculty advisers. During the evening a collection was taken to support a graduate scholarship for a deserving native student in India. This annual contribution has become a tradition with the K-State chapter of the L.S.A.

Observing its third birthday on the campus this year, the L.S.A. is headed by Earl Olson, with the aid of faculty directors Inez Ekdahl and Mr. Sweedlun. The Reverend Phil R. Ekblad is the local Lutheran minister, and the group is made up entirely of students stating a preference for his church.

The organization has its purpose in encouraging the study and appreciation of the church and participation in church activities.

Last summer several members of this chapter attended the Aschram, Lutheran summer camp. Here representatives of all chapters of the L.S.A. met to discuss organization affairs as well as participate in an effective religious and recreational program planned by church leaders.

C. E. HAS VARIED PROGRAM

Vesper Service Is Regular Feature on Sunday Evening

FEBRUARY 8.—Regular Sunday vesper service was held by the Christian Endeavor group of the First Christian church tonight. The theme of the program was "Paths of Christian Living." The usual supper was served to the students in Koller hall, the social room of the church. Supper was preceded by a short program of entertainment and followed by the worship hour, conducted in the church sanctuary.

These Sunday evening activities are held weekly by the members of the Christian Endeavor. The organization is headed this year by Horace Traulsen, and is composed of all college students who are members of the Christian church. Advising the group are the Reverend and Mrs. J. David Arnold.

Kappa Beta is the club for Christian women. It is a national organization started here in 1913 by Mr. Arnold and is the oldest group of its kind on the campus. Helen Reiman headed the club in its purpose to tie the young women of the church closer together.

on February 17 to obtain money for the Lenten missionary offering.

Support Missionary Projects

More than 200 participants, including faculty members, members of the local parish, Wise club members and students, helped to provide funds for forthcoming missionary projects.

Betty Horton acted as president of the group this year. Jim Stone was vice-president; Nancy Heberer, treasurer, and Jeanne Sellon, secretary. The Rev. Charles R. Davies is sponsor of the organization, which is the Canterbury club chapter of the Bishop James Wise club.

Young People's Union Entertain New Members With Annual Mixer

SEPTEMBER 15.—The Baptist Young People's Union entertained the new Baptist students with a mixer in the church basement last Sunday. Supper was served and the evening was spent playing games.

B.Y.P.U. is an organization of Baptist students, whose purpose is to offer a complete religious program and social companionship. It sponsors a Bible school class Sunday mornings as well as meetings

Sunday night, where group discussions and outside speakers make up the program.

Thornton Dewey, who is also head of the K-State Religious federation, presides over the organization and Dr. A. A. Holtz and Miss Stella Harriss are faculty advisers.

Theta Epsilon is the organization for Baptist women. President this year is Elva Ann Nelson with Mrs. A. A. Holtz and Miss Harriss as sponsors. The club endeavors to promote friendliness in its bi-monthly meetings, which provide religious guidance and entertainment.

INDEPENDENTS ARE ORGANIZED

Concordia Is Largest Organized Group With 32 Student Members

FEBRUARY 14.—Concordia club members entertained their dates tonight at a dance held at the club house, 1115 Bluemont. The dance was part of the group's social program which this year included many house parties and dances, skating parties and picnics.

The Concordia club, largest of the organized houses for independent men, was established on the Kansas State campus in February, 1940, to promote a fraternity spirit among Lutheran men students. Thirty-two students are members of the club, 22 living in the house.

Wortham Is President

Presiding over the club this year were Robert Worthman, president; Arthur Holste, vice-president, and Arthur Neff, treasurer.

Other organized houses for men students are the House of Williams of which James Aiken is president; Jerichos, with Edwin Schoen as president, and Laramie hall, of which Bill Hamser is president.

ALOHA COTTAGE MEMBERS—Back row: June Hull, Lois Newell, Beth Newell, Ada Newell, Gladys Tjaden, Marceline Ewing. AMICOSSEMBLY

Independent Houses Cooperate To Give a Semi-formal Dance

DECEMBER 6.—Making its debut tonight and no doubt establishing an annual tradition in Kansas State's social life was the "Amicossembly" party given by the various Independent houses. Largely through the efforts of Roberta Harrill of the Pal-O-Mie house, Amicossembly was established at a meeting of the presidents and social chairmen of all the organized houses. At this meeting the idea of a cooperative party was presented and plans were formulated.

The semi-formal dance at the Manhattan Country club carried out a Christmas theme and met with such enthusiastic approval it was officially agreed that the affair be a yearly one.

Houses cooperating in the Amicossembly party were Pal-O-Mie, Stucco Inn, Coed Court, Korn Krib, Shane's Shanty, Clark's Gables, Green Shutters and Lantern Lodge. A spring dance was also planned by the Amicossembly members. Roberta Harrill was chairman of this year's Amicossembly, Merna Vincent was vice-chairman, Mary Anne McNamee was secretary and Jean Alford was treasurer.

No Longer "Experiments"

Leaving the experimental stage to become permanent fixtures at Kansas State this year were the Independent houses — rooming houses for Independent women students which organized, elected officers and carried on activities similar to those of Greek groups.

The houses, originally started for non-affiliated freshmen women, have spread over the campus to include upperclass students until there are few houses of half a dozen women which do not have a name and an organized administration. The houses are approved and supervised by the Dean of Women's office. Manhattan women in whose homes they live act as housemothers for the groups.

MAKES DEBUT

Efficient house organization and management is the aim of the Independent houses. House meetings are held regularly, so that members may discuss their plans and problems. Frequent socials, midnight spreads and the traditional late-hour bull sessions are only a few of the "extra-curricular" activities of these young organizations.

A Democratic System

Ruling with the proverbial iron hand over the houses are the officers elected each fall by the members themselves. Officers of Aloha Cottage this year were Mary Anne McNamee, president; Lois Johnson, treasurer; Marceline Ewing, secretary; Dorothy Hoodlet, social chairman. Clark's Gables officers were Jean Alford, president; Mary Jean West, secretary; Dorothy Dell Jackson, social chairman.

Officiating at Coed Court were Ethel Denio, president; Helen Frazier, secretary-treasurer; Blanche Burris, social chairman. Officers at Green Shutters were Marie Baylies, president; Frances Zibell, secretary-treasurer; Jean Vasconcells, social chairman.

Officially Speaking

Treasurer at the Korn Krib was Jane Daily. At the Pal-O-Mie house Merna Vincent was president; Roberta Harrill, vice-president; Gertrude Prather, secretary; Melbadine Greathouse, treasurer. Ruling over Shane's Shanty were Bette Jo Harris, president; Wilma Hannah, vice-president; Betty Bell Sheetz, secretary-treasurer.

Stucco Inn officers were Willomae Lagasse, president; Jean Estep, vice-president; Rea Lou Matson, secretary-treasurer; Erma Ehrsam, social chairman. Helen Stagg was this year's president of Lantern Lodge; Phyllis Van Meter served as secretary-treasurer, and Lois Hodgson was social chairman.

These houses boast many outstanding K-State women including Bette Jo Harris, Royal Purple beauty queen, Jean Alford, Prix member, Jean Vasconcells and Lois Hodgson, prominent on campus publications' staffs.

VAN ZILE HALL IS POPULAR

Girls Share in Work and Fun At Residence Hall for Women

NOVEMBER 22—Clever decorations last night transformed Van Zile hall, only women's residence hall at Kansas State into "Club VZH," a typical hotspot, as the 130 girls entertained dates at their fall party.

In the receiving line were President Helen Reiman and Dorothy Hamer, new director of residence. Other officers present included Dorothy Wilson, vice-president; Gloria Spiegel, secretary; Irene White, treasurer. Also there was Mary Cawood, later selected honorary cadet colonel.

In order to reduce living expenses, girls living at Van Zile can cooperate with the cooking, serving, cleaning and other duties. They are supervised by seniors in institutional management who train at Van Zile for a semester.

It isn't all work at the "dorm," however, for they find time to entertain informally, have spreads and bullfests famed throughout the campus.

VAN ZILERS AND their dates are "in the groove" as they jam the dining room, converted for the evening into a spacious dance hall.

I.S.U. CELEBRATES

Independent Student Union Pays Debt, Entertains at Victory Hop

MARCH 6. — Members of the Independent Student Union staged a "Victory Dance" tonight in Recreation Center. The dance celebrated the paying off of the debt incurred by the organization last winter when it closed its recreation house.

Two specialties, a "draft drawing" and a "spot dance" were featured at the party. Prizes of defense stamps were given to the winners of the contests. Decorations carried out a patriotic theme.

Sponsor "Hour Dances"

Purpose of the Independent Student Union is to provide an organized social program for independent students. In addition to a semi-formal and sports dance each semester, the I.S.U. sponsored regular "hour dances" on week nights in Recreation Center. Picnics, watermelon feeds and many other social functions were also planned by the group. Novel features of this year's activities were a "stag" party for men and a "doe" party for women.

First semester president of the I.S.U., which this year boasted around 200 members, was Leonard Robinson. Second semester president was Kenneth Lewis. Other members of the executive council were Jean Vasconcells, secretary; Wayne Brown, treasurer; Jean Nickerson, publicity chairman, and Adzianna Blocklinger, membership chairman. Faculty sponsors are Kathleen Knittle and L. M. Jorgenson. Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Munn are honorary sponsors.

Learn Social Usage

Included in the numerous and widely varied activities of the I.S.U. were meetings for the group on problems of social usage. Dean Helen Moore and Dean Emeritus Mary P. Van Zile led the discussions.

DIRECTING THE ACTIVITIES of the Independent Student Union this year were (standing) Kenneth Lewis, Jean Nickerson, Adzianna Blocklinger, Wayne Brown, Jean Vasconcells, Kathleen Knittle. Seated are L. M. Jorgenson and Mrs. Wayne Munn.

INDEPENDENTS PLAY POLITICS

Independent Student Party Heads Coordinate Political Activities

NOVEMBER 19.—Independent Student Party members met for a pre-election rally-dance tonight in Recreation Center. A parade through Aggieville climaxed the evening's activities.

The Independent Student Party council is organized for the purpose of coordinating political activities for independent students. All election campaigns, rallies, and other party promotion come under its management. The council nominates independent candidates to be voted on in the party primaries.

Determine Party Policy

Matters of party policy are determined by the council, which consists of 23 members. It is active in the freshman class election, upperclass elections, and the spring Student Council and Board of Publications elections.

Barbs Get Five Places

Marburger, Campbell Are Heads

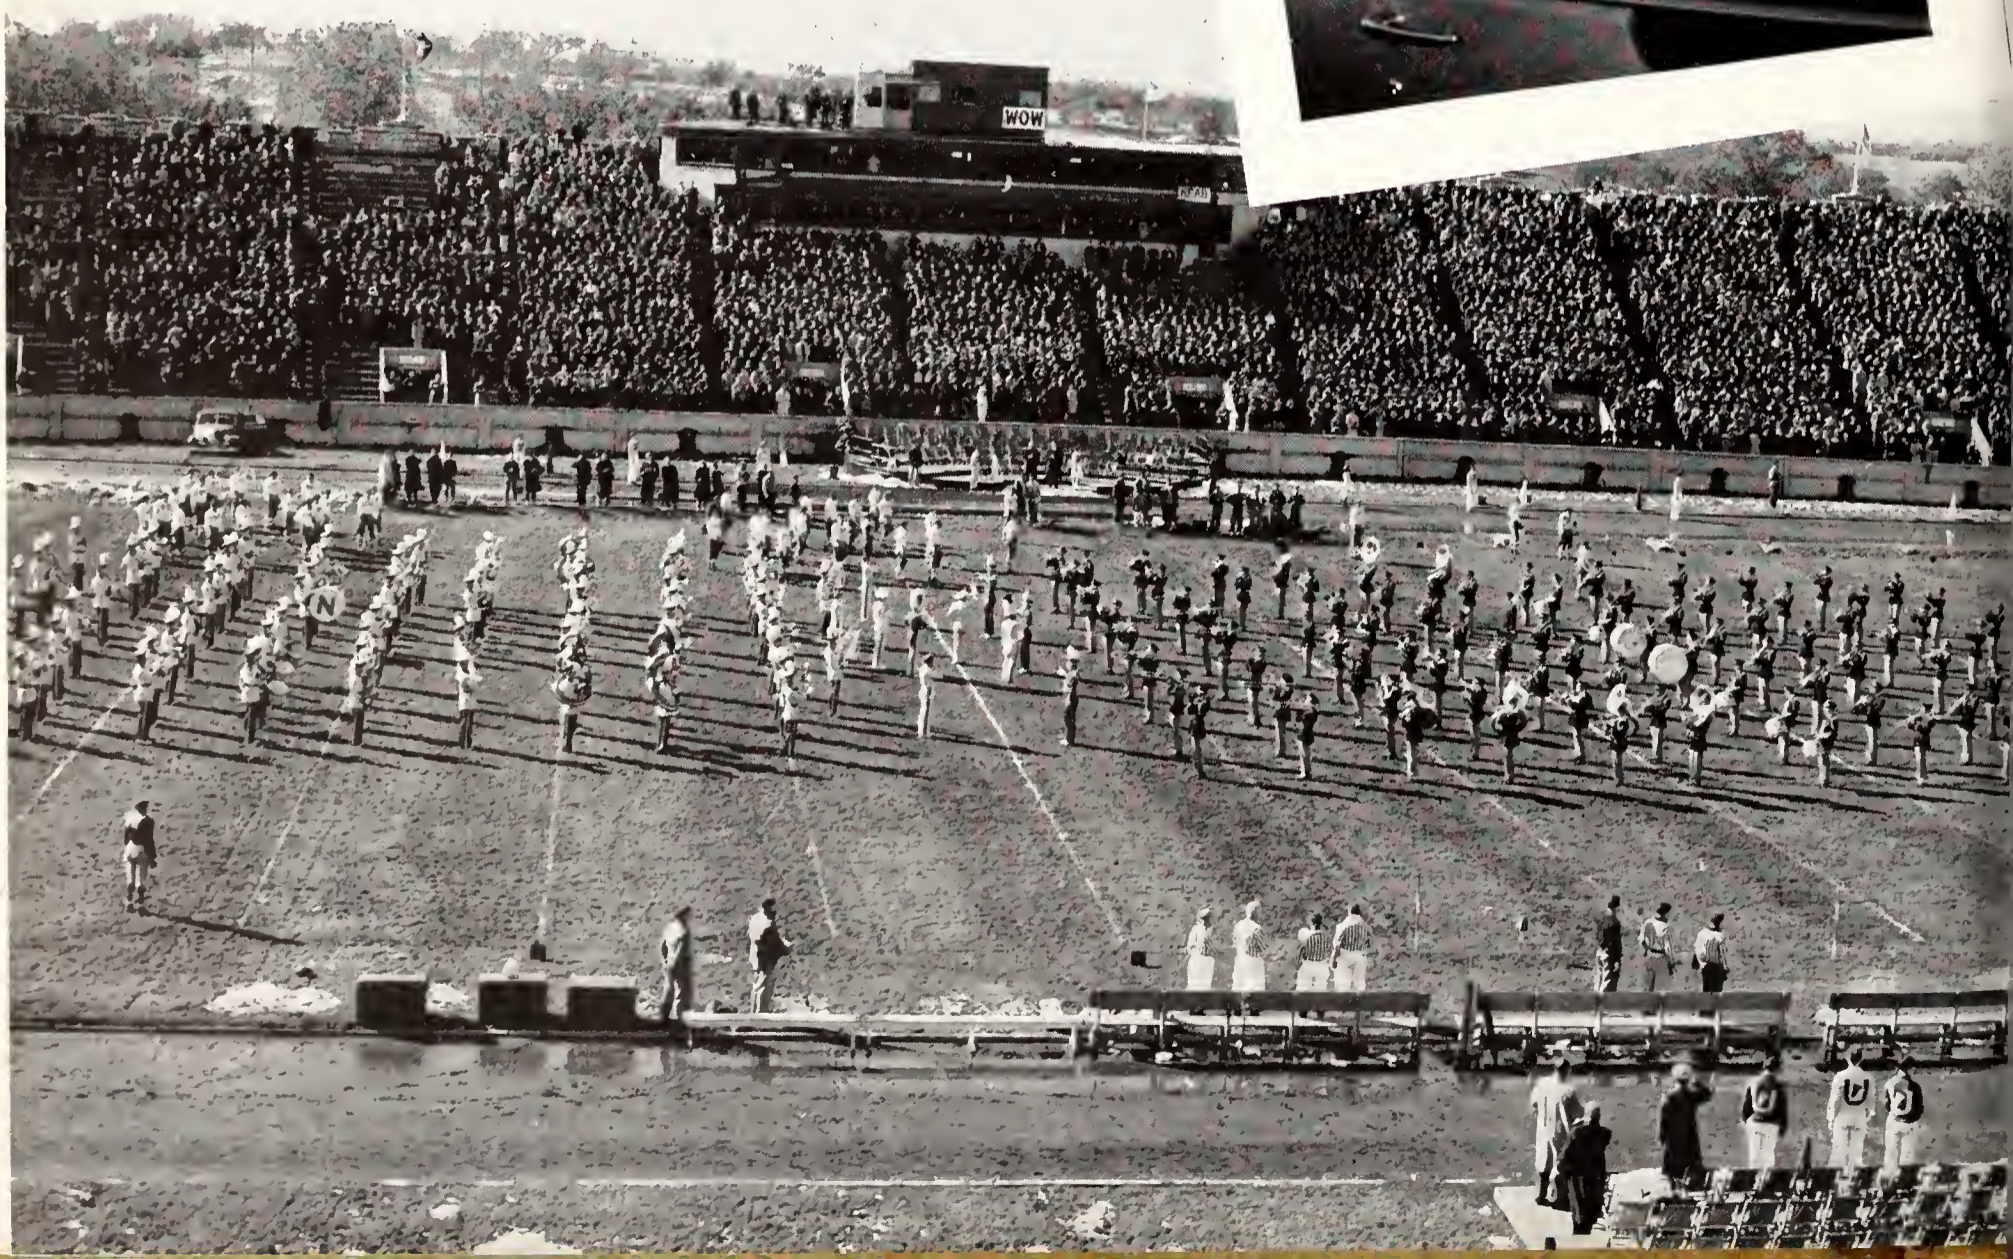

Grant Marburger and George Campbell were co-chairman of the Independent Student Party council this year. Helen Woodard was secretary, Keith Tolson was treasurer, and A. B. Sageser was faculty sponsor.

WAR HITS SPORTS

Athletic Director Must Keep Wildcat Program on Even Keel

APRIL 1.—M. F. Ahearn, director and guiding force of Kansas State College athletics for 22 years, was worried as he absently watched Wildcat baseballers cavort on the practice field from the west window of the athletics office.

It would be a long time, he knew, before Kansas State would ever move through such a normal season as it had just completed—fifth in football and basketball; second in baseball, swimming and wrestling; fourth in track.

Instead, the coming year would be fraught with worry and distraction; problems and trouble.

Ahearn Faces Financial Problems

Tire rationing, increased taxes, decreasing enrollment, all were predictions of trouble ahead. "Mike" knew crowds at athletic events would fall off, that equipment prices would skyrocket and that coaching chores would be doubled because of a lack of veteran "material."

M. F. "MIKE" AHEARN, director of Kansas State's athletics, has guided Wildcat policies for 22 years.

Already tennis and golf had been eliminated from Kansas State's Big Six program to save expenses.

What would be the next step? Dropping some major sport? Cutting the coaching staff or slicing salaries?

THE ATHLETIC COUNCIL is made up of sports-minded faculty members who help Director Ahearn formulate K-State athletic policies. Around the table are R. I. Throckmorton, Pres. F. D. Farrell, H. H. King, M. F. Ahearn, George A. Dean, M. A. Durlond, R. W. Babcock, E. L. Holton.

"Mike" knew Kansas State athletics were facing a crisis for which only time would reveal a solution.

Athletic Council Shares Worry

Sharing the worries of the future with Ahearn is the athletic council, made up of sports-minded members of the College faculty.

Their job includes arranging schedules, employing coaches and generally outlining athletic policies for the Wildcat school.

In addition to Ahearn, the council includes President F. D. Farrell, Dr. H. H. King, Prof. R. I. Throckmorton, Prof. George A. Dean, Dean E. L. Holton, Dean R. W. Babcock and Prof. M. A. Durland.

Helping "Mike" with the routine of the directorship is Frank Myers, his assistant and a former graduate of Kansas State.

Newsman Joe Newman, who supplies sports information and publicity to newspapers throughout the nation, will be lost to the navy before another football season gets underway.

Wilkins Is Captain

Hard charging senior fullback Lysle Wilkins, whose grid ability had brought back memories of Elmer "One Man Gang" Hackney, was announced as honorary football captain of the Wildcats.

Sophomore Jimmie Johns was elected by his two-mile companions as honorary captain, replacing Lawrence Kelly who had been called into the Army Air Corps.

Adams Praises Spirit

In speaking to the gathering, Coach Hobbs Adams, football mentor, praised his squad for their brilliant spirit throughout the season; the spirit that conquered Nebraska and the University of South Carolina after a series of heartbreaking, first of the season defeats.

Track Coach Ward Haylett presented two-milers Johns, Al Rues, Don Borthwick, Cecil Siebert and Ernest Nelson and spoke briefly, fading another year of sports into history.

Hundreds of loyal Wildcat fans from the ranks of Manhattan businessmen and women crowded into the Wareham hotel dining room to share the feast with the coaches, gridsters and trackmen.

Bill Borland Is Crowned "King Of Pep" at Gold Diggers' Ball

OCTOBER 18. — Bill Borland was crowned "King of Pep" at the Gold Diggers' ball last night. The Ball is sponsored by the Purple Pepsters, local chapter of Phi Sigma Chi, national pep society for women.

Besides the Ball, the Pepsters perform on the field at football games and stir up enthusiasm in general. Jane Haymaker is president this year and Miss Katherine Geyer is faculty adviser.

The Wampus Cats, local chapter of Pi Epsilon Pi, national pep society for men, help sponsor pep rallies, perform with the Pepsters at athletic contests, and play an important part in maintaining a rousing school spirit. Bill Bell and Dr. H. H. Haymaker guide the organization.

WILDCATS DOWN

Huskers Bow to Inspired K-State Team, Sparked by Mike Zeleznak

NOVEMBER 1.—Kansas State's Wildcats today felled the University of Nebraska's Cornhuskers, 12 to 6 in the mud of Ahearn field.

Angered by conference losses to Missouri and Oklahoma, and inspired by a 174-pound sophomore quarterback, Michael "Jug" Zeleznak, Coach Hobbs Adams' Wildcats turned a trick that had never been done before — blasted Nebraska to defeat on the Kansas State gridiron.

A disappointingly small Homecoming crowd, expecting to see the Wildcats go down again, watched resignedly as Dale Bradley, Cornhusker back, scooted around end for 15 yards and a touchdown in the first quarter.

Zeleznak Races 66 Yards

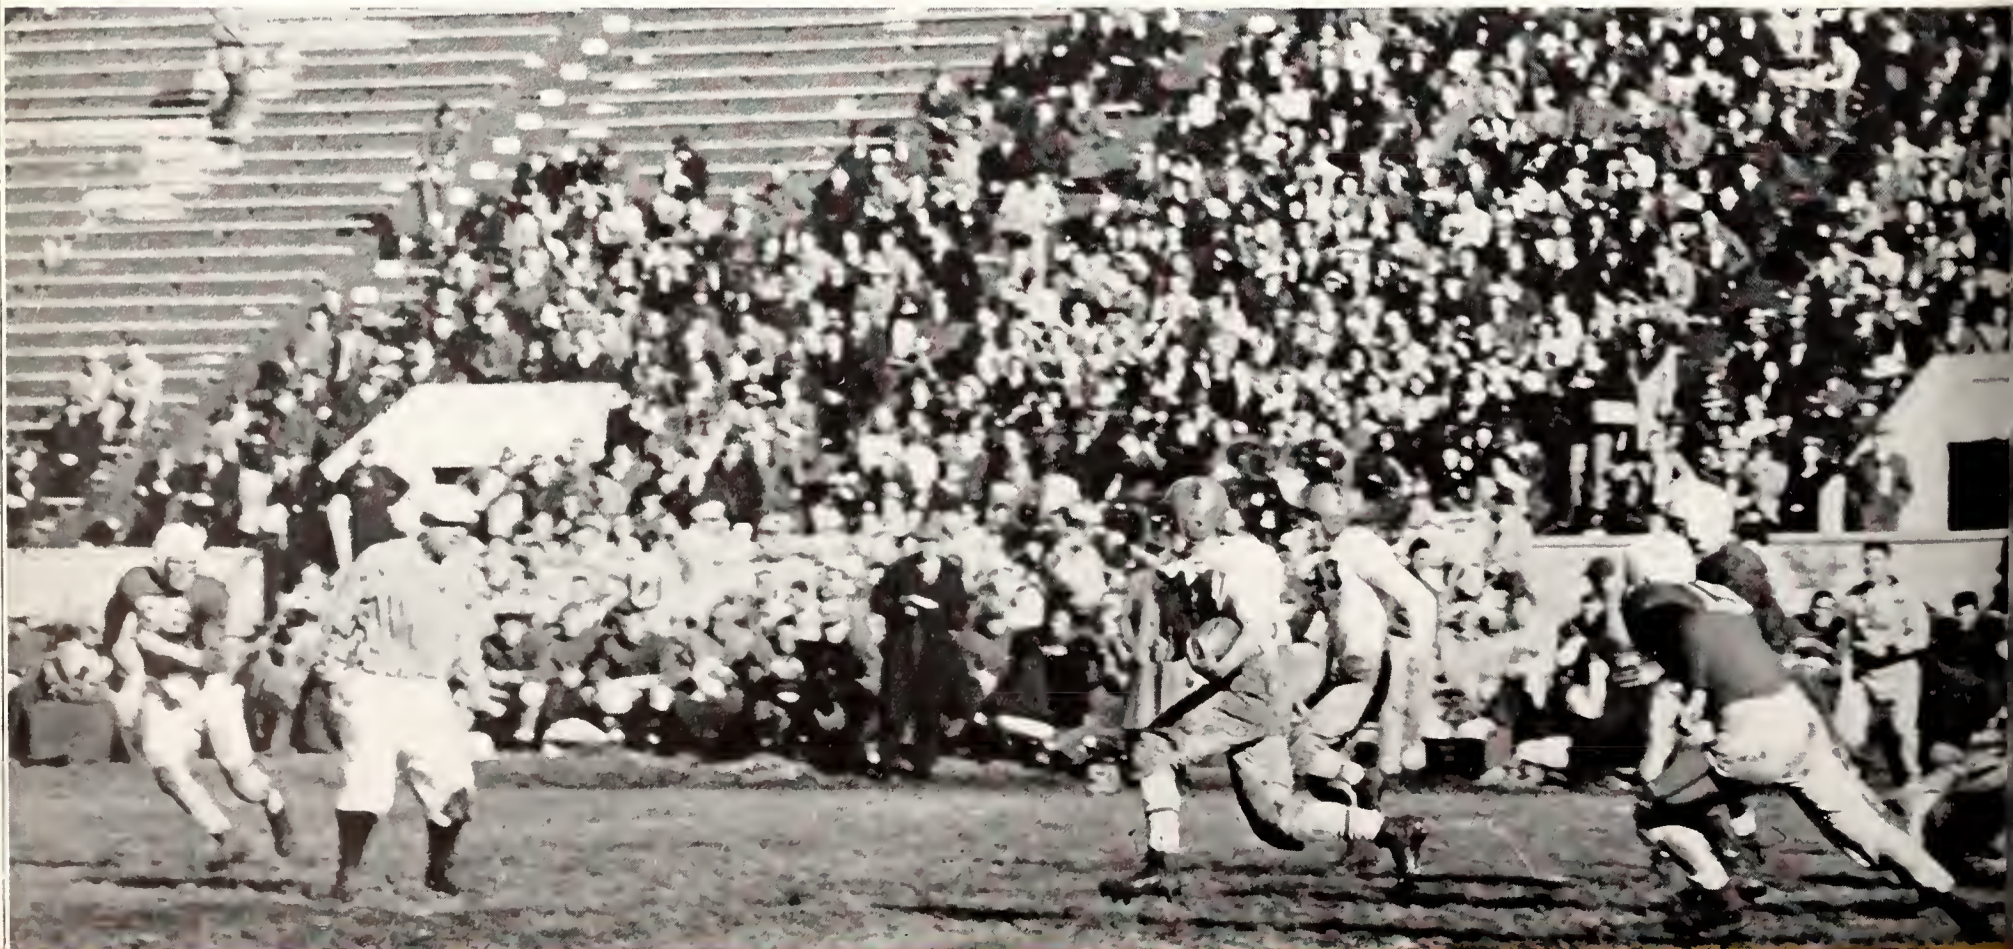

On the first play of the second period, these on-lookers became unbelieving, cheering fanatics as Zeleznak started an off-tackle thrust, moved passed the line of scrimmage, the Nebraska secondary, and then raced 66 yards, evading would-be tacklers on the sloppy turf, to cross the goal line and tie the score.

SOPHOMORE MIKE ZELEZNAK (below) gallops goalward against the Nebraska Cornhuskers. Zeleznak counted two touchdowns to defeat Nebraska, 12 to 6.

NEBRASKA

Again in the third quarter, Zeleznak started the Wildcat fireworks, taking a Nebraska punt on his 21 and running to the 36 yard line before being dropped. Zeleznak engineering. Lysle Wilkins, senior fullback, plunging, the Wildcats pounded.

Zeleznak went across and Nebraska was beaten. Center John Hancock, senior and captain for the day, led the Kansas State linemen in their valiant mud battle with the Huskers throughout the afternoon.

Single Big Sig Triumph

This victory was Kansas State's single Big Six triumph for the season. A tie with Iowa State college also adorned the final standings.

Likewise, the Wildcats won one and tied one of their four non-conference games, beat South Carolina university and tied Fort Hays State college in the opener. The season's record: two wins, two ties, five losses.

The final conference standings:

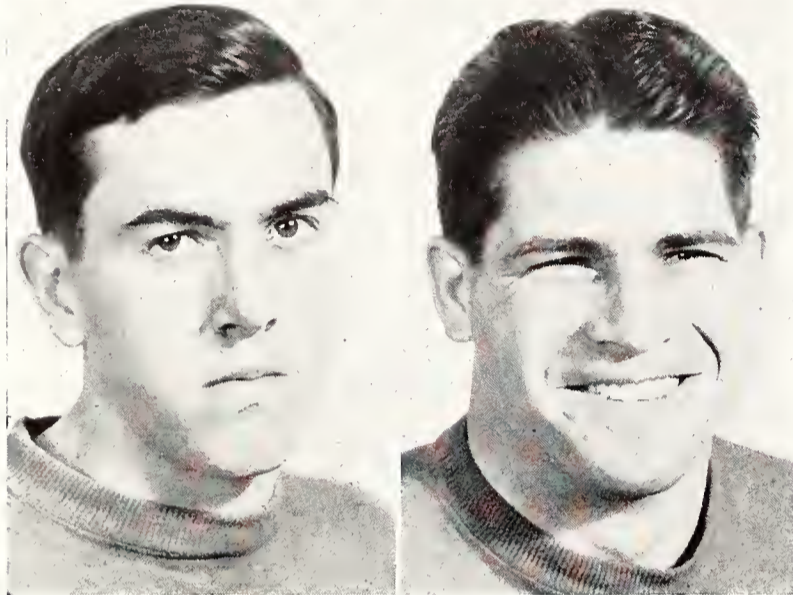

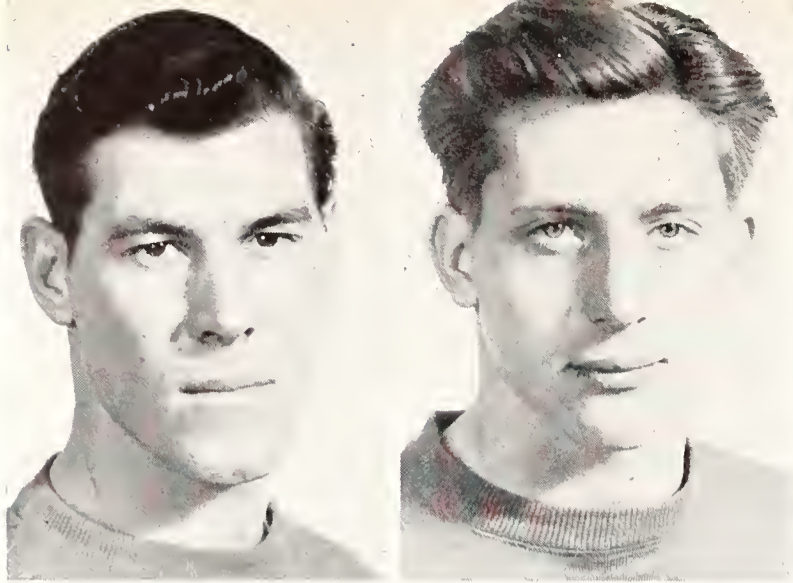

Team	Won	Lost	Tied
Missouri	5	0	0
Oklahoma	3	2	0
Nebraska	3	2	0
Kansas	2	3	0
Kansas State	1	3	1
Iowa State	0	4	1

Wildcats Lack Scoring Punch; Season Opener Is Scoreless Tie

SEPTEMBER 15.—Serious, rugged Hobbs Adams, head football coach, watched with his two assistants, O. L. "Chili" Cochrane and Bill Schutte, as 53 frisky grid aspirants capered through their first drill.

Adams knew, as he watched, this was not going to be a successful season for K-State football—at least not in the won and lost columns. He would have to rely on too many sophomores, contend with a shortage of reserves.

Instead, he'd teach the boys to play the game, clean and fair, and let the averages take care of themselves. This he did.

Before he came here in 1940, he was end coach at Southern California; Cochrane, his first assistant, had been on the Wildcat staff previously, and Schutte previously coached at the San Diego, California, high school.

SEPTEMBER 27.—Wildcat fans gulped down a lump in their throats this afternoon as they watched little Fort Hays State college hold Kansas State to a scoreless tie, knowing as they watched that this, too, was not the long awaited and hoped for "Wildcat year."

The gold-clad Tigers of Coach Paul Waldorf, scheduled as an easy opener for the K-State grid-ders, stopped every combination Coach Hobbs Adams put on the field and every stroke of strategy tried by the Wildcat quarterbacks.

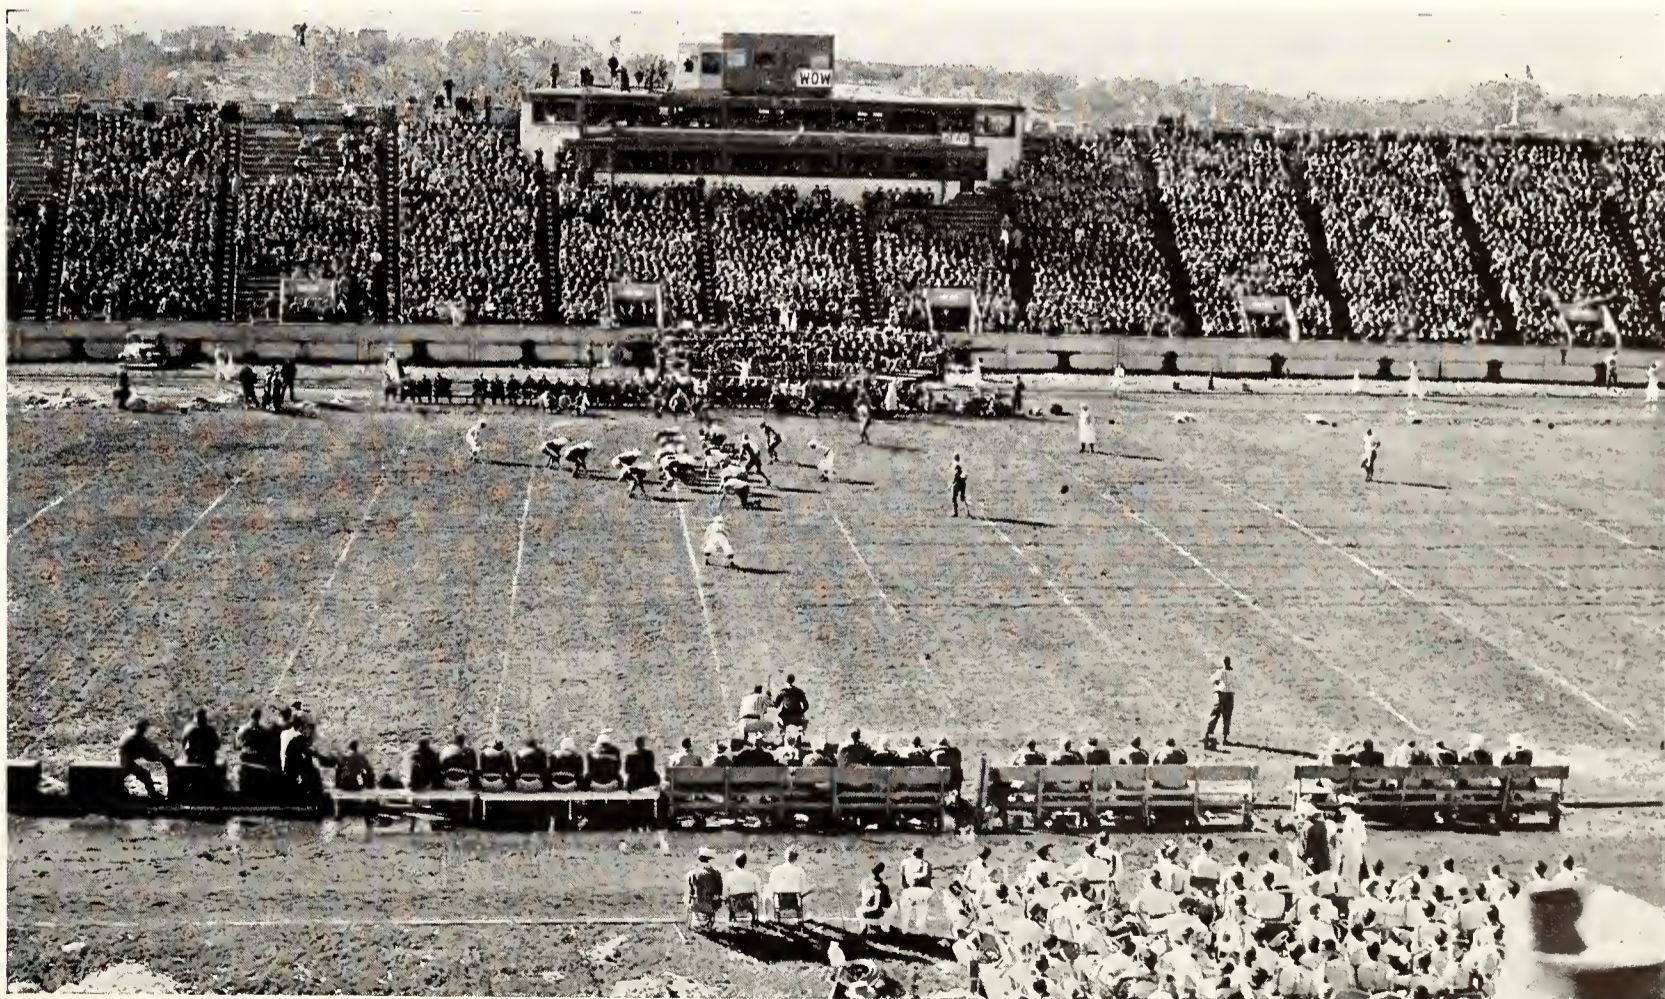

Lacked Scoring Punch

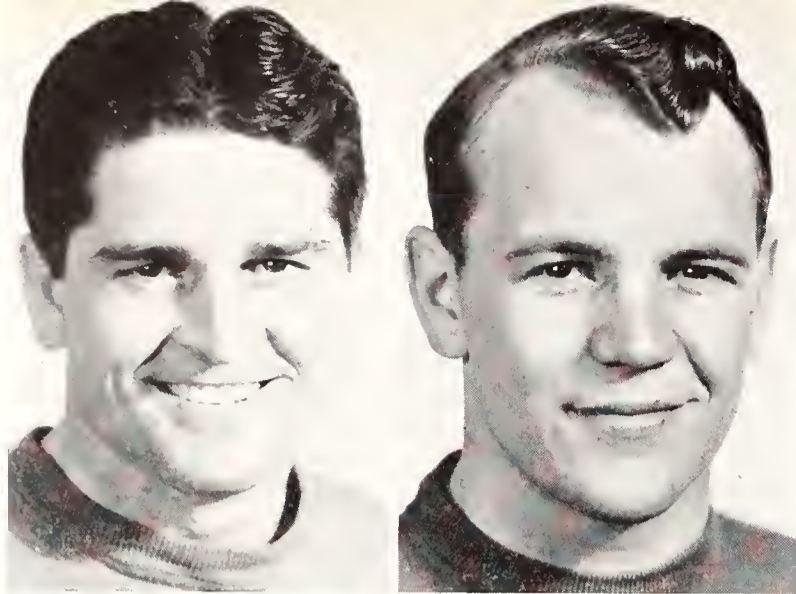

The bigger, faster Manhattan squad piled up 203 yards gained from scrimmage and 14 first downs to 35 yards and five first downs for the Tigers, but lacked the punch to score.

In the second half, junior quarterback Bill Quick headed a drive downfield that carried to the Fort Hays eight yard line before the ball was lost on downs.

DON SHAFFER, GUARD, Max Timmons, Earl Williams, and Lee Jones, backs, gave good account of themselves in this year's games. (Below) Oklahoma and Kansas State fight it out before this Parent's day crowd.

RAY ROKEY AND Jahn Hancock, quarterback and center respectively, were senior standouts.

TIGERS CRUSH

Ten line. On a fourth down, Williams dropped back and lifted the ball from placement between the uprights for three Wildcat points.

Northwestern Cuts Loose

As if this were an incentive, the bruising Northwestern giants retaliated, sparked by Bill de Correvant and Otto Graham, to cram eight touchdowns across the Kansas State goal line in the remaining 50 minutes of play.

Columbia, October 11.—Coach Don Faurot's University of Missouri Tigers, crushing Kansas State 35 to 0 in their first Big Six game today, shouted to the nation's football fans the power they possessed.

Coach Hobbs Adams' Wildcats moved into Tigerland this afternoon with senior guard Ed Huff, sophomore sparkplug Mike Zeleznak and Bill Engelland, first year end, on the injured list.

The Tigers, as good as Coach Faurot had claimed

EVANSTON, October 4.—Northwestern's Big Ten Wildcats turned all their fury on Kansas State this afternoon burying them under an avalanche of touchdown, 51 to 3.

Oddly enough, Kansas State drew first blood, counting three points in the first quarter on the educated toe of Earl Williams.

Marching to the Northwestern 19 yard marker, K-State tried three times with running plays but each attempt crumpled against the stiffening Big they were in early season practices, completely dominated the 60 minutes of play.

Tigers Score at Will

The backfield, containing such aces as Maurice "Red" Wade, Harry Ice, Bob Steuber and Harold Adams, scored at will against the hapless Wildcats and made Tiger fans quickly forget the three year football reign of all-American "Pitchin'" Paul Christman.

October 18.—Oklahoma's giant sophomores ran high, wide and effectively in Memorial stadium this afternoon, trouncing Coach Hobbs Adams' Kansas State eleven, 16 to 0 before a Parents' day crowd.

Sooner Coach Dewey "Snorter" Luster's famed "A" formation came into its own today as the O.U. sophomores worked two touchdowns and a field goal from it while the Southern line held K-State's offense in check.

Golding, Sooner sophomore back, was responsible for both touchdowns, and Haberlein, first year back, gave Oklahoma the field goal.

FULLBACK KENT DUWE, a senior, and saphamare Mike Zeleznak carried much of the Wildcat burden.

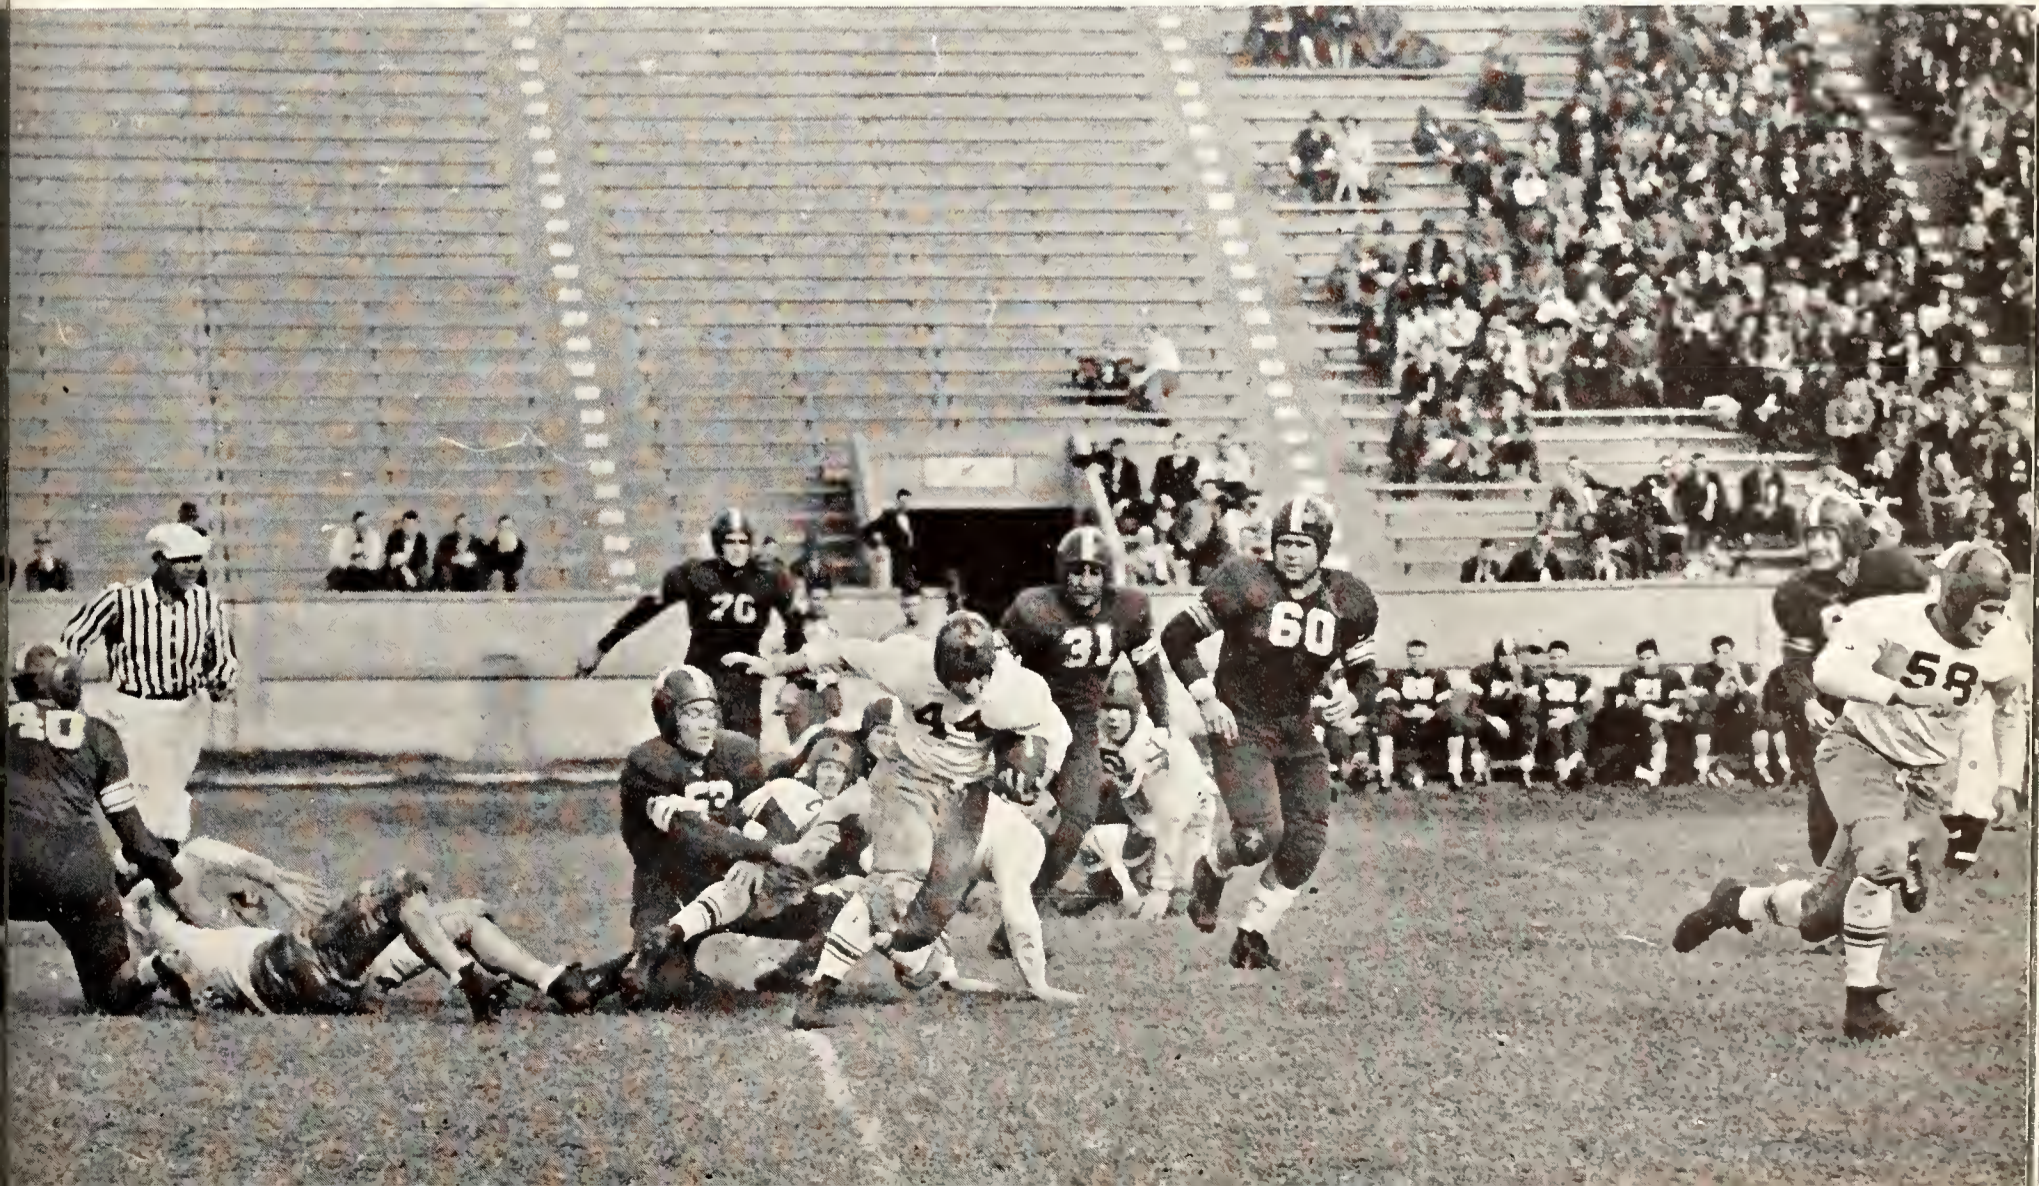

Zeleznak Leads Team

Kansas State's white jerseyed gridders were again led by able Mike Zeleznak. Fullbacks Lysle Wilkins and Kent Duwe were the biggest ground gainers for the State team.

Attempting to get back in the ball game, the Wildcats smashed twice at the Oklahoma goal late in the game but each try fell short.

In the third quarter, Zeleznak drove his teammates within 14 yards of paydirt and again in the final period the Wildcats worked their way to the Sooner 15 yard line before being stopped.

MIKE ZELEZNAK BREAKS loose through the big Oklahoma line for a substantial gain. Running ahead to take care of the secondary is Lee Janes, saphomare back.

WILDCATS UPSET GAMECOCKS

Williams' Fieldgoal Beats South Carolina Before Band Day Throng

FOUR POWERFUL WILDCAT players, Earl Hunter, Lawrence Duncan, Clarence Heath and Narbert Raemer, are shown below. Raemer captained the Wildcats against Iowa State.

NOVEMBER 8.—Kansas State wiped its disastrous first-of-the-season record from the minds of football fans today, scoring a 3 to 0 upset over the invading South Carolina Gamecocks.

Again it was the educated toe of sophomore full-back Earl Williams who brought victory home with a well-aimed fieldgoal.

Coach Rex Enright's Gamecocks, defeated only once and considered the cream of the Southern conference, were held to a minus six yards rushing while the Wildcats were piling up 118 yards gained from scrimmage. Stan Stasica, transplanted Coloradan, carried the offensive burden of the Carolinians.

The Wildcats, who came closer to filling Memorial stadium today than in any game this season, showed their appreciation in their second upset victory in two weeks.

This was Band day at Kansas State and high school musicians from throughout the state attended and performed for the crowd, adding to the color of the brisk afternoon.

The two teams did the most of their bumping and heaving in midfield and left only the score to satisfy victory-hungry Wildcat fans. S.C.U. failed to threaten throughout the game.

LYSLE WILKINS GAINED full stride in the University of Kansas game at Lawrence. He scored K-State's first touchdown on a 28 yard run. End Zena Berger is coming up from behind to block.

LOSE THRILLER TO K.U.

LAWRENCE, November 15.—The word "breather" caught up with Kansas State again today, but not until the last few minutes of play when the slingshot arm of Kansas university's Ralph Miller flung a 30-yard touchdown pass to tiny Denzil Gibbens for a 20 to 16 K.U. victory.

After a scoreless first quarter the Jays began to move. Starting from their own 48, they ruffled their tail feathers and marched downfield on Miller's sure-fire arm, quickly connecting for a score, Miller to sophomore Ray Evans, good for 20 yards.

Wilkins for 28 Yards

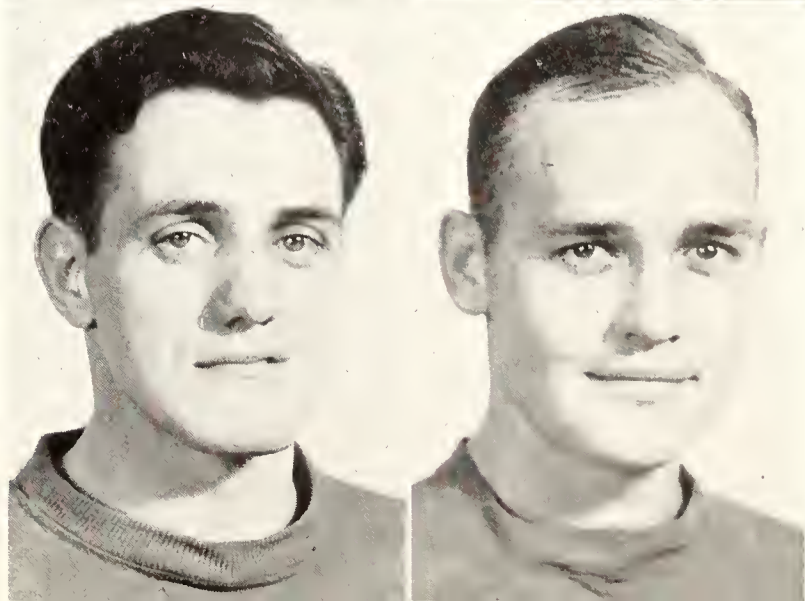

K-State scored minutes later on a K.U. fumble and a 28 yard touchdown gallop by fullback Lyle Wilkins. In the final period, K-State again cut loose with an offensive that ended in a center smashing touchdown by soph Lee Jones.

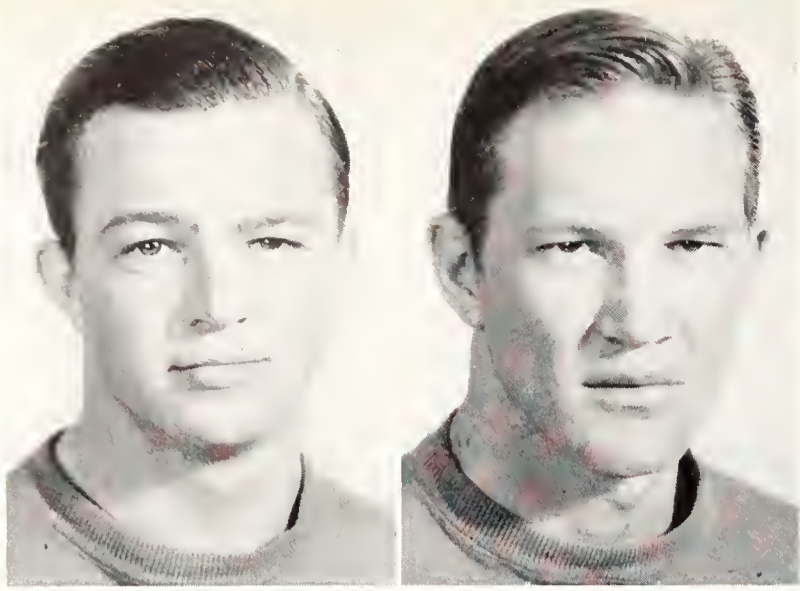

The undaunted Jayhawks retaliated on the next play when Gibbens grabbed the kick-off and wormed his way 83 yards for a touchdown.

Behind 14 to 13, the Wildcats called on sure-footed Earl Williams who calmly booted a fieldgoal to again give K-State the lead until Miller's game winning pass.

With their victory, K.U. also claimed again the peace trophy, designed to end unsportsmanlike demonstrations between the schools.

BIG ED HUFF and Frank Barnhart, both seniors, made themselves feared throughout the conference at their respective guard and end positions. Juniors Charles Kier and Jim Watkins, both saw much service the past season.

A JUNIOR, OSCAR Erickson, and o sophomore, Zeno Berger, both earned Wildcot letters.

IOWA STATE

held good today with the Cyclones playing their first year under Coach Ray Donels.

Lowry led his underrated teammates to a first quarter score by setting up and plunging over a touchdown, and later, in the second period, took a punt and went 90 yards through Wildcat tacklers for the tally.

Kansas State scored in the first on a 57 yard run by Mike Zeleznak, sophomore signal caller, that carried to the one.

Wildcat Injuries Contribute To 12-12 Tie With Cyclones

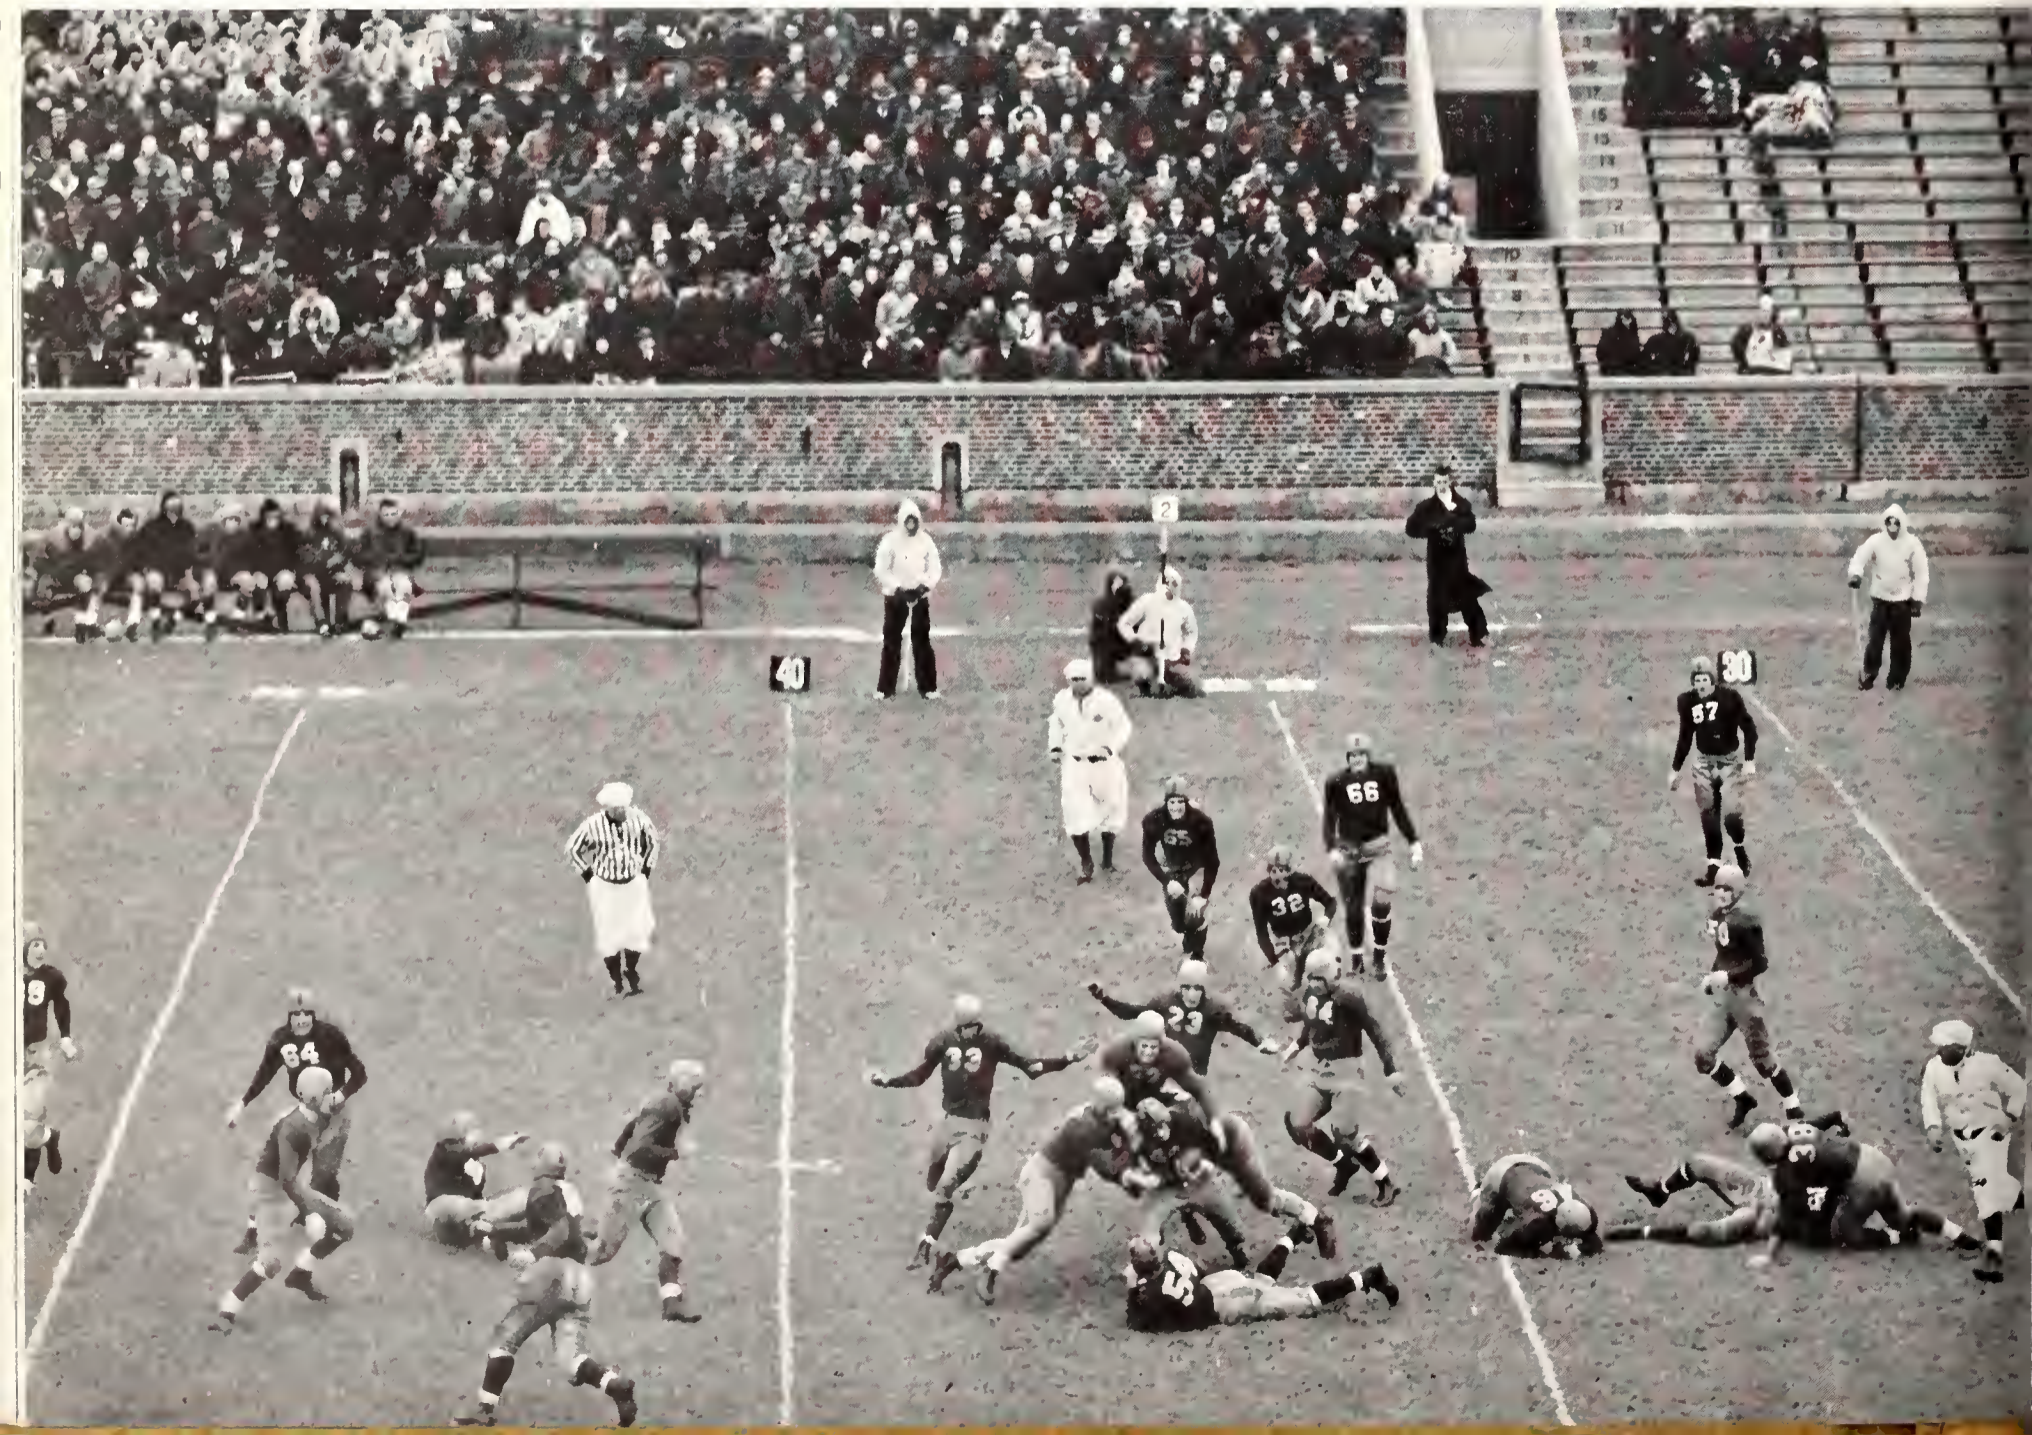

AMES, November 22.—Sports writers called it the Cyclone "Jinx" that held Kansas State to a 12-12 tie with Iowa State this afternoon but it was actually Wildcat injuries and an unstoppable Iowa quarterback, Royal Lowry.

Unbeaten by the K-Staters since 1936, the story

JINX HOLDS

TUSCON, November 29.—Playing in 78 degree heat, the Kansas State Wildcats built up a 14-7 halftime lead over Arizona, but faded in the final periods to lose, 28 to 21.

The Arizonians, leading the nation as the greatest ground gaining team, were crowded out of the lime-light in the early minutes of the game as senior quarterback Ray Rokey took a punt and dashed 60 yards to score.

Watkins Recovers Fumble

Arizona evened the count on a pass play in the second period but the K-Staters again took the lead when sophomore end Jim Watkins recovered an Arizona fumble on the one yard line and fullback Lyle Wilkins went across for the score.

In the third, Arizona caught fire. Two passes, one good for 11 yards and the second for 54, brought the Southerners two tallies.

In the final quarter they added their fourth score on an intercepted pass runback. K-State got its last score in the final minute on a 10 yard pass, Rokey to John Bortka.

This game marked the close of the Wildcat season with two victories, two games tied, and five defeats.

CAGERS LOSE

Win 26-45 Before Capacity Crowd

MARCH 3.—Kansas State's Wildcats, trying too hard, wrote a disappointing finale to their 1941-42 basketball season tonight in Nichols Gymnasium, losing to the University of Kansas Jayhawkers, 26-45.

Weak on scoring the entire season, the Wildcats showed their biggest home crowd of the year how cold they could be, hitting only nine of 74 attempts at the basket. Ralph Miller and Charles Black, two all-Big Six forwards, led the K.U. attack successfully against the Wildcats.

Win Eight, Lose Ten

Yet with this defeat, young Jack Gardner's cagers completed their best season in years, winning eight games and losing ten.

From a roster containing the names of only three seniors, two juniors and a handful of sophomores, COACH JACK GARDNER gives last minute instructions to Captain Danny Howe, senior center of the Wildcats.

A CHEERFUL K-STATE throng leaves crowded Nichols gymnasium after a thrilling Wildcat victory over Nebraska, 38 to 35. This was the cagers' first Big Six victory in five starts.

SEASON'S FINALE

Gardner built a quintet that was feared throughout the conference.

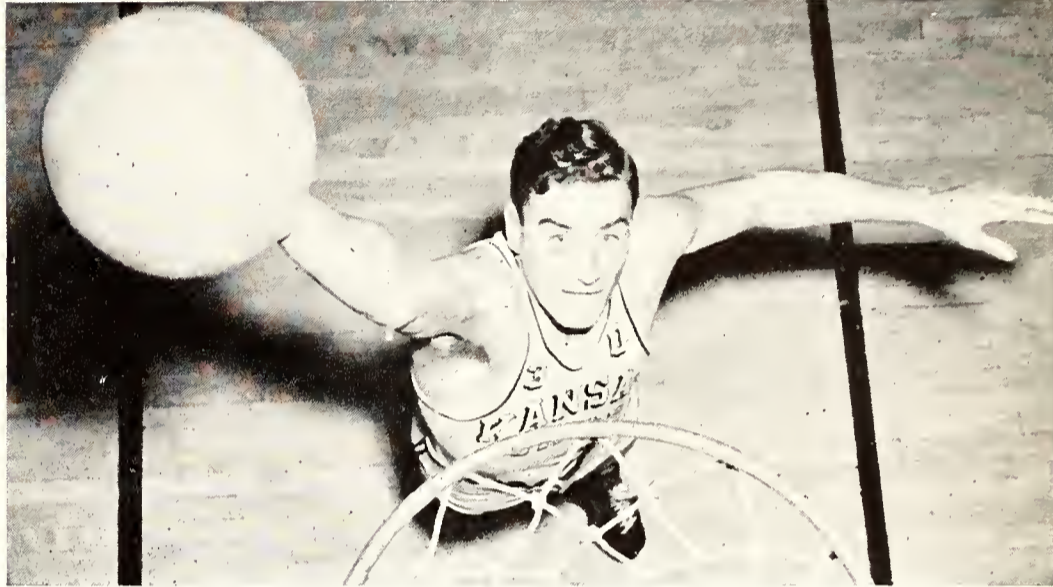

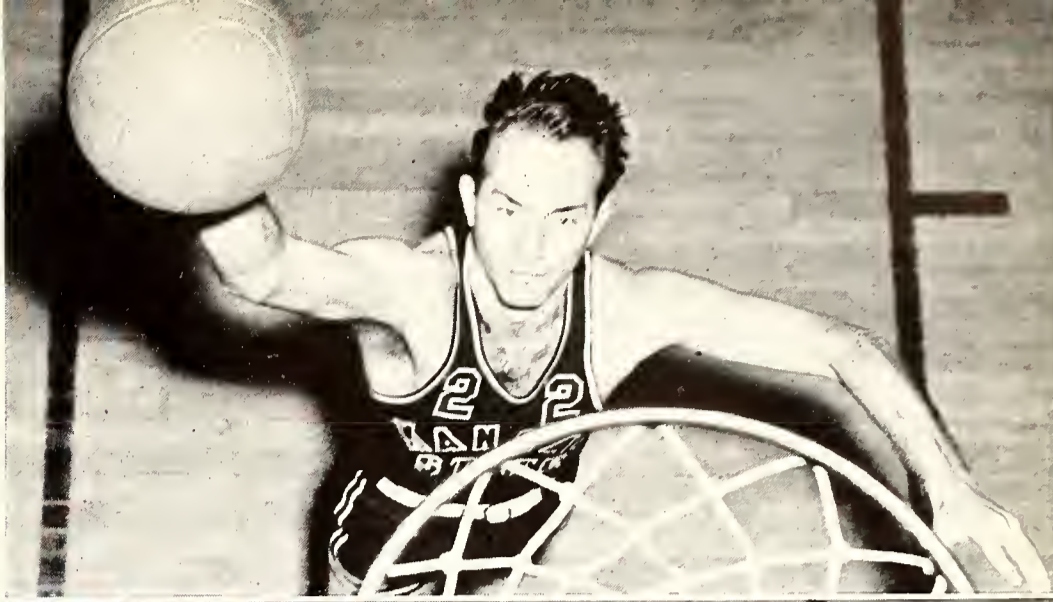

Realizing he had no shot artists, the Californian made his Wildcats defensively masterful. Each player became exceptionally adept at ball handling and the Wildcat's floor play continually earned them the majority of shots at the basket.

"The Hard Luck Team"

Five points scored in the right places this season would have meant a tie for first place for the Wildcats rather than the fifth spot in the conference where they finally finished. Three victories and seven defeats told their conference story.

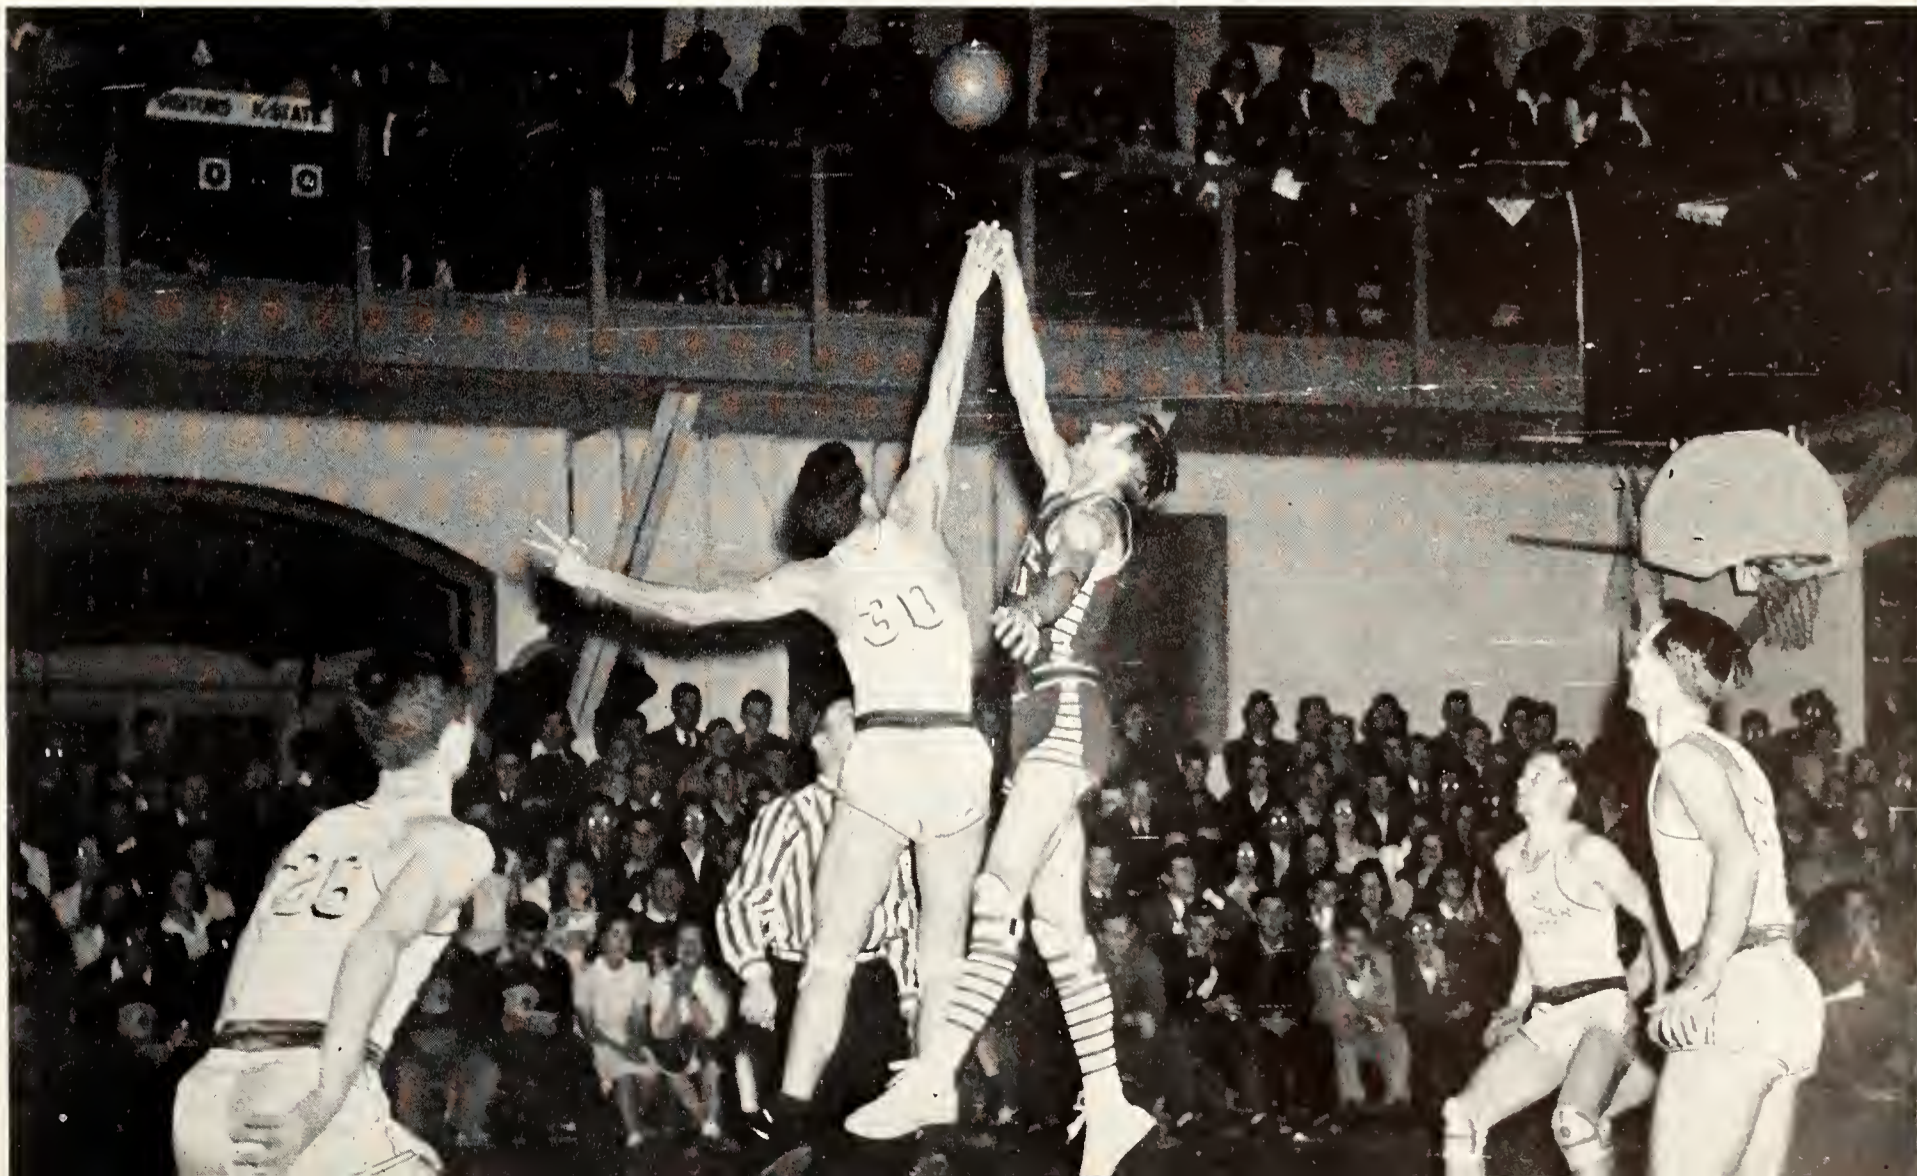

The K-Staters lost two one-point decisions on the home court to Oklahoma and Iowa State and were defeated in an overtime tussle by Kansas in an early season game. Thus the squad earned the title of "hard-luck team" of the Big Six.

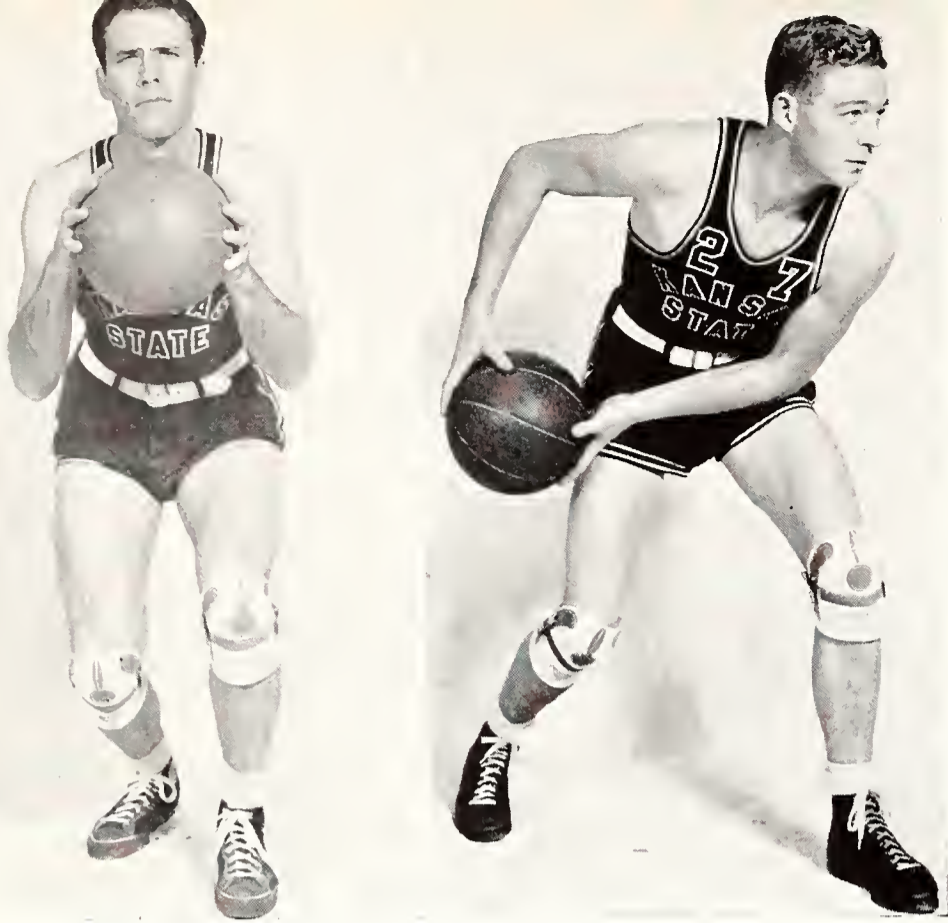

Despite the pressing need, the basketball season ended with K-State's hopes for a fieldhouse still unrealized.

SENIOR FORWARD JACK Haracek, above, and center Danny Howe lay a couple of sure goals over the basket rim.

The Wildcats, preparing for conference play, downed Doane college, 57 to 43, in the first game, December 4, and edged out Colorado State twice in thrillers, 30 to 25, and 37 to 35, on consecutive nights, December 10 and 11.

Tonight's game found sophomore Bruce Holman rolling in 15 points for the Wildcats and establishing himself as a regular forward on the quintet. The small, blond bombshell was high against Colorado State in the first game with 17 points.

Horacek Scores 15 Points

Senior forward Jack Horacek had his night against Colorado State in the second game, totaling 15 points and bucketing a set-up in the last 10 seconds of the game to break the tie and give the Wildcats their third consecutive victory.

Against Doane, Coach Gardner had substituted freely, but center Danny Howe played long enough to rack up 11 points for scoring honors.

WASHBURN

December 26.—Kansas State's Wildcats returned home today after a four game trip to the West coast, knowing they were not the team to win the Big Six.

Lose Three on Western Tour

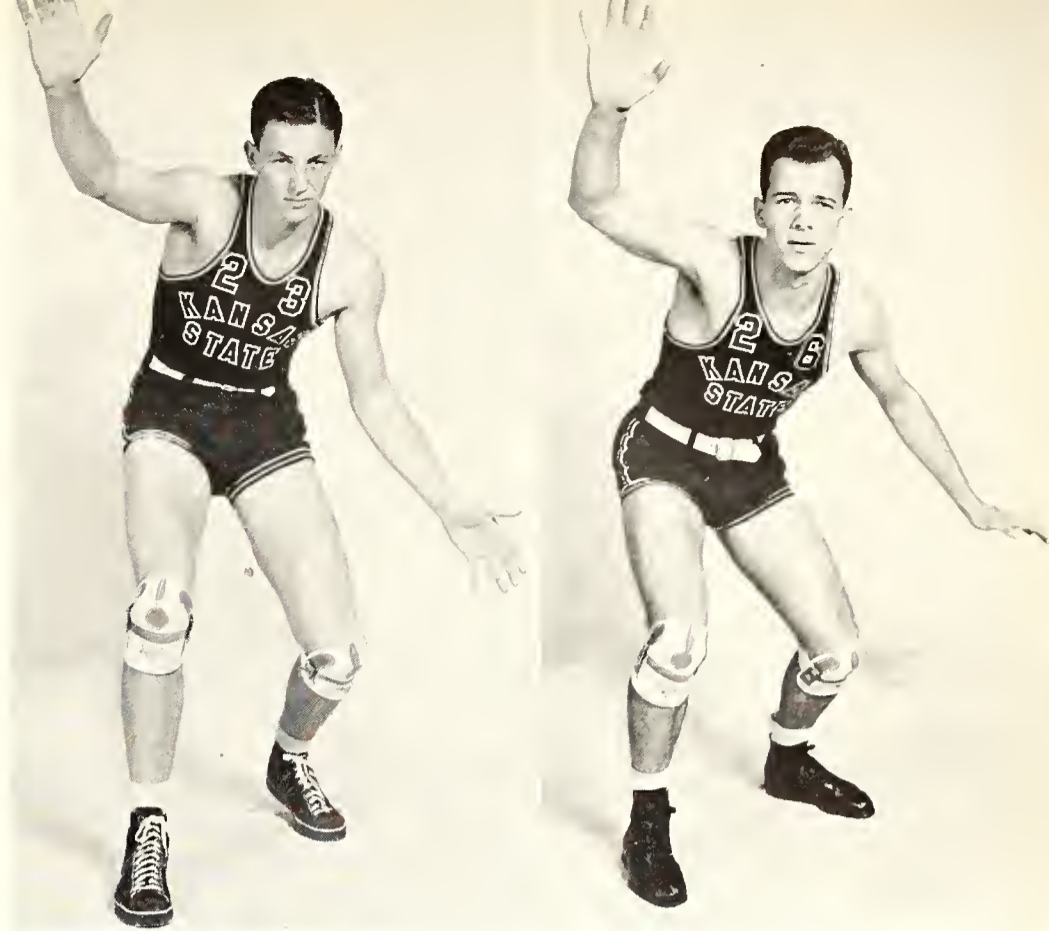

Thrilled with a record of four victories on the home court, the K-Staters fell twice before western foes by lopsided scores before they could win their fifth game.

Playing at Seattle on consecutive nights, the Wildcats were run over by the University of Washington, 45 to 32, and by Washington State college, 47 to 22. Both Washington school were rated by experts as "tops" among this year's west coast basketeers.

Still determined, the Wildcats trampled their next opponent, Montana university, 44 to 34, at Missoula on December 22, but then lost to Montana State college at Bozeman the next night, 38 to 45.

K-State made a final half surge that nearly caught Nebraska but the red-jersied opponents stalled off the challenge.

Norman, January 10.—Kansas State lost again tonight, this time to the University of Oklahoma, 40 to 47. Danny Howe's 12 points failed to overtake the Sooners in the last half.

Lose to Oklahoma

January 17.—Final score tonight was 25 to 26 with K-State on the short end and Oklahoma the victor. Both teams, cold throughout, fought evenly for the 40 minutes but the Wildcat's luck broke in the closing seconds.

Lawrence, January 24.—Tonight's game climaxed the Wildcat losing streak, the Jays winning in an overtime, 46-44. Kansas State's primed quintet fought their way ahead of K.U. early but failed to hold it in the final moments.

In the overtime K.U.'s Ralph Miller and Bruce Holman bagged field goals to lengthen the tie but seconds later John Buescher, K.U. center, got his third goal of the game for a Jayhawk victory.

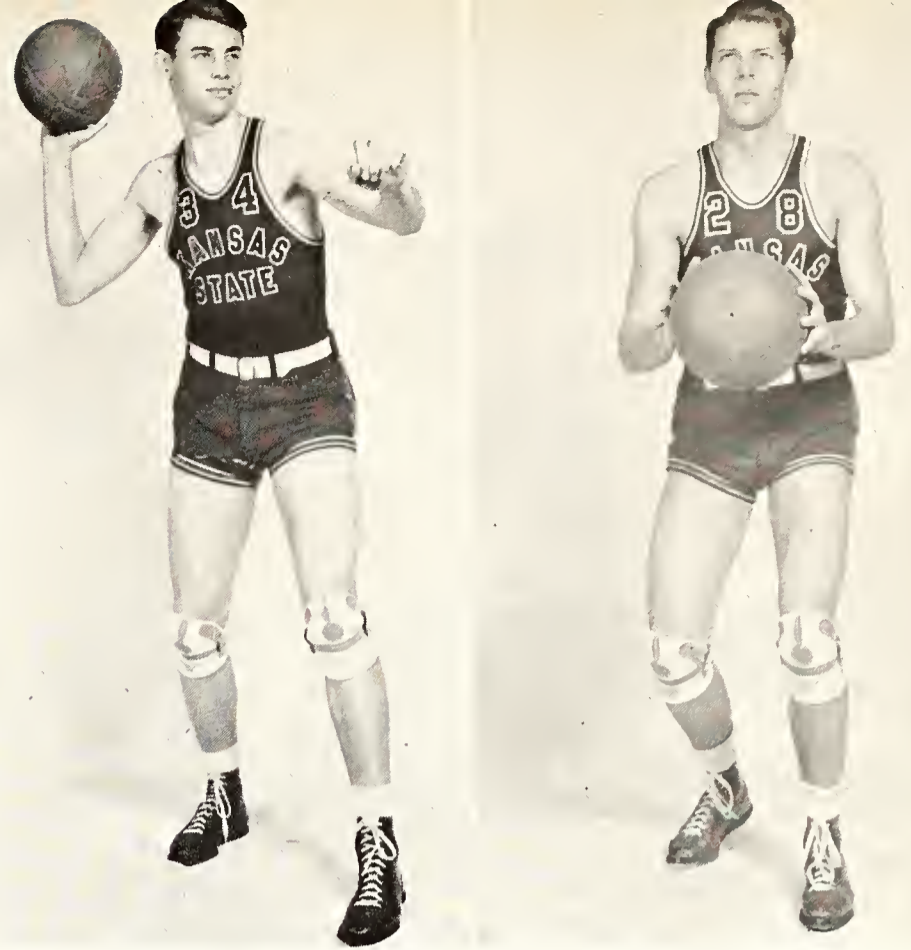

February 2.—Kansas State won their first game in five starts tonight, edging out Nebraska, 38 to 35. Junior guard Larry Beaumont crowded in 12 points and Danny Howe got 11 for K-State.

Iowa State Takes Close One

February 9.—Unable to hold off their hardluck jinx for two straight games, the Wildcats fell to Iowa State tonight, 44 to 43, in the last seven seconds of play. Kansas State's attack was led by Jack Horacek with 18 points.

Columbia, February 14.—Missouri's Tigers got hot tonight to drag Kansas State down into a share of the Big Six cellar with a score of 44 to 36.

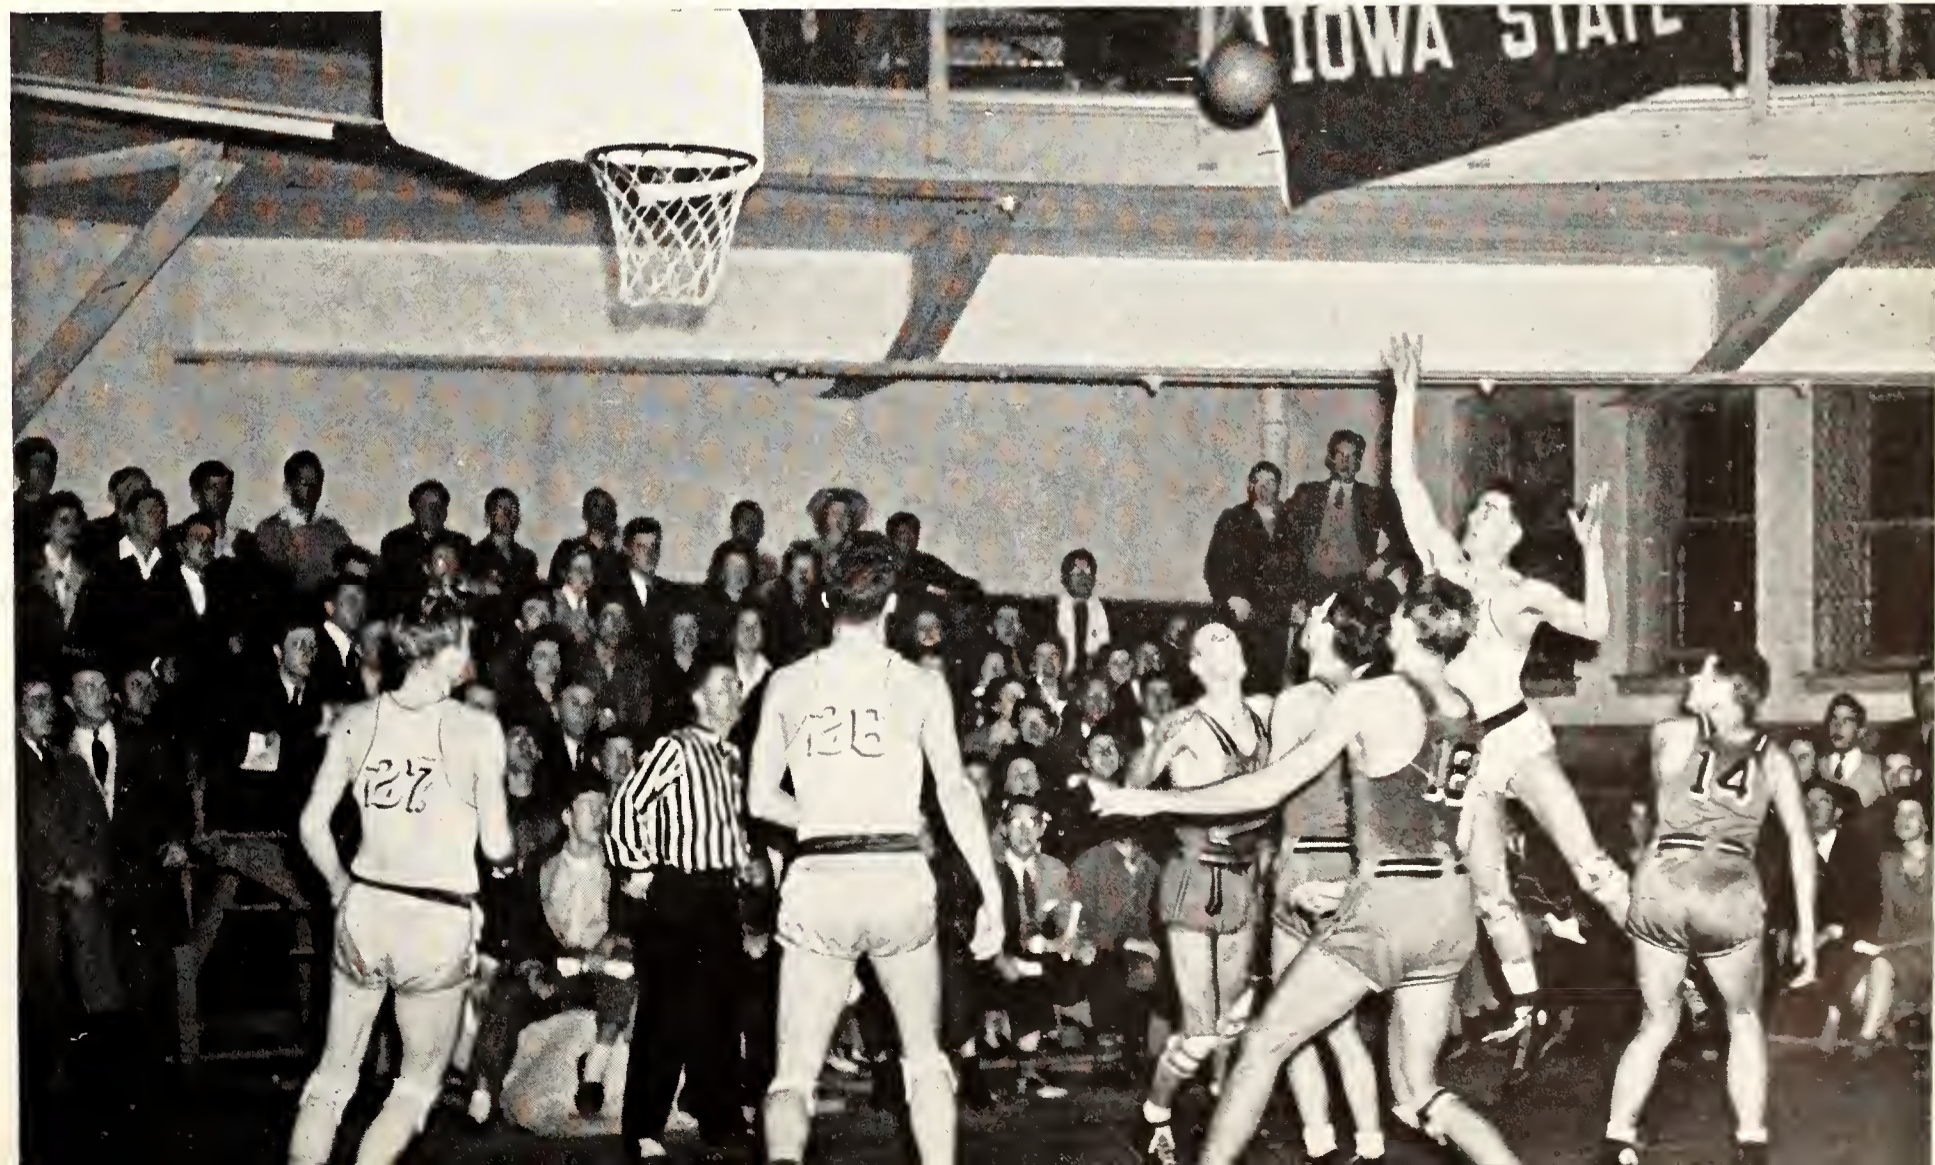

The Missourians led 24 to 8 early in the game and made it 27 to 13 at the half.

SOPHOMORE MARLO DIRKS and Fred Kohl played guard and forward positions respectively on the Wildcat team.

Ames, February 28.—After evening the score with Missouri last week, 42 to 35, K-State did what no other Big Six team could accomplish, beating Iowa State on their home court, 36 to 34 tonight. Larry Beaumont bagged 14 points for Kansas State.

DANNY HOWE TRIES a right handed side shot against the Missouri Tigers that seems to be headed for the basket. Bruce Holman (No. 27) and John St. John (No. 26) wait for the rebound. Kansas State won over the Tigers 42 to 35.

VICTORY OVER K. U. PLACES

Team Splits Two-game Series With Missouri, Defeats Iowa

MAY 24, 1941. — Pitcher Floyd Kirkland hurled an 11 to 6 victory over the Kansas university Jayhawks this afternoon to give the Wildcats a sweep of the two-game series and a season record of seven wins against eight losses. Lee Doyen pitched the first win over the Kansans yesterday, 8 to 4.

Thus, perched in third place in the final Big Six standings behind Missouri and Oklahoma, Coach Owen L. "Chili" Cochrane's Wildcats had made an enviable record with only two seniors, outfielder Chris Langvardt and first sacker Kenny Graham in the line-up.

Ahearn and Myers Coach

Unable to take over the reigns until the opening game with Nebraska, April 17, because of his duties as assistant football coach, Cochrane turned the team over to Director of Athletics M. F. "Mike" Ahearn and assistant to the director, Frank Myers.

Play Two Night Games

Cold weather forced practices in Nichols Gymnasium until late in March, but when they were finally able to get outside the men worked hard to get in shape. Two practice teams, the "Flannigans" and "Yannigans" were organized and three pre-season games were played.

Forced into schedule re-arranging by unpredictable weather, the Kansas Staters, for the first time in history, entertained two of their foes under the arc lights of Manhattan's Griffith stadium. The two games, with Oklahoma and Rockhurst, drew huge crowds of interested townspeople.

The regular Wildcat home games were played on the diamond north of the stadium.

K-STATE THIRD

Kansas State opened its diamond season on April 18 drubbing Nebraska, 7-5 on the 10-hit pitching of Floyd Kirkland. Warren Hornsby, junior shortstop, smashed a home-run and three singles in five trips to the plate. A second game with the Cornhuskers was rained out.

Wildcats Win One, Lose One

The Wildcat nine returned home from a Southern road trip on May 1 with a victory and a loss added to their record. The great Oklahoma A. and M. Aggies barely squeezed an 8-7 victory from K-State, April 28, after the Wildcats had batted their way past Friends university of Wichita, April 26, 9-6.

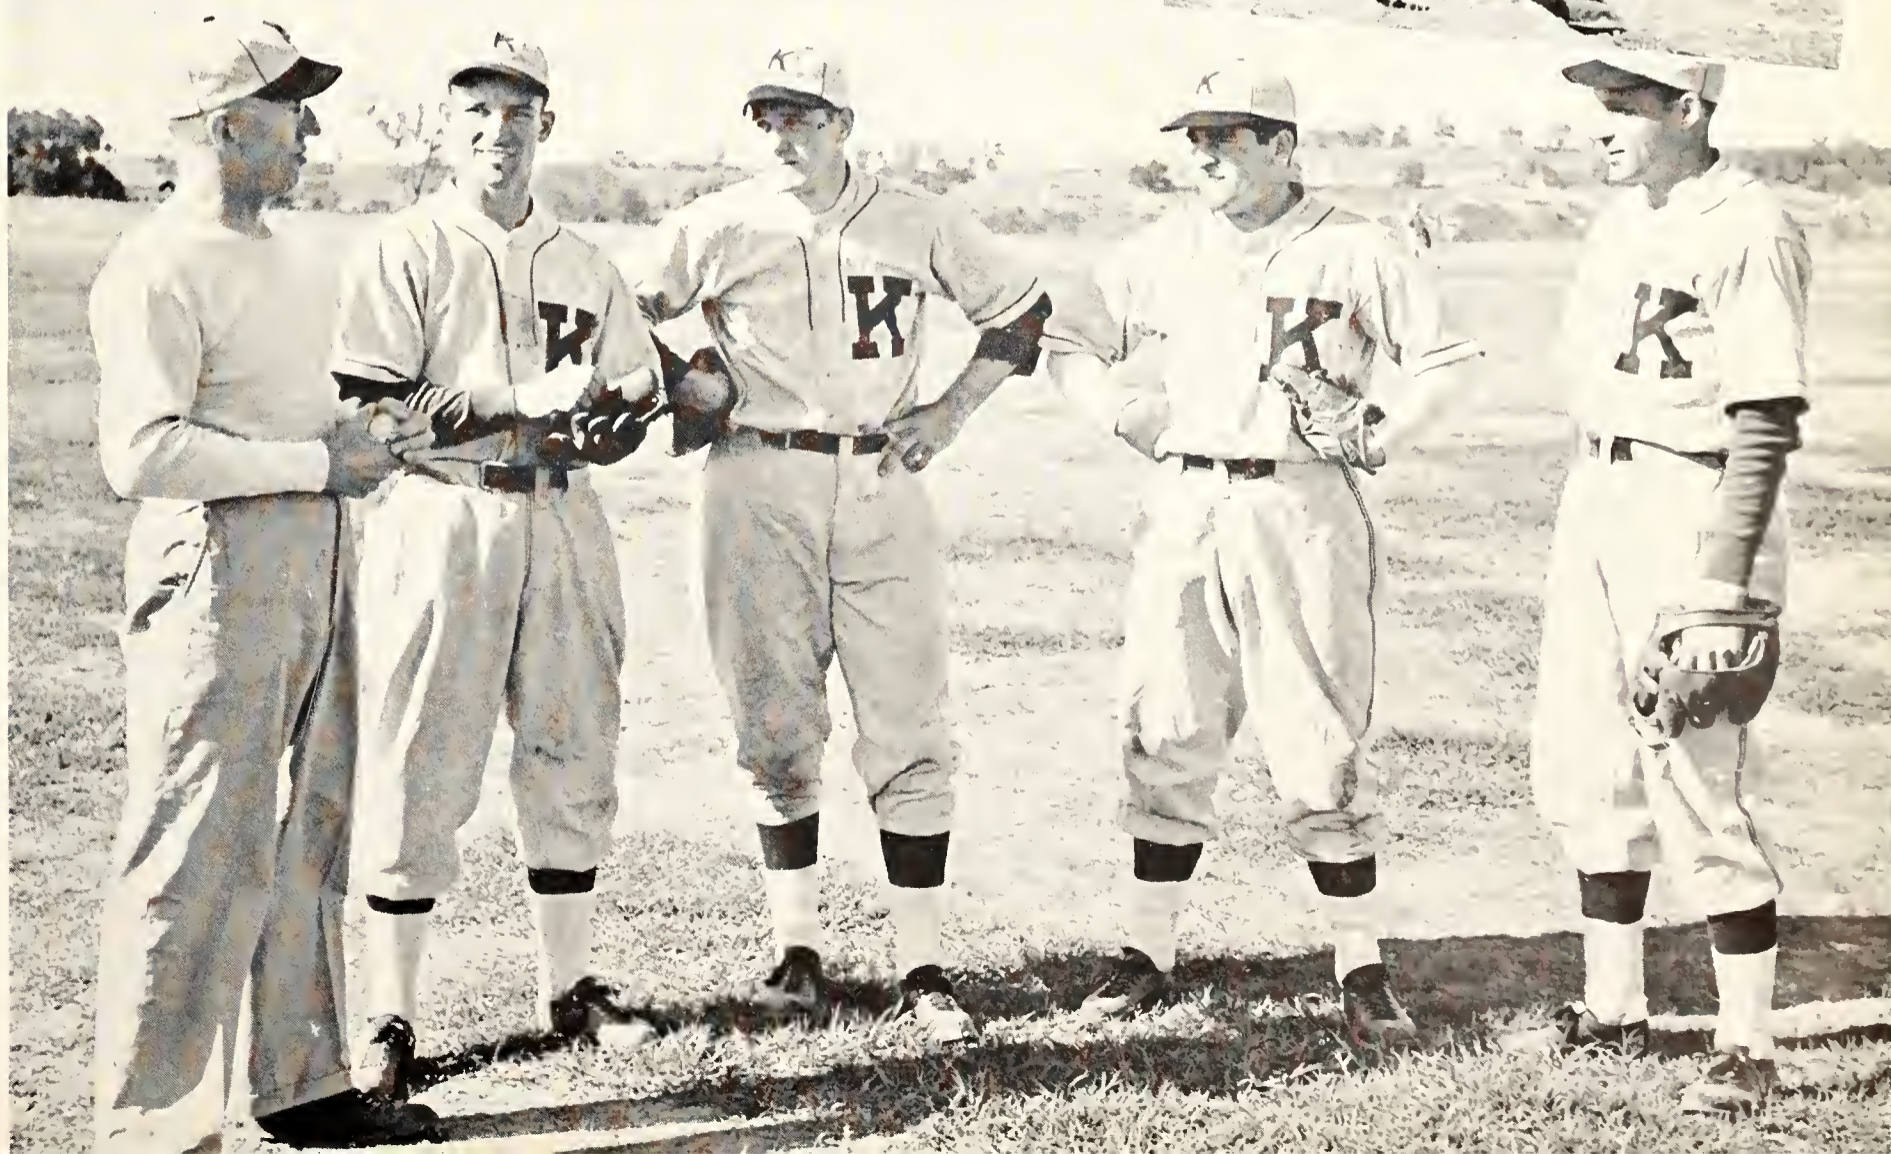

A game with each of these foes was rained out.

Eight Tiger Batters Fanned By Sophomore Pitching Ace

MAY 3, 1941.—Pitcher Lee Doyen and Coach "Chili" Cochrane's Wildcat nine evened the score with the University of Missouri this afternoon, beating them 6 to 2. Sophomore Doyen pitched five-hit ball and fanned eight of the Tiger batters.

Missouri was victorious yesterday with Paul Christman leading the hitters, defeating Kansas State's sophomore hurler, Merlin Gustafson, 10-2.

May 6.—Oklahoma university's batsmen sank Wildcat hopes of a conference championship to the bottom today, claiming a doubleheader victory, 11-2 and 3-2.

Doyen Fans Nine Sooners

Lee Doyen pitched superb eight-hit ball in the nightcap, fanning nine Sooner sluggers, only to have an enemy triple and single in the ninth inning decide the game. The Sooners had tied the score in the eighth on a single, a stolen base and a wild throw at the plate.

May 13.—Kansas City's Rockhurst Hawks made it two in a row over Kansas State tonight, beating unlucky Lee Doyen, 7 to 6 in a game at Griffith Stadium. The Wildcats had fallen before their big bats at Kansas City, 11-2, May 10.

Maryville, May 17. — Kansas State's Wildcats finally got on the victory wagon again this afternoon, defeating Maryville, Missouri, Teachers 6-2. Outfielder Charlie Kier pitched the victory. Maryville won yesterday's game, 5-1.

Coach "Chili" Cochrane relied on sophomore Richard Gleue and Kier to carry the pitching burden in the two games, saving his aces, Floyd Kirkland and Lee Doyen for the two-game series with Iowa State beginning tomorrow. Fifteen Wildcats are making the road trip.

PITCHER LEE DOYEN (top) and Jim Prideaux, catcher, are both trotting the base paths for the Wildcats.

K - S T A T E S T A R

AMES, May 19, 1941.—Kansas State's batters finally went to work behind the pitching arm of Lee Doyen this afternoon to rout Iowa State's diamond nine, 8 to 6.

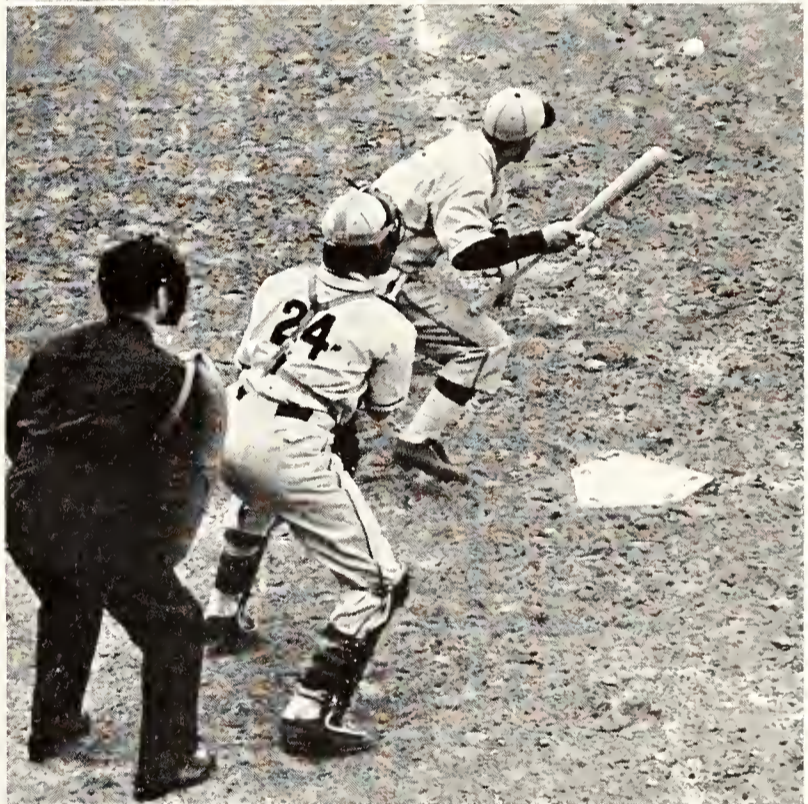

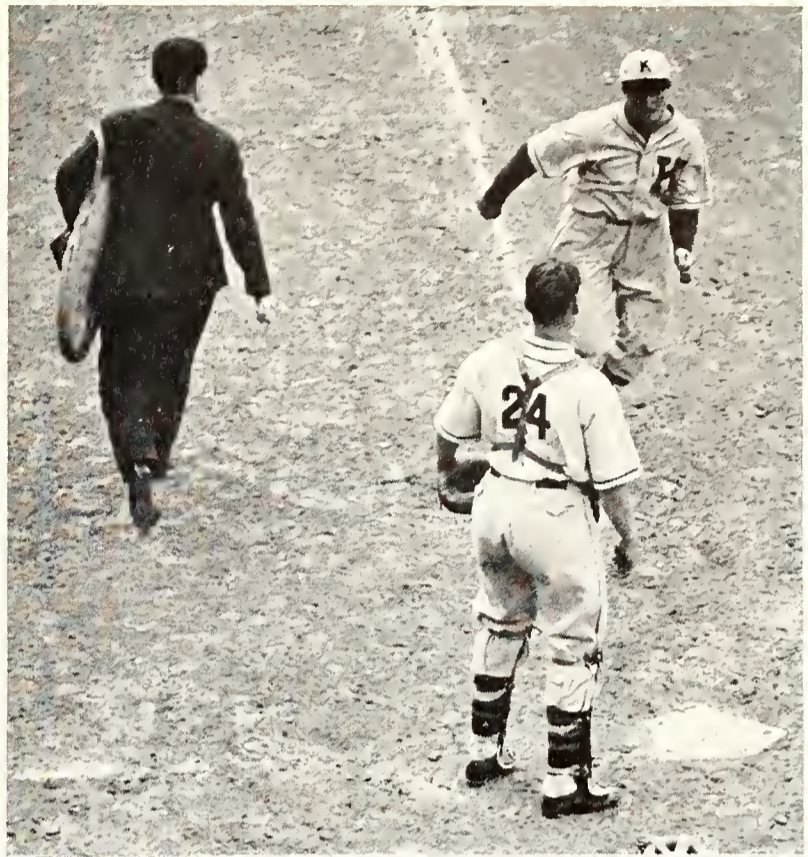

Doyen hurled 11-hit ball and whiffed four Cyclone batsmen, but it was the potent Wildcat stickers that brought home victory.

K-State started the scoring in the first frame when third sacker Neal Hugos doubled and shortstop Warren Hornsby singled him in. Chris Langvardt, Wildcat centerfielder, singled and second baseman Ray Dunlay tripled. Dunlay scored on a Cyclone error and the Kansans had grabbed a four-run lead.

Kenny Graham Homers

First baseman Kenny Graham homered in the seventh, and in the eighth, the Wildcats went on a three-run splurge to ice the game.

Hornsby strode to the plate seeking his fourth hit of the day. With catcher Norbert Raemer and pinch hitter Jim Prideaux on base he picked out a pitch he liked and smashed it over the fence, driving in the three final runs.

OUTFIELDER RAY ROKEY trots across home plate against Missouri (top), and Neal Hugos, third base, loys down o bunt in the some game.

Coach Cochrane Predicts Spot In First Division for His Squad

MAY 25, 1941.—With the final game in the score book and the bats put away for another season, Coach O. L. "Chili" Cochrane today mulled over his team's chances in the 1942 Big Six baseball race.

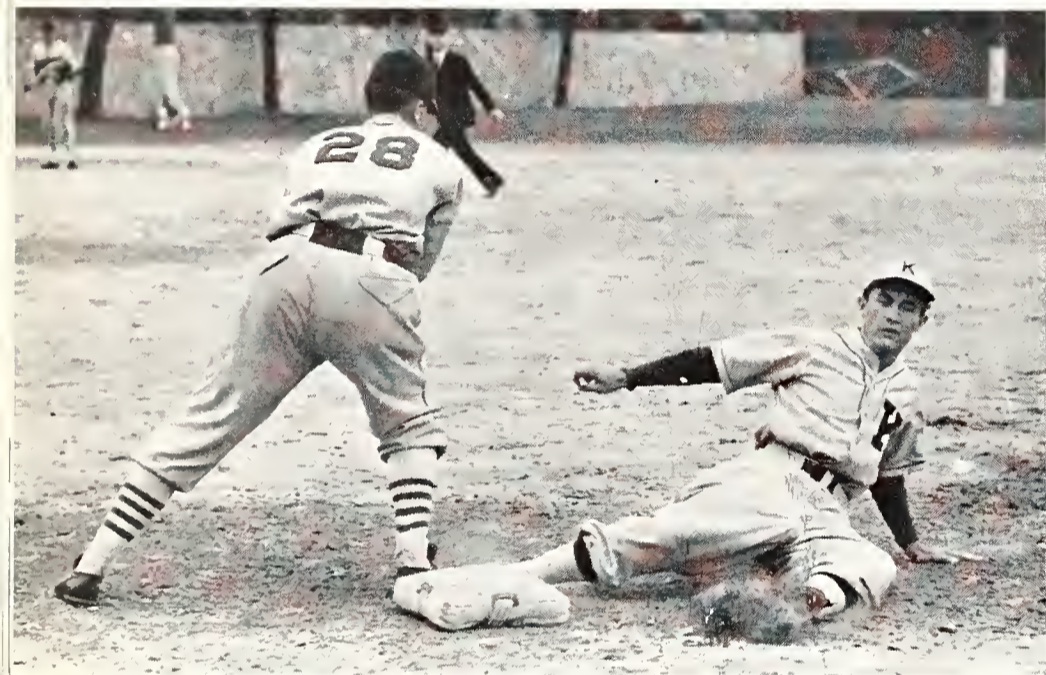

The stiffest competition would be coming from the University of Missouri and Oklahoma U., "Chili" mused, but Kansas State should be at least in the first division of the standings by the season's end.

Letter winners returning to the Wildcat nine will include two of this year's regular outfield, three of the infield, two catchers and three of the pitching staff.

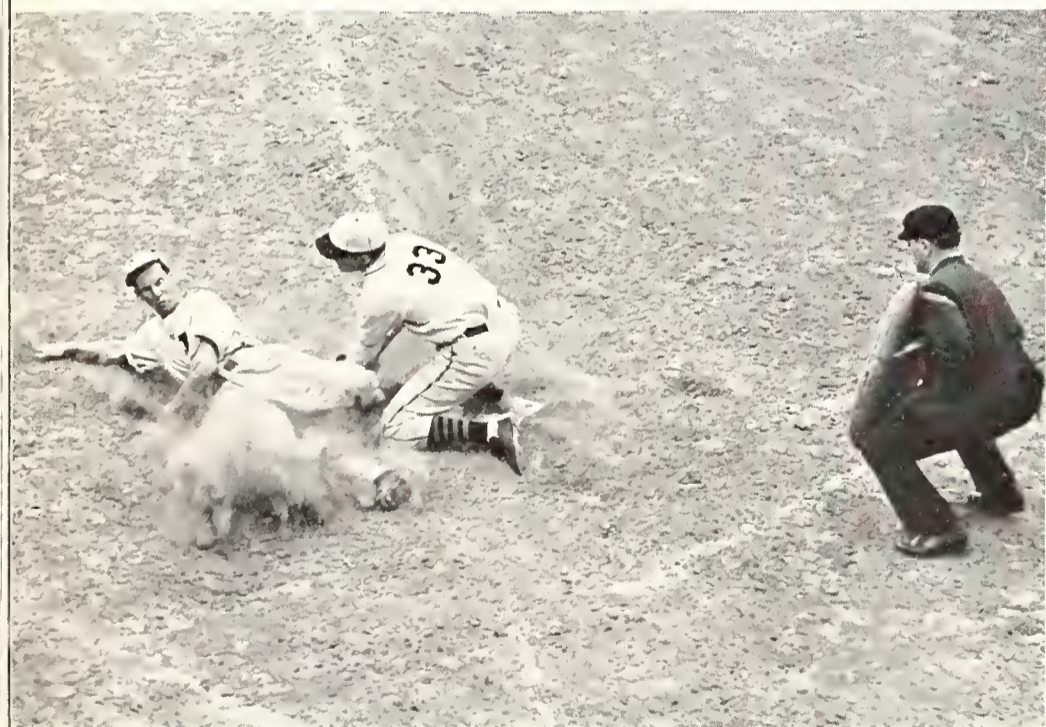

The outfielders who will be back in '42 "Chili" thought, are Ray Rokey and Charlie Kier, and the returning infielders are second baseman Ray Dunlay, shortstop Warren Hornsby and third baseman, Neal Hugos. Norbert Raemer and Jim Prideaux, both returning, handled the catching assignments this past season.

Pitching Stars to Return

Pitchers expected back to bolster the squad are Floyd Kirkland and Lee Doyen, who shared the heavy pitching load this season along with relief hurlers Merlin Gustafson and Richard Gleue. Clarence "Huck" Heath, a freshman hurler, who pitched SHORTSTOP WARREN HORNSBY slides in under the throw to be safe at third against Oklahoma.

Ban Johnson baseball, and other freshman prospects would be welcome additions to the squad, he thought.

The mark of inexperience had shown throughout the season just concluded, "Chili" knew. Pitching duels and tight ball playing were followed by slug-fests and error bestudded games.

The seven regulars due to come back next year plus the possibility of a bigger pitching staff gave a rosy glow to Cochrane's thoughts. Oklahoma and

IN FOURTH PLACE

Big Six Meet at Lincoln Winds Up Track Season

INCOLN, May 24, 1941.—Coach Ward Haylett's K-State trackmen, although failing to gain a first, grabbed enough place positions to wind up their outdoor schedule with a fourth in the Big Six conference meet today.

Red-haired Ed Darden swept over the high hurdles to bring K-State's single second in the contest and sophomore Jim Johns annexed a lone third in the 880. Three fourths in the 100, 220 and shot, and fifths in the two-mile, javelin and discus made up the Wildcat's 27 total points.

K.S. WINS COLORADO RELAYS

Mile Relay Team Sets Record As Track Squad Scores an Upset

BOULDER, May 26, 1941.—Ranked no better than a darkhorse, K-State trackmen today ran wild in this mountain stadium to claim top honors in the annual Colorado relays.

Pitted against such foes as Colorado, Wyoming, Colorado State and Greeley State, the Wildcat harriers showed their heels to the opposition to win the mile relay, two-mile relay, high hurdles and to place second in the team mile run.

Jim Upham, Jim Johns, Bill Burnham and Sam Johnson, making up the mile relay quartet, ran the distance in 3:20.1 to establish a new record. A Greeley State team had covered the distance in 3:20.5 in 1934.

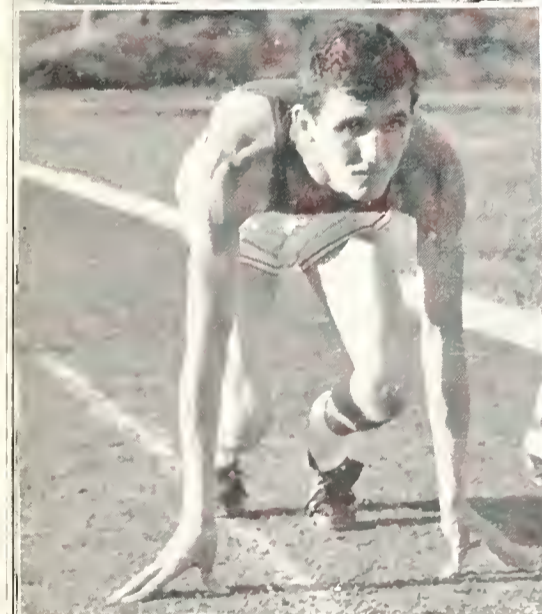

Ed Darden and George Mendenhall skimmed over the high hurdles for a first and a fourth, respectively, in that event and Don Borthwick, Thaine High, Don Adee and Loyal Payne put their efforts together in the two-mile relay to bring Kansas State's winning total to 23 points.

K-State's victory today was a definite upset. The Wildcats opened their outdoor season at the Texas relays April 5, and could wrangle only thirds in the mile run and two-mile relay, and a fifth in the mile relay from the Southern competition. At the Kansas relays last week, only the mile relay team could place, getting a fourth in the event.

MAY 3, 1941.—Kansas State's trackmen romped over the University of Kansas today, 81-50.

Wildcat cindermen won the 100, 220, 440, 880, mile, two-mile, high and low hurdles and the mile relay to completely swamp K.U. on the track, and added wins in the shot, discus and javelin in the field events. Sam Johnson ran the 440 in 48.9 and Dick Peters hurled the discus 145.7 feet, both new meet records.

May 10.—Colorado's invading tracksters brought Kansas State out of the clouds this afternoon, drubbing them 76-55 in the first meeting of the two teams. Wildcat point-makers were confined to firsts in the high hurdles, 440, 880, and a second and third in the 100 and 220 yard dash.

TAKE K.U.

MAY 17, 1941.—Ward Haylett's Kansas State trackmen, closing their home season this afternoon, toppled the University of Oklahoma hurriers, 75-56, for their first victory over the Sooners since 1915.

Ed Darden and lanky John Garrett won firsts in the high and low hurdles, respectively, and the mile relay team, composed of Jim Upham, Jim Johns, Bill Burnham and Sam Johnson, gained a first place in that event.

Wildcats Dick Peters, Ken Makalous and Art Day got top honors in three field events; Peters winning the discus, Makalous the shot put, and Day the high jump.

Season's Dual Record

- May 3—Kansas State 81, Kansas 50.
- May 10—Kansas State 55, Colorado 76.

Haylett's Indoor Tracksters Wind Up Season at Illinois

CHICAGO, March 4.—A six-man Wildcat indoor track team finished its schedule today, claiming fourth place in the Illinois Tech relays against the toughest competition in the Midwest.

Coach Haylett's indoor tracksters battled their way through an average season, winning two and losing two duals, and placing fourth in today's meet and in the Big Six conference competition at Kansas University February 28.

COACH WARD HAYLETT lines up his five two-milers, Captain Jimmie Johns, Al Rues, Don Borthwick, Cecil Siebert and Ernest Nelson.

K-State upset Drake, 56-48, to open the season, defeated Kansas, $69\frac{2}{3}$ to $34\frac{1}{3}$, in the next encounter, and lost the next two to Nebraska and Missouri. Hurdler Ed Darden and sophomore distance runner Al Rues were the big point winners during the indoor season.

Kansas State's two-milers, Johns, Rues, Borthwick, Siebert and Nelson, were second only to Nebraska in the Big Six final standings.

The Wildcats defeated Kansas and Missouri in duals but lost to Nebraska. The Nebraska defeat was the first loss for K-State two-milers in Memorial stadium since the structure was built.

ED DARDEN, INDOOR track captain, checks the stop watch with Coach Haylett after running the high hurdles.

IN INDOOR MEET

IOWA STATE OUT-GRAPPLES

Kansas State Wrestlers Drop To Second Place in Big Six

FEBRUARY 27.—B. R. "Pat" Patterson's Wildcat wrestlers were out-grappled 14-12 tonight by the red and gold of Iowa State, dropping them to second place in the final Big Six standings.

Only three conference schools, Kansas State, Iowa State and Nebraska, supported wrestling squads the past season and Cornhusker losses to both K-State and the Cyclones put the crown on the winner of tonight's dual.

Establishing a remarkable record with his individual victory over an Iowa State opponent was Captain Jerald Porter, 145-pound junior who concluded an undefeated season. A single tie with a Nebraska wrestler was the lone mar against his 12 victories.

Had Tough Competition

The Wildcats wrestled against such competition this season as Oklahoma A. and M. and Michigan

State, the number one and two teams in the nation, as well as undefeated Virginia Military institute and Minnesota university.

January 16.—Wheeling home today after travelling 3,000 miles through the eastern United States and meeting four rugged foes, 12 Kansas State College wrestlers were looking forward to their next eastern trip, scheduled to start January 24.

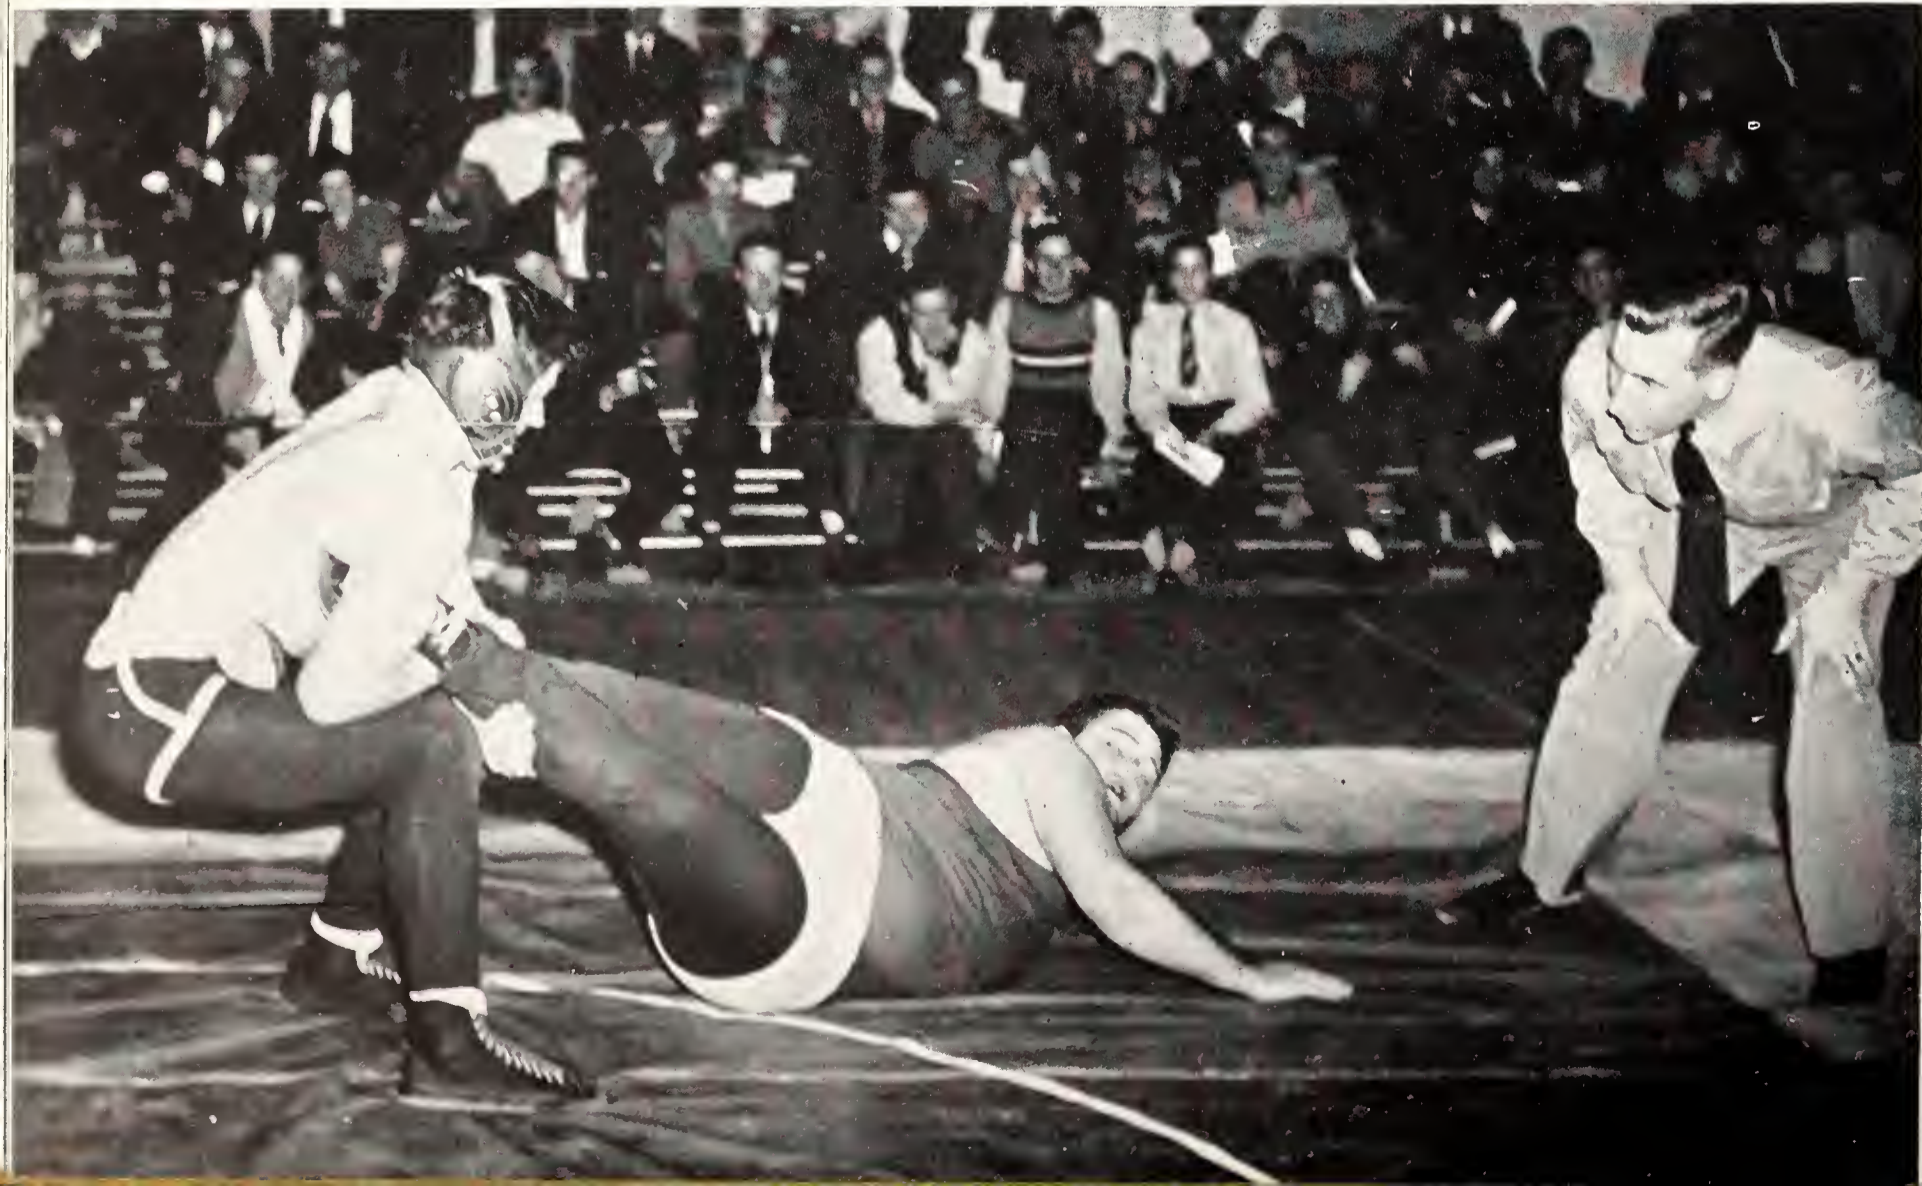

Lose to Franklin and Marshall

Kansas State lost, 6-26, to Franklin and Marshall in their first encounter on the trip just concluded, but got started against Lehigh to defeat them 20 to 8 before a gymnasium dedication crowd of 4,000 persons.

Michigan university and the Wildcats struggled to a 14-14 tie January 12 and then Kansas State was beaten by powerful Michigan State matmen, 11-17.

weeks touring the eastern and southern states on their second road trip.

Eleven happy K-Staters they were, too, for coming home with them was a record of five victories and a single defeat.

Coach Patterson's grapplers trounced Indiana 25-6 January 21 and on Saturday, three days later, handed Vanderbilt university a 32-0 shut-out shellacking.

Defeat Navy Squad

The Wildcats launched a successful attack against Maryville college of Tennessee, 29-3 and surpassed even their fondest hopes, at Annapolis, January 31, sinking the highly rated Naval Academy squad, 17-9, taking five of eight matches from the seamen.

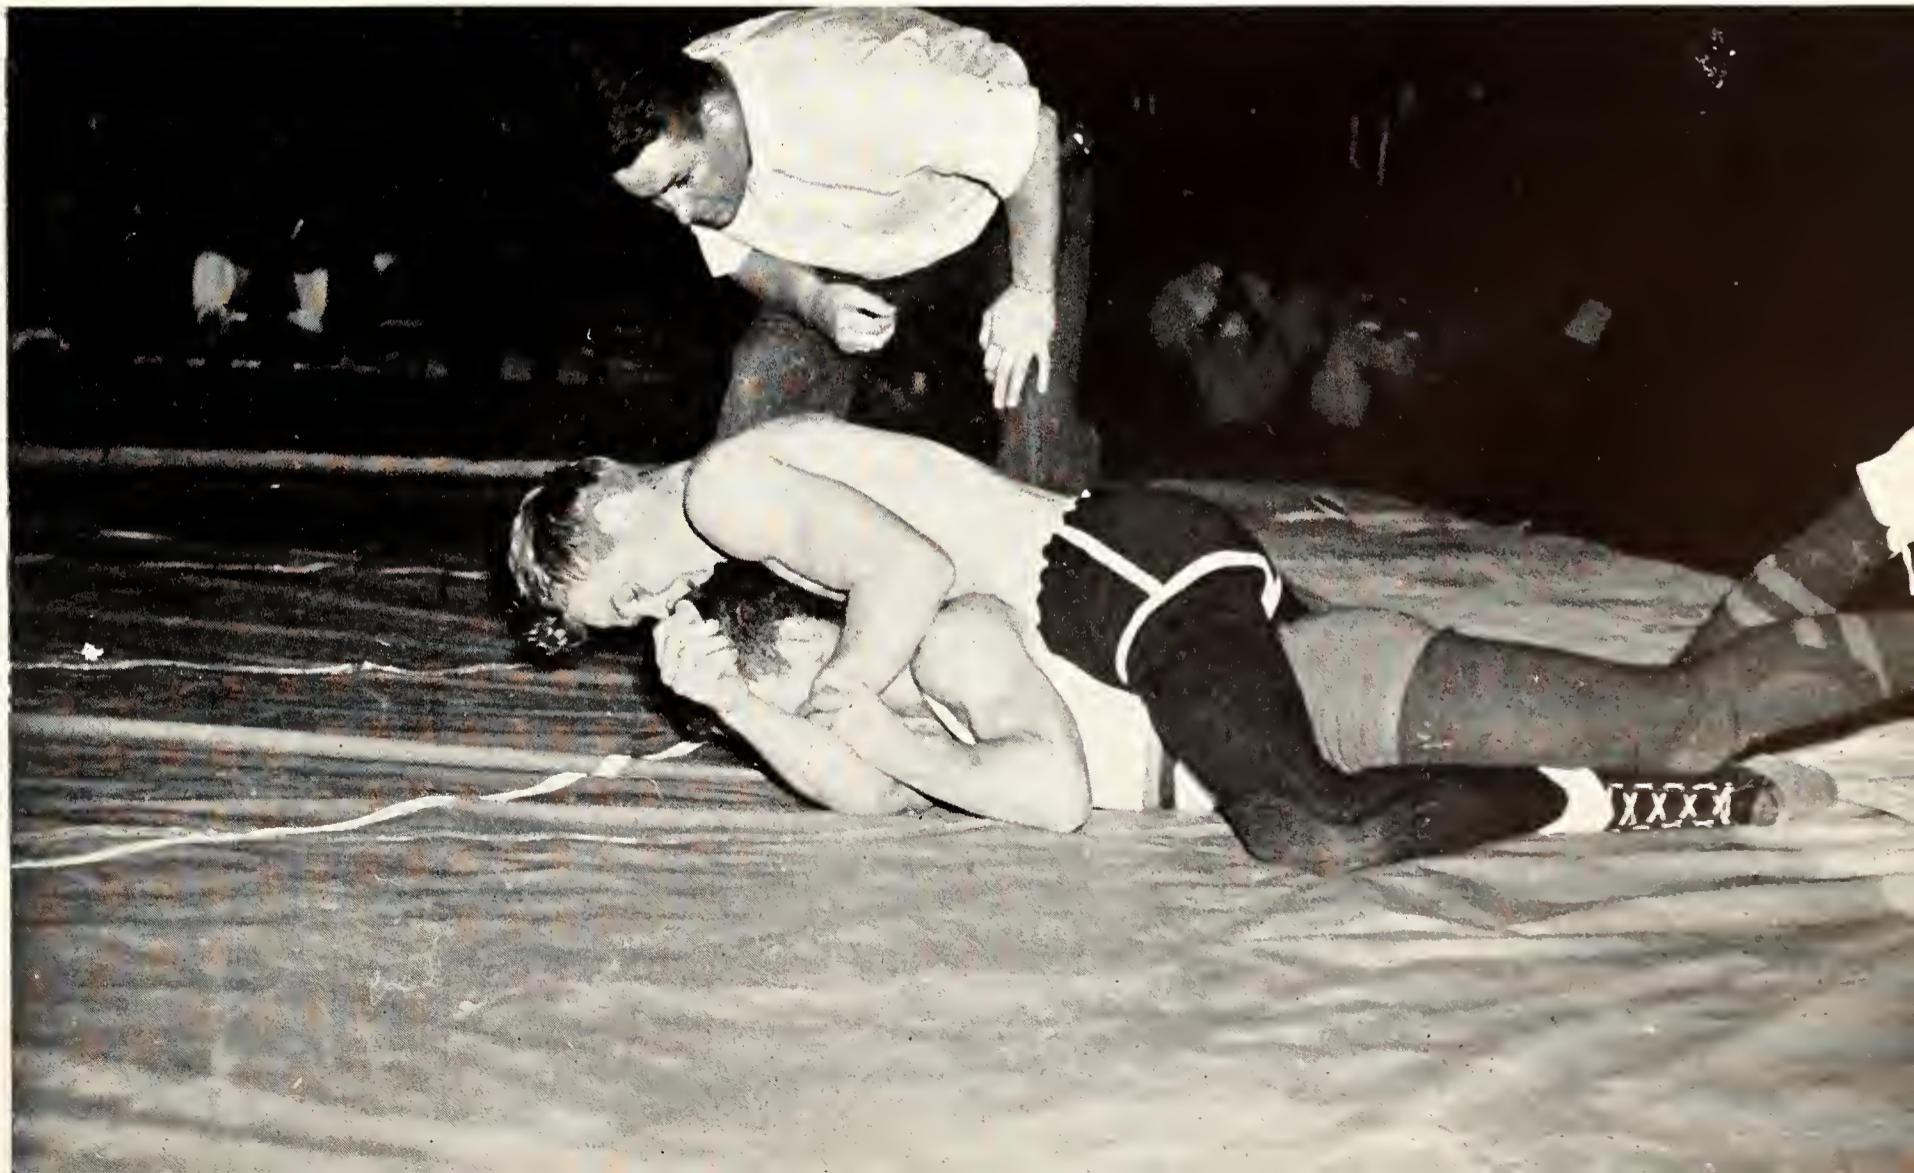

The Wildcats received their single defeat from unbeaten Virginia Military institute, 10-20 and then trounced Appalachian State, 19-6 on their way home.

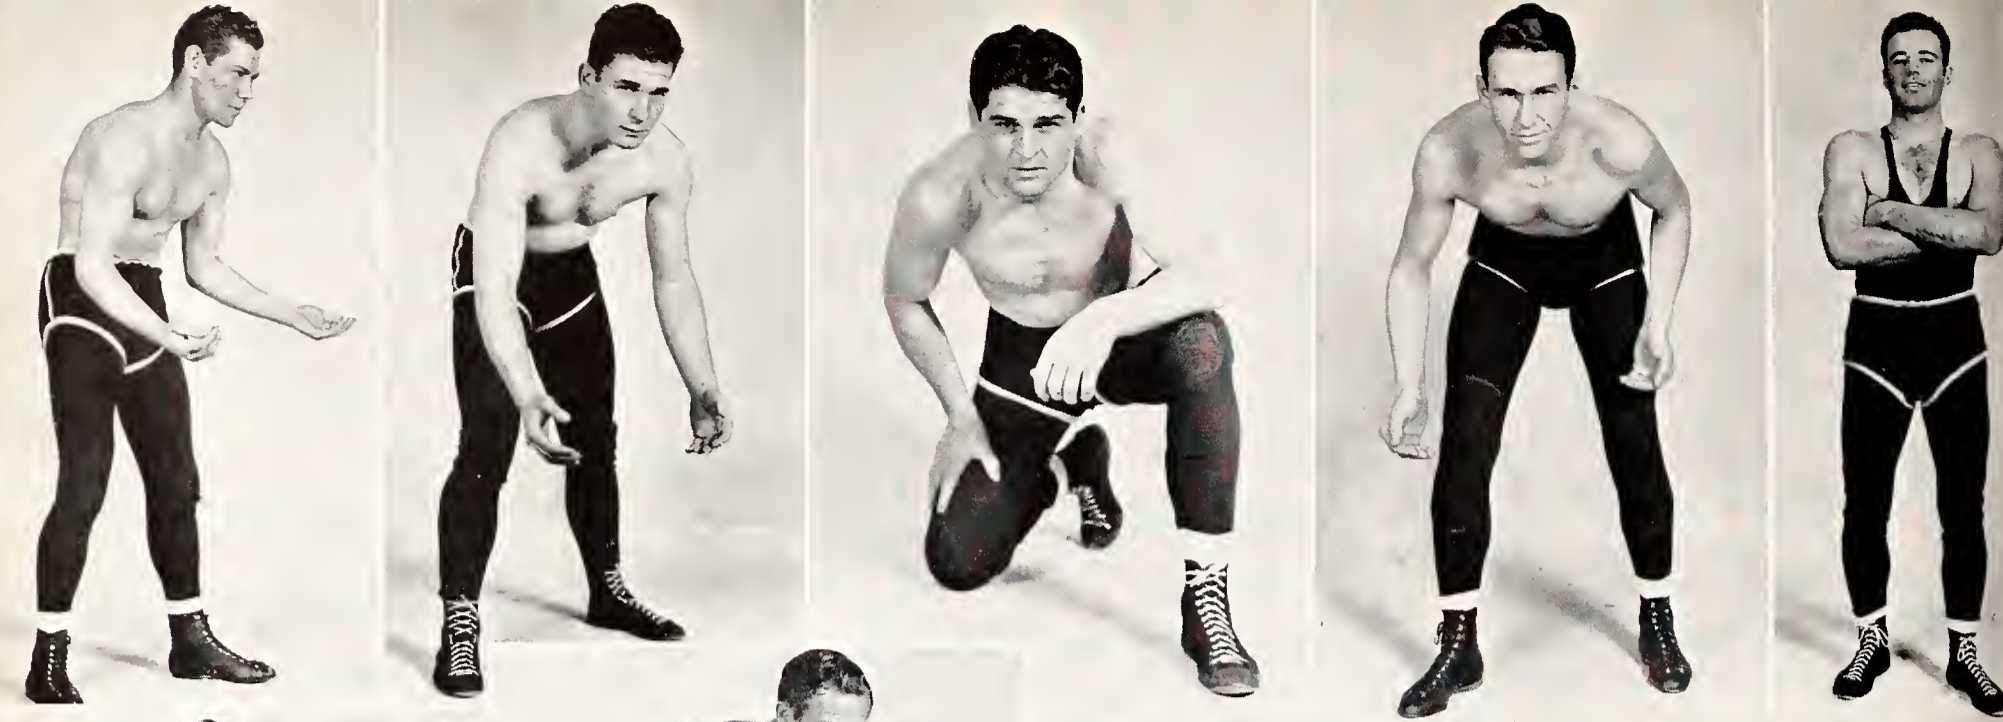

Good wrestling and hard-fought matches characterized the Wildcat mat season.

February 26. — Kansas State wrestlers dumped Nebraska university tonight, 25 to 2, after losing a match to the undefeated University of Minnesota Gophers, 9-17, earlier in the week.

March 2.—Oklahoma A. and M.'s national intercollegiate wrestling champions easily defeated Kansas State tonight, 25 to 5, to keep their perfect record intact and concluded the Wildcat's season with six victories, seven defeats and a tie.

Jerry Porter, junior, and mainstay of the squad, was mat captain.

"Greenest Club in Years" Ranks Next to Iowa State in Big Six

AMES, March 9.—Labeled by their coach, C. S. Moll, as "the greenest club in years" at the first of the semester, five sophomores and four veteran swimmers climaxed a surprising season today by claiming the runner-up spot in the Big Six meet, second only to Iowa State.

Wildcat Captain Leo Yeo stroked past his opponents in the 60 and 100 yard free styles for 12 of Kansas State's 45 points.

Norman, February 9.—After losing to the University of Illinois and the Washington university of St. Louis swimmers in early season matches, Kansas State's Wildcats showed remarkable improvement tonight, splashing easily over the Oklahoma Sooners, 59 to 25.

Captain Leo Yeo smashed two pool records, the 60 and 100 yard free styles.

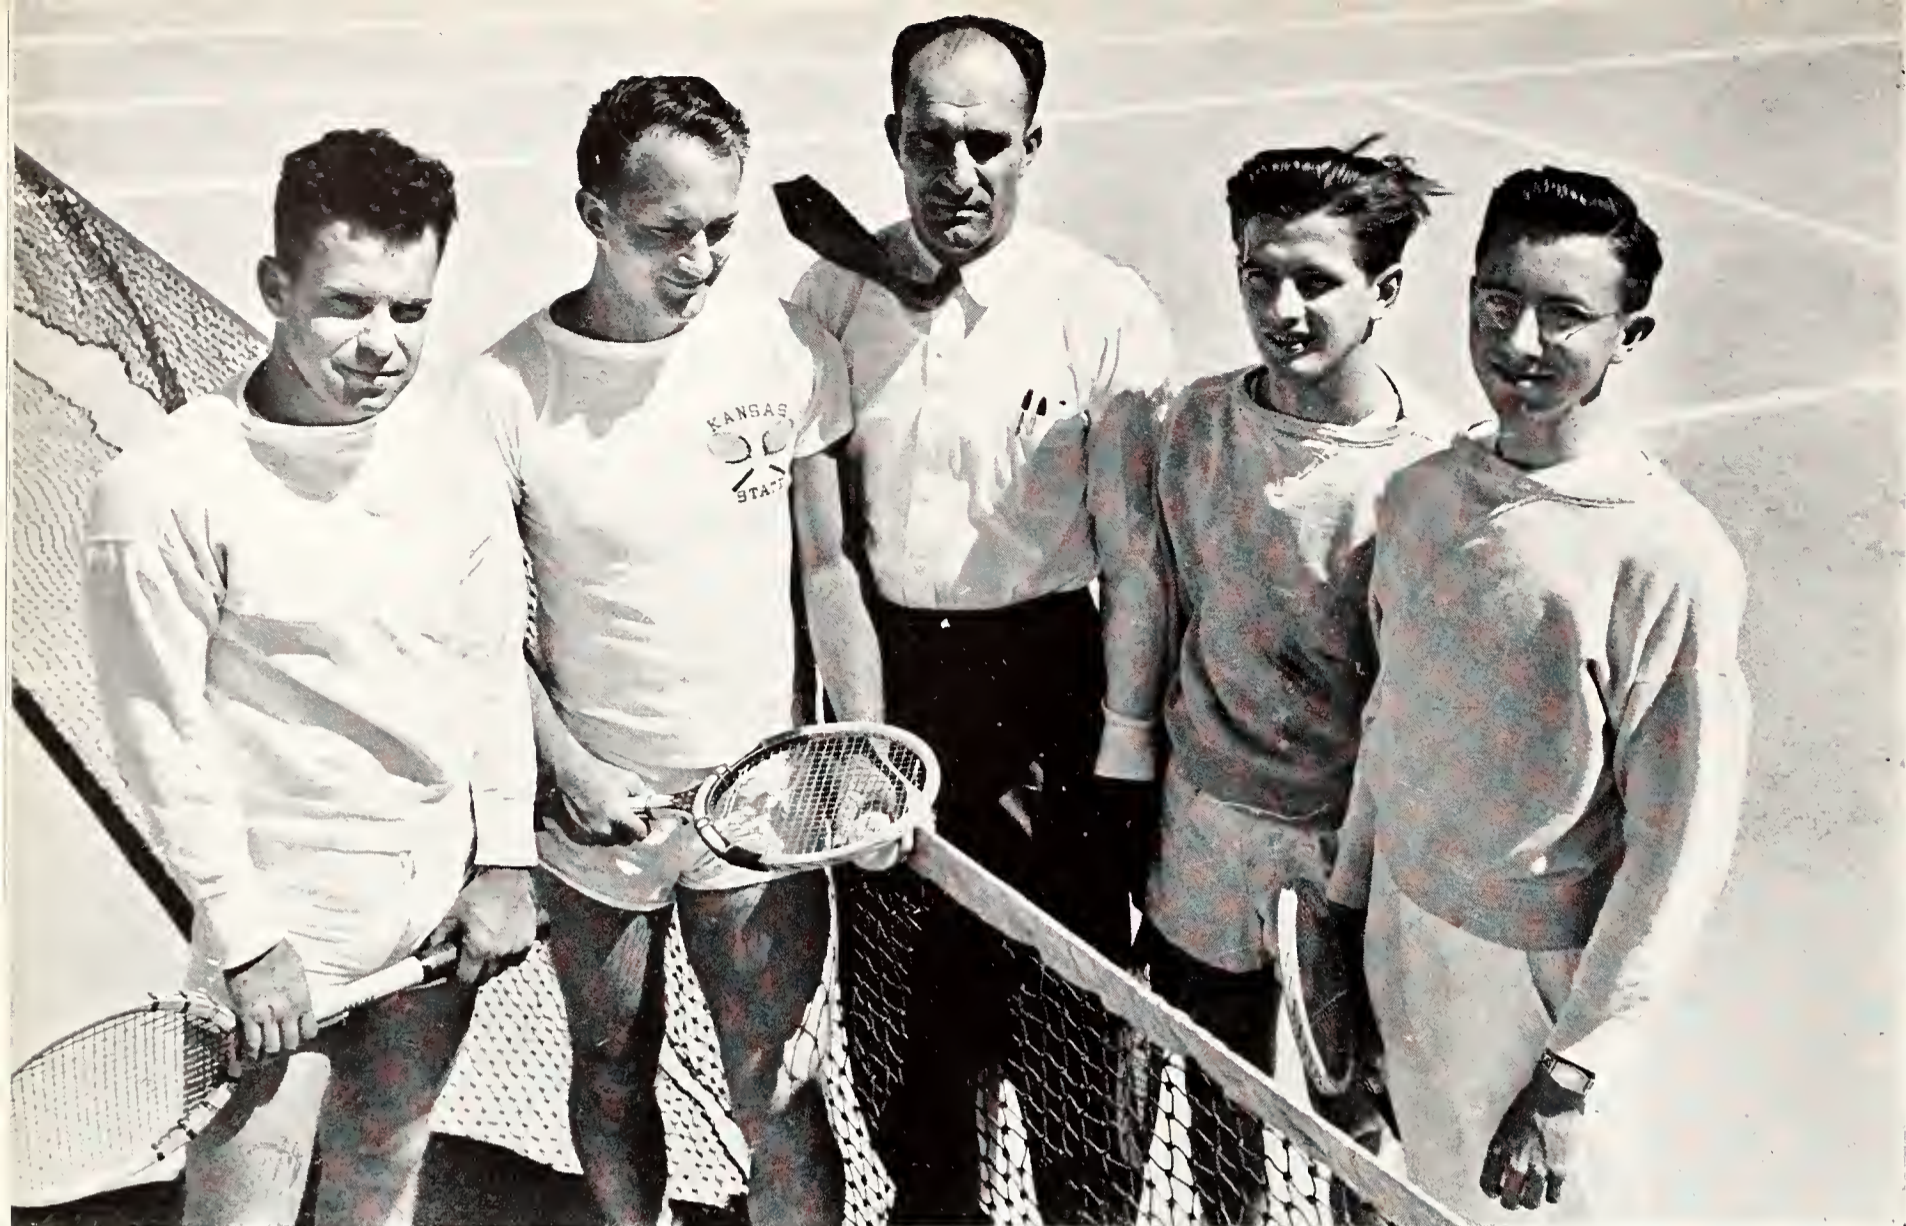

February 13.—Kansas State's tankers maintained their winning ways in the conference tonight, beating the University of Nebraska, 47 to 37, in the Wildcat pool. Sophomore Jim Leker was credited with 13 points of Kansas State's winning margin.

Ames, February 14.—K-Stater Peter Ruckman set a new record in the 200 yard breast-stroke today against Iowa State as the two teams battled to a 42-42 tie.

February 28.—Revening an earlier loss, Kansas State's swimmers toppled Washington university, 49 to 35, today in preparation for the Big Six meet.

Win Three, Lose Nine Matches To End in Conference Cellar

MAY 16, 1941.—Kansas State's tennis four-some dropped its final match to the University of Missouri Tigers, 5-1, this afternoon to complete its most dismal season in years—three victories against nine defeats and last place in the Big Six conference.

The quartet of racquet swingers making up the Wildcat club were: senior Vernon Plattner, juniors Herb Bunker and Jack Horacek, and sophomore Henry Bender.

Coached by C. S. "Cooney" Moll, the K-Staters found themselves only against non-conference foes, beating Fort Hays State twice, 5-1 and 4-2, and splitting a two-match series with Emporia State, 1-3 and 4-2.

Bad weather kept the Wildcats off the practice courts much of the spring and as a result, the top four were not in shape when the season's opener rolled around. The inexperienced Wildcats were shut out 0-6 in their first two encounters.

Monahan Gets All Five Points In Season Finale With Mizzou

MAY 16, 1941. — Sophomore Willard Monahan was credited with all of Kansas State's five points this afternoon as they lost their season finale with Missouri, 5 to 13.

Today's defeat made the record sheet read eight victories and five losses and gave Coach M. F. "Mike" Ahearn a feeling of pride for his five lettermen, Richard Gorman, Willard Monahan, Hall Milliard, Arlin Ward and James Paustian.

Oddly enough, the five defeats were to Big Six foes, putting the Wildcats in the cellar without a league victory, while K-State in turn, defeated all their non-conference enemies to establish a perfect out-of-league record.

Monahan was Wildcat medalist in six of the matches, sharing honors twice with Milliard and once with Ward. Ward was K-State medalist five times. Lowest match score was credited to Paustian, who shot a 67 over the par 70 home course in the season's opener with Washburn.

INTRAMURAL

PROF. L. P. WASHBURN leans back from his desk after directing on exciting season of intramural sports.

Fraternity, Independent Teams Play for Sports Championships

MARCH 31, 1942.—Intramural softball contests began today, climaxing the twentieth season of intra-collegiate sports at K-State. Prof. L. P. Washburn has charge of the competition and directs proceedings in 11 different athletic activities.

The intramural program is organized into two divisions, one for fraternity members and the other for independent students, and playoffs are held between the champions of each division, thus determining the winner of the all-school title.

The Delta Tau Deltas won the swimming championship and the Sigma Nus were runners-up, while the Newman club won the independent championship with the Hoodlums as runner-up.

Delts Are Champions

The Delts also won the softball championship with the Sigma Phi Epsilon team taking second place honors. The independent Whitlock Specials defeated the Streamliners and won the all-school championship from the Delts.

Alpha Gamma Rho won the outdoor track meet with Delta Tau Delta second, and the Lutheran Student association won the independent title from the House of Williams.

In touch football the Delts beat Beta Theta Pi in the fraternity division, and the Hoodlums, winners in the independent division, won from the Delts.

SEASON ENDS

Rodney Partsch, Sigma Nu, won the singles in horseshoes in the fraternity section. Joseph Mendenhall, winner in the independent division became all-school champ. In the doubles Ted Dalziel and Ted Richardson, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, lost to Marion Miller and Neal Hugos, independent.

Earl Chappell, Sig Alph, won in the fraternity section and Elmer Lutz was independent champ in golf. Lutz had a score of 77 and Chappell, 76.

In the table tennis singles Don Sollenberger, AKL, was winner and all-school champ and Dean Snow of the Streamliners won for the independents. Paul Buser and Don Davis won the doubles for the Delts and were defeated by Jack Blakely and Jacob Schwartz independents for the all-school title.

Kappa Sigs Win Basketball

The Kappa Sigs were winners for the Greeks and all school champs in basketball while the CPA's won over 23 non-Greek teams.

Again Delts Wayne Wittenberger and Warren Hornsby won the handball singles and doubles. George Sklar was the independent champ in singles with David Bendersky and Leo Shapiro taking the doubles crown.

ELMER LUTZ AND Earl Chappell were Independent and Greek golf champions, respectively.

The Delts beat the Betas in volleyball and then won from the Hoodlums for the all-school championship.

Last year's all-school winners for the final championship were the Delts with 1076½ points, while the Betas were second with 782 points. High independent team was the Lutheran Student association with 729½ points.

COEDS VIE FOR

Intramural Program Includes Ten Varied Sports Activities

MARCH 18.—Downing the Kappas by 26-9 the Tri Deltis won the intramural basketball finals tonight. Basketball is one of ten intramural sports offered to students during the school year.

Started 18 years ago the women's intramural program has grown steadily in the number of activities offered which at present include volleyball, dancing, tenniquoit, badminton, posture, basketball, table tennis, swimming, softball and tennis.

Any women in college may participate in the intramural program. The coeds are organized into 12 groups, and compete for points.

The group with the greatest number of points at the end of the last activity receives the Intramural Games plaque. The award is made at the spring intramural banquet, and the plaque becomes the permanent property of the organization winning it.

GAME PLAQUE

Points are given on the basis of the number of games played, sportsmanship, greatest number participating, greatest number of juniors and seniors, group winners and intramural winners of each activity.

Last spring the award went to Pi Beta Phi sorority for the third consecutive year.

Sorority Members Are Hostesses At Tea for Freshmen, Transfers

DECEMBER 9.—All freshmen women and women transfer students were guests of the Senior Women's Panhellenic Council this afternoon at an informal tea in Recreation Center. The tea, the first of its kind, was designed by the inter-sorority group to promote good feeling between organized and non-organized women students. Sorority members were hostesses at the tea.

The women's panhellenic organization was also the guiding genius behind the completely revised rushing system put into effect at Kansas State last fall. The new rules gave sororities one of the most satisfactory rush weeks in their history. The council has spent many weeks remedying the flaws in the new plans and expects to have the system perfected as nearly as possible by next rush week.

Other projects of the Women's Panhellenic Council this year were the annual issuing of a pamphlet explaining the sorority system to potential rushees and the sponsorship of inter-fraternity sing in the spring.

An innovation this year was the establishment of a junior Women's Panhellenic Council. Members are Harriet Harbeck, Betty Lou Welsh, Marilyn Kirk, Jeanne Elmer, Emily Jean Theye, Rachel Griffin, Lillian Hoover, Harriet Holt and Alice Gillespie.

Mary Griswold was president of the panhellenic council this year. Other members were:

Sorority Finishes Rush Week With Largest Class on Campus

SEPTEMBER 5.—Women's rush week closed today with Alpha Delta Pi sorority taking the largest pledge class, 19 women. Later in the fall second places in both dancing and volleyball intramurals were won by the Alpha Deltas.

Along social lines the A D Pi's breakfasted and danced at their unique Washington birthday party, which featured patriotic decorations.

In the activity swing was diamond wearer Barbara Bouck, who appeared in two Manhattan Theater productions, "The Male Animal" and "Double Doors." Pledges Catherine Savage, Ernestine Baker and Grace Jordan were also active in Manhattan theater shows.

Outstanding members of Alpha Delta Pi are Anne Weeks, Ag Barnwarmer princess, Ann Ford, member of Pi Kappa Delta, honorary debate fraternity, and Barbara Campbell, member of Phi Alpha Mu, honorary general science organization.

Alpha Xi's Decorate Chapter House as Cathedral for Dance

DECEMBER 13.—The exterior of the Alpha Xi Delta sorority house was transformed tonight into a cathedral, carrying out the theme of the decorations for the chapter Christmas party. Buffet suppers, a Hallowe'en party and jam sessions were also among things social at the Alpha Xi house.

Known over the campus are Alpha Xis Edith Dawley, editor of the Betty Lamp, home economics publication; Betty Smith, president of Orchesis, and sorority Prexy Virginia Delano, member of Phi Alpha Mu.

Alpha Xi Delta was established first at Lombard college, Galesburg, Ill., in 1893. The Kansas State chapter, chartered in 1922, is one of 56 active chapters of the sorority.

Presiding over the girls who wear the quill were Virginia Delano, president; Jacqueline Eidson, vice-president; Margaret Dickhut, secretary; Evelyn Dannar, treasurer, and Virginia Lee Green, pan-hellenic representative. Mrs. Golda Brann is house-mother to the Alpha Xis, who live in the newest sorority house on the campus. Miss Dorothy Barfoot is faculty advisor.

CHI O'S GET QUEENSHIPS

Sperry Wins Homecoming Title, Hathorn Reigns at Barnwarmer

NOVEMBER 1.—To Barbara Sperry this afternoon went the title of Homecoming queen and an armful of flowers presented to her by Governor Payne Ratner.

Social honors did not stop here for the Chi Omega sorority, as Betty Hathorn was crowned Ag Barnwarmer queen and Mary Griswold, as well as being president of YWCA and Women's Panhellenic, was honorary cadet major reigning at the annual Military ball.

Among the outstanding girls of the sorority was Marje Rogers, editor of the Royal Purple, named in Collegiate Who's Who, Phi Kappa Phi member and president of Quill club.

CHI O'S AND dates drink cakes and talk it over during a Saturday afternoon jam session.

Other Chi O activity girls include Mary Marjorie Willis, president of Pi Kappa Delta and secretary of Dynamis, and Nan Sperry, secretary of the Purple Pepsters and Enchiladas president-elect.

The chapter house is the scene of frequent Saturday afternoon jam sessions and early morning "Owl hoots" as Chi O's gather in the lounge to entertain guests with songs of the X and Horseshoe.

Hostesses at Priority Prom

The Chi Omegas were hostesses at the vividly different priority prom late in January. Officers of the sorority were Lucille Elmore, president; Winifred Boomer, secretary; Marian Boomer, vice-president; Geneie Keller, treasurer, and Nan Sperry, panhellenic representative. Mrs. P. J. Groody is the sorority's housemother.

Chi Omega was established on Kansas State's campus on September 22, 1915, and is one of the 96 chapters of the national organization, founded in Fayetteville, Ark., on April 5, 1895.

CLOVIA HAS BIRTHDAY

Tenth Anniversary Celebrated By Sorority Founded at K.S.C.

SEPTEMBER 4.—Clovia sorority celebrated its tenth anniversary today, having been organized on the Kansas State campus September 4, 1931. A second chapter has since been established in Minnesota.

Clovia maintains a cooperative house composed of girls who have been former 4-H club members. The organization is closely related to the state 4-H club work, having M. H. Coe and Mary Elsie Border, prominent 4-H leaders, as faculty advisors.

Clovia members outstanding in campus activities include Rachael Wagaman, Phi Kappa Phi member and Omicron Nu president. Mary Evelyn Nielson represents Clovia in Mortar Board. Betty Hutchinson is another Omicron Nu member, and is secretary of the Collegiate 4-H club. Ocie Alice Taylor was a member of the women's meat judging team this year, and is an Enchiladas officer.

Give Patriotic Party

Clovias joined the defense bandwagon to stage a "Patriot Prom" late in February. Decorations were carried out in red, white and blue, flags and shields draping the bandstand. Numerous other social activities and house dances were on the Clovia calendar.

Officers of Clovia this year were Ocie Alice Taylor, president; Rachael Wagaman, vice-president; Betty Hutchinson, secretary; Marguerite Stagg, house manager, and Jeanne Stephenson, panhellenic representative. Mrs. George W. Farmer is housemother to the girls who wear the bow and arrow.

TRI DELT PLEDGE IS QUEEN

Evelyn Stockwell Is Chosen by Busse to Rule Over Beauty Ball

NOVEMBER 11.—Smiling and poised, Evelyn Stockwell, Delta Delta Delta, reigned tonight as queen of Kansas State beauties. Miss Stockwell was picked from 23 candidates by band leader Henry Busse, here for the Royal Purple Beauty ball.

Sharing Tri Delt honors for queenships was Janet Austin, southern accented belle who captured second place honors in the Homecoming queen contest.

Activity girls at the Delta Delta Delta house are Mary Morris, president of Phi Alpha Mu, honorary general science organization, and secretary of Theta Sigma Phi, journalism society; Marcene Brose, president of Women's Athletic association, and Lucille Smith, secretary of W.A.A. and captain of the girls' rifle team.

Tea Dances Are Popular

Popular with the Tri Delt and their guests are the frequent afternoon tea dances given by the sorority. The fall sport party featured autumn decorations.

Ruling the crescent wearers this year were Pat Potter, president; June Light, vice-president; Dorothy Ratliff, secretary; Marian Penley, treasurer, and Margaret Mack, panhellenic representative. Mrs. J. W. Skinner is chapter advisor, and Mrs. Henry Pehling is housemother.

Delta Delta Delta had its founding at Boston university on Thanksgiving eve, 1888. Since that time 87 active chapters have been established. The Kansas State Chapter was chartered in 1915.

Sorority, Fraternity Heads Entertained at "Coke" Party

SEPTEMBER 24. — Members of Kappa Delta sorority today entertained all sorority and fraternity presidents at an informal afternoon "coke" party. It is planned that the event be an annual one.

Founded in the South

A sorority born in the deep south is Kappa Delta, whose first chapter was established at Farmville, Va., in 1897. Sigma Gamma chapter was chartered at Kansas State in 1920.

Early in December Kappa Delta members entertained their dates at the "Kasino Delmar," a semi-formal party at the chapter house. Decorations were red and blue, and principal feature of the evening was a floor show—regular "kasino" style.

Throughout the year Kappa Delts entertained frequently with buffet suppers, house dances and exchange dinners. An open house dance was given after the Homecoming game in honor of visiting Nebraska members.

Have Tea for Housemother

Mrs. Ada Dix came from California last fall to begin her career as housemother to Kappa Deltas. The sorority gave a tea in her honor in September.

Kappa Delta chapter officers were Beth Sirridge, president; Margaret McCutchan, vice-president and panhellenic representative; Betty McLeod, secretary, and Rachel Griffin, treasurer. Mrs. A. A. Holtz is chapter advisor.

MODERNISM IS THEME

Annual Kappa Christmas Party Features Cabaret Atmosphere

DECEMBER 5.— In a cabaret atmosphere of cigarette girls and black and white modern decorations, Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority members entertained dates at their annual fall party this evening.

However, social activities of the sorority took a back seat when the KKG's went after and won the posture contest and got to the finals in volleyball intramurals.

Faye Clapp was a member of Student Council, headed the advertising staff of the Royal Purple and was a member of Prix.

The Gamma Alpha chapter of Kappa Kappa Gamma was established at Kansas State on September 23, 1916. Founded in 1870 at Monmouth, Ill., the sorority now has 74 active chapters.

Clara Jane Billingsley was president of the chapter while Jo Ann Schmidt was secretary. Mary Pauline Feder served as vice-president, and Margery Lawrence was treasurer. The housemother of the chapter is Mrs. Margaret Perkins.

PI BETA PHI WINS TROPHY

Sorority Is Awarded Intramural Cup for Third Consecutive Year

MAY 15, 1941.—Pi Beta Phi was awarded the intramural plaque tonight for the third consecutive year. The sorority also won the city scholarship cup for the year.

Pi Phi queens were plentiful, Shirley Shaver winning laurels as first attendant to the Kansas City American Royal queen. Roberta Townley was a Royal Purple beauty queen, Ruth Weigand was chosen an honorary cadet major, and Virginia Gemmell won the hearts of the ags to be voted an Ag Barnwarmer princess.

Have Many Activities

Activity-ing Pi Phis included Jane Haymaker, Mortar Board and Student Council member and senior class secretary; Mary Margaret Arnold, first semester Collegian editor and Prix member, and Patricia Townley, junior class secretary and member of Prix.

Outstanding scholastically was Pi Phi Emma Lou Thomas, who received the Mortar Board plaque for having the highest grades of any freshman woman. Seven Pi Beta Phis are members of Dynamis, all-school honorary. Three are members of Prix, junior women's honorary organization.

Since its founding at Monmouth, Ill., in 1867, Pi Beta Phi has established 83 active chapters. Kansas Beta Chapter received its charter in 1915.

Officiating over the wearers of the golden arrow this year were Patricia Townley, president; Betty Boone, vice-president; Betty Ann Faubion, secretary; Carol Stevenson, treasurer, and Shirley Shaver, panhellenic representative. Mrs. R. W. Torrey is housemother, and Mrs. E. L. Holton is the chapter advisor.

FRATERNITY GROUPS PROMOTE

Three Organizations Determine Policies, Promote Friendships

JANUARY 29.—Scarab, an honorary society for senior men, gave a dinner dance tonight in the Wareham hotel. Organized to promote good fellowship among the different fraternities, Scarab initiates only upperclass actives.

This social group elects one man each semester from the fraternities with the requirement that he must be prominent in campus activities as well as interested in political undertakings.

Officers of Scarab first semester were president, Dutch Schulze; Fred Jones, vice-president, and Pat Sauble, secretary-treasurer.

Pax, junior organization to Scarab, promotes interfraternity friendship and associations. Membership in this group is limited to two junior men from each fraternity.

This year's officers of Pax include Kalo Hineman, president; Tom Martin, vice-president; Roger Coffman, secretary-treasurer, and Don Bowers, marshal.

Both organizations aid the Interfraternity Council at election time.

GOVERNMENT AND GOODWILL

NOVEMBER 1.—Homecoming, one of the most colorful weekends at Kansas State College, was ushered in today with the traditional outdoor displays by fraternity houses. Bob Nabours, in charge of ceremonies, presented the winner of the decorations contest with a cup during the half.

Officers of this year's interfraternity council are Jack Warner, president; Leonard Hoover, vice-president, and Don Kortman, secretary-treasurer.

ACACIAS HAVE INDIAN PARTY

Pledges Plan Annual Pow Wow, Social Highlight of the Year

NOVEMBER 22.—Big chief Wahoo and his fellow redskins took over the Acacia fraternity house tonight for the Indian Pow Wow. Appropriate costumes and decorations combined to give the occasion a spirit of pioneer-day hilarity. Contrary to custom, pledges were this year responsible for the annual party.

Also important in the Acacia social calendar this year were the George Washington breakfast in February, the Founder's day banquet in May and the spring formal. Saturday night house dances were frequent, especially in the fall months. An annual social event of Acacias is a stag dinner with members of Phi Kappa fraternity.

Porter Is Class Officer

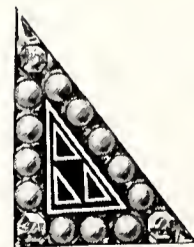

Outstanding in political circles was versatile Acacia member Jerald Porter, member of the Kansas State wrestling team who served as vice-president of the junior class.

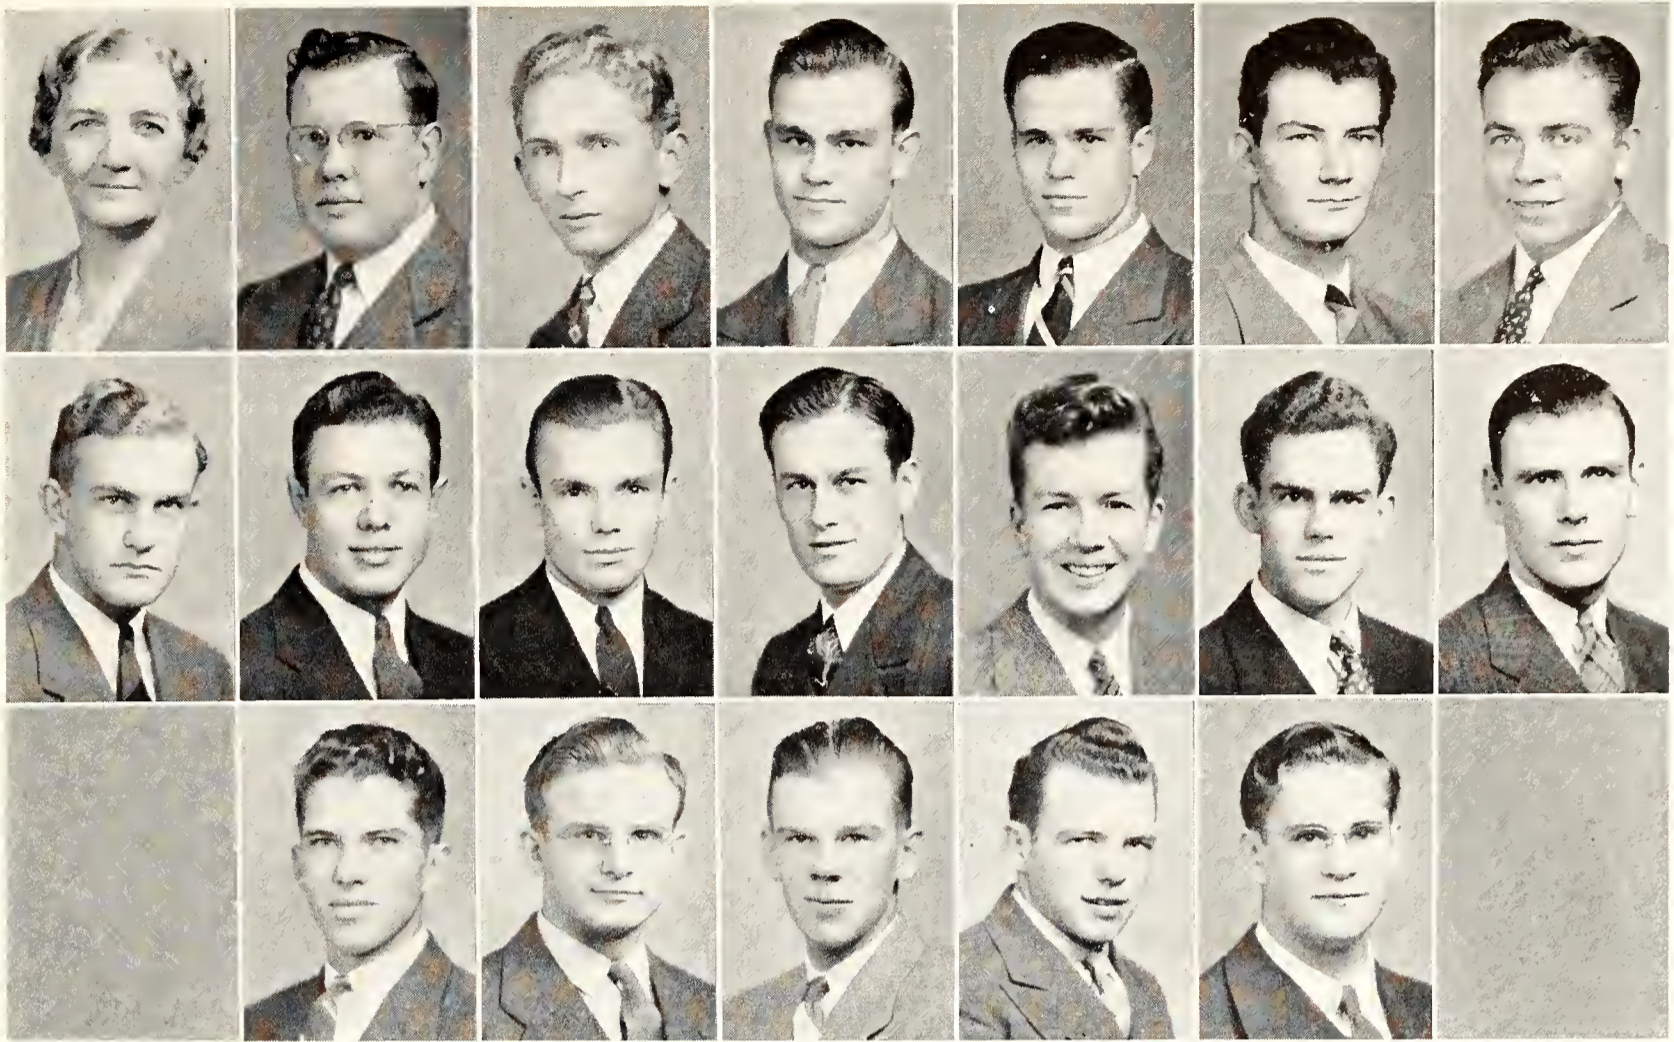

Acacia fraternity was founded in 1904 at Ann Arbor, Mich., as a national college society for Masons. The local chapter, established in 1913, dropped Masonic requirements for membership in 1933. There are now 27 active chapters of the fraternity. Acacia members wear a triangular jeweled badge, and are represented instead of by Greek letters, by a Greek name.

Peycke Is President

Officers of the Kansas State Acacia chapter this year were Bill Peycke, president; Darrell Bozarth, vice-president; Gordon Boy, secretary; Jerry Porter, treasurer; Harold Keltner, Interfraternity council representative. Chapter advisor is V. D. Foltz, and housemother is Mrs. Ella Lyles.

Acacias boast an imposing roll of faculty alumni. R. J. Barnett, W. R. Brackett, L. D. Bushnell, L. H. Drayer, Kenney L. Ford, R. F. Gingrich, H. T. Hill, R. A. Seaton, J. T. Willard, and C. V. Williams are among the wearers of the Acacia pin.

A. K. L.'S GIVE PARTIES

Many Social Events Listed On Fraternity's Calendar

DECEMBER 10. — Members of Alpha Kappa Lambda entertained their honorary alumni tonight at their annual smoker. Besides parties of this type and frequent house dances, AKL's list among their social activities numerous exchange dinners, an annual spring formal and a Christmas party.

THESE AKL's like the wall decoration . . . (Bottom) a few of the boys kill time before the dinner gong rings.

AKL's were also athletically inclined; capturing the runner-up position in inter-fraternity basketball competition. As Kappa Sigma won the final game, Alpha Kappa Lambdas were their hosts at an inter-fraternity party.

Many Are Active

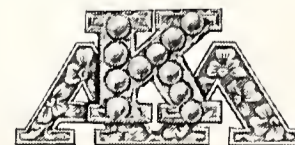

Also active in campus affairs are AKL's Alvin Acker, Pi Tau Sigma and A.S.M.E. member; Warren Nelson, listed on the Ag division honor roll, a member of the Who's Whoot staff, the YMCA cabinet, and the Ag Ec club, and Lloyd Smith, member of A.S.M.E. who received freshman Phi Kappa Phi recognition.

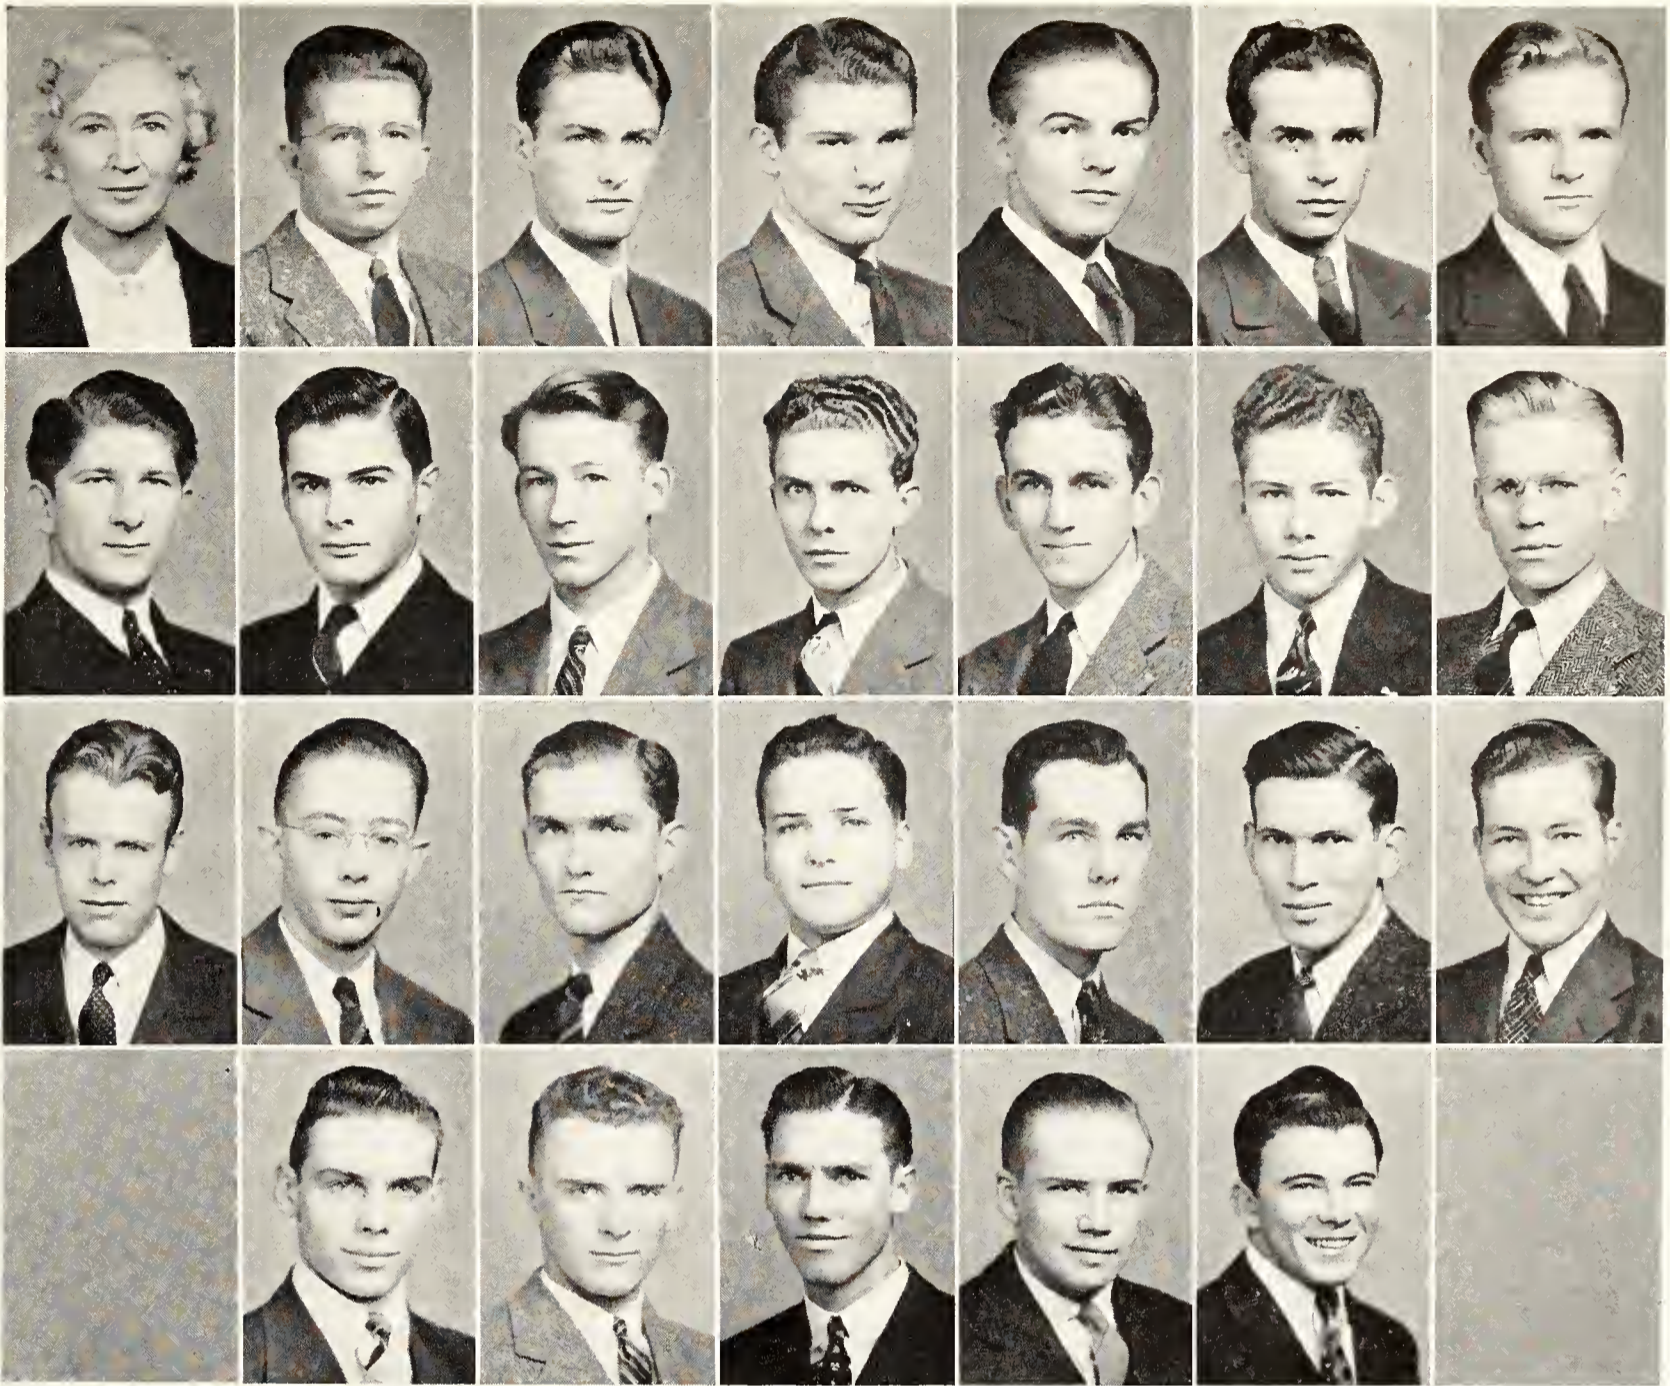

California university was the birthplace of Alpha Kappa Lambda. Since its founding there in 1914, the fraternity has established eight active chapters. Iota chapter was founded on the Kansas State campus in 1930.

Chapter officers were Howard Anderson, president; Lloyd Smith, vice-president; Warren Nelson, secretary; Robert Anderson, treasurer and Interfraternity council representative. Mrs. Helen McCarroll is housemother, and James P. Chapman is chapter advisor.

BETA PIG IS TRADITION

Fraternity Dance Is One of K-State's Social Highlights

FEBRUARY 7.—Beta sweethearts carried on the annual "pig-kissing" tradition tonight and were entertained at the annual "Pig" dinner. Beta loving cups were given as favors.

Another highlight in the Beta Theta Pi social year was the annual Beta-Phi Delt Biad, held here in the fall.

Betas also made their mark in the intramural field this year, winning the bowling tournament early in January.

Prominent in campus affairs were Betas Ethan Potter, Blue Key member, and David Lupfer, president of the Kansas State chapter of the American Society of Chemical Engineers. Potter and Ken Brown are members of Alpha Zeta.

Founded at Miami U.

Beta Theta Pi had its beginnings at Miami university in 1839 and has since grown to a national organization of 90 chapters. Gamma Epsilon chapter, installed at Kansas State in 1914, was the outgrowth of the Sphinx club, later Tau Omega Sigma. The original local was established in 1901.

Officiating at the Beta house this year were Eldon Sechler, president; Ethan Potter, vice-president; Robert Schreiber, secretary; Tom Westmacott, treasurer, and Robert Floersch, Interfraternity council representative. R. M. Seaton is chapter advisor, and Mrs. A. W. Cochrane is housemother.

Faculty members wearing the "diamond and three stars" are Dr. H. H. King, Dr. M. W. Husband, Dr. C. W. Campbell, William Fitch and Amison Jonnard.

DELT DISPLAY WINS PRIZE

Fraternity Captures First Place With Homecoming Decorations

NOVEMBER 1. — Delta Tau Delta fraternity, with its exhibit of a gigantic Wildcat beheading a small football player with an ear of corn for a head, won first prize in the Homecoming decorations contest today.

Delts stayed out in front this year in the social ranks with their frequent house dances and buffet suppers. A paddle party and Christmas dance were also major events on the Delt calendar.

Prominent on the athletic field were Delt basketball stars Jack Horacek and John St. John, Big Six batting champion Warren Hornsby, and Ridge Scott and Harold Kalousek, swimmers.

Founded in the South

Delta Tau Delta was established at Bethany college in Virginia in 1859. Gamma Chi chapter was installed at Kansas State in 1919.

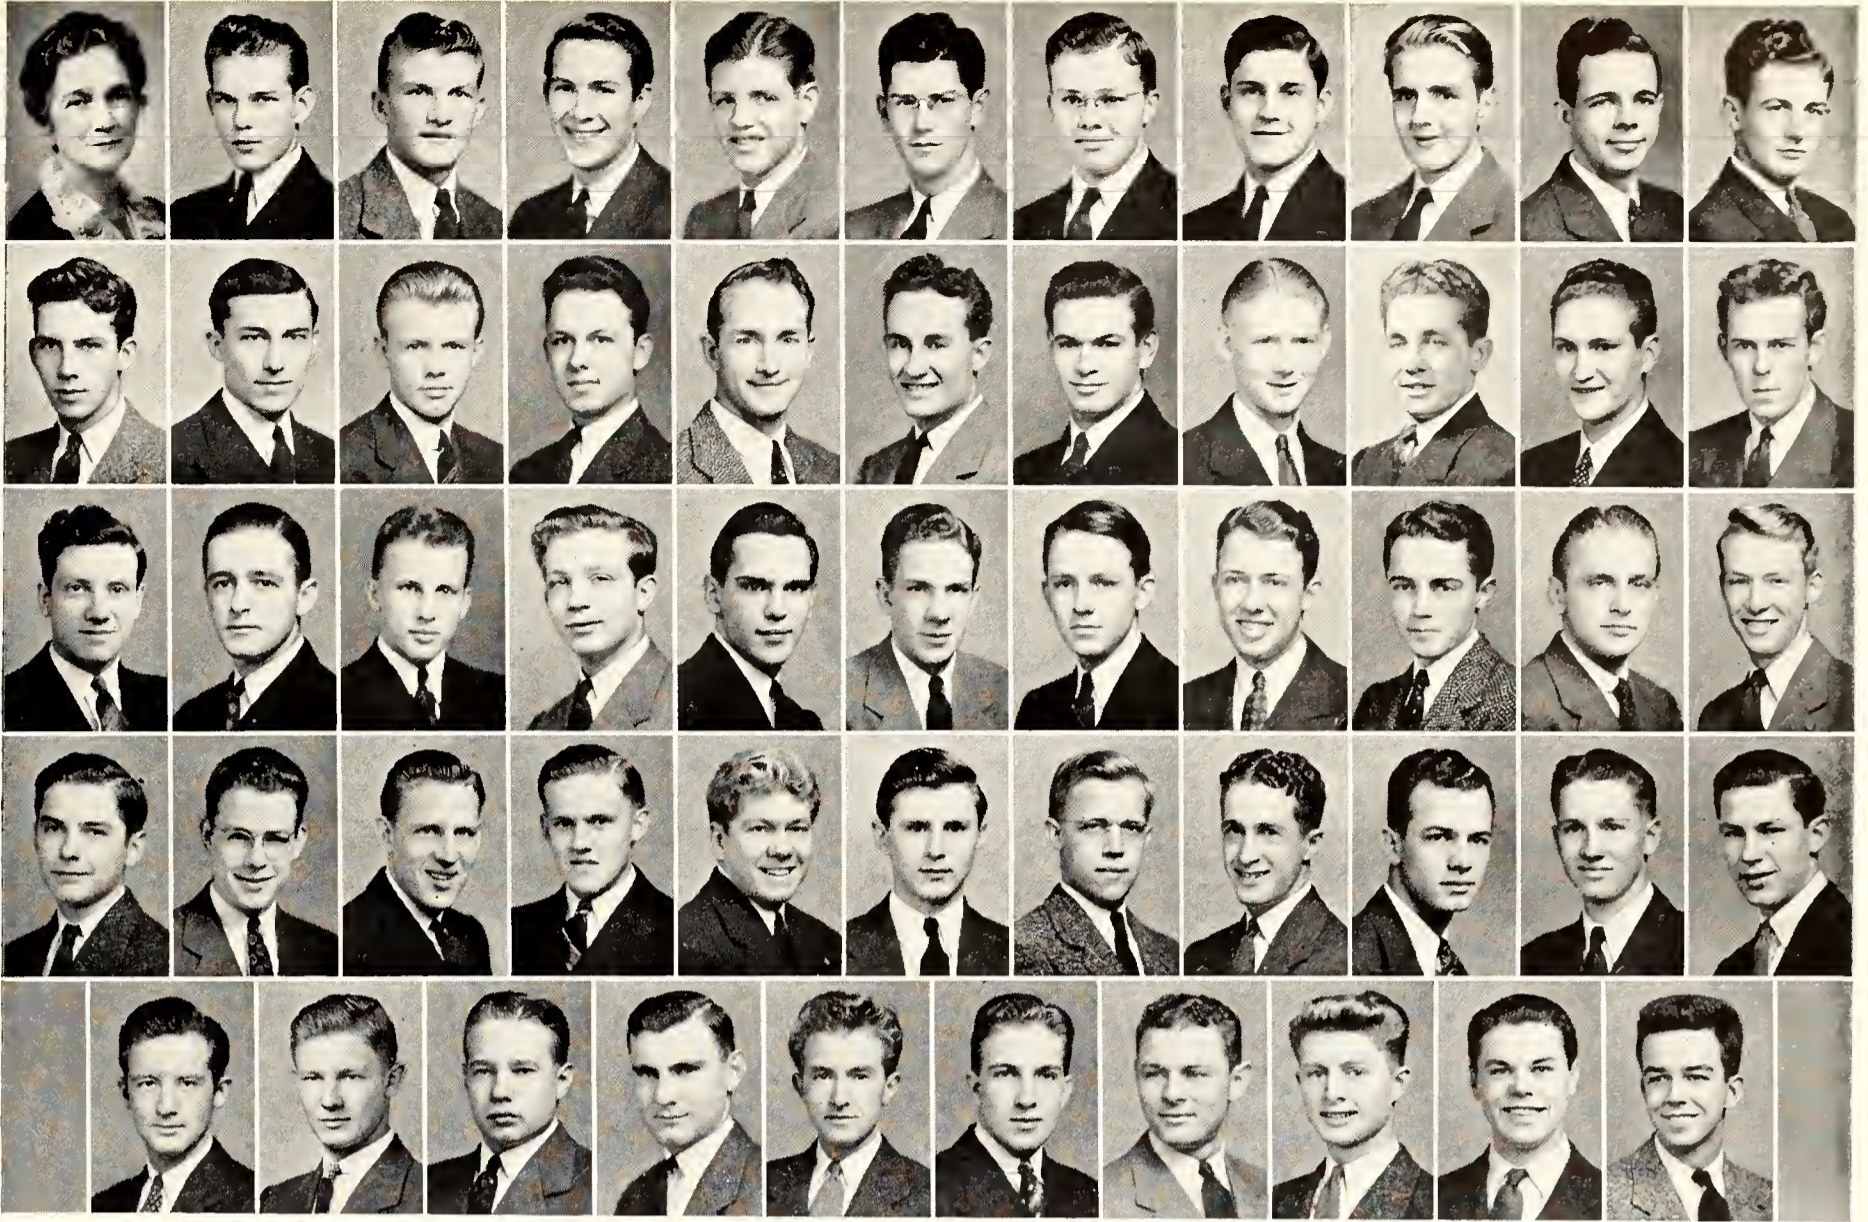

Delt officers this year were Warren Hornsby, president; Wayne Wittenberger, vice-president; Richard Parker, secretary; Barney Limes, treasurer, and Leonard Hoover, Interfraternity council representative. Dean L. E. Call is advisor to the Delts, and Mrs. Rachel Davis was their housemother.

Pres. F. D. Farrell, Dean Call, and O. L. "Chili" Cochrane are alumni of the fraternity.

FARM HOUSE WINS HONORS

Fraternity Tops All Others In Scholastic Achievements

SEPTEMBER 5.—Farm House fraternity yesterday again topped all other social fraternities to take first place in scholarship for 1940-41. Farm House has placed first in its group in scholarship in 19 of the last 20 semesters.

Helping to uphold the scholastic tradition are the many Farm House members in honorary organizations. Members of Alpha Zeta, honorary agricultural society, are Conrad Jackson, Joe Jagger, Donald Wood, Edward Reed, Roger Murphy, Leonard Deets, Leigh Hines, Robert Wagner, Howard Carnahan, Robert Randle and Edward Buss.

Robert Wagner, Farm House president and editor of the Agricultural Student, was chosen for Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges for 1941-42.

Farm House fraternity had its beginnings at Missouri University in 1905. Since that time eight active chapters have been established, the Kansas State chapter having its founding in 1921.

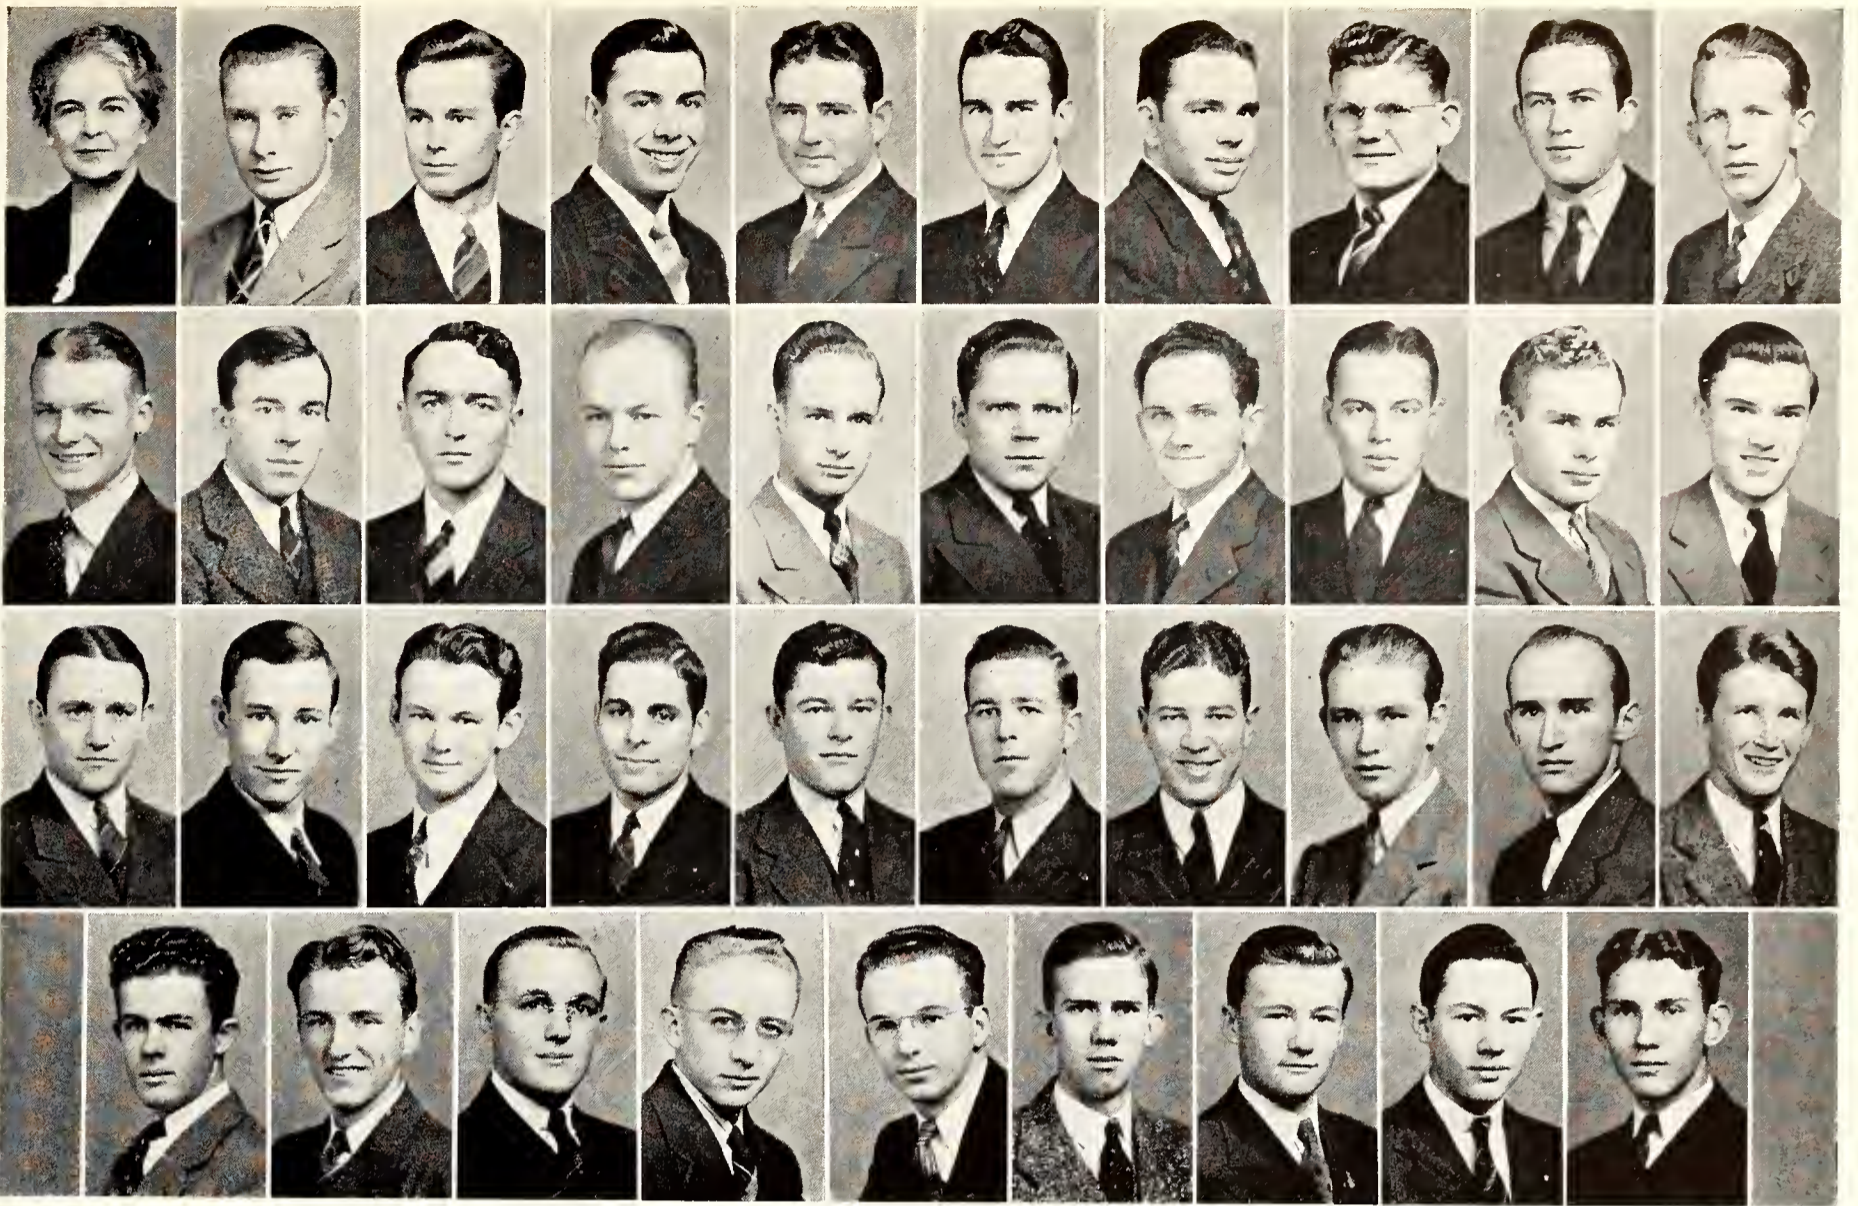

Fraternity officers were Robert Wagner, president; Glenn Shriver, vice-president; Conrad Jackson, secretary; Roger Murphy, treasurer; Keith Thompson, Interfraternity council representative. Mrs. E. L. Taylor is housemother, and Prof. C. D. Davis is chapter adviser.

KAPPA SIGS WIN AGAIN

Defeat Teams to Capture Intramural Basketball Title

JANUARY 12. — For the second straight year Kappa Sigs tonight won the intramural basketball championship, defeating the Alpha Kappa Lambda team 36-20.

Pride and joy of Kappa Sigma in the athletic world is John Hancock, outstanding varsity football center. Hancock and Kappa Sig Prexy Pierce Wheatley were chosen for listing in "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges." Wheatley is a member of Blue Key and was first semester president of Interfraternity council.

KAPPA SIGS AND guests mug in grand style at the "Red Dog Inn," while (bottom) Pierce Wheatley lets the brothers in on a new basketball play to help them win the intramural championship.

"Black and White" Is Traditional

Outstanding social event of the Kappa Sig year is the traditional black and white party, featuring black and white decorations, and to which guests come dressed in black or white. Also traditional with Kansas State Kappa Sigs is the annual "Red Dog Inn," a costume party held at the chapter house. The event was altered somewhat this year from its usual cowboy theme, and admitted only "Li'l Abners" and "Daisy Maes." The annual "pig" dinner for alumni is another high spot of the Kappa Sig year.

Kappa Sigma was founded in 1869 at the University of Virginia, and now lists 109 active chapters on its rolls. The local chapter received its charter in 1919.

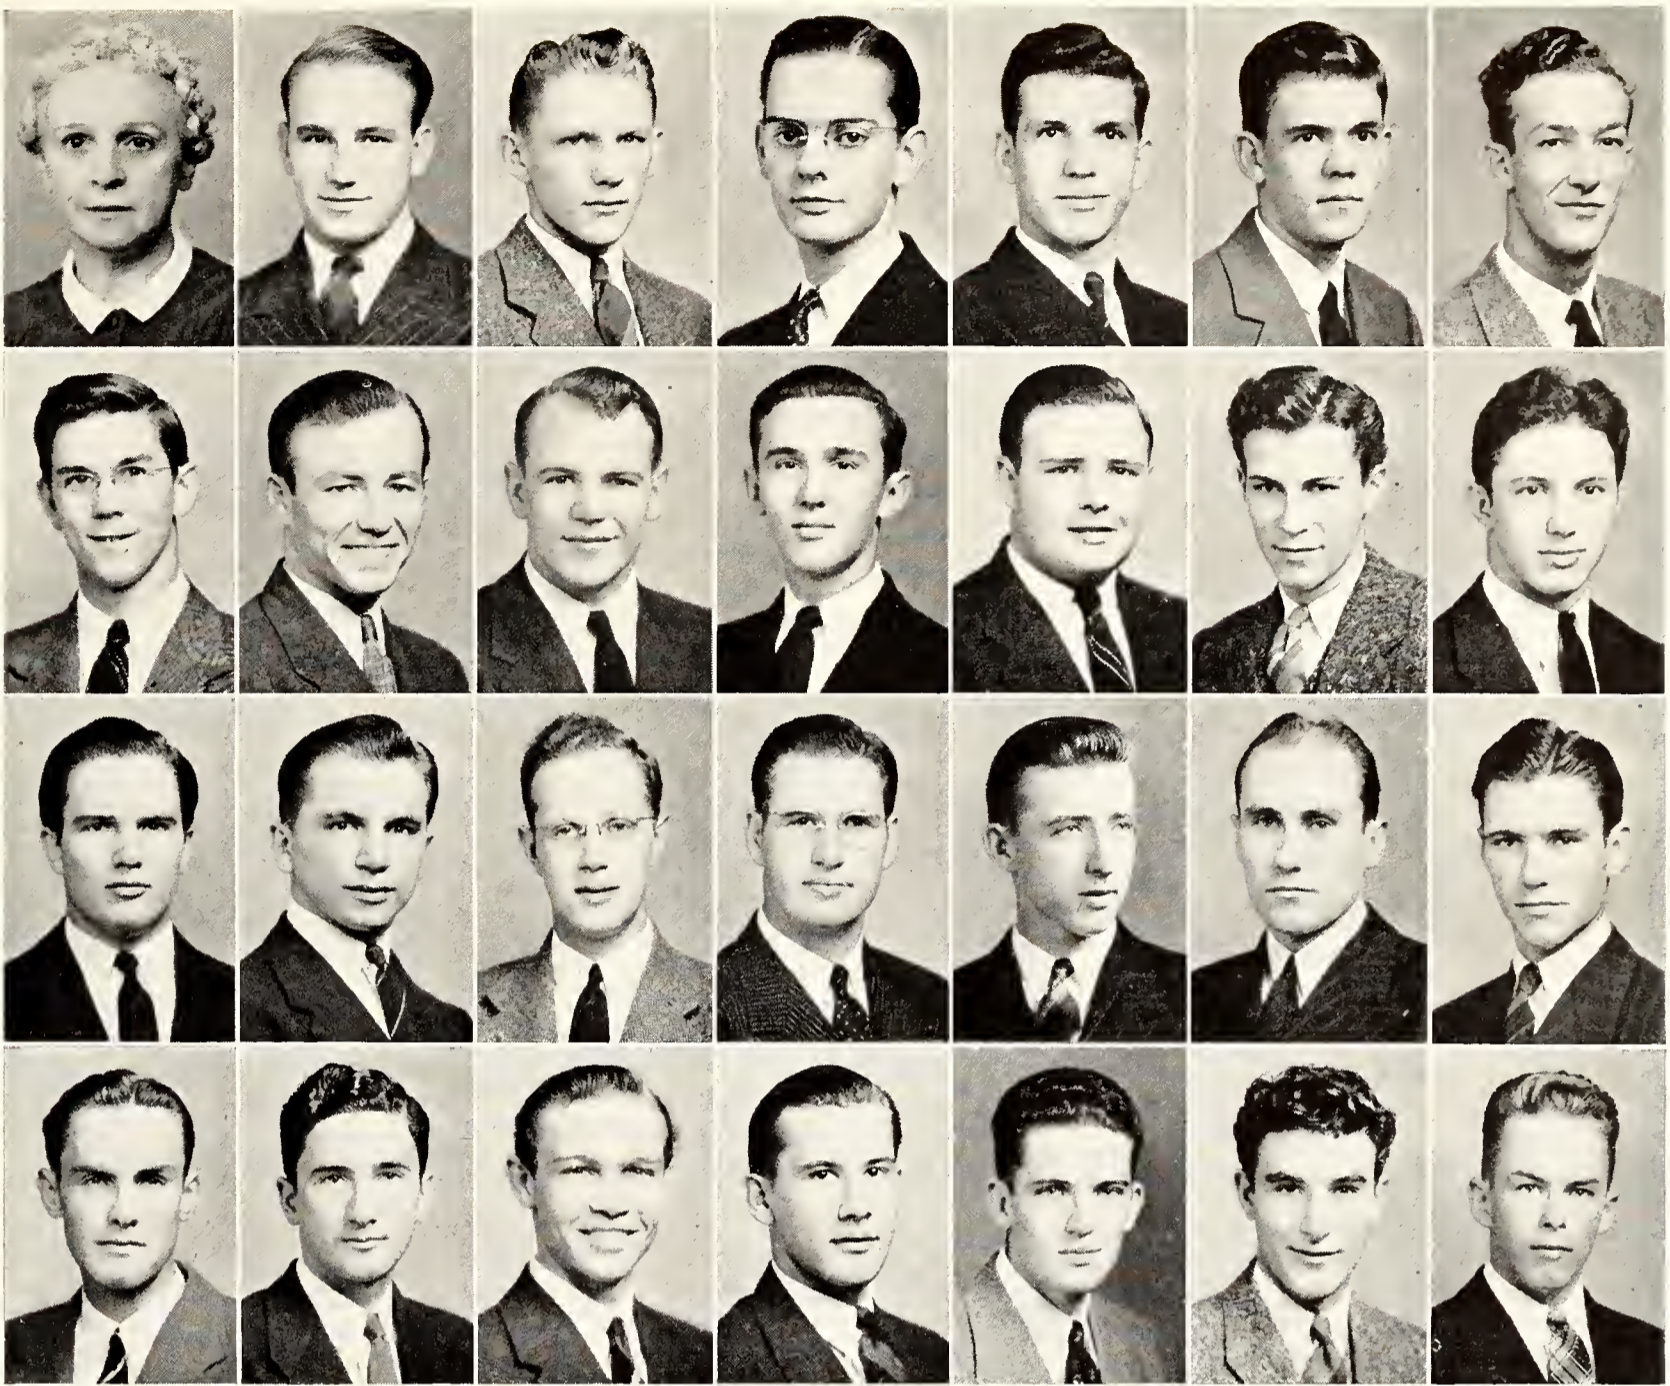

Chapter officers were Pierce Wheatley, president; Merrill Dunn, vice-president; Roger Coffman, treasurer; Raymond Mussatto, secretary, and Hall Milliard, Interfraternity council representative. C. W. Penley is chapter advisor, and Mrs. Verne W. Sibley is housemother.

Kappa Sigma alumni on the Kansas State faculty are Jack Gardner, basketball coach, and Glen Long.

PHI DELTS ENTERTAIN

Fraternity Boasts a Variety Of Monthly Social Functions

OCTOBER 10.—The tang of autumn brought Phi Delta Theta fraternity members and their dates out in the open on hayracks today. The wearers of the sword and shield entertain often, giving two formal parties, and at least one house dance, picnic or buffet supper a month.

Outstanding Members

Prominent men in the group include Bill West, president, and manager of the 1942 Y-Orpheum and Don Phinney, president of the YMCA. Bob Stafford has an unbeatable record of a performance in every Manhattan Theater production since he started school. Phi Delts have their share of athletes and proved it by taking second place in the intramural football contest this fall.

Fraternity Officers

Officers beside president Bill West were John Hudelson, reporter; Thomas Hutchison, secretary; William Ross, treasurer, Newton Fehr, Interfraternity council representative. Mrs. E. C. Brownson is Phi Delt housemother.

Kansas Gamma, one of 105 chapters of Phi Delta Theta, became active on Kansas State campus December 24, 1920, 72 years after the national founding of the fraternity at Miami university, Oxford, Ohio.

PHI KAPPAS ARE HONORED

Local Chapter Receives Plaque For High Scholastic Standing

FEBRUARY 15.—Recognized last year by the national office as the chapter showing the greatest improvement, Iota chapter of Phi Kappa today was again honored by being awarded the fraternity's scholarship plaque for having the highest scholastic standing of its 26 chapters. Phi Kappa ranked fourth in scholarship among fraternities on the campus.

Phi Kaps Are Active

Taking an active part in organizations on the campus this year were many Phi Kappa members. George Inskeep was president of the Block and Bridle club and played a prominent part in directing many of the activities of the Agriculture division. Among other organizations on the Kansas State campus in which Phi Kappa members are active are Alpha Zeta, Scabbard and Blade, Newman club and Collegian and Royal Purple staffs.

Traditional social events of the Phi Kappas is the annual "fish party," held late in the spring. House dances, picnics and stag dinners were given frequently.

Twenty-six chapters of Phi Kappa, national fraternity for Catholic students, have been established since its founding in 1889 at Providence, R. I. Iota chapter was organized here in 1921. Among nationally known members of the fraternity is Alfred E. Smith.

Eagan Is President

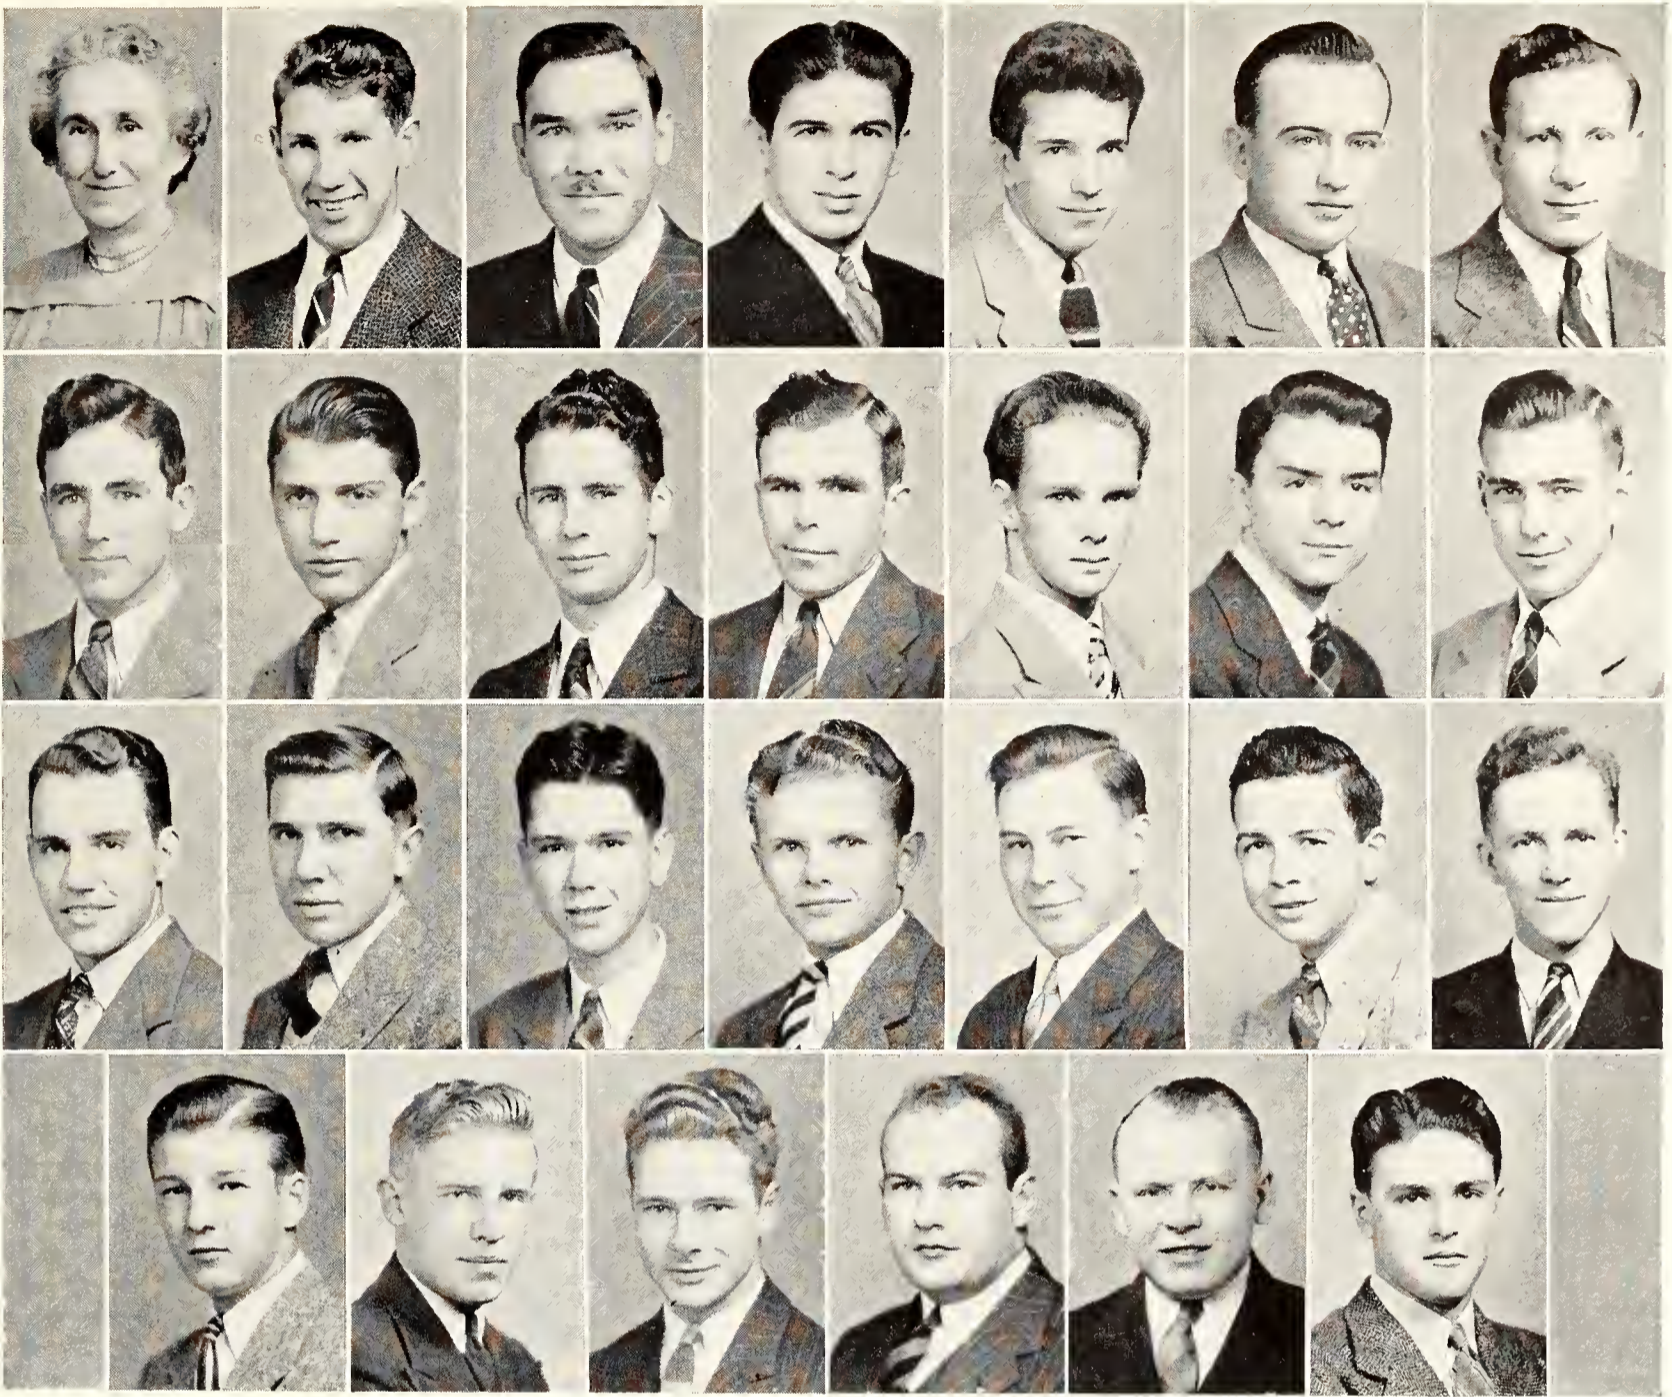

Chapter officers this year were Jim Eagan, president; Charles Wempe, vice-president; Leo Wendling, secretary; Robert Lorson, treasurer, and Donald Richards, Interfraternity council representative. Prof. J. P. Callahan is chapter advisor and Mrs. O. H. Halstead is house-mother.

Members in the faculty include Dr. Harold Howe, J. P. Callahan, John McCoy, Raymond Doll and Dr. L. B. Faith.

PI K.A.'S GIVE DIXIE BALL

"Waterfront Dive" Party Also Featured on Social Calendar

MARCH 13.—Living up to their fraternity's beginning "down in old Virginy" members of Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity tonight staged their annual "Dixie ball." Decorations were in garnet and gold, the fraternity colors, with lighted shield and diamond hanging against a garnet background behind the bandstand.

Other major social event of the Pi K A's this year was the "Waterfront Dive" party, at which rooms of the chapter house were appropriately decorated as a barroom, gambling den and dance hall. Sunday night buffet suppers and dances were also regular events at the Pi K A house.

Outstanding freshman among Pi K A members was Gregg Chappell, vice-president of the freshman class.

Founded in Virginia in 1868, Pi Kappa Alpha has now established 79 chapters. The Kansas State chapter was chartered in 1913.

S. A. E. 'S TAKE AGGIE POP

Members Don Russian Costumes To Win Trophy in Stunt Night

NOVEMBER 22.—Soviets of Sigma Alpha Epsilon tonight won the 28th annual Aggie Pop trophy with their stunt, "Caucasian Holiday." Colorful Russian costumes and music combined to make the Sig Alph performance a real bell-ringer.

Costumes were also the thing for the Sig Alph Bowery party in the fall. Old-fashioned barroom murals decorated the fraternity house for this annual high spot of the social year. The fraternity's traditional Belle ball was held in December, large gold bells being given as favors.

Sig Alphas Are Versatile

Capable SAE Tom Martin edited the 1941-42 Engineer Magazine. Upholding the honor of the fraternity in the athletic world were football men Charles Kier, Lawrence Duncan and Kent Duwe. Keith Wallingford was chosen the outstanding scholar in the Division of General Science.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon had its founding in Tuscaloosa, Ala., in 1856, and was introduced on the K-State campus in 1913. National chapters now number 114.

Fraternity officers this year were Bob Anderson, president; Reed Sparks, vice-president; Darcy Doryland, secretary; Tom Martin, treasurer, and Herb Vanderlip, Interfraternity council representative. Mrs. Margaret Shannon is the Sig Alph house-mother, and Prof. R. I. Thackrey acts as chapter advisor. Hobbs Adams and William Schutte are faculty alumni.

SIGMA NU'S GIVE DINNER

White Rose Party Is Climax Of Fraternity's Social Year

JANUARY 17.—White roses in staggering quantities were seen tonight at the annual Sigma Nu White Rose dinner-dance. Decorations centered around the traditional white rose theme.

A Valentine paddle party, a "hi-rickety" party in March, and a faculty tea in November kept Sigma Nu's on their toes socially throughout the school year.

Sigma Nu fraternity was founded at Virginia Military institute in 1869. The Kansas State chapter, one of 97, was established in 1913.

In keeping with its background of military tradition, the Kansas State chapter has three members in West Point, one in Annapolis, eight in the army and navy air corps, and numerous reserve officers in the armed forces.

Fraternity vice-president Frank Barnhart won approval from athletic officials as well as from feminine fans to win Big Six football honors. Members of the varsity swimming squad were Sigma Nu's Wayne MacKirdy and Peter Ruckman.

Ranking high scholastically were engineers and Sigma Tau members Melvin Johnson, Page Wagner and Charles Beardmore.

Chapter officers were Albert Coates, president; Frank Barnhart, vice-president; Kendall MacKirdy, secretary; Page Wagner, treasurer, and Don Kortman, Interfraternity council representative. Dr. H. H. Haymaker is chapter advisor, and Mrs. Elizabeth Sheetz is housemother.

C. E. Aubel, A. P. Davidson, H. H. Haymaker and Warren Keller are faculty members who wear the five-armed star of Sigma Nu.

PLEDGE CLASS IS LARGEST

Sig Eps Lead Fraternities After Successful Rush Week

SEPTEMBER 9.—Men's rush week closed today with Sigma Phi Epsilon leading the fraternities with 22 pledges.

Sig Eps also led the field in journalism, with member Ken Evans as second semester editor of the Collegian and Ken Hamlin as a Board of Publications member. Kansas Beta chapter won the Frayser memorial award for the best chapter publication with its "Hoop of Steel," edited by Ken Evans.

A barn dance, paddle party and annual "Golden Heart" ball along with numerous house dances and exchange dinners served to keep the Sigma Phi Epsilon social calendar filled.

Officers of the chapter this year were Kalo Hineman, president; Frank Seymour, vice-president; Kenneth Hamlin, secretary; Joe Kirkpatrick, treasurer, and Dick Wellman, Interfraternity council representative. C. O. Grandfield is chapter advisor, and Mrs. Esther Hammond is housemother.

The national fraternity was founded in 1901, the local chapter in 1918. There are now 68 active chapters. Eleven faculty members are Sig Ep alumni.

"Li'l Abners" and "Daisy Maes" Are Guests at Fraternity Party

OCTOBER 18. — "Li'l Abners" and "Daisy Maes" came out dressed for the Tau Kappa Epsilon hillbill party at the chapter house last night.

In true "Dogpatch" style, the TKE members added old guns, saddles and characteristic pictures in order to convey a rustic atmosphere for their costume party.

Officers of Alpha Lambda chapter were Jack Fox, president; Ralph Bemis, vice-president; Glen Andrea, secretary; Glenn Schwab, treasurer.

The Tau Kappa Epsilon fraternity was founded in 1899 at Bloomington, Ill. Alpha Lambda chapter was installed on the Kansas State campus 32 years later on January 31, and is one of the 47 chapters of TKE.

Active on the football field this year were TKE members Max Timmons, Bill Quick, Oscar Erickson and Bill Cochran.

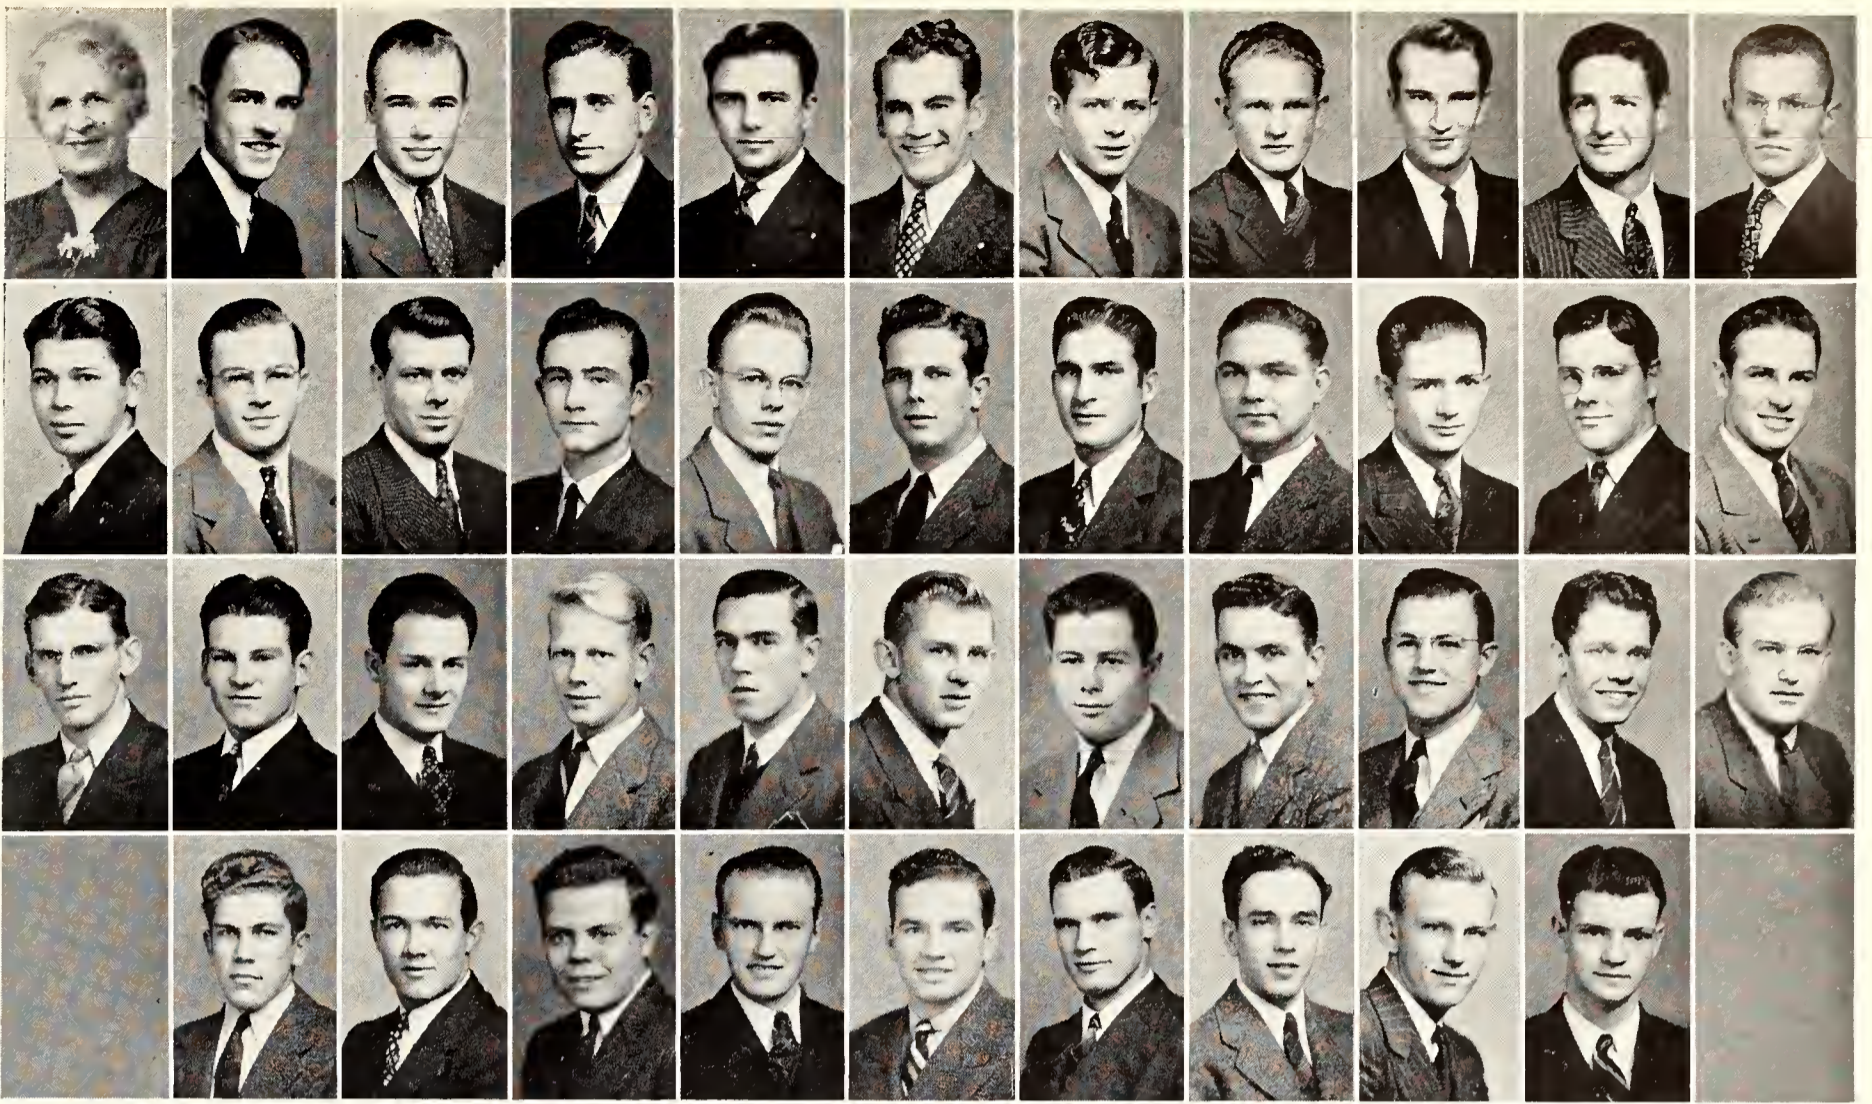

Outstanding members of the chapter are Bruce Watson, treasurer of A.V.M.A. and Oscar Erickson, Interfraternity council representative.

Mrs. Blanche Jackson is housemother, and Dr. Robert P. Wager is the fraternity's faculty advisor.

"TOUGHIE STRUT" IS POPULAR

Theta Xi's Entertain Guests At Annual Waterfront Party

NOVEMBER 22.—Dressed in typical "toughie" fashion, Theta Xi's and their guests danced at their annual "Toughie Strut" tonight. A waterfront tavern was the central scheme of the house decorations with a bar prominently displayed in one corner of the main room, at which guests were served punch and cider.

Sharing the social spotlight for the Theta Xi's was their annual spring formal, held early in March. The fraternity colors, blue and white, were used in decorations for the party. The bandstand was decorated in white with blue Greek fraternity letters in front of the stand. A lighted pin and pledge crests were also used. A novelty was introduced when at the end of the dance the "Star Spangled Banner" was played and a large American flag rolled down in front of the bandstand.

Warner Is I.F.C. President

Outstanding among Theta Xi's in campus activities were Jack Warner, Interfraternity council president, and David Hurst, member of the Kansas State debate team.

Theta Xi fraternity was founded at Polytechnic institute, Troy, N. Y., in 1864, and has since established 38 active chapters. The local chapter, formerly Beta Pi Epsilon, a local engineering fraternity, was granted its national charter in 1931.

Officers of Alpha Iota chapter this year were Vern Heinsohn, president; Floyd Burket, vice-president; David Hurst, secretary; Donald Brenner, treasurer, and Jack Warner, Interfraternity council representative. Mrs. Rose Cassidy has been housemother to the Theta Xi's for 13 years. Prof. J. H. Robert is faculty advisor.

Other alumni of the fraternity on the Kansas State faculty are G. F. Branigan, N. H. Barham, K. W. Miller and Linus Burton.

Dead Lines of 1942

'Twas the September sun that made it hot,
But the campus cop was in his spot,
So we filled the boiler with grade point coal
And the sheepskin factory was ready to roll.

Yes, students, it was in September '41 that Ray Rokey, ag big wig from Sabetha, bought a ticket to the electrical engineering seminar, and rented a key to the drill field from John Hancock. School did not officially open until aforementioned Rokey had opened the first page of his rhetoric book and said, "H—, what have we here."

Frosh Get the Works

With Blue Key members playing the role of can-opener, the freshman were put through their induction exercises, which took them on tours from lover's lane to the boiler rooms.

Blind-dating, ever popular indoor sport at K-State, was in evidence all over the place. You can always tell the victims by the blank look in everybody's eyes.

Obnoxious frosh were everywhere, being collegiate and chatting about "our dear old Alma Mater" in loud voices. Collegiate small talk and papa's check book started down the long rough road as rush week opened. The fraternities looked on as the Sig Eps staged an intense membership drive that left pledges hanging from the rafters. A final check-up disclosed that in their rush they had put the button on two high school juniors, a defense course student from the Fort, and a Phi Gam from K.U.

In the girls' social circuit, the Tri Delts hit high in the quantity column and came out with twenty-some pledges. Public opinion, however, forced most of them back in again by early October.

Speaking of nothing in particular, Busey Busenbark, No. 1 man at the Art Craft, firmly believes that milk is good for stiffness in the Forrest Forrester of the Palace was telling us this . . . someone started a silly rumor about the football team having the ball within somebody's thirty yard line. K-State's rusty old committee No. X091 started to assemble the facts, but dropped investigation, pending the Nebraska game. At said game Zeleznak ran his famous 66 yards to husk the Cornhuskers. His only comment: "Shucks."

It was Mrs. Varney of the College Book Store who reminded us that along about Homecoming time the Delts chased the fawn off the front lawn, combed the dandruff out of the grass, gave Don Kastner a haircut, and ran off with the Homecoming decorations cup.

Beauty Queen Shaver tripped off to K. C. early in October in the Pi Phi wardrobe, to take second honors as the American Royal Princess. She "wowed" the horses and the men, and returned to Manhattan and the old grind with a constant source of constant conversation.

A COMPLETE BANKING SERVICE

Delt-Sig Ep twosome, are almost never apart. Even saw them holding hands downtown in front of the First National bank one day. Said Doug to "Liz," "Can I bank on your love?"

"Downtown" Jerry Wilson was telling us this . . . the sign on the physics bulletin board said there was to be a lecture on the moon that night. Thirty-six of Dr. Cardwell's cut-ups wanted to know just how they were going to get there.

Sig Ep Terry Dougherty, ex-author of Damfino, had occasion to put in a lot of good plugs for "the boys in the house." The column practically amounted to a historical account of Sigma Phi Epsilon for the year 1941, not that history wanted the record.

By the way . . . all the kids are slipping down to Salisbury's of an afternoon and playing records. A. D. Pi's needed a truck last week to haul all they brought home!

Two men of the pink and blue were complaining about the amount of raw carrots they were served. "Rabbit food," leered they. When one night ye housemother passed them a salad dish and asked if they would care for more carrots—not a word could they say . . . they only sat and wiggled their little pink ears!

Sharp-eyed Henry Busse picked Tri Delt pledge Evelyn Stockwell as glamour-puss of '41. The following Monday morning, a group of fifth semester rhetoric students named Miss Sturmer as grammar-puss of the campus, so everyone was satisfied.

Typical feminine comment concerning the dance came from Charlotte Dixon, who thought it was wonderful how Mr. Busse threw his boyish charm around with reckless abandon. ATO Norby Raemer thought it was about 20 years too late to tell what Henry was like as a boy, but that it was perfectly obvious what he was throwing.

Along about the first of the new year, the knitting craze hit the campus like a home-made biscuit. Clovia chums Ocie Alice Taylor and Adaline Poole went shopping for a little yarn at Cole's and came home with enough to knit a snowsuit for a polar bear. And that "snow" dream.

Remember the Chi Omega fire wagon their pledges bought the first of the year? It was worth its weight in gold bricks, because male power instead of horse power was needed to get it going.

John Hoins and Jack Quinly of Phi Delta Theta escorted their housemother, Mrs. Brownson to dinner at the Gillett one Sunday night. During the course of the meal, Jack had a slight mishap involving a forkful of mashed potatoes . . . the fallen Irish? . . .

Never saw a guy so anxious to get rid of his pin as Sig Ep Frank Seymore. Even went up to the college hospital trying to pin it on some poor defenseless girl.

Wayne Bland, Sigma Nu, was perplexed because the Chi O's were all so pretty but such Medical Note: The accelerated course of study for the vets will result in the premature graduation of several of the boys who sit up nights with sick mules.

Note how interesting and educational the back of this book has become.

At last, after almost a decade, the Phi Delt house has lost its charter member and honored founder, Mr. Norris McGaw. The bonds of matrimony have ensnared him and caused him to move some three and a half blocks down the street. Otherwise, all is as before.

Saw Alpha Delt pledges Ann Ford and Grace Jordan sneaking into Duckwalls for a coke during final week when all good little girls should have been home keeping campus!

Heard in the Gillett lobby:

This made the Chi O's very merry
But the vet students cried like hell.

The K-State Engineer carried a choice little bulletin about Art Fillmore and women becoming separate items for the remainder of the year. Alan Madsen and Wilbur Reed would rather be wrong than agree with him.

The rough and tumble "Swig" Alphas decided to change meek Bob Anderson's title from treasurer to president. We wonder how he'll manage all those big bad boys by himself—and it's so far to the nearest farmhouse for help.

Stock joke of the year—The three men standing on a street—the first one went in and paid, then the second one went in and paid, but the third one didn't because he was Crime, and Crime Doesn't Pay.

Also the soldier who kept on going when everyone else had halted, for he was Time, and Time Marches On!

The Sigma Uu's have abandoned their sadistic

"Mouse Burial," and are now taking all dead rodents out and stowing them away in cold storage. This is so they can drag them out on Alum day for trophies . . . hiding their lack of Intramural cups and such. What's more, they're going to feed the alums on—not rats—but some of the Perry Packing company's best poultry.

Melville Mudge and Royal Seal were seen in the Aggieville Hardware & Electric Shop talking to Dal Pancake and Howard Turtle about buying a trap to eliminate rats. Seems as though they were tired of sleeping four in a bed for self protection.

We dropped into Pine's cafe the other day and ran smack into Max Immenschuh. His brother, back from the Canal Zone, brought him a grass skirt and lei. Now Max is looking around for someone to fit into them.

Professor H. E. Wichers of the Architecture department says that when he was in school the girls dressed like Mother Hubbard, but now they dress more like her cupboard. Does he mean the co-eds are just old bones any more?

Bouquets are in order for the Alpha Xi Delta winter party decorations. Their house was effectively disguised as a church, with a steeple and stained glass windows. Perhaps it was too effective, what with two secret marriages cropping out in the ranks. The culprits were Dorothy Johnstone, former prexy, and Billie Jean Johnson, a pledge from Hutch.

Several of the boys have forsaken these parts in favor of the Army or Air Corps . . . among them were Dan Bender, Tommy Westmacott, and Bob Stomp.

On the Kappa Treasure hunt, annual custom before their initiation, "Hoppy" Robinson dragged a dead rat, a very dead rat indeed, into the living room. The sisters in the blue and blue thought she took the whole thing a bit too literally. Then there was the . . . ah, goat, and cat, too. But we don't talk about that.

The Greek clubs shot the mystics to quite a sizeable group in February.

Bill Ross, Phi Delt pledge-beater (but he's an okay guy) is saving his canceled checks this year, because of the priority on rubber. Smart boy, someday he'll be a rich man, if he ever gets beyond the embryo stage.

Johnny Cordts, of the Union National Bank, is of the opinion that if all college students who sleep in class were laid end to end, they would be a lot more comfortable.

One Pi Phi pledge had to eat off the mantle for weeks (and we mean it) after the Delt paddle party. And all on account of Warren Hornsby's strong right arm. For shame, Mr. Hornsby!

Victory for the Independents was Miss Mary Cawood's becoming honorary cadet colonel. She had some stiff competition, too. While we're on the subject of the Military ball, we might mention that the Queen Anne salute, led by ATO Dick Powell, was something new and different in the way of a "floorshow."

The Alpha Gamma Rho's have acquired quite an ambitious boy in Milton Woodrick. He called one girl (one of the Smith girls, to be exact) 21 times for a date. It finally got to the point where just anyone could talk for her. Bet he's one of the few men on the campus who has told 15 girls he adored them . . . and meant it!

Tramp, Tramp, Tramp

The Manhattan Army store had quite a boom in the shoe department recently, caused by the nasty rumor that a campus patrol would be effected by the K-State R.O.T.C. What's the matter, boys, afraid you'll get your feet wet?

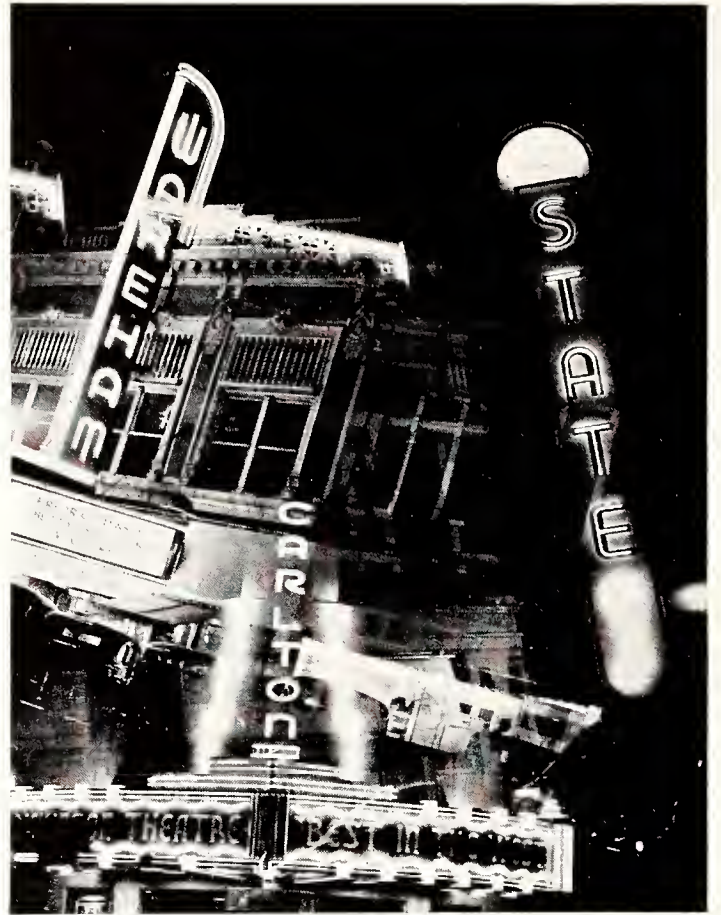

Hillier Kreighbaum, formerly of the Journalism department, was agreeably surprised when a group of his students gave him a $2.50 pocket Ingersol as a farewell token of their esteem. Mr. Hillier Kreighbaum was also disagreeably surprised when he was apprehended a few hours later in the K. C. Union Depot by the police force of that fair city, with instructions to hand over the goods, or else. The boys and girls apologized, though, by returning the valuable time-piece, handsomely engraved.

He had an I.Q. of $-.006$ when five years old. At fourteen he was continually talking to himself and getting an answer. By his eighteenth year he could blow his own nose. Gentlemen, now he is ready to study journalism at Kansas State.

Picked this up out near the hospital: "Know what one skeleton said to another in the doctor's closet?" "We'd get out of here, if we only had the guts!"

Margaret McCutchan, Kappa Delt, was telling me the other day down at J. C. Penney's that assemblies were more on the solid side this year as the guest speakers had the students rolling the aisles . . . until President Farrell and some of his quiz kids took the dice away.

What every young man should know . . .

(on a one o'clock night). When in doubt, don't hesitate. Take your girl to the Carlton, or one of the other downtown shows. They're out before ten, leaving just time for a quick coke and a little . . . er, conversation.

Another tip from same source . . . to quote Sigma Nu Pete (Romeo) Ruckman, "Remember tire priorities, and do your bit for national defense." Defense or offense?

Tuckered Out?

The basketball team dropped a close one to Oklahoma during our bout with them in Nichols Gym. The game was well-played, however, despite the loss of Tucker to both teams.

Sure signs of Spring: when people come out of hibernation to sit on the campus wall and dangle their feet, and cut classes, and go steady with someone they hardly know, and go on picnics with mosquitoes, and . . . ah, Spring!

Well, to pick up dropped stitches, what do you hear from the left needle on the knitting team? This is what we heard . . . If a duck were following a cow down a country lane, what would you have? Milk and quackers, of course! Obvious isn't it? Old too, or have you heard it yet this year?

The Open House prize for the best engineering exhibit was awarded to the department that the college catalogue laughingly calls Civil Engineering. Ray Schneider, prominent architect, thought it took Gilles and his gorillas about two and a half hours to cook up the winner. Others, less prominent than Schneider, believed this estimate to be about two hours to high.

John St. John was St. Pat and Shirley Kilmer was St. Patricia, as the Sigma Tau boys mortgaged their house to bring in Louis Armstrong for the Prom.

Some guys thought the maestro was a little on the "Gay Nineties" side (which got them nowhere, as you shall learn in the next paragraph, dear reader), but we heard Peg McClymonds say that at least he was tall, dark, and dark.

Anyway, right in the middle of one of the hotter numbers, the bass player broke a string—on his fiddle. The maneuvering the rest of the boys did to cover up was almost better than the ordinary. And of course, everyone remembers the two-ton singer.

Always on the alert is Eddie Botterman, manager of the Wareham Hotel. During a recent blackout practice, guests were provided with candles. The result was as much light as there is on the Van Zile porch at 1 a.m., but not half as much confusion.

A lot of college freshman hope their four-year grind will be one long hangover, but the nearest most of them come to it is pledging Sig Alph.

Do the A. D. Pi's ever wonder why the Sigma Nu's all asked Santa for binoculars? Or do they care?

Don Moss and Larry Spear felt the long rusty arm of the law late in March. It had been through Sigma Tau's efforts that some fellow by the name of Hill was sent seeking fresh atmosphere. Seems that this guy Hill had been writing for the Collegian until they caught him at it. The engineering intelligencia felt it would be better to take care of him themselves than to let him go to the Student Health department where anything can happen. From what was left of the Student Council, Messrs. Moss and Spear contracted a bad case of one-month's social smallpox. But why should Spear care? It was picnic season.

Bill Bell, outstanding exponent of indoor picnics, says that you'll never be a wolf in "cheap" clothing, if you get that new zoot at Stevenson's.

Pi Beta Phi, social sorority (this can be verified by a glance at any phone directory) is certainly out to lay on the popularity this year. Propaganda is their deadliest weapon, so far. They tell all swains they are dated up, then lay low behind darkened windows 'till the 1 o'clock limit.

Thinking of changing your course? Oh, you're not. May we submit the following information that will definitely be of no value to you.

General Science—If you are a transfer from Lacey's Business college, and if you wish to grab off a degree in a semester or less, this is the course for you. The substituting of courses is terrific. When at the end of your sophomore year you find you have 36 hours and 14 grade points, by all means change to Gen. Science. You can finish in a year. The granting of a degree in G. S. is in strict accord with the new governmental policy of having a more cultured bread line.

Business Administration — Sociable people really go for this course. Here you meet "Statistical" Joe and "Hypothetical" Harry, and the Economics department lets you dictate the policies of a big corporation for four years. The knowledge will be of little value to you when you are back home working at the gas station—but the commerce students' beer busts are a lot of fun. What you do with the degree and what grade you will receive in business law I are the only doubtful quantities. This is the course where a good "bull" session is much more important than an accounting problem. It is considered bad form for a B. A. graduate to flash his sheepskin in a large metropolitan office—the office boys start to worry about losing their jobs.

Industrial Journalism — If you have flunked every other course in school, and find you are spending more time in bed than in class, switch to journalism. The industry was taken out of Industrial Journalism long ago. In this field a figure is of much more importance than a figure of speech. A study period is held in the Canteen every morning from 8:00 to 8:05. The department has the name of the Journalism graduate who has a job, but he is considered the exception rather than the rule.

Electrical Engineering—Unless you are a calculus hound and wear your hair down in your eyes, best that you shy away from this course. Most of the electricals are good mathematicians, but few ever learn to speak English.

Home Economics—If you are a typical K-State female, you are probably enrolled in the curriculum of home economics. Many of the girls take this course because the men's gym is so near the home ec building. The rest take it because the home ec building is near the men's gym. No one has ever heard of a home ec major that knew how to cook. Statistics show that 99.997 per cent of the girls enrolled at K-State, didn't come to college to learn how to cook. They just want to know, "What's cooking?"

Straight Ag — According to Bill Werts, this course can be taken barefooted or otherwise. If the radio tower reminds you of a windmill, and the odor from your phys ed locker brings fond memories of home, then you are a natural born ag.

Got a postcard from Joe Hanna, now in the army, the other day. He wonders if Mr. Breeden, English prof, has gotten used to the idea of cigarette advertising in the Collegian yet.

Harold Elmer was in the Manhattan Floral last week, buying an orchid for his lapel. The dapper Harold is doing quite nicely in college, for a boy who worked in a lumber yard until he was three,

Matt Betton has a horrible time keeping his boys pulling together anymore. Since the crazy piano player got drafted, there's been a screw loose in the organization.

You should have been out to the Sigma Alpha Epsaloon manor for their Founder's Day brawl—or were you? Guv Ratner was the chief drawing card—it says here. The tactful man left before the party got too . . . er, interesting.

Tau Kappa Epsilon made a bit of a showing this year on the campus. Max Timmons represented TKE in the athletic field (gridiron to you), otherwise they were noticeable by their absence.

They do boast a nice house and lot, though—well, anyway, they boast a lot.

This company, throughout the years, has had a definite high aim to serve the homes and industries in its territory adequately and economically. It also has been the policy of the company to keep the capacity of its plants and distribution systems years ahead of the actual requirements of those who use our services.

"Behind the scenes" an efficient engineering staff is constantly anticipating "tomorrow's" needs and building for future growth. This long-range planning has proven to be invaluable in our present National Emergency.

In the dark on your history?

In case you need enlightening we can tell you that there was a time when school rooms were lighted by coal oil lamps. Sunlight provided almost the only effective light available.

The village "schoolmarm" got wrinkles around her eyes from squinting at essays, compositions, and spelling papers under flickering lamplight.

Today, however, she's as young-looking as her students. Under the full, even, shadow-less light from an I.E.S. approved study lamp her eyes can almost rest as she scans school papers.

Of course the pupils write more plainly, and do better work nowadays, too—because many of their school rooms are designed by illuminating engineers, who can bring warm, sunny daylight into every corner of the room through electric light.

What the future holds, no one knows. That is why prudent men and women insure against unseen contingencies.

Life Insurance gives direction and furnishes a secure foundation to the beginner. That is why it should be the first investment of the young man or woman who starts out to seek success in business. It has been described as "A Grip on the Future."
